HST Expected To Make Move Against Reds

Much Of Equipment Needed Is Already Available In U. S.

BY JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29 — The United States seems likely to give its anti-Communist allies in western Europe between $2,000,000,000 and $3,000,000,000 worth of arms next year.

But much of what the Europeans need in the way of military equipment is already available in Army, Navy and Air Force storehouses. It can be shipped abroad at a fraction of its original cost.

President Truman therefore is expected to ask Congress to appropriate only about $1,000,000,000 for the European rearmament program during the new fiscal year beginning next July 1.

This amount would cover packing, shipping and other similar costs, as well as any new items that might have to be bought.

Details Not Complete

Details are far from complete, but top officials say they feel confident Congress will approve the program as a major move in the cold war.

It will nevertheless pose one of the great foreign policy issues of the new session.

Three other items dealing with American military outlays abroad also will focus attention on the question of what this country wants in the world and how it proposes to get it. These three are:

1. The Berlin airlift. The cost of supplying Soviet-blockaded Berlin by air is going to run the Air Force between $70,000,00 and $80,000,000 into the red for this fiscal year. By asking Congress to vote this much more money before June 30, Mr. Truman at the same time will be asking the lawmakers to do this: stamp their formal okay on American determination to stick in Berlin in the face of terrific Russian pressure to get us out.

Truman Decision Due

2. Greek-Turkish aid. President Truman is due to decide soon the size of the next Greek-Turkish aid program. His advisers reportedly are prepared to recommend an increase of around 10 per cent above this year's $325,000,000 program. The Greek-Turkish program is the key to American strategy in the Middle East. Politically it is the heart of the Truman doctrine of helping free nations to defend themselves against Russian-Communist pressure. Militarily it is the extra strength American strategists feel is needed to keep

Storm Sweeps Over Midwest

(By The United Press)

Blustering gales and heavy snowfall struck the Great Lakes today as a severe storm swept across the Midwest toward the Atlantic ocean.

Winds up to 50 miles an hour battered across Illinois and Wisconsin bringing with them snow storms and freezing rains that made driving hazardous throughout the area.

Gathers Intensity

The storm, born in the North Pacific, battered the California coast line earlier this week, pushed inland over the Rocky mountains and then gathered intensity as it pounded across the western plains.

Forecasters said the storm center would cross almost directly over Chicago about noon today, heading in an east-northeasterly direction for the St. Lawrence valley.

The weather bureau warned that as much as eight inches of snow could be expected in central Wisconsin.

Storm warnings were posted over the Great Lakes.

Temperatures Falling

Forecaster H. S. Kenny said temperatures were falling 10 degrees within an hour's time in the wake of the storm. He warned that because of the high winds, "the air will be filled with drift-

Mother Jailed For Kidnaping

Cross-Country Tug Of War For Custody Of Three-Year-Old Child To Be Staged

(By The Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 29—A cross-country tug of war for the custody of three-year-old Vickie Jeanne Snyder loomed today as her mother, Mrs. Jeanne M. Braget, 21, was jailed on kidnaping charges.

Mrs. Braget gave herself up to police and said she will fight extradition to face charges of taking the girl from the Harrisburg, Pa., home of her paternal grandparents and legal guardians.

The mother and her present husband, John Braget, 35, Tacoma, Wash., came in to the nearby Pomona police station yesterday with the youngster after reading in newspapers about the search for them. Vicki was given temporarily to juvenile authorities.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. Snyder, the grandparents, said in Harrisburg that they had given the mother permission to take the child for a visit 10 miles away on Dec. 19 and asked she be returned that afternoon.

The grandparents, who adopted the child after her parents were divorced three years ago, were elated at the finding of the child and promised her a Christmas party as soon as she gets home.

But the mother from her jail cell said: "I don't believe I have done anything wrong," and "I never signed any adoption papers

NEW MEMBER MAY BE DRAFTED

Demos Steer Clear Of Spy Probe Seat

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29—New House Democrats—and many old-timers—are shying away from a seat on the un-American activities committee.

A veteran of five terms said today the party's leadership may have to "draft" the fifth Democratic member when the committee majority switches next week.

This lawmaker, who would not permit use of his name, told reporters that Speaker-Designate Rayburn (Tex) has had letters expressing committee preferences from all 101 new Democratic House members, and from more than 50 present members.

But not one has asked to be assigned to the spy-hunting committee—even as a second choice.

Rayburn himself could not be reached for comment immediately.

Has Nine Members

The un-American activities committee now has nine members—five Republicans and four Democrats. The ratio will be reversed in the new Congress, convening next Monday.

All four present Democratic members will be back—Reps. Wood of Georgia, who is in line for the chairmanship; Rankin of Mississippi, Peterson of Florida and Hebert of Louisiana.

Three of the five Republicans will not be back. Rep. Mundt of South Dakota was elected to the Senate, and Reps. McDowell of Pennsylvania and Vail of Illinois were defeated for re-election. The two returning are retiring Chairman J. Parnell Thomas of New Jersey and Rep. Nixon of California.

No Way To Determine

Republicans clear their committee preferences with the heads of the various state delegations so there was no definite way of determining whether the minority party will have trouble finding its two new members for the committee.

Mother Hated Baby; Beat Her To Death

DURAND, Mich., Dec. 29 (AP) — The young wife of a railroad section hand was held today after she said in a formal statement that she beat her three-weeks-old daughter to death because "I hated little girls."

"I knew this was going to be a girl and I hated her from the time I got pregnant," slender, dark-eyed Mrs. Domingo Rios was quoted by Prosecutor Gerald McClear.

"After she was born I never liked to change her or anything. I never wanted her. I never liked her. I hated her."

Tax Collectors On Top Of Black List

GAFFEY, S. C., Dec. 29 (U.P) — Tax Collector W. R. Douglas said today that his is a risky job.

He got the $6 long overdue the state, he said, despite a warning that he may never "pass through the Pearly Gates."

A farmer walked into Douglas' office yesterday and announced that he wanted to pay his back taxes because "the Lord woke me up and recommended it."

Douglas said fine and gave the farmer a bill for $6. "But the Lord told me I owed only $1.98," the farmer demurred.

They finally settled on $6, but not before the farmer left Douglas with this warning:

"The Lord has a big black book with all the names of persons He will not pass through the Pearly Gates—tax collectors are on top of the list."

Reno Again Is Hit By Quake

RENO, Nev., Dec. 29 (AP)—Power and telephone lines were knocked down and minor highway slides touched off by renewed earth temblors which shook Reno heavily early today.

The shocks, apparently centering here, extended through the Sierra into northern California as far west as San Francisco and as far south as Fresno in the San Joaquin valley.

Three quakes, the first reported at about 4:55 a.m., were so severe as to knock the seismograph of the University of Nevada completely awry.

Latest In Series

They were the latest in a series of shocks beginning Monday night, when Reno was shaken seven times within a period of four and a half hours.

The Bell Telephone company reported its lines down near the California state line about 15 miles west of here.

The highway department at Sacramento, Calif., reported that minor rock slides occurred on U. S. highway 40, main transcontinental highway to the east over the California Sierra.

The heaviest shock was timed at 4:55 a.m. PST (6:55 a.m. (CST) and was followed by three more within an hour. No damage was

Canadian Motorship Aground In Mexico

BROWNSVILLE, Dec. 29. (AP)—The Canadian motorship Capitola was aground today on the Mexican coast 85 miles south of Brownsville and the fate of her crew of eight was undetermined.

Airline pilots who flew over the scene Tuesday reported, however, that men, presumably all or part of the crew, were seen on the beach. They said the isolated spot appeared to be accessible only by airplane.

China Fate Hangs In Balance

Military Men Are Called To Capital Parley

War Or Peace With Reds Is Topic Of Chiang Conference

(By The Associated Press)

NANKING, Dec. 29 — From all corners of China today came Nationalist military leaders to talk war or peace with Chiang Kai-Shek.

The aging president, urged by many to quit, called the conference. It probably will start tomorrow. On its decision may rest the future of Nationalist China, beset on the north by conquering Communists.

Even as the warlords, generals and leaders arrived in Nanking, a government source revealed that a Red underground organization was hard at work only two miles from the capital.

A hint that Chiang, or his Nationalist leaders under a new chief, would carry on the fight came late in the day. Gen. Chen Cheng, former army chief of staff, was appointed governor of Formosa by the executive yuan (council.)

Might Presage Flight

His appointment, plus the fact the navy and air force have moved some of their headquarters units to the big island off the coast half way between Shanghai and Canton, might presage flight of Chiang's government there if Nanking is attacked.

North of the Yangtze it appeared almost all over for Chiang's men. A few pockets held out, notably in Peiping and Tientsin, and Gen. Tu Li-Ming's Red-surrounded force 50 miles south of Suchow. None seemed to have any chance of getting out.

Best available sources here said the following would attend the policy making conference:

Gen. Fu Tso-Yi, whose military reputation faded fast when his armies were trapped in Tientsin and Peiping.

Pai Chung-Hsi, former defense minister whose Hankow area troops, many of whom have already moved into Nanking, are among the few good armies left to the nationalists.

Chang Chih-Chung, veteran northwest China leader, a general without armies but with considerable influence particularly among the "midle roaders" of the Kuomintang (government) party.

Hu Tsung-Nan, Sian commander whose capture of the Communist capital of Yenan subsequently was blotted by a long succession of defeats at the hands of the Reds.

Jewish Troops Are Ordered From Negev

PARIS, Dec. 29 (AP)—The United Nations ordered Israeli troops today to retire from the Negev desert of southern Palestine. The security council also ordered both Israel and Egypt to end hostilities there.

The council adopted a British-sponsored resolution by eight votes with three abstentions. No negative ballot was cast.

The United States abstained on all sections of the resolution as it was put to vote by paragraphs. Russia and the Soviet Ukraine abstained from all sections except the preamble and the order to cease fire.

Nine Japs Must Die

Convicted Of Killing Fliers

YOKOHAMA, Dec. 29 (AP) — Death on the gallows was decreed today for nine Japanese officers, including three generals, for the beheading of 33 American fliers. Seventeen of the airmen were killed after Emperor Hirohito broadcast his surrender speech.

Sixteen other Japanese were assessed prison sentences ranging from five years to life by a U. S. Eighth Army commission. Seven other defendants in the mass trial were acquitted.

Executed For Revenge

Witnesses testified the U. S. airmen were decapitated after they were told their executions were in retaliation for the atomic bombings of Hiroshima and Nagasaki.

Eight were put to death on Aug. 10, 1945, and 17 were beheaded on Aug. 15—just four hours after Hirohito broadcast his surrender speech. Many of the 33 were used by the Japanese as archery and sword practice targets, witnesses at the trial testified.

Condemned to be hanged were Lt. Gen. Isamu Yokoyama, commander of the western army; Maj. Gen. Kyusaku Fukushima, assistant chief of staff; Maj. Gen. Shoshin Ito, chief of the western army legal section; Col. Kiyoharu Tomomori, Capt. Yusei Wako, Lt. Hiroji Nakayama, Lt. Kentaro Toji and Probationary Officer Masahiko Marazaki.

WESTINGHOUSE WILL BUILD UNIT

Atomic Propulsion Ships Are Planned

(By The Associated Press)

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 29—Scientists made plans today to break the mighty atom for riding.

The Westinghouse Electric corporation announced it had been selected by the Atomic Energy commission to build the world's first atomic power unit for transportation uses.

Primary purpose of the experimental power plant will be the propulsion of U. S. Navy ships by means of a nuclear reactor—a uranium furnace with a function quite similar to ship's fireboxes that consume coal or oil.

Although final terms of the contract between the company and the Chicago office of the commission remain to be determined, Charles H. Weaver, head of Westinghouse's newly-formed atomic power division, said work on the atomic engine would start "within the next few months."

Matter Of Conjecture

The completion date, however, was a matter of conjecture—"maybe two years, or it might be five or six"—Weaver said.

"Construction of the nuclear reactor," the Westinghouse official said, "marks the beginning of the development of atomic energy in the transportation

Banker In Oklahoma Gets Prison Sentence

TULSA, Dec. 29 (U.P) — Banker William H. McCollough of Pryor, Okla., who gambled away possibly $500,000 in depositors' money before his embezzling was discovered, today was sentenced to 10 years when he pleaded guilty in federal district court.

McCollough changed his previous plea of innocent on five counts before U. S. Judge Royce Savage.

The Pryor banker actually was charged with embezzling only $1,000, but U. S. Attorney Whit Mauzy said an incomplete audit of the National Bank of Pryor Creek has already revealed a shortage of $540,226.99.

AMARILLO, Dec. 29 (AP)—Amarillo citizens will have a chance to vote on a proposed bond issue for construction of a stadium, the school board announced late last night. The election will be held Jan. 8.

Four Killed As Plane Crashes

DETROIT, Dec. 29 (AP)—A Michigan National guard B-26 bomber plane, fighting rain and sleet, crashed and burned six miles from its base last night.

At least four men, including three Air Force personnel and a guard officer, were killed.

For a time there was believed to have been a fifth victim. The National Guard said after investigation, however, that this was "very unlikely."

Bomber Explodes

The bomber, about to complete a routine navigational flight from Mac Dill Field, Fla., exploded as it crashed.

It fell in a field and was destroyed. It was only moments distant from its Wayne county airport base.

The identified dead:

Capt. Charles L. Parham 3rd, 26, Dearborn, Mich., the pilot, a flight commander in the National guard.

First Lt. D. A. Streeter, Ann Arbor, Mich., navigator; John Cinko, Homestead, Pa., and Donald C. Radtke, Detroit, all Air Force personnel.

Streeter, on detached service from the University of Michigan, was attached to the 56th fighter wing at Selfridge field. Cinka and Radtke were with the 104th weather group at Warner-Robbins field, Macon, Ga.

The plane's wreckage was spread over an area of ten acres.

Officer Arrested In Odessa Embezzlment

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 29. (AP) An Army captain, here awaiting transportation to duty in Japan, was arrested today on charges of embezzling more than $10,000 from the First National bank of Odessa, Texas.

Harry Kimball, special agent in charge of the FBI here, said the officer was Joe Allen Mason, 28, native of Cleburne, Texas, married and the father of two small children.

Mason was charged in a complaint filed before the U. S. commissioner in Pecos, Texas, last Dec. 14 with embezzling at least $10,287 from the Odessa bank, where he was head bookkeeper and relief teller from Feb. 1 to Aug. 28, 1948.

He resigned the post voluntarily to re-enter the Army, Kimball added. In World War II, he had been an artillery captain.

The United States commissioner postponed until Monday a hearing on Mason's removal to El Paso for federal grand jury action. Mason failed to post $5,000 bond.

Humid Climate, Low Finances Depressing

Houston War Vet Lonnie Rye Still Wants To Sell An Eye

(By The United Press)

HOUSTON, Dec. 29—Lonnie Rye was still trying today to part with one of his blue, 20-20 vision eyes.

Depressed because of the meager Christmas he and his wife endured, the blond 35-year-old war veteran said he just had to boost his finances.

Mainly, he needed the money for Bertha, his wife, who suffers from asthma. The humid Houston climate is bad for her, and it takes money to travel.

"I want to get some money so I can take Bertha to Arizona or Utah and go to school to learn a trade," Rye said.

He looked at the remnants of his war medals—a Purple Heart and Bronze Star. There had been more. Lonnie went through five major European battles.

"You can't sell medals for anything," he mused. "They don't bring enough."

It was a week before Christmas that Lonnie first hit on the idea of selling an

Papers Chide President On Soviet Hints

London Declares World Tantalizer By His Remarks

(By The United Press)

LONDON, Dec. 29 — The London Daily Mail chided President Truman today for tantalizing the world with his Kansas City speech.

"If Mr. Truman believes he has friends inside the Kremlin," the conservative newspaper said, "he should try to improve the acquaintance. He ought not to throw out a statement such as he made and leave it as that."

Remarkable Utterance

In a front-page editorial, the Mail said Mr. Truman's was "a remarkable utterance," and called upon him to "elaborate — as far as he can."

"No one would expect him to name the Russian leaders he has in mind at this stage," the Mail said.

Regarding the accuracy of Mr. Truman's statement that "certain leaders" in Russia are anxious for an understanding with the United States, the Mail commented that "obviously it was based on good information, otherwise the President of the United States would scarcely have made it."

"Now everyone is wondering what that information was," the Mail said, adding that Mr. Truman now "should tell us not only what he meant to say, but what he means to do."

Battle Is Analyzed

In an adjacent column the Mail printed a dispatch from Stockholm analyzing what it called "the battle for power in the 14-man politburo which has been going on for months." It headlined the dispatch "Three Kremlin Rebels."

The dispatch said that "at least four men are believed to be in the bloc which seeks to switch Russia's future policy through channels of diplomacy and propaganda."

It named these members of the politburo — ruling body of Russia — as Premier Josef Stalin, Minister of Trade A. N. Mikoyan, Minister of Light Industry A. N. Kosygin, and Communist party central committee Secretary G. M. Malenkov.

Bitter Attack Made

The dispatch said that Mikoyan probably "has advocated a political arrangement with the United States" because he knows from his western contacts that the Soviet union cannot hope to outstrip the western nations in production for a long time.

The Communist Daily Worker made a bitter attack on Mr. Truman under the headline, "Tripe by

Legal Closed Shop Predicted In Labor Legislation Changes

By MAX HALL
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29 — People on both sides of the labor-management fence are predicting that the 81st Congress will make the closed shop legal again.

If this happens, great numbers of workers will be brought under contracts requiring them to be union members in order to get or hold their jobs.

Labor leaders are taking it for granted that the closed shop ban in the Taft-Hartley act is doomed. Officials of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States say this "seems likely."

Senator Tells Reporter

Senator Taft (R-Ohio), on of the sponsors of the Taft-Hartley law, told a reporter:

"It is safe to say that the absolute prohibition of the closed shop is likely to be changed."

But Taft quickly added that it's impossible to predict exactly what Congress will enact on this general subject. He hinted he will seek a "closed union" ban as a substitute for the closed shop ban.

"If we are going to permit the closed shop, we can hardly have the closed union," he said.

By "closed union," he means a union that bars people from membership on grounds other than non-payment of reasonable dues or initiation fees.

Taft Makes Prediction

Taft predicted flatly that Congress will eliminate the Taft-Hartley provision which prohibits a union from writing a "union shop" contract unless a majority of the employes authorize it in an election.

"This provision ought to go," he said.

Here's how the union shop differs from the closed shop:

A closed shop contract prevents the employer from hiring a worker who isn't a member of the union. A union shop contract permits the employer to hire any worker he pleases, but the worker must then join the union or get fired. Under either contract, if a worker quits the union the employer has to fire him.

The Chamber of Commerce of the United States, in its publication "Business Action," says this:

"Changes Inevitable"

"Radical changes are inevitable in the Taft-Hartley law . . . It seems likely that these sections of the Taft-Hartley act would be wiped off the statute books in any event: (1) The ban on the closed shop; (2) The provision that a majority of employes must give their assent before a union shop can be installed in a plant."

If this happens, here are some of the probable results:

1. John L. Lewis's union shop contract with the coal operators would automatically become legal and the "unfair labor practice" case against him would be dropped. The contract was written so as to leave it up to the courts to decide whether the contract was legal.

2. The same applies to the contracts in the maritime industry These contracts continued the hotly disputed hiring halls on a tentative basis, pending court decisions on their legality.

Provision Would Continue

3. The "maintenance of membership' provision in the steel industry, now due to become automatically illegal under the Taft-Hartley act next April 30, would continue in effect for another year, until the steel contract expires April 30, 1950, and longer than that if the parties agree to keep it.

Under a "maintenance of membership" clause, the workers don't have to join the union, but if they do join, they have to remain members to keep their jobs. The Taft-Hartley provision on the union shop applies also to maintenance of membership.

4. The International Typographical union, AFL, would again be free to demand closed shop conditions in the printing and publishing industries. The government has been prosecuting this union for the last year or more on charge of violating the Taft-Hartley law in this connection.

Test Well To Be Abandoned

Amerada Petroleum Corporation was tearing down the rig on its No. 1 Griffiths-Lawhon, North-Central Hockley County wildcat, six miles north of the town of Levelland, preparatory to abandonment.

The venture drilled to 7,761 feet in the Clear Fork-Permian, developed no possibilities of production and is to be plugged on that depth.

The dry hole is 550 feet from north and 330 feet from east lines of labor 5, league 730, SCL survery.

Cement Drilled Out

Lion Oil Company No. 2 E. C. McLaughlin, Southwest Scurry County discovery from a Pennsylvanian lime between 6,572 feet and the present total depth of 6,617 feet, had drilled out cement in 7-inch casing which had been cemented on bottom and was in process of perforating the pipe to make production tests and complete.

This new discovery, located four miles west of the Schattell field, 10 miles southwest of Snyder, and 660 feet from south and east lines of section 197, block 97, H&TC survey, flowed at the estimated rate of 20 barrels of oil per hour, natural, on a drillstem test at 6,585-6,617 feet, before the casing was cemented on bottom. It showed no formation water, and should be completed as a good flowing oil well.

Taking Drillstem Test

Placid Oil Company No. 1 Davis, North-Central Scurry County prospector, six and one-half miles northeast of Snyder, and 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 387, block 97, H&TC survey, was bottomed at 7,905 feet, in Ellenburger lime entered at 7,730 feet, and was taking a drillstem test.

Since entering the Ellenburger formation this project has shown only slight indications of gas and oil. It has not encountered any water in that formation.

The venture has indicated the possible discovery of commercial production in two lime sections in the Pennsylvanian above 7,200 feet.

If it fails in the Ellenburger operator is expected to plug back and try to complete an oil well from the Pennsylvanian horizons.

Production Of Clothing Shows 10 Per Cent Drop During 1948

NEW YORK, Dec. 29. (U.P.)—Clothing production fell off 10 per cent this year, industry sources reported today.

Production of women's dresses is off three to five per cent as compared with 1947 according to the best available estimates.

Employment for the 250,000 unionized workers in the men's clothing industry and in the dress industry in the New York area is off in direct proportion to the production decrease.

Both workers and manufacturers view the situation with more sorrow than alarm.

'Back To Seasons'

"Unfortunately," one of them put it, "we're back to season."

That's normal. But there have not been any seasonal slack periods for four years in the dress industry and seven years in the men's clothing industry.

The slump began in mid-October. Union sources in the men's industry where 150,000 workers are represented by the Amalgamated Clothing Workers (CIO) estimate that fewer than 10,000 of that number have been totally unemployed. Between 40,000 and 50,000 have been working at reduced work schedules in the past few months, these sources said.

Groups Have Contracts

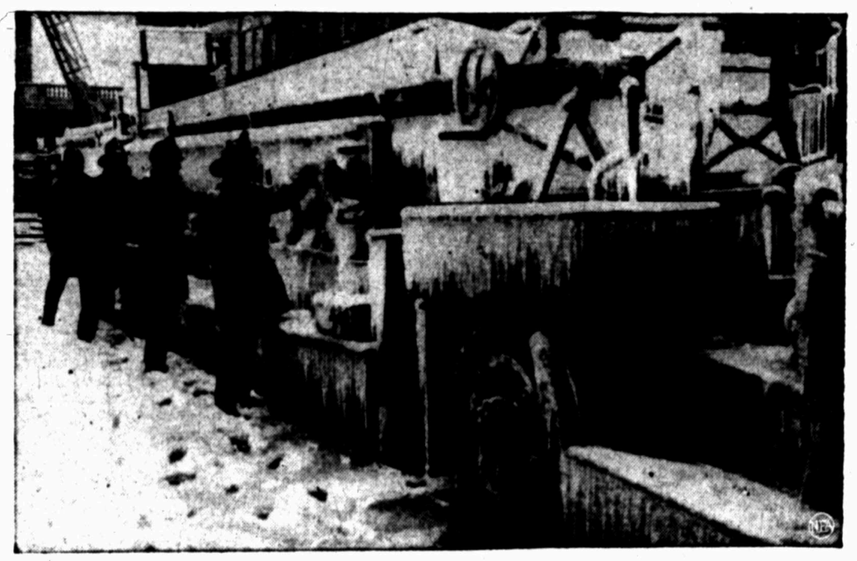

Both the amalgamated and the joint dress board of the International Ladies Garment Workers (AFL) representing some 81,000 workers in the New York area, have contracts which provide for sharing the work rather than laying off employes when production is cut.

The dress industry, for the first three quarters of 1948 equalled production figures for 1947 which were the second highest in history although 12 per cent below the previous year, a union spokesman said. Manufacturers in the highly competitive industry say they have no reason to question the union figures. They keep none themselves, and depend upon the union's, which are compiled from government statistics and their own surveys.

Upsurge Expected

Neither manufacturers nor workers are worried. Both expect that business will pick up again in late January and early February when Easter orders should be in the works. A few manufacturers say that a slight downward adjustment of prices will help the situation.

The greatest fall off in demand in both industries is apparent in popular and low priced fields, indicating, in the opinion of union and industry spokesmen, that a money pinch is being felt by low-er income purchasers. The boys' suit industry, said to be a barometer of economic conditions because the Sunday suit for junior has long been one of the first things a family does without, has been a heavy sufferer.

THEY DON'T THINK JACK FROST IS SO CUTE—After battling a stubborn fire, these Chicago firemen face another tough job. They'll have to clean the ice from their hook and ladder. The icicles form a cold decoration on the fire engine.

Shanghai, China, plans a city-wide census, which will involve temporarily confining all residents in their homes for a house-to-house check—as a means to stop the recent wild spending spree and operations of the "Yellog Ox Gang."

Squatters Aid Reds Against British

KUALA LUMPUR, Federation of Malaya, Dec. 29 (AP) — The British Government in Malaya is training its sights on several hundred thousand landless Chinese "squatters" in the latest phase of its war on Communist insurgents in the Malayan peninsula.

The squatters are Chinese peasants—prewar rubber tappers and coolies—who during the Japanese occupation took over small plots of unoccupied land in the Malayan jungle, on the fringe of rubber estate or on government forestry lands. Here they grow small crops of rice and other foods.

The government says the squatters feed and shelter the Chinese Communist insurgents who since May have been trying to overthrow British control of the peninsula. Many a Chinese, say police and military officials, is a squatter by day, an insurgent by night. Most squatters, these sources continue, aid the Communists because they're afraid not to.

Action against the squatters takes this form: Troops and police move into a squatter area where insurgents have been active. Each family is told they're being moved out and given a short time to gather up one load of household belongings.

Then the family is checked by the police, to see if they include any known Communists or other wanted persons. These are arrested. The others are taken to a collection center. Meanwhile the military burns down their huts and what possessions they couldn't take with them.

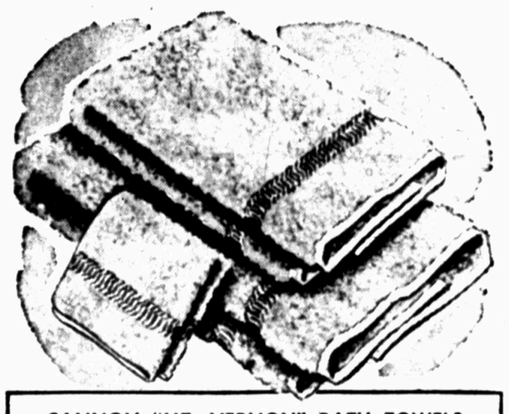

At the collection center the displaced Chinese has two choices. He can set up a new home on two acres of government-provided farm land—where he will be under police or military surveillance. There he will get free food for six months while he gets his own crop growing. Or he can be repatriated back to China.

Mary Haworth's Mail...

Clinging Devotion Of Pious Wife Allows Man No Margin For Freedom In Living

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: After six years' marriage I am beginning to wonder if I chose the right wife. Our marriage has run smoothly except for one issue which is constantly overhead, threatening; and divorce seems almost impossible.

Ellen is not an unfaithful, or nagging, or money-mad wife. She is an intelligent, pious companion, and there is no other woman. It's simply that I am treated like a caged animal. I suppose I like freedom of movement as much as any young man, but Ellen can't tolerate even a brief separation. In six years we haven't been apart as long as a week.

Every time it is necessary for me to be away overnight, which is about twice a month, there is a tearful scene. I never go to a stag affair; never plan pastimes that don't include her, even for a few hours or an evening; and when asked to join men's organizations, I decline, lest they take me away from home for a meal or an evening occasionally.

WHO IS SELFISH, HUSBAND OR WIFE?

ELLEN doesn't care to go to parties without me, although she has done so; and she says it's all because she loves me so much and that I should feel the same. Thus far I have complied with her views, either staying home or going out with her, although not without some argument, and these spats are becoming more frequent.

Already I am unhappy much of the time and I fear for our marriage. I maintain that Ellen's attitude is selfish, but she sincerely believes it is an expression of perfect love for me, and that I am at fault. Is there any way I might induce her to see that I would love her more if I were given more freedom? Signed D. M.

BOTH ARE ACTING LESS THAN MATURE

DEAR D. M.: The person who makes inordinate concessions against his will and better judgment, to appease the demands of another in intimate relationship, invariably develops proportionate resentment that verges on hatred of the "tyrant."

But why does he yield to that damaging extent? Usually because (at the start) he is afraid of losing the tryant's approbation, favors, etc.; or to say it another way, because he lacks confidence in his ability to rate loyal deference on his own terms. And such was your weakness, or social handicap, in dealing with Ellen at first. Consequently, two have been fomenting the serious problem you describe.

As for Ellen, her behavior is childish, jealous, anxious. She, too, lacks sound self regard and has little faith in human constancy. Whereas you are mildly immature, she is acutely neurotic and the instigating factors of her psychological distress will be found in her childhood history.

WIFE IS REACTING TO CHILDISH FEARS

WHATEVER the story—whether her parents were divorced or their relations strained by infidelity, or whether she was orphaned at an early age, or whether she was indifferently treated by harried parents struggling to rear a large family in depression years, —she got short shift of love and devotion (from her viewpoint) and felt "passed over" in competition for special affection.

Consequently, in relation to you, whom she idolizes, she is plagued unconsciously by all those old childish fears intensified a thousandfold; and they are the compulsive force behind the clinging behavior you're up against. Her performance is full of fear; it isn't expressive of "perfect love," not at all. Perfect love casteth out fear, Scripture says; and also warns that fear evokes the fate most dreaded.

Her idea, conscious or not, is to take no chance on losing your love, thus actively and figuratively she is always emphasizing crying need of your society; but unfortunately, that isn't the way to hold a man. Rather, it causes him to crave freedom at any cost, as you are prepared to testify. It is my hope that these remarks will give Ellen a helpful slant on herself; and for advice to both of you, I suggest joint study of Dr. M. Alexander Magoun's fine book, "Love and Marriage," (Harper & Brothers).—M. H.

Mary Haworth counsels through her column, not by mail or personal interview. Write her in care of The Lubbock Evening Journal.

McCarty-Boulter Vows Read At Church Tuesday

Miss Nelda Sue Boulter and Lynn Boswell McCarty were married Tuesday night at 8 o'clock at St. John's Methodist church. Dr. J. Ralph Grant, pastor of First Baptist church, performed a single ring service before an altar of white chrysanthemums, gladioli and greenery. Cathedral tapers illumined the setting.

A program of wedding music offered by Gerre Hancock, organist, included "Prelude in E Major" by Bach, "Arroso" by Handel, "To the Evening Star" from "Tannhauser" by Wagner, and "Channson, Friesse" by Revel. Carey May, soloist, presented "I Love Thee" by Grieg and sang "The Lord's Prayer" as a musical benediction. The organist played "Liebestraum" (Liszt) as vows were repeated.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Howard Boulter of 2604 Twenty-second, was given in marriage by her father. Candles, lemon leaf and white satin bows marked the bridal aisle.

The gown of white brocade satin worn by the bride was styled with a fitted bodice and a sheer yoke outlined with a drape of satin which extended over the shoulders. Her long tapering sleeves ended in points over the hands and her full skirt extended into a long train. The bride's fingertip veil of imported illusion fell from a heart-shaped bonnet of lace embossed with seed pearls and trimmed with orange blossoms, and her cascade arm bouquet was of white orchids and stephanotis. She wore an heirloom pin belonging to Mrs. I. C. Enochs.

Attendants were Mrs. J. Robert Duncan, sister of the bride and matron of honor, and Miss Martha Enochs, Mrs. David C. Weaver, another sister of the bride, Mrs. John McLarty, Miss Xen Harris,, and Mrs. C. M. Trout, jr., and Miss Lam McKay of Austin, bridesmaids. They wore gowns of soft sea green faille created with fitted bodices trimmed with heavy green lace, and worn with matching fitted jackets fashioned with puff sleeves. Their hats were of sea green net adorned in the back with long faille bows and their elbow length gloves were of faille. Mrs. Duncan carried an arm bouquet of Better Times roses and the bridesmaids carried colonial bouquets of the roses.

James P. Williams served as best man and David C. Weaver, Ted Alkire, Gene Anderson, Ralph Cocanougher, C. M. Trout, jr., of Austin, and Mert Starnes were ushers.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was given in the Yaqui room of Hilton hotel. The bride's table was covered with white ruffled net over satin and centered with a double wedding ring cake with rousebud decoration. Tapers burning in silver candelabra and an arrangement of white chrysanthemums and gladioli completed decorations.

Parents of the bride and bridegroom and members of the wedding party assisted with hospitalities. Others in the house party were Mesdames Clarence E. Davis, I. C. Enochs, G. P. Cunningham, Don Furr, Ralph Cocanougher, James P. Williams, William J. Harris, G. G. Porter, and Misses Betty Jenkins, Alyce Howell, Martha LaRoe and LaVaughn Bearden.

Out-of-town guests were from Melrose, N. M., and Abilene.

For a plane trip to Portland, Ore., the bride wore a black and gray serge suit with black accessories and a white orchid corsage. Her black hat was complimented with a rose moonstone clip and a feather. Mr. and Mrs. McCarty will be at home in Forest Grove, Ore., where the bridegroom is enrolled in the School of Optometry at Pacific University. He is the son of Mrs. George Jackson McCarty of 2121 Twenty-second.

Both the bride and bridegroom are graduates of Lubbock High school and attended Texas Technological college where Mrs. McCarty was a pledge of Sans Souci social club and Mr. McCarty a member of Wrangler social club.

'OES Guest Is Honored During Tuesday Visit

Mrs. Blanche Dodgen of Littlefield, district deputy of District 2, Section 4, Order of the Eastern Star, spent the day in Lubbock Tuesday as a guest of Freedom chapter, Number 858. Accompanying her was Mrs. Emma Ruth Bellamy, also of Littlefield.

Luncheon was served for them in the home of Mrs. T. K. Martin, 2508 Twenty-second, when Mrs. C. R. DeArmond, worthy matron of Freedom chapter, was also a guest.

During the afternoon a tea honoring Mrs. Dodgen was given in the DeArmond home, 2013 Tenth, between 3 and 5 o'clock. Officers and drill teams of Truth chapter, U. D., and Lubbock chapter, Number 76, were special guests, and all members of Freedom chapter were invited.

A pink and white motif was carried out in decorations and refreshments, and favors were pink rosebuds. Cake and coffee were served to about 50 persons.

Turkey Supper Held

After the tea hours, a 6 p. m. turkey buffet supper was served in the DeArmond home to the two Littlefield guests, and to officers and protems of Freedom chapter and their husbands.

Mrs. Dodgen made her official visit at a regular meeting of Freedom chapter at 7:30 p. m. in the IOOF hall. Plans were made for the School of Instruction to be held in Lubbock on Jan. 6, and the remainder of the meeting time was devoted to the instructions of the district deputy.

Mrs. Ruth G. Mueting of Ivanhoe chapter, Number 947, Chicago, was a guest, and several other visitors were present from Lubbock chapter.

The hall was decorated with nosegays of pink roses backed with golden fans and placed at each station.

At the close of the meeting, coffee was served in the DeArmond home.

Woman Found Dead In Bathroom Here

Mrs. George S. Stanford, 66, was found dead at 2 a. m. today in the bathroom of her residence at 1912 Sixth, apparently the victim of a heart attack.

Police were called shortly after a roomer at the residence discovered Mrs. Stanford's body slumped against a wall. District Attorney Lloyd Croslin and Justice of the Peace C. E. Lynn also went to the scene.

Lynn said today he would enter a verdict of death from heart attack.

Funeral services have been set for 9:30 a. m. Thursday in Asbury Methodist church, with Rev. C. A. Bickley officiating.

The body will be taken overland by Sanders Funeral home to Blackwell, Tex., where services will be held at 3 p. m. Thursday. Burial will be in Blackwell.

Survivors include five sisters, Mrs. H. E. Ross, Mrs. Charles B. Jones and Mrs. George W. Hartin, all of Lubbock, Mrs. J. A. Pruit of Carlsbad, N. M., and Mrs. W. E. Tait of Sweetwater; and two brothers, W. E. and Lee Lackey, both of Blackwell.

Break Prevented By Slow Jail Elevator

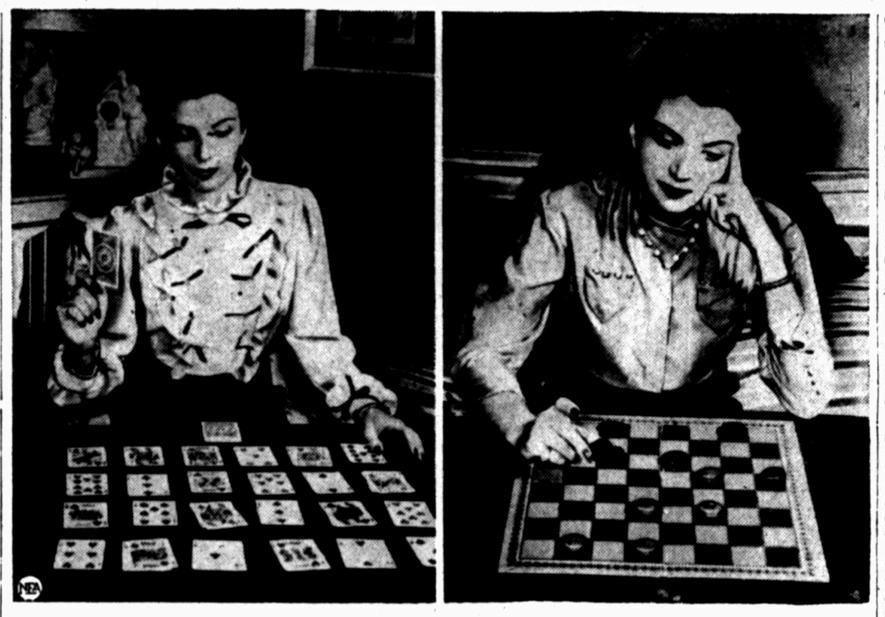

ATLANTA, Dec. 29. (AP)—It's a good thing the elevator in Fulton county jail is slow.

Deputy Sheriff R. E. DeWitt was on the second floor yesterday when he noticed an elevator going down. Five prisoners were in the cage, but no guards.

DeWitt raced down the stairs, out the elevator, locked an iron gate near the elevator entrance, and spread the alarm.

When the elevator reached the ground floor and the prisoners saw their escape was blocked, they surrendered meekly and were returned to their cells.

Sheriff A. B. Foster said the five prisoners escaped from the fourth floor by tying up a deputy.

DESIGNING TRICKS—Fine fabrics and intricate styling make these two blouses high-fashion for spring. White silk crepe blouse (left) owes its charms to ribbon-tied glass buttons, ruffles and minute tucks on bodice. Gray shantung blouse (right) boasts a tricky button-and-tab-trimmed collar that can be worn cowl-fashion as shown or open by fastening collar to button-and-tab-trimmed pockets.

Hale Center Well Bottomed At 3,200

HALE CENTER, Dec. 29 (Special) — Cooper-Hemphill Nick Alley No. 1 wildcat, four miles west and one mile south of Hale Center, is now bottomed at 3,200 feet in top of the San Andres formation, Charles Cooper, of the Cooper-Hemphill Oil Co. said this morning.

An eight and five-eighths inch casing has been set and cemented in at that depth. Operations will be shut down for 72 hours while the casing sets, Cooper said. Operations will be resumed Friday afternoon.

The well was spudded in 10 days ago. Operators set 300 feet of 13⅜ inch casing.

PARIS, Dec. 29 (U.P.) — Jewish forces have invaded Egypt, thrusting "well within Egyptian territory," Harold Beeley of Great Britain told the United Nations security council today.

Singing Scheduled At Snyder Church

SNYDER, Dec. 29. (Special)—Snyder's North Side Baptist church has been selected as site Friday evening for the concluding 1948 session of the Eight County Singing Convention.

An outstanding program has been arranged for Friday evening's session, which will get underway at 7 p. m. Convention officials report plenty of talent for class and specialty singing will be "on tap."

James Patrick, vice president, and J. Lawrence Deavers, chairman, report new books will be used at the conclave—one of the larger gatherings of singers in Texas.

Only two short years ago the convention was known as the Four County Singing Convention. Territory has been added rapidly and counties now embraced by the organization include Scurry, Mitchell, Dawson, Howard, Martin, Coke, Nolan and Midland.

The North Side Baptist church, ready to accommodate several thousand persons, joins convention officers in inviting West Texas singers and all their friends to the roundup in Gospel song.

Refreshments, as in past conventions, will be served singers at the midnight hour.

"Stalin On Revolution" Cited As Key To Leader's Character

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29 — Just what kind of man is Joseph Stalin, and what does he really think and want?

Is he a kindly, pipesmoking, good old Joe? Or is he the cold and crafty brain behind everything Soviet Russia does?

He's talked to outsiders just a few times, in interviews. Every time he did, and sounded at all friendly, this question arose:

Did he mean it? Or was that just a shift in tactics or a little propaganda to blind the world to his real intentions?

Although his talks with foreigners have been few, there's one way of finding out what he's really shooting at:

That's by checking with utmost care everything he's written since becoming a top man in Russia's Communist party.

Experts Agree On View

That's been done now—in the magazine "Foreign Affairs"—by a writer who uses only the pen name "Historicus."

(Time magazine says that, "according to Washington gossip," Historicus is George A. Morgan, first secretary in the U. S. embassy in Moscow.)

Historicus has carefully checked everything Stalin has written since 1919 and summed it up in a long study, "Stalin On Revolution."

Many experts on Russia share this view of Stalin which Historicus has pieced together.

Stalin has dedicated his life to victory for Communism throughout the world. That's his goal. It never changes.

So when Stalin talks of peaceful cooperation with a capitalist country like ours, he's just shifting tactics. His real goal is unchanged.

Cooperation Unthinkable

Any agreement Salin makes with a capitalist country must be only a temporary thing.

Can't a capitalist state like this and a Communist state like Russia live side by side peacefully and indefinitely?

Stalin, like Lenin before him, considers that "unthinkable." One of Stalin's favorite quotations from Lenin is this:

"In the end, either one or the other will conquer. Until that end comes, a series of terrible collisions between the Soviet republic and the bourgeois states is inevitable."

Stalin figures Russia needs another 15 or 20 years to gather strength for the final showdown.

But even in those years Communism and its leaders must grab every opportunity to spread and create the opportunity for spreading.

Depression Awaited

Stalin thinks capitalist states like ours have within themselves the seeds of their own destruction: depressions; wide unemployment, sooner or later; internal struggles, such as between workers and bosses; and wars between the capitalist states themselves for power.

But Stalin doesn't expect the capitalist states to collapse steadily. Their fortunes will ebb and flow. Right now, for instance, after World War II capitalism is at an ebb and Communism is pushing on in Asia and eastern Europe.

Capitalism in time may regain a flow period, for a while, but the ebb will come again.

And always Communism — for example, through local Communist parties in each country—must do what it can to sink capitalism.

The Communists in each country must be ready to take over a revolution. Without such leadership, Stalin thinks, a revolution may fail.

So long as Russia stands strong, Communism everywhere will have a base, a starting point, a sense of direction, and help. And—eventually, in Stalin's view — a force ready to step in and topple the last capitalist states.

New Ticket Service Planned By Airlines

Pioneer Air Lines and Continental Air Lines announced here today that effective January 1 the two airlines will be abe to sell instant passenger space on the other planes on certain Southwestern flights.

Passengers using the two companies direct connections at Midland-Odessa, San Angelo, Las Vegas and other points will be able to call their local Pioneer or Continental ticket office and make through or complete reservations at either office.

These sales improvements affect such flights as those which would provide Houston and other Texas' city passengers bound for Denver and Colorado cities to El Paso. In turn, the Continental line could provide the same return sales and connections.

Harding L. Lawrence, Pioneer's vice-president of traffic said that arrangements such as these remove many of the old obstacles in air travel. By simply calling one air line ticket office, in this case Pioneer or Continental, the passenger can make this reservation on through service."

Pioneer, which covers cities over 2,200 system miles in the Southwest and Continental, which serves some 27 cities over the 2,900 miles in the area, have been making arrangements for this type of coordinated plan for several months.

Pioneer, the nation's largest and oldest feeder-type airline, has been operating since August 1, 1945.

Britons in Berlin have been asked to save coal for briquettes.

Senator Seeks Filibuster End

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29 (AP)—Senator Knowland (R-Calif) proposed today that the new Senate risk an early filibuster to end filibusters.

He said he will ask Senator Hayden of Arizona, who is slated to become chairman of the Rules committee when the Democrats take over next week, to get behind the move.

Knowland's idea is to change the Senate rules so that the debate-limiting device called cloture can be invoked at any time. Cloture requires a two-thirds vote to be applied, after 16 senators ask for it.

Present Rule Given

Under present interpretation of the rules, however, it can be invoked only when the Senate is considering a specific piece of legislation. It is ineffective against a motion—as to take up a bill—or against other time-consuming parliamentary maneuvers.

These are the devices that have been used for years to block such things as civil rights legislation.

Point Is Conceded

Knowland conceded that southern senators—bitterly opposed to President Truman's program for anti-lynch, anti-poll tax, anti-Jim Crow and similar laws—probably would try to talk to death any move to rewrite the cloture rule.

It might mean staying in session day and night, Knowland told reporters.

"But," he added, "I'm certain we can win if Republicans and Democrats join forces. And if we start early in the session before there is too much business piled up."

Westbrook Pegler Called Small Gnat On Horizon By Eleanor

NEW YORK, Dec. 29 (U.P.) — Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt described Westbrook Pegler as "a little gnat on the horizon" today in answering a query as to why her sons don't horsewhip the syndicated columnist.

Pegler often has been critical of the Roosevelt family in his column.

In her question and answer column in the January Ladies Home Journal, Mrs. Roosevelt was asked:

"You have three big, strong American men as sons. Why do they not horsewhip Westbrook Pegler?"

She answered:

"I have four, not three 'big, strong American men as sons.' Why should they bother, however, to horsewhip a poor little creature like Westbrook Pegler? They would probably go to jail for attacking someone who was physically older and perhaps unable to defend himself. After all, he is such a little knat on the horizon. He cannot touch my husband's memory.

"Deeds, not words, count in this world, and thousands of American citizens answer such attacks as Mr. Pegler's out of their own experience with love and loyalty in their hearts which remain untouched by Mr. Pegler's diatribes."

Musician, Model On Nevada Honeymoon

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Dec. 29. (AP) David Rose, composer and orchestra leader, was honeymooning here today with Betty Bigelow, blonde model.

Rose, 38, and his bride were married yesterday on her 21st birthday. It was the third wedding for the composer of "Holiday For Strings." He previously was married to Martha Raye and Judy Garland.

Judge Frank McNamee performed the ceremony.

Red Finance Minister Is Relieved Of Duties

LONDON, Dec. 29 (AP) — The Moscow radio said tonight Alexei N. Kosygin had been relieved of his duties as Soviet minister of finance by action of the presidium of Russia's supreme soviet.

Kosygin had been appointed finance minister last Jan. 17. At that time he replaced Arseny G. Zverev. The Tass dispatch broadcast by the Moscow radio said Zverev will now succeed Kosygin, who will become minister of light and industry.

The announcement coincided with a Stockholm report in the London Daily Mail that said Kosygin was believed to be among Russian leaders President Truman was referring to as anxious to have an understanding with the west.

Britain is building more ships than the rest of the world combined.

Pro Football To Cut Costs

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 29 (AP)—The financial future of professional football's lesser lights is likely to be pretty gloomy, General Manager Charley Ewart of the Philadelphia Eagles predicted today.

Ewart said the name players in the National football league—such as the Eagles' Steve Van Buren, Tommy Thompson and Pete Pihos—will continue to get fat contracts in 1949 but that the substitutes and rookies will find the trend away from the big money next season.

Trend Is Downward

"I think the top players should get every cent they're worth," Ewart asserted. "And I personally hope we'll always be able to pay them top salaries."

But the unmistakable trend is downward, Ewart said adding that means "our teams, and those in the All-America conference, I guess, won't be shelling out fat contracts to subs any more."

Ewart, who doubles as backfield coach of the NFL champions, explained that the pro-football club owners, in trying to devise ways of cutting down expenses, have hit on two ways to save money.

Cut Down Expeness

These are, he said:

1. To reduce the player limit per club from 35 to 32.

2. To slash the salaries of the second and third stringers or cut them loose.

Ewart said that cutting the player limit would save each club in the league about $20,000 a year.

"As for the subs," Ewart said, "we can afford to stop paying a lot of cabbage to the veterans who have outlived their usefulness or to the highly touted college men who fail to produce."

H-SU Squad Holds Pre-Bowl Workouts

LAFAYETTE, La., Dec. 29 (AP)—The Hardin-Simmons Cowboys will work out here today in final preparation for their meeting with the University of Wichita on the Camellia bowl gridiron Thursday afternoon.

The Cowboys, 30 players strong, arrived yesterday aboard two chartered planes and held a light workout.

Coach Warren Woodson announced that Wilson "Hook" Davis, top ground gainer in the nation in 1947, would not be able to play because of injuries received in the Shrine bowl at Little Rock two weeks ago.

The Cowboys have already played in two bowls this season, tying College of the Pacific 35-35 in the Grape bowl and beating Ouachita 40-12 in the Shrine bowl.

Worcester and Newcastle, in South Africa, have banned merry-go-rounds—too noisy.

Baylor, Mines And Missouri Favorites

By DR. E. E. LITKENHOUS

The third time will be the charm for the Pacific Coast Conference in its annual shindig with the Big Ten in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena.

For the first time since the conferences decided to make the New Year's Day classic an exclusive party, a Coast team will have the upper hand. It will be close but California ,the pride of the Pacific powers, will shade Northwestern by 1.1 power points, the System shows.

California finished seventh in the nation with a rating of 99.1 while the Wildcats were rated tenth on a figure of 98.0.

The bowl match-makers evidently did a pretty fair job of lining up equal opponents. In 13 of the pigskin pageants slated for the first day of 1949, the widest margin seen by the System is 20.5 points while most predictions are near a touchdown or less.

Oklahoma and North Carolina are practically twins in the ratings but the Sooners get a slim 0.2 edge in the Sugar Bowl. Georgia will throw dust in the eyes of Texas in the Orange Bowl to come out with a 5.6 win. In another of those whisker-close affairs Texas Mines will nip West Virginia by 0.4 points.

Southern Methodist is a 9.6 favorite over Oregon in the Cotton Bowl; Colorado A. & M. will have the most enjoyable New Year's Day with a 20.5 romp over Occidental in the Raisin Bowl. Missouri will measure Clemson by 8.9 in the Gator Bowl.

Other picks find St. Thomas over Missouri Valley by eight in the Cigar Bowl, Murray over Sul Ross by 3.3 in the Tangerine Bowl, Nevada by 4.7 over Villanova in the Harbor Bowl, William and Mary by 2.8 over Oklahoma A. and M. in the Delta Bowl, Baylor by 1.1 over Wake Forest in the Dixie Bowl and Drake by 7.4 over Arizona in the Salad Bowl.

In the 14 years that the System has been picking bowl game winners it has had 59 winners and 28 losers, with five tie games counted as losses because the System had predicted one of the teams would win.

Last year the System had ten victories in fourteen games (two were ties). The System's best year was in 1939 when it swept a card of five games. Twice it had four of five.

The setup for this year:

Team—	Rating	Team—	Rating	Diff.
		ROSE BOWL
California	99.1	Northwestern	98.0	1.1

Choo Choo Justice Will Have Extra Incentive In Bowl Tilt

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 29 (AP)—Charlie Justice will have an extra incentive to display his All-America greatness in the Sugar bowl New Year's day. He'll be trying to rub out the memory of a thwarted effort there two years ago.

On Jan. 1, 1947, Justice and his North Carolina Tar Heels lined up for the annual classic against Georgia's Bulldogs. The assembled multitude was breathless in expectation of a duel between Justice and Georgia's All-American Charlie Trippi.

Slowed To Creep

But the spectacular show didn't come off. The fancy halfbacks spent much of the afternoon buried under swarms of opposing linemen.

Justice, particularly, was slowed to a creep. In 17 trips with the ball he netted only 31 yards. An overshifted Georgia line piled up almost every Carolina strong side play. Trippi did a little better, 54 yards in 14 attempts.

The Carolina Choo Choo is a much improved player now, judging by all reports reaching here.

His rushing average this year was 5.2, very impressive for a player marked by every opponent. He scored eleven touchdowns, two on punt returns.

Is Top Kicker

Justice has hurled 122 times for 854 yards and a dozen touchdowns in the recent campaign.

Justice outpunted Trippi in the Sugar bowl, 38.8 yards to 32.7. And this year Justice has the country's best collegiate average, 44 yards per boot.

And so Charlie is well equipped to make 81,000 spectators forget about that business two years ago.

What does he think about it?

"I'm going to play the best I know how," that's all.

Shiraz, which will be the first Iranian city to get water through pipes instead of from open ditches or "jubes," expects to get its first piped water early in 1949, in the downtown section and richer residential areas.

Westerner Cagers Prepare For Play

Coach Roy Morris sent the Lubbock High Westerner cagers through another lengthy session on defense Tuesday afternoon at the O. L. Slaton Junior High gymnasium, in preparation for the Brownwood Invitational tournament this weekend.

The Lubbock schoolboys showed considerable improvement in the session, although most of the squad members still show the effects of their four-day Christmas vacation. The team members have regained most of their timing, however, and all the boys put in plenty of time at the free throw line.

The Lubbock squad is in near perfect physical condition, despite Charles Galey's foot injury. Some of the squadmen were stiff and sore Tuesday, following Monday's lengthy practice period, but Coach Morris hopes to have all the "kinks worked out" during a final home-court drill this afternoon.

A squad of 10 players will probably make the journey to Brownwood by chartered bus Thursday morning, Coach Morris said, and the boys will be accompanied by two of the mentors.

The Westerners are scheduled to tangle with Dublin in a first round meet game at 7 o'clock Thursday night.

Coach's Perfection Virtue Remembered

ITHACA, N. Y., Dec. 29 (AP)—J. Gilmour (Gil) Dobie, one of the nation's foremost football coaches until his retirement a decade ago was remembered in death today for his "virtue of perfection."

Dobie, who died last Thursday at the age of 69 at Hartford, Conn., was laid to rest in Lakeview Cemetery close to the campus of Cornell university where he served as head coach for 16 years.

Tech's Cagers In Consolation

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Dec. 29.—(Special)—Texas Tech meets Colorado A.&M. this afternoon for the consolation bracket championship of the All-College Basketball tournament here.

The Raiders punched their way into the finals with a last ditch 55-52 victory over Southern Methodist of the Southwest Conference, while the Colorado Aggies swept past a sophomore-studded Auburn quintet 54-51.

In the championship bracket, the defending champion Oklahoma A.&M. five will meet Baylor, champions of the Southwest Conference.

Aggies Beat Alabama

The Aggies ground out a methodical 44-31 victory over Alabama, conquerors of SMU, and the Bears swept triumphantly past Texas' Longhorns 49-36.

Each bracket will have preliminary games for place designation, Auburn meeting SMU to decide seventh and eighth place and Texas playing Alabama for third and fourth.

In yesterday afternoon's second game, the Red Raiders from Tech had to put on a rally for victory, after they had held a commanding lead. With 10 minutes gone, the Raiders had a 10-point lead, only to have the Mustangs come from behind.

Tech trailed by one point with a minute and 50 seconds to play but came out on top as Bill Banks and Don Grove connected on field goals to gain a three-point lead.

Bob Prewitt and Johnny Zatopek sparked the late Mustang drive. Prewitt sent two field goals through the basket and added a couple of free tosses, while Zatopek hooked in a field goal from the side to send the Ponies to the front.

Dual Triumph

It was just seconds, however until Banks countered with a one-hander from the foul circle and Grove tipped in a follow rebound to spell defeat for Southern Methodist.

It was a dual purpose triumph for the Raiders, since it was the rubber game of a series with Southern Methodist. They divided a pair of close contests early in the season.

Zatopek took scoring laurels with 19 points followed by Frewitt with 16. Grove was the big scorer for the winners netting 15 points.

The Colorado Aggies fashioned their triumph in just about the same manner as Texas Tech. The Aggies led by 10 points with 10 minutes to play and stalled a late Auburn rally in the final minutes.

The Texas- Baylor contest, a preview of this year's Southwest Conference play, was a thrilling battle as the lead changed hands nine times and the score was tied ten times.

Martin Paces Steers

Baylor was led by two sharp shooting artists, Bill Johnson, a senior guard who made 15 points, and Don Heathington, who had 13—including 7 of 8 free shots.

Slater Martin, Texas' little dynamo, led his team with 12.

The Oklahoma Aggies played precision ball and were deadly at the basket.

Hank Iba's charges hit 50 percent of their shots.

HEROISM IS UNREWARDED

MOHAWK, N. Y. (U.P.)—Willie Larkins, a truck driver from Clewiston, Fla., who overturned his runaway tractor-trailer in an effort to avoid damaging property in this village, was no hero to police. They charged him with being an unlicensed operator and driving an unregistered vehicle. He was fined $5 on each count.

Latest Odds On Bowl Battles Quoted; Some Changes Noted

NEW YORK, Dec. 29. (AP)—The latest odds on the Jan. 1 football bowl games show that North Caroline and Missouri have gained slightly in favor while William and Mary and Nevada have lost some respect.

In the first quotation on the Shrine game at San Francisco, the East all-stars are rated a 7-point favorite over the West stars.

The odds (changes noted in parenthesis):

Rose bowl—Northwestern 6½ over California.

Sugar bowl—North Carolina 2 points over Oklahoma (odds ten days ago had N. C. 1½-point choice).

Cotton bowl—S. M. U. 6½ over Oregon.

Orange bowl—Georgia 7 over Texas.

Gator bowl—Missouri 7½ over Clemson (formerly 7).

Delta bowl—William and Mary 5½ over Oklahoma A. and M. formerly 6).

Dixie bowl—Baylor 6 over Wake Forest.

Harbor bowl—Nevada ½ point over Villanova (formerly Nevada 3).

Fearless Fraley Picks Oregon And Oklahoma In Bowl Battles

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 29—Looking forward to a happy New Year with the comforting thought that it's your money—Fraley's Follies and the Jan. 1 bowl game winners.

ROSE BOWL

Northwestern over California—California beat Southern Cal, 13-7. Southern Cal tied Notre Dame, 14-14. Notre Dame beat Northwestern, 12-7. Now toss out all those statistics, bet the bundle and we'll all eat hash.

SUGAR BOWL

Oklahoma over North Carolina—Charley Justice gives the Tarheels an offensive edge. But the best offense still is a good defense, and I'd sooner take the Sooners with that massive line.

ORANGE BOWL

Georgia over Texas — On the record, you have to go to the Bulldogs, beaten only by North Carolina and Winners over such as Kentucky, LSU and Alabama. The Longhorns figure to be stampeded again.

COTTON BOWL

Oregon over SMU—And bring on your padded jacket. For this flyer drift back into history and you'll come up with: Michigan 14, Oregon 0. That's the only one the Webfoots (though I still think it should be "Webfeet") lost.

BOWL-ING ALONG

'Gator bowle — Missouri over Clemson—They'll show 'em.

Delta bowl—W. & M. over Oklahoma Aggies—The boys in the back room figure it by six points.

Dixie bowl—Baylor over Wake Forest—Away, away!

Sun bowl—West Virginia over Texas Mines — Or run for the hills.

Harbor bowl—Nevada over Villanova—With Heath dealing off the top.

Shrine game—East over West—A vote for Andy Kerr.

Salad bowl — Arizona over Drake — With Jack Dempsey (probably for protection) and Hopalong Cassidy picking the salad queen. Eeyeehoo!

Raisin bowl—Colorado Aggies over Occidental—June Haver and Roddy McDowell will be there. You take Oxie and Roddy and six points and I'll take the Aggies—and June Haver.

Tangerine bowl—Sul Ross over Murray State—Probably a pleasure to get skinned.

Cigar bowl — Missouri Valley over St. Thomas — This is two years straight for M. V. One more and they become known as Smoky Valley.

Prairie bowl—Wilberforce over Prairie View—With 10,000 spectators and no count on the gophers.

Vulcan bowl—Kentucky State over North Carolina A. & T.—Which reminds me, that the best way to bet on this king of games is to use a rubber check.

Wrestle Royal Set For Arena Tonight

A wrestle royal will feature the weekly grapple session at Sled Allen's arena, when six wrestlers and a referee pile into the ring to try and eliminate one another.

The first two wrestlers eliminated won't return, but the next to last pair will come back to meet in the semi-final and the last two men remaining will come to grips in the main event.

The six wrestlers tonight will include Vic Weber, an oldster making a comeback here; Milt Olsen, the Texas Junior Heavyweight champion; Monte LaDue of Canada, who made a favorable debut here last week; Tex Riley of Muleshoe, who got his start here some 30 years ago; and a pair of Dettons from Amarillo, Dory and Glen.

Detton Brothers Meet

Of primary interest will be the meeting of Dory Detton, Amarillo promoter, and his brother, Glen Detton. The latter is a member of the Amarillo police force and is said to have great prospects, if he wants to remain with wrestling.

Olsen is a popular favorite on the basis of his fine performances here against Dick Trout, former Southwestern Junior Heavyweight champion, and others. Trout, incidentally, lost his newly won crown to Dory Funk in Amarillo this week. Olsen's performances have been topnotch and he should outlast the others.

LaDue is a French-Canadian in appearance, but a tiger in the ring, with a combination of bull. His first appearance last week was pleasing and he is a refreshing addition.

Riley and Weber both are oldtimers, who lend a touch of realism to their ability and manage to hold their own against the younger wrestlers.

The main event and semi-final each will be two out of three falls, the main with a one-hour time limit, the semi-final with a 45-minute time limit.

Tickets will be sold from 9 a. m. until 5 p. m. at Wylie's Drug store.

Between The Lines. . .

By Joe Kelly

Not so long ago we had the pleasure of accompanying Frank Junnell, administrative assistant to the Texas Tech president, to the second annual football banquet at Seminole. Frank had been called on to be the principal speaker and urged us to accompany him. He didn't like the thought of driving there and back alone. Moreover, he wanted one friend in the place to start applause for his jokes!

The banquet was a humdinger, with good food and grand friendliness. The Indians didn't have a championship team this year, but you wouldn't have known it from the way the people praised the squad and coaches. They made a gala affair out of the banquet, ending up by presenting combination radio-victrola consoles to both varsity coaches and a shotgun to the junior high school coach. It was an impressive display of loyalty and admiration for the job done this past fall.

The Indians won six games, lost three and tied one in District 5-A, which produced the first state Class A champion in the history of Texas. Their first conference loss was to Monahans, the team that eventually won the title, and that game wrecked them mentally more than physically. Coach Gordon Wood said that the squad never did regain its poise after the pounding they took in the Lobo tilt. Moreover, the size of the score left them stunned. But despite that, the Indians had a good season and should be in good shape for next year.

Gordon said that he and Morris Southall, his capable assistant coach, weren't optimistic at the start of the season. The Indians had had a whale of a year in 1947 and had suffered heavily by the graduation route. They had to start all over and build a team. They were amazed at the way the squad responded and the early success. They also were pleased, of course. Primarily, Seminole went through a building process this year. Next season they should be tough and ready to give any opponent a bad afternoon.

During the ham course, Gordon talked about some of the past graduates of Seminole and he was proudest of Val Joe Walker. Walker, you may remember, was the main cog in the 1947 machine, one of the finest backs on the South Plains. Gordon couldn't understand why Tech had let him slip through its fingers, nor could we. The Indian coach related that Walker had played over 50 minutes in each of the SMU freshman games this year and had drawn rave notices from Houston writers following the Rice game. Moreover, the Associated Press had written a "natural" story, the natural being the similarity of names between Val Joe and Doak.

Val Joe would have come to Tech, according to Gordon, if any interest had been shown. Thus he slipped out of this area, as did Bobby Hart of Levelland, another one of the outstanding South Plains football players. Of course Tech can't get them all. That would be too much to expect, but here were two players who could have been more than of little good to the Raiders. We know that more of an effort is being made this winter than has been made in some time. And consistent efforts will have to be made, if Tech is to continue getting top rank players.

We don't know yet what players have been tagged for Tech. But we know of more than two or three who would look mighty good in Raider livery, if they live up to their high school standards. There's little question that Jimmy Williams of Phillips will come to Tech. We would like to see Calvin Pyle of Lockney here. Whitey Baccus says that Ewell Dee Kelley, the Lockney tackle, definitely will make the college grade. Charley McGuire, Post's quarterback, was another college prospect. We had reports on a number of other good backs and linemen, who gave every indication of filling out and being good men for some college. We hope it's Tech.

But getting back to Seminole, the banquet was served by the Order of Eastern Star and any time they want to make pecan pie for us, they have a standing order. The Booster Club sponsored the celebration and W. E. Cox, jr., president, gave a resume of the club's activities. The Boosters have been active and the banquet was their own, so completely that they didn't have to ask for a penny in contributions. They soon will sponsor a minstrel show to help add to their funds, so that they can continue boosting Seminole and its athletics. Other officers of the organization, all hard-working, are Roger Harrold, vice president; Orman Gregory, secretary-treasurer; and J. A. "Ox" Jameson, reporter.

Plainview Schedules Irrigation Bowl Tilt

PLAINVIEW, Dec. 29. (U.P.)—A pickup team of Childress college football players will meet the Plainview All-Stars in the first annual Irrigation bowl football game New Year's day.

It will be the only bowl game in the Panhandle or South Plains.

Teams In Shape For Veterans Bowl Clash

ODESSA, Dec. 29. (U.P.)—Coaches pronounced their teams in "good shape" today as the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the American Legion football teams made ready to battle in the Veterans bowl game on New Year's day.

VFW Coach Jack Hayden said several former Odessa high school football stars will spark his attack. Among ex-Bronchos on his team will be Jim McCracken, "Blue Eyes" Clark, Kimble Cook, Fred Christian, formerly of the North Texas State Teachers college, and Bull Rogers of Texas Christian university.

The YMCA and Boy Scouts will divide 25 per cent of the proceeds.

A can labeled American dried eggs opened by a Redcar, England, housewife was found to contain only an old baseball cap, and her grocer, replacing the can, said: "If it is a joke, I don't appreciate it."

James Garner, Amarillo Star, Will Pass Up College Football

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—By a roundabout route from Texas comes a belated horse laugh over Southern Methodist's request to take its football team on a pleasure trip after the Cotton bowl. . . The story was that it was to give the Mustangs the same reward as the also-rans who accepted more distant bowl bids. . . "You'd think the SMU team was made up of 44 prisoners of war who hadn't been out from behind barbed wire in years," writes one correspondent. He then adds that SMU visited Pittsburgh, Fayetteville, Ark.; Columbia, Mo., and a couple of Texas cities this year and went to California in 1947. . . Still they're stay-at-homes compared to almost any basketball squad you can name.

Tub-thumper K. R. Freyschlag of Colorado college takes exception to the designation of Boston college's Butch Songin as the outstanding defenseman in college hockey. . . Basing his objection on the all-tournament team in the NCAA championships, Freyschlag points out that Songin was fourth in the defense voting. "There are at least 30 outstanding hockey players and two coaches who agree with me in disagreement with you," he says. . . Maybe the pro scouts should come back from Canada when C.C. plays B.C., Dartmouth, Yale and Princeton next week.

SHORTS AND SHELLS

Pell Mel Patton, the California sprint flash, is busy managing the boys department in a Los Angeles department store and won't do any running during the indoor season. . . The University of Miami will be sponsor of this winter's polo games in the Orange bowl, but there also will be plenty of high-goal players on display. . . Missouri has played in three different football "bowl" games and never has won; Texas and Georgia, which meet each other, have been in nine bowl tussles and neither has ever been defeated. . . James Garner of Amarillo, one of the best schoolboy footballers in Texas this year, confounded college talent scouts by saying he won't play college football. Jim is a fine tennis prospect, too, and wants to stick with that game.

Bucky Walters won't listen to offers to trade for Cincinnati pitchers because he claims that was the club's weakest position last season. That's what we'd call drawing a fine distinction. . . Claims for more than $250,000 passed through the claiming box at Tropical park during the first half of the current race meeting. Those horses must be expensive as hamburger. . . . Michigan fans say Bennie Oosterman is a worthy successor to Fritz Crisler in the after-dinner league as well as in coaching. . . Strawberry Rowan, the rough, tough Hardin-Simmons tackle, really is named "Strawberry." That one takes the short cake.

Feller Thinks 1949 Pay May Be Smaller

CLEVELAND, Dec. 29 (AP) — Bob Feller, baseball's no. 1 money man, thinks his pay envelope may be slightly thinner next season. And his boss, President Bill Veeck of the Cleveland Indians, agrees.

But it looked today like one of the game's greatest fast ball stylists still will be able to keep the money coming in armored trucks, and the chances were he will be well towards the top in baseball salaries again next year.

East, West Gridders Practicing Defense

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 29 (AP) —A large order of defensive strategy was served up to both the East and West football squads today in preparation for Saturday's Shrine game.

The West found time during its two workouts to elect co-captains for the Kezar stadium classic—Don Doll, USC halfback, and Laurie Niemi, Washington state tackle.

The East turned out en masse for its two practices. Not a man was on the ailment list.

IT WAS A COSTLY FUMBLE—Waco high school players come in from all sides to pounce on this Amarillo fumble in the first period of Class AA final football game at Fort Worth Christmas day. Jack Chambers (61, right), made the recovery for Waco after Amarillo back Jack Newby (41, on ground extreme left) lost control of the ball when he was tackled by Waco tackle Robert Knowles (lying over Newby). Waco back Bobby Patton (81) comes in at center and Amarillo guard Jack Davis (60) is at left. Player in foreground on ground unidentified. Referee is Abb Curtis. Waco won the game 21 to 0.

Top Junior College Grid Teams To Clash

GALVESTON, Dec. 29 (AP) — Two of Texas' top junior college football teams clash here tonight in the first annual Oleander bowl game with Wharton favored to edge Paris.

Wharton, kingpin of the Texas junior college conference, has a gaudy record off 11 victories in 12 games, scoring 443 points to 94 for the opposition. The Pioneers won the conference title but were disqualified because of using a player ruled ineligible.

Paris won eight and lost two and was the only school to beat Kilgore, champion of the Southwestern Junior College conference.

Monahans Gridders Pick About Every Other School But Tech

MONAHANS, Dec. 29. (U.P.) — If Texas Christian's Horned Frogs want the services of Ray Cathey, the hard-running fullback who led Monahans to the state's first class A schoolboy football title, they can have them

Cathey said last night he would like to play football at TCU, "If they'll have me."

Wild Waldo Young, Monahan's top scorer during the 1948 season, said he planned to enter Sul Ross college at Alpine next year.

Pete Walters, Alton Linne and Bill Elam, other graduating first stringers, said they would like to continue their football careers at George Pepperdine college at Los Angeles.

Quarterback Eddie Sampson said he preferred Oklahoma University, and Weldon Boggus, outstanding guard and extra-point specialist, announced he would go to Hardin-Simmons university at Abilene.

BOWLING

Hemphill-Wells went into a tie for the lead in the Major Bowling league last night, although the clothing store keglers could get no better than a tie from their match with the Mission Orange bowlers.

McFarland-Maisen, the league leaders, lost three of four points to the Westerner Cafe, while Mission Orange and Hemphill-Wells were splitting two and two. The split upped the soft drink team into a third place tie with Waltons, which lost three of four points to the Hub Clothiers.

High bowlers for each team last night included Ben Brown, Westerner, 232-662; A. E. Christensen, McFarland-Maisen, 206-609; Jay O'Keefe, Mission Orange, 198-597; Bill Nelms, Waltons, 234-594; George Tate, Hub Clothiers, 213-590; and T. L. Brown, Hemphill-Wells, 191-573.

The standings: McFarland-Maisen and Hemphill-Wells, 29 points; Waltons and Mission Orange, 29 points; and Westerner and Hub Clothiers, 28 points.

In the Ladies Classic Bowling league, the Benton Oil company won two of three games from the Holsum Bakery and the O'Neil Drilling company took a similar number from the No-Name five. Artie Reed, Benton, was high with 186-553.

Two Cage Tilts Set At Boys Club Today

Two games will be played in the Pee Wee and Midget Leagues at the Boys club today, with the other two loops idle, following four games played yesterday.

The Wildcats downed the Black Demons in a Pee Wee loop game 16-8, with Don Daniels scoring seven points for the winners and Paul Sikes getting four for the losers.

In the Midget league, the Fighting Irish downed the Eagles 32-28 behind the 18 point scoring of David Morgan. Jimmy Washington had 14 points for the losers.

Mikie Brady's field goal in an overtime period handed the Dirty Five a 39-37 victory over the Roughies in a Junior League tilt. J. R. Bradford paced the victors with 12 points, but Charles Rand of the losers led all scorers with 22 tallies.

Neil Sikes had 18 points in leading the Bombers to a 49-31 victory over the Roughnecks, for whom Mackie Lawrence scored eight points.

Two games, one each in the PeeWee and Midget leagues, will be played tomorrow.

Levelland Pair Hurt In Traffic Collision

A Levelland man and his wife were under treatment in the Phillips-Dupre hospital at Levelland today, the latter in serious condition, as result of the collision of their automobile and another machine on the Lubbock-Levelland highway five and a half miles west of Smyer about 1:30 o'clock this morning.

The injured were Mr. and Mrs. Altus M. Baker of Levelland, who apparently were enroute home from Lubbock. A physician at the hospital said Mrs. Baker suffered multiple pelvic fractures and apparently internal injuries. Her condition at noon was pronounced as "not so good."

Baker was not seriously injured. Their car, a 1948 Ford coach, was in collision with a 1947 Chevrolet owned by Bryant's Taxi here and driven by John Robert Garrett, of Lubbock route 2, according to a report by members of the Texas Highway Patrol, who investigated the accident.

The report showed that Garrett was returning to Lubbock from the west, and his cab was sideswiped by the Baker machine which went out of control and turned over after hitting the highway shoulder.

Garrett was not badly hurt, and his cab was riven in on its own power after the mishap, the investigators' report showed.

Arms Program

Greece and Turkey as a bulwark against a Communist invasion of the Middle East and the southern flank of Europe.

3. The China program — if any. The administration has $400,000,000 to spend on military and civilian aid to China this year. Despite the pleas of Mms. Chiang Kai-Shek, it is uncertain whether there will be any real aid program next year. In fact, because of Generalissimo Chiang's long string of defeats at the hands of the Communists, the United States earlier this month suspended a planned outlay of $70,000,000 for reconstruction. That reduced help to stricken China to straight relief and $125,000,000 worth of military assistance.

Principles Illustrated

These three programs taken together illustrate the basic principles which the United States has developed during the cold war years in trying first to block, then to reverse the tide of Communism.

In the first place there is Secretary of State Marshall's idea of limitation: American foreign policy as expressed in terms of dollar-power and military-economic resources cannot be equally strong in every threatened part of the world. It must be strongest where the threat to American security is greatest.

This leads to the second point that, in a time of conflict with another major power, the great weight of American policy must be on the side of security. And when security is the primary objective, idealism must be secondary. For example, it is considered more important to improve the industrial output of western Germany than to try to industrialize Latin America or India at this time.

That explains why the administration is fairly calm about the threat of an all-Communist China. Similar Communist successes in western Europe would throw this government into a warlike crisis.

Majority Favor West

A third and fundamental principle is that the cold war is not a fight between the United States and Russia alone; it is a struggle between the Communist world and the United Nations now consistently line up on the wester nside. The problem is to build up their economic and military power to match their theoretical political strength so that their force in the world will create a definite and real balance against Russia.

Still another factor is the State department's conviction that the United States cannot save other countries but can only help them save themselves.

Chinese Leaders

Lu Han, governor of Yunnan province whose gateway into Burma and India makes his area important to any Chinese government. Reportedly Lu conferred in Hong Kong with his "tribal brother" Lung Yun, former Yunnan governor who was placed under house arrest by Chiang during the Japanese war after his removal from his Kunming office by force.

Governor Tells Newsmen

Yen Hsi-Shan, warlord governor of the besieged Shansi capital Taiyuan who told newsmen here that "I would rather die in defense of my city than surrender it to the Reds."

Ma Hung-Kwei, hard riding governor of Ninghsia province, who may fly here for the conference.

Meeting with the group likely will be Vice President Li Tsung-Jen, Defense Minister Hsu Yung-Chang, Chief of Staff Ku Chu-Tung and Chiang.

One report said T. V. Soong, brother-in-law of Chiang and the only civilian governor left in Nationalist China, was flying here from Canton to join the conference.

Nanking was filled with rumors of peace. One source described the forthcoming meeting as a "roll call" of those national leaders who still retain personal followings either military or civil in order to determine the feasibility of continuing the war with the Communists.

Hu Tsung-Nan, Yen Hsis-Han and Ku Chu-Tung met with Chiang today. Later Yen called on the vice president. There was almost constant movement among the top officials as they exchanged opinions.

STOCKS PUSH AHEAD

NEW YORK, Dec. 29 (AP) — The stock market pushed ahead today for gains of fractions to around two points.

The movement was slow but the direction clear.

Business was more active than in most other sessions this month but still short of yesterday's 1,650,000 shares. Turnover was at the rate of about 1,300,000 shares for the full day.

Radio and television, railroad, and oil stocks were among the better performers although gains generally were pretty well distributed.

Bonds leaned ahead. U. S. governments held steady in over-the-counter dealings.

Higher in the curb were Mesabi Iron, Pepperell, Schulte, Barium Steel and Humble Oil. Cuban Tobacco and Duke Power declined.

Grocer Minus Money Despite Plucky Wife

HOUSTON, Dec. 29. (U.P.)—Grocer G. A. Schuette was minus $265 today, despite a plucky wife who berated three youths who held up the market.

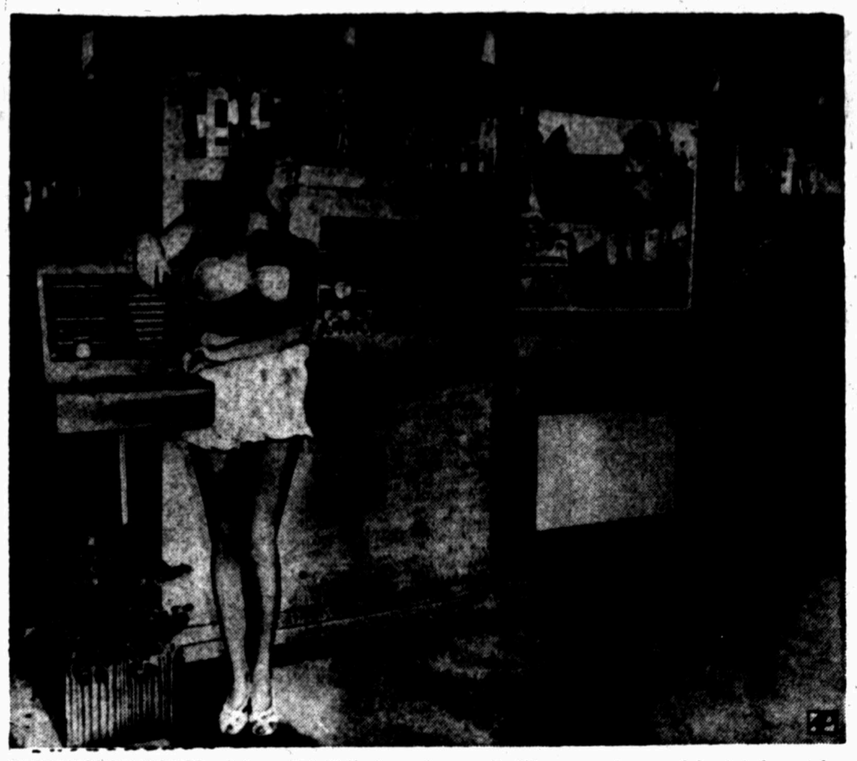

Mrs. Schuette told police she thought the stick-up was a gag until one of the boys waved a pistol in her face and then started stuffing his pockets with money from the cash register.

"You dirty dog, you," Mrs. Schuette said hotly, "don't do that."

One of the thiefs admitted it was "dirty," but said he was "gonna do it, anyway," and left only a small amount of change in the register.

News Briefs

Mrs. Paul Hardwick, of 2307 Eighteenth, today was reported to be recovering satisfactorily in St. Mary's hospital, where she was admitted Monday for treatment of a possible fractured hip.

Lubbock friends have been informed of the recent death of Mrs. Herbert F. Hawkins, former Lubbock resident, at Merced, Calif., where Mr. Hawkins is an attorney. The family moved here a brief time before the war and bought a residence at Twenty-eighth and College Ave. Two sons, Herbert, jr., and Louis, twins, and a daughter Margaret attended school here, and Mrs. Hawkins was employed by KFYO when her husband enlisted in the Seabees and went abroad. The family moved to California soon after his return from service.

Assignments Raise Morale Of Air Lift

WIESBADEN, Germany, Dec. 29 (AP) — Morale is on the upsurge among Vittles airmen. Tempers of the men who fly food and fuel to blockaded Berlin wore thin as the summer dragged on into fall without a sign of the break in the crisis.

Aside from indulging in the traditional American soldier's love of "griping," the men of the lift figured they had a real complaint. They didn't know how long their assignments would last or when, if ever, they could have their families join them. Some had come from as far away as Japan or a few days' notice, leaving their families behind.

Discontent became so widespread that the Air Force Times, the airmen's newspaper, said there were good grounds for the "gripes" and something should be done about the situation. It advocated a rotation system. This was done and morale rose at once. Lift crews received assurances that they were on a six months tour of duty. At the end of that time, they would either be placed on a permanent station, and thus be allowed to have their families join them, or would be sent back home.

Lift duty thus has become a definite assignment instead of a life with no end in sight.

Churches To Receive Help Finding Pastors

PHILADELPRIA, Dec. 29 (AP)—U. S. Presbyterians have turned new efforts toward their goal of finding the right pastor for the right parish. The job will be in the hands of a newly created department of ministerial relations of which the Rev. Ward F. Boyd of Fargo, N. D., is chairman.

Scheduled to be operating by the middle of 1949, the new department will include lay and clerical members from all parts of the country. In addition, the church has authorized establishment of eight annual regional conferences throughout the church.

At these conferences committee members will exchange information on pastors and church needs toward the goal of fitting church to pastor and vice versa. Although the conferences will create a clearing house for pastors, the meetings will be an aid to, not a substitute for, synod and presbytery ministerial relations committee, the church said.

Individual Should "Take Stock" At Year's End, Dr. Lipscomb Tells Rotary Club Here

KING'S HANDIWORK—This altar cloth, held by Carmen Amin, an employe of the Swedish consulate in New York, was embroidered by Sweden's King Gustav. The 90-year-old monarch made the cloth, known as an antependium, for the 75th anniversary of the Bethlehem Lutheran Church, Brooklyn, New York City, at the request of the church's pastor, Rev. Martin Luther Cornell.

Asserting that everything worthwhile depends on moral stamina and fortitude, Dr. L. N. Lipscomb, retired Methodist minister, listed for the Rotary club today at luncheon at the Hilton hotel what he believes are essential requisites for this stamina.

His year-end message brought an appeal for "taking stock" by the individual, to determine his qualifications, and conversely his needs, to meet the problems ahead.

Faith Lacking

First requisite for stamina, the speaker said, is to tackle yourself, because "there is no question it is difficult to play the man."

Another was that different situations bring out powers and potentialities of qualifications not otherwise known. He asserted that had there been no wilderness there would have been no Moses; had there been no exile, there would have been no Ezekiel; and had there been no cross there would have been no Christ.

Listing faith as another requisite, the speaker said the trouble with the world today is lack of faith. It is necessary, he said, to have a goal, something worthwhile to which to work.

God Claimed Essential

Then last but not least, he said "we must have God," for "we cannot get along without Him," or there would be dismay and utter confusion.

Dr. Lipscomb was introduced by Dr. H. I. Robinson, program chairman.

C. Ross Hale, assistant manager of the regional office of the Veterans administration here, was introduced as a new member. Visiting Rotarians included Charles Clanton and E. W. Smith of Ralls, M. W. Waldron of Mercedes, Herman Ford of Amarillo, and Fred Parker of Houston. Invocation was by Rev. Wm. F. Blakeslee.

Cold Weather Hits South Plains Area

The Panhandle and South Plains recorded sub-freezing weather this morning, with Amarillo reporting the low for Texas at 25 degrees.

Elsewhere, minimum temperatures ranged up to 64 at Brownsville as a mild norther moved across Texas.

Most of the state was clear today except along the coast.

Warmer Weather Forecast Thursday

A minimum of about 20 degrees temperature was forecast for tonight by the U. S. Weather bureau station north of Lubbock.

This morning's minimum was 24 degrees. Wind of 20 to 25 miles per hour velocity was from the north, the station reported early this afternoon.

The forecast calls for fair weather and continued cool this afternoon and tonight and warmer Thursday afternoon. The maximum for Thursday will be about 52 degrees, according to the forecast.

Officers Asked To Help Woman Find Her Lost Mother

The police have been asked by a San Jose, Calif., woman to assist her in establishing communication with her mother whom, she wrote, she had not seen or heard from in 13 years.

The mother was last heard from here. Her name is Josie (Ayers) Newton, "unless she is remarried." Mrs. Fred Trussler, the daughter, wrote.

Mrs. Trussler asked that her mother be advised that "my brother and I need her very much. My brother's life depends on my finding her. Our names are Bessie and Ray, and we live at 1346 Arnold Ave., in San Jose. Our phone is Columbia 4249-M.

The letter was filled with endearments for the mother, and said, in part ,that "I've prayed every night for 13 years for her to be reunited with her children—I don't know how we all got separated."

The former Bessie Ayers said her mother is 57, blue-eyed, 5 feet 2 inches tall and formerly had black hair.

Reno Quake

reported immediately.

Whole Place Groaned

Frank McCullough, reporter of the Reno Gazette, said, "I thought my house was coming down. The rafters were squeaking, and the whole place groaned."

The city had seven quakes Monday night with resulting disquiet among the population of 40,000 but only very minor damage.

Today's first temblor was preceded by a rumble.

At approximately the same time, shocks were felt in a large area of northern California's Sacramento valley and very lightly in San Francisco.

Hundreds Awakened

Marysville, almost due west of Reno, and approximately 80 miles away, felt the quake at the same time. Police reported hundreds were awakened by the temblor and that some windows were broken both in the downtown and residential Marysville areas.

Marysville was the only spot reporting any damage, although the tremors were felt as far south as Stockton, at the northern end of the San Joaquin valley and 75 miles south of Marysville.

The Pacific Gas and Electric company reported a quake was felt in one of its San Francisco substations.

are underway in an effort to avoid an open fight over proposals to change the committee's investigative procedures.

Mundt, Nixon and several other lawmakers have suggested that the committee adopt new rules aimed at guaranteeing greater rights to witnesses, especially those under committee suspicion.

Proposals Disliked

Rankin, however, and some others have termed these proposals efforts to hamstring the committee.

To counter this situation, Rep. Forand of Rhode Island, chairman of the House Democratic caucus, came up with an idea to create a special committee. Its job would be to draw up a code of rights that would apply to all congressional committees—not the un-American activities group alone.

The House caucus, which includes all Democratic members, will get a chance to debate the whole subject at a meeting Saturday.

"The most charitable view that can be taken of the Truman speech is that the President was preparing the way for a change in American policy, but resorting to the well known preliminary of first of all saving face.

The Communist newspaper then remarked that "American politics move in a queer way, and the tripe talk by Truman in Kansas City may be more important than it seems."

Fort Worth Assigns Players To Montreal

FORT WORTH, Dec. 29 (AP) — The Fort Worth baseball club announced here today it had assigned and transferred outright the players' contracts of outfielders Irving Noren and George Schmees to Montreal of the International league.

Noren won the Texas league's "player of the year" award as the pennant-winning Cats' left fielder last season and was in the batting race until slowed by injuries late in the drive. Schmees, whose batting average was .291, surprised everyone with his long-ball hitting near the season's close, in the league playoffs and in the Dixie seri—

Representative Asks Review Of Conviction

BOSTON, Dec. 29. (AP)—Rep. Lane (D-Mass) today asked the secretary of defense for a complete review of what he described as "the shocking conviction" of Mrs. Wilma Ybarbo.

The former Malden girl was convicted Tuesday by an American military government court in Marburg, Germany, and sentenced to 20 years for the slaying of her husband, Sgt. John Ybarbo.

The young mother claimed the shooting of her husband occurred in defense of her own life after a gay party in their Frankfort quarters. She testified that she had been subjected to repeated beatings.

Atomic Engines

field. Our efforts, however, will be directed toward putting the reactor in a ship. We're trying to build a ship's power plant that will burn uranium instead of coal or oil."

According to an official of the Atomic Energy commission in Washington, the ship propulsion project will not be the first non-weapon development of atomic power undertaken.

Development Involved

A previously-announced project at Schenectady, N. Y., he said involves the development of a reactor by General Electric for use in the production of commercial electric power.

The official said a number of other development projects are aimed at possible peacetime applications of nuclear fission, but there has been no announcement of any other direct attempt to adapt atomic power for propulsion purposes thus far.

A Tammaro, manager of the AEC operations in Chicago, said the propulsion project will be carried out in cooperation with the Argonne National laboratory major center of the commission's reactor development program. The development of such specialized nuclear reactors was one of the functions let to the Argonne laboratory in January, 1948, when the labcratory was made the center of AEC's reactor program.

Objective Is Stated

"It is the objective of the commission," Tammaro said, "to produce a nuclear power plant which may be adapted to the propulsion of a naval vessel within the shortest possible time.

"Our contract with Westinghouse will bring into the AEC program, a company resourcefulness in engineering skills required by reactor development."

Westinghouse during World War Two helped the Manhattan engineer district in processing uranium and making specialized equipment for use in the U-235 separation plants at Oak Ridge, Tenn.

Weaver said the Westinghouse project will be carried on in a laboratory in the Pittsburgh area with a force of about 600 men many of them engineering specialists.

16 Million Vets May Share In Fund Split

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29. (AP)—Dividends ranging from a few cents to several hundred dollars will be paid out in 1949 to veterans who took out National Service life insurance.

The Veterans administration said in announcing this that 16,000,000 veterans may share in the payments.

Unofficial estimates of the size of the surplus fund, from which the dividends will be paid, range from $1,500,000,000 to $2,000,000,000.

Officials said that veterans who took out the minimum $1,000 policy and held it a short time will receive only a small dividend. But the GI's who got into the program early and for the maximum amount of $1,000 probably will receive up to several hundred dollars.

The VA plans to make refunds on all policies on which premiums were paid for three or more months.

Notable Quotes Of 1948 From Hollywood's Gusts Summed Up

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 29—Much wind blows out of the movie world each year. Here are some of the notable gusts of 1948.

In the course of a year, a Hollywood reporter hears much talk and reads plenty more. The vast majority of its is trivia, not likely to live past today's edition. But out of the sound and fury come a few outstanding quotes that stick in your memory. These are the ones I have selected:

Esther Williams, on the new scanty bathing suits: "Why, they come off in the water. If you can't swim in them, what good are they?"

Lana Turner Poor

Bette Davis, on censorship: "The public is screaming for something censorable. Sex doesn't have to be dirty."

Errol Flynn: "The heroes I play are generous idiots."

Orson Welles: "I have never claimed I was a genius, nor has anyone else. I am the most attacked figure in theatrical history."

Fred Allen: "Television seems to be nothing but radio fluoroscoped."

Lana Turner, quoted as she arrived in England with 18 cases of belongings: "I'm just a poor American girl and I just brought a few things to come over here with."

Lauren Bacall, turning down a "Jones Beach" role: "I'm not a bathing beauty; I'd be embarassed."

Ray Milland, taking a suspension for refusing "Mask Of Lucretia": "The role simply is beyond my capabilities."

Johnston Office Not God

Ellis Arnall, new independent producer head, explaining why he predicts the failure of the Johnston office's campaign to get people back into theaters: "The voice of the people is the voice of God and not the Johnston office."

Jane Russell: "I've been posing for cheesecake for seven years and I'm through with it."

Clark Gable, on the lack of movie attendance by oldsters: "Maybe we should take a more adult approach to films. Heaven knows, my pictures haven't contributed much in that regard."

Charles Laughton: "Film actors are the most humble people on earth."

Shelley Winters, on acting with Ronald Colman: "There's more life in him than in most of the younger boys."

Alexis Smith, on getting a dance-hall girl role: "For seven years I've played society dame parts and begged for a role with guts. Now I've got my wish and I'll probably spend the next seven wishing to get back into clothes."

Edgar Bergen, on why he was taking a vacation from radio: "Everything's in chaos."

Teresa Wright, on why she was happy to be fired from her Goldwyn contract: "Such contracts say, in effect, 'we have no privacies which you producers cannot invade; trade us like cattle, boss us like children.'"

Bob Hope's wire to President Truman day after election: "Unpack!"

And I hope you won't mind my adding my best quote of the year: Best wishes for a happy prosperous and peaceful 1949.

SEE BY THE SEA — Beachwear, 1949 vintage, admits lots of sun and excites lots of stares, if this job is any criterion. Trudy Knesh wears it in Miami, Fla. It's a Roman stripe cotton seersucker with a drawstring at the side, to allow more sun in.

Einstein In Hospital But Said To Be Okay

NEW YORK, Dec. 29 (AP)—Prof. Albert Einstein is in a hospital here, but a spokesman says "he's perfectly O. K. He's smoking his pipe and doing his work in bed."

The spokesman said the renowned scientist and pioneer in atomic energy research was admitted yesterday to the Jewish Hospital of Brooklyn for a rest and observation only.

Asked if Einstein's condition was serious, the spokesman said, "certainly not."

He said Einstein, who will be 70 next March, was brought to the hospital by Dr. Rudolph Nissen, a New York physician.

Einstein is best known for his work on atomic energy and his exposition of the theory of relativity.

Navy Will Test Clothing, Men And Equipment In Alaska Area

TERMINAL ISLAND NAVY BASE, Calif., Dec. 29 (AP)—"There's no trick to keeping warm in Alaska. The trick is to still be able to move with all that clothing on."

That and other problems, says Rear Adm. L. T. DuBose the Navy hopes to solve during amphibious operations at Kodiak island sometime in February.

A fleet of 34 vessels—one of almost every Navy type—plus 16,000 sailors, 2,000 marines and 120 carrier-based aircraft, including four jets, will launch an assault on the island in the gulf of Alaska, site of the Navy's northernmost Pacific base.

Will Defend Island

Defending the island will be army, airforce and naval units directed by Read Adm. A. E. Montgomery, commanding the Alaskan sea frontier.

Not only clothing, but scores of other items—such as oil, engines and de-icing gear—as well as food and personnel will be tested.

"This is not a major naval problem," Adm. DuBose told a press conference here yesterday. "It is an exercise to test men in cold, wet weather and rotten conditions."

Clothing Big Objective

He said cold weather clothing, sufficiently light and flexible to permit its wearers to work and move about easily, is one of the chief objectives.

Vessels involved will range from the big Essex-type carrier Boxer, the cruiser Duluth, the command ship Mt. McKinley and the seaplane tender Curtis, flagship for the operation, down to a submarine, landing craft of various types and a small LSMR rocket ship.

The entire force is due back in San Francisco bay about March 1, where another theoretical attack is scheduled against forces headed by Vice Adm. George D. Murray, commanding the Western sea frontier.

Ex-Bank President At Anson Succumbs

FORT WORTH, Dec. 29 (AP) — Charles Henry Steele, organizer and for many years president of the First National bank of Anson, died in a Fort Worth hospital yesterday. He was 81.

He had been in ill health several years and entered the hospital about a week ago.

Steele was an early day west Texas attorney. For one term he was Jones county attorney and he served one term as district attorney for the 39th judicial district.

He then resumed private practice until he organized the Anson bank in 1902.

In 1916 Steele came to Fort Worth and became vice president of the American National bank. Two years later he resigned to look after his private affairs.

Ex-Marine Will Marry Greek Girl He Chose From Picture

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 29. (AP)—Leander swam the Hellespont for his love but an ex-Marine apparently has bridged the Atlantic ocean to bring the lady of his choice from her home in Greece to Pittsburgh.

George Nomides, 25-year-old house painter, fell in love with the photograph of Irene Vigianos, a resident of Piraeus, Greece, and began a correspondence that led to their plans to wed.

The U. S. consul in Athens, however, ruled that Irene was not a "bona fide fiancee" and refused the girl a visa to come to the U. S.

Working against the Friday deadline set by the G. I. sweetheart law, Nomides enlisted the aid of Rep. James Fulton (R-Pa.) who wired the Athens consulate.

The answer was still no so Fulton took his argument to the State department and yesterday received word that a visa had been granted Irene.

That still left the little matter of how Irene was to come to this country. Trans-World airlines said they had closed sales of tickets of the overseas fiancee type on Christmas because they are subject to a $1,000 fine and return passage if they fail to get a fiancee into the country by midnight, Dec. 31.

Friends guaranteed the $1,000 and Irene's return passage. Now all Irene had to do was catch a plane by 3 p. m. (EST) today.

Week Between Christmas, New Year Is When America Slows Down For "Mental Retooling"

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—This is the annual lost week of mankind—the week of the big let down.

I mean, of course, in America.

It is during this week that America is in a big essential sense the least like a foreigner would expect.

He would come here prepared to find the wealthiest people in the wealthiest nation—a nation that has spread its wealth deeper and farther among more people than any of the other so-called civilized nations—geared to the machine.

People Out of Tune

But he would find that these people are out of tune with the machine. Their pulse has lost the tempo. He would find—this foreign visitor—that this is the week when the vast mechanism that is America slows down.

It could be called in the language of Detroit "mental retooling week."

It comes always at the same time—the week between Christmas and the New Year.

There is a human factor that cannot be shown accurately on any chart or graph. This is the adjustment that takes place in their souls at the annual season of good will.

Strange, Mixed Time

Certainly it is a strange and mixed time, confusing beyond any other period. For it is in this week that a man, relaxed by a feeling of well being, looks toward the goals his race could really achieve—by living nearer to his religion all year round.

It is also, unfortunately, the time when many new annual business contracts are let, contracts that determine the year ahead. Many old men who have run the machine — their own particular machine—are quietly given their walking papers. The newspapers are full of details of new promotions. But for most promotions there is a heartbreak—as well as a heart leap.

Wants To Keep Lights

Somebody gains . . . . somebody loses. . . and either way a man wants to keep the lights shining on his Christmas tree just a few more days.

But even if they escape the persecution of sudden change, there still is an adjustment to be made.

For they have seen for a day a holy vision—an interlude when they could live by the heart, and spend its goodness like prodigals.

It isn't a bad thing at all—this letdown. Every system has to permit it. Even in the cycle of the stars the astronomers allow for—a leap year. Man is a creature that has to leap sometime, too.

Christmas is only the small opening in a closed circle the world will open wider as it wisens.

Former Actress Is Given Reno Divorce

RENO, Nev., Dec. 29. (AP)—Without even leaving New York City, former Film Actress Gloria Swanson won a Reno divorce from William Davey, New York and Los Angeles broker.

Her deposition read in court yesterday, gave separation of three years as grounds. She and Davey married in Union City, N. J., on Jan. 29, 1945, and separated three months later, she said.

Miss Swanson's action was in the form of a cross-complaint to one filed here by Davey, charging extreme cruelty and three-year separation. Davey appeared in court to establish proof of Nevada residence.

They have no children, and no community property was involved.

Best Actress, Actor Chosen In New York

NEW YORK, Dec. 29. (INS) Olivia De Havilland and Laurence Olivier were chosen best actress and actor of 1948 by the New York film critics today.

The 18 critics, representing 10 New York newspapers, named "The Treasure of Sierra Madre" as the best picture of the year. John Huston, who directed the film, was chosen best director of 1948.

The Italian-made "Paisan" was acclaimed best foreign movie.

Miss De Havilland was named for her starring role in "The Snake Pit" and Olivier for "Hamlet."

The critics' annual selections are based only on movies shown in New York.

Belfast, Northern Ireland, may limit the length of movie box office queues.

AMARILLO, Dec. 29 (Special)—Gene Autry, the idol of millions, will bring his stage show to Amarillo for two performances on Jan. 4. The entire proceeds from the show will go to Boys Ranch.

Autry came to the Panhandle a few weeks ago and made a visit to the ranch. He fell in love with the boys. Upon his return to Amarillo he said he would like to do something for the ranch and suggested bringing his show to Amarillo.

The performances, one at 4 p. m. and the other at 8 p. m., will be in the Municipal auditorium. Admission will be $1 for downstairs and 75 cents upstairs for the matinee. WALKS UNAIDED—Antonio (Tony) Cantelope, 8, walks unaided about his home in Spangler, Pa. His mother, Mrs. Jennie Cantelope, said his walking was a miracle, resulting from the boy's prayers to Mother Cabrini. She said he took first steps on Dec. 22—the day set aside by the Roman Catholic church to honor Mother Cabrini.

Decision On Firemen's Appeal Delayed By Commission Here

Lubbock Civil Service commission announced Tuesday night, at conclusion of a four-hour hearing of an appeal of J. W. Pruitt and Woodrow Quinn from their suspension as city firemen, that it would announce its decision "within a few days."

Suspension resulted, it was brought out, from a Dec. 17 letter adressed to W. E. Twitty, fire chief, by Marlin R. Smith, jr., city manager, in which it was suggested that "disciplinary action" be taken.

The firemen had attended a Sept. 9-15 Houston convention of International Association of Firefighters, after express rejection by the city commission Sept. 8 of a request by them that they be allowed leave to go without forfeiting pay for the period.

The men testified under oath before the Civil Service commission that they, upon being told the answer of the city commission by the city manager, then asked Smith to inquire of the city commission whether they might attend if they would make arrangements for other firemen to "work for us while we're gone." They said Smith went back into the "closed meeting" of the commission, then returned a moment later and said "No."

Department Rule Cited

Whereupon, they testified, they went to the convention anyway, after first arranging for other firemen to absorb their duties in the fire department.

They said that they, considering themselves "deprived of our rights" under the commission's action, "dropped back to fire department rules."

Under those rules, they pointed out—and they were supported in their version of what custom has been in the department by revelations of Chief Twitty—any member of the department had been free since 1924 to leave his duties so long as a week without asking permission of superior officers, provided he made arrangements for another fireman to work for him in the period of absence.

Both Quinn and Pruitt told the Civil Service commission they did not feel guilty of having acted in bad faith in going to Houston,

RAILWAY TO DIE WITH OLD YEAR

North Texas Interurbans Are Victims Of Travel Progress

BY WILLIAM C. BARNARD
Associated Press Staff Writer

Texas' famed interurbans, colorful, high-wheeled and fast rolling, go out with the old year Friday midnight.

Born with fanfare, shouting and speeches, the old system will die quietly, victim of the progress it served so long and well.

In their heydey, the gaudy, galloping cars were the darlings of an era, a quick, vital transportation link between bustling cities of North Texas.

Competition Too Much

But highways broadened, automobiles developed style and power and the buses came — buses and motor freight lines. With such competition, the Texas Electric Railway company lost money. The interurbans were too expensive to operate.

And with the birth of 1949, buses of the Texas Electric Bus company, will replace the interurbans. James P. Griffin, president of the electric railway company will head the bus company.

The Texas Electric Railway company is the successor to firms that built and operated the interurbans in years gone by. The line between Denison and Sherman went into operation in 1901; between Dallas and Sherman in 1908; between Dallas and Waco, 1913.

Griffin rode that first interurban out of Waco. It was a gala, wonderful day and happy crowds gaped at the big, shining monsters of the rails.

No Ceremony Planned

And generations of Texans reveled in the big red and yellow cars; thrilled to the speedy, rocking rides, the fancy flashing headlights, the shrill whistling and the clanging bells.

The last interurban — from Denison — will use 15 minutes of the new year for its dying run, arriving in Dallas at 12:15 a. m. Jan. 1. Twenty minutes earlier, the final car from Waco will roll into the Dallas terminal.

"No, there won't be any kind of ceremony," Richard Montgomery, an assistant to the general superintendent said. "I hear some rail fans hope to be in on the last runs. But that's all."

Montgomery said the 26 passenger cars and the 29 express cars would be sold. "People will use them as diners and homes and I guess other uses will be found."

Rails To Be Ripped Up

And the job of ripping up the tracks from Denison to Waco will begin next week, with the salvage value estimated at $1,800,000.

Some of the 800 commuters who used the interurbans daily groused that the cars were uncomfortable.

But there will be many a heartache when that last run is over for the interurbans had a host of friends.

Friends like Mrs. J. W. Williams of Waxahachie, who patted the brown leather cushion of an interurban lovingly and said: "Why, I've been riding these cars 30 years — they're so roomy and comfortable and you feel so safe off those crowded highways."

Friends Are Sad

Friends like the red-haired, blue-eyed Montgomery, who said: "The only work I've ever done since I left the Oklahoma farm has been around these interurbans. The more you're around them the more you become attached to them. They have history and personality. I don't know much about ships, but I guess you'd say an interurban is like a ship—sort of human."

And friends like grey-haired, 59-year-old G. W. Bradford of Waxahachie, since 1916 a proud operator and inspector of interur-

Completion Of 21 Miles Set

With work started on the most ambitious paving program in the city's history, Lubbock can look forward to completion of 21½ miles of new paving at a total cost of $570,286 by the end of next summer.

That estimate was contained in a report prepared Tuesday by R. L. Oldham, acting city engineer, who also explained procedure by which property owners may petition additional paving to be included in the program.

Although advent of winter weather has delayed hard surfacing until about May 1, work is proceeding rapidly on excavating, laying of curb and gutter and application of caliche base to streets on the current program, Oldham explained.

Of the 21½ miles included on the current work list, the city is constructing with its own forces 68 blocks at an estimated cost of $194,525. Another 91½ blocks is being built under contract with a paving contractor, L. A. Purtell, at a cost of $210,411.

Petitions Received

Petitions have been received for a third portion of the project, totaling 66½ blocks, estimated to cost $165,350. Work on this portion will be under way shortly, the engineer indicated.

Oldham explained the method by which property owners who are not on the current program who wish to be included in the program may do so.

Property owners whose property abuts on the street or streets affected should circulate a petition, obtaining signatures of the greatest possible number of property owners concerned.

The petition, addressed to the mayor and city commissioners, should set out the request for curb and gutter and paving, and should contain a statement that the owners understand the approximate cost of such paving. (The cost at present is approximately $2.75 per linear foot for a 30-foot street, $3.25 per linear foot for a 36-foot street. Estimated costs for streets of other width are available at the engineer's office.)

Sample Petitions Available

After a petition containing a sufficient number of signatures is received, the prospective paving is added to the project for construction at the earliest possible time.

Oldham said sample petitions are available at the engineer's office in city hall, or that help would be given property owners in drawing up a special petition.

He indicated that petitions for additional paving received within the next four weeks stand a good chance of receiving particularly prompt attention, since there probably would be time to include them in the current program for

18 Escape Injuries In Forced Landing

JOHNSON CITY, Tenn., Dec. 29. (AP)—Fifteen passengers and three crewmen escaped injury when a Piedmont airliner made a forced landing shortly after taking off from the Tri-City airport near here last night.

The twin-engined craft landed safely in a hilly, snow-covered field a mile and a half from the airport. Co-Pilot James Craig said the forced landing was made by Pilot H. H. Hutchinson after a loss of oil pressure in the right engine caused mechanical trouble.

The plane was en route to Cincinnati via Lexington, Ky. The flight originated at New Bern, N. C., and the plane had made a scheduled stop at Winston-Salem, N. C., before landing briefly at the Tri-City airport.

R. D. Hager, assistant to the Piedmont airlines president, had no comment on the cause of the emergency landing.

Air Force Adds Feather To Its Cap After Rescue Of 12 Men

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29 (AP)—The Air Force proudly counted among its achievements today the daring rescue of 12 marooned airmen from a bleak 7,800-foot Greenland ice cap.

The hero of the new northland saga is 32-year-old Lt. Col. Emil J. Beaudry of Manchester, N. H. He landed his big specially-equipped C-47 transport on the wind-swept cap yesterday and in 38 minutes was airborne again with a dozen jubilant passengers.

Long hours later however only the sketchiest details of the dramatic operation were known here.

Plane Jet-Assisted

But before communications out of the frozen northland failed word came through that the rescued men were safe and apparently sound at Bluie West Eight—an Air Force base in southwest Greenland.

Seven of the men had been stranded since December 9, when their own C-47 was forced down. Three previous rescue attempts resulted only in adding five more men to the encampment.

But at 9:30 a. m. (EST) yesterday, Col. Beaudry skillfully set his big ship down on the cap. Thirty-eight minutes later the ski-runnered transport, assisted by jet take-offs, roared into the air and headed back to its base 270 miles away.

Navy Men Cheer

News of the feat was cheered aboard the U. S. S. Saipan carrying a Navy helicopter rescue team to the area. The 14,500-ton carrier, which left Norfolk, Va., Christmas Day, had not expected to launch its five "flying windmills" on the rescue mission before Thursday noon.

Navy officials said the Saipan will put into port at Argentia, Newfoundland, before making the return trip to Norfolk.

The rescue also came before the Air Force's top Arctic expert, Col. Bernt Balchen, had a chance to try his hand at the job. Balchen flew a glider-equipped C-54 from Ladd Field, Fairbanks, Alaska, to Greenland for the task.

Men Well Supplied

While all these preparations were in progress, air-drops kept the men well supplied with food, medical supplies, heating and communications equipment, a plywood house—and even a Christmas tree and Yule dinner.

Yesterday's rescue was the second major northland exploit for Beaudry, who won the air medal and distinguished flying cross in World War II as a bomber pilot over Europe.

On Dec. 26, 1947 Beaudry piloted a plane to Dyke's lake in Labardor and picked up nine survivors—seven Air Force men and two civilians—whose B-17 had been forced down in that barren land three days earlier.

Engineers in Poland have produced a new building material, called "wood concrete," a mixture of sawdust, cement and slug, to be used as a substitute for iron, wood, brick and concrete.

ANIMAL CRACKERS—There are some strange creatures in the animal kingdom, like these exhibits. At near right is the only albino leopard in captivity. Now in Central Park Zoo, New York, Jinx has a pale buff rose coat with orange-brown spots and yellow eyes. At far right is a smiling porpoise. At least it looks to be smiling as it peeks through a porthole window at the oceanarium in Marineland, Fla. Below, left, are strange dinner companions—a three-month-old raccoon and a two-month-old lion cub sharing a side of beef at Central Park Zoo. The rabbits, below right, are the only pair of "English Lop Ears" in the U. S. Thomas Coatham, jr., of Wattsburg, Pa., sold them to the Atomic Energy Commission for $500. They'll be used in experiments requiring rabbits that cannot move their ears, by scientists of the University of California at Los Angeles.

Tool Company May Be Sold

NEW YORK, Dec. 29 (AP)—The New York Times said today that negotiations are underway for sale of the Hughes Tool Co. of Houston, Tex.—owned by multimillionaire Howard Hughes—for a sum believed in excess of $140,000,000.

The newspaper said the prospective buyers of the tool company are a group of the firm's management and several New York bankers. The company is principally engaged in making oil well drilling equipment.

The sale, if consummated, would be the largest industrial transaction in 23 years, the Times said.

Dillon, Read Involved

In April, 1925, the widows, of John and Horace E. Dodge sold the Dodge brothers auto firm to a syndicate of bankers for a net purchase price of $146,000,000.

The Times said it was understood Dillon, Read and Co., New York bankers, are involved in the Hughes company negotiations. Dillon, Read headed the syndicate buying the Dodge concern.

The newspaper said Hughes is believed to be anxious to complete the deal before the end of the year to take advantage of present capital gains tax laws.

Hughes' representatives were quoted as saying the deal has been under discussion for some time.

Hughes, in addition to the tool firms, is also head of Transcontinental and Western Air, Inc., and RKO Radio Pictures, Inc. He also heads the Hughes Aircraft company.

Judge Saves Marriage By Arranging First Honeymoon For Estranged Chicago Couple

CHICAGO, Dec. 29 (AP) — A young estranged couple will make a new try with their marriage on a honeymoon arranged and paid for by the judge they asked to divorce them.

The details were worked out today in the chambers of Judge Julius J. Hoffman of superior court. Rose Weidman, 24, a cashier, and her husband, Erwin, 33, a window installer, had come to him for a conference on temporary support money. Mrs. Weidman had pending a divorce suit, alleging cruelty.

Never Had Honeymoon

Judge Hoffman learned the couple, married July 3, 1943, never had time for a honeymoon trip. In recent years they had devoted most of their time to their children, Godfrey, four, and Erwin, jr., one.

"He loves his wife," Harry X. Cole, attorney for Weidman, said in behalf of his client. "Perhaps he has not expressed it in the right way in the past. He wants me to tell her.

"They never had a honeymoon. If they could leave the children with someone and get away by themselves for awhile, I'm sure they could save their marriage."

Legal Fees Waived

Judge Hoffman picked up his telephone and called Oakton Manor, a resort hotel near Pewaukee, Wis. He arranged for the Weidmans to be there Friday in time to celebrate New Year's Eve. The couple accepted and said the children would be left with their grandparents.

Cole and Mrs. Weidman's attorney, Harold C. Mautner, agreed to waive their legal fees as their contribution to the reconciliation.

The couple kissed and hurried home to start packing for the trip. Judge Hoffman marked the divorce suit "dismissed."

Reveler Discoverd In Minister's Bed

SOMERVILLE, Mass., Dec. 29 (AP)—Who's sleeping in my bed, the Rev. H. Murray Elliott wondered when his young son appeared unexpectedly at a delayed Church Christmas party.

Ten-year-old Peter Elliott ran a mile from the family home to Christ church last night to tell his dad there was an unfamiliar figure in his bed. Peter had been left at home because of illness.

The minister and police hurried to the parsonage. They discovered the man was a reveler who had got into the wrong house. No charges were preferred.

SICK CHILDREN GET BREAK

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (U.P.) — The fight over the carcass of a buck deer ended when those involved donated the meat to the Crippled Children's Hospital. The buck had wandered out of the woods into the path of a speeding taxicab. The driver and witnesses claimed the buck until the game warden, J. B. Wynne, suggested that steaks appear on the hospital menu.

Korean Security Safeguarded As American Troops Withdraw

By WILLIAM R. MOORE
Associated Press Staff Writer

SEOUL, Dec. 29—President Syngman Rhee said today the current withdrawal of some American troops from Korea "leaves our security sufficiently safeguarded."

"I believe that within a comparatively short time our national defense force will no longer need the presence of a large security force," Rhee said in a prepared statement.

(In Washington the Army had announced "portions" of the American security force, including the Seventh division, were being withdrawn for regrouping in Japan.)

Departure Watched

The Washington announcement occasioned little surprise here. Koreans have been able to watch the departure of some units under orders which American Army spokesmen said were still classified as "secret."

Maj. Gen. John D. Coulter, commanding the U. S. 24th corps, grinned and said "no comment" when asked for details of the movement. The observable facts indicate that some elements of both the Seventh and Sixth U. S. divisions are being formed into a combat team to replace the corps organization as a security force

Both Coulter and John J. Muccio, the American presidential representative here, called on Rhee today but Muccio said the conversations were general.

Reports Very Welcome

Rhee in his statement called "very welcome and highly gratifying" unofficial Washington reports that Muccio soon will become full ambassador to Korea. Rhee has not announced who will represent Korea in Washington

Muccio said in an interview that he had not been advised by Washington the exact date that full U. S. recognition would be extended to Korea but that he expected it soon.

It was felt here that a new military headquarters supplanting the U. S. Army corps would be established coincident with the establishment of an embassy. Rhee alluded in his statement to U. S. Navy and Army missions which would be attached to the diplomatic organization. It was learned unofficially that the U. S. ambassador also would have an air attache. Rhee said a U. S. military mission would help train the Korean national army.

Korea Officials Doubt

Korean officials doubt that the revision of the American Army establishment will tempt northern Communists to attempt serious disorders in the country. Confidence in Korea's own forces has returned since a setback in the October Yosu rebellion which flared in one army unit. For a month there has been little fear expressed that the Communists are capable of causing serious trouble in the south. There even has been some talk that the republic soon would become able to extend its authority to the Communist held northern half of the country.

Methods of reuniting the two halves of Korea is one of the assignments the United Nations General assembly gave a commission which it is sending to Korea about mid-January. The U. N. on Dec. 12 recognized south Korea, that half of the nation occupied by the United States, as the only official government on the peninsula.

Russia, which occupies the northern half but has announced it is withdrawing its troops, and several Soviet satellites have recognized the north's peoples republic. Like the United States, China and the Philippines have extended provisional recognition to the south's republic and are expected to follow the United States in giving the Rhee government full recognition.

Missing Will, Money Found By Children

LEAVENWORTH, Kas., Dec. 29 (AP)—A missing will and gold coins and old currency believed to total around $14,000 have been found by two children rummaging through their home for a Christmas tree ornament.

The children, Sandra Wilk, 9, and her brother, Gary, 6, made the discovery while searching the attic for the ornament. Their attention was attracted to a wire looped over a nail and hanging down in the wall of the room below.

To the wire was attached a jar and a box containing the will of Miss Emma Scheer, 72, who died last April, $455 in gold coins and a large amount of old currency.

The children took their find to their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Wilk, who moved into the house after the death of Miss Scheer. The Wilks called the administrator of Miss Scheer's estate, Ted L. Sexton.

The discovery ended a long hunt for the will—one in which even an attorney for the administrator had made an unsuccessful search of the residence.

The rhea, found only in South America, is a small ostrich. Its feathers have considerable market value, but the bird does not have the fine plumes of its larger relative.

PRE-ASSEMBLED HOMES GOING UP—The first units of the $350,000 48-home project of Southwestern American Homes are being completed in the Parks addition, just north of Texas Technological college campus. C. H. Tisdel of Lubbock is contractor. The units are hauled in trucks, complete with plumbing fixtures, and assembled on the site to sell for as little as $800 down. (Staff Photo).

Indian Who Ran 230 Miles For Opening Of El Paso Sun Carnival Says His Feet Hurt

EL PASO, Dec. 29. (AP)—The Sun carnival has a queen today, but the number one personage of the festivities is a 35-year-old, cave-dwelling Tarahumara Indian.

His name is Pedro Paseno and he ran 230 miles from Chihuahua City to El Paso to start the carnival rolling.

He arrived yesterday with a smouldering torch. He gave the torch to Mayor Dan Ponder of El Paso and the mayor lighted an urn to signal the opening of the celebration.

Others Drop Out

Paseno's comment was: "My feet hurt."

He had run the 230 miles in less than 45 hours. Eight other Indians were in the race to El Paso but they dropped out 87 miles from their destination.

But they came along in a truck anyway, looking tired and bewildered. Paseno and the others wore running shorts, red shirts and blue bandannas. They had thin leather slats strapped to the soles of their feet. Paseno had cotton wedged between his blistered toes.

Last of Cave Dwellers

The Tarahumara Indians inhabit central Chihuahua state and are the last known cave dwellers on the North American continent. Paseno and his fellows run with a peculiar, rabbit-like hop, and carry forked poles for partial support.

During his race, Paseno drank only a thick, milky, corn drink. He was off his feet only once during his entire trip. After his arrival at El Paso he said he could have run for many more hours.

Miss Patricia Beach Murchison, blonde College of Mines co-ed from El Paso, was crowned Sun carnival queen in ceremonies last night. A pageant and the coronation ball followed.

Boost In American Savings Is Reported

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29 (AP) — Americans salted away a whopping $3,100,000,000 in individual savings during the third quarter of this year, a government report estimated tonight.

That's about $22 set aside for every man, woman and child in the nation.

The "rainy day" balance figures released by the Securities and Exchange commission showed that the savings for the quarter were $2,500,000,000 above the savings for the months April through June.

Farm families, whose income this year approached new peaks, are credited with a major portion of the increase. But, SEC said, persons from all walks of life added substantially to their "liquid savings," those funds which can easily be spent.

GI Brides, Groom Miss Entry Deadline

LONDON, Dec. 29 (AP)—Three GI brides and a bridegroom, racing to get into the United States, have missed the deadline but still will be admitted.

U. S. immigration authorities told the four, stranded in Scotland by plane trouble and Atlantic storms, that if they arrive by the first possible flight to New York they can obtain entry. The deadline under the U. S. war brides act was last midnight.

The four will be flown from Prestwick, Scotland to London today to make connection with a plane leaving from Shannon, Eire.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Amelie Weinfead, Los Angeles schoolteacher bride of a week, flew on to New York to seek special consideration for her husband, Dr. Frederick Weinfead. The three foreign brides are: Mrs. Doreen Andel, British wife of Maury Andel, merchant seaman of Seattle, Wash.; and two Greek girls, the wives of Chris Korkenes, restaurant proprietor of New York, and John Collis, restaurant cook of New York.

Ways And Means Chairman For Keeping U. S. Budget Balanced

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29 (AP) — Rep. Doughton (D-NC) says Congress ought to keep the government in the black even if it has to boost taxes and order "a little cooling off in the cold war spending."

Doughton wouldn't predict to newsmen what the House Ways and Means commitee may do after he resumes the chairmanship of that tax-writing group next week.

But he took note on his return to Washington yesterday of widespread forecasts that increased national defense and foreign aid costs are likely to leave the treasury $1,500,000,000 or more in the red next year. He added:

"I want to see not only a balanced budget but also enough economy and enough revenue to make some payment on the nation's debt."

Beware Coughs Following Flu

After the flu is over and gone, the cough that follows may develop into chronic bronchitis if neglected. Creomulsion relieves promptly because it goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm, and to aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes. No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough or you are to have your money back.

Sudden Thought: If Henry Wallace had kept as quiet before the election as he has since, he'd have done better!

HELP! Help! Among our Christmas presents (it came from the Little Woman and had the bill attached) was a new radio-record player combination, guaranteed to drive anybody crazy in six months.

Now, in addition to the singing commercials on the networks, we have Spike Jones for breakfast, Clyde McZilch for lunch, and somebody who plays the sourest music this side of Hades for supper.

Everybody in the family has his, or her own records except us, which means the older kids have "Cow Cow Boogie" and the "Beer Joint Stomp"; the Little Woman has "When You and I Were Young, Maggie," and "Silver Threads Among the Gold"; and the 13-year-old has a collection of circus pieces by the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey band, courtesy of a well-meaning friend who is an executive with the Greatest Show on Earth.

In self defense, we've gotta get something of our own—and we don't know where to find what we want.

* * *

Can anybody suggest where to get the late George M. Cohan doing "Life's a Funny Proposition, After All," which has been out of circulation for more'n a quarter of a century, but which is plenty good?

And does anybody know where there might be available an album of Ted Lewis' hits circa 1915, including "On The Sunnyside of the Street," and "Me and My Shadow?"

If we don't get something to counteract Harry James and his Boiler Factory Tootlers, and Cab Calloway and His Marajuanians, we'll go plumb nuts before Valentine's Day!

Anybody who knows where these platters might be dug out is urged to drop us a postcard, toot de sweet.

STILL thinking about the Yuletide, only this time in a more pleasant vein, let us here and now extend to Mrs. W. H. Trice, of 2304 Avenue U, our sincere thanks for her good letter, a very happy surprise.

Mrs. Trice took time out, for no reason at all except because she wanted to, to say some very nice things at Christmas time for Margaret Turner and others of us here at The Avalanche-Journal. She pointed out the things she likes about our efforts every day in the year, and didn't once refer to those things she didn't like—and we know there is sure to be some of the latter.

Thanks, Mrs. Trice, for your warm greetings—and a very Happy New Year to you and yours!

And to Mr. and Mrs. Casey Charness, of 2616 Thirty-first street, heartfelt thanks for the note penned on your Christmas card. Modesty prohibits its reproduction here and we know we don't deserve it. But, anyhow, it was swell of you to say such a nice thing to a stranger, so please accept our best wishes for 1949.

* * *

AS we look ahead to a New Year, it might be well to consider this, by Carl Sandburg:

"Give me a hunger,
O you gods who sit and give
The world its orders.
Give me hunger, pain and want,
But leave me a little love,
A voice to speak to me in the day end,
A hand to touch me in the dark room
Breaking the long loneliness."

Our current economic system seems to have everything except economy.

LOOKING at 1949: An organization which makes surveys for business concerns reports to sponsors the results of its efforts made quickly, since Christmas, in all sections of the U. S., as follows:

"Apparently, people in general expect 1949 to be a year of leveling off: a slow turn from quick and easy money toward an economy more normal than the nation has seen since 1942."

The reason for this conclusion:

Fewer Christmas cards, and fewer expensive ones, were sent out this year than on any year since 1941; fewer people sent out baskets of fancy fruits and foods and less expensive baskets than in recent years.

Please Note: Only 304 more shopping days until Christmas!

That Man on Avenue Q says a fellow is bound to lose his shirt sooner or later, if he puts too much on the cuff.

* * *

Shakespeare said that all the world's a stage and maybe so. But the trouble is, only a few of us ever get into the spotlight.

AS everybody knows, there are already more special "weeks" than there are places on the calendar to put 'em.

But somewhere between "Eat More Hominy Week" and "Dunk Donuts in Axle Grease Week" there must be a place for a "Figure Out Who Your Christmas Cards Came From Week."

The week between Christmas and New Year's is the logical time for the latter, all right, so if Doc Gallup is through explaining how come he missed the election, we wish he would poll the nation immediately, on how many people got how many cards from sources they can't figure out.

This year we not only got our customary quota of cards signed "Tootsie and Slug," or "Dimples and Schmoo." We also got some on which signatures had been written with the feet, including about 19 from our Occupation Forces in Germany where we met 9,604.5 people one time each at any one of 834.2 cocktail parties a year ago.

It ain't that we don't appreciate the cards, or the thought behind them. It just worries us not to be able to figure who they came from.

Best deal is to credit the unfigurable cards to the people we thought we'd hear from and didn't! By golly, maybe that's who they are from, at that!

The man who painfully and slowly climbed the ladder of success now has a son who's waiting for the elevator!

THE radio networks and individual stations were banging away at Christmas themes from December 20 on through the 28th so it is not surprising that at least one incongruity was noted.

That incongruity was Drew Pearson's solemn dissertation last Sunday about peace on earth good will toward men, the Sermon on the Mount and the application of the Golden Rule on 365 days, instead of just one day, of the year.

Bro. Pearson yammering in such a vein is comparable to a picture of Whistler's Mother smoking a cigar!

It just isn't in character!

An after-dinner speaker is a guy who can make a dry speech on a subject that is all wet.

LATE Christmas afternoon travelers on Highway 70, about 10 miles east of Matador, got a thrill that usually is confined to the Big Bend country or the Heuco Tanks area east of El Paso.

Along the fence on one of the pastures of the Matador Land & Cattle Co. stood 20 or more antelopes, calmly surveying the passing cars and chewing on the grasses.

A handful of antelope were "planted" on the Matador ranch a half dozen years ago. Now the herd has grown to such proportions that the animals give promise of getting too thick. If so, part of the Matador herd will be moved somewhere else.

The antelopes are protected against hunters.

BY DREW PEARSON: GENERAL LUCIUS CLAY'S FALSE ALARM SET OFF ARMY JITTERS

Doctors Decree George Marshall Must Quit Work

WASHINGTON—It looks as if the mystery over the bungled intelligence report which almost caused American mobilization last spring is no on the way to being solved.

PEARSON

The Army is trying to hush it up, but it was Gen. Lucius Clay who set off the false alarm leading to the worst case of war jitters since Pearl Harbor.

Actually, it probably wasn't Clay's fault. He had warned the Army department last March that Russia might be preparing to attack. But he added that his estimate was based not on military evidence, but upon the Russian attitude in Berlin.

As it turned out, Clay was right in sensing that the Russians were up to something. But he sensed the wrong thing. What the Russians were up to was not war but the Berlin blockade.

When Clay made his report to Washington, lights burned several nights in the Pentagon building while the intelligence experts diagnosed the situation, and pieced together various reasons why he was right.

Result was a faulty intelligence report which almost caused President Truman to ask Congress for general mobilization.

Marshall's Health

Secretary Marshall's doctors have informed him that he must definitely resign as secretary of state.

Marshall made a rapid recovery immediately after his operation, but since then his recovery has slowed up in rather a disturbing manner.

The secretary of state had hoped to spend Christmas at his Pinehurst home, but couldn't. Later he asked the doctors if he could go to Leesburg, Va., for the holidays. But the doctors again said no.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Marshall has put her foot down that her husband must resign as secretary of state. Chief Justice Fred Vinson looks like the man to take his place.

MADAME Chiang Kai-Shek has confided to intimates that she is amazed and stunned by the cold shoulder given to her pleas for help for China. The "Missimo" has been frantically wining and dining all sorts of bigwigs in order to get help for her husband's lost cause but has made no progress.

Madame Chiang is especially disappointed over her Republican friends, some of whom had assured her that military aid to China was all set. However, that may have been her big mistake. Like a lot of other people she bet on the wrong political horse. And though it doesn't influence our Chinese policy, President Truman is plenty burned up over the way Chiang Kai-Shek and advisers played footy-footy with the Republicans and Gov. Thomas Dewey until election day.

Wasps To Fly Again

Vivacious Jacqueline Cochran, the ex-beauty parlor magnate, now wife of financial magnate Floyd Odlum, has ambitions for bringing back the Wasps.

Miss Cochran, whose good motives in wartime were unquestioned, but whose efficiency was questioned, has written a confidential letter to former Wasps informing them that they are to be offered commissions in the Air Force reserve.

The Women's Air Force Service pilots, otherwise known as the Wasps or "petticoat pilots," was formed in wartime to replace male pilots in behind-the-lines duty, thus putting more men at the front.

Many of the Wasps did magnificent jobs, put in grueling hours ferrying planes, did more than ever expected. But other lady pilots behaved somewhat like their names—they stung. There was more jealousy, petty bickering, also more wasted manpower than in any branch of the services. Finally Congress and Air Corps brass hats decided the cost of training was too great. The Wasps were disbanded. Miss Cochran then kept the group alive as the Order of Fifinella.

Recently the Order of Fifinella received a letter from its wartime mistress, which read:

"This information is for our membership or potential membership and is not for public release," wrote Miss Cochran mysteriously and joyously. "I am every pleased to be able to tell you now . . . that the Wasp are going to be offered at an early date commissions in the Air Force reserve.

"Wasp who meet the other requirements are also going to be able to qualify as second lieutenants in the active Air Force."

Actually the Wasps never held military status of any kind during the war. Nevertheless Miss Cochran expects them now to become full-fledged commissioned officers in the Air Force.

This news has made male pilots irked and unhappy—to put it mildly. In fact, some are burnt up. The Air Force reserve does not have enough planes to keep its own reserve pilots flying, yet it appears to have agreed to grant commissions for flying time put in with the Wasps. Male reserve pilots can imagine the new scramble for planes with the men bowing to the ladies and saying: "Of course, you can have that plane for your flying time. By all means."

JIM Kemper, the big life-insurance mogul who is treasurer of the Republican national committee, has sent out a personalized form letter to thousands of party workers appealing for funds.

The Republicans are $330,000 in the red, says Kemper, and winds up his appeal by asking for "the benefit of your recommendations."

To this, one GOP recipient of the letter, C. T. Anderson of Arlington, Va., replied:

"I am not surprised that your accounts may be low. After spending the equivalent of the national debt in the last election, your deficit of only $330,000 is something to behold. I keep seeing pictures before my eyes of all that display advertising—in Minnesota and Illinois. I also remember a guy named Harry Truman being cut off the air during a major address for lack of funds. Maybe money ain't the answer to the problem."

Merry-Go-Round

All Civil Aeronautics administration employees in the section charged with disposing of surplus airports have been required to swear before witnesses that they have not talked to any columnist or newspaperman. The CAA says it's afraid "someone is leaking information to Drew Pearson." . . . The Distillers' institute gave away ten cases of whiskey on Capitol Hill for Christmas . . . Only place besides the White House permitted to fly the President's flag is the Muhlbach hotel in Kansas City. The flag is flown outside the President's penthouse apartment in the hotel . . . Nebraska's roistering Sen. Kenneth Wherry is caught between the liberal and conservative wings of the GOP. Conservative senators want to shuffle Wherry out as minority leader and substitute brusque Sen Gene Milliken of Colorado—because Wherry is too "liberal." But liberal Republicans don't want Wherry either—because they consider him too "conservative." . . . The Navy is desperately short of pilots to fly its planes. A drive was launched to recruit 1,000 for pilot training in December. But so far, only 400 have signed up.

"Now, About Predictions For Next Year--"

BY RUTH MILLETT: TO THE LADIES

The Feminine Viewpoint

AT last somebody has written an article for a current national magazine with the title "The Art of Staying at Home.

The fact that it contains some much-needed advice is proof that we've completed a full cycle since the "How to—" books and articles first became popular.

MILLETT

We started out with "How to Win Friends and Influence People"—and for a long time the trend was all on how to be so pleasant your life would be full of friends and invitations out, how to develop so many outside interests you never had to sit at home with a book, how—in short—to turn yourself inside out to get along smoothly with others.

WORKED TOO WELL

APPARENTLY the "how to be popular" advice worked so well that many people have developed such hectic social lives they have forgotten how to stay at home and enjoy it.

It may be only sheer coincidence that the author of "How to Win Friends, etc. . . . " finds it necessary now, after several years, to turn out a piece titled, "How to Stop Worrying, etc. . . "

So now those who are weary of the rat race can read the article mentioned and learn all over again how to spend quiet, leisurely evenings by their own firesides.

Maybe somebody will even go ahead now and write a book or article with the title, "How to Get Friends to Leave You Alone."

That, of course, will be the big problem for those who want to learn the "art of staying at home."

"Try And Stop Me"

A FRIEND of Anatole France brought his son to the novelist's studio one day, and said, "My boy aspires to be an author, monsieur. Could you spare him a bit of advice?" "An author, eh?" said France, addressing the young man. "Are you resigned to starving garrets, seeing lesser works than your own carried to success by unfair critics, and in general living like a leper until you're forty?"

"What will happen after I'm forty?" said the young man hopefully.

"When you're forty," said France, "you'll be used to it."

A BLONDE babe in the Latin Quarter ensemble reported for the midnight show with a beautiful shiner on her left eye. Another artiste in the troupe studied the damage with some satisfaction and drawled. "Looks like you got the worst of that fight, dearie." "Do you really think so?" answered the blonde. "Just wait till you get a look at your husband."

Today's Journal Editorial

NO TIME FOR CONTROVERSY

If the armed services hope to obtain the record appropriations they plan to seek next year, they may be wise to soft-peddle support for the pay boost proposal announced last week which would give most of the increase, to the high brass rather than to men in the ranks.

The suggested increases of nearly half a billion dollars a year in a total proposed military budget of 12 to 15 billions will be regarded by many Americans as being too large, even with present prices. Added prejudice is sure to result from any proposal which has the appearance, no matter how just it may be, of giving the commissioned personnel more generous treatment than the non-commissioned.

In fact, so much resentment could be aroused as to prejudice the prospects for the entire defense budget. Chances for the approval of an adequate budget will be much better if the services avoid controversy over pay raises which arouse the suspicion of being discriminatory.

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Persistent Backer Of Truman May Find Long Desired Prize

WASHINGTON. — Among the Democrats who proved their loyalty to President Truman when the going was tough, before Nov. 2, have been those hardly able in the intervening weeks to restrain their curiosity about the reward that may or may not come to them. They have been like small children on Christmas eve, reluctant to stay upstairs in bed until Santa Claus' visit.

CHILDS

One of the most persistent back door—and front door—visitors to the White House has been Col. Louis Johnson of West Virginia. Never the bashful type, Johnson knows what he wants and, according to all reports here, he is leaving nothing undone to get it.

He wants to be secretary of national defense in the Truman administration. The present secretary, James Forrestal, has been under a barrage of criticism ever since the election. Forrestal has been accused of disloyalty to the President, and, more important, of having failed to push unification and bring about the economies intended under the unification act.

Johnson's ambition is an extraordinary illustration of persistence in pursuit of a desire. In 1937 President Roosevelt named Johnson assistant secretary of war under the then secretary, Harry Woodring of Kansas.

Almost at once there began a rivalry between the two that became memorable in this capital of feuding and fussing. Woodring's friends accused Johnson of starting out immediately to undermine the secretary with Congress and the White House.

The difference was not one merely of ambition and personal jealousy. It was also ideological. An isolationist, Woodring apparently believed that to rearm in the face of a threat of world war was to invite war. He was entirely out of sympathy with Roosevelt's rearmament program.

Johnson backed the program to the limit. It finally became necessary in June of 1940 to call for Woodring's resignation. Johnson, who had been encouraged to believe he might be Woodring's successor, also went out and elder Statesman Henry L. Stimson, a Republican, came in to direct the rapidly accelerating arms drive.

THAT was a bitter pill for Johnson. As compensation, perhaps, Roosevelt sent him on a special mission to India in 1942. He was to try to mediate for the President the ominous quarrel between the British and the leaders of the Indian independence movement. In that critical year of the war, the split threatened to have disastrous consequences.

In India, Johnson displayed all the subtle tact of a bulldozer. His mission was not exactly successful and the oppressive climate of New Delhi laid him low.

Here at home he has repeatedly demonstrated his resourcefulness and his ruthlessness as a political operator. Johnson came of age in the rugged political school of the American Legion. In 1932 he was elected national commander of the Legion.

Johnson has a highly successful law practice in Charleston, W. Va., New York and Washington. He is a director of the Consolidated Vultee Aircraft Corp., and president of the General Dyestuff Corp.

Forrestal's defenders argue that he must of necessity, in his position as secretary of national defense, be non-political as Secretary of State George Marshall took no part in the political campaign. They insist that Johnson would carry politics into the national defense setup in this troubled, transitional stage.

Johnson Has Claim

Certainly Johnson has a claim on the President for a reward of some kind. In the middle of the campaign the Democrats were as near to being flat broke as a major political party can be. There was just no money to pay for broadcasts and travel expenses.

At least a dozen men had been approached to head up a finance committee and all had backed away from the assignment with varying degrees of politeness. Johnson agreed to take it on, but with the stipulation that he first have a private talk with the President. What was said at that meeting has been a carefully kept secret.

In his hard-driving fashion, Johnson went out and got some money. It was enough to stave off the party's creditors and pay for some broadcasts. The President, as a practical politician, knows how to appreciate such loyal service and especially against the background of the lonely, last-ditch struggle that was the 1948 campaign, so Johnson may finally find his long desired prize.

Firemen's Appeal

that, actually they were not convinced they had violated any commission order in their result to "customs of the fire department."

Claims No Vote Taken

"The commission turned us down only on a request for leave with pay," they said.

Gordon Treadaway, counsel for the suspended firemen, charged that the city commission never took a vote on the alternate proposal: that the firemen would go to the convention "on their own time, after arrangement for some one to do their work during their absence."

Wilson Presents Views

City Attorney Vaughn E. Wilson, asked to represent the civil service commission, took the position that the city manager himself is the executive head to whom the request for leave properly should have been brought, and that his negative answer to the firemen's alternative request should have been sufficient for them.

Witnesses called were Twitty Smith, J. M. Goldwater, a city fireman, and Quinn and Pruitt. The firemen, who were sworn as "defense" witnesses, were called by Wilson as "adverse" witnesses. Since Treadaway questioned them too, he called no witnesses after Wilson had completed his case.

Witnesses Examined

Harry Morris, chairman of the Civil Service commission, asked George W. McCleskey, who with Marion Sanford, are other commissioners, to preside. All commissioners closely examined witnesses at various stages of the hearing. All made it clear that civil service here is "new" and that the commission's function is to "do everything possible to make it work, fairly and equitably."

The purposes of the Houston meeting, it was brought out at Tuesday's hearing, were: The furtherance of unionization of firemen; and to strengthen a lobby in Austin to work for legislation looking toward increased pay and other benefits for members of city fire departments.

The hearing was the second appeal brought before the commission. Recently a policeman lost his appeal after discharge for allegedly attending a theater program at a time he was supposed to be on duty. His discharge was by Chief of Police Lewis Kittrell.

He stood on a high interurban platform, a big, husky, man and there was sadness in his face and in his voice:

"I helped build some of these old cars. Anything that's a man's life he hates to see it go. Anything you've worked and strived with all your days, you hate to see go. I guess I'll get me some little business. I won't drive no bus."

Movie Detective So Convincing Embezzling Suspect Calls Officers To Come Get Him

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 29 (AP)—Those movie detectives are really convincing. Ask Charles H. Moore, 36, formerly of Tuscumbia, Ala.

Moore called the sheriff's office last night and told them he was wanted in Alabama on a charge of embezzling $2,800 in state funds. He was cashier for the state liquor control board.

"I'm down here at the Pacific electric railway depot," he said. "I'm wanted for embezzling and I'm ready to give myself up. Come and get me."

Movie Hero Persistent

Det. Sgt. F. P. O'Connell found Moore, bags packed, waiting in the depot. He told O'Connell that he had planned to leave town but decided to give himself up instead.

"I saw a picture the other night ("The Accused")" Moore told O'Connell. "There was a detective in it that just never gave up. I've been thinking about him ever since. I decided that you'd get me now or later, and it might just as well be now."

Officers verified that Moore was wanted and booked him on a fugitive charge.

The body was to be taken overland by Rix to Cherokee for burial there.

Survivors include the husband, a daughter, Miss Reba Nell White of Lubbock; a son, Hobart W. White of Lubbock; two sisters, Mrs. J. F. Huffmon and Mrs. G. N. Miller, both of Leakey, Tex.; and two brothers, George B. Large and Gus A. Large, also both of Leakey.

Playful Yanks Make Passengers Nervous

YOKOHAMA, Dec. 29. (AP)—Playful U. S. soldiers have got to quit playing motorman on Yokohama's rickety old trolley cars.

The provost marshal cracked down today with an order forbidding it.

The reason: It makes the Japanese passengers nervous and they all get off at the next stop when a GI grabs the controls and "guns" the groaning old rattletraps.

completion by the end of the summer.

Greatest acceleration of the program will occur after May 1 when weather will permit application of the quadruple asphaltic surface treatment specified on city streets. The treatment cannot be applied with best success in winter months.
