Anti-New Dealers Charged With Hiding Behind Garner

(By The Associated Press)

DALLAS, April 24 — Anti-Roosevelt forces that "dare not come out in the open" are masking their efforts as the Garner-for-president campaign, Undersecretary of the Interior Alvin J. Wirtz charged in a speech prepared for delivery at a Roosevelt third-term rally here tonight.

Characterizing Vice President John Garner as "that grand old man from Uvalde," Wirtz said:

"The truth of the matter is that the Garner-for-president campaign in Texas is not being handled by real friends of John Garner. The fact is that it isn't even a Garner-for-president campaign. Hiding behind this kindly old figure are forces that dare not come out in the open. Taking advantage of our friendly regard for him are certain men who know that they can not openly secure our participation in their effort to stop the New Deal.

"There is a stop Roosevelt campaign—a stop Roosevelt at any cost campaign.

"Some of the people who are behind this campaign have been trying to stop the New Deal for seven years . . . These people have no faith in the possibility of nominating their candidate. If they ever thought Garner had a chance for the Democratic nomination, the results of the primaries so far held in other states have by now dispelled every doubt. He has failed to get even a respectable share of the votes in any of the states where primaries have been held.

The men who are purporting to manage Garner's campaign can not point to a single state which he has the remotest chance of carrying, save only Texas, and in Texas it is such a forlorn hope that they are resorting to the time-worn plea of state pride . . . The Garner campaign is simply a Trojan horse with which to capture the Texas delegation. These ambassadors of Wall street in Texas want to be able to play poker with the Texas vote at the Democratic national conven-

Texas Fugitive Is Blamed With Man's Robbery

Salesman Says His Assailant Is Dick Broyles, Convict

(By The Associated Press)

CUSHING, Okla., April 24. — All roads in this area were blocked by state highway patrolmen tonight after an automobile salesman was abducted and robbed by a man he said was Dick Broyles, fugitive Texas convict.

Police Chief Floyd Stroup said the salesman, Claude Pierce, 24, identified a rouge's gallery picture of Broyles as the prospective customer who asked for a demonstration of a car this afternoon and then robbed him near Stroud, Broyles' home town.

Victim's Story

Pierce's story of the kidnaping and robbery was this:

"This man came in and asked to be shown some cars. He finally asked for a demonstration of a 1940 Plymouth. We drove east on route 33 and then turned south on 99 towards Stroud.

"Suddenly I noticed he had a gun in his lap.

"He told me to be careful and keep my hands on the wheel. About five miles from Stroud he made me get out of the car and searched me. He took $7 in cash. We got back in the car and drove to Cushing where we bought nine gallons of gas."

To Go To Seminole

Pierce said that after driving about the vicinity for an hour the men let him out on a side road, saying he was going to Seminole tonight.

Pierce caught a ride to Cushing from a passing motorist. His physical description of the man fits Broyles, who escaped last week from deputies who were taking him from Wichita Falls, Tex., to the state prison at Huntsville.

Broyles is under a 25-year sentence for armed robbery.

Area Patrolled

Deputies from Lincoln and Creek counties have been patrolling this area since yesterday, when a former acquaintance said he had been "persuaded" to drive Broyles out of Stroud. He left the car six miles out of Stroud.

The acquaintance told Sheriff Marvin Roberts that Broyles had boasted he was the man who abducted Mr. and Mrs. Wright Godfrey at Comanche Sunday night and forced them to drive to Chandler.

Broyles was reported to have said he went to Stroud to meet his wife but learned she had gone to Drumright.

German Assault Is Victorious At Steinkjer

British Strive To Regain Ground By Patching Defense

(By The Associated Press)

ALLIED and Norwegian forces, pushed out of Steinkjer by a furious German assault, dug into new positions six miles north today and presented an unbroken front to nazi soldiers in that sector of embattled Norway.

While the fighting lulled in the Steinkjer area a German flanking force was speeding up the Glomma river in eastern Norway near the Swedish border. That force was converging on the town of Roros, 180 miles north of Oslo and about 100 miles south of Steinkjer, on a straight line.

To Split Forces

The strategy of the German forces seemed to be to cut off Allied forces in the vicinity of Lillehammer, 90 miles above Oslo and to control the main line of communications inland from strategically-located Trondheim.

Reports on the fighting received at Stockholm said airplanes with the German force converging on Roros bombed effectively a Norwegian troop train carrying 165 soldiers at a point north of Tynset, now occupied by the Germans. Tynset is 115 miles southeast of Trondheim. Roros, expected to be in German hands at any moment, is 45 miles north of Tynset.

Reports on the Norway land fighting, through Stockholm, told of a pitched battle at Steinkjer, 50 miles northeast of Trondheim, where reinforced German batallions met and beat back Allied and Norwegian troops. Steinkjer was reported in German hands, but the nazis' opponents were said to be still holding many important positions north of the town.

Town Only A Shell

The picturesque fjord hamlet was a shell of a town, blasted by artillery and air bombardment.

Norway's king, Haakon VII, flung defiance at Germany from his secret headquarters, declaring in a proclamation addressed to the president of the Norwegian supreme court that "there is no basis for negotiation" between the Norwegian government and the Reich.

The king declined to give recognition to the new administrative council formed in German-held Oslo.

At Narvik the situation was reported unchanged, with the Allies organizing their forces to fall on that important iron ore port.

Southeast, several thousand more Allied troops were understood to have reached the Lillehammer area, from where they will try to fan out through south Norway.

Britain declared her air force was getting in heavy licks at Germany, having bombed five nazi air bases in Norway, Denmark and in Germany proper.

With 2,000,000 men under arms in the empire against whatever the war this summer may bring, Britain also took comfort in the thought that the Allies now have 7,000,000

Five Suspects Are Arrested In Fire Which Claimed 198

Negroes Burned In Dance Hall; Probe Launched

(By The Associated Press)

NATCHEZ, Miss., April 24 — Police Chief Joe Serio said tonight he had arrested five suspects, whose names he withheld, in connection with the fire which killed at least 198 negroes here last night in the moss-draped Rhythm night club.

Two other suspects were being sought.

Serio said the arrests were based on statements that several drunken negroes were overhead threatening to set the building on fire.

Rumors Scouted

Earlier Sheriff Hyde Jenkins had said rumors of a firebug were scouted and all indications pointed to accidental start of the blaze. Mayor William J. Byrne promised an immediate investigation.

Dr. Andrew Hedmeg, Adams county health officer, announced tonight the official count showed 198 dead. He said the state board of health had closed the city's three negro undertaking establishments until embalming is completed.

Due to swapping of bodies among the establishments during the day, the undertakers became confused in their count and late today had reported a total of 253 dead.

Money For Relief

The Red Cross moved swiftly to render relief in the South's worst fire disaster.

Driven back from the only door in the dance hall by smoke and blinding flames which raced with almost explosive force through the dry Spanish moss hanging from the rafters eight feet above their heads, the victims—men, women and children—died in heaps, piling one upon the other waist deep in their fierce effort to escape.

When after a 15-minute fight the volunteer firemen had extinguished the flames, some moaning survivors were found under the mounds of scorched bodies. Twenty of these died en route to hospitals. Eleven others died during the day.

Musicians Die

Those who escaped had to battle their way through the small, front door, slide through the ticket-sellers window, or smash through a boarded-up window in the rear behind the bar.

Officials estimated that about 300 negro friends and members of the Moneymasters' social club jammed into the dance hall, which had been converted from a blacksmith shop and was completely covered with corrugated iron, to hear Walter Barnes' negro name band from Chicago. The covering made an oven of the interior.

Barnes and a majority of his mu-

Spending Probe Hits Nebraska

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 24 — An investigation of money-spending in the recent Nebraska presidential primary—in which Thomas E. Dewey defeated Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) and President Roosevelt was unopposed—was ordered today by the Senate campaign funds investigating committee.

Chairman Gillette (D-Iowa) announced that committee investigators would be dispatched to the state and would go, as well, to West Virginia to scrutinize expenditures in the senatorial primary there. In the Democratic primary in West Virginia Senator Holt is opposed by former Governor H. G. Kump.

No Hint Given

Senator Gillette would give no faintest intimation as to just which candidate or candidates were involved in the complaints from Nebraska.

As to West Virginia, Gillette said that if information which has reached the committee is substantiated "even in part" it would indicate a "control of election machinery which is subversive and destructive of the opportunity of the electorate to register its opinion at the polls." Two or hree sections of the state were involved, he said, particularly Kanawha county, in which Charleston, the state capital, is situated.

Senator Neely (D-WVA) told reporters he had requested the Gillette committee to investigate in his state, and also had asked Attorney General Jackson to order an inquiry by agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. As to the latter request, Neely would only say that his

The plaintiff, who claims to have bought up oil and gas leases on 13,650 acres of land in Leon county, alleged that Candidate Brooks last January agreed to pay him 50 cents an acre for the leases.

Suspect Admits Many Forgeries

A 29-year-old Lubbock man admitted in a statement signed early today he and another man literally had scattered forged checks throughout the South Plains.

The accomplice, a 42-year-old Matador man, was arrested here Tuesday night and taken to Floydada. The younger man was arrested Wednesday night at his residence here. He was held in county jail early this morning.

Many Blank Checks

John Stapleton, Floyd county attorney, took the statement.

The suspect said he had 200 blank checks printed two months ago for Tribune Mercantile company of Chicago, a ficticious firm. He admitted forging at least 12 of the checks.

Hoyt Curry, Plainview police chief, said bad checks had been traced to the pair in Plainview, Olton, Farwell, Floydada, Crosbyton, Cone, Abernathy, Anton, Sudan and Earth. Curry said charges would be filed today at Plainview.

Likewise, Victor H. Lindsey, assistant district attorney, said charges would be filed in Crosbyton and Walter Hollums, Floydada deputy sheriff, said he would file charges.

Chester Pass of Plainview identified the suspect as the man who re-

Detroit's Past Mayor Faces Indictment

DETROIT, April 24 (AP) — The grand jury investigating graft and gambling in Detroit today charged Richard W. Reading, mayor in 1938 and 1939, with conspiring to protect the policy house racket, estimated to have done a $10,000,000 annual business here for many years.

Accused with Reading were Duncan C. McCrea, Wayne county prosecutor; Fred W. Frahm, recently deposed as Detroit police superintendent; Harry Colburn, McCrea's chief investigator, and 25 present or former members of the police department.

Reading said upon appearing for arraignment that the action against him is "a lot of nonsense." He added:

"It is ridiculous. I don't even know what policy is."

Communists Work On American Ships

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 24. — Fred M. Howe, an ousted official of a marine radio union, told the Dies committee today that the communist party had placed 150 radio operators aboard American ships, including the yacht of former Ambassador Joseph E. Davies, through control of the CIO's American Communications association.

The witness testified that the international executive board of the ACA had employed a "goon squad" to remove him forcibly and illegally as secretary of local No. 2 of the American Radio Telegraphers association, New York. The latter organization, he said, had been taken over by the CIO union as its marine division.

Charges "Hysterical"

Howe said that Mervin Rathbone, head of the American Communications association and recently appointed by President Roosevelt to the advisory council of the National Youth administration, followed the communist party line.

Denying that his organization was communist controlled, Rathbone commented in New York that Howe's charges were "hysterical" and "surprised no one acquainted with the infamous role he has played and is now playing in the trade union movement."

Howe declared also that he had seen a radio operator named "Stano," whom he identified as a communist, aboard Davies' yacht Sea Cloud at a time when its owner was ambassador to Belgium.

Davies Doubts It

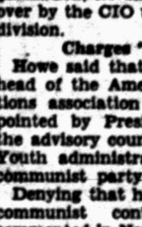

This testimony brought a statement from Davis, now special assistant to Secretary of State Hull, that George Stando had been chief wireless operator on the Sea Cloud since 1934.

"He is an excellent operator, quiet, efficient, reliable and thoroughly trusted by his captain," Davies added. "I do not know his politics or his religion. If he is a communist, it would be a great surprise not only to me but also to his shipmates, and I do not think he is."

SEES THREAT—Speaking in a thick brogue, Thomas Humphrey O'Shea, above, former New York City subway worker, told the Dies committee in Washington that with their present power the communists could paralyze the city's transport system.

SEATTLE, April 24.—A father's dream of starting life again at 49 in the Alaskan wilderness with his wife and seven children ended in tears and his arrest here late today, and only his wife and a four-year-old hysterical daughter were left aboard their homemade Ark in which they were attempting a dangerous 2,000-mile voyage to the Northland.

Fighting to the last to hold his family together, courageous Paul Satko was arrested by six policemen and a police woman on his 40-foot boat for resisting an officer. His frightened children, age two and one-half to 13, scurried for cover and authorities had to seek them from hiding places.

French Turn Eyes To Sweden As Nazi Troops Sail For Unknown Destinat

Patrol Clashes Staged On West

By ROY P. FORTER
Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, April 24 —The French high command riveted its attention on Sweden tonight, sources close to the war office disclosed, following reports that troop-filled German transports had steamed out of Baltic ports for an undisclosed destination.

Confirmation of this report was lacking immediately, but accounts published in Paris have noted nazi troops concentrations at the Baltic ports of Lubeck, Stralsund, Konigsberg and Danzig, as well as several Danish Coastal points.

Future Considered

These German concentrations, linked here with French reports of repeated violations of Swedish territory by German warplanes, caused grave consideration of Sweden's future.

A war ministry spokesman interpreted as a "grave menace" to Sweden the reported nazi troops embarkations.

The presence of icebreakers accompanying the nazi transports was taken to indicate that the fleet intended to operate further north in the Baltic than the vicinity of the Danish straits, through which troop ships for Norway pass.

The war ministry spokesman did not rule out the possibility that the German troops may be intended to reinforce the nazi expeditionary force in southern Norway.

Planes Are Downed

Premier Paul Reynaud met for four hours with his council of ministers to report on decisions taken at the eighth meeting of the Allied supreme war council yesterday. The immediate future course of the Allies, now joined by Poland and Norway, remained cloaked in strictest secrecy.

On the western front, the French high command reported that two patrol clashes east of the Moselle "turned to our advantage."

Its night communique said also that French scouting planes flew as deep into enemy territory as Prague Monday night and that one German scouter was downed on French soil last night.

Norwegians Swear They Will Seek Revenge For Treachery

By FRANCIS McEACHEN
United Press Staff Correspondent

MELLERUD, Sweden, April 24.—A Norwegian youth told the United Press at Oslo that 400 young reservists who believed they had been betrayed to the Germans by their officers took an oath that "we would avenge this crime."

I talked to the youth in the German-occupied Norwegian capital yesterday before returning to Sweden and he claimed that he and other reservists had been forcibly disarmed on the day of German occupation because of treachery.

Hundreds Take Oath

"As we trudged our way back to our homes, we thought of our superiors who had betrayed the king and the country and then and there 400 of us took an oath that we would avenge this crime," he said.

The youth was unable to get out of Oslo to join the Norwegian troops at that time but since then, I was told, the entire student body of Oslo university has escaped from the capital and gone north to join the fighting forces.

Here is what the youth told me:

Had Received Card

"Last December I received a card which gave the name and address of a lieutenant to whom I was to report if a mobilization order were ever issued. Other friends of mine received the same cards.

"When the Germans landed on April 9th, mobilization was ordered and I reported for duty. With other youths, I marched to a fort outside Oslo where uniforms, rifles, bayonets and cartridges were distributed but we were told not to leave the grounds. We waited all day.

"Then at dawn the next day, we were informed instructions would soon arrive from the high command. About 5 p. m., several lorries filled with German soldiers with rifles and machine guns at the ready rushed into the courtyard and occupied the fort. They seemed to know what they were doing in detail and with amazing speed they took over all strategic points. We could not imagine treachery could go so far.

Had No Alternative

"A German officer ordered us to hand over our weapons and return home. We had no alternative."

I saw 2,000 German troops enter Oslo harbor Sunday aboard mine sweepers, cutters and small torpedo boats, and probably an additional 1,000 arrived aboard transport planes from Denmark.

The spirit of Norwegians in the occupied zone has risen with news that the Allies are in Norway, and even news that the Allies had decided to bomb the outskirts of Oslo, seeking to destroy the airports, caused a thrill to sweep the city.

Sentry Is Shot

A German sentry was shot from a window of a passing street car Sunday. The Germans halted all traffic, everybody in the vicinity was searched for a gun but the assailant was not found.

An official notice posted through Oslo now says that any civilian bearing arms, any one found destroying roads, bridges, or railroads, anyone who disrupts traffic or cuts telephone or telegraph communications, any soldier found using "dum dum" bullets, and anyone giving details of movements of German naval, land or air forces, will be shot at once.

The escape of the university students was an indication of higher spirit among the people of Oslo. On the pretext that they were going hiking or skiing in the country the students left in groups of about 25. They never returned, but went north to join Norwegian troops.

Bicycled To Oslo

I reached Oslo by bicycling through the Norwegian and German lines north of Kongsvinger, I went straight on on Oslo where I was interned at a hotel for two days before I received authorization from the Germans to tour the city and return to Sweden. I arrived at this town in southern Sweden, on Lake Vanearn, yesterday.

Cycling to Oslo, I received the impression that Norwegian resistance along the way had been stiffer than the Germans had expected. But the Germans were making their way slowly north, taking Swedish frontier points as they went.

In the Skarnes area, I found, civilians had made a stand with hunting rifles against the Germans. Farmers had fought from behind barriers across roads—barriers which German machine guns quickly splintered.

Two Hundred Killed

I was told that in these defenses the Norwegians had killed about 200 young Germans, whose bodies had been cremated in a barn to which the Germans set fire.

Apparently the Germans were using two types of troops, one of storm troopers, the other of older men intended to remain in occupation of territory taken.

The occupation troops are suffering casualties. Two truck loads of them, I was told, were driven by Norwegian drivers off a bridge south of Skarnes, and another was driven over an embarkment at Galattrud. Each carried about 40 soldiers, who were killed.

The Germans in the streets, hotels and cafes of Oslo display a dominating but an orderly attitude. They pay for everything in reichsmarks for which they receive the equivalent of about 40 cents in American money, the nominal quotation for the mark. It is new money.

The Germans have requisitioned automobiles and trucks. Staple products are gradually disappearing and are being used to feed the daily influx of soldiers.

So far there was no signs of a serious food shortage in Oslo but it was reported that there would be strict rationing soon.

Total Of $75 Allotted For Officer's Teeth

DALLAS, April 24. (AP)—Councilmen today appropriated $75 for a policeman's false teeth.

Patrolman C. C. McKeever, in the line of duty, suffered a fractured jaw. The jaw healed but failed to take its old shape. Patrolman McKeever had a plate of teeth which wouldn't fit his "new" mouth.

Today City Manager James Aston ruled that the city must make Patrolman McKeever a normal citizen again. The council told the policeman to get a new plate "on them."

Woman Slayer Must Pay Highest Penalty

adio as a medium has become a powerful commercial entity," the report said, "an inevitable gravitation associates it increasingly, and in many of its best uses, with newspaper operation."

The committee quoted a Federal Communications commission official as saying there was room for 200 to 400 more stations in the conventional broadcast band, and said that the development of frequency modulation would make possible the establishment of low-cost stations in the smaller communities.

The committee on cooperation of press, bar and radio said progress toward "appeasement" of differences between the press and radio on one side and the bar on the other was expected at a meeting of the various parties here Friday.

"We can agree on pretty much everything except the use of cameras and microphones in court," the committee said. "It remains to be seen what can be done about that."

Spending Trend

A. V. Miller of the New York Herald-Tribune, chairman of the committee on social security, reported a "trend of effort to spend more and more money" through the operation of social security laws. He recommended that the association support the so-called "experience rating", or "merit rating" or "merit rating" method of determining benefits.

"For the calendar year, 1939," Miller said, "the secretary of the treasury advises that the unemployment trust funds in his custody increased $445,000,000 or 30 per cent of the taxes paid. This is the excess of unemployment taxes paid over benefits paid by all of the states. So long as these tax funds accumulate at such an unwarranted rate, there will be increasing pressure for spending 'liberation.'

"The total in the unemployment trust funds as of Dec. 31 was $1,530,185,405. All of this was drained from the current channels of business over the five past years in excess of benefits paid."

The Bata works in Prague, largest shoe producer in the world, has made several million pairs of the "ersatz" shoes. They cost more than the leather ones Bata produced before Czechoslovakia fell to Germany but the leather shortage now is more acute than the shortage of wood.

CARDUI'S principal help for such distress comes from the way it usually stimulates appetite; increases flow of gastric juice; thus aids digestion; helps build energy, strength, physical resistance to periodic pain for many.

Tourist Travel In U.S. Booms

DALLAS, April 24 (AP)—The war in Europe has proved a decided stimulus to domestic tourist travel, Edward J. Engel of Chicago, president of the Santa Fe railroad system, declared here today.

Engel and other officers and directors of the Santa Fe system were in Dallas on an inspection tour of the railroad's properties. They were guests at a luncheon.

Little Effect In West

Early last fall, Engel pointed out, the railroad he heads prepared for the anticipated war-born business increase by repairs and replacement of cars, locomotives and other equipment.

"But so far," he said, "the way has had comparatively little effect in the west." Eastern lines, he continued, have felt the quickening pace of industrial activity along the Atlantic seaboard.

Illustrating the tourist traffic upswing, however, he cited the record of a Santa Fe train running twice-weekly between Chicago and Los Angeles. With chair cars only, it makes the run in 39 hours, and the trip consistently has had peak loads.

No Texas Depression

Engel said he doubted whether there would be an immediate and large tourist travel increase into or out of the Southwest. He explained that tourist attractions in this section were not yet heavily concentrated enough to justify the ingress, and that the "semi-retired" class of people who travel most is not yet numerous enough to provide heavy travel from this section.

He declared that the current tour, being made on a private train, Diesel-powered and streamlined, is not only for inspection of Santa Fe properties but "to show Texas again to our officers and directors."

"I have always found in Texas," he said, "less signs of depression than anywhere else." He commented further on the great amount of building going on.

NEW LIFE

Why these figures lie about the age of an OIL-PLATED engine

Not thousands of miles, but thousandths-of-an-inch tell an engine's true age.

Tiny thousandths-of-an-inch of metal, gone forever, can make a 1940 job seem old because it noisily gobbles up oil, while many an engine of the 1930's is still quietly taking baby-portions of oil because patented Conoco Germ Processed oil has kept it OIL-PLATED.

Those vital thousandths-of-an-inch stay on better, because OIL-PLATING itself stays on. The extra man-made substance in Conoco Germ Processed oil won't let OIL-PLATING go draining down altogether for a single moment in May, June, July, August and beyond . . . never while you're using Germ Processed oil.

Let your engine do its last bit of unplated mileage now, driving to Your Mileage Merchant's Conoco station. As you drive out you will know you have taken your last chance this Summer of starting up dry—harshly—at your engine's peril . . . Not with Germ Processed oil keeping your engine OIL-PLATED—making it seem "under-age," judged by its oil economy. Continental Oil Company

TAKE AN IQ TEST

TEST your horse sense. Select the answer which you consider best. The last problem counts five points. Then look for the correct answers at the end of the column.

1. The "black widow" should remind one of a pirate ship, satin, flower, spider.

2. Dining at his sweetheart's home, a young man dunked his cake in his coffee. She considered this a faux pas, tete a tete, a la carte, coup d'etat.

3. Which is usually considered the best position for an advertisement: Upper right hand page, lower right hand page, upper left hand page, lower left hand page.

4. A niblick should remind one of restaurants, painters, golfers, sailors.

5. The codlin moth is especially damaging to cucumbers, cherries, apples, plums.

6. Introverts are considered to be the dreamer, poet, engineering type while extroverts are considered as the popular executive, salesman or politician sort. The bulk of people fall in between with a mixture of both introvertive and extrovertive traits, and so are called ambiverts. See how well you can diagnose the Biblical characters below, using the term introvert, extrovert and ambivert. You get one point for each correct labeling.

Moses—Aaron—David— Prodigal son—Elijah.

Score yourself as follows: 0-2, poor; 3-6, average; 7-8 superior; 9-10, very superior. Remember the last question counts five points. Now turn to the answers.

BLACK BOTTOM PIE

MRS. Roy J. Watson, whom we have known and liked since we were in high school together, rushed down early Wednesday morning with the recipe for a black bottom pie which we requested earlier in the Angle. She says it takes fifty minutes to prepare but is worth the trouble. You dieters look the other way. Here's the recipe:

Filling. 1 tablespoon gelatin, 4 tablespoons cold water, 2 cups top milk, 1-2 cup sugar, 1 1-4 tablespoons cornstarch, 4 egg yolks.

For chocolate custard layer: 1 1-2 squares melted chocolate, 1 tablespoon vanilla.

For rum flavored layer: 4 egg whites, 1-4 tablespoon cream of tartar, 1-2 cup sugar, 1 tablespoon cream of tartar, 1-2 cup sugar, 1 tablespoon rum extract or flavoring (lemon extract.)

For topping: 2 tablespoons confectioners sugar, 1 cup whipping cream, 1-2 square chocolate, shaved.

Crust: Two five cent boxes crisp ginger snaps, 5 tablespoons melted butter (approximately 1-3 to 1-4 pound.) Roll cookies fine, add melted butter and mix well. Pat out evenly in a deep 9 inch pan and bake ten minutes in a slow oven at 300 degrees, Farenheit.

Method: Soak gelatin in cold water, scald milk, combine sugar and cornstarch. Beat egg yolks and add scalded milk slowly, then stir in sugar and cornstarch. Cook over simmering water, stirring occasionally for 20 minutes (use own judgment) or until custard generally coats a spoon. Remove from heat and take out 1 cup of the custard—to this add the melted chocolate and beat well.

When cool blend in the vanilla and pour into cooled crust and chill. While the remaining custard is still hot, blend in the gelatin, then cool but don't allow to stiffen. Make a stiff meringue by beating egg whites until frothy, adding the cream of tartar and beating them until still enough to hold a point. Then gradually beating in the sugar, beat until very stiff. While custard mixture is still smooth and soft, fold in the meringue and blend in rum flavoring. As soon as chocolate custard has begun to set cover it with the fluffy rum custard and chill a few minutes until this sets. Spread the cream whipped and sweetened with the confectioners sugar. Sprinkle shaved chocolate over the top.

Collegians For FDR And Dewey

AUSTIN, April 24 (U.P.)—With only five months remaining before the national elections, the American college student is found leaning toward the Democratic party and favoring President Roosevelt and Thomas E. Dewey, Republican, as first and second choices, it was revealed here today by Student Opinion Surveys of America.

A national poll completed this week by the surveys shows 47 per cent of the students favor a Democratic victory in the national elections; 39 per cent favor Republican, and 7 per cent favor other parties. Seven per cent were undecided.

Socialist Advocates

Tabulation of ballots of those students qualified to vote in national elections showed a widening of the margin, however, with 51 per cent favoring Democrats and 34 per cent Republicans.

Answering a supplementary question: "Whom should you like to see nominated for president in that party?" the voting students registered 38.2 per cent for Roosevelt; 25 per cent for Dewey; 8.2 per cent for Hull, and 3.2 per cent for Vice President John N. Garner.

Paul V. McNutt, leader in the survey last May, ranked ninth in the student choices in this latest survey and both he and James A. Farley ranked below Norman Thomas, socialist.

Golf Balls Successfully Used To Control Gas Well

HOUSTON, April 24 (AP)—Successful use of golf balls to control a wild gas well was reported here today by the Otis Pressure Control, Inc.

The well, Texas Gulf Producing company and Dan Auld's No. 9 San Antonio Land and Trust company, three miles southwest of Sinton, had blown out and was cratering. Otis Pressure Control company was called to the rescue.

The gas, which at first had cratered some 200 feet from the well, had changed its course and was coming through five-inch casing, through 10 3-4-inch surface casing and through a water sand to the water well, where it was blowing out.

I. A. Miller, Otis superintendent, said the problem was to form a packer bridge at the junction of the larger and smaller holes to divert the gas into controlled channels. The idea of using golf balls was hit upon. Links of chain were set at the level to be bridged. Golf balls were dumped down the two-inch tubing.

"As the golf balls hit the gas pressure they were blown back up against the chain links and formed a bridge," Miller said. "They probably formed an almost solid rubber mass as the 300-pound gas pressure drove them back against the chain links. Golf balls are made of good rubber and they just fit in tubing."

The hole was then cemented and what had loomed as a badly cratering well was controlled.

The side fastener was invented by Whitcomb Judson in 1893, but Gideon Sundback later improved and patented it.

Thousands turn to this way to get relief when they're lazy intestinally and it has them headachy, bilious, irritable, listless: A quarter to a half-teaspoonful of spicy, aromatic, all-vegetable BLACK - DRAUGHT on your tongue tonight, a drink of water, and there you are! Thus, it usually allows time for a night's rest; acts gently, thoroughly next morning; so relieving constipation's headaches, biliousness, bad breath.

BLACK-DRAUGHT'S main ingredient is an "intestinal tonic-laxative," which helps impart tone to lazy bowel muscles. The millions of packages used prove its merit. Economical, too, 25 to 40 doses: 25c. Adv.

How One Woman Lost 20 Pounds Of Fat

Lost Her Double Chin—Lost Her Prominent Hips—Lost Her Sluggishness

Gained a More Shapely Figure and the Increase in Physical Vigor and Vivaciousness Which So Often Comes With Excess Fat Reduction.

Thousands of women are getting fat and losing their appeal just because they do not know what to do.

Why not be smart—do what thousands of women have done to get off pounds of unwanted fat. Take a half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water first thing every morning to gently activate liver, bowels and kidneys. Cut down your caloric intake. Eat wisely and satisfyingly—there need never be a hungry moment!

Keep this plan up for 30 days. Then weigh yourself and see if you haven't lost pounds of ugly fat. Just see if this doesn't prove to be the surprise of your life and make you feel like shouting the good news to other fat people. And best of all a jar of Kruschen that will last you for 4 weeks costs but little. If not joyfully satisfied—money back. Mark Halsey Drug Stores, Slaton Agent — Teague Drug Co. Adv.

MONTGOMERY WARD

Texas Oil Case Heard By Court

WASHINGTON, April 24. (AP) — James P. Hart, assistant attorney general of Texas, urged the supreme court today to sustain an order of the Texas Railroad commission prorating production in the East Texas oil field.

In a test case, the order was challenged by the Rowan and Nichols Oil company on the ground that part of its oil was "confiscated" in favor of other procedures. The fifth federal circuit court enjoined enforcement of the order against this company.

Would Hurt Operators

Hart asserted that if the method of proration advocated by the company and supported by lower courts were finally adopted this "would confiscate the property of a large number of operators in the East Texas field."

This method of proration would be based on the ratio the company's oil reserves bears to the total reserves in the field.

Hart said that the commission, in the interest of conservation of the oil supply, had worked out a formula under which the production of each company was determined.

He contended that the Rowan and Nichols company, located in the "Fairway," had produced 358,000 barrels and there was still available as much oil as there was when it started production.

Moody To Argue

"It has produced more than the average in the field on the basis of acreage," he said, "and has not been injured by the order."

The company, he explained, would be permitted to double its production if its attack on the order were sustained.

Dan Moody, former Texas governor, will argue tomorrow on behalf of the company.

Aid For Homeless In Storm Area Asked

NAPLES, April 24.(UP)—Red Cross asked for aid today in caring for a score of persons made homeless by a cyclone which wrecked nine buildings in this little northeast Texas town and injured four persons.

C. C. Gaston, night agent for the Cotton Belt railroad, was hospitalized when lightning entered his office and struck him as he was working at his desk. He suffered severe shock. O. A. Cabb, another railroad agent, said it would be several days before Gaston could return to his job.

Three negroes also were hurt. High winds collapsed the house they were in.

Damage in the town and surrounding farm district probably will exceed $25,000, Cabb said.

sicians died in the stampede which centered around his bandstand in the rear of the hall.

All windows in the place, located a few blocks from the Natchez business section, had been boarded up, witnesses said.

Witness Talks

Those who escaped said they first heard screams and then saw the flames. Then, amid the wailing of women, the shrill shrieks of the burned, and the battering of men's bodies against one another, the victims rushed toward the rear only to pile up against the walls and boarded windows.

While the origin of the fire was undetermined at a late hour today, one survivor expressed belief it started from a lighted cigaret carelessly thrown away by a girl.

Ernest Wright, hotel operator who went to the dance to get his wife just after he quit work at midnight, said:

"I was standing near the front door and I saw two girls come out of the women's room. I heard one of them say 'Now you did it. You set the place on fire. Look'."

One book of the blank checks has not been accounted for.

Authorities said forgery activities of the pair probably date back more than a year and cover much of the state.

The men were arrested by Sgt. C. E. Tabor of the Texas Highway patrol and Bill Mabray, assistant police chief. The man held here was taken about 8 o'clock Wednesday night.

Army's Maneuvers To Be Held Secretly

WASHINGTON, April 24. (UP) — The army's biggest maneuvers, pitting more than 70,000 troops against each other in the Texas-Louisiana area in May, will be shielded from the eyes of foreign military attaches, it was disclosed today.

Officials declined to comment on the decision to abandon the usual policy of inviting foreign representatives to such exercises. But it was understood that they desired to prevent disclosure of tactics being developed by the U. S. army in handling its newest weapons.

In the past, maneuvers generally have been open to selected groups of foreign attaches. Recent rapid developments of U. S. national defense plans under the impetus of foreign wars makes it advisable for the United States to safeguard its military plans at this time, the war department reported.

Wife Has No Fear For Bull If Hubby Uses Bow, Arrow

BROOKFIELD, Mo., April 24 (UP) —Mrs. John Latta, at the risk of incurring the displeasure of the Brookfield anti-horse thief association, today informed the society for the prevention of cruelty to animals that it didn't need to worry about the two buffalo bulls that her husband and Dr. John T. McLarney intend to fight.

"I have seen my husband use a bow and arrow so I know that the buffalo is in practically no danger," Mrs. Latta said. "If he aims at the buffalo let the spectators beware."

Primitive Weapons

Latta, owner of a trucking firm, and Dr. McLarney intend to use primitive weapons in their meeting with the buffaloes, which Latta is bringing here from a ranch near Amarillo, Tex. Latta says he was Dead Eye Dick in his youth with the long bow but his wife says time is playing tricks on his memory. Dr. McLarney is an old line spear thrower.

"I am not familiar with Dr. McLarney's prowess with a spear, but it is a good guess that he will be as wild as a rookie southpaw," said Mrs. Latta. "These men sit around at their anti-horse thief sessions and one boast brings on another. That's what started this whole business. And now look what they got. A buffalo fight, two buffaloes to feed, the humane society making threats and plans for a barbecue with the whole state invited."

Another Robin Hood

Mrs. Latta said the business went back to the night her husband got the idea he was a reincarnated Robin Hood. The doctor, she said, pooh-poohed the bow and arrow art and said the spear was the real weapon. In any event, there's a barbecue scheduled for May 25. The animals will arrive tonight and a special, reinforced pen has been built to hold them.

In St. Louis, however, Arnold Amundsen, state director of the SPCA, refused to be caught off guard. Bull fighting, he said, was un-American and was outlawed. Buffalo fighting undoubtedly was the same thing, and all necessary steps would be taken.

To Aid The Other

"Why they even intend to barbecue these poor beasts and feed them to their guests after they have had their sport," said Amendsen.

Dr. McLarney said this was wrong. Nice tender steers will be used for the barbecue, he said, and they will be dispatched in the conventional manner in a packing house.

"We will fight the buffaloes in the true American way," he said. "Everyone knows that the Indians used bow and arrows and spears when they hunted. I probably can kill my bull as neatly with my spear as Mr. Amundsen could with a rifle. And if Latta has the trouble I expect he will have I will take care of his animal, too."

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., April 24. (UP)—Ralph Thomas, who weighs 100 pounds, accepted the dare of friends last night and pushed his 300-pound bride around the public square in a wheelbarrow.

Thomas, 47, and the former Eva Stufflebaum, 37, were married yesterday in Columbus, Kans. When friends joked with him about being so much smaller than his bride, Thomas volunteered to show his strength by giving her a wheelbarrow ride.

Wirtz Talks For FDR

tion."

Wirtz said Texans have the right to know "what will happen to the votes of our delegation after the third ballot is taken."

"Will those votes be drained off," he asked, "like our natural resources and our purchasing power, to some favorite son of Wall street? When Gene Germany (E. B. Germany) the spearhead of the Garner movement in Texas, performed his astounding feat in arithmetic by adding the Garner and Republican votes of Wisconsin and then pronouncing his amazing coroner's verdict on the New Deal, he was simply apeing the Republicans and Liberty Leaguers and the economic royalists of the North and East who had long been raising their voices in a dirge for the New Deal.

"Their dirge for the New Deal was premature. Came the Illinois primary and a vote for Roosevelt greater than the combined vote for Garner and the Republicans. Then Gene and his crowd fell back on the one and only argument they have made to Texans, the plea to state pride."

No one, said Wirtz, can speak for President Roosevelt in regard to the Texas campaign. Early in his speech he referred to "the kind of tactics that will be used in this campaign."

"I want to mention the attack which has been made on me in the press by the anti-New Deal forces in Texas," Wirtz said.

"Although I was born and raised in Texas and never even visited outside of the state until long after I was out of law school, although I have lived and practiced law in Texas all of my life, the anti-New Deal people are referring to me as an outlander and carpetbagger. When I come home to Texas after a short three months stay in Washington I am denounced . . . as an 'ex-Texan.' Any one who dares to disagree with the self-appointed leaders of Texas Democrats will get that sort of abuse, but when men who have resided in Washington many years longer than I—whether they be erstwhile residents of Texas or voters in Manhattan — express agreement with these politicians, you hear no talk of carpetbaggers."

Guffey's Win Causes Lawrence To Retire

PHILADELPHIA, April 24 (AP) — U. S. Senator Joseph F. Guffey, victor in a stiff battle for the Democratic senatorial nomination, tonight took over control of the party in Pennsylvania as his foremost opponent, David L. Lawrence, announced he would retire as state chairman.

Guffey defeated Lawrence's choice for the nomination, Walter A. Jones, in yesterday's primary balloting by almost 100,000 votes.

As the mounting returns clinched the contest for the senator, Lawrence, who had called Guffey a "party wrecker" because of tactics since their split in the 1938 primary, said he would not seek reelection as chairman when his term expires in June.

Allies Forced To Give Ground

soldiers to battle Germany's military might.

Some British attention was given to pending negotiations for a trade agreement with Russia. The Russians, however, want to continue "normal" trade with Germany, and that is a stumbling block.

Berlin declared German forces had a solid grip on all southern Norway and boasted of 57 successful attacks on the British navy since the campaign for Norway started.

Plane Brought Down

The nazis told of bringing down three Allied planes which attempted to bomb strategic Stavanger airport, declared that no military damage had been caused in a British raid on the island of Syit and insisted that the German defenders of Narvik, among them Austrian Alpine troops, were ready for whatever the Allies would send.

The French high command had its eyes on Sweden. It was reported without confirmation that transports loaded with troops had steamed out of German Baltic ports. A spokesman of the French war ministry said the reported German troop embarkations were nothing less than a "grave menace" to Sweden.

Russia May Change

The Netherlands followed up her declaration of nation-wide martial law with an internal censorship decree forbidding publication of "any utterances considered insulting to belligerent nations."

The vice-premier of Yugoslavia said a trade treaty with soviet Russia, now pending, would be followed by the taking up of diplomatic relations between the two countries. A government-inspired newspaper said the two countries were "brought together through London." No one could yet predict with any assurance, however, that Russia was turning to the Allied side in the Balkans.

Scapa Flow Bombed

In London, the Daily Herald, organ of the Labor party said today that the government is giving serious consideration to suppressing the British communist party.

Britain's ally, France, banned her communist party at the start of the war and since has taken drastic measures to suppress the activities of its leaders.

British officials were described as "concerned with allegations that the party has been acting as the direct agent of a foreign power which is in close and friendly relations with the enemy."

The Great British naval base, Scapa Flow, in the Orkney islands was raided again by German warplanes last night and the Britons said their anti-aircraft guns beat off the attackers. An authorized British source said the German warplanes caused no damage. Heavy bombs fell on desolate country on the island of Hoy.

Pioneer Contractor To Be Buried Today

Funeral services for John W. Agnew, 73 pioneer Lubbock contractor who died Wednesday noon at his 1406 Avenue U residence, will be conducted at 4 o'clock this afternoon in Central Baptist church.

Sanders Funeral home will direct burial in Lubbock cemetery.

Mr. Agnew built many of the early day houses in Lubbock and had the contract for the school building which now is Central Ward school, the first brick building in Lubbock.

He had been ill about two months. He retired several years ago from active work as carpenter and cabinet maker.

His wife was the daughter of the late W. R. Standifer, pioneer Lubbock county surveyor.

Mr. Agnew is survived by his wife; two sons, Emmett Agnew of Lubbock and Hoyt Agnew of Ranger; two brothers, Zeb Agnew of a California city, and Charles Agnew of Lamesa.

He moved to Lubbock about 20 years ago from Haskell.

Texas Students Stage Strike

HENDERSON, April 24 (AP) — Nearly all the 400 older students of the Gaston school—in one of the nation's richest school districts — struck today demanding the board re-hire two faculty members.

It was East Texas' second school strike of the week. Near Lufkin, students of the Central Consolidated school went out with a demand that four teachers and a janitor be given back their jobs.

The ousted faculty members here were C. L. Davis, high school principal, and Alfred Riley, bandmaster. Marching students roamed the campus carrying banners and chanting "We Want Davis and Riley" while members of Riley's band played hot football tunes and the drum majors pranced.

Superintendent G. R. Grissom told striking students, who forced school to close for the day, that they must return to classes tomorrow or the seniors would not be graduated and players would be barred from the Gaston Red Devil football team.

Student petitions demanding reelection of the faculty members were not granted at last night's meeting of the board.

VFW Installs New Officers Last Night

It's All Right For Old Man To Imbibe

EL PASO, April 24 (UP)—If a man lives beyond his allotted time of "three-score-and-ten" years, he should be able to take a couple of drinks too many now and then without suffering too severe a penalty, City Alderman Harris Walthall decided today.

Walthall, sitting on the bench in police court in absence of Judge R. P. Langford, who was ill, handed down this decision when 71-year-old Manuel Madrid was brought before him on a charge of drunkenness.

Walthall decided that "a man 71 years of age should be entitled to a drink now and then."

He fined the white-haired defendant $9.

Railroad In Mexico Denies Disturbance

MEXICO CITY, April 24 (AP) — The Southern Pacific railroad of Mexico today denied reports one of its north-bound trains had been center of a disorderly disturbance at Hermosillo, Sonora, as reported yesterday by passengers arriving in Nogales, Ariz.

The railway said the train was met at the station April 23 "by the usual crowd, and among them there were probably 150 or 200 followers of General Avila Camacho (a presidential candidate)."

It added the crowd made "some remarks" to two Mexican generals on board (followers of General Juan Andreu Almazan, independent presidential candidate) but "made no effort to board the train or molest any of the passengers, or in any way interfere with the handling of the train. In other words, it was a peaceful political demonstration such as occurs daily."

Rotarians Hear Debate Team

Socialized medicine as a substitute for the present system was debated Wednesday noon before a luncheon meeting of the Rotary club in Lubbock hotel by Altus B. Sansom and Cullen Chapman, senior high school debaters and winners of the Northwest Texas area meet in Canyon last week.

Dr. C. J. Wagner, president, called a meeting of directors of the club following the luncheon to talk plans for inviting the 1941 district Rotary convention to be held in Lubock. A. B. Davis, chairman of the convention committee met with directors. The conference will be held in Sweetwater beginning Sunday.

Arthur T. Cocanougher and Ray S. Weiss were in charge of the program with Cocanougher presiding. After the debate President Wagner asked Altus Sansom, father of one of the debaters, to stand.

Long Waiting Lists

The state debate topic on the establishment of a system of so-called "socialized medicine" for Texas was the theme. Sansom explained the talks had to be curtailed because of the short time on the program.

Sansom took the affirmative, citing indictments against the present system such as medicine not being available to the general public, the uncertain fee schedule and the lack of encouragement of preventive medicine. Cost for Texas would average $20 to $25 a family per year, he said.

Chapman in defending the present system said under the state system the close personal relationship between patient and physician would be destroyed; that state medicine is impractical and would become a "political experiment," and that under the present set-up of state hospital aid, state institutions are understaffed and doctors underpaid. All Texas hospitals have a waiting list at present.

Terry Judge Asks Vote On Road Bonds

BROWNFIELD, April 24.—Terry county judge, R. A. Simms, has made a plea for a $250,000 road bond issue that would enable the county to complete its road system.

It is hoped to finish highway 135 from Brownfield southeast to the Dawson county line and highway 51 from Brownfield north to Hockley county. The county, the judge said, had been contributing $12,000 to $16,000 a year for seven years to help retire road bonds and the county should begin to receive help on its own bonds, he said.

Census-Taking In Lubbock Rapidly Nearing Finish

Robert H. Bean, district supervisor of the census, announced Wednesday that census taking in Lubbock was virtually complete except for "callbacks" to homes of residents who were not present when census takers called.

Virtually Same Condition

The district of 13 counties "stands in virtually the same condition, except for rural districts where, in some instances, the count cannot be completed this week," Bean said.

The district supervisor, virtually confined to his office because of a badly sprained ankle that required heat treatment of an electric pad, went over enumeration reports Wednesday and studied work of the chamber of commerce, which has initiated a drive of its own to double-check the city of Lubbock population.

Blanks Are Sent Out

At the chamber of commerce, it was said that reminder blanks and placards had gone out Wednesday to filling stations and that blanks from the city schools would be coming in that night.

At the college, answers will be turned back to the chamber Friday. A Saturday deadline has been set for the chamber of commerce drive termination, "but it is likely forms will not all be in before Monday," said one official.

Everyone was asked to be unusually "census conscious" and to make sure he had been counted.

Cooperation Urged

"There are reminder blanks all around you—in the schools and college and in places of business," it was said. "Do your part to help Lubbock and yourself by making sure your name has been counted."

Bean said there had been some laxity of persons in boarding establishments in listing all living there—"and some persons have not counted children who are away from home, but who properly should be listed as living at the home of their parents."

Business Students Make Business Tour

Thirty-three business administration students of Dr. J. O. Ellsworth, head of the department of economics and business administration of Texas Technological college, made a marketing survey Wednesday afternoon. They visited Lubbock Poultry and Egg company, where O. E. Lanham, superintendent of the cheese department, spoke briefly and showed them through the plant, then went to Telford Lumber company, where Sam Reed, manager, discussed marketing problems of building materials.

The tours have been a part of Dr. Ellsworth's class routine since he came to the college for the 1928-29 scholastic year. Wednesday's trip marked the 12th of this year.

Business men have been especially cooperative in outlining marketing problems and have made considerable impression on classes, Dr. Ellsworth said by way of appreciation.

Endured A Year Of Horrible Suffering

Dizzy Spells, Poor Digestion And Nervousness Gave Way To The Efficient Action Of Gly-Cas

"Gly-Cas was a real blessing to me in my dreadful suffering," said Mrs. Esthel Baker, Route No. 1, Tyler, Texas. "For the past year I did not dare eat the foods I liked best because of the severe suffering that would follow soon after eating. The collection of toxic intestinal impurities from constipation and poor elimination had gotten the best of me. Gas pressure was so great around my heart it caused me sharp pains and I would have to sit up in bed in order to get any rest or sleep. I had such dreadful dizzy spells and terrific headaches I was at a loss to know what to do next. Then I was persuaded to give Gly-Cas a trial."

"It is almost unbelievable . . . but true that I can now eat the foods I wish without ill effects afterwards," continued Mrs. Baker. "Those clogged intestinal impurities are being regularly eliminated, that constipated condition has been relieved, those headaches and dizzy spells do not trouble me and I get full nights of strength-giving sleep. I awake refreshed and strengthened each morning fully ready for my daily duties. It did not take Gly-Cas long to convince me of its outstanding merit."

Gly-Cas is sold by Mark Halsey Drug Co., 1219 Broadway, this city, and by the leading druggists in surrounding towns. Adv.

Hubbers Drop Second Straight, 6 To 3; Lobos Entertain This Aftern

Lubbock Invades Lamesa For Two Game Series

General Joe Tate's Lamesa Lobo bombarding machine turned loose with a sizzling assortment of five singles, three doubles and a pair of country fair home runs yesterday to win their second straight game from the Lubbock Hubbers, 6 to 3.

An estimated crowd of four hundred fans saw the Lamesa willow swingers hand out the rough treatment to Roy Pinocchiaro, Eugene Stack and Andrew Sandretto, a trio of flingers who had to ease up to get the ball over the plate, and when they eased up the Lamesa boys went to work with their blasting bats.

LAMESA "OPENS" TODAY

LAMESA, April 24. (Special)—Lamesa makes its bid this afternoon for President Milton Price's opening day attendance trophy when Lubbock's Hubbers invade the city for the first of a two-game series with Manager Joe Tate's Lobos.

The community captured the attendance honors last year and the title "the biggest little city in baseball" though one of the smallest in league. Plans have been made for all business houses to close for this afternoon's game and prospects are that the Lobos may take top honors again.

Scoreless Until Fifth

It was Lamesa's ball game from the first pitch. The Dawson county boys out-hustled, out-hit and outeverythinged the locals. Only in he fifth inning did the Hubbers look into the scoring column. Lefty Millspaugh suddenly went wild on the mound with walks to Clyde Mahan and Manager Charlie Engle. Catcher Reynolds was safe and Mahan scored on Beeler's boot of Reynolds' slow grounder. Eugene Stack, who had relieved Roy Pinocchiaro on the mound, cracked a Texas leaguer into rightfield to score Engle. Millspaugh then walked Bill Schoppman who ran the count to 3-2 before getting free transportation. After Ben Drake whiffed, Ed Schweda cracked a sharp liner into the middle pasture to score Reynolds from third. Chester Hajduk then put an end to Lubbock's future scoring by grounding into a double play.

That and that alone was Lubbock's scoring threat, a combination of three runs on two hits, one error and three walks. However, it was enough to get Millspaugh off the mound, but in came Miller who was airtight the remainder of the game.

Lobo Fielding Good

Turning in three lightning double plays the Lobo machine mixed plenty of beautiful fielding with its timely and long distance hitting. The Lamesa crew cracked the scoring ice in the third and drove Pinacchiaro from the mound with three hits for two runs.

Millspaugh started the trouble for Lubbock with a double and scored pronto when Spangler followed with a double against the left field wall. Spangler later scored on Guynes' smash to left-center.

Lamesa whipped back for two more tallies in the fourth when Durrett drew a walk and scored a minute later on Beeler's home run over the left-center fence. It was one of those wallops that not only cleared the fence but said hello to the railroad track as it passed over the rails and into no-man's land.

Guynes Homers, Too

After going scoreless in the fifth and sixth frames, Lamesa counted again in the seventh when Guynes caught one on the nose and spilled it over the scoreboard, also the railroad track. Lamesa scored its final run when Durrett was hit by a pitched ball, advanced on Beeler's sacrifice and scored on Spangler's second double of the game.

An outstanding feature of the game was Spangler's stop of Schoppman's torrid grounder in the first inning. Hit like a bullet down the third base line, Spangler sprang to his left and picked the ball up in time to nab the runner at first.

Maxie Baer---Too Old To Kid Anymore---To Risk Marring Features For Loved Ones

By HENRY McLEMORE
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, April 24.—Max Baer is a mixture of sweetness and fight.

In one breath the big fellow tells you how, on the night of May 28, he is going to back Tony Galento into a corner and give him the full treatment.

"I'll hit that loud-mouth everywhere and with everything. He'll get elbows, knees, thumbs, laces and heads. That's what he hands out, so I'll give it to him in a double dose. I was a butcher boy once, and I'll become a butcher boy again."

Then, almost as quickly as he had flown into a race — a rage that swelled the veins in his neck and bundled his fists into knots—Baer quieted down, and in an almost confidential whisper, told me why he was fighting again.

"I ain't fightin' for myself anymore," he said. "I got enough to take care of myself. I want to make a little extra for some others. Listen, lemme tell you when I decided to take this fight with Galento."

The swagger was all gone from Max as he told me about a little old woman in her sixties — his Aunt Olive from Omaha. A few months ago, at his home in Livermore, Calif., he came in to find her there. She had come from Omaha to see his baby.

He's Sincere—Maybe

"Get a load of this," Max said. "She had sat up all night on a coach train to save Pullman fare, and had packed her own box lunch to save going into the diner. She had done all this to come out and see us and the baby. I took her purse out of her hands, and what do you think she had? Just enough to get her back to Omaha; that is, if she sat up all night again and packed her own lunch."

Maxie didn't look like the Maxie most people know as he told me this story. He didn't sound like the braggart Baer of the sports pages, either. He looked me in the eye, and groped for words, and for once I had the feeling that he wasn't trying to sell me a bill of goods.

He Has "Mental Peace"

"I told my aunt right then that she was going home first class, and live first class from now on," he said. "And so are a lot of the others who mean something to me and have been kind to me. Hell—it's a lot easier to take a punch on the jaw when you're 31 than it is to sit up all night in a day coach when you're sixty-five."

It's to make a little extra money with which to pad out the annuities he has that Maxie is fighting again. And for the first time since I have known him, and that goes back to the early 1930s when he came to New York to fight Ernie Schaaf in the garden, Max seems to have what I can best express as "mental peace." The roaring playboy is gone. That is sure. What remains of the fighting equipment that made Baer heavyweight champion of the world will not be known until he gets into the ring with Galento in Jersey City on May 28.

To the eye and to the touch, Max is still a tremendous physical specimen. There isn't one ounce of fat on him right now. Moreover, he has a genuine hatred for Galento. He feels that the Jersey buffoon, through actions which cannot be described in print, has violated even boking's curb-level code of ethics.

"I just want to swing on him once," Baer said.

Wrigley's Too Optimistic—

Gabby Won't Last The Year, Cub Fans Are Predicting

By EARL HILLIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO, April 24.—The "win" column may not show it but the Chicago Cubs definitely are on the move . . . Manager Gabby Hartnett announced he was moving three regulars to the bench in his intial shakeup, Owner P. K. Wrigley moved his office to the park and some of the boys are betting the club moves a new pilot in come Aug. 1. . . .

There long has been a feeling in Chicago that one of the biggest handicaps the Cubs face each season is over-enthusiasm on the part of the front office, regardless of the team's material. . . . This season is no exception, for as most persons were picking the Cubs to finish fourth or fifth in 1940, Owner Wrigley announced the Cubs "have a darn good club and I'm going to do all I can to make that team a pennant winner." . . .

In the past 11 years the Cubs have won four pennants, not a bad average. . . . Yet dissatisfaction has been evident every season in which the team failed to finish on top, as frequent managerial changes testify . . . Joe McCarthy led the Cubs to a pennant in 1929, then was followed by Rogers Hornsby, Charlie Grimm and Hartnett. . . . The team followed the "three year" pattern, winning in 1932, 1935 and 1938, which prompted one fan to remark "we're a cinch for another flag in 1941—under a new manager."

Iraan High Sensation Has Scouts Worrying Over His 'Education'

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

IRAAN, April 24.—College scouts are figuratively camping on the doorstep at the home of Denzil Kennemer, West Texas' all-around school-boy athlete sensation.

The 19-year-old Kennemer is finishing up at Iraan High school this spring after four years of glory on gridiron, diamond court and track.

He's Very Versatile

And he also plays tennis and golf.

May 3 and 4 he will go to Austin to compete in the annual state high school track and field meet.

Kennemer is hailed as one of the finest all-around athletes in a decade of Texas sports. Certainly there never was one more versatile.

He played four years of football, in which he was quarterback; was a guard in basketball and an outfielder in baseball.

But in track he's good at most anything. He does the 100-yard dash in 9.65 seconds, the 220 in 21.7, the 120-yard high hurdles in 15.3 and throws the javelin around 175 feet.

"I hope to break at least one record at the state meet but I will be trying in all events I enter," he said today. Kennemer added that he would participate in four.

"I would not enter more for it is my belief that one can concentrate on three or four events and do better than he can if he could enter a greater number."

Season's First Triple Play—

Products, Home Lumber And Dalby Cop Softball Contests

Although they engineered a nifty triple play in the seventh inning, Central Labor Union last night lost to Southwest Products in a city softball league game, 8 to 7. In other games, Citizens' National lost to Dalby Motor, 14 to 3, and Home Lumber swatted Sherrod's, 15 to 2.

Tonight, two more games are scheduled, beginning at 8 o'clock when McIlhaney plays Borden's. Good Eats Bakery plays Lubbock Poultry and Egg in the finale.

The Southwest Products-Central Labor game last night was as neatly played as they'll probably come. The Workers started the scoring in the first two tallies, but Southwest soon went back ahead. In the seventh they were leading 8 to 7. Mack Barnes and Joe Kieth Williams walked to open the frame, then Southpaw Lawrence Cayne smashed a line drive to Third-Sacker Raymond Fick of Central Labor. Rock's throw to second caught Barnes off and Burl Pigg whipped the ball to Wayne Sullivan at first to trap Williams.

In the last half of the final frame, Central Labor loaded the bases with one out, but Rock and Sullivan popped out on infield flies

Backing the four-hit, ten-strikeout pitching of E J. McKnight with some lusty clouting, Dalby took an easy decision from Citizen's National. Four runs in the first and ten in the fourth accounted for all Freighter tallies. Mack Cayse, pitching for the Bankers, did fairly well except in the two big innings.

Pitcher Cearley of Home Lumber limited Sherrod's to four hits with the assistance of nice

Joe Jacobs Is Dead From Heart Attack

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, April 24.—Joe Jacobs, manager of heavyweight Tony Galento, and a legendary figure in boxing circles for many years, died tonight from a heart attack. He would have been 44 years old May 7.

* * *

Death occurred in a doctor's office where Jacobs, laughing disdainfully at a "slight pain", had gone to seek relief. He was accompanied by Harry Mendel, promoter of six-day bicycle races around the country and Jacobs' close friend for many years.

Managed Schmeling

Mendel said Jacobs had felt badly last night, but did not regard his illness as serious and went about his business as usual today, escorting motion picture photographers to New Jersey to make shots of Galento.

Jacobs, known familiarly among the fight mob as "Yussel", managed Max Schmeling of Germany to the world's heavyweight championship. In 1930 Jack Sharkey struck Schmeling low in the fourth round and Jacobs rushed into the ring, yelling foul so vociferously the referee awarded the German the title.

Was Native New Yorker

Two years later Sharkey regained the title with a 15-round decision and Jacobs achieved some sort of immortality by entering the ring and bellowing "we wuz robbed."

Jacobs also coined the crack, "I should of stood in bed," when one cold morning he ventured out of a Chicago hotel with Promoter Mike Jacobs bent on seeing a baseball game.

Jacobs had spent much of the day with Galento, after being up most of the night suffering from what he thought was an attack of indigestion. On returning to New York he visited his personal physician, Dr. Vincent Nardiello who sent him immediately to the office of Dr. Oswald

AVERAGES FIRM

NEW YORK, April 24 (AP) — Recent "leader" of the stock market slipped today, but a sturdy group of rank and file shares came through in the pinch and held averages firm.

Aircraft and steels gave ground to the extent of a point or so. However, rails after a sudden show of strength, stayed well up in advanced territory for most of the session.

At the final bell, the Associated Press average of 60 selected stocks was unchanged at 50.3. Transactions totaled 854,230 shares compared with 881,170 yesterday.

Higher at the last were Case, International Harvester, Woolworth, Armour, Standard Oil of N. J., and Consolidated Edison. Included on the downside were U. S. Steel, General Motors, Chrysler, Douglas, Eastern Airlines, American Air Lines, Glenn Martin, du Pont, Kennecott, American Woolen and American Telegraph.

In the curb, where 232,000 shares were exchanged compared with 213,000 yesterday, declines were registered for Bell Aircraft, Babcock and Wilcox, Todd Shipyards, Aluminum, Ltd., and Electric Bond and Share.

Bonds were selectively higher. Commodities generally were a bit lower.

New Members Of 'Y' Board Are Selected

Four new members were elected to the board of directors of the Texas Technological college YW-YMCA Wednesday night at a supper in the home economics tearoom at the college.

J. I. Kilpatrick is chairman. New officers will be named at the next meeting May 21.

Wanda Kimbrell, sophomore student of Idalou, discussed "What the 'Y' Means to Me." A financial report was made by Miss Allene Atkinson, secretary.

Dr. C. C. Schmidt, Miss Bonnie Dysart and Dr. A. J. Bahm were named to a nominating committee for the annual election.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, April 24 (AP)—Point break in the May delivery under heavy liquidation unsettled the balance of the cotton list today. Final prices were 5 to 15 points down.

The May position was subjected to the same forces that have depressed the spot month in recent sessions as delivery day approached. "Longs" have waited until the last few days allowed, then liquidated or transferred their holdings forward and the spot price as abruptly declined.

With the first notice day due tomorrow, certificated stocks of the staple increased and according to many cotton dealers a good portion of the 28,620 bales available at the latest report will be tendered.

Spot houses were less active sellers than heretofore but domestic and Canadian mill accounts made up the deficiency.

A bullishly interpreted weekly weather report brought in only a dribble of buying since the unfavorable progress of the new crop thus far has been largely discounted.

Worth street reported only small sales of standard constructions. Jewish religious holidays tended to check activity.

Exports Tuesday 9,718 bales; season so far 5,619,246. Port receipts, 7,695; port stocks 2,701,477.

AVERAGE PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, April 24 (AP)—The average price of middling 15-16ths-inch cotton today at ten southern spot markets was 10 points lower at 10.63 cents a pound; average for the past thirty market days 10.57 cents; middling 7/8ths-inch average 10.45 cents a pound.

Murder Charge Filed Against WPA Worker

WEATHERFORD, April 24. (AP)—A murder charge was filed today against Ernest Ray Blackmon, 25-year-old WPA worker, in the fatal shooting of Thurman Hendrix, 23, his brother-in-law.

Parker County Attorney Borden said statements made to him by Blackmon, his wife, Mrs. Hendrix, who is Blackmon's sister, and others revealed that Hendrix was killed by a shotgun blast near Blackmon's home at Agnes after an argument.

Borden said he was told Hendrix, from Indiana, wanted to return home, but his wife thought her health unequal to the long hitchhiking trip and refused. Borden quoted Blackmon as saying Hendrix tried to force his wife to leave and that the shooting followed.

Solon Advocates Passage Of Act

WASHINGTON, April 24. (AP) — Senate flood control and power development advocates were urged today to avoid turning a $231,000,000 rivers and harbors bill into a grab-bag for their favored projects, lest in so doing they should imperil the entire measure.

The plea was entered by Chairman Bailey (D-NC) of the Senate commerce committee who asked passage of the authorization bill, which in its present form is devoted solely to navigation improvements.

Speed characterized the action of the House banking committee in approving unanimously today legislation requested late last week by Secretary Morgenthau to clarify presidental powers to require licensing of transactions in securities of foreign governments and their nationals.

Communists Involved

Mr. Roosevelt imposed such a requirement after Denmark and Norway were invaded. Some attorneys questioned whether he had the authority. His legal advisers said he did but that it would be well to clinch it with special legislation. As the House committee acted, the Senate banking committee announced it would take up the legislation immediately.

The Does committee, pursuing its investigation of communism, was told by Fred M. Howe that the American Communications association (CIO) had among its officials communists who would help set up a United States soviet in event of war.

The rivers and harbors bill would authorize 141 projects throughout the country.

Brick-tossing warfare proved too tame for two negroes Wednesday afternoon, but when Oscar Mosley's leg-action went stale, he went to Lubbock sanitarium with a leg laceration.

A witness told police the affray started with brick throwing. The Mosley negro ran, but not fast enough.

His assailant nicked him in the leg with a knife. Officers said the aggressor had not been arrested Wednesday night.

Warning Is Sounded By Highway Patrol

The Texas Highway patrol Wednesday issued a warning to persons operating out of travel bureaus, who in most instances, it was explained, do not have certificates of convenience and necessity.

Charges have been filed in at least five cases at Dickens and Slaton, with convictions obtained in the Dickens cases, said a spokesman. Six charges were filed against one driver and occupants of his car, he said.

The practice of transporting passengers in inter-city travel without railroad commission permits is a law violation, the patrolman explained.

Grass Skirts Okayed By City Officials

DALLAS, April 24 (U.P.)—City officials think the grass skirts some of the girl car-hops around town are wearing are all right.

City Manager James W. Aston said today that no action was contemplated against the abbreviated costumes of the tavern girls.

"I cannot see that they have violated a law. There doesn't seem to be anything we can do about it."

Chief of Police J. M. Welch, who made a tour of the taverns upon complaint of several housewives that the girls were "indecently dressed," also said he didn't think there had been any law violation.

"In fact, I saw some women customers wearing shorts who had less on than the girl employes," he said.

FDR's Request Is Logical

THE request of President Roosevelt for an appropriation of $975,000,000 for the Works Projects administration and for permission to spend the entire amount in eight months if, in his judgment, that is advisable is one which appears to have much merit.

It is one which also is likely to be granted by a Congress which has given repeated evidences of the fact that it is acutely conscious that this appears to be a most uncertain election year. But if political aspects of the proposition could be completely forgotten—which will not be the case—it would seem that in this instance the national welfare might dictate the granting of Mr. Roosevelt's request.

The President theorizes somewhat as follows, according to his communications to congressional leaders: If there should be an increase of employment industry resulting from war demands, the $975,000,000 should be ample, perhaps more than ample, for the needs of the entire fiscal year which begins on July 1. But if a war boom fails to materialize—and thus far it has not materialized—Mr. Roosevelt contends the money will not be sufficient for more than eight months' operation unless several hundred thousand men are cut from the WPA payrolls.

An increase in unemployment in the nation is particularly undesirable and particularly dangerous at this time. Jobless people cannot be a contented people. The experience of all history has been that any nation where discontent is widespread is ripe for almost any experiment—including war—which may hold the illusory hope of improving economic conditions. If a people are content, it is almost impossible to draw them into an aggressive war. They will stand ready to defend their homeland, but they aren't going to be willing to cross the seas to fight the battles of another nation.

It should be granted that if Mr. Roosevelt is given permission to spend the full amount of the appropriation in eight months, it probably will be spent within that time regardless what the actual needs may be. But even so, the possibility that it might help to strengthen the national determination against being embroiled in war would seem to be an unanswerable argument in favor of acceding to the request.

Baltimore's Good Lead

THE experience of Baltimore the past two or three years offers irrefutable evidence of the importance of speedy justice for those who violate the law.

The citizens of the Maryland metropolis became disturbed a few years ago because too many criminals were escaping without punishment. Only about one out of seven charged with crime was convicted. Study convinced Baltmoreans that the evil was rooted in the long delay between crime and trial.

So they created agencies to speed up the wheels of justice. Now, according to James M. Hepburn, director of the Baltimore Criminal Justice commission, more than 90 per cent of all criminal cases are disposed of within three weeks after arrest.

The result is, he reports, one conviction out of each three may not seem a cause for boasting, but it is tremendously better than one out of seven.

Anyone can see why speed is important in the disposition of criminal cases. The memories of witnesses will be fresher. There is less opportunity for witnesses to die or disappear, or for evidence to be lost. There is less probability that witnesses may experience changes of heart. And it is a very reasonable supposition that those of criminal tendencies will think twice before committing a crime if convinced that justice is likely to be swift and sure.

Baltimore's experience is one from which every state, every city and every locality might well benefit.

The young aviator who started out for Mars some time ago has just been sentenced to serve five months in jail. Next time he tries that stunt, he had better have a word with Orson Welles first.

The One-Minute Sermon

These things have I written unto you that believe on the name of the Son of God; that ye may know that ye have eternal life, and that ye may believe on the name of the Son of God.

And this is the confidence that we have in him, that, if we ask any thing according to his will he heareth us:

And if we know that he hear us, whatsoever we ask, we know that we have the petitions that we desired of him.—I John 5: 13 through 15.

Believe It Or Not---By Robert Ripley

EXPLANATION OF CARTOON

ALL ITEMS SELF-EXPLANATORY

Little Spitfire

By Joan Randall

YESTERDAY: Isobel tells Brenda about her love for Mac. Brenda is sympathetic but insists she doesn't like Mac, herself. To the dismay of The Street and especially of Miss Ormound, the ex-teacher, Brenda becomes friendly with the cartoonist, Hugh Saltus.

Chapter Seven

Sense Of Proprieties

Adelaide continued to be upset at Brenda's defiance of Miss Ormond. She went about for the rest of the day with a look of worry on her face and as soon as dinner was over she beckoned Mac from the dining room into the little office where she made out her bills and transacted such business as her impractical soul was capable of.

Brenda, loitering on the porch in the cool air of the evening, suddenly was aware that her first acquaintance of The Street loomed beside her.

She patted the step invitingly, her early antagonism forgotten. One of the girl's most likable traits was the ability to let bygones be bygones.

"Sit here and cool off," she said "I'm trying to get the topography of The Street straight in my mind. Three houses on this side, seven on the other. Mrs. Arnold at the end across the street. Hugh Saltus's the very last house. Isn't that right?"

"Perfectly right." He sat down beside her, sighing heavily. "Brenda——"

"Good heavens!" she exclaimed, startled. "You nearly blew me away with that mournful breath. It must be contagious," she continued idly. "Mrs. Rosttetor — Adelaide — was sighing away exactly like that this morning!"

"And for the same reason, too, I imagine!" The reply came crisply. "Look here, Brenda! You're young, you're a stranger to The Street—to the town, so far as that goes!—you don't know Hugh Saltus——"

She perked upright, all her pretty indolence gone as if by magic.

"Ha! So it's poor Hugh again, is it? I remember now—Adelaide wanted to speak to you after dinner. About me, was it? My highly improper conduct in calling at the studio yesterday afternoon?" Her low voice began to thrill with notes the unhappy young man remembered. Her blue eyes began to shine with stars which, lovely as they were, he could have dispensed with. "Granted," he said, "that a visit, even properly chaperoned by a housekeeper, is improper, would you mind informing me who appointed you the guardian of my conduct?"

"Adelaide asked me to speak to you——"

"And why you? Why not Eric? Or Hugh himself? Or Judge Harper? Why, of all the masculine residents in The Street, must Dion MacKelvey be requested to remonstrate with me? I'd love," she murmured low and sweetly, "to know! Truly I would!"

Mac fidgeted on the step. If only he had heeded that inner warning and refused to do Adelaide's bidding in this matter! But he was a person of determination. Having put his hand to the plow, he would not turn back. He said seriously:

"Perhaps because I'm the only one who is interested enough in you to want to keep you from making a mistake! You see, Hugh is a little different from most people—from the rest of us. His wife——"

At that one hundred pounds of curls, dimples, blue eyes and ruffled organdy exploded.

"Oh, pooh! And tosh! And fiddle-de-dee! What is there so improper in my stopping into anybody's studio for a chat? Even if Hugh Saltus has forty wives and they've all left him, it would be perfectly moral and upright—for me to call on him I mean! Aunt Anne told me The Street was very conventional. She didn't tell me it was prim and prissy and—and silly!" she ended emphatically. "And even if everybody else has to be like that, you don't!" The afterthought came in a tone so low he had to bend his head to catch it.

"I agree with you it's silly," Mac admitted. Saltus is a fine chap and there's no reason on earth why you shouldn't spend the afternoon in his studio if you like; no reason except that Miss Ormond and a few others around here will be shocked and make it uncomfortable for you." He smiled down at her placatingly. "I want you to be happy here, Brenda! I want you to like The Street—everybody on it! One has to make concessions to almost every neighborhood—almost every place one stays. You said they wouldn't take your writing seriously in New York. Well, that's the objection there. Here, it's an old-fashioned and perhaps too slavish adherence to the conventions. All I ask is——"

But she continued to shake her head.

"It's time someone came along and taught them sense! They need a sense of proportion instead of a sense of the proprieties."

"You mean"—he spoke gravely—"that you intend going to the studio just the same?"

"Just the same; or perhaps a little oftener."

He rose. "You're a very foolish child then. Good night!"

It was almost dusk when Eric Mason, on his way to keep an engagement for the evening, nearly stumbled over the little figure on the steps.

"Brenda! My word! What're you mooning out here for?"

She replied with dignity: "I'm not mooning! I'm revolving a very important ethical question in my mind."

He grinned, dropped companionably down beside her and lighted a cigarette.

"The question being: shall you or shall you not yield to the prevailing sentiment against your going to see Saltus. Don't yield," he advised briefly. "Stand your ground."

"Does everybody in the house know the situation?" She sounded startled.

"In the house? You mean on The Street? My dear girl, I'd be willing to lay you a pretty penny that the sole topic of conversation in ten houses at this identical moment is Miss Brenda Burnham and her dropping in on Hugh yesterday afternoon. You can't sneeze in this neighborhood," he continued pathetically, "without sixteen people calling up and recommending their favorite nose drops, or cold remedy."

"But why? Why are they so interested in other people's affairs?

"Because they have none of their own. Take Miss Ormond now. I can give a shrewd guess that she started all this. She has no life of her own—and I mean her eyes bother her—she has no family, and I believe she's outlived most of her friends. There isn't much for the poor old soul to do but snoop about, watching the rest of us as we go our ways."

"Are you defending her?" Brenda inquired in astonishment.

"Merely explaining her." He tossed away his cigarette. "Judge Harper's another, only his interest is more friendly than Miss Ormond's. Then there's Mrs. Arnold and her Dorothy——"

"Her daughter?"

He chuckled. "Her maid. She took Dorothy out of an orphan asylum more than twenty years ago. The heavy responsibility of the act still weighs on her. It was after Mr. Arnold was killed in a railroad accident and she felt she must have someone to live with her. Get Adelaide to tell you some day how long Mrs. Arnold's weighed the pros and cons of her act. It shook The Street, and Mrs. Arnold herself has never quite recovered from it."

"How old is Dorothy now, for heaven's sake?"

"Thirty-three; and the homeliest woman the Lord ever let live. But to hear Mrs. Arnold, you'd be justified in beliving Dorothy to be a dream of pulchritude and her benefactor burdened with the heaviest responsibility ever placed on a woman's frail shoulders." He laughed again.

"Want to make me a bet, Brenda? It's this: Mrs. Arnold will call on you soon and ask you — sweetly and anxiously—not to do anything which might exert a wrong influence on Dorothy. She'll say that since she's made herself responsible for Dorothy's whole social and moral welfare she simply must be on her guard against anything which even faitly hints of Bohemianism!"

Brenda said in a wilted voice: "I don't believe a word of this, Eric!"

"A carton of cigarettes against five pounds of chocolates? Done!" He stood up "You're in a different world now, my child. It's a pretty kind and nice world, all things considered, but . . . it needs some getting used to. You'll see!" His chuckle floated after him as he strode toward the sidewalk.

Brenda was due for one more warning before she slept. Isobel Burke knocked just as the younger girl was creaming her face. Brenda, catching sight of her in the mirror, made a little move of defiance.

"Now don't you begin. Isobel!"

"M'm! So they've been at you already, have they? Who was it? The Ormond?"

"Better ask me who it wasn't!"

"I saw Mac edge out after you." Isobel seated herself and viewed her small hostess with relish. "I suppose Adelaide sicked him onto it!" Then she interrupted herself to say: "You look about ten in that thing, Brenda!"

Brenda glanced down at the thin peach-colored robe she wore. It was a frivolous garment, inset with lace, hand-hemmed, sleeveless and almost backless.

"It's cool!"

"It's lovely—and probably cost as much as I make in a month! I can't understand," she went on somberly, "why, with all your money—and Adelaide says you have scads!—you choose to come and live in a funny old place like this! A place," she went on oratorically, "where your business is everybody's business; where there isn't one single man, woman or child who is interesting—except Mac!—in the whole block. A place——"

And then an odd thing happened. Brenda, who had so lately castigated The Street to Mac and Eric, who had been, at the exact moment Isobel knocked, telling herwould see her trunk packed and her ticket bought for New York, now turned quite angrily on the red-haired girl who lounged in her rocker.

"I think there's something really sweet about the way everyone looks after one! I really like the interest people show in each other's affairs! I think they're all interesting, even Miss Ormond! I'm simply delighted that I'm going to live here a whole year!"

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

BENITO MUSSOLINI may be the man who will decide whether the Allies or Hitler will win the second World war. Though friendly to Hitler, Il Duce will hold out until he is sure of the identity of the winner. Here is what happened at Rome as a result of Hitler's storming of the Scandinavian Peninsula:

Dictator Mussolini, always an emotional person, told his intimates that Der Fuehrer's conquest of Scandinavian ports was the greatest naval and military achievement in hundreds of years. On the basis of that success Il Duce was about ready to cast his lot with Hitler. He was deterred from such a move by the king of Italy, the Vatican and the Italian people's known hostility toward the Germans. Had it not been for these influences, Mussolini would have lined up with Berlin a week ago. And then the war might have been on its way to the archives.

Realizing that Mussolini was in a shaky position, the Allies went to work on him. They tipped Il Duce off to their plans in Scandinavia and the Balkan Peninsula, despite the possibility that he might relay their military schemes to Hitler, as he has been doing since the start of the conflict. The Allies will make every sensible sacrifice to fracture the Rome-Berlin Axis.

COMPARISON: Hitler's general plan for conquering Europe—and for crushing the British empire—is fairly well-known to our military strategists and observers. Assuming that he can hold Norway against British onslaughts, his program for the future is comparatively simple.

The attack upon the Scandinavian Peninsula, according to our military observers, is only a military diversion. Der Fuehrer has only two divisions in Norway—30,000 men—and four divisions in Denmark. But across the line from Holland he has assembled 68 divisions. Within Germany itself, as a mobile and striking unit for use in Norway, the Netherlands or the Balkans, he has mobilized 40 divisions. Operating upon interior lines, as the kaiser did from 1914 to 1918, Hitler can strike where he chooses. In that respect he has his enemies at a distinct disadvantage.

Hitler, according to our scouts, will not strike through the Netherlands until he has vanquished the British in the Scandinavian Peninsula. But if he should win in that territory, our people have evidence to the effect that the present clash will be only child's play by comparison with future engagements by sea and land and air in the Low Countries and the Balkans.

CASH: Thomas E. Dewey has resorted to the same technique which Franklin D. Roosevelt used when the latter sought the Democratic Presidential nomination in 1932. But the New York man has assembled a "brain trust" so expansive and so costly that it makes FDR's advisory school seem like a kindergarten class.

With millions of dollars behind him, Tom has collected the best brains in political captivity. His New York headquarters resemble the proportions and the activity of the Grand Central station. He has mobilized the nation's experts on finance, labor, agriculture, foreign relations, etc., and they prepare his speeches. But—and Tom is an honest guy—he sits through the night on the eve of a campaign tour, and pits his ideas against those of his mentors. More often than not—for Mr. Dewey is a forceful person—he disagrees with them. In short, he has a "brains trust," but he uses it as an indicator—not as a compass.

Washington wonders just how much money is being spent to put Mr. Dewey over as the GOP nominee. There are reports here that when the Senate Campaign Committe's Expenditures committee begins to look into his cash commitments, he may have trouble in answering their questions.

INDICATIVE: The crushing vote in the House for the Walter-Logan act represents the most stunning defeat the White House has suffered on Capitol Hill since the Supreme Court packing measure was slaughtered.

FDR threw every ounce of pressure he now possesses into the fight against the clear-cut proposal, which simply requires that the decisions and regulations of New Deal agencies must be passed upon by the courts. FDR's key and popular leaders—Speaker Bankhead and Majority Leader Sam Rayburn—begged the House not to vote for the measure. But their pleas were discounted and dumfounded by that grand old philosopher — House Judiciary Chairman Hatton Sumners of Texas. He made a simple but eloquent argument.

"When we leave here on adjournment," opined Hatton, "only one man will be in charge of the government—President Roosevelt. I think that we—the Congress and the American people—ought to have a say on what's going on. Therefore I favor this bill."

The bill passed by three to one, which tells a story by itself.

DIFFERENCE: President Roosevelt was quite disappointed——so he told White House attaches—at the anti-war attitude of Western newspaper editors who recently convened in Washington and New York. He doesn't think that they understand the implications of a possible Hitler victory. They think they do, but his conclusions are not theirs.

NEW YORK
By Richard Waldo

COMPETENT observers have handed Washington a few more perplexities to ball up the Balkan picture. Their summary warns against taking Turkish participation in a Mediterranean war for granted. Information gathered from the Allies, Italy and in Ankara has Turkey doing a Mussolini.

According to this version, there is no question that Turkey wants to team with the Allies — but a large question whether such intervention would come about within the first six months of a Southern war. Our military scouts don't pretend to answer the question of Russian intentions; they simply say that the identical doubt in the Turkish capital will stay the Turks until Moscow moves. They predict firmly that a Mediterranean war from which Russia abstains will see a neutral Turkey.

As Ankara sees it, there is no logic to the faddish talk of a Balkan explosion on Mussolini's initiative. Il Duce's wants are on the South shore of the Mediterranean—and he has no taste for the chronic headache that goes with governing the tough Balkans. The Italian move, when and if it comes, would be on Allied colonies direct—with Turkish entry delayed for as long a time as Russia holds off.

WAITING: On the other hand, none of Manhattan's official Italian sources has more than a smile for Mussolini's recent mobilization of fleet and troops. In fact, the prediction of an Italian demonstration was casual and almost automatic in all these quarters the day after Germany moved on Scandinavia. It is an immutable law of Hitler logic that after a smash on one front he makes an immediate diplomatic thrust on all others. Special duty diplomats yawned and said—now watch Mussolini.

The general impression that Il Duce will jump only when certain that Hitler is winning the war oversimplifies the question. The Italian general staff—and Benito listens to them most respectfully—does not want a war with France so long as Marianne is able to conduct a "total" war. The high command foresees the day when Italy can get colonial satisfaction simply through a battle of maneuver—fleet displacement—with land forces stalemated.

"Der Tag" for Italy is the day the French are so occupied with Germany that Paris won't risk an exchange of airplane raids—will consent to an invisible Maginot Line—and will fight it out on the seas between Suez and Gibraltar.

RESERVED: The most bizarre "share the wealth" idea yet to come out of Washington was recently suggested to banks representing Danish clients. Mr. Morgenthau has probably not heard of it, and for the sake of some of his zealous underlings, the banks hope he never does.

The Washington hulu explains that the Danish funds of U S owners are probably lost forever—an assumption the banks fear to make. On the other hand, the local vaults hold millions in dollars and securities belonging to Danes now under split Danish-German sovereignty. The proposal would have the U.S. banks confiscate the funds of German Danes and pay off the local holders of property, or money, in Denmark. The American creditors would be paid to the full extent of their foreign holdings—and the real loser would be the citizens of Copenhagen who have lost all anyway.

Here And There In Texas

By GORDON SHEARER
United Press Correspondent

AUSTIN, April 24 (U.P.) — Traffic safety was the big topic of last week at the Texas State capitol.

The Texas Safety conference was held in the state senate room, with the senators' desks cleared out to provide greater seating room for delegates.

At Camp Mabry the state police started their annual traffic training course.

As a part of the safety conference, a committee appointed by the Texas Safety association made its report on the relationship between traffic accidents and drunken driving.

Horror Pictures Used

This report presented by Chairman Tomas Pollard of Tyler blamed more than one-fifth of last year's traffic deaths on drunken drivers. Because the penalty is a penitentiary sentence, Pollard's committee found that officers in many cases are filing minor charges of negligent homicide or failure to aid rather than drunk driving complaints against offenders. The officers, he reported, know that indictments and convictions are difficult to obtain under the major charge.

Roadside honkytonks were also blamed for much of the state's traffic hazard.

Photographic exhibits placed in the lobby of the state capitol impressed on visitors the horrors of traffic accidents.

CAUSES of 1939's traffic accidents were given in an illustrated report issued by the accident section of the drivers' license division of the State Department of Public Safety. The report dealt with 1,583 deaths in Texas traffic in 1939 showing some of the circumstances and facts causing the accidents.

A shaded map ranging from white to black revealed the safety status of each county. Thirty-four counties by having no traffic fatality during the year were shown in white. Thirteen counties with 20 or more deaths each appeared in mourning black. Others were graduated between the extremes. The department called the map its "traffic measles" chart.

A death calendar followed. Its graphic lesson was that festive holidays leave the streets and highways strewn with victims. It showed that there were but 16 days in 1939 in which no fatal traffic accident occurred.

Order Exceeds Board's Budget

AUSTIN, April 24 (U.P.) — State Liquor Administrator Bert Ford today furnished Atty. Gen. Gerald C. Mann a statement that engraved stamps ordered by the state board of control will cost $4,570 more than was appropriated by the state Legislature for the purpose.

Mann had asked both the liquor control board and the state board of control for a full statement of facts before passing on validity of the order.

Points against the award as cited by Ford were:

The award was made to the highest bidder with a difference of 10.55 cents per thousand stamps between the high and low bid.

Easier To Detect

Stamps that will be needed during the period covered by the proposed contract will cost $16,570 while only $12,000 has been appropriated for the purpose.

The stamps, according to the liquor administrator's understanding, are not the same in design, will be of material that will encourage attempts to re-use the stamps and will have the watermark of a bank-note company in place of the state's exclusive design.

Chairman Harry Knox, jr., of the board of control said the more expensive stamps were ordered because they are to be engraved. Samples furnished by the liquor board are lithographed stamps. Knox said it is easier to detect a counterfeit of an engraved stamp.

Award was to Wetmore & Hankamer of Houston for the American Bank note company of New York.

Shooting Of Sentry Is Being Probed

WASHINGTON, April 24 (U.P.) — The Federal Bureau of Investigation disclosed today that it is investigating the shooting of a sentry at the United States marine base at Quantico, Va.

The FBI and Marine Corps officials would not discuss details. It was reported that the sentry was shot early Tuesday morning when he attempted to halt a man he saw applying a blowtorch on one of the hangars at the base.

The name of the marine was not disclosed. He reportedly suffered a stomach wound.

OBSERVANCE WEEK

AUSTIN, April 24 (U.P.)—Governor's proclamations today designated two "weeks" for Texans to observe. From May 12 to May 18 inclusive will be known as "bottled soft drink weeks" in Texas. From May 17 to May 25, inclusive, will be "cotton week in Texas," conforming to national observance of cotton week.

ACCIDENTAL DEATH

CATLETTSBURG, Ky., April 24 (AP)—Byrd Kelly, 65, grocer, accidentally killed his son, Kinner, 28, today while trying to keep him from taking a pistol to settle an argument with another man, Police Lieut. J. C. Thompson said.

Study Of Credit Is Suggested

FORT WORTH, April 24. (U.P.) — Thomas W. Lamont, vice chairman of the board of J. P. Morgan & Son, said here last night that the United States should "study carefully" the advisability of extending credit to Great Britain and France when the Allies' cash resources in this country are exhausted.

"The Allies have enough manpower," Lamont declared, "but they are sorely in need of supplies which we can furnish. So far, they have been able to buy these supplies with cash, but it (cash) can't last indefinitely. The question of possible eventual credit to the Allies must be studied carefully.

Chances Better

"The more we are able to facilitate the Allies' needs, the better are their chances of winning, and the less likelihood of our being drawn into the conflict."

Lamont spoke at a dinner given here for 36 Santa Fe railway officials who are touring the Southwest. E. J. Engle of Chicago, Santa Fe president, said that Texas and California were "bright spots" of business. Prospects for the wheat crop in the Texas Panhandle are "most encouraging," he said.

K. T. Keller, president of Chrysler Motor company, and several other Chrysler officials also attended the dinner. The Chrysler executives are on separate tour of the Southwest.

Woman Makes Successful Solo Flight Wednesday

Miss Virginia Hinn, beauteous secretary of the Plainview Flying club, was soloed Wednesday at Lubbock Municipal airport.

The student of Art Chase, CAA instructor, made a neat flight and touched up in a smooth landing, said her instructor.

She had taken 11 1-2 hours of instruction from Chase, who said Plainview students were "flying quite a lot here, since the field the Plainview club has leased is small and considered inadequate enough in size to result in quite a demand for a municipal airport there."

Miss Hinn soloed in the Plainview club's ship, a light trainer.

Another May Go Up

Airport personnel said they believed the solo flight was the first for a woman here since Miss Evelyn Richter was soloed approximately eight years ago, but that a girl from Texas Technological college who had been soloed before coming to Lubbock flies there regularly.

It was understood that Mrs. Jerry Fulton of Lubbock might be ready for soloing today, however.

CAA instruction at the port is continuing steadily, instructors being faced with getting the work completed by the end of the Tech

The Independent Hardware Dealers Of Lubbock Announce

National Hardware Open House

Daily April 25th - May 4th

LUBBOCK INDEPENDENT HARDWARE MERCHANTS invite Mr. and Mrs. Lubbock to explore the "wonderland of Hardware" and check the "value and variety" found only in Independent Hardware Stores.

THE PURPOSE of the Open House is to keep the public informed of the new and improved products featured by Independent Hardware Retailers, and to give the Public a better understanding of the broad scope of the Hardware retailer service to his community.

More than 10,000 Independent Hardware Dealers throughout the country will participate in the ten day event this year.

OPEN house is a time when hardware folks are to be hosts to Mr. and Mrs. Consumer. The Independent Hardware Merchants are cooperating to make the open house week more interesting and effective for Lubbock people. Mr. and Mrs. Lubbock, this is your invitation to visit your own local hardware store and "snoop around and see all the things we handle."

THE HARDWARE folks emphasize that you are to be a guest during open house and will not be urged to buy, but to "check the hardware store values and variety."

HARDWARE merchants have confined their merchandizing plans strictly to items of regular quality, and price reductions or special merchandise will be of outstanding quality and not 'sale' merchandise.

Lubbock Hardware Dealers To Participate In National Open House Progra

Ten-Day Event Scheduled Here

Featuring the value and variety of merchandise found only in a hardware store, the hardware merchants of Lubbock will hold a ten-day open house as their participation in National Hardware Open House, April 25 to May 4.

Hundreds of manufacturers are furnishing real values for the national event, many of which will be on display at the local stores. This merchandise includes gift items, kitchen wares and home appliances as well as other hardware items of outstanding quality.

Purpose Is Outlined

The purpose of the Open House is to keep the public informed of the many new and improved products featured by independent hardware retailers, and to give the public a better understanding of the broad service to his community. More than 10,000 hardware dealers throughout the country will participate in the ten-day event this year.

"Open House is more than a sale, although many manufacturers have produced special values of their latest merchandise to be featured during this event," said Horace P. Aikman, president of the National Retail Hardware Association, which is sponsoring Open House throughout the country.

"Hardware merchants have confined their merchandising plans strictly to items of regular quality, and price reductions or special merchandise will be outstanding quality and not 'sale' merchandise."

Lubbock hardware merchants have been busy the past several weeks arranging for the open house, remodeling and redecorating their display counters and store interiors and filling their shelves and tables with the latest in all lines of merchandise so that visitors will get the full benefit of their national open house observance.

Special demonstrations have been arranged in the various stores on several different lines of merchandise and special displays will be set up throughout the stores.

Ask Your Dealer To Show You Flashlights

Have you a flashlight in your home?

Do you ever need one? Think how handy one comes in time of need.

When you visit your hardware store during National Retail Hardware Open House, April 25 to May 4, ask him to show you his complete line of flashlights.

And they're now available in gift boxes and they're gaily designed in silver and red, appropriate for all gift occasions.

Disston To Preserve Tools In Crypt Of Civilization

In May, 1940, the Great Door leading into the now famous Crypt of Civilization, located on the campus grounds of Oglethorpe university, Atlanta, Georgia, will be closed and sealed until many centuries have come to pass. On a day in the spring of 8113 A. D. the Great Door will be opened, revealing to the people of that dim 187th future generation, a treasure trove of records, depicting our present-day civilization.

The records consist of microfilm books, Voco films, motion pictures, transcriptions on cellulose acetate with reproducing mechanism, photographs, pictures, printed matter, models of mechanical equipment and the tools and means governing our present system of transportation and communication, records of languages, arts, history, music, social sciences, medicine, surgery, etc., all of which to present to the people of 8113 A. D. the complete story of our present civilization.

Furnishing Four Tools

Henry Disston & Sons, Inc., Philadelphia, U. S. A., as their contribution to the record of our civilization, are furnishing four tools—three saws and one trowel as follows.

A plastering trowel, made of stainless steel with mounting of drop forged aluminum alloy and stainless steel rivets.

Pruning saw is a folding type fish with curved stainless steel blade, chromium-plated screw, cluster bolt and wing nut.

Used By Most Carpenters

The two saws, most important of the four tools, are the famous D-8, 26" 8 pt. regular patterns, skew-back hand saw originally invented by Henry Disston in 1874. The D-8 is the handsaw known all over the world as "The Saw Most Carpenters Use."

The second saw is the D-95 Master-piece, which was brought out in 1935, the 95th year of Disston's business, thus the number D-95.

SUPER DIARY

WOODLAND, Calif. (AP)—Here's something for diary keepers to shoot at. Starting in 1880, Richard Howard kept a complete written journal of his life, his friends' activities and of current events. The 60-year-old record contains obituaries of more than 600 of his friends.

MARATHON CONSCIENCE

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP)—The State Conservation commission doesn't know just what advice to give a man who wrote in and said his conscience was hurting him because he ate some "illegal fish." The fish were eaten 15 years ago.

FOR PEACETIME GAS ATTACKS—Poisonous gas, is a peacetime as well as war, peril, visitors to the Greater New York Safety Council's convention learned when they saw five types of gas masks displayed. The one above, modeled by Marjorie Maye, is designed to protect industrial workers against noxious fumes.

Great Britain is the seventh largest island in the world, having an area of 88,603 square miles.

Nail-Driving Contest Is Scheduled In City

One of the features to be offered at one hardware store in Lubbock during National Hardware Open House will be a nail-driving contest under the sponsorship of Fayette R. Plumb, Inc., Philadelphia, manufacturers of fine hammers, hatchets, files, sledges and axes.

Visitors to the store will be given an opportunity to test their skill with the hammer. Winner of the contest will receive a fine Plumb hammer as a prize.

The contest is an open affair and women as well as men may compete.

Weed Cutter Is New Garden Tool

Heading the list in National Retail Hardware Open House specials is a new garden tool—a weed cutter.

The weed cutter combines the advantages of a replaceable, heat-treated serrated edge blade with open end, non-choking design and adjustable shank and is one of a number of attractive Open House specials to be displayed. It is light in construction, much more easier to handle than a regulation garden hoe.

Hardware Merchant Aids In Building And Keeping Homes

The hardware merchant has always been a builder in providing the tools and many other materials for constructing homes, and after the home is built, providing utensils, queensware, appliances etc., for equipping it.

The hardware store is the store fo rthe entire family, including the dog.

The hardware store has always been a quality store, dealing in practical things which should serve their users well. The hardware man has appreciated the importance of good quality for satisfactory performance.

The hardware man has always been a friend and neighbor to his customers—sharing their problems contributing to local charities and churches—rendering a service in which human sympathy is added to cold business efficiency.

Public Learning Of Old Values

"I never knew you had so many interesting things."

This is a comment expressed daily by customers of local hardware stores, who are cooperating in the observance of National Hardware Open House. The event will continue through May 4.

Hundreds of men and women who have accepted the invitation to attend "open house" have been surprised at the values and variety of hardware merchandise of special interest to them. Kitchen ware, electric appliances, home conveniences, and labor saving devices—as well as their tools for the home garden and work shop, are on display.

Preview Of Merchandise

Although open house is featuring many special values, it is more than a sale. It is an invitation to visit the hardware store to become acquainted with the values and services offered regularly by hardware retilers, and to preview the latest merchandise announced by cooperating manufacturers. Approximately 150 American manufacturers are cooperating in presenting products of exceptional merit, through the participating ten thousand hardware stores, to the public.

At a recent convention of the Indiana retail hardware association, a canvis of the seven dealers, composing the official board of that organization, revealed that they represented seven hardware firms aggregating 392 years of existence—an average age of fifty-six years. Certainly, this is a convincing evidence of the stability of hardware merchants who, as a class, long have been recognized as most substantial.

Years have not made hardware stores ancient or outmoded. With every advance of the times, this trade has kept pace and today, in most towns, the hardware store ranks as an outstanding business establishment. He can progress in the goods he handles. At every improvement for sightliness, efficiency, and labor saving, the hardware man has kept himself and his business house down to date, while placing the latest products of invention and industry before his community.

Sugar is not one of the commodities lacking in wartime Germany. Moravian sugar beet fields, under the Germans protectorate, provide an ample supply.

Lawn Weeders Are New Hardware Item

Does your lawn have weeds in it that you can't get to handily with a hoe or the grass is so thick you can't pull them out by the roots? You ought to see the new lawn weeders out this season. They're one of the many new articles on display at your hardware store during National Hardware Open House.

The weeders have long prong slotted cutting ends and a fork-like claw which closes over the weeds at the top of the ground and aids in removing them along with their roots which have been cut below the ground by the sharp cutting prong. A foot "pedal" is also available on the weeders to help the user when wedding in extra hard ground.

Marketing Survey Reveals Increase In Popularity Of Hardware Stores In

Women Thinking More Of Stores

What do women think about hardware stores?

During the past two years, Paul D. Converse, professor of marketing, University of Illinois, has secured interviews in many states. A few of these were located in larger cities, but the majority were in towns from a few hundred up to one hundred thousand population. Incomes ranged all the way from those of laborers and WPA workers to those of families with cooks and gardeners. The group may be considered a cross section of American women in the cities and towns outside of metropolitan areas.

To what extent has the hardware store succeeded in appealing to women shoppers? Do women like or dislike the hardware store? To this, two hundred housewives were asked. "What do you think of the hardware store?"

Answers Of All Kinds

All kinds of answers were obtained. Some said they couldn't get along without it. One woman said she liked to "snoop" around in hardware stores and see all the things they handled. Another was very much surprised when she went in to buy a bridge prize to find that a hardware store handled so many interesting things. Some said they never thought of the hardware store in any way. It seemed to be almost out of their field of consciousness, although they knew such stores existed. "It just never occurred" to them to visit the hardware stores.

The principal purpose of hardware open house is to acquaint Mr. and Mrs. Consumer more with the many thousand of useful everyday items that may be purchased at a saving in the independent hardware stores.

Statements Are Quoted

Professor Converse obtained such statements as these from the many interviews with housewives:

"Until recently, hardware stores seemed to me to be mostly for men customers, and I never went into them. Maybe this was because in my home town men used to loiter in them. The hardware stores here are different because they handle many things that women buy and I quite often shop in hardware stores."

"I think they are good places to shop in, and I frequently visit them because they always have everything a housewife needs, and I think the prices are reasonable."

Have Improved Merchandise

"Formerly, I patronized the hardware store only when it was necessary, but I think hardware stores have improved their merchandising and their merchandise in the last few years, and I now buy almost all my goods, in that line, in the hardware store."

"I like the hardware store of today much better than the crowded, unkept store of old and I go there to get quality merchandise."

"In searching for a bridge prize I discovered that a hardware store carries many articles that I never suspected they had. I never knew they had so many interesting things."

Can Get Good Quality

"I like to trade at the hardware store for I can get good quality, and there is a wide selection. I feel like the clerks know the products they are selling very well."

Professor Converse found the importance of women as buyers. This data indicates that women buy most of the kitchen utensils, dishes, cutlery, and toys. Women are of almost equal importance with men in buying garden supplies and tools, electrical goods and appliances, paints and stoves.

Hardware Merchants Invite You To 'Just Browse Around'

Do you ever go into a hardware store and just "browse around?"

That's what Lubbock hardware merchants want you to do from April 25 to May 4 in their participation in National Retail Hardware Open House.

How many things do you need in your home that you've been wanting to know where to buy them? Make out a list of them and then join your friends in a visit to your hardware store and see how many of them you can find in the thousands of articles displayed there.

March through the aisles of the hardware store. See how conveniently articles are arranged in display for you. Examine the new household articles, labor-siving devices and equipment.

Take as much time as you like and thoroughly enjoy yourself.

The Rookery, erected in Chicago in 1887, was the first large steel-framed building to be constructed in the United States.

Zipper-Top Rubbish Burner Is New Idea

They're using zippers on practically everything nowadays!

And the latest is a zipper-top rubbish burner which will be one of the thousands of new hardware articles to be featured in National Hardware Open House, April 25 to May 4.

The rubbish burner is a large heavy wire basket with a wire top enclosure which opens in zipper fashion at a slight touch of the hands and allows placing of rubbish into the basket. The top can be closed before the rubbish is burned to prevent flowing of burning material from the basket.

The basket also has a volcano bottom in which the wires rise in the center of the bottom to form a cone, like a volcano, which braces the wires to prevent sagging, even when hot, and at the same time causes materials dropped on the bottom to fall to the outer rib and create a flue for combustion.

TOMATO REALLY FRUIT

The tomato, technically, is classed as a berry by botanists, and, as such, it would also be classed as a fruit. The Bureau of Plant Industry, however, classes it as a vegetable, and it is popularly and commercially known as such.

for the condition of our store during this, the third observance of hardware open house.

This is the time each year that The Hardware stores of the nation invite their friends to visit them and inspect the facilities they offer for service to their community.

This time, this open house celebration catches us in the midst of enlarging and remodeling our entire store and during this time of confusion, we find it impossible to give our friends the service and attention we would like for them to have when they visit us. We promise, however, that if you wish to visit us again after our changes are completed to give our undivided attention to your needs and to try and have the merchandise you need at prices you will find satisfactory.
