HEAVY TIMBER CRUSHES MAN THIS MORNING

A heavy piece of timber, crashing 50 feet to the floor of the derrick over Empire's No. 1 five miles west of Pampa, instantly killed Bert Hammett, 33, at 10:20 o'clock this morning. The man had been a rig builder for Empire company for three years. He had lived with his family at 701 East Francis. The piece of timber struck the back of his head crushing it.

With C. L. Mayo and P. R. Ferguson, Hammett was removing the relogs, or stiffeners, from the derrick over the pumping well when the accident occurred. Hammett was on the floor and the two other men were about 70 feet up in the derrick, according to their story. They saw the piece of timber falling before they knew it was loose and called a warning to Hammett, but it either struck him before he heard them or he did not hear them, they said. The timber was 21 feet long, eight inches wide and eight inches thick. When the two men reached the ground Hammett was dead.

Hammett is survived by his wife and three step-children, two girls and one boy. He had been working for Paul Kasishke, contractor for Empire for about three years.

Mayo and Ferguson quickly notified G. C. Malone Funeral Home and he was brought there by the Malone ambulance.

Man Is Injured

Dewey Parker, employee at the Phillips gasoline plant near Pampa was painfully but not seriously injured yesterday afternoon when he fell to the ground from a truck which he was loading and three joints of pipe fell on him. Parker suffered a long cut on his head and painful bruises on his body. He is recovering in a local hospital.

Texas Boy Wins in Horse Judging

The silver trophy given by the Kansas City stockyards company for the state livestock team placing first in judging of all classes of livestock went to the California team, with Colorado and Idaho ranging second and third. Edward Gilbrath of Dublin, Tex., won first place in the individual judging contest for horses.

Sixteen-year-old Mary Peon of Memphis, Tenn., was being courted by James Reiff, 18, when his father, William Reiff, 41, met Mary. Now, after a whirlwind courtship on the part of the father, she is Mrs. William Reiff. They are shown together above.

FOLLIES TO BE TALK OF TOWN AFTER TONIGHT

The Lions Follies cast is all set for its premiere production. The curtain at central gymnasium will rise tonight at 8 o'clock for the first night of the dance revue. The show will be repeated Friday night.

An experienced observer said that final rehearsal last night revealed that Director W. H. Aldridge has done his work well and that the 60 members of the cast know what to say and sing and which way to kick. So well he believes the "girls" will be the talk of the city tomorrow.

At the end of the two-hour run, three judges will select the ten most beautiful "girls" of the sixty, as they parade in ten groups on the stage. The audience will then choose the most beautiful one of the ten. However, Miss Peaches Browning avers that "she" will not parade the length and breadth of that platform until she has wiped off the egg and tomato stains from her attire and person.

The curtain will open on the chorus (coarse) girls who will give two songs and dance acts. Last night Miss Clarice Kennedy and Miss Akers were selected as the most beautiful beauties of this group. The Russian (rush in) ballet featuring Mille Stuckey, Mlle. Paula Shepherd and Miss Jamie Ann Meeks, is next on the program.

The remainder of the program includes the gypsy camp, Spanish dancers, Hula-Hula by a native Irishman, twice removed, flappers of yesterday, school days, Royal Order O' Ducks (blackface), bathing beauties, movie stars, specialty quartet numbers, and minuet dance. After absenting themselves from previous rehearsals, Miss Rose Bud Fisher and Miss Tabitha Brabham appeared for practice last night and surprised everybody by knowing their parts perfectly. The same might be said of Miss Josie M. McDonald.

There will be no reserved seats.

WELL IS INTERESTING

BAIRD, Nov. 21. (P)—Considerable interest has been manifested in a new 500-barrel oil well brought in Sunday on the Jackson ranch eight miles north of Baird. Many new locations have been made, the newest of which are in a midwest location east of Campbell. No. 2 Union Oil company south of the producer, the Homer Peabody one quarter mile east of Campbell, the No. 2 Union Oil company at Alexander.

Pampa will be host Monday to the annual meeting of the Highway No. 41 association, of which F. P. Reid of this city is president.

The session will open at the Board of City Development auditorium at 11 a. m. At noon the delegates will be guests at the regular monthly luncheon of the local Chamber of Commerce. The luncheon will be served at the First Methodist church.

Senator C. C. Small, author of the Small land legislation, is planning to attend and will be one of the principal speakers.

Division Engineer Bailey of the state highway department also will be heard by the road men.

Hearing of reports along the highway and election of officers for the next fiscal year will be among the business matters.

Interest in Highway 41 has been growing rapidly during the administration of Mr. Reid. The limits already are regarded as from Oklahoma City through Sayre, Pampa, Borger, Dalhart, and well into Colorado, with indications that it will reach Denver in the near future. It cuts off many miles by being a direct route through the Panhandle.

Lynching Probe by Grand Jury Now Under Way

EASTLAND, Nov. 21. (P)—The slowly moving machinery of the law which several hundred Eastland citizens protested Tuesday night in lynching Marshall Ratliff, condemned bank robber and slayer, swung into action today with the investigation of the mob's action its goal.

A grand jury called immediately after the death of Ratliff's last victim, Peace Officer Tom Jones, who was fatally wounded in an attempted jail break Monday, planned to investigate every phase of the lynching, and the jury had the promise of vigorous operation from the county attorney's office in the event indictments were returned.

Although Mrs. Rilla Carter, mother of the Santa Claus bandit, so-called because of his disguise during the Cisco bank robbery of two years ago, had asked Eastland authorities to hold the body until her arrival, the body was dispatched to Fort Worth early. Burial services will probably be held Saturday.

Crowded out of the small undertaking establishment into a larger store next door, where more people could see it, the body of the bandit lay out for the public gaze on an impromptu pier yesterday.

Tom Jones, fatally wounded by the bandit who attempted to escape after feigning insanity and paralysis, died yesterday with an admonition to his eight-year-old son, to "be a good boy."

Several Injured in Washington Blast

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21. (P)—An explosion in the downtown commercial district of Washington wrecked a portion of a city block today and injured several persons.

Police estimated some 20 passersby and employees of a McCrory five and ten cent store, under which the explosion occurred, had been injured.

All victims were rushed to hospitals in private cars and ambulances as fast as they were located.

The explosion lifted a part of the concrete sidewalk about 40 feet square high into the air. Firemen arriving immediately began digging beneath the ruins for bodies.

No explanation for the explosion was found, but police expressed opinion an overheated boiler might have been responsible.

At 2 o'clock ten persons had been removed from the ruins.

BATTLE OVER BOND MAKING NOT PLANNED

Habeas Corpus Plan

Fort Worth

CLEBURNE, Nov. 21. (P)—Deputy Sheriff M. Burton of Hutchinson county today "headed north" from here with Jim Hodges and Sam Jones, indicted for the murder of District Attorney John A. Holmes at Borger Sept. 13. The men were handcuffed as they left.

Burton arrived with the two men last night, and when he left this morning said the men were being "taken to Stinnett."

Asked concerning investigation of the Holmes slaying, Burton said "information is very satisfactory." The deputy sheriff has covered a large part of Central Texas recently trying to keep Jones and Hodges with him without outside interference, he said.

STINNETT, Nov. 21. (P)—Opinion that the state would not unduly contest bonds for Sam Jones and Jim Hodges Saturday at a habeas corpus hearing was prevalent here today.

Rumor persisted here today that District Attorney Clem Calhoun and Sheriff C. A. Moore of Hutchinson county would be here this afternoon, presumably to meet Deputy Sheriff Red Burton, who is bringing back to Stinnett Jim Hodges and Sam Jones, indicted in connection with the slaying of Johnny Holmes Sept. 13. Mr. Calhoun would make no statement of his plans this morning, however, when interviewed by a representative of The News at Stinnett.

return several indictments first said he did not expect to fight attempts by the prisoners to make bonds, but later said he was not decided exactly what he would do. He admitted Jones and Hodges were subject to bond, the amount of which would be left to the jurisdiction of the court.

Both Sheriff C. O. Moore and Calhoun still denied knowledge of the prisoners' present jail or when they would return.

Missed in Fort Worth

PORT WORTH, Nov. 21. (P)—The hide-and-seek game being played by custodians of Jim Hodges and Sam Jones, alleged slayers of District Attorney John A. Holmes of Borger, was resumed today after habeas corpus proceedings had been filed on behalf of Hodges.

Hodges and Jones were supposed to be in the Tarrant county jail, where they were placed early Sunday after being brought from Borger. This morning, Charles and Clyde Mays, attorneys, filed Habeas corpus application for Hodges.

Deputy Constable, given the writ to serve, reported back that Hodges was not in the Tarrant county jail. Chief Deputy Sheriff Leigh declared both Jones and Hodges were taken from the county jail by Borger officers Wednesday afternoon. He did not announce their destination.

The writ was made returnable to Judge Hoseney at 10 a. m. today.

District Attorney Holmes was slain at Borger on September 13. The murder charges were filed against Jones and Hodges recently.

The writ filed this morning was issued against Ranger Captain Hickman.

Get Grandpa's Money? Maybe!

When John Quincy Murray left bequests of $4,000 to his three grandchildren, he wasn't taking any chances they would dissipate the money in foolish fads of the modern jazz age. If they obtain the income, the two granddaughters, Mrs. Alice Murray Lapossa, left, and Jean Murray, right above, must abstain from lipstick, face paint, dancing, jewelry or short skirts. And Dr. Malcolm Joan Murray, right below, the third beneficiary, must never wear facial adornment described as a "Charlie Chaplin mustache", nor fritter away his time in motion picture shows. Otherwise the money goes to three superannuated ministers of the Free Methodist Church.

WINTER RETURNS WITH BLANKET OF SNOW FOR PANHANDLE—GAME IN MEMPHIS SET FOR TOMORROW

Denton's Mayor Says Papers Are Under "Control"

SHEFFIELD, Ala., Nov. 21. (P)—B. W. McKenzie, mayor of Denton, Texas, and president of the Municipal Utilities League of Texas asserted in an address prepared for delivery this afternoon before the public ownership league of America that "a majority of the newspapers in Texas are controlled by the power interests although most of the newspapers had refused to be influenced."

"The group newspapers especially are dominated by the power trust," Mayor McKenzie said, "and to such an extent that they refuse to carry publicity concerning municipally operated plants and take strong editorial stands against such undertakings. They also go so far as to distort the real facts and print untrue statements, in an effort to influence the public."

Mayor McKenzie's remarks were in the course of an address on "Municipal vs. Private Ownership of Utilities plants in Texas."

He asserted a majority of the municipally owned plants in Texas have records reading like "romance in business," and among the municipal plants in the state are several that have paid for their own capital expenses while earning sufficient profits to pay for all improvements and extensions as well as surplus profits that have been used for other departments of the respective city governments.

With the temperature around 30 degrees and a light snow falling steadily, Pampa and the North Plains were experiencing another touch of winter today.

Large flakes floated down with little wind to move them, and in the absence of melting weather soon covered the ground white. Streets were very slippery. Sleet fell for a short time after daybreak. The weather forecast for tonight and tomorrow was cloudy with rain or snow in the Panhandle.

Chief regret that another blizzard was upon this section lay in the fact that the Pampa Harvesters will play Memphis Cyclone at Memphis tomorrow, and that many local people will drive to the game. Both teams have played in the mud, Memphis against Childress and Pampa against Perryton. It is believed the game will be played regardless of the weather.

By the Associated Press

Using snow and sleet for battering rams, winter made another assault on some sections of West and North Texas today, and indicated it would attack others before nightfall.

Snow was reported in numerous places as near freezing temperatures were recorded.

The first snow of the season fell at Gainesville, while at Amarillo the eighth such happening occurred bringing the total fall in the Panhandle city for the season to 7.2 inches. Except in sheltered places, the flakes at Gainesville melted.

Snow also fell at Sherman, Borger, Sweetwater, Wichita Falls, Pampa and Longview.

Heavy flakes fell in Dallas for half an hour following a drizzling rain last night.

SNOW BLAMED FOR TRAGEDY NEAR DALLAS

NEGRO DRIVER ONLY SURVIVOR

Victims Were Going to Fort Worth to Luncheon

DALLAS, Nov. 21. (P)—His vision apparently affected by a heavy fall of snow, the first of the season, a negro chauffeur today drove an automobile into the side of a railroad motor car on the outskirts of Dallas, killing five women passengers and seriously injuring himself.

After much difficulty, four of the victims were positively identified as Mrs. Charles Clark, 35, Mrs. A. P. Grider, 35, and Mrs. G. R. Grider, all of Leonard, and Mrs. Dolly King of Fort Worth.

The fifth woman was believed to be Mrs. H. S. Pendergrass of Leonard.

On Way to Luncheon

The chauffeur was taken to a hospital where he gave his name as Robert Guess. He said he was employed by A. P. Grider of Leonard.

The women left Leonard early today for Fort Worth, where they were to have attended a luncheon given by Mrs. Hubb Diggs.

The accident occurred about five miles east of Dallas, the automobile apparently skidding on slippery pavement into the motor car, bound from Dallas to Paris. The motor car belonged to the Santa Fe railway company.

The automobile was dragged through a cattle guard and demolished. All of the victims were mutilated save the chauffeur.

All of the women were of prominent Fort Worth and Leonard families.

A. T. McClasking, motorman, said his car was nearly across the highway crossing when he heard the automobile crash into its side. He brought his car to a stop as quickly as possible, and assisted in removing the bodies from the wreckage.

He said it was snowing at the time and thought it probable the chauffeur, unfamiliar with the highway, did not realize the danger until too late to stop his car.

No Eyewitnesses

As far as could be learned there was no eyewitnesses to the crash although several men in the vicinity heard the collision and reached the scene a few minutes later.

All but one of the women, Mrs. Clark, were killed instantly, she died on the way to a hospital.

Guess recovered consciousness long enough to disclose his identity and that of his employer, but gave no details of the accident. He was expected to recover.

The bodies lay for several hours in undertaking morgues before they were identified. Through personal efforts found in the wreckage, relatives were located and started for Dallas immediately.

Dr. M. B. Fry of Dallas, nephew of Mrs. King, was the first to reach a morgue where four of the bodies were removed. He immediately identified the bodies of his aunt and Mrs. G. R. Grider.

The crossing where the accident occurred was opened to view on either side, but the railroad tracks were at the bottom of an incline in the highway, down which the Grider automobile was going.

An ambulance from Leonard started for Dallas to return the victims of that city.

Speaker Says Baptists Grow Too Romantic Over Foreign Fields and Neglect Needy Work at Very Door

By R. W. BARRY
Associated Press Staff Writer
BEAUMONT, Nov. 21. (P)—Baptists are prone to "grow romantic" over foreigners in foreign lands and "cannot do too much for those there," while those who live "at our doors, it seems, can die and we are undisturbed," Dr. John A. Hold of Waco told the Baptist general convention today in the official sermon for the meeting.

He took his text from Second Timothy, 2:2: "And the things which thou hast heard from me among many witnesses, the same commit thou to faithful men, who shall be able to teach others also."

"Here in Texas we have something like 50,000 Jews; something like 100,000 of the Slav races; something like 400,000 of the Nordic races, and more than 1,000,000 of the Latin races, yet we do little for them and we seem not at all disturbed," Dr. Hold said.

He declared that the "pulpit today, in many instances, yields too readily to the frivolous demands of the pew and the galleries."

He said that "the teaching element in the preachers life work is the most important part, both for the sake of the message which should be rightly interpreted, and for the sake of those who are to receive it."

He told the convention that "one of the great points of weakness" in the churches "was the lack of clear and intelligent conviction with regard to fundamental Christian beliefs."

"To say that Christianity has failed because its adherents have not measured up to its ennobling standards, is not a criticism of Christianity but of those whose will was not distinctly Christian," he said.

Amateur Pilots in New York May Be Barred From Sky

NEW YORK, Nov. 21. (P)—Regulations to prohibit any but experienced pilots from flying planes over Manhattan were demanded today by Police Commissioner Grover A. Whalen as the result of the fall of a plane in West 64th street, near Central park.

Charles I. Reid, 34 years old, amateur pilot, was killed, and his passenger, Robert Baile, 23, saved himself by a parachute leap yesterday when the plane crashed against the fourth story setback of a new Y. M. C. A. building.

Baile, who landed on a roof across the street from where the plane struck, said that Reid, who held a private pilot's license, had chartered the plane at Roosevelt field for a picture-taking flight over Manhattan.

He said the motor began to miss while they were still over Long Island, but that Reid kept the plane headed toward Manhattan. When they were over Central Park, he continued, the plane began to lose altitude. Reid worked frantically to get the plane higher, but it turned over three times.

Baile said he crawled out on a wing of the plane, pulled the rip cord of his parachute and let it pull him off. He said he had no idea how high the plane was then. Witnesses said he dropped about 500 feet. He suffered only a bruised eye and a bruised wrist.

Witnesses said after Baile jumped the plane skidded along the roof tops, then struck the side of the Y. M. C. A. building, and fell landing on the set back. Reid was killed instantly.

Sinclair Cannot Be Contrite After Jail Sentence

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21. (P)—Harry F. Sinclair today laid aside the compulsory duties of pharmacist at the District of Columbia jail for the freedom and leisure of a multi-millionaire oil baron and proprietor of racing horses. His sentence for contempt of court and of the senate arising from oil scandals of the Harding administration were completed last night at midnight, and a few minutes later he emerged from the jail, to be greeted by a few close friends and hasten at once to the Mayflower hotel where Mrs. Sinclair awaited him.

His plans were somewhat indefinite, but he expected to go first to New Jersey, where the stock farm of the Rancocas stables is located, and then to his Long Island home and New York office.

The booming flash lights of news-paper photographers hailed his emergence from the jail, and reporters clustered about him for a statement.

"I have nothing to say," he told them. "I came to jail for not talking, you know."

He was greeted at the door by his brother, E. V. Sinclair and G. I. Stanford, an attorney, who had been waiting at the entrance for some little time. In sharp contrast with the May night on which he bustled past reporters and cameramen into the jail, Sinclair agreed to pose for photographs and later make some remarks for the talking motion pictures.

In so doing, he jibed laughingly at the newspapermen, thanking them for their "kind reception," and saying: "I hope you will have another opportunity, and I know you will, for a little more training, and then I believe you will show a marked improvement."

A short time before leaving the jail, Sinclair issued a statement asserting he had been imprisoned as a "victim of political campaigns to elect honest Democrats by proving how dishonest Republicans were."

He asserted he could not be "contrite" for sins which he had "never committed," nor "pretend to be ashamed of conduct," which he said he knew to have been "upright." In addition, he reviewed the contentions of his lawyers when the two cases on which he was sentenced were in the courts.

Senate Will Have Week of Rest Before Congress Starts Again

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21. (P)—Still plugging away at the tariff bill, the senate today looked expectantly forward to tomorrow night's adjournment and a week of rest before entering upon the regular session.

Defeated in their effort to extend the special session and keep the senate at work on the tariff measure, the "Young Republican" faction was still defiant and served notice that as soon as possible in the regular session the bill would be called up and pressed to final disposition.

Resumption of debate today, which embraced the important wool schedule, saw the senate two-thirds of the way through the many rates incorporated in the bill. Remaining to be acted upon were, in addition to wool, the highly controversial sugar paragraphs, those dealing with silk, rayon and other synthetic textiles, paper, books, sundries and the free list.

At the outset of the regular session, convening on Dec. 2, by agreement, the senate will take up the long standing controversy over the right of William S. Vare to be seated as senator from Pennsylvania. It is estimated three days will be required for the disposition of this case, after which a return to the tariff will be in order, and it is expected a final vote on the revenue measure can be reached before the Christmas recess.

In demanding a prompt resumption of the tariff debate, the "Young Republicans" are joined by the Independent Republican senators of the Northwest and by Democratic members with whom the westerners have combined repeatedly to defeat the tariff proposals of the administration group.

There was, however, some speculation as to the attitude of President Hoover toward prolonging the tariff debates by carrying it far into the regular session. It has been indicated the chief executive is opposed to such a course, and at one time, Senator Watson, Republican leader, suggested that if the bill should not be disposed of by Dec. 2, it be laid aside for an entire year.

Senator Moses of New Hampshire, who has been severely criticized for terming the western independents "sons of the Wild Jackass," called the Republican senatorial campaign committee, of which he is chairman, together last night, and later it was reported the group, including many of the "Young Republican" bloc, stood "knee deep in harmony."

Although repeatedly denied, there had been persistent reports that the young Republicans were dissatisfied with the "old guard" leaders, including Moses, who is president pro tem of the senate, and were plotting to unseat them.

Action requested by Senator Metcalf of Rhode Island preventing the committee from taking any part in the senatorial campaign in that state next year without the consent of the Republican nominee when not taken. Metcalf, one of the "Young Republicans," is up for re-election, and had explained his request as prompted by a realization that unfamiliar hands can do undesirable things in a political campaign, rather than by an inclination to attack the leadership of the committee.

Clemenceau Very Ill Early Today

PARIS, Nov. 21. (P)—Former Premier Clemenceau, who had a severe heart attack in October, suffered an acute attack of colic today, but early this afternoon seemed much better.

Dr. Degennes, who attended him after the recent attack, was called urgently and found "The Tiger" suffering intense abdominal pain.

The doctor administered morphine and was able to quiet the pain to some extent.

"This crisis may be very serious," Dr. Degennes said as he left the house for a brief interval. He intended to return shortly.

Disregard of quarantine laws now in effect here where there are two cases of small pox is likely to spread the disease, according to Assistant City Health Officer Dr. T. J. Worrell. A WASHINGTON BYSTANDER

By HERBERT PLUMMER

WASHINGTON—The widely-heralded appearance of Senator Smith Wildman Brookhart before the District of Columbia grand jury to tell of "Wall street booze parties" in Washington was, after all, about the tamest affair one could imagine.

There were quite a few who went over to the courthouse that morning expecting a good show. They had read how the day before Vice-President Curtis had been compelled to warn the senate galleries to keep quiet while the Iowa senator was discussing the same thing.

But had it not been for news photographers, those curious ones would have been left out entirely. The booming of flashlights and the grinding of movie cameras were certainly the only indication that anything out of the ordinary was happening.

Brookhart personally was the smallest part of the show.

It was exactly five minutes of 11 o'clock when the bulky frame of the Iowa senator appeared in the corridor leading to the district attorney's office.

Despite the fact that it was a rather cold morning, he wore no overcoat and was alone. In his right hand was a brown envelope.

THE RUSH

Reporters recognized him and rushed forward. One was so eager that lighted cigar came in such sudden contact with the senator's coat sleeve that the dark grey suit could have hardly escaped being burned.

"Oh, hello," he greeted, and smiling, asked, "Where's the office of the district attorney?"

Someone directed him, and ignoring their questions he continued to walk down the corridor.

A few feet further and he was approached by District Attorney Rover. Greetings were exchanged, then Rover said:

"Senator, I want to warn you my office is full of photographers. This is why I met you in the corridor."

Brookhart laughed.

"Oh, I expected that. Let's go."

The two disappeared in Rover's office.

Within a few seconds the camera artillery opened up. And before it was silenced the office was so filled with smoke from the flashlight guns that the air was almost stifling. Movie men objected to the light, exacted a promise that the senator would pose outside when he had finished, then rushed downstairs to set up their cameras.

JUST 15 MINUTES

It took the senator from Iowa exactly 15 minutes to tell the grand jury all that he knew about "Wall street booze parties" and those who attended such affairs.

At 11:19 he entered the grand jury room with the district attorney. At 11:34 he emerged with district attorney, and together they returned to the latter's office to get the senator's hat and again pose for photographers who had not been able to "shoot" them before.

To reporters this time he was most affable. In fact, one got the impression that Brookhart was enjoying the whole affair hugely. As he came out of Rover's office, hat in hand and still holding his brown envelope, he turned to the newspapermen and with a wide grin said:

"Boys, you all know that grand jury proceedings are secret. And if you don't let us alone we will have you all jailed for contempt of court."

Still laughing, in company with Rover the senator made his departure. Downstairs the movie photographers lay in wait. For several minutes he posed for them along with Rover, each submitting generously to the photographers' demands.

Low Thermometers in Many Sections of Nation Today

CHICAGO, Nov. 21. (AP)—Frigid temperatures held sway today in the mid-west and Northwest, and in many places the ground was spread with snow.

Continued cold and fair weather with readings ranging down to zero was the forecast for today.

Some of the low marks for yesterday were: The Pas, 6 below; Minneapolis, 14; Sioux City, 14; Bismarck, 6; and Sault Ste. Marie, 16.

In Chicago the thermometer is expected to reach 10 above by tonight.

HELENA, Mont., Nov. 21. (AP)—The first real blizzard of the season hit Montana today, shrouding many sections of the state in biting frost and sending the mercury down to new low levels for the season.

A cold blast swept down from the north late yesterday, making the night the most severe of the early winter. Lewistown was apparently hit hardest by the storm. In that section of north Central Montana, a light fall of snow was piled into drifts by a strong wind, and the mercury slipped to five or more degrees below zero. The cold was considered very unfavorable for the winter wheat crop, since the snow of a previous storm had disappeared.

Throughout Wyoming and Colorado zero temperatures were generally the rule today, but blizzard conditions seem confined to Montana.

Negro Is Freed on His Defense Plea

A plea of self-defense was successful for Jimmie Arnold, McLean negro, who was acquitted on a charge of common assault yesterday afternoon by a jury. He admitted wounding another negro in a knife fight but pleaded that "he was bigger'n me and said he was gonna rip me open."

H. L. Fleener is being tried in court here today on a charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated.

WELL IS PINCHED IN

Lack of storage and pipeline facilities necessitated pinching in of Operators Oil company's No. 8 Cook-Paulkner, section 30, block B-2, to a daily production of 4,000 barrels. The well came in Tuesday with an initial production of 8,640 barrels. It is flowing 60,000,000 feet of gas and the company is finding it difficult to pinch in the oil flow. As pipeline connections were inadequate, all tanks made to take care of the flow are full.

Wool Marketing Is Topic at Session

SAN ANGELO, Nov. 21. (AP)—Delegates to the annual convention of the National Wool Growers' association prepared to act today on the national wool marketing plan formulated by the association's special committee of fifteen cooperating with the federal farm board.

The plan has been called "a practical and workable one," by C. B.

Denman, member of the farm board who is attending the convention. President F. J. Hagenbarth of the Wool Growers' association urged delegates to let no minor details stand in the way of ratification of the proposed million dollars national wool marketing association.

The wool growers, Denman said, "should be able to enjoy a more stable price through the marketing association's storing, financing and ultimate sale of next season's crop." He said the plan should appeal to the big as well as the small producer.

Hagenbarth urged adoption of the proposed plan so wool growers would no longer "play second fiddle to Wall Street."

Following talks by Denman, Hagenbarth, and Governor Moody, who welcomed the delegates at the opening of the convention yesterday, standing committees were announced, and the new marketing association plan was read and explained.

RETURN FROM HUNT

Five Pampa men returned home yesterday, after a successful deer hunt with a party at the Madero ranch, 85 miles southwest of Carlsbad, N. M. The local men were: Dr. A. Cole, Dr. C. E. Pollard, C. T. Hunkapiller, Charles Thomas, and Ralph Arnold. Other members of the party were M. A. Finney of Odessa, formerly of Pampa, and Ben Lippold, Hansford county ranchman. Four deer were killed by the party.

Three Tournaments To Be Held in December For Scholarship Benefit

A third games tournament for the benefit of the A. A. U. W. and College club's scholarship fund was announced for today, following an unexpectedly large demand for reservations to the two affairs planned for December 5. The third and last of the tournaments will be held on Friday evening, Dec. 6, following afternoon and evening benefits on Thursday.

Members of the reservation committee and group hostesses who met yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. C. T. Hunkapillar considered the additional tournament both practical and advisable, in view of the gratifying response they had received in selling the tickets for the two affairs already scheduled.

Members of the scholarship and fellowship committee of the club and other club members are vying in the sale of reservations, and rivalry is keen. Both bridge and forty-two will be played, according to present plans.

All funds derived from the benefit socials will be used by the club in sending a Pampa girl from the current year's high school graduating class to college next year. The entire public is invited to attend. Those who wish to play and who have not been called by a club member are requested to telephone Mrs. R. Earl O'Keefe or Mrs. C. T. Hunkapillar for reservations.

Christian Endeavor Society to Have Party

Mrs. Harry Marbaugh has announced a party for the Junior Intermediate Christian Endeavor society of the First Christian church, to be held Saturday evening in the church basement, beginning promptly at 7 o'clock and ending exactly at 10 o'clock.

Reports of Committees Heard at Meeting of Ladies' Aid Society

The monthly business meeting of the Ladies' Aid society of the First Christian church was held yesterday, with Mrs. Sunkel acting as hostess at the church. Eighteen members took part in the business discussions.

Plans were made for an all-day meeting tomorrow, Friday, at which the members will take comfort. The finance committee reported the bazaar held last Saturday by the society, resulted in $62 profits.

A nominating committee, composed of Mrs. H. D. Lewis, Mrs. E. B. Guber, and Mrs. O. H. Ingram, was named by the president, Mrs. B. C. Fahy, and instructed to report at the January meeting, when new officers will be elected by the society.

Early Missionary Work and Church History Are Studied by Auxiliary

The beginnings and the early history of the church were studied yesterday by members of the Woman's auxiliary of the Episcopal church who met in the home of Mrs. John L. Peake. Mrs. Frank Perry directed the lesson, which was on the first three chapters of "St. Paul and the First Christian Missionaries." Nine members took part in the round table discussions.

A short business session was held, with Mrs. Wm. M. Craven presiding. Plans were developed for a Colonial tea which the auxiliary will give at some time in February. The following members were at the meeting and were guests of Mrs. Peake at tea: Mrs. Perry Morgan, Mrs. Everett Lovell, Mrs. E. T. Autry, Mrs. R. C. Bowder, Mrs. Sieve Suratt, Mrs. C. P. Buckler, Mrs. Craven, and Mrs. Perry.

Large Group Attends Called Session Tuesday of B. & P. W. Club

Members of the Business and Professional Women's club in a called session at the B. C. D. auditorium Tuesday evening, voted to indefinitely postpone the proposed public relations dinner.

The finance committee reported that the rummage sale held last Saturday by the club had netted approximately $30. Charity cases cared for during the day were reported.

In discussions of the evening it was agreed the club should hold regular practice on its songs and sing them at the semi-monthly dinner meetings. Members who had visited other B. & P. W. clubs in this state and others urged more singing. A regular dinner meeting at the Schneider hotel will be held next Tuesday evening.

Members attending the called meeting were: Mrs. Florence Way, Mrs. W. C. Mitchell, Mrs. Ernest Gee, Mrs. F. L. Lard, Mrs. Artie M. Shepard, Mrs. Meadows, Mrs. Roy Chisum, Mrs. E. E. McNutt, Mrs. M. Chief Interest Is on Missouri Tilt With Old Rival MANHATTAN, Kans., Nov. 21. (AP)—A Big Six football title may be decided here Saturday when Nebraska plays the Kansas Aggies, but because the Aggies were a dark horse championship candidate the title game will be far outclassed in popularity by another game a hundred miles away.

Scheduling of the traditional Kansas-Missouri game at Lawrence on the same day will drastically curtail the Aggie-Nebraska attendance, and authorities do not expect to fill the Manhattan stadium, which will seat 16,500. More than 20,000 are expected at Lawrence. The expectation of a title game here when fans were purchasing tickets early in the season caused many to buy Kansas-Missouri tickets in preference to those of the Aggie-Nebraska tilt.

TEXAS STARS WILL CLASH IN WACO TUSSLE

BY GAYLE TALBOT, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Many critics are counting on Saturday's game at Waco to tell them something about their all-conference selections. Three very prominent candidates for backfield berths will match their mettle. They are Jake Wilson, Baylor quarterback; Howard Grubbs, shrewd T. C. U. signal caller; and Cy Leland, the Frogs' streaking half-back. Two of the three are pretty certain to be chosen on a majority of mythical ballots. Then there will be a scrap between Noble Adkins, crack T. C. U. center, and Les Paradeaux, Bear pivot man. Both are outstanding in the list of conference centers. Still another focal point will be the duel between Captain Mike Brumbelow, hefty Frog guard, and Bocey Koeh, whom Baylorites firmly believe is the greatest guard in the country.

Baylor's diminutive backfield is certain to see a shower of passes again this week. If any team in the conference can match Southern Methodist's passing attacks, it is the Frogs. Howard Grubbs can shoot them far and accurately, and he has some able receivers in Leland, Roberson, McCullough, Hinton and others. Coach Jennings has tried all season to perfect a defense the aerial game, realizing it was his weak spot, but to no avail. While Wilson, McElreath and Kathcart can go places with a ball under their arm, they lack the height to make sure-fire pass blockers. Last week the Mustangs simply passed over their heads, and it is a safe prediction the Frogs will try the same scheme Saturday.

Dallas Loses in Fight to Restrict Races to Districts

DALLAS, Nov. 21. (AP)—Nullification of Dallas' long fight for the right to use police power in racial segregation was seen by city officials today in yesterday's ruling by the Supreme Court of Texas, refusing to review an appeal from a civil court of appeals verdict.

The civil court of appeals nullified two city ordinances and held unconstitutional a state enabling act by which cities and towns were empowered to enact ordinances segregation races. Local legal opinion was to the effect that refusal of the Supreme Court to consider the case sanctioned the civil court of appeals' ruling.

In past years near riots have occurred over the question of segregation. In some cases bombings and burning have been resorted to. Assistant City Attorney H. F. Kucera said the only important legal method left Dallas citizens to prevent undesired encroachments is that of private agreements among property owners to restrict their property in deeds.

The Supreme Court ruling was in the case styled City of Dallas versus Liberty Annex corporation.

Hartnett Awaits Operation Result

CHICAGO, Nov. 21. (AP)—Gabby Hartnett again is waiting to learn if a surgical operation has cured the arm ailment which prevented him from catching baseball games for the Cubs last season.

Hartnett, whose condition has caused mourning among Cub fans, has had a "repeat" operation on his tonsils, to be certain nothing that might cause infection, remains. He had the tonsils clipped last summer, as well as all kinds of treatments for his arm, but failed to regain the ability to throw in the style that made him one of the best catchers in either major league.

California Star Will Work Out Fine in Game

BERKELEY, Calif., Nov. 21. (AP)—If Ralton "Rusty" Gill, sophomore star of the University of California football team, doesn't score with a touchdown or otherwise distinguish himself in Saturday's game with Stanford, he had better steer clear of Police Judge Oliver Young's court.

Arrested for driving an automobile with illegal lights, Gill, pleaded for probation yesterday, explaining the pressure of his studies combined with the strain of the coming game kept his mind occupied with other things besides headlights. Would the judge please overlook the violation?

The judge would but, he warned the star fullback, he would stand no trifling.

"You are sentenced to make as many points against Stanford as you can next Saturday," quoth Judge Young, a California roofer and a football fan. "I will be there and if you don't distinguish yourself there will be another session in this court after the game."

Letter by Local Woman to Be Read on Radio Tomorrow

A letter written by Mrs. Albert Wood, 110 North Starkweather street, on the subject of savings and investments, will be read tomorrow evening over KGRS broadcasting station at Amarillo, along with five others written in a contest sponsored by the Lone Star State Building and Loan associations. The program in which the letters will be read will be broadcast between 7 and 7:30 o'clock.

In informing Mrs. Wood of the honor that had been conferred upon her by the three judges in the contest, the association said: "Six of these letters were equally good, and carry such intense interest on the three subjects that the judges have decided to sponsor a radio program Friday evening, in order to give the folks of radioland the benefit of the contents, and let them put the final stamp of approval on the letters."

Pampa's Harvesters tapered off their training in uncertain weather today after undergoing a stiff scrimmage practice yesterday. Adding to cold weather worries and difficulty of training briskly without suffering injuries, the local squad suffered a possibly serious casualty yesterday when Henry Ayres, stellar end, sprained an ankle.

It is possible, however, that the injury is not serious and will not keep the player out of the game. Unless the weather becomes so severe that a trip this evening will make, the Harvesters will leave here at about 8 o'clock tomorrow for Memphis, where they will play the Cyclone at 2 o'clock.

The Cyclone, it is said, has not been defeated on its home grid for several years, and Memphis fans have the idea that it cannot be done. Coach Mitchell's stalwarts are going to try to break that Aggie-like tradition.

Interest in Childress is fully as strong as in Pampa, according to Coach Mitchell, and several hundred Childress fans are expected to be at the game. Many of them will be strong for Pampa since Memphis defeated Childress 15 to 7 and furthermore because Coach Mitchell was formerly mentor at Childress. Many other towns have telephoned here for particulars.

Completion of the battery of officials was made yesterday. As previously announced, Principal Bob Vaughn of Pampa will be referee. Coach Smith of Wellington high will be umpire, and A. B. Hayes, former coach of Simmons Cowboys and Amarillo Sandies, will be head-linesman.

Girls of the Green Jacket club will make the trip in cars, according to Miss Arless O'Keefe and Miss Lucile Hill, faculty sponsors. A parent chaperone will be in each car. Parent volunteers who will take some of the girls under the direction of the sponsors are asked to telephone Central high at once. It is planned to leave Pampa about 10 o'clock tomorrow, or possibly earlier unless the weather clears.

Platter Never Defeated in Short Ring Experience

After many decisions and knock-outs in their favor, both Cyclone Bonds and Luther Platter are certain today that one of them is going to win the 10-round bout tomorrow night at the Pla-Mor auditorium. One of them is going to step out of the ring loser if each keeps his promise to knock the other out. Platter has fought six fights and lost none; Bonds has won 25 and lost three.

As a preliminary to the main go, Johnnie Hillard, 158 and Ted Martin, 160, are scheduled to fight for eight rounds. Preceding this scrap, "Kid" Platter, 123 rounds, and "Skeet" Sherrod, 118 pounds, will go for four rounds.

The out-wrestling event on the program will give the audience an opportunity to see Tulsa Flash and "Wild Bill" Douglas grapple for a one fall decision, no time limit. The Harmony Kings band will furnish music.

Since Platter knocked out Elmer Rigdon in 45 seconds, fans have been wondering how Platter is going to stack up against him. By reason of the many wins Cyclone has notched on his belt, all agree that Platter will be on the road to big game if he whips him. It is Platter's big change to-night.

THIS HAS HAPPENED

HELEN PAGE thinks she is in love with her guardian, LEONARD BRENT, who changes his plans for her future after meeting a dying man named NELLIN. Brent presents the girl to a millionaire, CYRIL CUNNINGHAM, as his mistress and offers proof which the lonely old man accepts without much question.

Among Helen's new friends are EVA ENNIS and her brother RUD. Brent finds another locked like the one he had taken from Nellin to prove true as the heiress and plots to get Cunningham out of the way quickly. He sits administering a shock which proves fatal and the servants find the old man dead in bed. Then Brent wins Helen's promise to marry him. Later she and Bob realize they are each other but tell him she is engaged. She tries to get Brent to release her but he refuses to take poison but they prevent it and try to tell her what a cad he is.

Helen denounces Brent and he sneeringly tells her she is at his mercy for she is the real Cunningham heiress but the daughter of one of his crook pals and if she refuses to marry him and keep the money he will expose her as an impostor. Tortured with worry the girl refuses food and wanders around alone. Bob tries to see her but she dares not face him yet she decides to go to Brent and demand his proof, and when she arrives she finds Eva in his apartment.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XLVI

"Eva," Helen repeated, her voice a mixture of surprise and consternation. "What are you doing here?"

Eva removed the handkerchief she had pressed against her lips and answered, with a note of defiance, that Helen certainly could guess that she had come to see Brent.

"You wouldn't come to the telephone this morning," Eva charged; "and I had to do something."

"I'm sorry," Helen apologized. "I told Mrs. Wethering I would not talk to anyone. But Eva dear, you mustn't stay. I want to see Leonard. Won't you please go? My car is downstairs. Wait in it, please, please."

"No," Eva stubbornly shook her head. "Oh, but you must," Helen insisted.

"Why?" Eva asked pitiously. "I have something to say to Leonard, too, Helen. I don't know why you want to see him, but . . . Bob told me about last night . . . I got it out of him, and Mrs. Wethering said you weren't really ill . . . Oh, Helen, you aren't going to marry Leonard, are you? You can't! After all those things you said . . ."

"Stop, please stop," Helen begged. "But why did you refuse to see Bob? He was almost insanely happy over your promise to marry him and then . . . then . . . Oh, Helen, tell me, tell me."

"I've seen Leonard," Helen said miserably. "Do this for me, Eva; go now."

"If I thought that it would help Bob, I'd go," Eva answered. "I know I owe you more than I ever can repay, Helen, but this is something . . . I only want to ask Leonard if he is going to marry you. You see what it means to me. But I'd wait for Bob's sake."

"Then do go, do hurry," Helen pleaded. "It may mean a great deal to Bob."

Eva reluctantly gathered up her hat and coat. As she put them on her eyes fell upon Brent's desk. It was open—the desk he kept locked. She saw a pile of newspaper carelessly stacked at one side and it gave her the idea of leaving a note for him.

She walked over to the desk, deliberately avoiding a meeting with Helen's glance, and sat down before it. When she had written the note she looked for a blotter but here was none in sight. She pulled out a drawer and closed it again to try another.

With the second drawer she was more successful. She took out the blotter, used it and started to put it back again when she saw what had been lying under it.

WITH a cry she reached for the dully gleaming object and drew it out.

"It's a keylock like mine!"

With the second drawer she was more successful. She took out the blotter, used it and started to put it back again when she saw what had been lying under it.

WITH a cry she reached for the dully gleaming object and drew it out.

"It's a keylock like mine!"

Helen rushed to her side. She saw in a glance that the keylock Eva was holding up to view was identical with the one Brent had given her from her father—from the man he had said was her father, she remembered.

"It's but she got no further in saying she thought the keylock was hers. Eva had opened it. "It's mine!" the girl exclaimed excitedly. "Oh, Helen, I'm so glad for mother's sake. You've no idea how she prized it. She hasn't quite forgiven me for losing it. Leonard must have found it and didn't know whom to return it to."

Helen was staring at the pictured face in the open keylock. Charles Nellin! She recognized him easily. Among Evangeline Cunningham's possessions she had found a likeness of him that the clothing girl had left behind.

She was too confused for a moment to speak to question Eva. And then, while Eva still held the keylock in plain view Leonard Brent opened the door of his apartment.

He always entered without unnecessary noise. The two girls did not hear him even when he came up behind them. They were absorbed in Eva's find and their own thoughts concerning it. Eva was delighted for her mother's sake, and Helen was trying to put her chaotic impressions in order.

Suddenly, with the ferocity of a tiger, Brent reached for the keylock. But just an instant before he did so Helen saw him.

Eva screamed and automatically thrust the lock farther from his reach. Then, as she recognized him, she started to relax. In another second he'd have had the keylock in his possession had Helen not sprung forward and seized it.

Brent turned upon her with a snarl. "Give that to me," he rasped, and neither girl had ever seen the beast on the surface of him before that moment.

Helen knew instantly that the keylock was of vital importance to him. And it concerned the Cunningham family. She did not need time to decide that Brent must not have it.

No thought of herself, of possible exposure that might land her in prison, came to her as she made the next move in the game. It was enough to frustrate Brent.

CHE turned and ran toward the door. Brent had not expected her to do that—to be so quick to grasp the fact that the keylock was evidence he wished to conceal at any cost.

Helen gained the foyer before he came after her. She reached the door, jerked it open and flew out into the hall just a few steps ahead of him. She was fast but a short distance from the elevator Brent had almost caught up with her. Helen heard him calling viciously to her to stop and her heart sank. She dared not call for help, and unless there was an elevator on the floor she never could escape with the keylock.

Oh, thank God there was one descending. The operator was even then closing the door. Helen cried out to him to wait, but he had his car in motion and her wild manner confused him. He fumbled with the controls, trying at the same time to hold the door open.

Helen rushed into the elevator as it teetered up and down, thrusting herself perilously through the narrow opening. The operator did not see Brent behind her.

He started his car down and gave the door a strong push to clang it to.

Helen tried about. Then she screamed and turned her face away.

When they carried her out of the car after the operator had overcome his own horror sufficiently to summon help, she was in a dead faint.

They took her back into Brent's apartment, where the Japanese servant was doing his best to quiet Eva. The girl had followed Brent to the door. Mercifully, she did not witness the accident. Bewilderment and the shock of Helen's scream mingling with Brent's one cry of mortal agony held her rooted where she stood, swaying dizzily and fast succumbing to the hysteria that was sweeping over her.

The Japanese helped her back into the living room. Her cries were the first sounds that came to Helen's ears when consciousness returned.

For a few seconds Helen did not understand—then her hands flew to her face and she sobbed aloud while memory repainted the indescribable scene she had witnessed.

A physician was sent to the apartment as soon as he pronounced himself unable to aid the man who lay on the floor of the closed elevator. He found Helen quieter, trying to overcome her own emotion to help Eva, who still remained hysterical, though less violently so.

"Have you been with . . . is he . . ." Helen faltered brokenly. The doctor nodded.

Eva caught the significance of the motion. "Oh no, no!" she screamed. "Don't dear, don't," Helen pleaded.

"Please, let me attend her," the doctor said. Helen stepped aside.

THE superintendent of the building came in after dispersing the crowd of curious tenants that had gathered outside the door. Helen answered his questions as best she could.

Then others came. Men acting in official capacity. She was obliged to go over the story of the fatal accident many times, until at last the doctor put an end to her ordeal by ordering her to take Eva home.

Helen declared herself unable to drive her car. It was Eva who offered a sensible solution.

"Telephone for Bob," she said weakly.

He was located at his work and came as quickly as a taxicab could get him to them with a driver bribed to make all possible speed.

While they waited for him Helen tried to collect her thoughts—to face her new situation.

Brent was dead.

All that his death meant to her did not come to Helen in a flash. It dawned upon her slowly that it had freed her.

Suddenly she remembered the keylock. Where was it? She jumped up from the bed where she lay beside Eva, who had been ordered by the doctor to rest there, and flew out into the living room.

She'd had the keylock when . . . when . . . when it happened . . . She recoiled with horror from the thought that it might now be in the elevator.

"I've lost something," she said to the Japanese who watched her curiously as she frantically searched the room.

He went on with his work of straightening up the place, which had become disordered during the recent commotion.

While Helen flung pillows off the divan to search there he moved stealthily toward a bit of gleaming gold that lay on the floor near the door.

BORGER—

Deputy Sheriff Mack Burton of Borger and Sheriff Wright of Tarrant county, Burton brought the prisoners to Fort Worth Sunday.
Judge Hosey continued the habeas corpus hearing when it was discovered the prisoners again had disappeared. Meanwhile it became known that a bar of soap had figured prominently in the calling of the hearing.
Wednesday, Hodges, a former Fort Worth man, wrote a note and tied it around a bar of soap. He tossed it out of a window, and it was caught by a man reported to be a friend of the indicted man. It was taken to the firm of Mays and Mays, Fort Worth attorneys. The message said they would be paid for their trouble and specified the name of a Borger man who would see that they were.
This morning Clyde Mays of the firm made out the writ.
Mrs. Hodges, two of her four daughters and her son, were in court this morning in expectation of a hearing.

Honey Bran Muffins
(Mixing time: 10 minutes)

Nature's oldest and purest sweet—honey—joins two other natural foods—fruit and whole wheat—in these quick muffins. And Crisco, the sweetest, freshest-flavored shortening you could possibly imagine, lends its freshness and pure flavor to the ensemble.

4 tablespoons melted Crisco	2 cups bran
1 egg, beaten	3/4 teaspoon soda
3/4 cup honey	1/2 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 cups thick sour milk	1 teaspoon baking powder
1 cup whole wheat flour	3/4 cup raisins or chopped dates
1/2 cup bread flour

Light and set oven at 375° F. (medium oven). Melt sufficient Crisco for recipe and to brush into muffin tins. Beat the egg, stir in the honey and sour milk. Sift the two kinds of flour with soda, salt and baking powder, mix with the bran and stir into the first mixture. Add raisins and melted Crisco and beat well. Fill Criscoed muffin tins half-full with batter. Bake in medium oven (375° F.) from 20 to 25 minutes. This makes 24 large muffins. I have reheated these muffins when they were a week old and found that Crisco had kept them fresh and moist.

This recipe has been tested and approved by cooking authorities. You will get best results by using level measurements and the ingredients specified.

Taste Crisco's sweet, fresh flavor

TASTE a cooking fat? And why not? You taste milk. You test eggs. Now, taste Crisco—then any other shortening. Then you'll understand why Crisco's own sweet, fresh flavor so improves the taste of your cakes, pies, hot breads, cookies and fried foods.

Crisco is the registered trademark of a shortening, manufactured by The Procter & Gamble Co.

FRIDAY AND SATURDAY SUGGESTIONS

SHERWIN-WILLIAMS PAINT HEADQUARTERS

Now is the time to paint for real economy. All wood is thoroughly dried and seasoned by summer's blistering sun. The balmy fall weather is ideal for painting. And most important of all—you obtain full protection during the winter months when it is needed most. Neglect nothing. Your house, the garage, fences, shutters—every exposed surface should receive an armor-like coating of SWP.

SWP is the world's best paint bargain

If your house were mine, the only paint used would be SWP. Long experience with all kinds has convinced us that it is the world's best house paint.

And it costs less on your home—remember that. Of course you can buy paints at a lower cost per gallon. But you are not interested in gallon price. The one thing of importance to you is, "how much will it cost to paint my house?"

SWP costs less per job because few gallons are needed. Its wonderful body thoroughly covers more square feet of surface per gallon.

And when the job is completed you have the best protection and clean, true colors that retain their beauty to the very last.

The best way to prove the economy of SWP is to get our estimate. Come in and see how convincing our figures are. You'll enjoy looking over our big, new book showing the latest color suggestions, too. Do it before ruinous winter doubles the cost of repainting.

COVER THE EARTH

WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

BY HERBERT PLUMMER
WASHINGTON—It must have done the heart of Senator Jim Watson a lot of good to hear his colleagues in the senate say the things they did just before he left for Florida to take an ordered rest.

It was a severe blow to the robust Hoosier when his doctor told him he must get away from Washington for a while. To leave the senate at this time, just when the tariff bill is in its most critical stage, and to quit his post as majority leader at the time he is needed most, struck Watson as being almost impossible.

But his physician was adamant. The hot months of this summer, when as a member of the finance committee Watson sat listening to witnesses from early morning until sometimes late at night, had told on him. His friends have known all along that he has worked himself into a frazzle in his efforts to get the tariff bill through. And they were not surprised when a rest was commanded.

Genial

That Jim Watson is one of the most popular members of the senate is conceded by all. He makes his genial presence felt wherever he goes. Not uncommon is to see him immediately after bitter skirmishes on the floor strolling down the corridor of the capitol arm in arm with the colleague with whom a moment before he had clashed.

"As one who has known the senator from Indiana for a quarter of a century," said Johnson, "and one who knows his present physical condition, I wish him Godspeed in the endeavor to regain his health."

"I trust that he will return to us the same old Jim Watson that he was in the past and that he may be with us for many, many years in the future."

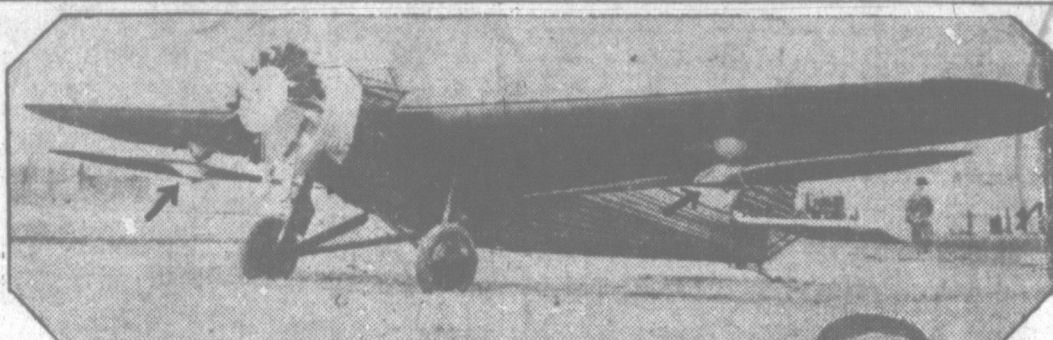

Democrat vied with republican in applauding Watson's sentiments.

Fletcher arose to observe that he was satisfied the orange juice and sunshine of Florida would cure all of Watson's ills, and Borah remarked that there could be no doubt that every senator genuinely regretted seeing the Hoosier leave.

But it remained for silver-tongued Mr. Harrison more aptly to express the senate's regret at Watson's departure. No finer friendship exists than between these two men of different political faiths.

"He is taking the right course to go to some place for complete rest," said Pat.

Helicopter Plane Makes Successful Flights

Taking off almost vertically after a run of 35 feet at a speed of 30 miles an hour, a helicopter-equipped all-metal monoplane made three successful trial flights at Milwaukee, Wis. Indicated by arrows are the additional propellers under the wings that enables the monoplane to take off and land in a small area. Jesse C. Johnson, left, Delray, Fla., inventor, and Pilot Victor Allison, are pictured below.

"He says he is going on an automobile trip down through the sunny south—one of the best places in the world to go. I hope, when he shall have finished his journey through Florida, that he will go to God's real country, over amongst the magnolias of Mississippi."

"There the breezes are a little softer and the sun shines a bit brighter, and he can have a better time than anywhere else in the world. And I promise him that if he will go there he will be restored."

Then Pat, who considers that day lost when he doesn't get a real crack at republicans, turned to Senator Smoot, tariff general of the republican forces, and added:

"Yes: I should like to get rid of the senator from Utah, too, and let him go down there, so that he will get the same benefit."

GETTING UP NIGHTS

Is Nature's Danger Signal

Rev. W. H. Mitchell, Jeffersonville, O., says, "I feel I am doing real missionary work when I tell or write how my wife was relieved of a serious case of bladder irritation with Lithiated Buchu (Keller Formula). She had to get up 6 or 8 times each night." It acts on bladder as epsom salts do on bowels. Drives out foreign deposits and lessens excessive acidity. This relieves the irritation that causes getting up nights. The tablets cost 2¢ each at all drug stores, Keller Laboratory, Mechanicsburg, Ohio or locally at Fatheree Drug Co.—Adv.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified croscote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, croscote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to croscote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the croscote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

It is all right to experiment but a pity to spend too much time experimenting when you might be enjoying the fragrant pleasure of smoking Camels.

It has been the experience of many smokers, after trying other brands, that Camels give constant and unvarying pleasure. Their mildness, due to choice tobaccos and expert blending, makes it possible to smoke them liberally without any tiring of the taste. This quality, which smokers have learned to depend upon, will be maintained, because Camels are made for those who know and appreciate the real pleasure of smoking.
