Light Vote Is Predicted For Texas Balloting

AMENDMENTS ONLY THING OF INTEREST

ONLY ONE RACE DRAWS MUCH ATTENTION FROM OUTSIDE

(By Associated Press)

A beaming sun and perfect weather beckoned Texans to the polls today in the biennial general election, when all state officers, 18 congressmen, one United States senator and county and district officers were to be chosen.

Except in a few isolated counties and districts all Democratic nominees were expected to have easy sailing and, as usually the case in a general election, there is expected party control, a light vote was anticipated. Early reports from the voting centers indicated indifference on part of the electors.

To Vote On Amendments

In addition to marking their preference for one of ten voters in the four down town precincts had cast their ballots up to noon today in the state wide election, a check of the precinct voting officials in the court house showed early this afternoon.

Predictions were made that the vote would not exceed 50 percent of the normal vote or the vote in either the first or second primary balloting. Some predicted 25 percent or less.

Following is the vote at noon:

precinct 1, 154 votes out of a normal 1,500; precinct 2, 22 out of a normal 200; precinct 3, 13 out of a normal 183 and precinct 4, 74 out of a normal 875.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 4.—Wells in the northern part of the Oklahoma City oil field shut down since Friday because of the wild Morgan Petroleum Number 1 C. E. Stout, were to resume operations today, and schools in the vicinity of the oil well gusher which were closed because of the fire danger, were to reopen.

Although the well was brought under control Sunday afternoon, precautions against fire still were being taken as the ground for blocks around the well was soaked with oil which sprayed for nearly three days, threatening the entire industrial section and much of the residential district of the city.

Fire Danger Watch

Flows were at work turning the oil surface under and George Goff, fire chief, asked residents near the well not to set trash fires for several days, until the oil has evaporated sufficiently to preclude danger of fires.

MANDAMUS ON BOOKS MAY BE ASKED

RESOLUTION COMMITTEE MEETS IN STAMFORD AND URGES ACTION

ABILENE, Nov. 4.—The West Texas Chamber of Commerce was asked by its publicity committee yesterday to bring mandamus proceedings against the state board of education to prevent further distribution among the school children of the state of geographies adopted for study in the schools of Texas and containing "scandalous and damagingly untrue" statements concerning the West Texas territory.

The committee action, taken at an overnight convention on the R. V. Colbert ranch east of Stamford, was endorsed by a group of editors and managing editors of West Texas newspapers meeting with the committee.

The chairman of this committee, together with the president and managers of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, appearing before the state board of education in Austin October 12 to protest these inaccurate and misleading descriptions in the geographies, was assured that the state textbook commission had been set up to communicate with textbook publishers with a view of having the Texas sections revised and, if necessary, rewritten by Texas.

"If the state board has taken any action to that end this committee has not been so informed, and we recommend to the executive board of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce that mandamus proceedings be brought; or in any case, that a referendum on the subject be taken among the directors."

He would assist her, and that she had requested him not to say anything about a telegram she had sent him from Colorado. He did not reveal the contents of the telegram.

On the day of the final separation, McDowell testified, he began an inventory of the Turman estate at Turman's request, and that on October 2, the day the final divorce judgment was rendered, this inventory was two-thirds complete. It showed Turman's outstanding obligations to be $400,000, he testified, including a $150,000 note at the First National Bank.

(By The Associated Press)

AMARILLO, Nov. 4.—In this city in the heart of the western cow country where once she was bitterly denounced and accused of not giving her best as a singer, Mary Garden, opera star, enjoyed today one of the greatest triumphs of her career.

Not the least among the 3,000 persons who cheered her at a concert last night was Gene Howe, newspaper editor, who criticized her performance with the Chicago Civic Opera company in Amarillo a year ago so severely that Miss Garden was moved to reply to him through the press.

"Marvelous," "wonderful," and "flawless" were terms which Howe applied to Miss Garden's singing at the concert where the opera star was applauded and cheered so often that she sang four encores at the end of the program and the old timers said nothing like her reception had ever been seen in the city.

PICTURES OF AMARILLO-LUBBOCK TILT TO BE SHOWN HERE IF PROVEN WORTHY

Moving pictures of the Lubbock-Amarillo high school football game, played here last Saturday, were taken by a special representative of Paramount News, and have been sent off for development, according to local theatre officials. If the pictures are successfully developed, they will be shown at the Palace Theatre here next Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

It is not definitely known whether the play in which Malcolm Marlin, Lubbock end, caught Moody Smith's pass and crossed the line for a touchdown clearly define the line of the pass, which was ruled incomplete by Referee Daywalt. The official ruled that the ball touched a Westerner player, ineligible to receive passes, before finally landing in Martin's arms, and the decision has caused considerable comment among local fans. Whether the touchdown was legal or not, brought out by the pictures, will have no bearing on the game, which resulted in a 0-0 tie, for there may be no protest over a referee's decision.

Newest Vagaries of The Autumn Mode Are Pictured

Left to right, georgette blue afternoon dress trimmed with fox; green crepe de chine model; green frock with jet trimming; black georgette printed with gold spots.

By MME LISBETH

The skirt length and the height of the waistline seem to have been settled, and no more worry is felt over them.

Attention in fashion circles has therefore, shifted to trimmings, colors and fabrics. The light cloth dress for daytime wear is a favorite, metal cloth is shown for evening and also for more formal afternoon frocks. Velvet is much used for evening frocks, and is frequently combined with metal cloth for afternoon dresses. Metal cloth is also much used for trimming on daytime frocks.

Fur as trimming is one of the smartest style highlights, a touch of it often "making" a frock of simple styling.

This point is illustrated in the frock pictured at the extreme left above, a blue georgette afternoon dress, simply designed, having plain long sleeves with a deep bertha or cape to finish the neckline, a belt of self-material with jeweled buckle, and straight skirt with inverted box pleats inserted for fullness. A hip-band of fox gives this simple little frock, designed by Mme. Yieb, its distinction.

The green crepe de chine dress pictured second from left, a Heim model, also has inverted pleats to give fullness to the skirt, the pleats being inserted at the sides of the skirt, which is cut circular. A scarf collar and the sleeves, slightly full that are gathered into fitted cuffs, are the most noticeable features. Mme. de T., who wears this interesting frock, accompanies it with a black hat with a graduated drooping brim.

Frocks Unusual

A more unusual frock of green material from Phillippe et Gaston is shown second from right. It also is fashioned of green material, with cuffs and neckline trimmed with jet. Sunburst decorations radiating from the left hip, and the uneven hem, are other points of interest.

Jane Regny made the last frock pictured, right. It is a charming gown of black georgette printed with golden spots, with softly tied décolletage and wide sleeves.

Program For Texas Convention Told

GREENVILLE, Texas, Nov. 4.—(P)—When the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs opens its convention in Houston November 10, to be in session through November 13, a number of important proposed changes will be up for discussion.

Miss Ollie Coon of Greenville, chairman of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, presiding at the convention, announced the program for the 1930 meeting is being formulated by Mrs. A. H. Bailey, state program chairman, and Mrs. R. F. Lindsay, of Mt. Pleasant, state president, Houston's welcoming program will be held the opening night at the city auditorium.

Serious plans are ahead for the women who attend this convention and Mrs. Bailey has carved down the usual voluminous program to fit the new four-day schedule instead of the customary five days. Miss Coon said chief among the business discussions will be that on the proposed Texas Children's Hospital, George Waverly Briggs, of Dallas, representing the board of the proposed hospital will address the convention November 11, telling the body of the hospital project, which has already received the formal indorsement of the federation board and the personal indorsement of Mrs. Lindsay.

Westbrook To Speak

On November 12, Lawrence Westbrook, organizer for the Texas Cotton Co-operative Association, will speak. He will be introduced by John E. Owens, Dallas banker, and will appear on the program arranged by Mrs. Martin, chairman of the federation committee, in co-operation with the Federal Farm Board.

Dr. H. Y. Benedict, president of the University of Texas, will discuss the plan of making lump-sum appropriations for state colleges November 13. Much more of interest is revealed in the program. After a meeting of the state board November 10, a trip will be made to the San Jacinto Battle Grounds after which the Delphian Chapters will give a tea.

Speakers at the night session will include Mrs. Josephine Leckie, of

Sterling Offers Welcome

Ross S. Sterling of Houston will welcome the visitors the morning of November 13. Mrs. George H. Hughes will discuss problems in delinquency and Dr. J. B. Slaughter of Rice Institute, will speak on the American home. Mrs. Lindsay, president, will speak on "New Texas." That night, Miss Kate Friend of Waco will preside at the pioneer dinner after which Miss Ella Hockaday will speak on "Women as Educationalists."

The federation's own project is the new club house to be erected soon in Austin. Mrs. J. F. Weider of Victoria, chairman of the headquarters committee, will report November 12 and further plans will be made to finance the clubhouse, which will cost about $100,000.

At this meeting, the federation will be asked to consider meeting biennially in convention instead of annually, and will also be asked to disregard a proposal to redistrict the federation and organize into more districts than the present seven.

Mrs. A. H. Bailey suggested that the convention year alternate with the biennial convention year of the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

Another attempt to make the state convention more convenient to the club public will be seen in a petition from the second district that the state meeting be held in the spring immediately following the spring fifth district through Mrs. Volney Taylor of Brownsville, has already submitted to the resolutions chairman, Mrs. F. B. Slater, formal protest against the redistricting plan, and several other districts are expected to line up with this district when the matter comes before the convention.

More mothers each year.. check Colds

2 WAYS at once!

More and more mothers every year turn to the double action of Vicks VapoRub in checking colds, coughs, sore throat and spasmodic croup.

Rubbed on throat and chest at bedtime, Vicks acts through the skin like a plaster. At the same time, its medicated vapors, released by the heat of the body, are inhaled direct to the air-passages.

This double action of Vicks breaks up congestion and eases breathing, thus preventing the night coughs which so often rob both mother and child of restful sleep.

Being an external treatment, Vicks is especially appreciated by mothers because it avoids the constant "dosing" which so often disturbs children's delicate digestion.

Ask for Kotex if you want real comfort in sanitary protection

Don't think other sanitary pads can give you the same wonderful absorbency, the perfect fit and lasting softness Kotex provides.

If you want perfect comfort and a real feeling of security, you must specify "Kotex" when you buy sanitary pads.

Kotex, the original sanitary pad, is actually five times more absorbent than surgical cotton, by test. The wonderful material of which it is made (Cellucotton—not cotton—absorbent wadding) is laid in many air-cooled layers, each individual layer a quick, complete absorbent in itself. Kotex is guaranteed to give more protection, longer protection than any other sanitary pad.

These unique features Kotex deodorizes—a fact of supreme importance to women who consider daintiness essential to charm.

It is rounded and tapered in such a way as to fit perfectly under the tightest fitting or flimsiest of frocks.

Hospitals specify Kotex

Great hospitals have given their approval to Kotex by actually using 13,000,000 pads this year. Just think what a tribute that is to its hygienic safety!

Nothing else is like Kotex. Be safe. Specify "Kotex" when you order sanitary pads.

Kotex Company, Chicago.

KOTEX IS SOFT...

- 1—Not a deceptive softness, but soon packs into chafing hardness. But a delicate, lasting softness.
- 2—Kotex filler is far lighter and cooler than cotton, yet absorbs 3 times as much.
- 3—Deodorizes, safely, thoroughly, by a special process.
- 4—Disposable, instantly, completely.

SCENIC ROAD IS PLANNED

RIGHT OF WAY NEEDED FOR ROUTE IN DAVIS MOUNTAINS

(By The Associated Press)
 AUSTIN, Nov. 4.—Right of way for the proposed Davis Mountains state scenic highway have been obtained with but three exceptions and negotiations will be completed soon for these tracts, according to a report made to the state highway commission by D. E. Colp of San Antonio, chairman of the state park commission.

Colp recently conferred with the commission relative to the project but was told that no action would be taken until all the right of way had been obtained and deeded to the state. Work on the proposed highway was expected to be started early next year.

Love Sponsors Plan
 The plan was sponsored by Senator Thomas B. Love of Dallas who said proper development would give Texas one of the greatest natural scenic parks in the United States. The commission the plan had met with the hearty approval of landowners in the section through which the highway will be routed and that no hitch had been encountered in the right of way negotiations. Adequate land has been deeded to the state, he said, for tourist camps and accommodations.

To Use Convicts
 Construction of the highway will be carried out with convict labor from the Texas prison system. It will afford, according to Senator Love, a good opportunity for the state to test the value of labor of this kind on highway work and at the same time provide a recreation spot for Texas residents.

State highway engineers will supervise the convicts directing the equipment being furnished by the highway department. Food and housing will be provided by the Texas prison system.

A law was passed at the last session of the legislature directing the highway department, the prison system and the park commission to cooperate in the project.

Amarillo Man Relates Experience
 "Argotane Has Helped Me To Get Over The 'Flu' And I Feel Fine Now," Says Cantrell

"Remarkable indeed," was the statement made by B. A. Cantrell of 317 North Rusk, Amarillo, Texas, while at home talking with the Argotane representative.

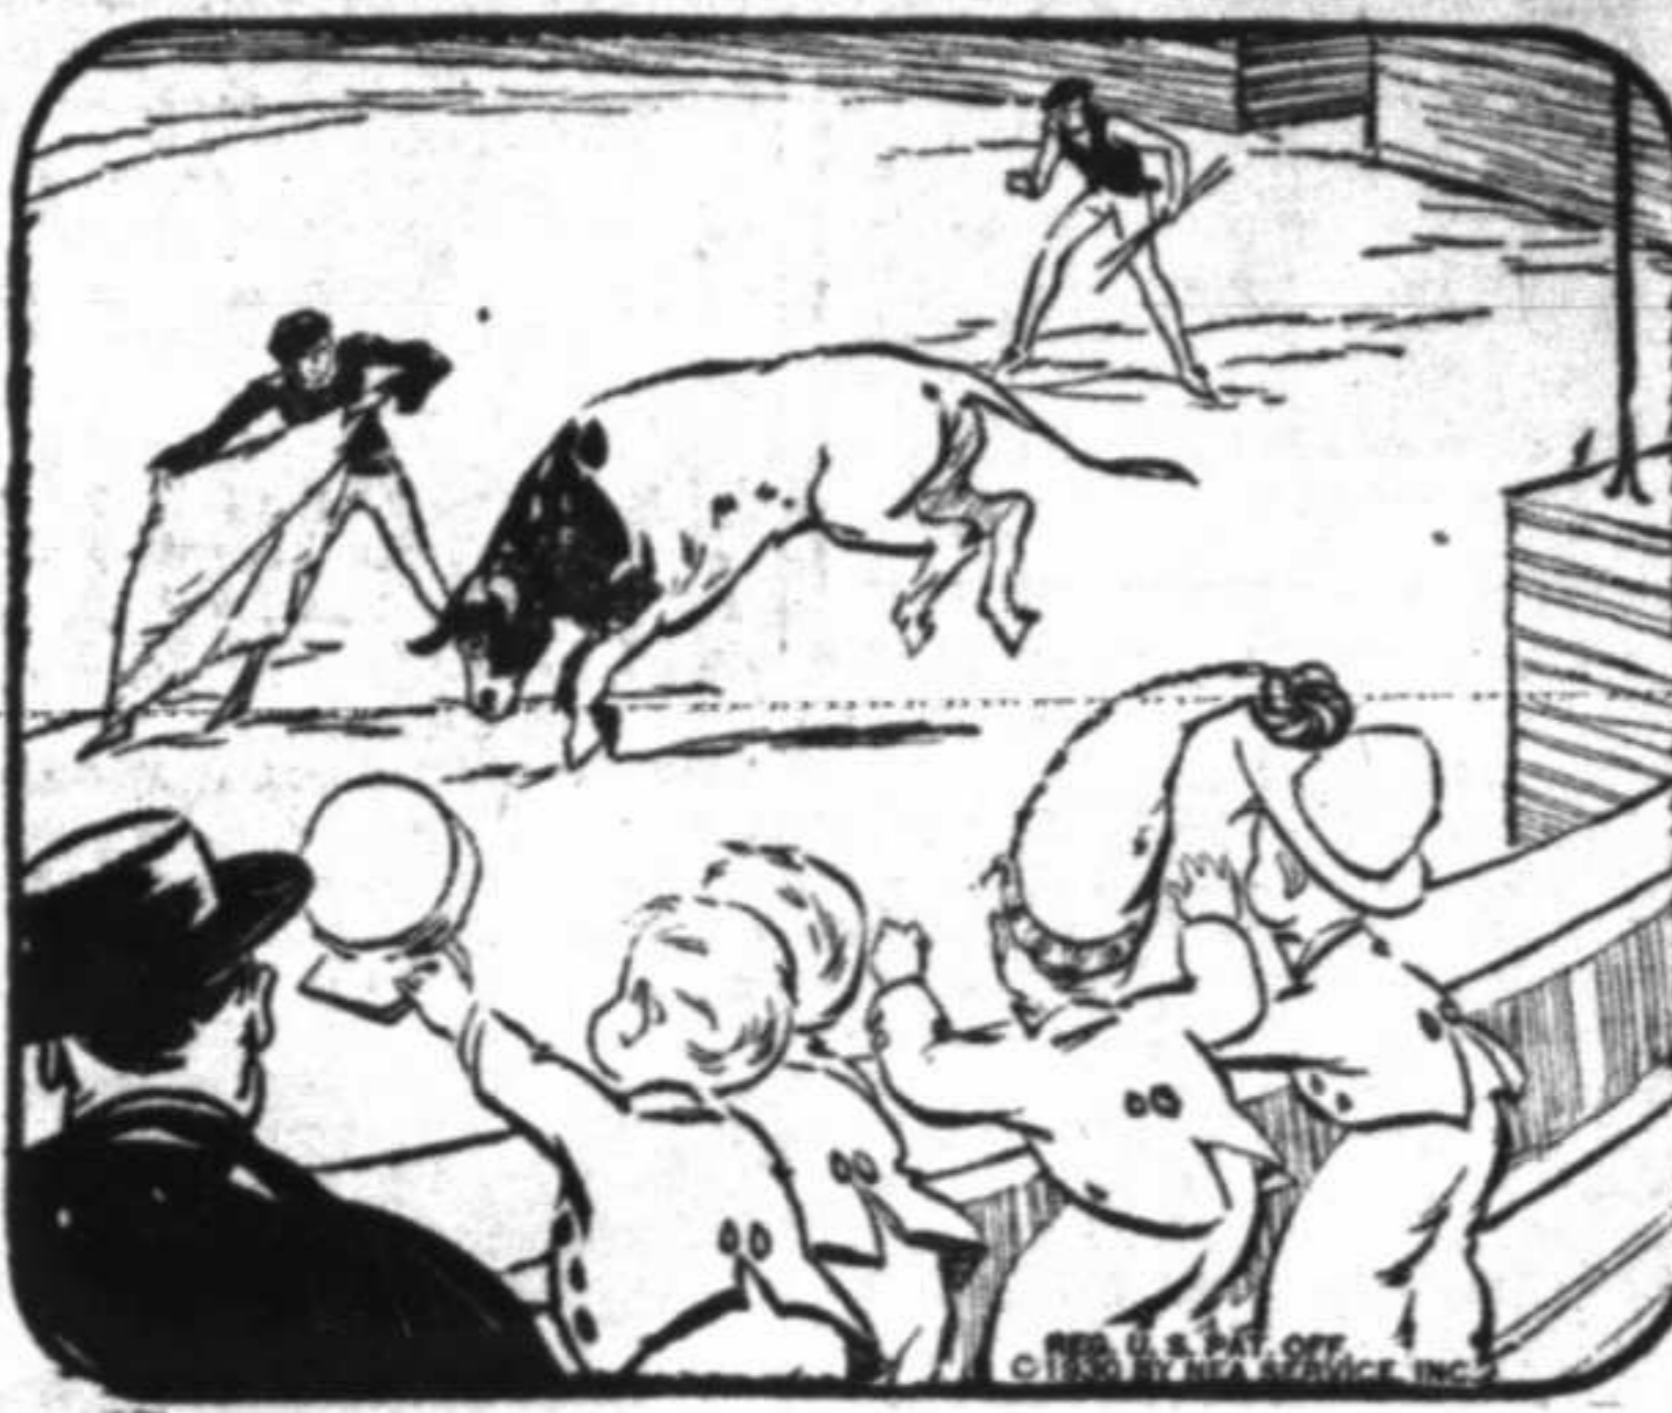

"I was tired and run-down all the time," he continued, "and never had any pep or energy at all. I suffered with a very chronic case of constipation and never found anything that would do me any good, and I was forced to take strong laxatives all the time. I was nervous and restless, and would have dizzy spells at times. I was in a very run-down condition and knew that I needed something to build me up.

"And in this condition I took the 'flu' and everyone was talking about Argotane and I read so much about it, decided to take a bottle and see who it would work in my case. It certainly did what they said it would. Before taking Argotane I hated to get up in the morning because I was just as tired and worn out, as when I went to bed, but now I wake up feeling refreshed and ready for a good day's work. My constipation is a thing of the past now, and I am gaining and getting stronger every day. It has helped me to get on my feet and to get rid of the flu effects. Argotane has certainly toned my entire system. I think it is a fine medicine and I shall always speak a good word for it."

Genuine Argotane may be purchased in Lubbock at the Bowen's Drug store. Adv.

THE TINYMITES

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The flower man was a real kind sort. Said he, "I guess I'll be a sport and give you each an extra flower. My, don't they smell real sweet? I've sold more than my share today. This seems a real good spot to stay." "You bet they're sweet," Wee Cappy cried. "They're good enough to eat."

"Well, don't try that," the man replied. "I'm pretty sure that your inside is no place for such flowers as these. 'Twould likely make you sick. Just carry them around all day and when they wilt, throw them away." And then he held his bunch out and said, "Each one take your pick."

The Tinymites did and then they said, "We must be moving on ahead. There are a lot of sights to see and we won't miss a one." "Good bye, good bye," the man cried out. "And good luck as you roam about. I know that, while you stay in Spain, you'll have a lot of fun."

It wasn't long till Scouty said, "A plan has popped into my head. Why should we keep these lovely flowers? They'll only wilt and die. Here comes a little girl and we can make her happy as can be. We'll give her our carnations as she comes a-walking by."

The next thing that the small girl knew, kind Scouty said, "These are for you. Just put them in some water and be sure the stems all touch. 'Twill keep the flowers alive for quite a while and they're a pretty sight." The little girl then took them and said, "Thank you, very much."

Once more the lads were on their way. The Travel Man said, "Well, today, I think we'll see a bull fight." "Goody, goody," cried the bunch. They soon were watching quite a sight. Said Clowny, "Gee! This is all right! I'm glad you brought us to this show. It was a happy bunch."

(The Tinymites see a gypsy dance in the next story.)

FELT TOO TIRED TO SLEEP WELL
 Georgia Lady Says She Was Weak and Nervous.—Took Cardui, Improved.

Blackshear, Ga.—Mrs. L. E. Thornton, of this place, tells how she was benefited in a case of weakness by taking Cardui.

"I was very weak," says Mrs. Thornton. "My back gave me a lot of trouble. I felt like my back was sprained. I was very nervous and restless. I did not sleep well at night. I was so tired in my back. It seemed to hurt me when I tried to turn over."

"I did not want anything to eat. I was in bad shape."

"I thought I would try some Cardui. The first bottle seemed to ease the pain some in my back. I took another bottle, and then I felt more like eating. I noticed that I had more strength and my work seemed easier. My back didn't feel so awfully bad when I had to stand. I could sleep better and felt more rested when I got up in the morning. I took six bottles of Cardui. I certainly think Cardui is a good medicine for women."

Try Cardui in your case.

French-fried potatoes —as quick as broiling a steak

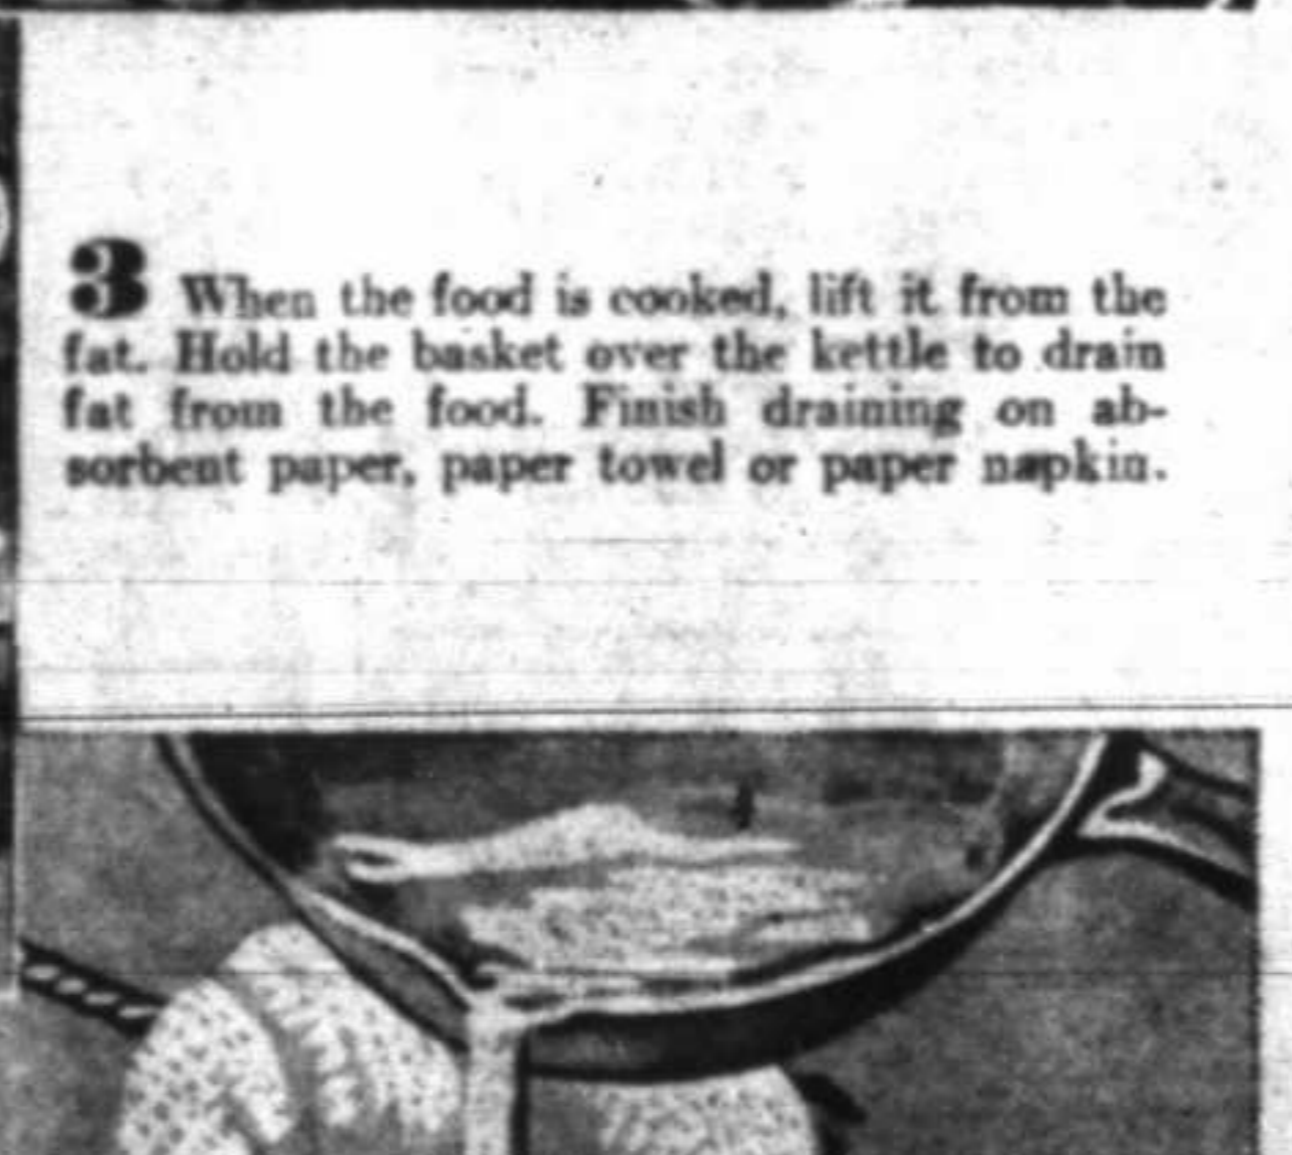

1 All you need is a large saucepan, a wire deep-frying basket (or strainer) and a 3-lb. can of Crisco.

Fill the saucepan a little more than half full of Crisco. (Don't be afraid to use enough—you can use Crisco over and over again.)

2 Heat Crisco to 400° F. (a small cube of bread will brown in it in 20 seconds). Never wait for Crisco to smoke—Crisco doesn't smoke at proper frying temperatures. As soon as the Crisco is hot enough, put in the food to be fried. Crisco, a delicate, sweet-tasting fat, quickly wraps around foods a delicate crisp brown coat—and leaves kitchens fresh and smoke-free.

3 When the food is cooked, lift it from the fat. Hold the basket over the kettle to drain fat from the food. Finish draining on absorbent paper, paper towel or paper napkin.

4 Now again Crisco back into the can through cheesecloth or a very fine sieve, to remove any possible burned particles. You can use Crisco over and over for anything you want to fry—Crisco doesn't carry the taste of one food to another.

Cooking School Note by Mrs. Leona Rusk Ihrig
 In the cooking school I conducted last week under the auspices of the Avalanche-Journal, I stressed modern methods of cooking. Naturally, then, I use and recommend CRISCO—for it's a modern shortening. Mrs. Leona Rusk Ihrig.

Thought For Today
 He that hearkeneth unto counsel

Insurance, Thrift

The life insurance agent represents in the highest degree the American talent for unrestrained eloquence. And he has attained this eloquence not through any fortuitous
 circumstances but through the inevitable working of laws of compensation.

He who sells life insurance comes close to being a lone knight. He must do battle with all the wit and
 all the eloquence at his command,
 for he is virtually alone in carrying
 to the populace an aggressive cause
 which he must not only meet but must meet the competitor within his own field, but he must combat as well
 the multitudinous enticements of
 that army selling luxuries and offering other ways to spend money.

He has his allies, of course, in the banks and other institutions that help one to save, but their voices
 are all but lost in the daily importunities of those myriads who are determined to induce all to spend.

Thrift itself is more than life insurance, more than savings accounts, more than stocks and bonds.
 It is not a matter of money, but of tangibles. Too many are likely to confuse it with what is in reality
 penuriousness. Real thrift is anything but that; for thrift suggests
 an ordered and balanced existence,
 while penuriousness inevitably results
 in a top-sided manner of living,
 which saving is looked upon not as a means to an end but as the end
 itself. Thrift, in so far as it touches
 upon the question of money, is the weighing of one's expenditures and
 one's savings with a careful hand
 against the results to be attained,
 not today's results, nor tomorrow's alone, but the sum total of all of them. In its wider sense it means the ordering of one's method of living in such a way that he is benefitted in mind and health as well as in purse.

A Nuisance?

A judge has ruled from the bench
 as a decision as to what cats are a public nuisance. Now, had the judge said this while in the sanctity
 of his home, all would have understood and thought nothing of it,
 but he cast the gauntlet while on the bench, robed in the full majesty
 of the law, and before his fully assembled court.

Because some one or more cats
 may have disturbed the good judge's sleep, even though he be one of those unfortunate men (made famous by Shylock) "that are mad if they behold a cat," is that any
 evidence that cats are a nuisance?
 There are many men who have found the manners of some judges
 annoying, but mankind, while admitting that some judges may be foolish yet believes that, on the whole, judges are generally beneficial. As with judges, so with the cat race. It has its foolish members, but on the whole, cats are not a nuisance. On the contrary, they are comfortable and comforting,
 if independent, creatures.

Rudyard Kipling made a fantastic
 statement once that three out of five proper men will always throw
 things at a cat, but much preposi-
 tionous may be forgiven in literary men.

There are dog haters as well as
 cat haters, but preference is only for the uncultured taste. No wise person hates brunettes because he prefers blondes, or beef because he prefers chicken, or London because he prefers New York. The things
 are different; each has its appeal,
 its use.

Switzburne settled the cat vs. dog
 controversy when he said:
 "Stately, kindly, lordly friend
 condescend here to sit by me."
 There are two sorts of friends.
 The one you like to please. The other you like to please you. Cats are like the former and dogs like the latter.

 is never hopeless as long as he can
 find somebody to scorn.

The best way to make spinach
 popular is to incorporate it into a thirty-five cent sandwich.

Forty-seven of our states are holding general elections today, and among the total is Texas
 but as usual, general election day
 means nothing here. From what The Plainsman learned this morning some of the county precincts
 weren't even opened and in those
 that were opened voters were as
 scarce as fleas on a lady's Pekinese.

There are folks who praise
 Texas' being a bi-party state
 and point that little by little
 general elections and candidates
 of two parties are receiving more and more cognizance. That may be true but a powerful lot of water will have to pour over the dam before Texans generally will work up a very great sweat over
 the November ballot.

Speaking of politics, The Plains-
 man has just returned from a motor trip to Stamford and is pleased to report that the highways are better than he has ever seen them. With the exception of the first few miles
 out of Lubbock toward Idaho, on
 the Avenue H route, and which
 is in doubt on state designation,
 the roads are as good as dirt highways
 can be in this country—even in Lubbock county.

The roads were worked after
 the recent rains, like the letter
 from the state department at Austin directed as a result of Percy Hall's visit down there. It's all a big help and will be mighty fine if kept that way.

The Plainsman spent Sunday and Monday at the beautiful River Ranch of R. V. Colbert, south of Stamford in Shackelford county.
 Along with Garnett Reeves, The Plainsman attended a conference of
 officials and the publicity committee of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and is here to report that the hospitality of Mr. Colbert, treasurer of the Chamber, and the
 That River Ranch is the most beautiful thing The Plainsman has ever seen in West Texas, with every convenience of a city home and with all the freedom and beauty of the country.

The WTCC is looking to Lubbock
 to stage a fine convention this year
 and at the same time the first year of reorganization, the WTCC
 is in better shape than it ever has been. It is financially sound, on a business basis and has a business-
 like program of work which it is following to the letter. Times sure have changed since the crisis something like 18 months ago.

When The Plainsman got back
 down town this morning folks
 were still talking about the Amarilo-Lubbock ball game but The Plainsman was a little disappointed
 to find that only two people had called during his absence to say
 that they wanted to buy a gold
 football for a Westerner, even if
 the games was a colossal tie.

In Sunday's paper The Plains-
 man pointed out that 13 Lubbock boys played in the game,
 which with two coaches would
 make fifteen gold footballs if
 the folks wanted to buy them.
 The Plainsman, Herb Quinn and Spencer Wells said they would
 buy a ball apiece if 12 others
 would do likewise, just to show
 the boys that Lubbock appreciates their fighting spirit. During the time The Plainsman was in Stamford, Dr. Sam Dunn
 and K. N. Clapp called to say
 "count me in."

Now here's the situation. We fellow who pledged those 24 footballs
 made our offer on the basis that
 the Lubbock touchdown game was
 called back. We saw the play in
 the pressbox and even Amari-
 lo's official scorer, Wes Izard of
 the Amarillo Globe-News, didn't
 see anything wrong with it. I don't mean to say that the officials weren't
 fair. I've officiated in too many games
 myself and I know it's hard to see
 everything—in fact it's impossible.
 But I believe that pass was
 good and it was just a tough
 break that the Westerners weren't
 the winners.

If I tell you folks, I think the officials missed that play where
 the Lubbock touchdown game was
 called back. We saw the play in
 the pressbox and even Amari-
 lo's official scorer, Wes Izard of
 the Amarillo Globe-News, didn't
 see anything wrong with it. I don't
 mean to say that the officials weren't
 fair. I've officiated in too many games
 myself and I know it's hard to see
 everything—in fact it's impossible.
 But I believe that pass was
 good and it was just a tough
 break that the Westerners weren't
 the winners.

So, if ten more of you boys would
 like to kick in on a gold football,
 at six bucks per each, phone The Plainsman tomorrow at 12 or 14, or drop him a note—or better yet, come in the office. These boys sure played a wonderful ball game and the
 that light line outfoight the heavier Amariellos was nobody's
 business!

U. S. Government Placed In Embarrassing Position When Brazilian Rebels Win Victory, Washington Writer Says

BY ROONEY DUTCHER
 NEA Service Writer
 WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—Washington was bearing up nicely under
 the various South American revolutions right up to the time Brazil's
 rebels ended their friendly regime
 by seizing Rio de Janeiro.

The State Department had recognized the friendly regime
 governments of Peru, Bolivia and Argentina just at the psychological moment. It saw a more friendly regime established at Buenos Aires
 demonstrated by the prompt appointment of an ambassador to Washington after a long period in which President Yrigoyen had emphasized his dislike for us by appointing none. It was able to get Captain Grow released by the new Peruvian leaders after they had threatened him with court-martial
 for anti-rebel activities.

The upsets had all happened so quickly that the department had
 no time to make any mistakes
 and thus avoided getting its fingers burned.

Similarly, the diplomats representing the countries involved had survived their periods of worry.
 Ambassador Manuel de Freyre y
 Santander of Peru and Minister
 Eduardo Diaz de Medina of Bolivia
 were not removed by their new governments. Ambassador Don Julian Enciso, counselor of embassy for Argentina and charge d'affaires, was also kept on the job. They are career
 men, removed from home politics,
 and the new governments persuasively thought they would be more valuable in Washington than green men.

Backed Lower
 Lately, however, it has been difficult to say whether the most embarrassed man in Washington is Secretary of State Henry Stimson
 or Brazil's ambassador, Mr. S.
 Gurgel de Amaral.

When Gurgel got the news of his government's collapse from newspapermen his comment consisted of two words which, somehow gave Washington one of its best chuckles
 of the year. Said Gurgel:

How absurd! My embarrassment traced back to a statement he had made in the early days of the rebellion. It was a belligerent pro-
 federal statement and it promised plenty of "bloodshed." If the ambassador can prove that the former government at Rio put the very words in his mouth and that they weren't his own chances of staying here awhile, probably will be much better. Amaral is one of the most distinguished looking diplomats in Washington.

Of course Stimson's embarrassment was due to the fact that he had picked the loser in Brazil, backing the government with our own
 military supplies and an arms embargo against the rebels. It was our first embargo in the case of a South American country and the secretary had been referring to the rebels as "outlaws."

Stimson issued statements to
 justify this government's course,
 but it goes without saying that the department wouldn't have picked
 sides if it had supposed that the Washington Luis government was about to fall.

British Were Neutral
 There has been considerable
 speculation here as to who convinced Stimson that the former federal government was this country's best bet. Great Britain was cagey enough to keep out of the mess altogether. She is our chief competitor for South American favors.

Although the matter of interfering with other people's revolutions
 did not represent a brand-new policy, such a thing had never before been tried in South America. Common belief here is that it probably won't be tried again.

At the same time it is thought
 that we may get to be as good friends with the new Brazilian regime as we were with the last. The practical politicians in Rio de Janeiro are considered likely to let
 bygones be bygones if it seems expedient to continue the traditional Brazilian practice of playing ball
 with the United States.

What worries the State Department most of all is the possibility of a revolt in Cuba against Dictator Machado. Our investments in Cuba
 are so enormous and our political influence there comes so near to equaling our economic domination
 that any serious disturbance would cause a very ticklish situation.

This government is quite content to have Machado in power despite
 reports of his tyranny and control
 of elections, but any strong-handed
 support of his dictatorship in the face of rebellion would be unpopular
 with a large section of American public opinion.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—This is the brief tale of the homecoming of "Coyote Bill" Klein.

William Klein has Jersey City as his home town. And as most persons acquainted with their geography should know, Jersey City is just across the river from Manhattan.

It was about 1880 that William Klein grew weary of "it all" and set foot westward. He tried Denver
 for a time and then kept going toward the setting sun. Cheyenne and Meadville, in Missouri, saw him
 next. According to the best historic data, William became something of a pioneer.

He drifted into the "quiet places,"
 as they say in the Zane Grey novels
 —more and more apart from the civilized outskirts. And for years
 he was a Union Pacific Railroad's
 telegraph operator at one of the
 loneliest outposts—Lookout, Wyo.,
 a place of four buildings, two of which are the railroad's property.
 At 70, they retired him.

Meanwhile, he had become "Coyote
 Bill"—a fellow who lived out
 among the coyotes, who let his hair
 trickle down about his shoulders
 after the fashion of Pawnee Bill
 and Buffalo Bill; who wore leather suits, with tricky straps at the
 shoulders and who lived to a ripe
 old age.

Very well—roaming around the neighborhood of the annual Rock-creek, when it came to town. I ran across "Coyote Bill" leaning against his pinto pony and looking slightly hazy, western, outlandish. I've prairie struggle and homesteading, lonely
 living and high excitement had crossed his path.

"Well," remarked "Coyote Bill,"
 "I hardly got back into New York
 when I was knocked cold by the carbon monoxide air. I'd been up the first cold I've had in 30 years and I feel like the devil. I'm going to take the next train back to Lookout."

"But how about the home town,
 the people you haven't seen in
 these years?" An old man now,
 "Coyote Bill" merely shook his head sadly.

"Insofar as I know, 'Coyote Bill'
 stayed in New York something like
 five hours.

And while speaking of western characters, W. B. Crockett is another encountered in our ramblings.

Crockett, a veteran of the range
 and the west, and blood kin of Davy
 Crockett, is the "big spur man"
 from the west. An old man now,
 and picturesquely preserved, "Bill"
 Crockett mixed with the hard-
 ridden gent of the Peecos, Texas, belt.
 He went in for making fancy spurs
 and today has a factory outside of Kansas City where those tricky spurs come from.

And there's "Tex" Cooper, who looks so much like Buffalo Bill that he's doubled for the "wild western"
 boy and then "Tex" affects all the trappings the hat, gray Van Dyke
 and tricky uniforms. For years he was an announcer at rodeos and wild west shows. A couple of years
 back he decided to go on his own.
 He fitted out an auto-van and now
 wanders from town to town selling rides on the horse of dog for five cents each. And he leads a trouble vagabond life now—and makes enough money to come trailing in New York.

A Chicago economist advises
 people of Illinois to buy state
 products, but with Thanksgiving
 dinners to think about it will require considerable courage to overlook Idaho potatoes and Cape Cod cranberries.

Knute Rockne, Notre Dame coach
 is to open a business office in South Bend. He's in for a good business
 if he's as bullish with points as his team.

A sure way to be left in the cold,
 says Margin Heat, is to take a hot
 tip on the market.

Dear Plainsman: After witness-

 Saturday and reading your write-
 up in Sunday's paper, I, as a loyal Westerner, think that every boy in the game displayed the fighting
 spirit that goes with the name
 "Westerners." The boys deserve their

 do its part.

The score was 0-0 tie but it would have been different if it were not
 for Will Ed Watson. The write-up to one of the greatest defensive

STORM STRIKES IN EUROPE

DISTURBANCE COMES FROM ATLANTIC TO SPREAD HAVOC

(By The Associated Press)
LONDON, Nov. 4.—A wide trail of damage with several lives lost, many injured and a considerable property loss was left today over western Europe and England by a storm which lashed and twisted up from the Atlantic.

The velocity of the wind varied from 20 to 70 miles an hour, but sometimes it was tornado-like in its actions and ripped off roofs, twisted trees from the ground, broke down telephone wires and turned over motor cars.

Seas Enormous
Thunder, lightning and a deluge of rain accompanied the storm, and many houses were flooded. There were enormous seas. The steamer Sole of Thanes from Folkestone to Boulogne was severely battered in its passage, its bridge partly demolished, and two seamen injured.

On the Maid of Orleans, plugging across the channel, four passengers were hurt when a great wave smashed in two portholes on the port side of the ship and flooded part of the deck. The Greek steamer Menealos sent a message from two miles south of St. Catherine's Point, Isle of Wight, that she was seriously damaged. A life boat put out from and took passengers off.

Tornado Strikes
A miniature tornado struck the Essex shore near the mouth of the Thames. Motor cars were blown over in the streets, pedestrians were thrown down, several roofs were struck, and large trees uprooted. The tornado violence lasted only two or three minutes but thunder, lightning, sleet and rain continued over the area all day.

From channel ports in both France and England there were reports of damage and delay to many small craft which had to put in to escape violence of the tempest. In Portland harbor a seaplane anchored there over-turned in the squall and sank.

At Altermheim, Switzerland, the first lap of the flight of the DO-X from its home port to New York, from Altermheim to Amsterdam, had to be postponed.

Dairy Cows Shipped Into Dawson County

LAMESA, Nov. 4.—(Special)—L. M. Hancock, field manager for the local milk plant, has just shipped in 25 head of dairy cows from McKinney, to be placed with farmers who are supplying the plant with milk. Hancock is planning another shipment soon. The dairy business in Dawson county is growing rapidly, and the revenue derived therefrom is going a long way towards helping the farmers in their live at home program.

Konjola Very Medicine That Fit This Case

Amarillo Lady Rejoices Over Results Obtained From New And Different Compound

MRS. ETTER STANLEY

For twenty years I tried to free myself of stomach trouble, constipation, kidney and liver trouble," said Mrs. Etter Stanley, 1220 West Fifth street, Amarillo. "Even specially prepared foods did not digest. Gases formed and bloating pains resulted. My kidneys were so weak that night risings were frequent. I had dull pains across my back. Neuritis gripped me and I became almost helpless at times and suffered untold agony from piercing pains.

"Konjola seemed to just fit my case. Soon after starting the treatment I began to feel better. Now, after finishing the treatment, I feel like another person. Food now digests as it should and I feel better than in years. The pains of neuritis are rapidly leaving me. My kidneys have been strengthened and function properly. I am gaining in weight and strength."

It is the same glad story whenever Konjola is given a real test. Try this medicine for ailments of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, and rheumatism, neuritis, and nervousness.

Konjola is sold in Lubbock, Texas by Bowen's Drug store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

SYNOPSIS

Red Thomas, freshman football ace, is jealous of Terry Major's ability on the field. In a quarrel, Red breaks Terry's arm. After a year's absence, Terry decides to leave Princeton and go to Yale. Sonny Drayton takes Terry to a party given by Margot Blair, whom Terry has been anxious to meet. Sonny confides Terry's plans to Margot and urges her to persuade him to stay at Princeton. Margot likes Terry and agrees. Terry succumbs to Margot's coaxing. Margot's mother disapproves of Terry because of his poverty. She suggests Red Thomas.

CHAPTER X

Dismissing the turned the horses over to a waiting groom, and ran into Terry's opened arms. Then he tried to get away from his tightening grip, as if she must escape from all the cloying and insidious traps of nature veiled with love. Capable of loving deeply, and aware of it, she knew that she was falling for Terry and struggled against it. She wanted to finish at Vassar, to come out in New York the next year and then travel. She decided to call a halt, to quit. Although Terry was the most attractive man she had ever known, he was matrimonially speaking, no bargain. So he was shunted to the background, on a par with all the other men.

Their last night together. In the gloaming of a summer evening, Terry sat with Margot on the steps of her home and talked of days to come. Margot was packed and ready to leave for Vassar in the morning. She was giving a farewell dinner for Terry, Burne and Sonny.

They were awaiting the arrival of the two varsity players when the roar of a motorcar was heard on the drive. A yellow roadster swung around the trees and into view.

"Hi, there, flaming youth!" A white fanned man in a blazer jumped out of the roadster and bore down on them. "How's my passion flower, eh? How's good old Margot?"

Terry's face was white as he stood up. There, coming toward him, bigger and broader and more polished looking than he was a year before, but with the same flaming hair, the same bellow, was Red Thomas. "Pardon me, Red," said Margot. "I want you to meet another football player."

Out went Red's hand. He looked at Terry with eyes big and round. The outstretched hand was quickly withdrawn. It rested on his hip. Red stood with legs wide apart, his jaw stuck out, staring at Terry.

"Back again, eh?" Terry's eyes were like ice, hard and cold. "Yes, and I'm going to stay."

"Hello, Red!" Sonny and Burne appeared at what they later called the psychological moment. Sonny sensed the situation and immediately sidetracked the conversation into a more pleasant vein.

"How's the boy, Red," he asked, slapping the big fellow on the back and feeling his arm muscles. "Hard as nails! Looking great, too. Must have put on weight in the right places. Well, you'll need it this year. They're banking on you to do the dirty work."

"I'll say," glowed Red. "Just rarin' to go. Feels great to be back. What does the squad look like?"

But Margot's curiosity had been aroused.

"Sonny! Burne! You just missed it. These two were glaring at each other like two strange cats when you spoiled it all. Aren't you thrilled?"

No sooner had Margot finished talking than she regretted her untactful remark. In the atmosphere of uneasiness and obvious dislike there was that strained flatness which is always irritating. Sonny tried to break the tension by laughing. Everyone knew it was forced, but rallied with him and joined in nervously—everyone except Red and Terry.

Red Thomas pricked the sores of antagonism by his look which seemed to say, "There isn't room enough in this college for both of us. You get-the-hell out!"

Terry's eyes fired back. "Is that so! Well, just try and put me out!"

They both turned away with heavy fronts. Margot, determined to let Terry down, saw an easy way. She urged Red to stay for dinner. Of course he accepted.

The tension slackened during dinner. General conversation drew the group together. Everyone was lively, light-hearted, talkative. Margot indiscreetly mentioned that she had played around Paris with a famous Harvard half-back and in a famous Harvard argument about Princeton and Harvard started. Red denounced all men who went to Cambridge; Terry bit his lip. Mr. Blair expressed his disapproval of the existing antipathy between the two institutions. It was not like the good old days, he said, when five hundred people was a crowd at a football game and players practiced sportsmanship without talking about it.

"I remember one particularly fierce game with Harvard," said Duke Blair sipping a cocktail. "It was slam-bang from start to finish. There were two linemen, one on the Princeton side and one on Harvard. These two lads started swinging at each other at the first whistle and when the game was over they were still banging each other with vim and vehemence.

"Referees were more broad-minded in those days, and seeing that the players were evenly matched, permitted them to do as they pleased, as long as they didn't break up the game. They socked and slammed each other right up until the final whistle. They were still going strong when the other players walked off the field. But the two fighters were so tired and battered that they could hardly move. So what did they do but throw their arms around each other's neck and stagger to the sidelines. Even their own mothers wouldn't recognize them after that game. Anyhow, before they separated for the dressing rooms, I saw them standing there shaking hands. They were real sportsmen. And they knew a sport when they met one. If they had anything against each other, they forgot it. Instead of waging a whispering campaign about dirty football and lounge lizards and roughnecks those two linemen are the best friends in the world even today.

"And the funny thing about it is that each declares the other to be the greatest lineman the game has ever known. Can you beat it?" Red laughed over the story. Terry laughed. Red stopped short and glowered at him.

Terry dropped his head, played with the stem of a glass, and concerned himself with the irony of existence. He could not, under the most fantastic circumstances, imagine himself shaking hands and forming a lifelong friendship with Red Thomas even if they had a hundred fights. They instinctively and blindly disliked each other like two hostile insects. And it would always be that way.

But he was not spared the torments of jealousy; the cruel, poignant and imbecile jealousy that unguaged every word Margot whispered to Red during dinner. Terry was nervous and distracted and kept sipping his glass. He turned to Mrs. Blair but found her hard to talk to.

"See, Margot, you're a riot," chuckled Red after she had whispered about the details of getting Terry into Princeton. Terry did not know what they were saying, but from the guarded glances and undertone he was being talked about. So he sat through the dinner, nibbling at food he could not eat, wearing a stunned, strained expression.

For the next year Terry saw very little of Red Thomas. Settled down to crowded activities of Freshman year, his waking hours filled with the many demands on his time, they moved in different worlds. In the early autumn, they passed each other at the field, along McCook Walk and Nassau Street. Terry noted these chance encounters and in order to see as little of him as possible avoided the places at the time he was liable to run into him.

On Saturday afternoons, after Terry led his Freshmen against the yearlings of other colleges, he sat with black-capped classmates in Palmer Stadium and watched the Varsity in action. Sonny Drayton was playing his steady game at center, Burne Warwick showed flashes of brilliancy at half-back, and the inconspicuous Dan Hart provided

Chicago Pilot Will Spend Winter Here

W. E. Martin, of Chicago, a commercial pilot with a federal license, has moved his winter headquarters to Lubbock and expects to spend the rest of the winter season here.

Mr. Martin has a Waco two passenger plane and plans to do some commercial flying. He is making headquarters at the municipal field, north of town.

Ten-Year Exile Of Bernales Is Ended

LIMA, Peru, Nov. 4. (AP)—Don Jose Carlos Bernales, former president of the senate and once foreign minister, returned from Paris, today, ending a ten years' exile imposed by former President Leguia.

The Harvard tackle returned at the beginning of the second half. "What, back again?" "What of it?" snapped the Crimson lineman.

"Well," grinned Thomas, "I'm going to knock a lot of brains into you this half."

"You and your whole team couldn't do that."

"No, nor the Harvard professors, either," chuckled Red.

Toward the end of the game, with Red running wild over Soldiers Field, and having the time of his life sneering Crimson plays, he approached the timekeeper.

"How much time have we?" "Two minutes!"

"Great," cried the red head, rubbing his hands. "For God's sake, mister, don't cut it short. We only get a chance like this once in a life time!"

COIN WANDERS

San Antonio Man Gets Half Dollar Back Again

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 3. (AP)—A missing half-dollar traveling a devious and unmapped route, has found its way back to the San Antonio owner who lost it on a devastated battlefield in France in 1918.

The half-dollar belongs to W. E. Hardin. And after 12 years of roaming it is back home again, never, Hardin says, to roam again.

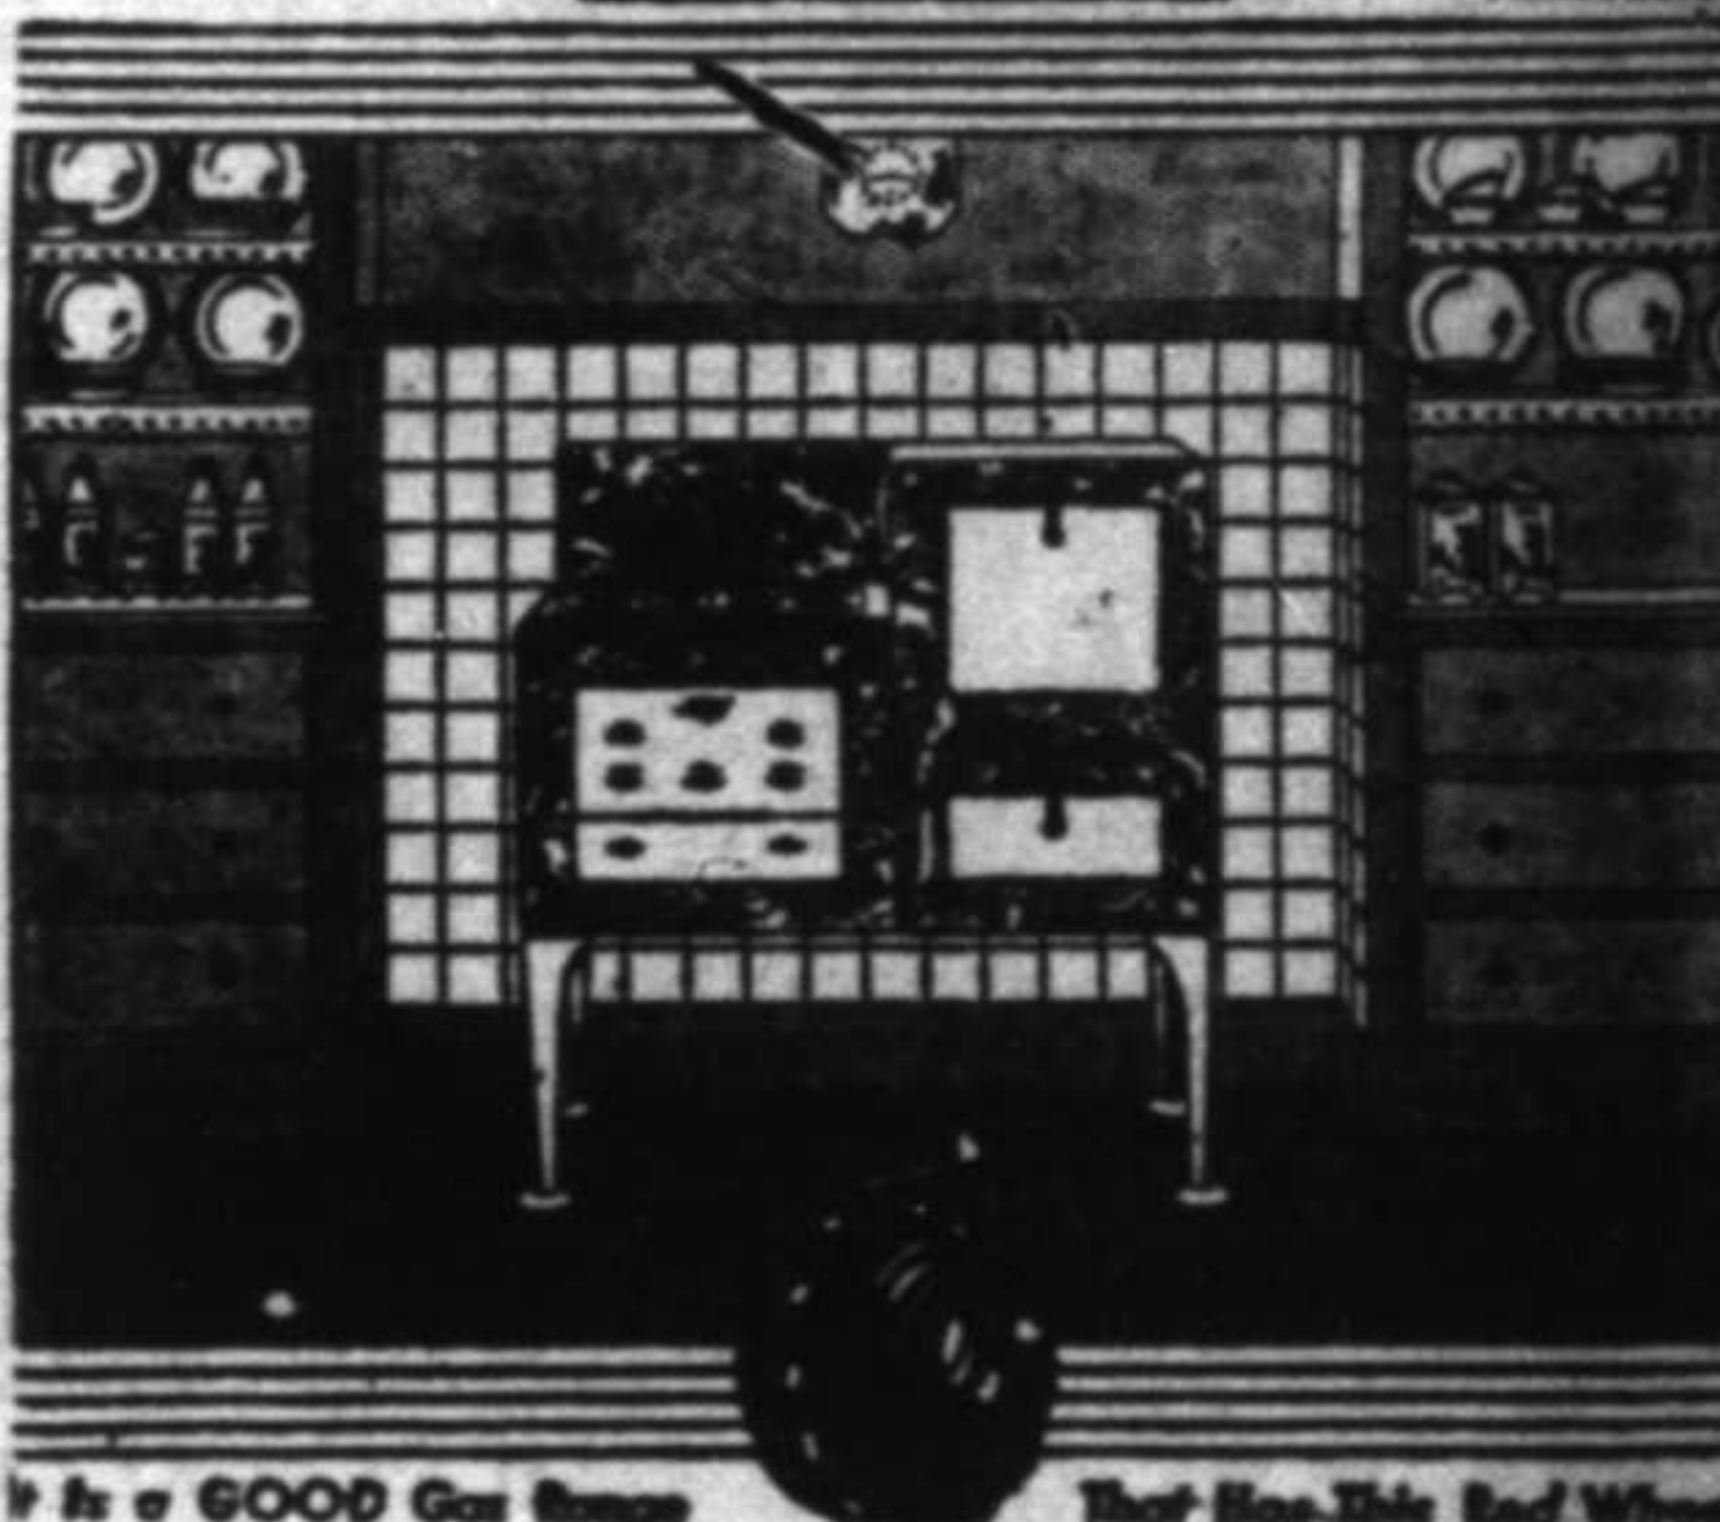

The coin has Hardin's name and a Masonic emblem engraved on one side and was given him by a friend when he sailed for France in 1917.

The coin was deposited in a San Antonio bank and was recognized by a teller who knew Hardin.

Experiments have shown that paint adheres better to that part of wood grown in the spring than to the summer growth.

A QUALITY YOU WOULD INSIST UPON IF YOU KNEW ALL THE FACTS

Fact No. 16. Tea, just like coffee, should be sealed in vacuum to preserve its flavor. The flavor of each resides in certain volatile oils that evaporate—in coffee very quickly, in tea slowly but surely. Unfortunately, it is many months before tea can reach you—frequently a year. You have never tasted the fragrant flavor of truly fresh tea (unless it was Schilling Tea).
Facts No. 17, 18. Both a tea leaf and a coffee bean must be toasted to drive off the moisture, which helps to rob it of flavor. Good coffee is packed in vacuum immediately after roasting. Tea is toasted at the tea gardens, then sealed in large chests lined with lead. When it arrives in America it is repacked in ordinary tins or even card board boxes. And that's where the damage is done! But this is how Schilling does it. As the tea is poured from the lead-lined chests, it is toasted again, and while still hot (just like your coffee) it is sealed in vacuum. Schilling Tea comes to you as fresh and fragrant as it left the Orient—the only tea that is completely protected from the tea garden to you.

Try a tin! If you do not declare it the most fragrant tea that ever entered your home, phone your grocer. He has been instructed to return your money without question. You keep the tea.

SCHILLING TEA

The only Tea that is Sealed Hot in Vacuum! The only Truly FRESH Tea you can buy!

FROGS FACE BIG GRIND FOR REPEATING CHAMPIONSHIP CLIMB

W. L. "Crip" Goughly, Texas Tech's official spy, is about ready to settle down after a rather hard season on the road and see what can be done about another department of Tech athletics. This afternoon he will stand before the Matador cagers in the first regular meeting of the season and issue initial instructions concerning the coming basketball season.

Only three letter men from last season will return to the court this year. They are Tad Tadlock, now with the varsity grid team, Leon Fisher and Clarence Hodges, a latter also of the varsity gridsters. Jimmie Kerr, a letterman of last season, may be back, though he is not in school at present. It is thought that he will enter school about Christmas. Cosch Goughly, is an experienced cage mentor, and is looking forward to a good season. Several men from the freshman ranks of last season are due to report, and it is thought that Tech will be well represented in a basketball year this season.

Arguments and statements to the contrary notwithstanding, the game of last Saturday on the Tech gridiron between the high school teams of Amarillo and Lubbock goes to Amarillo as a result of that team's penetration of Lubbock's 20-yard line the greatest number of times. This was the decision handed down by the executive committee chairman of District 1, C. E. Davis of Quannah is chairman, and he informed the Associated Press Monday morning that the game would be counted a victory for Amarillo.

So that's that, customers. Much as we'd like to see the Westerners get another whack at the Sandies, it seems highly improbable that Lubbock must wait until 1931 for another chance at the championship unless complications set in. Of course there could be upsets to disturb the tranquility of the Amarillo territory, but that would be unexpected. Only Wichita Falls, Vernon, and Electra stand between Amarillo and the coveted crown, and these teams are due to be handled in no easy manner at the hands of the Sandies. Wichita Falls has yet to win a conference game, and Vernon has lost two. Electra was defeated by Plainview Saturday night, and that team takes a seat among "those who ran", along with Lubbock and Amarillo. So it looks like a fourth straight championship of the district for Amarillo, and we'll be pulling for Amarillo from now on.

A team that could hold the Westerners to a scoreless tie before nearly 10,000 fans in Lubbock deserves to be pulled for, and if there's no chance for Lubbock to come forward, we'll be for the Sandies, for they are the next best team in the loop, and can represent the district in a capable manner against the Oil Buckets. Amarillo has been so frequent in District 2 as to become the rule, almost, and there's no telling what the Sandies will do to the winners of that hectic race. Breckenridge appears to be about as strong as any of them now, though Ranger and Cisco are not to be counted out yet.

The Matadors played their last week-end game at home this season when they met the Texas Schoolers last Saturday, nearly three weeks ago. They will entertain the Abilene Christian College team here November 11, which is on Tuesday. They go to Brownwood on the following Wednesday to meet the Howard Payne Rockets, and back to Lubbock for the Thanksgiving frolic with the Simmons University Cowhands.

Tech's gridsters gave a mighty good account of themselves against the Canyon Teachers last Saturday, holding the Buffaloes, on the defensive side for nearly all of the first half, and outplaying them, so far as yards gained and first downs is concerned, throughout the contest. Cow Williams, 190-pound Buff halfback, scored the only touchdown of the game, but the playing of Tech's gridsters shown brighter on the whole. Especially did George Langford play a good game at tackle, and Moffitt in the Matador backfield deserves considerable praise.

The proud Southern Methodist University Mustangs did a fade out and left the Southwest Conference championship picture to other teams when an inspired University of Texas band outdid them Saturday at Memorial Stadium, Austin, in one of the outstanding upsets of the week. Thus one of the strongest contenders for the 1930 crown stepped down with a defeat and a tie. The game this week at Waco between the Longhorns and the Baylor Bears will take on an important aspect now. If the Steers win, and hope points that way, they will be on a good way to take the championship honors, though their defeat at the hands of the Rice Owls will stand against them unless T. C. U. is defeated before or after the Frogs meet the Steers. Baylor has a chance, a slim one though it may be, but it is getting along about that time of year when the Bears usually blow up. They were impressive enough in their 11-0 victory over the Oklahoma Sooners last Saturday.

QUANAH TO RUN TRAIN

FOUR GAMES ON SCHEDULE IN NEXT MONTH

CONFERENCE FOES NOW MUST BE BEATEN TO CLAIM TITLE AGAIN

BY GAYLE TALBOT, JR. Associated Press Sports Writer DALLAS, Nov. 4. (AP)—Four conference games on four successive Saturdays is the formidable schedule facing the champion Texas Christian Horned Frogs in their drive for another title. Coach Schmidt's eleven, so to speak, goes back to work this week after an extended vacation, meeting those tobacco-laden Rice Owls at Houston.

In other years there was nothing hazardous about invading the Owls' roost. It was considered a "soft spot." But it is far from that now. Coach Schmidt probably has done as much advance worrying in preparation for this week's bout as he will for any on his schedule.

Schmidt Walches Game Instead of remaining at home and watching his team another Abilene Christian College, the purple team was reported to have occupied a choice seat at the Rice-Seawee affray. From all accounts, he must have felt a few quills as two sophomore halfbacks, Wallace and Jamerson, ripped through the Tigers in the second half.

One thing in the champions' favor is that they open their tough November schedule in the fact that they have not been "pointed" for a single one of their eight preliminary bouts. They have taken them as they came, winning all except that muddy, scoreless contest with the Simmons Cowboys at Breckenridge. They have not been seriously extended but once, that when the Aggies forced them to kick a field goal to win, 3 to 0. They are free of injuries, splendidly drilled and conditioned by two months of steady play.

Ticket Scalpers Having Hard Time

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 4. (AP)—They were scalping the scalpers on the University of Pennsylvania campus today, and how. The boys who hoist the rates found themselves unable to purchase good seats for Saturday's Notre Dame-Penn game at almost any price. Scalpers were said to be canvassing the campus; but the students let it be known that they would much rather see the game. Offers of $50 for seats that originally cost $3 were refused.

Hawthorne Track Leased For 15 Years

CHICAGO, Nov. 4. (AP)—The Chicago Business Men's Racing association which operates the Hawthorne track, believes that horse racing will be a profitable enterprise for at least fifteen more years. The group believed it to the extent of renewing its lease on the westside plant until 1945 for $1,000,000—an annual rental of approximately $66,000.

McAllen Juniors Claiming Honors

HARLINGEN, Nov. 4. (AP)—The Valley Morning Star says that Coach A. M. Weis of the McAllen junior high school will more than likely dispute the claim of Coach Forehand of the Temple junior football team as state champions and make an effort to bring the Temple Juniors to McAllen for the game. McAllen has not lost a game this season and has only three more games to play.

Mullins was arrested in Littlefield by Deputy Sheriff Will Brown and Doc McDaniel, city marshal at O'Donnell. He was held pending securing of bond.

"In two years" he added, "we will forget that there had ever been a panic."

MATADORS ARE PREPARING FOR CATS

TECH CREW HOPES TO BREAK INTO WIN COLUMN AGAIN

Tech's Matadors rest this week so far as a game is concerned, but are bending their efforts this week toward the Armistice Day game next Tuesday with the Abilene Christian College eleven here. In spite of the showing, or lack of showing, made by the Christians against the T. C. U. Horned Frogs last Saturday, when the Abilene tribe, Summoned down, 62 to 0, Coach Pete Cawthon of Tech is expecting a hard game next Tuesday, and is priming his charges to win the third game of the year.

Although they lost a 6 to 0 decision to the West Texas State Teachers college Buffaloes last Saturday, the Matadors were impressive in defeat, showing rare form for nearly all of the first half but lacking the necessary punch to push over a counter against an equally powerful line. The Matadors play no more week end games in Lubbock this season. They will meet the Howard Payne Yellow Jackets in Brownwood on Wednesday of the week preceding Thanksgiving and will clash with the Simmons University City Cowboys in the annual Turkey Day game in Lubbock.

SLATON PLANS SPECIAL TO LAMESA

GAME'S OUTCOME TO DECIDE RACE IN THAT DISTRICT

SLATON, Nov. 4. (Special)—Definite plans were made here Monday for a special train to carry a large delegation of Slaton football fans to Lamesa on Nov. 11 to witness the annual Armistice Day battle between the Slaton High Tigers and the Lamesa Tornados. The round trip train fare from Slaton to Lamesa has been set at $1.10 by Santa Fe officials, and the special will depart from Slaton at 12:30 p. m. next Tuesday.

If Slaton wins, the Tigers will continue in the running for district title, but if Lamesa wins, both teams will be eliminated because Lamesa has already been defeated by Brownfield. Many are predicting that Lamesa will wallop Slaton again as was done last year when the Tornados played the Tigers here.

LAMESA TRAINING HARD FOR TIGERS

LAMESA, Nov. 4. (Special)—The Lamesa High School Golden Tornados are in training this week for their annual game here Armistice Day, with the Slaton Tigers. Though their defeat last Friday by the Brownfield high school team practically eliminated the Tornados from the championship race of District 2, the game with Slaton will be a hard fought one, due to the fact that the teams are old rivals, and Slaton must win in order to stay in the championship running. Should Slaton win, a game with Brownfield will be necessary for them, in order to decide championship of sub-district 4 of District 2, as they will be tied with the latter team for that place. Should the Tornados win automatically be the champions of sub-district 4. Last year the Tornados defeated the Slaton team. According to reports, a special train will be run from Slaton to the game, bringing the team and several hundred fans.

THIRTY-SIX GIRLS OUT

RALLS, Nov. 4. (Special)—Thirty six girls have reported for basketball practice, M. L. Penn, coach, reports. The girls are being given daily workouts in the school gym. Later in the training the coach plans to cut his squad to about 20 girls.

GRID INJURY FATAL

TOLEDO, O., Nov. 4. (AP)—Norman Wolford, 18, Waite high school senior, who was kicked in the body in a high school football game here last Wednesday, died in a hospital Monday. A kidney operation was performed, but proved unavailing.

FIVE HUNDRED ROOTERS TO VISIT CITY

GAME NOT SETUP FOR LUBBOCK BY ANY MEANS

Although both clubs are out of the race for championship honors, when the Lubbock and Quannah high school grid teams meet on the Texas Tech field next Friday there will be all of the effects of a crucial game. A special train bringing some 500 Quannah rooters will arrive in Lubbock Friday morning to cheer Coach Dan Stalworth's Indians against the Westerners, the latter now battling for third place in the conference standing. A message from C. E. Davis, superintendent of public schools at Quannah, to local high school officials yesterday stated that the Indians were coming with "blood in their eyes", and confident of winning over the Lubbock gridsters on the latter's home field. "We are bringing a different team over to get you. It isn't the same one which played against Amarillo, and we're coming to win", the message said.

Seats Reserved

"Pinkey" Lowrey, business manager at the local high school, announced yesterday that reserved seats tickets had been placed on sale at the Lubbock and Hilton hotel drug stores, and that 500 tickets had been sent to Quannah. The Westerners worked out on their Fair Park practice field yesterday and are back this afternoon for a full drill. Yesterday's practice was limited to a light drill, some signal practice, and calisthenics. Coach Frnka said this morning that the team would be in good shape next Friday, with the regular lineup ready to start. Several minor bruises and scratches sustained last Saturday in the Amarillo game will keep one or two of the players out of heavy practice for a day or two, but they will be ready to go Friday.

Farmers In Dawson Rush Feed Harvest

LAMESA, Nov. 4. (Special)—Farmers in Dawson county are rushing the gathering of the feed crop, due to the rainy weather which has been prevalent during October. In the Weaver community, west of Lamesa, some farmers are cutting feed at night, using a tractor to pull the machines. The feed crop in this section is good this year, but inclement weather has retarded the harvesting.

Drilling Starts On New Test In Dawson

LAMESA, Nov. 4. (Special)—Drilling operations have been started on Dawson county's newest oil well. The well is located on the John Robinson land, in Section 46, fourteen miles northwest of Lamesa. Ray Albaugh and associates have the contract for drilling the well, which is to be drilled to a depth of 4,900 feet. This is the third attempt to discover oil in Dawson county.

LA BARBA CAN CLAIM TITLE OF BEST 126-POUNDER; BEATS 'KEED' CHOCOLATE

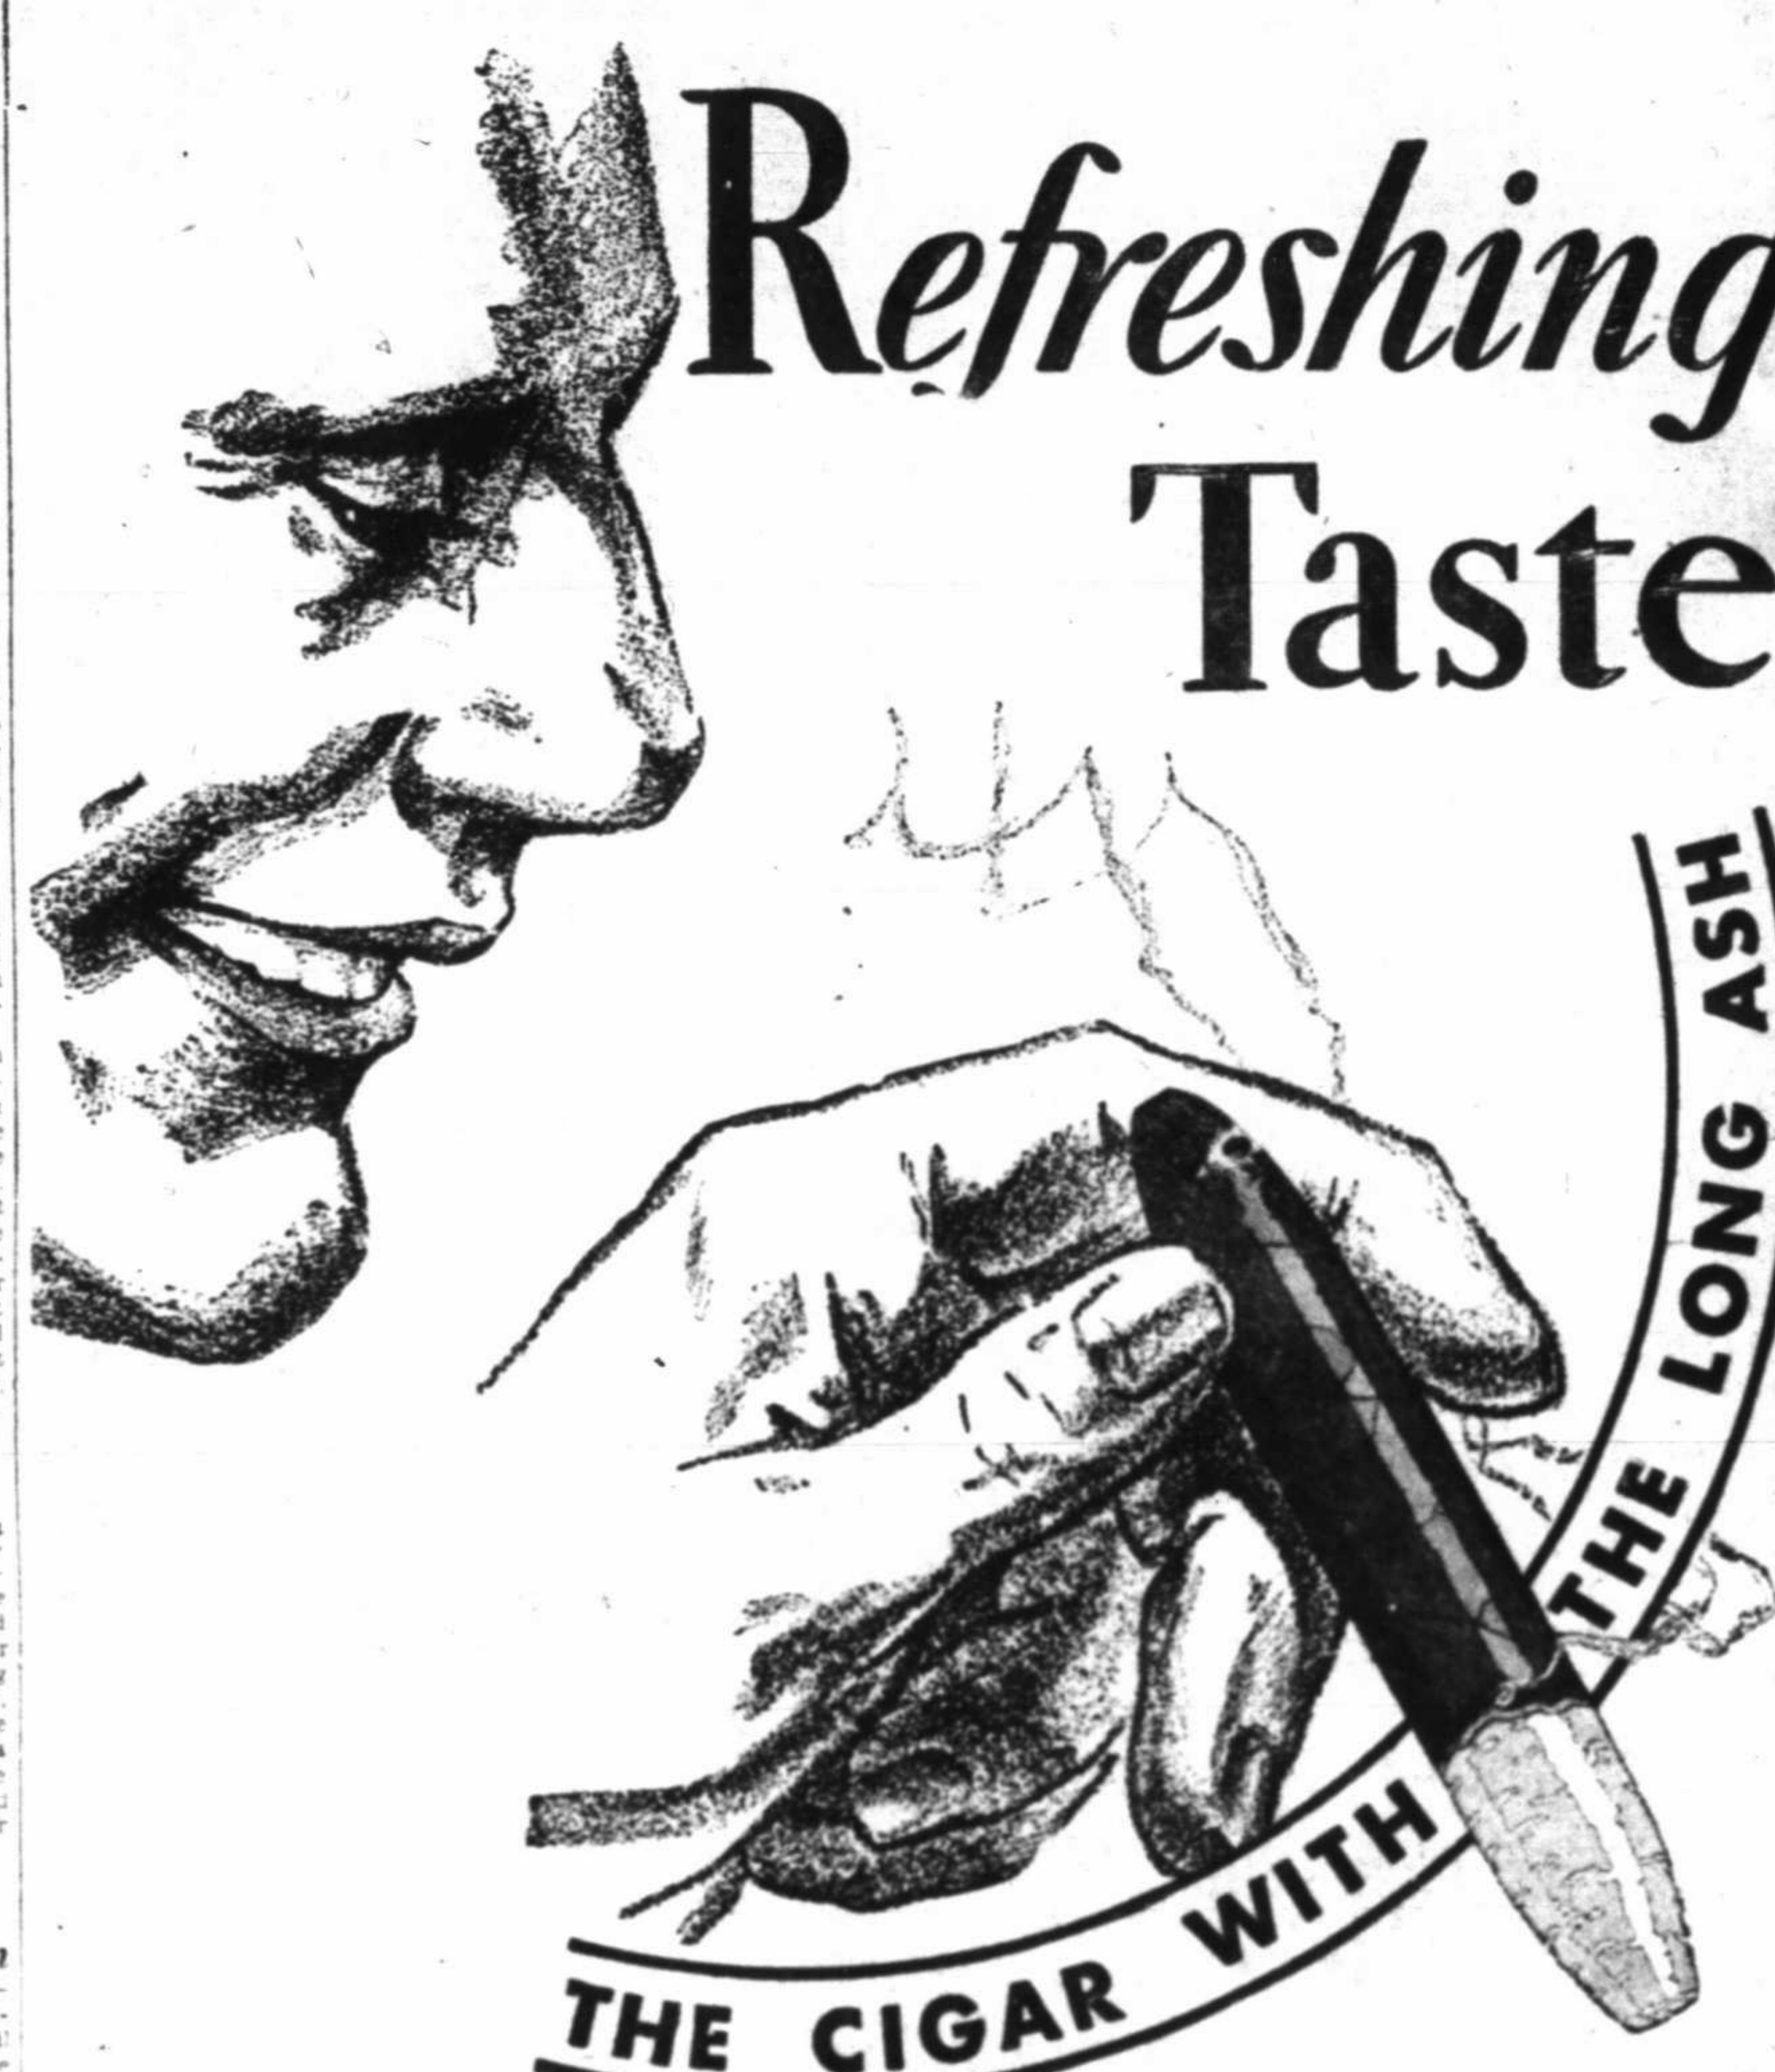

(By The Associated Press) NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—Regardless of the fact that a fellow down in Connecticut named Battling Battalino holds the official rating as world featherweight champion, a young man from Los Angeles, rugged Fidel La Barba, can justly claim himself the best of the 126 pounders flinging leather today.

La Barba, once a student of Stanford University and before that champion of all the flyweights, proved his right to titular recognition among the featherweights last night by clearly outpointing Kid Chocolate, the Cuban sensation, in a torrid ten round engagement that drew 10,000 persons—the biggest crowd of the indoor season so far, to Madison Square Garden. Chocolate dropped a decision last summer to

Jackie Kid Berg, foremost challenger for the lightweight title, after winning a decision from Al Sliger, present 135 pound king, about 18 months ago. Last night, however was the first time Chocolate has ever been beaten by a man in his own class—the featherweight division. By the victory La Barba reversed a decision that went against him in his first match with Chocolate here two years ago. Last night, having learned apparently by the previous engagement, Fidel kept up an everlasting box barmont of the negro's body with left hooks that buried deep under the smiling—"Keeddy"—stamina. He fought back only in spurts and won but three of the ten rounds. La Barba won five with two even.

GERMAN ELECTIONS DRAW ATTENTION OF EUROPEAN PRESS; NEWSPAPERS IN GERMANY FACE CONQUEST POLITICALLY

Editor's Note: The following article is another of a series being published by the Avalanch-Journal and written by Sutton Christian and Allan Carney, former members of the staff here, who are on a tour of the world. The article below describes newspapers.

COLOGNE, Germany. — French newspapers have been expressing considerable alarm over the recent German elections. The Parisian press, almost as a whole, views the present Reichstag as offering a threat to the reparations agreement.

Americans go to the polls with pronounced equanimity when compared with the Germans, who literally seethe with political factionalism. On election day we saw thousands of party supporters parading in trucks, on which were flung banners urging support to 24 different parties.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 4 (AP)—U. S. D. A.—Hogs: 6,000; mostly 10 to 15 higher; packing hogs, 7.25 to 8.50; stock pigs, 7.50 to 8.50.

SOUTH PLAINS NEWS CHATTER

BY J. SAM LEWIS, FIELD CORRESPONDENT

Perils of Dallasites out in Lynn county as reported by the Lynn County News: A tourist from Dallas, whose name we did not learn, with a chauffeur driving a big car, was the victim of a near-serious accident on the highway eight miles north of town Monday evening when his car went into the ditch.

The meanest man in town is the fellow who yelled "Who shot the editor?" when he saw those boys drive up with a dead coyote draped over the radiator of their car, J. C. Hurst of the Hale Center American says.

Slaton has an epidemic of milk stealing and after recording the fact T. E. Roderick of the Slatonite adds: We hope they are caught and that they get all the trimmings.

A. C. Findley, city water superintendent, brought in 10 pounds of hens for a renewal of his subscription to The News, says E. C. Barber, of the Sudan News.

If you have a bad case of mesitis trying doing an honest day's work. It will whet your appetite advises E. F. Hummucker in the Amherst Argus.

George Lance of the Cochran County News has gotten his fighting duds to get a railroad for his county and says: In the meantime, the editor is still of the opinion that a railroad is needed in Morton and Cochran county, and has no thought of being a quitter, a squatter, a nonchalant, and if he has to fight the battle alone and single-handed you will find him on the front line with his cannon all cocked and loaded ready to go when the music starts.

As a result, the News regrets a situation that, apparently, cannot be remedied, but at the same time, we do not believe that Plainview's attitude in the matter, if carried out as outlined to us, will prove injurious to our interests in the project, George Smith says in the Castro County News.

O. D. Carter of the Lamessa Reporter wonders: A Lamessa fellow who woke up one day last week, took off a pair of blue pajamas, donned blue undershirt and shorts, blue socks, blue shirt, blue suit and tie. We wonder if that didn't happen on a Blue Monday.

R. T. Rittenhaler of the O'Donnell Index observes: Marrying a girl who is beautiful but dumb would be all right if she would only stay that way.

Opines Jess Mitchell of the Muleshoe Journal, sometimes after reading a daily newspaper we can't help but feel that there isn't anything straight in Chicago but the shooting.

GREATER ERA IN BARBERING PREDICTED

BANQUET IS HELD HERE LAST NIGHT AS ONE OF BOARD AFFAIRS

Elevation of the barber trade or business to profession will be possible through educational efforts, such as the recently effective state barber law, members of the state board and city and county officials pointed out at a banquet given in the Hotel Hilton last night by local barbers in honor of the visit here of two board members.

South Plains barbers and beauty parlor operators, to the number of over 120, with a number of invited guests, made merry in the banquet room of the hotel, listened to suggestions on how to better observe the law and also the necessity of meeting the demands of the general public for better sanitation.

Nine towns represented. Toastmaster J. R. Dickerson predicted that the meeting was the first of what would be a "bigger and better" program in the near future. When he called for a show of those from out of town, representatives of nine towns from over the South Plains responded. The delegations included: Slaton, 13; Brownfield, 5; Sudan, Littlefield, and Lamessa four each and Ralls, Lorenzo and Tahoka two each.

In his address of welcome "on behalf of the city of Lubbock," Mayor Jerry J. Clements declared, "The barbers, like my craft, have bettered the craft by organization." He also told the out of town visitors that "Lubbock we know now as we have always known in the past, that as you grow, so we grow." He praised the new state law and its operation.

Harmony Cited "In the 24 counties of my district in the past 60 days," H. G. Brock, district inspector declared, "there are 300 barber shops and between 900 and 1,000 barbers and beauty parlor operators. I believe that 75 per cent are in harmony with the law and want it to be enforced."

Two specialty numbers were: a song and dance by little Miss Arvesta Lea Green and also by Miss Virginia Moreland, both local girls who are taking special dance instruction. They were both applauded.

"I am proud to know that this business had advanced to such an extent that it has been recognized by the legislature of Texas," Russell Morrison, local barber, supply man and former member of the craft, declared.

Recalls Work Here Recalling his work in Lubbock three and a half or four years ago, where he worked for some months, Roy W. Johnston, local barber on the board, declared that the present law was a good one and that he "was put on the board by the governor to represent the 20,000 barbers of Texas." He added that the barbers of Texas had been "trying to get the law passed for 'past' past sixteen years," adding, "this is not a union law but it is for all alike."

Jess C. Levens, assistant city attorney, discussed the law from the standpoint of enforcement within Lubbock. "Most of the enforcement up to the county attorney, the district attorney and the attorney general, as I see it," he declared, adding that "it is up to the barbers and beauty shop operators to enforce the law."

Benefits All Vaughn Wilson, county attorney, said he was "interested in the law as a law enforcement official." The law, he pointed out, "was not only passed for the benefit of the public, but also for the benefit of the barbers and their families." J. B. Robinson, vice president of the state board, said that this was his "first visit to Lubbock and I shall remember it as long as I live."

Pointing out that the resident barbers of Lubbock are the ones who helped build the community, Mr. Robinson declared, "it is the migrating element that has given us the black eye."

Admitting that the examination under the law are "harder" for out of the state men who seek to come into Texas, he declared that that worked no hardship on them if they were here to really do business.

Hair Cutting Test The only place where the new law affects the beauty parlor business is where the operators cut hair, Robinson said. Their main tests were on hair cutting, sanitation and hygiene. Speaking of equipment, Mr. Robinson explained that the board had taken the position that it should not recommend any particular make of sanitary equipment—over any other and that sanitation was the main object, not to promote the business of a manufacturer. "The board is not in the business of selling equipment," he added.

Texas was the 26th state in the union to pass a uniform law of this kind, the speaker said. Two states have since adopted the plan.

Fairish Closes Senator Pink L. Parrish, one of the active workers for the law, was the closing speaker. Senator Parrish declared that "some of my best friends have been barbers" and added that he was pleased to assist in the passage of the law.

After declaring that in the natural course of events the law would need some changes or amendments, he added "whatever you need in the way of amendments, feel free to call on me."

"As long as I am in the legislature of Texas," he said in closing, "I am going to see that the big boy will get what is coming to him."

CHAIN OF 21 DAMS FOR MISSISSIPPI PROPOSED TO AID NAVIGATION PLAN; BIG PROJECT CALLS FOR $100,000,000

ST. PAUL, (AP)—A new chain of lakes down the Mississippi valley, from St. Paul to St. Louis, may be one by-product of the federal government's plan to clear a nine-foot channel in the upper river for navigation.

The proposed project calls for building 21 dams at a cost of $100,000,000. Each dam, due to the flat nature of the river valley between rows of bluffs on either side, will create a wide, flat lake. These lakes will vary in width from two to five miles and in length from 10 to 20 miles.

Others are proposed for Alma, Wis., Fountain City, Winona, Trempealeau, LaCrosse, Genoa, Lynxville and Prairie du Chien.

Secretary of War Hurley, who has made a tour of the valley with army engineers, indicated that work would begin in 1931. All plans have yet to be approved by army engineers.

Congress has approved a nine-foot channel for the Mississippi, but funds for the construction still are largely unappropriated.

Conservationist organizations, including the Isak Walton league, have complained the project would destroy game fish and other wild life in the federal wild life refuge which extends from below St. Paul to Rock Island, Ill.

Dr. Vernon Bailey, chief naturalist of the federal department of agriculture, said he believed the project would be destructive of fur-bearing animals.

The conservation committee of the United States senate, headed by Senator Frederic Walcott, has spent a week studying the project, and has yet to make his report.

Proposed by the plan, however, dependent on the act of congress passed in 1924 creating the wild life refuge which, they claim, states no refuge feature should be allowed to interfere with improvement of navigation.

IMMIGRATION OF MEXICANS LOWER

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—(AP)—The state department reported today Mexican immigration into the United States had declined in the past months until "it is no longer a problem."

Secretary Stimson, in analyzing the report at a press conference, characterized present immigration from Mexico as almost negligible.

Against these figures, it placed the department of labor numeration of 56,747 for the last five years and said the reduction had been 91.3 per cent.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—(AP)—The laundry room of the White House, where for 22 years presidential family linens were washed, has given way to the demand for more office space.

STATE WARRANTS ARE BEING PAID

AUSTIN, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Every warrant against the state is being paid immediately on presentation and this policy will be continued as long as state funds hold out, according to a statement issued by W. Gregory Hatcher, state treasurer.

The statement was made by Hatcher in answer to a number of reports that persons holding general revenue warrants could not be paid because the state was operating on a deficiency.

Hatcher said the report evidently started when persons presenting warrants to banks were told they would be taken only for collection. The state treasurer said the banks could not be criticized for this action because there was "imminent danger of a deficiency in the near future."

He called attention to the fact that prior to his administration, the state had come on deficiency from three to five months each year but that during his tenure of office he had obtained the assistance of certain reserve depositories which paid for and held the warrants pending receipt of ad valorem taxes, a large portion of which he had not being received until Feb. 23.

Hatcher warned the public to disregard any statement that the state was on a deficiency unless made by him.

"We want to build roads out here on these South Plains because we know this is a growing country," he declared.

The visit here was Chairman Ely's first official visit here as head of the commission. He had planned to come here several weeks ago but the resignation of the chairman and his promotion, forced a change in plans.
