Modern Hotel To Be Erected In Perryton Soon Junior College Election Has Been Called For Saturday, February 9th

INFORMAL ELECTION IS CALLED BY TRUSTEES TO DECIDE MATTER

JUNIOR COLLEGE PROPOSITION WILL BE EXPLAINED AT MEETING OF PARENT TEACHERS ASSOCIATION, MONDAY, FEBRUARY 4

At a called meeting of the board of trustees of the Perryton Independent School district, Wednesday, it was decided to call an informal election to be held at five voting places in the district to ascertain the sentiment of the people of the district toward the junior college proposal.

The board, although given the power to arbitrarily establish and support the college by taxation, do not wish to go contrary to the wishes of the real estate property tax payers of the district and they have therefore called the election. The motion follows: "It is moved by L. R. Conner that the trustees of the Perryton Independent School district prepare and submit to the real estate owners who are voters of Perryton Independent School district, a proposition of the junior college, for their approval or rejection on February 9, 1929. Motion carried."

The voting places that were decided upon by the trustees and the election judges follow:

Perryton.....Judge Geo. M. Perry
Farnsworth.....E. W. Rogers
Lone Tree.....D. D. Taliaferro
New Hope.....A. A. Johnson
Waka.....P. C. Ashley

The election judges will have authority to appoint two or more clerks as they think will be needed.

Junior College Explained

At a meeting of all who are interested in connection with the Parent-Teachers association program, which is being given exclusively by men, Supt. W. B. Irvin has been asked to go into detail and explain the junior college proposition fully. Everyone who is interested is urged to attend. POWER FARMING VERY POPULAR

SERVICE STORE HOLDS BIG ENTERTAINMENT, JANUARY 29, FOR FARNSWORTH COMMUNITY

Power farming is becoming so popular that the Service Store, McCormick-Deering dealer at Farnsworth, is giving a power farming entertainment on Tuesday, January 29. According to B. L. Rogers, manager of the Service Store, if the event this year is as well attended as the entertainment was last year, he will feel well repaid for the trouble and expense he has gone to.

This is a real opportunity for every progressive farmer, who is interested in increased profits, to acquaint himself with the methods other farmers are finding to save time, and eliminate much of the hard work. This entertainment is for the entire family because the housewife, as well as any one else, is desirous of reducing farm drudgery.

Mr. Rogers of the Service Store, Farnsworth, has worked out a very interesting program for the day, which includes, in addition to instructive talks on tractors, several reels of interesting and entertaining motion pictures. Instructive talks of vital interest to the farmers of this community will be given during the afternoon. At noon a free lunch will be served; thus it is evident that the Service Store has done all in its power to make this a day well worth spending in Farnsworth.

STATE HIGHWAY MAY BE PAVED

OCHILTREE COUNTY CITIZENS ARE INTERESTED IN PAYING OF MAIN HIGHWAYS AT ONCE

One of the main topics of conversation among citizens of Ochiltree County today is the question of calling a county wide bond issue for the issuance of bonds to pave State Highway No. 4 through the county and the hard surfacing of the road from Booker to Perryton and on west to the county line paralleling the Santa Fe railroad.

There is a strong possibility that this could be done and that it would not cost the tax payers of the county one cent. In the first place, the county would have to pay but one-third of the cost of paving the state highway for the other two-thirds would be provided by the state and federal governments.

There is a state wide movement for the issuance of over $300,000,000 worth of state highway bonds for the purpose of paving the entire state highway system. One of the provisions of this bond issue will be that all counties that have spent money for the paving of state highways, will be reimbursed from the proceeds of this bond issue. It is estimated that $50,000,000 will be required for this purpose.

If the state wide bond issue carries, the many counties that have voted road bonds for paving state roads, will be paid back every dollar that has been expended. Some say that the thing to do is to wait until the state wide bond issue is voted and then we will get our roads paved. When that time comes, there will be one of the grandest scrambles ever known to get state highways paved and new designations made. The counties that are in on the ground floor will get their money back. The others will have to take their turn for it is expected to expend this bond issue over a ten year period of paving projects.

Those advocating the state road bond issue plan to retard the bonds by a straight gasoline tax of four or five cents per gallon. This is the plan that has been adopted and proven to be the only practical solution to the paving problem by those state in the union that are really building roads. Texas does not happen to be one of these said states for in the matter of highway building, it ranks fortieth. This is a matter for serious thought and consideration.

Both the regular city and school elections will come in April. Then there is the city paving bond issue and the possibility of the county wide road paving bond issue. Pay your poll tax so that you will have a voice in these elections. Remember that the dead line is January 31.

LEGION ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

ATTORNEY JACK ALLEN HEADS WORLD WAR VETERANS AS COMMANDER OF THE LOCAL POST

A large number of World War Veterans were present at the regular meeting of the Pierce Johnson post of the American Legion at the city hall on last Monday evening. Officers to serve during 1929 were chosen at this meeting. Attorney Jack Allen, who has served as vice-commander since the Perryton post was re-organized last spring, was elected Post Commander. Mr. Allen is an active Legion worker.

Other officers selected were: Guy R. Sheets, vice-commander; Allen King, post adjutant; E. M. Padgett, sergeant-at-arms; Dr. John Fewkes, chaplain; C. B. Rogers, finance officer; Van W. Stewart, historian. Standing committees will be appointed by Commander Allen at once.

The local Legion post is planning on an extensive program for 1929. One of objectives for 1929 is the acquiring or building of a permanent home for the Legion in Perryton. An intensive drive for new members is going to be made. It is estimated that there are 200 eligible members in the jurisdiction of the Perryton post and less than 20 per cent of them are enrolled.

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Ranson and daughter, Edna, spent the week-end visiting with relatives at Perryton and Spearman—Higgins News.

PANHANDLE LUMBER CO. AGREE TO BUILD $90,000.00 HOTEL HERE

CONSTRUCTION WORK WILL START AT ONCE SO THAT HOTEL CAN BE IN OPERATION BY JUNE 15TH; WILL HAVE FORTY ROOMS

Perryton's long cherished dream of a modern hotel building is about to be realized for ground will be broken within the next two weeks on a hostelry which will be the equal of any in this section of the country. An agreement was reached on Tuesday evening at a meeting of the citizens with John L. North, Amarillo, representing the Panhandle Lumber Co., whereby the Panhandle Lumber Co. will build a modern hotel costing between $85,000 and $90,000 and having not less than thirty-five bed rooms.

Masons Employ Architect
Berry & Hatch of Amarillo Will Prepare Plans and Specifications for New Hall

Berry & Hatch, architects of Amarillo, have been employed by the Perryton Masonic lodge to prepare plans and specifications for the new Masonic Temple, which will be built at once. The tentative plans for the new hall call for a two story, fifty by eighty building, the lower floor to be used for rental property and second floor by the lodge with the exception of three two room office suites which will be leased.

The firm of Berry & Hatch have been retained as architects for the new Perryton hotel building. J. C. Berry, senior member of the firm is no stranger to Perryton people. He is associated with M. C. Parker at the time the original Perryton high school was erected. Berry & Parker were the architects for this building, but Mr. Berry disposed of his interest in the firm to Mr. Rittenberry before the job was completed, going to California, where he had a number of large structure contracted for.

CLYDE COFER TO OPEN SHOP

DESIGNS MANAGERSHIP OF PANHANDLE LUMBER CO. WILL OPERATE HIS MACHINE SHOP

Clyde Cofer, who has been manager of the Panhandle Lumber Co. for the past few years, has resigned his position with the lumber company and will take charge of his machine shop located in this city. Mr. Cofer, accompanied by G. I. Horne, left Wednesday for Wichita, Kansas where he will purchase a large amount of new modern machine shop equipment.

Workmen started Wednesday on the building of an addition on the south side of the Cofer Machine Shop building, extending it to the property line. The entire building will be stuccoed on the exterior and much remodeling will be done on the inside. With the addition of the new equipment, the Cofer shop will be able to do any kind of a machine shop job, regardless of the size. Mr. Cofer states that it will not be necessary to take any work of this nature out of the city when his new shop gets in operation. D. R. McBride, who has been managing this shop in the past, will continue with Mr. Cofer.

A manager to succeed Mr. Cofer at the Panhandle Lumber Co., has not been selected and Fred W. Hood, district manager for the Panhandle yards, who makes his headquarters in Perryton, stated that he will look after the local yard until a new manager is appointed.

Tom Glasgow of California is visiting in the homes of his brothers, W. M. and O. T. Glasgow, and with other relatives and friends in this county.

Mr. and Mrs. Van W. Stewart and Mr. and Mrs. Horace Lackey were attending to business and visiting with relatives in Amarillo Sunday and Monday.

As a bonus for building this hotel, the citizens and business men of Perryton have agreed to give to the builders the sum of $7,500.00, which is the approximate cost of the 75 x 140 site required for the building. This bonus money has been partly raised by public subscription but not all. There are many yet to be seen. Every business man and every citizen should come in for their part. The building of such a structure will benefit every business, raise the valuation of every business lot and, for that matter, of every residence lot in Perryton. When the committee calls on you, kick right in and do your part.

J. C. Berry of the firm of Berry & Hatch, Amarillo architects, was with Mr. North and had a preliminary sketch of the hotel that the Panhandle will build. The building will have a seventy-five foot frontage on Main Street and will run the full depth of the lots, one hundred and forty feet. On the first floor will be located two large store rooms in the front with a corridor running between to the lobby which will be located about the middle of the building. A large lobby is provided for, also a coffee shop, dining room and kitchen. There are also two smaller lease rooms suitable for barber shops or offices.

The building will be three story, the second and third floors being given over exclusively to guest rooms. The plans that Mr. North had called for a total of forty-two rooms, about two-thirds having baths. Mr. North agreed that the hotel would have not less than thirty-five guest rooms. The second and third floors will not extend the full depth of the building leaving about fifty feet in the rear which could be utilized for the building of additional bed rooms as needed.

The building will be modern in every way. In the basement will be the steam heating plant with ample room for storage for both the hotel and tenants of the lease business rooms. The exterior of the building will be of Italian Renaissance design with a light buff brick facing trimmed with ornamental cut stone and red roof tile on the overhanging cornice.

Mr. North stated that his company expected to start work at once so that the hotel would be completed and ready for operation by June 15 so that the harvest business could be accommodated. The exact location has not been decided upon. While here, Mr. North secured options of three different sites and the location will be settled on when Mr. North and other Panhandle officials come to Perryton on next Monday to complete all details. A committee consisting of W. B. LaMaster, Geo. M. Perry, Chas. W. Callaway, B. B. Kent and Van W. Stewart was appointed to represent the Perryton citizens in the negotiations with the hotel builders. Mr. North stated that they would lease the hotel to some reliable operator and that they had already had a number of applications from experienced hotel men who were very anxious to locate in Perryton.

The securing of this modern hotel for Perryton is the result of years of hard work on the part of Perryton.

WASTED VALUES.
CHURCHES SHOULD BE BIG.
LIONS AND SHEEP.
SWEARING OFF.

The greatest of all waste goes on inside the human brain, of which 999 one-thousandths remain idle and unused, even in well-managed brains millions of brains do work at all, only remember and repeat, never create.

But that will change. Consider what ants and other insects accomplish, having been here many million years ahead of us. We are only 12,000 years from the late Stone Age, which is the most encouraging fact in history. Give men ten to fifty million more years, with deepening convolutions and in hereditary knowledge and see what they will do.

A mud wasp, as Fabre shows, is born knowing how to perform a most delicate surgical operation, difficult for a skilled man. New born human babies, 50,000,000 years hence, will know more of mathematics than Newton knew when he died, more of music than Beethoven and Bach combined.

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., who understands human nature, encourages the building of Dr. Reiser's skyscraper church in New York, says "churches must be big enough to dominate skyscrapers. Material as well as spiritual dominance is needed."

That sound idea inspired builders of the old cathedrals. When the Pope ordered Michelangelo to build St. Peter's in Rome, dominance was the idea as it was in the building of the cathedrals of Cologne, Milan, Notre Dame and others.

To control men you must control their IMAGINATION.

Mussolini has old-fashioned ideas and good ones. The new twenty-lira piece, worth $1, bears an inscription worth many dollars.

"Meglio vivere un giorno da leone, che cento anni da pecora." "It is better to live one day like a lion than one hundred years like a sheep."

It's hard to make a sheep believe it. Like a man half-heartedly swearing off in the morning, the world is trying to give up war. And this country, which never started a war against Europe, is expected to do most of the reforming. It's like asking Moody and Sankey to sign the pledge first, or entreating the few Dr. Straton not to believe in Darwin.

The individual must solve his own problems, with the use of will power. "The heart knoweth his own bitterness." Each of us knows what is wrong with him, and what he ought to do. Few of us do it. Nations know what they ought to do. None of them does it. Europe ought to stop fighting, and can't. We ought to mind our own business, and can't.

TRUE COLORS PICTURED

True color values of the scenic wonderland in and near Zion National Park, Utah, are reproduced in Zane Grey's "The Vanishing Pioneer," the Paramount picture playing at the American theatre Friday and Saturday. This was made possible through the use of panchromatic film when the picture was made.

FEED FOR PROFIT

Different cows have different capacities for converting feed into milk. No hard and fast rules and regulations for successful feeding can be laid down to fit the individual cow. It is only by keeping a careful record of each cow's daily feed and studying the production results that the dairyman can determine which cows in the herd will respond to an increased feed allowance and return a good profit on the additional feed given, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Some cows may have a natural capacity for producing large quantities of milk and may not receive feed enough for maximum production. On the other hand, some cows have a limited capacity for milk production and are liable to be overfed. Study each cow and find the point beyond which any addition to her grain ration becomes unprofitable. Keeping records of production and feed consumed will aid in doing this.

ADJUST THE CREAM SEPARATOR

Great variations in the butterfat content of cream from a separator can be avoided. Although the butterfat content can be regulated within certain limits by adjusting the cream screw or skim-milk screw, various other factors affect the butterfat test of cream, says the Bureau of Dairy Industry of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. A low speed of the separator bowl results in a low test; the machine should be run at the speed recommended by the manufacturer. Another factor is the rate of flow through the bowl, a reduction in the normal rate of flow from the supply tank to the bowl increasing the butterfat test but reducing the volume. The temperature of the milk when run through the separator is a factor. Cold milk flows through the machine more slowly than warm milk and results in a smaller volume of higher testing cream. Finally high testing milk produces higher testing cream than low testing milk.

Beautiful hair is a subject much too important to suffer much neglect. Women are naturally endowed with good, healthy attractive hair. You have only to look at any child and convince yourself of this fact. If in later years, we neglect our hair—if through infrequent or too frequent washings we destroy the gloss and finish of it—we have only ourselves to blame.

However taking for granted the fact—which is all true—that very few women reach thirty with the hair beauty they were meant to have, it doesn't do for us to blame. The thing to do is set to work and repair the damage.

Whether your hair is long or short, thick or fine, black or white there is one daily practice which its good appearance demands—and that is brushing. Brushing sounds simple enough doesn't it?—yet I really doubt if there is one woman in a hundred who knows the technique of hair grooming. Get yourself a bottle of Hair Tonic—and either a pair of military brushes of a good, firm handled brush. Part the hair, rub a little tonic in at the partings and then brush with long even strokes. Be sure that your strokes start at the scalp and end at the very end of your hair—one hundred strokes a night is only a good healthy average, and if you are really sincere about improving the health and beauty of your hair you will not begrudge the effort of an extra fifty strokes or more. Next week I shall take up the subject of Shampooing.

Sunday School Lesson

International Sunday School Lesson
for January 27
THE HOLY SPIRIT
John 16: 7-11; Romans 8: 12-17, 27
Rev. Samuel D. Price, D. D., Associate General Secretary of the World's Sunday School Association

Rev. Samuel D. Price, D. D. This lesson study is the introduction to a Person. It is an amplification of the confession in our creeds. "I believe in the Holy Ghost." While multitudes make a creedal statement they do not have an intimate knowledge of this Person in the Trinity God. The Holy Spirit is as distinct a Person as God the Father, and Christ the Son.

All Three are equally, externally present. Revelation, however of the personality and activity came in time. From the first Jehovah God was known as the Father. Far back in history there were evidences of the Second Person and there were repeated promises of the Advent of the Son, which were fulfilled in the coming of the Messiah. There are the Holy Spirit in the Old Testament, one of the most distinctive things that in Joel 2: 28-29, which was specifically fulfilled in the Day of Pentecost, after the Ascension of Jesus Christ. Jesus spoke clearly though He did not explain the meaning when He told the eagerness of the Father to send the Holy Spirit on His behalf.

Much more than earthly joys and delights in giving good things to their children does Jehovah have joy in making the Holy Spirit available to those who are willing to meet the conditions.

Among the many references in the Bible the following are selected for specific study today by the Lesson Committee: Joel 2: 28-29; Luke 11: 13; John 3: 5-8; 14: 16, 17, 26; 15: 26; 16: 7-15; Acts 2: 1-21, 32, 33; Romans 8: 1-17; 26, 27; 1 Corinthians 12: 1-13; Ephesians 1: 13-14; 3: 14-4: 1-6, 30. Turn to your concordance and Bible Dictionary for any other portions. A very helpful book for collateral reading is "Help to the Study of the Holy Spirit," W. E. Biederwolf, D. D.

Obediently the disciples waited in prayer for ten days after the Ascension. Then came the advent of the Holy Spirit to them in Jerusalem as miraculous signs were wrought. The abiding personal presence was their new possession of spiritual power for service, as evidenced in the conversions which followed Peter's sermon on that day, when 3,000 believed. Such evidences are repeated in the abiding presence with them both for companionship and power in service.

The Holy Spirit is graciously helping in prayer, Paul states. The Holy Spirit takes our "unuttered groanings" and makes right and specific petitions to the Father on our behalf. He is always convicting us of sin and making the work of Jesus effective as our Saviour. The life of the Christian is not materially lived. It is lived resultfully only through spiritual possessions.

This newspaper will for some weeks continue to publish the work of the late Dr. Frank Crane. Dr. Crane recently passed away at Nice, France. Before leaving for Europe he had prepared a number of articles in advance.

What this world needs is more doers and less talkers.

The man we feel most grateful toward and regard most kindly is the one who does us a generous act and never says anything about it. We find it out by accident and our hearts warm to him.

The man who is always saying, I am going to do this and that for you but does not do it, is a flunky. He wants the praise for generosity, but does not deliver the goods.

So, the man who truly reforms is the man who quits doing wrong, not the man who makes promises. Most drunkards and most leaders of disorderly lives elsewhere are great promisers. They will tell you, while in their cups, that they are never going to drink another drop.

But the kind of reform today that we believe in is that of the man who quits doing wrong and makes no boast about it except to show his regret.

It is human to err and to make mistakes. But when we have done so the most righteous thing we can do is to quit, not to pray and not to promise, not to resolve.

The first thing needed in a wrong doer is to quit his wrong doing.

We are not going to turn for help to a higher power until we have ceased our wrong doing. The Bible says this of the first thing necessary: "Let the evil man forget his ways and the unrighteous man his thoughts."

A MONEY MACHINE

St. Louis.—James Chapman, 42, Negro, made from $3 to $10 daily selling "black cat wishbones."

But that wasn't enough. He sold a Negro couple here a "money making" machine which he said would turn out legal tender. He charged them only the $100 tax which he said the government levied for the privilege of manufacturing U. S. money.

The machine consisted of two pieces of wood bolted together and containing five fresh official $1 bills. Now Chapman is under arrest on a warrant charging him with using the mails to defraud.

PIG KEEPS HIM OUT OF JAIL

Watsonville, Cal.—B. C. Ethers appeared before Judge Webb on a charged of reckless driving, and pled to stay out of jail.

"Don't send me up, Your Honor," he begged. "If you wait until I fatten my pig I'll sell him for $25 and pay the fine."

"How long will it take?" the judge asked.

"Two weeks, Your Honor," said Ethers.

The proposition was accepted—now Ethers is welcoming every pound of flesh his pig acquires!

WIDOW RECOGNIZES SKELETON BY GOLD TEETH

Salem, N. J.—Mrs. Florence Burt McAllister identified a skeleton found in the woods near here as that of her husband, Frank, 39, who disappeared June 5. She identified him by means of bridgework and gold teeth in the skull of the skeleton. The dental work was also identified by Dr. James Brown, a dentist.

When found, the hands and feet of the skeleton were tied with bits of clothing and rope.

THIS MAN CERTAINLY PREPARED FOR A RAINY DAY

Paris.—M. Houplin went to an auction sale with the intention of preparing for a rainy day. The very thing he was looking for was put up for sale—an umbrella which he secured for sixteen francs. After closing the purchase, Houplin found he had bought not one umbrella, but 92.

After making many presents, he still had six dozen umbrellas left and nothing to do with them. He tried to sell them, but was arrested for peddling without a license. He sworn off auction sales for life!

FROM JAIL TO JAIL

Peekskill, N. Y.—John Henry Smith, 47, charged with disorderly conduct, is in for thirty days at the Westchester Penitentiary. John is the handy man—not a prisoner—at the Peekskill jail. When he was arrested, the keeper just turned the key in the lock on John's room; but Judge Barker, not seeing any punishment in sentencing a man to stay home thirty days, ordered John sent to another jail.

GIANT APPETITE FAILS TO SAVE BARTENDER

St. Louis.—One of the most amusing stories arising from Prohibition is that of the customer in a speakeasy who ate thirteen sandwiches in an effort to keep his friend, Walter Bernwell, the bartender, from arrest. A Prohibition agent seeing the patron putting $2 on the counter, asked what he was buying with it. "Sandwiches," he said.

"Two dollars worth of sandwiches?" asked the agent, incredulous.

"That's right," the customer said. "I'm hungry."

The bartender piled up sandwiches on the bar, and the patron managed to eat thirteen. But anyway the Prohibition agent produced a search warrant, seized a quantity of liquor and arrested the bartender.

The customer looked gloomy indeed.

Have You A 1929 License Tag On Your Automobile!

The Texas automobile and truck license fees for 1929 were due and payable on January 1, 1929. It is strictly a violation of the law to operate a car or truck on any highway in the state after January 1 without a 1929 tag.

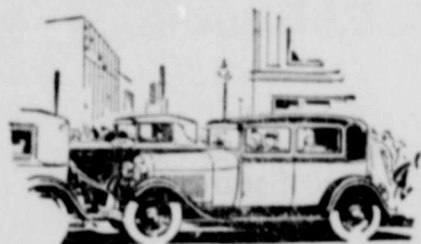

Get Your Tag At Once

This department has been very lenient in this matter but from this date all officers have been given orders to arrest operators of trucks and cars running on the highways without a 1929 tag. Remember the heavy additional penalty is added after January 31, 1929.

Safety, silence and simplicity are features of the new Ford six-brake system

ONE of the first things you will notice when you drive the new Ford is the quick, effective, silent action of its six-brake system.

This system gives you the highest degree of safety and reliability because the four-wheel service brakes and the separate emergency or parking brakes are all of the mechanical, internal expanding type, with braking surfaces fully enclosed for protection against mud, water, sand, etc.

The many advantages of this type of braking system have long been recognized. They are brought to you in the new Ford through a series of mechanical improvements embodying much that is new in design and manufacture. A particularly unique feature is the simple way by which a special drum has been constructed to permit the use of two sets of internal brakes on the rear wheels.

A further improvement in braking performance is effected by the self-centering feature of the four-wheel brakes—an exclusive Ford development. Through this construction, the entire surface of the shoe is brought in steady, uniform contact with the drum the instant you press your foot on the brake pedal. This prevents screeching and howling and makes the Ford brakes unusually silent in operation.

Another feature of the Ford brakes is the ease of adjustment.

The four-wheel brakes are adjusted by turning a screw conveniently located on the outside of each brake plate. This screw is so notched that all four brakes can be set alike simply by listening to the "clicks."

The emergency or parking brakes on the new Ford require little attention. However, should they need adjustment at any time, consult your Ford dealer for prompt, courteous, and economical service. He works under close factory supervision and he has been specially trained and equipped to help you get the greatest possible use from your car over the longest period of time at a minimum of trouble and expense.

2 GAMES AT SPEARMAN

AND BOYS TEAMS BOTH FRIDAY NIGHT; BOYS WIN FROM BOOKER AND HIGGINS

Perryton High Rangers won fifth consecutive game at night, Friday night by a 24 to 10 while the Rangerettes defeated the Spearman girls 37 to 20 in an uphill fight for the first quarter.

Rangers took an early lead in the contest and were able to maintain it throughout the game. The contest was hotly contested from start to finish.

The 24 to 10 victory was the closest margin to which the boys have been held to their winning streak started. Changes were necessary in the line and it was hard for the boys to reach other.

The girls game, Spearman took a 13 to 7 score, the Rangerettes being unable to hit the net.

In the second half things changed in rapid order and Perryton from behind to win by her quick shooting from all parts of the court, put Perryton ahead, made eleven goals in the last making more points than did in the entire game.

Games last week resulted in victories for the Rangerettes. The girls and boys won Friday night, the girls 31 to 11 score while the boys up a 40 to 14.

On Saturday night the boys team was defeated by the boys with a 10 to 6 count. Higgins boys were topped to 22 score by the Rangers.

Box score of the Spearman game follows:

	G	P.T.	F
Perryton	3	1	2
Spearmen	5	3	1
Spearmen	1	1	0

Friday and Saturday nights a week the Rangers and the Spearman play Pollett at the Perryton High gymnasium. Pollett has a team and has lost only to the victorious Shattuck five and a close score. A girls game will be arranged so the second half will be seen in action. The game should be almost as fast as the first game. On Friday night a game will be called at 7:30 and on Saturday night at 8:00.

Hudson, Spearman, spent the weekend visiting in the home of his brother, Horace Hudson.

Huston, Wichita, and J. L. Amarillo were looking after the Perryton last week.

C. C. Hood Passes On

Pioneer of the Southwest for Over 40 Years Dies in Long Beach, Calif.

C. C. Hood, pioneer resident of Texas County, Oklahoma and Seward County, Kansas, died Sunday, January 13, at Long Beach, California. Mr. Hood had made his home in California for a number of years. He underwent an operation for cancer some time ago and seemed to improve for a time, but recently he had been in very serious condition. Children of Mr. Hood who lived in this city were Fred W. Hood, district manager of the Panhandle Lumber Co., and Mrs. Charlie Sealey.

Mr. Hood was well known to all of the old timers in this section, he having lived just across the line in the Grand Valley country for many years. At the time of death, he was eighty years of age. The following article is taken from the Liberal News:

Mr. Hood, who is well known among all the old timers, home-steader six miles north and three east of Liberal in 1885, being among the very early settlers of the country. When Fargo Springs was a thriving town he assisted at the general store operated by T. A. Vaughn. Mr. Hood later filed on land near Grand Valley, Oklahoma, which he still owned at the time of his death.

"During 1895 and 1896 he served as county clerk of Seward county. He was with the OK Grocery here for a while and with the Enterprise Mercantile Company when his son-in-law, Leslie Longenecker, was manager. In this way he came to be known throughout the country and was always known as a man of high integrity and had many loyal friends."

"Mr. and Mrs. Hood moved to California several years ago and their last days were happily spent among the beauties of that state. Mr. Hood is survived by four daughters, Mrs. Ada Anderson of Shreveport, Louisiana; Mrs. Mamie Buzzard of St. Joseph, Missouri; Mrs. Cordia Brown of Long Beach, California; Mrs. Mildred Sealey of Perryton, Texas, and one son, Fred Hood of Perryton, Texas. One son died in childhood and a daughter, Mrs. Daisy Longenecker, died some time ago in California."

Ralph Peugh left Friday for Kansas City to join Mrs. Peugh and son, R. C. who have been visiting for several weeks with relatives there.

DEDICATION ON FEBRUARY 16TH

BIG GALA CEREMONY PLANNED FOR DEDICATION OF NEW OCHILTREE COUNTY COURTHOUSE

Saturday, February 16, has been set as dedication day for the beautiful new Ochiltree County courthouse, by the committee appointed by the Commissioners Court to supervise the dedication program. The members of this committee are Judge J. M. Grigsby, chairman, County Attorney J. M. Bull, W. B. Irvin, Jack Allen and Van W. Stewart.

The program will start promptly at 11:00 o'clock in the morning and will last until late afternoon. Prominent local and out of town speakers and entertainers have been invited to appear. At the noon hour lunch will be served by the Ladies of the Federated Clubs of Perryton. The large rest room in the basement of the new "Temple of Justice" will be turned over to the ladies organizations and the proceeds of the lunch will go to the various churches and clubs.

Music for the dedication will be furnished by the Perryton High School orchestra which is directed by Rudolph Willmann professor of music in the Perryton schools. District Judges Newton P. Willis and W. R. Ewing have been invited. Prominent local people who will be on the program are C. Lex Shelby, J. M. Bull, Jack Allen, R. T. Correll, Miss Hazel Henry, Dave Shanks, J. W. Payne, Rudolph Willmann, W. B. Irvin, E. C. Raney and others. The committee has outlined a tentative program but it is not complete.

It is expected that the majority of the citizens of the county will attend the dedication ceremonies. But a small per cent of the people have visited this wonderful new building which is being pointed to all over the entire Panhandle as a model courthouse and one that is not too large nor too fine, yet is sufficient to meet the needs of the county for years to come. Money was not squandered in the building of the Ochiltree County courthouse. Our Commissioners Court built a good building and one that was large enough and fine enough, yet they did not waste a single dollar. They got value received, both in the building proper and in the furnishings. Visit it, inspect it thoroughly on dedication day and see for yourself.

NEWSPAPER FAILS

Fort Scott, Kansas—The Fort Scott Morning Herald, a daily newspaper here, announced in a recent issue that its plant had been taken over by the mortgage holder and it would continue publication as a weekly newspaper, under new management. The paper said failure of persons here to redeem stock and failure to keep advertising pledges caused its difficulties.—News Item.

Ten lines tell a long, long story of days of enthusiasm, months of misplaced confidence, months of hard work, mental anguish, unkept promises, lost faith in humanity and financial ruin. Back slapping and loud huzzahs while the parade is passing furnish a certain amount of thrills, but after the parade the crowd goes home to turn to other fancies, and the Queen of May must return to her typewriter or ribbon counter. Starting a newspaper today requires financial backing sufficient to fully equip such an establishment and to meet unforeseen reverses. And that means gobs of jack-ringing resolutions, trunks full of promises and baskets of praise never buy bread and butter. Boosting friends are ever ready with unbounded moral support, but are strangers when it comes to giving cash. Starting a newspaper in a town where one stands well in the community, is strong and has long been established, is a sad and bitter experience.—Exchange.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul George visited with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Miller near Liberal Sunday.

Mrs. Oren Kelly and children of Spearman were visiting with friends in Perryton the latter part of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bell and family of Perryton, Texas visited home folks Sunday.—Beaver Herald Democrat.

SCHOOL BUDGETING

The budget system is a feature of importance that has come into its own in the nation, in business, in industry, and in the home. It has likewise become the master key to efficiency in school business administration.

Nations have used this method to regain stability. Business and industry have used it to protect profits. With increased competition for the household dollar, families increasingly use it as a measure of defense. It is probable, however, that in no phase of work has the practice been so generally adopted as in school expenditures. With the recent pyramiding demands, school officials have been faced with the necessity of closely scrutinizing school expenditures.

For years these schools have been efficient in pupil accounting. This same efficiency is now a part of the accounting involving subjects taught. In good business procedure, no department is carried by the profits from another. In our schools each subject or department now has to stand the test of its own expenditure. Educational literature is rich with the analysis of subject and department costs per pupil per unit of time. Loose budgeting procedure, in which funds from one department are transferred to supplement another department, is gone.

Different methods are in use to picture the working of the budget, the expenditures and balances from month to month, affording school officials an opportunity to keep a constant and continuous check. This care in the expenditure of the budget is also in evidence in its preparation. School administrators view critically all items of the program.

HERALD RECEIVES LETTER FROM MISS NELLIE PERRY

Dear Mr. Stewart:

I wonder if your readers would care to hear something about Americanization work in which I have been interested lately?

It may be a long time before Perryton will need to deal with a foreign element in population, but there is no doubt that it is a growing and most important national problem.

When a small city like Des Moines, Iowa, perhaps now not much larger than Amarillo, "makes" eighty five new citizens in one day, Des Moines being one of many naturalization districts in the U. S., we realize that our foreign population is fast becoming a power that must be reckoned with.

This making of American from the people constantly coming to Ellis Island from every country under the sun, is an interesting process and gives a certain thrill to the observer.

Des Moines carries on both day and night schools for the benefit of the newcomers to our shores, as do many of the large cities. The pupils are of all ages, but children are sent to the public schools as soon as they are able to speak English fairly well, while the older folks are of course obliged to continue the special work. Often the children act not only as interpreters for their parents but as teachers. The New York schools are trying an experiment, furnishing printed lessons with questions and answers so that the boys and girls may teach the fathers and mothers at home. The newspaper is a great help and sometimes an ambitious student is able to read and digest the contents of the daily newspaper long before he dares trust himself to speak English in public.

Des Moines has two teachers in charge of Americanization work—Miss Stubbs in town and Miss Miller in the outlying mining districts. Both women are favorites with their classes, devoted and enthusiastic and working more for the joy of the service than for the small remuneration.

My acquaintance was mostly with Miss Miller, and I feel like saying a word of appreciation for what she is doing. She is truly the stuff of which heroines are made and some of her experiences would make interesting reading. Her work compares with that of a regular missionary in a difficult field. She drives her Ford coupe rather too furiously for my modest ambition in the speeding line, but as she says, she has got to "get there." She goes night after night to these out of the way places, never missing a class on account of roads or weather and Iowa country roads can be quite as bad as Texas roads sometimes. Miss Miller is hauled out of ditches and helps to haul other people out, just as we do in the Panhandle during the rainy season. Once going home late at night she ran out of gas and sat in the car in the middle of the road till daylight, travelers carefully avoiding what might prove to be either a petting party or a hold up. Now and then after a hard day she is too sleepy to trust her hands on the wheel and drives to the side of the road for a nap.

I went with Miss Miller to visit several of her classes and found it inspiring. First of all, she is a friend to each of the strangers in a strange land and they all love her and depend on her judgment in solving many of their knotty problems.

Whether she finds two pupils or twenty waiting for her at the school house she meets them as brothers and sisters—inquires for the absentees, visits with the mothers about their children and with the fathers about their jobs, runs across the street to see the twin babies born to a member of the class, copies a recipe for a novel kind of jelly or pickles recommended by one of the Italian housekeepers—in short she is a friend. Sometimes "teacher" must have questions and answers repeated, for naturally these early attempts at speaking English are somewhat "broken", but there is always good will and laughter. This spirit of friendliness I thought was of more value in making good citizens than all the data learned in school.

I am sure if these people judge us all by Miss Miller, they must have a wonderful pleasant impression of Americans.

The opening social minutes prepared the way for an enthusiastic lesson. No matter how tired "teacher" might be, she forgot everything but the people before her and her responsibility for their making the grade. These night classes were putting their whole effort on the Government of the United States, as they were preparing for an examination in Civics. The students were all adults, mostly married men and women, many of them gray haired—Russian Jews, Italians, Germans, all nations, but no Chinese or Japs. It was pathetic to hear them try to express their ideas, but they were game and did not give up easily. A mistake brought a good natured laugh from the class and a volunteer was always ready to make correction. Their familiarity with the Constitution and with local as well as national government was remarkable. There was a rapid fire of questions from the teacher and quick as a flash the answers. I shuddered at the idea of being put to such a test on my own account and made myself as small as possible during the bombardment. If we as voters had been made to run the gauntlet of these questions, I'm quite sure there would have been fewer votes cast at the last election. Information about national, state, county and city officers, qualifications, terms of office, salary, divisions of government with specific duties in detail, making of laws and amendments thereto,—this and much more was rattled off glibly and with an air of pride. The Government examiners are strict and applicants must be ready for a real grilling.

I attended one of these examinations in the federal building in Des Moines. The two examiners were seated at a long table by Miss Stubbs, the regular teacher, while the candidates for examination were called in four at a time and seated opposite.

Then the quizzing began and it was certainly a test not only of their knowledge of Civics, but a test of self control. One man became so painfully embarrassed that he probably could not have told his own name, though it was evident that he knew more than he seemed to know. I trembled for him, but after several bad breaks he came through the ordeal fairly well. A group of four business men had evidently made good use of their years in America and they were simply bursting with knowledge. When asked to discuss the "electoral college" and the "pocket veto" they were quite in their element and were plainly disappointed when their flow of eloquence was stopped by the examiners with "That's enough!"

After passing this test satisfactorily these people who have braved the perils of America have still something to face. There must be a more public examination of a different character and of much more formality. This ceremony is also dreadful for a bashful man to endure, although usually not so trying as an appearance before the board of examiners.

I was glad to be invited to witness one of those rather impressive formalities in the making of an American. Eighty five men and women were to be examined in the federal court room. I accompanied a member of the Women's Relief Corp., a charming and enthusiastic Americanization worker, so was seated in a box at the Judge's left and near the chair occupied by the prospective citizens, who were called one at a time, each accompanied by two witnesses. Questions put to the witnesses and later to the applicant were simple—name, age, native country, date of arrival here, and all went merrily until somebody admitted that he had not attended night school and consequently had not been examined, or that he had never been arrested. This latter admission always halted proceedings for investigation. Usually, however, the answers were satisfactory to Uncle Sam and the candidate was made to take the oath of allegiance to his new country—at the same time solemnly disavowing allegiance to his native country—"Victor Emanuel III" or "George of England", being distinctly specified as the case might be.

At this point the W. R. C. women arose and held aloft two large flags, one at each side of the victim, while generous applause came from the audience. Then another gauntlet was run, an alarming row of women who pinned a tiny American flag to the coat or dress of the new citizen and shook his or her hand, with a few words of welcome and congratulation, after which he made his escape from the court room. (During the above ceremony your Perryton friend shone rather brightly, at least proudly, helping to steady the big flag and doing her best with the hand shaking and welcomings.)

Here are a few of the names of citizens made that day. Some of them, during the examination, asked and were granted permission to change their almost unpronounceable names to a shorter and Americanized form. Francisco Cataldo Di Filippo became Frank Filips and Dionisios Spiros Stamatiopolous was to be known as Stamata. Others were Michael Angelo Tenerelli, Peter Vujnovic, David Schioma Malulwika, Therese Zacherle, Dominico Stefani, Vincenza, Abruzzi, Teresina Seighano Acti.

There were people from England, Sweden, Lithuania, Germany, Poland, Italy, Russia, Greece, Denmark,—almost everywhere except China and Japan.

Now with the pinning of the American flag on lapels, Michael Angelo and Teresina became American citizens. But they had not yet received their final naturalization papers and in connection with this ceremony a reception was given to which were invited the new citizens and their families. Here there were music and speeches and refreshments, followed by a formal presentation of the final and most important papers. Congressman Dowell and other prominent men reminded the amateur voters of their new duties and their privileges. "Millions of people all over the world would give all they have to be what you are becoming, American citizens," was received with hearty applause. They were seeing their dreams come true, after many years. A poem was read in their honor and their faces beamed with pleasure and appreciation—some relief too.

"I pledge allegiance" were not meaningless words to them, as every hand was raised in salute to the flag. They had almost sweat blood to make it their flag indeed.

A former Russian spoke in response to the friendly, welcoming speeches, Elias Jubram Mamo—"A great privilege," he said. "I think we appreciate it even more than those born in this country. We are thankful to those who have taught us and helped us," and finally, "We hope we fulfill our promise."

"One glorious hour" and Uncle Sam had eighty five new citizens in Polk County, Iowa!

There are scores of instances showing the determination, ambition and sacrifice of these people to reach their goal. Some more touching than the cases I have in mind.

Three brothers from Italy were among the numbers naturalized—one of them a widower with ten children, whom he has kept together doing most of the house work after working in the coal mines. The three brothers attended night school regularly for two years and one night when the mine cage was broken they climbed 300 feet to the surface to be present at the Civics class. Giovanni Carzoli had a crushed leg and was in the hospital but begged to be brought before the court for his final papers, and it was done.

Sometimes parents take turns going to night school, one attending until he obtains his papers, then staying with the children while his partner takes the training for citizenship.

I never realized before that to be an American citizen is really rather a wonderful thing.

Not long ago I saw a splendid moving picture—"A Ship Comes In", which is along the same line. The lead is taken by Rudolf Schildkraut. Perhaps you have had it at the Perryton theatre. I thought it fine.

Most cordially yours,
Nellie M. Perry

METHODIST CHURCH

There will be all the usual services held at the Methodist church this week and since there is no change in the announcements we will have the space for other material.

Last week was the best week we had at the church in some time. The Senior league had a splendid social on Thursday evening and the Missionary society had one on Friday night. Both were well attended and all had a good time and many laughs. If this is continued proper periods with the right kind of interest some good results could be seen from it.

In the General Conference of 1926 at Memphis, Tennessee, the Missionary and Evangelistic policies of the church were determined for the next ten years. These plans designed a missionary culture period through January and February of each year. We are late getting started on this and we are asked by the Elder to begin this on March 1. We are glad to have the missionary idea pressed in all our work for these months.

Then the Sunday School board asked that each Sunday School church carry on a Pre-Easter evangelistic campaign closing on Sunday before Easter or Easter with special effort made throughout the entire church to get as many converted and make decisions for Christ, as we may.

With all that there is to be done, we hope to do what we can in these fields of endeavor in the church. The missionary movement has certain reasons for its existence and its attempt at work. What causes the need of races, intellectually and spiritually to leave this land with its wide open doors for attainment and go to these non-Christian lands and people to live and labor? Why do the many different churches and their members contribute millions annually to the evangelization of these people.

There is always in this a great dominating motive. This motive is not different to that, that caused Jesus Christ to come to this earth and seek out men who are needy. It is the same impulse that caused Andrew when he had found the Messiah, to go to brother Simon and led him to the Master.

This was the custom then and is now when people are rightly awakened to the experience they have and the need of their fellows. Christian people have something better and different to the experience of the non-Christian and we should pass it on. The man next door needs this and he man five thousand miles away needs it no less; and Christianity is no less helpful to the one than the other.

There is commercial motive that is indirectly seen in the results of the mission work. The foreigner takes an old rag saturated with crude vegetable oil and has a light but when he sees the missionary with his oil lamp the foreigner wants a lamp, and later the electric bulb hangs from his ceiling. The same is true with sewing machines, cars, clocks; in fact everything from eggs to engines and clocks and cars. This creates a demand in the home land and gives employment to more of our people.

There are many other motives we might mention but we cannot take up too much space.

MOORE COUNTY PLANS FOR NEW COURTHOUSE

At a recent meeting in Dumas of the members of the Dumas Chamber of Commerce it was decided to petition the commissioners of Moore county to take action toward the building of a courthouse in Dumas. In the petition the commissioners are requested to take any action that they may deem necessary and best with regard to whether or not they issue warrants to cover the building of the courthouse, or whether a bond election shall be called. It is the desire of the Dumas citizens that the new building be erected during the year of 1929.

A movement is also under way to incorporate the city of Dumas and plans are being made for a sewer system. With gas, lights and city water, Dumas, located about twenty miles from the Moore county oil fields, is getting ready for the growth which is expected this year.

WILLIAM E. MERYDITH

William E. Merydith, 79, pioneer cattle dealer and merchant of the southwest, died Saturday morning, January 12, at his ranch home in Lipscomb County.

Mr. Merydith was born in Lebanon County, near Marietta, O., March 27, 1849, the youngest son of Thomas Merydith, a Methodist minister. He was reared in a Christian home. He joined the Methodist Church and at the age of 21 became a Mason.

In 1870 Mr. Merydith came west to Kansas for his health. He taught school and bought and sold cattle in Cowley County, Kansas. On March 30, 1876, he married Mattie M. Callison and located near Dexter, Kansas. To this union eleven children were born, three of whom preceded him in death. Those surviving are: Alpha V. Henley, Dallas; Geneva C. Wright, Rosston, Okla.; Mildred M. Merydith, Ethel M. Paine, Rose C. Turner, Morris R. Merydith, Frances C. Newsome and W. Coy Merydith, all of Lipscomb.

Mr. Merydith made many trips into Indian Territory where he bought cattle and pastured them on the Flint Hills near Dexter, Kans. In 1892, he moved with his family to Lincoln County, Okla., near Chandler, where he became interested in banking. From 1893 until 1901 Mr. Merydith was president of banks at Chandler, Sac Fox Agency and Dexter, Kans. He moved to Dexter, Kansas in 1900, where he promoted the first gas and oil developed in and around Dexter. He came to the Panhandle in 1904, and became interested in its development through H. E. Hoover, Canadian, Santa Fe attorney. In 1908, Mr. Merydith moved with his family from Higgins to Lipscomb, where he opened a lumber yard and hardware store in addition to his real estate and cattle business. In 1911, he built his home at Valley Park ranch, which he had chosen in the earlier years, and where he made his home until his death.

Mr. Merydith is survived by six daughters, two sons and nine grandchildren. Funeral services were conducted Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock from the First Baptist Church, Canadian, with Rev. A. B. Davidson, pastor of the Methodist Church officiating, assisted by Rev. W. C. Harrison, pastor of the Baptist Church, and Rev. H. J. Manley, pastor of the Presbyterian Church. Interment was made in the Canadian cemetery.

JOE O. KERNS

Joe O. Kerns was born August 28, 1886 in Sullivan County, Missouri. At three years of age he moved with his parents to Miami County, Kansas. At 20 years of age he was united in marriage to Miss Maud Materson. The same year he moved with his bride and parents to Beaver County, Oklahoma, where he lived up until the time of his death.

Four children were born to this union: Eva, age 21; Leo, 18; Vernie, 16; and Carl, 13. On the 24th of February 1921, his wife departed this life. He kept his family together and was both father and mother to them until the year 1923 when he was married to Mrs. Jessie Ragsdale who filled the vacancy in the home and was a loving mother and a devoted wife. To this union one child was born, Ansel Joe, now 4 years of age. Joe obeyed the gospel at the age of 21 years and he lived a constant Christian life until his death. He was a great church worker never shirking his duties and always trying to help others to live a Christian life. He will be greatly missed by all disciples who worship with the Fulton congregation as he was the leader there. He was a kind and loving husband and father. Joe departed this life January 16, 1929 at Gray, Oklahoma. His death was caused by burns received from a gas barrel explosion while working in his garage. Joe was conscious up to his death and told all his relatives how nice it was to be prepared to meet death. He is survived by his wife, two daughters, three sons and a stepson, Elmer Ragsdale. Also his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Merrell Kerns of Gray, Oklahoma; three brothers, Will Kerns and Garrel Kerns of Gray, and John Kerns of Forgan, Oklahoma; three sisters, Mrs. Stella Christmas, Littlefield, Texas, Mrs. Katharine Calvert, Liberal, Kansas and Mrs. Linnie Cole of Iola, Kansas; all of whom were at the bedside when death came, except Mrs. Cole.

Funeral services were held at Gray church January 18, conducted by Brother Chappin of the Church of Christ of Forgan, Oklahoma. Interment was made in the Gray cemetery.

THE LAST OF THE DUANES

by Zane Grey

Illustrated by Verne C. Christy

You can go back to her, Duane! never seemed possible, but now true. Fight with us from cover—go back to her. You will have the Texas Rangers as no other man has. I'll accept your resignation. You'll be free, honored, happy—and rich. Jennie's rich Duane. And she loves you! My God! But Duane cut him short with a gesture. He lunged up to his belt and the rangers fell back. Dark, grim as he had been, still there was a transformation singularly more sinister, stranger.

"Enough, I'm done," he said solemnly. "I've planned. Do we agree—shall I meet Poggin and his gang here?"

MacNelly cursed and again threw his hands, this time in baffled chagrin. There was deep regret in his dark eyes as they rested upon Duane.

"I accept, Duane," he rejoined. "I'll go about the arrangements at once."

Duane was left alone.

Never had his mind been so quick, clear, so wonderful in its understanding of what had heretofore been intricate and elusive impulses of his strange nature. His determination was to meet Poggin. Meet him before any one else had a chance—Poggin first—and then the others! He was an unalterable in decision as if, on the instant of its acceptance, he had become one.

At a few minutes before half-past two a dark compact body of men appeared far down, turned into the road. They came at a sharp trot—a group that would have attracted attention anywhere any time.

They came a little faster as they neared town—then faster still now they were four blocks away—now three—now two. Duane backed down the middle of the vestibule, up the steps, and halted in the center of the wide doorway.

There seemed to be a rushing in ears through which pierced sharp ring clip-clop of iron hoofs. He could see only the corner of the street. But suddenly into that shot an limbed dusty bay horse. There was a clattering of nervous hoofs pulled to a halt.

Duane saw the tawny Poggin and his companions. He dismounted quickly. They followed suit. They had the manner of ranchers about to conduct some business. No guns showed.

Poggin started leisurely for the back-door, quickening step a little. He others, close together, came behind him. Blossom Kane had a bag in his left hand. Jim Fletcher was behind him, and he had already slipped under the vestibule first. Poggin entered the vestibule first, with Kane on one side, Boldt on the other, a little behind him.

As he strode in he saw Duane. "Great Scott!" he cried. "Something inside Duane burst, wrenching all of him with cold. Was that fear?"

"Buck Duane!" echoed Kane. One instant Poggin looked up, and Kane looked down.

Like a striking Jaguar Poggin moved. Almost as quick, Duane drew his arm.

The guns boomed almost together. Duane felt a blow just before he killed trigger. His thoughts came swift like the strange dots before his eyes.

His rising gun had loosened in his hand. Poggin had drawn quicker! A tearing agony encompassed his chest. He pulled—pulled—at random.

Thunder of booming shots all about him!

Red flashes—jets of smoke—shrill his.

The end—yes—the end!

With fading sight he saw Kane down, then Boldt. But supreme torture—bitterer than death—Poggin stood, mane like a lion's back, the wall, bloody-faced, grand, with his guns spouting red!

All faded—darkened. The thunder died. Duane fell, seemed faint.

There it drifted—Jennie Lee's wet face, white, sad, with dark, tragic eyes—fading—fading—

Light shone before Duane's eyes—black, strange light that came and went. It seemed a long time with all booming sounds rushing by, ringing all. It was a dream in which there was nothing. Drifting under a burden—darkness—light—sound—movement. Obscure struggling thought—vague sense of time—long time.

There was blackness and fire. He was being consumed. He was being wrapped in it—and a dark cloud carried him away, enveloped him.

He saw then, dimly, a room that was strange, strange people moving about, over him, with faint voices, far away, things in a dream.

He saw again, clearly, and consciousness returned, still strange, still unreal, full of those vague and far away things. He was not dead, a weight ponderous as a mountain upon him. And slow dull beating burning agony racked all his bound body.

A man bent over him, looked deep into his eyes, and seemed to whisper from a distance. "Duane—Duane—Ah, he knew me!"

After that another long time of darkness, when the light came again, clearer, this same dark-eyed earnest man bent over him. It was MacNelly—and with recognition the past flooded back.

Duane tried to speak. His lips were weak and limp. That movement was barely perceptible.

"No, oh no. It's not that bad. You've a chance. Why, man you'll get well. You'll pack a sight of lead all your life, Duane. The whole Southwest knows your story. You need never be ashamed again of the name Buck Duane. It'll live in Texas with that of Davy Crockett. Think of Jennie—home—mother!"

Then there was a white house—home—and his heart beat thick.

How familiar it all was—how strange, too! And all seemed magnified.

The someone in white cried low and knelt by his bed.

His mother flung wide her arms with strange gesture.

"That man—that's his father! Where is my boy? My son, oh, my son!"

It was sheer pleasure to lie by the west window and watch Uncle Jim whistle his stick and listen to him talk. He was old now and broken.

He told so many interesting things about people Duane had known, people who had grown up and married, failed, succeeded, gone away, died. But it was hard to keep Uncle Jim off the subjects of guns, fights, outlaws. He could not seem to divine how mention of those things made Duane shrink.

Uncle Jim, old, childish now, and he had a pride in Duane. He wanted to hear it all—of Duane's exile. And if there was one thing more than another that pleased him it was to speak of the bullets Duane carried in his body.

"Nine bullets, wasn't it? Nine in that last scrap. By gum! A man's a man to carry them. And you had three before?"

"Yes, uncle," replied Duane.

"Nine and three—that makes twelve. An even dozen. You could pack more than that, my boy, and get away with them. There's Cole Younger—I've seen him. He's got twenty-three. But he's a bigger man than you—more flesh."

"Punny, wasn't it, about doctors only cuttin' one bullet out of you—that one in your breast bone? It was a forty-one caliber, an unusual cartridge."

"There was one bullet left in Poggin's gun, and it was the same kind as the one cut out. By gum! boy that bullet would have killed you if it lay there."

"It would, indeed, uncle!" said Duane, and the old, haunting, somber mood returned.

But Jennie was with him most of the time, and when she was by there was a deep, quiet joy such as had never been his.

She knelt by him at the window, her sweet face still white, but with warm life beneath the marble, her dark eyes still intent, haunted by shadows, but no longer tragic.

"The pain, Duane—is it any worse today, dear?" she asked.

"No, it's the same. It will always be the same, Jennie. I'm full of lead, you know. But I don't mind that."

"It's the old mood—the fear?"

"Yes, it haunts me. I'll be able to go out soon. Then it'll come back."

"No—no, Duane," she said.

"Some drunken cowboy—some fool with a gun will hunt me out," he said miserably. "Buck Duane! To kill Buck Duane!"

"Hush! Listen to me," she whispered, with tender arms round him. "I understand. But you will never have to draw again, Duane. You'll never kill another man, thank God! For you will have me with you always. Soon you'll be well. Then Duane, we'll be married."

"We'll take Uncle Jim and mother and go far from Texas, north somewhere—to Indiana, Michigan, anywhere that we want. I have money, Duane! Isn't it wonderful? The little, ragged girl you met out in Blount in the Rio Grande!"

"Do you remember my greaser sandals—no stockings! And I was lame then. Oh, it all comes back!

But that's past. We'll buy a farm, and you will be busy with horses and cattle and sheep.

"You'll forget. I'll love you so. Maybe—I—hope—oh, I pray—there'll be children. We'll be happy, Duane."

The watched the sun set golden over the line of low hills in the West, down over the Nueces, far beyond the wild country of the Rio Grande which they were never to see again.

The End

heart, no matter how mild they may appear; get your physician's advice frequently during winter months.

Overloading the heart is inexcusable on your part. How do you do it? First, by overeating and unnecessary stimulation. The heart keeps all fluid elements of the body in motion; if you over-eat, excess fluid and juices are absorbed, for the heart to keep circulating through the channels provided. When you are short of breath after eating, you are crowding your heart. It may be gases in the stomach, from indigestion that oppress the heart—a warning you must heed if you value life! These heartdisease deaths could have—two-thirds of them—been prevented.

"The biggest yield our place has ever made" is the statement made by James Potts of Lubbock county after making 21,600 pounds of head hegarl on three acres of land devoted to his 4-H club project this year. The neighbors all said the crop fine enough for seed, but James believes he needs all the crop for feed so doesn't expect to sell. At market prices his three acres have netted him $209.40 this season.

During the past five years, dozens of parties with all kinds of propositions have come before the Chamber of Commerce with various hotel propositions, some with merit but many were nothing but promotion schemes. The investigation of all of these propositions has taken much time and thought but in the end, Perryton has received and accepted a real bona fide hotel deal with no strings attached. The hotel will be built, for the Panhandle is a reliable firm and they will do exactly what they agree to do. Perryton is going to give the $7,500.00 bonus and get a modern three story hotel.

BRYAN OPENING HELD SATURDAY

NEW STORE TO GIVE FORMAL BOW TO PUBLIC; FAVORS AND LUNCH ARE TO BE GIVEN

The formal opening of the W. C. Bryan & Son store, now nicely located in its new home, has been announced for Saturday, January 26, and according to Mr. Bryan, proprietor of the store, it is hoped that every man, woman and child in this section of the country will pay them a visit on this day.

Free lunch is being prepared by the meat department, a new addition to the Bryan & Son store. This department, in charge of E. R. Smith, is installing all new equipment. A new Frigidaire cooling system is being put in the basement which will cool the plate glass front display counter as well as the new walk-in storage box. All new electric meat cutting equipment, and electric stove, and many other items are being installed in this department.

The building which is housing the new store, is one of the nicest of the new business homes in Perryton. The structure is 50 by 70 feet brick and tile with a big double front. The building is especially well lighted with windows on the east, north and west, making artificial light during the day unnecessary.

The north side of the building is arranged for the grocery department with the meat market in the rear. The front windows are especially built for displaying fresh goods. The south side of the building is arranged for the dry goods, ready-to-wear and shoe departments, with enclosed plate glass windows in front.

To help with the opening Mr. Bryan has secured the services of H. E. Wheelock, Amarillo, representative of the Star Brand shoes and also Mr. Nixon, Woodward, Item Biscuit company representative.

In addition to the free lunch, favors will be given the visitors during the opening which is an all-day affair. Preparations are being made for a large crowd.

PLAINVIEW ANNOUNCES BIG POWER FARMING ENTERTAINMENT FOR WEDNESDAY

The Plainview Hardware & Furniture company completed all arrangements for their extensive power farming entertainment to be held next Wednesday, January 30, at their store in Perryton. They have made arrangements with the speakers, secured the motion pictures, and made arrangements for an appetizing lunch to be served at noon.

That part of the program dealing with the care of the tractor will be in charge of the International Harvester Company and will be thoroughly practical in every way. The men in charge have been hauling tractors many years and not only know the tractors from the standpoint of theory, but can operate them and give you the benefit of their practical experience. They will be anxious to answer your questions.

Several reels of motion pictures will be shown. These pictures will bring to the people the latest methods of farming in other sections of the country.

Farming today is dependent on volume production—that is, the producing of more per person on the farm. By increasing the volume per person the cost of production is materially decreased. One of the objectives of this entertainment is to bring through pictures and otherwise experiences of the outstanding farmers of the present day. Tractors and other present-day equipment will be on display to offer a first-class study of the various mechanical features.

Funeral services for the deceased were held at the Pull Gospel tabernacle in Booker, Sunday afternoon, Bro. Girard conducting the services. "EASY COME, EASY GO" IS NEW DIX COMEDY

Having a large amount of money which one does not own but which one cannot rid oneself of may cause serious problems. This is the difficulty which Richard Dix turns into a roaring comedy in his latest picture, a farce comedy, "Easy Come, Easy Go." This picture will be the attraction at the American theatre, next Monday and Tuesday.

The problem is one of honesty. Dix has the money, can't get rid of it and yet feels he isn't entitled to it.

"Easy Come, Easy Go" was adapted from the stage play by Owen Davis. It concerns the activities of a young American, who is imbued with the theory that honesty is the best policy. However, he assists, unwittingly, in a bank holdup and then, upon learning of how the money has been stolen, he endeavors to return it to its rightful owners. Because the president of the bank believes Dix to be a crazy millionaire and because Dix cannot get his hands on the money at the proper time, the theme furnishes some surprisingly funny situations.

TWO COUNTIES PLAN DISTRICT

DALLAM AND HARTLEY START $1,450,000 ROAD PAVING PROGRAM ON HIGHWAYS

DALLAM, Jan. 18.—Creation of a two-county road district, by Dallam and Hartley counties, in the extreme northwest part of the Texas Panhandle, is expected to be authorized soon by the county commissioners courts of the two counties and a bond issue of approximately $1,450,000 put up to the voters for approval.

Efforts of Dallam, Hartley and Sherman counties to form a tri-county road district failed when Sherman county decided not to enter the proposed district. They claimed that with but 16 per cent of a 160 mile road building project they were to be assessed for 18 per cent of the cost. This, they felt, was excessive, so approval of the commissioners court was withheld.

Within the next ten days a conference of the two courts will be held. Petitions are to be circulated asking for the formation of this district and these are to be considered.

Plan 66 Miles Paving
 Under the revised plan, 66 miles of paving will be put down on state highway 56, from the Sherman county line to Brave, on the New Mexico state line. This road is known as U. S. No. 54 and is on the Atlantic-Pacific highway.

There will be 66 miles of paving on State No. 5 from Texline, on the New Mexican state line to east of Channing, to the Moore county line. This is the Gulf to Colorado highway, and included the cutoff between Oklahoma City and Dalhart, known as No. 41.

Valuation of Dallam county is approximately $10,300,000. Hartley county's valuation is $4,500,000. The costs will be distributed on a basis of about three to one.

The state has offered to pay one-third of the cost, the federal government one-third and the county the rest. State highway estimates are $33,000 a mile, a total of $4,435,000 in all.—Amarillo News.

Mrs. J. R. Thomas underwent an operation for appendicitis at the Shattuck hospital Sunday. She is recovering nicely.

Miss Allen Hamker visited Saturday night and Sunday with Miss Grace Spencer.

SHORT COURSE AT GOODWELL

AGRICULTURE AND HOME ECONOMICS COURSE STARTS MONDAY, JAN. 28 AT P. A. & M. C.

The Annual Winter Short Course in Agriculture and Home Economics, held under the auspices of Panhandle Agricultural and Mechanical College and the Panhandle Experiment Station at Goodwell, Oklahoma has been announced for January 28, 29, 30 and 31.

An outstanding feature of the program will be an address by Dr. H. G. Bennett, recently appointed president of Oklahoma A. and M. College at Stillwater. Another speaker from the same institution is the new dean of agriculture and director of the experiment station, Dr. C. P. Blackwell. Dr. D. P. Trent, director of extension service in the Stillwater institution, there for the first time last year, will also appear on this year's program, along with others better known on account of their recurrent annual visits.

H. H. Finnell, chairman of the program committee, in announcing the program, directed attention to a number of features designed to be of interest to special groups of farmer folk. Gold and silver medals will be awarded as first and second prizes respectively in adult judging contests for both men and women. Men will compete in stock judging and women in sewing and cooking. No students will be admitted to this contest.

A baby clinic will be held under the direction of a doctor and a nurse. Mothers are urged to bring their small children and have them examined.

A feature of interest to all the women will be a style show, at which merchants of the Panhandle will exhibit their goods representing the new spring styles.

The Panhandle Crop Improvement Association will conduct its annual business meeting and election of officers. Carl Muller of Texhoma is now president.

Other features are Poultry Day, Crop Improvement Day and a special dairy program, for men; for women: Food Day and Health Day.

Results of investigations carried on at the Panhandle Agricultural Experimental Station will be reported.
