

Ague Bid By Krush Under Study Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy met with top advisers today and scheduled a second meeting later to weigh Soviet Premier Khrushchev's vague bid for banning nuclear tests everywhere but underground and for an East-West nonaggression pact.

Kennedy met for an hour this morning to assess all the implications of the address in an effort to determine how much might be simply propaganda and how much might represent an opening for an East-West accord.

Among those who talked things over with the chief executive this morning and were told to come back at 4 p.m. for a second round were Deputy Secretary of State Averell Harriman, a former ambassador to Moscow, Undersecretary of State George Ball, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, William C. Foster, head of the government's disarmament agency, and his deputy, Adrian S. Fisher.

They sat with Kennedy just ahead of a Cabinet meeting which was held in advance as a discussion largely on domestic affairs. The sessions followed by only a little more than nine hours Kennedy's return from his 10-day, four-nation swing around Europe.

A radio-microphone test of Khrushchev's speech began arriving at the State Department Tuesday as Kennedy headed home.

Initial private reactions among other officials ranged widely from speculation that a break in the cold war logjam may be in sight to an assessment that Khrushchev intends only to reap a propaganda harvest at the West's expense.

All agreed that important details need to be clarified. Kennedy must decide soon how to deal with the Khrushchev proposal, but he is sending Undersecretary of State W. Averell Harriman to Moscow for renewed test ban negotiations starting July 15.

The East Berlin speech rates as the main recent development of the Soviet position on this issue. But officials here raised these major questions about the Khrushchev offer.

1. Is Khrushchev proposing an unqualified moratorium on underground atomic explosions in addition to a ban on other nuclear tests?

take another major step" in addition to a test ban agreement: the signing of a nonaggression pact between the two main military blocs—the NATO countries and the Warsaw Pact states.

Washington analysts said this language did not make it clear whether Khrushchev was expressing the two issues must be settled together.

3. What conditions did Khrushchev have in mind for the nonaggression pact, particularly in relation to Communist East Germany? Objectionable to the West in the past, in particular, have been Moscow conditions for a nonaggression pact which would enhance the status of East Germany.

There is some hope in official quarters that the Kremlin has come to such a point in its military situation and in its dispute with Red China that it wants to start reaching some form of accommodation with the West.

Two performances of a space show in the National Guard Armory will highlight the annual Independence Day celebration here tomorrow in Towle Memorial Park.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) is sending a Spacemobile here for two appearances, one at 11 a.m. and another at 3:45 p.m. in the armory. Seating facilities will be held in the armory, said Commerce officials.

Thursday's event will be the third annual Independence Day activity in the park here. It will include such events as an art show, flag-raising ceremony, parade, flyover of jet aircraft, baseball games, swimming contests, a beauty contest and a spectacular fireworks display.

The fireworks display will be submitted at the Towle Park Barn by 7 p.m. today. Entries will be accepted in several divisions in both junior and adult classes.

The fireworks display will be held from the north shore of the Towle Park Lake at 9 p.m. Thursday to conclude the day's activities.

The art show judging at 8 a.m. will begin the day in the park. The flag-raising ceremony is set for 9 a.m. and at 9:15 a.m. Mayor John Hamblin will read the Declaration of Independence.

The parade will begin at the armory at 10 a.m. The lineup will include the Parade Marshal, the colors carried by members of the County 4-H Club, the Boy Scouts, walking clubs, the Boy Club entry, Boy Scouts, bicycle group, music.

Rapidly Changing Weather Believed Factor In Crash

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Extremely rapid and severe weather changes within a 10-minute period provided investigators today with a major clue to the cause of an airliner crash that took seven lives and injured 36 persons during an electrical storm.

"Weather has assumed more importance in this investigation than in officials' said a twin-engine Mohawk plane with 40 passengers and a crew of 3 crashed seconds after takeoff Tuesday in the storm, which was accompanied by high winds and hail.

The Martin 404, carrying 40 passengers and a crew of 3, was headed for Newark, N.J. via White Plains, N.Y. It fell into mud about 90 yards off a runway at Rochester-Monroe County Airport, several miles southwest of Rochester.

Richard Baldwin, 26, Dunbar, Conn., said the plane "hit Turf. It was like flying into the dead end of a wall."

Stewardess Mary Anne Mirra, 19, of Sayreville, N.J., was reported in fair condition at one of three hospitals caring for the injured.

Release Of 2 Held As Spies Demanded

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union demanded today the immediate release of two Russians held here by intelligence officials, charged Tuesday.

The demand for release of the two Russians, a Russian employee of the United Nations and his wife, was presented at the State Department by the ranking Soviet diplomat here, charge de affaires Georg M. Kornenko, in a 20-minute session with Richard H. Davis, deputy assistant secretary for European affairs.

The two, arrested at a U.S. Embassy in Washington, D.C., were Ivan Dmitrievich Egorov, 41, a U.S. secretariat personnel officer, and his wife, Aleksandra Egorova, 39.

Picked up here in the same Embassy case were another two named in the complaint as "John and Jane Doe." The FBI said they had been living under the names of innocent Americans who were unaware their identities had been appropriated.

There was no immediate report on who the Washington couple really are. The State Department had no immediate comment on the demand for release of those arrested in New York.

Dramatic arrests of the four Russians by agents in Washington and Long Island followed by one day a U.S. order for expulsion of a Soviet Embassy official for attempting to recruit a Russian-born U.S. intelligence official to spy for the Reds. The FBI said there is no link between the two cases.

According to a complaint filed in a New York federal court, the two arrested Tuesday conspired with at least two Soviet military intelligence men to transmit the Russians information on U.S. military installations and troop movements.

These included top-priority missile bases, it was learned. The four were ordered held without bail after preliminary hearings before U.S. commissioners Tuesday night. The hearings were postponed to July 16 to give the couples time to secure lawyers.

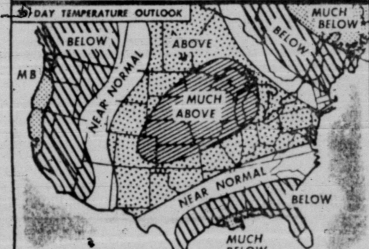

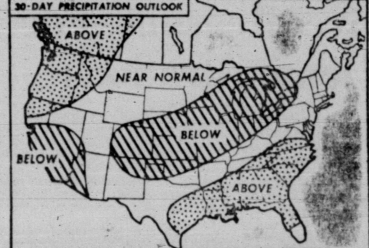

Seized in a raid on a Flushing, Long Island, apartment were Ivan Dmitrievich Egorov, 41, and his wife, Aleksandra Egorova, 39. Egorov is a personnel officer in the U.S. secretariat.

The FBI said the couple resisted arrest and the woman "put up a terrific struggle" and had to be carried away by agents.

Later Egorov told newsmen with a grin: "This is a comedy, and my wife casually obliged when a photographer, asked, in Russian, for a picture."

The other pair seized in a Washington apartment denied their guilt at a hearing in which they didn't have a say anything.

While the FBI called them "John and Jane Doe" in its complaint, it said they were living under the names of Robert Keistutis Balch and Joy Ann Garber, or Jos Ann Balch. The names were taken, the FBI said, from innocent citizens — a Roman Catholic priest and a Connecticut housewife.

Court Orders Ward Held For Trial

LONDON (AP)—A magistrate's court today ordered Dr. Stephen Ward, U.S. educated osteopath, held for trial on vice charges.

Police claim Ward, 50, is a central figure in the John Profumo-Christine Keeler sex and security scandal which has shaken the Conservative government to its foundations.

After a three-day preliminary hearing, Judge Leo Grubb ruled that Ward must answer before jury charges range from living on the earnings of prostitutes to procuring an abortion.

The trial will be held in London's famous Old Bailey court, probably in September.

Ward has proclaimed his innocence. He has not denied that Miss Keeler, a 21-year-old redhead whose involvement with Profumo led to the latter's resignation as war minister, was his protegee, along with various other party girls.

A crown prosecutor declared that Ward provided bedrooms for girls in two flats, one in London, and took a cut of the proceeds.

Headquarters for the going-on, Prosecutor Mesny-Graiff-Jones asserted, was an apartment in Wimpole Street on the city's gay West Side.

It was hinted that weird sexual acts took place at both flats, with transparent mirrors providing on-lookers with a view.

Cotton Panel Session Set

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman has called his advisory committee on cotton to meet here July 15-16 to talk about the cotton situation. It is a week, it isn't bright. There is too much cotton and too little consumption.

The carryover on Aug. 1 is estimated at about 11.1 million bales, 3.3 million greater than a year earlier and the highest since 1957 — an not very far behind the record of 11.9 million bales in 1954.

Domestic consumption is estimated at about 7.3 million bales during the 1962-63 season, down 200,000 bales from 1961-62, but about the same as in 1960-61.

Exports are not expected to exceed 3.5 million bales, down from 4.9 million bales in 1961-62 and the smallest since 2.8 million bales were exported in 1958-59.

Despite a 65,000 harvested acre decline, the United States produced 14,864,100 bales of cotton in 1962, the largest since 1953.

Wolfe said that since every step of the Railroad Labor Act had been exhausted in an effort to reach an agreement with the unions, the companies today notified the unions that the new rules will be put into effect at 12:01 a.m. on Thursday, July 11.

Wolfe said, however, that as far as the carriers are concerned this does not preclude consideration of any "constructive suggestions" by the President, the secretary of labor or any interested party.

Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz had arranged to re-enter the talks today in an effort to resolve the dispute.

Breakdown Halts Rail Negotiation

WASHINGTON (AP)—The chief negotiator for the nation's railroads said today there has been a "complete breakdown" in negotiations with five railroad unions on a dispute over work rules.

J.E. Wolfe, chairman of the National Railway Labor Conference, said the operating units had refused to accept any part of either of two sets of presidential board recommendations to settle the dispute.

He said the unions' refusal has "brought an end to the hollow mockery of collective bargaining on the issues involved."

"Thus, the period of grace requested by President Kennedy and agreed to by both the union and management, will end on July 10 with the featherbedding dispute remaining unresolved," Wolfe told a news conference.

The issues involved here have twice been submitted to impartial presidential boards, of the highest competence, and the railroads have accepted the recommendations of these boards even though they contained more than general provisions.

Wolfe said that since every step of the Railroad Labor Act had been exhausted in an effort to reach an agreement with the unions, the companies today notified the unions that the new rules will be put into effect at 12:01 a.m. on Thursday, July 11.

Mrs. Lodge Excited Over Trip

By JOY MILLER
AP Women's Editor

NEW YORK (AP)—"I am extremely excited about going to Viet Nam," says the new ambassador's wife, Mrs. Henry Cabot Lodge. "I am looking forward to it more than I can say."

Now that's the sort of comment you'd expect from a diplomat's wife. It's enthusiastic, gracious, with just the right touch of lady-like gung ho. But with Emily Lodge you can be sure she means it. She wouldn't discuss it otherwise.

"It's a fascinating part of the world," she continues in the telephone interview, the edge of restrained excitement still in her voice. "Cabot and I were there—let's see—when George was a year old. That was 34 years ago. I remember it as a very beautiful country."

She concedes they're walking into a tough situation, what with a war going on there against Communist-led guerrillas.

"It's a challenge," she agrees cheerfully, "and that's what makes it interesting. I'm forced out of my supine position. I don't move, you know." She gives a self-deprecatory laugh— "unless someone pushes me. Honestly, though, I'm terribly excited about going."

What do her two sons, George and Henry, and 10 grandchildren think?

"I imagine they wish they were going too," she says with a chuckle.

She hasn't thought about what clothes to take—just cool ones.

No one will worry, though, when she does make her wardrobe selection. Mrs. Lodge is known for her unerring taste in suiting the costume to the situation.

Putting people at ease is second nature for Mrs. Lodge, a brown-eyed, brown-haired woman in her mid-50s.

While her husband was a U.S. senator 19 years and ambassador to the United Nations seven years, she was a charming hostess, combining dignity with refreshing candor. But she liked to keep out of the limelight.

In 1960 when she traveled with her husband in his campaign for the Republican vice presidency, she described her contribution as "I just picked up things we forgot to pack, see that Cabot's fed, that sort of thing."

She once told a reporter that the longest speech she could remember making was to stand before a women's club and say "I'm very sorry Senator Lodge could not be with you today."

Since the campaign, she says, "I've just been enjoying myself. She has spent most of the time at their 14-room French provincial home in Beverly Hills, which looks over the Atlantic Ocean.

Beverly has always been her home. She was born into a prominent Beverly family and met her husband at a debutante party. Their wedding in 1926 was the social event of the season.

Brides Can Avoid That Cluttering

When the crocus comes, it's closet clean-up time.

Veteran housekeepers now usually made that periodic check of closets, more disarrayed than not, to get off and clean out. But new brides have a running start. They're beginning from scratch and, if they plan closets carefully, these hidden areas can go on blissfully forever, with scarcely another thought to them, leading fully organized lives.

Here are a few suggestions that will help new brides plan storage areas effectively and prettily. A few cents and a no-nonsense approach are all that's needed.

Paint your closets a sunny, happy color or line them with a gay paper—preferably a washable type to insure easy cleaning. Use a bright shelf edging as an extra appeal of color.

Invest in an assortment of boxes that will hold out-of-season clothes and accessories. For a decorative effect, cover boxes in a striped adhesive paper or buy boxes already covered in chintz. These are in a variety of styles, for hosiery, gloves, handkerchiefs and as two- to three-drawer utility chests. It's a good idea to label boxes for easy identification. Luggage, and boxes of seldom-used items should be stored on upper shelves.

Arrange clothes on closet poles in categories: daytime clothes on one side of the closet; sports clothes together and cocktail and evening clothes at the other end. Garment bags are a good investment to hold expensive evening clothes and pale-colored fashions.

They come in two sizes, to hold eight suits or dresses or 18 pieces of clothing. The jumbo size can be used to store blankets. You may prefer plastic see-through covers in Him and Her matching styles. Satin-covered hangers will dress up a feminine closet, and four-tier skirt and six-tier blouse hangers are space savers. For a man's closet, suit-and-pants hangers are a good idea.

On the inside of closet doors, hang a mirror, shoe bag and small shelves to hold jewelry, gloves, scarves, belts, ribbons and shoe and clothes brushes. Consider, too, a hat rack with 10 pegs for all this spot.

If you are walk-in closets, why not paint the floors in bright colors—vivid blue, green, yellow—or be downright luxurious and carpet floors in a practical, washable synthetic.

Home advisers also suggest that final touches might be pretty paper or plastic lampshades to cover light bulbs; decorative ribbons that take the place of pull chains of lights and a piney floral air freshener sprayed over all.

New Windows And Doors Require Much Less Care

All over the country, thousands of women are finding it easier to keep their homes looking more decorative, trim and sparkling thanks to a new trend in home building and remodeling.

White, enameled aluminum windows and doors have been introduced to combine the functionally desirable qualities of aluminum with the esthetically pleasing appeal of painted wood.

The units are easy to keep clean, simple wiping with a damp cloth renews their shining white surface. Homeowners, as well as architects and builders, have welcomed the new line because the white units blend with both modern and traditional homes. They have a warm, decorative look which aluminum itself does not have.

At the same time they are resistant to rust, rot, and mildew. The white enamel coating prevents them from oxidizing or growing "dirt."

When the units are made, the components are chemically treated in a special solution to assure maximum enamel adhesion, corrosion resistance, humidity resistance, and protection from impact. They're the pieces are electrostatically sprayed with a high-grade white enamel. When the pieces are completely coated they are assembled into units.

The new infrared radiation burners intensify the heat but actually use less gas than ordinary burners.

Mrs. Dysart Speaker For ABWA

The American Business Women's Association had as their guest speaker, Mrs. Lucy Dysart, at their regular monthly meeting at the Martha Ann Woman's Club recently.

Mrs. Dysart spoke on the subject of her and her husband's hobby, that of collecting and renovating antique eggs. She related that they belong to a Horseless Carriage Club of America, and told of the many trips and shows they attend each year. "The ladies have costumes to match the year of the car for the parades they participate in," she said.

Lynn Walker, the club's scholarship girl was a guest.

Lucille Bynum was installed as a new member. The club expressed delight in a white elephant sale, with high competition in the bidding, and some prized possessions were taken home.

Plans were made for the July 4th celebration at Towle Park. A hot dog stand will be in operation by the club for this event.

Book About Bank Is Engrossing

THE ROAD TO HÜDDERS-FIELD: A JOURNEY TO FIVE CONTINENTS. By James Morris. Imagine a good, lively exposition—in terms even you and I can understand—of a rather esoteric economic institution. Blend into that many of the better elements of a sophisticated travel book. This is a remarkable mixture, but Morris has performed the feat of making it a savory, informative experience for the reader.

His subject is what is commonly known as the World Bank. Or to be technical, the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development, which was conceived at Bretton Woods in 1944 as a catalyst for post-war rehabilitation and the industrial development of nonindustrial areas.

Morris approaches his subject with one clear advantage. He is not a banker, not an economist. He manages to let you know that he can accomplish, a journalist from England is a little suspicious of the number of jumbles of economics, balancing criticisms with plaudits in his discussion of the Bank.

First he gives you a straight-from-the-shoulder (sometimes even stately) outline of what this world Bank idea amounts to—a basically conservative lending institution that gets its money back, with interest, from projects that regular banks cannot handle, usually in key development projects in countries or areas struggling to make the long leap into the age of technology.

Then he takes you on a downright fascinating tour of five of the areas where the World Bank has been operating: Ethiopia, Thailand, Southern Italy, Colombia and the Indus Basin of India and Pakistan (and the contrasts are tremendous).

In these explorations he takes just the right amounts of history, religion, geography and ethnography, enlivens them with bright on-the-spot observations of people, sights, sounds and smells, and seasons them with some droll, witty—but without perceptive—comments. The result is that you get a gratifyingly graphic picture of each country's personality.

Finally, he sketches briefly the significance of the World Bank's operations and some of the things they may lead to.

You'd scarcely believe that a book about a banker's bank could be so painlessly enlightening and so filled with engrossing insights into the great tides of change that are sweeping so many parts of the world.

Heating And Decorating

Modern heating fits in well with new decorating devices that make rooms seem bigger. Gas heat is clean, so light colors stay light and bright. Windows and mirrors keep clean, too. There is no need to back furnishings away from heat outlets or surrender to chill zones near windows and doors. Modern baseboard radiators permit the home owner to get more use and pleasure out of every square foot of living area.

Pro Netters In Top Flop

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer
FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP)—The pro tennis people — flouting and suing each other — lunched their national championships at Forest Hills in the biggest financial flop since the Edsel.

Because they are mad at Pancho Gonzalez, the old champion, they rigged the tournament against him. Pancho lost on the first day, the tournament lost its only drawing card and the promoters lost their white flannel trousers.

It makes you wonder what these promotion geniuses would have done if they had made the movie Cleopatra. Let's see:

Scene: A smoke-filled room at the Forest Hills tennis club overlooking the deserted grandstand of the center court where Ken Rosewall and Rod Laver are playing the final match. There is an icy chill in the room, which is peopled by Gonzalez, his hated rival, Tony Trabert, president of the player's association, and Jack Kramer, the semi-retired big wheel who has feuded with Gonzalez for years.

Trabert: "Look down there at the so-called crowd. Six relatives and a guy who thought this was the Roller Derby. I've seen bigger crowds watching a guy fix a flat on the freeway."

Gonzalez: "What did you expect? You did everything but poison my drinking water to get me out of the tournament, and I'm the only drawing card you've got. Those fellows down there drew 190 people last week in New Haven."

Kramer: "OK, so this thing is a flop. Let's get back to the drawing board. I've got a line on a new racket—we'll make a movie about Cleopatra."

Sternberg Hurt During Workout

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—Brian Sternberg, who has vaulted higher than any other athlete in the world, lay partially paralyzed in a hospital today following an accident incurred while he worked out on a trampoline.

Sternberg, whose 16-foot-3 inch vault is pending as a world record, was hurt Tuesday evening as he practiced with the University of Washington gymnastics team. He was rated as one of the country's top trampoline performers.

Doctors said X rays indicated a dislocation of the cervical vertebra and possible damage to the spinal cord. They described the injury as critical, but after several hours of consultation ruled out immediate surgery.

Doctors would not say Sternberg's neck was broken, but did not discount the possibility of a fracture in the intricate series of bones involved. He was placed in traction.

A modest, personable blond, Sternberg set the pending world record at the Compton Invitational Meet June 7. He first conquered the 16-foot barrier at Milwaukee last March when he soared 16-3 1/2. He cleared 16-5 in April and 16-7 two weeks before his record mark. Only a sophomore this past season, Sternberg never was defeated.

Bob Hall, another Washington gymnastics star, said Sternberg was doing a double back somersault with a full twist when he lost momentum and fell, partly on his neck and partly on his shoulder.

Sternberg knew he was seriously hurt, Hall said, and told Hall not to move him. The trampoline was taken to the university hospital. Sternberg was conscious throughout.

The Washington star was to have competed for the United States in the Soviet Union later this month.

Talking about the trip last week, Sternberg discussed foam rubber landing pits and said, "You don't have to worry about landing on the back of your neck."

The Seattle star, who just turned 20, rarely practiced pole vaulting, but kept in shape working out on the trampoline.

Chuck Moves Into Finals

By JOHN FARROW
Associated Press Sports Writer
WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—Chuck McKinley of St. Louis, America's No. 1 player, paraded through Wilhelm Bungert of Germany, 6-2, 6-4, 8-6 today, to reach the finals of the Wimbledon Tennis Championships for the second time in three years.

McKinley, who lost to Rod Laver in a set in six matches, had little trouble with the lanky Bungert, who knocked off top-seeded Roy Emerson of Australia in a five-set quarter-final match.

Orioles To Impose Fines On Selves

By GORDON BEARD
Associated Press Sports Writer
BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles, apparently tired of their own mistakes, have decided to clamp down on violators with self-imposed fines.

A check list of 23 violations—six of them for pitchers alone and 19 for everyone on the squad—went into effect Tuesday. The fines range from $1 to $5.

"We don't know if it will improve our play or not," said Mike McCormick, the team's player representative and one of four players who drew up the regulations. "But it will make all of us more conscious."

It's possible some of us haven't been thinking baseball as much as we should."

Almost as soon as the plan became operative, Manager Billy Hitchcock was charged with the first offense when he walked into the clubhouse at 5:12 p.m. That is 12 minutes late, according to rule 19 which says everyone should report three hours before a home game.

Marichal Has Giant Fans Recalling Hubbell's Feat

By MIKE RATHEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
Not even Carl Hubbell would deny that the Giants have a new Meal Ticket—Juan Marichal.

Exactly 30 years—to the day—after Hubbell, the original Meal Ticket, pitched his greatest game by hurling the Giants to a 1-0, 15-inning triumph over St. Louis, Marichal came up with an amazingly similar performance in a 1-0, 16-inning victory over Milwaukee Tuesday night.

Marichal, a strong-armed right-hander who earlier this season pitched a no-hitter, battled for 4 hours and 10 minutes with Braves' starter Warren Spahn, the 42-year-old left-hander. Then, Willie Mays hit one out of Candlestick Park with one out in the last of the 16th, bringing a dramatic and sudden ending to one of baseball's greatest pitching battles.

The struggle also took the National League spotlight from the Los Angeles Dodgers, who took over first place from St. Louis by beating the Cardinals 1-0 on Don Drysdale five-hit pitching and Peir's run-scoring single.

The triumph moved the Dodgers out front by one-half game over the Cardinals, with the three-place Giants also one-half game back. Fourth-place Cincinnati crept to within 2 1/2 games of the top as Gordy Coleman's tie-breaking two-run single carried the Reds to a 6-4 decision over Houston.

The fifth-place Chicago Cubs downed the New York Mets 4-1 and Pittsburgh edged Philadelphia 3-2.

Gold Sox On Uphill Road

By The Associated Press
Amarillo's Gold Sox were dumped into the Texas League cellar early but now they're playing better ball than three other clubs and only leading Austin and third place Tulsa are winning more.

It's a hard row the Gold Sox are following though and they're still four games away from fifth place Albuquerque and 12 1/2 out of the lead.

Tuesday night the Sox shut out Albuquerque 3-0 for their second victory in a row to start threatening the Dukes' fifth place standing.

Amarillo has won eight and lost eight in the last two weeks while Albuquerque has a 9-9 record and Tulsa 12-6. But El Paso and San Antonio each has a 7-9 mark while Albuquerque is 4-10.

Austin and El Paso, locked in a fight for first place, couldn't play Tuesday night because of rain and a game's difference remained between them.

Tulsa, however, pulled into third place just two games back of Austin, with a 6-5 victory over San Antonio in which the Oilers made an incredible comeback in the last two innings to score all their runs.

A grand-slam homer by Jim Beauchamp climaxed a five-run eighth inning which was started with a solo homer by Chris Kurg.

Hero Follows Script In Spokane Victory

By The Associated Press
It was almost like a movie scenario Tuesday night—the score tied, two out and two on base in the bottom of the 11th inning, with the team's top slugger at bat.

John Werhas didn't deviate a bit from the script. He hit a 350-foot homer to help Spokane take a Pacific Coast League baseball game from Hawaii 6-3.

Spokane had tied the game at 3-3 by scoring two runs in the bottom of the ninth.

In other PCL action, Seattle snapped a five-game Oklahoma City winning streak by downing the Siers 4-2, Dallas-Fort Worth beat Tacoma 5-3, Denver edged Portland 3-4, and Salt Lake City blanked San Diego 4-0.

The Rebels walloped the Cats, 7-3, and the Dodgers turned back the Braves, 4-1, in Coit League play last night.

Ronnie Potts rapped three singles to pace a 10-hit attack by the Rebels, who feasted on the offerings of David Hargrove and Archie Overby. Randy Feagan hurled a 6-hitter for the Rebels, and Overby got three of them — a triple and two singles.

Lane McMillan gave the Braves only one hit, a single by Steve Moffitt in the seventh. Max Moreland got a single and a double to lead the Dodgers' five-hit attack.

Home Runs Spice Little Loop Play

Home runs boomed out of the Little League baseball park five times last night as the Cubs took a 5-1 decision over the Giants and the White Sox trimmed the Athletics, 4-1.

The White Sox led the home run parade with three, including George Kay's grand slam smash in the fourth inning. Bennie Ward and Tommy Hollis also homered for the Sox. Kenny Sebested allowed the Athletics only three hits.

Randy Hardee and Charley Johnson walloped home runs for the Cubs. Jim Gardner had a pair of singles to account for two of the three hits the Giants were able to collect off Mitch Rambo.

Athletics, Cubs Win

The Athletics romped to a 17-3 victory over the White Sox and the Cubs outscored the Giants, 16-15 in Farm League baseball play last night.

The Athletics pounded 13 runs across the plate in the second inning to wrap up their decision early. Richie Rodgers and Jerry Loper, each had a double and a single for the Athletics.

In the National League game, the Giants leaped out to a 10-2 lead in the second inning when they scored eight runs. However, the Cubs scored nine in the fourth. Chris Headroom had four hits for the Cubs, three singles and a double, while Joe Wood had a triple and two singles.

Bill Stokes had a double and a single for the Giants and Steve Boydston had four singles.

King Denies He Has Fear Of Ramos

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Nigerian boxer Rafiq King shrugged off a suggestion Tuesday that he might fear featherweight champion Sugar Ramos because the last man who fought Ramos died.

"What ground is there for that?" King replied.

"Why should I be afraid as a boxer if as children in Africa we liked to let lions chase us just for fun?" he said.

King and Ramos meet here July 13.

US, France Leaders Relationship Better

An AP News Analysis
By FRANK CORMIER
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's just-completed European tour may have improved his hand in dealing with French President Charles de Gaulle.
Kennedy returned to Washington early today after 11 days and 13,000 miles of travel in Germany, Ireland, England and Italy.
One of his first chores back home was to brief the Cabinet on the trip and hear from cabinet secretaries a review of events during his absence, particularly in the civil rights field.
Kennedy's trek through Western Europe was his longest overseas journey as President and it hit a high point during the first three days—in Germany and Communist-encircled Berlin.

It was largely because of the President's success in winning massive displays of welcome from the German populace, and convincing statements of solidarity from German leaders, that he feels the trip was worth the effort. He made repeated appeals in Germany for greater European unity keyed to closer cooperation with the United States.
In some quarters here and abroad there have been fears that Germany might be preparing to cast her lot with France and De Gaulle's controversial goal of an independent Europe free of close ties with America.
Although the Franco-German rapprochement is a reality, and one applauded by Kennedy, the reception given the President in Germany demonstrated that the good will of the United States still has a great potency in that country.
This fact presumably has not been lost on De Gaulle and his neighbors. In even broader terms, politicians throughout a Western Europe can hardly ignore the impact of Kennedy's repeated appearances on home television screens repeatedly preaching the doctrine of Atlantic solidarity and cooperation.
Furthermore, Soviet Premier Khrushchev could only have been dismayed by the evidence of strengthened American-German unity.
According to American sources, the German response to policy proposals pushed by Kennedy—including the idea of creating a multilateral nuclear force in the West—was more enthusiastic than anticipated.
The nuclear force concept which can not become a reality until at least three nations accept it, also held some appeal for Italian leaders. However, it got a rather cool reception during Kennedy's talks in Britain.

All things considered, Kennedy came home convinced that the trip was worthwhile despite claims by some that it was a mistake to visit major nations where governments admittedly are in a state of flux.
However, some who are close to Kennedy still believe his impact at home and abroad would have been greater had he flown back to Washington after his big receptions in Germany and Ireland.
The overnight stay in England produced few if any tangible results from Kennedy's viewpoint. And two days in Italy proved to be anticlimactic following the President's earlier welcomes.
There was no doubt, however, that Tuesday's wild reception of Kennedy in Naples sent him home with a grin on his face.

Baptists In Sectional Conferences

DALLAS (AP) — A nationwide Southern Baptist Evangelistic Conference meeting here, after opening Tuesday night with fiery sermons by two Baptist ministers, featured ten sectional conferences today on personal soul-winning and mass revivals.
The ten conferences kicked off the fanfare for a series of nationwide Baptist Jubilee revivals slated in March and April of 1964 as part of the observance for the 150th anniversary of Baptist work in America.
More than 8,500 Baptists, nearly half of them from outside Texas, attended the opening session which featured major addresses by Dr. W. A. Criswell of Dallas and Dr. Arren C. Hultgren of Tulsa, Okla.
During the keynote address on the conference theme, "Spiritual Conquest—Now—By—Criswell," pastor of the First Baptist Church of Dallas, painted a dismal picture of the world's destiny. "In my lifetime, two world wars have been fought, and we are feverishly preparing for a third," he said. "Russia and Communist China have their ideological differences," he said, "but they are agreed upon our annihilation. It's like living with a gun at your temple."

Dr. Criswell, pastor of the nation's largest Southern Baptist congregation, said that unless there is a "spiritual conquest . . . now," Christianity might lose the battle with communism.
"There are almost a million people in the world who die every week, without Christ," he said. "Our great and overwhelming assignment for the Lord is to win these lost to a saving faith in Christ."
Earlier Tuesday night, Dr. Hultgren, pastor of First Baptist Church of Tulsa, said that long before we think of conquering space, man must learn to conquer himself.
Dr. Hultgren told the conference that the basic cause of the world's unrest is not the lack of "technology" or "education," but rather a spiritual disease that God and the Bible call "sin."

Death Of Honolulu Trial Figure Said To Be Accidental

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Thalia Bell Fortesque Massie Uptigrove, the center of violent racial feeling and sensational trial for rape and murder in Honolulu 31 years ago, is dead.
Mrs. Uptigrove, 52, died Tuesday from what a medical examiner said was an accidental overdose of barbiturates.
The chain of events which rocked the islands and the U.S. Navy began the evening of Sept. 12, 1931, when Thalia, then 19 and the wife of Lt. J.G. Thomas H. Massie, sat with her husband at a tea house near Ala Wai Canal, Waikiki.
Apparently bored with the party, she left for a walk. Then, she claims, she was picked up forcibly by five Hawaiians, driven to an isolated area between Honolulu and Waikiki and raped by the five.
In the official report sent to the secretary of the Navy Mrs. Massie testified:
"I tried to talk to them, to get them, to let me go. They were holding me and every time I spoke they hit me—"
"I was struck many times by Kahahawai's fist. I struggled and cried out every time he struck me—"

"The two men who were holding me dragged me out of the car. They were Chang and Kahahawai. They dragged me about 25 or 30 feet."
The five Hawaiians, including Joseph Kahahawai, were soon arrested, principally because Mrs. Massie recalled the license number of the Hawaiians' car.
Around the case swirled violent comment from Navy personnel who called the islands unsafe for women. Race riots and near riots erupted. The trial of the five Hawaiians ended with a hung jury.
Louise J. Hollingsworth, a court reporter for the Honolulu Star-Bulletin at the trial, recalls that Mrs. Massie's recollection of the license number "was one discrepancy the jury didn't swallow—that she was beaten but could still remember."
A doctor's report showed that Mrs. Massie had a black eye, bloody and swollen nose, bruises from her head to her ankles and a twisted ankle.
On the following Jan. 7, as Kahahawai reported to his probation officer in connection with a previous conviction, he was handed a warrant.
But the warrant was a fake and Kahahawai wound up seated on a chaise lounge in the living room of a bungalow occupied by Mrs. Graville Fortesque, socially prominent mother of Mrs. Massie.
The morning of Jan. 8 Kahahawai was found shot to death in the trunk of an auto that Massie, his mother-in-law and a sailor were driving to Koko Head.
Massie, Mrs. Fortesque and two sailors eventually were indicted for second-degree murder and Massie testified:
"After the mistrial in the attack case I began to hear the vilest rumors about myself and my wife. That I had found her with Lt. Branson and beaten her. Mrs. Fortesque and I decided there was only one thing to do. Get the confession ourselves."
"We heard Kahahawai was about to crack. There was no plan to kill him. When Kahahawai was taken there to the house I remembered a pistol I had left on the settee and put it in my pocket."
"You're going to tell the whole truth now. Yes, we done it."
"That's all I remember. The next thing I remember was being taken to the police station."
The four were convicted on the lesser count of manslaughter and sentenced to life in prison.
As Mrs. Massie collapsed in hysterics.
Hawaii Gov. Lawrence Judd commuted the term to one hour, which was spent in the governor's office and the principals soon left Hawaii.
On Feb. 13, 1933, rape charges still pending against the Hawaiians were dismissed. Two days later Mrs. Massie said she had agreed to leave Hawaii in exchange for the shortened sentences for her mother and husband.

A year later, she won a Reno, Nev., divorce from Massie, claiming extreme mental cruelty. In April 1934, officers of the steamer Roma reported her attempted suicide and Mrs. Massie said, "I wanted to die. I regretted having got a divorce from my husband."
Tuesday she was found in the bathroom of her modest apartment, barbiturate bottles scattered about. She had been divorced from her last husband for five years.
She had complained Monday night to her mother, prominent in Palm Beach society, of a back pain.
Medical examiner Hugh Dortsch maintained, "As far as I have been able to determine the death was accidental."

Think U. S. Still Ahead In Weapons

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
WASHINGTON (AP)—High U.S. officials believe the United States is far ahead of Russia in numbers of nuclear weapons, despite strong Soviet efforts to catch up.
This is one important factor figuring in secrecy-shrouded studies of whether to turn production of materials that go to make nuclear weapons.
Another controlling consideration is the enormous size of both the nuclear arsenal and the stockpile of fissionable material used in weapons production.
Both have been growing for about 17 years, with a sharp surge in the past decade.
Precise details of this country's nuclear armaments are a closely guarded military secret. But these gleanings from the public record given an inkling of its scope and destructive power.
An industry prepared for the U.S. Government Agency last year estimated that this country has some 40,000 nuclear warheads and bombs.
Five months ago, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara told Congress he believes the force this country mounts today "can survive a Soviet attack with sufficient power to destroy the Soviet Union."
"He said he meant destroy its industrial capacity, military power and a high percentage of Russia's population."
Deputy Secretary of Defense Roswell L. Gilpatric predicted more than a year ago that the United States will double its nuclear striking power by 1965.
"That is why we feel that no matter what the Soviets can do, that we will maintain the margin of superiority that we possess today," the Pentagon's second in command declared.
