One man was apprehended and charges filed, an accomplice is expected to be picked up in the very near future.

A repeat break-in of the Farmers Co-Op occurred Oct. 5, netting the burglars $50.00 in cash from 4 vending machines. Extensive damage to the machines was also reported. Two men were arrested, and charges filed. All the loot was recovered but approximately $3.00 in cash.

Both cases were worked by the Tahoka City Police in conjunction with the Sheriff's department.

Two traffic tickets were issued this week, one for speeding and the other for driving in a manner to endanger the lives and property of others.

Tahoka has a good chance for location near here of the proposed new $30 million textile mill being planned as a joint venture of regional farm cooperatives and all South Plains gins.

This was revealed this week by local civic leaders working on the project, who emphasize that there is a need for every individual and organization in the community to get behind the project.

Local leaders believe Tahoka is in excellent position to be designated site for the plant for several reasons.

Location requires, among other things, 100 acres of land, access to a railroad and highways, a labor force which would include about 75 percent women workers, water and sewer, favorable tax structure, near enough to Lubbock to utilize labor and other facilities from that city and other towns.

Tahoka proposes location of the plant on 100 acres of land on present City property two and half miles northeast of town on Farm Road 400, the Wilson highway, adjacent to the Santa Fe railroad. An alternate site could be the City owned property a mile and a half south of town, the old John Slover place, also adjacent to the Santa Fe.

If built, the plant would require about 370 workers at peak production, and would turn out about 411,600 yards of 14 ounce finished denim per week.

Working toward location of the plant near here are Tahoka Chamber of Commerce, headed by Harold Green, president, and Royce Bevers of Poka-Lambro, director in charge of industrial development; Harold Roberts, chairman of Tahoka Industrial Foundation; Mayor Meldon Leslie and the City Council; Ronnie Nettles, manager of Farmers Cooperative gin; and others.

All urge the backing of the entire community in this effort to secure this or some such industry that would be of benefit to the entire town and county.

District Court met Oct. 1, and a few old jury cases were dismissed.

Bullock Against Higher Gas Tax

Bob Bullock, Democratic nominee for Comptroller, said Wednesday that President Ford's consideration of higher federal gasoline taxes--or so-called federal fees--is an unpardonable act.

"As a vehicle for fighting inflation and reducing consumer needs, a gas tax is an Edsel Nixon tried to drive this last year. It had a flat tire then and it still does," Bullock said.

"It's a low mileage idea," he said.

Bullock challenged Texas Republican candidates--especially his opponent for Comptroller--to face up to the foolishness and hardships of higher gasoline prices and urge Ford to find a better idea.

"After all, he's their's--or they're his," Bullock said.

"My Republican opponent should speak up for the best interest of Texas--now that he lives here--if he realizes the threat a new 10 or 20 cent federal gas tax poses to funds for our schools and highways.

"Our Texas gasoline tax is a sure way to forever cut off its growth."

"When you kiss away the growth of a revenue source historically left to the states, you are kissing away growth in school money--and you can bet your life you'll have local property tax increases to make up the difference.

"Further, when you dry up state money to our highway funds you can say goodbye to the good road system we have now and to any future workable programs for mass transit.

"Any candidate for Comptroller--the office responsible for our motor fuels tax--should know this and strongly object to an irresponsible federal intrusion.

"But apparently the price the working people pay to get to their jobs isn't important to the Republican limousine crowd," Bullock said.

Bullock in December, 1973 said former President Nixon was attempting "highway robbery" in proposing higher gasoline taxes as an answer to the energy crisis.

Carolyn Haley Says...

What is the most versatile fiber known to man? Cotton, of course. It is used for everything from dainty baby clothes to parts for heavy industrial machinery to food products.

The Tech Textile Research Center is well known in this area for its work and research on cotton. Therefore, the Lynn County Farm and Home Management Committee has arranged for a tour of the Texas Tech Textile Research Center for Monday, October 21. A chartered bus will leave the north side of the Courthouse in Tahoka at 9:00 a.m. Following the tour, a dutch treat lunch is planned at Furr's Cafeteria. After the lunch a tour of the Texas Tech museum Ranch Headquarters has been arranged. A small fee will be collected to cover the tour of the ranch. Although not mandatory, we would like for those planning to go on the tour, to call the County Extension office, 998-4650 by 5:00 p.m. October 18. This would help us know what size bus to have. But, by all means, come on even if you can't make a decision before Friday.

Cotton is the livelihood and way of life for many Lynn County residents. But, how many of you know what happens to your products once it leaves the field or local gin? Some of the interesting things participants will see will be how the raw fiber is processed; how yarn is made into fabric; how fabrics are dyed and finished; and what tests are made to insure quality yarn.

Cotton is your product. Come with us October 21 and learn more about it! The tour is open to everyone over 16 years of age. Those under 16 are not able to tour the center due to insurance regulations.

Mrs. Madeline Hegi Is Rotary Speaker

"Young people today need motivation," stated Mrs. F. B. (Madeline) Hegi in a talk before Tahoka Rotary Club last Thurs. Mrs. Hegi recently retired after having taught homemaking in the local high school for the past 27 years.

She told some of her experiences as a teacher, her attempt to encourage young people to prepare for better adult life, and her concern for improving the lot of black and brown children.

She cited several young people who had gone on to success as result of a little encouragement. One girl, she told about, had desire but whose future prospects were dismal, picked cotton after school one fall. Given financial help and encouragement, this girl went to college, and today she has a Ph. D. degree and is on the faculty of Purdue University.

She and Future Homemakers have been interested in installing a playground for blacks of the community, and with a little help from some organization this could become a reality. She is a strong believer in sports for young people, and says sports is a big factor in keeping Negro children in school.

Harold Green read a letter from David Bray, Rotary Foundation Fellow ten years ago for a year's study in England, in which Bray assessed the great impact this experience had on his life. He is currently deputy associate director for Economics and General Government, Office of Management and Budget, Washington, D. C.

BILL GRIFFIN SAYS.....

With the high cost of fertilizers, it is important to take full advantage of nutrients already in the soil. Most soils contain some of all the essential nutrients needed for plant growth. But, to determine just what nutrients are available, a soil test is the answer.

Information on taking and submitting soil samples for testing is available at the county Extension office as well as at most fertilizer dealers and local agricultural agencies. It is important to study the sampling instructions and obtain representative samples.

The first step is to use a map or sketch and divide the farm and fields into sampling units or areas. If the area represented by each sample is too large, the information obtained may not be much better than a general fertilizer recommendation. A major objective should be to identify those soils with nutrient levels adequate to meet the crop requirement so that fertilizers can be selected that will supplement the soil supply and provide enough for top yields.

Soil test results for phosphorus are especially valuable for fields that have received regular applications of phosphorus for several years. The residual from applications of phosphorus is difficult to measure until thoroughly mixed with the soil. In addition, our soils are low in potassium but most soils are high in nitrogen. The rate of nitrogen and time of application depend on the crop, soil and other conditions.

This means that considerable level of each nutrient in the soil is important in selecting the profitable fertilization program.

Fresh, warm air gently circulating from floor to ceiling... so nice to take for granted. Comfort is clean gas heat.

And that dependable comfort is such a bargain here in West Texas. Though gas energy costs a little more than it use to, gas furnaces still cost less than one-third as much to operate as similar electric furnaces.

And at the same time you're saving money with gas heating, you can also have a warm feeling knowing that you're helping conserve energy. Gas heating uses only half as much energy as an electric system doing the same job.

Barham-Read Pledge Double Vows

Miss Cynthia Fae Barham and Jerry Don Read were united in marriage in a double-ring ceremony, Saturday, October 5, 1974, at 8 p.m. in the First Baptist Church at Tahoka. Rev. Jim Turner officiated. The couple stood before an arch of greenery and lilac pom-pom mums with statis. On either side there were fern-covered candelabums holding white votive cups.

The brides parents are Mr. and Mrs. Bill Barham, 2027 North 5th, Tahoka. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Read, 1517 East 17th, Big Springs, are the grooms parents.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white gown of polyester organza, styled with an empire waist and an oval neckline. Wide pearled chantilace trimmed the A-lined skirt and bodice, and tiny white satin bows accented the skirt. The long sheer sleeves were trimmed with chantilace and ended in a lace cuff. The veil of illusion was a long train-length mantella edged in chantilace. Her bouquet was of white roses, stephanotis and baby breath with white streamers and love knots. For something old the bride carried a white handkerchief, trimmed in lace that belonged to the groom's great-grandmother; for something new, her dress, for something borrowed, her mothers diamond earrings, for something blue, her garter. Her father placed a sixpence in her shoe.

Mrs. Mark Odom of Lubbock served as matron of honor. Miss Teresa Sherrod of Tulsa and Miss Ginger Sterling of Tahoka were bridesmaids. They were identically attired in floor length dresses of lavender crepe, styled with princess lines and elbow-length puffed sleeves. White lace and narrow deep purple velvet ribbon trimmed the bodice and sleeves. They wore wreathes of lilac pom-pom mums and statis in their hair and carried nosegays of statis and pom-pom mums with lilac ribbon streamers. Melissa Thomason of Brown field served as flower girl. Her dress was similar to the attendants with short puffed sleeves and an empire waist. White lace accented the sleeves and neckline and wide purple velvet ribbon trimmed the empire waist. She wore a purple velvet bow in her hair.

Ricky Read, Big Springs, served his brother as best man. Grooms-men were Ricky Haley, Lubbock, and Mark Risetter, Dallas. Jay Rainey, Sand Springs, served as ring-bearer.

Guests were seated by Frank Barham and Doug Barham, brothers of the bride. Don Stewart of Big Spring and Larry Reynolds of Corpus Christi.

Dean Rogers accompanied himself on the guitar as he sang "Annie's Song" and "Color my World." Mrs. Clay Bennett was organist and Mrs. E. W. Patterson was pianist.

Miss Becky Burks registered guests at the church.

The reception was held in the Fellowship Hall following the ceremony. The bride's table was laid with a white cloth under white lace. The center piece was the bridesmaids bouquets and white candles. Crystal and gold appointments were used. The lilac wedding cake was three-tiered and topped with a bride and groom. Serving were Miss Kim Chandler and Miss Becky Franklin. The groom's table was laid with a purple cloth and centered with a silver candelabrum. A german chocolate double wedding band cake and coffee were served by Mrs. Rocky Plato and Mrs. Ignacio Estorga, both of Big Spring. Sherry Myricks of Level-land passed out wedding scrolls and Melissa Thomason of Brownfield passed out rice bags. Serving in the houseparty were Mr. and

Mrs. H. M. Stewart of Big Spring, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Bob Curry of Hale Center and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Stephens.

For the honeymoon in Ruidosa, New Mexico, the bride choose a brown and beige dress with brown suede accessories. She wore a corsage of white roses from her bouquet.

Mrs. Read graduated from Tahoka High School and attended Howard College at Big Spring. She works at Barnes-Pelletier in Big Spring. Mr. Read graduated from Big Spring High School. He is the furniture-appliance manager at White's in Big Spring. The couple will reside at 3002 Cherokee, Big Spring.

Special guests were the couple's grandparents; Mr. and Mrs. Newt Barham and Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Thomason all of Brownfield; Mr. George Read of Coahoma and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Rainey of Colorado City. Guests attended from Brownfield, Big Spring, Colorado City, Hale Center, Abilene, Level-land and Coahoma.

4-H'ers, Leaders To Celebrate Nat'l 4-H Week

OCT. 6-12

"We Can Make It Happen" is the theme of 1974 National 4-H Week. The words sum up the optimistic philosophy and aims of 4-H participants everywhere. The phrase pinpoints youths' commitment to learning, service to others and involvement in programs designed to develop their leadership and citizenship potential to the fullest.

National 4-H Week Theme "We Can Make It Happen"

With the many problems we face as a nation, it is refreshing to see our young people ready and willing to help bring about solutions to these pressing concerns. Enthusiasm and optimism has always been an admirable quality of American youth. Their vigor inspires all of us to do a better job in coping with our problems.

Youthful exuberance, combined with the guidance and experience of adults provides an unbeatable combination. The results of that cooperation are evident in the 4-H program.

We salute the combined efforts of 4-H'ers and their leaders "to make the best better" on the occasion of 1974 National 4-H Week, October 6-12.

The theme of the annual observance is "We Can Make It Happen." Those five words emphasize the commitment and cooperation of nearly 5.3 million youths and 560,000 volunteer leaders working together to solve common problems. With their enthusiasm and energy, in all 50 states, Puerto Rico and Washington, DC, 4-H'ers from all economic, ethnic and social backgrounds are helping clean-up and protect the environment and natural resources. The youths work to conserve energy, assist in agricultural production, and help improve health and nutrition habits of the community. In the process, the 4-H'ers develop good citizenship and leadership traits and acquire skills that will help them in later life.

Youthful enthusiasm and energy combined with adult guidance and support and working together in a common purpose—that's the 4-H story in 1974. And we support the efforts of 4-H'ers, their parents, their leaders and alumni "to make the best better."

And we would encourage our young readers, who have plenty of enthusiasm and our adult readers who may wish to volunteer their time and talents to get involved in 4-H and help "make it happen."

Information on 4-H programs and activities in the area can be obtained from the county extension service office or state 4-H office.

The Tahoka Bulldogs traveled to O'Donnell last Tuesday to meet the clawing O'Donnell Eagles. The seventh grade was upset 32 to 0. The eight played a very good game but ended up losing 6 to 0. Many parents and friends attended the game and we know Coach Wylie and the boys appreciate their support.

This week the Bulldogs will meet the Frenship Tigers at Frenship. Nine weeks test is just around the corner and everyone including teachers and students are working very hard preparing for them.

Many junior high students playing in the band this year they have been working on learning to march with school students. Robin T. is the alternate twirler from high.

Home Economists Engaged For Fall Food Arama

Final plans have been made for the Fall Food Arama to be held at Lyntegar Electric Co-op Meeting Room, Tahoka on Tuesday, Oct. 15. Two sessions will be held: an afternoon session from 1:30-4:00 p.m. and an evening session from 7:00-9:30 p.m.

All area homemakers are urged to attend to learn how they can help feed their families good meals while getting the proper nutrients. This is becoming more difficult as food costs rise.

Four Texas Home Economists will present 30 minute programs on different subjects.

They will give the same presentations at the afternoon and night sessions. You may come for all or part of the programs.

Appearing on the program will be Lynn Perrin, Nutrition Consultant with the Dairy Council of Lubbock. She will give ideas on how to get milk to your family in other ways than from a glass. Mrs. Perrin received her B. S. degree from Texas Tech University, in Food and Nutrition and H. E. Education. She is a native of Chattanooga, Tennessee.

Cindy Hamm, Home Economist with Texas Agricultural Products (TAP) will present a WOK cookery demonstration using fruits and vegetables. WOK cookery is an ancient Oriental art revived. Miss Hamm, who is a native of Austin, has a home economics degree from Southwest Texas State University, San Marcos.

Mrs. Mary Ellen Dambold, Home Economist with the Wheat Institute, will discuss breads and cereals, with special emphasis on labeling and packaging. Mrs. Dambold holds a B. S. Degree in Foods and Nutrition from Oklahoma State University. She served her dietetic internship at Michael Reese Hospital in Chicago. She has had much professional experience in the field of nutrition and is very qualified to speak on this subject.

To round out the program, Miss Sally Springer, Extension Food Specialist from Texas A&M University will discuss consumer concerns, selection, buying, storing and preparation of meat. Miss Springer, a native of Florida, has a B. S. degree in Home Economics from Salem College, and her M. S. degree in Food and Nutrition from Florida State University. Before becoming an Extension specialist, she taught at Florida State University and the University of Illinois. Her presentation will be timely and informative.

Exhibits will be on display for additional information in the area of foods and nutrition.

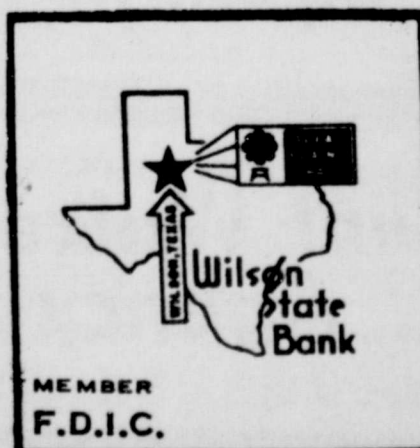

Door prizes will be given away during both sessions of the program.

For more information, contact Carolyn Haley, Lynn County Extension Agent.

Sugar Cane Prospects... Cotton and English Election... Fewer Hogs on Farms... Labor Cost Up

HARVESTING OF the Rio Grande Valley's second sugar cane crop in many years will soon be getting underway. Good yields are expected again, and there are indications that more acres will be planted in sugar cane next season. About 29,000 acres are in sugar cane this year in the Valley, compared to about 26,000 last season. There are many problems in growing sugar cane, of course, but the outcome of the two Valley crops was and is encouraging. One of the problems growers face is the need to burn strippings off cane. Most work in the growing of cane is done by machinery, but stripping is not one of them. Most of it is done by burning which creates smoke, which creates criticism. The W. R. Cowley Sugar House, built at a cost of $26 millions, is the only sugar mill in operation in the Valley now, and it employs about 250 during the grinding season, and about 100 during the off season. Another 1,500 are employed in growing, harvesting, and delivering sugar cane. (Harvest is usually from October to March.) That means a lot to the economy, and with sugar prices being what they are now, the Valley's "newest" crop may be expanding rapidly in the coming years.

IT'S A SMALL world note: The coming elections in England have affected the Texas cotton crops. "Howell's Cotton Letter" reported recently that announcement of the English election, slated for October 10, caused Liverpool and other English spinners to delay making further cotton purchases. That is just one more setback West Texas growers have faced with the 1974 cotton crop. First it was the drought, then too much rain and cool weather, and now it is the market (declining prices). Prices have ranged from 40 cents up to around 47 cents in Texas during the past few weeks, depending on quality. Costs of growing cotton being what they are, plus the good prices on grain sorghums (around $5 and up) may cause a decrease in acreage planted in cotton next year. Rain and cool weather in the 25-county area around Lubbock have brought about a further decline in prospects for the 1974 crop. Cool temperatures slow the rate of maturity of cotton, and an early frost on West Texas cotton could create havoc. Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service says that West Texas will need warm, sunny weather to mature out a normal crop. Other sources say that between 200,000 and 300,000 bales have been lost from the prospects of the West Texas crop since September 1.

THE 930,000 head of pigs and hogs on Texas farms September 1 is 15 per cent below the same time last year, and it is estimated that 91,000 sows will farrow from September through next February, a seven per cent decrease for the same period in 1973. Breeding hogs on Texas farms September 1 were estimated at 140,000 and market hogs at 790,000. The June-to-August pig crop totaled 336,000 head which was 21 per cent decrease from the same period in 1973.

FARM LABOR statistics in Texas show that wages paid all hired workers at mid-year averaged $2.07 an hour, an increase of 23 cents an hour over 1973. Although those Texas wages were above those paid in most nearby states, it was below the national average of $2.19 an hour. The $2.07 includes cash and other benefits. In mid-1973, the hourly average in Texas was $1.84. The total number of workers on Texas farms and ranches in August was estimated at 263,000, a decrease of 11 per cent from last year. That total includes 180,000 family workers and 83,000 hired workers, says Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

Replacement tires should never be smaller than the tires supplied with a car as original equipment, advises the Tire Industry Safety Council. A smaller size may effect ground clearance, instrument accuracy and the suspension system of the car.

GSPA Seeks Members

Grain Sorghum Producers Association President A. W. Anthony, of Friona, Tex., announced the organization's fall membership campaign, launched October 1. Anthony said GSPA has become "one of the nation's most influential commodity groups, especially in the Southwest." As proof of this, he said GSPA directors serve on several top level advisory committees, including the Federal Energy Advisory Committee, USDA's Grain Advisory Committee, the National Cost of Production Advisory Committee. Other county directors serve on the county-level committees, serving as officials of the sorghum grower's viewpoint.

SAYS

To know people is to love them. It makes no difference who they are, where they came from or where they are going.

Just stop a moment and say "hi" and watch a stranger's face.

This is real love.

This is the quality we strive to put in our portraits. We hope the beholder will smile and say, "what a lovely person."

No other gift that you can give for Christmas will be more personal and carry the message of love as well.

For your appointment call Audrey at 998-4142 TODAY!

May God keep you in the hollow of His hand.

County GSPA director, urged area farmers to mail their membership dues early this year. He stated that "membership in GSPA is one of the best bargains available. For just $10 annually, you get representation in Congress, contribute to world-wide market development and have your production problems gain the attention of prominent sorghum researchers. You also receive the GRAIN SORGHUM NEWS without additional charge."

Citing some of GSPA's goals, Unfred said, "We stand solidly opposed to any type of embargo on sorghum exports, we will continue to work to guarantee our farmers an adequate supply of fuel, and we are putting a great deal of time and effort into solving the problems of increased production costs."

Unfred said membership dues application cards are now being mailed to all producers on the GSPA mailing list. Anyone who wishes to join GSPA may do so by sending a $10 check with his name and address to: GRAIN SORGHUM PRODUCERS ASSOCIATION, 1708-A 15th Street, Lubbock, Texas 79401.

BLOOMING SWEET POTATO VINE- Pictured above is Mr. F. E. House holding a sweet potato vine that has blooms on it. The blooms are similar to morning glory blossoms. He has about 300 hills and four of them are blooming. Mr. House said that he is 81 years old and this is the first time he ever saw one bloom.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Sir;

This is a complaint against one of our commissioners.

We have a railroad crossing that is badly in need of repair. He says definitely he won't repair it. This is a county road, and when he asked for the office, he evidently knew he had a responsibility to repair the county roads.

If this be the case we are paying twice as we have already paid in taxes for this service.

If this man is not qualified for the position he holds, he should be man enough to resign, and not draw tax money for his salary, so he may thumb his nose at us without our paying him for it.

SIGNED;

T. W. Spears

Toeing in and toeing out is bad for tires, says the Tire Industry Safety Council. An improper setting, with wheels on the same axle pointing towards or away from each other will cause tires to drag down the road rather than roll smooth and even.

If you are buying new tires before you think you should have to, have an expert check to see why the old ones wore out, suggests the Tire Industry Safety Council. Learning the telltale signs of underinflation or other common tire wear problems means safer driving and maybe longer tread life the next time around.

North Dakota's $1,600 is the highest maximum state bonus paid Vietnamera veterans, according to the Veterans Administration.

After two years of research, the Veterans Administration hospital at Buffalo, New York has fire-proofed and prolonged the life of mattresses, bed linens and room draperies, while saving on laundry bills.

Added air pressure can reduce wear and keep tires cooler on long trips at steady speeds, says the Tire Industry Safety Council. Add up to four pounds four turnpike driving, but never go above the maximum allowable air pressure, molded on the sidewall, for instance, "32 psi" for most passenger car tires.

Miss Cynthia Barham and Jerry Read and their wedding party were honored at a dinner Friday, October 4th at the Tahoka Country Club. The dinner was hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Read of Big Springs. Thirty-three people attended.

PRODUCE AND PROTECT: America needs more crop production, but not at the expense of damage to our natural resources. The Soil Conservation Service warns that some soils are prone to erosion from wind or water and should stay under cover. Check your soil before you plow, and protect our resources for the future. If we plan with care, there will be plenty of acres to grow our crops, and for all America's other resource needs as well.

CONSERVATION FARMING: Conservation farming is more productive farming. Produce more, but protect more, too.

THINGS TO DO: When you're listing things to do, add this; support your local conservation district. It's working for cleaner air, purer water, and a more beautiful countryside.

COVER CROPS - Sure seed is expensive, but not near as expensive as that good topsoil which will blow away if we don't put a cover on it. Turnrows, terraces, skip-row cotton, and odd areas can all be planted now. But, time is running out. Seed should be planted before November 1 to do any good and to make the winter.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Wrong Victim

One winter's day, Art, a teenager, was amusing himself by hurling snowballs at passing cars. One snowball missed its target and struck a pedestrian across the street, injuring his eye. Could Art be held liable for assault and battery?

In a court hearing, his lawyer said no.

"Art had no wrongful purpose toward this man," went the lawyer's argument. "Hitting him was purely accidental."

However, the court ordered Art to pay damages. The court invoked the doctrine of "transferred intent," by which an original wrongful intent—in this case, the desire to hit the passing car—was transferred to the accidental consequences.

This widely recognized doctrine is based on the law's reluctance to let a wrongdoer get off scot-free. It has even been applied in a case of mistaken identity. Thus:

A man sneaked up behind another man, thinking he was an old antagonist, and bashed him on the head. Actually, the victim happened to be a total stranger.

But that didn't help the first man when he was haled into court afterward to face a damage claim. Applying the doctrine of transferred intent, the court had no trouble finding him liable.

On the other hand, the doctrine will not apply if there was no wrongful purpose in the first place.

Suppose, for instance, that a woman who is being chased by a mugger throws a rock in his direction. And suppose the rock misses the mugger and hits an innocent bystander.

Under these circumstances, the woman could not be held responsible for injury to the bystander, because she had acted in legitimate self defense. With no wrongful intent to begin with, there would be nothing that could be transferred into legal liability.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture on October 2 rendered use of the Commodity Credit Corporation loan in 1974 slightly less attractive to producers of agricultural commodities, according to Donald A. Johnson, Executive Vice President of Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Inc.

USDA announced October 2 that the interest rate on CCC loans after that date would be 9.375 per cent, up 2.125 per cent from the 7.250 per cent announced on March 8 of this year and 3.875 per cent above the 5.5 per cent interest charge on 1973 crop loans.

Johnson said this changes previous PCG calculations which showed the necessity for a .302 cent per pound per month price increase from the date of loan to date of sale if use of the loan was not to result in a loss. This "break-even point" allowed for 75 cents per month storage charge and 70 cents per month interest on a loan of $115.20 per bale, or a total cost of $1.45 per bale per month.

Using the same loan value per bale and the new interest rate, the monthly interest charge would come to 90 cents per bale instead of 70 cents. Thus, since the storage charge is not expected to change, the total cost of carrying cotton beyond harvest would be $1.65 per month and the break-even price increase per month becomes, .3437 cents per pound.

Under the anniversary date loan regulations instituted in 1971, growers can retain control of cotton up to 12 months under the CCC loan. CCC will forgive up to two months' storage charges at the time the loan is made, and the loan doesn't mature until 10 months after the first day of the month in which the loan is executed.

The difference in the break-even point under the higher interest charge on cotton held 10 months, for example, is only
.417 cents per pound, less than one-half cent.

"But on 100 bales," Johnson cautions, "it could mean the difference between breaking even, losing over $2,000 more, or realizing over $2,000 less gain." ***

In the event of any early frost or freeze, application of a defoliant or desiccant on this year's cotton crop will be of no benefit, and with normal October weather and a normal frost of freeze date, loss of yield and micronaire is inevitable.

This is the consensus of experienced High Plains cotton research people at the Texas A&M Research & Extension Center with regard to all but a very small percentage of area cotton. Dr. Bob Metzger, Cotton Specialist with the Texas A&M Extension Service, now at College Station, says "My recommendation is to stay out of these fields with any type of harvest aid chemical or topping equipment," and adds, "This is certainly an area where money should not be spent." Before moving to College Station, Metzger was Area Cotton Specialist for the Lubbock research center for over seven years.

According to Dr. Lavon Ray, a veteran of over 25 years of cotton study at the Lubbock center, some area farmers with green, sappy cotton are thinking that a moderate amount of defoliation will allow more sunlight penetration and hasten maturity of full size bolls. "And this thinking is not totally erroneous," he admits, "except that the degree of defoliation achieved with chemicals is near impossible to control."
