Light May Be Shed On Why Lingle Was Killed

BY H. B. BURTON

CHICAGO, March 13. (AP) — While the police commissioner of Chicago, William Russell, who later resigned, stood at the bier of his slain friend, Alfred (Jake) Lingle, the nation began to wonder what sinister force lay back of the assassin's revolver.

That power may be bared when Leo Brothers goes to trial before Judge Joseph Sabath.

"Inside Story" Heralded

Scarcely had officials squared away on an investigation of Lingle's death in a subway last June before publications were heralding "the inside story."

Magazines dangled prize baits which drew from the pens of writers a thousand different solutions.

While the gargantuan basket of paper theories was being heaped higher, officialdom maintained a silence without parallel in a murder case of such magnitude. Not a theory was advanced. Even when Leo Brothers was arrested and charged with the crime, no one came forward to tell how he had been linked with Lingle's death.

Two Theories Emerge

But two theories have emerged from the "solutions" advanced by countless writers.

The chroniclers of the first pictured Lingle as an inmate of a "half world"—a holder of a politico-criminal post in

WHO DID IT?

This is the last of a series of stories which have appeared in The Morning Avalanche dealing with the slaying of Alfred (Jake) Lingle, Chicago reporter. Leo Brothers probably will go to trial next week for his murder.

Pronounces Doom Of Her Own Son Over Telephone

(By The Associated Press)

BARDSTOWN, Ky., March 13.—The halting words of a mother 500 miles away today sent her son to the penitentiary for life.

Confronted with the state's offer to swap a life sentence for a plea of guilty in the murder February 22 of Carl B. James, railroad official, Anthony Piotrowsky, alias Tony Prowsky, alias Anthony Peterson, was overcome with fear and confused with happenings of the past five days. He turned to his mother in Detroit for advice.

Enters Plea of Guilty

If he refused the state's offer, he faced trial by jury with death in the electric chair as maximum punishment on a verdict of guilty.

Mrs. Agnes Piotrowsky, whose lack of funds prevented her attending her son's trial, speaking over the telephone from Detroit, sealed her son's fate when she advised his attorney to enter a plea of guilty.

The mother had before her newspaper accounts of the fate of her son's companion, Frank Carson, trigger-man, who yesterday was convicted and sentenced to death by a jury in the same court for the same murder. Both are under 20 years of age.

Two Hours Allowed

David Sessmer, the youth's attorney, said Mrs. Piotrowsky could hardly speak for her sobbing. Circal arts work.

Naval Invitation Probably Will Be Accepted By U. S.

WASHINGTON, March 13. (AP)—Acceptance by the United States of an invitation to be represented on a committee of the five principal naval powers signatory to the London naval agreement to draft the final form of the Franco-Italian settlement tonight appeared likely.

Senator Dwight W. Morrow of New Jersey, en route to Europe, probably will be one of the American representatives if the United States accepts the invitation extended by the British government.

Mayor Jimmy Walker Reaches El Paso; Declines To Talk

EL PASO, March 13. (AP)—Mayor Jimmy Walker of New York City reached El Paso from Dallas at 5 p. m. today, en route to Palm Springs, Calif., where he planned to spend ten days or a fortnight at the home of Samuel Untermeyer, resting. The dapper executive of the metropolis was affable in his greetings but declined to discuss affairs connected with the demand of certain New York interests for investigation of his administration.

Style Show Is Being Started

Approximately 25 Wholesalers In Lubbock Last Night; All Ready For Starting Here Of Market Week

With approximately 25 wholesalers on hand last night for the third semi-annual West Texas Market Week, and with Herbert B. Carpenter, of Dallas, director of the style show arriving this morning, preliminary activities are expected to begin today.

"We have a very short time to train the models for the style show and it is important that we have sufficient material on hand at the first meeting," Mr. Carpenter told an official of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce over long distance telephone yesterday before boarding a train for Lubbock.

Need Young Women

"Please do everything possible to be sure that we have a large number of young ladies present from which to select the models."

The first meeting will be held at 2 o'clock at the Hilton hotel. The style show committee of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce is anxious that every young lady in the city who would like to try out for a place as a model, be on hand, promptly at 2 o'clock.

Final Plans For Parks Are Made

Final provisions for McCrummen park were made Friday afternoon by the park board at a meeting held in the city manager's office.

Also tentative plans were discussed for Hiland and Booker T. Washington parks.

This action of the park board came as the result of the city commissioner's vote Thursday to set aside $1,600 for the use of the park board during the year. This appropriation is to include amusement equipment, water systems, walks, drives, buildings and maintenance of parks.

The outlay for park sites already purchased, including interest, approximates $7,000, City Manager Miller stated.

TULSA IS SHAKEN

Explosion Thought Caused By Nitroglycerine Thief

TULSA, March 13. (AP)—Belief was expressed by county investigators tonight that the explosion of 400 quarts of nitroglycerine in a magazine near Red Fork today was caused by a thief who apparently was blown into bits.

Discovery of pieces of clothing and fragments of an automobile near the scene led investigators to the conclusion that a thief probably stumbled after obtaining a quantity of the explosive.

The explosion shook Tulsa and suburban communities and was heard for a radius of more than 60 miles.

Limitation Of Master Degree Is Considered

Bill, If Passed, Would Limit Texas Tech To One Master Of Arts Degree, That To Be In Engineering School

A BILL which threatens to upset the higher educational institutions of Texas and which vitally affects Texas Technological college, is being considered by the state legislature at Austin and Dr. Paul W. Horn, president, is in the state capital in the interests of the local school.

The bill, senate bill 460, introduced by Senator Joe W. Moore of Greenville, and others, would limit the giving of a master of arts degree in liberal arts to the University of Texas. Other state schools would be limited to the giving of master's degree to other than liberal arts work.

Four Now Offered

As proposed, the degree of Master in Engineering would be the only degree that Texas Technological college could give. As it now stands, the master's degree is given in all four schools, engineering, home economics, agriculture and liberal arts.

Texas A. and M. college, under the proposed bill, would only be permitted to give degrees in engineering and agriculture and C. I. A. at Denton, the state women's college, master's degrees in home economics.

According to word received here, the action of the several state teacher's colleges in the giving of master's degrees in liberal arts was the chief cause of the introduction of

Governor Sterling Raps "Hands Off" Policy Of Railroad Commission Regarding Oil Fields Of East Texas

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, March 12.—Governor Ross S. Sterling late today voiced a sever criticism of the railroad commission's "hand off" policy up to today in the new East Texas oil fields.

The governor said that the unrestricted flow in East Texas was the reason crude prices had fallen to such a low level. He made these observation in confirming reports that he had drafted a bill to take oil and gas regulation away from the railroad commission.

Commission Considered

Under the governor's plan, a conservation commission of three, appointed by the governor at a salary of $7,500 each would regulate oil and gas conservation.

Looking To 1932, Independents And Democrats Are In Open Flirtation

Mac's Folks Married On 13th And A "Jinx" Has Followed Him Since

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, March 13.—Traffic Cop John "Mac" McCreary might have stayed in bed today except for a firm conviction that the ceiling would have collapsed on him. As it was he got off with a black eye.

His parents started it all, McCreary figures, by getting married on the thirteenth of the month. Up to today the list of "Mac's'" mishaps read as follows:

March 13, 1926—Trampled by runaway horse.
Feb. 13, 1927—Struck by automobile.
March 13, 1928—Bitten by stray mongrel.
Sept. 13, 1929—Stabbed by crazy East Sider.

"Surely enough's enough and the fates won't pick on me any more," said Mac as he stood at his post today, idly polishing his badge (number 13,408.)

"Ouch," he cried the next moment, as a stone hit him in the eye. It had been flipped by an auto tire.

Norris States Only Hope Lies With Democrats

BY NATHAN ROBERTSON

WASHINGTON, March 13. (AP)—An open flirtation between democratic leaders and independent republicans looking toward the 1932 presidential campaign developed today as an aftermath to the progressives' conference.

Senator Norris, republican, Nebraska, chairman and sponsor of the conference, said the progressives only hope for a liberal presidential candidate lies with the democratic party.

Similarities Viewed

This was followed by a statement from Senator Hull of Tennessee, former chairman of the democratic national committee, pointing out what he described as similarities between the progressive program and the policies of his party.

Both belittled the possibility or practicability of a third party movement.

Senator Caraway, democratic, Arkansas, joined in with a statement that he would like to see Governor Roosevelt of New York nominated by the democrats if his colleague, Senator Robinson, is not.

Concede Nomination

Conceding the renomination of President Hoover by the republicans Norris said that would leave the democratic party as the progressives' only hope for a liberal candidate.

Meanwhile, members of the house progressive group said a showdown on salient features of the program adopted at the progressive conference ending yesterday would be demanded before house control is entrusted either to the republican or democratic party.

The progressives will hold the balance of power in both houses of the congress if a well knit organization is effected.

Two Parties Agree

Pointing out a number of democratic views which he said were "seconded" by the progressives, Hull

Sterling Asks Regulation Of All Utilities

Message To Legislature Says That Governor Favors Establishment Of Commission For Regulation

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, March 13. — Governor Ross S. Sterling said today in a message to the legislature he favored establishment of a state commission for the efficient regulation of public utilities.

"Less than a dozen companies control and own an investment in Texas of many many millions of dollars yielding an annual income in excess of $200,000,000" the governor stated.

Favors Petsch Bill

Governor Sterling said he looked with favor upon the Petsch or city attorneys' plan of regulation now pending before the house of representatives.

Governor Sterling stated in his opinion there was no subject now pending before the legislature of greater importance than utilities regulation.

He said the tremendous amount of business of the utilities, the extensiveness of their operations, the protecting of the rights of the people all require the establishment of an independent and well financed commission in order that effective regulation might be truly accomplished.

The governor said the utilities enjoyed, in addition to their privileges

Mother Drowns Two Children Then Suicides

Third Child, Also Pushed Into Water, Clings Tight To Rocks And Is Saved Although Is Near Frozen

(By The Associated Press)

NATTAPOISETT, Mass., March 13.—Mrs. William Chester Allison, 35, Saylesville, R. I., drove her three children to a dock here tonight on the pretense of showing them the New York boat and then hurled them into the water and jumped to her death after them.

The tragic story was revealed by one of the children, Wayne, 11, after he was found dripping wet a mile from the place of the drowning in an exhausted condition. Nearly overcome with grief and from his efforts to reach safety from the near-frigid waters, the boy told how his mother had thrown him, his sister, Hope, six, and his baby brother, De Witt, three, from the edge of the dock.

Wrapped in a bed at the home of Ralph Purrington, the boy told Constable Sylvester Savage of the tragedy. Police grappled several hours for the bodies. An automobile parked near the edge of the dock bore testimony to the story.

Wayne said his mother had been ill some time and frequently had "bad spells." Late today she told the children, he said, that she'd give them a treat and take them to see the New York boat. She drove the family car to Barstow's wharf. All got out at the mother's direction and walked to the edge of the wharf. Each child was pushed in, and the mother jumped after them, Wayne said.

The boy was unable to swim, but managed to cling to rocks beneath the wharf and pulled himself ashore.

The husband and father, informed of the tragedy, left Saylesville to come here tonight.

Friends of the family said Mrs. Allinson had been despondent.

Bandits Loot Florida Firm Of Valuables

Almost $1,000,000 Worth Of Jewelry Taken When Manager Of Firm Is Kidnaped By Several Men

(By The Associated Press)

PALM BEACH, Fla., March 13.—Robbers, who had the key to the door and the combination of the safe, entered the Palm Beach branch of Charlton and company, New York jewelers, last night, and escaped with loot estimated at $650,000 to $750,000. Some officials said the total might reach $1,000,000.

Otto Wegener, manager and trusted employe of the firm for 20 years, told authorities he gave the key and combination to three of four men who kidnaped him last night and threatened his life unless he obeyed their commands.

No Charges Filed

No charges had been made tonight, but Sheriff R. C. Baker said Wegener and D. H. Odum, night watchman at the store, were being questioned.

Diamonds and costly gems were said to have composed the bulk of the loot which was quietly removed from the store in the shadow of the exclusive Everglades club and palatial winter homes of the wealthy.

Seized At Hotel

Wegener told officers he was seized in front of his hotel in West Palm Beach by persons who called him "Otto." He was taken to a vacant house, where he was gagged and tied, after being forced to give up the key and combination.

The manager asserted he was held prisoner there until this morning, when his guard left for about 40 minutes, and he managed to extricate himself.

Hurley was accompanied by Earl C. Darliar, of Mercedes, his first instructor. He expected the ship to be delivered to him at Love Field either tomorrow or Monday.

The youthful flier said he expected to make the dash to break existing junior records around April 1. He will fly eastward from Los Angeles to New York, hoping to make the trip in 16 hours flying time. The junior record has not yet been brought under 20 hours.

Local Man Is Still Missing

No Clues As To Whereabouts Of Local Dairyman Found; Officers, Relatives And Friends Searching

No clues as to the whereabouts of M. B. Dresser, 55-year-old dairyman, missing since Monday, had been located late Friday night, despite the efforts of relatives, neighbors and peace officers.

The dairy has been thoroughly searched in the hope that a message might be found, left by the missing man, explaining his sudden disappearance.

Last Seen Monday

Dresser last was seen at about 2 o'clock Monday afternoon walking north on Avenue L between 17th and 18th streets. According to a dairy employe, Dresser had not drawn any money from the bank Monday, but at the time of his disappearance he should have had collections, gathered that day, totaling about $100.

The missing dairyman has been described as being of short, heavy build, blue eyes and hair streaked with gray. He lived at the dairy with his two sons, M. B. Dresser, jr., and Elbert Dresser, neither of whom have heard from their father since Monday.

Validation Of Titles To Be Given Owners

Surface Owners Of School Mineral And Grazing Lands Are Allowed Fifteen-Sixteenths Royalty

All Bonus Given

Signature Of Governor Given Late Friday; Bill Passed Wednesday By House After Stormy Session

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, March 13.—Governor Sterling late today signed the Small land bill validating the title of owners of school mineral and grazing land to fifteen-sixteenths of the minerals and giving them all the bonus from oil leases and other mineral development.

Announcement that Sterling had signed the bill was made tonight. The bill was placed on the governor's desk shortly after lunch, and the chief executive signed it before leaving his office.

The bill was passed Wednesday by the house after the stormiest day of the session. It was made necessary through a decision of the supreme court in 1928 which held the state was entitled to one half the bonus from leases on the land. Small, Representative Stevenson of Junction, Wagstaff of Abilene and other leaders of the West Texas delegation claimed the land was sold under the 1919 relinquishment act to the West Texans on the understanding they would receive all the bonus from the mineral development.

When the bill was passed in the house, a gallery filled with West Texans cheered loudly, the scene resembling somewhat that when the Small bill, validating titles to river beds, was passed in the 41st session over the veto of former governor, Dan Moody.

Little fear had been held by Small and others but that Sterling would sign the bill.

Former Solon Is Acquitted

Edward Denison, Illinois, Is Found Not Guilty Of Charge Which Grew Out Of Finding Liquor In Office

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 13.—Edward E. Denison, member of the house from Illinois for 16 years before he was defeated for reelection last November, today was acquitted of liquor possession charges by a jury of eight men and four women in District of Columbia supreme court.

The jury deliberated one hour and took three ballots.

The trial grew out of the finding of 24 bottles of liquor in a trunk in Denison's rooms at the house office building more than two years ago after he had returned from a trip to Panama with his nephew, Charles E. Lane, jr., of St. Louis.

Denison contended the wrong baggage had been delivered and that the trunk he purchased at Balboa contained dishes for some friends and relatives.

Bridge Parties, Tea, And Music Club Meeting Announced For Today

The Woman's Angle

BY BLANCHE E. BEAN
Avalanche Woman's Editor

THE RELEASE of recent census figures revealing that there are more widows than widowers and that men are more apt to marry a second time than women has caused considerable interesting comment.

Someone left a clipping on my desk yesterday which concerned this topic and, although I have since lost the note, the writer was advancing the theory that until women have the privilege of proposal the condition will continue to exist. Moreover, the writer believes that, since it is extremely hard to counter custom, widows will prefer to remain single rather than suggest marriage to men.

All of this in face of the traditional ease that widows have in marrying a second time!

As to the proposition of "popping the question,' custom is a powerful thing and there are few who will be bold enough to oppose it. Men feel such pride in the duties that have been delegated to them that a wise person follows a hands-off policy.

We remember, too, that women are supposed to have some sort of subtile power to make men propose if they desire it, but try to put your finger on the power! The chances are that the widows will continue to wait around until some man decides to do his own proposing.

THE NEW VOGUE

THE VOGUE for black gloves and bags is so strong in Paris that they are worn with other costumes besides black.

AN IMPRESSIVE RECORD

LAST evening we went out and dined with the Business and Professional Women and learned about the chapter here. Of course, I'm a business or professional woman, too—or at least I come in the poor working girls class—but I got to be a special guest along with the mayor and some of the other big butter and egg men.

Here is something that impressed me when the toastmistress, Mrs. C. M. Hinds, reviewed the history of the club. The biggest accomplishments of the organization have been in promoting education.

Several years ago the club members furnished instruments and music for the high school band for one year and thus established that organization. They keep loan funds for high school and college students and award business college scholarships yearly.

This society did have a fund that was to serve as a nucleus for a club house some time in the future. This fund wasn't mentioned Thursday evening at the banquet but I think it still exists and that it is out drawing interest.

It would have been possible for these club women to place all of their money into this fund because the house is something they need and something that will give them pleasure, but they chose first to help other girls in securing an education in order that they may carry on the club motto of "Better Business Women for a Better Business World."

BLACK FRIDAY

NOW I KNOW that Friday 13th is Black Friday. Somehow, I had always thought that was some sort of a superstition for which there was no basis, but this morning I learned the worst. I got arrested.

Well, at least, that is what the ticket says that the police tied on my car when I forgot to move it.

What made it worse was that I went out to move the car just five minutes too late and in that time the man left me his note. If there is any one thing I need it is parking space that the police department hasn't heard of.

BACK IN STYLE

THE LATEST thing, so I understand, is to have a wardrobe all of one color each season. Blue this season, green next, black the next, and so on. That puts me in style again, except that I might term it super-style. I have practically a monotone in wardrobe now and will have until this dress wears out and I change color of necessity.

There are advantages in a wardrobe of this sort. I never wonder what to wear. I know what I'm going to wear tomorrow and other days.

Parcel Rates Are To Be Considered

WASHINGTON, March 13. (AP)—The national farm plan to obstruct the administration's move for higher parcel post rates will take form at a joint conference in Washington tomorrow with commercial organizations which ship by mail.

The interstate commerce commission, to which the post office department made application for rate changes, is marking time until dissenting interests can be given a hearing. The date of which is to be set at tomorrow's conference.

It is argued that since 75 per cent of the parcel post revenues originate in the "short zones" which are honeycombed with well established bus and truck routes, an increase in rates might drive a sufficient amount of parcel post business to the transportation companies to cripple seriously if not actually destroy the service.

On Supporting Air Mail

WITH a major portion of the territory adequately served by rail and highway, now comes the edict that Lubbock and the South Plains must have an air mail and passenger line. The West Texas Airway association was formed this week to work toward that end.

To accomplish its goal, the association must have the cooperation and support of the citizenship.

Amarillo, Lubbock's big sister to the north and Big Spring, a little sister to the south, are both served by transcontinental air mail and passenger lines. Amarillo has five air connections, north, east, northeast and southwest. Big Spring has three connections, east, west and south. Both of these cities need a north-south connection.

Big Spring has a connection from the south with San Antonio. Amarillo has a connection with Denver to the north which in turn has service extending to Salt Lake and on to the Pacific coast. The proposed route is the missing link in a line from Washington state to Mexico city via Brownsville.

In order to be granted an air mail line by the United States government, a territory or a group of cities must present evidence that the line will be supported by patronage sufficient to warrant its operation. This evidence must not be in the form of promises, estimated potentialities, or predictions, but must be in the form of actual figures on the amount of air mail poundage originating in the territory and along the route of the proposed line.

Quoting W. O. Stevens, Plains pioneer and vice-president of the Citizens National bank—"nowadays the quickest way is just too slow." It is up to Lubbock and the South Plains to try to make the way quicker.

Air mail, The Morning Avelanche is told, saves time and money. It is safe, and dependable.

From Lubbock to points east, west, and north, from 12 to 48 hours can be saved through the use of air mail. Bankers of Lubbock and the South Plains can cut that much time from their interest charges on remittances. Merchants can save that much time on orders for goods.

The air mail poundage now being sent out of this territory is far below that sufficient to warrant the establishment of a line. In order to build up this poundage, citizens must begin using the service. Every time you have a letter that you want to reach some distant point to the north, east or west as quickly as possible, send it by air. Write to your friends by air mail even if it's just for the novelty. Send greeting cards, invitations, announcements by air mail. It adds to their effectiveness.

The application for the proposed line isn't to be made until the poundage justifies. The sooner the patronage of air mail in this territory is increased to that extent, the sooner the line will be sought.

Lots of future convicts are living on Easy Street now.

Practical Health Problems

SHOW WAY TO AVOID FAT

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN,
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

A famous German physician said that the chief measuring of importance in preventing overweight was the cultivation of sufficient will power to avoid the taking of too much food.

A celebrated specialist said that the only exercise of any importance in the reduction of weight was the ability to turn the head slowing from left to right and back again, indicating that one did not care for a second helping at the table.

Some experiments just completed by one of the large life insurance companies indicate that self-discipline required to maintain permanent reduction in weight is evidently too severe for most people who weigh too much.

Dr. H. H. Fellows began an experiment in 1928 with 294 overweight employes in an attempt to reduce their weight. The treatment consisted almost entirely of restricting diet, combined with carefully directed exercise and in a few cases where there was evidence that the thyroid was deficient, a prescription of a certain amount of thyroid extract.

At the end of the course, which lasted from a few weeks to several months, 237 of the 294 had lost weight, but 19 per cent had not lost weight. For those who did lose, the average reduction was 18 pounds.

Now these intelligent employes had been instructed as to how to eat and how to live so as to keep their weight down to what might be considered normal for their height. At the end of the first year, 224 of the original 294 were examined, and it was found that only 32 per cent had been able to maintain reduction in weight, but the vast majority had regained about 10 pounds, or almost two-thirds of the amount that they had previously lost.

At the end of the fifth year 193 of the original 294 were still employed by the company and thus available for examination. It was found that of this 193 only 21 per cent showed a further loss in weight, whereas the remainder who had lost on an average of 16 pounds during the first treatment had regained 18 pounds in the following five years.

The important fact was discovered that all of those who were overweight, at least one-half were descendants of parents who were inclined to be overweight. It was found that reduction in weight was of benefit in lowering the blood pressure and in helping patients with heart disease and high blood pressure.

Experiments showed that people who are overweight can reduce and maintain a normal weight, provided they are properly controlled in the process. However, the vast majority of people do not have enough will power, self-discipline, intelligence, or whatever it is that one chooses to call the mental stamina that is necessary to maintain a reduction in weight and to avoid the eating of too much food.

Like Move Recalled

By CHARLES P. STEWART,
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, March 13.—Senators Norris, La Follette, Cutting and Wheeler and Senator-elect Costigan, in calling prominent progressives into conference in Washington, March 11 and 12, undoubtedly meant it when they disavowed any intention to launch a third party movement.

It was just such a call, by the present Senator La Follette's father, however, that did result in a third party movement in 1924.

The late Senator La Follette's original plan was to make so formidably progressive a showing in advance of the two major party conventions as to scare one or the other of them into the adoption of at least a moderately progressive platform and the nomination of a fairly liberal presidential candidate. Instead, one of them refused to scare and the other became involved in a hopeless donneybrook. "Old Bob" had no option. He HAD to run independently.

IT IS TRUE that the elder Senator La Follette was a likelier presidential candidate than is to be seen, at first glance among today's progressive

He was not Senator Norris' superior in the matter of courage, for the Nebraskan's is absolute, but he probably was Norrs' superior in impetuosity. Senator Norris recognizes certain things as impossible. "Old Bob" never did.

A third party candidate, to signify anything whatever, must be a "bigger man" than it is vitally necessary for a major party's candidate to be, because a major party presidential nominee has the advantage of his organization to make him LOOK big, whereas it is the other way about with an independent—his following depends on HIM, to give it an appearance of importance.

Now that "Fighting Bob" is gone, with the exception of Senator Norris, maybe Governor Pinchot of Pennsylvania, and perhaps Senator Tom Walsh of Montana, a third party presidential eligible of the required proportions does not immediately suggest himself.

SENATOR BORAH, indeed, is sure to be mentioned as available. He almost certainly is not, however. He is "big" enough and, in actual practice, he is sufficiently progressive, but theoretically he is a very "regular" Republican—and the last individual to risk his prestige at the head of a political forlorn hope.

Otherwise, while there are several extremely able, hard-hitting folk among the progressives, in a national sense they all are somewhat deficient in what is known in prize ring parlance as "reputation."

And Senator Norris already is on record as having turned down the third party idea, when advanced recently by Professor John Dewey of Columbia. Besides, he is 70, and Senator Walsh is a couple of years older than that. Governor Pinchot, to be sure, at 66, is spoiling for the opportunity. Still, the choice is limited.

FOR ALL THAT, and despite the fact that Leaders Norris, La Follette, Cutting, Wheeler and Costigan have specifically said they called a conference only to agree on a program and with no view to a third party ticket, the progressives have placed themselves in the position of having at least made a gesture toward their pistol pocket, and no one who once reaches for a gun can ever be sure he will not have to use it.

Having heard the progressives' demands, suppose neither old-line party complies with them.

It will be equivalent to saying, "All right, shoot."

If so, will self-respect not compel the progressives to do it? It happened so in 1924

PROGRESSIVE leadership appears to think that the old-liners will be easier to frighten next year than eight years previously, inasmuch as the coming election bids fair to be much more evenly balanced than that one.

Yet the more delicate the balance, the likelier is big business to do its utmost to shape both major tickets to suit its own ends, in order to be on the winning side whichever party may triumph. And it practically is a foregone conclusion that what suits big business will not suit the progressives, for progressive-ism's and big business' respective philosophies are essentially in conflict.

March 11 and 12's conference may turn out to have been nothing but a talkfest, but it is mighty reminiscent of what occurred eight years ago.

SURPLUS OFFICERS

When the United States was preparing for the World War it made the discovery that adequate preparedness was not merely a matter of trained man power but of officers competent to turn raw material into a fighting machine in a few weeks. So one of its first acts was to open officers' training schools, volunteers and draftees far exceeding the personnel capable of drilling them.

Remembering that lesson learned in an emergency, army and navy heads have been agitating for modification of the laws which limit the number of commissioned officers for every 100 enlisted men. The question again comes to issue as the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis prepares to graduate 200 more midshipmen than there are vacancies for ensigns in the navy.

Unless congress increases the number of commissioned officers there will be no place in the United States navy for 200 men trained at great expense for naval service and of far more defensive value to the nation than an increase in the peace-time strength of the enlisted personnel.

The one alternative open to congress is the retirement of a sufficient number of old officers to make room for the graduate of next June. Unless congress is willing to lose 200 trained naval officers before the government has had the benefit of their service, this is the only avenue of escape from increasing the ratio of officer personnel to enlisted personnel.

While naval academy graduates are in great demand in civilian pursuits, it would not be just and fair for the government to deny to 200 of them the life's work in preparation for which they have given four years of their lives.

Early to bed and early to rise makes you healthy but not very wise.

It's a rare epidemic that doesn't start in the third grade.

For GINGER'S SAKE

By ETHEL HUESTON

© 1930 THE BOBBS-MERRILL CO.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

GINGER ELLA TOLLIVER, daughter of a minister and stepdaughter of the wealthy and indulgent, former PHIL VAN DOORN organized a Junior Country club in the town of Red Thrush, Ia., just to keep life among the younger set from becoming too dull.

BARD HOLLOWAY, a young artist who was hoboing around the country, stopped in Red Thrush. Attracted by Ginger, he agreed to stay and paint portraits and decorate the new clubhouse. He gave the name "Joie de Vivre" to the club, and suggested sending to Chicago for NICOLO CALLENO, who could cook and sing and strum a guitar.

But Nicolo could not come. In his place arrived three of his countrymen. ANGELO could play; PIETRO could cook; BENITO could sing. Ginger took them on. Beginning to realise he was in love with Ginger, Bard suggested leaving. But Phil, knowing Ginger, persuaded him to stay as their guest. But for Ginger's good she wrote to SPEED RONEY, a former friend of Ginger's, and invited him. She felt he would give Bard some competition.

Ginger thereupon invited PATTY SEARS to take care of Speed, but Patty wouldn't come, pleading loyalty to EDDY JACKSON. Whereupon Ginger went to Eddy about it. Getting word that Speed was bringing his sister, she persuaded both Eddy and Patty to come. Eddy, however, decided to ball things up by making things miserable for Ginger and keeping her and Bard separated.

Meanwhile, Benito had made a trip to Chicago and returned with a plan to kidnap Ginger and hold her for ransom.

When Speed and his sister arrived Ginger got another surprise. Sister's name was COTTON. She was different from what Ginger expected. She was a little afraid that Cotton would prove attractive to Bard, and Eddy devilishly arranged for Bard and Cotton to be together while he stuck to Ginger and paired Patty off with Speed.

Speed tells Bard Ginger and Eddy are in love and Bard plans to leave as Eddy keeps up his mischievous plot.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXX

Ginger brightened ever so faintly. "Eddy, why don't you go fishing with Patty? If conversation is all she wants, heaven knows you'll talk an arm off her. You got both of mine long ago!"

"I haven't got time," said Eddy with a finality that left no room for argument. "I want to help you make up the lists."

Ginger wilted again. She was long past struggling. There was just no overcoming Eddy's newly developed spirit of management.

Cotton appeared on the piazza, her face flushed and a new light of excitement sparkling in her eyes.

"Ginger," she said, "come and walk with us in the woods. We want to talk to you."

"I'll come, too," said Eddy cheerfully. "Come along, Bard. A little nice fresh forest will do us all good."

"No, thanks," said Bard. "I want to finish that sketch I'm doing of Benito's corner. I—fancy I shan't be here much longer and I want to finish it today."

"I—suppose you'll want to go right back to New York—now," said Ginger faintly.

"I suppose so," he said coldly.

"Come along, Ginger — we want you," called Cotton impatiently.

"Yes, come along, Ginger," said Eddy. "We're going for a nice long walk in the woods."

Cotton laughed. "You're not," she said. "You're not invited. We just want Ginger. We want to tell her a secret. You stay right where you are, Eddy Jackson, and go on running things."

Eddy pleaded but Cotton was laughingly, excitedly adamant.

"Just Ginger, just Ginger," she insisted. "You can't come, Eddy, you spoiled thing."

Ginger stalked grimly out of the house and down the steps. She was mopping her brow.

"Think God," she said devoutly. "Let's go and find a still cool spot in the woods, and sit, and sit, and sit. And not say a word. As soon as anybody begins to speak any more it makes a cold shiver run down my back. It makes me think of Eddy Jackson. Life of the party—" Her voice died away in an inarticulate murmur.

Patty, Bard and Eddy stood silently in the doorway and watched as the three walked slowly into the woods, Cotton in the middle, one hand in Speed's, the other arm clasped closely about Ginger's waist. When they had disappeared among the trees Eddy took Pat's hand in his.

"Bard," he said cordially, "amuse yourself any way you see fit. Pat and I are going to retire to the forest to seek a much needed rest. We're about worn out." And he led her resolutely down a forest trail in the opposite direction from that the others had taken.

Bard was glad to be alone. He got out his easel and stool and planted himself at what he called "Benito's corner of the house" to finish his last sketch. For Ginger! Everything he had done was for Ginger. His every thought was for Ginger. It seemed incredibly cruel that he should feel such leaden sorrow here in these same scenes that had given rise to his keenest joy. If only he could have gone on for a while, in blind and blissful ignorance, feeling that Ginger was his—until he had gone from all these dear and lovely places their pleasure together had made so sweetly sacred.

It was a lovely scene before him, and scarcely less lovely as he transferred it to his can as. There were the sun and rain-browned shingles of the house, the moss-grown stones of its foundation, the flaming flowers on the vines that draped the porch as Benito had so tenderly trained them. There was the slurring shadow of a hummingbird darting from blossom to blossom, and on the sill of the attic window under the drooping eaves sat a fat sleek bird, gray green her head hunched low upon her thick neck, her plumage ruffed up against the breeze.

Bard smiled unconsciously as he swiftly caught the birds upon his canvas, but his thoughts did not smile with his lips. Only his eyes took in the beauty of color and line, for his thoughts were down that forest path where Ginger was walking with Cotton and Speed. And the still swept silence of the early summer enveloped house and woods.

It was nearly an hour later when

Committee To Meet Tuesday

Lubbock Fire Prevention Body Will Gather At Chamber Of Commerce Tuesday Night At 7:30

Attractiveness to industries is one of the advantages, the Lubbock Fire Prevention committee believes, that is possessed by a community that is freed from fire hazards.

Investigation has shown that 66 2-3 per cent of all fires are preventable by ordinary care, and that carelessness in handling of inflamable liquids, poor housekeeping, and poor electric wiring are among the chief causes of fires, according to the fire prevention committee.

The members of the Lubbock Fire Prevention committee are: H. D. Woods, chairman, Wesley Read, Gregg James, Fire Chief W. B. Twitty, and John Crisler.

A meeting of the Lubbock Fire Prevention committee will be held at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday night in the offices of the chamber of commerce.

AUSTIN, March 13. (AP) When a man bites a dog, it's news. Equally so when a Texas legislator introduces a bill to abolish a district court.

Senator Poage of Waco today offered a bill to abolish the 87th district court in Freestone and Limestone counties. It is very seldom that such a bill is offered. Some 13 proposals have been submitted this session to create new courts.

Poage stated that the 77th district court had concurrent jurisdiction with the 87th and the two courts were unnecessary. The extra court was established to take care of the business at the time of the Mexia oil boom.

McDonald and Wayman, Galveston legal firm, joined Moody in the suit.

ACOLLEGE COLUMN

By MARSHALL FORMBY, TECH CORRESPONDENT

WILL ATTEND CONGRESS

Accompanied by Cecil Horne, Tech journalism professor, approximately 25 students in the college will attend the annual Southwestern Journalism congress which will be held at the University of Texas at Austin on May 1 and 2. The Tech students who will go from here are either journalism students or are interested in writing. Practically all the members of the student publication staffs will make the trip.

Plans are being made to charter a bus for the trip which will greatly reduce expenses. Class absence excuses will be available for students who go. It is probable that the group will spend at least one day at San Antonio before returning to Lubbock.

DISCUSS SPRING PLANS

Plans for the spring term and also for a week-end trip which is being planned for next week will be discussed at a called meeting of the Y. M. C. A. cabinet tonight which will be held at the home of Jack Boyd at 2425 21st street, it was announced yesterday.

Last Monday night's meeting was not held due to the fact no meetings were scheduled this week on the college calendar. New officers which were elected at the "Y" election yesterday will be at the gathering.

OFFER DRAWING COURSE

Among the new courses which will be offered in Texas Technological college for the spring term is a one-hour engineering drawing course which will be taught by Prof. Carl Lars Svensen, head of the drawing department. The class will be taught each Wednesday afternoon from 2 o'clock until 5 o'clock and is open to any student in the college.

The course is especially intended for students wishing to improve their lettering and sketching. The course is open to students in any of the schools in the college, liberal arts, engineering, agriculture and home economics.

"Y" ELECTION RETURNS GIVEN

The following officers were named in the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. election held at the college yesterday: For Y. M. C. A., president, Don Wellenman; vice-president, Riley Millard; secretary, Wiley Loughmiller; treasurer, Houston Hinson.

For Y. W. C. A, president, Lilah Gaye Rodgers; vice-president, Cecile Horne; secretary, Marie Price; treasurer, Geraldine Clewell.

Ballot boxes were placed in the east rotunda of the administration building and the polls were open from 8 o'clock yesterday morning until 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Only members of the Tech "Y" organizations were allowed to vote. Then newly elected officers will take their office immediately and will serve the remainder of this year in addition to next year.

Usually the "Y" elections are not held until the latter part of the spring term, but as some of the present officers will be unable to return to school next spring, the members of the organizations voted for the election to be held early and for the officers to take their posts at once.

VISITS IN CENTRAL TEXAS

H. Y. Price, Tech senior, is visiting at Evant in Central Texas this week. Price will not return to Lubbock for several days.

PLAN CAGE TOURNEY

Sixteen teams will be entered in the Texas Tech intramural basketball tournament next spring, according to present plans of the athletic council. The teams will be divided into four leagues each league containing four teams. A winner in each league likely will be decided which in turn will meet the winner of the other leagues. The winner of the tourney will be named Texas Tech intramural basketball champion.

The teams will be divided into the following leagues: The Engineering league, which will contain teams from the senior, junior, sophomore and freshman classes; a liberal arts team containing teams for the senior, junior, sophomore and freshman classes; the agricultural league, containing teams from the senior, junior, sophomore and freshman classes, and the independent league, containing teams from the army, band, bookstore and Y. M. C. A.

Heretofore the contest for intramural basketball championship was held only between the three schools. It is planned to hold the basketball tourney in the fall term next year.

IS CAMP VISITOR

Roy McCullough, former secretary of the Tech Y. M. C. A., was a visitor on the Tech campus yesterday. McCullough is now living in Denver, Colo. He resigned as Tech secretary in 1929.

ARTIST NUMBER FRIDAY

Brahms quartet will be presented at the Texas Technological gym next Friaday evening as the fourth number of the 1930-31 Tech artist course. Students will be admitted on artist tickets, or tickets may be purchased from Prof. W. R. Waghorne, head of the Tech music department.

The artist number will be presented during winter term examination week, but by Friday all examinations will have been given. Several students will be out of town, however, as there will be no school Saturday and the students who live near Lubbock will visit their homes during the two-day vacation.

Sunday-School Lesson

BY DR. J. E. NUNN

General Topic:
JESUS AMONG FRIENDS AND FOES

Scripture Lesson: Luke 10:38-42; 11:42-46, 52-54.

Luke 10:38. Now as they went on their way, he entered into a certain village: and a certain woman named Martha received him into her house.

39. And she had a sister called Mary, who also sat at the Lord's feet, and heard his word.

40. But Martha was cumbered about much serving; and she came up to him, and said, Lord, dost thou not care that my sister did leave me to serve alone? bid her therefore that she help me.

41. But the Lord answered and said unto her, Martha, Martha, thou art anxious and troubled about many things;

42. But one thing is needful; for Mary hath chosen the good part, which shall not be taken away from her.

Luke 11:42. But woe unto you Pharisees! for ye tithe mint and rue and every herb, and pass over justice and the love of God; but these ought ye to have done, and not to leave the other undone.

43. Woe unto you Pharisees! for ye love the chief seats in the synogogues, and the salutations in the marketplaces.

44. Woe unto you! for ye are as the tombs which appear not, and the men that walk over them know it not.

45. And one of the lawyers answering saith unto him, Teacher, in saying this thou reproachest us also.

46. And he said, Woe unto you lawyers also; for ye lead men with burdens grievous to be borne, and ye yourselves touch not the burdens with one of your fingers.

52. Woe unto you lawyers! for ye took away the key of knowledge; ye entered not in yourselves, and them that were entering in ye hindered.

53. And when he was come out from thence, the scribes and the Pharisees began to press upon him vehemently, and to provoke him to speak of many things;

54. Laying wait for him ,to catch something out of his mouth.

Golden Text:—Ye are my friends, if ye do the things which I command you.— John 15:15.

Time: November and December, A. D. 29, the third year of Christ's ministry. Place:—Bethany and Perea.

INTRODUCTION

Jesus was a man among men. He identified himself with no class. He, the Son of man, was the friend of all men, glad to receive all who would come into friendly fellowship. Withequal readiness he would dine with Pharisee and publican. He rejoiced with a happy wedding party and wept with the sorrowing. Both Nicodemus and the Samaritan woman felt the friendliness of his words. Glowing childhood and bent age alike were blessed in the touch of his garments. All sincere souls felt at home in his presence.

But all were not friendly toward him. Men who lived darkness rather than light were uncomfortable i nhis presence. Joined to the picture of Jesus in the house of his enemies, we have also a picture of him in the house of friends; and in both pictures he is the same Jesus in spirit and purpose.

BETHANY, THE HOME OF LAZARUS. v. 38

"He entered into a certain village." This was Bethany (the name perhaps means "the house of dates)", a small village facing east, situated on the road to Jericho and on the southeast slope of the Mount of Olives. All three synoptic Gospels are reticent regarding Mary, Martha, and Lazarus, and even the name of their village, because of the fame attained by the raising of Lazarus from the dead and the opposition to Jesus thereby aroused, climnating in his crucifixion. John, writing long after the event, after the fall of Jerusalem, could name the Bethany home and family without danger to them; see John 12:1-11.

JESUS AMONG HIS FRIENDS

This incident, preserved by Luke alone, may have been placed here as another item in Jesus' answer to the querry, "What shall I do to inherit eternal life?" (10:25). Bethany is on the eastern slope of Mount Olive, a mile and three-quarters from Jerusalem, on the way to Jericho. Here is "Jesus' Judean home"—I can imagine the sisters and brother telling him that it is! Their exceptional hospitality is to become an everlasting symbol of the opening of the human heart—door to the Lord Jesus.

Particularly noticeable in this scene are his frankness and his gentleness. Jesus was kind enough and sincere enough and bold enough to be frank, and it takes all three qualities to be so helpfully. Recall his interview with Nicodemus in which he told that successful and over again and must become a new honored man that he must start and different kind of man. Recall also his frankness with the woman at Jacob's well. And now he is just open in telling Martha of her faults.

MARTHA'S ANXIETY: MANY THINGS

Nervous overdoing is likely to make one irratable. It does Martha. She becomes provoked that her sister isn't helping with the supper and in fixing up the spareroom; lets her do it all. She is out of patience with the Master, also, that he takes no notice of Mary's unfairness; or laziness. "She had allowed herself to get hustled; not understanding Jesus, she thought that he would appreciate fussy and elaborate preparations. What he really wanted was quiet and sympathetic listening, and this Mary gave him."

Jesus saw how the tyranny of anxiety could spoil a good heart, and that was a serious matter with him. He reminded her that life is more than meat and that man does not live by bread alone. "His warning and his call come home to us today. How many people, for instance, begin life with certain necessities. As their income grows they add luxuries, and feel aggrieved if they cannot get them. They climb into a higher social scale which demands a larger house, greater spending, more elaborate entertaining. So the tyranny of things grows, while all the time, if only they knew it, they are losing peace and freedom and opening their souls to a thousand petty anxieties and disappointments. We can become victims of plenty as well as the victims of poverty. We can be sunk in a mansion as well as a hovel." — James Reid.

MARY'S CHOICE: THE GOOD PART

"Mary hath chosen the good part, which shall not be taken away from her." Recall Jesus' emphasis upon this fact in the Sermon on the Mount: "Seek ye first his kingdom and his righteousness and all these things will be added unto you." Many good things may be said about the Marthas of the world and the need for somebody to care for the things, and rightly so. Jesus did not advise indolence. He believed in work. He saw the need of bread, but he protested against making bread life's chief pursuit, and substituting work for worship, and letting the means of physical life become the master of the soul. Martha, was hospitable, industrious, wanting to serve her Friend, but she forgot that Jesus was there not primarily for a meal, but for fellowship, that he had something to give. Seeing it through and through Mary chose the good part. She sat at Jesus' feet and listened to him, and "listening to Him, loving Him, she was reaching contact with God." — James Reid. "At the Lord's feet" — there alone can real life be found.

THE ONE THING NEEDFUL

"Mary was perhaps the first of the followers of our Lord to discover that he wants not so much our work as ourselves. In itself, what is our work in the kingdom of God anyway? How small, how ignorant, how ineffective, and how insufficient it is compared to the power of God to accomplish all that he desires and to bring in the kingdom of Christ when he wills! But he gives us the privilege of working together with him for our sake, rather than for his. The work is for our development and our discipline."—Rev. Henry A. Stimson, D. D.

THREE TESTS OF FRIENDSHIP. Luke 11:5-32

Holding our lesson to its central thought of friendship for Jesus, let us draw our giving to God's children. In no way, not even in prayer, can we draw closer to the loving heart of God than in receiving fully what he wishes to bestow upon us, and giving freely to others from what God has given to us. Our gifts are the crown of our communion.

FRIENDSHIP IN SERVICE vs. 14-26

What an offense was that of Christ's enemies when they charged that he was in league with the enemies of God, and worked his miracles with the aid of devils! He made it perfectly clear that he was of God by doing the works of God. and we can make certain of our friendship with God in no other way. Let us study Christ's service of mankind. It is all for our imitation, for event the miracles, in their essentials of kindliness and of self-giving, may be copied by us. Are we doing the works of the Saviour? Then we are his friends.

FRIENDSHIP IN OBEDIENCE, Vs. 27-32

When the woman in the crowd cried out her tribute to Jesus, he answered with a call for obedience to God. That meant also obedience to himself, as he went on to say, for he was greater than Jonah, and had a right to summon men to repent of their sins and turn to ways of righteousness. We are Christ's friends, as our Golden Text says, if we do what he commands us.

PHARISEE FOES, Luke 11:37-54

We turn now from considering friendship with Christ to the sad but necessary topic of hostility to Christ, such as the Pharisees showed. From this point the enmity of this powerful sect of the Jews increased until it culminated in history's most terrible tragedy, the crucifixion of the Son of God.

The Pharisees, we must recall, were the strictest division of the Jews. They insisted upon the most scrupulous observance of the letter of the Mosaic laws, which would have been well, for they are wise and salutary, except that the Jewish rabbis had added to them a vast body of childish, superstitious and endlessly burdensome regulations of their own making, and upon these the Pharisees laid so great stress that they really constituted their life. They were proud of this exaggerated formalism, arrogant, unyielding and sought by every form of bitter insistence to compel others to adopt their strictness.

FRIEND OR FOE FOR JESUS?

Our Golden Text sums up the entire matter: "Ye are my friends, if ye do the things which I command ye." So spoke Christ during the solemn hours of the last supper. Christ's commands, as was well known, were very few, very simple, very clear. There were only two of them: Love God, love your brother man. Christ's enemies, the scribes lawyers, and Pharisees, did neither. Their pretended love of God was dead formalism, empty rites. Their love of men was only love of themselves, pride, cruelty, injustice, the murder of the true friends of God and man. Let no one say that because he is not a scribe or Pharisee therefore he is a friend of Jesus. Let him rather answer earnestly the two great questions: Do I love God with all my being? Do I love my neighbor as myself?

Senate Group Not Favorable

Measure Asked That Legislature Designate Butterfield Trail As State Highway; No Action Is Taken

AUSTIN, March 13. (AP)—The senate committee on highways and motor traffic today reported out unfavorably a bill by Senator Woodruff of Decatur asking that the legislature designate the Butterfield trail as a state highway.

Senator Loy of Sherman was the only member of the committee to vote for the bill. He said he would not request a minority report. Senator Woodward of Coleman was author of the motion to give the bill an unfavorable report.

The committee adopted an amendment by Senator Woodruff asking that the trail be routed from Abilene over maintained state highways to San Angelo, thence to Fort Stockton and on to the Spanish trail to El Paso.

Woodruff said there was a fight between Sweetwater and Abilene over trade territories. He stated that was Sweetwater's reason in opposing the designation of the trail.

Senator Stevenson of Victoria said such a designation where the towns were named might cause questions for the courts. Woodruff stated the bill, in naming the towns on the trail, said as near as practicable.

Representative Scott of Sweetwater stated he had communications from Arizona, Missouri, Illinois, Arkansas and California, other states through which the Butterfield trail was routed, and none of them had designated it as a highway.

He said Big Spring citizens had urged him to oppose the designation. He stated San Angelo citizens said the trail was of little historical importance.

Scott said the citizens of that section were opposed to the legislature designating highways. Senator Woodruff said San Angelo had asked that the trail be designated to include that town.

A house bill asking that the trail be designated as a state highway was reported out unfavorably last week. It will go before the house on a minority report.

APPROVES BARRACKS

WASHINGTON, March 13. (AP)—Secretary Hurley today approved the re-erection of two barrack buildings at Fort Clark, Texas to cost $34,141.

Arrest Lauded

Sweetwater Scribe Is Complimentary

SWEETWATER, March 13. (AP)— George Parks, member of the staff of the Sweetwater Daily Reporter, today sent a telegram to Eddie Barr of the Dalls Dispatch "as one victim of a court contempt charge to another." Parks recently spent 24 hours in the Nolan county jail for refusing to reveal his source of information concerning an indictment that had not been entered on the court records. He was released without apologizing or answering the question.

Parks' telegram said: "As one victim of a court contempt charge to another, I thought it laudable of you to go to jail, in preference to telling where information was obtained. I went to jail, refused to reveal source of my information, and the judge released me. Believe you should have done likewise to uphold traditions of freedom of the press."

Lamb County Man Has Good Record

AMHERST, March 13. (Staff Special.) — R. L. May, one of the dairy demonstrators of Lamb county, is believed to have a near record for butterfat production for this section.

Last year Mr. May was able to produce butterfat at an average of 16.9 cents per pound. By the judicial use of pastures and by careful methods he has been able this year to cut down his costs to below 14 cents most of the time.

For several months he averaged between 11 and 11.5 cents a pound for butterfat costs.

JUDGMENT GIVEN

LAREDO, March 13. (AP)—A jury last night awarded judgment of $15,000 to E. I. Anderson in a suit against Joe Amberson, president of the Union Bus lines, for an accident in which Anderson was injured a year ago.

WOULD ABOLISH RENTS

AUSTIN, March 13. (AP)— Representative Wagstaff of Abilene introduced a bill today to abolish the collection of annual rentals on public land where oil and gas has been developed and where the state received royalties.

BODY IS FOUND

Body Of Man Believed To Be L. T. Whitlow Discovered

WACO, March 13. (AP)—The body of a man believed to be L. T. Whitlow was taken from a burning house here early today. E. D. Johnson, owner of the house, said he had rented it to Whitlow. A letter found in the house indicated the tennant's wife and daughter were in Santa Anna.

Two potrolmen found a burning mattress in front of the house. Whitlow's body was found on a bed without a mattress. It was believed he had carried out the burning mattress, reentered the house, and had been overcome by smoke.

In all Europe only 2,721 miles of new highways were built last year.

Early Days Of Bailey County Are Recalled By An Old Time Visitor

MULESHOE, March 13. — Early days of Bailey county were recalled here last week by Joe W. Jennings, now manager of the Lockview farms, an irrigation project in Hale county near the Floyd county line, who came here to speak before the first irrigation conference held in this section of the South Plains.

"When I first came to Muleshoe, there was not much here," said Mr. Jennings. "There was a lumber yard, a hotel and a grocery store, the Johnson brothers garage and the bank and about four residences.

"Right where the court house now is, the boys used to come in from the ranches and tie up their ponies while they went about town."

Helped Organize County

Mr. Jennings began ranching on some school land south of town. He was here for several years, leaving about 1918. While here, Mr. Jennings helped organize Bailey county, which had been attached to Castro for judicial purposes.

"I remember the first barber we had," said the old timer. "His name was Jack Carr and he punched cattle on one of the ranches near town.

Did Good Business

"Jack used to punch cattle all week. Then on Saturday he would come to town and do the barber work for the cowboys and others. He did a good business, too."

Mr. Jennings said that after he had moved away, an attempt was made to prevent the county organization from continuing. He was called back to testify as to his right to vote in the election.

Several men had secured a legislative act which permitted the county to organize with about 75 voters. There were 87 voters in the county election that was held to vote on the organization.

Many large modern busses which were sent from France to Algeria for the touring season are being returned to France for similar duty during the summer season.

Men Don't Say—

"A package of Cigarettes"

If a man were to ask for "a package of cigarettes" the tobacconist would probably faint from amazement. Every smoker prides himself on the choice of his favorite brand and he's careful to specify that brand when he buys.

When you purchase your bread it is well to say Butter-Nut. Then you are sure of getting a loaf that is uniformly good in quality, flavor and food value.

You can serve Butter-Nut Bread on your table and take pride in your choice. No finer bread can be baked.

Butter-Nut is the name for good bread. Easy to remember—easy to say—worthwhile asking for every day at your grocers.

Tablet Unveiled Honoring Huggins

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 13. (AP)—A tablet was unveiled and a baseball field was dedicated here today in memory of the late Miller Huggins, pilot of the New York Yankees.

Notables in the world of baseball attended the ceremonies at Crescent Lake Park.

After the invocation by the Rev. W. F. Conner, of Pittsburgh, Miss Myrtle Huggins, sister of the late pilot, unveiled the bronze tablet before a crowd of more than 2,000 persons.

Al Lang, former mayor of St. Petersburg, acted as master of ceremonies and introduced several baseball leaders, among them Commissioner K. M. Landis; John Heydler, president of the National League; E. S. Barnard, president of the American League, and Colonel Jacob Ruppert, owner of the Yanks.

Marse Joe, New Yank Skipper, Falls Heir To Number Of Things, Including Veteran Lineup

Yank Wrecking Crew Ready For Large Hit Season

By GAYLE TALBOT, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 13.—When Joe McCarthy Forsook his old National League stamping grounds for a hitch at the New York Yankee helm, he fell heir to a number of things, including the world's highest salaried performer and a fine, large pitching problem.

McCarthy is proceeding cautiously, making no snap judgment on his players or his chance at a pennant. Ask him what he thinks of this or that player and he comes right back to you:

"Well, what do you think of him? He? He looks good to me so far, but it will take time to get things lined up."

No Big Lineup Changes

There will be no radical alterations in the Yankee linuep. It will be pretty much the same slugging outfit that performed for Miller Huggins. There is a possibility of an infield shakeup, providing the veteran Joe Sewell continues to go at third base as he has in training.

That the question of a capable mound staff is the biggest thing on McCarthy's mind there can be little doubt. He has 17 pitchers in camp, including seven holdovers. Out of the lot he hopes to find a set of flingers who can hold the enemy while the wrecking crew—Ruth, Gehrig, Lazzeri, Combs, Dickey—does its stuff.

In Herb Pennock, Charles Ruffing, George Pipgras, Henry Johnson and Ed Wells, there is the nucleus of a fair to middling staff. Pipgras, however, just is recovering from an appendicitis operation and will not be ready to take his turn until the season is well along. Three others whom McCarthy is counting on to bolster the staff are Roy Sherid and Louis McEvery, both of whom were around last year, and Gordon Rhodes, who had a great season with Hollywood. Vernon Gomez, ill much of last year, is another prospect, as is Walter Brown, a big fellow who won 16 for Oklahoma City.

Paul Andrews from Birmingham, Ala., Frank Barnes from Toronto, George Miner from Jersey City, Jim Weaver from Baltimore and Philip Weinert from Louisville are possibilities.

Larruping Lou Gehrig at first and Lyn Lary at short are fixtures. If Sewell, picked up from Cleveland last year, continues to perform as he has in the exhibitions he has a swell chance to land at third base. In that even Tony Lazzeri will be sent back to his station at second, with James Reese holding the utility job. Bill Werber, who hit .347 for Albany last season, is the only other infield candidate.

Babe Is All Set

The Babe, in better health than in years and flushed with determination to regain his home run leadership, will take care of right field, with Earle Combs in center. The left field post appears to lie between Sam Byrd and Dusty Cooke, but Myril Hoag, the Sacramento slugger, is giving them plenty of argument. Fred Walker is another prospect.

Bill Dickey, the club's clouting young catcher, can look for valuable help from Cy Perkins, the veteran acquired from the Athletics last year, and a trio of youngsters. Arndt Jorgens, last year's second string backstop, is getting spirited competition from a couple of rookies, Bill Karlon, with Springfield last season, and Tom Padden, purchased from Baltimore.

Dallas Steers Moving To Home Park To Meet Giants

CORSICANA, March 13. (AP)—The Dallas Steers finished their second week's training today. Tomorrow they go to Dallas for exhibition games with the New York Giants. The players had light batting and infield practice today.

Manager Happ Morse released five men: Tom Ize, outfielder; Ray Moore, catcher; and John Dale, John Frady, and Gus Dozier, pitchers. Morse said intro-club games would be played next week with veteran pitchers working.

Eyes of the baseball fans are on Lou Gehrig, Joe McCarthy and Babe Ruth, left to right above, the big shots of the New York Yankees. The fans have a pretty definite idea of what to expect from Lou and Babe. They're wondering, however, just what McCarthy, as manager of the world's greatest baseball circus, can accomplish in the pennant dash this year, his first in the American League.

Golf Tourneys Held At Local Clubs Sunday

Trophy Tournament Begins At Meadowbrook; Country Club Scene Of Matched Battles; West Texas Officials Here

If weather permits Lubbock will have another big splurge in golf tomorrow and for the two days following. Tournaments have been carded on the Meadowbrook Golf club course and on the Lubbock Country club links for tomorrow, the Meadowbrook matches to continue through Tuesday.

While a chosen group of eight golfers match links knowledge and ability over the Country club course officials of the club will be busy entertaining out-of-town friends and the hopes of bringing the 1931 West Texas tournament to Lubbock. Arriving sometime today, possibly in time for a meeting tonight, members of the executive committee of the West Texas Golfers association will discuss the advisability of holding the annual tournament here or elsewhere. Three other cities are bidding for the tournament: San Angelo, Wichita Falls and Fort Worth.

Trophy Tourney at Meadow Brook

Opening tomorrow at the Meadowbrook course is the long ballyhooed trophy tournament. All Lubbock golfers, regardless of club membership, are invited to participate. The rules of the tournament are simple. There will be no matches, though Bill McMillan, promoter of the tournament, advises that the golfers group themselves into three's. The entries merely play for low medal score over the 18-hole course. The player adding up the lowest score for the course will be awarded a miniature gold golf ball, the trophy to be known as Number 1. Likewise the four next low scorers will receive golf balls. The next five low shooters will be given silver balls.

It is to be understood, however, that the balls are not given as permanent trophies. If at any time following the tournament next week another player challenges and defeats a holder of a trophy, the former takes the ball from the loser. Thus he may advance to the top position.

Out at the Country club, eight men will be matched in three separate matches. Four of these stand at the top of the "ladder," a list of golfers who have played 72 holes of qualifying golf as part of the ladder tournament. Four stand lower in the ladder, below 25th mark in fact. Low shooters will face those who failed to place among the first 25 as follows: Gibson Payne vs. Greg James; John Edmisson vs. Bud Roberts; E. T. Daniels vs. John Crisler; Ross McWhorter vs. W. E. Davis.

Women Enter National Indoor Track Tourney

NEWARK, N. J., March 13. (AP)—With Stella Walsh of Cleveland and Mary Carew of Medford, Mass., as the leading attractions, the national indoor track and field championships for women will be held here tomorrow night in the 113th regiment armory.

Jimmy DeHart, Washington and Lee coach, was a crack aviator during the world war. He was used as a flying instructor.

King Tut, Billy Petrolle Receive Purses For Bout

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, March 13. — The New York State Athletic Commission today closed its investigation of the recent King Tut-Billy Petrolle fight and ordered that the purses of both fighters be paid. The purses had been held up pending an investigation of Petrolle's fourth round knockout of the boxer who had knocked him out but a few weeks before.

"The action speaks for itself," said Chairman James A. Farley when asked if the payment of the purses meant the commission believed the fight was fought on its merits and was not prearranged.

As an indication of the way of the commissioners' minds are working, however, Madison Square Garden was refused permission to put Petrolle in against Tony Canzoneri in a lightweight title match sometime next month.

Just As Expected

It had been freely forecast that the commission would pay the purses, having little authority on which to withhold the money, but that both Petrolle and Tut would be blackballed for any further matches in New York State.

Chairman Farley explained the barring of Petrolle was on the grounds that sanction had been asked for the match before the commission had completed its investigation, the matter of sanction apparently coming up a few minutes ahead of the decision on the Tut-Petrolle fight.

U. S. Net Stars To Take No Part In French Match

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, March 13.—With all except a few of the top ranking American stars missing, the American indoor tennis championships open tomorrow in the seventh regiment armory. Jean Borotra, French Davis Cup veteran, holds most of the spotlight.

Several explanations have been offered as to why John Hope Doeg, national champion outdoors, George Lott, jr., John Van Ryn and others choose to sulk while the French invade the American field. The fact remains that only Frank Shields, Berkeley Bell and Cliff Sutter of the American top flight have entered the tourney.

Shields and Borotra are conceded the best chance to win through to the finals, having been placed in different brackets. Borotra's chief opponents in the upper bracket are Sutter and Julius Seligson, former junior champion, while Shields must overcome Christian Boussus, France's young star, Pierre Landry, also of France, and Bell if he hopes to play Borotra for the title a week from Saturday.

Lin Storti Recognized As Neat Player By Brownies

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Mar. 13. (AP)—Lindell Storti, step-child among the young fielders from Wichita Falls, is gaining the respect of the Brownie officials and fans who are watching the workouts here.

Storti is called the step-child because he is up against the proposition of pushing Oscar Melillo to the bench, and ousting that courageous pepper pod from the regular squad is a man sized job.

Fight Finals To Be Staged At Gym Today

Last Of Intramural Boxing And Wrestling To Be Held In All But Heavyweight Classes This Afternoon

Rounding through the quarter-finals, part of the semi-finals and one final match, Texas Tech's intramural boxers and wrestlers narrowed down to a favored few yesterday afternoon. Remaining semi-final rounds and several final rounds will be staged this afternoon at the Tech gymnasium.

In the only final bout so far and by registering the second knock-out of the season, Garner, a Liberal Artist, won the light-heavy championship of the campus when he sliped the k. o. to Toby Greer in the third round of a sensational battle. Each weighed in 175 and were well matched until the final blow. Greer took the count as the third round neared a close.

Two other boxing bouts were staged yesterday. Havis won a decision over Houk in the 135-pound class. Havis enters the finals this afternoon in his weight class. Hazel won a decision over Seymour after three rounds.

Four wrestling matches advanced as many matmen to the finals. Truett Owens threw Al Simmons, McArthur pinned Anding to the mat, Ernest made quick work of Fann, throwing the latter in two minutes, seven seconds, and Leiner threw Moore in six minutes, 17 seconds.

The matches begin this afternoon at 5 o'clock, all of them to be finals and semi-finals. It is thought that the program will be ended tonight, provided all of the entries show up.

Heavyweight finals in both boxing and wrestling will be postponed until the next college fun night, tentatively set for March 31. At this time also, Greer Frizzell, eliminated in the championship race by big George Langford, will meet his old enemy, Al Simmons, in what promises to be a high light. The two met once before and Simmons used one punch to knock Frizzell out for the count.

Boston Braves Win Over Champion Athletics, 4-3

ST PETERSBURG, Fla., March 13. (AP)—The Boston Braves chose Friday the 13th to break their losing streak by defeating the World's champion Athletics, 4 to 3.

The tribesmen made an uphill fight as the A's scored a couple of runs in the first inning which kept them out in front until the sixth, when the New England team struggled ahead, only to have the champions even it up in the seventh. The winning run was put over by the Braves in the last inning.

Seals Open Million Dollar Park By Defeating Tigers

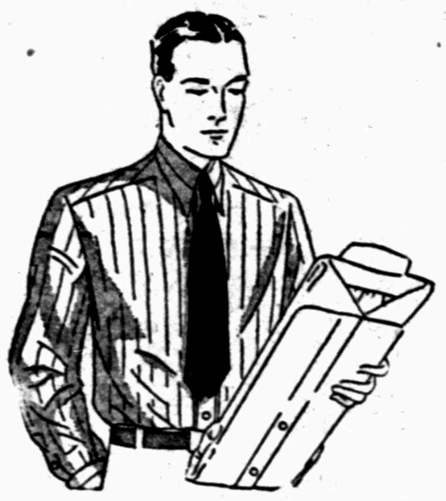

SAN FRANCISCO, March 13. (AP)—The San Francisco Seals celebrated the informal opening of their new $1,250,000 ball park here today by defeating Detroit's Tigers 5-2 before a crowd of 15,000. The Seals found Hoyt and Cantrell for 14 hits.

Panther Roster Continues To Grow; 20 More Coming

FORT WORTH, March 13. (AP)—Without the help of census-taking machinery, no one can be sure just how many athletes are trying out with the Fort Worth baseball club on any given day, but the latest official returns today placed the number at 43. Thirteen others will be due Monday, and its probable 20 will report.

The athletic population of the park jumped over the two score count Friday, when four arrivals were reported. They were: Larry Cox, Jimmy Dalrymple, Virgil Gilliland, and Bill Simmeman.

O'Goofty Takes Time Out From Baseball Duty And Sees A Wrestling Match And Writes On The Ear

THE EAR IN WRESTLING

By JOE O'GOOFTY
Mat Editor, The Manhandler

HELSINGFORS, March 13.—Except for purely decorative purposes the ear is not good for much in wrestling. Most wrestlers have had their ears pinned back either by headlocks or the habit of sliding along with their ears to the ground, so they really cannot hear above a healthy scream.

Some years ago, when Russians, Greeks, Bessarabians, Turks, Himalayans, Teutons and Mesopotamians were wrestling one another, there arose some confusion of tongues. Suppose some Himalayan should whisper into the cauliflower ear of a Bessarabian, "You t'row me tonight, Hjalmar, and next Tuesday in Kalmar I t'row you." If the wrestler addressed his pal in the Himalayan, often the big hay [illegible] wouldn't understand.

In desperation, wrestlers formed a code of signals among themselves, similar to the Boy Scout semaphor system. Three quick slaps on the back of the neck meant, "I win tonight and you win on Shrove Tuesday in Kansas City." This had the double advantage of saving the ears for ornamentation and fooling the customers.

Perhaps you have seen wrestlers cock their heads smartly to one side as they paraded around the arnea glaring at one another. It may never have occurred to you that this gesture had a dark and sinister meaning. When wrestlers cock their heads at one another this way, they really are quarreling. One of them has been hurt by the other in a moment of thoughtless play. It may have been that their laundry checks got mixed up the week before in Tulsa, or one of them had been reading the other's postcards.

Tomorrow I will take up the cauliflour.

For Ginger's Sake

A shadow fell athwart his canvas. He looked up. Cotton and Speed were coming toward him from the river, hand in hand. They were laughing.

"All cheered up, eh?" he called to them pleasantly.

"Yes," Cotton nodded with gay emphasis. "Ginger is the greatest little confidante you ever saw. But if you think we look cheered up you ought to see her. She is down on the boat-landing cheered up almost into convulsions. She has laughed herself into genuine tears. Where's Eddy? She wants to see him."

"She would," said Bard coldly. "I do not know where he is. He want for a walk in the woods. I don't know whether he has come back or not—and I don't care."

Cotton went to the window and called inside to ask for him, but Eddy had not returned and nearly another hour elapsed before he sauntered slowly from the woods with Patty.

"Where's Ginger?"

"Oh, Eddy, she was looking for you. She was down at the landing for so long ago. She probably got tired waiting."

"Well, I'll have a look," he said. "It's something to have want me." And he strolled off toward the river.

Bard did not raise his eyes from his canvas although he had finished the picture, nor did he heed the little cries of delight that went up from the others at sight of it. It was for Ginger, and Ginger did not care.

Eddy came back in a few minutes to report that Ginger was not on the landing nor anywhere in sight, and they all lounged idly in the pleasant shade of the big trees until Benito came to announce that luncheon was ready.

"Find Miss Ginger, Benito," said Patty. "She's off somewhere by herself, in the woods, I fancy. Maybe upstairs."

Benito went to the edge of the woods and called as only he could call, but Ginger did not answer.

"Well, come along to luncheon," said Eddy cheerfully. "When you know Ginger as well as I do you'll know never to expect her until you see her. She's that sort."

"But I don't think its company manners to eat without the hostess," protested Cotton.

"Well, it's not company manner for the hostess to stay away from the food," insisted Eddy.

"She was low today," said Patty. "She probably went off into the woods to mope in comfort and fell a sleep."

"She wasn't low when we left her," said Cotton. "We cheered her up and left her on top of the world."

"She'll come when she smells chow," said Eddy Jackson. "I never knew her to miss a meal."

They ate their luncheon in soothing silence, but Ginger did not come. One o'clock. Two o'clock.

"I feel uneasy," said Patty. "This isn't like Ginger a bit. You know they were always taught in the parsonage, Eddy, that they had to be nice to company no matter how blue they were. I wish she'd come."

"She'd better come if she's going to invite the crowd out tonight," said Eddy. "It does seem a bit queer. Suppose we cut off into the woods and have a look for her. Maybe she has fallen and hurt herself. You'd better stay with me, Pat. We don't want two babes in the woods."

"And I'll keep Cotton with me, if you don't mind," said Speed. "They don't grow woods like these in Washington Square and she doesn't know her way around."

So they struck off, cheerfully enough, into the woods in different directions, singing, whistling, calling her name.

They were not alarmed—not yet. They knew that Ginger had been low for a few days. They didn't blame her for wanting to be alone with her sadness.

But when, an hour later, they met again at the cottage and had seen no trace of her, they could no longer hide their uneasiness. Certainly this was not like Ginger.

Two Men Held In City Jail Under Investigation

Twe men arrested Thursday night by deputy sheriffs O. B. Conely and Will Earnest are being held by the county officers for investigation. No charges had been filed at a late hour Friday.

At the time of their arrest in front of a house in the Friend addition, the two men were in possession of about 47 quarter-grains of morphine and a gallon and half of corn whiskey.

The house, when subsequently searched by officers, yielded several hypodermic needles, a 10-gallon crock filled with home-brew, a number of empty bottles and other narcotic and liquor accessories.

The two suspects are in the city jail.

Run-Down, Weak Nervous?

To have plenty of firm flesh and the ability to do a big day's work and feel "like a two-year old" at night, you must eat three good meals a day, relish your food and properly digest it. If you can't eat, can't sleep, can't work, just give Tanlac the chance to do for you what it has done for millions.

Mrs. Fred Westin, of 387 E. 57th St. North, Portland, Ore., says: "Tanlac cured my stomach trouble completely after three years of suffering. It built me up to perfect health, with a gain of 27 lbs. That was two years ago, and I still enjoy the best of health."

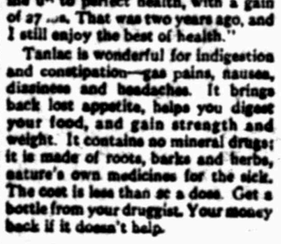

Tanlac is wonderful for indigestion and constipation—gas pains, nausea, dizziness and headaches. It brings back lost appetite, helps you digest your food, and gain strength and weight. It contains no mineral drugs; it is made of roots, barks and herbs, nature's own medicines for the sick. The cost is less than 2c a dose. Get a bottle from your druggist. Your money back if it doesn't help.

Indiana Lady Says She Feels More Energetic After Taking Black-Draught.

Evansville, Ind.—"I have known of Thedford's Black-Draught all my life because my father kept it in my home and used it whenever he needed a medicine of that sort," writes Mrs. Earl White, of 1117 Mary Street, this city. "He gave it to us for colds or whenever we needed a laxative. Since I have been married, I have used it in my home. I found it very good for children.

"I take Black-Draught whenever I have a spell of indigestion. Sometimes I have pains in my chest which seem to be caused by gas. Black-Draught relieves it.

"If I get up in the morning feeling dull and sluggish and have no appetite, I know that I need something for this condition. I take Black-Draught, because after having used it I feel fresh and have new energy. I recommend it for I find it so good for my own use."

Thousands of others have reported that many disagreeable symptoms, due to constipation, indigestion and biliousness, have gone away after they had taken Black-Draught. 1¢ a dose.

Cotton Cotton Is Down Through Friday — Livestock Stronger Prices Feature Market — Grain Slight Changes in Cash Grain

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, March 13. (AP)—Cotton developed a downward tendency in today's moderate trading despite extremely favorable cables. Following an early advance of 9 to 10 points, which was a poor response to the advance in Liverpool, the market turned easier on lack of support. There was little trade buying in evidence, and ring traders sold.

Near noon the market was further weakened by disappointing weekly statistics, particularly mill takings, which were not only smaller than last year, but also were below the previous week. By early afternoon prices showed losses of 21 to 23 points from the early highs and a loss of 12 to 13 points from yesterday's close. The market continued to rule easy in late trading, keeping mostly within the earlier range, but some of the near months made new lows near the end 21 to 24 points under the early highs. The close was steady at the bottom the general market showing net declines for the day of 12 to 15 points.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, March 13. (AP)—An opening advance in cotton on trade buying and covering, promoted by steady cables and a higher Egyptian market, was followed by declines under a renewal of liquidation combined with local and southern selling today. May, after selling up to 11.61 at the start, broke to 10.81 and closed at 10.82 compared with 10.93 at the close of yesterday. The final tone was barely steady with the market 6 to 11 points net higher.

Liverpool cables reported continental, Bombay buying and covering in that market and said that contracts were scarce.

Slow, Irregular Decline Is Seen On Stock Market For End Of Week

BY JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, March 13. (AP)—Developments of interest to the share market were lacking today, and trading followed the pattern laid down earlier in the week —a slow, irregular decline in a small turnover. Sales approximated only 2,400,000 shares.

At its worst the market was off 1-6 points; at its best a few stocks sold above yesterday's close, and at the close small moderate losses predominated. Bonds were mixed, although favoring the downside. However, issues of this and foreign governments improved. Grains and cotton sagged, but bar silver nearly recovered what it had lost yesterday.

The action of U. S. Steel, General Electric, Radio, General Motors and some other equally prominent shares, none of which responded to pressure, sent the shorts gunning for less resistant issues, particularly the volatile favorites, Westinghouse, American Water Works, Allied Chemical, Case, Bethlehem Steel, Johns-Manville, Eastman Kodak and Western Union at one time were 3-6 points lower, but the absence of important liquidation in the rails, plus the refusal of the market to show any volume, stimulated enough short covering to cut the extreme declines in half. Allied chemical, which had been off 5 3-4 to the lowest price in three years, was down only a fraction net at the finish. Eastman's 5 1-2 point drop was reduced, Westinghouse got back two-thirds of its 3-point recession and water works break of 4 dwindled to a little more than 1.

Flirtation

"Democrats agree with the progressives that a third party is entirely inadvisable, for the reason now stated, and as contended by democrats in 1910-12, that the only practical hope for the liberal forces of the country is in the democratic party.

"In numerous instances the ideas expressed and the evils pointed out at the progressive conference, were in complete harmony with the course and attitude—both past and present—of most of the great democratic rank and file, three-fourths of whom stand for sane, practical, Jeffersonian liberalism.

"The progressives are rendering a valuable and patriotic service, and correspondingly reenforcing the efforts of the democratic party, in thus arousing and warning the people."

Released After Pleading Guilty

BUFFALO, N. Y., March 13. (AP) —Nancy Bowen, 65-year-old Seneca Indian woman, today was sentenced to imprisonment for one to ten years for manslaughter but was released immediately as she already had served the minimum of her sentence. Her sentence grew out of the slaying of Mrs. Clotilde Marchand, wife of Henri Marchand, an artist in Buffalo last March.

Nancy, who freely admitted the killing but declared it had been done because she believed Mrs. Marchand was a "white witch," pleaded guilty Tuesday.

Secretary Stimson Says That There Is No Reason

WASHINGTON, March 13. (AP)— Secretary Stimson said today he could see no reason why the United States should sign the Franco-Italian naval agreement.

The secretary said he had made some suggestions as requested by the interested powers when they submitted the basis of the settlement.

These were intended to eliminate the necessity of America formally subscribing to the settlement.

Food Chemist And Culinary Expert To Be In Littlefield

LITTLEFIELD, March 13.—The Lamb County Leader of Littlefield, will bring to this city in the very near future, Mrs. Delta J. Jordan, who is nationally known as a culinary expert and food chemist. Mrs. Jordan is well known for her contributions to the leading women's magazines of the nation, and this town is fortunate to secure her services.

University Of Minnesota Students Will Get Diplomas

ST. PAUL, March 13. (AP)—Several University of Minnesota farm school students, suspended yesterday for drinking, will be granted their diplomas, some will be required to perform additional schoolastic work, and two, who were expelled, will not be re-instated.

This was the tentative agreement reached today after the Minnesota senate appointed a special committee of four to confer with the school faculty in an effort to have the ban removed from 17 students dismissed yesterday.

Theater Operator Is Burned To Death In Projection Room

WEWOKA, Okla., March 13. (AP)— While spectators witnessed a flickering drama of the screen at a theater here late last night, Harold E. Brough, operator, chose death in a battle with fire in his projection room.

Tossing a burning film roll out a window, Brough had a chance to escape the flames that licked at the walls of his cubby-hole. He decided instead to try to stamp them out, and fumes from the burning celluloid overcame him.

Hours later his burned body was recovered, lying face down on the floor.

MIDDLEWESTERN LIVESTOCK

KANSAS CITY, March 13. (AP)—Hog trade around the eleven market circuit was fairly active at strong to 25c higher prices. The day's extreme top of 8.50 was paid in Chicago. Total offerings were around 70,000 as compared with 54,500 a week ago.

Curtailed receipts stimulated demand for fat lambs, and most points outside of Chicago reported strong to mostly 25c higher values. A few loads of light weight lambs in Chicago brought 9.25, while at Omaha choice fed lambs realized 9.85. The supply numbering around 36,800 was 13,000 less than last Friday.

Aggregate receipts of cattle were estimated at 10,000 as compared with 9,175 a week ago. Trade at most centers was chiefly a cleanup affair with market conditions showing little change. Most killing classes of cattle this week except the better grades of strong weight steers have found a fairly broad demand a firm to unevenly higher prices. Numbers of South Texas grassers are expected to arrive. Range conditions in South Texas are excellent with cattle relatively well conditioned for this season of the year.

FORT WORTH LIVESTOCK

FORT WORTH, March 13. (AP)—Hogs—1,000; rail hogs 25c higher, 212 lb. butchers topped at 7.75; truck hogs steady, top 7.25.

Cattle—600; including 200 calves. Strong to higher. One load yearlings 7.35, small lots 7.25@7.50. Good cows 4.50@5.00; butcher grades 3.50; choice 400 lb. stock steer calves extreme top 8.50; few stock calves around 7.00.

Sheep—1,500; steady, medium to good lambs 8.50, 6.75@7.00; two-year-old wethers 5.25.

on the South Plains congregate at the intersection of Broadway and Avenue M, there to be arranged in parade formation. Every member of the big club is invited and urged to be on hand and to take part in the parade. Mickey Mouse in person will personally direct the parade and will be assisted in the leadership by Fire Chief Twitty in one of the big red fire trucks from the City Hall.

The Lubbock High school band, decked out in full uniform, will furnish the music for the parade, which will advance down Broadway from Bob Russell's service station to Bowen's Corner drug, turn right to Carter-Houston's, left to Texas Avenue and by the Avalanche-Journal, right on Broadway for one block, across to Main and back to the Palace theater.

Inside the Palace, which is the club room of the organization, Mickey will revert to his screen and entertain his audience in an all-musical "squeakie." "The Barn Dance." A regular feature picture, "Painted Desert," will follow the Mickey and Minnie Mouse theme song and the cartoon picture.

Son's Fate

cuit Judge James Tudor, who had allowed two hours for the mother to decide, sentenced the youth to life imprisonment.

James was out for a ride with his wife on the highway when they met two youths who asked for a ride. Carson and Piotrowsky had left Louisville that day hitch-hiking from Detroit to Nashville. They were seeking work in the South, they said, but Detroit police said they were fleeing from justice in Detroit and that they were accused of 11 robberies and an attack upon a girl there.

After travelling a few miles James' passengers drew a pistol and demanded the car. James stopped, and all four stepped to the roadside. While Carson and James argued, Mrs. James signalled a passing car for help. Confusion followed, a shot was fired and James fell dead.

Ford, Edison And Firestone Visit

FORT MYERS, Fla., March 13.(AP) Henry Ford can "chin" a bar six times, but his old crony Harvey Firestone can't pull himself up once, and Thomas A. Edison, third member of the famous triumvirate —well, he doesn't even try such things.

Gathering today for the first time together in more than a year, Ford, Firestone and Edison had a chummy reunion.

The motor magnate displayed his gymnastic ability as he grabbed a low-hanging limb of a eucalyptus tree outside the Edison laboratory. Six times he "muscled" up to touch his chin. Then the tire manufacturer tried his skill. With Mr. Ford's assistance he made it up once and turned loose.

are adequate," Governor Sterling said. "The railroad commission either cannot enforce them because they have too many other duties, or they will not. He pointed out that the railroad commission had numerous other responsibilities including regulation of an establishment of rates for railroads, busses and trucks.

Governor Sterling spoke of the economic loss that had been accasioned by the unrestricted production in the new Rusk-Gregg county pool and the consequent reduction in the price of crude. The state's part of this loss, through diminution of the gross receipts tax revenues throughout the state, aggregated a large sum, he stated.

"The operators in the new fields are selling at almost any price," he stated. "Oil is being sent from there to Oklahoma City, Wichita Falls, San Antonio which have oil fields of their own at their doors."

The railroad commission earlier in the day had called a hearing on East Texas proration to be held here March 24. Representatives Lassiter of Henderson said he expected certain East Texans would request that their fiel dnot be prorated for another 30-days because the district's potential was not yet known.

At the time the commission holds a hearing on the East Texas fields, it will consider setting a figure for state-wide proration after April 1. The present order allowing 645,000 barrels daily in the state expires April 1.

Man Is Held In Jail After Raid Friday Night

One man was arrested and one and one-half gallons of whiskey confiscated in a raid on a house in the 1700 block of Avenue F, late Friday night by the sheriff's department.

According to county officers, the man was presumably about to make a "delivery" when taken. Before he could be prevented, he was able to break two one-gallon jars filled with corn whiskey. Officers found another gallon and a half cached in the stove and in the garage.

Charges for the illegal possession of liquor will be filed against the man Saturday morning, peace officers said. He is now in the city jail.

Memories Of Old West Recalled As White Man And Red Skin "Pow-Wow"

BY RALPH O. BROWN

PHOENIX, Ariz., March 13. (AP)— Memories, mellowed by half a century, stirred anew tonight in the minds of three stalwarts of the white race and the red, who collaborated in staking out civilization's frontier when the six-gun was white man's law and the Apache lance a menace in the Arizona hills.

John P. Clum held friendly powwow for perhaps the last time with Goody-Goody and Sneezer, wrinkled Apache ancients who, in their youth and his, contributed to the vivid pages of the old west's history.

Clum established in 1874 the first civilian Indian agency at old San Carlos, and held in peaceful restraint for three years 4,500 warlike Apaches in the surrounding hills.

Sneezer was one of the bucks who stayed his lance out of respect for Nan-Tan-Be-Tun-E-Ki-Ay — the Boss-With-The-White-Forehead — and Goody-Goody was one of the original four members of Clum's Apache police force of 1874-77.

Goody-Goody came out of his ancestral hills when J. B. Kitch, present superintendent at San Carlos, sent him word that Ana-Tan-Be-Tun-E-Ki-Ay once again was in the Apache country. They talked in mixed English and Apache of adventures of the 70's when they stalked the renegade Geronimo at Apache Pass and placed him in chains at Ojo Caliente, New Mexico.

Not many of the Apaches of Clum's time remain in the Arizona hills, but their sons and daughters and grandchildren were there to gaze in awe at the man whose name for three generations has been a legend around the smoking tribal fires.

"Love Market" Shows Growth

Fourth Girl Discovered By Investigators As Victim Of Market Which Was Bared In California

SAN DIEGO, Cal., March 13. (AP) With entry today into the Los Angeles "Love Market" case of a fourth girl "victim" said to be 15 years old, Inspector Harry Baugh, of the San Diego district attorney's office, expected to go to Los Angeles for further investigation of the bazaar.

Baugh was understood to have learned of the fourth girl, but details were not revealed. The Bazaar is alleged to have furnished girls to wealthy men for parties.

Olive Day, asserted proprietress of the market, and William Jobelmann, her alleged partner, are expected to be brought to San Diego next week for arraignment on Statutory charges filed against them last Wednesday.

John P. Mills and Alexander Pantages, alleged patrons on the "market" were arraigned on similar charges before Justice Arthur L. Mundo Wednesday and released on bail.

Jesse Shreve, prominent San Diegoan, also facing two charges, was arraigned and released on bail last Tuesday afternoon.

of natural monopoly, the rights of eminent domain, making them virtually unlimited in their power and privilege of operation.

He said there was no justification for contentions that utilities should operate unregulated.

"If there is anything in the contention of the persons opposed to the efficient regulation of our utilities, they might as well gracefully argue for the abolition of the interstate commerce commisison, and every railroad commission in the United States," Governor Sterling said.

Eye For Business
Apple Man Fixes Ladders To Suit

SAN FRANCISCO, March 13. (AP)—An apple peddler at Fourth and Market streets cast an eye at the calendar and then noted several ladders leaning against a theater at that corner.

"Nobody," mused the apple vendor, "is going to walk under a ladder on a day like this."

He arranged with the ladder man to set them so pedestrains would have to pass immediately before the apple box. Many apples were sold.

NEWS BRIEFS

Another car load of shrubs for the city parks and the municipal building, was received this week and unloaded Friday, C. H. Mahoney, chairman of the city park board announced. The city is making extensive improvements at several of the parks and around the city building.

The second of a series of letters to vocational agriculture teachers in West Texas announcing the annual judging contests held at Texas Technological college March 23, were mailed yesterday by R. C. Mowery, chairman of the contests.

Dean James M. Gordon of Texas Technological college has accepted three commencement engagements for the spring. He will deliver the addresses in O'Donnell, Tulia and Dimmitt. Owing to the fact that he has been named a commissioner to the general assembly of the Presbyterian church in the U. S. which meets at Montreat, N. C., May 28, Dean Gordon will not accept any further invitations to deliver commencement addresses.

which he won the backing of a dishonest officialdom and of the powerful Capone gang syndicate.

They described him as the "unofficial chief of police," as a man who had "arranged the 'fix'" so that Capone beer and liquor trucks could roll through the loop and make deliveries unmolested to thousands of saloons.

They wrote of a purported quarrel between Capone and Lingle when he took $30,000 or more from the gang czar and then failed to arrange for opening of a Capone dog track.

They called him "a little fellow drunk with power" — so drunk that he talked too much, too often of his gangland links and became a menace to his compatriots—who for that reason dispatched him.

There was another theory—that he might be a thorn in the side of the rival Moran gang, and met his death for that reason.

The state still clothes its story of the murder in utter secrecy. Only this was said the night Leo V. Brothers was arrested:

"This is the man who killed Lingle."

the measure. It was felt by those who are said to sponsor the bill that this promiscuous action would lessen the value of such a degree. Hence the action as proposed, which the committees on education of the legislature are to consider.

Officials Are Silent

Local school officials will not discuss the matter in the absence of the president of the school. However, it is known that the faculty and members of the board of trustees feel that the work of Texas Technological college would be greatly hampered by such limitations.

It is poined out that the local school is so far removed from other state colleges that it is virtually functioning as a university for West Texas. Four schools comprise the local institution; agriculture, engineering, home economics and college of liberal arts. Students are drawn from all sections of the state and although it only opened in the fall of 1925, Tech has become the third largest state school in Texas, in enrollment.

Enrollment for the term just closing is slightly over 2,235. Another enrollment begins March 23 and with a number of schools closing the enrollment is expected to be as large, if not larger than the total for the scholastic year 1929-30 when the total was 2,353.

For the 1929-30 year, when the enrollment was 2,353, the grand total including the summer school was 3,615 and including the extension department, there were 4,767 students connected with the college.

Bell Rings Out
Tolls For One Hour At Perryton

PERRYTON, March 13. (AP)—Tones of the old bell in the Methodist church are ringing in the ears of Perryton citizens today.

The bell tolled for one hour yesterday, and the man who pulling the bell cord was keeping a promise made 20 years ago.

T. J. Morgan, a pioneer, died Wednesday. Mr. Morgan 20 years ago, gave the bell to the Methodist church in the old town of Ochiltree, ten years before Perryton came into being and swallowed up the Ochiltree community. Th bell cost $500 and was worth almost as much as the frame church building.

When Mr. Morgan presented the gift, he asked W. W. "Bill" McLarty to ring it for one hour when the donor passed away. Mr. McLarty remembered the promise and the bell tolled with its donor's passing, but this time from a $50,000 brick structure.
