THIRD ANNUAL MUSIC FESTIVAL READY FOR OPENING IN LUBBOCK

BRITISH POLICY IN LEAGUE OF NATIONS ROW IS APPROVED BY PARLIAMENT

CHAMBERLAIN GETS O. K. ON CONDUCT AT GENEVA MEET

COMMONS VOTE 325 TO 136 AGAINST CENSURE

ATTACK DEFEATED

LLOYD GEORGE, RAMSEY MCDONALD ARE OVERWHELMED

LONDON, March 23.—Sir Austen Chamberlain, British foreign secretary, won a vote of confidence in the house of commons Tuesday night on his policy before the League of Nations at Geneva.

The vote in Chamberlain's favor was 325 against 136.

The galleries of the house of commons were packed while David Lloyd George, war time premier, assailed the recent record of Chamberlain. Excitement reigned while MacDonald, who headed the first British labor ministry, deplored the record of Chamberlain and the League of Nations at the recent League meeting.

It was the biggest airing of international politics the commons has heard in many months.

Premier Baldwin, in closing the debate, declared that the entire cabinet had confidence in Chamberlain.

"The opposition came here in deep mourning to attend the League funeral," said the premier. "It found that the league was in the finest shape under the care of the most skillful of doctors."

"Lloyd George, while premier did not visit Geneva. The recent meeting there was a temporary setback, but it was not a mortal blow to the league's progress. It may even strengthen the league which is a human institution unable to change human nature. Geneva's recent meeting was a manifestation of human nature displayed under auspicious circumstances."

The attack by Lloyd George was repelled to a great extent by Ramsey MacDonald. By indulging in personalities against Chamberlain he believed to have strengthened conservative support of the foreign secretary. The public and independent opposition newspapers all remain convinced that Chamberlain bungled his task at Geneva.

It held for a time, and the tracks of the Pennsylvania Railroad became flooded for the first time. Then a few minutes later the great pack gave way and the ice which had been four to ten feet thick in places during the siege of the gorge was racing out to a finish.

Away went the remaining pack at Indiana Bend two miles south, which had held in place during the afternoon after the ice of the Brandon gorge had swept out, leaving a three mile open stretch in the section where dynamites and thermite for three weeks had been at work.

Miss Mary Alyce Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Johnson, and Frank Jones were married Tuesday morning at the First Presbyterian church, the Rev. Jack M. Lewis performing the ring ceremony.

The altar of the church was filled with banks of flowers; palms, ferns, carnations, and calla lilies forming a background for the exquisite loveliness of the bride, who wore a three piece ensemble suit of charmeuse, the color of golden wheat, with a squirrel collar. Her hat was an imported model of peach color, blending beautifully with the blouse of metallic embroidery. She carried an arm bouquet of sweet heart roses and valley lilies entwined with fern and real orange-blossoms.

Miss Edith Carter very sweetly sang "Because" preceding the ceremony. Miss Kathryn Atkins accompanying at the piano, and Miss Mary Meador playing the violin. Miss Atkins played Lohengrin's wedding march as the bride entered on the arm of her father, meeting Mr. Jones and Mr. Lewis at the altar. During the ceremony Miss Atkins and Miss Meador softly played the "Venetian Love Song" with Mendelssohn's wedding march as a recessional.

Immediately after the wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Jones left for an automobile trip through north Texas, visiting in Fort Worth, Dallas and other cities. They will visit Mr. Jones' parents in Valley View before they return home about the third of April.

Home Dressmaking

By JEANNE HOLLAND
(Copyright 1925 by Fawcett Society, Inc.)

A Dress in Crepe and Taffeta

Very Smart for Spring Wear

To have the bodice of one fabric and the skirt of another, is the height of the mode—and this frock interprets the latest ideas of Paris.

One may not be limited to a choice of materials in the development of this frock, for nearly all of the smart materials this season go well together. The blouse is semi-fitted, but gains variety by being pointed at the front. Attached to it is a skirt with a circular flare at the lower edge.

Ladies' and Misses' Dress No. 205, cut in sizes 14 to 16 years and 24 to 42 inches bust, will be mailed, postpaid, upon receipt of 15 cents. Be sure to give correct number and size of pattern desired when ordering. Write name and address plainly. Send orders to Pattern Editor, this newspaper.

The jointure is effected by means of a cording made of the skirt material and the detail of which is given in the three diagrams. First, cut a bias strip and arrange it neatly over a cord of any desired size (Fig. 1). Fold the bias strip in the center and then stitch along the edge.

Next, prepare the bodkin as shown in Fig. 2 and sew the cord with needle and thread securely to the eye of the bodkin. This may also be done with a common safety pin in the absence of a bodkin. Run the pin through the cord, secure it, then close the pin and run through the stitched bias fold.

After the cord is made, it is sewed in the right side of the skirt, then to the waist. If desired, a stitch may be taken in the cord here and there to keep it from slipping.

Many of the season's most charming frocks are treated in this way, especially when they feature combinations of fabrics. The front of the frock is slashed at the neck and bound with folds of self-material. A round collar trims the neck. The long sleeves are gathered to narrow cuffs, bands or, if preferred, they may be shortened. Nearly all of the dresses designed for street wear this season, however, have long sleeves.

Property Owners in Breckenridge Call for More Concrete Streets

Breckenridge is one of the fastest growing little cities in Texas. This rapid growth brought her face to face with a difficult problem—that of providing paved streets that would stand the immense increase in swiftly moving automobiles and pounding motor trucks.

When the city's present paving program was launched in 1924, the city officials wanted to build paving that would reflect credit on their administration and give the property owners full value for every dollar spent. After careful investigation they chose portland cement concrete.

The initial concrete was for only 16,000 square yards but property owners were so well pleased with this pavement that additional contracts have been let totaling more than 60,000 square yards.

A well planned street paving program is a gilt-edged investment. A concrete street means continuous dividends—not perpetual expense.

All of the facts are in our free booklet on "Concrete Streets." Ask for your copy.

BIOLOGY STUDENTS LEAVE ON FIELD TRIP

Prof. R. H. Studhalter, head of the department of Biology and Claude Hope and E. W. Camp Jr., left early this morning for Central Texas on a field trip. They will go to San Antonio and Llano to collect material. They will camp out during the trip and spend all of their time collecting material for laboratory and demonstration. They will return to Lubbock the first of next week.

This is the first trip of this nature to be made by the Tech faculty and students. A larger trip will be made by the department during the spring term with more students going.

SPRING REGISTRATION TO-MORROW

Registration for the spring term will be held tomorrow in room 305 of the Administration building. No classes will be held tomorrow and the students will be allowed to register. Classes will start Friday, March 26.

All students now in school will register in room 305, third floor, east wing, Administration building. Please enter the building by the main stairway so as to enter room 305 from the west entrance.

After completion of schedules, students will pass out through the west entrance of room 305 and report to the business office for the payment of fees.

Students are earnestly requested to register between 8 and 11:30 in the morning, or from 1:30 to 5:30 in the afternoon.

A fee of $1.00 will be charged for students who do not register on Thursday, March 25th.

All new students will report first to the office of the Registrar.

ELECTION RESULTS

The election of the staffs of the publication ended yesterday. The votes were counted late yesterday afternoon. Over five hundred student ballots were counted. In the Torenador race, Montgomery and Forkner and McWilliams and Hayhurst will be in the run off which will be held next week. In the La Ventana race, the count was so close that the officials have decided to have a run off in this also. Additional ballots will be made and more campaigning will be done during the next few days.

Speeches will be made by all the candidates next Monday at the convocation in the Pavilion. Every student in school is urged to do his duty to his school and support the election. Over three hundred students failed to vote in the Primary, a very bad case of indifference. Get behind your candidate and help him win.

DR. HORN TO SPEAK TO TEACHERS IN NEW MEXICO

Dr. Horn will leave tomorrow night for El Paso, New Mexico, where he will address a meeting of a Teachers Institute. The institute will be in session two days. Dr. Horn will return to Lubbock the last of the week.

FULL-LENGTH MIRRORS TO KEEP SKIRTS LONG

DALLAS, Texas, March 23 (U-P)—Included in the plans for a new $150,000 dormitory at Southern Methodist University to replace three recently destroyed by fire is full-length mirrors for women.

"Put lots of mirrors in the new dormitories for women and make them full length, so the girls can see their skirts the right length—below their knees and not above," Mrs. S. J. Hag, dean of women, advised.

The new structures also will contain "small" parlors, where the coeds can entertain their dates with "a semblance of privacy," and fudge kitchens.

INSULL, UTILITIES MAGICIAN, WAVES PEN, AND HUGE POWER PLANT RISES FROM BARREN LAKE MICHIGAN DUNES

BY EARL J. JOHNSON

United News Staff Correspondent
CHICAGO, March 23.—A district that may soon embrace the greatest concentration of industry in the world is springing up along the shore of Lake Michigan south of Chicago.

The dream of Samuel Insull, modern genius of public utilities, already has converted what was once nothing but barren sand dunes into a vast center of energy that surpasses the great valley of the Ruhr in Germany.

And now with one stroke of his pen the utilities magnate has endorsed plans for the construction on lake shore just across the Indiana line of the largest steam operated power station ever built. It will have a capacity of 1,000,000 kilowatts or approximately 1,335,000 horse power. The initial cost will be $25,000,000 and the final cost $100,000,000.

The middle west has almost ceased to wonder at the accomplishment of Insull the little giant of electric utilities. Almost daily his company, the Mid-West Utilities Corporation, announces the acquisition of properties in figures too large for any save the barons of finance to comprehend.

Insull, a white haired little man with pink cheeks, a patron of the arts, and "angel" of the Chicago Civic Opera Company, holds the bulk of the electric utilities interests of New England, Indiana and Illinois and a large block of similar utilities in North Oklahoma. He controls the Chicago Elevated & Surface lines and the Commonwealth Edison Co., Chicago's largest distributor of electricity.

FIRST OF THE 1926 PRIMARIES HELD TODAY IN SOUTH DAKOTA WITH PRINCIPAL ISSUES LOCAL

PIERRE, S. D., Mar. 23. (U-P.)—The voters of South Dakota, went to the polls today to select candidates for state and congressional posts at the general election in November.

It is the first of the country's spring primary elections and terminates the lengthy and intricate process of selecting party candidates under the Richards primary law, probably the world's most involved electoral system. It also brings to an end one of the most bitter campaigns in South Dakota history.

The contest between Senator Peter Norbeck, Redfield, and George W. Danforth, Sioux Falls, for the seat in the United States Senate now occupied by Norbeck has forced other phases of the voting into the background.

The trial and conviction of A. W. Ewert, treasurer of the State Rural Credits' board during Norbeck's gubernatorial administration, for embezzlement of $211,000 in public funds, provided most of the campaign material.

Danforth stumped the state charging Norbeck with culpability for his appointee's misconduct. He told the electorate Norbeck left behind him in South Dakota following his state administration "a trail of wrecked banks, deficits and shortages in state funds."

Norbeck protested innocence of Ewert's conduct of credits board finances. He reminded voters that Danforth as a member of the state legislature was chairman of an investigating committee that probed affairs of the board and found them in good order. This, Norbeck said, made his opponent as much to blame as he.

The all-importance of the credits board issue has destroyed much of the significance today's vote might have had as an indication of the national trend. With Norbeck a senatorial insurgent and Danforth an avowed Coolidge Republican the outcome might have been accepted as a test of Coolidge strength in the agricultural northwest but for eclipse of national issues by state politics.

Secondary contests in the primary are the Democratic and Republican gubernatorial races. Three parties will have tickets in the field at the general election—Republican, Democrat and Farmer-Labor—but only two are holding primaries since no third party candidate is opposed. The fight between Governor Carl Gunderson and Clarence B. Coyne, present secretary of state, to win the Republican nomination for governor is somewhat related to the senatorial race. Gunderson ousted Ewert from office and demanded an accounting of Rural Credits board funds.

The principal issues, however, are Gunderson's policy of consolidating state departments and acceptance of defunct state bank liabilities by the state. More than 200 banks failed in South Dakota in the four years ending with 1925. A bank guaranty act is on the statute books but wholesale failures left the guaranty fund some $45,000,000 in arrears.

There is no means of paying depositors caught in the crash except acceptance by the state of its "moral obligation" to make good the losses not covered by assets from liquidation of the banks. Coyne has come out for state assumption of the debts. Gunderson also has such a plank in his platform but was less insistent in his campaign.

R. O. Richards, father of the primary law now in force, formerly a Republican, is the minority candidate opposing W. J. Bulow for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination. The contest has attracted little notice.

DISPENSARY FOR UNITED STATES

The dispensary system of handling the liquor traffic was tried by the State of South Carolina some years ago. It was a great improvement over the saloon system but it was finally destroyed by the growing sentiment for prohibition and the corruption exposed within the system. The idea, however, is not dead, but is used now in Canada and the proposal is made by a United States Senator that Uncle Sam go into the business himself. Senator Bruce, of Maryland, wants an amendment to the Eighteenth Amendment, to which he is opposed but which he admits has some benefits for the people of the country. His proposal is to give Congress power to regulate intoxicating beverages but not to prohibit, these regulations, however, subject to the laws of each State on the question. In other words, local option by states on the prohibition question with the Federal Government regulating the liquor traffic in accordance with State desires. Uncle Sam would then manufacture liquor himself and only sell it in States whose laws permitted the same. Senator Bruce believes that such a law would have public support and be enforced but to this conclusion many cannot agree. If the enforcement of the present prohibition law is difficult, it would be practically impossible to have dry states if other states were permitted to be wet. Senator Borah probably voices the sentiments of the great majority of Americans when he said "I don't want to see Uncle Sam go into the manufacture of liquor."

We do not believe that such a law would be advisable in the United States. We think when the government made that mighty sweep of the arm and swept legalized whiskey traffic off the statute books, that it was one of the greatest pieces of legislation that congress will ever do if they should stand for ever. Now the thing is for them to stand pat, and keep the law in effect as it now stands, or make it more drastic. The government is in the liquor business too much now. The legalized drugstore prescription act is an example of the way the government would likely carry on their dispensaries, and so far as we can see the United States is getting along better and the statistics will bear out this statement, since the saloons were closed than before. We admit that there are conditions that exist that make it hard for the laws to be enforced, but there is not a law on the statute books that is not violated or not enforced as they should be, but still we are not after repealing the law, or modifying it. The prohibition law in the United States is all right, and can be enforced if the people will give the officers proper support.

LATE COMERS

The local room on this newspaper was thrown into a turmoil a few days ago by the advertising manager. If some of the advertisers of this newspaper could have seen him at this particular time, they would make it a point never to permit its happening. It was nearing press time, the number of pages for the particular issue had been decided upon, but some of the advertisers who were preparing their own ad copy had not yet sent in. And if you folks don't understand what this means, well it is liable to wreck the whole works. It means a terrible rush for everyone from the front office right on through to the last helper on the paper. Things are liable to be balled up and errors made in the ads which would not otherwise be the case if copy is handed in at the proper time. Some folks get the idea that when he is told that the paper goes to press at a certain hour, he has until that time to get in his copy. It never occurs to him that the copy has to be edited, and then put into type, a proof made and read, then corrected before it goes to the form. And then the make-up man has to get the forms in shape for the press. And so the advertising man, who is a sort of methodical cuss, would just like to have the advertisers be a little more considerate of him and the other fellows on the paper in the future, by having ad copy ready early in the day. By so doing the advertiser gets a better display in the set up of his ad, the whole machinery of the office works in unison and everybody is happy.

EASTER STRUTTING TIME

With the official closing of winter, merchants here report a steady pick-up in business. With the opening of spring, the spring buying has already commenced. While the most of the buying has been among the women, there has also been some purchasing of spring attire by the men folks of this community. All this is preparatory to the Easter season. The Easter parade is staged here every year on Easter Sunday just the same as in

New York. About the only difference in the local parade and that in Gotham is in point of numbers. There is always plenty of feminine finery to be seen here on this occasion, and when it comes to dressing up, the men folks are not far behind the fair sex. They like to doll up too and strut themselves. All of the late creations both as to headgear and gowns will be on display in this big fashion show. The ready-to-wear shops are daily making sales and new creations are arriving by every train. And in the dress goods departments the sales have picked up equally well. The men folks are also making selections of neckwear, socks and spring suits. Within a few weeks the spring trading will be in full swing and the indications are that the local merchants are going to enjoy a pretty good business this season.

NEW MEASURES.

Variety in production produces waste. In his recent book, entitled "The Tragedy of Waste," Stuart Chase pointed out this fact and demonstrated it conclusively. Standardization would result in much savings to consumers and manufacturers.

Nuts and bolts are not considered by many folks as having any definite relation to national defense but during the World War great difficulty was found in assembling munition and supplies because nuts and bolts would not fit. Several years ago at the Baltimore fire engines sent from Washington could not be used because their hose would not screw on the threads of the Baltimore hydrants. So because of this need there was created a National Screw Thread Commission which has been seeking the standardization of the number of threads per inch, etc., so that a bolt bought in one place will fit a nut of the same kind bought anywhere else. Similar work in all industries would result in vast savings to America.

The quart is marked for final discard by the same inexorable law of economy, as are also other measurements now used considerably, such as the yard, and the pound. These weights and measures are based arbitrarily upon English standards and Britain and America are practically the only nations still using them.

The liter is the metric unit, designated by some editors recently as the "world quart" which is now used by many countries as the standard measurement of capacity. The Meter is a unit of length in the metric system and is supposed to be the one-tenth millionth part of the distance from the equator to the pole, a little more than thirty-nine and one-third inches. A decimeter is one tenth of a meter or not quite four inches and the liter is the capacity of the cube whose edge is one-tenth of a meter. The greatest advantage of the metric system lies in the fact that it is entirely a decimal system, enabling calculations to be made easier and simpler.

The metric system has been legal in this country since 1866 and is used entirely in some trades and sciences. Probably the strongest argument for its adoption, however, is that educational authorities estimate that it would save eight hundred million dollars per year by simplifying the process of educating children.

FRANCE'S FINANCIAL FLIGHT.

French finances are in a terrible fix due to two causes mainly. In the first place, war expenses were not taken care of to any appreciable degree by increased taxation during the fighting but by increased indebtedness which defeated Germany was to pay. The Germans financed the war the same way. Then, in the second place, since the end of the war, the government has lacked courage sufficient to levy enough taxes to cover annual expenditures, so the debt grew larger every year. In vain responsible statement directed the attention of the deputies to the absolute and imperative need of balancing the budget, but inevitably the deputies looked towards forced payments from Germany and the cancellation of debts due by France to Britain and America as the way to relief. Neither of these avenues has led to the help expected, and each year millions of francs were added to the national debts. There had to be an end sometime but even yet it hasn't arrived.

A terrible shock will be needed before France sets its house in order. If this does not come, progressive repudiation of debts, largely through inflation, will take place and then a new French currency will replace the old, just as the reichmark has replaced the old mark in Germany. The process will be painful either way.

GEN BUTLER AGAIN.

Brig. Gen. Smedley D. Butler, former head of the Philadelphia Police Department, and now in command of the Marine Corps base at San Diego, Cal., got into the headlines again by preferring charges against a colonel, whose guest he had been at a social function, accusing the officer of being intoxicated. Discussion of the propriety of the action taken by Gen. Butler is general in military and naval circles, where, according to common report, the eighteenth amendment is not liked, and where something to drink is not hard to obtain. Some criticize Gen. Butler for turning up a host; others question the ethics of proffering booze without "knowing" the guests. It is admitted that Gen. Butler's action will not prove popular in army and naval social circles.

SO THINK WE

We think that from all indications Germany will not even get a try out in the big League this season.

We think that love makes the world go round as well as turning some people's heads.

We think we have heard about the meek inheriting the earth. We imagine that it is well that they will inherit it, for we doubt if they would stand much chance to get it any other way.

We think that the dread of the penitentiary in Texas has been greatly removed from criminals in Texas, since it seems so easy to get away from the guards or through other channels.

We think that the wets possibly believe that the straw that will break the camel's back will be the "straw" in the vote.

We think the United States possibly will find that bootlegging is one of the most profitable industries. This will likely be revealed when the "honest Bootleggers" begin coming in and paying their excess profits.

We think that cupid must have been using some poison arrows from the number of divorces that are being asked for in the United States.

We think when you cannot understand the traffic cop's signals, possibly the safest thing to do is to stop.

We think that possibly there will be a market for blue sky someday. It is not at all improbable that we will have to secure parking places for our airplane some of these days.

We think if you want to become notorious you should bid on Muscle Shoals. The mere bid on this property has been worth millions to Henry Ford.

We think there is one thing about it, since the telephone industry has just recently celebrated its Fiftieth Anniversary that it has not been longer than that that Central has been giving people the wrong number.

We think the people who were shocked and stood aghast at a statement in the Avalanche made by a representative of the health department of this city, might get several other shocks along this line if they really knew what all was going on.

We think that the Baltimore lady who helped to beat her five-year-old son to death, and

Study Serum to Cure Snake Bite

WASHINGTON, Mar. 23.—A new anti-snake bite serum for saving the lives of persons attacked by poisonous reptiles is now being studied by physicians and scientists in the United States.

The serum was brought to America by Dr. Waldo L. Schmitt, research expert of the Smithsonian Institution. Dr. Schmitt recently visited Brazil and inspected the serum plant operated by Dr. Vinil Brasil, at Sao Paulo.

"Should the serum made from the venom of certain South American snakes be found effective against bites of similar North American snakes the serum will doubtless be imported commercially into this country and be made available generally to physicians," Dr. Schmitt said.

Dr. Schmitt said that about 4,800 persons are killed and 20,000 incapacitated annually in Brazil by snake bites, representing an economic loss of $80,000,000 annually.

"The institute has received in the past ten years more than 55,000 snakes. When any one catches a particularly poisonous snake, he usually boxes it and turns it over to the nearest post office or railroad station agent, and it is forwarded to the institution free of charge."

"For each snake so sent the sender is remitted a tube of serum, as his reward. As a result it is but seldom that a person is not within reach of this reassuring protection in Brazil."

Dr. Schmitt explained that the venom from which the serum is to be made is injected into horses in small doses and then gradually increased. The horses develop resistance to the poison and after this stage is reached some of the blood is drawn off and from this the serum prepared.

The horses actually thrive on their poison treatment and gain weight," he said.

POPULAR TEXTURE AND TONE EFFECTS SIMPLE TO OBTAIN

(Article 6 in a series of Spring remodeling suggestions.)

How many housewives face house cleaning season with the wish "If only I could think of some new way to renovate these old walls! Various paints, papers and fabrics may have been used, one after another, so that something novel but not too expensive is wanted.

Today, the tendency in wall-treatment is toward stippled, palm-finished, texture-and-glazed, anti-queued and other rough-surfaced effects for walls and ceilings. These can be produced with sand-floated or lime-putty-finished gypsum plaster. But what is wanted is a material that will give these effects without re-plastering, over old walls, that washable and possible for the housewife herself, or her husband, to apply.

There are several materials available which meet these specifications. They are paints which come as dry white powders which, when mixed with water, become plastic. Then dry pigment or oil paint of any desired hue or shade or tint is stirred in, and the material is brushed onto the wall.

But, while flat wall paints and calcimines are liquid, these materials have body. So, before they dry, they stippling brush, or given a scroll texture with the finger-tips, or a palm finish can be produced with the palm of the hand, or the material can be manipulated with brush, putty-knife or even the heel of a kitchen spoon to produce any distinctive texture that may be wanted.

If one of these plastic paints is to be applied over new plaster or wallboard, it is best to size the surface first with a good grade of varnish size. If it is to be put onto old papered walls, the paper should be removed first; cracks should be patched; and the sizzling brushed onto the walls when they are dry.

Where it is desired to make the walls washable, a final coat of size should be added on the outside of the decorated surface. Then soap and water will not affect either the texture or the color of the plastic decoration.

The variety of texture-tone combinations possible with such materials is limited only by the imagination and skill of the decorator. They also lend themselves to "two-toning," glazing and similar rich effects.

Madrid.—A great outdoor throng heard eulogies of Comde Franco before the statue of Columbus. All diplomats from South America attended and bands played their national anthems, while the crowds cheered.

Young people, in these days, often look with disdain upon the manners and ideas of the older folks. To brand a thing as "old-fashioned" is to them sufficient reason for discarding it, and to have to follow an out-of-date custom is to them a cause for serious regret.

Rarely is anyone justified in being ashamed of his parents. Although their dispositions may not be agreeable, and they may do unwise or unjust things, yet they are our parents, and we should honor them. It is only narrow minds and selfish hearts that have no toleration for the hobbies and pet ideas of others. So let us remember that some day we shall be aged, we live long enough, and very likely shall be found clinging to our habits of today quite stubbornly, and we shall be deeply hurt if sneers or laughter meet our remarks and movements.

Nevertheless, perhaps there is some reason for the attitude of youth toward age. It may be that older persons hold too fondly to the long-ago, especially to its faults, and are too continually reminding the young of the "way we used to do."

Mary was a wise young girl who saw that soon she would be moving in a circle of acquaintances in which her mother would be regarded as a "back number," because of her antiquated fashion of dress. This

It is only narrow minds and selfish hearts that have no toleration for the hobbies and pet ideas of others. So let us remember that some day we shall be aged, we live long enough, and very likely shall be found clinging to our habits of today quite stubbornly, and we shall be deeply hurt if sneers or laughter meet our remarks and movements.

Nevertheless, perhaps there is some reason for the attitude of youth toward age. It may be that older persons hold too fondly to the long-ago, especially to its faults, and are too continually reminding the young of the "way we used to do."

Mary was a wise young girl who saw that soon she would be moving in a circle of acquaintances in which her mother would be regarded as a "back number," because of her antiquated fashion of dress. This is a great outdoor throng heard eulogies of Comde Franco before the statue of Columbus. All diplomats from South America attended and bands played their national anthems, while the crowds cheered.

Young people, in these days, often look with disdain upon the manners and ideas of the older folks. To brand a thing as "old-fashioned" is to them sufficient reason for discarding it, and to have to follow an out-of-date custom is to them a cause for serious regret.

Rarely is anyone justified in being ashamed of his parents. Although their dispositions may not be agreeable, and they may do unwise or unjust things, yet they are our parents, and we should honor them. ENGLAND STARTS ITS SUMMER SPORTS SEASON

BY CHARLES MCCANN
United News Staff Correspondent
LONDON, March 23.—England began its new year Monday with the opening of the season of summer sports for which Englishmen seem to live and by which most of them reckon the passage of time.

Three famous sporting events are crowded into the first week's calendar—the Lincolnshire handicap, the first flat horse race, the Grand National, greatest race of the year, the Oxford and Cambridge eight oared shell race.

The official opening was Monday with the inauguration at Lincoln of the flat racing season. All Englishmen, famous and obscure, rich and poor, who could raise the money and spare the time for the trip went there, and they will be joined by others Wednesday for the Lincolnshire. From Lincoln, the pilgrimage is to Liverpool, where the grand national will be run on Friday over the Aintree course—the most difficult in the world.

Saturday is London's day, when most of the attendants at the Lincoln and Liverpool events will join perhaps one million Londoners in lining the banks of the historic Thames between Putney and Lortlake, on the outskirts of the city, to watch the crews of the two great universities row their seventy eight race along the tricky, winding, choppy watered course of 4 1/4 miles.

Little will depend on the weather for the success of the inaugural week. People subjected to English weather either become toughened to it or die, and whatever is offered for this week—rain, snow, fog or gale—is unlikely either to keep down the size of the crowds or to spoil the general enjoyment.

Muny Golf Tilts Commence Today

The local municipal golf links has been re-worked since Saturday's rain and the keeper reports that the greens will be in the pink of condition for the Qualifying Tournament which will open today at the municipal links. No particular time has been set for the matches since each pair of players in today's flight are to arrange the time for their play to suit their convenience. Each pair is to play eighteen holes, score to be counted by strokes only. No boundaries have been made for today's drives into the water he shall count a stroke and drive again from the same spot. A player may improve his lie whether in a fairway or in the rough but the improvement must be behind his original lie at a distance not greater than the length of the club to be used in making the following stroke.

Wednesday's pairings have been completed and are as follows: Germainy and Slaughter; Smith and McWhorter; Duggan and Carter; Stewart and Joyce; Adcock and Stubbs; Wilson and Jarrott; Bowen and McLarty; Higginbotham and Wells.

In case the score of any pair is tied for the eight holes an additional nine holes shall be played to decide the tie.

All players are requested to register their score at the register box on the grounds immediately following the completion of their play and also to register at Bowen's drug store. Pairings for Thursday's flight will be announced in the Avalanche Thursday morning.

Board of City Development Behind Hubbers

The board of city development yesterday morning unanimously voted to support of the Hubbers for the baseball season this year. In getting the approval of the chamber of commerce in receiving their support in raising funds enough to carry on a ball club in Lubbock successful a good step has been made, is the opinion of Sled Allen.

In commenting of the success of the Denver Tournay last fall made by the Hubbers, Jed Rix, member of the directors of the chamber of commerce, stated to the board that it was the best piece of advertisement ever staged for Lubbock and moved that the body get behind Skipper and the Hubbers in their campaign for a fund to handle the play.

On Friday evening April 2nd a meeting will be held at the City Hall for the purpose of organizing a club for the support of the Hubbers. It is hoped by these greatly interested in the Hubbers and their success that a great crowd will turn out for this meeting.

High School To Play Town Club Today

This afternoon at the McCall park beginning at 4:15 the Lubbock high school Westerners will battle a town club consisting mostly of the Hubbers to a nine inning duel. The high school aggregation for the past few weeks has been training under the able supervision of Skipper Allen of the Hubbers and is presenting some real baseball shows.

The town club will consist of several former Hubbers together with the boys that will try for a position on the Hubber nine this spring among them are: "Emmer," Gober, "Sheet" Ratliff, Alex Hensley, Shepard, Gib Jackson, Connelly, "Barney" Blackman, Peck, and others. The line-up for the probable start are:

Ater, Adkisson, Smith, Payne,

"Have a Camel"

These words are first call to the world's finest smoke

THE choicest tobaccos grown are bought for Camel cigarettes. Millions of dollars are spent every year to insure their uniform quality.

No money is spared in the making of Camels. The tobacco is cured carefully and aged long. The exclusive Camel blend of fine Turkish and Domestic tobaccos is the work of experts. The paper in which Camels are rolled is specially made in France to obtain the best. Nothing is too good or too expensive that will make Camels a better smoke. But not a cent is spent to doll up Camel cigarettes. No fancy tips or gay and wasteful wrappings. We believe that the smokers of America want smoking quality without frills.

Camels simply will not tire your taste or leave a cigarettey after-taste, no matter how liberally you smoke them!

"Have a Camel!" is the password to the quality cigarette, with all the quality in the tobacco.

KANGAROO JAZZ IS HEARD AT TECH

Fast and close harmony combined last night at the Tech Pavilion as 20 musical students from Austin College at Sherman strutted their stuff before a good crowd, whose attendance fees will help to buy sweaters for the Tech band.

In addition to a program of songs and special numbers, a seven piece jazz orchestra gave selections. The Kangaroo Glee Club arrived here yesterday morning, and were met by Garnett Reeves and other former students of the Sherman school, and last night prior to the concert were guests of the Lubbock Kangaroo ex-students at a banquet in the Tech Cafeteria. Here the famous seven piece jazz orchestra limbered up its joints with a little free exhibition before the regular concert at the Pavilion later.

The band goes from here to Plainview, and from there to Colorado, Abilene, and Mineral Wells, to broadcast over WFAA in Dallas Saturday.

At Sioux Falls, Governor Carl Gunderson, the other republican candidate has a comfortable margin.

E. L. LAW IN RACE FOR COMMISSIONER

For the People of the City of Lubbock.

My friends have induced me to run for the place of water, light and sewer commissioner on the City Commission of our city; and since I have decided to accept the place if the citizenship should elect me, I desire to present a few matters in the way of qualification and preparedness for the job. It is not necessary to state that the place is a very important one, and affecting in some manner every citizen of Lubbock. As some of the old timers know, I have lived here for 19 years, and in business and in every relation affecting my connection with the people of Lubbock I have done my best to merit their consideration and friendship.

During these 19 years my work has been in a line that would especially qualify me to take good care of the duties of the position of water commissioner. In addition thereto I have at all times been deeply interested in every phase of the development of our city, and feel that I am well qualified to join the other members of the city commission in the management of all the affairs of the city.

I will deeply appreciate the support of the citizenship of my town, and permit me, if elected, to render the best service to them that lies in my power.

Expert Conducts Demonstration On Oldsmobile

E. E. Enders, of the Dallas Branch of the Olds Motor Works, Monday rode "bareback" as it were, into Lubbock and spent two days telling friends of the Elliott Oldsmobile Company here of the merits of his mount, which was nothing more nor less than an "Oldsmobile with the saddle off." In the parlance of an old timer who took special interest in the car in which Enders is making a visit to all Olds dealers throughout the territory served by the Dallas Branch.

Minus all of the body save enough of the body foundation that was anchored securely to the rugged constructed frame, the Oldsmobile in which Enders is making his pilgrimage to tell large crowds of the thousand dollar product of General Motors, can be inspected from radiator to tail light with ease, and being familiar with every detail of its construction the lectures which Mr. Enders is enabled to make are of such interest that yesterday police were compelled to disperse crowds that surrounded the car on a busy street, and F. W. Elliott of the Elliott Oldsmobile Company paid a traffic violation fine in order to smooth out the situation. When the car was moved to another section of the city interest was still high, and it was found necessary to move it several times to prevent repeated congestion of traffic. Mr. Enders remained in Lubbock last night and will spend most of today here working with Elliott Oldsmobile Company salesmen in introducing the many features of the car to Lubbock and south plains people.

F. W. Elliott, owner and manager of the Elliott Oldsmobile Company stated that he is glad for the people of this community to become better acquainted with the improvement made on the drive shaft in the building of the harmonic balancer, which insures smooth and even running of the motor at all speeds without vibration.

Industrial Week To Be Observed In Lockney

LOCKNEY, Mar. 23.—The first day of "What Texas Makes, Makes Texas," week was observed here Monday when the Lockney Chamber of Commerce at its weekly luncheon was served an all Texas dinner, every eatable was a Texas product. Texas meat, vegetables and many other products were on the menu.

A. B. Brown, was toastmaster, and presided in an admirable manner. J. B. Stribling of Austin was among the visitors and told of the many virtues of Texas and especially the South Plains. The recent report of Examiner Boles of the Interstate Commerce Commission regarding the extension and building of new lines of railway to the South Plains was discussed. The feature of the meeting was a declamation by Winfred Cooper, local school boy, "I Love to Live in Dixie."

E. S. Shoaf, Secretary of the Lockney Chamber states, "Lockney is behind all progressive movements that are for the advancement of our great state, and Texas made products should be used by Texas people first, and their use should be advocated in other states."

Manager Employed For Hotel Being Erected Here

The Lubbock Hotel Operating Company yesterday employed W. E. LaFon and wife, of Taylor, Texas, to manage the six story hotel for the company that is under construction at the corner of Broadway and Avenue K.

Mr. and Mrs. LaFon are now in charge of the largest hotel at Taylor, and have been engaged in that business for years.

The new hotel here will be open in time to take care of the convention of Commercial Secretaries July 15th, though it is hardly probable that all of the building will be completed by that time.

Policy Writers Seek Biggest Months Work

This morning B. J. Hermes and F. E. Mangrum, representing the Texas Life Insurance Company through the K. L. Riggs agency, will begin work on their policy sales campaign which is to continue for a month during which time they plan to sell a greater number of policies in the Texas Company than have ever been delivered in this section during a single season.

The Texas Life Insurance Company has offices at Lubbock, Dallas, Houston, and San Antonio, and while the Dallas office leads the field during January and February with a majority of $132,000 in business, the Lubbock office leads the Houston office with a majority of $150,000 and the San Antonio office with a majority of $200,000 in business that period, and is now in the field to lead the entire organization during this period.

Messrs. Hermes and Mangrum are well prepared to take care of the big campaign, they will launch this morning, and they intend to give every man, woman and child in Lubbock an opportunity to be insured before the campaign closes.

Feature Policies
Two splendid policies are being featured—protection for the business and for the family—and these features will be explained in detail by the salesmen who are out to put the campaign over in big style.

They believe the commercial interests of Lubbock should receive some such protection as they are enabled to provide and look to the features of their commercial policy as big enough to throw a mantle of protection over any business firm here that will insure its future stability and afford tremendous returns to the insured in terms of satisfaction.

Prizes Offered

Boys and girls of this territory who have reached the age of fifteen years may enter an essay writing contest, in which three splendid prizes are offered. The theme is to be written on insurance, a subject that is easily handled and on which some good work is expected.

WANT TAX FREE GAS FOR CITY AND COUNTY

DALLAS, March 22.—The suggested increase of tax on gasoline to three cents by the thirteenth district commissioners at Wichita Falls in February has caused an active movement among Texas cities to have the tax removed.

According to M. M. Murray, purchasing agent for the city of Dallas, gasoline consumed by the government motor vehicles should be free from all tax, and that the oversight in this legislation creates a "tax on tax." If an exemption can not be obtained Representative George C. Puri has announced he will ask a special legislature ruling exempting city and county governments from this tax.

Since this movement was started three weeks ago, Murray has received many communications from city officials and purchasing agents all over the state pledging their support and endorsing the action of the city of Dallas.

New Librarian Likes Her Place

At the close of her first week in Lubbock, Miss Frances Hoyt, Lubbock county librarian, yesterday stated that she is highly pleased with the patronage accorded the library and with her work with the people of this county.

Miss Hoyt, however, plans for further extension of the library and is awaiting time when she will be better acquainted with the situation in Lubbock county and will have a better working knowledge of the demands that are placed upon that institution.

Fortunately, Miss Hoyt is supplied with valuable information about the development of a county library, and will this week visit the Library units at Slaton, Dalou and Shallowater, and will know more about the needs of those units. Librarians at each of those units will be interviewed and Miss Hoyt hopes to receive their hearty co-operation in the development of the library as a whole.

The librarian is fortunate in having the wholehearted support of the entire citizenship.

To-day, Starts The Big Campaign Get On The Firing Line

Wives, ask your husbands the following Questions:

- What part of your present income would continue to me if you were to die this year?
- Would this present income take care of me and the children?
- Have you enough estate to defray death expenses?
- Have you an insurance income that would relieve me of investing money in things I know nothing about?
- Have you the lives of the children insured with endowment insurance to enable them to get a good education?
- If you can't afford to pay for insurance could I afford to be without this protection?
- You never leave home without leaving money to defray household expenses, I am asking how it would be if you never returned?
- Do you blame me for asking you these questions?

Put Lubbock over the top! If you have a family or a Mother you love! We have the idea of appreciation. Look for us.

NEW YORK FINANCE
BY E. WALTER MOCKLER
Financial Editor United News

NEW YORK, March 23—Monday's rally looked excellent but Tuesday's decline looked discouraging. This feast-or-famine aspect is common to trading markets and more or less definitely establishes the identity of the present status of the market. But moderate demand was required to send prices upward on Monday as shorts were weary in many issues and reversed the position on the first signs of technical comeback.

Tuesday morning it was found that nothing new had occurred to bolster the rally and bears returned to the attack with renewed confidence and such technical gains as the elimination of part of the short interest and re-establishment of an uncertain long interest allowed.

The impairment of the clearing house reserves noted over the week end, called for some adjustment and this was done Tuesday through considerable calling of loans. The immediate effects, however, were found in the stock market rather than in the call loan market. Traders who remained decidedly bearish, despite the moderate rallies renewed presure against the list. For a time it appeared likely that Monday's rally might carry further, but this hope was blasted when several of the merchandise stocks as well as specialties came in under the star.

Woolworth, which held consistently above 200 around the peak of the bull market has now dropped to a low of around 162 and at the close Tuesday was down two points more than 3 points for the day. General Electric failed to hold its previous day's firmness and closed down 8 points. Toward the end Famous Players broke 3-1-E points eliminating any hope of a closing recovery.

In the background of the selling of the merchandise stock were reports of curtailment of business as a result of the unseasonable weather in many parts of the country.
The real answer, however, might better be looked for in the ashes of the last upward movement. At that time the retail distributors mail order stock and general merchandisers were going forward at a rate which implied unlimited purchasing power on the part of the general public.

Strong sales by the mail order group reflecting the betterment in "Tartan" conditions generally, was accepted as proof positive that such a rate was to continue indefinitely. For instance Weber & Heilbronner broke sharply on the 1925 report. This showed net of the rate of 6.31 per share for the fiscal year ended February 28. During the previous like period the company earned $6.44 per share. During the period when Weber & Heilbron-ner was earning this net, the issue was taken in hand aggressively by pool operators and was moved up to 100. It is now about 59.

Foreign exchanges were erratic, the Belgian franc losing all of Monday's recovery. French francs were also easier, losing 1-3-4 points while the Scandinavians weakened materially. Norwegian kroner were down 22 points while the Danish rate lost 4 points. The major recovery in these two rates has been complicated by the fact that the Danish financial authorities are in favor of return to gold parity which is 26.8 cents per kroner. Then rate is now at 26.32.
On the other hand Norwegian authorities find that Oslo has little to gain through a return to the gold standard at this time and that the resulting economic confusion may well be housed and there fore is embating the efforts of speculators to move the rate higher.
Norwegian kroner are quoted at 21.35.

est loss being hammered down 9

TEAPOT DOME CASES GRANTED NEW HEARING

By United News
WASHINGTON, March 23.—A twin victory was won here Monday by defendants in the government oil suits which grew out of the sensational oil investigations two years ago.

The supreme court granted E. L. Doheny, the oil magnate, a review of the decision of the federal court at Los Angeles which cancelled his lease of the Elk Hills naval oil reserve in California, one of the two leases granted by former Secretary of the Interior Fall, which was investigated.

The oil cases are thus brought directly before the highest court in the land for the first time. The Doheny suit is a civil suit. Shortly after the decision the District of Columbia court of appeals, which sits a few blocks away allowed both Doheny and Harry F. Sinclair, who secured Teapot Dome naval reserve as well as Fall, an appeal from the District of Columbia supreme court's decision upholding the conspiracy indictments against the three connected with the naval oil reserve leases. There are two separate suits exactly similar, both involving Fall. They are criminal suits.

U. S. OIL MEN TO TAKE KICKS TO CALLES SOON

By United News
MEXICO CITY, March 23.—The fight of the American oil companies against the new Mexican law will be taken to President Calles shortly. Representatives of the Standard Oil Company and other American oil firms, here to protect alleged retroactive and confiscatory clauses of the new laws apparently have failed thus far to soften the laws. The American representatives are working to change the laws as far as they apply to rights acquired prior to 1917. They concede that they must obey the clauses regarding rights acquired after that date.

MAY EXCLUDE CHINESE AND JAPS FROM CANADA

By United News
OTTAWA, Can., March 23.—Legislation to exclude Chinese and Japanese immigrants from Canada will be introduced at the present session of parliament by H. J. Barber, Pacific coast leader of the opposition to the present regime. Barber announced Tuesday that the opposition will endeavor to have an exclusion act passed on the ground that the rapid increase of Orientals in western Canada is becoming a menace to white labor.

'Hop to it' Says Star To Investigators of Taylor Murder

By United News
HOLLYWOOD, March 23.—The happiest thing that could come in to the troubled life of Mabel Norman, rejuvenated screen comedienne, would be to have someone really reopen the William Desmond Taylor murder case.

The actress who is working in the film comedy, forgot to act like a comedienne when she was told that District Attorney Asa Keyes of Los Angeles, now in Detroit, intended calling her as a witness in a new investigation into the murder of the famous director.

"What again?" was her characteristic and explosive remark. Her lips framed the expressive words "ample sauce" but she preferred not to be quoted that way.

The trouble with Mabel's life right now is that there are too many rumblings of a Taylor case re-opening and no action. Mabel is nervous so she says and the fright might turn her hair white, thus making her a screen freak rather than an actress.

"For possibly the hundredth time this year," Mabel declared (she was exaggerating a little, of course) I wish to tell Mr. Keyes that nothing in the world would please me more than to tell him all I know of the case.

"But," continued Mabel, Mr. Keyes must do something more than talk, he must carry out his promises—or are they threats—to question me again.

"My life has been miserable for the last two years. Now won't some kind nice investigating officer please ask me again what I know about the Taylor murder?"

Mabel is a natural comedienne and generally looks on the bright side of things, but she does not consider this business of case re-opening seriously.

Sacramento, California.—Ronald Amundsen expresses the view that the North Pole will never be reached in a plane. "I learned a lesson on my last voyage," said the famous explorer, explaining that to land on ice floes means "certain death or ultimate destruction."

Discoverer of Famous Remedy Wins Fortune

Years of Research Work Brings Fortune to Dallas Man.

G. M. GORDON
To be rewarded, after many years of study, with that which he sought and to receive for it a fortune in the sum of $80,000, was the lot of G. M. Gordon, well-known pharmacist of Dallas, Texas, discoverer of Gordon's Antiseptic for the stomach and bowels—a medicine said by many to have almost miraculous powers of bringing relief to sufferers from stomach or bowel troubles.

To find a medicine which would combine the necessary antiseptic and digestive effects, so essential to the successful treatment of ailments emanating from the stomach, was the task to which Mr. Gordon set himself many years ago. The effort was a long and at times a discouraging one, but in the end he won—found exactly what he had hoped to find—Gordon's Antiseptic.

Nineteen out of twenty people have indigestion or some sort of stomach distress after eating caused by fermentation (souring of food matter), which can only be stopped with an antiseptic.

Gordon's Antiseptic goes right to the seat of stomach troubles, as it exercises a distinctly antiseptic as well as a digestive effect in the stomach and bowels. It stops and prevents fermentation, soothes and heals the irritated and inflamed condition of the stomach and bowels. Relieves indigestion, constipation, gas on the stomach, dyspepsia, heartburn, bloating after meals, excess acid, bad breath, sick headache, nervousness, tones up the digestive organs and stimulates the stomach and bowels to their normal functions.

Gordon's Antiseptic is sold by good druggists, $1.50 for sixty-four doses—less than 3c a dose—or sent parcel post prepaid on receipt of price to the G. M. Gordon Drug Company, Dallas, Texas.

BEST U. S. EMPLOYEES GO TO PRIVATE FIRMS FOR HIGHER SALARIES

WASHINGTON, March 23.—(U. P.)—Uncle Sam is having great difficulty in keeping private business from obtaining his efficient and experienced employees.

Almost every day some expert is taken from the government service by a private business firm which gives him better pay.

Figures recently submitted to Congress by Dr. Julius Klein foreign trade head of the Commerce Department, showed that 44 of his "best men" quit the service during the last fiscal year to accept employment with outside organizations.

SARGENT LOOKS INTO ALLEGED OIL MERGER

By United News
WASHINGTON, March 23.—An investigation into the merger of the Tidewater Oil Co., and the Associated Oil Co., to determine whether the Sherman anti-trust law has been violated has been started, Attorney General Sargent announced Tuesday. The merger of the Standard Oil Co., of New York and the General Petroleum Co., also is being investigated he said.

'Happier Poor' She Says—and Sues for Hubby's Millions

By United News
CHICAGO, March 23.—A few years ago when she was an immigrant factory girl in New England, Dorothy Ravin believed that happiness lay along the gilded path of riches.

Now as the cast-off wife of a multi-millionaire, whom she married at the age of 15, Dorothy says she'd rather be married to a poor man. She has found life nothing but sorrow.

Her philosophy of poverty, however, has not been carried so far as to cause her to throw over the wealth that is within her grasp and she is suing J. Meredith Towne, Jr., heir to the Yale and Towne Lock Co., millions for separate maintenance and has enjoined her husband from disposing of $620,000 of his fortune.

Since her arrival in this country as a Russian immigrant, Mrs. Towne has worked as a soda dispenser in a drug store, as a factory girl and later, after winning a beauty contest, as Russian dancer.

She was working in the lock and key factory when young Towne "discovered" her and made her his bride. He also was a worker there learning the trade.

Parental inference and the marriage soon was wrecked.

"I've lived many lives during my life time," the 23 year-old girl, told the judge, who enjoyed a portion of her husband's wealth at her request. "And I was happier when I was poor."

NO RE-APPORTIONMENT OF CONGRESS DISTRICTS

WASHINGTON, March 23.—Possibility of a re-apportionment of congressional districts under the 1920 census, already deferred six years, faded Tuesday when the house census committee voted to table all bills on this subject.

The action probably will prevent any re-apportionment, as ordered by law, until after the 1930 census is believed.
