FOR GOVERNOR

Connally Runs Again

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. John Connally, a close personal friend and one-time political pupil of President Lyndon Johnson, will seek re-election this year.

Connally, still recovering from bullet wounds he received when President Kennedy was assassinated, casually announced his candidacy for a second term Thursday. No one else has announced for the job.

He defeated Republican Jack Cox by some 132,000 votes out of about 1.5 million cast in 1962.

One of the first to congratulate him was Johnson, then vice president, who called from Washington when he heard the election results. It had been 23 years since Connally entered politics as secretary to Johnson, a young congressman from Central Texas.

TWO VISITS

That friendship and political association has continued until now. When Johnson was home during the recent holiday season, he and Mrs. Johnson stopped by the governor's mansion twice to visit Connally and his family.

Connally, the center of national attention since he was shot and seriously wounded by the sniper who assassinated President Kennedy as the two men rode in the same car in a Dallas motorcade Nov. 22, had been expected to seek re-election.

Nevertheless, the informal manner in which he announced was a surprise.

"What's wrong with right now," he said when a newsman opened a hastily called news conference by asking when the governor planned to announce for re-election.

It has been little more than two years since Connally, 46, quit as secretary of the Navy to run for governor. He held the naval job, given to him by President Kennedy, for one year.

The governor quickly assured newsmen he had no intentions of taking another position in Washington soon.

"I've been there before," he said and laughed.

STILL IN CAST

His right wrist still in a cast and supported by a sling, Connally looked almost fully recovered from the effects of the sniper's bullet that tore through his chest, right wrist and thigh.

He said he already has regained the weight he lost while recuperating in Dallas and Austin hospitals and hopes to resume his regular schedule by Feb. 1.

Although he may keep a cast on his wrist for two or three months, "There is no question that I'm going to have good utilization of my fingers."

"My own feeling is that if I have 75 to 80 per cent action in the wrist, it will suit me fine. "It's probable that I won't have to have another operation."

FOR VICTORY

While reluctant to predict his chances for victory, Connally quickly said he thought Texas would vote Democratic in this year's national elections by about a 3-2 margin.

He said he felt Johnson would have no trouble getting the Democratic nomination for President. "I have no plans to take part in the national campaign at this time. . . I haven't even talked about it. I certainly want to be helpful, but I don't know now what I'll be confronted with here," Connally said.

In 1956, Connally placed Johnson's name before the Democratic national convention as a presidential candidate.

Connally made it clear that he will not attempt to outline his campaign for two or three months.

YARBOROUGH

He does not intend to become involved in any way, at least at this time, in the race for U.S. Sen. Ralph Yarborough's seat or any other election.

He will not call a special legislative session for redistricting Texas' congressional districts unless forced by courts to prevent congressional candidates from having to run at large. A suit now pending in federal courts would void the state's districting law.

"Dr. Nyaradi has been consulted at different times by various government agencies and congressional committees on world affairs."

The new officers, headed by John L. Taylor, president, will be introduced at the meeting, along with new directors. Retiring president is Dr. C. B. Marcum. The invocation will be given by the Rev. Francis Beazley.

Big Spring's outstanding young man of the year, selected by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, will be named at the banquet.

The food will be served by Don Newsom and the meal is to be built around roast beef, Davidson said.

Annual C-C Banquet Set For Saturday

Plans are complete for the annual Chamber of Commerce meeting and banquet at 7:30 p.m. Saturday at Goliad Junior High School, Carroll Davidson, manager, said Friday morning. Ticket sales have picked up, with several telephone reservations made this morning. Nearly 400 tickets have been sold.

Dr. Nicholas Nyaradi, director of the School of International Studies at Bradley University, will be the speaker. Guileford L. Jones, district attorney, will serve as master of ceremonies, and introduce out of town guests.

The annual report of Chamber of Commerce activities will be presented in a news-type folder, to eliminate time-consuming oral presentation.

"We are looking forward to a good turn-out of members and their wives, and citizens of Big Spring," Davidson said Friday. "We have an outstanding speaker who is capable of presenting forceful talks on a variety of subjects. He has a vast background of knowledge on international problems, and is personally acquainted with many international figures."

One-Step Tax Slash Likely

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's plea for enactment of a one-step reduction in the income tax withholding rate appears likely to win congressional approval.

Sen. George A. Smathers, D-Fla., a senior member of the Finance Committee now considering the $11 billion tax cut bill, told a reporter he thought the request would easily command the needed votes.

Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., of the House Ways and Means Committee, who will head his branch's conferees on the measure, indicated in a separate interview that he was willing to support it.

As the bill passed the House and now stands in Finance, it provides for a cut in the present 15 per cent withholding rate to 15 per cent this year, with a new permanent level of 14 per cent to start in 1965.

Johnson wants a one-step drop to 14 per cent.

Trustees of Howard County Junior College Thursday oiled machinery they hope will eventually turn out two additional buildings for the college.

They authorized conditional contracts for architectural and financial services needed in planning and providing new science and library buildings. Dr. W. A. Hunt, president, said these would equip the college to serve as many as 1,200 students.

Cost of the structures would exceed $800,000, of which HCJC hopes to get 40 per cent from the college facilities funds. A bond issue of $500,000 may be sought to finance the district's share.

Carter Johnston, representing Rauscher, Pierce & Co. which was chosen as financial agent, presented schedules which indicated the issue could be financed for no more than an additional two cents per $100 assessed valuation. On 20-year

U.S. Report To Stress Cancer-Cigarette Link

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government report on smoking and health to be made public Saturday is expected to point an accusing finger at cigarettes as a health hazard.

Unlike a 1959 report which dealt only with smoking and lung cancer, the new report prepared by a special committee of 10 non-government scientists will deal with all the effects of smoking on human health—on the lungs, heart, and circulatory system.

The conclusions will be based on scientific findings which in the main have been publicized previously.

STATE POSITION

Surgeon General Luther L. Terry will hold a news conference to state the Public Health Service's position on the report, in the works 14 months.

Terry, who appointed the committee members, also is expected to outline plans for a second phase of the study — to be concerned with recommendations for action.

When the 1959 report was issued Leroy E. Burney, then the surgeon general, said in a statement: "Unless the use of tobacco can be made safe, the individual person's risk of lung cancer can best be reduced by the elimination of smoking."

MAIN FACTOR

Further, Burney said the weight of evidence implicated smoking — particularly cigarette smoking — as the principal causative factor in the increased incidence of lung cancer.

The tobacco industry claims, however, that a causative connection between smoking and impaired health has not been proved.

In a report released Thursday at Greensboro, N.C., the nation's tobacco companies claimed the vast majority of smokers suffer no serious impairments of health or shortening of life.

EVERY DOCTOR

A Health Service spokesman said the new government report will be mailed to every physician and osteopath in the country. It also will be sent to all governors, state health officials, and to officials of other interested organizations.

The committee was asked to study not only the impact of smoking on health but also all other factors that may be involved, such as air pollution and automobile exhausts.

One of the truly beautiful parchments in the Americana Historical Document collection is a picture of that famous ship, the U.S.S. Constitution, or "Old Ironsides."

A ship with a wonderful fighting record, she earned her nickname because, although a wooden-hulled vessel, enemy cannon balls seemed literally to bounce off her sides.

This is one of the outstanding of The Herald series of historical items, and you will want it in your home. It is offered for only 26¢. There remain selections of all other documents at the same price.

Three Yank Soldiers Die, 34 Wounded In Violence

PANAMA (AP) — Panama suspended relations today with the United States after a night of gun battles between U.S. armed forces and rioting Panamanians that left at least 10 dead.

Three U.S. soldiers and seven Panamanians died in the violence—the worst in the history of U.S.-Panama differences in the Canal Zone. Rioters heavily damaged U.S. property.

Panama officials said they counted at least 190 injured, while the toll of wounded among the U.S. soldiers was 34.

AGGRESSION

Panama's government accused the United States of aggression and sent its case to international forums after rioting broke out when Panamanian demonstrators tried to plant their national flag in the Canal Zone.

The Panamanian students moved in after U.S. students in the zone raised the American flag in defiance of orders from U.S. zone officials.

Panama's ambassador to the United Nations, Aquilino Boyd, was en route to U.N. headquarters to file the charges of aggression with the U.N. Security Council.

FOR 50 YEARS

In bitter words he told newsmen at Miami: "Panama has been the victim of unjustified oppression for 50 years."

He accused U.S. soldiers of causing unnecessary bloodshed.

President Roberto Chiari of Panama demanded that the Organization of American States launch an immediate investigation.

He vowed "to obtain justice for Panama once and for all" before whatever international bodies are necessary.

President Johnson was being kept advised of the situation. At the Pentagon in Washington, a Defense Department spokesman said there are no plans to send troop reinforcements into the Canal Zone.

10,000 TROOPS

About 10,000 Army troops, plus a small number of Air Force, Navy and Marine personnel, are stationed there customarily.

The spokesman said the zone was quiet this morning, with schools closed and civilian residents instructed to stay in their homes.

The U.S. Army said its casualties occurred in the vicinity of the Tivoli guest house in the Canal Zone, a target of persistent sniper fire from Panamanians.

When the U.S. casualties mounted to four wounded, an Army statement said, "the order was given to return the sniper fire."

The Army selected trained marksmen "for carefully returned fire," and six U.S. soldiers were wounded "before the sniper fire ceased."

Army officials stressed the point that none of its forces entered Panama territory during three to four hours of severe exchange of gunfire.

Traffic through the canal was not affected.

This is the U.S. Army version of the chain of events:

At 4 p.m. Panamanian students entered the Canal Zone and planted the flag of Panama on the grounds of the Balboa High School alongside an American flag. They had the protection of canal police.

The U.S. students had hoisted their banner in defiance of instructions from the U.S. governor of the zone. He had ordered the dual flying of Panama and U.S. flags at selected sites in the zone in accord with an agreement reached between Panama and the United States last year recognizing Panama's titular sovereignty over the zone. He had banned flags at schools, the U.S. District Court in Ancon and several other sites. U.S. flags were permitted in classrooms.

BACK TO PANAMA

Police directed the students back into Panamanian territory, and along the route they smashed street lights and overturned garbage cans.

Then—under cover of darkness—mobs of Panamanians invaded the zone. They upset autos, ransacked buildings, set fires and stoned the Canal Zone police.

At 8:30 p.m. U.S. troops arrived in force to assist the Canal Zone police.

Casualties were caused by persistent sniper fire at soldiers protecting the Canal Zone in the vicinity of the Tivoli guest house near the center of downtown Balboa.

"As the casualties mounted to four wounded, the order was given to return the sniper fire," the Army said. "The Army selected trained marksmen for carefully directed return fire. A fifth soldier was seriously wounded in the head and a sixth was wounded before sniper fire ceased."

BROADCAST

A proclamation to that effect was broadcast in Spanish and English for more than an hour from a plane overhead.

UNDER CONTROL

At 11 p.m. O'Meara announced that the situation was under complete control. To prevent a recurrence of violence, all persons not living and working in the Canal Zone were ordered out.

Panamanian Ambassador Augusto Guillermo Arango left Washington for Panama City, but there was no indication his government would recall other diplomatic personnel.

The government said 145 persons were injured in Panama City and another 45 in Colon, at the Caribbean entrance to the canal. Ten were reported in critical condition.

One newspaper said all the dead were 20 or younger.

The demonstrators attacked U.S. property in Panama City and Colon, causing thousands of dollars in damage.

Rights Battle Gets Sexy But Cool Heads Prevail

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two old-timers whose combined service in the House totals 73 years have shown the rest of Congress that the hot fight over civil rights can be kept cool.

Despite their fierce differences on the subject, Reps. Howard W. Smith, D-Va., chairman of the Judiciary Committee, turned a five-hour confrontation into a friendly, laugh-filled discussion.

They even managed to spice it with sex.

FIRST WITNESS

Celler, who is 75 and has been in the House 40 years, was the first witness Thursday as the Rules Committee opened hearings on a 10-part bill aimed at ending racial discrimination in just about every area where federal law can be made to apply. He is one of its chief supporters.

Smith, 80, and a 33-year veteran of the House, is one of its chief opponents.

At one point Smith said he was surprised a bill against discrimination didn't include discrimination against women.

STORY-TELLER

"How come you don't have sex in here?" he asked Celler. Celler, an inveterate storyteller, was reminded of one.

"It's about the Frenchman who came to New York and went up to the top of the Empire State Building," he said.

"When he was asked how he liked it, he said, 'fine, it reminds me of sex,'"

"Sex? How's that?" he was asked. "Everything reminds me of sex," he replied.

DIDN'T ANSWER

"You didn't answer my question," said Smith when the laughter subsided.

Earlier, seeking an example of the use of Congress' power to regulate commerce as a basis for legislation Celler cited the Mann Act, which makes a crime the transportation of a woman across a state boundary for immoral purposes.

"What about the Mann Act?" he asked Smith.

"I'm not familiar with that," said Smith, "but you seem to speak with authority."

"No," said Celler sadly. "Only from memory."

MORAL OUTRAGE?

Such exchanges did not blunt the sharp division between the two on the bill, which Celler said was needed to end "the moral outrage of discrimination," and Smith described as having "more booby traps than a dog has fleas."

The committee didn't finish with Celler and he was asked to return Tuesday for more questioning. Smith said the hearings will be held on Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays, and declared he would do nothing to delay them.

"I have great faith in Mr. Smith's word," said Celler.

A-Slash Pleases 'Overkill' Critics

WASHINGTON (AP) — Critics of "overkill" believe they have gone a long way toward winning over the Johnson administration to their view that the United States owns too much nuclear weapon power and ought to slash it drastically.

They may be too optimistic, although President Johnson gave them encouragement Wednesday by decreeing a major reduction in the output of materials that go into making atomic and hydrogen weapons.

There is no sign that Johnson or Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara are ready to halt further production of nuclear weapons.

And top U.S. officials have made no move to dismantle any missile bases or retrench from goals which contemplate a force of more than 1,200 intercontinental ballistic missiles and 650 submarine-launched Polaris missiles within the next few years.

The new military budget will reflect a leveling off because the administration reached the peak of an expensive three-year campaign to build U.S. nuclear missile strength.

Even with that, the next budget is expected to provide for 50 more Minuteman ICBMs.

What Johnson's action recognizes is that the United States—while perhaps not yet at the "overkill" level—has accelerated its rate of weapons production to such a degree in recent years that an excessive arsenal may be in sight.

Critics of heavy atomic armaments use the term "overkill" to dramatize their view that the United States has built enough such weapons to pulverize an enemy many times over.

This, they contend, does not ensure national safety but actually makes the danger of war greater.

The United States, they insist, could make a sharp cut in its nuclear weaponry and still deter attack—while saving up to $15 billion a year, the amount now applied to piling up more atomic weapons.

Advocates of a big atomic striking force assert it would permit neutralizing an enemy's military power — and thus knocking him out of a war — without hitting his cities and slaughtering his civilians.

Fresh Fight On Wheat In Offing

WASHINGTON (AP)—A rerun of last spring's lively battle between the administration and the American Farm Bureau Federation over a wheat program may be in the offing.

Developments in both camps point to this as Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman and his aides work on proposals for a special farm message President Johnson plans to send Congress this month.

Officials disclosed a message was in the works after Republicans criticized Johnson's State of the Union address for not touching on farm problems and policies.

Last year, the issue between the administration and the Farm Bureau was a mandatory certificate wheat plan, advocated by the administration and opposed by the bureau. The Farm Bureau marked up a victory in heavy farmer vote against the wheat plan.

Today the contest involves a voluntary version of the rejected plan.

Freeman, in a talk before an organization of wheat growers at Amarillo, Tex., Thursday night appealed to growers to side with the administration in pressing for speedy congressional enactment of legislation authorizing it.

While Freeman was doing this, Farm Bureau leaders were

Freeman Appealing To Farmers For Backing

AMARILLO (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman appealed to wheat growers Thursday night for their backing of a voluntary certificate plan he outlined this week before a House agriculture subcommittee.

He told the National Association of Wheat Growers that congressional action to bolster income of wheat growers this year is essential despite a sharp decline in surplus stocks of the grain.

He said President Johnson "is deeply concerned that in the absence of new legislation the wheat grower will suffer a serious loss."

Freeman's certificate plan has been endorsed by a number of farm organizations, including the National Farmers Union and the National Grange.

ENDORSED

Under this plan, farmers who planted within 1964 wheat acreage allotments would get certificates for a part of their production. The certificates would have to be bought by processors and exporters and the returns from them would be used to augment growers' income.

A similar mandatory plan was rejected by growers in a referendum last May.

Freeman said greatly increased export prospects—including sales to the Soviet Union—and prospects for a relatively small crop this year indicate surplus supplies might well be brought down to a desirable reserve level.

But such a reduction in stocks, he said, cannot compensate growers for a $600-million decline in income forecast this year because of a big reduction in wheat price supports—a reduction required by law when growers vote down mandatory controls.

"Wheat legislation is the toughest kind of legislation to pass, and a wheat program is not meeting that the plan is needed to keep wheat growers' income from tumbling.

RETIREMENT

The Farm Bureau contends farmers do not want this program. Rather, it says, they want to eliminate all allotments and controls, and to set a land retirement program and price supports below those prevailing for the 1963 crop but higher than those now in store for the 1964 crop.

The special message is expected to urge wheat legislation along lines advocated by Freeman, as well as legislation for cotton, dairy products, revisions in the sugar control law, extension of the Food for Peace program, expansion of the food stamp plan, diversion of crop land to noncrop use and an expanded rural areas development program to battle rural poverty.

Shick Given Attendance Pin

Nat Shick, retired Big Spring postmaster and only surviving charter member of the Big Spring Kiwanis Club, was singled out for compliments Thursday by Soc Walker, retiring president.

The occasion was the presentation to Shick of a perfect attendance pin for 1963. It was no novelty for Shick — for 22 successive years, he has had a record of perfect attendance in the club. His membership dates back 12 years longer than that.

He has been a Big Spring Kiwanian for 34 years.

Shick was told by Walker that "They (Kiwanis International) did not have a 22-year pin. We hope you'll be pleased with the two 11-year pins we are substituting."

Walker also presented perfect attendance pins to 13 other Kiwanians. Two of these, John Coffee and Harvey Clay, each have 17 years of perfect attendance to their credit, and Jack Alexander has an eight-year record. Sherman Smith and Ernest Welch have each scored seven years, while J. C. Pickle and Clyde Hollingsworth have five years of perfect attendance. Others who were present at all meetings in 1963 were Bob Bradbury, Delaine Crawford, Bill Johnson, the Rev. V. Ward Jackson and Bob Travis.

Walker reviewed briefly the club's activities of the year he served as its president.

Giant Shopping Center Planned

DALLAS (AP) — Plans for a $90 million North Dallas regional shopping center and apartment, hotel and hospital complex have been presented to the City Council.

Zoning changes would be needed before the 110-acre development can be started.

The area would be at Mockingbird Lane and Inwood Road.

Trucks Have Bad Habits

When this tractor trailer crashed through the front of the Northeast Branch of the Riggs National Bank in Washington Thursday, bank officials were dismayed, but not too surprised and at once knew it would cost more than $7,500 to make repairs. It was the 4th time in as many years, the same thing has happened. In fact, the front had been restored only a few weeks ago (cost $7,500) from a previous entrance by a truck on Oct. 14, 1963. The bank is at the foot of a hill on which trucks make deliveries to a market, and sometimes they just keep rolling into the bank. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Cajun Battles Long Aide For Louisiana Governor

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A former New Orleans mayor who speaks French when campaigning in the Cajun country and a onetime lieutenant in the fabled Long political dynasty go before Louisiana voters Saturday for the Democratic nomination for governor.

The winner will meet the Republican nominee in a general election in March. But in this Deep South state the nomination has amounted to election since Reconstruction days, and there's little reason to expect anything different this year.

The runoff candidates for the Democratic nomination: DeLesseps Morrison, 51, a four-time mayor of New Orleans making his third bid for governor. Morrison was the late President John F. Kennedy's ambassador to the Organization of American States. He led the field of 19 in the first primary last month.

John McKeithen, 45, a state public service commissioner and onetime legislative floor leader for the late Gov. Earl Long. McKeithen campaigned as an old-line ally of the faction founded by Huey Long.

The runoff campaign has had its share of weird quirks, true to Louisiana's peppery political tradition.

For example, does Morrison wear a toupee? McKeithen says he thinks he might. Morrison says absolutely not.

In a more serious vein, did Morrison make a deal with Negro leaders: About one-tenth of Louisiana's one million voters are Negroes.

McKeithen says "all the circumstances" point to a deal. He cites a New Orleans visit by Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, a few days before the first primary.

Pinned down on a television interview, McKeithen said he couldn't prove his charge.

Morrison, appearing on the same television program, stoutly denied it. He said he never saw Wilkins in his life.

Both candidates describe themselves as segregationists. Most of the staunch segregationist element appears lined up behind McKeithen.

Most of Morrison's strength is in South Louisiana — predominantly Catholic with a strong strain of French heritage. Morrison is fluent in French and is a Catholic.

Jewel Burglary Totals $100,000

HOUSTON (AP) — Officials of a jewelry store, still taking inventory following a burglary this week, indicated today the loss may run as high as $100,000.

Burglars stripped the vault Tuesday night at Corrigan's Jewelers, Inc., and virtually cleaned out the store's stock of diamond necklaces and bracelets, pearl necklaces, diamond wedding rings, dinner rings, gold wedding bands and diamond watches.

Burglary detectives said it was a professional job and that the burglars entered through the roof of an adjoining store and then drilled through the wall into the jewelry store.

Methodists Seeking Lagging Areas' Aid

DALLAS (AP) — The Methodist Church's Board of Education closed a three-day meeting Thursday by adopting two possibly far-reaching recommendations to bolster sagging areas of the church.

One deals with a decline in the number of persons entering the Methodist ministry and the second urges strong action in stemming a decrease in church school attendance.

The so-called recruiting petition, submitted by the board's division of higher education, stated 2,400 Methodist ministers are urgently needed annually. Currently the church is adding only about 1,000 new ordained ministers a year.

The resolution asks the Council of Bishops to "give leadership during the fourthcoming quadrannium in a churchwide program for acquainting the church with our ministerial need and for the enlistment of men and women for the Christian ministry."

It will go before the church's general conference which opens April 26 in Pittsburgh, Pa.

The recommendation on decline in church school attendance stated:

"There is everywhere an indication of our nation's need for spiritual rebirth and moral renewal. The teaching ministry can and must do more, vastly more, in taking the gospel to the unreached and untaught multitudes increasing about us."

It urges the Council of Bishops to "make this a concern of the entire church... calling upon every local church to follow

WHAT IS THE CHURCH? IS IT NECESSARY? IS IT A DENOMINATION? IS IT AN INVISIBLE FEDERATION OF ALL DENOMINATIONS? CAN A PERSON BE SAVED WITHOUT BEING A MEMBER OF ANY CHURCH? WHAT DOES CHRIST HAVE TO DO WITH THE CHURCH, IF ANYTHING? IF CHRIST IS THE SAVIOUR, WHY BELONG TO A CHURCH ANYWAY? ACTUALLY...

IS THE CHURCH Really IMPORTANT?

Only one book in the world, the Bible, can teach us accurately and fully about this widely misunderstood subject, the church. To clearly understand the church one must first clearly understand two principles relating to the church.

The first principle is that Jesus Christ, and not man, was the builder, founder, head, and foundation of the church (Matthew 16:18; Ephesians 1:22; 1 Corinthians 3:11).

The second principle to understand is that the word church means "the called out"—referring to those individuals who have been called out of the world through the gospel and have been redeemed by the blood of Christ (Acts 2:47; 2 Thessalonians 2:14; 1 Peter 1:18,19).

The church is therefore the spiritual domain made possible, or purchased by, the blood of Christ (Acts 20:28; 1 Corinthians 6:19,20). This relationship is also described as the spiritual body of Christ (Ephesians 1:23; Colossians 1:18,24) and also as the kingdom of Christ (Colossians 1:13; Hebrews 12:28). Hence, we may fairly conclude that:

Jesus Christ is the head of his church.
Jesus Christ is the saviour of his spiritual body
Jesus Christ is the king of his kingdom.

And all three of these spiritual institutions—the church, the body, and the kingdom—are one and the same. They refer to the very same spiritual realm or relationship wherein Jesus Christ saves. Christ does not save outside of his church, outside of his spiritual body, or outside of his kingdom.

When a person is baptized "into Christ" (Romans 6:3), he is at the same time baptized into the church of Christ (Acts 2:38-41), the body of Christ (1 Corinthians 12:13), and the kingdom of Christ (John 3:3-5). These are not three different organizations, but simply three different designations of the same spiritual fellowship in which Christ saves.

Therefore, all—not a few, or some, or many—persons who have been redeemed by the blood of Christ are, without any choice in the matter, members of Christ's church or body or kingdom.

When these basic Bible teachings are comprehended, men will no longer teach or imply that the church is unnecessary to a person's salvation. It is true that Christ—and not the church—is the Saviour, but—and this is equally true—the church is that very spiritual body or kingdom that Christ will ultimately save (1 Corinthians 15:24; Ephesians 5:27). The church does not save. It is the body of the saved.

Yes, the church is inseparably linked with Christ, the blood of Christ, and man's salvation. Christ's precious blood was shed in order that individual souls might have remission of their sins through acceptance of and obedience to Christ's will (Matthew 26:28; Hebrews 5:8,9). The Bible teaches that the church was "purchased" by the blood of the Lord (Acts 20:28) inasmuch as all individuals redeemed by Christ constitute the church.

Does, then, one have to be a member of Christ's church or spiritual body or kingdom to be saved? While many will say "No" through misunderstanding, the Word of God teaches plainly that the church is that spiritual body which Christ will save (Ephesians 5:23). It necessarily follows that if a person wants to be a part of the spiritual body which Christ will save he must, therefore, be a member of Christ's church.

Stocks Still Point Upwards

The New York stock market closed out 1963 having set three new records. The first represents the greatest gain made in any one day by the Dow Jones Industrial averages. On the first market session following the assassination of President Kennedy the industrial list, as though to show the country's inherent strength, closed the day 31 points higher.

Volume record also has set 1963 apart. More shares were traded on the Big Board than ever before. The closest competitor, already exceeded by several million shares, was the hectic year 1929. The third landmark is probably the most important of all: Prices, as measured by the DJI averages, broke through to new highs. The past is of importance mainly to historians. What investors would like to know now is: Will the market continue its winning ways into 1964 and if so, for how far? Because most of what happens to the stock market stems from conditions in the economy, this is the first place to look before making predictions.

Businessmen, fortunately, are optimistic over the outlook for this year. Members of the Commerce and Industry Association, for example, believe 1964 should be one of continuing growth. This, naturally would be bullish to stocks.

But there are certain imponderables, among them the fact that 1964 brings a presidential election. Also, the market is always at the mercy of an international incident. However, barring the unexpected, most experts predict that stock prices will be higher on Dec. 31, 1964, than for that day in 1963.

As with the common cold, previous-itis must run its course; only the passage of time cures it. Meanwhile, about the only thing to do is to pull up short every time one is about to set pen to paper and think: What year is this? It's 1964. (Please pass that eraser.)

Previous Year-Itis

An informal poll of an unscientific cross section of the populace reveals that the season disease, previous-year-itis, is again rampant. The classic symptoms of this ailment, which is never fatal but always irritating, are widely evident.

The most virulent form of the disease appears to strike those writing checks. The incidence of checks dated 1963 is exceedingly high. This annoys both the immediate victim and his bank. Letter writers also suffer a good deal, and the number of dateline erasures is considerable even in offices of model efficiency.

As with the common cold, previous-itis must run its course; only the passage of time cures it. Meanwhile, about the only thing to do is to pull up short every time one is about to set pen to paper and think: What year is this? It's 1964. (Please pass that eraser.)

Public Opinion Polls On Johnson

WASHINGTON — Somebody is fooling somebody on the American political scene. Surely the Southerners haven't suddenly given up their stand on "civil rights"—nor have the radical liberals in the North overnight become conservatives.

But if the public-opinion polls are right, the South and the North have undergone quite a political change since Lyndon Johnson became President.

IT DOESN'T SEEM logical that, just because Mr. Johnson comes from the South, the voters there now favor the "civil rights" bill sponsored by the Kennedy administration, while the "liberals" in the North coincidentally believe that President Johnson will defend and support the policies of his predecessor on labor relations and other issues which have caused businessmen to feel in the last three years that the Democratic party was veering toward socialism.

Both sides cannot be right about President Johnson's attitudes. Yet the public-opinion polls in recent days have shown a sharp dropoff for the Republicans and big rise for the Democrats since President Johnson took office on Nov. 22, 1963.

BUT ON WHAT is such a change based? Certainly Mr. Nixon hasn't said anything to cause the change, and neither has Senator Goldwater. The answer must be in the opinion formed in all sections of the country by many people that President Johnson will not support all the Kennedy policies and will eventually go over to the other side on many points.

There is nothing as yet in the utterances of Mr. Johnson to justify any such assumption. The Northern Democrats, especially some of the extremist organizations which boast of their "liberalism" and anti-conservatism, are taking it for granted that Mr. Johnson will base his appeal to the country on a wholehearted acceptance of the Kennedy policies. For, politically speaking, he could hardly repudiate the acts and programs put into operation by the Democratic administration from Jan. 20, 1961, to Nov. 22, 1963, and still retain the support of all the so-called "liberals" in the North and West.

ON THE Republican side, incidentally, there is also found evidence in the North of a feeling that Mr. Johnson will turn out to be as "liberal" as Mr. Kennedy. Thus, some of the Republican political obsessions indicated there that conservatism is no longer outspoken conservative, is no longer strong, that it was a couple months ago, and that the time has come to turn toward the "liberal" views expounded by Governor Rockefeller and, to some extent, by some of the other aspirants for the Republican nomination.

BUT IN THE South and in some business circles in the North the reasoning is just the other way—that Mr. Johnson is basically conservative and, in due time, will turn out to be a genuine conservative. This would perhaps be more evident after the election, when he presumably would no longer need "liberal" support.

Is conservatism more of an issue than "civil rights"? Senator Goldwater himself thinks so. On "Meet the Press" last Sunday, he told the TV audience that in the South the issue of conservative fiscal policy, for instance, is considered more important than "civil rights." The Arizona senator said:

"I WILL MAKE a prediction to you. I believe that, when the civil rights bill comes to the floor, it will contain the public accommodations section. I think we will go through the gestures of a filibuster and the President will go through the gestures of fighting for the bill, but at a critical point a compromise will be reached where the public accommodations section will be dropped, with the approval of the President."

About all that can be said now is that public-opinion polls are a measure of the state of mind of the people at a given time and not a forecast of the result of a nominating convention or an election several months in the future. And the "state of mind" today is one really of wishful thinking—that the new administration here will somehow make vital decisions on highly controversial issues and yet satisfy everybody.

Billy Graham

I consider myself a Christian. I am a jockey agent at a race track. Is this wrong for me to be doing as a Christian?

J.R. Off hand, I would say that they could use some Christians around the race track.

Too often we think of Christianity as being restricted to certain types of vocations—as being isolated from the grim, day-to-day existence. I can think of no place where a solid Christian witness is needed more than in the environment in which you work. Here are people with problems and heartaches, depending on the chance-winning of a few extra dollars to give them a "lift" in life. What an opportunity to witness for Christ and to say by your Christian witness that "man shall not live by bread alone."

Of course, if it is necessary for you to be unethical or dishonest, then I would say that you should consider other work. But, I presume that such work is pretty well controlled by rules and regulations, and would not be open to unethical practices. However if God convicts you about your work then by all means change jobs . . . don't ever compromise your conviction.

My prayers go with you as you endeavor to live for Christ in a place where you come into close contact with many who need Him.

Relic Downstairs

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP)—The boiler at the Museum of New Mexico complex will remain in the basement for awhile, but museum officials say it would serve better upstairs as a relic. The State Finance Board turned down a museum request for a $7,500 emergency grant for additional heating facilities for the Palace of the Governors to take some of the pressure off the boiler, located in the art museum basement.

The board suggested the museum should take its request to the special session of the legislature next year.

Museum director James T. Forrest said the boiler is at least 50 years old.

Welfare Programs Here To Stay

WASHINGTON (AP)—Times have changed.

In this single week Democratic President Johnson and two Republican governors—Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York and George Romney of Michigan—all proposed welfare programs.

Johnson did it for the nation, the two governors for their states. This identity of purpose won't eliminate the bombast of the two parties throw at each other in this year's political campaigns. But it does narrow the range a bit.

IT WASN'T until the days of Henry VIII and Queen Elizabeth that a government in what might be called the modern world acknowledged for the first time it had a responsibility for the general welfare.

The acknowledgment had a very modest beginning in the Elizabethan poor laws. The early settlers in this country brought the idea with them and it took form in poor houses.

The idea progressed about as fast as an elephant walking backwards across a frozen lake.

The Constitution mentioned the general welfare vaguely. The government did take responsibility for the welfare of the economy but not of needy people. The first Congress passed a tariff act to protect American business from imports.

BUT AS LATE as the last half of the 19th century American presidents—specifically Pierce and Cleveland—were denying in very strong terms that this government had responsibility for the general welfare.

The Supreme Court had pretty much the same view. The idea began to grow, but still in baby steps, until the depression days of the 1930s when President Roosevelt's New Deal assumed responsibility in desperation to save the country.

This historic callousness to the welfare of the poor, the old, the unemployed, the handicapped, the ill is hardly surprising when it is remembered human slavery existed from antiquity, didn't start to get abolished in Europe until the 18th century and in this country had to be abolished by a war.

STILL THE United States was tardy with its concern for people's welfare. By the mid-1930s, when it finally got around to Social Security and compulsory unemployment insurance, it was already a quarter of a century behind Britain.

And it wasn't until 1946—when Congress passed an employment act but refused to call it "full employment"—that the men on Capitol Hill for the first time declared the government did have responsibility for the general welfare.

BUT THIS was delayed recognition for what had already become an accepted fact of American life with its start in the social legislation of the New Deal.

Presidents Truman, Eisenhower and Kennedy all accepted it and went on from there, as they would have anyway without the 1946 declaration. Their election-conscious parties didn't urge any return to pre-welfare days.

Sen. Barry Goldwater has sounded unhappy about Social Security but he seems to have had second thoughts. At one point in his career he appeared to be saying the government ought to get out of welfare programs.

But last September, in an interview with U.S. News and World Report, he was asked if he would "phase out" various welfare programs.

HE SAID: "Oh, I don't think you can do that. Take Social Security, for example. I think it could be made flexible and voluntary in that, if a man didn't want to go under it, he wouldn't have to."

Thursday in New Hampshire—where Rockefeller and Goldwater are campaigning to get the Republican presidential nomination—the New Yorker took a crack at Goldwater for the views he expressed last September.

He said Goldwater advocated plans that "would wreck the Social Security system of the country" and "would take us right back to the poor house and bigger relief rolls."

When I got back home Old Limpy already had been there and left two envelopes. They were addressed to us.

One was a garbage bill. The other was a milk bill. I went to the kitchen and mixed a stiff drink—of eggnog.

Cook Pork Well To Avoid Trichinosis

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Should children be fed extremely rare meats? I am old-fashioned. I know, but as youngsters were served only meat that was well-done. In fact, we were told we would get pinworms from eating raw meat—MRS. D.W.S.

Raw meat is not a source of pinworms, but it can result in other types of worms.

Pork can cause trichinosis, or infection with a worm which lays eggs, and then when these hatch, the larvae burrow into muscle tissues in many parts of the body.

Thorough cooking destroys these worms—so never, under any circumstances, eat pork unless it is well done.

Lamb and beef are different. They do not come from meat-eating animals, so the threat of trichinosis is not present.

But they can be the source of tapeworms at times.

They should be reasonably well-cooked to eliminate this risk.

By that I mean they should be cooked at least to what we call medium rare, for people who like meat that way.

"Very rare" means uncooked at the center. This can be potentially harmful. Not all beef or lamb will have tapeworm, of course, in which the rare meat eaters are lucky. But what we are concerned with is avoiding the occasional risk.

Texas has gone a long way to improve its highway system, but many flaws remain in regulation of those roadways. One such flaw might well have been an underlying factor in the recent death of Brig. Gen. Howard J. Withycombe.

This factor is a lack of uniformity in use of major thoroughfares and their access roads. Uniformity in such use should extend nationwide. I am seldom a proponent of uniformity, but when lives are at stake, I think most of us would go along with it.

EACH OF the 50 states has its own regulations. In some areas travel on four-lane highways is in the left lane for through traffic; in others, as in Texas, through traffic uses the right lane with passing on the left. Access roads in some areas of Texas are one-way streets; at the scene of the accident they are two-way. It is quite confusing.

Driving would be much easier, and probably safer, if a person could expect to meet the same driving regulations and road customs everywhere in the nation.

AUTOMATION in the next few years will only accentuate the unemployment problem. It is now taking away thousands of jobs monthly from unskilled labor. Soon it will take away many jobs for which technical training is needed and eventually will probably even thin the ranks of the highly-trained.

At the risk of incurring the wrath of a large segment of our population—the working women—let me endorse a proposal which would partially solve the problem and delay it until someone else can come up with a better solution, and a more permanent one.

THE PROPOSAL is simply this—put the housewife back in the home which she has been neglecting since her emancipation. Making a home is a full-time job and there is no substitute for mother. The working mother may have a lighter day at the office than one who properly conducts the home affairs and related chores, but emancipation does not mean severing from responsibilities.

THERE ARE a few instances where such work outside the home is justified, and other cases where there is a shortage of qualified personnel to meet the need, such as in the teaching profession, but too often the work is justified by purely selfish reasons. In my judgment, that TLC (tender loving care) which many of our youngsters now have to seek at mental institutions might have been provided earlier in their lives instead of a new toaster or a new car.

There Is, Too, Good Cider

Only a month ago I was moanin' low that Ida, Sweet as Apple Cidah, ain't what she used to be—and, what is more to the point, neither is cidah.

Since then I have been drinking my words! And Chez Robb, from stem to stern, smells like an old country cider press. Citizens of every apple state in the Union have written in to swear that Ida and cidah haven't changed in country districts since the republic was founded.

AND, JUST TO prove it, they have sent cider samples in bottles, kegs and plastic containers. Even with maximum consumption and the willing help of neighbors we have been unable to keep ahead of the flood.

After our annual gallon of Thanksgiving cider, I sadly wrote that the cider we city folk buy has been pasteurized, and—homogenized to death, and then further done in by the addition of a preservative that succeeds in preserving the liquid, all right, but also in removing all zip and flavor from the cup that used to cheer but never intoxicate.

SINCE WORLD War II commercial cider has become progressively more bland and tasteless, I wrote, bawling the fact that today's cider lacks tang and tickle and the good nutty or meaty flavor that came of a few wormy apples in the barrel.

Well, sir, by last count I have 783 addresses of old-time cider presses located from Maine to California. Next autumn, if I have the time and the capacity, I can start a cider tour of the nation.

HUNDREDS OF persons have written me that only a dumb New Yorker would be ignorant of the fact that the old-fashioned family cider press is still standard in apple country. And at least 80 have advised me to get up off my cushion, cross the Hudson River into neighboring New Jersey, and drink my fill of genuine country cider, unpolluted by pasteurization or other sanitary measures that have taken the pep out of cider.

Every woman worth her salt or cider would like to win one of those college elections and be named the girl with whom the boys would most like to be shipwrecked on a desert island.

FULFILLMENT of this dream continues to elude me. But I am the woman with whom the handsome lead of the Horticultural Club of the School of Agriculture of North Carolina State, Raleigh, N.C., would most like to down a gallon of cider.

Just to prove to you that the real McCoy cider has not completely disappeared from the American scene, the students of The Horticultural Club are sending you some of that "noble drink." 'Tis the club wrote me.

"THE STUDENTS make about 600 gallons of this delectable drink every fall as a means of bolstering the treasury for club activities," the letter read. "It is pure and completely unadulterated."

"It is our plan to have 'Ida' arrive as her own sweet self because we have kept her cool and flavorsome," the letter continued. "If you give her a little time she will develop that 'tang' which is so satisfying as it tickles your palate and makes your taste buds burst into full bloom."

THE LAST paragraph of the letter contained a warning note, to wit: "When Ida develops just the right amount of tang, keep her cool because she may become a little too 'heady' and make you want to tango."

I have been following instructions. This country cidah, sweet as dimpled Ida, gets better day by day. But, boys, what's wrong with the tango?

Choices For Republicans

WASHINGTON — On opposite shores stand two figures who are a measure of the great Republican gulf. One is Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, the other Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., currently ambassador to South Vietnam.

Despite his own declaration that he is not a candidate for the presidential nomination, Lodge now has an active organization going for delegates. It promises to gain momentum if only as a rallying point for Eastern Republicans who write off Gov. Nelson Rockefeller because of his divorce and remarriage.

DURING HIS last visit to Saigon just before Christmas Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara got a gloomy report on the war against the Viet Cong guerrillas. It contradicted the optimism officially put out before the secretary's previous visit to the area three months before.

With his insistence on finding solutions measurable in hard terms of men and firepower, McNamara called for recommendations from those responsible for supervising the American effort involving up to 15,000 American troops. Lodge said that in his opinion a new and spectacular move was essential to get the military junta now in power in Saigon off dead center. But there was no immediate agreement on what the move might be.

FOR THE CYNICAL this raised the suspicion that after some spectacular action, putting at least a better look on the war effort, Lodge would feel free to come home and be a passive if not an active candidate for the presidency. Considering, however, that Lodge in effect sought out his difficult post, this does him an injustice.

He let the late President Kennedy know that he was interested in some kind of public service. This was at a moment when the President was casting about for a man of stature to take the Saigon post.

LODGE AGREED to take the ambassadorship knowing full well the hazards involved. He stepped into the middle of the revolution that destroyed the Diems and drew down on himself the vitriolic abuse of Madame Ngo Dinh Nhu.

Lodge's principal champion in the GOP is Gen. Eisenhower. Largely thanks to Eisenhower, Lodge became the running mate of Richard Nixon in 1960.

THE FOLLOWERS of Robert A. Taft, the Mr. Conservative of his day, looked on Lodge as a principal conspirator in cheating their beloved hero of the presidency. In the '60 campaign Lodge made his famous statement in Harlem promising that the Republicans, if elected, would name a Negro to a Cabinet post. Conservative Republicans were dismayed and GOP chances in the South took a nose dive.

At a time when foreign policy must take precedence, Lodge, judged solely by experience—his years at the United Nations—is more qualified for the presidency than any other candidate. Yet in the light of his political record and the conflicts within his party it seems inconceivable that the Republicans at San Francisco would nominate him.

THEY MUST find a common denominator who can try to bridge the gulf. At this writing the name appears to be Nixon. He will wait in the wings until the mauling on stage has ended and then, as he himself has said, be ready to bind up the wounds.

Converted Corner

Many homes have drab, dark and unused corners which can easily be transformed into bright functional areas with distinctive decorative appeal. In creating this private game corner, the coordinating ingredient is the mirror panel which builds in a bright reflective backdrop for colorful accessories and furnishings. Use a panel that is the width of the table. Extend it from table top to ceiling for the maximum illusion of height. In addition to bringing light to a dark corner, it adds the feeling of depth and dimension to a small room.

Epiphany Theme Used For Luncheon, Program

An Epiphany theme was featured in luncheon table decorations and a program Tuesday for members of the Mary Zinn Circle, First Methodist Church. The covered dish luncheon, held at the church, was followed by the story of the Epiphany given by Mrs. W. A. Laswell. She was assisted by Mrs. Jackie Bishop who read from the scriptures.

Finance Explained By Jack Davis At P-TA Session

"Finances and Credit in the Family" was the topic chosen by Jack Davis, vice president of First National Bank, when he spoke Tuesday afternoon for the Runnels Junior High School Parent-Teacher Association. The devotion was given by Billy Rudd of East Fourth Baptist Church.

Mrs. Curtis McCartney, president, announced that the Mother's March of Dimes would be held at 6 p.m., Jan. 20. She appointed a committee to assist Elvin Bearden, project chairman, and reported a balance of $549.55 in the treasury. Mrs. J. H. Homan, council representative, said that a parliamentary course will be held from 9 a.m. until noon, Jan. 14, in the Community Room of First Federal Savings and Loan Bldg. The 35 attending were urged to pay the poll tax by Jan. 31.

Furniture Care Is Club Topic

Mixing cigarette ashes with mineral oil to help repair burn damage to furniture was suggested by Jack Watkins, Good Housekeeping Shop, when he spoke Thursday morning to the Big Spring Progressive Forum. The women met in the home of Mrs. Ed Corson, 3002 Parkway.

Using the topic, "Home Furnishings," Watkins explained proper care of furnishings and carpet to prolong their life and beauty. He said that common household items can be used to repair damage that is not severe enough to require professional help. An equal mixture of vinegar and water can be used to brighten carpet and lemon oil was suggested for use on scratches.

Verse Read For Club

"Half and Half" a book of verse written by Mrs. Harold Davis and her college roommate, Dawn Hawley, was read by Mrs. Davis Wednesday afternoon for the Child Study Club.

The blank verse described the trials of a college girl with a split personality and her struggle with two "faces"—one introvert and the other extrovert.

Mrs. Dave Dorchester reported that 20 gifts, 75 treat sacks and clothing had been presented to the Special Education School at Christmas.

MARY, A MEDIATRIX?

"Of all the splendid treasures of grace brought to us by our Lord Jesus Christ, not one fragment can be allotted to us in the divine plan without the mediation of Mary," wrote Pope Leo XIII.

Is Mary a Mediatrix (one who stands between God and man to pray for man)? Do all blessings from God pass through Mary before they reach man?

If Mary is a Mediatrix, the Bible is false. Notice what the Bible says: 1. Mary cannot be worshipped. "You shall worship the Lord your God and Him only shall you serve." Matt. 4:10. Mary is not God. She has no place in our worship.

2. The Bible nowhere speaks of Mary as Mediatrix. Yet, the Bible will make us religiously "complete." II Tim. 3:16-17. But two persons are said to mediate between man and God — and Mary is neither of these. Romans 8:26; I Tim. 2:5.

3. Those who have passed beyond the veil of this life have no consciousness of what occurs upon the earth. The dead man's sons come "to honor, and he does not know it." Job 14:21. Mary could not hear us if we should pray to her!

No, friends, the Bible does not teach that Mary is a Mediatrix between God and man. In fact, it teaches the complete opposite. You can stand with the Bible and be sure!

The church of Christ welcomes you! NE 6th and Runnels

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Two-Day And Simple Way To Make Jam

Dear Folks:

If you want to make something different for a change that is ever so good and takes little effort, try this:

Buy some dried apricots. Put them in a great big fruit jar. Pour boiling water over them and let set overnight on your drainboard. Do not put too many apricots in the jar because, remember, they will swell. I fill my jar about half full of fruit.

The next day put these apricots in your refrigerator. Let them set one more day.

By then, they will have become swollen . . . nice and juicy.

Pour the water off, put the apricots, as is, into your blender (or electric mixer) and give them a whirl. At this time one may add a few spoons of sugar or a sugar substitute. You will come out with the thickest most exciting jam you have ever tasted.

If you like a wee bit of a sour taste, thinly slice four or five slivers of fresh lemon and put in the jar before pouring the boiling water over the fruit.

I have also tried this with other mixed dried fruits such as pears and peaches. Wham, does it make a different treat for breakfast! This is wonderful when put on waffles or hot-cakes.

Dear Heloise: Here are a few suggestions for the hurried mother with little children:

A finicky appetite of a sick child can be stimulated sometimes by these little tricks. I keep a box of tiny colored pictures, which I have cut from magazines, in my kitchen. There will be pictures of a little bird, animals, flowers, automobiles, etc.

I fasten one of these pictures on the bottom of a sturdy glass or custard cup, glass cereal bowl etc. with scotch tape. The child is eager to see the picture and he eats and drinks the contents of all the glass dishes. The child really loves it.

Mums Discussed In Program For Green Thumbers

Chrysanthemums, their adaptability and care in this area, were discussed for Green Thumb Garden Club members Tuesday at the home of Mrs. H. W. Smith, 712 Dallas. Mrs. Bill Tubb, a judge of the National Chrysanthemum Society, explained the necessity of feeding and the resulting response of plants in this area. She pointed out the importance of de-budding and pinching — back the young plants. Also she invited the club to become a member of the national society.

Mrs. H. A. Roque, the former Connie Cushing who is visiting her sister, Mrs. Hubert Stipp, was a guest. Seventeen members were present and were served by the hostess.

panes can be stopped very easily in a home that does not have a basement.

Large sheets of Pliofilm (which can be purchased inexpensively from any builders supply firm) spread out over the ground under the house will solve this problem.

Until we did this, we were bothered with so much moisture that we actually had mildewed walls behind the furniture. —Reader

Must be so. Even exterminating companies wrote in that they did the same thing! Many people put their own Polyethylene plastic on the ground under the home. No more sweaty windows and most people swore that mildew was eliminated in closets! It's cheap, so sure is worth a try. Heloise

Yesterday, I successfully removed an old cod liver oil stain from one of my baby's best cotton dresses by using hydrogen peroxide.

I poured two tablespoons of peroxide in a china bowl and added a pinch of borax and applied this mixture to the stain. I let it set awhile and then launder as usual. —A Reader

Gals, this is right about soaking venetian blinds in the bathtub with too strong a detergent and scouring powders. Strong ammonia will do the same thing. Heed her word. Heloise

Water District Approves Comparable Rates For '64

Rates comparable to those of the past year were adopted here Friday by directors of the Colorado River Municipal Water District for member cities of Odessa, Big Spring and Snyder.

The actual rate in each case cannot be determined until total consumption is known because each city pays a monthly fixed charge plus six cents per thousand gallons used.

Odessa's fixed charge will be $57,266.18 per month, as compared with $59,181 for last year; Big Spring's $22,022.55 as compared with $22,448.33 last year; and Snyder $5,838 as compared with $4,868.67 last year.

Based on estimated consumption for 1964, the Odessa rate would figure out 23.01 cents per thousand gallons, or .6 of a cent under the calculated rate for the past year. (Actually, Odessa exceeded its estimated consumption of water last year so that the actual cost per thousand was 22.86 cents.)

The Big Spring rate would be 16.64 cents, or .58 of a cent per thousand gallons less than last year's calculated rate. Like Odessa, Big Spring's 1963 consumption exceeded estimates so that the actual cost per thousand was 16.28 cents.

Snyder's calculated rate, based on estimates for 1964, will be 16.23 cents per thousand gallons. This is more than the 14.66 cents calculated for the past year and an actual rate of 13.36. If Snyder consumption holds at the level of the past year, the rate would figure down to 14.83, or if the Rotan load (added last year) increases demands, the unit cost could go even lower.

Rates of the district are required to be set at the first meeting of the board in the new year at a level sufficient for operations, debt service and to maintain other required funds at proper levels. Rates are arrived at by a complicated formula set out under the trust indenture. Each city's share is in proportion to its percentage of the total consumption of water by the member cities, except that for pipeline and pumping expense, one half of the charge is computed on the basis of gallon miles.

Committee Discusses Parking At High School

The Public Health and Safety Committee of the Chamber of Commerce held its first meeting of 1964 Thursday afternoon with Chairman Charles Weeg in charge.

The committee discussed possibilities of working with the Big Spring Independent School District in establishing closed parking facilities at the high school for students. A letter from Dr. W. R. White, superintendent of the Dallas Schools, told of that system's methods of setting up parking regulations to prevent hazardous practices of driving cars in and out of lots during the day.

Dr. Preston Harrison, member of the state committee studying locations for mental health clinics in Texas, to be set up under the "Mental Retardation Facilities and Community Mental Health Centers Construction Act of 1963," spoke on the necessity for setting up a steering committee in Big Spring. Dr. Harrison said the state committee was named to set up rules for determining locations of such clinics, the construction of which will be paid by the federal government. Maintenance and staffing must be done by other agencies.

A discussion of safety signs on Third and Fourth streets, to eliminate hazards of improper lane changes, following too closely, and other hazardous driving habits, was heard. Chief Jay Banks of the Big Spring Police Department told the committee that these conditions would probably have to be worked out locally.

The committee agreed that programs of the future should be worked out through a coordinating committee, working with the various civic organizations in the city.

Coin Club Plans Library

Big Spring Coin Club has plans to set up a more complete numismatic library for the benefit of its members as one of its major goals for 1964.

At the first meeting of the year Thursday night in the Crawford Hotel Building, Daniel D. Kester, president, outlined the program of activity he hopes the club will pursue. He stressed the need for a better coin collectors library. Nucleus for the library is now set up in the Kenney Coin Shop on Gregg Street. Kester asked all members to donate books or literature they may have on coins and coin collecting to the library.

A second goal, Kester said, is a larger membership for the club. Any person of any age interested in coin collecting is invited to become a member.

Guests at the meeting were Mrs. Frank Liddell, Lamesa, Jack Coffey, Lorraine, and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Randle, Colorado City. Mrs. Randle and Vernon Skirdelein were enrolled as new members.

Door prizes were won by Lee Sanderson (a $50 1906 gold coin); Joe Maenner, (1959 proof set) and Refa Barlow, (a Maria Theresa thaler).

Arnold Martin, Odessa, conducted the regular coin auction after the refreshment period.

The base paper is printed by Big Spring Printing Co., and supported by commercial advertising.

Class III (5-10 thousand population) honors in commercial enterprise went to Randolph AFB's "Wingspread," which also won in this class in 1962. Sgt. De Stephanis was assigned to the Webb Information Office in December, 1961. He is a 13-year Air Force veteran and has been in the information field since July, 1951.

Second Suspect Arrested In Safeway Store Robbery

The second suspect in the armed robbery Dec. 23 of the Safeway Store, 1300 S. Gregg, was arrested Thursday night in Midland during an attempted burglary there, according to Police Chief Jay Banks.

City detectives left Big Spring Friday morning en route to Midland to question Richard Earl Snider, 23, who has been paroled from the state penitentiary to Wichita Falls, detectives said, adding that he had been sentenced for burglary.

A warrant for the arrest of Snider, charging armed robbery, was issued in Justice of the Peace Jess Slaughter's Court Dec. 27. On that day, the first suspect in the armed robbery, Elbert Lee Lewis, 30, was arrested in Midland.

Police said Lewis' connection with the robbery was determined when the car used in the robbery was traced to his ex-wife. Slaughter issued a warrant for the arrest of Lewis, charging armed robbery, before the suspect was apprehended in Midland. Bond was set at $10,000 after Lewis was transferred to Big Spring the Saturday following his arrest in Midland.

Detectives Friday said the arrest of both men apparently clears up the robbery. The suspects are accused of taking about $5,500 from Luther Louamy Jr., manager of the Safeway Store. He was forced at gunpoint to open a safe in the rear of the store, detectives said.

Banks said Snider may be returned to Big Spring today. "Of course," he added, "the authorities in Midland may want to file charges on him or they may want to question him further."

All but about $200 of the money taken in the armed robbery here was recovered in an alley used for an escape route as pursuing officers closed in minutes after the robbery.

Enrollment Dips Again

The Christmas holidays took their toll on enrollment in the Big Spring Independent School District as the total dropped by 29 on the Jan. 3 count to 7,518 pupils.

A year ago the enrollment was 101 less—7,417. The current figure is 114 below the peak enrollment count of 7,632 noted Oct. 25, 1963.

Most of the losses were in elementary schools, which showed a loss of 22 pupils, dropping to 4,376. Secondary grades went from 2,998 to 2,983, a loss of nine, while special education rose two to 153.

By school, enrollments and changes are: Airport 494, up one; Bauer 525, down one; Boydston 478, down three; Cedar Crest 295, down four; College Heights 464, up three; Gay Hill 118, down one; Kate Morrison 240, down two; Kentwood 110, down two; Lakeview 196, down three; Marcy 529, no change; Park Hill 247, down three; Washington 680, down seven; Goliad 803, down four; Lakeview Junior High 69, no change; Runnels 350, up one; and Senior High 1,867, down six.

Plaintiffs Ask Dismissal Of Stanton Election Suit

Stanton's contested election, which has been on the books since Sept. 10, 1963, was dismissed today.

Judge Ralph Caton, 118th District Court, signed an order which brought an end to the litigation. The order was submitted to the court by the attorney for Albert A. Johnson and June W. Graham, Stanton residents, who had filed the original action.

The plaintiffs in the contest related that they had checked the ballots cast in a referendum election Sept. 10, 1963, and that while they found ample evidence that irregularities had occurred, it was evident these were not enough to change the outcome of the election.

The referendum was on the question whether the people of Stanton wanted the second phase of an Urban Renewal Program to be started. An opposition to the program had generated and a petition had been filed with the city council asking that the referendum be called.

The city council ordered the election and then all but one member of the council resigned. The election on Sept. 10 sampled the sentiment of the populace on the embattled program and at the same time, named new councilmen to replace those who had resigned.

However, as is pointed out in the letter accompanying the request that the contested election suit be dismissed, the city council had the last say in the matter. Regardless of the sentiment expressed in the election on the program, the council was the body which would say if the program continued or halted.

The contest resulted in the ballots being impounded on the night of the election. The matter has been hanging fire since that time although another election has been held and council members named.

Meantime, the city council has withheld action on whether the Urban Renewal Program would be continued or halted. The members indicated they wanted the election dispute settled before reaching a decision.

Scout Chairman Predicts Strong District Program

If adult leadership can bring it about, there will be an accelerated and stronger Scouting program in 1964, R. L. Tollett, district chairman, declared Thursday evening.

All operating committees of the Lone Star district have been assigned the job of recruiting new manpower and training new leadership, he said. Reports at the district committee session at Cosden Country Club reflected good progress toward this goal.

Activities are being stepped up also. Under Frosty Robison, the camping and activities committee is compiling a list of campsites within a 300-mile radius, is promoting summer camp attendance, signing Explorer units to a summer camp project, and is planning for a wholly different type of district camporee in April.

Harry Blomshied said the leadership training committee will conduct the basic training session for scoutmasters Jan. 24, for Cubbers March 3-4 and for Explorer advisors March 10-11.

Merit badge counselor lists are being prepared for early distribution by the advancement committee, reported Maj. Charles Penn.

Final figures showed the district had 1,400 boys (669 Cubs, 606 Scouts, and 135 Explorers) at the end of the year, a slight gain, said Joe Jackson. His organization and extension committee is pressing for more units to accommodate more boys in 1964.

Jack Gully reported 22 of a goal of 30 commissioners had been recruited. W. D. Broughton will head the Cubbers roundtable, and Garrett Patton will be in charge of the Scouters roundtable.

Between 150 and 200 boys will be sought as entries in the district's first aid meet Feb. 28, said Paul Saldan, health and safety chairman. The event will be held in Runnels Junior High gymnasium.

Joe Moss, district vice chairman, had a number of institutional representatives for conference. Opening exercise of the district meeting was provided by Troop No. 3, sponsored by the Kiwanis Club and led by Sgt. W. E. Lavander, scoutmaster.

Hospitalized

Mrs. R. V. (Chelle) Hart was taken to the Howard County Hospital Foundation this morning, suffering from exposure. She was found not far from her home at 804 Johnson by a neighbor, who summoned help. She was dressed in light clothing and apparently had left her quarters sometime during the night.

History Text Is The Bible

PADUCAH, Ky. (AP) — Marv in Montgomery is proud that nine-tenths of his high school pupils are regular churchgoers.

Montgomery teaches an unusual course in history. His only textbook is the Bible.

For 19 years, juniors and seniors at Paducah Tilghman High have studied the Bible as historical literature.

The Paducah Association of Churches foots the bill — $40 a year per student. The course is elective but can count among the 18 credits required for graduation.

It became part of the curriculum long before there was any Supreme Court ruling against required Bible reading or devotionals in public schools or governing the release of students during school hours to be trained in religious faith.

"It's something that kind of grew up traditionally," said Dr. Newman Walker, Paducah school superintendent.

Montgomery is an ordained minister. He teaches the classes daily at an off-campus site. The course — "there's nothing denominational about it" — covers the Old Testament one semester; the New Testament another.

Enrollment is open to all pupils but is limited to 145 — about one-fifth of the upper classmen.

"The better students say they appreciate it more than other courses but I guess that is because it is different," Montgomery said.

"They know a little something about it when they start and they find out there is a whole lot they don't know."

Montgomery was asked how the course affected his students.

"They become more reverent," he replied.

Superintendent Walker thinks the course complies with the basic provision of the Supreme Court ruling of the late 1940s which permits pupils to be given time off for religious training.

Bible instruction as history or historical literature apparently would meet state law requirements.

Skirting any violation of the separation of church and state principle, Paducah leaders set up the Tilghman Bible Class in 1944, had it incorporated in the curriculum and hired a teacher.

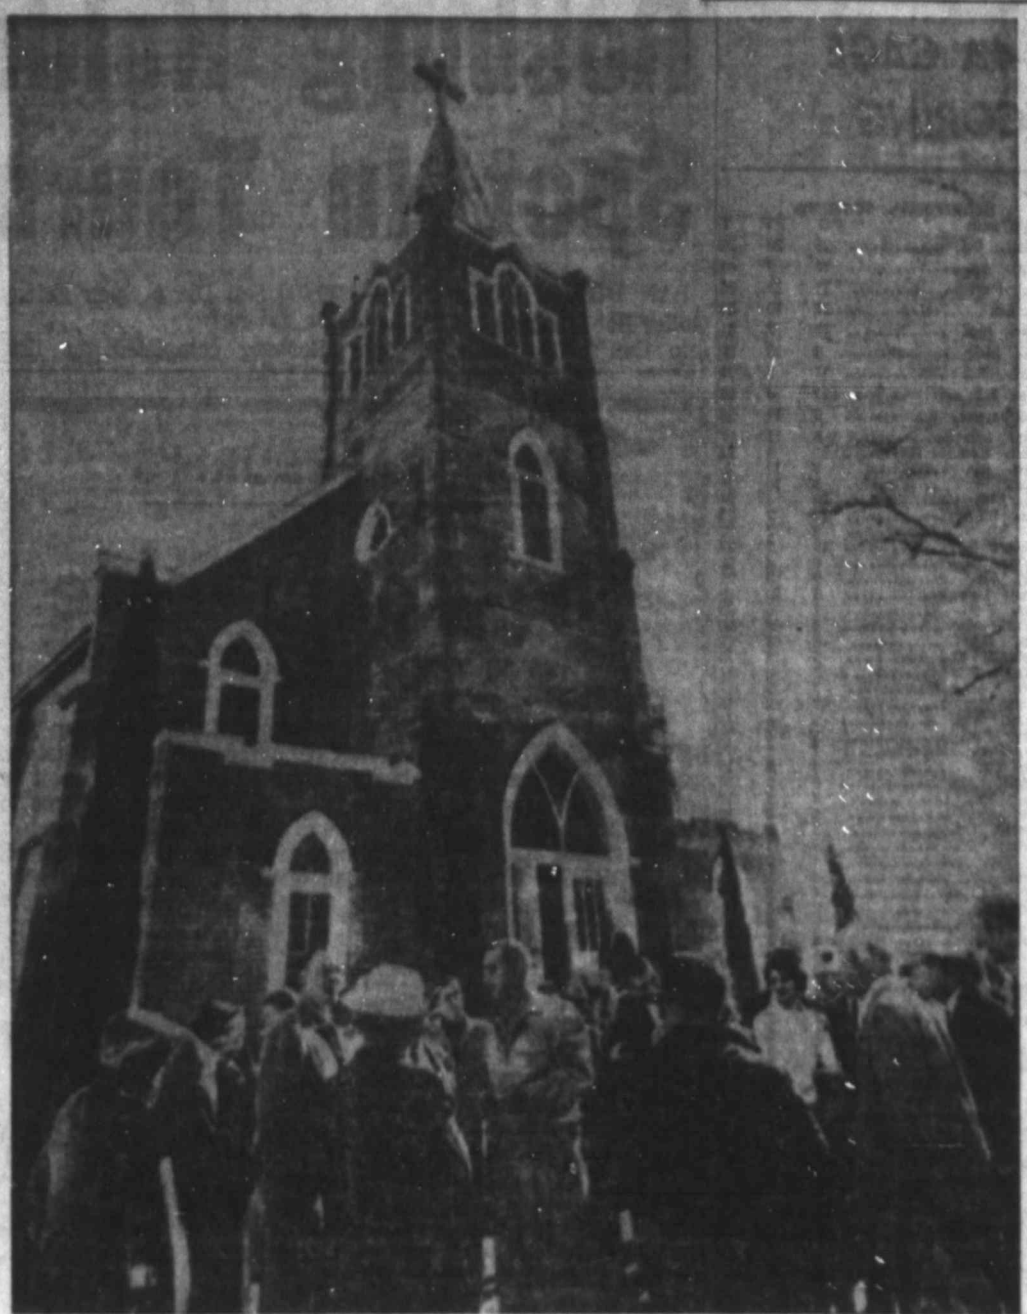

The United Church Women obtained a building near the campus for the six daily classes.

The Paducah Association of Churches, with 18 member churches, pays maintenance on the building and the teacher's salary. It takes special offerings each Thanksgiving and Easter.

Local Group Will Attend Convention

Special assignments and program features for the semi-annual convention of Jehovah's Witnesses to be held at Carlsbad, N. M., Jan. 24-26 were announced Thursday by A. D. Turman, presiding minister of the local congregation.

Speaking assignments were given to J. W. O'Shields and F. Davis. O'Shields will speak at the Jan. 26 afternoon session on "Avoiding the Plague Upon the Spirit of the World." Davis' subject will be "God Sends Joseph Ahead for Preservation of Life," presented Jan. 24 evening in a model ministry school.

Other assignments will have O'Shields heading the news service department, assisted by Frederick N. Taylor of San Angelo and D. F. Shropshire of Snyder. Turner will assist Oscar Hilley of Wickett in providing information for the delegates and assigning volunteers work to be done at the assembly.

H. A. Fetzk, Watchtower Society representative, will open the sessions at 6:45 p.m. Jan. 24 highlighting the assembly theme, "Feed My Little Sheep." Climaxing the assembly will be a public discourse Sunday by Fetzk on "The Bible Triumphs in a Scientific World."

Turman, heading the local delegates, said all sessions are free and the public is invited. They will be at Mid-High School.

The convention is arranged by the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of N. Y., Inc., located in Brooklyn, New York, for Jehovah's Witnesses.

The Carlsbad convention is one of the regular semi-annual gatherings held by the witnesses the world over. More than 600 persons are expected to attend.

"The purpose of the meeting," said Turman, "is to provide additional instructions to keep the witnesses alert in a world with worsening moral conditions. For this reason the program will carry the theme 'Feed My Little Sheep.' There will be morning, afternoon and evening sessions devoted to Bible talks, discussions and practical demonstrations."

School Census Shows Increase

Scholastic census final figures for the Big Spring Independent School District are 8,247. This represents an increase of 238 over the final figures of last year.

Walker Bailey, county school superintendent, has received the figures from the Texas Education Agency. The report shows the total number of scholars in Howard County to be 310 more than in 1962-63. The figure for this year is 9,559.

Coahoma Independent School District shows a gain of 42 over last year. Its total is 886 for the 1963-64 year. Forsan district with 486 for the current year indicates an increase of 17.

In the report for 1962-63, the scholastic census figures for Valley School Districts were listed. These are missing for the current year. Gay Hill and Center Point districts, which in 1962-63 had 90 and 116 scholars respectively, are now consolidated with the Big Spring district and Vealmoor, which had 25 in that census, is now a part of the Borden County Independent School District.

The Big Spring census shows the scholastics in the Big Spring district to be made up of 7,993 white and 444 Negro. There are no Negro scholars in either Coahoma or Forsan districts. The number of Negro boys and girls has increased eight in the past year.

The scholastic census is the basis on which the Texas Education Agency bases its distribution of state school funds. The State Board of Education plans to increase the per capita allotment to schools for the year from $71.50 to $78.50. It is explained that on 9,506 scholastics, the per capita allotment is reduced by $1.40—the money thus provided makes up the budget for the office of the county superintendent.

C-City Chamber Banquet Scheduled

COLORADO CITY (SC)—The Colorado City Chamber of Commerce will hold its annual banquet, Jan. 21, at 7:30 p.m. in the Civic House, with Preston Smith, lieutenant governor of Texas, as speaker.

Gus D. Chesney, Colorado City rancher and banker, will be installed as new president of the chamber. He will replace Charles L. Root, hospital and nursing home owner.

Three special awards are to be given, including the Jaycee DSA award, presented annually to a young man active in community service. A special committee, headed by Don Benon, last year's award winner, has been working on this selection since December.

An award will be given to an outstanding chamber member and an award will be presented to an outstanding farm or ranch family. The latter award is new to the program and the family selected must have been successful in farming or ranching and have contributed substantially to community life.

Bob Reilly, local insurance man, will act as master of ceremonies. New directors, slated for installation, are Tandy Curlee, Joe Bell, Henry Billberry and Gus Chesney. Holdover directors are L. J. Taylor, Root, R. K. Hoback, Bill Carter, Dr. W. K. Cowan, Arlene Morris, Jay Craddock and Reilly.

Other new officers to serve during the ensuing year are: Tandy Curlee, first vice president; A. M. Morris, second vice president; Jay Craddock, secretary; and L. J. Taylor, treasurer. Tickets to the banquet are $2.50.

Angelo College Program Eyed
AUSTIN (AP)—The establishment of programs at new state senior colleges at Edinburg and San Angelo will be considered at a Monday meeting of the State Commission on Higher Education.

The institutions—Pan American College at Edinburg and Angelo State College at San Angelo—both join the state system next year as four-year schools under acts adopted by the legislature.

Requests for new programs at several of the state's 29 senior colleges will also be considered by the commission at the meeting.

Resting Well
A. C. (Gus) Hart, who checked into the Howard County Hospital Foundation Wednesday, underwent surgery on his toe Thursday and was reported resting well today. He is to undergo other tests and may be confined to the hospital for a week.

Opening lead: Queen of ♠.

My good friend and teammate, Peter Leventritt, has been a prolific source of material for these columns through the years, and today's hand is no exception. As South, the declarer in a four heart contract, his flawless technique provides an excellent example for those who aspire to improve their dummy play.

West opened the queen of clubs and the ace was played from dummy. Declarer observed that, if all suits responded favorably, he might wind up taking 12 tricks. Since the safety of his contract was his main concern however, Leventritt proceeded on a course, which prepared for the worst.

At the second trick, he ruffed out North's remaining club and then played the ace and another heart. West discarded a club on the second round of the suit, and East proceeded to cash the king and jack of trumps. Since he could no longer exit safely with a club, East shifted to the nine of spades. Declarer put up the jack which was covered by West's queen and North's ace.

Leventritt was confronted with a spade loser in addition to the two trump tricks. His concern, now, was to bring in the diamond suit without further casualty. He led a diamond to the ace in his hand as both opponents followed suit. Next came the king and another spade, and South calmly tabled his cards to claim the contract.

If West wins the trick, he has no safe means of exit and must surrender his diamond trick. If East goes in on the third spade, his forced return of a black card enables South to stuff a diamond from his hand as he ruffs in the dummy. Leventritt's play of the ace of diamonds sets the stage for the end position and guards against a four-one break in that suit. If the diamonds are three-two, declarer cannot go wrong. Observe that, if South makes his spade exit without first cashing one of his high diamonds, East can get off play safely with a diamond if he takes the lead, and sink the contract.

Tubman In 6th Term As Liberia President

MONROVIA, Liberia (AP) — President William V. S. Tubman, 20 years in office, began Monday his sixth four-year term as head of Africa's oldest republic.

The 68-year-old chief executive can take credit for considerable progress by this nation on the western bulge of Africa. Liberia has a population of about one million in an area the size of Ohio. It was founded by the American Colonization Society with slaves freed in the United States starting in 1822. Some 20,000 former slaves were shipped to Liberia and for the most part left to fend for themselves.

RUBBER ESTATES
For years the country was a poverty-stricken, disease-ridden backwater known chiefly for the huge Firestone rubber estates and a ramshackle architecture vaguely related to the columned plantation houses of the American South.

William Vacanaret Shadrach Tubman became president in 1944 when international strategy was focused on Africa during World War II. He has guided the country in its efforts to catch up with the modern world.

Tubman arranged the construction of Liberia's first railroad. He attracted heavy foreign investment through an open door policy which permits full repatriation of profits. He unified the primitive hinterland with more advanced American-

Liberian settlers along the coast.

EX-TEACHER

The president is a former teacher and a veteran of Liberia's militia-like national guard. He is also a lawyer educated entirely in his native land.

Tubman is a conservative and pragmatic leader in a land of low-keyed politics not based on ideology.

Political opponents can be ousted from positions of power but several years later they frequently attain other important posts. Tubman seems to recognize that the small pool of available talent must be fully utilized.

Political executions are unknown, exiles are voluntary. Only a handful of what could be termed political prisoners are behind bars.

Tubman's True Whig party is the only strong political force, though dissident groups have formed short-lived political parties.

AS DICTATOR

Tubman rules as a virtual, if paternal, dictator. There seems little doubt he could easily win an election against any opponent to be found in the country.

He has become increasingly powerful in councils of emerging nations.

His role is sometimes that of interpreter of U.S. policy and action to other African states. He and his top associates seem to take the position that Liberia knows and understands the United States best, having been closely associated with it for so long. Most of the Liberian elite have been to America and are quite knowledgeable about racial difficulties there.

Liberia remains a very poor land but there is a strong potential, chiefly in iron ore and bauxite reserves and rubber and timber exploitation.

Tech Pair Off To Argentina

LUBBOCK — A pair of Texas Tech entomologists have decided that the best way to solve a $6,000,000 Texas problem is to go to Argentina for a month.

Dr. Ellis Huddleston, assistant professor of entomology, and Charles Ward, a graduate Fellow in entomology from Sea-graves, have literally packed up bag, baggage and equipment and gone to Argentina to conduct research on midge, the $6,000,000 "fly-in-the-ointment" of Texas grain sorghum producers.

By spending one month at the DeKalb and Stauffer Research Farms in the Buenos Aires-Pergamino regions of Argentina, Dr. Huddleston and Ward will gather two years of information about midge in one year.

Although Texas is experiencing winter, it is summer in Argentina, the prime hatching period for midge according to Dr. Huddleston.

"The Pergamino area is agriculturally very similar to the South Plains," Dr. Huddleston said. "We will test approximately 12 insecticides that were effective against midge in studies on the Plains. These results will allow us to make a better determination of which insecticides will allow farmers to wage a more effective battle against midge."

The same equipment which was used in the 1963 Lubbock tests was crated and shipped to Argentina. The plots of land to be used in the Argentine tests are identical to those used in the earlier Lubbock studies.

DEAR ABBY
He's Still A Married Man

DEAR ABBY: My English teacher said we had to write a friendly letter to some person who lives in another city as a homework assignment, so this is what I wrote:

"Dear Abby: You are solving my problem without even noting it because I have to write a letter for my English assignment and I chose you to write to."

"I think your column is pretty good. I don't always agree with your answers but then nobody is perfect. I sure got to give you credit. It takes a lot of nerve to give those answers because you no what happens when you stick your nose in other people's business."

"Very truly yours,
"F" IN ENGLISH"

DEAR ABBY: Our 19-year-old daughter (whom I'll call Jane) is serious about a 24-year-old married man who is in the process of being divorced. They were married only five months. My problem is he spends every evening here with Jane because his lawyer told him he should not be seen in public with another woman yet. Meanwhile, Jane and he are getting thicker and thicker and they are talking marriage. He is a gentleman and is well able to support Jane, and we like him, but I don't think it's right for them to be planning marriage until he is free to marry, do you? My husband says he is a lot better than most of the characters Jane has gone with and we should let them be. What do you think? JANE'S MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: No matter how you phrase it, he is a married man until he is divorced—and he may NEVER get a divorce. Your daughter should not be spending every evening with him. If he respects her, as a gentleman should respect a lady with whom he would like to spend the rest of his life, he will let HER be until he has the right to talk marriage.

DEAR ABBY: A neighbor who lives next door to us keeps all her blinds up except the one that is on the window which looks right into our house. Don't you think it looks like she is trying to shut us out? We never pull the shade on the window that looks right into THEIR house because we don't want it to look like we don't trust them. Shouldn't they do the same for us?

DEAR HURT: Not necessarily. Shades insure privacy, and you shouldn't feel "hurt" if a neighbor evidences a desire for privacy. You have the same privilege.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "HAROLD WHO TRAVELS": Don't worry. If a woman really loves a man, no other man can get within 100 feet of her.

Get it off your chest. For a personal, unpublished reply, write to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.
