Boats, Trailers, Mobile Homes Taxable Under Law

By Pat Blair

If you own a boat, trailer, mobile home or travel trailer, state law requires that it be taxed.

That's the word from tax assessor-collectors in Aransas County.

"It's state law that all personal property be put on the tax books," says County Tax Assessor-Collector Alena Jones.

Jack Groseclose, chief appraiser for the Aransas County Appraisal District, said, "Basically everything is taxable except intangible personal property, household goods and automobiles."

What may and may not be taxed in Texas is defined under H.B. 1060, adopted by the 66th Texas Legislature a couple of years ago.

That bill is titled the "Tax Relief Amendment" and it is, Groseclose said. Before 1060 was adopted, everything was considered taxable, including household goods and even intangible personal property such as stocks and bonds.

Now these articles are exempt.

Automobiles were also exempted from taxation under H.B. 1060 unless the taxing body, such as the county or city, specifically provides for taxation of automobiles.

Automobiles are not taxed by any taxing unit in Aransas County.

However, under state law, the list of items that are taxable includes boats, trailers, mobile homes...even livestock.

In businesses, such as a grocery store, the inventory and equipment are taxable, says Rockport City Secretary Herman Johnson who is also the city's tax assessor-collector.

In the past, Johnson said, the city of Rockport did not tax boats because of the trouble involved in finding them and the ability of the owner to simply move the boat outside the city.

Now, he added, boats are being placed on the city tax rolls because state law requires it.

State law does not require that the property owner render his property for taxation — but there can be advantages for the property owner to render.

"If a person does not render his property (for taxation)," Johnson said, "the tax assessor-collector can go inventory and ap-

CAR TOTALLED, PATROLMAN SUFFERS MINOR INJURIES

Rockport police patrol unit 2 is shown Wednesday after it was totaled in a pre-dawn accident that occurred while the driver, Patrolman Charles Holmans, was responding to a call for assistance by an Aransas County sheriff's deputy. Holmans suffered minor injury to his left shoulder in the accident that occurred about 1:50 a.m. Rockport's Acting Police Chief Joe Hinojosa said Holmans was traveling south on Highway 35 "at a high rate of speed" when, at the curve around First National Bank, a tire ran over the reflector buttons. Holmans lost control of the vehicle which skidded and struck the big tree on the north side of the bank. Hinojosa said the car spun counterclockwise after impact and came to rest at the Liberty/Austin intersection. The call for assistance was to a family disturbance at or around the Paradise Trailer Park.

Rockport Seeks Police Car To Replace Wrecked Unit

By Pat Blair

The City of Rockport will purchase a car "off the lot" — and as soon as possible — to replace a vehicle wrecked in a pre-dawn accident Wednesday, March 25. The action was taken during an emergency meeting of the council at 2 p.m. Thursday, March 26, during which city officials also approved a request of the Chamber of Commerce to sell beer during this weekend's boat show and set April 6-10 as the city's "clean-up week."

Captain Joe Hinojosa, who will be Rockport's acting police chief as of April 1, told the council the patrol car was wrecked Wednesday morning about 1:50 a.m. while Patrolman Charles Holmans was responding to a call that a sheriff's deputy needed assistance at a trailer park south of Rockport.

Hinojosa said the officer was driving "at a high rate of speed" and he received minor injuries in the accident.

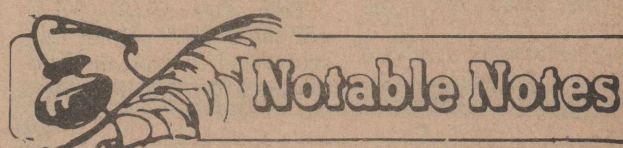

Rockport Mayor Walter S. Falk Jr. recommended

Aransas County More Than Doubles Growth In Years Since '70 Census

Aransas County has enjoyed a "growth boom" in the past 10 years, with a 1980 population that's 60.9 percent larger than in 1970.

That makes Aransas — with a population of 14,319, according to the 1980 census — the fastest growing county in this area and the 13th statewide in terms of percent of increase in the 10 years since 1970.

By comparison, neighboring San Patricio County showed only a 21.6 percent increase, to a population of 57,521, in the 1980 census and the percentage of growth for Nueces was only 12.3 percent.

Aransas County Judge John Wendell said the 1980 census puts the county's population "just about where I thought it would be. I think it's pretty close to being correct."

City officials in Fulton were also satisfied with a 1980 census that credited their city with a population of 951 people and 619 dwelling units.

Rockport officials are not happy with the 1980 census, claiming that the 3,649 population attributed to the city is badly out of line. Mayor Walter S. Falk Jr. points out this figure actually credits Rockport with a population that is lower than the 1970 census and says there is "no way" it can be accurate.

Population figures based on Central Power & Light

Company connections in the city would give Rockport a population closer to 6000.

The 1980 census credits Rockport with 2,043 dwelling units.

Also included in Aransas County's population figures is a portion of Aransas Pass.

WEDNESDAY MORNING BRUSH FIRE

Firemen haul out equipment and prepare to do battle against this blaze that broke out on Enterprise Street west of Rockport-Fulton High School Wednesday morning. The alarm went in about 9:45 a.m. according to Rockport Fireman Coy Truelove who was one of those who answered the call. Truelove said three Rockport units and at least two from Fulton responded to the call. Firemen spent about an hour and a half extinguishing the blaze which, according to one report, started with someone burning trash. Truelove said, "We got to it before it got started." Neither Fire Marshal Elva Mullinax nor Rockport Fire Chief Johnny Ray could be reached for additional comments at press time.

State Of The Region

By Juliet K. Wenger
Coastal Bend Council of Governments

A strong link exists in the chain of public protection of the Coastal Bend of which few people are fully aware. This is the Refinery Terminal Fire Company. It has more fire fighting equipment, and more supplies — such as foam — of a specialized nature than any municipal department in the region.

The company is a private association. Its members are industries on deep water in Nueces County and in the Ingleside-Aransas Pass area.

The company serves its own members. But it has responded to the request of communities in the region when fires occur of a nature that municipal departments are not equipped to handle as rapidly and safely as possible.

Such fires might result from transportation accidents.

Before this company existed, there was neither the specialized equipment nor the amounts of foam within the Coastal Bend to handle this type of emergency.

The capabilities of the company were explained by Vice President and General Manager Don Cox to the COG's Fire Protection Advisory Committee at a recent meeting.

The company has 27 fire trucks, all specialized. Only two are "store-bought." All the others are designed and built by the men in the company for the job they are to do.

Chief Jerry Rose will work with any industry, upon request, in designing a fire extinguishing system that can be built into a plant. There have been fires which Cox describes as being put out two years before they happened because lines were laid in the plant through which foam could be run directly to the source.

The fire company, with the help of the COG committee, built a regional training field three years ago, which can be used by all volunteer fire forces in the region.

This is a unique fire company. Cox says that other industrial areas such as Houston or Texas City have mutual agreements between industries, which help each other. But they have different types of equipment, different training, and close coordination is difficult.

There are only 11 men who are full-time employees of the fire company. There are 37 who are fully trained as firemen but are employees of member industries.

Beyond that, most of the industries require all of their production employees to have sufficient training to know what to do when a fire breaks out and know how to function with the core group. There is an intricate radio system, with everyone in communication on the same frequency.

This company has an advantage over a municipal department in that trained people at the scene have immediately taken the first steps, before the fire trucks arrive.

Cox said that spectators at the type of fire this company fights are often under misapprehension because of the method of fighting such a blaze.

The company's first method is not necessarily to put out the fire. The firemen work to keep it under control and keep it from spreading until the source of the fire, usually a petrochemical, is controlled.

It might be more dangerous to put the fire out — with fumes escaping — than to localize the blaze.

So what may appear from the outside to be a fire which can't be brought under control may be a blaze that will burn itself out or be smothered as soon as a planned procedure reaches that point.

It is a secure feeling to know that the trained personnel and the right equipment and supplies are available here.

"Low Down" FROM THE Congressional Record

By JOE CRUMP

(A Column for Readers Who Haven't Time to Review the Congressional Record Daily)

OIL DECONTROL — MIXED OPINIONS

Senator Howard M. Metzenbaum (Ohio) "...I think that we have turned back the clock. We have set the Nation on its heels, and this decision is truly not in the Nation's best interest..."

Senator Edward M. Kennedy (Mass.) "...Oil decontrol will put 750,000 workers out of work. Today's decision alone will put 40,000 auto workers out of work..."

Senator Russell B. Long (La.) "...There is no doubt in my mind...that this Nation in its policy of bureaucracy and Federal control — red tape — has impeded enormously this Nation's hopes for energy independence. The President's move for decontrol is moving this Nation in the direction of a capability to control its own destiny..."

Decontrol At Last
President Reagan was absolutely right to decontrol oil and gasoline prices quickly and without qualification. More than five-sixths of the country's oil supply is (already) decontrolled. Home heating oil was decontrolled five years ago...For the country as a whole, these controls have brought nothing but harm, and the end of them will bring nothing but benefit..."

Representative Robert H. Michel (Ill.) "...I ask unanimous consent to insert in the Record the (editorial) by the New York Times. (An excerpt):

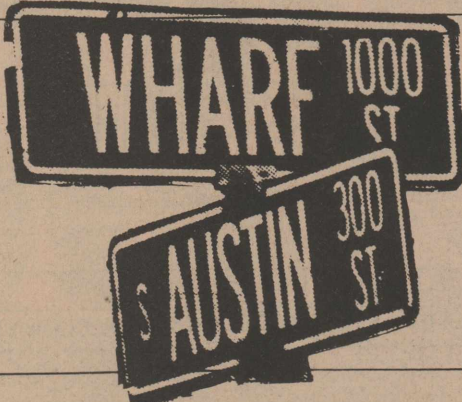

Yes, Decontrol Oil, But Now What?
President Reagan is right to end the price controls on oil immediately, eight months ahead of schedule... But price increases are a necessary, if unpleasant, part of the process of adjusting to energy scarcity..."

CRUMP'S GRASS ROOTS COMMENT
MYTH: Oil decontrol was President Reagan's decision. FACT: President Carter, not President Reagan, made the decision to decontrol oil, effective October 1, 1981. President Reagan moved up the effective date.

Moving up the effective date of oil decontrol worked to the oil companies' disadvantage.

The last OPEC price increases moved through to the consumers at the same time as decontrol was put in effect.

Oil companies, not OPEC, get the blame.

Austin at Wharf

THIS DEPARTMENT hasn't been keeping abreast of Austin clowning too well of late, but it seems I read the other day a piece on enforcement of inspection of motor vehicles and requirements with respect to carrying auto liability insurance.

With respect to the last, which has been in force but often ignored there is a simple remedy — no proof of insurance — no issuance of car tags.

That has been suggested often enough and always been rejected. Clear evidence that politicians frequently pass good laws but intentionally leave loopholes that prevent enforcement.

I CONFESS TO NEVER having had the good fortune or misfortune of having met a dope peddler. At least not knowingly. For all of that I have a few ideas on the subject.

Often I wonder if many of those people, rather especially aircraft pilots, aren't the types who fancy themselves as modern day swashbucklers. How many figure on a trip or two, making a pile and retiring while young to marry the girl next door and settling down to the prosaic life of a used car salesman or even running a mom and pop grocery.

Not being totally ignorant, they must be aware that the millions of dollars in dope they traffic in will contribute to the ruination of countless lives.

Yet somehow do they find that easy to ignore in the face of the fortunes they can earn with comparatively few hours of "work"? This I have deliberated with at least one friend who believes that the best way to break the dope racket is to legalize the sale and so take the huge profits out of the hands of racketeers.

It is something which I very much doubt. True, prohibition was a dismal failure and I readily acknowledge that making spirits legal ruined a racket, and having lived with and without prohibition I am convinced that the latter is preferable.

At least an end to bad booze and, too, less actual drunkenness. Not that the per capita consumption in this country and others is not at astronomical levels.

HERE, AT THE RISK of barbs, I am inclined to observe that use of alcohol, especially among Aryans, is as old as the history of the race. Narcotics, narcotics of any sort, are alien. While I readily acknowledge the joys and sorrow born of spirits I remain tolerant.

On the other hand I have 100 percent of no tolerance for dope of any sort, even if it were to be proven that it is no more harmful than alcohol — an extremely doubtful circumstance despite arguments to the contrary. Why, I might ask, why should it be argued that because one potentially body and soul destroying thing is legal another that may possibly be no more harmful be added to the list?

Sorry, I don't buy the argument although I suspect that many a dope trafficker savor his conscience with it.

I DON'T LIKE THE phrase at all, but I suppose that I am more than just a bit of a "law and order" type. I take only the dimmest view of the easy penalties meted out to traffickers in our courts and am shocked and amazed by hard-boiled judges who set impossible-to-meet bail for culprits and then within a few days reduce them to peanuts.

Easily I can visualize a defense attorney counseling his client: "Listen Buddy Boy, you can skip bail and leave the country, but when you're out you're out for good, so what's the future? Besides, haven't you already salted away a tidy pile? Why not face the rap? I can get you off with a year or so and we may even get that reduced to a couple of months..."

The Philadelphia lawyer is right, of course. The circumstance should give us cause to ponder our judicial system.

WITH THIS I RETURN to an old and often vocalized stance. With consideration for the criminally insane, I'm for life imprisonment or the death penalty for any dope peddler, murderer, rapist or robber. Harsh I know, but I am sick unto death of seeing criminals get more consideration in our courts than average everyday citizens.

I'm long past weary of the realization that you and I pay more for bread and butter because of the rip-off artists, be they those who steal from the store counter or the more or less big time operator who is presently stealing oil field equipment and so forcing an additional hike in the gasoline I buy at the pump.

Yes, I am without mercy for the proven criminal.

And so I was sickened that several thousands of criminals are being released from Georgia jails before they have served their time. Why? Because a benevolent government has decreed that certain standards, impossible for the state to maintain, must be met.

So, who am I for, who are you for — the criminal or the safety of your own life and property?

As said here before, and the point must be emphasized — I don't believe in inhumane treatment of prisoners, even though I am obliged to acknowledge that it sometimes exists. On the other hand, I'll abuse a thousand criminals to protect a single honest citizen.

Meanwhile I must repeat again: I don't believe that criminals in jail should be pampered. Instead I believe that they should earn their keep, not be a burden upon the taxpayer.

Until our elected officials come to agree with that estimate, crime will flourish, as it has, as it does. For one, I don't like it. — ahah

Our Readers Write

Dear Editor:

The article under "Austin at Wharf" regarding the Rockport Beach leaves me aghast. As for establishing restrooms and cabanas on the beach, I would like to think they are for the use of the general public. Certainly you do not think the public in general are rabble and riffraff. Assuming you don't and the rabble and riffraff are in the minority, does the majority succumb to the inconvenience of no restrooms? Or take the chance of being arrested for indecent exposure and pollute the beach? Or do we act as concerned citizens and insist upon adequate lighting and security for the beach and assist our law enforcement officers by reporting on the spot misuse of our facilities, and insist on punishing the offenders? I think the answer is clear.

I would concur with the idea of planting the SeaFair area to grass. However, where does the money come from? The Navigation Board has already spent public funds for the electricity into the SeaFair area for an event that lasts three days out of 365. Do we ask "Big Uncle" as you choose to call him, for the money? Or do we ask the merchants who primarily benefit from SeaFair "to handle such development on its own" to use your own words? As a non-profit organization, we gladly accept all such donations.

As regards the talk of a government grant to develop the beach, there are at present two such grant applications on file. Will they be forthcoming? Your answer is as good as mine at this time. If we get the initial grant which was primarily for restoration of the beach, and dredging the entrance channel and the ski basin, like you, I would like to feel that Rockport can handle the remaining improvements on its own: i.e., private donations and ad valorem taxes paid by the public, to the Navigation District.

In reference to the salt water pool, I don't think people stop swimming because a few people drowned, any more than they stop water skiing because of a couple accidents in the ski basin or stop driving because of the fatalities on the highway. That being the case it would appear that development of the salt water pool to include cleaning and draglining to a proper depth, installation of a net to keep out the jelly fish, and a demarcation marker between the deep and shallow ends of the pool would be in order. In any event, a sign "swim at your own risk" would be appropriate.

Your statement that the only practical use of the salt water pool area is for boat docks has already been disputed and is a matter of history and record in the community. I would disagree that this was a result of pressure brought by a "gang" of less than a dozen. Prior to undertaking the present beach improvement program a telephone survey was taken from A to Z in the Rockport directory. Not one objection to development of the Rockport Beach for recreational purposes for use by the general public was recorded. Objections by the general public were raised not only to leasing the salt water pool area to the Sailing Club, but also to leasing public beach area land to the City of Rockport for municipal facilities.

Article 8280.14 adopted by the 62nd Legislature in 1971 and made effective June 15, 1971 states: The policy of the legislature and the intent of this act is to encourage the conservation and development of waters in the state and water related land areas for public recreation. The legislature finds (1) that the use of water resources in the state for public recreation is a useful purpose (2) that the conservation and development of such water resources for public recreation purposes are essential to the maximum beneficial use of such water resources for public recreation purposes.

Until such time as the general public indicates they are desirous of giving up their inherent right to this land, the organizations which I represent will strive to preserve and improve these lands for use by the general public and the general public only.

Dear Editor:

Thank you for printing last week's article written by Elsie Hamm. It's about time these matters are made public.

I, also am one of many concerned parents who visited Public School Week. I will back up last week's article completely as I visited different classes than Mrs. Hamm, almost identical circumstances went on.

Our present discipline program seems to be failing. Our schools are a joke. Let's clean up our school district and open the closed doors. Check for yourself: your child, your teachers can tell you what's going on. Don't ignore these problems; find out for yourself and most important get out and vote on April 4.

These children are the future leaders of tomorrow. Check out the candidates, vote for the people who are willing to devote their time to your children, who believe in what you believe, who want what you want for this country.

Vote for the person, not the name. Let's start at the top and work down.

Sincerely,
s/Sandy Olson

Mr. and Mrs. Community,

As a Registered Nurse who works occasionally at Coastal Bend Hospital and a person who is very interested in our community, I decided to write this letter to you.

It was just brought to my attention that a rumor was going around that gifts were not wanted or accepted by the Coastal Bend Hospital.

Since January, the hospital now is ours — a non-profit organization that belongs to our communities.

Mr. Ben Pate, President, and Barbara Holmes, Director of Nursing, would be delighted to welcome any gifts you would care to present. An honored gift to a loved one could perhaps bring joy and health to a sick person — a wonderful way for you and your friends to remember that loved one.

With the building of our new hospital in mind, remember gifts are welcomed. The Volunteers for the Hospital are going to become more active now that the hospital belongs to all of us — our communities.

If you have some extra time and would enjoy helping the sick, please offer your time and talents. You'll receive great joy from helping others. The hospital and patients will be benefited by your giving.

Telephone the Coastal Bend Hospital for the names of the persons who will give you information on the volunteers.

Sincerely,
s/Ruth Vance

Live Oak Peninsula Philosopher

Editor's note: The Live Oak Peninsula Philosopher on his grassy ranch offers some assistance to the TV networks this week.

Dear editor:

If you watch television you know that one of the main stand-bys of the networks' evening news is a protest march.

It makes no difference if there are 10,000 people cheering the speaker, whether he's the President of the United States or the King of Spain or a college dean, if five or six protesters show up yelling and carrying signs, the cameras automatically pan in on them.

I got to thinking, how would the networks fill up their news programs if the protesters ran out of something to protest?

What if it was decided that the whales finally are saved, nuclear power plants have all been located in some state besides yours, the Alaskan snow has been preserved, the snail darters are all thriving, the coyotes are multiplying, prickly pear has been preserved for all future generations, bacon has been found to be safe, the ozone above us has been declared adequate, and all fireplace chimneys have been equipped with emission controls?

The networks are bound to be concerned about this, but the situation may not be as gloomy as it seems.

I read just last night that there are 16,000 known species of butterflies.

There's the answer. All the networks have to do is arrange to get a few types of butterflies a week declared endangered species, get the word to the protesters and keep the cameras rolling.

With a backlog of 16,000 different butterflies, and protesters always at the ready, the networks are guaranteed something to televise well into the 21st century.

It'll be the salvation of TV news and butterflies. As you must know, the reason we have no dinosaurs today isn't that they got so big they couldn't move around fast enough to find enough trees to eat, but that there were no protesters to protect them in front of a TV camera.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

State Library Acquires Lamar's Personal Papers

AUSTIN — A collection of personal papers of Mirabeau B. Lamar, the second elected President of the Republic of Texas, has been acquired by the Texas State Library's Archives Division with a grant from the Moody Foundation of Galveston.

Lamar's official papers were purchased for the State Library in 1909 with a special legislative appropriation.

Perhaps the most history-conscious of all the leaders of the Republic, Lamar has been something of an enigma to historians. Although both Sam Houston and Anson Jones — the other two men who were elected presidents of the Republic — have been the subjects of definitive scholarly biographies, Lamar has been largely ignored.

"The papers represent a major contribution to this state's historical resources," said Dr. Dorman H. Winfrey, director of the Texas State Library. "Without records, there can be no history. The incomplete records available on Lamar have left historians with many unanswered questions."

"As time for the Sesqui-centennial in 1986 approaches," Winfrey continued, "these materials should enhance our understanding of one of the most important figures of the Republic of Texas."

The collection of more than 600 documents (approximately 2,000 pages) acquired from Larry Bane of League City, a descendant of Lamar, relate to Lamar's life, business dealings, and career in Georgia during the 1820s and early 1830s — especially the time he spent as editor of the Columbus "Enquirer" in that state.

One letter, written by his business partner in 1835, ends with a warning that Lamar's going to Texas would be profitless, that Texas held nothing for him.

Other records detail Lamar's slave dealings. Unique among these documents is a letter written to Lamar by Emily, one of the slaves that he had sold, wishing to return to his household.

Lamar's relationship with Jane Long, perennially interesting to historians and Texana buffs, is more fully detailed in these letters than elsewhere.

Among the items in the collection is a log of Lamar's journey from Georgia to Texas in 1835. He later wrote two accounts of the trip.

The 68-page version that is owned by Kate Calder Pauls of Galveston was edited and published in the "Southwest Review" in 1936. The 194-page version purchased by the Rice University Library in 1952 as an anonymous journal of a trip to Texas was published recently in abridged form in the "Southwestern Historical Quarterly."

The log now at the Texas State Library apparently represents the notes from which Lamar reconstructed the chronology of the journals.

Lamar has long been judged by what others have said about him rather than by what he himself said, since the personal papers that have been purchased have not been available to researchers.

He is perhaps most admired for his resolute support of education. Lamar State University at Beaumont bears his name as do countless public schools throughout the state — and the Lamar community in Aransas County.

It was Lamar who moved the capital of the Republic of Texas to Austin, which some considered perilously distant from the more heavily settled areas to the east.

The vision of empire that led him to send the ill-fated Santa Fe Expedition across unmapped areas of West Texas and his stern attitudes toward the Indians gave him a reputation for being a dreamer when his political opponents said the struggling Republic needed a realist.

Whether the newly available papers produce a new view of Lamar will be determined by their contents. The papers are now being inventoried.

A list of the documents in the collection will be published, and the papers themselves will receive treatment to preserve them from further deterioration.

Newly Introduced SB1033 Calls For Closed Season On Shrimp

AUSTIN — A newly introduced Senate Bill that would suspend size limitations on shrimp during certain times could enhance the value of the shrimp catch in Texas by 5 1/2 million dollars.

This estimate is taken from a recently released report on Fishery/Shrimp Management by the Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council.

Senate Bill 1033, introduced by Senator Carlos Truan, calls for the suspension of the size limitations of shrimp during the period that a Federal Management Plan is in effect for shrimp resources in the waters off Texas, following a recommendation made in the Fishing Management Plan for the Shrimp Fishery of the Gulf of Mexico and US Waters.

The closed season approach suggested in this plan is recommended by most biologists as a more effective way to manage the shrimp resources than the present size requirements.

Blair's Corner

By Pat Blair

was just "The Pilot."

One of the top stories in the December 1938, edition was Rockport's "brand new" fire truck. It was "the last word in fire fighting equipment" with 1,000 feet of hose that could take water either from city hydrants or from the bay.

The truck could deliver 650 gallons of water per minute at a pressure of 120 pounds per square inch.

The new truck made the fourth unit in the city's fire department, with the oldest being the original chemical tank. In 1938, it was 62 years old but it was "still going strong."

Also on the front page: groundbreaking ceremonies for the new annex to Rockport's First Baptist Church.

Inside, the Pilot was carrying a serialized novel by Dornford Yates, "She Painted Her Face, A Story of Love and Intrigue."

At the grocery store, the "Red and White Stores" were offering 10 pounds of sugar for 45 cents, Texas oranges for $1 a bushel and "Blue and White oleo" for 15 cents; and at Bracht Brothers, you could buy a one-pound fruit cake for 45 cents and breakfast link sausage for 25 cents a pound.

It's enough to make you yearn for "the good old days" -- until you think about what wages must've been back then.

If only there were some way to have today's money but go back to yesterday's prices ...

Healthful Hints

[Most Often-Asked Questions On Nutrition]

And what vitamins are particularly important during these illnesses?

A. These diseases can indeed bring major problems, even cause lifelong tragedies. Particularly measles and mumps can cause huge destruction of body protein and of vitamins A, C and E.

Vitamin C deficiency can cause nosebleeds, hemorrhages and even scurvy to accompany such infections. Often pneumonia, encephalitis or some other serious infection follows almost immediately.

Healthful Hints

By Jean Glowka

[Most Often-Asked Questions On Nutrition]

Frequently childhood diseases can cause permanent damage to the eyes, ears, kidneys and, in children under three, the brain.

For these reasons nutritionists feel that, in addition to huge amounts of C, at least 25,000 units of natural A and 500 units of vitamin E be given daily, though for no longer than one week.

Q. Another question on iron, please. Isn't it true that taking iron tablets can destroy vitamin E? What if the HAVE to take iron?

A. Apparently all iron supplements, unless the label specifies that it has been "chelated" or is in the form of ferrous gluconate or ferrous fumarate, can destroy vitamin E.

If the "wrong kind" of iron MUST be taken, it is recommended that it be taken after one meal and the entire day's quota of vitamin E be taken at least eight hours later.

Until next week, Folks, stay happy and healthy! It's a beautiful world!

Illegal Tax Refund Schemes Identified

AUSTIN — The Internal Revenue Service has identified 382 schemes nationwide involving the filing of false federal tax returns to obtain illegal tax refunds during the year ending December 31, 1980, according to IRS District Director Robert M. McKeever.

The schemes involved 4,296 tax returns claiming $7,073,400 in refunds and generally included phony names and bogus Forms W-2, Wage and Tax Statement, listing money never withheld.

McKeever says that teams at each of the 10 IRS service centers, including the Southwest Regional Center in Austin, evaluate returns to detect those which are fraudulent.

Since January 1977, when this program was begun, the IRS has uncovered 1,657 schemes involving 12,765 fraudulent refund returns and stopped the issuance of $15.9 million in fraudulent refunds.

The IRS Criminal Investigation Division has recommended prosecution against 647 individuals involved and 319 have been convicted so far.

LET'S TALK ABOUT PRESCRIPTION PRICING

We at Roaten Drug Store invite you to check our prescription prices and compare them with anyone's. We do not believe that just because one hangs up a sign that says Discount this should automatically imply to the consumer that this establishment is cheaper than those that don't advertise Discount.

We do not offer special discounts to any specific age group or organization...Think about it...If someone can give additional discounts then their prices must be too high or some must make up the difference....

We DO offer special prices on maintenance drugs in 100 quantities or more, for everyone...Young...Old...And In Between. We also are now stocking high quality generic drugs which can also save you money. Ask us about our pricing...

Student News

Shawn Douglas Wendell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Wendell of 1130 Linden Street, has been named to the fall semester Dean's Honor List at the University of Texas at Austin.

In order to be eligible for the Dean's Honor List a student must have undertaken twelve or more semester hours of course work and have achieved at least six hours of "A" credit maintaining an "above-B" average in that work.

Shawn is a Junior in the College of Business Administration.

Health Clinic Is A Valuable Resource

The Public Health Region 8 clinic located at 114 N. Magnolia isn't a big place but it provides a big service to the residents of Aransas County.

All the public health nursing services offered by the Texas Department of Health are provided at the clinic.

These services include immunizations, diabetes testing, child health, tuberculosis testing, blood pressure tests, the WIC (Women Infant and Children) Program, tests for anemia, pap smears and more.

The clinic is also a valuable referral source for information on crippled children, and hearing, vision and kidney program.

Treatment programs for tuberculosis and Hansen's disease are also conducted at the clinic.

Surprisingly, the many services provided and the large case load at the clinic are handled by a staff of only four people, under the competent direction of Mrs. Sandra Garrett, Staff Nurse and Clinic Director.

Garrett has been at the clinic for almost seven years, commuting to Rockport from her home in Portland. In those seven years she has seen some change in the image of the "public clinic" and would like to see even more.

The clinic, has grown in capability immensely. "We originally specialized in only TB control and immunizations. Since, we've mushroomed, offering services like pediatric physicals and a complete child health program."

"Still, says Garrett, many people feel that a public clinic is not quite up to par with the services provided by a private physician simply because we don't charge and that's not true. I know for a fact that many of our vaccines are fresher than the supplies other treatment facilities have."

"People do pay for the clinic services with their tax dollars and we have a lot of people taking advantage of it."

The caseload of the clinic is between 1200 and 1500 people. Many of these are older visiting winter Texans — there are no residency requirements for use of the clinic except in the Women, Infant and Children (WIC) program.

The WIC program is comprised of pregnant women, young mothers and young children and is an area of great importance to the clinic.

"Ideally a woman will become involved in the program when she is pregnant, though she can come in after the baby is born."

Mothers attend classes once a month and learn more about nutritional needs of children and how to avert health problems in the young child. The program includes maternity information and provides for monthly checkups by a visiting doctor.

"Hopefully, says Garrett, we're offering a preventative type service to catch problems or stop them from happening."

The maternity program provided allows expectant mothers the option of a hospital or midwife delivery.

For the young child, pediatric physicals and testing for certain conditions, like anemia and PKU are offered. Growth and development of children on the WIC program is also monitored and records are kept on each child.

Vouchers are provided by the clinic to WIC mothers for dairy products, cereals, formulas, juice and other dietary essentials.

There are approximately 450 Aransas County women and children taking advantage of this beneficial program. Says Garrett, "Many people who would not come in for themselves will do so to ensure the health of their child. We try and help everyone we can. We are able to offer referrals to people we can't directly help. We are a tax based operation and we offer a service to the whole community."

Garrett describes the clinic this way. "We've got a fantastic staff that includes two visiting doctors to take care of a wide variety of problems."

In short, says Garrett, "We're a super facility."

IT WON'T HURT TOO MUCH

Tax Advice For Senior Citizens

AUSTIN — If you're a senior citizen, be sure you're not missing out on some important tax benefits.

For instance, did you know that anyone 65 or older is entitled to an extra exemption of $1,000 on his or her tax return?

And if your spouse is 64 or older, and you file a joint return, you may claim up to four $1,000 exemptions — two age exemptions and two individual exemptions.

Then there's the "Credit for the Elderly." This could reduce the taxes you owe by as much as $375 if you're single, or $562 if you're married and filing a joint return.

If you think you might be eligible for this credit, ask the Internal Revenue Service for Schedules R&RP of Form 1040.

Do all senior citizens have to file returns? Generally, yes, unless you are single, 65 or older and your individual income was less than $4,300. McKeever said.

If you would ordinarily file a joint return, and both you and your spouse are 65 or older with a joint income of less than $7,400, no return is required. If only one of you is 65 or older, the limit would be $6,400.

Except for these special income limits based on age, tax returns concern income — not age. And remember, Social Security payments are not considered taxable income.

Are you thinking of selling your home or residence? If you're 55 or older, you can take advantage of a once-in-a-lifetime $100,000 exclusion on the gain of sale.

If you're age 60 or over, free tax counseling is available through local IRS-coordinated Tax Counseling for the Elderly (TCE) programs.

Through these programs, specially trained volunteers provide tax assistance on such matters as tax credit for the elderly, special treatment of the gain on the sale of a home, the proper method of treatment in reporting certain pension income and paying tax on it when necessary, and other subjects of special interest and concern to older persons. The also help fill out returns.

If you are eligible, and need the assistance of this program, call IRS for further information.

By the Rev. Barrett Renfro
First United Methodist Church

Dear Winter Visitor:

By this time you are going or making plans to go home. You'll soon be leaving Rockport. We are honored to have you as an addition to our community and churches for these winter months. You are an asset. As our town and congregations grew beginning back in November we welcomed back our friends, now it comes time to say goodbye.

I am sad to see you go. We'll now have to get use to not seeing you around. We have some summer visitors, but they are not like the winter visitors. Maybe some residents of our town resent you because there comes a time to say goodbye and that hurts.

We in Rockport feel cheated that you are not with us all the year; we don't like to say goodbye.

But we know your homes, businesses and duties call you back. Your friends at home will be happy to see you. And next year, God willing, we will see you again. So have a good trip back home. Tell all your friends there about Rockport. And we'll see you next year.

I hope you know we care for you all and this is just a little note to let you know.

Love, The Rockport Churches

Accent On Health

Since a child's teeth are developing constantly from before birth until the late teenage years — parents need to be aware of the different problems associated with the various stages of growth.

This is the philosophy of Mrs. Dee C. Salmon, a registered dental hygienist with the Bureau of Dental Health of the Texas Department of Health. "An unborn child needs nutrients, minerals and vitamins because its teeth are beginning to form during the fifth and sixth week of pregnancy," she explained. "So, it's important for a pregnant woman to follow the diet advice of her doctor."

There's danger to a baby's teeth even during bottle feeding. A child should never be put to bed with a bottle containing anything but plain water. Milk, juices, sodas, and formulas contain sugars and form liquid pools around the new teeth.

An acid formation then attacks the new teeth as they appear, or erupt as dentists say, between the ages of six and 12 months. This is called nursing bottle mouth.

Parents should clean the baby's mouth with a clean washcloth or soft toothbrush after each feeding and use only water at bedtime or naptime," warned Mrs. Salmon. "For good dental health, a baby bottle filled with soda or sweetened drinks should not be used as a pacifier or reward."

She added that if the baby is fed "store-bought" formula, the parents may want to consider using a concentrated formula that can be mixed with flouridated water for the added protection of the new teeth.

What about thumb sucking? "Sucking is a natural reflex that may make a child feel secure and happy. Up to the ages of three or four there is usually no need to worry about the thumbsucker. After the age of four, however, the habit may change the position of the incoming permanent teeth and the shape of the jaws," Mrs. Salmon said. "Thumbsucking should gradually disappear after the age of two. If this doesn't happen, see your family dentist. Be careful not to scold or punish the child since this may cause increased worry and an increased need for sucking," she said.

As soon as the first tooth erupts in a child's mouth, brushing should begin. Flossing should start when they are side by side. Parents should brush and floss their children's teeth until they are capable of doing it themselves.

Tooth decay and gum disease are caused by dental plaque. Plaque is a sticky, colorless film of bacteria that attaches to the teeth and gums. A cavity occurs when the bacteria in the plaque change the sugars in the foods we eat into acids.

"The purpose of toothbrushing is to remove the plaque build-up on the surface of the teeth and gums," said Mrs. Salmon. "Some 60 percent of the tooth surfaces can be properly cleaned by toothbrushing — but the remaining 40 percent must be flossed to remove the plaque from between the teeth."

"The best toothbrush is a straight-handled brush with soft, rounded (nylon) bristles that are all the same length," said Mrs. Salmon. "Children usually wear out their toothbrushes more quickly than adults. Therefore, parents should check their children's toothbrushes often for bent or worn bristles, because these won't clean well and may hurt the gums."

By the age of three, all 20 primary (baby) teeth have usually erupted. "Many parents have the wrong idea about primary teeth. They think these teeth aren't important enough to maintain," said Mrs. Salmon. "But nothing could be further from the truth. Your child's primary teeth are important for chewing, speaking, appearance and most importantly for being space savers for the permanent teeth."

She said when a primary tooth is lost early, nearby teeth may drift into the empty space and cause the permanent tooth to erupt in the wrong position.

As a child approaches six years of age, the jaws grow and begin to make room for the permanent teeth to erupt. The primary tooth will loosen and come out of the jaw by itself when a permanent tooth is fully formed. Between the ages of six and 12, most of the primary teeth will be replaced by permanent teeth.

By the time a child enters the first grade, the six year molars have usually erupted. "These are very important permanent teeth and shouldn't be mistaken for primary teeth even though no teeth were lost for them to appear," warned Mrs. Salmon.

During the teenage years, all the permanent teeth except the wisdom teeth have usually erupted. "It's between the ages of 13 to 18 that tooth decay occurs most often," Mrs. Salmon said. "The average 16-year-old has 10 cavities. During this time diet and hygiene continue to be very important."

Mrs. Salmon says it's important to realize that sugar exists in many foods and not just candy and the obviously sweet items. "Sugar is in some breads and is often added in the cooking process of foods," she explained. "Even the smallest amount of sugar will cause the bacteria in plaque to form acid. If plaque is on the teeth, every time you eat sugar the acid will stay on your teeth about 20-30 minutes, and even longer with sticky foods such as caramels and crackers."

Since most people enjoy sweets, it's best to eat them as dessert during your main meal instead of several times a day. The teeth need to be cleaned as soon as possible after a meal.

Speaking Out

How do you feel about the bill now pending in the Texas Legislature that would raise the legal drinking age from 18 to 19?

Clara Nava
Rockport

I think it's a wonderful idea.

Stacey Shipman
Fulton, TX.

I don't think they should change it because if kids want it (alcohol) bad enough they can get it.

Kay Snapp
Copano Cove

I think it's a good thing. I think they should raise it back to 21!

Debbie Carle
Rockport

Raising it to one year older isn't going to change it that much. Illegal IDs are still easy to get. It's going to make the 18-year-olds angry and it's going to make the 19-year-olds angry, too. That money (government's) should be spent on something more important.

Kathryn Winkelman
Rockport

I think if you're a legal adult at 18 you should have all the rights and privileges of an adult.

Ruth Davis
Rockport

I think it should be raised to 21. It won't stop a lot of them but it will stop a few. I don't think it should ever have been lowered.

Battle Of Galveston Reenacted Weekend Of April 4 & 5

A dramatic part of Texas history will be relived on the weekend of April 4 and 5 when the Galveston County Historical Museum sponsors an authentic reenactment of the Civil War's Battle of Galveston. The famous battle originally took place on New Year's Eve and Day of 1862-63 on "The Strand" when Confederate units met Federal troops encamped there.

The reenactment will be accurate in every detail. At 2 p.m. on Saturday and 1 p.m. on Sunday Confederate troops will march three miles from their camp at Old Fort Crockett and a field hospital will be set up to treat the "wounded" afterwards.

A Ball honoring the victorious Southerners will be held Saturday night with music performed by the 4th Georgia Regimental Band from Long Beach, California who will use original period instruments.

The Galveston County Historical Museum has sponsored three other reenactments of the surrender and battle; this year's event, like the others, is supported largely through the Moody Foundation.

The Museum is located at 2219 Market Street in Galveston.

SOLAR FACTS

by Robert E. Lewis

While solar energy is understood by most people as the heat that comes from the sun, few Americans are familiar with the systems that have been developed to harness this heat for use in our homes.

Generally speaking, there are two distinct types of solar energy systems — active and passive. At the risk of oversimplification, active systems can be defined as those which use mechanical equipment to collect and transport the sun's heat. Passive systems, by comparison, collect and transport heat by non-mechanical means. Both systems can be installed in existing buildings as well as new ones.

When most people think of a solar home, they envision a house with large solar collectors mounted on the roof. These roof-mounted flatplate collectors are, in fact, an identifying mark of an active solar energy system.

As the roof collectors accumulate heat, water or air is circulated through them to absorb the heat and carry it to storage units. From the storage units, a system of pumps, valves and fans is used to move the heat out of the storage unit and through the building.

Generally speaking, passive heating systems require a large south-facing glass area to gain as much of the sun's heat as possible. Within the building, heat-absorbing materials such as masonry are used for the walls and/or floors. As the sun enters the building through the glass, the walls and floors absorb the heat and distribute it into the room. Heat flow is accomplished through such natural means as radiation, convection and conduction. To avoid heat-loss at night or overheating during the day, movable insulation in the form of shutters or insulated curtains is employed as part of the passive system.

At times, a minimal amount of mechanical equipment may be used to enhance the efficiency of a passive energy system. When this is done, the resulting system is termed "hybrid." Because hybrid systems still rely to a great degree on the building itself to collect and distribute heat, they are usually categorized as a type of passive system.

As might be expected, passive and hybrid systems are capturing the attention of consumers because of their simplicity, reliance on common building materials and few, if any, moving parts. In addition, passive systems generally cost less than active ones, and require little in the way of operating and maintenance costs.

Court Okays Unit For Firefighters

By Becky Werhan

The Aransas County Commissioners Court, meeting Wednesday, March 25, approved the purchase of a new fire truck for the Fulton Volunteer Fire Department.

Fulton Fire Chief Jimmy Hattenbach appeared before the court with firemen Wayne Oakman, Danny Cox and Roger Gordon.

Gordon read a prepared assessment of the present equipment available to the Fulton unit. At this time, the unit has only one operating truck — a 1972 Chevrolet, badly in need of repair.

The last time a county-funded truck was provided by the court to the Fulton firemen was in 1962 and the unit used the truck, an International, until last year.

All other trucks used, as well as the "Jaws of Life" device, were paid for by funds raised by the department itself. Judge John Wendell praised the efforts of the firemen in funding their own operations as well as they had.

The court asked the group if the Fulton City Council had been "given the opportunity to help out the fire department" and was told that Mayor Casterline was at this time working on a grant for that purpose. "But we don't know how long that will take," stressed Gordon.

Commissioner Ray Longino brought up the issue that the Rockport Fire unit was inadequately equipped as well with only two operating trucks. Replied Gordon, "It helps Rockport when we get a truck." Chief Hattenbach noted that most of the calls answered by the Fulton unit were in South

Rockport.

The motion to approve was made by Commissioner Spriegel and was passed by the court though the truck will not be provided immediately because of the present budget.

In other action, the court considered dates for upcoming Board of Equalization hearings. Friday, June 5, was the date set for hearing on Oil and Gas while the date for the property hearings was not decided upon.

Representatives of Cablevision from Aransas Pass appeared before the board to request approval of the company's bringing cable television to the City-By-The-Sea and Palm Harbor area, using both underground and aerial methods. Approval was withheld at this time pending the drawing up of a specific contract and bond by the company. Judge Wendell said, "We want to go into this thing with good feelings on both sides and this is the right way to do it."

The court heard from Palm Harbor resident Tony Thorne who requested appointment to the Aransas County Airport Board. The court approved Thorne's request and appointed him to replace new member Emilio Rinche, who was unable to serve on the board. Thorne will have a one-year term as do all other board members.

In other action, the court approved the closing of a portion of Cedar Street, near Ann Street, because the section was unused and overgrown. The motion specified that the electrical easement on the street be left in, however.

GETTING READY FOR THE BIG SHOW

Russell Nawrot and service manager Jack Benderman of Blue Water Marine put the finishing touches on one of the boats to be used in this weekend's "In The Water Boat Show." The show, planned by Blue Water owners Steve Franklin and Rudy Wernly will give prospective buyers the opportunity to ride in the boats they're interested in.

Hours will be Saturday, 10-5, and Sunday, 1-5, at the Rockport Ski Basin. Many top brand boats will be featured and a trio of barefoot skiers will be performing both days. And, of course, the public is cordially invited!

19 Vietnamese Shrimpers Want To Sell Their Boats

By Pat Blair

Some 19 Vietnamese shrimpers in the Rockport-Fulton area have said they want to sell their boats and get out of the shrimping business.

Meanwhile, American and Vietnamese leaders have come out in support of a bill — now pending before the Texas House of Representatives — that would set a two-year moratorium on the issue of new bay shrimp and bait shrimp boat licenses.

Allen Clark, administrative assistant in the office of Texas Governor Bill Clements, met with Vietnamese shrimpers in Fulton Tuesday night, March 24, to find out how many were definitely interested in selling their boats.

He said "approximately 19" were interested, and he left forms for them to fill out, describing the boats, the condition of the vessels and what the owner would want for the boat.

Clark said Governor Clements' office has been contacted by some five or six boat brokers, both in and out of state, who have expressed an interest in buying Vietnamese vessels.

The brokers began contacting Clark following a public meeting in Rockport last month in which Clark announced that he had talked with Vietnamese shrimpers who wanted to sell their boats.

In the meantime, the Texas House is looking at a bill, approved Tuesday by the State Senate, that will put a two-year ban on licenses issued to bay or bait shrimpers along the Texas Coast.

Both American and Vietnamese shrimpers in the area have expressed approval for the measure.

"We're all for it," was the comment of area shrimper Leon Bateman who said it was "in the best interest for everybody."

Raymond James, another area shrimper, said the bill "is a preventative measure to keep from making a welfare fleet out of all bay shrimpers — American and Vietnamese."

Nam Van Nguyen, president of the Vietnamese Fishermen's Association Seabrook, indicated the Vietnamese shrimpers also favor the measure and said, "I think it's very good."

Proponents of the bill point out that it is not aimed specifically at the problems between American and Vietnamese shrimpers but is to ease overcrowding in the Texas shrimp industry.

Statewide, according to the Texas Parks & Wildlife Department, more than 4,300 shrimp boats are licensed.

L.E. Casterline, owner of Casterline Fish Company and mayor of Fulton, estimates there are around 225 or 230 Vietnamese and American bay shrimpers working out of Aransas County.

J.C. Harlan estimates the number of "full-time" shrimpers is lower — around 150.

The bill would exempt from the moratorium bay shrimpers or bait shrimpers who held a license as of February 28, 1981, and those who have a shrimp boat under construction that will be 50 percent complete on December 31, 1981.

TOO MANY SHRIMPERS?

Shrimiboats in Rockport Harbor ... scenic ... part of the charm of the Rockport-Fulton area ... and part of its problems. Texas bays are overcrowded and shrimpers, American and Vietnamese, are counting on a passage of a bill now pending in the Texas legislature that will put a two-year moratorium on licensing of any new bay vessels.

New Grand Jury Convened In Wood Case

By Becky Werhan

A new federal grand jury probing the May, 1979, assassination of U.S. District Judge John Wood was empaneled Wednesday, March 25 in San Antonio.

The grand jury heard two witnesses Wednesday in a five hour session, then recessed, until Thursday, when associates of convicted hit man Charles Harrelson were subpoenaed to appear.

Harrelson was among the group of three men and two women named in a report by the Dallas Morning News as having, in January of 1979, kept track from Sea Gun Resort of the movements of Judge Wood, a Rockport native, staying at that time in his Key Allegro home.

Harrelson is one of points of focus in the new investigation along with Joe and Jimmy Chagra of El Paso. Jimmy Chagra is now serving time in Leavenworth on drug smuggling indictments. He was to have appeared before Wood on those indictments, before the killing in May.

Brother Joe Chagra, an El Paso lawyer, has taken two polygraph tests, the results of which show him as having no part in Wood's murder or any conspiracy to commit murder.

It was not known at Pilot press time on Thursday whether the grand jury questioning will focus on the report that Harrelson, and associates Larry Culbreath, Jack Strauss and two female companions were allegedly conducting surveillance of Wood while staying at Sea Gun in January of 1979.

The cabin the group was renting was raided on January 19 by sheriff's deputies who had been tipped off that a large scale gambling operation was going on. Evidence to that effect was indeed found, though the group had fled before the sheriff's department arrived.

In the opinion of Sheriff Bob Hewes there is no link between the Wood assassination and the Rockport area.

Grantham Released On Bond

CORPUS CHRISTI — Dallas Alton Grantham, 53, of Fulton, indicted for possession of 27,830 pounds of marijuana has been released from Nueces County Jail after posting 10 percent of a reduced bond.

Grantham's bond was reduced from $1 million to $150,000 following a hearing before U.S. Magistrate Eduardo de Ases in Corpus Christi. He was released Tuesday, March 24, after posting $15,000.

Earlier, Talton Lee James, 40, of Rockport, indicted on the same charge, was released after posting a reduced bond.

The two are among 14 men, including two others from Rockport, indicted on charges of possession of 27,830 pounds of marijuana following a pre-dawn raid March 15 at Seadrift.

Grantham's bond — and bond on three other men arrested in the raid — was lowered Monday. March 23, following bond reduction hearings before de Ases.

De Ases set $100,000 bonds on Felipe F. Llaudy, 40, of Miami; Paul Oliver Jr., 40, of Brownsville; and Valdemar Guerra, 37, of San Antonio.

45 Absentee Ballots Cast In School Races

With about a week left before election day, absentee voting in Aransas County's school board races totalled 45 ballots cast by noon Thursday.

Five votes — all in Ward 2 where the race is contested — had been cast in Rockport's city council races.

In Fulton, where no races are contested, no absentee ballots have been cast to this point.

Absentee voting in all three elections ends Tuesday, March 31. The regular election day will be Saturday, April 4, with polls open from 7 a.m. until 7 p.m. at the various polling places.

All three posts on the Aransas County Independent School District Board of Trustees are contested. In place 1, Nelda Lee is opposing incumbent Polly Bracht. In place 2, Danny Adams and Jerry Brundrett Jr. are vying for the post.

Place 3 is a three-way race among Sue Casterline, incumbent Otis Mundine and James Metzner.

Absentee voting is in the school administration building during 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. office hours.

In Rockport, W.B. Allen is running unopposed for the Ward 1 council post, but Brad Steiner is challenging incumbent Burt Mills in Ward 2.

In Fulton, all four candidates are running unopposed: Elgin M.C. Dietz for Place 1; Katherine McLester for Place 3; Isabel Gutierrez, Place 4; and Pat Loftin, Place 5.

Absentee voting is at the Travel Trailer Haven, 1003 Mesquite, from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m.

HAPPY FLORENCE

Florence Sharp shared the general happy mood around the Pilot this past week as the newspaper held a week-long celebration of its 112th anniversary. The cake didn't last long, but there was a good supply of coffee, punch, cheese and crackers for Aransas County residents who dropped by for a visit. The cake shown here was baked by Pilot staffer Becky Werhan and Florence displayed her culinary talents with another cake later in the week.

mended varieties purchased from local garden centers or nurseries or from reputable seed order catalogs.

Vegetables which should always be seeded directly in gardens include all types of beans, beets, carrots, collards, sweet corn, cucumbers, cantaloupes, okra, peas, pumpkins, radishes, spinach, squash, turnips and watermelons.

Transplants of some of these vegetables may be available at local garden centers and nurseries, but they offer no real advantage over seeding directly in the garden.

When seeding time rolls around, the soil should be moist but not too wet. To check, squeeze together a handful of your garden soil. If it crumbles readily rather than sticking together, it's in ideal condition for seeding. Most garden seed are planted by dropping the seed in shallow furrows or rows on raised beds. Make the seed furrow with a hoe handle, the corner of the hoe blade, your hand or a stick.

Don't get your vegetable rows too close together. Most garden vegetables do best when planted in rows 18 inches to 36 inches apart.

Although it may seem wasteful, always plant more seed than needed in case some don't germinate and come up. One common mistake many gardeners make is to plant seed too deep. Proper planting depth will be, on the average, two to three times the widest measurement of the seed.

Cover seed to the right depth and then firm the soil lightly over the seed. Ideally the soil moisture content should be sufficient for good seed germination and emergence.

However, during extremely dry periods, it's a good idea to water to insure a good stand.

After vegetables come up, remember that too many plants in an area are just as bad, if not worse, as too few. Thin vegetables to the proper distance between plants. Remember, it's for their good as well as yours.

To make the job of thinning less painful, thin plants periodically. For example, if snap beans are to be thinned to four inches between plants, thin small plants until they are two inches apart.

Then allow remaining plants to grow for a period of time until they begin to crowd together. At that point, complete thinning so plants are the recommended distance apart.

It's a good idea when removing larger plants to use a knife or clippers to cut the stem at the ground level. This will not damage the root system of remaining vegetables as pulling out unwanted plants might have done.

Remember that thinning your garden vegetables to the correct spacing is one of the most important "follow-up" activities after planting.

Contact the County Extension Office for additional information on correct spacing for commonly-grown vegetable plants.

Funds Collected For Patillo Heliport

The Aransas County Medical Services Inc. is raising money for the proposed G.M. Patillo Memorial Medical Heliport to be located behind Enterprise Medical Clinic in Rockport.

The new heliport will be for landings of helicopters in medical emergencies, according to John Mitchell, advisory director of the ACMSI board.

Mitchell added that more than $3,000 has been donated so far for the heliport which is expected to cost less than $5,000.

Donations for the project are being channeled through the Women's Committee (of ACMSI), Mitchell said. Anyone who wants to make a donation is asked to make the check out to the ACMSI but include a note that the funds are for the memorial heliport.

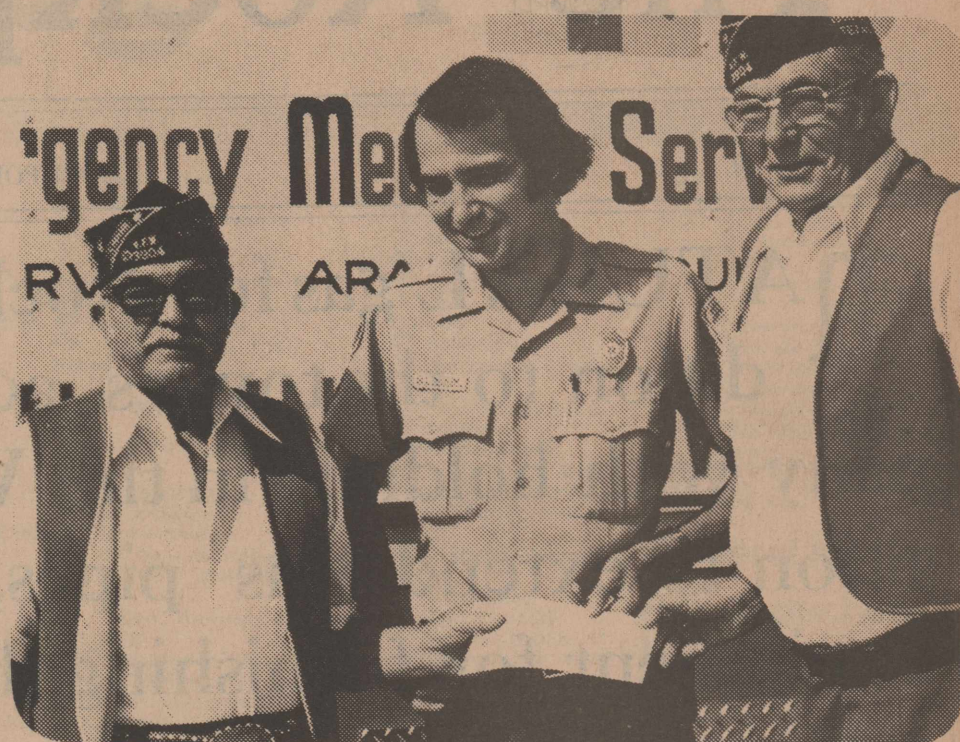

Checks should be mailed to Post Office Box 821, Rockport, Mitchell said.

Space for the heliport has already been marked off at Enterprise Medical Clinic. The new facilities will include a 50-foot by 50-foot concrete landing pad surrounded by lights to aid in possible night landings and with a concrete walk from the pad to the clinic's emergency entrance.

Dr. Patillo had been a resident of and conducted his practice in Rockport since 1963 and was in charge of the ACMSI's "Doctor Search" committee for Enterprise Clinic. He died February 16 at his residence.

VFW DONATES TO HELIPORT FUND

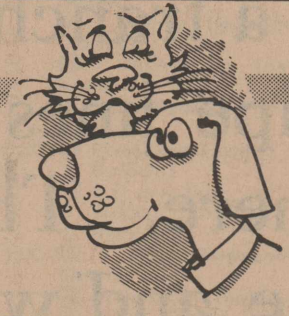

Another donation to the fund for the GM Patillo Memorial Heliport was made this week. Chief Paramedic Bill Aston accepts the $500 check from Shorty Mullinax, Quartermaster of the Stewart Wendell VFW Post, No. 3904 while Commander Tom Matthews looks on. This marks the third major donation by the post this month. Anyone else wishing to donate to the fund may do so by sending a check to the GM Memorial Heliport Fund, Box 821, Rockport, TX 78382. Pet Talks

Dr. Lutz is a graduate of Baltimore City College and Texas A&M University. He specializes in small and exotic animal practice. He was an instructor of small animal diseases and surgery in the Veterinary School at Texas A&M and was in private practice in Waco for 25 years.

What I Always Wanted To Know About Pets, But Was Afraid To Ask Dear Dr. Lutz,

A mother skunk has just set up housekeeping under my house and proceeded to give birth. The noise and odor is very offensive. The skunk gains entrance to the house through a small 10 inch X 10 inch hole.

How would you suggest I get them to leave?—Irritated Home Owner Dear I.H.O.,

A very inexpensive method is to use a small, portable battery operated radio. Tune the radio to the station that plays rock music — one that plays nothing but, 24 hours a day. Turn the volume as high as possible. Place the radio inside the vent, under the floor. Don't block the opening with it. Place it to one side so the skunks can get out. I would also make arrangements to stay with your mother-in-law for a few days until the batteries run down. If you stay during this ordeal, purchase ear plugs and a lot of deodorizers.

This also works effectively on raccoons. Apparently skunks and raccoons have a much better taste for good music than many people in the human race.

If you have any questions concerning your pet's health or care, send them to the Rockport Pilot, P.O. Box 608, Rockport, Texas 78382. Dr. Lutz will answer them in the weekend edition.

Register
VOL. II. No. 39

ROCKPORT, ARANSAS COUNTY, TEXAS, JANUARY 24, 1929

Pilot
Vol. XLI, No. 29

NATURAL gas for Rockport promises to be an early and desirable addition to the town's advantages. The Moran Incorporation, a company with holdings in the White Point gas field, has made a liberal proposition to extend gas pipes, put in meters and install all other necessary equipment for furnishing the people here with gas. They ask no guarantee as to the number of gas users, quantity of gas to be used or bonus of any kind. All they want is a franchise from the city and county permitting them to extend their pipe lines through the county into Rockport and conduct their business here. The same people have the gas franchise at Aransas Pass and Ingleside and will furnish gas for the Humble Oil industries both at Ingleside and Harbor Island. Mayor Moore thinks the city will grant the franchise, and the county will cooperate, Judge Spencer says.

TESTING POTASH AS AN AID TO GROWING TOMATOES HERE

P. Donald, county agricultural agent of San Patricio, and J. H. Tanner, representative of the National Potash association, spent Monday in Rockport carrying on some experimental work that will be watched by the truck farmers of this vicinity with interest.

The object of their tests or experiments was to determine what per cent of potash should be used with fertilizers to have the best result in growing tomatoes in this immediate territory. Five different patches of land on the place of Judge Spencer near town were carefully prepared by Mr. G. Townsend, who has the Spencer farm rented this year, each of the patches containing one-fifth of an acre. On each of the tracts a different per cent of potash was used, and as the soil is exactly the same with no tract having any advantage in preparation, drainage or any other respect, the yield of the tomatoes should prove a positive test.

Tomatoes yield very well in this territory as a rule, but in these progressive days there is no disposition on the part of the live ones in any line to let well enough alone. They are continually striving for improvement. The truck growers of Rockport and vicinity are no exception to this rule, and therefore they will watch the experiment with interest and next year will adopt the mixture of potash with other fertilizers that shows the best results.

SCARES HIS FRIENDS.

Mr. Wm. Mayer, one of Rockport's substantial business men, was suddenly taken seriously ill Tuesday afternoon at about 6 o'clock and collapsed on the sidewalk in front of the Vaux tea room. He had been in the tea room, where he ordered a bowl of soup and before it could be brought to him he went out with a thud and was unconscious when the first ones to witness his collapse reached him.

Judge Spencer, who was among the first to reach Mr. Mayer, seeing that he was unconscious and apparently in a serious condition, rushed to the drug store, got a bottle of spirits of ammonia and had him revived by the time Dr. Gore could be located and his services enlisted. He was carried on a cot to his room at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Wereldsma and although he remained in a dazed and more or less serious condition throughout the night was able to be up and around again Wednesday. He had been ill and really should have been in bed for several days before he was overtaken by the spell which temporarily put him out Tuesday. In some forms of illness it may be to the patient's advantage to keep going as long as he can, but influenza is not of that form, and the quicker one who is suffering from it gives up everything else and commences to devote his entire time and attention to taking it easy the less severe will the malady's treatment of him be.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to thank all those who were so thoughtful and kind during the last sad illness of our beloved mother and grandmother. The many floral offerings, the kind, thoughtful and neighborly deeds will ever remain in our memories with a feeling of gratitude for each and every one of you.

P. Canevaro and Family,
J. A. Johnson and Family,
Richard Simpson and Family,
S. A. Canevaro and Family,

MRS. CANEVARO DIES.

Mrs. Lucretia Canevaro, one of Rockport's oldest residents, and perhaps the oldest inhabitant of the town in years, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. H. G. Smith, in this city Friday night, January 18, after an illness of several weeks' duration.

Mrs. Canevaro, whose maiden name was Court, was born in East Texas on the 24th day of December, 1840. Her early girlhood days were spent in East Texas, but she was still a young lady when the family moved to Rockport. She was married to Mr. De Forest in 1854 and to this union four children were born, three of them having preceded her in death.

After the death of Mr. De Forest she was married to Antonio Canevaro, and eight children were born to this union, three of whom preceded her to the better world. Surviving to mourn her departure are six children, Mr. J. De Forest, Paul Canevaro, Mrs. H. G. Smith, Mrs. J. A. Johnson, Mrs. Richard Simpson and G. A. Canevaro, all of Rockport; 32 grandchildren, 42 great-grandchildren, one great-great-grandchild and scores of sorrowing friends and neighbors.

Funeral services were held from the residence of Mr. H. G. Smith Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock, conducted by Rev. J. P. Carrier, pastor of the Rockport Methodist church, and a large crowd gathered to witness the last rites over the good woman. Interment was at Seaside cemetery.

Grandma Canevaro, as she was affectionately called by all who knew her intimately, and that included practically every inhabitant of this section who had lived here any length of time, was as good a woman as the town and section ever boasted. While she was strictly attentive to her own affairs and stayed closely at home, she was ever cheerful and agreeable, and up until just a few weeks before her death got around as actively and was as keenly interested in life, those near and dear to her and affairs in general, as the average person 20 years younger.

The Register-Pilot wishes to extend sincere sympathy to the bereaved family and relatives.

DIED AT FULTON.

Sophie Lee, aged 7 years, 8 months and 18 days, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Johnson, died at the home of her parents at Fulton Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock and was buried at the Fulton cemetery Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, in the presence of a large number of sympathizing friends of the bereaved family.

The Register-Pilot wishes to join the entire community in extending sincere sympathy to the family in their sad misfortune.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to express our heartfelt appreciation for the many kind and neighborly acts shown to us during the illness followed by the death of our beloved little daughter and sister. That your trials and bereavements may be softened by the considerate acts of as good friends as you have been to us is our prayer.

Frank Johnson and Family.

STERLING ASKS TAXPAYERS TO HELP CARRY BOND PLAN

(Hous. Post-Dispatch.)

A strong appeal to the taxpayers of Texas to rally to the support of the state highway bond issue recommended by the committee of 31 prominent citizens was issued Tuesday from a sick bed by R. S. Sterling, chairman of the state highway commission of Texas.

Mr. Sterling, who is confined to his home on the bayshore by an attack of influenza, urged his fellow taxpayers, their senators and representatives at Austin asking them to support the highway bond plan.

"Old flu has me on the rear line of battle," he said. "I want this message to reach all overburdened taxpayers in the great agricultural districts of Texas, as well as our great stock country of West Texas and those counties which are burdened with too much taxation in aiding the state to construct state highways."

"It is my sincere belief, after studying the question carefully for two years that the right thing to do is for the state to construct its highways without aid from the counties, as the counties have all they can do to construct their 168,000 miles of county roads. "I urge my friends to wire their senators and representatives to get behind the plan recommended by the governor's committee of 31 and put over a grand and glorious highway project, under which the traffic will pay the cost—a plan which can be completed in time for this generation to enjoy the resulting benefits."

"So send your wires to your senators and representatives without fail," Mr. Sterling pointed out that the highway bond plan is in a crucial stage, and the question of submitting constitutional amendments which would bring the issue to a popular vote will be determined very soon.

HOME OF GEN. LEE SOLD.

New York, Jan. 21.—Stratford Hall, the birthplace and boyhood home of Gen. Robert E. Lee, in Westmoreland county, Va., has been formally transferred as part of the celebration of the 121st birthday anniversary of the Southern soldier, to a committee representing the William Alexander Lee Confederacy, of which Mrs. Charles D. Lanier of Greenwich, Conn., daughter-in-law of Sidney Lanier, the poet, is president.

The plantation will be held by a committee representing the Daughters of the Confederacy as a memorial to General Lee and a fund will be established to restore the colonial library and the gardens and to provide a scholarship for the education of poor Southern children.

The plan is the fulfillment of a resolution drawn up by Sidney Lanier in 1870 and presented at a memorial meeting for General Lee in Macon, Ga. The manuscript of the speech was discovered last summer by Mrs. Lanier in a desk in the poet's home at Greenwich, where it had lain unnoticed for fifty-eight years.

The Stratford estate comprises 1,122 acres on the banks of the Potomac, about ninety miles below Washington, where the river enters Chesapeake bay, and adjoins Wakefield, the birthplace of George Washington. It was acquired in 1650 by Richard Lee and was in the possession of the family until it was sold in 1830 to the Stuart family, where it remained until Friday, when it was sold by Charles E. Stuart. The purchase price was $200,000, of which $5,000 was paid Friday as an earnest of the transaction. Fifty thousand dollars will be paid in three months and the balance in three years.

NEW GIN FOR BAYSIDE.

Substantiated reports this week insure the construction of a brand new gin at Bayside, by L. J. Piehl & Sons. The new gin will occupy the site of the old. A representative of the Lummos Gin Co., Atlanta, Ga., and Dallas, Texas, closed the deal for the machinery this week with the above mentioned concern. The demolition of the old gin and the construction of the new will begin immediately. While the old gin was made of five 70-saw stands, the new cleaning and threshing machine will be considerably better shape to render more efficient service to that entire section. This indicates that L. J. Piehl & Sons have uppermost in their minds the rendering of the most efficient service where it is best deserved.

This new gin will be similar to the one installed a year or so ago at Orange Grove by L. J. Piehl & Sons.—Woodsboro Times.

A BAD STREET.

It is good to see shell being put in some deep mud holes in our streets. One place seems to be forgotten—the street from the depot east to Austin. It is just one block, but everyone shuns it. Let's hope it gets its full amount of shell. And it is so bad it may have to have even more.

LIVESTOCK OUTLOOK BRIGHT.

Austin, Texas, Jan. 21.—Livestock conditions in Texas are generally favorable and the outlook is bright for the first part of the year, at least, according to Bervard Nichols, editor of the Texas Business Review, issued monthly by the Bureau of Business Research at the University of Texas.

"Shipments to the Fort Worth markets in December were the smallest for a long time, all classes of animals except hogs showing large declines," Mr. Nichols said. "Shipments to that market were but 12,916 head, compared to 175,253 head in November and 173,790 head in December, 1927."

"The winter in Texas so far has been very mild and ample moisture has been available in most sections of the state to maintain ranges and pastures in good condition. As a result, animals have been holding up exceptionally well and feeding has been rather limited except to thin animals and calves."

"A LITTLE CLODHOOPER."

A three-act comedy will be presented at the Community House in Rockport on February 9. The play will be given under the auspices of the Corpus Christi Rebekah lodge. Come and bring your friends and enjoy a good laugh. Adults 35c, children 20c.

THE CHILDREN.

Heaven bless the children
Beautiful and fair,
Needing all a mother's love,
All a father's care.
Restless little pilgrims
On the road of life,
Eager for the journey hence,
Earnest for the strife.
Glad to push their vessel
From the parent shore,
Once on life's broad billowy sea
I will return no more!
Ever asking questions
That confound the wise
Peering into my stories
With their truthful eyes.
Setting me examples
Ever, day by day,
Teaching us the way of life
In their simple way.
Heaven bless the children!
As they once were blessed,
When the gentle Lord of love
Little ones caressed.
Lead them safely over
Life's tempestuous sea;
Keep them from the evil hour,
Teach them to be free!
Free from all excesses;
Free from moral stain;
Free from the glutton's heavy bonds,
Free from the drunkard's chain!
Free from sin's allurements,
Be they what they may—
Walking up the narrow path
Towards the gates of day.
Heaven bless the children!
Lead us from the skies;
Little loving, wild things,
Dropped from Paradise!

"Father," said a sporting youth to his revered parent "they say trout is biting now." "Well," was the consoling reply, mind your work, and then you'll be sure they won't bite you."

OUR TRADE WITH MEXICO.

Near two thousand bushels of wheat, of this year's crop, has already arrived in our city from Mexico, and from this time on there will be a continued stream of this valuable product. This grain trade with our sister Republic bids fair to become enormous; and what might it not be if we had a railroad. We begin to need a railroad from here to Mexico, more than we do to the Gulf, or to Columbus. We have become tired gazing east for a railroad—let us now look west awhile. Had we a railroad to the Pacific, our trade with Mexico would be of more value to us than with New England, including New York, or New Amsterdam, as it used to be called, or any other "dam"—city in the east. We do not mean a railroad that is to carve around up to San Francisco, to deposit our wealth into the lap of this modern financial Harlequin of the Pacific, but a road that runs through on the most favorable route and ends at the most favorable point for commercial trade.

Had we such a road, our State would be open to a market for the many manufactures we now have, and for the hundreds that would spring up; and we also would have a ready, safe and reliable market for our cotton and other products, that would not be based upon "the baseless fabric of a vision" currency that we now have, rendering it as unsafe to sleep with greenbacks as with greybacks. We should receive for our products money that can be seen and felt and that does not wear out every three years, and that can be buried when the financial concern "busts up," which will not be long, unless new engine and engineers are the modus operandi.—S. A. Herald.

SPARE MOMENTS.

"Spare moments are the gold dust of time." When Queen Elizabeth lay upon her dying bed she cried in the deepest of sorrow and anguish, "Millions of money would I give for an inch of time." At that moment he who would have offered her gold, diamonds, or power, more than she ever before possessed, who would have borne to her the news of a splendid victory, or paid the most delicate compliment, would have been thrust aside to make room for any one who could have prolonged, even for an hour the life of the dying Queen. Time is a priceless gift of God to weak humanity. We are placed in this world for a purpose, and time is given us to fulfill our allotted task. If we act in unison with the Almighty, we find that not one moment need be unemployed. The service of God, the improvement of our talents, and the bestowal of charity upon those less favored than ourselves, will fill up every inch of time. As the minute particles of which gold dust is composed glitter in the sun, so shall the apparently insignificant actions which occupy but a moment, brighten the page of our lives when the powerful light of the dissolving elements shall expose it to the scrutiny of the All-seeing Judge. In view of such a time, should we not gather up the fragments, the minutes—aye, the seconds? As short a time will suffice to say that which may save another from committing sin as would be occupied in momentarily gratifying ourselves. We cannot calculate the ultimate value of hours and minutes, but we know that as gold dust carefully gathered, becomes valuable, so we may expect to become the happy reapers of an invaluable treasure harvest, if we faithfully garner and cluster time's golden fragments.

Ocean Cable Reciprocity.—The

Washington Intelligencer says: A company of responsible Americans, who lately applied to the French Government for permission to land an ocean telegraph cable on the French shore, have been refused permission to do so. The response is that an exclusive privilege to land a cable having been granted to MM. Erlanger and Reuter, of whom the present French company are the assignees, the request cannot be granted. It will be remembered that at the time the French cable was landed on the shores, the French company mentioned this exclusive grant, but intimated that it should not stand in the way of an American Company. They were then in favor of reciprocity, but seem now to want to play the part of the dog in the manger. If this is to be their policy, the next Congress may speedily bring them to terms by compelling them to let the American shore end of their own cable. Whether or not such action on the part of Congress would be right or wrong in law, as an act of retaliation for bad faith on the part of the French company, it would nevertheless be morally right.

SWAPPING A WIFE FOR A HORSE.

An exchange tells an amusing case which came before a lawyer of Pontiac, Michigan, a short time since. The story goes that a man residing in Oakland county (whose name is not mentioned) became enamored of another man's wife, and supposing that if he could gain her husband's consent for a valuable consideration, he could take her to him without violating the law, (she being willing) produced a forged letter from the woman's father to the effect that he had heard serious charges against his son-in-law and was coming to take her away. The husband, supposing that he must lose his wife, was induced to accept a horse in exchange for her, supposing that he would thus be released from the bonds of matrimony without the trouble and expense of applying to the courts. A few days since the husband hearing that his wife intended to return to her first love, and he not being willing to receive her, consulted a lawyer as to whether she should return and oblige him to live with her, and was much surprised to learn that the bargain and sale he had made were void. He now wishes to obtain a divorce, and congratulate himself on having the best of the bargain, for he says he has a horse that is worth more than the woman ever was.

STORMS IN THE SUN.—Scientific investigations into the mysteries of the sun's surface has been great this year. A great magnetic storm is predicted. An examination of the sun through new and powerful instruments, has revealed new and wonderful appearances on its surface. Immense spots, millions of miles in extent, are said to have appeared. One of them recently moved one hundred thousand miles in a second. We are told too that violent physical changes are going on; that the magnetic storms are regulated by fixed laws and occur every eleven years. The next one is to be in 1870. Its effects on magnetic instruments will be noted with intense interest by the first scientific men of the day. What effects these storms will have upon the atmosphere, vegetation and the light of the sun, will afford plenty of food for speculation and thought.

To THE PEOPLE.—I see by telegrams from Breckinridge that the convention of Editors who recently met there, selected me as their candidate for Commissioner of the General Land Office. I fully appreciate the partiality of friends who saw proper to give me this nomination. It was done without consultation with me, and believing it is now to the interest of the people of Texas to elect A. J. MR. STEPHENS ON THE FIFTEENTH AMENDMENT.

A writer in the Argonaut, Ga. Constitutionalist, who has recently had an interview with Mr. A. H. Stephens, says:

Mr. Stephens is very solicitous that this amendment should be rejected. So much is he impressed with the importance of its failure that he would if a member of the assembly, vote against it. He says the consequences what they may. These consequences cannot be worse in the long run, than they will be if the amendment should pass. If liberty is to perish, let it perish at the hands of the North; no southern man should be a voluntary partaker of the crime. Wherefore nothing could be more base than a ratification of the fifteenth amendment under threats from Congress. Military rule may come; but military rule is better than self degradation. An undegraded, though oppressed people may still preserve some hope of ultimate liberty and good government—but a self-degraded people, a people lost to shame, to honor, and personal respect, are not worthy of their liberty, even if a hope of its restoration could penetrate souls which of their own accord have surrendered the light.

Fishing Report

The big news in fishing is that some live bait is at last available. Fleming's and Bea's Baits at the Rockport Turning Basin do have live bait now and Beachroad Baits in Fulton and Palm Harbor Marina may have some in by this weekend.
Kleines at Rattlesnake Point — Bad last week due to "lowest tide in years" but fish now coming back with the southeast wind bringing the tide in. Some drum and red, no trout. Bring your own bait.
Copano Causeway -- Lots of big drum. Two Freeport men landed 19 drum, all weighing over 40 pounds one night this week, using crabs. Lots of speckled trout coming in at night on live shrimp. Weekend looks "real great."
St. Charles Bay Marina -- Tide too low, nothing this week, but if weather holds, will improve this weekend. No live bait yet.
Palm Harbor Marina -- "Not too bad at all". Mostly trout and flounder, using a special home-made worm sold exclusively at this marina. Visitor Ben Peek caught a big 39 pound drum. Possibility of live bait this weekend.
Key Allegro Marina -- Not too good. Some trout but no red fish yet. Frozen bait only.

Pirates Turn Back Bears, 5-3

Rockport outlasted West Oso Friday night by a 5-3 score to record a district win in Rockport.
Bill Jennings hooked up with Roger Salinas of West Oso in a pitchers' dual, and Jennings came out on top, thanks to some timely errors by the Bears and a key hit or two.
Rockport scored in the bottom of the second to take a 1-0 lead when Rudy Zavala opened the inning with a hit, then was balked to second and stole third.

With Mark Goodin at bat, Coach Skip Richardson called for the squeeze bunt, and the Pirates executed it for the first run.
Oso came back with a pair of runs in the third to take the lead when the Pirates had a momentary lapse in the field and yielded a pair of unearned runs.
When the bottom of the fourth rolled around, the Pirates set out to make the lead vanish, and by the end of the inning, the Pirates were up 4-3. Oso had picked up a single tally in the top of the inning on a tremendous shot by Salinas for a home run.

The Pirates picked up an insurance run in the fifth when Eric Commander singled and moved around the bases on stolen bases and past balls.
The JV Pirates also picked up a win over the Bears earlier in the evening.

Pirate Netters First In Toast Of The Coast

By Bob Crawford
Going into the final two championship matches of the day, Rockport-Fulton's tennis players were trailing Aransas Pass by the score of 12-11 in team points — but with victories by Meredith Montague in girls singles, and with the doubles triumph by Terri Price and Holly Garrison, the Pirate netters pulled out the overall championship.
Under extreme pressure, Montague buried Aransas Pass's Rosa Oley 6-1, 6-1. Meredith, playing better than any time this season, lost only four games the entire meet.
Price and Garrison swept to their second consecutive tournament win with a 7-5, 6-3 victory. Also scoring for the team was the doubles team of Jennifer Janeczek and Lori Allen who finished third in the tournament.
Although taking just one win before being bumped out of the matches, Karen Von Heuvel picked up one team point for her first round win, and that helped to save the championship for the Pirate team.
The boys had a rougher time as Tony Aleman, still playing hurt, advanced to the semi-finals and then had to default for third place because of an injury. Coach Jim Hatfield plans to hold Aleman out of competition until the district meet in April.
The boys' doubles team of Scott Meyer and Bobby Albin advanced to the quarterfinals before bowing out.
Coach Hatfield pointed out, this was a very important tournament as it is the last one before district seeding. Price and Garrison will be the district favorites, and Aleman and Montague will be seeded as well. Janeczek and Allen might get a seeding.
Hatfield added a special thanks to Robert Richter for the use of the Racquet and Yacht Club's facilities where the Varsity division was played.
The JV division was played on the high school courts, and GP was the eventual winner. Pirate players Chris Iles, Mark Luigi, Diana Herman and Inasis Contreras all lost out in the quarterfinal round, while doubles team Gilbert Morales and Derek Andrew, plus the team of Ricky Hill and Chris Carter lost their initial matches.
The Pirate team will now enter a tournament in Tulo-so-Midway on the 29th and 30th, the last tune-up before district in April.

Pirate Tracksters Third In Sinton

By Bob Crawford
Running with other thoroughbreds, the Rockport-Fulton Pirate Tracksters brought home third place honors from Sinton, trailing Kingsville and Gregory-Portland in the final standings.
Coach Ron Richardson pointed out that Kingsville took a lot of Rockport's usual finishes in the sprints and distance races.
Nevertheless the Pirate 400 meter relay team of Micheal Simmons, Michael Covarrubias, Dwayne Walls and Zachary Green cruised to a new school record good for first place.
While they were taking the top spot in their event, Simmons claimed second in the 200 meters and third in the 100 meters. Green crossed the line for a sixth in the 200.
Raul Castro ran in the two longest races of the day and took third place in each of the 1600 and 3200 races. Peter Booth placed sixth in the 3200 meters.
Joe Lara set a new school record in the 1600 meter relay, although their time was good for only sixth place in the race.
In the field events, the Pirate weight men were again strong, scoring 34 points total in the discus and shot put.
Marty Davenport cut loose with a throw good enough to win the discus, and then picked up a second place behind Bubba Scott in the shot put. Scott had the third best throw in the discus to pick up a third there.
The Pirates, in finishing third, still left a host of Class 5A schools in their wake, including Carroll, King and Moody of Corpus.
The JV team placed fourth overall in their division. David Ramirez was a double winner in the 1600 meters and the 800 meters. Charles Ochoa picked up a first in the discus and a second place in the shot put. James Tumlinson was again sixth in the discus.
The 1600 meter relay team of Lupe Contreras, Ernie Lara, Eddie Naro, and Mike Zlock ran for second in their event. Lara, Aaron Chamber, Paul Beck and Contreras picked up a sixth place in the 400 meter relay.
Contreras had a performance good enough to capture second in the 400 meters.
Mike Kautz took second in the 300 Int. Hurdles and then was fifth in the 110s. Eddie Naro was fourth in the 300s and Joe Cantu was sixth in the 110s.
Greg Glowka was fourth in the pole vault and Rory Morgan was fourth in the high jump.
Eddie Bechtol took a double win in the hurdle events as the Pirate Freshmen were third overall at Sinton. Bechtol, after winning his two individual events, came back to run a key leg on the second place 1600 meter relay team's performance and got sixth in the long jump.
James Blair was a second place runner in the 800 meters, and ran a leg on both the second place 1600 meter relay team and the 400 meter relay team which took third.
Jeffrey Dickerson took second in the 400 meters, ran on the 1600 meter relay, and then took sixth in the high jump competition.
Steve Arkell ran into some speed merchants and had to settle for a third in the 100 meter dash and a fourth in the 200 meters.
Darren Gurley let fly with his best throw of the year and took a third place in the discus. Tommy Barnard was the fourth place finisher in the shot put and Philip Ochoa was sixth.
Tom Weaver and Ramon Romero also were runners on separate relay events.
The Pirates now must get ready for a king-size meet in Kingsville at Texas A&I.
