Mrs. H. G. Smith dies in Lubbock

Mrs. H. G. Smith, 81, whose husband was an early day county judge of Garza County, died about 8 o'clock Wednesday night at her home in Lubbock.

Funeral services will be held at the First Methodist Church here, but the time and other arrangements were pending this morning at Hudman Funeral Home.

Mrs. Smith and her husband were among the county's earliest settlers. Mr. Smith, who died about 18 years ago, was county judge prior to the 1920's.

Mrs. Smith is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Marjorie Hostler of Clifton Heights, Pa., and Mrs. Faye Richards of Lubbock; one son, Alex Smith of Dallas, and six grandchildren.

With the exception of the laboratory, the building is air-conditioned with refrigerated air and will be centrally heated in the winter. The laboratory is air-conditioned with a two-ton unit and will be heated by a small heating unit. The body was recovered about two hours later and artificial respiration administered by members of the Post Volunteer Fire Department.

The deputy sheriff said the woman told him Goss went under once after apparently being seized by cramps while they were about halfway across the tank.

After leaving the tank to summon help, the woman was unable to start their automobile. She ran and walked to U. S. Highway 380, about a mile and a half from the tank, and caught a ride into town. She notified City Marshal Otis G. Shepherd Jr. of the accident and See DROWNING VICTIM Page 8

No telling how long

Gas war on

Local motorists are driving on full tanks this week—that is, if they are smart. The "gas war" is back, but not even the dealers know how long it will last.

Prices on regular gas were down to 21.5 cents per gallon at the major stations yesterday afternoon after an original "war" posting of 23.9. Lowest in town is 20.9 cents. Even the higher test gasolines were in the "war" this time.

Post got into its first "gas war" several weeks ago—actually being dragged into it by Lubbock's "war" prices. It appears that Post stations now are going to fight it out each time Lubbock does.

One gasoline distributor here, explaining causes behind such "gas wars", added that Lubbock is considered just about the most "unstable" gasoline retail market in the whole Southwest.

All of which means local drivers may "enjoy" a "gas war" every so often.

Post high footballers open their 1959 season at Ralls tomorrow night—and although we don't want one of those thunderstorm gales blowing a cool breeze would help all concerned to make it seem more like the football season.

Coach Alexander, his other coaches, and the squad have been working hard through the late August heat wave to come up to the opener in playing shape. Although thin in numbers and already beset by training injuries, the Antelopes this year will be heavier and that will help. Good luck team! See you at Ralls!

Dove hunters report good hunting this week—if you know where to look. "There are plenty of doves in the right places," is the way we've been getting first reports.

We accepted Julian Smith's invitation yesterday morning to take a look-see at the fine new highway engineers' building on South Broadway and can report that it's sure a beauty. Julian reports his staff is "down to 13 right now—lowest since coming to Post because we don't have any highway projects going." But that's a mighty nice payroll for this community.

Here at The Dispatch we want to apologize for some "bad luck" this week with news pictures. Editor Charlie Didway got a football squad picture in the new uniforms and went down and got a picture of the highway engineers' building right after the Monday move-in. But due to a mixup, the camera holders weren't loaded and Charlie was only shooting "blanks." He didn't find it out in time to reshoot the pictures, but resourceful Charlie dug up two football pictures to substitute.

Meeting set to speed White River financing

White River Water District directors, who will meet at Ralls at 8 a. m. Friday to speed federal action on a change in White River dam financing, hope to have federal Housing and Home Finance Agency approval within ten days.

The district's finance committee has a Sept. 11 date with the Texas Water Resources Board in Austin in its efforts to receive approval at that time of the financing changes as far as the state is concerned.

Marvin McLaughlin of Ralls, chairman of the financing committee, and Reese McNeil of Spur met with the regional officials of the HHFA in Fort Worth last week and were told at that time that the agency would need a resolution by the White River district directors asking that that portion of the loan contract calling for partial financing through sale of surplus water to oil companies be removed from the contract.

That's the purpose of the special meeting in the Security State Bank at Ralls tomorrow morning—to pass that resolution. All directors have been urged to attend.

Regional HHFA officials told the finance committee at Fort Worth they would try to have an answer on the financing changes from Washington by the time the committee is scheduled to meet with the state water board next Friday.

McLaughlin told The Dispatch he is optimistic of receiving both federal and state approval on the new financing proposals.

Approval by both federal agency and the state agency are necessary to qualify for the $4,000,000 in loan funds for the dam's construction.

The federal agency also will be asked to okay the new bond maturity dates as set up in the new fi-naning proposal. Water elections in the four member cities will be slated probably for late fall.

McLaughlin pointed out that a thorough study of its water rates by each city is essential, as the federal agency will have to approve the proposed rates before they are submitted to the people at special elections.

"We've got to prove to the agency that the water rates will be such as to make loan financing feasible," McLaughlin explained.

He estimated it will be November before the water rate elections can be called.

Mrs. J. F. Mason buried in rites here Wednesday

Last rites for Mrs. J. F. Mason, 75, who died late Monday night at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Ray McClellan, in the Graham community, were held at 4 p. m. Wednesday at the Graham Methodist Church, of which she was a member.

Mrs. Mason, who had lived in the Graham community since 1923, became ill Saturday, but had sufficiently recovered to attend a birthday dinner in honor of her 75th birthday Sunday at the Graham community center. The dinner was held in advance of Mrs. Mason's 75th birthday, which was Sept. 2.

She was born Sept. 2, 1884, at Hamilton and was married there. See MASON RITES Page 8

Balloting Saturday on $200,000 bond issue

Close vote seen in road bond election

With interest in Saturday's $200,000 road bond election in Commissioner's Precinct 1, picking up rapidly, indications are that the vote will be close.

Proponents of the road bond proposal are hoping that it won't be too close, since it will require a two-thirds majority of those voting to carry.

If the bond issue is approved, the county will use whatever amount it takes to pay its share for right-of-way needed for the four-lane widening of U.S. Highway 84 from the top of the caprock to near Southland.

The State Highway Department has approved the widening project, contingent upon the county furnishing the required right-of-way.

The state will pay one-half its appraisal cost for the right-of-way. That means if the state approves a plot of land needed for the right-of-way at $1,000, but the owner won't sell for less than $2,000, then it will be up to the county to pay $1,500. The state will not pay more than one-half of its appraisal figure.

County commissioners say they have no idea of what the right-of-way will cost, since the highway department won't furnish a listing of the property needed until sometime next year.

While there is no way of knowing what the right-of-way will cost until the property listings are furnished, guesses have been ranging from $30,000 to as high as $100,000.

County commissioners have announced that the bond money not used in purchase of right-of-way will be used to acquire right-of-way for construction of a farm-to-market road from the Wilson road connection of U. S. 84 to FM - Road 123, running from Post to Ralls and other points north. The length of this road would be about eight miles.

The commissioners' report has also said that any other money left over would be used for the improvement of city streets and roads within Precinct 1.

The road bond proposition also provides for levying of an ad valorem tax, which is expected to be about 38 cents per $100 property valuation. The precinct has an assessed valuation of $6,318,443, which the commissioners feel puts it in a good enough financial shape to

$600 is stolen from cafe worker's home

Six hundred dollars she had saved from several years of hard labor was stolen Monday from Mrs. Martinez Vallabos by burglars who broke into her home on South Avenue 1, across the street from the post office.

Mrs. Vallabos, who is employed as a dishwasher at Levi's Ranch Cafe, reported the burglary Monday afternoon to Deputy Sheriff Red Floyd and City Marshal Otis G. Shepherd Jr.

She found the money missing from a trunk when she returned home from work shortly after 3 o'clock Monday afternoon. The burglars had pried the lid off the trunk after twisting the lock off a door to get into the woman's house.

The deputy sheriff said the burglars overlooked $252 which was in envelopes in the trunk. The $600 they stole was in $5, $10 and $20 bills, clipped together and in plain sight in the trunk, Floyd said Mrs. Vallabos told him.

The woman told the officers that the back door was standing open with its lock twisted off when she got home from work.

The small adobe house in which Mrs. Vallabos lives is built on to the rear of a cafe, which she operates in the fall of the year.

The deputy sheriff said everything pointed to the money having been taken by someone who knew it was there. "Nothing else in the house was bothered," he said.

An investigation into the burglary was being continued today. Floyd said a few suspects have been questioned.

Vote 'FOR' in road bond election

There are a number of reasons why voters of Commissioner's Precinct 1 should cast a ballot for the $200,000 road bond issue in Saturday's special election. Chief among these reasons is that of improved roads on all levels, including the four-lane widening of U. S. Highway 84 from where the present divided highway ends on top of the caprock to the Lynn County line at a point near Southland.

The State Highway Department will spend approximately half a million dollars on this project if the county will furnish the right-of-way. In the purchase of the right-of-way needed for widening the highway, the state will meet the county half-way by paying half the cost it takes to acquire it.

Project No. 1 for the commissioner's precinct, if the bond issue carries, will be purchase of the right-of-way. Money left over after the right-of-way is acquired would be used to construct an important farm-to-market road from the point where the Wilson road intersects U. S. 84 on west to a connection with the farm-to-market road from Post to Ralls. Also included will be the improvement of city streets and county roads within the precinct—as far as the money will go.

There more than likely are some who will argue that city streets should be improved by the city government, which they are to a great extent.

However, property owners along these city streets are paying taxes to the county, and there is no reason why such of this money as is available shouldn't be spent to help the city keep up the streets. When all the tax money in any commissioner's precinct is spent on county roads, then the people in town are realizing no direct benefit from their county tax dollars as far as street work is concerned.

Would approval of the proposed bond issue raise taxes?

Yes. Included in the proposition to be voted on is the levying of an ad valorem tax for retirement of the bond issue—in not more than 13 years, according to present plans. This special road bond tax in Commissioner's Precinct 1 would amount to about 30 cents per $100 property valuation.

The big item, we repeat, is the acquisition of right-of-way for the U. S. 84 widening. The highway department will not go through with this half-million dollar project unless the county acquires the right-of-way. The only way the county will be able to do this is through Saturday's proposed bond issue. Remember that when you go vote.

Every qualified voter in Commissioner's Precinct 1 should cast a ballot in this important election.—CD.

Cattle feeding gains in area

Don't be surprised if cattle feeding on the South Plains someday rivals King Cotton in size and wealth.

That interesting and wholly logical prediction was made recently by Duane Howell, the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal's farm editor, following a tour of this area's crops, cattle feeding operations, and packing plants by some leading farm credit and agricultural officials.

Some members of the Farm Credit Board of Houston, which is made up of representatives from every section of Texas, said they felt cattle feeding here on the South Plains some day could rival Corn Belt operations.

All were impressed with the tremendous potential this area has for expanding feed lot operations. The visitors didn't say cattle feeding might replace cotton. Fact is, the area's enormous production of cotton and cottonseed products, which are used in cattle feeding, would be needed to sustain large feedlot operations and is one reason for the big feeding potential.

Add to these cottonseed products the mountainous supply of grain sorghums, which tests show are almost equal in value in feeding to corn, and you have all the basic feed ingredients needed for feedlot operations.

What's more, the South Plains are "strategically" located as far as prospective markets for beef is concerned.

The erection this last year of the new Supreme Beef Company packing plant in Lubbock came about through just such an analysis of future potential.

The ranch country of this area produces the right kind of feeder cattle and the feed supplies also are locally produced.

It should be emphasized, however, that successful cattle feeding isn't an automatic thing which can be undertaken by any farmer inclined to go into the business. It requires know-how just like most other agricultural enterprises.

The only shortcoming right now to greatly expanded cattle feeding for the area is the lack of rail and truck service on beef from Lubbock to market points in the eastern, southeastern and far west consuming areas.

But that can come. The Postex Mills are a good example of how to solve the transportation problem. Burlington simply organized its own truck system to serve their plants—and their markets.—JC.

Looks like an interesting season

Hundreds of high school football teams throughout Texas, including the Post Antelopes, kick off the 1959 grid season tomorrow. It'll be the start of the season for Classes AA, A and B, with a few AAA teams also trying off the lid, but the big schools—Class AAAA—won't open until Friday week, Sept. 11.

The Antelopes, with an entirely new coaching staff, are opening away from home against the Ralls Jackrabbits. In their first home game, Sept. 11 against Crosbyton, the Post gridders not only will be sporting new jerseys and helmets, but will also be playing before a crowd seated on new bleachers and will be using a new field house. Tie in all that with the new coaching staff and one can correctly say that it'll be the "new look" here in football.

It's the same old story, though, as far as squad depth is concerned. The Antelopes probably will open against Ralls tomorrow night with a squad of about 20 players, which is far too few for a high school with an enrollment of some 260 students. If Lady Luck will ride with the coaches and the players and fend off injuries, the Antelopes should have a better season than last year. They are bigger and more experienced. But, with such a small squad, as many as three or four game injuries could just about "wreck" us.

Every football fan who finds it possible to do so is urged to make the trip to Ralls and help the Antelopes and their new coaching staff get off to a good start. They're also urged to back the team throughout the season both at home and away from home.

This season marks the start of a football building program, with 7th, 8th and 9th grade teams to play full schedules. Fans are also encouraged to attend as many of these games as possible, since it does the youngsters good to have moral support from the "home side," whether they're playing here or on some other gridiron.

It all shapes up as an interesting season, whether it's a winning one or not.—CD.

Your opportunity to join the P-TA

Membership enrollment in the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers has been designated for September and October by official proclamation of Gov. Price Daniel.

The Post Parent-Teacher Association will join in the annual membership enrollment campaign, and adult citizens of Post can help by becoming members of the P-TA if they do not already belong.

Memberships in the state organization numbered 673,023 last April, a gain of 42,000 over the previous year. That proves that the P-TA is a growing organization in Texas. Memberships in the national organization attained 11,310,995, and are expected to reach 12 million by next spring, according to the national president, Mrs. James C. Parker of Grand Rapids, Mich. Texas ranks fourth in the nation.

"Let's Call on All" is the slogan adopted for this year. So, if you are called on to join this worthwhile organization of parents and teachers, heed the call.

The Post unit and some 2,600 other local units in Texas will seek to recruit parents with school-age children (as well as aunts, uncles, cousins); parents whose children are now out of school; parents of pre-school children; persons who have no children but are interested in child welfare; teachers and other educators.

The aim of the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers is the same today as when it was founded 50 years ago—"to promote the welfare of children and youth in home, school, church and community."—CD.

The Texas Safety Association predicts that many persons will not return to their homes on Tuesday morning, because of traffic injuries. More than 30 are not expected to return at all.

But when they are all boiled down, one of the basic causes will amount to nothing more than a simple lack of courteous motoring.

AUGUST GOT IN a parting shot with its heat wave and Saturday night's sandstorm, but didn't go on record as a particularly rainy month.

Whether or not many cigarette smokers and other tobacco users quit having anything to do with Lady Nicotine because of the tax raises which went into effect Tuesday remains to be seen. We doubt it. Those who quit smoking, chewing or dipping probably would have done so anyway. One Post merchant whose tobacco counter is well patronized told us the other day that if all his customers who have threatened to quit smoking because of the higher prices really do so, then his tobacco business is going to hit rock-bottom. "But I don't think many of them will quit using the weed," he said.

OUR FRIEND up the street says time tells on a man—especially a good time!

A steno was applying for a new job. On the application blank given her she wrote: "I'm thoroughly familiar with all the important phases of office procedure, including bowling, crossword puzzles, coffee breaks, personal letter writing, and collection taking."

WE SAW IN one of Sunday's papers where somebody is advocating advertising on the sides of boxcars, and he might have something there. We think newspaper advertising is the best kind there is, but any kind of advertising beats no advertising at all. When you stop to think of how many different tracks a boxcar travels on, you can see where a big ad painted on the side of one would get its message to a lot of people. Most of them who'd see it, however, would be motorists stopped at a railroad crossing waiting for the elephant-like parade of boxcars to go on by so they could get across. In that case, boxcar advertising might be like TV commercials—a little irksome at times.

The man who is suddenly overcome by temptation has probably been thinking about it a long time.

This is the month when a record 46,480,000 students will enroll in the nation's schools and colleges during the 1959-60 school year, with even higher enrollments still to come, according to the Office of Education.

SUCH STAGGERING enrollment figures means an even worse teacher shortage than a classroom shortage. The deficit of qualified teachers for the year is estimated at 195,000 compared with a shortage of 182,000 in 1958-59, which means that it is growing on us. Post, and other schools with complete facilities for the new school year can consider themselves fortunate.

Just about the time a woman thinks her work is done she becomes a grandmother.

BY FALL, THOSE of us who keep up with such things are going to need a program to keep track of all the entries in the new car sweepstakes. At least four new names will be in the field. In probable order of introduction they will be the Corvair, Falcon, Dart and Valiant.

Corvair, Falcon and Valiant will justify Detroit's standard claim to being "completely new." They are the smaller economy cars of General Motors, Ford and Chrysler. Each of the manufacturers has strenuously insisted they will not be stripped down versions.

THE DART, TOO, will be a lot different. It will be a smaller Dodge built on a wheelbase four inches shorter than the 1959 Dodge and priced in the same field as Plymouth. Dodge claims the Dart will be different from other Dodges.

The Corvair is expected to be offered by Chevrolet dealers about Oct. 9. The Falcon will be in Ford showrooms about a week later. The Dart will show about Nov. 1 and the Valiant in late November or December.

WITH THE WIFE, we were guests at last Thursday's regular weekly luncheon of the Golden Age Club, at which the ladies surprised the gentlemen with a hat show. We almost, but not quite, gave the surprise away when we walked in with our camera. The hats displayed by the ladies were "out of this world"—literally—and the whole affair was an enjoyable one.

Post people who haven't yet visited this weekly luncheon of our senior citizens should do so. They're always welcome, members tell us. It'd surprise you what a good time the members have at their luncheon, which is always followed by domino games, just visiting, and other diversions.

About Your HEALTH

On your next backyard cook-out, don't make your weenie skewer an oleander branch. Even if your host offers you one peeled and turned, tell him politely but firmly, "Thanks, but no thanks."

peas, although seldom fatal, are poisonous enough to keep a victim bedridden for weeks with a form of paralysis.

A POISON IN elephant ears, so plentiful in Texas, causes a painful swelling and itching of the mouth, tongue and throat when chewed. A growth called "dumb cane" gets its name from the fact that when chewed it causes tongue swelling to the point that speech is impossible.

Admittedly there are few actual deaths attributed to eating poisonous plants. But the potential is always there. And your guess is as good as anyone's as to how much disabling illness is caused by backyard foliage.

Besides the ones mentioned, here is a partial list of the most common poisonous plants. Poisonous parts are indicated in brackets:

Monks hood (all parts), water hemlock or poison hemlock (all parts), larkspur (foliage), fox glove (foliage), Christmas rose (roots), mountain laurel (all parts), golden chain (seeds), all species of rhododendron (foliage), wild black cherry (dried foliage). V. F. (Bing) Bingham of 611 West Sixth, Post representative of the South Plains Agency of Great Southern Life Insurance Company, has qualified for membership in the Leaders' Legion of the 1959 Great Southern Club, through individual personal production of more than half a million dollars in life insurance sales in the 12 months ended June 30, 1959.

Bingham and his wife, Jean, will attend the 50th Anniversary Meeting of the Club, Sept. 7-14, at the Hotel del Coronado in Coronado, Calif., which will be attended by the 189 Club members, their wives, their agency managers and a group of home office officials.

The announcement by Pat M. Club members qualified by producing more than a quarter of a million dollars each in life insurance, for a total combined production by members of $90,707,865. The 1959 membership is the largest in the Club's history, the announcement said. Eleven Great Southern representatives produced in excess of $1 million each in life insurance, led by D. L. Q. I am 21 years old, eligible for training under the War Orphans Education Act, but I never finished high school. Would that keep me from taking courses under the War Orphans program?

A. No. Graduation from high school is not a requirement for War Orphans Education Act training. A young man or woman who quits high school may be eligible under the program.

Q. What kind of papers or other credentials do I need to take with me when I go to a lender to apply for a GI loan?

A. You will need only the Certificate of Eligibility which shows you are entitled to apply for a loan. This Certificate of Eligibility may be obtained from any VA regional office.

BEST RIDE . . . CARRIES YOU AS CAREFULLY AS IT PAMPERS YOUR DOLLARS "The smoothest, most quiet, softest riding car in its price class." That's the way MOTOR TREND magazine describes Chevrolet's cream-smooth ride. It's way more fun to sample than to read about though. Get out in a Chevy and see what Full Coil springs do.

BEST ENGINE . . . YOU COULD SPEND JARSFUL OF JACK AND NOT GET A V8 LIKE CHEVY'S Talking about our standard as well as Corvette V8's, SPORTS CARS ILLUSTRATED says, "Indeed, this device is

MAN WITH AN IDEA

Captain

Anthony F. Lucas,

who brought in the renowned Spindletop well which opened up the Gulf Coast area as a major source of oil, was one of the many men whose ideas sparked oil's first century of progress.

Lucas' first efforts to drill in the big salt dome near Beaumont, Texas, brought him ridicule. Everyone "knew" that oil was found only along creek beds. His initial try bogged down in quicksand. His second ran out of funds at 575 feet.

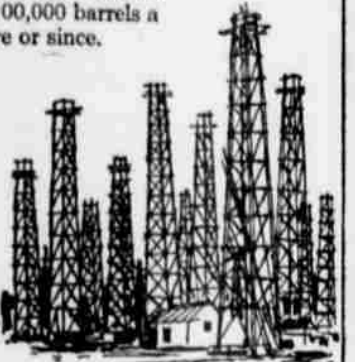

The Austrian-born mining engineer refused to quit. Borrowing to the hilt and forfeiting most of his own interests in the venture, he obtained one of the new heavy rotary rigs, and drilled deeper and deeper, through gumbo mud and caprock.

On January 10, 1901, his well came in at 1,020 feet with a shattering roar and began flowing 75,000 to 100,000 barrels a day. There has never been a well like it, before or since.

The Lucas well spurred the search for new fields, and the United States leaped ahead of Russia as the world's top producing nation—a position of supremacy it still retains.

Since 1859, when the first oil well was drilled, men with ideas have worked to provide Americans with this abundant, low-cost source of energy—energy that has meant more human progress in the last century than in the previous 6,000 years.

Scene for the occasion was the home of Mrs. Howard McCampbell, where approximately 20 women from the church called for the morning coffee. The honoree was presented an array of layette gifts.

Candlelight ceremony unites Wanda Hagler, Donald Clary

A double ring candlelight ceremony united Miss Wanda Lee Hagler and Donald Ray Clary in marriage Friday evening. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lee Hagler, Route 2, and Mr. and Mrs. Nolan Clary are the bridegroom's parents.

The bride's cousin, Homer Jones of Wellman, officiated for the ceremony at the Gordon Church of Christ at 8 o'clock.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a gown of Chantilly lace over taffeta designed with a scalloped Sabrina neckline and long petal-point sleeves. The empire bodice was accented with two bands of applied medallions embroidered in iridescent sequins. Scallops of lace highlighted the waltz-length full skirt and a crown of pearls held her shoulder-length veil of illusion. She carried a white orchid surrounded with carnations atop a white Bible.

Miss Jean Hagler, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. The bridegroom's niece, Miss Judy Clary, and Miss Jerilyn Huddleston were bridesmaids. They wore dresses fashioned alike from ice blue taffeta with gathered skirts, white cummerbunds, large puffed sleeves and squared back necklines. They wore headbands of matching colors with short veils and carried white carnation bouquets.

Bob Cato attended the bridegroom as best man. Ushers were Horace Smith and Clarky Cowdrey.

Beverly Rackler was flower girl and Ronnie Warshaw of Wilson was ring bearer. Candles were lighted by the bride's cousins, Larry and Barry Jones of Wellman. Jimmy Short sang "Because."

Mrs. Clary chose for a trip to Ruidoso, N. M., a two-piece light blue wool suit with black and white accessories. They are at home at 201 West 12th Street.

The bride is a graduate of Wilson High School and her husband, a graduate of Post High School, is employed by Shell Oil Company.

Corner on Cotton

BY BOB COLLINS

Just how well the mechanics of the new cotton program will work when cotton starts to move over the country in volume is a question foremost in the minds of many cotton men. It may be expected that there will be considerable disappointment early in the program with the large amount of paperwork and the large number of errors that are certain to crop up. Anyway, cotton and cotton men certainly are tested this season with an untried program, lots of red tape and the largest crop in six years, if the August forecast is accurate. In case you haven't seen the government forecast it's for 14.5 million bales. That's up 29 per cent from last year and up 5 per cent from the '48-'57 average. And, if the forecast is right, the record yield per acre of last year will be topped by eight pounds. That means the crop will climb to 474 pounds per acre or 145 pounds above the average 10-year yield.

What's going to happen to all this cotton? The feeling is that most of it will be consumed. The experts say that domestic mills will use more than nine million bales and exports will range between five and six million. Last year the U. S. mills used about 8.6 million bales and exports were only about 2.8 million.

Cotton Everywhere

Apparently cotton was the only domesticated plant common to both the Eastern and Western Hemisphere in prehistoric times. All other plants grown by the Indians were not known in Europe. And the people who should know how to explain this don't have any explanation!

Mill Record

U. S. textile industry thinks it has an anti-inflation record. The average textile item that cost $1.00 in 1947-49 now costs only 91 cents. On the other hand, the averaged other manufactured item that cost a buck in '47-'49 now costs $1.28.

Area soldier in Army exercise

Army Pvt. William A. Becker, a 1955 graduate of Southland High School, has participated in a lengthy large-scale field training exercise with the 4th Armored Division in Grafenwörth, Germany.

The training was designed to test the combat readiness of the 4th Armored Division, a part of the NATO shield of defense in Europe.

A mechanic in Service Battery of the division's 14th Artillery in Furth, Becker entered the Army last November, completed basic training at Fort Hild, Tex., and arrived in Europe last May.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Becker, the 23-year-old soldier attended Texas Tech following his graduation from high school.

"TODOS BIENVENIDOS"

(Church located on Northeast side of town on Spur highway)

What could taste better on a hot summer afternoon than a cold delicious drink of homemade lemonade? This sidewalk stand seems to be doing a thriving business...lots of thirsty customers, no competition or overhead and as long as mother's lemons hold out, the pennies will stack up.

The sidewalk lemonade stand is an old American institution; yet to each new generation it is a novel and wonderful experience. Our children often surprise us with their creative imagination and practical enterprise; for perhaps from this sidewalk stand this young lady may one day own her own store or business. And so it is with all phases of life. We build success on simple beginnings. We learn today from yesterday's experience. We gain knowledge by doing. And we can only learn of God by going to His church. By regular and devout attendance. Begin now to learn of His love. Attend your Church.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Burning wasp nest brings out firemen

A. S. Roberts, who lives on top of the caprock just off the Lubbock highway, was a surprised man early Wednesday night when the fire truck came roaring up while he was burning a wasp nest out of a tree.

The only way Roberts and the firemen could explain it was that some neighbor had seen the blaze and thought Roberts' house was on fire.

RECENT VISITORS

Recent visitors in the E. E. Pierce home were their son and daughter-in-law, Capt. and Mrs. E. W. Pierce of Salina, Kans., who were en route to Alabama for temporary Air Force duty.

Enrollment sets new record here

Second-day enrollment in the Post schools Tuesday totaled 1,153, an increase of 50 over second-day enrollment last year.

The 1,153 students enrolled at the close of school Tuesday set a new enrollment record here.

The figures do not include enrollment in the colored school, on which figures were not immediately available.

Enrollment in the four high school grades totaled 273 Tuesday, here were 75 enrolled in the 8th grade, which is back in the high school building this year.

There were 395 students in the junior high building. These included 129 in the 7th grade, 115 in the 6th grade, 104 in the 5th and 47 in two sections of the fourth grade.

Enrollment in the elementary school building totaled 485. There were 152 in the first grade, 162 in the second grade, 123 in the third grade and 48 in two sections of the fourth grade.

Principals in all three buildings said they expected to pick up new students within the next week or two, with peak enrollment not expected until sometime in October.

beautiful landscaping job which has been done along the front of the state highway maintenance shop, warehouse, and new engineer's office on South Broadway.

Right across from the swimming pool and park it gives Post a beautiful highway entrance from the south. So we inquired yesterday about the landscaping and were told that Gilbert Blodgett of the highway maintenance department is the man who deserves all the credit. Gilbert went to work planting grass back in May and now has a beautifully landscaped area. He works hard too to take care of it. Done at a minimum of cost, it is reported to be one of the best landscaped areas in the entire highway district. We found that the state highway department is mighty proud of it too—and of Gilbert's efforts.

A turnout of some 600 persons accepted Bryan J. Williams invitation to the model home open house in Sunset Addition last Saturday and Sunday afternoons. Bryan, Builder Ted Parks, and all the many others who participated in the showing of the quality three-bedroom air-conditioned home were well pleased with the big response. We couldn't resist the temptation before going home to prow through some of the other new homes Parks now has under construction in the restricted addition for sale later.

Post will have another new service business next week with the opening Monday of Gale's Beauty Shop right next to the Speed Wash in Wallace Simpson's new business building at 423 East Main Street.

Mrs. Mary Gale Young, the proprietor of the new shop, has been working hard this week getting ready for her Labor Day opening. All new equipment combined with a brand new air-conditioned building won't be overlooked by Mrs. Young's many friends and acquaintances. Mrs. Young has been a beauty operator here in Post for many years so needs no introduction to most Dispatch readers.

The second was Anderson-Preichard's No. 1-F Connell, wildcat venture 2 1/2 miles southeast of Post in south central Garza county. It also was plugged and abandoned in the Ellenburger—at 8,357 feet. It is located three miles northeast of the Rocker A (Multipart) field.

Three traffic tickets, all for failure to yield right of way, have been issued by City Marshal Otis G. Shepherd Jr. during the past few days.

Conferences and worship services set by Baptists

"Christianity In Action" has been designated the theme for a series of conferences and worship services at the First Baptist Church next week.

Instead of a regular revival usually held at this time, the Church voted to enter such a series of services dealing with the practical application of the Christian Life, Pastor C. B. Hogue explains.

The Reverend Bill Pinson, Associate Director of the Christian Life Commission of the General Convention (Baptist) of Texas, has been asked to direct this series of services.

Rev. Pinson is a graduate of North Texas State, has studied at Edinburgh, Scotland, and currently at the Southwestern Baptist Seminary in Fort Worth. He has been called on extensively for preaching engagements, as well as to direct similar conferences and services to be held at the First Baptist Church.

The walls and interior partitions are of plaster and the floors are of vinyl.

There are glass panels on either side of the door at the entrance, and planters on either side of the entrance porch extend around the corners of the building. These planters will be utilized when landscaping begins, Smith said.

The office was moved to its new building from quarters in the Medical & Professional Building, where it has been housed for about two years.

The resident engineer's office now has 13 persons on its payroll, including field personnel.

Two pigeons are

Lost birds

Leo Cobb is looking for two Birmingham Roller pigeons that have flown the coop.

The main reason Cobb wants to find the straying pigeons is because they're not his. They were loaned to him by a Colorado City pigeon fancier and are two of his best birds.

Cobb freed the birds Sunday after having kept them cooped about a month. Instead of returning to their coop, as did Cobb's other pigeons, the two birds took off into the wild blue yonder.

The pigeons are not the ordinary type, but are high bred and each bird is banded, Cobb said. He thinks there is a chance they might be "resting" at some area farm house. Anyone seeing two such strange pigeons around their premises is asked to get in touch with Cobb by telephoning 914K13 or 200.

One of the pigeons is white with brown specks on its head and the other is dun-colored.

Crippled Antelopes will open against Ralls Friday

Injuries add to woes of Coach Vernard Alexander

The Post Antelopes and Ralls Rabbits will help pry the lid off the 1959 schoolboy football campaign when they meet at 8 o'clock tomorrow night on the Ralls grid.

If the game follows the pattern of the last three games between the two elevens, it will be a ding-dong battle from start to finish.

Last year, the two teams battled in a 44-44 tie at Antelope Stadium. The year before that, Ralls came from behind to win, 13 to 7, in the 1956 game, the Antelopes scored on a 6-0 victory.

THE GAME WILL mark the debut of Vernard Alexander as head coach of the Antelopes, as well as of the other members of the school coaching staff.

The Post team will not be at full strength for the game. Two-year letterman Kenny Poole, one of the tri-captains, won't be able to play because of a knee injury received in a scrimmage session with Idalou here last Thursday night.

Also not slated to see action because of an injury is sophomore Jimmie Ivie, who has been running at center on the first string.

ALEXANDER SAID today he will move Hoss Smith, an end, to Poole's guard spot, and that junior Mike Cornell will be moved from tackle back to the center post. Senior letterman Dan Rankin will be moved from end to tackle, and senior Glendon Washburn, who is out for the first time this year, will start at the end post vacated by Rankin.

At the other end will be Scotty Pierce, with Jimmy Minor and Bobby Beard at the other guard and tackle positions respectively.

In the backfield, Alexander will start Derwood Mayberry at quarterback; Richard Ray, left half-back; Curtis Didway, right half-back, and Forrest Claborn, full-back.

IN RESERVE ON the thin Antelope bench will be backs Kenneth Williams, Tommy Bouchier and Clarence Ivie and linemen Dean Johnston, Bobby Hudman, Jerry Turner and Harold Wayne Mason.

That adds up to an 18-man squad.

Other losses from the Antelope squad since practice opened Aug. 17 include letterman Larry Welch, a tackle, and Gary Howell, a quarterback. Neither will see action this year on the advice of physicians.

A transfer student, Ronnie Clayton, is ineligible for the varsity, but is proving a big help in practice, Alexander said. "He's taking a lot of interest, and we're looking forward to having him eligible for spring sports," the coach said.

ALEXANDER SAID he and other members of the coaching staff are well pleased with the boys' attitude as they approach their first game. "Ralls has a highly regarded and an aggressive team and our boys are going to have to give it everything they've got to get off to a first-game win," the coach said.

The Jackrabbits, coached by Doc Mize, lost a number of good boys from last year's team, but they have enough regulars back and enough promising newcomers to be given the favorite's nod in the District 4-A race.

Two of their best boys are full-back Bobby Dennard and a tackle named Edwards. Also back is speedster Aubrey Smith, who with quarterback David Wheeler, spearheaded the last-minute drive that gave Ralls an 8-8 tie with the Antelopes here last year. Wheeler graduated in May.

Good citizenship training part of 4-H club program

CHICAGO — Qualities that help build character and leadership in the youth of our country are to be found in the 4-H Citizenship and Public Speaking programs, says the National Committee on Boys and Girls Club Work, Chicago.

Learning to assume civic responsibilities and perform community services are commensurate with the objectives of the Citizenship program the Committee points out, while the Public Speaking activity provides many opportunities to participate in club, school, local, and statewide events.

Through arrangements made by the Committee with private sources awards will be given for outstanding achievement in both areas of endeavor. A special fund has been established to provide awards for good citizenship in memory of Thos. E. Wilson, pioneer 4-H benefactor.

On a national level two college scholarships of $400 each and two all-expense paid trips to the 38th National 4-H Club Congress this fall will be awarded to the high ranking girl and boy. State winners will receive a certificate of honor, according to the Committee.

The Pure Oil Co., which has provided public speaking awards for the past eight years will do so again this year. Two national winners will receive $400 college scholarships and trips to the Chicago Congress. Top state award for girls is a set of table silver, and for boys a 19-jewel wrist watch. Each will also be presented with a certificate of honor.

These programs are under the direction of the Cooperative Extension Service.

Southland team to open Friday

Coach Duane Locke's Southland Eagles will open their 1959 football season at home Friday night in an eight-man game with Peacock. The opening kickoff will be at 7:30 o'clock.

With 25 candidates out for this year's team, the Eagles are expected to be stronger than last year when they won three out of four district contests.

After the opener at Peacock, the Eagles' next game will be at Loop on Sept. 11.

Duck season is for 50 days, Nov. 13-Jan. 1

AUSTIN — Although there is still some doubt as to the number of ducks and geese coming to Texas this year, a liberal hunting season has been authorized, according to H. D. Dodgen, executive secretary of the Game and Fish Commission.

The duck season opens at noon Friday, Nov. 13. Shooting then is permitted from sunrise until sunset through Jan. 1. The bag limit is four per day or eight in possession after the first day. Because of an extreme shortage it will be illegal to kill more than one of either red head, canvasback or ruddy duck. This is known as a "mistake" duck.

The goose season opens at noon on Oct. 26, and runs through Jan. 4. The limit is five geese per day, with a limit of two Canadas, or one speckled belly, or one Canada and one speckled belly.

There will be a 30-day season from Dec. 3 to Jan. 1, on Wilson snipe, with a bag and possession limit of eight.

A $3 federal duck stamp is required of all persons hunting migratory waterfowl.

Drought conditions in the Canadian nesting area are blamed for a small hatch this year. Late rains however, did materially benefit the hatch, although the quantity is still doubtful, he said.

JOSEY, RANKIN TO MEET IN MATCHED ROPING Championship calf roping event scheduled at Snyder Labor Day

By JOAN STEWART

The rodeo arena at Snyder will host the first annual World Championship Amateur Calf Roping, Labor Day, Sept. 7. Starting at 2 p. m., ropers will compete for the title on a four-calf average. A feature attraction will be the matched eight-calf run-off roping between R. E. Josey of Post and Horace "Hoss" Rankin of Big Spring. A jackpot roping will follow.

Josey, who placed first in the first go-around of the tie-down calf roping at Roby with a 9.8 catch, and a 13.1 time in the second go-around to place second in the average, is one of the outstanding ropers in this area. He had times of 14.1 in the first go-around of the double mugging and 13 flat in the second go-around.

Ed Sims, a Post roper who has been out of action for several weeks due to a sprained hand, is planning on making a rodeo circuit to Trinidad, Colo., and Wagon Mound, N. M., for the Labor Day weekend. Springer, N. M., is on his agenda for the weekend following Labor Day.

Natha Jo Mears, daughter of Mrs. Billie Mears, had a bit of bad luck during the first night performance of the Roaring Springs Rodeo. The arena was slick due to heavy rains and her horse fell turning a barrel in the barrel race, pinning her under him. She was badly bruised in the mishap but came back to win the first place silver bit trophy in the flag racing contest. Natha plans to enter the Plainview Junior Rodeo which is scheduled for this weekend.

At the Roaring Springs Rodeo, Jim Moore took second money in the saddle bronc riding, second in the bull riding and a fourth in the bareback riding event. He also placed high in saddle bronc riding in the Roby Rodeo.

Shows slated to be held this Labor Day weekend are those in Trinidad, Colo., Eunice, N. M., the Plainview Junior Rodeo and the Nocona Rodeo.

Antelope permits will come from ranchers in '59

AUSTIN — Antelope hunters will need to solicit permits directly from the landowner this year, according to the assistant director of Wildlife Restoration, Texas Game and Fish Commission. Formerly, all applications, except rancher guest permits, were issued by the Commission.

Several other changes have been made in the operations. Briefly, the biologists count the antelope on the various ranches. The Commission then allots permits for surplus animals directly to the rancher, who issues them to the hunters.

No person can receive more than one permit nor bag more than one antelope. A regular hunting license will be required of any antelope hunter if he is hunting that species out of his home county.

The $5 State permit formerly issued by the Commission is no longer required.

In the Trans-Pecos area, with a season scheduled for November 1 through 10, 1,626 permits are available for issuance. Last year, 1,106 permits were issued. A total of 837 hunters actually participating in the hunt bagged 795 antelope for a 92.7 hunt success.

Antelope permits will be issued only in Motley and Floyd Counties in the Panhandle area this year, with a season set for Oct. 14 through 19.

Contact your chamber of commerce for names and addresses of ranchers in your area who are offering permits. Once you bag an animal, the signed permit must remain with it until processed.

Predators cause staggering loss to whitewings

AUSTIN — White-winged doves during the nesting season run from 75 to as high as 90 per cent, according to the director of Wildlife Restoration, Texas Game and Fish Commission. These figures are based on the total number of eggs laid during a season.

From late March and early April, when the birds first arrive in Texas, until mid September, when thousands of them are killed during the open hunting season, whitewings constantly struggle against odds to increase their populations.

Both male and female construct the very crude nest in late May and June in which are deposited two eggs. After two weeks, the eggs hatch. In another two weeks, the young fledge and begin to fly about the nest. During this time, eggs and young are open targets for many predators which take a heavy toll. Grackles, green jays, bull and indigo snakes, and rats probably are the most destructive.

Following the nesting season, the whitewings congregate in the fields in great numbers to feed in preparation for their fall migration back to southern Mexico and Central America. It is at this time that hunters scattered along roadsides and grain fields reap the harvest.

By November, except for an occasional isolated colony, the last whitewing is across the border. Some return the following year to nest and replenish the population. Others end up on the dinner table adorned with gravy and biscuits.

Humble's grid coverage to be bigger than ever

The most comprehensive coverage of football ever attempted in the Southwest will be broadcast and telecast this season by Humble Oil & Refining Co.

The Humble coverage includes live telecasting of a major college football game each Saturday afternoon, 89 radio broadcasts and 11 telecasts of videotape recordings of Southwest Conference games.

Humble will co-sponsor the National Broadcasting Company's live telecasts of football games as permitted by the NCAA, and will sponsor three live telecasts of Southwest Conference games, a total of 13. All games played by seven Southwest Conference members, Texas Western University, the University of New Mexico, Arizona State University and the University of Arizona will be broadcast over the radio.

Announcers and broadcast supervisors will travel thousands of miles to the site of each game to bring the on-the-scene descriptions. One announcer will even travel to Honolulu where he will describe the University of Hawaii-Arizona State University game to fans some 3,000 miles away in the Grand Canyon State.

More than 180 radio and TV stations will be used to cover over a hundred urban and rural areas in cities and towns in the Southwest. The leased lines, coaxial cable, microwave and overseas broadcasting systems required would be enough to stretch two-thirds of the way to the moon.

To originate football broadcasts, Humble has a staff of 23 top-notch announcers, many with years of experience. Kern Tips of Houston, head of the staff, has been describing games for 24 years; Ves Box and Eddie Barker of Dallas and Dave Russell of Beaumont have been on the circuit more than 10 years. These announcers are thoroughly trained to give good accounts of the games. Each year they attend a seminar conducted by Tips and a Southwest Conference football coach. At the seminar they discuss new rule changes and all types of play likely to be seen during the upcoming season.

Incidentally, these announcers "talk a lot of words" about football. Alec Chessier of Houston, Tips' color announcer for a number of years, once did some figuring. He estimated that Tips speaks some 264,000 words about football over the air each season.

What do listeners think about the football coverage? One year Humble asked for an opinion. Cards and letters poured in by the thousands to give a resounding endorsement.

In fact, a recent survey showed that on a busy football week end, well over 1.5 million people tune in to the radio or television broadcasts. This same survey says that most men will tell you that they listen to at least one or two games a season, and that about 40 per cent listen on at least half of the Saturdays.

When the season starts Sept. 19, football fans in the southwest know—if they can't go to the games—Humble will bring the games to them!

Jackson conducted extensive research and experiments with swine in order to determine the effects of exercise upon the feed consumption, carcass traits, and dressing quality of the animal.

Jackson, who teaches vocational agriculture in Tom S. Lubbock High School, received his Bachelor of Science degree in Animal Husbandry in 1953 at Texas Tech.

Title of his thesis in earning his master's degree was "The Effects of Exercise on Feedlot Performance, Muscle Development, and Various Other Carcass Traits in Swine."

Auxiliary scholarship awarded Jayton youth

LOS ANGELES — A $500 scholarship, given annually by the Ladies Auxiliary to the Veterans of Foreign Wars for outstanding work in conservation, was awarded here today to Ray Dunlap, 17, of Jayton, Tex., during the Auxiliary's 46th national convention.

The Auxiliary scholarship was established as a memorial to the late James E. West, long-time Chief Scout and conservation enthusiast, for a Boy Scout majoring in conservation work at an approved college or university. Dunlap was recommended for the scholarship by the National Boy Scout Council for "leadership, scholarship, service to others, and sincere interest in conservation."

An Eagle Scout, Dunlap was salutatorian of his class last spring at Jayton Rural High School. Since the death of his father in 1949, he and his mother, Mrs. Lulu Dunlap, have farmed a model 500-acre spread near Jayton, using advanced conservation methods to increase crop averages, conserve scarce rainfall, and keep down mesquite, the pesky soil-depleting shrub that abounds in that area.

Besides several state and national 4-H club conservation awards, the youth has also won the Hornaday conservation medal and has published several articles on conservation. In an essay accompanying his entry in the Auxiliary scholarship competition, he warned that if America is to maintain a high standard of living "everyone must take responsibility for conserving our nation's resources."

The Auxiliary also gives $2,000 in cash prizes to winners of an annual national high school essay contest, aids dependent children of veterans, and sponsors thousands of Boy and Girl Scout troops and other activities for young people in some 6,800 U. S. communities. Members of the Auxiliary are wives, mothers, sisters, and daughters of U. S. veterans who have served overseas, or women who have themselves had overseas service in the armed forces.

Labor Day accords tribute to U. S. industrial spirit

Labor Day can be variously defined as: the end of summer; the beginning of the school year; a national traffic jam; or simply an excuse for a long weekend away from the office.

But the founder of the holiday, Peter J. McGuire, conceived it as a tribute to "the industrial spirit, the great vital force of every nation."

In 1882, McGuire—a leader in the Knights of Labor—proposed that a day be set aside to honor the working man. He suggested the first Monday in September, since it came almost midway between Independence Day and Thanksgiving Day.

The Central Labor Union of New York adopted his proposal and held the first Labor Day celebration on Sept. 5. As McGuire had suggested, the union paraded through the streets of Manhattan, to show the strength and spirit of trade and labor organizations.

Shortly after, the Knights of Labor voted for an annual celebration. In 1884, the Federation of Organized Trades and Labor Unions of the United States and Canada—predecessor of the American Federation of Labor—voted to make the celebration national.

The first state to make Labor Day a legal holiday was Oregon, in 1887, according to The World Book Encyclopedia. The legislatures of Colorado, Massachusetts, New Jersey and New York quickly followed suit and, in 1894, Congress made Labor Day a national holiday.

Labor Day now ranks with Independence Day, Washington's Birthday and Thanksgiving Day as the most generally celebrated holidays in the U. S.

The Santa Fe Trail became an important trade route in 1821.

Bible Thoughts "THE PERFECT CREED"

by RONNIE PARKER

The Church of Christ pleads for a creed, superior to all others and upon which all believers may unite, the Bible, the word of the Lord. Everybody can accept this without compromising any principles or conviction. If not, then some one is holding to principles not from God. Their faith is based on human and not divine teaching.

All divine teaching is in the Bible. Someone feels that all people can not understand the Bible; it must be simplified. If this is true, God did not intend for man to understand him or, intending that we should understand him, he has failed in his purpose. In either case God's revelation is not a revelation at all.

David said, "The law of Jehovah is perfect, restoring the soul." Ps. 197 Paul says, "I am not ashamed of the gospel, for it is the power of God unto salvation." Thus the law of God, the Gospel constitutes a perfect creed for the salvation of the lost.

Whether we succeed or fail in this appeal, we are right, and can not be wrong in pleading for unity on the Word of God, and that alone.

DEATH FOLLOWS BRIEF ILLNESS

Graham community resident dies Monday, day after 76th birthday

By MRS. DILLARD THOMPSON

Many hearts were made heavy Monday night when Mrs. J. F. Mason, a long time resident of this community passed away at the home of her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ray McClellan. Mrs. Mason became ill Saturday afternoon but felt able Sunday to attend her 76th birthday dinner at the community center. Our deepest sympathy is extended to each and everyone of her loved ones.

There was certainly a lot of commotion going on Sunday night from thunder, lightning, and high winds, with only a few drops of moisture falling. But from talk it seems quite a bit of feed fell from the wind.

Mrs. Neel White and son were dismissed Thursday from West Texas Hospital and spent a few days with their parents and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Quannah Maxey.

Jeff, Julie and Randy Wright of Abertown were weekend guests of their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Will Wright. Mr. and Mrs. Jess Probst were Saturday evening visitors.

MR. AND MRS. Bill McMahon and Linda and Margie Harrison returned home Friday after a seven-day vacation at Estes Park and other points of interest in Colorado. They also did some trout fishing in New Mexico. After some investigating, it seems Iris is the best fisherman of the McMahon home, as she caught three and Bill one.

Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Stevens and Mr. and Mrs. Emory Stevens left Saturday on a fishing trip to Buchanan Lake.

Sunday guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Davis and Carol were Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Pele and Gene, Mr. and Mrs. Delmer Cowdrey and Clarky, Mr. and Mrs. Elvius Davis and children and Miss Karen McGee.

Mr. and Mrs. James Stone were honored Friday night when a large number of friends gathered at their home for a house warming. The group enjoyed homemade ice cream and cookies.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Fluit visited at Tahoka Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Gandy.

Mrs. Harvella Mason and Darla were on vacation this week and visited in New Mexico with her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Trout and children, and in Loveland with another daughter, Mrs. Ronnie Brown and family.

MR. AND MRS. Paul Wresell of Carlsbad, N. M., parents of Mrs. Franklin Maxey, visited from Wednesday until Saturday in the Bryan Maxey home with the Franklin Maxeys, who accompanied them home for a few days visit. Franklin will leave from Lubbock Thursday afternoon for Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo., where he is stationed.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Gregg visited Sunday at Abertown in the home of their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Nunn.

Walt Rogers of Lubbock spoke at the morning and evening services Sunday at the Church of Christ. He and his family were dinner and supper guests of the Elva Peels.

Mr. and Mrs. Quannah Maxey, Jane and Diane, visited in Roaring Springs last Thursday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Green and attended the Old Settlers Reunion. Sue had a chat and visit with a girl friend she started to school with and hadn't seen in 27 years.

Mrs. Maud Thomas and Mrs. Carl Fluit visited Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. J. N. Gossett, Mrs. Elmo Bush and Mrs. Dillard Thompson.

Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Peel were in Lubbock Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Shepherd and family of Houston are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Williams of the Close City community. They and the Williams attended services Sunday evening at the Church of Christ. Shepherd was a resident of this community for several years and attended the Graham school.

MR. AND MRS. Glenn Davis visited in Post Saturday evening in the home of his sister, Mrs. Jewel Graham. Also visiting Mrs. Graham and Moody are her daughter and grandson, Mrs. Dwight Kinard and Kelly of Memphis.

Mrs. Alma McBride, Shirley and David, were in Lubbock Friday for Shirley to get those necessary shots before entering school, and if things worked out as planned, she moved to Lubbock Monday—all ready to enter beauty school.

Mrs. Otto Ferguson and O. L. and Blanton Mason of Laverne, Okla., visited over the weekend in the Ray McClellan home. Other Saturday night visitors were Mrs. Rosa Mason, Mr. and Mrs. Grover Mason and G. T., Mr. and Mrs. Bud Mason and family, Harry and Harold Wayne Mason, Mr. and Mrs. Jody Mason and Joe, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Mason and family, Mr. and Mrs. Billy Lester and family, Mr. and Mrs. Jon Allan Kelly and family of Lubbock, Mr. and Mrs. Nolan Williams and Karen, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Hutton and children, Mr. and Mrs. Billy Stone and sons, and Mrs. Alma Coffee of Amarillo.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Morris of Plainview visited Saturday in the R. A. Moore home in Post, and in the D. C. Morris and Dillard Thompson homes. They were accompanied by their grandchildren, Susan, Carolyn, and Charlie Moore of Dallas, who have been visiting their grandparents. Mr. and Mrs. Moore for several days. They will visit in Plainview then return to Dallas where Susan and Carolyn will begin their first school term. They are two of the 14,000 six-year-olds registered in Dallas schools.

'DUSTER'

The cost of drilling one oil well may run as high as a million dollars or more and the odds against success are long. Here a giant rig is being "skidded" to a new location to try again after failure at this site. The symbol in the upper right is the oil industry's way of marking a "duster"—a dry hole. As the industry celebrates its Centennial this year, it is significant that only one out of nine exploratory wells finds oil.

Farmers and ranchers should expect fair return on capital

COLLEGE STATION — How is your farm and ranch business doing? Here are some ideas from Tom E. Prater, extension farm management specialist, which may help you determine where you stand.

Recent research indicates that one item often overlooked by farmers and ranchers is the allocation of a charge for the money tied up in capital investment. Prater says you should consider the fact that money is worth money and that the capital investment in your farm or ranch operation should be earning you as fair a return as a person owning property or an investor, and that you should make a fair charge for the capital.

One way to determine this is to charge interest on the money tied up in your operation and compare it with the interest return you would receive from United States Savings Bonds, stocks, other bonds or other business opportunities. Consideration should also be given the risk factor.

Another way to figure interest in land investments is to charge a fair rental price to yourself for using your land.

Prater adds that these charges will give you a guide for determining whether or not you are getting the most for your money.

Leguminous crops not only pay their way by adding plant nutrients to the soil, but they are extremely valuable because of their ability to improve the physical condition of the land through extensive root penetration.

Continuous growing of soil depleting crops, such as cotton, draws heavily on the plant nutrients necessary for vigorous plant growth. Use of a conservation cropping system which includes a soil improving legume such as guar tends to replenish these nutrients.

Besides being lower in productivity, soils low in organic matter have proven to be more easily eroded than those high in organic matter. The fact that cropland in this area is quite susceptible to erosion points out the need for soil improving crops on the land.

Large acreages of summer legumes such as guar, cowpeas and mungbeans have been planted by district cooperators as part of their conservation crop rotations, Middleton said.

It's the Law in Texas ...

SPECIFIC PERFORMANCE

What can you do if someone doesn't keep the terms of a contract of court penalties such as fines or even jail sentences.

You might (1) get money damages for your losses, (2) get back what you gave him as your part of the contract, or (3) get a court to order "specific performance" on his promise, on pain of contempt.

As a rule, a court prefers money damages for a broken contract, since it is definite and often more easily enforced. But in some cases money won't do. For example, since no two pieces of land are alike, you could not take the money given to you in a contract to buy another piece of property "just as good".

And so courts, as a rule, enforce contracts to buy land by specific performance. They make the seller hand over the precise piece of property. Likewise you may get specific performance on contracts to buy or sell unique art goods like a painting of a great master of which there are no two alike.

You can seldom if ever get specific performance on personal service contracts which call for personal or confidential relationships, or special knowledge, good judgment, or skill. Their enforcement would be too hard for the court to supervise. But instead you may collect money damages; or perhaps in the first place you could provide in the contract for forfeiture of money for failure to perform.

No one can enforce specifically an agreement to get a third party's consent. Captain Miles Standish could not make John Alden get Priscilla's consent to marry him.

HELP MAINTAIN GROWTH, PRODUCTION

Winter pastures can reduce the cost of wintering livestock

COLLEGE STATION — Winter pastures can reduce the cost of wintering livestock and help maintain growth and production. E. M. Trew, extension pasture specialist, says that many dairymen have reported net returns of $25 to $50 per acre from winter temporary pastures.

Even though Texas has had a good pasture year, winter pastures will still be needed to supply

A new pawn shop for autos is thriving in Johannesburg, South Africa.

Bermuda has had cars since 1946, but they are limited to 14 horsepower, Hamilton reports.

Buenos Aires reports a dip in 1959 Argentine cattle hide shipments.

Or suppose a man and wife own property together and the husband alone wishes to sell. No court will make the wife sell her half against her will.

Before a court orders specific performance it looks carefully into the "equities". Was the "injured party's" contract fair and free from fraud? Did he take unfair advantage of the other party? Or wait too long to claim his rights? Could he have carried out his part of the contract?

green grazing while summer grasses are dormant, reminds Trew. Winter pastures also help with erosion control, says the specialist. They cover the soil and prevent washing and blowing and the roots add organic matter.

Trew advises planting at the proper time for your area, even if it is necessary to dust the seed in. He points out that stockmen who have dry planted in the past were ahead when rain did come, because plants came up, grew off and gave grazing much sooner than where seed were not sown until after the rain.

The use of fertilizer can't be overlooked, for it will pay big dividends when needed, says Trew. A soil test is the best fertilizer dollar that can be spent, for this is the best way to determine the type and amount of fertilizer that is needed.

If the crop has to be dusted in, the specialist advises putting down the fertilizer, too. He says it won't be lost, because if rain doesn't come for the winter pasture, the fertilizer will still be there for use by the succeeding crop.

Varieties of plants to use vary with different areas of the state. Trew says that a combination of a grass and a legume sometimes gives greater total production. The forage produced from the combination is sometimes higher in protein and minerals and the grazing season is frequently extended over a longer period of time.

He advises contacting the local county agricultural agent for additional information about winter pastures. They also have copies of L-258, "Winter Temporary Pastures," which can be obtained free of charge.

More understanding would help

Nation's agriculture needs public relations

Agriculture's greatest need today is understanding. This means understanding among those directly engaged in farming and ranching; understanding by those who provide services and materials to the farms and ranches; understanding by those who transport, process and distribute the plant and animal products coming from farms and ranches; and above all, understanding among the great majority of our people who live in towns and cities and who are the principal consumers of the products of our agricultural industries.

Those of us engaged in agricultural endeavors have tended to take for granted that people generally and naturally understand their basic dependence of agriculture for food, feed and fiber. In recent years we have been rudely awakened, in cotton, for instance, by the advent of synthetics.

American agriculture is thus being forced to become public relations conscious. We now must seek consumer acceptance not only of our products, but of our services, of our policies and of our true place in the total economy of the nation and the world.

Here are several avenues of attack on public relations for agriculture:

1. Correction of the misconceptions the average urbanite has about us; especially let them understand their foods, feeds and fibers are not expensive, and producers, processors and distributors are not and will not be "rolling in wealth" at the expense of food consumers.

2. Seek to reverse the rising trend of "going to Washington" for funds or legislation on state and local agricultural problems, in the belief that it costs us less. We positively must accept more responsibility at state and local levels.

3. Clearing up the confusion between politically designed and directed policies relating to the "farm problem" on the one hand and the necessity for even stronger programs of research and education in agriculture.

4. Modern and future agriculture may merit a new tag—one that may overcome the popular concept that agriculture and farming are synonymous.

We must tell the great story of modern agriculture again and again in the general public. It's dynamic and it's basic. Everybody benefits.

We need to mobilize all of our resources promptly back of an effective public relations program.

High soil fertility seen as biggest need for top crop yields

COLLEGE STATION — You wouldn't run your automobile until it is out of gas, says Dr. W. F. Bennett, extension soil chemist, so why keep cropping your land until the plant food runs out? To maintain profitable yields, he adds, additional fertilizer should be applied to cropland before the plant food gives out completely.

To know exactly where your land stands in regard to the amount of plant food available, take soil samples and send them to the state soil testing laboratory at College Station for analysis, he recommends.

Soil samples should be sent to the lab several weeks before planting season so the lab will have sufficient time to test them.

Among the crops generally planted in the fall are alfalfa, early small grains, clovers and other legumes. Many of the soils on which these crops will be grown will need lime, and if this is the case, the lime should be applied before planting, making a soil test now doubly important.

Soil testing is a tool you can use on your farm to help determine the level of fertility in your soil and how much fertilizer you need to add for most profitable production.

Extends to April 15

1960 auto inspection period is under way

AUSTIN — The Texas Department of Public Safety announced today that the new 1960 motor vehicle inspection stickers are now available to Garza County motorists, with the inspection period having begun Tuesday.

Col. Homer Garrison Jr., director, recommended that Texans have their vehicles inspected early in the new inspection period, which extends from Sept. 1 to April 15, 1960. Vehicles not displaying the new sticker after April 15 will be operating in violation of the law.

"In the vast majority of cases," Garrison said, "this program has become a very minor inconvenience and expense to the motor vehicle owner—provided he moves early to compete with the law."

September was called the "barley month" by the early Anglo-Saxons, according to The World Book Encyclopedia. That was when they harvested the barley, from which they brewed their favorite beverage.

The harvest moon in late September is more commercial than romantic in Northern Europe. The World Book Encyclopedia explains that the moon rises near sunset, permitting farmers to work late into the night gathering the crops.

Park is leased by Kent County

JAYTON — Kent County has leased the Jayton city park for 99 years, pending approval by the city council.

County Judge D. J. Young said, "It is hoped the park will be used for Kent County reunions and other affairs which have always had to be held elsewhere for lack of local facilities."

The county judge estimated the cost of maintaining the park will be small since the county already has most of the necessary equipment. The city will continue to supply the water.

Park improvements have been going on for some time by individuals and clubs, who have built a golf course and a Little League baseball park.

Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Reed visited with Mrs. Novis Pennell Friday night and Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Reed accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Novis Pennell and Mr. and Mrs. Joe McCowen to Lubbock Saturday night where they attended a program in Lubbock Municipal Auditorium.

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin and Mrs. Weldon Reed transacted business with Garza County farmers in signing up for Soil Bank.

Garza County farmers are signing up to place cropland in the Conservation Reserve of the Soil Bank program, according to Mr. I. Hartel, office manager of the county Agricultural Station and Conservation Service. Soil Bank sign-ups began Sept. 24 and are to continue through Sept. 30.

The basic rate to be received by county farmers has not been set but is expected to be the same as last year, which was $12 an acre. The Conservation Reserve of the Soil Bank is a long-range program which farmers voluntarily agree to take general cropland out of production and devote it to erosion control for periods up to 10 years.

Farmers wishing to offer cropland to this program under a contract starting in 1960 should take the following steps, it has been expected. Ask their county ASC committee to set a basic annual rate for the land they want to offer under contract. If a rate for the cropland on the farm requested, the rate will be set only part of his land under contract.

After the basic annual rate per acre is established, farmers have Sept. 14-25 to make an offer to the county ASC committee of annual payment rate per acre will accept. The offer cannot be accepted unless it is less than the established basic annual rate.

If the offer can be accepted, the committee will provide a contract signature. The farmer will return the signed contract to the ASC office.

Good harvesting can mean $25 more per bale

COLLEGE STATION — Texas cotton growers have produced one of the best crops in many years, and should use the best harvesting methods possible for the most profit, advised Fred Elliott, extension cotton work specialist.

Good harvesting can mean as much as $25 per bale more for the grower, he pointed out. If growers will use good harvesting methods, many millions of dollars can be added to Texas farm income this year.

To harvest better cotton, Elliott stated that cotton should be picked only after dew or rain has dried off out of seed cotton.

Enough seed cotton should be taken to the gin for a 50 0-pound bale of lint cotton. Farmers will be docked for undersized and oversized bales. Also, he reminds, bales weighing less than 275 or more than 700 pounds cannot be sold to the Commodity Credit Corporation.

Other harvesting practices recommended include: not picking cotton in tar bottom pick sacks; seed cotton grouping for hand picking and machine picked cotton, or machine picked cotton of different quality; defoliating at the proper time; not tramping seed cotton in trailers or storage; and keeping mechanical harvesters in good condition and using only well trained operators.

When the seed cotton is delivered to the gin yard, the effects of harvesting do not end. It's easy to see that clean, dry cotton can be ginned much better than damp, trashy cotton. Remember that you have a sizeable investment in your crop and in a great many cases proper harvesting practices can mean the difference between profit and loss, added Elliott. He suggests that a copy of MP-297, "Keep Cotton Loose, Dry and Clean" be obtained from the local county agent for more information on cotton harvesting problems.
