Monkey Dies In Atlas Failure

Missile Is Destroyed

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A tiny monkey named Goliath died in the flaming explosion of an Atlas missile high over the Cape today.

The Air Force reported the missile when it became erratic in flight. Technicians began studying tapes of radio information relayed from the missile in an effort to learn what went wrong.

The missile was an advanced Atlas E model, this nation's most powerful military rocket. The earlier, more reliable Atlas D series will be used in the U.S. man-in-space program. A D Atlas is scheduled to boost a chimpanzee into orbit from the Cape next week and a man on an orbital flight hopefully by the end of the year.

If successful, the Atlas today would have covered the 5,000 miles in about 25 minutes. Two aircraft and a ship waited in the planned impact area to attempt recovery of the 12-foot-tall cone after it made a blazing dive back through the heat barrier of the earth's atmosphere from an altitude of 800 miles.

The test was another aimed at perfecting means of keeping man aloft in space flight. Tucked in other compartments in the experiment-loaded cone were fruit flies in various stages of life, insect eggs, bacteria and other biological specimens. These were to be studied for radiation and other effects.

The tiny little monkey, only six inches high and with a long tail, was not restrained by straps or other devices so that scientists could more readily learn his reaction to the stresses of rocket flight, especially the weird state of weightlessness. The monkey was trained to sip water from a rubber nipple when a light flashed on at intervals during the flight.

Goliath, a native of the Amazon jungle of South America, was in an aluminum cylinder one foot tall and one foot in diameter. To protect him from possible injury during the pulse-pounding trip, the sides were padded with a plastic foam.

A nylon net stretched over one side of the cylinder wall to give the animal something to hang on to. To one side of the net was the nipple, attached to a small canister of water.

Highway patrolmen investigated the mishap.

Estimates Hiked

On Grain Sorghum

WASHINGTON (AP)—Texas grain sorghum production of 234,328,000 bushels was forecast by the Agriculture Department Thursday. This is an increase of more than 5 million bushels over a month ago.

The estimate is down from 1960 production of 238,532,000 bushels, but well above the 149,134,000 average for 1952-53, and 193,000,000 average for the 1914-1930 period, but well above the 191,000,000 average for the past 10 years. The crop is grown under controls, backed by cash government payments. The agency made no change in the Texas corn outlook at 26,264,000 bushels, 1,250,000 bushels less than last year, and about 12 million bushels less than the 10-year average.

Rice production was forecast at 11,468,000 hundredweight, a drop of 200,000 from the Oct. 1 prediction when apparently the effects of Hurricane Carla had not been fully assessed. The 10-year average is 13,331,000 hundredweight. Texas orange production was estimated at 3,700,000 boxes and grapefruit at 6,500,000 boxes—the same as last month.

With harvests nearly over, 1961 crops nationally are expected to run about 3 per cent below last year's record high but 17 per cent above the 1949-49 average.

The Agriculture Department said that despite the reduction from 1960, ample supplies of all crops are expected. Besides corn and sorghum, small increases were predicted for cotton, peanuts and sweet potatoes. Small decreases were reported for soybeans, rice and sugar beets.

The estimate for corn grown for grain was up at 548 million bushels, up 21 million from last month, but down 243 million from last year. The sorghum grain crop was estimated at 60 million bushels, up nearly three million from last month, but down 127 million from last year.

Blue Law's First Test Coming Up

AUSTIN (AP)—The first test of Texas' new "blue law" comes this weekend with merchants facing a decision whether to sell a long list of items on Saturday or on Sunday.

The "Saturday or Sunday" closing law went into effect Tuesday. It says simply that 42 items cannot be offered for sale more than six days a week. A store operator may choose either Saturday or Sunday to take those items off their shelves or at least withhold them from sale.

The law is aimed at large discount stores which have been staying open seven days a week. The list of prohibited items, which includes cameras and toys, also will affect supermarkets and drug stores.

Some merchants staying open 7 days a week have indicated they will cover the prohibited items on one of the days.

The new law provides a $100 fine on first conviction with penalties up to $500 and six months in jail for subsequent convictions. The Attorney General ruled this week that a corporation owning more than one store cannot keep one open on Saturday and the other on Sunday.

The articles which must not be sold one day of the weekend are clothing, clothing accessories, wearing apparel, footwear, handbags, kitchen utensils, china, home appliances, stoves, refrigerators, air conditioners, electric fans, radios, television sets, washing machines, driers, jewelry, precious or semiprecious stones, silverware, watches, clocks, luggage, motor vehicles, musical instruments, toys (excluding items customarily sold as novelties and souvenirs), recordings, cameras, hardware, tools, bed coverings, household linens, floor coverings, lamps, draperies, blinds, curtains, mirrors, lawn mowers, cloth pieces, golf clubs, and home, office, business or outdoor furniture.

It also was the first American aerial mission to the Soviet Union's Mirny base. A Soviet mission flew direct from Mirny to McMurdo by way of the South Pole in 1956, and American scientists are regularly stationed at the Soviet base.

An Ohio State University biologist, Dr. Madison Pryor, made the flight to Mirny but remained there. He is to spend the coming year at the Soviet base under the scientific exchange system the United States and the Soviet Union carry on in the antarctic.

Adm. David M. Tyree, commander of Operation Deep Freeze, said an intense fire broke out on the Neptune's flight deck just after the takeoff and apparently the heavy smoke obscured the vision of the pilot and copilot. There were suggestions also that they were affected by fumes.

The Navy said the crashed personnel killed in the crash were Lt. Cmdr. William Douglas Counts, USN, husband of Jeannette W. Counts of (15 Lafayette Way) East Greenwich, R.I.; William Wayne Chastain, aviation structural mechanic I.C., husband of Shelby Gene Chastain of 178 Bay View Ave., Mt. At no point did the Soviets indicate they had changed their basic demands to end the Allied occupation of West Berlin, which they have campaigned to convert into a "demilitarized free city."

Not did they give ground on their demands for Western recognition of the Communist East German regime as a sovereign government and for a German peace treaty.

The Soviet proposals apparently were presented informally but definitely this week to the United States, Britain, France and West Germany through their ambassadors in Moscow. The aim was clearly to permit negotiations to begin.

Kennedy, Nehru Agree Testing Curbs Needed

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy and Indian Prime Minister Nehru have agreed on the urgent need for a treaty banning nuclear tests with necessary provision for inspection and control.

The agreement was contained in a communique issued Thursday after Nehru completed four days of talks with the President. The Indian leader flies to New York today.

Nehru's acceptance of the U.S. position on the need for controls indicated some slight modification in the Indian position.

The Indian delegation at the United Nations held to the line that the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union should forego all testing, pending an agreement on an inspected test ban treaty.

At the same time, Nehru apparently has not accepted the U.S. claim that the resumption of underground testing by the United States—and perhaps of future atmospheric testing—is fully justified on the grounds of self-preservation. Nehru said he is flatly opposed to any nuclear test by anyone.

A basis was laid for continuing close personal communications in the months ahead, the communique said.

The communique said Kennedy had assured Nehru "that every effort would be made to achieve a peaceful solution of the Berlin problem by peaceful means, and underlined the importance of the choices of the people directly concerned."

It said Nehru concurred with Kennedy "in the legitimate and necessary right of access to Berlin."

High U.S. officials said the communique did not specify Western rights of access to Berlin because the rights should be held open to all persons, not just Westerners.

On Southeast Asia, Kennedy outlined U.S. concern over the seriousness of the Communist guerrilla attacks on South Vietnam.

Crash Kills Scientist, 4 Navy Men

McMURDO SOUND, Antarctica (AP)—A University of Minnesota scientist and four U.S. Navy men died Thursday night in the crash of a Navy plane homeward bound from a magnetic mapping flight across the frozen Antarctic.

The other four Navy men reported burned about their faces and hands but a medical report said they were "recovering well" and fit to travel. Weather permitting, a C-130 Hercules will take off Saturday to bring them back to McMurdo Sound.

The Navy Neptune crashed as it was taking off from Australia's Wilkes Station on the last leg of a 2,800-mile flight over largely unexplored areas of the ice-capped continent. The expedition left the main U.S. base here Monday and spent two days at the Soviet scientific base at Mirny, on the Indian Ocean.

The Minnesota scientist, Dr. Edward C. Thiel, 33, had made magnetic measurements from the air which were expected to help throw light on geological mysteries below the icy wastelands.

Navy officials said the expedition—a phase of "Operation Deep Freeze 62"—was by far the longest airborne scientific flight ever undertaken by the United States in Antarctica.

It also was the first American aerial mission to the Soviet Union's Mirny base. A Soviet mission flew direct from Mirny to McMurdo by way of the South Pole in 1956, and American scientists are regularly stationed at the Soviet base.

MRS. FAYE ROGERS
Gold Star Mother, honored

VFW Aux. Honors Gold Star Mother

The Scurry County Ladies Auxiliary to the Veterans of Foreign Wars started their 1961-62 year off by donating to the Tuberculosis fund as the November project Monday night. Each month of the year the auxiliary donates a sum of money to some worthy cause such as Muscular Dystrophy, Mothers Polio March, Cancer, Heart Fund, Scurry County Diabetic Assn. etc.

Besides donating to these worthy causes, the Auxiliary has responsibilities to the National Home at Enid, Okla., Mich. for Christmas and throughout the year. This home is an orphanage for children of veterans who die or have given their life in wars. The care these children receive on a family living basis has one house mother with up to six children, and each of our states has a cottage built for their own children.

The Auxiliary sponsors a Christmas party for needy children and children of the VFW post each year. They clothe needy children for school each September, assist families of veterans who are in need of food and such because of sickness and bad health.

Last year the Auxiliary helped and assisted veterans of the local nursing home with gifts and entertained them with a party, as well as the elderly people at Christmas time. Gifts of sack lunches, lotions, body powder and etc. were distributed to all.

A case of cigarettes was sent to the Veterans Hospital at Big Spring for distribution as they are needed.

The Auxiliary sells Buddy Popples each Memorial Day weekend to help raise funds for these projects, and wish to express their appreciation to the people of this area for their generosity, which enables them to aid people in their various projects of the aged and needy.

Following the meeting Monday evening the Auxiliary honored Mrs. Faye Rogers with a coffee and flowers at the clubhouse. Mrs. Rogers is a Scurry County's Gold Star Mother, and an active member of the auxiliary.

TIME - SAVER

White House Puts On New Look

By JOY MILLER
AP Women's Editor

NEW YORK (AP) — The First Lady was panicky. Because of her efforts in a wacky project—refurbishing the White House—she had got herself into an embarrassing predicament.

Even before her husband had taken office, she had expressed concern over the executive mansion's shabby condition and was anxious to put "new things in the place of old." As she explained: "No one has the interest of the place more at heart than myself."

Accompanied by her sister, who had disdained the White House furniture as looking "as if it had been brought in by the first president," she made shopping forays to New York and Philadelphia.

By the time she had placed orders here and there to her satisfaction she discovered she had exceeded by a third the congressional appropriation.

Panicky, afraid to face her husband, she begged an administration official to get the President's approval of the bill. She pleaded tearfully, that she was afraid he would try to pay the excess charges out of his pocket, and he couldn't afford it. After all, it was $8,700.

For her dreams of White House beautification, Mary Todd Lincoln, the distraught shopper, was First Lady a century too soon. Her great budget crisis, as detailed in the recently published "Conversations with Lincoln" by Charles M. Segal, came in December 1861.

But today the First Lady, assisted by a fine arts committee, has inspired previous generations of presidents and wealthy families the press forward with priceless Americana for making the White House a national showplace.

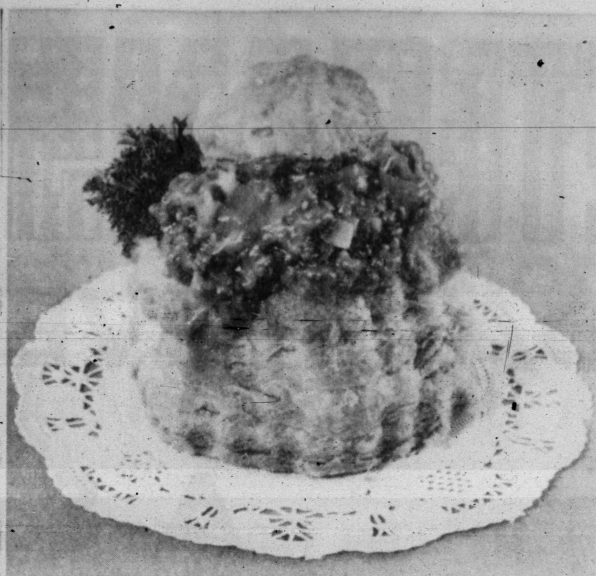

Costs are cited that would have made Mrs. Lincoln tremble with disbelief. For example, redecoration of the diplomatic reception room has a $12,500 price tag.

The total 1961 congressional appropriation was a meager $23,000 which Mrs. Lincoln exceeded by $8,700, to the president's towering wrath.

Although he was considered a hempecked husband by many close to him, Abraham Lincoln rose to heights of indignation at the "monstrous extravagance" of his wife.

As reported later in a letter by Maj. Benjamin Brown French, the commissioner of public buildings whom Mrs. Lincoln had tearfully asked to intercede, the Civil War president was adamant about the $8,700 bill.

"I'd rather pay it out of my pocket first," he snapped.

Mabel Brock Hostess To Art Guild

The Art Guild Club met Nov. 7 at the Martha Ann Woman's Club. President Mrs. M. W. Pilcher presided and Mabel Brock was hostess.

Ethel Mae Sturdivant and Billie Youree, program leaders presented a program on "Art is the Gift of God." Oregon Trail — The Oregon Country. They said in part:

"A pioneer, Ezra Meeker recognized the importance to the U. S. of the great migration across the plains. The more he thought about it, the more important it seemed to mark the route of the great trail before it was entirely lost.

"So, at the age of 76 he set out in an ox-wagon from his home in Washington, painting inscriptions on landmarks and urging the towns along the way to set up monuments. By the time he was 90 he was flying over the trail in an airplane. Two years later he succeeded in founding the Oregon Trail Memorial Association with headquarters in New York City.

"In 1930 there was a nation-wide celebration of the first use of wagons on the trail to Oregon, and this was really something to celebrate. The vast territory of the American west having been settled in so short a time. It took two hundred years to push our frontiers westward from the Atlantic seaboard up the river, valleys and across the Alleghenies to the Mississippi. It took only 50 years to people the land from the Mississippi all the way to the Pacific.

"An article in the little magazine, Ford Times inspired this program. It told of the families who made a modern day wagon trip (this time it was station wagons). This was in 1960, the year that marking the celebration of Oregon's 100th year of statehood.

"They bounced up Burnt River Canyon on U. S. Highway 90 — the same one on which Ezra Meeker insisted on having the markers. It goes through the same canyon today and motorist can easily wonder what it was like to force the rocky cliff with no road-bed."

MUDDER'S DAY

For every mother who dutifully tries to keep her house shipshape there are several "mudders" who accomplish just the opposite. The housewife can head off these "mudders" — Dad, the kids and the dog — with a "mud room." This handy innovation is a small area to the rear of the house. Here is where dirty clothing can be removed and people can clean up before tracking through the house. Mud room equipment should include a wash basin and toilet, and if there's room, a shower and washing machine. The mud room should also utilize a durable, easy-to-clean material on walls and floor.

It Will Be Hard To Escape An Automated Christmas

By INEZ ROBB

'Tis the season to be jolly, street-wise and plan for holly. But like Asop's headless grasshopper I would probably go slapping and dancing right up to Christmas Day without doing anything really constructive about the matter if Christmas catalogues didn't keep nudging me.

Such catalogues are now pouring into Ober Roke at the rate of 1.66 every day. This flood, taken at high tide, only emphasizes the unease with which such literature has afflicted me in the past decade.

The day is not long gone when I made out a list of goodies I faint would see in my Christmas stocking or under the tree. More recently, to my alarm, the better part of wisdom has dictated that I issue not a purchase list, but a "What to buy" list. "What for goodness' sake, not to."

The Yuletide catalogues are full of goodies, all right. But they are also full of gadgets, almost all of them electrified for better, fuller and for more frustrated living.

It is obvious that no one in my mob is going to go out in cold, hot or muddlin' blood and hand over $55.00 for the diamond necklace featured in one catalogue. But I would be just my luck to draw one of those new electric combs that stimulates at it soothes and massages the scalp but not the psyche. It also seems doubtful that even my nearest and dearest are going to plunk down $6.95 (Federal tax included, you'll be glad to know) for a floor-length, white ermine bathrobe, lined in pink taffeta. However, it's six, two and even that Santa brings me a pair of electric scissors.

Even my enemies haven't sufficient scratch to pay $4.30 for a weatherproof, indoor-outdoor, regulation-size bowling alley (single) with automatic pin setter, ball return and a one-year guarantee against mechanical defects—$8.00 for double alley, with same guarantees and two months for delivery.

But I can see it now, plain as plain: one of those electrified sinus masks, even though I haven't got sinus. (If I'm grateful, I can develop it, can't I?)

As for the Automatic Ice Cube Maker $89.95, honestly, I'd rather have the cash. But will I get it? He—no, not while electric toothbrushes are in the market.

Let's go, this straight before the power lobby gets on my trail; I can develop it, can't I?

Discoveries That Set Back Civilization

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Recently I came across a list of "the 12 most important events in history."

The list ranged, as you might suspect, from the discovery of how to use fire, to how to employ electricity and nuclear energy.

It included such other famous discoveries as the wheel—Why doesn't anybody ever give proper credit to the axle?—arithmetic, the basic value of the arch in architecture, and the uses of copper, iron and other metals.

Naturally it also included the invention of "alphabets and the printing press."

The list was certainly impressive, and one couldn't help feeling profoundly grateful for these dozen landmark events that have helped make civilization possible.

But then an intriguing question arose: "What are the 12 inventions or discoveries that have done most to help make civilization impossible?"

Yes, what are the things about modern life for which most of us are profoundly "ungrateful?"

Well, almost anyone could make an endless list. But here is one compiled from a random poll of wandering philosophers grouped around a nearby office water cooler:

The atom bomb—Man got along without it for a million years, and now the problem is how many years he can get along with it.

The juke box—It has moved music out of the concert hall and back into the jungle.

Carbon paper—It has enabled people who don't have enough real work to do to flood the world with copies of unnecessary letters to people who have no reason or wish to see them.

The income tax—Along with overweight, it is one of the biggest single causes of chronic high blood pressure in America today.

Alimony—What is it, in many cases, but a legal instrument to make a profitable industry out of "unsuccessful marriage?"

Catsup—It has destroyed the distinction between good cooking and bad cooking; it has ruined 10 billion neckties.

The dry martini—It has given business their greatest single argument for the return of prohibition.

"Virus X"—Everybody gets it at least once a winter, but when he gets it, what has he got? Nobody's got it and the 15-foot parking space—Here is an unsolvable problem that reduces every motorist to a gibbering wreck.

The installment plan—It has enslaved more husbands than all the Caesars of ancient Rome.

The girdle, the lipstick and false teeth—They keep "the mysterious sex" from being as obvious as nature intended them to be, and made the package more alluring than the contents.

The attaché case.

There were a lot of other items nominated for oblivion, such as the tranquilizer pill, noisy television commercials, and—

Well, what's on your list?

LISBON, Portugal (AP)—Prime Minister Salazar broadcast an appeal to the nation Thursday night to support his party's candidates in Sunday's unopposed elections for a new National Assembly.

First Methodist Marks Anniversary

First Methodist Church will observe its 78th anniversary in services Sunday morning at 10:30. The service will be broadcast by KSNV and Rev. Harry Vandepool, pastor, will speak on the subject, "How A Church Comes To Be."

Other services that day include Church School at 9:45 a.m. Youth Fellowship and Vesper Voices, 5:30 p.m.; evening worship 7:00 p.m. beginning with Altar Time of Prayer. The sermon subject for the evening hour will be, "Can Faith Really Move A Mountain?"

First Methodist, the oldest organized church and Snyder, was started in 1883, the year before Scurry County was organized. Settlement of the area had begun only a few years before and there had been preaching by various traveling preachers, although no church had been organized.

A small Sunday School was established with H. A. Goodwin as superintendent. Rev. R. F. Dunn, pioneer preacher, who had been assigned to the Sweetwater Circuit, conducted a revival meeting at Ennis Creek under a brush arbor in July of 1883. Many of the early members of the church lived in the area northeast of Snyder, but most moved to Snyder for school benefits for their children, and the church was moved with them.

The church was formally established in this city in Nov. of 1883. Charter members were B. F. Patterson, Houston Patterson, Betty Patterson, Mary Patterson, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Davis, Mrs. Tom Lockwood, Mrs. Bettie Welborn, Mrs. Florence McDonald, Mrs. H. C. Clark, Dr. J. C. Cornelius, Mrs. Nancy Cornelius, and Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Goodwin.

The T. N. Nunn family, joined the church shortly and donated the site on which the church's present plant stands. In 1958 Diamond Anniversary services were held for the church with Bishop William C. Martin, resident bishop.

Stewardship Program Set

Highlight of Grace Lutheran congregation's "Grow In Grace" Christian stewardship program will be an inspirational address by the Rev. Martin L. Vent, stewardship and missions secretary of the Texas-Louisiana synod of the United Lutheran Church, at the congregation's stewardship dinner at the Village Restaurant at 7 p.m. Wednesday.

The present stewardship emphasis program will culminate with an "every member" visitation during Thanksgiving week to secure pledges for the proposed 1962 budget of the congregation.

General chairman of the program is Henry Wenechlaeger. Sub-committee chairman are Vernon Rannefeld, proposal; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Marr, cultivation; Mrs. Vernon Rannefeld, record-keeping; and Mrs. Fred Marr, visitation.

From me to you, A DAILY VIEW

by Rev. R. Charles Spivey

"Oh, how I love thy law" It is my meditation all the day! (verse 97) "Thy Word is a lamp to my feet and a light to my path!" (verse 105) read Psalm 119: 97-112

Oh for an attitude like that among Christians today. But how often do you find a person who loves Jesus Christ so much, that he is not a meditation all the day?

And the Word of God? All too often the Holy Bible is so holy that it is never touched, much less read. What a pity it is that when I ask to read from the family Bible of many homes, it has to be dusted, and apologized for or it can't even be found.

One really wonders if it is not true that we proclaim Him very loudly, "Lord, Lord, but our hearts are far from Him."

Fathers Are Not Surprised

NEW YORK (AP)—Guess what? Most babies are born in the early morning hours.

This fact, well known among many fathers, was confirmed on Tuesday by Prof. Jiri Malek of Charles University in Prague and Dr. Irwin H. Kaiser of the University of Utah College of Medicine.

The researchers, who based their findings on birth records in the United States and Europe dating back to 1848, reported on their study at a New York Academy conference on rhythmic functions in the living system.

If your hair made his debut at some more reasonable time, that says Kaiser, doesn't prove a thing. His own six children all were born between breakfast and dinner.

Baptists Close Annual Convention

AUSTIN (AP)—The Baptist General Convention of Texas closed Thursday night as it began three days ago—demanding complete separation of church and state.

"A crisis is at hand while too many sleep," said Dr. Glenn Archer of Washington, executive director of an organization known as Protestants and Other Americans United for Separation of Church and State. "Roman Catholic power is on the march in America and that power is bent on destroying the principle of church-state separation."

Archer was one of the final speakers to the messengers (delegates) from about 4,000 Baptist churches of Texas.

The convention approved without controversy a recommendation of its 192-man executive committee that Texas Baptists go on record demanding complete separation of state and church.

The convention also approved a resolution urging the leadership of the Peace Corps to be constantly vigilant of church-state separation "so that the spirit as well as the letter of the law will be followed."

On the opening day of the convention the messengers unanimously approved a ban on all federal and state loans and grants to Baptist schools and hospitals.

San Antonio was selected for the 1963 convention. Next year's meeting will start Oct. 30 in Fort Worth. The Rev. James H. Landes of Wichita Falls was re-elected convention president.

The First Baptist Church of Cactus, near Amarillo, received the highest award in the 1961 Texas Baptist Church Achievement Program.

Special recognition went to the First Baptist Church, near Plainview; First Baptist Church of Willis, near Conroe; and First Baptist Church of O'Brien, near Abilene.

The Cactus church earned the top recognition largely for building better church and community relations and for keeping up its stewardship program in the face of a 104-day chemical-plant strike that left most of its members jobless.

Junior Editors Quiz on REPTILES

QUESTION: How does a snake charmer work?

ANSWER: Snake charming is an ancient form of entertainment in India, Egypt and the Near East. The snake charmer kneels before a bowl or basket which contains a snake, usually a cobra. The charmer plays a flute-like instrument and sways his body from side to side. Soon the snake slowly rises into the air and begins to sway. Cobras are used because they are poisonous, which thrills the spectators, and because of the cobra's nervous but slow-moving habits. Snakes actually are deaf, so they are not charmed by the music. They sway either in order to follow the swaying of the charmer or to hold themselves on guard against possible harm.

FOR YOU TO DO: Learn to recognize poisonous snakes. In the United States the only snakes which are poisonous are the rattlesnake, copperhead, water moccasin and coral snake.

(George Raper of Elizabeth City, N. C., wins $10 for this question. Mail your question on a post card to Junior Editors, in care of this newspaper. If duplicate questions are received, Mrs. Higgins will select the winner.) 11-10

Jewish Girl Gets Child

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP)—A teen-age Jewish girl, unmarried because of religious difficulties, took possession of her baby son today after a judge ruled the child did not have to stay in a welfare home.

Neither 16-year-old Yaffa Ajami nor the father of the 4-month-old child, Abdul Rahim Majdalah, a Moslem, wanted to change religion and as a result they have not been able to marry. There is no civil marriage in Israel.

The case stirred wide interest in Israel. Several weeks ago Yaffa abducted the baby from the welfare home, but it was taken away from her again.

Under the judge's ruling neither parent may take the child from the Tel Aviv area for the next 6 months.

Philippines Have Violent Campaign

MANILA (AP)—The official toll of political violence in the Philippines presidential campaign grew to 19 dead, 43 wounded Thursday. The Philippine News Service tallied 34 dead, 32 wounded and said it is the bloodiest campaign since 1953.

Vice President Diosdado Macapagal of the opposition Liberal party is pitted against President Carlos P. Garcia in the election next Tuesday.

Police Commissioner Is Slain In Algiers

ALGERIA (AP)—Rene Joubert, a police commissioner investigating the secret French Army Organization, was killed Thursday while drinking in a suburban bar. Witnesses said a car passed in front of the bar and gave several short blasts on the horn. A following car rolled slowly past the bar, with one or more persons firing machine guns from the open car windows.

Faith

son of man, whenever I doubt of life I think of Thee." So wrote George Matheson in his blindness. Whenever you and I doubt either God or man, we would do well to think of Jesus. His cross is a symbol of what God is and what we may become. The proud Roman at the foot of the cross said, "This man was the son of God." Jesus was supremely a man of faith. He had great faith in both God and man. We have faith in God largely because we must have Him. We are not sufficient unto ourselves. Do you have faith? Life becomes a radiant thing for people of faith, since they see so much deeper into the secrets of life. The universe opens its heart to eyes of faith; closed doors swing ajar when faithful steps approach; loving spirits smile their welcome to trustworthy souls; latent powers blossom in the presence of fidelity; young children and wise old age give themselves with abandon to those who offer confidence. God waits to share His blessings on men who can be trusted. Of the Pilgrims of yesterday, guided by the Divine, it was said, "They were men of faith and very sure of God." Are you sure of God?
