Insurgent Craft Is Caught In Act Of Seizing British Foodship Due At Bilbao

(By The Associated Press)

BILBAO, Spain, April 30 —Government war planes sunk the insurgent battleship Espana today in the choppy bay of Biscay, striking a heavy blow at Generalissimo Francisco Franco's sea strength.

The heavy vessel, one of the flagships of the attempted insurgent blockade of Bilbao, plunged under the sea within sight of land, lumbed squarely amidships.

Men Are Rescued

The insurgent cruiser Velasco, which was supporting the Espana in an attack on a British merchant ship when the government air armada struck, picked up the officers. Government motorboats from Santander picked up the crew.

The government planes, sent to the aid of the beleaguered Basques in the main Valencia government, struck back at sea while insurgent armies rolled toward Bilbao's "maginot line" of trenches from the southeast and east and while insurgent planes blasted ferociously at Bilbao's last lines of defense.

Bilbao, a city of near-hysteria, waited foreign aid for the evacuation of her 300,000 noncombatant refugees of war. (France was reported pressing Britain to aid at once in the rescue of half that number from the proud Basque capital on Spain's northwestern sea).

A fleet of government bombers stormed over the Espana, raining explosive on her. One struck squarely amidships, official sources reported, and the vessel disappeared quickly and completely beneath the waves.

The Velasco was reported to have limped to sea.

It was by far the most important naval incident of the war. Whether there were any casual-

Mock Funeral May Be Real

(By The Associated Press)

DANVILLE, Ind., April 30.—Death may make a reality of Wade Millikin's "mock" funeral.

A week ago the 88-year-old farmer announced he would conduct his own funeral services and "burial" on May 1.

He's sent formal invitations to friends to attend, he said, and then, instead of having a funeral station, would just sit around and talk to persons who came.

In Serious Condition

Today he lay in a serious condition at his farm home near here, stricken by a heart attack in the midst of preparations for his "funeral." Physicians said he would not live long.

The illness prevented him from attending funeral services for his wife, who insistently refused to let her husband keep an oak coffin which he had built for himself in the couple's home until his death.

Mrs. Millman died Tuesday of a heart ailment at the age of 78.

Federal Regulation Of Gas Industry Being Urged

WASHINGTON, April 30. (AP) — Representative Robert Crosser of Cleveland advocated today federal regulation of the natural gas industry as a means of reducing rates to consumers.

The Ohio congressman said he would support the bill of Representative Clarence F. Lea (D-Calif.) to give the federal power commission the authority to determine fair rates and otherwise regulate the industry in interstate commerce.

Strike Of London Busmen Is Called To Start Tonight

LONDON, April 30. (AP)—London's busmen voted today to strike at midnight.

The threatened walkout by 145,000 men, which may paralyze the city's main public transport system on coronation day, May 12, became virtual certainty when union delegates decided to instruct their men to quit.

Precedent Set By Governor With Veto

Joint Rules Of Session Are Blocked; Governor Claims It Is Time For Action

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, April 30—Governor James V. Allred, in sharp disagreement with the senate over its procedure, today set a legislative precedent in Texas by vetoing joint rules of the general session.

The governor said that under the proposed rules, which are adopted by a concurrent resolution, it would be possible for a minority to block the plain will of the majority, and demanded that something be done "to protect the majority."

Seeks To Force Vote

He has been exerting every effort to force the senate to vote on a bill passed weeks ago by the house of representatives repealing the law which four years ago legalized the certificate system of wagering on horse racing.

The repeal bill, favorably reported by committee, has been laying dormant in the senate, far down on the regular calendar, and every effort to take it up for special consideration, which requires a two-thirds majority, has been defeated.

The governor recently told the senate he would convene a special session of the legislature immediately after the adjournment of the current one, expected in about two weeks, if it did not vote directly on the race betting issue.

Effects Are Feared

In a special message today, he said he feared effects of the proposed rules, not only on the race track but on possible tax legislation in a special session should he "be forced" to call one.

The governor first directed his

Robbery Fears Prove Costly

(By The Associated Press)

SAN ANTONIO, April 30. — His fear of burglars cost Pilar Sais, 66, his life today when he was trapped as flames destroyed his combined grocery store and home here.

Chains and padlocks used to guard the front and rear doors prevented would-be rescuers from reaching the grocer. When the front door was finally battered down with axes, the grocer, his clothing in flames, rushed from the blazing building and in a frenzy, turned and darted back in. His body was nearly consumed in the fire.

Kept Small Sums

Alfonso Martinez, son-in-law of Sais, told deputy sheriffs that Sais kept small sums of money in the store and that he lived in fear of burglars. Only recently, he informed them, Sais purchased heavy chains and padlocks to fasten the doors so that no one could gain entrance during the night.

It is believed the grocer padlocked the doors before retiring last night to his living quarters in the rear and that he was unable to find the keys when the fire was discovered.

Mrs. Goldthwaite To Meet Miss Jameson In Finals

TEXARKANA, April 30. (AP)—The two favorites, Mrs. Frank Goldthwaite, medalist, and Betty Jameson, defending champion, went into the finals of the Texas women's golf tournament with easy victories today.

Mrs. Goldthwaite, slim Fort Worth Curtis cup team member, overwhelmed Mrs. E. R. Hury when the San Antonio woman's game collapsed 4 and 3.

Seventeen-year-old Miss Jameson halted a belated rally by Mrs. J. S. Tate, another San Antonian, to win 3 and 2.

Texas Fishermen Are Worked Into A Fit Of Frenzy With Season Opening Tomorrow

(By The Associated Press)

DALLAS, April 30.—Fishing fever worked itself into a fine fit of frenzy today as the butcher, the baker and all their friends were ready for Texas' annual mass invasion of lake and stream for the opening of bass and white perch season after midnight tonight.

From every point there was unanimous optimism, a brave gesture in view of the fact that the weather, as usual, was due to be somewhat uncertain and the fishing calendar showed no more black than a polar bear on a field of Arctic ice. Black on a fishing calendar, for those who believe in them, means good fishing.

There was standing room only around many a lake near the large cities. Practically every boat and minnow in the state had been spoken for long in advance, and claims had been staked to the likelier spots from shore. The fact that May 1 comes on Saturday further aggravated the situation, which was confidently expected to nullify to a great extent the assiduous stocking which staff officials have been engaged in during the past year.

All the talk about President Roosevelt and tarpon left freshwater fishermen cold. Many of them figured that a three-pound bass caught with a six-ounce rod could proportionately tear up more tackle than all the silver kings from Port Isabel to Key West. Most such fishermen are the happiest when a big bass is shaking the guides off a $20 rod.

The men who tote cane poles and buckets of silver-side or steelback minnows were equally happy at the prospect of bringing home a long stringer of

Death Continues To Mock Local Man

FDR Cruising Out In Gulf

(By The Associated Press)

NEW ORLEANS, April 30—A radio report to temporary White House headquarters here today said the destroyer Moffett carrying President Roosevelt on his fishing vacation was cruising in the gulf after developing slight engine trouble near the mouth of the Mississippi river last night.

The message said the new 1850-ton destroyer developed a clogged oil line and put in at Pilot Town at the mouth of the river shortly before ten o'clock last night.

Trouble Remedied

The trouble was remedied and the Moffett got under way again early this morning. She was expected to transfer the president to the U. S. S. Potomac sometime during the day.

With memories of a rousing reception in this ancient crescent city, President Roosevelt cruised today looking for fighting tarpon.

Col. Edwin M. Watson, tall and strapping military aide, bet the president a dinner that he, Watson, would catch the first one.

River Trip Started

The vacationing chief executive with his son Elliott and aides started the 110-mile trip down the Mississippi to the gulf late yesterday, on the fast, new destroyer, Moffett, skippered by Commander A. H. Addons.

"It all depends on the weather and whether they are biting," he told a group of newspapermen at the New Orleans dock when asked how long he would cruise before landing at Galveston for the homeward journey.

Federal Land Bank Loans To Farmers Are Being Paid

WASHINGTON, April 30. (AP)—W. I. Myers, Farm Credit administration governor, reported today farmers' interest payments on federal land bank loans at the end of the first quarter of this year "reached the highest levels since the beginning of the depression."

Myers said 87.2 per cent of federal land bank loans were in good standing on April 1 compared with 81 per cent on the same date last year.

He said outstanding land bank loans amounted to $2,057,900,000.

The date previously had been announced as Saturday. Show girls, ballet artists and tap dancers, both men and women, will pass in review.

Death continues to mock Rev. J T. Clinton of 1916 Avenue O.

The Missionary Baptist minister who has preached at Union and at Pleasant Valley community churches several years and has lived at Lubbock 15 years, read funeral rites for a brother, C. S. Clinton of Clovis, in the New Mexico city at 4:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

Wife's Mother Dying

While addressing those gathered to pay last tribute, a telegram was delivered to him informing his wife's mother, Mrs. J. C. Comer of Pittsburg, Texas, was believed dying.

Funeral services for another brother, Dr. L. B. Clinton of Loving, Young county, will be conducted at 3 o'clock this afternoon at Durant, Okla., where the physician was head surgeon of Bryan county hospital for several years.

In addition, Mrs. J. T. Clinton is in poor health and has been ill several weeks. That fact will forestall her going to her mother's side —and prevented the minister's going to Durant.

Numb With Grief

Numb with grief and confused at the swift sequence of tragedy in his family, Rev. Mr. Clinton said, "I've never known so much misfortune and grief. I scarcely know what to do."

The Clovis brother died in a sanitarium here Wednesday night after surgery.

Amateur Dallas Pilot And His Sister Are Killed

DALLAS, April 30. (AP)—An amateur Dallas pilot and his sister were killed last night in a plane which suddenly pitched 500 feet to earth on a private air field in Oak Cliff.

The victims were J. W. Bauman, 38, garage operator and licensed pilot, and his sister, Mrs. Mary Ernestine Aker, 40, of Alvin, Brazoria county. They had been in the air less than 10 minutes when the ship fell into a spin as Bauman attempted a sharp turn.

Drive Safely! We Have Many Guests In Lubbock Today

Lubbock drivers, hence, should be even more careful than usual. Let's make the holiday a happy one—not an occasion marred by tragedy!

Strange Fight Being Staged For Child

Young Girl Must Leave Couple She Learned To Love And Go Back To Real Parents

(By The Associated Press)

HELENA, Ark., April 30 —Golden-haired little Billy Jo Coleman must leave the couple she has learned to love as her mother and father, and return to her real parents.

That's the latest ruling of the court in a long fight for custody of the 7-year old youngster who was "loaned" to a neighbor, when she was 15 weeks old.

Mother Seeks Custody

She became the center of a legal controversy last fall when her mother, Mrs. Louis Coleman, sought custody of the child from Mrs. T. B. Hughes. Both are farm wives.

Mrs. Coleman — mother of six daughters—told the court she "loaned" her baby to Mrs. Hughes in 1930 when she was ill and that she expected her neighbor to return the child later.

When she asked that Betty Jo be returned, Mrs. Coleman said, Mrs. Hughes refused.

Prefers Mrs. Hughes

Mrs. Hughes said she had taken the child with the understanding she would remain in the Hughes home. In a tearful courtroom scene, Betty Jo, given her choice, elected to stay with Mrs. Hughes.

A. G. Burke, then county judge, held that the child should remain with the couple that had reared her.

Circuit Judge J. M. Jackson reversed the decision yesterday, however, and unless further legal steps are taken, Betty Jo will return to her parents when she has finished the school year at nearby Elaina, Ark.

Stranded Man Held In Jail

Some of the mystery surrounding a man who spent Sunday to late Thursday in a junk-loaded and decrepit automobile near Shallowater likely will be dissipated this afternoon when a Portales, N. M., brother arrives at Lubbock county jail to conduct the 40-year-old man home, said the sheriff's department.

Deputies Sheriff Grady Harrist and Cap Moore transferred the man to jail after passersby on the road complained the man in the old car was acting strangely and manifested fear of him.

The car was loaded down with household effects, musical instruments, bedding and other articles. Three tires were "flat" and a connecting rod of the engine had been damaged.

The man was "waiting for warm weather" to repair the machine, he told Deputy Sheriff Parum Posey.

"They said they'd send me along," the man said in answer to questions. "They" apparently had no significance in his confused mind.

He lived at Iowa Park and his machine had been registered in Wichita Falls. Apparently, he was en route to Portales.

He had $2 and two loaves of bread and a jar of peanut butter. Despite his having been reported to have not left his automobile since Sunday, he had a bucket of water on the seat beside him and a dipper. That fact led authorities to believe he "watered at night," said Posey.

Clubwomen Of America Vote Against Roosevelt Plan

TULSA, April 30. (AP)—Clubwomen of America voted more than six to one against the judiciary program of President Roosevelt in a mail poll, it was announced today by Mrs. Roberta Campbell Lawson, president of the General Federation of Women's clubs, at the yearly council meeting.

The result of the poll was made known as the council neared a formal vote on a statement of principle opposing the president's plan.

The poll of more than 51,000 clubwomen in 1,581 women's clubs in every state of the union showed 7,476 women favored the plan while more than 44,000 were against it.

Larger Cotton Acreage Said Justifiable

Efforts Of State Department To Gain Trade Treaties Are Praised By Dallas Man

(By The Associated Press)

MEMPHIS, April 30 — Robert Mayer, Dallas, president of the American Cotton Shippers association, commended today efforts of the state department to obtain reciprocal trade treaties and expressed belief improving conditions justify a larger cotton acreage.

He contended, in his prepared presidential address to the association, that the position of American cotton compared to world production "is still very unsatisfactory" and gave as one reason "the rather unsatisfactory character of recent American crops." In this respect he said an improvement in seed is essential.

One of the "great evils" of the American cotton trade situation, Mayer said, "is the buying in some interior markets by street buyers, country merchants and ginners at average prices . . ." He urged that every bale be bought on its merit for grade and staple and that proper premiums be paid for good qualities and proper discounts for poor qualities.

"The real solution of the export problem continues to be the prohibitive tariff," Mayer said.

The retiring president said that "national self-sufficiency is an idle dream."

"We now believe that improving conditions justify a larger cotton acreage. The burdensome surplus has been reduced to more normal proportions."

Mayer commended efforts of the

G-Men Behind With Work

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 30. — J. Edgar Hoover said today the G-men are behind in their work because of kidnapers, extortionists and bank robbers.

"These crimes delay us most," the director of the bureau of investigation explained. "They can not be postponed because the only evidence that will solve them is what we can get at the moment they happen."

The crime-fighters' work on other cases was delayed "tremendously," he added, when a large squad of agents was assigned to the Mattson kidnaping case. The bureau opened 12 new offices this week.

Work On Thousands

Hoover said his 739 agents were working on 7,917 cases as of April 1, while 6,722 other cases waited in the files. New laws in the last three years have given them more extensive duties.

"It is absolutely impossible to load more cases on our special agents," he declared. "The average work load per man was 16.7 cases on April 1, although no man should carry more than 10."

Installment Payment On Taxes Delinquent Is Provided

AUSTIN, April 30. (AP)—The house passed to the senate today a bill authorizing payment of delinquent taxes in 10 equal installments over a 20-month period beginning July 1.

The measure was made mandatory regarding state and county taxes and optional with governmental sub-divisions.

It included a provision making the remainder of the outstanding tax due if a payer defaults on any installment after the first.

Two or more bands remained to be heard in the Class C division, from schools with less than 250 enrollment. Class D contests were at Junior High school auditorium, and Class C at Senior High school.

Serving with him were Earl D. Irons of North Texas Agricultural college band of Arlington; L. M. Calavan of Oklahoma City Central High school; Milburn E. It's Up To The Senate—The Matter Of Car For Ickes

WASHINGTON, April 30 (AP) — It's up to the senate whether Secretary Ickes gets a new $4,000 car.

That sum was asked of, and refused by the house appropriations committee. E. K. Burlew, Ickes administration assistant, making the request, explained the cabinet officer had been forced to borrow a car from an assistant since an accident last fall destroyed Ickes' official automobile.

Offered $750 by the committee, Burlew said:

"Then he (Secretary Ickes) would have nothing but a Chevrolet, or Ford, to ride in."

There was no compromise. The item was omitted entirely by the committee and the house passed the deficiency appropriation bill, for which it was proposed, without inserting it.

"Its first job was to take over farm families formerly on relief and to make these families again self-supporting. Plans of farm and home management were worked out with each family and backed by loans for the necessary supplies, livestock and equipment. Days Of '49 Return To Tech Campus With Prospectors

The "days of '49" had apparently returned for the Texas Technological college campus Thursday with the appearance of a "pack burro" and six "gold prospectors" who panned rocks for gold. The six prospectors who were members of the geology pledge expedition are initiates to Sigma Gamma Epsilon, geology fraternity.

Trekking over campus acres garbs of the "old Klondike" and with "coprallites", the fraternity symbol, tied around their necks, the pledges will tour the streets of Lubbock today and end their pledgeship expedition at the Tech fiesta tonight.

Those who carried geology picks and who complained "that there are no hills to climb" are: Leo Haliburton and Wichita Sheldon, Electra; Lynn Smitherman, Athens; Harold Huffman, Meadow; Robert Wulfjen, Colorado and Ed Reed, Lubbock.

"Helen" is the name of the mule that was led over the campus. "Nuggets" of gold-painted gallina were given to coeds. Claude Thompson is president of the fraternity.

A six-inch ledge affords ample room for a mountain goat to turn around. They can climb along mountain walls inaccessible to others.

Prospects Bright For A New Stadium For Brownfield

BROWNFIELD, April 30 (Special) —Prospects are bright that Brownfield will get a new stadium, according to statement of R. W. McNew, WPA director at Big Spring.

McNew did not favor the proposed site at the pit because of the high cost of preparing the ground which he believed to be prohibitive and because of the limited parking space adjoining.

A new plan is to be worked up in connection with the old park project. If the plans are acceptable, work on the new football stadium will likely begin in June.

Dallas Police Trail Killer

DALLAS, April 30 (AP)—A man police said was wanted for two murders in Rockford, Ill., was hunted today for critically wounding Jack Griffith, 48, a Fort Worth cafe operator, Wednesday night.

Detectives trailed the man here after he abandoned a car he wrecked while he was being pursued. He was last seen in a Dallas suburb.

Shot In Chest

The cafe man was shot in the chest when he intervened in an attempted robbery of a woman on a Fort Worth street. Dallas police shortly afterward picked up a suspect's trail on the outskirts of this city.

Dallas detectives followed the trail of the suspect all night Wednesday. It was reported he was joined by a woman companion. They were reported last seen in Oak Cliff carrying four suitcases.

Shortly after the Fort Worth shooting a police car here picked up the description of the automobile by radio, sighted the car on Fort Worth pike and pursued it for several blocks before becoming lost in the heavy traffic. Later it was found abandoned, a pistol, twenty rounds of ammunition and about $2 in nickels and pennies in a cigar box on the front seat.

The automobile, bearing Utah license plates, was identified as the property of Alvin C. Phanders, kidnap-murder victim of Rockford, Ill., a few weeks ago.

Dallas officers also said the suspect was wanted for questioning regarding the disappearance of two vacationing couples, Mr. and Mrs. George Lorius and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Heberer of East St. Louis, May 28, 1935.

The couples started from their home to California by automobile. They were last seen in Albuquerque, N. M. They failed to reach California and failed to return to their homes. At Albuquerque the trail ended. Their automobile later was found abandoned in Dallas.

Outstanding Courses Are To Be Offered In Summer

Courses in teaching of Spanish and in curriculum building will be outstanding in arts and sciences division instruction during summer terms of Texas Technological college, said Dean James M. Gordon.

A course in "Organization and Installation of the New Public School Curriculum" will be taught by Dr. Kenneth E. In 1934 a course in "Orientation in Curriculum" was offered; in 1935, "The Technique of Curriculum Construction"; and in 1936, "Curriculum Production."

"Doctor Oberholtzer is eminently qualified to teach this course," said Dean Gordon.

A course in the teaching of Spanish will be taught by Dr. Paul T. Manchester of Vanderbilt university. He was a visiting professor in the Tech foreign language department last year.

Additional Credits Sought For Brownfield School

BROWNFIELD, April 30. (Special) — Two additional credits, in band and in stenography, and one in woodwork will make for a total of 27 units the Brownfield High school would have accredited with the department of education, and an increase of eight units in the past two years.

Work in the school indicates the new units will be obtained, said G. D. Holbrook, deputy state superintendent.

One additional unit will be asked in music, public speaking, secretarial and office work, and third year home economics next year. Half units will be requested in Texas history, salesmanship, and physical education.

Dairy Banquet Staged Here

Factors of promoting development in the dairying industry were outlined Thursday night when 80 persons attended a fourth annual banquet of the Dairy club of Texas Technological college at Doak hall.

E. H. Leindecker, manager of a Fort Worth creamery, was principal speaker.

Methods Are Exposed

"Sixty per cent of sales increase is due to the improvement of the dairy products," he said. "In contrast to the old policy of each company keeping its methods a secret, most of the major businesses of the industry eagerly expose their methods of treatment."

"Conditions should be so that a man could walk up to a bar and call for a bottle of milk instead of a bottle of beer—and still keep his manly standing in the community," he pointed out.

Foy Brown acted as master of ceremonies. Sam Hill is president of the organization.

Prominent Men Here

Visitors included prominent men of the dairying industry from Lubbock, Lamesa, El Paso, Fort Worth and other places. Persons associated with the Tech department of dairying who attended were A. H. Leidigh, W. T. Gaston, W. L. Stangel, R. C. Mowery, F. G. Harbaugh, B. L. McBride, Laurence Harmon, and O. B. Howell.

Honored guests were senior members of the club. They were: Maurice Cowan, Sam Hill, James Hill, Dan Heierman, and Dean Williams.

Mart G. Pederson, also of Tech, announced winners of the fifth annual students' dairy products judging contest.

Winners were:

Milk judging—Morris Hill, first; Bill Tinney, second; and Dan Heierman, third.

Butter judging—Morris Hill, first; B. C. Drinkard, second, and Archie Meekma, third.

Cheese judging—Bill Tinney, first, Tommie Kennedy, second, and Escar Parker, third.

General judging — Bill Tinney first; Morris Hill, second, and Tommie Kennedy, third.

Blankenbeckler To Move To Santone

Resignation of Frank A. Blankenbeckler as receiver for Plainview National bank and move to San Antonio to enter business were made by the Lubbock resident Wednesday. He had lived here several years.

Succeeding him will be Fred B. Cable, Paducah, who is receiver for a number of Northwest Texas national banks. Cable is now receiver for the Floyd County National bank, Floydada; City National bank of Spur and First National bank of Paducah, among others.

W. D. Girand, Lubbock attorney, who has been attorney for Blankenbeckler, said he had sent in his resignation along with the receiver but that he had not heard from it. Girand said there would be several cases at this term of United States district court; that that would probably wind up the litigation growing out of the closing.

Blankenbeckler was at one time Cisco postmaster. He was named receiver for a national bank a decade or so ago and came to Plainview in September, 1931 when the Plainview bank closed.

Lee Roy Mosley Is Elected To Head Business Group

Business administration students of Texas Technological college elected Lee Roy Mosley president at a meeting held last night at the college for the purpose of organizing a club of students of the department.

Other officers selected were Jarrett Hervey of Greenville, vice-president; Katherine Johnston of Lorenzo, secretary, Arthur Earl Gamble of Lubbock, treasurer; Clayton Mallett of Lubbock, reporter.

A constitution drawn up by Morgan Jones, Jack Bostick, Sid Stout, and Bob Work, was adopted at the meeting. Sponsors of the club are E. H. Plank, T. C. Root, and Maurice Erickson, all of the business administration department of the college.

Approximately 60 students attended last night. Meeting dates will be second and fourth Thursday nights.

Plainview Improvements Are Said Ahead Of Schedule

Waterworks improvements being made at Plainview as a WPA project are ahead of schedule, according to report Thursday of Harry N. Roberts, Lubbock municipal consultant who is engineer in charge.

Forty feet of sand is being removed from a 300-foot well which L. A. Peeples, Idalou driller, recently completed. He has two other wells being drilled, both down about 65 to 70 feet, and cased.

Two sections of reinforced concrete are ready on the construction of a 500,000-gallon capacity surface tank. Surface tank's concrete footing has been poured. It has a capacity of 250,000 gallons. The pump house is well under way.

Water mains are being placed in several sections of the city. There will be several blocks of 10-inch pipe; as much 8-inch and some 12-inch pipe. Total cost of the project will be $100,000. Abilene Woman And Her Two Children Hurt In Crash

DUNCAN, Okla., April 30 (AP)—Mrs. Allen Wood, Abilene, Tex., remained unconscious in a hospital here last night after she and her two children were injured when a car in which they were riding plunged off a highway on a curve near Comanche, Okla.

Her husband, Allen Wood, came here last night.

He said Mrs. Wood was suffering possible concussion of the brain and possible internal injuries. He said physicians had not completed diagnosis of her injuries.

Billy Allen Wood, 5, was in the hospital suffering from a gash on the skull. The other child, Ben Gary Wood, 18 months old, was treated at the hospital and released to his father. He suffered face cuts.

Mrs. Wood was en route from Abilene to Oklahoma City to visit her mother, Mrs. Ben Sanders.

Recognition Party Is Held For Schoolboy Patrol

Safety patrol boys from Lubbock schools were honored at a "recognition party" Thursday night on the Senior High school lawn.

Approximately 50 boys played games in charge of Dr. F. B. Malone, C. I. Wall, and J. A. Raley, from seven until eight o'clock. Ice cream furnished by the American Legion was served as refreshment.

CUTS OIL PRODUCTION

FINDLAY, O. (AP) — Oil men in the Northwestern Ohio field, one of the world's oldest producing centers, report that since earthquakes shook this region several weeks ago, the volume of petroleum from many stripper wells declined. They said the earthquake movement evidently interfered with lower rock strata, but expressed belief the decline might not be permanent.

"THE CHEAPEST THING ON YOUR CAR IS THE BEST TIRES YOU CAN BUY"...

GOOD YEAR TIRES

Feeding 30,000 Mouths Three Times Each Day Will Prove To Be Quite A Problem

WASHINGTON, April 30 (AP) — It was all very nice to think of getting 30,000 boy scouts together in Washington during June for an international jamboree.

But boys have a way of bringing their appetites with them when they travel. And how many eggs do 30,000 stomachs need for breakfast? How many gallons of water does it take to wash 30,000 chins afterwards? And how in thunder do you get eggs and water to boys living in tent villages all over the parks in Washington?

Washington merchants were pretty well stumped by the problem until the scouts sent on their magic worker, Harvey Gordon.

Lining Up Supplies

Gordon, whose office is in New York, is known by the unromantic name of director of engineering for the scouts.

He arrived here three months ahead of the jamboree and is rapidly bringing order out of chaos. He's signing up chickens as far south as Richmond for the 70,000 eggs he'll need for each breakfast. And the cows that will supply the 30,000 quarts of milk a day stretch back into Pennsylvania.

He has engineers drawing stacks of blueprints to pump the 1,000,000 gallons of water into the tent colonies for drinking and bathing.

250 Cooks

There will be 25 big kitchens running full blast, 250 cooks perspiring, 250 tons of food daily moving into the scout towns along the Potomac. Those tons break up into such unimaginable quantities as: 900 bushels of potatoes for one meal, 15,000 pounds of bread a day, 30,000 quarts of milk a day, 4,000 pounds of sugar and the makings for 100,000 flapjacks for one breakfast (and please don't ask for a second helping, the cooks have been taken to the hospital.)

Gordon, who is a scout himself, had charge of the meals at the London jamboree in 1929 and everything went along fine, even if it does sound confusing.

The confusion will be taken out of the picture by Gordon's three dispatchers who work in 8-hour shifts around the clock.

They will sit at a big wooden table, littered with telephones connected with the 25 kitchens and the city's food wholesalers. They'll keep big charts, one for each kitchen.

Keep Tab By Phones

At dawn the phones will start ringing with messages like this: "Milk beginning to move—eggs on the road—sugar leaving the warehouse."

For a few minutes the dispatcher can sit cozily imagining the trucks on the road, and then the phones will start all over again with: "Kitchen No. 1 reporting milk arrival—Kitchen No. 18 reporting coffee coming in—Kitchen No. 9, Sir, eggs have arrived." And so on, until every kitchen has every item scheduled for that day's breakfast.

Naturally Gordon isn't planning to feed the whole 30,000 at just 25 kitchens. Those 25 are merely the big cooking and dispatching points that will send hot food to the 816 small kitchens and dining tents that will be set up.

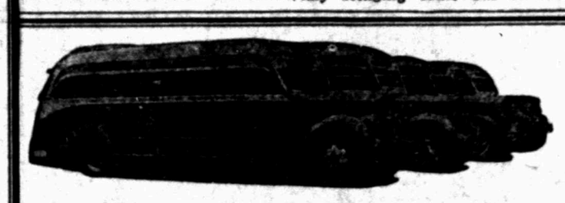

Dinah will blow no horn when meal-time arrives. Instead a flag will run up at the 25 big kitchens. Each troop will send two scouts to the nearest kitchen. Those two will stagger back to their troop village with a sort of metal coffin holding four containers of hot food. Back in their own small kitchen they'll dish out the individual plates. And 30,000 of those elastic caverns in boys' middles will stop growling for another short while.

Nebraska Man Finds There Are Sevens In His Life

BRESLAU, Neb., April 30 (AP) — William McCullough finds a lot of sevens in his life.

His 77th birthday fell on March 27, 1937, the seventh day of the week. He lives in School District 77, which includes Breslau, a name of seven letters, inhabited by seven families in seven houses. Thrown in for good measure is the fact that "William" has seven letters.

"I CAN'T RISK BAKING FAILURES!" —said Mrs. Martha McDonald at the Cooking School

So she uses Pillsbury's Best Flour!

Why do most good cooks use Pillsbury's Best Flour? Because it's dependable! Because they know it makes everything they bake look better and taste better. And they know it saves money, too . . . because it prevents wasteful baking failures! Ask your grocer for Pillsbury's Best and see the improvement in your own baking.

PILLSBURY'S BEST FLOUR
1. Works perfectly in all baked foods
2. Improves their looks and flavor
3. Costs less because it prevents failures

FLASHES OF LIFE

American History

JAMESTOWN, N. Y.—The "coronation room" at Jamestown's semi-annual furniture market isn't all it was supposed to be, but the sponsoring company explained the trouble with a placard:

"This was to have been our coronation room, but our upholsterers abdicated."

Dog-Gone

AUBURN, N. Y.—A dog, breed unknown, encountered a railway switch engine on a trestle not big enough for both of them, and came out alive and unhurt.

The problem was solved simply. The engineer saw the dog, stopped the train, and then backed off the trestle while the dog gingerly picked his way over the ties to safety.

Love Me, Love My Voice

JOPLIN, Mo.—A guest in a Joplin hotel was taking his morning ablutions, warbling the refrain of a popular ditty. As the self-esteemed "Caruso" paused for breath, the tune was picked up by a voice in the next room.

The first singer remained silent, realizing the second voice was of much better quality.

On his way out, singer No. 1 noted the room number of singer No. 2 and asked the clerk the person's identity.

It was Nelson Eddy.

A (Sun) Burning Question

LAGUNA BEACH, Calif.—For a year the city council has been unable to decide whether to permit residents to appear on this coastal city's streets in abbreviated bathing suits. Because merchants protest that a ban would drive away beach trade, the council has decided to have newspapers poll the citizens.

Journey's End

KANSAS CITY—Last Sept. 12, Miss Mary Lapin pitched a bottle containing her name and address into the ocean at Gibraltar. The bottle came back to her, forwarded by Uland M. Dooks, Sable Island, Nova Scotia—3,000 miles from Gibraltar.

The finder enclosed a letter saying he was a "single fellow, 25 years old" and "expected to hear from you."

But he won't. Miss Lapin was on a pre-nuptial trip and will be married next month.

No Sale

KANSAS CITY—Six-year-old Jacqueline Summers stood for a long time without making a purchase at the garden seed counter.

"What are you looking for, anyway?" asked her mother.

Came the reply:

"Wilted lettuce—and they haven't any."

Cats cannot see in absolute darkness. Their vision, however, is unusually acute in the dusk.

Matadors And Miners Tangle Tonight In Year's First Grid Game

Swift Attack Is Promised By Visitors

Eight o'clock is the time — but you'd better come earlier — Texas Tech field is the place. Texas Tech and College of Mines are the teams, and football is the game.

The spring football game here has become a regular part of the annual sports parade, losing its novelty two seasons ago, and nobody gets unduly excited any more over the regular announcement.

The Miners and the Matadors started this spring football business when they met at El Paso several seasons ago. Since then the Red Raiders have played each spring, climaxing spring training and giving the fans a chance to speculate and meditate on what the team may do come regular season. Sul Ross Teachers of Alpine and the Miners of El Paso have figured most prominently in the spring exhibitions, where "anything goes" and coaches pick up valuable information and hints by constantly shifting the players around in an effort to select the best lineup.

Watch Heineman

Coach Mack Saxon and his Orediggers hit town late yesterday afternoon, followed the Red Raiders in a night workout at the field. The Miner mentor, popular in Lubbock and vicinity believes he has one of the best teams, or the best prospects for a team, he has worked with in several years. He is setting the Border conference championship as his goal this year, and means to start by throwing a definite scare into the Red Raiders tonight.

Among the Miners is a young backfield ace that will be watched by opposing players and all fans tonight. Kenneth Heineman, according to the stories, is in the same class with Sammy Baugh and Tech's Jim Neill when it comes to throwing the pigskin around. He can flick it far and wide and handsomely into the arms of his receivers. He also takes care of the punting, and teams up with Mike Balenti, jr., for a running attack that threatens the best laid plans of Matadors and other conference men.

Balenti, Sr., Here

Balenti, a nice, healthy Indian, is a son of the erstwhile gridiron great Carlisle Indian school, Mike Balenti, sr. The elder Balenti also will be on the field tonight as an official. A mighty man of football when he played with Jim Thorpe, one of the game's immortals, Balenti, senior still gets around with ease. A qualified official, he'll attend strictly to duty tonight, with one eye out for young Mike, a real threat.

Other Miner backs, veterans and accomplished players are O. P. May and Ross Moore, halfbacks; Heineman is quarterback; Balenti, fullback. What the latter two lack in weight—Heineman scales at 155 and Balenti at 160—is made up by Moore and May, weighing 180 and 190 respectively.

Horace Matthews, former Lamesa High player, now a 182-pound end, and Homer Armes are slated to start at the wing posts for the Miners. Mitchell Lowry, 200 pounds, and "Papa" Odie Pearce, 202, are the tackles; Allen Wilkenfeld, 184, and Jimmy King, 160, the guards, and John Hanna, 188, the center.

Pearce, the heavy tackle is perhaps the outstanding lineman on the Miner team. A family man, twice a father, Pearce, formerly of Anson, plays a mean tackle.

Regulars Or Shockers?

Coaches Pete Cawthon and Dutchy Smith will parade all 60 of their crimson suited athletes before tonight's crowd of guests, most of whom will be free patrons at Texas Tech's second annual Fiesta program. Nor were the coaches certain, even after last night's workout, who would start for Tech. The shock troopers may go in, the regulars may start.

Regulars suggested are Captain Red Ramsey and Jim Brown, ends; Abe Murphy and Jesse Browning, tackles; Lewis Jones and Pete Owens, guards; Frank Guzick, center; Ed Smith, quarterback; Charlie Calhoun and Miles Chapman, halfbacks, and Elmer Tarbox, fullback.

A lengthy skull practice yesterday preceded last night's field drill. The Red Raiders anticipate a tough battle, and seem prepared for it, mentally as well as physically.

Should the shock troops start, the lineup probably will find sophomores in abundance, with a sprinkling of veterans to lend temper. Thurman Bostick and George Philbrick probably will be at ends. Lloyd Taliaferro or Raymond Stettle and Bill Davis at tackles; Holt Waldrep and Dixie White, guards; Rex Williams, center; Rufus Ryan and Charlie Esnard may be at halfbacks, Fred Byrd at full and Babe Curfman calling the plays. Curfman, a reformed end, may move over for George Winters, who has been trying out at the quarter position but who may start at full instead of Byrd.

A few tickets remained on sale last night at Hotel Lubbock lobby cigar stand. Only 750 tickets were placed on the reserve list, and they have been going fast. The price is $1, for reserved seats or for general admission ducats, sold at the field.

Cats Open Up With Power

(By The Associated Press)

Where they play today:

Dallas at San Antonio (night).

Fort Worth at Beaumont.

Oklahoma City at Galveston (night).

Tulsa at Houston (night).

Beaumont's front-running Exporters may have wondered with some apprehension today just how long they can continue pacing the Texas league.

The Shippers had plenty of food for thought along that line in a ninth-inning explosion last night wherein Fort Worth's Cats leveled three pitchers with 11 runs. Until that blast of tallies the Cats had trailed Beaumont two runs, failing to score in the first eight frames. The game ended 11 to 2. Johnny Johnson, who started, Quinn Lee and Joe Rogalski floundered frantically in that last inning but before they could manage three outs 16 batters had faced them.

Oklahoma City Nearer

The Beaumont loss lowered them to within 25 points of the Indians from Oklahoma City, who with Galveston were idle because of fog in the Texas city.

Dallas kept pace with Fort Worth in the third place tie, whipping San Antonio 8 to 3. The Steers matched Fort Worth also in getting 14 hits off three pitchers, while Curt Fullerton breezed in with a seven-hit job.

Al Fisher of Houston did double duty in turning back Tulsa 7 to 2. The young righthander kept 11 hits scattered and smashed a homer for the Buffs. It was his third straight victory.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

(By The Associated Press)

Freddy Fitzsimmons and Burgess Whitehead, Giants—Former pitched five-hit ball and hit homer; Whitehead clouted two homers in 9-0 win over Dodgers.

Tony Cuccinello, Bees—Hit five-for-five, including homer with one on for winning runs, as Phils went down, 6-4.

Earl Whitehill, Indians—Limited Tigers to seven hits and struck out five in 12-3 win.

Monte Pearson, Yankees—Fanned seven and pitched six-hit ball in 4-2 win over Senators.

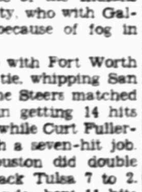

Johnny Dickshot, Pirates—Two singles drove in two runs, in 6-5 win over Cubs.

Monte Stratton, White Sox—Blanked Browns with eight hits for 12-0 victory.

Lon Warneke, Cardinals—His eight-hit pitching beat Reds 6-1.

Meadowbrook GOLF COURSE

Hurlers Doing All The Work For Champs

BY SID FEDER

Associated Press Sports Writer

Don't look now, but something queer is going on in the Bronx baseball business—champions, inc., of the diamond world.

The famous clouting circus, New York's Yankees, who cracked about every long distance record in sight last year and averaged better than a homer a game, isn't hitting hard enough to dent a cream puff.

One Lone Homer

The Yanks have produced in six tilts just one lone home run, "pooshed up" several days ago by Tony Lazzeri, and a single triple.

And the queerest thing about the whole business is that the team keeps right on winning ball games! Despite Lou Gehrig's ailing hand and the absence of tonsil-less Joe DiMaggio, their winning streak is the longest of the young season—five straight.

Maybe (and this is only being whispered as yet) the victories are coming because the lightly-regarded Yankee pitching is fooling the boys. Rated, as usual, as the weak spot, the flingers have been ace high in recent days, despite the absence of holdout Charley Ruffing. In their last three starts, they've allowed the enemy 17 hits and four runs in 27 innings. Yesterday Monte Pearson turned in a six-hit job, fanning seven batters, to whip Washington's Senators 4-2, the Nats' fifth straight setback.

Giants Have Slump

The Bronx baseball faithful are in even more of a dither over the antics of their other representative in the diamond wars, the Giants. Bill Terry's terriers have long been noted for putting the burden on their pitchers, and in recent days have emphasized that habit with a profound batting slump.

Yesterday, however, when they really didn't need to get excited, they fielded a revised lineup, reversed themselves all the way, and bombarded Brooklyn's Dodgers 9-0. Fat Freddy Fitzsimmons' knuckle ball muffled the Dodgers with five hits, but more remarkable were the two homers contributed by the light-hitting Burgess Whitehead, and the one walloped by Fat Freddy himself.

Rivals Run Strong

The Giants' two chief rivals remained in the thick of things, Pittsburgh's Pirates gave up an early lead and then took advantage of Bill Lee's wildness in the 13th inning to down the Chicago Cubs 6-5. Lon Warneke threw an eight-hitter for the Cardinals to whip Cincinnati's disappointing Reds 6-1.

Cleveland's heavy hitting Indians clubbed Detroit 12-3 behind Earl Whitehill's seven hit hurling. The Chicago White Sox pounded out 19 hits as Monte Stratton pitched the American league's first shutout, blanking the Browns 12-0. Tony Cuccinello collected five-for-five, one of them a game-winning homer in the 11th, to give the Boston Bees a 6-4 decision over the Phillies. The Athletics and Red Sox were rained out for the third straight day.

French's Smashed Hand To Be Ready In Ten Days

CHICAGO, April 30. (AP) — Larry French, the Cubs' star lefthander who suffered a smashed right hand yesterday, said today he thought he would be back in action in 10 days, with the aid of a metal cast.

Dr. John Davis, the club physician, said the hand, injured when French stopped a liner from the bat of Ernie Lombardi, husky Cincinnati catcher, would require about three weeks to heal. But it didn't mean a thing to French.

"I can be ready to pitch within 10 days," he said.

Golf Tourney Nears Close

TEXARKANA, Ark., April 30. (AP)—Mrs. E. R. Hury of San Antonio had a chance today to play the lead in the "David vs. Goliath" drama of the Texas women's golf tournament.

If she eliminates Mrs. Frank Goldthwaite, medalist and favorite, she would have still another prize before her revenge upon Betty Jameson, the champion.

Mrs. Hury went into the semi-finals with a 4 and 3 victory over Mrs. E. H. Wohlfahrt of Dallas.

Eleven One-Putt Greens

The other semi-finalist was Mrs. J. S. Tate of San Antonio, whose 11 one-putt greens were too much for Mrs. R. E. Winger, Fort Worth veteran, 3 and 2.

Brown-shirted Mrs. Goldthwaite slipped past Miss Kathryn Pearson of Houston one up.

Miss Jameson, whose victories have been so overwhelming she has played only 39 of 54 scheduled holes, found Mrs. Ralph Randolph of Dallas easy to handle, 6 and 4.

Dana Bible Expects Current To Be Swift In Coming Football Campaign But His Longhorns Expected To Make Headway

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Second of a series dealing with 1937 prospects of Southwest conference football teams, as seen after spring training, today views the University of Texas).

AUSTIN, April 30 (AP)—Dana Xenophon Bible—the man on the spot—knows the current will be swift in the Southwest conference next fall but believes his boys "will make a little headway."

"We're not two or three deep along the battle front," mused Bible, making his re-entry into the circuit as University of Texas skipper, "but we'll have backs with speed, linemen with size and a team with spirit.

"The current will be moving swiftly every Saturday but we'll be trying to make headway. Loss of valuable men by graduation will leave big shoes to fill but we have a great bunch of sophomores and a hard-working squad."

The former Nebraska and Texas A. and M. mentor, who dipped the pen in the ink for a $15,000, ten-year contract for Texas, was particularly pleased with the showing of sophomores in spring drills. For the all-important ball-handling fullback he mentioned Lewis Gray, 185-pound triple-threater from John Tarleton junior college and Clyde Prestwood, Navasota, scaling 210, as his best prospects. Hugh Wolfe, sparkplug of last year's team and Wallace Lawson, another veteran, looked good.

Jints Slam Lightly As Mungo Twirls

BY EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK, April 30 (AP)—Our Jints (National league champions, too) were hitting only (ouch!) .203 for the season when Van Mungo got through with them Wednesday . . . Dodger fans had a good time chanting, "Swing high, swing low, you can't hit Mungo," as the big fellow breezed his fireball across . . . Bill Terry made wholesale shifts in his batting order yesterday and the Jints fattened their individual and collective averages at bat . . . Note to Red Ruffing: You had better come on home while the coming is good. Red . . . The enemy has averaged only 2 1-2 runs per game off Yankee pitching so far.

Fred Perry, the tennis star, who saw his first baseball game in Washington the other day, still is looking for the pitcher's box . . . The little birds keep insisting Paul Dean is being measured for a Columbus or Rochester uniform.

If Tony Canzoneri regains his lightweight crown from Lou Ambers next week, he'll defend it against Pedro Montanez and then head for London and Australia, where the pickings are said to be more than good . . . If Tony loses, he'll quit the ring and become a gentleman farmer at Marlsboro, N. Y. . . . He has quite a joint up there . . . Almost 200 acres, with a 25-room hotel and a golf course in the making . . . Tony looks good

NOTICE FARMERS!

In accordance with news item appearing in the Lubbock Morning Avalanche Wednesday, April 28, 1937, a quantity of misbranded cotton seed has been distributed in your territory, represented to be SUMMEROUR'S HALF & HALF of our production.

Legal steps have been taken to stop the further sale of such seed, but we desire to warn innocent farmers who may have purchased such inferior seed that such should not be planted, as genuine. Doubtless your own native seed is better.

Our genuine seed has always been offered in our widely known regular trade-mark brand, being a balance scale in red with "Half and Half Cotton" in blue. The inferior seed was offered in similar bags with very slight difference. We have arranged with the Armstrong Transfer and Storage Co., 702 Texas Ave, Lubbock, for you to compare the misbranded package and seed with the genuine SUMMEROUR's HALF and HALF. Check your seed stock with bags on display there, if possible. You may know the genuine seed by bag being produced by FULTON BAG COMPANY, Atlanta, and the misbranded seed in bag produced by CHASE BAG CO., Dallas. The bag maker's name appears in small letters at very bottom line of bag under our address of Norcross, Ga. Another difference is the tags on bags . . . the genuine seed are tagged with our regular shipping tag which shows on reverse side that our seed is treated with CERESAN. Inferior seed is not so tagged. Genuine seed is tagged with Texas seed labels prepared in typewriter type by your state authorities at Austin for us. The inferior seed carry a Texas Seed label which has been overprinted with regular printers type in which a typographical error shows "Company" misspelled "Sompany".

We are confident the bag makers and printers were innocently misled but we must use every means to advise you of this confusion. Check your stock, see the display at Armstrong Transfer and Storage, 702 Texas Ave., Lubbock.

We keep permanent records in our office on all of our customers. We want the names of every farmer who bought the inferior seed. Please write us direct to Georgia, if you have purchased these inferior seed or are confused and want more information.

SO IT'S FOOTBALL season again. Most any broad-shouldered young man you'd bump into on the Tech campus will tell you that any season is football season here. When they aren't playing it, they're living, thinking and studying it — when they aren't practicing.

Spring practice continues for several days after tonight's game, the Red Raiders still having some time left on the 36-day allotment, and some of it will be very tough indeed. Tonight's game will unveil a lot of faults and errors, which will come in for a good ironing out during the next couple of weeks.

THERE'S COMPETITION IN THE STANDS TONIGHT

If fair weather prevails, the Tech stadium will be a full house tonight as Tech attempts to draw to its present supply of students and athletes.

High school seniors, band members and football players are free guests, and there is quite a number of them scattered here and there over the section. The idea, of course, is to acquaint these visitors with Lubbock and Texas Tech in such a way as to make the school appealing. They'll be graduating in another month, and it is designed that a lot of 'em will make tracks for Lubbock when they receive the high school sheepskin.

So it's your town and your school for the day, high schoolers, and you're to make the most of it. You realize, of course, that you're supposed to come back next September and register as students, but what's a little open and above board proselyting between chums?

All of tonight's competition won't be on the gridiron between Mack Saxon's Miners and Cawthon's Scarlet Crusaders. There'll be plenty of that, and don't be too free with your wagers. This Miner squad is little, but it's tough, and plenty. Saxon has two men to Cawthon's four, and they'll all be out there digging in tonight. Sometimes two men can become better organized than four.

But about this other competition. Saxon sailed in yesterday, driving an auto occupied by his regular backfield—the rest of the team followed in a bus—and pretty soon he was saying, "Boy, we didn't come just to win a ball game—we're here to advertise Texas School of Mines, and believe me, son, we're gonna put out the dope. We have publicity men from the town and the school weighted down with literature information about Texas Mines, they're going to circulate it ple

"It's nice of you fellows have a big fiesta and invite all the high school seniors a football players. It saves us t trouble. All we have to do n is circulate among 'em and t 'em about Texas Mines. Ho you have a good time, Bo."

If old Mack wasn't such a scout, we'd call that a dirty t but power to him if he can ge with it. He explained that the sort of campaigning was done Hardin-Simmons tossed its school party the other day. were there in force, loaded with erature, and I'll bet we get share of those free guests at Hardin-Simmons."

Mack hauled up in front of gymnasium late yesterday with hungry boys, Quarterback Ken Heineman, Fullback Mike Bal jr., and Halfbacks O. P. May Ross Moore, his regular backf and explained his mission, not getting to say that he had a ball club. He put the bee on Williams for a bundle of passes was in turn stung for a ten-seegar. He's a jovial, genial tleman, this Saxon who used to football for Pete Cawthon a li and we imagine his boys get a out of playing ball for him. T call him "Mack," and treat him one of them.

In Kenneth Heineman, Ma has a young quarterback "wh be the greatest star in Sout western football in another co ple of years." He passes li Sammy Baugh, punts like J Neill and runs like Bobby W son, if you listen to Saxon. V saw him chunking that ap around last night, and he's rig about that. He got off some f boots, too—30, 35, 65 yards, the air. Moore is another go kicker, place or punt. You'll s some aerial works out there t evening.

Mike Balenti, Jr., is a husky pound fullback who worked out the Tech squad last fall before ing further west. He's from A Oklahoma, and was well liked w he came here. Cawthon likes dian boys, and a lot of them produced. Mike is regular full on the Miner team, "and doin swell job of it." He came in f lot of ribbing last night when went on the field in a Miner and when the Red Raiders

Stay-At-Home Fishermen May Find Solace In Radios

DALLAS, April 30. (AP)—Black bass addicts who can't make it to their favorite fishing grounds when the season opens Saturday may turn to their radios for solace of a sort.

Marcus Evans, superintendent of White Rock lake and hatchery, is set to strap a short-wave radio transmitter to his back and give radio listeners a cast-by-cast description of the opening fishing season there.

He even has it worked out where, he promised, he would cap the program by making a big brook bass rise to the surface to strike at his lure—close enough for the microphone to catch the sound.

Evans was state bait casting champion several years ago. The broadcast will come from WFAA, Dallas.

The previous lap record of 124.018 miles an hour was set by Leon Duray in 1928.

Net Wizards Of Japan And U. S. Paired Off Today

SAN FRANCISCO, April 30 (AP)—Tennis stars from opposite sides of the Pacific set their sights today to fire opening shots in Davis cup zone battles bringing together the net wizards of Japan and the United States.

The "luck of the draw" paired off America's top ranking ace, Don Budge, with Japan's No. 2 man, Fumiteru Nakano, in the initial singles event.

Jiro Yamagishi, champion of his country and captain of the team, drew Frankie Parker of Milwaukee for the second singles encounter, including the first of the three-day competition.

The series opened with Uncle Sam's court aces favored to turn back the invading squad although a 1-1 tie loomed as a distinct possibility for the end of the first day.

That Girl on Broadway says in this day and time anyone can discuss the constitution almost as well as if he had read it.

The Christian Science Monitor offers this bit of history, in a humorous vein:

"At one time during the War Between the States, Gen. George B. McClellan, then in command of the Union forces, was conducting a waiting campaign. So careful was he in avoiding mistakes that little headway was evident. President Lincoln thereupon wrote him a letter.

"'My dear McClellan: If you don't want to use the army I should like to borrow it for awhile. Yours respectfully, A. Lincoln!'"

CORONATION of an English king-emperor usually occurs only once in a generation and doubtless a coronation procession is something to watch with interest and to carry in memory to one's grave.

Yet if The Plainsman had the time and the money to go to England or to the European continent only one time, he would not go over for the coronation hullabaloo—that is, unless he could stay for a considerable period after all the comic opera costumes go back into the mothballs and modern England begins to look like modern England again.

The time to see Washington is not during an inauguration rush.

By the same token, the time to see any foreign country is when it is rocking along in the even tenor of its way and not when it is "all dressed up and no place to go".

Just as New Orleans at Mardi Gras is not the New Orleans of the other 51 weeks of the year, Coronation London is not "average". And if one can't see strange lands and cities as they usually are, he's not seeing a great deal.

Anent the jolly little breezes we have been having of late, someone has sent in the following verse, labeled only "Dust":

The dust lies thick upon my window sill.
All night the wind was furious and fast;
Twixt sleep and wakefulness I heard it fill
The world with turmoil as it hurried past.
With housewife's zeal employed meanwhile I ponder
On foolish prophets from the temple thrust,
What Caesar, what once lovely lip, I wonder,
Made contribution to this transient dust?
That's a pretty doggone good thought, as we see it.

NO doubt recalling The Plainsman's opposition to "parking slot machines", Congressman George Mahon has sent a copy of the Washington, D. C., Daily News in which appears a story to the effect that the nation's capital may adopt the gadgets which thus far have been little more than a "noble experiment" in Lubbock.

Incidentally, the Washington News story brings out some information that representatives of the parking meter firm failed to mention here and which, mayhap, not even the members of the City commission—who voted 100 per cent for them—know. In short, the meters aren't proving such a howling success as we have heard down here.

Only 30 cities in the U. S. have them and a portion of that 30 have the meters on a trial basis only.

Six other cities have had the meters, tried them and taken them out. In other words, in one out of every six towns—including those towns still in the trial period—the meters have proven unsatisfactory.

Furthermore, income from the meters has not proven equal to the merry claims of manufacturers. The latter have pitched their sales talks on an average "take" of 37 1-2 cents per day per meter, but even meters located in the busiest sections of cities trying them have averaged only 30 cents per day per each. Others, located away from the push and the rush, have turned in a good deal less, according to the Washington paper which does not oppose trying the meters in the capital.

INTERESTING is Kansas City's experience with the little doodads. On the initial order, K. C. contracted for 3,000 meters but only 1935 have been installed. Because the meters didn't pan out, financially, as well as expected, the balance of the order likely will not be filled there.

Kansas City city dads made a pretty good trade with the meter company, which expects to get $57 per meter out of Lubbock if and when the courts rule they are anything more or less than an additional tax on the motorist. Here was the deal:

Kansas City was to take title to all the meters installed after eight months, whether or not they had been used enough to pay for themselves. During the eight-month period the city was to get 15 per cent, the company 85 of the nickels thus dribbled away.

The Plainsman doesn't believe the meters will ever go in Lubbock because he doesn't believe the people will stand for them. This dope is being passed along merely to let readers in on what is going on in other places—and to bear out the argument heard here that the meter companies make many a different deal in order to get their machines into operation.

GOING back to Washington just a minute before knocking off for the day, there is a big rookus going on up there about a proposed memorial for Thomas Jefferson.

Those opposing the memorial point out that the site picked out for it is subject to flood waters and, if constructed where planned, it will cause to be taken up many of the cherry trees, given this country by Japan and which, when in bloom, offer a beauty spot known the world over.

Although an ardent admirer of Mister Jefferson, The Plainsman can't understand why Washington is so interested in building a memorial to him, unless the majority of the boys up there are ashamed of the way they have been blasting his theories of real democracy!

'Eve's Orchard'

BY MARGARET WIDDEMER
Copyright, 1937, NEA Service, Inc.

SYNOPSIS: When Eve Mansersfield learns that her beloved Denny Carter is to wed wealthy Mitzi, she is shattered. Resuming her aunt's baking business, she finds contentment in her old house and orchard in Connecticut. Old Uncle Henry, who helps her run the place, and serious little Judge Featherstone, whose parents have left him with Eve, adore her. She forgets Denny. But not until George Cleveland, her steady, dependable neighbor, leaves abruptly, does Eve realize she keenly misses George who has been friend and helper to her through the summer.

Chapter 37
It's Love!

Eve did miss George—intensely, achingly. She might not be in love with him as she had been with Denny. No, not as she had been with Denny—that was what had betrayed her. She missed George as if some part of herself was gone. A lack as enormous and unbearable as starvation, as deprivation of breath and light.

She laughed aloud, with the incredible delight of it. She loved George! More than that, she was a part of him, of everything he was and said and did, as he was of her. That was why the Kay girl had thought they were married. In a thousand ways they were married, as much as they ever could be. In this summer they had spent together welded by their pleasures and duties, by their mutual interest and care for the child and the old man, they had grown as close as most people do in five married years. And they would go on all their lives as close as this, wonderfully closer than this; their children, their work and play, building a oneness more and more effortless and complete.

She leaned there, dazzled and breathless against the laden boughs, understanding. This was why she had so swiftly forgotten Denny! Why—she had not really loved Denny, she saw now. The hurt of his desertion, wounded pride, had been a great part of her grief. If love was needing a man as you needed sun and air and food and water and sleep, she had never loved Denny; it had been thrill, excitement, kisses and laughter. There would be all these with George—but how much more!

"How much more!" she said aloud, sobered and reverent, pacing down the orchard trail. And then smiled a little, planning how she would tell him when he came back. . . . And what a stupid idiot she had been! Why, no wonder he had been angry with her! He had asked her again to marry her in those few hesitating words last night by the hissing fireplace. And she must have seemed to ignore, to evade. . . . Well, she'd make it up to him!

She had never once said to him, or to anyone, anything about Denny. But she thought they must know. Two months had gone by now without her seeing Denny or hearing from him; Uncle Henry had a countryman's watchfulness about small happenings, and she knew talked most things over with George. They discussed her welfare affectionately. She knew that from Judge. Besides with George's mother at a Southampton hotel, and Mitzi Power in a house there, it wasn't likely he didn't know. None of which mattered at all.

She planned the words in which she would tell George—a dozen ways, as lovers will, as she walked singing down the path.

With Dreaming Eyes

She went on with her work blithely. She swam and played tennis with the Gardiners and their friends, using George's place, as they always did, whether he was there or not. She walked with burning cheeks and dreaming eyes and quick laughter, waiting till George came home. She was chatelaine for George, as she had so often been before, but now more proudly.

The Gardiners wanted to know if some of the current group of weekend guests could dress in George's house instead of coming and going in bathing suits, as most of them did. She went in to tell Mattie, asking the nominal permission she was accustomed to give.

"Mr. Georgie is coming back Monday instead of Tuesday," Mattie informed her as Eve stood in the doorway of the long parlor. "He's bringin' some people with him, but the connection was bad, and I couldn't make out was it a party or just one person. What would you do about ordering if you was me?"

Eve was used to solving Mattie's problems for her.

"Get two chickens," she said promptly. "If you roast them, you can save one cold for lunches and picnics and so on if there isn't a party, and it will be enough if there is. Adriano can pick enough beans and green stuff after they come, one way or the other."

Mattie said, relieved, "Yes, and wouldn't you make an apricot mousse? It would mellow the second day even if it wasn't used."

"Fine!" said Eve.

She lingered a moment, looking down the room where she stood into the back room George used for a study and laboratory. There was her own lacquer cabinet. George still used it for his records, and for seeds. She went over and pulled open a drawer. It was full of sheets covered with notes in George's small upright hand. She looked down at it, dreaming. The papers would eventually go into a filing cabinet, she knew; but the cabinet would never go to Mrs. Cleveland now. Some day children would use it again for storehouse and playhouse.

Ann Gardiner rapped on a pane, and she ran out to her. Presently she was lying with the group in the late afternoon sun. They were her guests now as much as George's.

'Eve, I've Done It!'

They went on talking and playing. She lived on in her mist of excitement and anticipation. George would be back tomorrow night. Maybe tomorrow afternoon. . . .

It was earlier even than that. Eve heard the car while she was working at the kitchen table late Monday morning. She stood still, rolling out crust, the crisp organdy apron George liked over the rose-colored linen. Presently he would come down across the orchard, he would lean in, sunburnt and smiling, at her window.

But the steps—on the porch, not under the window—were quicker and lighter than any man's. She heard Ellen's clicking heels. She turned to the kitchen door, and saw Ellen running in, all flushed and gay, a bright silk cape streaming out behind her and her usually smooth hair loosened and wind-blown. She ran around the table and caught Eve in her arms, kissing her in a wild way as unlike Ellen as the rest of it.

Adriano had brought in a great basket of pale yellow and bright pink-cheeked apples. The scent of them standing on the table rose as Ellen talked. Eve always remembered that scent of apples.

"Eve, Eve, I've done it—I've done it! I saw George in the audience Saturday night. I couldn't stand it any longer. I sent him a note to wait, and I told him, out in the car, after the show, I told him I couldn't stand living without him any longer. I told him that I didn't care whether he loved me or not, I loved him so. And we're going to be married. Oh, Eve, aren't you glad? Eve, isn't it wonderful?"

Eve made herself kiss Ellen with stiff lips, and heard herself saying brightly, affectionately: "Yes, it is wonderful, Ellen dear. I'm glad."

VANDENBERG ON OUR UNEMPLOYED

When Senator Vandenberg took issue with the Department of Labor recently, declaring that he estimated the number of unemployed at not more than 2,975,000, he made use of the old age pension law registration which reported 26,000,000. Both his premises and his conclusions were challenged by officials of the Department of Labor.

New partisans have come into the dispute. Senator Carter Glass backs Vandenberg. The Social Security board is out with a statement supporting his calculations. All of which proves, not that the Michigan senator was correct in his estimate of the number of unemployed, but that he was absolutely right that so important a matter should not be the subject of guesswork.

"We should have an accurate, authentic census of the unemployed," said Senator Vandenberg. "We need to know precisely who is unemployed; where they are; why they are unemployed, and whether it is their involuntary or habitual status."

Several reasons have been advanced for our not having a complete census of the unemployed, among them being that there are fewer unemployables than certain lobbying groups want the nation to believe, hence nose-counting has been side-stepped. But until we do have a census none of the figures, whether they be "Madame Secretary's", organized labor's, the U. S. Chamber of Commerce's or Senator Vandenberg's, can—or should—carry any weight with the general public.

A Thought . .

Thus saith the Lord, the God of Israel; For I will set mine eyes upon them for good, and I will bring them again to this land: and I will build them up, and not pull them down; and I will plant them, and not pluck them up.—Jeremiah 24:6.

Hollywood Chit-Chat

BY PAUL HARRISON
Journal Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, April 30.—To the astonishment of everybody, including himself, Director William Dieterle blew up the other day and ordered everybody off the set of "The Life of Emile Zola." As the climax to a trying day, the casting office had sent him an actor who lisped.

This is the first time Mr. Dieterle is known to have blown up about anything, except press agents. He doesn't like publicity, and he probably won't like this story, either. Mrs. Dieterle, though, would like to get his name in the newspapers, so now and then she tries hiring a press agent for him. The press agent lasts just long enough to ask him for his life story.

He really is a shy and gentle man, and wouldn't hurt a mouse. Indeed, he won't let his servants trap the mice around his house. Next to music, he most loves flowers, but his gardener is forbidden to kill the gophers and moles that are undermining his garden. Sometimes he shushes his entire household to keep it from frightening a bird.

He never fights with his studio about salary, and scarcely ever about picture assignments. As a result he has been badly imposed upon with a lot of second-rate pictures.

Dieterle has adopted an air of philosophic resignation about the film business anyway; he considers most flickers the purest balderdash and thinks that public taste is way ahead of Hollywood producers.

Most arguing he ever did was to persuade the studio to make "The Story of Louis Pasteur." After that triumph he seemed a natural selection for two other biographical features, "White Angel" and "Emile Zola." He'd rather film a story of Beethoven than direct "Gone With the Wind."

Accent On Gloves

Much more attention has been paid by correspondents (myself included) to Dieterle's white glovers than to his meticulous and otherwise excellent work. These gloves are a perfect complement to his rather startling ensemble. While bossing Paul Muni, Gale Sondergaard, and others in the Zola picture, he wears canvas shoes, creaseless white pants, clean but ancient shirts, a farmer-boy straw hat and the gloves—about six pairs of them daily. His shoes are size 11D—each large enough for both of Greta Garbo's feet—and he is 6 feet 4 inches tall. He looks like a stand-in for a scarecrow.

Hollywood considers the gloves a ludicrous affectation. Fact is that he wears them merely to keep his hands clean. Dieterle is germ-conscious. One of his hobbies is peering through a microscope.

He is 43 years old, was born in Germany, and became a leading man for Max Reinhardt. He promised Reinhardt he wouldn't have anything to do with modern pictures, but both recanted and three years ago they co-directed "A Midsummer Night's Dream." Dieterle, the realist, doesn't have much to say about that misadventure in fantasy.

The director plays the piano and the organ. Also he is Hollywood's best chess player, but that is small tribute to his skill because scarcely anybody in talkie-town knows a rook from a pawn. He owns a cheap car, and, on days when it is in use by Mrs. Dieterle, he borrows his Chinese houseboy's 1924 roadster.

Dieterle is a vegetarian by inclination, but most of the time he subsists on a scarecrow diet, to the despair of his excellent cook. Sometimes he weakens and indulges in an orgy of pastries. He is interested in astrology, and even starts his pictures by the stars.

The Lad's Gifted

Speaking of hocus-pocus, there is a prominent actor here who believes himself endowed with rather frightening occult powers. He's getting hollow-eyed and jumpy thinking about it, and his friends are about to risk his fury by telling him it's all just a joke.

Director Kurt Neumann told me the story. It started at a party where the actor admitted that he was interested in mind-reading and the like. The other guests decided to humor him, so they suggested that he experiment on them.

Every time he guessed at a number they were supposed to have agreed upon, they'd tell him he was right. He foretold a telephone call at two minutes after midnight, so one of the men slipped out and arranged for a friend to call at exactly that time.

He got to worrying about the health of one of the guests, so the latter—who was sleepy anyway—pretended to be taken violently ill and went home.

The gag has been taken up by about a hundred people now, and none of them has disillusioned the jittery victim.

Holders of the Victoria Cross, the Albert Medal in gold and the Edward Medal in silver will be provided free Coronation parade seats in London.

The fox wraps his tail about him like a comforter when he goes to sleep.

Rodney Dutcher Gives Aluminum Trust A Few Reasons Why It Faces Federal Court Action

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 30 — The $174,000,000 Aluminum Company of America, sued for dissolution in an anti-trust suit by the Department of Justice, is "at a loss to understand" why it is being prosecuted.

All, however, eventually will be made clear. Perhaps no one will ever quite explain why Roosevelt waited four years before having his attorney general take some such action against the "aluminum trust." But here is a bit of confidential tipoff for the Mellons and their associates:

1—The suit is a vital test case for the anti-trust laws. The government isn't certain that the Supreme court hasn't so devitalized those laws as to make them ineffective. But it believes that if there is any business group which can be successfully prosecuted under the monopoly laws, it is the aluminum company's organization.

2—The administration, as previously reported in these dispatches, is worried about price inflation. It thinks the threat of a crash resulting from price inflation comes chiefly from industries in which prices are controlled. It says that after aluminum company profits increased from $9,571,000 in 1935 to $20,866,000 in 1936, and looked certain to increase in 1937, the corporation still went ahead and raised prices a few weeks ago.

3—Most important of all, for the first time since anyone can remember, the assistant attorney general in charge of the department's anti-trust law division is a man who means business. Assist. Atty. Gen. Robert H. Jackson will be no stranger to the owners of aluminum company. He prosecuted the Mellon tax case.

Politicians of both parties have howled about monopoly for decades. This isn't the first time something has been done about it, but for present-day purposes, it's much the most important.

Anti-Trust Unit Shaken Up

In time past, during that long period when Andrew W. Mellon was secretary of the treasury, the aluminum company received various consents for its practices from the Department of Justice. And there were no prosecutions. Surprising as it may seem, a certain amount of shaking up and cleaning up of personnel in the anti-trust division has been considered necessary since the new assistant attorney general took charge.

There was an embarrassing moment more than 10 years ago when Atty. Gen. Harlan Fiske Stone, a newcomer here, decided the aluminum company should be prosecuted. Andrew Mellon showed enthusiasm over Stone's availability for the Supreme court and President Coolidge appointed Stone to a seat on that bench, where he still functions vigorously. After attempting to appoint a lawyer whose connection with another trust led to public outcry, Coolidge named to succeed Stone an old friend from Vermont. He developed the sitdown technique in official position to a new high point and regaled newspaper correspondents with fishing stories.

Senator Tom Walsh was named attorney general by Roosevelt. He promised one of his first acts would be to bring suit against the aluminum trust. But he died before he had the chance. Atty. Gen. Homer S. Cummings never got around to it until just the other day. But Cummings has always been politically-minded and completely loyal to the White House, so it is fair to assume that the President never pushed him on it very hard. It is also fair to assume that one big reason the aluminum company hasn't heard from the Department of Justice before is that Roosevelt favored instead the NRA idea and its provisions for suspension of anti-trust laws. And it does take a lot of time to prepare an anti-trust

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, April 30. (AP)—Cotton futures opened very steady, 18 to 21 higher, on firmer Liverpool cables and more reassuring reports on foreign financial conditions May 12.94, Jly 12.93; Oct 12.71; Dec 12.70; Jan 12.73; Mch 12.75.

Trading was only moderately active and while there was some good trade, foreign and scattered buying the initial advance was credited almost as much to the absence of any heavy selling.

The initial advance of about $1 a bale attracted some liquidation and local selling. The undertone was still nervous and with a few May notices circulating near month liquidation developed and the general list became easier shortly after the first half hour.

July reacted from 12.98 to 12.85, leaving quotations 2 to 9 points net higher.

Liverpool rallied on an improved technical position and scattered buying.

Prices moved nervously later in the morning with foreign houses turning sellers as scattered liquidation appeared. Reactions from initial highs were extended to 13 to 18 points or within 2 to 8 points of the previous close. Some trade and commission house buying then absorbed the offerings and with quiet conditions developing the market was about steady at midday at net advances of 9 to 11 points.

July recovered from 12.81 to 12.86.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, April 30. (AP)—Cotton futures jumped 14 to 19 points on today's opening trades. The gains were attributed to considerable short covering and buying induced by strength in Liverpool.

The major gains were shown by new crop positions, apparently because it was believed that recent rainfall in the central belt was not conducive to good germination.

Some commentators pointed out that the rise today was but a normal reaction to yesterday's drop in the final hour of trading which, they said, left the market in a stronger technical position.

May contracts opened at 12.75, July at 12.82, Oct at 12.67, Dec. 12.76, Jan 12.77 and March at 12.80.

Toward the end of the first half hour some profit taking developed and prices reacted 10 to 12 points from the early highs.

Enough demand developed during the morning to absorb scattered selling and at mid-session active positions were trading at levels 13 to 19 points above the previous close.

May sold at 12.74, July at 12.81, Oct at 12.66, and Dec at 12.74. Jan. was inactive and kept at its opening figure of 12.77, or 21 points net higher.

Notices for 300 bales of May cotton were issued in the big ring today, but apparently were stopped promptly.

Trading which had been brisk during the early part of the morning session tapered off and was quiet around mid-session.

The detailed weather map showed considerable rain in the eastern half of the belt and mostly dry weather in the west.

Temperatures ranged from normal to somewhat above.

Stock Market

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, April 30. (AP)—Rails, ably abetted by steels and other leading industrials, put rallying power behind today's stock market.

Gains of fractions to 6 or more points appeared at the opening in fast dealings. Volume, however, contracted later and extreme advances were chipped off moderately in many instances near the fourth hour.

Inspiring the rally, brokers said, was a sizable amount of short covering, drying up of foreign selling, reinvestment demand and improvement in the recently weak markets of London and Paris.

Carrier loans pushed up briskly in the bond department and U. S. governments were higher. Commodities were mixed.

Shares of Santa Fe hit a new top for the year of longer, up about 4 at the best. There was a delayed opening in Bethlehem Steel. It finally came out with a block of 3,000 shares, ahead 4 3-4 points. It eventually lost some of this. Westinghouse got up 6 or so on a small turnover and J. I. Case as much.

Five-Day Week Is Announced For Gulf Oil Employes

HOUSTON, April 30 (AP)—The Gulf Oil corporation announced today all employes in the production and pipeline departments in the Houston, Fort Worth and Shreveport areas would go on a five day week basis May 1.

The refining department of the company had already announced the same work schedule several days ago.

Today Is Deadline To Make Renditions On Property

The final day for rendering property for taxes brought minor rushes today to offices of the county assessor-collector at the courthouse, to the city assessor at the city hall, and to district school offices at 1007 Texas avenue.

With exception of brief, occasional periods, however, waiting lines were not formed although clerks were kept steadily busy taking renditions. The proportion of assessments made, especially at the county collector's office, was somewhat higher than former years although tentative totals cannot be made for several weeks to come.

Property not rendered by owners, officials explained, must necessarily be placed on unrendered rolls.

Woman Slayer Granted Bail

FORT WORTH, April 30. (AP)—Still contending that she did not intentionally kill her husband, Mrs. Edna Burnside, 35, was released on bond of $10,000 Thursday afternoon after she was charged in Justice of the Peace Marvin Beaty's court with murder.

John A. Burnside, 35, cement finisher, died in a hospital Wednesday night a few hours after he was shot with a pistol at his home.

Bond Recommended

A habeas corpus hearing which had been set for 4 p. m. in criminal district court was not held after Assistant District Attorney Dawson Davis completed his investigation and recommended bond of $10,000 for the defendant.

Before being released Mrs. Burnside made a written statement to Davis and A. C. Howerton, city homicide officer. She said that she did not know the pistol was loaded when she pointed it in the direction of her husband and pulled the trigger.

The shooting climaxed a quarrel in which Mrs. Burnside told her husband that she was going on a sit-down strike until he made her a living.

Approximately 1,500 paid admissions are expected.

Two Huge Chemical Trucks Of Oil Company Destroyed

ALBANY, April 30. (AP)—Two huge chemical trucks of an oil well chemical company were destroyed by fire early Thursday when sparks ignited oil at a well being treated with acid.

The loss was set at $6,000. The trucks, belonging to a Breckenridge, Texas, firm, caught fire as they were acidizing the Owens Snebold Oil corporation and Putnam Supply company No. 2 well on the D. A. Ivey farm in Shackelford county.

At noon the well was opened and cleaned itself. On open flow into tanks it made 24 barrels the first hour. Operators estimated the well good for 400 barrels.

State Witness Reported Ill

WATONGA, Okla., April 30. (AP)—Nelson Crow, Blaine county attorney, said last night he feared the critical illness of a principal state witness may find the state unprepared to prosecute a Blaine county abortion murder charge set for preliminary hearing May 14.

Mrs. Della Moore, 57, self-styled farm midwife, is charged in the death last Saturday of Miss Merl Williams, comely 21 year old Clinton girl. Her husband, John Moore, farmer, is named as co-defendant.

May Prove Fatal

Crow said the witness, whose name was withheld, was in a Kansas hospital suffering from a throat ailment which may prove fatal. He said the man had signed a statement he took Miss Williams to the Moore home at Longdale, near here.

Unless the witness has recovered sufficiently to be released from the hospital, Crow said the state may not be ready.

Milton Keen, Custer county attorney, said today six women made sworn statements they submitted to illegal operations at the hands of Mrs. Moore. Keen is assisting Crow in prosecution.

Another section of western Oklahoma was involved in the widespread investigation which followed the search of the Moore home.

Keen said he had evidence an abortion business had been carried on near Mountain View in Kiowa county, south of here. He said he would aid in a Kiowa investigation after the Blaine case is closed.

At Hobart, Paul Y. Cunningham, Kiowa county attorney, said Keen's assertions were the first he had heard of an abortion establishment at Mountain View.

Fishing Season

plump crappie to show the neighbors and eventually eat.

Wichita Falls planned a fishing tournament at Lake Kemp and other nearby waters with big prizes for the best bass and crappie. They even offered a trophy for the man who brought in th biggest carp, definitely a boon for the colored contingent. Bridgeport, near Lake Bridgeport northwest of Fort Worth, also had a tournament scheduled.

There and at Eagle Mountain lake, part of Fort Worth's city water system, they long ago quit measuring perch by the inch. They figure them by the pound. It's getting to be the same way at Lake Waco, and Caddo perch have for years been almost legendary for their size and quantity.

The fast, clear streams of West Texas, notably Brady creek, the Frio and upper Nueces, the Guadalupe, the Llanos and others were due to get a big play from the fishing artists who like small-mouth black bass. Fish in these streams are famed for their fighting qualities. There are also plenty of large mouth bass, channel cats, goggle eyes and bream.

Sporting goods houses were wallowing in lather of good business. One Dallas establishment exhibited a big yellow catfish and a mess of channel cat in its front entrance, making prospective buyers pushovers for salesmen who did not have to open their mouths.

Santa Fe lake at Justiceburg, operated by a group of Slaton men, is all ready for the season to open. New cabin has been built, some new boats added and there will be plenty of fish, as the lake has been well stocked the past season. It is one of the popular places in the South Plains section. Heavy rains of the fall and winter have filled the lake.

Two Draw lake and Bill Donaldson's lake at Post are ready for the season's opening. Two Draw, managed by the chamber of commerce at Post has been improved by a committee headed by Eddie Warren, editor of the Dispatch. Fishing is expected to be a greater attraction than ever. Thousands of fish have been placed in the two lakes since last summer.

New for anglers is Buffalo Springs, nine or ten miles southeast of Lubbock, where a good supply of fish has been added to the already large number. The location is close to Lubbock and is only a short run by automobile.

Warning To Get Licenses For Fishing Issued

Reminder to those who plan to do something about the opening of fishing season Saturday that they must obtain licenses to use artificial lures was given by Chief Deputy County Clerk Louie Moore today.

The fee is $1.10, the license expiring next August 31. Licenses are not required of those using natural bait.

Five licenses issued today were listed by Moore as being to Mrs. H. J. Kendrick, Lubbock; E. R. Evans, Shallowater; George D. Goen of Anton; L. E. Marshall of Levelland; and J. H. Goodrich of Lubbock.

departments in Washington as well as that of private firms in establishing classing schools.

Oscar Johnston, cotton expert and vice-president of the Commodity Credit corporation, warned last night that unless world cotton markets were obtained by reduced tariffs the south may compete with the west and east in grain production and industry.

"We can grow corn and hogs and produce dairy products in the south," he said, "while the middle west can't grow cotton."

Shrubs and trees should be transplanted in the fall, winter and early spring.

Brief Bits Of News . .

Albaugh To Acidize—The Ray Albaugh et al No. 1 John Robinson, Dawson county wildcat well, is to be acidized Sunday, Albaugh was credited with saying while here last night. A new location in section 63 also is to be made shortly, he said.

W. H. Gore Here—W. H. Gore, field supervisor for the Resettlement administration, was here this morning meeting Marvin C. Wilson, county supervisor and P. P. Murray, field man. He left for Plainview.

Supports Maxine Fry — Burnice Walker of Littlefield, who was disclosed Thursday night as having been ruled ineligible as a candidate for president of Texas Tech student council, today declared his active support of Miss Maxine Fry, a "dark horse" nominee for the same position. Walker's ineligibility, the announcement said, was based on the finding that he did not carry a sufficient number of hours last semester. Walker insisted today that the action against him was based on a technicality never previously enforced, and he charged that his failure to take the required number of hours was due to his extra-curricular activities.

A. B. C. Hears Ward — Joe Ward, coach of the Thomas Jefferson high school, San Antonio, spoke today at the American Business club luncheon in the Hilton hotel. "Speedy" Moffett, Greenville, a former Big Spring A. B. C. member, also spoke.

Legislature

fire at a rule under which he said bills originating in the house could be considered in the senate only on Wednesdays and Thursdays and if not disposed of in that time would go over to the next Wednesday. A two-thirds vote of the senate only would be necessary to suspend the rule.

In the past, he said, such bills would merely go over until Friday, or be considered virtually without break, and the consent of the house would be required to set aside the rule.

Premium On Filibustering

Charging the rule "puts a premium on filibustering" and the senate calendar of house bills was "hopelessly clogged," the governor said:

"In other words, where heretofore, as a matter of right, a bill pending at adjournment on Thursday was still pending business Friday morning, it would now require 21 affirmative votes to secure this simple right which has been commonly recognized throughout the legislative history of Texas."

The rules would apply to a special session also, he said, asserting they would permit a minority of 11 in the senate to kill tax legislation if it wished.

"This power on the part of a minority to thwart final action on a bill even though it could command a majority for passage has been amply demonstrated again and again during this session," he said.

Further Objections Made

He further objected to a rule which he said would require a majority vote of all members of the senate, or 16, to bring a bill out of a senate committee on a minority report, whereas in the past only a majority of a quorum was necessary.

"A majority of a quorum can finally pass a bill if it is up for consideration," he said, "but a majority of the entire membership of the senate is required to bring a bill out of committee on minority report so that a mere majority can pass it. In other words, 11 of 21 members can finally pass a bill, but it would take 16 of 21 members to bring a bill out on minority report to get it where 11 can pass it."

He said it was "high time we adopt rules and procedure designed to protect the majority rather than the minority," and concluded:

"I charge that it is possible under present senate rules to block the will of the people of Texas by a minority vote."

NO MORAL ACTION

Chicken Theft Is Reported

Recurrence of chicken theft was reported to Lubbock police Thursday night.

Methods employed in the taking of 11 frying-size chickens at 1620 Seventeenth street reminded of activities of earlier culprits here. The heads were taken off in the chicken yard and left there. Evidently the thief pulled off each fowl's head when he caught it—to avoid possible noise.

Negroes Are Suspected

Negroes were suspected in the newest case, since there had been a "party" staged by them simultaneous with the date of the offense. Of two negroes taken to the police station for questioning one was being detained this morning.

A juvenile was "caught" taking electric fixtures from an untenanted house in 1700-block Twenty-seventh street.

A woman in 500-block Avenue O complained boys were "chunking" her with rocks and wanted them "scattered." They were "scattered."

A man who had been questioned in connection with the theft of money from a theater box office Wednesday night was not detained. His story sounded "straight."

The sheriff at Kermit, Winkler county, telephoned Lubbock and area authorities to be on watch for two runaway boys: Indications were they might have headed for Lubbock to attend band concerts here today and Saturday.

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 30. (AP)—Both houses of the Oklahoma legislature passed Thursday a bill continuing the three-cent a package cigaret tax, thus hurdling one big barrier to adjournment May 8.

An attempt to add cigars to the tax on a 10 percent basis was defeated. Cigars are subject to the state two percent sales tax.

A motor vehicle mileage tax bill was sent to Gov. Marland.

The house passed a $18,679,921 institutional appropriation bill, which goes to the senate.

A new conference committee report on a bill continuing the two percent sales tax was adopted in the house. The measure goes to the senate.

The senate passed with emergency clause and sent back to the house a bill appropriating $275,000 for weak schools to complete present terms. The house previously had rejected the emergency clause.

For months the Espana had harried the government coast line.

Only yesterday, she wirelessed a warning that she would fire upon any British merchant ship venturing within Bilbao harbor.

Today the whole dramatic incident off Spain's northwestern ledge took 2 1-2 hours, from the time the British steamer Brotra was attacked to the moment the Espana slid under the sea.

Just as the battleship foamed to the side of the Velasco to help her seize the British vessel, the alarm was sounded ashore. Rapidly the government planes took off from Santander, down the coast west of Bilbao.

Million-Dollar Blast Will Be Fired At Insects

WASHINGTON, April 30 (AP)—The agriculture department prepared today to fire a million-dollar poison blast against crop-devouring insect pests on the western farm front.

Secretary Wallace announced a grasshopper control campaign, on a national scale, will get under way early in May. A congressional appropriation of $1,000,000 is available for the war on grasshoppers, mormon crickets, chinch bugs and other insects, but the department plans to use the money chiefly for fighting the 'hoppers.

from the dressing room after their workout. But it was friendly ribbing.

There'll be a father-son "act" on the field tonight, although Saxon doesn't like for it to be termed an act, or a combination. Mike Balenti, Sr., the former Carlisle star who played with Jim Thorpe at the Indian school when the century was young, will be head-linesman tonight. Mike is one of the team's best running threats, and the elder Mike no doubt will get a large kick every time he moves the stake forward to indicate another first down when Little Mike is running.

Among visitors in the press box tonight will be one Blair Cherry, who not so long ago was chieftain of one of Lubbock's most deadly football rivals. He changes his geographical location by five hundred miles or so, but he's still a Lubbock football rival. He finds it convenient to visit friends and relations in Amarillo and Lubbock this weekend. And as long as he's here, he might as well do a bit of scouting and note-taking for the benefit of University of Texas, since he's a coach there now and since Tech pays a visit to Austin late in September.

Wouldn't be surprising to see some Arizona, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Louisiana coaches and maybe one or two from Montana and Michigan in the coop tonight. There's the rub in these spring games — opposing scouts and coaches have plenty of time to study over their notes.

It's football, king for a day, just now, but don't forget the big baseball attraction Sunday afternoon—

Sophomore line candidates who showed well included Glenn Jackson and Leon Upshaw, both centers. Bible hinted several veterans may have to scrap to retain their line posts.

"We have a good backfield, but we had trouble getting linemen ahead of the ball in spring drills. Our problem will be to improve the speed of the line and bring up our reserve strength."

The wealth of the United States in 1922 was estimated at $375,000,000,000, or about 40 per cent of the total wealth of the people in the world.

Lubbock vs. Amarillo. There's rivalry, too.
