Moore... ABOUT Eastland

By VIRGIL E. MOORE

It's just about time once again to wear that poppy again. Fact is, Saturday is the day. A poem, "The Little Red Crepe Paper Poppy," written by Mrs. Chas. Gilbert, past national president of the American Legion Auxiliary, was handed me by a local Auxiliary member. We think it is worth printing here. I speak for the faltering fingers that fashioned me.

I show the red color of courage that inspired the man who made me. I curl my tiny petals to cup the hope of the man who shaped me. I point my slender stamens upward to the blue sky of heaven. The American Legion Auxiliary sends on its way the material that forms me.

The crippled and awkward hands of the veteran in the hospital assemble me. They twist and they turn and they crimp and they press. They label me and count me with others in bunches.

I am only a little red crepe paper poppy. But I earn money for the veteran who made me.

I earn money for the little children of veterans who cry for help. I earn money to build strength and spirit for the disabled and suffering veterans.

I am powerful, though only a red crepe paper poppy. Sometimes the fingers are stiff, I inspire them to limber; Sometimes the hands are awkward, I impel them to exercise. Sometimes the heart is sad, I give it great hope; Sometimes the spirit is saddened, I fill it with courage.

A flower without a soul; only a little red crepe paper poppy. I say I am proud that, without life, I inspire.

I am happy that with blood red petals I give courage. I am satisfied that to shape me, I gave encouragement.

I am humble that by so small an instrument such great good is accomplished. In memory of Flanders Field I have lived for years.

Now I serve in memory of Dunkirk and Belgium, Bizerte and Italy. The Aleutians, Aschen, Bataan and Tarawa.

No birthdays today, but Wednesday Mrs. A. F. Taylor is listed on the Band Boosters' Community Birthday Calendar.

You know, every group of business and professional men are beginning to have their associations and their conventions. And they are, in most part, a great thing.

We got to talking to J. C. Poe, of Poe Floral, the other day about the First Annual Convention of the West Texas - New Mexico Florist Association. The meet was held in Amarillo in the latter part of October.

Seems that florists of the two states really had a time. They fixed up numerous exhibits of cut flowers, plants and floral displays. Poe showed us several pictures of some of the displays. There was one which really impressed him. It has more mums in it than all of those given by high school boys to their dates last year — or so it looked. Poe told us about one visitor from the Union of South Africa. Seems they have florists

New Social Security Act Is Outlined

Many farmers in and around Eastland have begun to show a keen interest in the new social security law as it will affect them in 1955 and later. R. R. Tuley Jr., district manager of the Abilene office of the Social Security Administration said today.

"In visits to Eastland County, representatives of the Abilene office are having numerous questions and inquiries from self-employed farm operators about what they need to do now and later, and what it will mean to them and to their families in the way of future retirement of survivor monthly benefit checks," Tuley stated.

"In general," he reports, "self-employed farm, ranch and cotton-gin operators, who earn as much as $400 net profit in 1955 and in 1956 will become fully insured in April, 1956. Those then 65 years of age or older, or survivors of those who die insured after that date will be due monthly checks subject to the retirement or earnings test contained in the '54 Amendments."

"Farm employees who are paid as much as $100 by one employer in 1955 or any later calendar year will also begin to earn social security rights. The test of being insured depends on what we call 'quarters of coverage.' A farm employee gets one such 'quarter of coverage' for each $100 in taxable wages, up to four in each year. The self-employed person receives his farm 'quarters of coverage' for each year that he reports as much as $400 in net profit. No one is insured until he has at least 6 quarters of coverage, and the requirement rises through the future years to a maximum need for 40 such credits."

To help local area farm families learn full details about how the 1954 amendments to the S-S act effect them, a booklet, "Facts for Farm Families," has been prepared. It may be secured free by writing and requesting it. The address is 308 Post Office Building, Abilene. Include your name and address.

Home Demonstration Agents Busy During October, Report Reveals

By Minnie Mae Billingsley
The different meetings, office calls, telephone calls, home visits, reports, and office work have left both the assistant and the county home demonstration agent with very little free time.

During October, the county home demonstration agent, Minnie Mae Billingsley, met with the nine home demonstration clubs in the county to present a demonstration on "Floor Coverings." The demonstration was presented in the form of an illustrated lecture by using samples of floor coverings and pictures for illustrations.

Twelve girl 4-H Clubs have been organized in the county for 1954-55. The agent acted as leader

Former Ranger Girl Fatally Injured Friday

Barbara Elizabeth McMinn, age 15, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. D. McMinn of Ranger, was fatally injured last Friday, in Carlsbad, New Mexico, when thrown from a car fender.

Miss McMinn was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. McMinn of Carlsbad, formerly of Ranger. She was born Feb. 26, 1939 in Long Island, New York and moved from Ranger approximately six years ago.

She is survived by her grandparents; her parents, a sister, Margaret and two brothers, Robert and Carl, of Carlsbad. Funeral services were held at 3 p.m. Sunday in Carlsbad and the body was brought to Ranger Monday. Brief services were held at 2:30 this afternoon at the home of the grandparents. Rev. Ralph Perkins, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Ranger officiated.

Interment was in the Evergreen Cemetery, with Killingsworth Funeral Home in charge. Pallbearers were Richard Spindle, Travis Buchanan, Jerry Bradford, Gene Bagwell, Jerry Cantrell and Paul Hinds.

The Vets are occupying their hands and minds during their long hours in the hospital fashioning the poppies which Eastlanders will proudly don this Saturday.

Mrs. S. F. Owen, president of the Eastland American Legion Auxiliary Unit, which will be in charge of poppy sales here, today named Mrs. C. W. Howell as chairman of the sale. Mrs. Howell said Auxiliary members will be on the streets all day Saturday offering the public a chance to purchase their poppies.

The poppy was adopted as the American Legion official flower in its National convention in 1920. The Auxiliary adopted it as its official flower at its first National convention in 1921. It is a symbol of those who died on the battlefields during World War I, inspired by their one touch of beauty on Flanders' Field in France. Over the period of years, with the intervening international conflicts, it has become a memorial to all of those who have died in battle under the Stars and Stripes.

The success of the Auxiliary poppy program means occupational therapy for veterans such as

White's Speech To Highlight Meeting

Commissioner of Agriculture, John C. White, will discuss the controversial problem of providing an adequate and workable program of providing relief to drought stricken farmers and ranchers in the Eastland High School Auditorium at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 9. White has been in close contact with the program of 1953 as it developed in Washington and was in charge of the "Hay" program at the same time.

The occasion will be the annual meeting of the Central Texas Livestock Growers Association. He has recently returned from the National Capital where plans were discussed for a more suitable relief program during the immediate emergency. The present hay program will come in for much discussion.

This meeting is another of the public services offered by this Association to all livestock raisers. The meeting is strictly educational and everyone interested in livestock is invited to attend, a spokesman said.

How to make more money from ranching is a current subject discussed wherever and whenever ranchers meet. This problem will be discussed by Walter Pfleger, President, Texas Sheep & Goat Raisers Association. Mr. Pfleger is owner-operator of extensive farming and ranching interests in West Texas. He has been very successful and is well versed with the problem of farming and ranching during periods of drought and declining prices. It is a problem many livestock raisers will be anxious to hear discussed.

Both agents join in saying, "We feel that by helping others, we are also helping ourselves. Each month we hope that our record will be at least this good, and we are striving to make it even better. Visitors are always welcome in our office. We hope that you will feel free to call upon us at any time, and if you have problems we will certainly try to help you find the solution."

In addition to these things 31 homes have been visited in the county, 30 people have been helped through office calls, 25 have been helped by telephone, 75 bulletins have been distributed, and approximately 500 letters have been written. Approximately 677 people were contacted through club meetings.

Mrs. Simer Is Buried Sunday In Eastland

Funeral services for Mrs. Ida Sidney Simer of Olden were held Sunday afternoon at the Eastland Church of Christ with Leslie R. Mickey, minister of the Vernon Church of Christ in charge of services.

A quartet from Abilene Christian College sang the hymns, which were selected by the family as favorite songs of Mrs. Simer. Mrs. Simer passed away Thursday night in Ysleta at the residence of her daughter, Miss Clara Simer. She had been ill since 1951 when she suffered a stroke July 3. She never fully recovered from the illness, although she was fully conscious and able to be carried to the car for pleasure trips. She spent her summers in Olden and her winters in Ysleta. Mrs. Simer was critically ill for a month.

Mrs. Simer was born in Indian Gap, Comanche County March 19, 1878. She was the oldest daughter of William Jasper Kelly and Harriat Dial Kelly. She spent most of her life in Erath and Eastland counties.

She married George W. Simer in 1897 near Thurber. Mr. Simer died in 1933. Mrs. Simer had long been a member and active worker in the Church of Christ.

Survivors include three daughters, Clara B. Simer of Ysleta, Laura Vernon Simer of Wichita Falls and Mrs. McKinley Howell of Plainview.

Pallbearers were longtime friends of the family and included M. S. Holt, E. A. White, Marvin Johnson, John Hart, John Floyd Yielding and Oscar Norwood.

Burial was in Eastland Cemetery with Hamner Funeral Home in charge.

AMENDMENTS MAIN ISSUE IN ELECTION

Eastland County voters apparently have that apathy that President Eisenhower spoke of in a pre-election speech, for they were turning out in small numbers to vote in the November general election this morning.

The main issue centered around 11 proposed constitutional amendments. There is only token Republican opposition on the ballot, it appears.

One write-in campaign is being staged. That attempt was made by Tom High, who seeks to win the constable's race, from Porter Woods, who was uncontested during the Democratic primary. High ran several newspaper ads and made a spirited bid. Woods has made no open race.

Brother Of Two Eastland Women Buried

GUNSIGHT (TNS) — William Calhoun Ledbetter, a member of the Eastland Masonic Lodge for the past 37 years, was laid to rest in the Gunsight Cemetery Sunday at the age of 93 years, two months and nine days.

Mr. Ledbetter died at his residence near the Wayland community after a long illness Sunday.

Born Aug. 19, 1861 in Lampasas County, he moved to Stephens County at the age of 18, where he was a resident ever since. In 1889 he married Martha Jane Johnson. He was a Methodist all of his life and held a 50 year pen from the Eastland Masonic lodge. His wife preceded him in death in 1904.

Rev. Bascom Morton officiated at the Sunday services.

Survivors include four daughters, Mrs. W. F. Daniels of Graham, Mrs. Morris Parks of Matador, Mrs. Ralph Moore of Flat Rock, Ill., and Mrs. R. L. Harvey of Odessa; two sons, R. F. of Breckenridge and W. R. of Odessa; three sisters, Mrs. Mattie Baggett of Eastland, Mrs. Millie Williams of Eastland and Mrs. Fannie Boles of Gunsight; one brother, T. B. Ledbetter of Breckenridge; eight grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

Mr. Clardy was born in Upshur County and lived in Ranger where he operated a dry cleaning plant for 25 years prior to moving to Weatherford in 1943. He also operated a dry cleaning plant there.

Mr. Clardy is survived by his wife of Weatherford.

Those attending the funeral from Ranger were: Mrs. W. W. Mitchell, Mrs. Alex. Roberts, Mrs. O. R. Ervin, Mrs. Ernest Ingram, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Dennis and Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Anderson.

Eastland Lions 'Cleaning Up'

If Eastland homes aren't clean after today, it's no fault of Eastland Lions.

The Lions staged a three hour door-to-door selling campaign this morning. They were selling brooms, mops and a collection of assorted other articles. Proceeds from the sale will go to the Lions' Crippled Children's Camp and to the Lighthouse of the Blind.

Dog Poisoning Starts Again In Eastland

Dog owners were given the "poison warning" again over the week-end in Eastland following the death of at least a half dozen of "man's best friends."

All of the poison cases reported were in the Chastain Addition. Strychnine, a deadly poison, was believed to have been the cause of all deaths. Pet owners were warned to pen up their animals and be on the watchout for small amounts of strychnine or phosphorus in meat or grease.

Last spring, dog owners all over the community cooperated in having their animals vaccinated and licensed after a large number were poisoned. Poisoning stopped then, but has apparently started up once more.

Under Article 1373 it is a misdemeanor to willfully poison any dog of another, with intent to injure the owner. A fine of not more than $200 is prescribed by law.

WIND EROSION MOST ACTIVE DEPLETER OF SOIL FERTILITY IN ALL AREAS OF STATE

(Editor's Note: This is the last of a series of articles prepared by the Eastland County Soil Conservation office pertaining to wind erosion.)

Wind erosion is perhaps most active in arid and semiarid regions where the land surface is often dry and the protective vegetation is sparse or absent.

The land of the High Plains region originally was occupied by vegetation that over the centuries had proved best equipped to thrive under each particular soil and climatic condition. Under natural conditions soil was less exposed to wind even during prolonged droughts because the residues of the season's growth remained as a protective covering until rains, however long delayed, came to stimulate new growth.

Today wind erosion is the most active and potent depleter of soil fertility on most of the Great Plains, as well as in other areas.

Any field devoid of a covering of vegetative matter may blow if the soil is finely pulverized or tightly and smoothly crusted.

It takes time to get an entire farm under a desirable cropping system after it has been damaged by wind erosion. Some areas of the farm may require special treatment before they can be included in a regular cropping system.

The maintenance of an adequate vegetative cover should be the primary goal of all wind erosion control efforts. Lack of protective cover is the cause of wind erosion. The best remedy is to treat the cause. Mechanically measures are temporary and should be used only in emergency to treat the effects of blowing. The following emergency measures have been successfully used in the Southern Great Plains and elsewhere.

Emergency tillage should start immediately when fields show indications that they will blow severely.

On fine textured soils (hardlands) the land may be listed or chiselled in strips the width of whatever sized implement is used and one to five rods apart. The idea is to bring up cloddy material to make a rough surface.

Where some moisture is received on loose ashy soil, small shovels may be used to throw up a moist ribbon which will harden into a clod upon drying.

Where there is insufficient cover on sandy land, small furrows spaced five to six feet apart crosswise to the prevailing wind may be effective for a short period of time. If a second operation is necessary, cultivate crosswise to give a checkerboard effect.

Listing of sandy land may be effective for a short time after it is performed. The first listing should be shallow. Successive listings as necessary should be performed. The first listing should be shallow. Successive listings as necessary should be performed.

For sandy "blow-out" spots, knolls or small sand fields that cannot be treated with a tillage implement a snow fence may be placed in position to the windward side running at right angles to the prevailing winds. If "blow-out" spots are large, two or more fences may be used, placing them not more than 40 feet apart.

A mulch of straw, hay, stalks or manure will often hold some spots. It may be necessary to (Continued on Page Five)

Dogies Entertain Cisco In Final Game of Year

Eastland's Junior High School Dogies wrap up their regular 1954 gridiron season tonight when they entertain the Cisco Juniors at Maverick Stadium in a Little Oil Belt Conference game. Invitations sent the honorees to the west call for kickoff time at 7:30 p.m.

It will be a fight for second place in the conference. Both teams have suffered only single losses — both falling before powerful Breckenridge by close scores. Breck beat Eastland 27-18 and downed Cisco 13-0. That would make Eastland a four point favorite if you considered only that game, but there are other things that need to be taken in mind.

For instance, the big weight advantage the visitors will have may loom hard against Coach Jimmy Hughes' charges. The Dogies have had to go to the air in their last two starts after being unable to penetrate their opponents defense against a running game. Their air attack has done well for them, however.

As for the Dogies' starting line up, it looks like Clinton Ray (Button) Humphreys will be the man under in Coach Hughes' T-formation, with Larry Hollis and Mike Manning at halves and Billy Don Turner at full.

Backs who will probably see action other than those already listed include Jerry Robinson, Kenneth Tucker, Phillip Lewis and Joe Martin. All saw action against Dublin and Lewis made two long touchdown jaunts to tie for scoring honors.

Reserve linemen include Martin Day, John Powell, Don Hull, Johnnie Rodriguez, Bill McCleskey, Don Hazard and Stanley Reed. Day was one of the big guns in the Dogie defense last week.

Your New Car Upholstery Can Be Cleaned Easily

By Mary Lou Chapman

If Junior and his muddy-pawed puppy race through the car and Junior drops his melting chocolate bar on the seat as he goes, don't fret too much about it. There are methods to clean both mud and chocolate off the upholstery.

The most important point to remember is to clean spots and stains as soon as they occur. Don't let them set, or they'll be harder to remove.

Here is some advice on the care of your automobile interior, and some tips on stain removal. Just like your home, your car interior should have regular house cleanings. You'll need a good whisk broom, plenty of warm water, neutral (non-alkaline) soapsuds and the fabric cleaner recommended by your car dealer.

BRUSH THOROUGHLY

Fabrics should first be brushed thoroughly to remove embedded dirt and dust. Nylon, leather and synthetic leather upholstery can be sponged off with semi-dry suds made from a pure soap. Be careful not to saturate the seat with too much water. Next rub gently with a damp cloth (moistened with clear water) and finish with a clean, dry cloth.

For upholstery of wool, broadcloth or rayon composition, your dealer's dry cleaning fluid should be used. This usually contains carbon tetrachloride, and evaporates rapidly. Do not pour the fluid on the seat, but dampen a cloth with it and use a slight stroking motion on the fabric. Carpets can be cleaned with the same fluid.

OTHER STAINS
Candy, fruit, ice-cream or beverage stains can usually be removed with very hot water. Don't be too liberal with the hot water, however. It should only be used directly on the stained area to loosen it up. Follow with fabric cleaner.

On chocolate stains use lukewarm water. Follow with cleaner. Blood or nausea should be sponged as quickly as possible with clear cold water, followed by a washing with lukewarm water. Rinse with cold water. Lipstick, chewing gum, tar, grease and oil can best be removed with fabric cleaner or spot remover, using a dull knife first to scrape off excess quantities.

(Fashion writer, artist, and TV personality, Miss Chapman is a native of Detroit and has spent the last several years working with automobile stylists, designers and engineers at Chrysler Corporation.)

For The Old And Young

MOSLAH TEMPLE VARIETY SHOW DUE TONIGHT AT AUDITORIUM

Tonight is the big night! Tonight the Cross Timber Shrine Club will stage the Moslah Temple Variety Show at the Ranger High School Auditorium at 8:00 o'clock. It is a show designed to entertain the old folks as well as the young from the beginning to the end.

Some of the top stage, radio and TV stars from all over the nation have been assembled to bring to the people of Ranger and surrounding communities a program that will probably be the top show of the year — and it doesn't cost a cent.

The entire group, from the Hancock - Hutcheson dancing girls and down to Little Janet McEntire, the child wonder acrobat, are professionals at the game, insuring an entertaining evening for the audience.

Officials of the Moslah Temple are unanimous in agreeing that this is probably the most deluxe and elaborate show possible.

Other members of this stellar cast include Nan Roy, blonde, vivacious and a singer of renown; Bill Wright and his ukulele; Rex, the performing Chihuahua Dog; Bob Bohn, Accordionist of WBAP-TV fame; Cherry Maddux, Miss Magic of the Variety Show; and Joe Felix, Boogie-woogie.

Also accompanying the group, will be a stage orchestra composed of all professional musicians and under the leadership of Ken Vaughan, conductor. The rendition of "South Rampart Street Parade" by this famous band and the fine trumpet solos by Ken Vaughan, is in itself a great treat for music lovers of the Blues.

High and Handsome Party Parfaits

Whatever the main dish, your autumn party will end on a high note if the dessert is eye-catching as well as delicious. Such a dessert is Chocolate Tapioca Parfait. Conveniently too, the ingredients—fluffy tapioca pudding and chocolate sauce—may be prepared the day before. At serving time they are placed in alternate layers in parfait glasses.

Chocolate Tapioca Parfait
1 egg white
2 tablespoons sugar
1 egg yolk
2 cups milk
2 or 3 tablespoons sugar
Beat egg white until foamy throughout; add 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 tablespoon at a time, and continue beating with rotary egg beater until mixture will stand in soft peaks. Set aside.
Mix egg yolk with small amount of the milk in saucepan. Add 2 or 3 tablespoons sugar, salt, tapioca and remaining milk. Place over medium heat. Cook until mixture comes to a boil, stirring constantly.—this takes 5 to 8 minutes.
Pour small amount of hot mixture gradually on beaten egg white, blending well. Then quickly add the remaining mixture, stirring constantly. (The hotter the tapioca and the faster it is blended in, the thicker and fluffier the pudding will be.) Add vanilla. Cool, stirring once after 15 to 20 minutes. Chill.
Tip: Parfait glasses and fill with alternate layers of pudding and chocolate sauce. Makes 4 or 5 servings.
Regal Chocolate Sauce. Combine 2 squares unsweetened chocolate and 6 tablespoons water in saucepan and place over low heat, stirring until blended. Add 1/2 cup sugar and dash of salt. Cook until sugar is dissolved and mixture is very slightly thickened, stirring constantly. Add 3 tablespoons butter and 1/4 teaspoon vanilla. Blend. Makes about 1 cup sauce.

Guests here Sunday in the home of Mrs. Etta Harlow and her mother, Mrs. W. T. Rutherford were Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Brummett of Denton, Mrs. J. H. Ellis, Mrs. R. L. Beauville—One of Four Chevrolet Station Wagons

Steadily increasing popularity of the station wagon has prompted Chevrolet to offer four bodies of this type in its 1955 line. Models are both two- and four-door and styled with the "lower, longer look" that promises to create a new standard of automotive beauty. The Chevrolet announcement reveals that two-door station wagons will be included in the "One-Fifty" and "Two-Ten" series. Four-door station wagons are listed in the "Two-Ten" and Bel Air series. As with others in the 1955 line, the fleet of station wagons may be powered by six-cylinder engines or the new V8. Pictured above is the 1955 Bel Air Beauville Station Wagon.

Survey Shows American Men Are Not As Healthy As Europeans

NEW YORK, N.Y. — Men beyond middle age in the United States have a generally less favorable health record, as reflected in prevailing mortality, than their contemporaries in the countries of Western Europe and the English-speaking countries elsewhere, according to the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company's statisticians.

A study of 19 countries shows that the United States has one of the best mortality records for children, but that its position becomes less and less favorable with advance in age. At ages 55 to 59 only three of the countries have a higher death rate among males than the United States.

However, at every age period females in this country compared more favorably with those of the other countries than did our males.

Even at ages 55 to 59 American women held a middle position among the countries.

Aside from high death rates from accidents in the United States, it is difficult to explain the poor mortality record among American males at the older ages, according to the statisticians.

One suggested possibility is that the low mortality at the younger ages is due in part to advances in medical care which prolong the life of many persons with physical impairments. Consequently, the proportion of impaired lives surviving to the older ages may be greater in the United States than in other countries, with a corresponding unfavorable influence upon mortality.

"There may also be other and even more important factors at work," the statisticians comment. "It may well be that our poor international standing at the older ages is related to the high proportion of overweight people in our population."

During the 20-year period from 1930 to 1950, all of the countries under study experienced reductions in mortality. The largest declines — approximately one third — were recorded in France and Italy, both of which had relatively high death rates around 1930; and the smallest reductions — about one eighth — occurred in Australia and New Zealand, countries with traditionally low mortality.

Sweden's Best Beefballs Will Absolutely Melt In Your Mouth

The secret of these "melt in your mouth" beefballs is the small amount of milk and bread added to the meat. Then there's onion and green pepper to do wonders for the flavor. Cooking the beefballs nice and brown develops lots of real good beef flavor.

This is the dish you can easily serve with a flourish because the beefballs are placed on a snowy white bed of tender rice into which the yellow cheese is beginning to ooze. Piquant paprika is dashed over the cheese before the beefballs are arranged to best advantage. You'll be proud of this handsome main dish. Oh yes, there's plenty of brown gravy for everyone!

Fruit Cup
SWEDISH BEEFBALLS
Vegetable Salad Bowl
Parker House Rolls
Lemon Custard Ice Cream

INGREDIENTS:
2 cups water
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup uncooked white rice
3 slices fresh bread
1-2 cup milk
1 pound ground beef
2 teaspoons grated onion
2 tablespoons grated green pepper
1 teaspoon salt
1-8 teaspoon black pepper
1-4 (1-2 stick) butter or margarine
2 tablespoons flour
1 1-2 cups water
1-2 teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper
1 cup finely grated American cheese
(chill before grating)
1 teaspoon paprika

Method: Put the water, salt and rice in a 2 - quart saucepan. Bring to a vigorous boil. Turn the heat as low as possible. Cover and leave over this heat 14 minutes. Turn the heat off. Leave lid on 10 minutes, while the rice is cooking, cut or tear the bread into small pieces. Pour the milk over the bread. Add the ground beef, onion, green pepper, salt and pepper. Mix well. Form into 12 beefballs approximately 1 1-2 in diameter. Melt the butter or margarine in a skillet. Add the beefballs and cook slowly until browned on all sides and done inside.

Remove the beefballs from the skillet. Keep hot by placing them on a pan in a warm oven. Turn the heat under the skillet very low. Put all the flour in the skillet. Gradually blend the fat into the flour until the mixture is smooth. Turn the heat up and cook until the mixture browns. Slowly stir the water into the fat and flour mixture. Blend until smooth. Add the salt and pepper. Cook until mixture thickens slightly.

Pour the hot rice on a platter. Sprinkle the cheese and paprika over the rice. Arrange the beefballs over the rice and pour some of the gravy over the beefballs. Serve the rest of the gravy in a separate dish. This recipe makes 6 generous servings.

anchor the vegetal matter by going over it with a suitable implement such as a weighted single disk with the disks set straight.

After emergency treatment when sufficient moisture is available at the proper season of the year cover should be established as quickly as possible. Sorghum or sudan grass are suitable for this purpose. If the crop is harvested it should be cut high leaving a good stubble for the control of wind erosion next year. Tillage should not be performed until time to plant the next crop.

Emergency tillage should be used only on soils which have insufficient cover to prevent blowing. It should be done in such a manner that any existing stubble will not be destroyed as long as it has any effectiveness.

WILDLIFE HEAD SAYS HUNTERS KNOWLEDGE OF AMMO VITAL

College Station, Oct. (SpI) - How much do you know about the shell you put into your shotgun? Can you use it efficiently?

At least a little knowledge of ammunition and its effect is essential to good game management, according to Dr. W. B. Davis, head of the Department of Wildlife Management, at Texas A. and M. College.

"The average sportsman never sees the shot in his shotgun shell. Nor does he give them much thought as long as they do the job for which they are intended," Dr. Davis says.

"Little does he realize that each of the tiny pellets that go whizzing down the bore of his gun every time he pulls the trigger is a precision instrument in itself, manufactured under the most advanced techniques and with great care."

More than thirty separate operations are required in converting a hunk of carefully inspected, tempered lead into perfectly round pellets designed for killing.

During this process the molten lead flows into perforated shot pans with holes of the proper size for the shot being produced. Drippings from these holes plummet nine stories in free fall, and land in a tank of water.

Then they inspect themselves by rolling down glass-topped inclines and leaping a gap to another incline. Those not perfectly round and of the right weight cannot leap the gap, and so go back for re-processing.

However, not even the best of shot-gun loads can do the job without help from the hunter, Dr. Davis says.

"Know your gun and the proper shot for the type of game you are hunting," he warns. "Shooting at game beyond your range, or using shot too small to do the job is a waste of ammunition and of wild life. Even at great range, one or two pellets may hit your target; not enough to knock it down immediately, but still to kill it later, where you will not recover it. The too-small shot has roughly the same effect, he says.

On the other hand, if you shoot when your target is too close, or when your shotgun consists of too-large pellets for the game, only an edge-shot can save you something of that game. A full load will mutilate it badly.

"So know your game, your gun and your ammunition," Dr. Davis says. "Remember that game laws exist for your own good. Shoot only what you can use, and good hunting!"

NEWS FROM CHEANEY

Mrs. Bill Tucker

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Ferrell entertained with a covered dish luncheon Thursday, Oct. 28 in their home, honoring Mrs. Emma Green on her 85th birthday. Mrs. Green is an aunt of Mrs. Ferrell, and makes her home with Mr. and Mrs. John Walton near Cheaney. A host of friends called during the lunch hour and in the afternoon, wishing her many more happy years.

Red Cross First Aid instructor, A. L. Sinder of Cisco, demonstrated artificial respiration to Cheaney Home Demonstration club members and their husbands on Wednesday night, Oct. 2 at their regular meeting in the Gene Ferrell home. Mr. Sinder and showed a mechanical inhalator which is always in readiness for use by the Cisco Fire Department.

When we think of persons who have been resuscitated from drowning, shock or overdose of sedatives, even if it takes from 1 to 8 hours, by using artificial respiration, the importance of such a method can be readily seen. It should be a must in home and community training. Couples attending the Wednesday night demonstration were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Reid, Mr. and Mrs. Thelbert Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Tucker and the Ferrells.

Mr. and Mrs. John Love and Loresta were in Stephenville Wednesday night for the Centennial program.

Mrs. Guy Stoker, of Snyder, came to Ranger on Friday where she joined Mrs. Bill Tucker, boarding the bus for Washington, D. C. where they will attend the National Home Demonstration Council meeting Oct. 31 through Nov. 4.

More than an inch of rain was registered here in our gauge and small grain, which has been planted, is thriving. Possibly the rain will damage cotton to some extent, but peanut harvesting will be delayed for a few days. Just hope no frost falls for awhile yet.
