

Bank Deposits Over $12 Million

Assets in Wellington's two banks at mid-autumn have soared above the $13 million mark to an all time seasonal high. This is approximately $1.5 million above assets a year ago and $2.3 million higher than the asset figure two years ago at this season.

Deposits also rose, passing

$12 million, the highest on record.

These figures were revealed in the reports of the City State Bank and the Wellington State Bank to the Federal Reserve Bank and State Banking Commission at the time of the bank call Wednesday, Oct. 28.

Assets at the close of business that day were $13,304,067.77.

Deposits at the same time were $12,005,174.38.

The call is in approximately the same time period as those of a year ago and two years ago.

Assets Oct. 21, 1969 were $11,714,516.64.

Assets Oct. 30, 1968, were $10,921,716.05.

Deposits Oct. 21, 1969 were $10,835,455.69.

Deposits Oct. 30, 1968 were $9,991,760.76.

This year's deposits reflect all farm program money, along with some of the grain sorghum crop, but they reflect none of the 1970 cotton crop whatsoever.

Average deposits for the 15 days preceding the bank call were $12,135,109.97.

The last three third-quarter bank calls have come about a month later than those of 1967 and 1968, so comparisons are only relative, but assets this year are $2.9 million over those of 1967, and approximately $4.5 million over the third quarter asset figure of 1966.

In 1965, the call was at the end of October, and the combined assets of 1970 are approximately $3.5 million over the assets of the county's three banks in 1965. The figure then was $7,765,251.

Deposits show a similar trend. The early October deposits of 1967 were $9,432,682. In 1965, later in the month, they were $7,390,846.07.

Of this year's deposit figure, $6,881,740.07 is in demand deposits. This is almost a quarter of a million over the demand deposits of a year ago. Demand deposits represent the checking accounts of individuals, business firms, and some governmental subdivisions — money they use in everyday transactions.

Time deposits and savings accounts on Oct. 28 were $5,123,434.31, up almost a million dollars from a year ago.

This is money loaned to the banks on which the depositor draws interest.

Loans and discounts this year are $7,799,644.61, about a million dollars higher than a year ago.

Undivided profits are $444,035.38, and this figure is higher than 1969 third quarter by about $125,000.

TEXANS CHOICE

Texans returned Governor Preston Smith, upper right, to office for his second term by a wide margin in Tuesday's general election. They likewise elected Conservative Democrat Lloyd Bentsen to be their next United States Senator. Max Sherman, upper left, who opened his race for Senator from the 31st District in Wellington was elected to that post.

County Voters Choose Smith, Bentsen, Sherman

Collingsworth County expressed its confidence in Governor Preston Smith by a vote of more than two to one in favor of returning him to office. He polled 937 votes to 439 for his Republican opponent, Paul Eggers.

In this and other races, the Collingsworth vote followed district and state trends.

By a slightly smaller margin 905 to 476, Lloyd Bentsen carried the county for U.S. Senator over Republican George Bush.

In the other contested race of major interest here, Democrat Max Sherman polled 943 votes for State Senator from the 31st District to 421 for Republican Malouf "Oofie" Abraham.

By a decisive majority, Collingsworth County voters rejected the constitutional amendment that would have given liquor by the drink.

The count on other amendments was:

No. 1, judges' retirement, for 625, against 405.

No. 3, farm assessments, for 575, against 574.

No. 6, homestead exemptions, for 514, against 567.

No. 7, consolidating offices, for 254, against 718.

Legion Post Holds Luncheon Veterans Day

Members of the Frank King Post of the American Legion and their families will observe Veterans Day, Wednesday, Nov. 11, with a covered dish luncheon at the Legion Hall.

Plans were announced by Jimmy Cochran, post commander.

The luncheon will be held at noon, and members attending are asked to bring a dish. There will not be a program, but this will be a time of visiting and remembering among the members who are veterans of four wars.

This is also the time of the annual membership drive.

"It is dues time, and members may save $1.00 by paying them before Nov. 11," Mr. Cochran reminded. Joe Beard is membership chairman.

Final plans for the luncheon, as well as the membership drive, will be made at the regular meeting of the Legion on Thursday, Nov. 5.

Norwood Teams Host Allison Friday Night

The Samnorwood Eagles and Eaglettes will host Allison boys and girls Friday night, Nov. 6, in what Coach Kenneth Martindale believes will be a test of strength for his teams.

Allison boys, coached by Eddie Dawson, have won their district title for the last three years in a row. They are expected to be equally strong Friday night.

Allison girls will have a stronger team than in the past, Martindale believes.

Weldon Harrison, who consistently produces good teams, moved from Wheeler to Allison this year and early indications are that he is building an outstanding girls team.

Norwood will pay a return visit to Allison Tuesday, Nov. 10. Both games will start at 7:00 p.m.

Junior High

Samnorwood Junior High teams and the B team boys will go to Quail for a three-game bill Thursday, Nov. 5. The girls will play at 6:00 p.m. and the Junior High boys at 7:00, while the B team boys play at 8:00.

The Junior High teams opened Thursday, Oct. 29, with a pair of victories over Lela; the girls winning 31 to 20 and

Mrs. Barney Glenn, Chairman

Salvation Army Drive Set November 9 to 14

The annual Salvation Army fund drive will open Monday, Nov. 9 and continue through the week, closing Saturday, Nov. 14, announced Mrs. Barney Glenn, chairman of the 1970 campaign.

She also listed team captains and workers who will carry out the campaign in Wellington and throughout the county. Helping in the drive is Shirley W. Irwin of Amarillo, the service unit field representative for Salvation Army.

A fund quota was not listed, but the drive will be comprehensive.

A service unit of the Salvation Army operates in Wellington, and is made up of a committee of men and women who volunteer their time to represent this worldwide organization.

Mrs. Glenn explained that this unit discovers local welfare needs and meets them from the local Salvation Army Welfare Fund, established by the retention of an allotted part of the money raised in the annual drive.

Should the need arise, however, the Collingsworth County Unit can call on the full resources of the Salvation Army.

Team captains and workers who will be giving voluntarily of their time to help in the county campaign are:

Captains — Mrs. Byron Duncan, Mrs. Harold Keller, Mrs. Edward Aguilar, Mrs. Pat McAlister, Mrs. James Sullivan, Mrs. Jimmy Cochran, George Shadid.

Workers are Mrs. Glen Warwick, Mrs. R. L. Mabery, Mrs. Paul Hawkins, Mrs. Lillian Dean, Mrs. Annie Franklin, Mrs. Coreen Washington, Mrs. Kent Holland, Mrs. Kyle Lindley, Mrs. Donald White, Mrs. Larry Gollighugh, also

Mrs. Arthur Castor, Mrs. Adam Sosa, Mrs. R. H. Isbell, Mrs. Jack Neeley, Mrs. Barbara Williamson, Mrs. Elmer Feemster, Mrs. Albert Fulcher, Mrs. Elmer Keller, Paul Hawkins, Harold Gattis, Rev. Tom Rodgers, Ko Shari Club, and ODAKO Camp Fire Girls.

Working at Quail will be Mrs. Delbert White and Mrs. Carl Wischkaemper.

Dodson: Mrs. Howard Hunt, Mrs. Olan Farris.

Samnorwood: Mrs. Marvin Knoll and Mrs. T. R. Cuningham.

Courthouse: John Rainey.

The Texas Division of the Salvation Army, largest in area in the nation, maintains a fleet of 13 disaster canteens that are ready to move from strategic points to the scene of any major tragedy. Each of these mobile kitchens is equipped to feed thousands around the clock.

One of these worked close to home during the past summer, Mrs. Glenn reminded.

When a night twister spread havoc through 175 miles of the Panhandle's "tornado alley" service units organized relief teams at Clarendon, White Face, Muleshoe, Cotton Center, and other cities hit by that storm. Within weeks, it was present at the Lubbock tornado. Salvation Army worked a third time in Texas within that same period at the San Marcos flood, when hundreds were left homeless.

"Our Salvation Army Service Unit committee aids the transient, houses the homeless, cares for the indigent and helps the needy child. They provide summer camp for deserving boys, care and understanding for unwed mothers, and rehabilitation for alcoholics or parolees," explained Mrs. Glenn.

"When disaster strikes anywhere, The Salvation Army is already there," she concluded.

Rockets Play Quannah In Last Home Game

Wellington Skyrockets will meet the Quannah Indians Friday night, Nov. 6, in the last home game this season.

Although the Indian record this season is only a little more impressive than that of the Rockets, statistics do not tell the entire story, believes Coach Dick Hamilton.

Quannah does have a fairly good football team, and one that is capable of causing trouble for either of its two remaining opponents, Wellington or Seymour.

Quannah has a well balanced club, one that is not exceptionally large but is very quick, said Coach Carroll Nunnally, who has seen them play.

Bad breaks through the season have kept their win and loss record from being very impressive, but Coach Nunnally believes they are a capable team.

The Indians are led by Marvin Wells, a junior quarterback weighing 145 pounds.

The team depends on a running attack and is strong offensively, and they defeated Electra 39 to 13 at Quannah Friday night.

District-wise, Childress all but wrapped up the 2-AA title by the thinnest of margins, a 2-1 edge on penetrations, over Shamrock after the fierce rivals scrapped to a 6-6 tie in Irish Stadium Friday. The two are almost sure to end up with identical records unless the Rockets can dream the impossible, act on it and pull an upset in next week's final game.

This week, Shamrock will meet Seymour and Childress will play at Electra.

The Rockets have the capability of defeating the Indians and they have one asset they have not had most of the season. The team is in pretty good shape physically. The Rockets are also in good spirits and Coach Hamilton said he is confident the boys will be ready to play a good game Friday night.

The Skyrockets will crown their Football Queen at the Pep Rally Friday at 3:10 p.m. The candidates are Sandra McGill, Carey Lewis, Leigh Nall and Mary Saied.

Lawyers Come Two at A Time in Kirby Family

Ruth Kirby, who grew up in Wellington, recalls that she always wanted to go to law school. The wife of Littlefield attorney Jerry Kirby, her opportunity came when the Texas Tech Law School opened three years ago and she was one of 72 to enter the charter class.

When her class graduated last spring, she was the top graduate from the law school with a higher overall average than any of the others who received their doctor of jurisprudence degree.

She took her bar examination June 23, and she was notified only a few weeks ago that of the 600 persons taking the exam, she and a classmate tied for the highest grade on the bar examination, and that the top five grades were made by those in her class.

Mrs. Kirby will be remembered here as Wilma Ruth Forbis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Forbis and a Wellington High School graduate.

The legal angle did not end when she was admitted to the bar. Her brother, John T. Forbis, is a Childress attorney and former 100th District Attorney.

Her daughter, Linn Coombs, who lived in Wellington as a child, was graduated with honors from the law school of the University of California in Los Angeles and will get her grade on the California bar examination in December. Presently, she is a research attorney for a judge of the state court of appeals.

The Kirbys have another daughter, 11-year-old Leigh, who plans to break with tradition. She wants to study medicine.

Mrs. Kirby received her bachelor of arts degree from the University of Texas where she majored in Spanish. While living in Austin, she was a secretary at the law school and met Jerry Kirby, then a law school student.

After they were married, she worked for him two years.

"But now I want to do something on my own," she said. "I don't plan to work with his firm right now, and I certainly don't plan to go into competition against him."

She recalls one of the first classes she met after entering Texas Tech Law School. The lecturer from the accrediting agency spoke all morning on why women don't make good law students!

But Mrs. Kirby had a perfect attendance record, attending law school every day, 5 days a week, for three years.

"Being a woman and yet being accepted by a group so lively and bright was rewarding," she said of her class. "It was a lot of hard work and all sort of gruesome—sort of a toughening process, with your whole grade on what you make on tests that last up to five hours. And the bar exam, spread over three days, was an endurance contest in itself. Now I'm ready to put some of this hard work to good use," she concluded.

Jerry Thompson Named for Honor

A former Wellington man, Jerry Thompson, is included in the 1970 edition of "Outstanding Young Men of America." He is the owner of Thompson Pharmacy in Floydada.

"Outstanding Young Men of America" is a national awards program, and those selected are featured in a publication of the same name. A majority of those serving on the board of advisory editors are officers and former officers of U. S. Jaycees, along with college heads and business leaders.

Each year over 5,000 young men between the ages of 21 and 35 are nominated for the awards publication by Jaycee chapters, civic organizations, college alumni associations and military commandants.

The criteria for selection includes a man's service to others, professional excellence, business advancements, charitable activities, civic and professional recognition.

Mr. Thompson, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Loren Thompson of Wellington, is a member of the Floydada Rotary, a former director of the Memphis Rotary Club, and a director of the Floydada Chamber of Commerce.

He is a graduate of the School of Pharmacy of Southwestern State College, Weatherford, Okla.

Veterans Get Annual Income Questionnaires November 1

Jack Coker, director of the Veterans Administration regional office in Waco, today alerted two million veterans and dependents who get monthly VA pension checks that they will receive annual income questionnaires with their Nov. 1 checks.

He asks these pensioners to do two things:

1 — Fill out the questionnaire accurately and completely.

2 — After signing it, the recipients should return the form promptly to VA — no later than Jan. 15, 1971.

Coker pointed out that as 1971 pension payments will be based on submitted information, the questionnaires must be returned by the Jan. 15 deadline to insure non-interruption of pension checks.

VA pension is paid to veterans totally and permanently disabled from non-service-connected disabilities. Widows and children of deceased veterans but may also be required to refund payments received during 1970.

Each year, hundreds of VA beneficiaries are inconvenienced because they fail to promptly return or completely fill out their income questionnaires, Coker pointed out. He urged veterans and dependents who need help with questionnaires to contact the nearest VA office.

THE EIGHTH-OBOL

Do you know which was the smallest coin ever minted? Finding the answer to this question is in itself no easy task.

Most historians, however, believe the world's tiniest coin came from ancient Athens. It was called the "eighth-obol" and was made of silver.

As you might guess the "eighth-obols" were short lived. They were so small that people kept losing them.

The authorities stopped issuing them and minted a large copper coin of equal value instead. Oddly enough, many people protested the change! Immediately, there was a strike in the Athenian fish market. The fishwives had a habit of holding small change in their mouths and couldn't quite handle the new large coins. They found it very difficult to talk with a mouth full of copper!

Cubs Presented Awards, New Dens Formed

Awards and advancements were presented Cub Scouts in the October Pack meeting, held Thursday, Oct. 29.

Two new dens were introduced. Den 4 was organized with Mrs. Carolyn DeVoss as den mother, while Mrs. Sharon Peeks is in that capacity for Den 5.

All the boys in those two dens received Bobcat pins, denoting the first step in the Cubing program.

As a special project, Pack 31 has taken over the care of the Scout Hut in Ellison Park, Cubmaster Bill Anders reported.

Fathers have worked to remodel the interior and it is now suitable for den meetings.

Furniture, including chairs and divans, is needed for the hut. The building was damaged by a fire several years ago, and rewiring was necessary, along with installation of a new ceiling.

"We will appreciate any help we can get," said Mr. Anders.

Awards included:

Den 1: Marty Warrick, two Silver Arrows; Gary Isaacs, Bobcat; Kirk Patterson, Wolf and Bobcat awards; Jerry Henry, Wolf and Gold Arrow; Lonnie Lovell, Wolf; Neal Van Pelt, Silver Arrow; Craig Darter, Wolf award; Greg Neeley, two Silver Arrows.

Den 2: Richard Burba, Silver Arrow; Robert Burba, Silver Arrow; Donnie Mitchell, three Silver Arrows.

Den 3: Clay Don Lacy, Bear award; Lynn Hurst, Bear award; Pat White, Denner award; and Mike Reed, assistant Denner award.

County Men at Pitchfork Brush Control Meet

Five Wellington area men attended the Brush Control Research Field Day conducted by Texas A&M University Thursday, Oct. 22, at the Pitchfork Ranch near Dickens.

They included County Agent Don Reeves; Dwant Scott, of the Northwest Texas Research Demonstration Program; County Judge Zook Thomas; Lefty Thomas of Samnorwood, ASCS county chairman; and Troy Thomason, ASCS county committee member.

John Matthews, chairman of the Brush Control and Range Improvement Assn., (BCRIA) discussed the aims, objectives, needs and accomplishments of the organization. This is the state-wide brush control program in which Collingsworth ranchers are participating.

Mr. Reeves said that an attempt will be made to get some of the experimental chemicals for use on shinnery in Collingsworth County areas.

Along with other visitors, they saw and heard discussions of some of the latest developments in field tested chemical and mechanical control of mesquite, shinnery, and other brush.

Discussions included the most effective and economical rates of 2,4-D, 2,4,5-T, picloram, dicamba and promising combinations of these chemicals.

Also discussed were the effectiveness of ultra low, low, medium and high volume aerial application of herbicides, along with the effect of growth stage, soil moisture and plant condition.

Root plowing, tree dozing and combinations of these with aerial spraying were presented.

Baptist Public Relations Award Goes to Arlington Publisher

George Hawkes, publisher of The Arlington Citizen-Journal, has been named recipient of the 1970 Texas Baptist Public Relations Award.

He was honored at a luncheon in Austin, Oct. 27, during the annual meeting of the Baptist General Convention of Texas.

Hawkes, immediate past president of the Texas Press Association, was cited by BGCT public relations advisory committee for his "significant contribution to Christianity through the communication media." The committee presents the award annually to a member of the communications media.

Except for World War II service in the Army Air Corps, Hawkes has been in newspaper work for 42 years. He began as a "printer's devil" with the Flatonia (Tex.) Argus at the age of 12. Six years later he took over the paper and became the youngest editor in the state of Texas.

As publisher of the Citizen-Journal, Hawkes has received numerous awards for editorial writing, particularly in the area of social justice.

Hawkes said he doesn't preach or take a denominational approach in dealing with issues but seeks to put them in Christian perspective and to deal with both sides of a question.

"We probably don't convince people one way or another, but we make them think and they are interested in what the editor thinks," he said.

Hawkes, an active member of First Baptist Church, Arlington, favors freedom of the press for both denominational and secular publications.

Besides his newspaper and church activities, Hawkes has been involved in community affairs. He was named Arlington's "Citizen of the Year" in 1963 and was the recipient of the Sertoma Club's "Service to Mankind" award in 1968.

The North and East Texas Press Association gave him the "Sam Holloway Award" for his outstanding contribution to journalism in 1968.

This year the Hawkes family was named Texas representatives to the All-American Family Search and Pageant in Lehigh, Fla. They were among 12 families from throughout the United States who won trophies for "Most Talented Family" in the talent competition.

Hawkes also serves as chairman of the board of directors of The Baptist Standard, weekly Baptist newspaper.

Seven Causes of Redemption

BY GAYLORD COOK

In the Scriptures, redemption is attributed to a combination of factors:

1. GOD—Prime Cause. Luke 1:68; Gal. 4:4,5.
2. CHRIST — Mediatorial Cause. I Tim. 2:5; Heb. 9:15.
3. SPIRIT—Revealing Cause. Eph. 1:14.
4. BLOOD—Procuring Cause. I Pet. 1:18,19; Eph. 1:7.
5. APOSTLES — Instrumental Cause. I Tim. 2:5-7.
6. GOSPEL—Prescribing Cause. I Pet. 1:17-25.
7. OBEDIENCE — Appropriating Cause. Isa. 59:20; Col. 1:13, 14.

As can be seen from these scriptures, redemption for man does not depend upon a single cause, but upon a combination of things, all in accord with God's Will.

Teen Speakers Compare American Way of Life With Communism

Members of the 1924 Study Club met in the home of the club's president, Mrs. Dee Coleman on October 29.

With emphasis on citizenship, the program was entitled "Tomorrow's World Leaders." The participants, presented by Mrs. Coleman, had been Collingsworth County's delegates to the eighth annual Citizenship Seminar, sponsored by Texas Farm Bureau. These panelists were Brenda Childers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Childers, and Becky Burba, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dee Burba. Each of them related phases of Americanism and citizenship which had been shared with them by a distinguished combination of speakers.

In this two-part presentation were given definitions of ideas, privileges, philosophies and religious beliefs in relationship to Communist goals and the American way of life. Comparisons of ways of life were staggering. Danger signals were noted of free enterprise versus Communism. Apathy is one of our main weaknesses, they noted. One of the newest ideas is "don't destroy America; give her time and she will destroy herself."

In the business meeting there was a briefing on the recent district board meeting and workshop attended by Mrs. Coleman and Mrs. B. M. Sims and Mrs. John Coleman.

Group at Rural Homemakers

Seventeen Collingsworth County Home Demonstration Club members attended Rural Homemakers Day in Amarillo recently. This is sponsored annually by the Women's Division of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce.

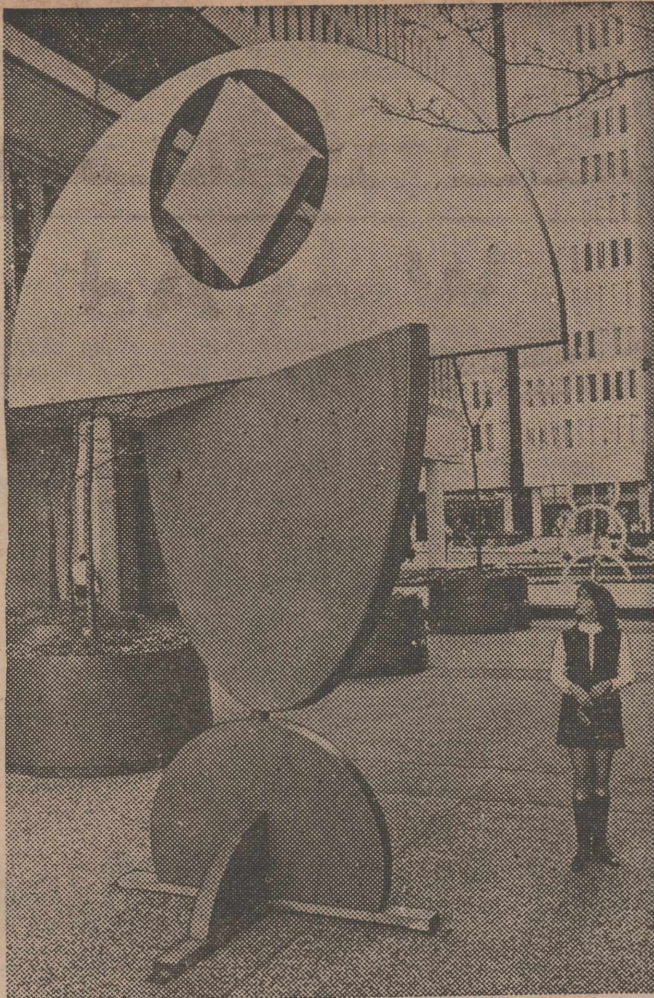

Miss Bonita Bonshack, home economist for the National Live Stock and Meat Board, in discussing "Beef Styles for the Seventies" will include more boneless cuts. The trend, she said is for boned, fat-grimmed meat cuts which provide more servings with less water per pound. This trend follows the development by stockmen of beef cattle that yield more lean meat while retaining flavor and tenderness, she continued.

She concluded with the preparation of several beef dishes. Mrs. Frances Hall of Chicago, assistant director of nutrition research for the meat board, was guest speaker at the luncheon. She discussed the nutritional merits of beef.

Women attending from here were Mrs. Creed Hill, home demonstration agent, Mrs. Joe Terry, Mrs. L. W. Wells, Mrs. Mack Horton, Mrs. Henry Langford, Mrs. Elmer Haralson, Mrs. Emmett Cook, Mrs. Cecil Masten.

Mrs. Jack Colson, Mrs. David Peters, Mrs. J. B. Killian, Miss Inez Clement, Mrs. A. V. Lowrie, Mrs. Wayne Reynolds, Mrs. Pat Bradley, Mrs. Edna Bradley and Mrs. Ed Brown.

Mrs. Bill Hill, accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Brooks Thomas of Dalhart, visited in Stephenville last week with an aunt, Mrs. Effie Burkett, and her daughter, Mrs. Mealie Baker. Mrs. Burkett, now 89 years of age, lived here more than 60 years ago. En route home, they visited another aunt, Mrs. Allis Young of Breckenridge.

Try Native Fish in Aquarium

AUSTIN.—You don't have to go to exotic places to get interesting fish for your aquarium, according to Texas Parks and Wildlife Magazine.

Most native fish can be had for nothing but just a little effort, and they can rival the tropical aquarium imports for unusual and beautiful coloration.

The magazine article, written and photographed by Reagan Bradshaw, says part of the fun of keeping natives is in capturing them.

An ordinary minnow seine is the most effective tool for capturing aquarium-sized fish. But it must be remembered, Bradshaw warns, that not all fish can be legally kept when captured in a seine, and it is wise to check with the local game management officer as to what methods and species are legal in the county.

Families in More Hot Water

Just about every family is really in hot water these days. A family of four uses about 1,300 gallons of hot water a month, says Lucille Clark, Oklahoma State University extension housing and home equipment specialist.

A tub bath takes about 10 gallons of water, and a shower five gallons, she says.

Most automatic washers use at least 25 gallons of water per load. Dishwashing and meal preparation use 10-14 gallons of water, and normal housecleaning five to 10.

ENP Improves Diet of Low Income

The Expanded Nutrition Program initiated a year ago by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service has taught 21,556 low-income families in 11 counties how to improve their diets and reduce malnutrition.

The program is being expanded to 18 additional counties this year. The program is made possible by funds allotted through the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Too, changes in family living for over 90,000 family members have also resulted from the ENP.

Exotics Thrive in Texas

HUNT.—Exotic big-game animals don't always have appetites to match their fancy name and delicate appearances.

Some of them thrive on dry grass and weeds that would choke a native white-tailed deer.

Many questions remain to be answered about the food habits of such exotics as axis deer, sika deer, blackbuck antelope, and mouflon sheep when the foreign species are stocked in the state's varied game ranges.

Other Editors Say . . .

Jobs Go Begging

With all the movements for identity now going about, some militant and others milder, we sometimes wonder if there will ever be a back-to-work movement.

Elsewhere on this page, Columnist James J. Kilpatrick comments on the number of help wanted ads he saw in various Texas cities during a recent visit. About the same ratio obtains in Amarillo, although not quite as high.

We read a lot in the press and view a great deal on TV about the poor, the deprived, the unemployed minorities, and yet jobs of every description go begging. A good many employers are willing to train while paying. Still no takers.

Small employers, particularly, have a hard time getting help. It's true, they probably can't pay as much to start, but nobody can start as a vice president.

The National Federation of Independent Business, Inc., gets comments from its members on the employment situation and a good many of the most recent ones largely complain that welfare payments are so easy and so high that paying jobs can't compete.

There appears to be a demand for people to work with reports coming in from all over the nation that jobs are going begging. A typical comment is from an upstate New York wholesaler with seven employees who say, "Good help is hard to obtain, continual competition from government for employees, we cannot compete with hours, fringe benefits, et al. We operate week to week expecting the worst but hoping for the best. Unemployment insurance and welfare undermine any desire to become a good employee in many cases."

An upholstery shop owner in a small Mountain states town comments, "It is extremely difficult to find qualified help. If the government is going to train welfare recipients, I suggest that they train upholsterers, drapery hangers and carpet layers. People who are trained in the trade have no need to go to the more populated areas. There is a great need in rural areas such as ours for trained people. I am forced to turn customers away."

A Florida businessman with 250 employees reports, "We operate a fresh fruit packing house, our main problem is securing harvest crews. The pay is adequate, but because of welfare doles of all kinds they only work three or four days a week."

A Kentucky service firm owner with five employees says, "Our main problem is getting help that is dependable. The welfare program and federal food stamp program have ruined people for working."

The owner of a Texas financial firm says, "There are too many employers crying for labor. With the federal government give-away programs there are too many people who do not want to work as long as they can get welfare."

Allied with these typical comments are also those who advocate that able-bodied welfare recipients should be compelled to perform some service in exchange for the aid they receive. Many suggest a revival of the old WPA concept whereby welfare recipients would be put to work improving public property, cleaning streets, and other tasks.

"Dad, guess what? I've got my first part in a play," said the budding young actor. "I play the part of a man who has been married for 25 years."

AUSTIN.—With the next legislative session two months off, a blue-ribbon speaker's committee has set out to evaluate the jobs of state lawmakers and how they can better perform their duties.

First meeting of the 150-member panel named by House Speaker Gus Mutscher and headed by Waggoner Carr, former attorney general, was held at the capitol last week.

One of the first things Mutscher suggested was a study of the work load heaped on officials who draw only $400 a month base pay. Committee is expected to come up with a recommendation and support for legislators' pay raises.

Mutscher asked the group to give special attention also to legislative facilities, ethics and internal security.

He further suggested a look at steps now taken to assure protection for orderly conduct of the state's business at the capitol and "physical protection" of state officials, employees and the public.

Mutscher said both houses of the legislature will hold a pre-session conference at Lyndon B. Johnson School of Public Affairs at the University of Texas.

Carr ruled out the study of such matters as annual legislative session and abuses by joint conference committees, since the committee was named by the House speaker and was not authorized by the Senate. "Timing of sessions and joint conference committees are matters of concern to both houses," he noted.

Four sub-committees were named and immediately began work. Sub-panels will work in areas of duties, responsibilities, and compensation; ethics and standards of conduct; physical facilities and internal security.

Appointments and Honors

Dr. Jimmy R. Allen of San Antonio was named to a second term as head of the Baptist Convention of Texas.

George W. Hawkes, publisher of the Arlington Citizen-Journal, was recipient of the 1970 Public Relations Award, presented annually by the Baptist General Convention of Texas.

House Speaker Mutscher picked Alvin A. Burger of Austin, longtime (now retired) head of the Texas Research League, as executive director of a special committee studying legislative duties, pay and ethics.

Mutscher appointed W. C. McGee, Jr., of Houston and Ward K. Wilkinson of Dallas to his committee on efficiency and economy in government.

Manning C. Phillips, FBI veteran, was employed by Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin's crime prevention division.

High Cost of Campaigning

U.S. Senate candidate George Bush topped all spending by general election candidates, according to required reports, filed with the Secretary of State. Bush said he has spent $696,008, and received $665,708 in contributions. And Bush's Democratic opponent, Lloyd Bentsen, itemized campaign spending of $419,332 and contributions of $424,563.

Gov. Preston Smith has spent $652,860 and received $534,651 in contributions. His Republican opponent, Paul Eggers, reported spending $409,028 and receiving $312,661.

Justice Planning Funds

Texas Criminal Justice Council received final approval of its 1971 block planning grant, totaling $1.2 million.

Money will be spent for state wide planning to improve the criminal justice system. Forty percent of funds will go to local governmental units.

Texas will receive a block action grant of $19 million for fiscal 1971 from the U.S. Department of Justice to support action projects in the field over the state.

Church Enjoined

Deputy Securities Commissioner Roy Mauer has issued an order enjoining the Trinity Baptist Church of Austin from selling any type of securities.

Order said that the church kept misleading, inaccurate and incomplete records. Also that Pastor R. D. Wade had been loaned $25,000 in bonds on an unsecured non-interest bearing note which church members had not approved.

Wade has used $18,000 of the bonds, according to the order, to purchase a motel in his own name. Eight series of bonds are outstanding, some of them in default.

According to Mauer's order, the Board, as of Oct. 22, did not have the funds necessary to pay interest and principal due Nov. 1.

Bonds were being sold to the public through Fred Matthews of Nationwide Church Bonds, Inc., of Birmingham, Ala., but Matthews was not registered here approved the request of Baylor Dental School at Dallas to be released from church control so it could accept government financial aid. Baylor Medical School in Houston was released two years ago, permitting it to seek state funds for enrollment increases.

Convention called on the University of Corpus Christi to repay a $600,000 loan it received from the federal Small Business Administration to repair Hurricane Celia damage and to borrow from a non-governmental source.

Delegates adopted resolutions commending national leaders for their spirit of peace to end the Vietnam hostility; urging courts to use discretion in dealing with each marijuana case on its merits; and opposing grants of tax funds to parochial schools.

Courts Speak

State Supreme Court set a Dec. 9 hearing on a Houston area welder's accidental "injury" suit which intermediate court held showed only evidence of occupational disease (silicosis).

High Court directed Bowie County District Court to block an oil pooling arrangement which was ordered by the Railroad Commission for the 80-acre, one-well Simms Field in Bowie County.

Skyrockets Fall to Seymour Panthers 34-0

By DANNY GRAY

Wellington Skyrockets failed to get in the winning column Friday night, Oct. 30, as they traveled to Seymour to battle the determined Panthers. From the opening to the close, it was nearly all Seymour as they romped to a 34-0 win.

The game opened with Seymour kicking to Wellington. On the first series of plays, the Rockets took the ball from their own 19 yard line to the 37 before having to punt.

On Seymour's first offensive play of the game, Quarterback Matt Robinson connected with a 51-yard touchdown pass to end Brent Albright. The extra point kick was good by Mickey Jones and the score was 7-0 Seymour.

The next score came in the second quarter when Seymour marched 95 yards in 16 plays with great runs by Earl Washington, who finally carried in off right tackle for the touchdown and another 6 points. The conversion was good from Jones to Albright and Seymour now led 15-0.

Late in the second quarter, Seymour began to march downfield again, then Denny Carter intercepted a Panther pass and brought it back to the Seymour 48-yard line.

On the opening kickoff of the third quarter, Wellington provided some fireworks that brought some hope to Rocket fans. Panther Bobby Bohannon took the ball on his 19 yard line and ran 60 yards to the Wellington 21. But on the next play, Earl Washington fumbled on the 18 and Rocket David Hodges recovered.

Wellington took the ball, and a 36-yard romp by Halfback Jackie Pendleton took it to the 30. Runs by Ted McLain, Mark Killian and Carter advanced the ball to the 1, but Wellington failed to take it in.

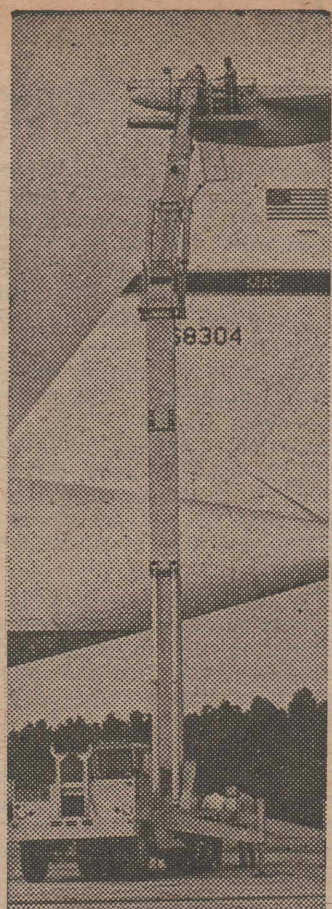

Seymour then took possession and went downfield with runs by Washington to score again from one yard out. Philip Martin kicked the extra point to make it 22-0.

Later in the third quarter, Seymour took the ball and worked it down to the 2-yard line. Kenny Shipman took the ball off left guard for 6.

A few plays later, with the game in the fourth quarter, Seymour got possession and scored on a series of runs, with Washington taking it over from 8 yards out.

Collins, Horton At Convention of Texas Baptists

The Rev. Roy Collins, pastor, and Alvin Horton attended the annual Texas Baptist General Convention held in Austin last week.

The theme of the convention was "Missions ... Our Mission," said Rev. Collins. The convention sermon was preached by Dr. Winfreds Moore, of First Baptist Church, Amarillo, on the theme, "Christ, Central and Alone."

He developed the theme that the church today is reflecting the New Testament Concept and must always present Christ Central and Alone. Churches that are not doing this are dying, he said.

One of the convention highlights came on the closing evening, said Rev. Collins, when Dave Wilkerson, a former heroin addict, spoke on "Youth and Drug Abuse."

He emphasized that youth will not be lost to drugs, pornography or illicit sex because young people are turning to God more today than ever before, the Wellington pastor reported.

Sewing Fake Fur

Wild, warm fake fur is the target for big sewing ventures this winter.

To hit the bull's-eye in style when sewing fake fur, follow these tips.

Choose a design with few styling details. Eased seams are difficult to handle.

Since fake fur is a pile fabric with a nap, check the pattern envelope under "with nap" for yardage requirements. If not listed, add three-eighths to three-fourths yard for cutting pattern pieces one way.

When cutting the fur fabric, eliminate seams wherever possible. For example, if there is a front opening, cut the facing and front center together. Lay pattern pieces on the wrong side of the fabric and have the nap running downward. Cut one layer at a time in deep pile, cutting only the backing to avoid cutting the pile. Mark the fur fabric with chalk or tailor's tacks.

Baste seams of the fake fur garment to prevent shifting, and stitch in the direction of the pile whenever possible. Long pile yarns may get caught in the seams but can be released by pulling them gently with a pin or needle. If stitching on the pile side of the fabric, keep the pile flat by stitching through transparent cellophane tape.

Buttonholes are difficult to handle on fake fur garments, so another type closure is usually preferred.

Check the label on the end of the fake fur fabric bolt for information about ironing. Some fur fabrics cannot be pressed with heat or steam; finger pressing may be used. If a velvet ironing board is not available, try a turkish towel or self-fabric placed face up on board with pile side of garment on top. Press lightly with steam iron in direction of the nap. Remaining fur fabric pieces may be used as trim detail on other garments.

Hot Apple Juice

Hot apple juice has a special cial taste, just right for fall and winter evenings.

Apple juice combines with other beverages, too, to provide the perfect party punch, or a tingly, warming, after-the-game mulled drink.

Mulled Apple Juice

- 1 quart apple juice
- 1 teaspoon whole allspice
- 1 teaspoon whole cloves
- 2 sticks cinnamon
- 6 thin lemon slices, if desired

Combine ingredients, except lemon slices, in a saucepan. Simmer covered for 20 minutes. Remove spices. Serve hot with lemon slices, if desired. Makes six serving of about 2/3 cup each.

Consumer Protection

The '70s may become known as the decade of consumer confrontation. There are at least 86 major bills before Congress dealing with some form of consumer protection, including product safety, consumer information, deception, fraud, credit and performance.

Coffee Makers

Accidents with coffee makers are numerous, reports the United States Public Health Service Injury Control Program. Underwriters' Laboratories is revising the standards for electric heating appliances to prevent these accidents. The standards will cover stability, resistance to dropping, temperature controls and lid fit and security.

Toy Electric Irons

Toy electric irons are not hazardous, reports Dr. Jerome L. Schulman, head of the division of child psychiatry at the Children's Memorial Hospital in Chicago. Dr. Schulman conducted a study that indicated the toy irons are not harmful to five- and six-year-olds who comprise the market for this toy.

Electric Cords

Burns caused when one becomes entangled in a long supply cord connected to a household cooking appliance has led Underwriters' Laboratories to consider restricting the length of these cords. The new length will be restricted to a maximum of three feet for appliances that must be picked up to be poured from.

HDC Members Learn to Quilt

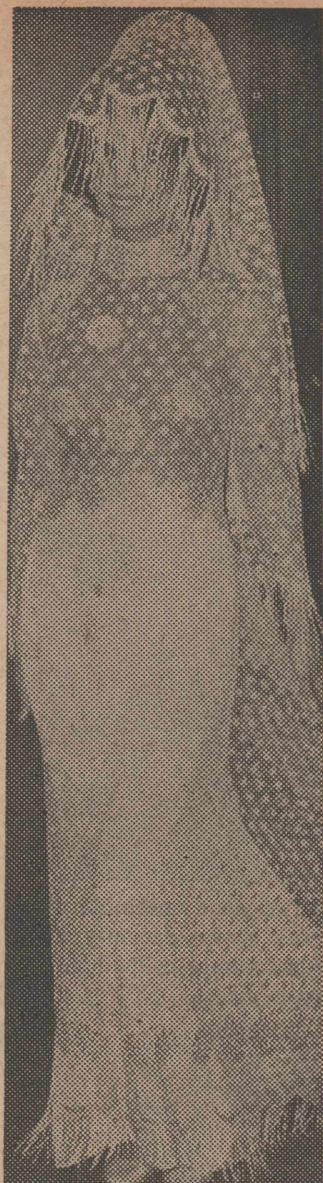

Mrs. T. J. Bowling was hostess to the Dodson Home Demonstration Club for an all-day meeting Tuesday, October 27.

A covered dish luncheon was served at noon. Younger members were then shown the traditional household art of quilting by Mrs. Bowling. Under her direction, a quilt belonging to Mrs. Truitt Holland was put into the frames and several were shown how to quilt.

Mrs. Thurman Crowover presented a program on diets during the afternoon.

Attending were Mrs. Wayne Reynolds; Mrs. Gilbert Hunt, Mrs. Herb Redeker, Mrs. A. V. Lowrie, Mrs. Holland, Mrs. Elmer Hightower, Mrs. Crowover and the hostess, Mrs. Bowling.

Four Sisters, Whose Total Age is 329 Years Meet for Reunion

A reunion of the last four surviving sisters of the Tom Mayo family was held recently at the Thomas Nursing Home, when Mrs. Ora Calcote, a resident of the home, was surprised by a visit from her sisters, Mrs. Lulu Masters of Dill City, Oklahoma, Mrs. Annie Lowe of Erick, Oklahoma, and Mrs. Daisey Caudle of Trinidad, Colorado. They were accompanied by Mrs. Masters' daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Fenn of Dill City.

The four sisters spent the day visiting and pictures were made of the group. The age of the ladies totaled 329 years, with Mrs. Calcote, the oldest of the eleven Mayo children, well into her 93rd year. The visiting group had just returned from the annual reunion of the Wheeler family at Bowie. This was the family of their mother, Emily Wheeler Mayo. They reported nothing looked familiar except an ancient oak tree that had shaded the back yard of their home. The house and all the outbuildings were gone.

Others here for the day included Mrs. Calcote's daughter-in-law, Mrs. J. B. Calcote of Wheeler, and her mother and father and sisters, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Black of Wheeler, Mr. and Mrs. Bailey Bland of Sacramento, California, and Mrs. Ethel Williamson of Shamrock. Mrs. Black, Mr. and Mrs. Bland and Mrs. Williamson are former residents of the area here.

Other guests of Mrs. Calcote included her oldest grandson and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Aubra Coursey of Fairmont, Minnesota. Mr. Coursey, 57, was born south of Wellington and attended school here and in the Swearingen community. His father, Charles Coursey, was an early-day employee of the city and took care of the pump station located east of the city. Mr. and Mrs. Coursey visited a number of familiar locations while here, and both were astonished at the extent of the growth in this area. Other grandchildren visiting Mrs. Calcote included Mr. and Mrs. Jerome H. Drew of Oklahoma City, Mrs. B. K. McGruder of Altus, Oklahoma and Roy Calcote and son of Winters.

Other relatives here visited by the group included Mrs. Emma Adkins, John R. Calcote, and Mr. and Mrs. John C. Wolf and family.

Questions People Ask About the Catholic Church

Where do you find Purgatory or praying for the dead in the Bible?

The Council of Florence in 1439 taught that God does not always remit all the temporal punishment due to forgiven sin (Numbers 22:12) (2 Kings 12:13-14). The Bible teaches that nothing defiled can enter Heaven (Wisdom 7:25) (Isaiah 25:8) (Hab. 1:13) (Revelations 21:7), and that Christians often die with small sins on their souls. These must be atoned for in Purgatory. Other texts are Matt. 12:32, and 1 Cor. 3, 11-15.

What does the Church teach about torments of Hell?

Mainly that the sinner suffers a two-fold punishment; the pain of loss and the pain of sense. The pain of loss is the eternal separation of the sinner from God, and the realization that this is due to his own fault. (Matt. 25:41) (Luke 13:27) (1 Cor. 6:9) (Revelations 22:15). The pain of sense is the torment of fire. (Matt. 13:30-50) (Mark 9:42) (Luke 16:24) (Heb. 10:27) (Revelations 17:8 and 19:20).

Rocket B Wins Over Bobcats 8-2

Wellington B team defeated Childress Bobcat B 8 to 2 at Powell Field Thursday evening Oct. 29, powered by a strong defensive team that refused to let Childress move. This was in repayment for the 7-6 defeat the Rocket B had suffered at Childress earlier this year.

Neither team scored during the first half.

In the third quarter, Jay Thomas took a handoff from Mike Williams and went 60 yards for the first score. A pass from Williams to Ray Shrubs was good for the 2 extra points.

Childress scored on a safety in the fourth period.

Each week, Coach Lacy has a team members to pick out- standing B team players. Their selections for the Childress game were:

Outstanding offensive lineman Leslie Bailey.

Outstanding defensive line- man, Dennis Powell.

Outstanding offensive back, Jay Thomas.

Outstanding defensive back, Robin Maddox.

Best all-around lineman, Ran- dy Vaughan.

Best all-around back, Keith Davis.

Best all-around player, John Runnels.

Flomot Takes Double Header From Quail

Quail Quails and Bobwhites lost a double header to Flomot Friday, Nov. 30 on the Quail courts, with the visiting boys winning 54 to 44, and Flomot girls taking their game 39 to 26.

It was the second time this year the teams had met.

Branda Childers led the scor- ing for the Bobwhites with 18 points and Dana McWilliams also had 18 for Flomot.

The game was even during the first period, which ended 7-6 for the visitors. Flomot led by only 4 points at the half, and play was still relatively close during the third period. Late in the game, how- ever, Quail began to fall be- hind.

Mark White was the Quails' high pointer with 11, while Jer- ry Barton scored 10. Alva Cal- vert was high for Flomot with 26.

Flomot stayed about 5 points ahead through much of the first half, then widened the margin in the third and the Quails were never able to catch up.

Both Quail teams got in foul trouble early in play. Even so, this could be considered one of the better evenings of play for the host team.

390 Attend Rotary Club Spook House

Approximately 390 children and adults visited the Rotary Club Spook House Halloween evening, Saturday, Oct. 31, Tommy Thomas, club secreta- ry, reported.

"We feel this was one of our most successful projects of the year," said Mr. Thomas. "It was altogether for fun, and we feel it was one of the things that helped keep children off the streets on that evening."

Marvin Garrison met the vi- sitors in front of the Spook House, which was the old Ellis Funeral Home, later the Sun- day School section of First Baptist Church in its former location.

Don Hood as Dracula showed guests through the house. They saw Cinderella in a coffin, next Thomas rattled his chains and screamed as each group ap- proached.

Club President Charles Dar- ter was the ghost, wicked or friendly, depending on whether the youngsters were scared by the time they reached him.

Mrs. Marvin Garrison told fortunes, then served treats.

Fans of the team are urged to accompany them to this game.

Arnett FFA Officers, Advisor Attend National Convention

Officers of the Arnett Future Farmers Chapter, along with their advisor, attended the Na- tional FFA Convention held re- cently in Kansas City, then wrapped up the trip with a visit to the Kansas City Royal Livestock Show.

Those attending were J. R. Argo, president; Del Brisbin, vice president; Stanton Sikes, secretary; Tommy Hightower, treasurer; Brent Cacy, sentin- el; Billy Bryant, reporter; and Billy Grubbs, vocational agri- culture instructor.

Registration and tours of the city took up the first day, then the Future Farmers heard Len Dawson, quarterback of the Kansas City Chiefs, as speaker for the vesper service.

Business session took up the next three days.

The Governor of Iowa was the speaker at one of these meetings, and urged the FFA members to become involved with America's future. Using this as the convention theme, other speakers pointed out what Future Farmers can do in promoting their country.

At one of the evening ses- sions, Art Linkletter paid a surprise visit and addressed the group on drug abuse, a cause for which he is giving much of his time.

He told them he is a farm boy, as he owns ranches in Montana and Australia, and considers himself to be still involved in farming.

This is the first year Arnett has had vocational agriculture or an organized FFA chapter.

"Our purpose in taking the boys to the national conven- tion was to inspire them and to see how FFA operates on the national level," said their advisor. "They have set goals for the chapter and they want to go back next year and partici- pate in the convention rather than observe it."
