INJURE TWO IN WRECK NEAR TURKEY

Auto Collides With Gasoline Truck
Last Night

Two men were painfully injured in a collision between a car and a gasoline truck, five miles west of Turkey last night, the ninth automobile wreck in and near that city within the past week.

Bob Miller, of Quitaque, the driver of the car, sustained a slight skull fracture and painful cuts and bruises. His companion, a Quitaque man whose name we were unable to learn, received cuts and bruises about the face and hands. Both men were taken to Turkey, where they received medical attention and later were sent to their homes in Quitaque. The driver of the truck was not injured.

The accident, which occurred about 7:30 p. m., came as the result of Miller being blinded by the headlights of the approaching truck, a Panhandle gasoline truck from Silverton.

The two cars met head-on with terrific force. The front axle and wheels of the heavy truck were knocked completely out from under the vehicle, and the coupe was only a tangled mass of metal after the collision. People who visited the scene of the accident were astounded that none of the men was killed.

LICENSE DRIVERS

AUSTIN, Nov. 1. — The Senate this morning passed the bill to license automobile drivers. The provisions of the bill provide for 3-year licenses to cost 25 cents, exempting present drivers.

TIME LIMIT IS SET TO FILE SALES

Cotton Farmers Have Until November 15
on Certificates

Hall County cotton producers, as well as cotton growers over the nation, have been given until November 15 to file certificates of sale upon all 1935 cotton sales made up to and including Nov. 8. James A. Jackson, county agricultural agent, stated this morning.

In order that it may be entitled to consideration, the original of every Cotton Sale Certificate must be delivered to the office of the county agent in accordance of the following requirements:

In case of cotton sold prior to November 1, the Cotton Sale Certificate shall be delivered as soon as possible, but not later than Nov. 16.

In case of cotton sold on or after Nov. 1, the Cotton Sale Certificate shall be delivered as soon as possible, but not later than seven days after date of sale, provided that if the cotton sold after Nov. 1, the Cotton Sale Certificate may be delivered not later than Nov. 16.

In case the seller for any reason is not able to deliver his Cotton Sale Certificate as outlined above, and subsequently tenders it for delivery, he shall on the reverse side give in writing, over his signature, a full explanation for his reason for failure to comply with such requirements. Such written explanation shall be witnessed by a competent person, having no interest in the matter, who shall write the word "witness" and his signature below the (Continued On Page 12)

CYCLONE MEETS SKYROCKETS TONIGHT

Visitors Are Coming
Primed for Real
Battle

When Captain Bud McAbee leads the Memphis Black and Gold Cyclone on the field tonight at Cyclone Stadium, for a football engagement with the Skyrockets from Wellington, the Memphis team will have entered a game for the first time this year picked to have more than an even chance of winning.

Memphis players will also be playing under the slightest weight handicap of any time this year tonight. Wellington's team will outweigh the Cyclone only eight pounds to the man. This may be considered a pretty heavy amount, but in view of the fact that the Cyclone battled against odds of 20 pounds to the man in last week's game, the poundage does not seem so great.

Word from Wellington is that the 'Rockets are putting past scores behind them tonight, and they are coming to Memphis with their eyes on the Cyclone. Sports scribes of the Wellington newspapers are conceding the Skyrockets more than an even chance to win the affair.

Both the Memphis and the Wellington teams have been virtually eliminated from a shot at the conference championship of this district, but in view of the fact that the two teams are rivals of long standing, the game tonight is expected to be colorful and well worth the time to see.

Coch Chesty Walker's bunch of midsters closed a week of stiff practice periods yesterday afternoon by running through an hour's limbering-up session, coupled with signal drilling. The Memphis team is said to be in fine fettle for the contest, and the team as a whole is in better physical condition than at any other time since the opening of the current season.

The Cyclone will be playing without the services of Norman Deason, who has had trouble with his scholastic standing. However, Coach Walker is shifting Joel Adecock to fullback and running Ray Childress on half, and it is thought that the team will not be weakened. Adecock has been used as (Continued on page 12)

DROPS DEAD

W. C. Richardson, about 65, of Wichita, Kansas, dropped dead this morning about 10:30 o'clock in Estelline, where he had been buying cattle for a large ranch near Wichita, Kan.

Apoplexy was given as the cause of the cattle buyer's death. The body is in King's Mortuary here being prepared for shipment to Kansas.

The deceased was said to have been assisting in vaccinating calves at the Estelline stock pens at the time the stroke came. Death was immediate.

The Weather

WEST TEXAS: Partly cloudy and colder in the southeast and east central portions, freezing in north tonight; Saturday partly cloudy and slightly warmer in the north.

Butler Morrison and "Lefty" Griffin holding down the shine chair at "Lefty's" barber shop. They both looked tired, and would have probably argued with any customer that wanted a shine.

Geo. Hattenbach going down the east side with a handful of what looked to us like cultivator parts. George claims to be a dirt farmer, but he lives in town.

Pumpkins displayed in practically all the grocery store windows yesterday . . . fated for jack-o-lanterns and pies.

The publisher getting held up on Main Street yesterday afternoon. His small daughter was "shaking him down" for a dime.

Evelyn Lamb, at Founds Cafe, making a big plate of peas, beans and hominy disappear like nobody's business. Didn't know she was a vegetarian, but that probably explains her portly shape.

Ara Matlock's chef turning out some pies with meringue topping on them at least four inches high. You've heard of four-story pies . . . well, those were "skyscrapers."

Some of the guys who yesterday morning laughed at us for carrying our overcoat to town, before night shivering and wishing they had brought their's down.

Emmet Walker hide out when he saw Dr. Clark coming. Said the doc was due to perform an operation on him, but we didn't ask any particulars. Sort of hazy about that subject since we heard about it.

Marshal Allen, Frank Foxhall and Leslie Foxhall emerging from Rube's Coffee Shop, where they'd probably been having a coffee carouse.

Judge S. A. Bryant and J. D. Guinn, seated in the former's car, and in earnest conversation. Dollars to doughnuts they were discussing the Townsend old-age pension plan.

Sheriff Joe Colvin displaying a hand-made bridle bit, which he said was almost as old as he was. Also a Mill Irons branding iron, which he found on the old Mill Irons spread.

Peewee Henry Reed going down Main Street yesterday afternoon, while it was quite cool, in his shirt sleeves . . . and nary a shiver.

Constable "Sandstorm" Williams, of Lakeview, in close consultation with Justice Wheat, in the latter's office.

Tom Wood, recent victim of a pincomet tie night mare, saying that he had the same brand for dinner yesterday. He claimed that it only showed he was the "boss" at home. But before he said it, he looked all around to see that his wife was not about anywhere.

A pretty girl from Estelline came into the office yesterday from Estelline with the copy for today's Growl. Was the sports editor interested . . . I'm asking you?

Editor Morris Higley, of the Childress Daily Index, gassing with the boys at Tarvers yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Clyde Milam in the spook parade last night, in old time rig, with red cotton stockings and high-top buttoned shoes. Just "a picture from life's other side."

"Tater" Thomas having lots of fun in the parade last night. About the youngest kid in the bunch.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS JUSTIFIES ITS EXISTENCE

FOR perhaps the first time since its organization, the League of Nations has at last justified its existence.

Organized following the World War, its purpose was to prevent a recurrence of that disastrous catastrophe. Its organizers expected great things for it, but from year to year they failed to materialize.

A while back, Japan jumped on China and proceeded to gobble great chunks of Manchukooan territory. The attack was unprovoked and had for its aim merely the acquisition of more land by the Japanese.

China appealed to the League of Nations . . . and got nothing. She appealed to the world . . . and the only nation which apparently dared answer her call in any way was the United States, which did use her influence against Japanese conquest, thus bringing upon herself additional hatred from a nation which already bears us no great love.

The Italo-Ethiopian crisis came on. Italy began to duplicate the action of the Japanese in the Chinese invasion. Ethiopia appealed to the League and, for a wonder, the League set in motion its ponderous machinery for the suppression of war.

After weeks of conferences and argument, the League, at the forced insistence of Great Britain, decided to apply economic sanctions upon Italy, and forty-two nations have to date signed the sanctions agreement.

As a result, Italy is now wanting peace. She sees herself cut off from all the nations of the world unless she sets her house in order.

The only drawback to the whole procedure is that a war could well be over before the League got around to stopping it.

The inside story is persons intimately associated with the committee were sabotaging — conscious service — the program of Rural Electrification Administration.

Herbert Hoover had with founding the National Electrician's Association, 1923. There was widespread feeling for cheaper electricity, which power companies always insisted was a brake against electricity, since it was carefully avoided. The first minutes of this committee were not discussed.

The Farm Bureau after much unhappiness to its friendliness interests, withdrew years ago. I lately, certainly had the cars of REA, Mr. L. CYCLONE FAN ANSWERS US

Takes Up Cudgels In Behalf of 1934 Squad

(Editor's Note: We've gone and done it again. It seems as though every time we open our big mouth we stick out foot in it. We have some of the Memphis football fans in arms over our recent story concerning the 1925 football team. Here is a letter received from a Cyclone backer.)

"Memphis, Texas,
"October, 29, 1935.
"Dear Sports Editor:
"Seeing your write-up in the Democrat (Saturday's edition) of the 1925 wonder team, I would like to call your attention to the Cyclone last year.
"I have been keeping up with football for 15 years and have seen all the Cyclone games possible. I think the team last year was the very best ever to wear the Black and Gold and to represent our city.
"Coached by one of the smartest men in High school football, they won every game but two. One was lost to a class "A" team, and the other to the Regional Champs. And they didn't have to toss any coins to beat our old rivals, Clarendon, for they beat Clarendon 40 to 6.

The squad was composed of Chesty Walker, coach; Co-Captain, Champion, center, 160; McAbee, guard, 155; Swift, guard, 150; Alexander, guard, 130; Bourland, guard, 140; Sanders, tackle, 195; Grimes, tackle, 180; Baskerville, end, 180; Springer, end, 169; Malone, end, 135; Co-Captain Norman, quarter, 175; Powers, quarter, 135; Walker, half, 140; Childress, half, 135; Adcock, half, 135; Grimes, half, 160; Deason, full, 145, and Crump, full, 140.

"The Cyclone was the District Champion and scored 425 points to the opponents' 130 points."

COLORED SCHOOL OPENS

Announcement is made by Supt. W. C. Davis that the colored school of Memphis, located in the Morningside Edition, will open for its year of school work Monday morning.

The school, boasting two teachers, is getting a late start because most of the students have been picking cotton and have not given much thought to their higher education. The negro school has a seven-months term.

Mystic Weavers Entertain

At the home of Mrs. R. C. Walker, 703 South Eighth, the annual Gentlemen's Evening observance for the Mystic Weaver Club was held last evening for a 6 o'clock dinner and "42" party.

The entertaining rooms were adorned with a variety of beautiful fall flowers.

The guests were served a three course dinner at small tables, centered with double marigolds in black vases, featuring the Halloween motif. Mrs. Walker was assisted in serving by Mrs. M. J. Draper, Mrs. J. S. McMurry and Mrs. J. L. Barnes.

At dinner places were marked for Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Barnes, Mr. and Mrs. F. N. Foxhall, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Webster, Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Harrison, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Wherry, Mrs. T. Kittinger, Mrs. George Dickson, W. P. Dial, Mrs. T. T. Harrison, Dr. and Mrs. John Angus MacMillan, Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Montgomery, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Hattenbach, Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Draper, Mrs. T. R. Garrett, Mrs. Margaret Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. McMurry, Ingram Walker, Miss Shirley Greene, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Greene, Dr. and Mrs. W. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Noel, Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Hightower, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Kinslow.

After dinner games of "42" were enjoyed, carrying out the Halloween colors in the table markers and score pads.

Ace High Bridge Club

Mrs. Edgar Cudd was hostess to the Ace High Bridge Club Wednesday afternoon at her home, 922 South Seventh.

Pretty fall flowers furnished the decorations with roses predominating. Halloween suggestions were featured in the refreshments and bridge accessories.

High score was won by Mrs. Hal Goodnight.

Those present were: Mrs. H. B. Bass, Mrs. Bill Gerlach, Mrs. Clay Crew, Mrs. Hugh Crawford, Mrs. Zeb Moore, Mrs. Hal Goodnight, Mrs. Tom Ballew, Mrs. Harold Walker, Mrs. Glynn Thompson, Mrs. N. W. Durham and Mrs. Marie Ballew.

Hostess At Luncheon

Miss Dorothy Sue Fultz was hostess at a lovely three course 12 o'clock luncheon Tuesday at her home, 720 West Cleveland.

Decorations were in a Halloween motif. The dining table was laid in a white linen cloth, with a Jack-o-lantern centerpiece in the shape of a pumpkin. Orange tapers burned in silver holders at each end of the table, added to the effect of the black and orange colors.

Places were marked for Bobbie Clark, Martha Thompson, June Power, Anna Pallmeyer, Tommie Scott Noel, Ouida Read, Neta Cudd, Hattie Den Ward.

Halloween hats were given as favors.

Hallowe'en Party Held

Betty Frances Fultz entertained with a Halloween party Wednesday evening at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy R. Fultz, 720 Cleveland.

The guests wearing various kinds of costumes were greeted on arriving by Betty Frances, dressed in Halloween costume. The Halloween colors, black and gold were noted in the decorations and refreshments.

Games in keeping with the festive day were enjoyed.

Following the games the guests were invited into the dining room where refreshments were served from the dining table cleverly decorated in the colors, centered with a yellow and black Jack-o-lantern, lighted with orange tapers which lent a soft glow to the color scheme.

Guests included: Billy Jo Prater, Gloria Scott, Frances Ann Compton, Katherine Milam, Jane Traver, Frances Clark, Jean Denny, Dwight Kinard, Hiram Wood, Billie Hood and Berry Crews Loffland.

Mr. and Mrs. Stokes Armstrong and son, Bobbie, of Corsicana, and Mrs. J. G. Berry and son, Wayne, of Waco, left yesterday for their home, after a visit with Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Stokes and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Milam.

Mr. and Mrs. Temple Deaver were visitors in Amarillo yesterday.

Entertain With Dinner

A 6 o'clock covered dish dinner was given at the home of Geraldine Kinard, 820 West Noel, with Tommie Ruth Potts, Anna Beth Leverett, Jackie Boren, Ann Pallmeyer, June Power, Jeanne Draper and Jeanette Watson assistant hostesses.

The Halloween theme was cleverly carried out in all the appointments. Foursome tables were attractively laid, centered with marigolds and zenias in colors of orange.

Covers were laid for Jesse Reed, C. W. Gowan, Thomas Kunkler, Pat Noel, Bill Joe Boren, Blackie Montgomery, Harold Foxhall, Tom Bob Harrison and hostesses.

Following the dinner the group went to the Memphis Country Club and spent a time dancing. The music was furnished by the G. W. Smith orchestra.

After dancing the group then attended the mid-night show.

Arthur Hargroves left Wednesday for his home in Fort Worth, after an extended visit here with his sister, Mrs. A. J. Harrison.

Pound Preacher

The congregation of the church of Christ celebrated the birthday of Dwain Jones, the Thursday night with a line, went to the pound. Groceries, octagon-shaped dining were among the presents.

Public Awaits New 1936 Chevrolet Line

TO BE SHOWN ON SATURDAY

Is Rumored They Are To Be Beautiful
In Line

The curiosity of the motoring public has been whetted by the rumors concerning the new 1936 model Chevrolet cars, which go on display at the Potts Chevrolet Company tomorrow, and there will no doubt be a crowd to greet the new cars when they are presented to the public for the first time.

Mr. Potts has had one or two of the new models hidden away for the past week, but even the most curious have been unable to get even a peek at them.

Rumors of new and more attractive lines and refinements in mechanical features have motorists all agog over the new cars.

Hydraulic brakes are to be a feature of the new Chevrolet for the first time.

Improved knee action and shock-proof steering are also listed among the improvements in the new cars.

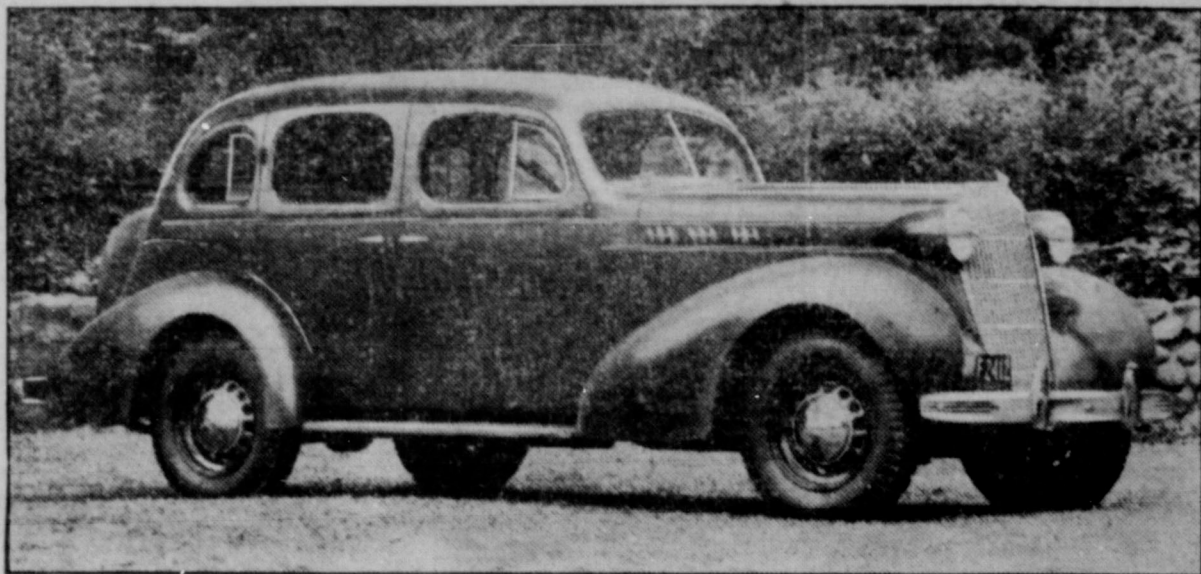

The new models will be on display at the Potts company, and the best way to find out all about them is to drop by tomorrow and give them the once-over.

DRESSES DISPLAY ROOM

In order to lend more attractive surroundings to his display room here when he gives the first official showing of the new 1936 Model Chevrolets tomorrow, Tom Potts, owner and manager of the Potts Chevrolet Company here, is having his display rooms re-decorated.

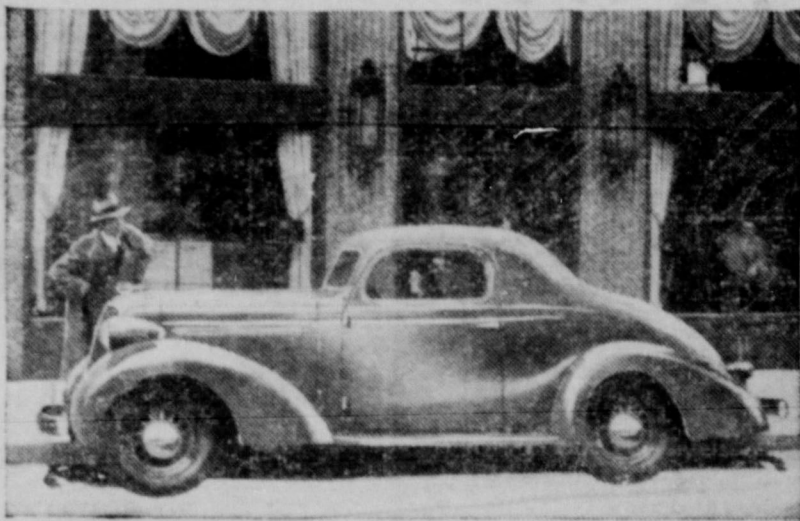

Both the inside and outside of his show rooms are being painted in white, and floors of the show rooms are being painted in large red and green squares.

THE CAR THAT HAS EVERYTHING

• Oldsmobile presents, in 1936, two new automobiles into which every proven feature has been engineered. These features include all those advantages which add to the comfort and safety of the passenger as well as the economy and performance of the motor. Important among the 1936 Oldsmobile features are livelier power, increased luxury and comfort, super-hydraulic brakes, center-control steering, solid steel "Turret Top" body by Fisher, knee-action wheels, smoother performance, increased all-around economy and safety glass as standard equipment in all models. The model pictured above is an Oldsmobile Six Four Door Touring Sedan.

Studebaker Dictator Coupe

Here is a Studebaker with rich personality—the Dictator coupe. It is available in either three or five passenger models. Its brand new 90 horsepower six cylinder engine gives it brilliant performance. The gracefully streamlined design is expected to win many friendships and the generous manner in which Studebaker body designers have spent money on interior luxuries make it a real "standout."

Ideal for Business or Personal Use

THE FIVE-WINDOW Ford V-8 Coupe for 1936 is especially suitable for business or personal use. There is plenty of space for luggage or parcels back of the seat. The rear deck has an exceptionally roomy compartment for baggage or sample cases, which can be reached from inside by swinging up the back of the front seat—a new feature. The rear window lowers and the windshield opens as in all Ford cars, a great convenience on hot days. Clear vision ventilation makes winter driving more comfortable. Available without de luxe appointments at less cost. Rumble seat optional on special order.

New Models

The new 1936 model automobiles which have so far made their appearance all go in for smoother streamlines, but not for freakish lines, as the pictures of the new Oldsmobile, Studebaker and Ford, on this page, will show.

With beauty in every line, the new models are sure to appeal to the motoring public of America.

BRAKES ON NEW OLDSMOBILE FEATURED

Momentum of the Car
Multiplies Power of Brakes

Self energizing and self equalizing super-hydraulic brakes are featured on the 1936 Oldsmobiles.

The hydraulic principle itself, by which pressure is exerted equally at all points at the same time, has meant the elimination of pulling or swerving when the brakes are applied, Oldsmobile engineers pointed out.

As outlined by these engineers the principle is this:

When pressure is applied to fluid in the master cylinder by use of the brake pedal, that fluid is forced by equal pressure to the cylinders in all four brakes. There can be no misalignment. The pressure on all four wheels automatically is the same . . . with the result that there is no swerving of the car to right or left when pressure is applied on the pedal.

The self energizing principle found on the Oldsmobile super hydraulic brakes, employs the momentum of the car to multiply braking power. Also, this braking system is completely sealed against dirt and water.

In various brake tests made under the supervision of many states and cities, Oldsmobile's super hydraulic brakes have been found to rank high. And hydraulic brakes have proven vastly superior to any other type, the records show.

The GOLDEN FEATHER

BEGIN HERE TODAY

JEAN DUNN, secretary to DONALD MONTAGUE, lawyer, delays her answer when Bobby Wallace, automobile salesman, asks Jean to marry him.

At The Golden Feather night club she meets SANDY HARKINS, whose business connections are vague. Sandy introduces Bobby and Jean to MR. and MRS. LEWIS and Bobby arranges to sell some bonds for Lewis. He sells them to Jean's employer.

LARRY GLENN, federal agent long a friend of Jean's parents, is trying to locate Wingy Lewis, Bank robber. Larry locates some of the bonds and questions SONNY BOYD, gambler, about them. Boyd confesses he bought the bonds from Donald Montague. Montague tells Larry he bought them from Bobby.

Larry talks to Bobby, learns Lewis bought a car recently, and suspects it is armored. Federal men go to Lewis' hotel, but he and his wife have disappeared.

Jean helps Sandy convince police he had nothing to do with a recent holdup. She goes to her home town for a vacation. Sandy comes to see her and asks her to marry him. Jean agrees. Later she wonders how she is going to tell Bobby.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXV

Bobby Wallace drove the shiny demonstrator roadster into the shop, turned off the switch, and got out.

"Those brakes need adjusting. Red," he called out to a long, sorrel-topped mechanic who came strolling over to him. "The left front one drags a bit. The prospect I had out just now noticed it. Can we have it fixed?"

Red nodded, chewing gum slowly. "I'll tell MacFarlane," he said. He looked dourly at the automobile. "Trouble is Mac isn't here now. Him and the boss went off somewhere this afternoon right after lunch and I don't know when they'll be back."

MacFarlane was superintendent of the repair shop of the State Auto Sales agency, and all orders for repairs to demonstrator cars were supposed to be routed through him. Bobby frowned.

"Listen, I got a prospect wants a demonstrator this evening," he said. "Can't I get a special job, if Mac doesn't get back in time?"

Red chewed his gum solemnly. He was notorious for a steady and undeviating pessimism.

"I suppose," he said, "I'll probably get in bad for it."

"I'll take the blame," said Bobby. "You say Mac went off with the boss? Where'd they go?"

"Search me. Very mysterious. Mac was getting busy with that job over there—he jerked his thumb at a sedan whose hood was crumpled up like an accordion—when Hopkins came out and called him. They talked for a minute and then they went away together."

"Oh. Well if you can get this brake fixed before evening I'll appreciate it."

Bobby walked back to the sales room, wondering where the shop foreman and the head of the agency could have gone. He remembered Larry Glenn's admonition to keep his eyes on everything that seemed in the least degree out of the ordinary; in the hope that he could unearth some sort of clew to the whereabouts of the plant where the armored cars were made; could this afternoon's doings have any connection with that? He made his way to the little desk that was his, in the back of the show room, and sat down, frowning with the effort of thought.

Tim O'Mara, fellow salesman, sauntered over to borrow a fatch.

"Where's the boss?" asked Bobby, as Tim lighted up.

"Oh, he went out somewhere," said Tim. "I saw him and MacFarlane getting into the boss's roadster about 2 o'clock. My own hunch is that they went out to the ball game. It's a nice day for it."

Bobby grinned and pocketed the matches that Tim handed him. Hopkins went to many ball games, but he was not the sort of man to take his shop foreman along.

When evening came Bobby made a hasty supper in a nearby restaurant, and then returned to the agency. He went back to the shop and found his demonstrator waiting for him. The red-headed mechanic was gone, but he had left a tag on the steering wheel bearing the words, "The brake drum is worn down. I fixed it OK for now but she needs a new one. Tell Mac."

Bobby threw the tag away and was about to get into the car when he saw Mark Hopkins' neat blue roadster parked against the opposite wall. So the boss and the foreman had got back, had they? He leaned against his car, meditating briefly; then he crossed the shop and stood looking at the car the men had used.

Julius, the colored man who took care of the shop nights, was coming up with a bucket in on hand and a length of hose in the other. He grinned when he saw Bobby.

"Boss sure got her dirty today," he said. "Told me to wash 'er up good right off."

The roadster was dirty, undeniably. It had gleaming wire wheels, and an abundance of bright chromium-steel on hood and bumpers; and these were plastered with a peculiar reddish dust that completely obscured their ordinary brilliance.

"Now where you suppose they got that kind of mud?" mused the Negro, bending to look at it. "Ain't no roads around this part of the country got red mud I seen plenty down here, but ain't none around here."

That was true. The soil part of the country was a loam which deposited a mud of a tan color. The car was almost black.

"Looks like iron ore," Bobby, Julius connected to a wall fitting and Bobby to stand back lest

"Uh-huh," he said, twisting connection tight. "She like iron ore. I don't know what that on it. he could of got that on it."

traced a road that ducked under a railroad bridge, skirted the rear of the steel plant's enormous reservation, running between the factory and a railroad yard, and then came out on a long slant, running off to join—yes, Central street—at right angle.

Hmm, said Bobby, maybe it matches up after all. The Central street bridge is closed for repairs. So if he wanted to go out here, he'd have to detour, and this back road, Pulaski road, it is—would take him. But why go so far out? There's plenty of other cross streets that'd feed him into Central street a lot sooner, and more directly, too. Why go along Pulaski?

At last the solution came to him. Hopkins' destination must have been on Pulaski street itself, beyond the steel plant. Ordinarily he would have gone out Central and then turned down Pulaski; with the bridge closed, he had had to take another way, which caused him to go down Pulaski from the other end—which was why he had had to pass the steel plant at a point where, according to Julius, the ore dumps covered the road with this rubbish dust. His goal, then, must have been on Pulaski, somewhere between the steel mill and Central street.

There was nothing more Bobby could do now; but the next morning, getting away from the sales room as soon as he could, Bobby went to a drive-it-yourself agency, hired a car, and set out to see what he could see.

He reached Pulaski road, an ill-favored, poorly-paved street, and followed it. Before long the high red towers of the Empire Steel plant loomed up on his right. His heart gave a bound of excitement as he saw that on the opposite side of the street there was a great ore dump, where the railroad cars were emptied; and over head, crossing the road like a series of conveyors by which ore was moved from the dump to the furnaces. And the road beyond was heavy with reddish dust!

A vitally important and timely community welfare suggestion presented by the Chamber of Commerce, through the cooperation of the Democrat.

In the efforts all good citizens are now making to increase employment and restore prosperity and happiness in this community, nothing is of more vital importance than to see that our buying is done here.

Money spent elsewhere is of no benefit to the community, but money spent here benefits every adult and child, every business and professional man and woman, every firm and corporation, and every school, club, theatre and church in the community.

Whether it be a spool of thread or an automobile . . . BUY IT HERE!

He drove along with mounting excitement, past the steel mill and the railroad yards, between a long double line of unpainted wooden houses, mean and disreputable in appearance. The region was a slum, and a miserable one; what had brought the elegant Mark Hopkins down here?

Pulaski road went up a low rise and swung to the right diagonally. Vacant lots and shacks made up the landscape; of factories, or business houses of any kind, there was no sign. Ahead, within plain sight now, was Central street, where Pulaski road ended. Was this a wild goose chase, then, after all?

Disconsolately, Bobby slowed down the car, turned around, and started back. And then he saw something he had not noticed before; a cindered driveway that went off to the left, between two grassless vacant lots, and disappeared around a bend in a place where the rolling, tenantless, desolate land formed a shallow valley.

"That must be it," mused

Bobby. "There's no other possibility. I'll just find out."

He spun the wheel and started off along the lonely driveway.

The Wastebasket

By M. E. & D. D.
The Cubs added more feathers to their "pillows" last week when they defeated the Turks 6-0.

The war clouds are getting lighter. We hope all this "Carnival Business" comes out all right.

Imagine our surprise when we saw two Senior girls and a pep squad leader playing marbles in front of the gym last Tuesday afternoon!

Dorothy Allen seemed frightened last week when she saw "The Whole Student Body" outside the door when the Seniors were having a class meeting.

We heard that Mr. Ballard lost a "thick malt" to Ed Clifton because he made a touchdown in the game with Silverton.

"Elmer" created lots of excitement when he visited the study hall last week asking for his "Uncle" Carl Bailey.

We're glad to have Bergen Watkins, who is recovering from an appendicitis operation, back in school.

Although the weather was unfavorable, the high school was pretty well represented at the pep show last week and from all accounts there was plenty of "action".

Did you know that there were thirteen boys from Memphis in Estelline during the week-end calling on Estelline girls? It seems that Estelline boys have taken up the habit and are calling on the Memphis girls.

MAKES FIELD TRIP

The Vocational Agriculture class of Estelline high school took a field trip to Mr. John Ewen's farm on Thursday afternoon to see a trench silo demonstration and his poultry, hog, and beef cattle plants.

Varied Assembly Program Is Held At School Last Week

Pep Squad Gives Rally For Contest

The program for the regular weekly assembly was begun last week with a vocal number given by ten fourth grade children accompanied by Miss Rogers. Next, twelve sixth grade girls sang "The Gondolier" which was also accompanied by Miss Rogers. Immediately following this selection, true school spirit was shown when four of the girls from the lower grammar grades sang two of the school songs.

The student body was officially introduced to the new teacher, Miss Margaret Pooler, by Mr. Bailey. Following this introduction, Billy Admire played and sang two popular selections, namely, "Darkness On The Delta," and "Spend An Evening In Caroline".

Coach Curnutt gave the high lights of the game with Silverton and asked for support in the game with Turkey. He especially wanted all who possible could to attend this game since it was the last game to be played away from the home field this season. He also stressed the fact that the game with Lakeview, the following week, would be, by far, the most outstanding game of the season and said that the "Eagles" would be "hard to beat." However, at this particular rally, those present were most concerned about the game with Turkey.

Following these reports from the coach, the Juniors stated the fact that "Elmer" would pay Estelline a visit Wednesday night and that they were to receive a percentage of the door receipts for the annual Junior-Senior Banquet fund.

After all announcements had been made, the pep leaders divided the student body in equal divisions and led them in yells. Hence ended another of the school pep rallies and, the boys went away feeling that the school as a whole was behind them, whether they won or lost the game with Turkey.

T. M. Potts and W. C. Chapman went to Oklahoma City yesterday to attend a Chevrolet Sales meeting.

Cubs Victorious In Turkey Tussle

The Cubs upheld their good record last week when they beat the Turks 6-0. Both teams were held back because of the wet and heavy field, hence the first downs were about equal.

Neither team penetrated the twenty yard line until late in the last period. Clifton intercepted a pass on the fifty yard line, and after running twenty yards, lateraled the ball to Leatherwood who carried it over the line for the game's single counter.

Those standing out for blocking and good defensive work were Sims, Landers, Davis, and Kercheville, while Adams and Leatherwood made more yardage gains.

The Junior class sponsored two different projects last Thursday, in order to raise funds for the Junior-Senior banquet. The first was that they invited a photographer to come to school to take pictures of those who wanted their pictures taken. The photographer took nearly every student's and faculty member's picture in school. The class will receive a percentage of the total returns from the sale of the pictures.

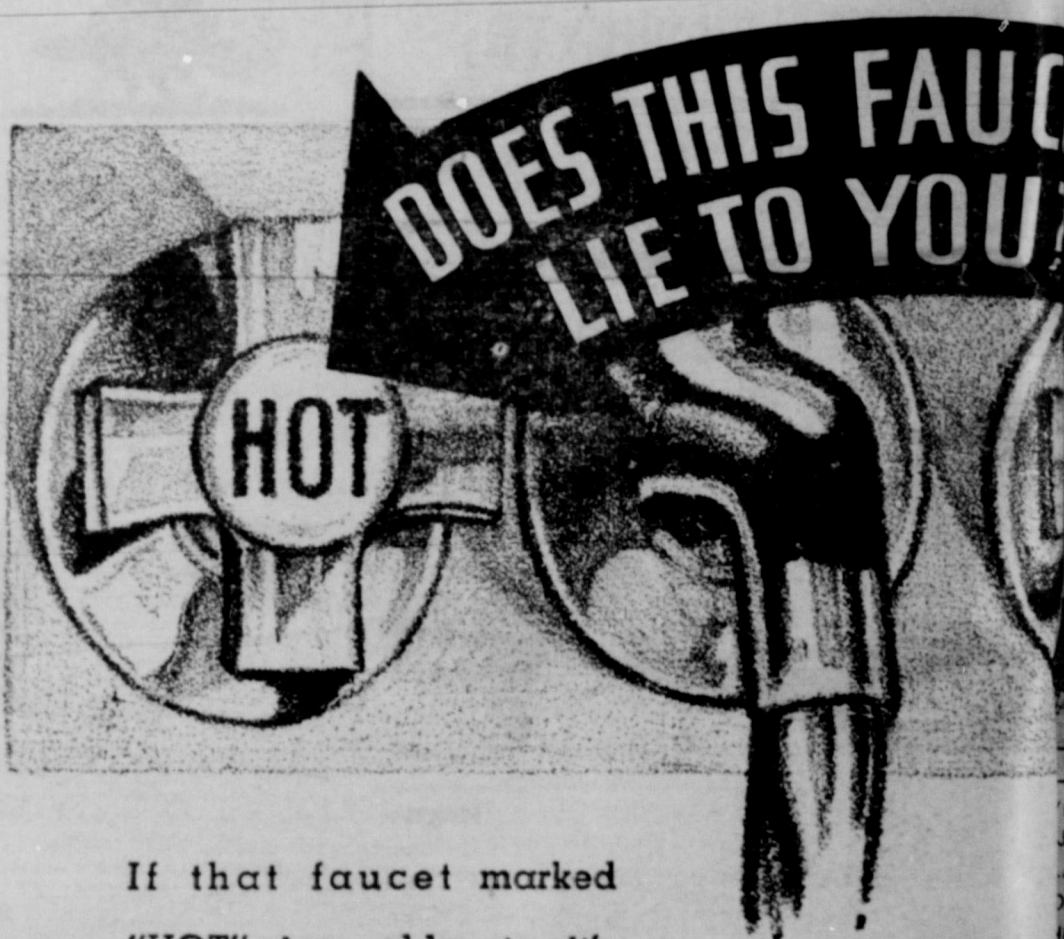

The second project was when the class sponsored the well-known "Elmer" on Thursday night in an entertainment open to the general public. Elmer, as a method of advertisement, made his first appearance in the study hall Thursday afternoon where he gave a brief but fun-provoking performance.

New Agriculture Class Organized

A group of boys in the Vocational Agriculture class, in the High School, organized a new agriculture class for boys in the school. The group will meet every first and third nights of each month, to discuss the livestock industry, problems pertaining to it.

The following boys are ready enrolled: Jim Felix Williams, Loyd Fredrick Breeden, Tom J. T. Gilbert, and Obley.

The Juniors reported was a large and appreciative out to see Elmer, though the weather was able that night. He was at the crowd" and gave which were truly worth all those present saw certainly got their worth" from the entertainment.

Shower For Bride

Mrs. A. B. Scott, a recent bride was complimented with a bridal shower yesterday afternoon given by Miss Lorena Scott at the home of her sister, Mrs. Jack Youree, on South Sixth Street.

As the guests arrived they were asked to register in the bride's book.

The guest list included: Mrs. T. B. Ward, Mrs. E. Melton, Mrs. L. E. Hill, Mrs. C. W. Lewellen, Mrs. Artie Nabors, Mrs. Maudie Nabors, Mrs. O. R. Nabors, Mrs. Chas. Pullen, Mrs. R. S. Bradley, Mrs. B. N. Scott, Mrs. W. W. Ward and Misses Nell Bradley and Frances Scott.

Refreshments were served after the many lovely gifts had been unwrapped and admired by the guests.

A pleasant warning, issued by a smiling, raffle policeman, would help prevent accidents, says Detroit commissioner. We'd imagine the dazed driver would collide with the first thing that passed.

Rev. and Mrs. C. H. Russell arrived yesterday from Electra and spent the day with Rev. Russell's sister, Mrs. T. J. Rea. They were en route to Sulphur Springs, where Rev. Russell will serve as pastor of the First Methodist Church. He has been pastor of the Methodist church at Electra and was transferred to Sulphur Springs last week. They were accompanied by Mrs. Russell's mother, Mrs. S. H. Lovell, of Clarendon.

most altogether so far this year in the capacity of a blocker, but he is expected to do things with the ball tonight. Childress, although weighing only 125 pounds, is a good blocker and a strength in the line.

Ben Scott, husky Cyclone end, will probably not receive the nod from Walker to start, and his position will be filled by Davis, who starred at the wing in last week's game with Shamrock by snatching several difficult passes. Scott will likely see some service, though.

The Memphis forward wall will be concerned chiefly in stopping Captain Williams, big 175 pound Wellington fullback. Austin, quarter, is an elusive runner, and he may cause the Cyclone some unhappy minutes. McCauley, tackle, and Yarbrough, guard, are said to be the most powerful on the defense for the Rockets.

NO FREEZE

Despite weather bureau warnings of a severe freeze in the Panhandle last night, the minimum temperature registered in this city last night was 37 degrees, according to the local weather bureau instruments. No frost was apparent, except perhaps in low places protected from the wind.

Mrs. W. W. Williamson of this city and Mrs. Alvin White of Lakeview spent yesterday in Amarillo.
