Mother Of Lamesa Youth Says That Her Son Was A Victim Of Mishap Friday; Services Held On Saturday

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

LAMESA, June 6. — Belief that Jimmie Hurst, 17, who died here Friday morning from a gunshot wound in his head, was the victim of an accident, was expressed here today by members of his family and a number of his friends.

The youth was found lying on the floor of his room by his mother, Mrs. Charles Hurst, Friday morning in a dying condition. A .22 calibre bullet had pierced his brain. The small rifle was on the floor near him. A coroner's verdict had not been returned late today.

AMARILLO, June 6. — Amarillo's gas fight came to a sudden and unexpected end Saturday afternoon when a compromise settlement was made with the Amarillo Gas company. Under terms of the settlement, the city is to withdraw its condemnation suit to acquire the local plant, the gas company agreed to a 27-cent maximum rate and to make the new rate schedule a part of its franchise and is to relieve the city of contracts which had been made for a gas supply and for the sale of bonds to finance a city-owned plant.

The compromise followed a week of negotiations.

Victory Is Claimed

The gas company had refused to incorporate the new rates in its franchise until Saturday, Mayor Ernest Thompson declared, when a large industrial user was connected up with the city's line which had been extended into the business district recently.

Mayor Thompson considered the settlement as an outstanding victory for the city.

Purchase Pipeline

The gas company purchased the Huber Petroleum company's pipeline through which the city was securing its supply and made a private settlement with brokerage houses which had contracted to buy

Expansion Of Ocean And Air Mail Lines Is Recommended

Postmaster General Brown In Address Declares Expenditures Should Be Made For National Security

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 6. — Continued government expenditures for air and ocean ship mail lines as measures of national defense, was recommended tonight by Postmaster General Brown.

At the same time he urged additional construction of government buildings to house the activities of the post office department as a means of reducing operating expenses.

Discusses Problems

Discussing the special problems of his department in an address over the Washington Star radio forum, the postmaster general said government aid was necessary for development of a marchant marine and an economically independent aviation industry which would keep this country abreast of other world powers.

Brown added the department now is expending about $17,000,000 a year in aiding air mail lines, but that "it is not correct to regard this expenditure simply as a loss in one phase of postal operations."

Must Keep Abreast

"It is an expenditure made for national security, which all of us believe is in large measure dependent upon our keeping abreast of the other great nations of the world in the field of aviation," he

Catholic priests were accused in the broadcast of "black ingratitude" to Fascism, which, it said, "guarantees religious liberty."

German Taxes Again Raised For Payments

Manifesto Is Issued Stating That Economic Recovery Of World Depends On Payment Of German Reparations

(By Associated Press)

BERLIN, June 6. (AP)—The German government, decreeing today new taxes totaling approximately $400,000,000 upon its people described the measure as "one last effort" and declared that the financial position of the country "calls imperatively for alleviation of the unbearable reparations obligations."

The decrees promulgating the new taxes, left behind by Chancellor Heinrich Bruening as he departed for the Anglo-German conference at London, were published today by President Paul Von Hindenburg. With their publication, the government issued a manifesto which sought both to explain to the people the necessity for the additional taxes and also to apprise Germany's creditors of the financial situation which the country has reached.

Need Is Cited

The manifesto referred specifically to the "imperative" need for a modification of the reparations.

"The economic recovery of the world depends upon it too," the manifesto declared. "The German nation is engaged in a decisive struggle for its future."

Marks Fourth Time

It was the fourth time in twelve months that the economy axe has fallen in Germany. Today's decree affect incomes and earnings and impose additional taxes on sugar, tobacco and petroleum, which even the drawers of the dole are also made to feel its pinch.

Gruesome Tale Of Death Is Told By Butcher Slayer; Fragments Located

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, June 6.—A trail of human fragments disclosing a new Brooklyn "butcher murder" led tonight to the door of young Charles Obietes and past him to the widow of the murdered man, Lena Zubenski.

Obietes confessed today that he slew Andrew Zubenski, speakeasy owner, dismembered the body and over a period of two days disposed of the parts in various sections of the city. He said the crime was done at the urge of Mrs. Zubenski and he was paid $300 for doing it.

The motive, Obietes told police, was Mrs. Zubenski's fear that her husband intended to return to Cleveland, O., where they lived until eight years ago, and "tell" about the death of her first husband, Adam Vilentis.

Obietes fixed the date of the slaying as March 28.

He pointed out the lot where the body was dismembered and then collapsed.

Zubenski in 1923 was bar tender for Mrs. Zubenski's first husband, Vilentis, in Cleveland. On May 23, 1922, Vilentis' body was found in his back yard. He had been killed with an ax blow. Zubenski and Vilentis'

City Planning Topic Will Be Feature Of League Of Texas Municipalities Meeting Here

John E. Surrat Of Dallas, And Major E. A. Wood Are To Speak On Subject; To Be Of Interest Here

WHEN John E. Surratt, secretary of the Kessler Plan association of Dallas, addresses the League of Texas Municipalities at its annual convention here next week, it will be the second time he has spoken on city planning here in three years. Mr. Surratt is scheduled to speak the morning of the second day on "The Growth of City Planning in Texas."

Major E. A. Wood, Dallas city planning engineer, will speak the first morning, on "City Planning, Zoning, and Parks."

Commission Busy Here

The two addresses on city planning will be of particular interest to Lubbock, which through its City Commission March 12 appointed a city plan commission. The permanent planning group succeeded a board of city development city-plan committee which made a report after conferences here with Gardner S. Rogers, city planning expert attached to the United States Chamber of Commerce at Washington, D .C.

When Mr. Surratt spoke here June 27, 1928, he showed pictures taken in Lubbock of good and bad examples of city planning.

To Show Pictures

Those pictures and new ones of changes at points he stamped as hazardous or unsightly probably will be used by the Kessler plan representatives in his appearance here this month, attaches of the chamber of commerce here said.

Only four of the nine bad examples of city planning cited by Mr. Surratt here three years ago have been changed, it was said at the chamber of commerce.

The changes were at railroad crossings at Avenue H and Broadway, hazards being removed by underpasses; a junk-heap adjacent to railroad and highway, since eliminated, and shacks next to a modern building immediately south of the square, replaced by an up-to-date building.

Those Remain Unchanged

Those which remain unchanged are:

A high hedge which is a traffic hazard, narrowing of Main street from 72 feet to 60 feet and then to 30 feet in the residential section, an unnecessary turn at Avenue X and Sixteenth street, roughness of leaveouts which meet—leaveouts being on opposite sides—on Sixteenth street, and lack of pavement in center of Broadway.

Pictures furnished Mr. Surratt of creditable planning were of:

City park and Tumble-N swimming pool, the courthouse, Texas Technological college administration building, a street scene, Myrick building, a row of attractive homes on Sixteenth street, a row of homes on Nineteenth street showing building-line and deep-set lawns, Baker building having artistic front-affect at conservative cost, Lubbock sanitarium, West Texas hospital, City hall, and Lubbock hotel.

Lynn County Women Make 494 Pounds Of American Cheese

TAHOKA, June 6. (Special)—Thirty-seven home demonstration club women of Lynn county have made 494 pounds of American Cheese recently, according to Miss Ei Fleda Harrison, agent. Valuing the cheese at 40 cents per pound, which amounts to $197.60, makes a profit of $121.52 on the operation for these 37 women. But, whatever the profit is figured, these women have added to their pantries and saved their pocket books.

Police Arrest Eighty-Two In Month Of May

Traffic Violators Total 114; Thefts And Break-Ins Are Reported To Be Numerous; $826 Paid In Fines

Eighty-two arrests not including traffic summonses were made by the Lubbock police department and $826 was collected in corporation court fines in May, according to the monthly report of Chief of Police John Lemond.

A total of 114 traffic law violators was recorded, 138 persons were permitted to sleep at police headquarters, and 192 meals were served to prisoners in May, the police chief reported.

Thefts Are Numerous

Although not listed in the police department report, newspaper stories substantiated by police records show in an incomplete compilation that at least nine break-ins, seven automobile thefts, theft of nearly seventy chickens, a dozen different cases of other thefts, and two attempted burglaries occurred in the city limits in May.

Break-ins in which loot was obtained included those at two drug stores, a railway freight car, a grocery, a residence, a sandwich shop, a pool hall, a filling station, and a private garage. Attempts were made at a drug store and a grocery store.

Records Not Complete

Several of the thefts listed under "other thefts" were break-ins, although records were not complete enough to determine how many were of that class.

Arrests of two youths by Chief of Police John Lemond halted a string of chicken thefts in the city. Three youths wanted at Amarillo for automobile theft were arrested by police here. At least three of the six automobiles reported stolen in Lubbock were recovered.

One case of evident suicide occurred here in May, although a formal verdict never was announced.

Other high points were razing of a vacant house at 1010 Nineteenth street by fire believed of incendiary origin, frustration of an attempted break of seven prisoners from the city jail into which hacksaw blades had been smuggled, and kidnaping of a Technological college student by upper classmen.

Made 67 Wagon Calls

Police found and reported nine doors open in May, made 67 wagon-calls for prisoners, received reports of four missing persons, and two were found here. Chief of Police Lemond's report shows.

Of the 82 arrests apart from traffic summonses, 28 were for drunkeness, 20 for vagrancy, 7 each for fighting and investigation, 6 each for theft and disturbance, 5 for gambling, 2 for assault, and one for forgery.

Persons violating two-hour parking rules led in receiving traffic tickets, 77 being summoned. Seventeen were docketed for illegal parking, 6 each for all-night parking and speeding, 3 each for over-running stop-lights and making left turns, and one each for over running stop-signs and double parking.

Ninety-three Texans were given sleeping accomodations at the police station. Oklahomans totaled 12, New Mexicans 9, and Arkansans 7. Others of the 138 sleepers represented Kansas, Wisconsin, Pennsylvania, Ohio, California Wyoming, Michigan, North Carolina, and South Carolina.

Wilbarger County Expecting Excellent Wheat Harvest

VERNON, June 6. (Special)—Barring disasters, Wilbarger county farmers will harvest the best crop of wheat and oats this season that they have had within several years. E. L. Pattillo. Local labor will be amply able to meet the harvest needs, he said.

It is estimated the county will produce about 400,000 bushels of oats and 250,000 to 300,000 bushels of wheat.

SHERWIN-WILLIAMS PAINT HEADQUARTERS

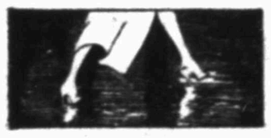

"Specify Sherwin-Williams Varnishes and hire a good painter."

A RAPID DRYING DURABLE VARNISH FOR FLOORS

SHERWIN-WILLIAMS FAST-DRI MAR-NOT VARNISH

An extreme test for a varnished floor. Yes, but we all like to do it. It takes a tough varnish like Mar-not to keep "good-time" floors presentable.

When you feel the urge to save a few cents and buy a can of cheaper varnish, ask yourself: "Can I really afford anything LESS than Mar-not quality, service and durability?" No, you can't. You can really use and enjoy a beautiful floor finished with Mar-not. Scuffing doesn't ruin a Mar-not floor as it does a cheap varnish.

Kiddies are hard on floors. Mar-not comes nearest to being play-proof of any finish we know.

A WARNING AGAINST DELAY.....

At this very moment, building costs are touching bottom. They are lower than they have been since 1916. Materials and labor are over-abundant, immediately available. But the picture is certain to change. Already, in other fields, the price level is beginning to rise. Soon the Buyers' Market in Building will be at an end.

The return to Normalcy will mean regrets to those who delayed building. Therefore, we urge you, in all sincerity, to take advantage of existing conditions and build your own home.

We shall be happy to furnish you with blue-prints, estimates, and plans for easy financing, without obligation to you. While a home is within reach, BUILD.

Texas Tech To Open Summer Term Tuesday; Large Enrollment Expected

Two Sessions Of Six Weeks Are Offered

Attendance Indications Are Equal To Past Summer's Total; Registration To Be Held Tuesday

LARGE enrollment in Texas Technological college is expected for the summer session, which begins Tuesday, according to Dr. P. W. Horn, president of the school.

Dr. Horn said he had been advised by E. L. Dohoney, registar, that advance reservations compared favorably with the number received for the corresponding session last year, when 1315 students were enrolled.

Registration Tuesday

Registration for the session will be Tuesday, beginning at 8 o'clock. Classes will start Wednesday morning.

Entrance examinations will be given Monday and Tuesday at the college.

For the accomodation of those who cannot devote their entire summer to study, but who desire college credit, the summer session has been divided into two terms of six weeks each. The first term will begin June 9 and will end July 18. The second term will begin July 20 and close August 27. Classes will meet five times a week, from Tuesday to Saturday, inclusive. Students may enter for either term or for both terms, officials of the school said.

Entire Plant Available

The entire college plant will be available for use during the summer session. Many of the regular members of the faculty, assisted by visiting specialists of recognized standing will offer regular and specialized courses.

More than 250 courses, of which 100 are advanced, will be offered during the session. The college is endeavoring in a very definite way to meet the needs of persons who wish to complete work for the master's degree, it was said. About 25 men and women holding Ph. D. degrees will give courses during the summer term.

Enrollment Increases

Proof of the increasing popularity of the Technological college summer school may be gained by the enrollment figures. 1925, 336 students; 1927, 677 students; 1928, 965 students; 1929, 1298 students; 1930, 1315 students.

The summer school committee is composed of the J. M. Gordon, dean of the college of liberal arts, chairman; A. W. Evans, professor of education, and J. C. Granbury, professor of history.

Plans Are Announced

To avoid delay in registering Mr. Dohoney has requested all prospective students who have not been enrolled this year to report in alphabetical order according to the first letter of their family name as follows: 8 a. m. to 9 a. m.—A and B; 9 a. m. to 10 a. m.—C-D; 10 a. m. to 11 a. m.—E-F-G-H; 11 a. m. to 12—I-J-K-L; 1:30 p. m. to 2:30 p. m.—M-N-O; 2:30 p. m. to 3:30 p. m.—P-Q-R; 3:30 p. m. to 4:30 p. m.—S-T-U; 4:30 p. m. to 5:30 p. m.—V-W-X-Y-Z.

Agriculture, engineering and home economics students enrolled in school during the long session of 1930-31 are to report to their respective buildings disregarding the alphabetical order.

Should Have Examination

All students should have their required physical examinations before the hour set for registration, Mr. Dohoney said. All students who have received their entrance cards may call at the Lubbock sanitarium Monday between 9 a. m. and 5 p. m. for their physical examinations. Physical examinations may be taken in Room P, basement of Chemistry building during registration. Students who have had physical examinations by the college physician since September 1, 1930, are not required to take examination for the summer registration.

Well, He Was Leading The Witness

(By The Associated Press)

HOUSTON, June 6.—The negro defendant, acting as his own attorney, was examining a negro prosecution witness.

An answer from the witness displeased "counsel."

"Humph!" glaring.

"Humph!" said the witness, glaring right back.

"Your honor," said Assistant District Attorney William Wiseheart, rising:

"I object to the defendant leading the witness."

"Objection sustained," said the court.

Watch Your Diet, Drink Only Water And Milk That's Pure And You Have Nothing To Fear, Says Health Chief

PERSONS who watch their diet, drink only pure water and milk have little to fear from typhoid germs during the summer months, Dr. J. W. Rollo, city health officer said yesterday.

While typhoid is more or less a disease foreign to the Panhandle under present living conditions, precautions should be taken to ward off any possibilities of contracting the ailment, he said. Only one or two typhoid cases were recorded here last year.

Precautions Listed

Precautions listed by Dr. Rollo were:

"First, be sure your drinking water is free from contamination. Many wells and ponds spread typhoid germs. If you are not sure about the water you use, boil it."

Regular tests are taken of the city water supply as a safeguard. The city supply is free from contamination, he said.

"Next, know where your milk supply comes from. Be sure it is handled carefully and under sanitary conditions. Impure milk is one of the greatest carriers of disease."

Eat Balanced Meals

"Finally, watch your diet. Eat well balanced meals and avoid spoiled meats and vegetables. It is much harder to keep foods fresh during the warm summer months and extra precaution should be exerted. Spoiled foods cause many intestinal troubles and weaken the system to such extent that typhoid may follow easily."

The past year has been an unusually healthful one for Lubbock, Dr. Rollo said.

There have been less communicable diseases here during the last 12 months than during any corresponding period since I have been a resident of Lubbock," he said. "The condition is due largely to extra precautions taken by the people of the city."

Two-year-old Jean Gibson recently traveled unaccompanied from Canada to London to visit her grandmother.

Tech Grads To Get Positions

Unemployment Will Not Have A Place In Ranks Of Grads From Department Of Animal Husbandry Here

There'll be no unemployment among the graduates of the department of animal husbandry of the Tech school of agriculture, according to information given out by W. L. Stangel, head of the department.

Of the seven students graduating in the department, everyone will go into employment directly after receiving his diploma. Three of the boys, Percy Powers of Perryton, Bruce Parks of Clifton and Hal D. Yoder of Snyder are returning to take over active management of their father's farms and nearby land.

W. E. Roane of Valley View is to be in charge of a pure bred Hereford herd in Arizona.

Colonel Sparkman of Bonham is assuming a position as manager of a 1,400 acre diversified farm near Olney.

T. W. Giddings of Snyder is to be in charge of a local hog farm which will develop breeding and marketing Hampshire hogs.

T. J. Harris of Clifton is contemplating part ownership in a 2,000-acre farm near Sudan.

All of the above students were members of the college stock judging teams in the past year. Powers, Parks, Yoder, Sparkman and Harris were on the international team which competed at Chicago while the others took part in the intercollegiate contests at Fort Worth.

Tax Figures To Be Totaled In Next Week

Final Papers Are Prepared For Checking By County Equalization Board; Ellis Sees No Great Increase

Valuation figures for property in Lubbock county, both real and personal, for 1931, are expected to be completed within the next week or ten days, A. B. Ellis, county tax assessor, says.

Mr. Ellis and his deputy in the office are preparing the final papers for checking by the county equalization board. As soon as these are completed it is expected that the board will meet and go over the reports.

Within a few days it is believed the final reports can be made public.

Mr. Ellis does not anticipate a great increase in totals. There will be some, due to the new construction work completed in Lubbock during the past year, he explained. Little change in farm totals is expected, there being little or no increase in buildings on farms during the past year.

Vacation rates for idle residence telephones

One solution (provided you're planning a vacation of 30 days or more) is to place your telephone on vacation half-rates while you are away.

It's a convenient way to save money. And — this to folks who sometimes have their telephones taken out — it spares you inconvenience on your return.

That's because:

1. You pay just half the regular rate.
2. Service is reconnected quickly after you return —usually within 24 hours after you notify us.
3. You keep your present telephone number. (You'd lose it if you had your telephone removed!)
4. Your name remains in the telephone book.

If you wish, while you are away we will refer your calls to another telephone—that of relatives, for instance.

Vacation rates are available for periods of more than 30 days. They apply only to residence telephones — not to business or rural service. To obtain them, mail the coupon below or telephone the business office of the telephone company.

Connolly Given Commanding Job

Thomas H. Connolly, dean of the American league umpires, will end his active career of more than 30 years, June 17, with his appointment as chief of the staff of the junior circuit's arbiters by William Harridge, president of the American league. In his new capacity, Connolly will supervise the umpires, act as an advisor to Harridge on game rules and scout the minor leagues for future major league umpires.

Local Men To Push Work Of Pro Baseball

More Than Half Of Stock Has Been Sold; Amarillo, Pampa And Clovis Reported Ready; Season Postponed Week

Apparently realizing that nothing will come of hopes to establish a professional baseball club here as a unit of a Class D organization unless they "get into action" a number of Lubbock business men will endeavor Monday and Tuesday to clinch a place among the towns that have already declared themselves ready for the season's kick off, or whatever it is that opens baseball seasons.

These men, high standing in the community, together with Harry Wanderling, a former big league associate and one of the founders of the proposed Panhandle Professional Baseball league, will attempt to sell the remaining stock in the organization to be known as the Lubbock Baseball association. More than half the stock has been sold, Wanderling said yesterday, and it would require very little concentrated effort and time, he believed, to dispose of the remaining shares.

Three Clubs Ready

According to reports considered here as authoritative, Amarillo, Pampa and Clovis, N. M., are ready for business, their clubs awaiting the high sign from the managers to begin practice. There is an abundance of interest in the northern Panhandle. The clubs are ready to let contracts for the lighting of parks, night baseball to be played entirely with the exception of Sunday nights.

It is thought by those "in the know" that business here will pick up in regard to the establishment of the club, many members of which are already here. Wanderling will manage the team, but he, and the league officials, including President J. Alvin Gardner, president of the Texas League, desire that local men take over the franchise and own the team, leaving the sole management to the elected manager, all of whom shall work on a salary basis. Wanderling owns the franchise for the local club but will turn it over to a man or group of men who should desire it when financial obligations have been met.

Players Arrive Here

Thirteen ball players of more or less professional experience and a non-playing manager, otherwise the player limit, are ready to start training and playing here.

President Gardner has called a meeting of all league officials and of all potential franchise holders and other parties interested in the promotion of the league at Amarillo next Wednesday, according to a telegram received here yesterday. At that time it is expected that each of the four teams will be ready and waiting to begin the season. A schedule for the season probably will be drawn up and accepted.

Each team will play one hundred games during the season, which will begin on Wednesday, June 17, provided each team comes through with their pro rata financial obligations. Fifty games will be played at home, with double-headers scheduled for two outstanding days, and fifty away.

Bill Joyce, of Alabama, running the 440-yard dash in 49 seconds flat, set a new record for the southern conference.

Amateur Team Returns Game With Amarillo

First Game Carded For Two O'Clock At Metro Park In Amarillo; Willis Knight And Baize Local Hurlers

Ready to stake their good record against a pair of ball games the Lubbock Hubbers leave early today for Amarillo where they meet the Aviators of Gib Jackson in a double header at Metro Park this afternoon. The first game is slated to start at 2 o'clock.

Manager Waller is taking along four pitchers and a pair of catchers in addition to his regular lineup in an effort to stretch the number of victories over the Amarillo club to three straight. In a 13-inning affair here at Merrill Park two weeks ago today the Hubbers won their first triumph over Jackson's nine, thereby inspiring the latter to live for a chance for revenge and give the Hubbers another mark to shoot at.

With Del Morgan at first, Hodges at second, Breedlove at shortstop and Red Gaither at third, a formidable infield looms before the Aviators today. The outfield will consist of Raymond Marshall, Ed Hambright and Manager Waller.

Galey probably will catch the opening game, and Shaw, former Texas League catcher with Beaumont, will be reserved for the night cap. Shaw has come here to play with Lubbock in the Panhandle League.

Knight To Start

Willis Knight, formerly a pitcher for Lubbock in the old West Texas league and a first stringer on one of the East Texas League teams until that organization became defunct a few weeks ago, probably will hurl the opening game. He pitched for Lubbock against Lamesa last Sunday, giving up five clean hits. Baize, whose pitching for Lubbock last week defeated the Amherst club, Ray Waller, with the Hubbers last year at first base and on the mound, and Pressley, local hurler, will do the hill work for the Hubbers today.

AVIATORS SEEK REVENGE

AMARILLO, June 6. (Special) — With the Lubbock Hubbers coming to Amarillo Sunday with an undefeated record for the season, the Aviators will take the field at Metro Park to break that record and to even an old score. The Hubbers recently defeated the air men at the South Plains city in a game that went for 13 innings, the Hubbers finally winning 11 to 10.

And the locals will have two games in which to get their revenge. The two teams meet at Metro Park in a double header in what has been termed as "bargain day" games. Fans will be admitted for both games for the price usually charged for one.

The first game is scheduled to start at 2 o'colck and there will be no delay. Fans who come to see the second game only will be charged full price. The games are expected to draw the largest crowd assembled this year for diamond encounters here.

Ward Winner Of Marathon Event

HOUSTON, June 6. Fred Ward, the Millrose A. C. star from Dover, N. J., retained his championship today in the second annual 20-mile national A. A. U. marathon, but trailed James Butler's Questionyear.

Ward ran it today in two hours, ten minutes, 56.2 seconds, and in 1930 he made it in two hours, 12 seconds.

J. A. Vickery, of Tuscola, Texas, unattached, was second in 2 hours, 47 minutes, 37.4 seconds, and M. Domigan of Rice Institute, Houston, the third and last finisher, had the time of 2 hours, 51 minutes 31.4 seconds.

Ed Thompson of Cameron, Texas, unattached, made a great start and led from the second through the fifth mile, but here Ward stepped out and never was headed.

Third Choice Horse Wins Suburban Handicap Over Turf Prides Of East, West

NEW YORK, June 6.—The turf prides of the east and west went down to defeat today as Harry F. Sinclair's Mokatam, 6-1 third choice, won the 45th running of the Suburban handicap at Belmont Park.

Only a head away in second place failed to equal his time of last naire, the 3 to 5 favorite and generally rated as the eastern handicap titleholder. Far to the rear in last place followed the Audley Farm's Gallant Knight, Western Champion which was virtually left at the post. In between ran Rap Parr's Her Grace in third place and W. R. Coe's Polydorus in fourth.

The purse was $11,200.

The 16th annual Mississippi state golf tournament will be played at Jackson, June 9 to 13.

SPYING ON SPORTS

Collier Parris

WELDON "CHAPPO" CHAPMAN, head coach-elect at Lubbock High school, returned to Lubbock this week-end, like the mountain-climbing bear, to see what he could see. He did not bring any former all-state backfield men from Cisco High with him, nor did he collect any potential football material, a la Pampa, en route. But there's time to go after them before fall training.

Chapman appears pretty well pleased over his prospects here next year. So would we be pleased, with the addition of a couple of backfield aces and a pair of linemen to the standing club. Meanwhile Amarillo and Pampa are reported, just reported, we said, you trouble maker, to be "movin' 'em in by the families." Chapman says "let 'em go to it," and "let's get a few for ourselves." Power to you, Chap, and may the whistle blow only after the last man has bitten the dust, or bitten something else.

SOMEBODY, somewhere has evidently been talking through his hat or someone else has jumped to a conclusion which we have been trying to reach for several weeks. A report, presumably an authoritative one, comes from Amarillo via the sport page columns of our esteemed friend, one Jerry Malin, that Pampa, Amarillo and Lubbock are ready and waiting for the opening games of the Panhandle Professional Baseball league.

And all the time, in an effort to stir up civic pride or whatever it takes to put over a project of this kind, we have been saying that Amarillo, Pampa and Clovis are ready, and waiting on Lubbock. The Amarillo broadcast has it that the difficulty in getting started rests with the Clovis entry.

We thought we had it straight that Clovis was champing the bit, ready to let contracts for the lighting of its park and anxious to get going. We read a telegram from J. J. (Honest John) McCloskey, founder of the league, dated from Clovis in which he said one man was willing to take over the franchise there and finance the club through its early days. Now comes a late report that smashes the former one and alleges that Lubbock is ready.

Would that the latter were true and that Lubbock's money had been posted. The team is here, or a large part of it, ready to begin training. All that's lacking is a little more than a thousand dollars. More than half the money required for starting the club in the league has been raised and we are impatiently awaiting the subscribing of the remaining sum.

Jerry has apparently been gathering his news through the feeble efforts of the imaginable Mike, whom he compares with the main squeeze of this department by stating that both of us aspire to become sports writers, It must be nice to have an accomplice in crime, mythical though he may be, upon whom one can suspend the results of haywire notions and typewriter keys.

IT is less than a month until the world's heavyweight boxing championship problem is due to be settled between Champion Schmeling of Germany and Challenger Stribling of Georgia. The Naitonal Enterprise association service has asked sports writers whose papers use the service to express an opinion as to the outcome of the battle in Cleveland July 3. We picked a daisy and Stribling won.

In making our reply to the NEA sports editor we urged that steps be taken to explain to the Texas Legislative bodies the absence of brutality in prize fights now and try to get the game reinstated as a legal sport in the Lone Star state.

In former days when fighters spent the greater part of the day trying to figure some way to hit each other there might have been cause for men of social falsetto calibre to turn their eyes in horror when a previously planned blow landed on a stubborn ear, but since ring contenders have become so chummy and apologetic in and out of the ring there is little to fear of bloodshed. To use an expression befitting the ramblings of Col. Joe O'Goofly, author of "Ptomaine Poisoning of Pens" and "Mustard Baths for Flagpole Sitters," a prize fighter used to train by threatening his opponent all day and spending the evening scowling at his adversary's picture. Now they play hearts together and enjoy pleasant little chats about the probable size of the gate.

All Lubbock Golfers Eligible To Play In Tournament

The annual city open golf championship for Lubbock golfers will be held over the Meadowbrook and Country Club courses here on Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, beginning June 17, it was learned yesterday after a conference between officials of the two golf clubs.

Bill McMillan, owner and manager of the Meadowbrook Golf club, and Jo Dick Slaughter, one of the directors of the Lubbock Country club, will direct the tournament, having been appointed as a committee.

Qualifying play in the tournament, which is open to all Lubbock golfers, regardless of club membership here or elsewhere or lack of it, will begin on Wednesday morning, June 1, and continue through Thursday. All qualifying play will be held at the Meadowbrook course.

Match Play On Friday

Match play for the first, second and third flight players will start on Friday at the Country club course and continue through Sunday, final rounds scheduled for Sunday morning and afternoon.

The fourth flight players will play on the same days at the Meadowbrook course.

It is thought that more than 100 golfers will enter the qualifying rounds. It is hoped that many more than that number will play, since one is not required to be a member, either active or associate, of either of the clubs in order to be eligible for play.

Neck and Gizzard Play

The Lubbock Country club is planning to stage its annual "neck and gizzard" tournament next Sunday, a week from today. Details have not been worked out concerning the tournament but will be announced later this week. Like the city open, it will be open to all Lubbock golfers, no club membership being necessary.

The Meadowbrook club plans to hold an invitation tournament for golfers in surrounding towns of the South Plains at an early date, definite announcements to be made later.

Rain Interferes In British Open Golf Joust For Women

PORTMARNOCK, Ireland, June 6. (AP)—Rain stymied most of the competitors on the first qualifying round of the British women's open golf championship today, driving a number to shelter and generally playing havoc with scores, but it could not mar the brilliance of Enid Wilson, former titleholder.

Miss Wilson shot a spectacular 75 with Wanda Morgan trailing in second place with 80 and Maureen Orcutt, American threat to the title, third with 82. Miss Wilson shot her great round in the rain.

Marrow Goes Route To Pitch Loop Leading Shippers To 7-2 Win Over Buffs; Carleton Gets Good Support

(By Associated Press)

BEAUMONT, Tex., June 6—The Exporters tightened their hold on first place by defeating the Buffs 9-2 for the second time in two days. Buck Marrow, whose efforts heretofore have largely been confined to relief work, traveled the route. Marrow gave up ten hits but was tight in the pinches and only allowed one earned run. Tex Carleton, the league's strike out leader, was given flawless support but timely hitting by the locals proved his downfall.

Mile Race In 4:15 Features New York A. C. Field Meet

NEW YORK, June 6. (AP) — A smashing 4:15 mile by Lee Lermond, former Boston A. A. middle distance ace, furnished the one outstanding event on the New York A. C. track and field meet program at Travers Island today. Scratches of several stars, including most of the Stanford athletes, robbed the meet of many of its expected thrills.

Lermond, running unattached, cracked a 36-year old record when he crossed the finish line in the mile in four minutes 15 seconds flat to beat Gene Venzke of New York by several yards. The Travers Island record was set at 4:18 2-5 by Tommy Connors, Irish ace, in 1895.

Cedar Crest Golfer Wins By Score Of 7 And 6, Shooting Par-Breaking Golf In Final Rounds At Dallas

BY BILL PARKER
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

BROOK HOLLOW COUNTRY CLUB, DALLAS, June 6.— Gus Moreland, 18-year old Cedar Crest (Dallas) Country club golfer, holds several minor invitation golf championships, but he caught the king of them all in Texas golfdom when he defeated Reynolds Smith, Dallas Lakewood Country club, 7 and 6 here today to win the 1931 Texas golf association tournament, and Moreland is one of the youngest players ever to hold Texas' major golf title. Not only did Moreland defeat Smith, but the Cedar Crest ace conquered the difficult par 70 Brook Hollow Country club course this morning with a 35-33-68 which let him finish the initial 18 holes against Smith, four up.

Moreland now holds the state championship, the Houston Country club invitation, the Ranger Country club invitation, Mineral Wells Country club invitation and the River Crest Country club invitation titles.

Today made his third major tournament match against Reynolds Smith, and in each match, Moreland has won an overwhelming score.

Unlike most final championship matches, the finals uncovered some of the finest golf shots of the entire five days of the tournament. Although he lost by a top-heavy score, Smith shot beautiful golf that would have won most any championship setto, but not against

Trojans Smash Record Total With 77½ Points; Nearest Opponent Is Ohio State, With 31½ Points

BY CHARLES DUNKLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

STAGG FIELD, CHICAGO, June 6.—Athletes of the University of Southern California swept into the National Collegiate Athletic association track and field championship today with a record smashing total of 77 1-2 points.

The Trojans, victorious in all their track and field battles this season, won overwhelmingly. Their nearest rival was Ohio State which scored 31 1-7 points, with Illinois third with 28.

The Californians, winners of the championship a year ago, hung up a new high point record today, eclipsing the previous record of 72 points established by Leland Stanford in 1929. The Trojans scored in eleven of the 15 events, winning four championships and tying for another.

The meet resulted in two record-breaking performances despite wretched conditions. The cinder path was heavy due to an all night rain and the field was soggy and slippery. All afternoon a mist and fog hung over Stagg Field.

The Southern Californians won championships in the 100-yard dash and the 440-yard dash, on the track; the shot put and discus in the field and tied for the pole vault in the air.

Texans who placed in the events were E. Gray, Abilene Christian, sixth in the 880 yard run, and Percy Burk, Rice Institute, sixth in the shot put.

Of Texas schools entered, Rice Institute and Abilene Christian won one point each.

Bespectacled Japanese Finds Opening On Mat; Given Big Support By Bugs In Attack On Reynolds' Title

By NEA Service

CINCINNATI, O., June 6.—By day a bespectacled young Japanese student, Yaseiji M. Fujita, mingles unobstrusively with college of liberal arts faculty and students at the University of Cincinnati. At night the Japanese wrestler and jiu-jitsu artist, Iota Shima, surprises large audiences of mat fans with his ability in American catch-as-catch-can methods.

When Fujita, the student, changes to gym outfit, he becomes Shima, the wrestler, who has twice challenged Jack Reynolds, welterweight wrestling champion. More than 5000 persons recently saw the Reynolds-Shima match here, which the Japanese challenger lost after threatening Reynolds' title for more than 30 minutes.

Fujita, who selected Shima as his professional name "because Fujita was too complicated," carries a full study schedule, specializing in sociology. He attended Pasadena (Calif.) College three years and was graduated in 1925 from the law department of Meiji University, Tokio, his birthplace.

IOTA SHIMA

While in college at Tokio he was captain of the jiu-jitsu team. When 16 he won the Japanese intermediate jui-jitsu championship. Two years later he won the intercollegiate, and in 1925 was acclaimed international jiu-jitsu champion, a title he relinquished to another only by default, since he left Japan for America before the next annual contest. He has never lost a jiu-jitsu match.

Although twice defeated by Reynolds, Fujita hopes to challenge him a third time in the fall, after a rigorous training period in California this summer.

Harvey Hendrick New National Loop Swat Leader; Athletics' Batteries Come Through; Fuss Leads In Texas

(By Associated Press)

CHICAGO, June 6. — Connie Mack's favorite battery, "Lefty" Grove and Mickey Cochrane, is making good gain in a grand and glorious way in the American League.

Tabulation of the unofficial average after Wednesday's games placed both of them ahead of all competitors. Grove led the pitchers with a dazzling record of nine victories and one defeat; Cochrane topped the hitting with an even .600 average.

During the seventh week of campaigning, Grove was called on to pitch 23 innings for the Athletics and came through by adding three more victories to his chain. So far this season, the ace of Connie Mack's staff has allowed but 62 hits in 84 innings and has struck out 54 victims. Right behind him was Rube Walberg, his pitching mate, who captured two more games during the week to hoist his record to eight victories and one setback.

Al Simmons' Slumps

Most of the front runners in the league batting derby slumped during the week, notably Al Simmons, who fell from first to fifth with an average of .372. Cochrane's average dropped from .407 to .400, but it was good enough to give him the lead by 14 points over the surprising Oscar Melillo of the Browns, who hiked his average during the week from .341 to .386 largely through his string of eight consecutive hits. Other leaders were Ruth, New York, .384; Averill, Cleveland, .374; Webb, Boston, .368; Cronin, Washington, .359; Fothergill, Chicago, .356; Morgan, Cleveland, .356 and Porter, Cleveland, .353.

Cleveland Retains Lead

Cronin horded most of the other individual batting honors. He led in hits for most total bases with 109, in triples with seven, in runs batted in with 46 and tied Averill, and Combs of the Yankees with his total of 65 safe hits. Webb led the field with his 23 doubles; Ruth, of the Yankees, and Simmons and Foxx of the Athletics had nine home runs apiece, while Chapman of the Yankees was the leading base stealer of the league with 13 thefts to his credit.

No changes were recorded in team leaderships. Cleveland retained its lead in team batting with a .311 average, the same as a week ago and the Athletics continued to lead in defense with a .963 average or three points less than a week ago. Detriot had a record of 46 double plays.

New York had scored against it. The leading run scorer of the circuit after Wednesday was Max Bishop of the A's, who had crossed the plate 35 times despite his .272 batting average.

Buzz Arlett Drops To Second In National

NEW YORK, June 6. — Harvey Hendrick, Cincinnati's first baseman who started the season as utility player with Brooklyn, passed the mark of 100 times at bat which is now used to separate National League "regulars" from the other players last week and stepped into first place among the batters of the circuit.

Hendrick had recorded an average of .386 in this week's semi-official marks, which include Wednesday's games. This puts him two points ahead of Buzz Arlett of the Phillies, who is 20 points ahead of the new third place man, Charley Grimm of Chicago, who has a .364 average. Two more Cubs, Rogers Hornsby and Riggs Stephenson, are tied for fourth at .355. The list of the first ten regulars is completed by Whitney, Philadelphia, .348; Leach, New York, .345; Herman, Brooklyn, .343; Worthington, Boston, .342; and Davis, Philadelphia, .342.

Klein Leads Homers

Hendricks is a long way from threatening the leaders in the slugging department where Philadelphia's hard hitting pair, Arlett and Chuck Klein still hold sway. Klein tops the league in three respects with 44 runs, 13 homers and 39 runs batted in. Arlett, with a total of 61 hits that give him first place, is second with ten homers and 38 runs batted in. Rogers Hornsby has hit the most doubles, 13, putting him two up on another Philadelphia, Virgil Davis, Red Worthington of Boston has seven triples to lead George Watkins of St. Louis by one. Adam Comorosky of Pittsburgh continues to lead in base stealing with eight pilfered sacks.

With three men among the first ten individuals, the Chicago Cubs are well ahead in the club batting averages. They have a .301 mark. They also are tied with New York at .273 for the fielding lead.

Ed Brandt, Boston's mound ace, suffered his first defeat Tuesday but remains the recognized mound leader with eight victories against the one setback for a .889 average. Burleigh Grimes of St. Louis is close behind with seven games won and one lost. Paul Derringer, St. Louis, and Lester Sweetland, Chicago, still are unbeaten, each with four victories.

Spudder Ace Continues To Slug In Texas Loop

DALLAS, June 6. — The Texas League batting roster finds Fuss, Wichita Falls, at the top for the second successive week with an average of .364, with his team-mate, Buck Stanton, close in his wake with .356. The ten leading hitters:

Fuss, Wichita Falls, .364; Stanton, Wichita Falls, .356; Krause, Fort Worth, .349; Taylor, Beaumont, .346; Boroja, Beaumont, .346; Radcliff, Shreveport, .342; Higgins, Dallas, .339; Todd, Dallas, .336; Allday, Wichita Falls, .333; Peel, Houston, .330.

Other leaders: Runs — Schuble, Beaumont, 44; Stanton, Wichita Falls 41. Hits: Stanton, Wichita Falls, 72; Hock, Houston, 67. Doubles: Stanton, Wichita Falls, 19; Cotter, Dallas, 16. SAN ANTONIO, June 6. (AP)—Provision for an increase of 200 enlisted men at Randolph field and for the assignment of attached enlisted men to organizations at Kelly field and Brooks field has been made in a new recruiting allotment of air corps units in the Eighth Corps Area.

Under the new allotment the Sixty-seventh Service Squadron at Randolph field is increased from an authorized strength of 161 enlisted men to 249, and provision is made for the addition of 115 attached privates.

The Randolph field garrison will be increased about June 15 by the arrival of headquarters and headquarters squardon of the Air Corps Primary flying school and the Forty-seventh school squadron, each with 100 enlisted men, from March field, Calif.

An addition of 100 men to each of these squadrons is authorized upon arrival at Randolph field, bringing the three squadrons to a total of 649 men.

The changes make no difference in the number of enlisted men stationed at Kelly field, Brooks field and Dodd field.

Vacation Time Just Gives Your Coach Time To Plan For Next Year; Tech Coaches Leave Soon

Classes may be over; school may be out, but to your athletic coach vacation time is time for work that differs little in point of steady concentration and labor from the other nine months. The difference is mainly in the fact that they work by themselves, these coaches.

After brief vacations in Sherman and Dallas, where they will visit friends and kindred and perhaps spend a couple of days on the banks of an alleged fishing creek, Texas Tech's coaches—Pete Cawthon, Russell T. Smith and Del Morgan, will return to Lubbock to continue work toward making the approaching coaching school one of the most successful ever staged.

Coach Golightly, whose resignation from the Tech staff was announced last week, will vacation in central and south Texas before going to New York to become an instructor in the physical education department of Columbia University.

Summer school athletics will be confined to tennis, golf and horseback riding, though the thud of the pigskin may be heard later on as the coaching school gets under way.

And the coaches advise you through these columns to tell your coaching friends about the Jimmy Phelan-Wallace Wade coaching school to be held here August 3 to 15.

Educational Campaign For State Highway Bond Issue Planned

Highway Issue Likely May Be Given Changes

Proposal Dead As Far As 42nd Legislature Is Concerned; May Play Important Role In Next Election

AUSTIN, June 6.—The state highway bond issue, although dead as far as the 42nd legislature is concerned, is reported in political circles as far from being a dead issue.

Plans were being made by leading advocates of the plan, which calls for state bonds to retire outstanding county bonds issued for state highway construction and to speed up new construction, to carry on an educational campaign among the voters between now and the next session of the legislature in the belief that when the problem is better understood there will be less opposition.

Failed In House

The constitutional amendment to allow the state to issue bonds was passed by the senate but failed of submission four times in the house. On the last vote it received 97 votes, three short of the 100 required by the constitution. Had the full strength of the bond proponents been present when the vote was taken, the proposal would have been submitted to a popular vote. There were 102 members of the house pledged to the amendment but only 97 present the last time it was before the house.

Representative Hubbard of New Boston, joint author of the bond resolution and house floor leader, said he had not abandoned the fight for the amendment, claiming the more closely it was studied the more evident it became that it was the soundest highway construction policy upon which the state could embark.

Important Issue

The highway bond issue also was expected to play an important part in the next gubernatorial campaign should Governor R. S. Sterling again be a candidate for the office. Sterling's platform contained a highway bond issue plank in the first primary campaign. Bond issue opponents claimed Sterling abandoned this plank of his platform in the final heat and that the claim of proponents that it was a major issue in the campaign was exaggerated.

A state highway bond plank, however, was inserted in the state Democratic platform at the Galveston convention and bond advocates claimed this was a mandate to the legislature that required it to submit the proposal to a popular vote. Hubbard said he had no doubts about its being approved by the electorate in the event it was submitted. The plan has proved highly efficient in other states and would prove as efficient in Texas, Hubbard said.

To Change Form

The resolution probably will be introduced into the legislature at the next session in a changed form, although still carrying out the principles of the form in which it was submitted to previous legislatures.

As introduced at the past session the amendment would have provided for issuance of $112,000,000 to take up outstanding bonds and reimburse the counties for actual expenditures on state highways and $100,000,000 to accelerate new construction. The bonds would have been taken up from a sinking fund to be created out of gasoline tax receipts.

Opponents of the bond issue, however, claimed the opposite of that claimed by Hubbard, contending the bond issue movement was losing favor steadily and that if it had not been for the high-pressure methods used by proponents it would not have gained as much support as it did. One of the opponents estimated it would have received no more than 80 or 85 votes if submitted solely on its merits and without "swapping or horse trading."

They predicted a sufficient number of the "old guard" would return next session to block submission of the amendment.

The amendment cannot be submitted in a special session.

Describing the ocean mail as the "twin sister" of air mail, Brown said an efficient fleet of merchant ships under the American flag was "vital to commerce and industry in time of peace," and "indispensable to the national defense."

Texas Bluebonnet Now Has A Rival

AUSTIN, June 6. (AP)—The bluebonnet, Texas' official flower, has a rival.

Not only is the Phlox more widely distributed in Texas than the bluebonnet, but it is more famous, Dr. B. C. Tharp of the University of Texas maintains.

Dr. Tharp charged Texans utterly disregarded the little wild plant which grows in abundance throughout southern Texas, and thoughtlessly treat it as a weed.

More than a century ago, Dr. Tharp explained, Drummond, a Scotch botanist, was sent to Texas to collect phlox seeds for the Royal Botanical Gardens of England.

While in Florida Drummond contracted yellow fever, and died. As a tribute to him the Texas wild flower was named "Phlox Drummondii."

Sir Thomas Hooker, in describing the Texas Phlox, explained they were of two types, one being a bright red and the other a paler shade. At that time Hooker prophesied the Phlox would eventually become one of the world's most valued flowers.

German Taxes

is to come from supplementary taxes, including taxes on earned and unearned income.

Disabled Exempt

Only those totally disabled in the World War are exempt from the effects of the decrees. For those unemployed persons who participate in the dole, the preliminary period, necessary to elapse before they become entitled to assistance, is extended and the period during which relief is granted is shortened.

The supplementary income taxes will hit practically everybody living in Germany.

The manifesto issue with the tax decrees declared the government was under no illusions regarding the severity of the sacrifices to be demanded from the nation and individual hardships, it said, are unavoidable, but "it is better to take from those who have than to risk discovering some day that we cannot meet our liabilities. We have done everything possible to meet them, and have taken up much foreign capital, but this is no longer possible."

In countless German homes tonight domestic budgets were being revamped and the question of making both ends meet was being reviewed, often with anxiety. Every householder has been hard hit in the pocket and it seems doubtful whether the explanation offered actually made the ordinary citizen any more reconciled to his fate.

Practically all Berlin newspapers find fault, in one way or another, with the decrees.

Demands for revision of the Young plan immediately became more forceful and insistent. The press and public comment agreed the Young plan is the root of the trouble and that relief in some shape must be found from the reparations burdens if the country is to be saved.

Amarillo Boy Is Out For Honors

AMARILLO, June 6. (AP)—A 10-year-old Amarillo boy, Richard Hogan, is bidding for honors as America's most youthful organist.

This junior high school lad began taking lessons at the age of 8, when it was necessary for him to shift from one position to another on the bench and to stand on tiptoe to reach the upper keyboards of the big pipe organ. So rapidly has he progressed that his first public recital has been announced for June.

Richard's repertoire includes at at least a half dozen of the more difficult compositions. They express the opinion that his accomplishments have not been surpassed by any child not yet in the "teens."

"Richard is five or six years in advance of the average student," asserts John Josey, his instructor.

The boy's talent for music is not limited to the organ. He has been playing the piano for several years, and plays a cornet in a junior band when he can find time for rehearsals.

Scouting Will Open At Tech

Two Hours College Credit To Be Offered For New Course Which Will Be Held On Two Nights Each Week

Two hours college credit will be given to all students who successfully complete the scoutmaster training course, which will be offered at Texas Technological college for the first time during the summer session, Scout Executive D. T. Jennings, said yesterday.

Details of the installation of the course were worked out yesterday by Mr. Jennings and Dr. J. O. Ellsworth, professor of agriculture economics. Dr. Ellsworth will be the scoutmaster in charge of the class. He has had many years experience as a scout leader, according to Mr. Jennings. The scout executive will be senior patrol leader and will aid the teaching staff.

First On Wednesday

The course will be known officially as Scouting No. 221, Elements of Scoutmastership. Classes will be held each Tuesday and Friday nights in the agriculture building. The first class will be held at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday night, the first day of the new term.

Mr. Jennings said he had been informed that a large number of Technological college students were planning to take the course. Since classes are to be held at night, several business men have indicated they will enroll, he said.

The final session of the scout leader's training school being conducted by Mr. Jennings will close Friday night with an overnight hike to the Meadowbrook golf links. All students must make the hike in order to receive credit for their work.

Sixteen students will complete work entitling them to approved certificates from the national Boy Scout council, Mr. Jennings said.

bruises Mrs. Branam's left ankle was hurt. She also suffered abrasions on her arms and body.

Stovall and White escaped with minor cuts and bruises.

Police said that Berry and Christian were under the influence of intoxicating liquor at the time the accident occurred. Fifteen empty beer bottles were found in the light roadster which struck the party of pedestrians, police said. Both were booked in police court on charges of drunkenness, records revealed.

Driver Unknown

Police said they could not determine which of the men was driving the automobile at the time of the crash. Both were arrested and turned over to county authorities.

A strange aspect of the accident was that Berry was a brother-in-law of Stovall, one of the person's injured according to police. Berry's estranged wife, Mrs. Vera Berry, saw the accident as she was sitting on the porch of her home at 804 Avenue J.

Traveling Slowly

All witnesses said the automobile was not traveling fast when it struck the pedestrians, which police said probably averted loss of life. Both the pedestrians and the automobile were traveling south on Avenue J. The accident occurred shortly after the machine turned into the avenue off of Fifth street, according to Mrs. Berry. The accident occurred at 9 o'clock.

The party had taken to the street only a short time before the accident occurred because of the lack of sidewalks on that portion of Avenue J, Mrs Branam said last night.

Defends Two Men

Mrs Branam suffering from an injured ankle, last night said all of the blame should not be placed on the men in the automobile.

"We were in the street and did not see the machine until it was upon us," she said.

Police said they had been unable to find any witnesses who heard a warning sounded by the automobile as it came upon the pedestrians.

Mrs. Branam said she and her companions were walking in small groups. Her husband and the small girl were in the rear of the party and were struck first by the automobile she said.

Attending physicians were of the opinion that all of the injured would recover. Some anxiety was expressed over the condition of the six-year-old girl. She might have suffered concussion of the brain, they said.

Twenty-four hours before the Stovall and Branam families were wounded, four Boy Scouts and a scoutmaster were wounded when the automobile in which they were riding and an oil truck collided near the business district. One of the scouts, J. V. McCoy, was severely injured.

COTTON IS KING

A sentiment that has been carried forward in national advertising during the past week and one which has found an entrance into Lubbock and the South Plains in an increased interest in this uncrowned king of the Plains. Lubbock store owners, during the past week, have displayed hundreds of articles of merchandise, all manufactured from the fine texture of cotton. This program of display, carried forward in exhibits at all mercantile houses, enhanced in value by carrying the message to the public through columns of advertising, has brought something that never before existed—a fuller understanding and appreciation for this one product which reigns almost supreme on the South Plains. National Cotton Week in Lubbock, which closed Saturday was one of success.

President Saw Them Wed

The center of attention in a notable gathering, Gertrude Lamont, daughter of the Secretary of Commerce, and Charles Eskridge Saltzman of New York are shown here after they had been married in the pesence of President Hoover and other high government officials in Washington. The bridegroom is a son of Maj. Gen. Charles McKay Saltzman, head of the radio commission. A silver coffee service from President and Mrs. Hoover was among their wedding gifts.

Far Away Places Call Law Chiefs

Justices Of Supreme Court Are Planning Widely Separated Vacation Journeys For The Hot Summer Months

WASHINGTON, June 6. (AP)—Far away places, mountain air, salt breezes, and quiet, cool nooks are calling the nine supreme court justices and they are harkening.

Their vacation plans are an indication of the divergent tastes of the men who compose the high tribunal although a majority are addicted to golf and probably will make it a part of their summer recreations.

Chief Justice Hughes once played but he was conspicuous for his hooks and slices and has almost abandoned the game. It has no place on a schedule which includes a leisurely tour of Europe with Mrs. Hughes. He likes art galleries, Paris, Swiss mountains and the Italian lake country and brisk walks. The chief justice sails June 18 remaining until September 4.

Justice and Mrs. Van Devanter also intend to go abroad. The Judge probably will visit Scotch golf courses and add variety by long sessions of Wagner at German music festivals.

Justice McReynolds may go to Europe but his plans are indefinite. A bachelor, he likes to yield to sudden whims and set out for some place on a moment's notice.

Many a golf game on the courses about Buena Vista Springs, Penn., is planned by Justice Butler, this summer. Big and strong, he gets distance if not always accuracy.

The athlete of the court is powerful Justice Stone, who likes a variety of sports. He is an early riser and a participant in White House medicine ball games. He will spend his vacation on an island he owns near Isle Au Haute off the coast of Maine.

Justice Holmes has already left for familiar surroundings at Severley Farms, Massachusetts. He reads, rests and philosophizes with his old friend, the railroad station master.

The justices will not escape the law altogether. All have left addresses with Charles Elmore Cropley, clerk of the court, and the briefs to be filed during the recess will be sent to them to be read in preparation for the 1931 term beginning October 5.

Dickens Busy With Harvest

Work Of Gathering Wheat, Oats And Barley Is Begun This Month; Good Yields Is Expected From Crops

SPUR, June 6. (Special)—Harvesting of Dickens county's largest grain crop was begun in earnest with the arrival of June. Six thousand acres of wheat, 1,000 acres of oats and 200 acres of barley ready for the farmer with the mower and threshing machine. In addition 1,000 acres of alfalfa has been cut, the first of the expected five cuttings in 1931.

The wheat is expected to average 15 bushels to the acre, the amount being cut down by long grazing in the spring and dry weather the first half of May. It is estimated from reports over the county that not over 50 per cent of this crop will be put on the market but will be kept by the farmer for feed during the summer and winter. Work by the combines is to start the second week of the month while farmers saving the wheat for feed are either mowing or binding the wheat and storing it as hay.

Oats And Barley For Feed

The oats and barley were mostly grown for feed.

Alfalfa which was almost doubled in acreage this year is being grown mostly for home use although, several farmers are finding a ready market for the part they wish to sell.

Thirty thousand acres of grain sorghums have been planted with a good stand reported. Rains in June and July will insure a bumper feed crop for this county.

Ninety thousand acres of cotton have been planted for a cash money crop. In addition to this a thousand acres is being planted in broomcorn largely as a money crop experiment for this section of the country.

Rural Women In Gathering Here

Fifty or more rural women from the rural home demonstration clubs met yesterday at the county community house on East Broadway for the monthly session of the county council. Mrs. R. L. Stewart, president, was in charge of the meeting.

In the morning some quilting was done by the ladies. After lunch the Hardy community put on a one act humorous skit that drew much applause.

At the business session Miss Evelyn Richter, state health nurse who has been stationed here and Miss Eubanks, county librarian talked. A quilt on which the ladies had worked in the morning, was presented to Miss Ruth Stockton, home demonstration agent.

There were 19 ladies from the Carlisle club in attendance.

Chest's Funds Still Paid To Special Units

Regular Allotments Paid To Agencies; Work Of United Charities Is Cut Down In Summer Months

COMMUNITY Chest agencies each month are receiving the full amount apportioned them in the 1930-31 budget fixed by the board of directors, the secretary of the Chest said last week.

The ability of the Chest to pay full allotments to its member-organizations is a contrast to conditions which prevailed prior to the annual Chest financial drive last fall.

Collections Are Good

Collections on pledges to the Community Chest totaled more than $1,000 in the first four days of June, an attache said. Of that amount, strictly current payment totaled more than $300. The remainder was moneys from persons paying both current and delinquent pledges.

Through special collections of pledges, the Chest hopes to continue paying its agencies on schedule, an attache said.

The Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. will not receive further regular allotments this Chest-year, as payments to them in May completed totals budgeted them by the Chest for the year ending October 1, the Chest secretary said.

To Get Special Allotment

The "Ys" will receive their portions of a special allotment this month, however, he added.

Although United Charities will remain intact, its downtown office was closed and its executive secretary, Miss Evelyn Richter, dismissed June 1, Glen Hess, secretary-treasurer, said. United Charities will continue to handle emergency cases, he said. An audit of its books is reported underway.

A statement by the executive board of United Charities follows:

"At the regular meeting of the entire board of the United Charities, April 7, the board found that the emergency that existed during the winter months had been met in a splendid manner, and that the necessity for dispensing aid on so large a scale no longer existed. Therefore, by action of this general board, the office at 710 Thirteenth street was closed June 1.

Group Still Intact

"However, the United Charities organization is still intact, and the executive board of the United Charities will take care of whatever emergency cases may arise during the summer months.

"In order that the different organizations and individuals cooperating in this work may know the results of the efforts they put forth, there is an audit being made of the books showing the total receipts, the disbursements thereof, and the number of people aided. A copy will be mailed to the Community Chest, city council, board of city development, and the nine different agencies cooperating in this work."

Reports Given

Reports of the United Charities and Salvation Army here on persons aided included:

United Charities — March, 960 white persons, 203 white families, 5 negroes, 16 negro families, 229 Mexicans, 35 Mexican families, April, 614 whites, 120 white families, 3 negroes, no negro families listed, 290 Mexicans, 28 Mexican families; May, 481 whites, 83 white families, no negroes listed, 80 Mexicans, 20 Mexican families.

Salvation Army—March, 1,400 persons and 120 families; April, 1,179 persons and 173 families; May report not filed.

Report of the Salvation Army to the Community Chest on the corps' activities here in May shows that bread, eggs, and meat were supplied 13 families last month.

Lodging was furnished 72 persons, meals were given to three persons, and groceries to 18 families, the Salvation Army said in its May report.

Pieces of clothing distributed totaled 176, and nursing calls made 21, and one person was given employment.

MEETING CALLED

A meeting of the Community Chest board of directors has been called for 7:30 p. m. next Friday night at chamber of commerce offices, the secretary said Saturday.

Means of collecting delinquent pledges will be discussed in connection with a canvass through Friday of all persons having such debts. Collectors will report reasons given by the delinquents for not paying pledges, and each report will be considered individually, the Chest attache explained. Collection of delinquent pledges began last week.

Cotton — Further Decline Seen For Cotton

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, June 6. (AP)—The cotton market was active for a short Saturday session today. Prices developed a sharp decline and almost duplicated the season's lows at the end after a decline for the day of a little over a dollar a bale. The depressing influences included, lower Liverpool cables weakness in stocks and a long distance forecast for favorable weather during the coming week. Sentiment appeared to be bearish which induced considerable liquidation and selling by ring traders.

Liverpool came in 4-6 penny points worse than due and private cables stated that local traders and continent liquidated longs. There was a poor off-take. Manchester cabled that the cloth and yarn market was unsettled with buyers cautious.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, June 6. (AP) — Cotton prices experienced a further sharp decline today, losing about 1-4 of a cent per pound from the previous closing levels and declining to within 3 points of the low levels established early in the week for most of the active positions.

The show of weakness in the Liverpool market combined with heaviness in the stock market and generally favorable weather conditions, with the prospects of a continuation of favorable weather over the week-end, combined to bring about renewed general selling, while an absence of aggressive buying was taken to indicate a weaker technical position. The general market closed barely steady at 74 to 26 points net decline.

Livestock — Cattle Reaction Feature Of Week

Livestock

MIDDLEWESTERN LIVESTOCK

KANSAS CITY, June 6. (AP)—Livestock trade around the market circuit this week was featured by a reaction in the cattle market with prices strong to unevenly higher. The improved demand was due chiefly to curtailed receipts as trade at eastern dressed beef markets continued slow. There was a wide outlet for light weight fed steers and yearlings at 50 to 1.00 higher rates and matured steers closed 25 to 75 higher. Several markets on late sessions lost a good sized portion of the week's early upturn on strong weight steers.

Aggregate receipts were around 141,800 as compared with 97,675 last week.

FORT WORTH LIVESTOCK

FORT WORTH, June 6. (AP)—Hogs—700; good around 200 lb. truck hogs to packers at 6.15; or steady with Friday's packer market.

Cattle—600; today's trade nominal. For week: slaughter steers around 50 higher; slaughter yearlings fully 25 higher; butcher and beef cows 25-40 higher; cutters and low cutters 15-25 higher; stock steers and yearlings quotably steady; heavy slaughter calves 50-75 higher; better grades vealers 75-1.00 higher. Week's tops: light weight fed steers 6.30; good to choice fat yearlings 7.00; practical top fat cows 4.10; heavy fat calves 6.75; with few on short yearling order up to 7.35; choice vealers 8.50. Bulk prices: grass slaughter steers 4.25@4.75; fed steers 5.00@5.60; better grades fat yearlings 7.00@7.75; fat cows 3.50@4.10; butcher grades 1.00@3.35; low cutters 2.00@2.15; bulls 2.50 down; heavy fat calves 5.00@5.75; pull sorts mostly 3.00; good to choice vealers 7.50@8.00.

FRESH FRUITS

It is a mistake not to use fresh fruits and berries as they come into the market. Sponge cake topped with berries and served with whipped cream is a delectable dessert. White of eggs, beaten up with raspberries, and with sugar added when stiff, makes a beautiful and dainty last touch to a meal.

DANCES PROFITABLE

AUSTIN, June 6. (AP)—There was no business depression last year as far as the All-University dances conducted by the students of the University of Texas were concerned, net profits for the past nine months being more than $1,500 in excess of the total the preceding scholastic year.

Net profits totaled $11,247.

Dance receipts are used to equip the Student Union building.

Stocks Take To Firing Line Again Saturday For Test Against Selling

BY JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, June 6. (AP)—Stocks went back to the firing line today for a test against selling. Profit taking and offerings by skeptical shorts chipped away at the list during the two hours of quiet trading leaving final prices 1-3 points under the Friday close. The turnover was 800,000 shares, well below the recent rate of activity.

It normally happens that after a strong advance—particularly a quick, sharp upturn such as was experienced this week—the market has to undergo what is technically known as secondary selling when profits are accepted on stocks bought at lower levels and bears put out fresh lines on the theory that short covering has been temporarily exhausted.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, June 6. (AP)—Wheat reacted today from a 4-cent advance that had taken place in the last week. Much wheat bought on account of drouth conditions in Canada was sold out to realize profits and there was also heavy speculative selling. An eagerly awaited comprehensive summary of the Canadian crop situation proved to be bullish but not so sensational as some forecasts had indicated, being qualified by a statement that one good soaking rain within a week would materially alter the outlook.

Wheat closed unsettled, 1-8 to 3-4 cents lower, corn 1-4 to 1-2 down, oats 1-8 to 3-8 off, and provisions unchanged to 12 cents decline.

CHOCOLATE CRUMBS

Six squares unsweetened chocolate, one cup confectioner's sugar, one cup dried bread crumbs. Melt chocolate in double boiler. Add sugar and crumbs. Mix thoroughly and put into a dish to cool. Serve in sherbet glasses with sweetened whipped cream. This is a most delicious and easily prepared dessert.

SQUEAKY SHOES

If your shoes squeak, try boring a small hole in the sole up under the arch and pouring some oil into it. Let the shoes stand upside down as long as possible after filling the hole. This allows the oil to get into the space between the soles and is most efficacious in stopping the squeak.

Old Settlers Reunion And Rodeo To Be Held At Johnston Ranch, July 22, 23 And 24; Varied Contests Slated

Several hundred old timers and many newcomers will mingle on the shady grounds of Johnston's ranch, 12 miles southeast of Lubbock, at the third annual Old Settlers reunion and rodeo, July 22, 23 and 24, H. A. "Hackberry Slim" Johnson, general chairman and rodeo director, estimates.

R. C. "Rollie" Burns of Lubbock, W. T. Florence of Slaton, and other pioneers of this section are scheduled to speak. Prizes will be given old timers coming the greatest distance, living on the Plains the longest, and to other claimants of allied records.

Carnival Engaged

The Liggett carnival has been engaged to set up at the ranch headquarters to supplement the rodeo, dance, and other events, Johnston said.

A rodeo arena, with the customary pens and chutes, has been constructed for the celebration, in addition to a 5-8 mile track for horse racing and a half-mile track for motorcycle and hobo automobile events, Johnston said.

To Add To Pavilion

A total of 1,600 square feet of floor space will be added to the dance pavilion, which already has 3,600 square feet, according to Johnston.

Rodeo events will include bronco riding, wild horse races, wild steer riding, wild cow milking, calf and goat roping, and steer breakaway-roping.

A fat man's hill climbing contest, a hobo automobile race, motorcycle events, and band concerts also are scheduled, the general chairman reported.

Singing Voices Credited To Genius

Mental And Emotional Capacity Are Found To Be The Chief Controls Of The "Genius" Line In Scientific Study

NEW YORK, June 6. —(AP)— Cold engineering studies credit the voices of great singers to genius instead of anatomy.

When the "curve" of a great voice is plotted on such a chart as carries the stress calculations of a skyscraper, mental and emotional capacity are found to be the chief controls of the "genius" line.

These studies were made public today by the engineering foundation. They were made by Douglas Stanley, a fellow of the Acoustical Society of America, working with scientists of New York university and the Bell laboratories. They cover ten years research.

"Great singing voices," says the report, "are due to the singer's mental and emotional capacity, and not to any anatomical peculiarities.

"Many new ideas as to breath control and sound production have arisen through these tests. Observation of great singers has shown that they never produce a 'dead,' steady tone except at pianissimo. The tone fluctuates in intensity with perfect regularity. This fluctuation, very wide at high intensity, is accompanied with a slight fluctuation of pitch. This phenomenon is called the "vibrato."

"The vibrato is the result of a periodically applied impulse to all the muscles which co-ordinate in the act of phonation. Its frequency is about six a second, but can be increased.

"Thus all the time, the singer is actually singing and stopping singing, rapidly and regularly. As the intensity rises the 'one' impulse is more vigorous and the swing of the vibrato increases.

Texas Sending More Visitors To Carlsbad

Largest Number Of Persons Visit Cavern In May Than At Any Other May In History Of Caverns

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

CARLSBAD, N. M., June 6.—Texas, as usual, furnished the greater number of visitors to the Carlsbad Caverns during the month just past, the report of Thomas Boles, superintendent, shows. There were 2,570 residents of the Lone Star state who went through the caverns in May, or slightly over 43 per cent of the total of 5,947, the largest number of persons in any May since the starting of the caverns as a park, to visit the place.

New Mexico residents visiting the park numbered 1,230, with California ranking third with 580. This included a large number of civic club members who were on a tour, stopping here. Oklahoma ranked fourth with 371; Colorado fifth with 203 and Kansas sixth with 169. Missouri was the only other state to have over 100, there being 103 from the "show me" state.

47 States Represented

Forty-seven states were represented in the visitors; the district of Columbia, the Canal Zone and 47 persons from 14 foreign nations. These included; Canal Zone, three; District of Columbia, 10; Hawaii, three; Phillipine Islands, four; Belgium, one; Borneo, four; Canada, 16; China, England, France, Germany and Hungary, one each; Mexico 16 and Denmark two.

Gain for May 1931 over 1930 was 112 visitors or slightly under two per cent. Totals for previous years are: 1924, 95 visitors; 1925, 181; 1926 684; 1927, 2,037; 1928, 2,143; 1929, 4,002; 1930, 5,835; 1931, 5,947.

Nine states besides those named above, had 25 residents or more, to visit the cave during the month. They included: Arkansas, 32; Arizona, 70; Florida, 30; Illinois, 69; Iowa, 25; Michigan, 37; New York, 48; Ohio, 39; Pennsylvania 25.

Churches To Stage Special Services Tonight; Dr. Holt To Preach At 1st Methodist

Baccalaureate Sermon To Be This Morning; Rev. R. C. Campbell To Talk On Dancing And Plainsman's View

REV. R. C. CAMPBELL
First Baptist Pastor

ALTHOUGH no morning services are to be held in Lubbock churches today because of the baccalaureate sermon at the Texas Technological college gymnasium, programs of unusual interest have been announced for five churches tonight.

Dr. Ivan Lee Holt, pastor of St. John's Methodist church, St. Louis, Mo., is to preach at the First Methodist church. Dr. Holt was for a number of years professor of Old Testament at S. M. U., Dallas, and for the past 13 years has been pastor of the St. Louis church.

Campbell Preaches On Dance

The Rev. R. C. Campbell, pastor of the First Baptist church, will bring the second in a series of sermons on the modern dance in a discourse at the church tonight. A question in connection with the discussion will be: "What is the difference in opinion between Dr. John C. Grandbery and the pastor of the First Baptist church concerning young people, as expressed in the columns of The Plainsman this week?"

Continuing an observance of half a century, the service at the First Christian church will be in charge of the children since the first Sunday in June is designated as "Children's Day."

Children To Be Heard

Nineteen children from the Boles Orphan home near Greenville will appear in a program at the Broadway Church of Christ in lieu of the evening service. Songs, recitation of scriptural passages and other readings will be given. The group is to give a program at Slaton this afternoon.

Rev. Melvin Walker, who is a member of the Central Texas conference will preach at the Asbury Methodist church tonight.

Accident Victim Removed To Home

Suffering from a skull fracture as a result of an automobile-truck collision here, 14-year-old J. V. McCoy, jr., Saturday morning was taken from West Texas hospital to his home at 1910 Sixth street. He will be confined to his home several days.

Four Boy Scouts, including McCoy, and the scoutmaster of troop No. 7, Paul Williams of 1915 Fifth street, were in an automobile which collided with an oil company truck at Fifth street and Avenue Q.

The accident occurred at about 9 p. m. Friday during a windstorm. Williams suffered a sprained ankle, cuts and bruises.

Faculty People Leave City; Others Return

Oklahoma Graduates To Invade Masculine Field

College graduates in the professions usually regarded as more or less men-folks' territory might as well move over and make room for three University of Oklahoma co-eds who have decided that woman's place isn't exclusively in the home.

They are Gertrude Collier of St. Louis, Okla., who will receive the degree of bachelor of science in civil engineering at the spring commencement, and Bernice Dona Berry of Enid, and Elizabeth Cox of Norman, who will receive law degrees.

Miss Collier, the only co-ed in the college of engineering and the only engineer ever to serve as queen at the annual St. Pat's celebration, worked for the past two summers with the state highway department and after her graduation will join the staff of an engineering firm in Oklahoma City.

Both Miss Cox and Miss Berry were initiated this spring into the Order of the Coif, the national legal society requiring scholarship of the highest order. Miss Cox took the state bar examination last fall and passed with high honors. Miss Berry will take the bar examination in June. Both expect to practice in Oklahoma City.

LEARNING RULE

"Come Easy go easy." "The harder it comes the better it sticks."

Such are the common beliefs, fitting into the popular notion that Nature always kind, compensates.

Facts established by scientific investigations are that slow learners are quick forgetters, as a rule, and quick learners are slow forgetters. The facts have been arrived at by having a large number of persons of varying ages memorize and then make recalls at later intervals. Several able psychologists have found unquestionable proof of the general rule. There are, of course, some exceptions, and you or your child may be one of them.

That person, however, who takes ample time to get meaning from the materials he is learning, be it facts and meanings he has learned, will almost surely retain such facts and meanings longer than if he had mechanically memorized the words. Pupils who acquire the practice of interpreting things they are likely to be called upon to reproduce in essence later have but little difficulty to retain the facts involved, since these facts had become a part of their experience. On the other hand, if it is poetry or prose which must be memorized verbatim, much attention to the meaning while learning may hinder more than help. I have a notion here is a reason why many of us adults have a hard time memorizing such materials. From habit we have learned to turn the matter into our own words, rather than to memorize and recall the words exactly as they appear. Yet for practical learning such habits of translating constantly into our own experience and language is for nearly all of us the best habit we can develop.

If by "quick learner" we mean the one who merely memorizes words mechanically, as in history or a science lesson, then he will be the quick forgetter. That pupil, on the other hand, who patiently works, thinks out a practical way and thinks them through, even though he may not learn mechanical matter like addresses, telephone numbers or dates in history quickly, may retain the facts he has mastered by his plugging methods.

As a rule, however, the poor memorizer is the kind of learner who finds so many learning obstacles that he will not persevere in reasoning and in thinking through the matter to be learned: he indeed, may not be able to reason much,

Entire Wardrobe To Be Of Cotton For This Summer

BY BARBARA BEAUFORT
Associated Press Fashion Editor

PARIS (AP)—Calico and cambric are the stylish cocoons for the social butterfly this summer.

The demand of the women who play for tolerable togs on warm days has produced the greatest muslin vogue which Paris has seen in years.

Hats, shoes, gloves and belts, as well as daytime and evening clothes are made of cotton stuffs.

Cotton evening frocks are one of the favorite fripperies of the summer. Of organdy, dotted swiss and fine muslin, in mauve, pale rose, green or blue, they are designed to sweep in full flattering folds around the ankles.

Most of them are trimmed in pinked ruffles or shirred appliques in a style reminiscent of the gay nineties.

One of the most effective designs is a lightweight orchid muslin finished with ruffled tiers and worn with a short white muslin wrap and orchid net mitts.

Cotton matinee, dinner and movie frocks, worn with matching waist-length jackets, are legion, while formal afternoon gowns are made of frail white, pink or green organdy worn over lustrous satin slips.

Tea-rose organdy is another favorite, embroidered floral patterns enhancing the femininity of quaintly styled afternoon frocks.

These tea gowns, like the evening gowns, are particularly modish when designed with a sheer hemline of billowy fullness, sweeping in graceful lines about the ankles.

Even lounging pajamas have adopted the cotton vogue. Pleated pajamas of white organdy or muslin are designed with short coatees of flowered muslin and worn with bright-hued muslin mules.

Street and sports suits of printed pique, cotton shantung and cotton jersey are among the smartest notes in the summer vogue, while the favorite blouses are cross-barred voiles, organdies, checked gingham or pique.

Hats of stitched cambric or pique shoes of printed muslin to match frocks, and cotton gloves and mitts are the accessory contributions to cotton chic.

MENDING ELBOWS

If your elbows wear out, cut a strip from the back of your skirt hem, open your sleeve seams and stitch this strip right around the elbows, on the right side, neatly, as if it were decoration. Under this you should darn the hole carefully to reenforce it. You can face your skirt back where you took out the goods.

Variety Is Incorporated In Sorosis Club Programs; Yearbooks Published

Programs which are resigned to please the particluar tastes of every member have been planned for the Sorosis club next year. The leader for each lesson will have what material is now available for others who will assist in her program, according to an announcement that has been made by Mrs. W. L. Bradshaw, chairman of the calendar committee.

The club year books have been distributed following the close of this season's work, the year ending in May. New officers were introduced at the last meeting, which was in the form of a luncheon on May 27, and these women have assumed their positions in the club.

Mrs. J. D. Peters is president to succeed Mrs. W. A. Jackson who has been president during the year that has just closed. Mrs. J. H. Howze is vice-president with Mrs. Leroy T. Patton as recording secretary and Mrs. C. B. Powell as treasurer.

Vacations Are Bringing Many Students Home

Local Young People Return Following Year Of Study In Universities; Several Receive Their Degrees

By BLANCHE E. BEAN
Woman's Editor

VACATION time is here and while school people of Lubbock are being speeded in their departure, students of this city who have been studying elsewhere are receiving their welcomes home.

Several have received degrees during the last few days, others are yet to graduate. With the close of schools over the country, many students have already returned to their homes here and others will be coming in during next week. Some few have gone on to new positions or to summer schools.

Maurice Powell has returned from Columbia, Mo., where he has been studying journalism during the winter months, and is at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Powell, 1202 Avenue N, during the summer.

Three Lubbock men finished at the state medical school in Galveston last week and are starting interneships during the summer.

TRY THIS on the men. A man wrote it:

"Men scoff at the idea of drinking tea in the middle of the afternoon, or eating a diminutive salad and then attempting to play bridge. Yet men take a bottle of near-beer and spend an afternoon "shooting pool"; or they will drop in at quick-lunch counter with a friend and enjoy a cup of coffee and an informal chat. They do the very things which they deride. The only difference is in the sport and the drink!"

This was written by Nelson R. Wilson society editor on the Spokane Daily Chronicle, and in case you immediately class him as a man who has effiminate graces, smokes cigarets through a holder and who frequents the "pink teas," here is something of his past and present:

* * *

He studied electrical engineering at Washington State college; became interested in journalism and was editor of The Chinook, a day editor and later managing editor of the college tri-weekly, The Evergreen; he railroaded as a callboy, clerk and engine watchman and spent two summer vacations in the wilds of Montana as nursemaid to a locomotive and a steam shovel; he covered police and general assignments on the Yakima Daily Republican, Yakima, Wash., later serving as sports editor before going to the Chronicle where he covered general assignments prior to taking over the society.

That is a lot of space to give to the history of a man I never saw and never heard of until today, but the life story was included to justify my opinion that he knows whereof he speaks and that his statement might sound well when served up to masculine scoffers concerning our purely feminine teas and such.

* * *

And if you think the men do not do jus. as much visiting down town, calling it by another name, as women do over the teacups, you have never worked among them. Women just don't go in for so much wholesale jeering of men's habits and proclivities.

LOOKING US OVER

AMERICAN women seem seething with a restlessness that is reflected in the way they keep buying new clothes, according to Rosette Hargrove, noted Paris fashion writer for NEA service, who says that the importance of the American woman to herself, her business, her community strike her as unique.

* * *

American women, from the five and ten cent store girl to the society woman, have the prettiest faces in the world. They are the best groomed, the most marveiously coiffured, manicured, made-up, but their idea of being well-dressed is far from that held by French women, according to this stylist. And this may come as a shock to many American women who believe that when they are wearing something by Patou or a model copied from Lelong that they are aping the women of Paris, the style center.

"If the well-dressed French woman goes where well-dressed women are, and knows that her costume is good, even if it is not new, that is sufficient for her," she says.

* * *

And this might serve as a hint for us when we are inclined to sacrifice becomingness for variety in costume.

BEAUTY AND BRAINS

TWO beauties in the Cactus, yearbook for the University of Texas, this year are members of Phi Beta Kappa, national scholastic honor society, and others rank high in academic endeavors, thus disproving the old saw "beautiful but dumb," according to a correspondent from Austin.

The two beauties ranking so high are Rosalie Leslie of Eastland and Janet Sheppard of Texarkana, daughter of United States Senator Morris Sheppard.

These two girls are typical. Often the beauty is the one who ranks among the highest in scholastic work. A glance at the honor students in Tech any term will reveal names of the more popular young women on the campus and those who are rated as the prettiest. Beauty often has brains and uses them.

STYLE CONSISTENCY

NOW just as I am about to emerge without my winter coat, they start sending out stories from New York on fashions for sealskin coats next winter.

We may be a consistent lot and all that, but I refuse to begin worrying over my next fall's coat before I have had an opportunity to wear this summer's clothes with any comfort. And even though they send out fashion stories in January about summertime, I refuse to worry then because I'm always too busy trying to keep warm in something for winter.

* * *

Right now my thoughts turn to summer things not seal skins and no flight of imagination can make the fur look tempting.

Sorosis

will concern women in politics and topics to be discussed include "Woman and a Career", "American Women", "History of Women in Politics". Late in October there is to be a program devoted to the etiquette of entertaining with discussion of formal and informal dinners as well as luncheons, teas, parties and a talk on linen, china, silver and other necessities for various occasions.

One program is to take up modern literature—short stories, novels and poetry. In January, there will be a day devoted to fashion forecasts and topics for discussion at that time will be "Life of Makers of Fashion", "Modes of the Eve" and "Principles of Correct Dress". Landscaping and gardening will be a timely theme for one of the March meetings and interior decoration will be discussed in April—housecleaning time.

Throughout the year in programs that are to be interspersed with these topics, the travelogue course will be carried out. Among the countries which are to be discussed are Palestine, China, France, Portugal, Italy, Spain and Egypt.

There is to be a bird's-eye-view of each country—something of the political situation, a glance at the literature, scenic and historical points, social conditions, religions and other topics of interest. Yet, no two countries will be considered alike as the programs have been made individual in keeping with the tendencies of various peoples.

Other features are recorded in the year's calendar for women in Sorosis. A Christmas party will be given three days prior to Christmas Day and this will be followed by the annual business meeting in January. There is to be a patriotic program in February and a Texas Day program in April, while the last meeting of the year will be in the form of an annual luncheon such as was attended by the membership recently.

The spice of variety has been incorporated into the program for next year and yet the club objective, the American Home, has not been forgotten by those who have planned a program. Assisting Mrs. Bradshaw in making this outline and arranging dates for the various topics has been a committee composed of Mesdames T. C. Root, J. T. Howell, Patton and Howze.

Membership in Sorosis, which was organized and federated in 1925 under the sponsorship of the Twentieth Century club, is limited to 25 active members with a list of associates who have held active membership and are unwilling to be divorced from the society.

At this time there are two on this latter list, Mrs. A. W. Evans and Mrs. W. W. Royalty. The active list includes Mesdames Banks, Bradshaw, R. T. Campbell, Cooper, W. G. Dingus, H. B. Hawkins, S. A. Henry, Howell, Hewett, Howze, Jackson, Minnie Jackson, Will N. Morgan, Patton, Peters, Powell, Rufus Rush, Root, J. C. Reynolds, C. E. Roberts, C. E. Slaton, A. T. Stewart, C. H. Smith and Williams.

In addition to the regular activities of the club programs, social life this society has a secondary aim expressed through the creation of a better homes committee which has general supervision of the club community work. Mrs. Henry is chairman of this group for the year and others who are on the committee with her are Mesdames Williams, Morgan, Rush and Dingus.

Joe E. Brown Is Going In For The Dramatic; "The Millionaire" Is Clean

BY HUBBARD KEAVY

HOLLYWOOD — Movieland goings-on:

Chic Sale keeps a goat on his lawn in Beverly Hills, to keep the children amused, so he says.

MARILYN MILLER

Pifi Dorsay, through with the movies temporarily because her contract with Fox was not renewed, will go back to vaudeville from whence she came two years ago.

In her next picture Marilyn Miller will neither sing nor dance. A director recalled that before she became famous as a dancer, Marilyn played the role of Peter Pan. Her next movie role will be a dramatic one.

Joe E. Brown is going dramatic, too. Slapstick will be out for him, for a while at least. He'll be the clown-with-the-breakfast-heart type.

Harpo's Harp

HARPO Marx, who can play the harp, never has taken a lesson in his life.

Once when he was a boy (oh, 20 or so years ago) he went to a teacher whose charge for harp lessons was $50 a half hour. After hearing Harpo play, the teacher said: "I'll pay you to give me lessons." Anyway that's the story.

Wholesome

"THE Millionaire" has several claims to distinction—no one is killed and not a gun is shot off and there isn't an embarrassing situation.

EVELYN KNAPP

The story is a rather simple one about a wealthy automobile manufacturer (George Arliss) who, at 60, is forced to give up his work because his health apparently is failing. He gives up a busy life for one of inactivity, medicine and footstools. The treatment doesn't make him improve.

He decides, without his family's knowledge, that he must have some new interest, so he acquires part ownership in a filling station. Due to his sagacity, business booms and he recovers his former fitness.

The love interest is between the millionaire's daughter (Evelyn Knapp) and his partner (David Manners). Florence Arliss, the star's wife, plays opposite him.

Jackie Cleans Up

BOX office reports on "Skippy" indicate that pictures about youngsters, for adult as well as for child entertainment, are money making propositions. (As a result of his work in this picture, Jackie Cooper is now getting $1,500 a week from Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.)

"Penrod and Sam," "Huckleberry Finn" and "Oliver Twist" are among the stories featuring children now in the making. Others unquestionably will follow.

Serials Again

A year or so ago three companies made serials, but the reception given them was not especially encouraging. With few exceptions large theaters refused to book chapter-a-week pictures, and, it was said then, the revenue from the smaller neighborhood houses was insufficient.

In the face of this great experience a small firm is making a serial with two of the chief players of "Trader Horn" featured. They are Edwina Booth and Harry Carey.

Parmer County Pays Off Its Bonds 22 Years In Advance

FARWELL, June 6. (AP)—The last of Parmer county's courthouse bonds has been paid, 22 years before it was due.

Bonds to the amount of $50,000 were issued April 13, 1913, one bond to be paid each year for 40 years. By paying the bonds in 18 years, County Treasurer Walter Lander said the county had saved $6,600 in interest. He said that 10 cents of the county tax had been going into the sinking found, and that a reduction in county taxes should result from the payment of the bonds.

RABBITS ARE STOLEN

LAMESA, June 6 (Special)—Strange as it may seem, Lamesa has been inflicted of late with a band of rabbit thieves, according to owners here. In the past week many thatches have been visited and good blooded rabbits taken. So far, officers have no clues as to trace of thieves.

Comedies To Divide Time With Dramas

"A Soldier's Plaything," "Mr. Lemon Of Orange" And "June Moon" On Schedule For Other Days

HEAVY drama coupled with three hilarious comedies are offered Lubbock moviegoers this week.

Heading the list and classed as the most sensational talking picture is "The Front Page" which opened last night at the Lindsey in a midnight prevue and will be shown until Tuesday. Friday and Saturday will find Ruth Chatterton at the Lindsey in "Unfaithful," said to be another of the actress' great dramas.

William Powell is showing at the Palace in "Man of the World." The remainder of the week, with the exception of "War Nurse" with Robert and Anita Page, which is showing at the Lyric until Tuesday, will find comedies in store.

EL BRENDEL

Jack Back Again

Jack Oakie returns again this week in "June Moon," after going over in big style the past two days in "Dude Ranch" at the same house. Tuesday and Wednesday will find El Brendel and Fifi Dorsay in "Mr. Lemon of Orange" in another hilarious film and fans will have a short rest for Ben Lyon and Harry Langdon bring "A Soldier's Plaything" to the same house on Thursday and Friday.

An American exile in Paris, hiding under an assumed name from a past he finds difficult to bury, earning a living by blackmailing American tourists, a girl he once loves but now tolerates as a business assistant and you have the plot of "A Man of the World" showing at the Palace. William Powell is seen in another heavy role and carries it well.

FRANCES DEE

She Has to Choose

Take a woman forced to choose between love and reputation, a woman surrounded by a setting of luxury only to find one startling incident which disillusions her love and smashes her ideals and you have Ruth Chatterton in "Unfaithful" which shows at the Lindsey Friday and Saturday. Paul Lukas plays the part of the lover she meets later while Paul Cavanagh is the erring husband. Juliette Compton is the "other woman."

The film is directed by John Cromwell.

Gangster Unglorified

Glorifying the American gangster has been responsible to some extent for the great increase in criminality, it is said. But in Mr. Lemon of Orange" at the Palace Tuesday and Wednesday, many subtle blows are struck at the boys who are tough when they carry a gun and their victims are unarmed. There is no glorification of the gangster in this film and El Brendel and Fifi Dorsay illustrate how easy it is to show them up by poking fun at them.

HERSHOLT

Other members of the cast are William Collier, sr., Ruth Warren, Donald Dillaway and Joan Castle.

Likeable Jack Oakie is bringing laughs to town this week when he appears in "June Moon" with Frances Dee at the Lindsey on Wednesday and Thursday. Take Jack as the plutocratic lamb (he has $1,200 in cash) in a den of hungry wolves and you have the plot. It's interesting how he works out of it and finds that he's just a human dud and his real true friend is the girl friend.

One of the heretofore untouched phases of the World war, an aftermath of the great conflict, is found on the screen in "A Soldier's Plaything" showing at the Palace Thursday and Friday. The play doesn't show the mud, trenches, battles and barrages of the war but the dangers which the Army of Occupation encountered as it marched into Germany. Ben Lyon and Harry Langdon team up as the soldiers while Lotti Loder, the Budapest beauty recently imported to Hollywood, enacts the part of the peasant girl. Others in the cast include Jean Hersholt, Noah Beery, Fred Kohler and others.

The colorful backgrounds of this comedy-drama are provided by New York, France and the Rhine country.

Backstage Of Newspaper Is Given In Film

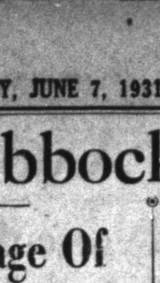

Picture Is Classed As Most Sensational Of Year; Comment Springs Up From The Ranks Of "Fourth Estate"

THE irony, humor, and drama behind the print of the day's paper, the method by which news is collected, and the attitude of those who collect it, and sift it, is pictured in "The Front Page," the tremendous Howard Hughes production which opened last night at the Lindsey theater.

All the cynicism, romance, callousness, drama and melodrama of newspapering, are packed into this picture epitomizing the metropolitan press. Bent Hecht and Charles MacArthur, authors of the original stage play, are merciless, but their picture is targed with doses of humor that keep the audience in such an uproar of laughter that the lines can hardly be heard.

Directed "Hell's Angels"

Howard Hughes, who gave the public "Hell's Angels," "The Racket," and other pictures, has made no concessions to things that are "typically movie." "The Front Page" is unadulterated.

EDWARD EVERETT HORTON

It hasn't been soft-soaped. And as such, newspaper men and women are the first to acclaim its veracity. This play has aroused a storm of comment among the "Fourth Estate" from one end of the country to the other.

No story of the intimate life of the reporters of today's news sensations has aroused such controversy among newspapermen themselves. Many of the characters are said to have been based on real life personalities. Many reporters thought they recognized in the character of "Walter Burns" a famous Chicago managing editor, under whom many of them had worked, and a wave of controversy in newspaperdom arose as to whether this managing editor had actually done the things in real life that Walter Burns is credited with doing in the picture. Incidentally, Adolphe Menjou takes the part of the managing editor, and he is anything but the suave Adolphe remembered of past years by movie patrons.

Newcomer Seen

Pat O'Brien, a newcomer to the screen, will long be remembered in the role of Hildy Johnson, the happy-go-lucky star reporter of a Chicago paper who tries to break away from his ruthless managing editor, Walter Burns, and becomes a respectable writer of advertising copy. He yearns for marriage, a little home in the suburbs, an orderly life, and an existence where he doesn't have to steal stomachs from the coroner's office to have them tested for poison.

Edward Everett Horton literally walks away with the role of Bensinger the aseptic reporter of Chicago's highbrow paper, who doesn't like to have people talk into the mouthpiece of his telephone, who gargles—and whose vanity causes him literally to sit on top of the biggest story of the day—and sell it out for a fictitious job of writing poetry.

Mary Brian has the role of the little girl who is going to marry a wild reporter and take him "away from it all."

Frank McHugh gets laughs every time he appears on the screen, and his reputation is intact in this picture, where he takes the part of a drunken reporter. Walter Catlett, George E. Stone, Mae Clarke, Slim Summerville, Matt Moore, and many others complete the cast.

The BOOK SURVEY

More Debunking Bared In "The Martial Spirit"

Book Is Selected By Literary Guild For June

THE Spanish-American War and most of its heroes are thoroughly and everlastingly debunked in "The Martial Spirit," by Walter Millis.

Mr. Millis believes that this war proviues an excellent example of the way in which wars are made and waged. It was a small war, but it had everything. So far it has not been examined very critically. Rolling up his sleeves and suppressing a chuckle, Mr. Millis pitches in—and writes a grand book.

Citing chapter and verse for every assertion, he shows how the war was caused by yellow journalists and self-seeking or purblind politicians. He shows that Spain had actually surrendered every point at issue before war was declared. He reveals the magnificent incompetence of our "higher command" with humorous detail. He tells how it was that we started a war to "free Cuba" by attacking the Philippines on the other side of the world. He explains how it happened that Theodore Roosevelt emerged from the war a national hero. He lets the reader see the rivalry between jealous army and navy officers in all its ugliness.

In brief, he puts the whole war under a microscope and reveals it for what it was; an unjustifiable bit of international piracy, undertaken by a nation which was thoroughly convinced that it acted from the loftiest of motives. One is convulsed with laughter by some of his pages; by others one is brought to the verge of angry tears.

This book should be made required reading for every high school history class in America. It would do a lot of good.

Houghton-Miffin Co., is the publisher. The book is the June selection of the Literary Guild.

AN IRONIC STUDY OF A SUPER-BABBITT

"WHEN The Wicked Man . . ." by Ford Maddox Ford studies the declining years of a glorified Babbitt. One Notterdam, head of a large New York publishing house, has just reached the top of the heap, after an eventful and somewhat wayward life; and fate begins to deal him cards from the bottom of the deck.

In fact, everything seems to work backward for him. He does things that are either idiotic or scoundrelly and the results are excellent. He shoots at a phantasm seen in an attack of delirium tremens and comes to find that he has slain a notorious gangster, which makes him a national hero. He finds himself adrift in a crazy world.

Now all of this, as the story of one individual, does not amount to much. But Mr. Ford has a way of making his characters more than individuals. Notterdam, like Babbitt, is a type, and he comes to Babbitt's conclusion; that Modern America is a fantastic place, and that the material success of a man can win in it is not likely to be very satisfying. He is lonely and he is confused, and his loneliness and confusion measure the strange and incomprehensible mixture of cross-currents that make up American life.

Holding Wheat Carryover Avowed Policy Of Farm Board, Stone Says

Cooperative Farm Program Needed To Keep Tariff In Operation, Head Of American Farm Bureau Declares

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 6.—Edward O'Neal, president of the American Farm Board federation, says the new campaign to increase cooperative membership will mean the salvation of agriculture as well as augur popularity of the administration's farm relief program.

At a conference in Chicago of grain, cotton, livestock, wool, dairy and other cooperative leaders, O'Neal called for a militant campaign to arouse farmers to the necessity of organization.

"True," he says, "the success of the administration's program depends on the success of cooperative marketing which, in turn, depends on

Heretofore, O'Neal says, cooperative marketing has been on the defensive. With the federal government as a powerful ally, the time is ripe for the farmer to band with his neighbors for the market control of his products.

Saying that 80 per cent of American farm commondities is sold during the harvest period of three to four months, usually on a forced and unwilling market, O'Neal insists that the cooperative plan of orderly distribution is essential to keeping tariff protection operative on agricultural goods.

"Give the farmer," he says, "a chance to sell behind the tariff wall and he will not have to worry about acreage adjustment or depressed world markets.

"There is a sufficient domestic outlet for most farm products if they are marketed with an eye to demand, and what is left over may be sold abroad without breaking the price at home.

"Acreage adjustment and the artificial stimulation of prices will not solve present difficulties. The law of supply and demand cannot be circumvented. The problem must be and will be solved by elimination—the individual whose costs of production are too high eventually dropping out of competition."

Farmers in Orangeburg, S. C., last year shipped 76 carloads of hogs. To date they have shipped 25 in 1931.

In 1930 the Alabama farm population increased for the first time in ten years, 1,392,000 moving from city to farm.

Sticks To Offer

Clarendon Editor 'Slipped' Up On

CLARENDON, June 6 (AP)—When J. C. Estlack, editor of the Donley County Leader, Clarendon, makes a trade he sees it through.

Recently, he made an offer to accept 10 dozen eggs in payment for one year's subscription to his paper, anxious to do his bit toward relieving the farm depression. But he didn't specify what kind of eggs.

"I draw the line only on 'pipped' eggs" Estlack announced.

A few days later Ed. Wheeler of the Brice Flat community walked into the office with a basket of many colors, and in it were 10 dozen English sparrow eggs.

"I know when I'm licked," Estlack said "Wheeler's subscription was chalked up for a year."

A pecan training school was conducted at Natchez, Miss., this spring.

Tests at the University of Tennessee indicate that corn is a better ration for hogs than wheat.

Agriculture Is Busiest Of Industries In Panhandle

Wheat Harvest Is To Get Under Way In Short Time

(By Associated Press)

With the advent of "growing" weather in the Panhandle and South Plains regions during the last two or three weeks, agriculture has become the busiest industry.

Wheat farmers are getting ready to harvest a bountiful crop, beginning within two or three weeks, and row crop farmers are in the midst of activities of the planting season. Thousands of acres are being planted daily, and the planting will continue probably for another week.

Moisture Plentiful

An abundance of moisture throughout the Panhandle-Plains territory except for scattered spots, has offset the late cold weather that delayed planting in some localities. Practically all of the territory has had ample moisture to bring up any crop that has been planted.

The movement of wheat to the market will begin by June 15. The crop is estimated at 45,000,000 bushels, the largest in history.

Much wheat land will be planted to late row crop, scattered fields of beans and cudan grass. The latter crop will be planted extensively in the Muleshoe district because of the overproduction of grain sorghums. Millet and flax are other crops that are being experimented with as substitutes for small grain and grain sorghums.

Cotton acreage has been cut throughout the territory, and the acreage will be planted to feed crops and vegetables in a movement to "live at home." The production of grain sorghums will be greatly increased, largely because of the cotton crop reduction and the thousands of new acres that have been put into cultivation.

Estelline Man's Turkey Hen Keeps Right On With Laying

ESTELLINE June 6. (AP)—A turkey hen owned by J. E Masterson of Estelline mothers a brood of small turkeys during the day and lays an egg every night—sometimes two.

Masterson keeps the hen and her brood in a small coop, away from the rest of the flock, at night. Each morning he takes an egg from the coop, but on one occasion he found two.

Traders Get Reassurance Of Program

None Of The 300,000,000 Bushels Held By Co-Op To Be Turned Into Market Channels, Chief Avers

BY FRANK I. WELLER
Associated Press Farm Bureau

WASHINGTON, June 6—Wheat traders, nervous over the accumulation of huge stores by the grain stabilization corporation and the precipitate drop threatened in cash prices when the government support of the market ended, have been reassured of the farm board's holding program.

None of the some 300,000,000 bushels expected to be held by the corporation at the end of the old crop year, which approximates the entire American carryover, will be forced on either the domestic or the world market.

Definite assurance of that was said to have been given by Chairman Stone at a conference in which traders sought to unravel some of their knotty problems.

Foreign Sale Spurs Inquiry

Recent disposal of some 35,000,000 bushels of "stabilization" wheat abroad was understood to have occasioned the inquiry. Too, corporation stocks constantly have been trickling into the hands of domestic millers.

Stone explained that the corporation, which acts for the farmer owned and controlled national grain marketing association, had conducted both enterprises in fair competition and without depressing prices.

When the new crop comes on, all wheat which is moved into consumer channels will be replaced by purchases of equal amounts.

Release To Trade Opposed

There has been some trade sentiment that the store of stabilization wheat should be turned over to private interests, to take its proper place in the scheme of supply and demand rather than hang over the market as an unknown quantity.

Strenuous objection was voiced by cooperatives which felt such action might interfere with their "orderly marketing" program.

Stone said the thought of turning the wheat over to the trade was the farthest from mind.

The Woeful Walls Of Meknes

The Woeful Walls of Meknes encircle what is left of the most ambitious building scheme in North African history. Muiai Ismail of Morocco, who died in 1727, conceived this tremendous structure to house his 4,000 wives and hundreds of children. Fifty thousand white captives labored for 15 years in the construction of this edifice. The mortality was very high among these white slaves of dusky masters as a result of untold privations and indignities. Their dead bodies were forthwith immured in the structure, as their taskmasters believed that such an act would render the edifice indestructible. Meknes was the idea of a single man. The city was built and erected into the capital of the Moorish Empire, under the driving power of Muiai Ismail, who populated it with the overflow of his harem. By right of descendance Meknes is the most royal city in the world.

Marie Clashan Spoke A Language She Never Heard

The case of Marie Clashan Skotnicki of Warsaw, Poland, who overnight became possessed of the ancient Gaelic idiom, created quite a sensation in medical circles towards the middle of the 19th century. The child's only connection with this ancient language was the fact that she was descended on her father's side from a native of the Island of Lewis, in the Outer Hebrides, Scotland, who immigrated into Poland in the 18th century. For more than 110 years the language had been completely forgotten in Marie's family.

According to Prof. Sedgman there is no record of a similar manifestation of acute psychic atavism.

Speakers On Short Course Are Selected

Men Of National Prominence To Be Heard In Sessions At College Station, Enrollment Expected Large

(By Associated Press)

COLLEGE STATION, June 6.—Speakers of state and national prominence are scheduled to appear on the general program of the twenty-second annual Farmers Short Course during the week beginning July 27 at the Texas A. & M. College, an announcement by H. H. Williamson, vice-director and state agent of the Extension Service, discloses. An attendance of about 4,000 is expected, college authorities said.

Among speakers who have accepted invitations to appear on the general program are E. P. Creekmore, vice-president and general manager of the American Cotton Cooperative Association, New Orleans; L. T. Taber, master, National Grange, Columbus, Ohio; Former Congressman A. P. Lever, now with the Federal Farm Board, Columbia, S. C.; J. E. McDonald, state commissione of agriculture Austin; J. B. Thomas, vice-president, Texas Electric Service company, Fort Worth; Col. C. S. E. Holland, chairman, agricultural committee, Texas Bankers Association, Houston; William J. Tucker, executive secretary, State Game, Fish and Oyster Commission, Austin; President T. O. Walton, Texas A. & M. College.

A feature of the program for women, as outlined by Miss Mildred Horton, state home demonstration agent, Extension Service, will be talks and demonstrations on new uses for cotton by Miss Catherine Cleveland of the Cotton Textile Institute, New York. Others speakers on the home making program announced include Mrs. Leloise Davis Skelly, director, home economics, Texas College of Arts and Industries, Kingsville; Mrs. Cone Johnson, Tyler; Profs. D. Scoates, agricultural engineering, and Ernest Langford, architecture, of the college on house planning; and S. E. Asbury, division of chemistry, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, in "Untold Texas Stories."

Johnston Expects Light Turkey Crop Over South Plains

The 1931 turkey crop will be light in the opinion of W. T. Johnston, local manager of the Titman Egg corporation, who is in touch with the poultry situation over a wide territory on the Great Plains.

"We will have a better turkey market this fall I believe," he he stated. "There will be a fairly good price. Probabilities are the price will be considerably better than last year, but it is early to predict it."

The 1930 crop was between 60 and 70 percent of the 1929 crop, Mr. Johnston stated. Shortage was estimated at around 35 percent.

An unusual situation arose in the market that the sale of turkeys continued until long after Christmas. The birds offered for the Thanksgiving market were light in weight and did not bring a good price. For this reason many farmers held off until Christmas and the birds brought better prices.

Shipments of turkeys from Lubbock were made up in February, something unusual in the number of shipments made.

Dawson County Farmers Are Through With Planting Work

LAMESA, June 6. (Special)—Dawson County farmers have about finished planting of cotton and grain sorghums. According to those who have made surveys as to acreage, the usual amount of cotton and grains have been planted, placing the amounts at 200,000 and 175,000 respectively. Farmers declare the good seasons prevailing has insured good stands and a bright outlook for good yields this year.

Service Aids Rodent Work

Numerous Pied Pipers Being Mustered By Government And Extension Work To Be Of Aid To Farmers

(By Associated Press)

DALLAS, June 6—Uncle Sam has provided numerous Pied Pipers to assist the inhabitants of the United States in controlling rats and mice and all other rodents which are detrimental and injurious to agriculture and kindred interests. The bureau of biological survey of the United States department of agriculture has been designated as the control agency, and its employees, cooperating with the extension service of Texas, chambers of commerce, and county agents, serve the public with personal efforts and information about the best and safest methods for controlling undesirable species of rodent life.

The tune the pied pipers play is not discernable to the human ear as a series of musical notes. No playing of special tunes is used to drive away the rats, mice and other rodents. The plan is one of extermination by the use of suitable poisons which will endanger least human life and valuable animal life.

Habits Studied

The food habits and preferences of rodents have been studied, and these habits and preferences are used as a basis to determine what foods shall be used as a medium for destroying each and every detrimental rodent. Hard work and persistent effort are the best knowledge and efforts that are available for the destruction and repelling of all undesirable rodents, from homes, places of business and fields.

Call upon your county agent or chamber of commerce and he will get in touch with the Rodent Control Field Office, Federal Building, Dallas, Texas, and assist you in eradicating and controlling your rodent and avian pests.

Texas Onion Crop Acreage Is More Than Other States

SAN ANTONIO, June 6 (AP)—Texas will have an onion crop of 21,130 acres this year, according to reports made by G. D. Turk, truck crop estimator, through the Market News bureau here.

The Texas acreage more than doubles that of all other producing states, Turk said.

Most of the Texas acreage is in the early crop, consisting of Bermuda and Creoles varieties. The Collin county section of North Texas has 1,550 acres in the prizetaker variety for later harvest.

All other states have 9,110 acres in onions.

Texas also leads individual states in tomato acreage, according to the report. The Texas tomato crop totals 35,100 acres, compared with 42,030 acres in all other states.

North Carolina farmers are planting more feed crops this year than last year.

Railroads Aim At Speed To Rival Airplanes; Test Being Made On Models

Wind Resistance Is Cut Down By New Streamlining

PITTSBURGH, June 6 (AP) A new era of higher speed railroad travel is forecast by simultaneous scientific developments in Pittsburgh and Hanover, Germany.

Standard American trains doing 90 miles an hour are in prospect, while the German development is a new, light coach type that already exceeds 100 miles.

The new step in both hemispheres is the same, overcoming the powerful braking effect of plain air, and in both cases streamlining does it.

The Westinghouse research laboratory at Pittsburgh has some streamlined model trains resembling caterpillars and narrow, shortlegged beetles.

Set in a wind tunnel, these models show that at 60 miles an hour streamlining saves 25 per cent of the power required to drive the present shaped train, and at 90 miles an hour streamlining saves 35 per cent of the power.

Much Power Now Lost

Models of trains now running show that at 50 miles an hour one-third of their power is expended in bucking air resistance. At 60 miles this increases to 43 per cent, and at 90 miles to 60 per cent.

Even in the state of the weather runs into money in changing the air resistance at speeds of 90 miles an hour.

A low barometer adds about two per cent to the power required to maintain this speed. The low barometer means heavier air. A high temperature is likely to cut down resistance by about two per cent because it accompanies lighter air.

The Hanover experiment is a streamlined 50-passenger car called the "Flying Railway". It has a nose like an airship and a rear-end propellor that pushes it over the rails at a "normal" speed of 115 miles an hour.

This "airplane speed" is achieved with a 12-cylinder airplane motor of 500 horsepower. A fuel consumption of a quart of gasoline per mile at such speeds indicates what can be done to railway operating costs by substituting propellors for driving wheels.

Four miles to the gallon with 50 passengers aboard is cheap transportation, and even this is to be bettered by installing a heavy-oil airplane motor.

Riding in the "Zeppelin on wheels" at 110 miles an hour is a big disappointment to the passenger who expects a thrill. Except that telegraph poles and trees are blurring past the windows at an abnormal rate there is no sensation of unusual speed.

On the contrary, a cup of coffee served en route shows far less tendency to jump off the saucer than is common in the ordinary railway dining car at a speed of 60 miles an hour. Blindfolded, the average passenger would swear he couldn't be moving at more than 30 miles an hour.

Like Giant Worm

When this coach approaches the observer head-on it looks much like a gigantic metal worm slithering along toward him with menace in its oddly slanting eyes. The "eyes" really are streamlined windows through which the headlights peer while the pilot sits behind a wide, slanting window higher up.

Seen directly from the rear, on the other hand, the coach resembles a shaggy upside-down, with a huge four-bladed propeller waving lazily in the air.

With a fleet of several hundred such propellor coaches, the German national railways could, according to the inventor and builder of the "flying railway", Franz Kruckenberg, meet the speed competition of air lines.

The Netherlands has a population density of 610 a square mile, compared with less than 40 in the United States.

June "Queen"

Panhandle To Make Exhibits

Products Will Be Shown In Twelve Fairs Throughout Middle West; Three Displays To Be Shown

(By Associated Press)

AMARILLO, June 6.—Three composite exhibits of Panhandle products will be displayed at 12 fairs and expositions of the middlewest and southwest during the fall season, opening the latter part of August.

Itineraries for the three exhibits have been worked out by the Panhandle of Texas, Inc., a regional organization which is sponsoring colonization of the Panhandle-Plains country.

The first exhibit will leave Amarillo the middle of August, starting its first run at the Missouri State fair in Sedalia August 22. It will go from Sedalia to the Nebraska State fair at Lincoln, the Kansas Free fair at Topeka, the State Fair and Exposition at Oklahoma City, the Texas State Fair at Dallas, and the South Texas Exposition at Houston.

The second exhibit will be shown at the Iowa State fair at Des Moines, Mort Iowa fair at Mason City, Kansas State fair at Hutchinson, and the Oklahoma Free fair at Muskogee.

Only two cities are on the itinerary of the third exhibit. It will be shown at the Tri-State fair In Amarillo, and the Arkansas State fair at Little Rock.

It will be the third year that the advertising group has carried Panhandle exhibits into the middlewest.

ICE

Let Us Serve Your Home With Pure Clear Ice!

At the time of our Mothers' marriage many years ago, electricity was a known quantity but not as well known as it is today. In all probability she ate the wedding dinner by candles or an oil lamp. Her trosseau was not completed on an electric sewing machine. The final pressing was given with a stove heated "flat-iron' and not the modern electric one of today.

All in all, though, it was a happy union for now she realizes for her daughter the modern comforts of life on the eve of her departure into matrimony. Mother knows that the great spirit of the pioneer has made electrical comfort possible throughout the great South Plains. Knows that the Texas Utility company has strung miles and miles of wiring into every city and hamlet throughout the entire section to enable the brides of today and of yester-year to make use of modern electrical comforts. The iron, the washer, the radio, the stove, the percolator, the toaster, the lights and numerous other devices too numerous to mention.

The New Law On 'Trapping'

TEXAS has set about to put an end to 'hick town speed traps with the signing of the bill requiring law enforcement officers, while making arrests, to wear dark blue or gray uniforms. Further, the arresting officer must be fully clothed in cap, blouse or coat, and trousers of like color before the arrest is legal——and if he grows careless and fails to live up to the statute he falls liable to a fine of from $50 to $1,000.

To some people the new law may smack loudly of red tape—may indicate that the statutes seek to penalize the officer, rather than the law violator. But those who have been the victims of "traffic holdups", through which petty officials have been lining their purses, it will be hailed with applause.

All over the country the 'hick town speed traps' have become popular with a certain class of 'official' robbers', who hide behind their badges to prey upon passing motorists. So bold have the 'robbers' become that at least one nationally circulated magazine, Time, has set about exposing them. Time has a special department to which readers write, telling of the location of the trap and the particular 'racket' therein engaged.

More and more people are touring in motor cars and more and more of those autombilists are visiting Texas. Clearing our highways of the 'speed trap robbers' 'and traffic law racketeers' is not only justice, but also a method of insuring Texas' popularity with the visitor.

Of the hundreds of thousands of tourists driving on American highways, only a few purposely violate the traffic laws. For the most part, they are ordinary, every day American citizens, doing their best to enjoy a holiday and to escape the worries of business. To prey upon them, to subjct them to embarrassment with the end in view of collecting fines, is manifestly unfair and unjust.

Texas has taken a commendable lead in the campaign to clear the highways of jackals. While it may appear on the surface that the State Highway police are the 'goats' of the measure, such is not the case. It is the other 'officials' at whom the law is aimed.

TECH'S FINE RECORD

The 39th annual commencement of Simmons university, Abilene, held on Thursday, saw 107 graduates receive their diplomas.

Texas Tech will holds its fifth annual commencement tomorrow, when 169 graduates will receive their awards—another 100 or so to be given degrees in the August exercises.

The figures offer a new insight into Tech's remarkable record. They show how the new state school here has already outstripped its older rivals and contemporaries.

Practical Health Problems

CLEAN MILK IS ESSENTIAL

In promoting the standardization of milk we have observed that the laymen readily respond to the idea, because the American public is being educated to think in terms of standard grades, and the people as a whole like to know just what they are getting. If public health is to be protected and milk control work to progress we must depend upon the standardization of our milk products to drag us from the darkness through which we have been groping.

The public, demanding a standard grade of milk for school children and the apparent need for a safe, dependable milk supply for babies, when the foundation for the passing of the milk ordinance by our commission for the City of Lubbock. The basis for the popularity of this ordinance lies in the fact that it is of sound economic value as well as a most effective means for the protection of the milk consuming public of our city.

The purpose of regulating the production of milk and milk products is to increase the consumption, and to do this the consumer's health must be protected because no one would advocate the drinking of milk if the supply is of poor quality. Unfair competition between the producers of low grade and high grade milk has not made any impression on the minds of the public because they are educated to know that milk of low grade is unfit for human consumption.

Since the adoption of the milk ordinance some 4 or 5 years ago rapid strides have been made in the quality as well as the quantity, and this has been brought about by educating the public as well as the dairy man.

Good milk of safe quality can only be secured from healthy stock, so the first requirement for a safe milk supply is a healthy cow. To determine a healthy cow requires that she be free of any under infection, must be tubercle free as shown by the tubercular, test and free from all other infectious diseases likely to deteriorate the milk, and this examination must be done by a graduate veterinarian.

If cows are diseased their secretion is likely to contain abnormal constituents, or even disease producing organisms themselves, and it is needless to state that milk of this character should never be used and every precaution should be exercised to prevent the sale of such milk.

In Texas last year we had 1,000 cows with tuberculosis, and when you stop to consider the seriousness of this disease alone it is no wonder that the milk consuming public is demanding more rigid inspection and grading of our milk supply for the protection of our children.

The cows must be housed in properly ventilated stables of sanitary construction, and must be kept clean and properly fed and cared for.

All persons coming in contact with the milk must exercise scrupulous cleanliness and must not harbor the germs of typhoid fever, tuberculosis, dyphtheria or any other infection liable to be conveyed by milk. Sterile containers are always used, and this applies to milk pails, milk cans, strainers, bottles and any other substance with which the milk comes in contact.

Clean milk cannot be produced by careless methods or from unhealthy or diseased cows, and as milk is unquestionably one of the most important of human foods, it behooves every citizen to assist in every way possible to make our milk supply better.

Ponders Over Problem

BY CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, June 6.—Senator James Couzens of Michigan looked up from the pad on which he had been figuring—figuring out methods of laying a heavier impact upon the estates left by dead multi-millionaires, in part to supply the government with needed revenues, in part to break up the great concentrations of wealth which he blames largely for the present economic depression.

James Couzens repealed later.

"It isn't as simple as it looks," he complained.

The trouble is that aging multi-millionaires have a trick of giving their fortunes away to their heirs before they actually die, thus saving their hoards from the inroads of the tax collector. At first thought it may seem as if this dodge could be checkmated by taxing gifts, too—as was done for awhile, in fact; but the law was

"Second thought, however," observed the senator, "reveals a weakness in the gift tax. Small gifts, naturally, should not be taxed so heavily, in proportion, as very large ones, any more than small estates should be taxed at the same rate as great ones; it is not desired to prevent a man who is only moderately well-to-do from leaving his family provided for. Now, what is to keep an elderly multimillionaire from breaking one large gift up into a number of small ones?—in order to avoid the higher levy."

That Senator Couzens had not found the answer to this problem when I left him is neither here nor there—the point is:

How painful to America's little coterie of multi-millionaires must be the spectacle of the richest man in congress (as the Wolverine law maker generally is reckoned) racking his brains for an airtight plan to thwart plutocratic ambitions, which he frankly suspects, to found a few score mighty financial dynasties in the country!

As to the national concentration of wealth, the senator calls Secretary of the Treasury Mellon himself to witness that is exists already.

In a recent radio talk the secretary, after reminding his hearers that the government has come to rely upon income taxation for the bulk of its revenues, did indeed direct attention to the mere handful of vast fortunes which pay practically all the income taxes. "And if that," says Senator Couzens, "doesn't prove a tremendous concentration of wealth, what does it prove?" (Secretary Mellon, to be sure, intended it to prove that more folk ought to pay taxes.)

"Of course I'm aware," contnued the senator, "of the treasury's contention that heavy taxation of big incomes doesn't, in reality, fall upon the big incomes' recipients, because (as argued by the treasury) the latter include their taxes in the prices which they charge the consumers for the various things from which they derive their incomes.

"If that's the case, why does the big income taxpayer howl? If the consumer pays it for him, what does he care how high it is?

"But I maintain that an income tax can't be passed along.

"The salaried man certainly can't pass his on. Neither can the man with an independent income, from some business; competition interferes.

"Suppose 'A' owns an apartment house and operating it economically, makes money on it and has an income tax to pay. Suppose that 'B' operating a similar apartment house adjoining 'A's' is so extravagant that he has no income, hence no tax to pay. Nevertheless, 'A' can't charge more rent than 'B' in order to unload his income tax unto his tenants. If he tries, they'll leave him and go to 'B' for lower rentals.

"A monopoly, it's true," said the Detroiter, "as in a position to hand its tax burden on down the line to its customers.

"However, a monopoly charges all the traffic will bear, anyway.

"Lowering its taxes will do its patrons no good; the monopoly merely will make that much more money."

"Let income taxation be broadened, so as to reach comparatively small incomes," reasoned the senator, "and I submit that it will be equivalent to a general wage reduction, for most of today's recipients of such incomes are wage or salary earners, and they certainly will get less by whatever is taken away from them in taxes.

"It is urged, I know, that the consciousness of taxation's burden on them will make a greater number of voters more insistent than heretofore upon government economies.

"But pooh! They may be as insistent as they like; officeholders will pay no attention to them, because they will lack organization.

"If a million mere miscellaneous voters want something or other, no politician worries much about them, for they have no cohesiveness. If the representatives of 50,000 American Legionaires present their demands in Washington—ah, yes! that's different; organized strength is listened to.

"But an income taxpayers' league? Consider. A tax probably of $4 or $5 per member! A league assessment of $20 or $25! I doubt it. Without it—no influence whatever!

"That's why I say this country is run by organized minorities."

VETERANS' ADMINISTRATION

The new functional distribution of the services of the veterans' administration just announced by General Hines, administrator of veterans' affairs, is characterized by him as the second and major step in the reorganization of that agency of government. The present veterans' administration was established on July 21, 1930, by executive order issued in pursuance of an act of congress, and consolidated the previously existing veterans' bureau with the bureau of pensions and the management of national soldiers' homes. The new arrangement places the general direction of veterans' affairs in charge of four major offices, one being that of the administrator himself. The others are those of assistant administrators respectively of medical and domiciliary care, pensions and compensation, and insurance and finance.

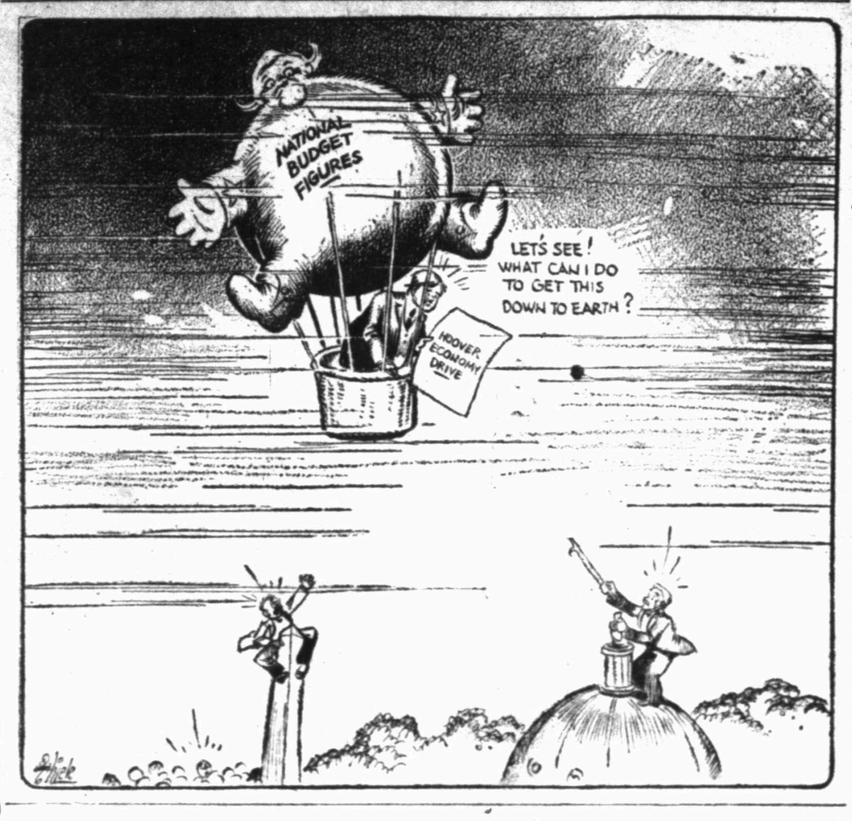

Administration of veterans' affairs is big business. The sum allotted it by the budget bureau for the fiscal year 1932 was in excess of $946,000,000, close to a quarter of the entire federal budget and more than the allotments to the war and navy departments combined. There is every prospect that the amounts which this agency is called on to handle will progressively increase. No department of the government has greater need of the most efficient, organization that it can receive.

BERYL BORDEN, secretly in love with TOMMY WILSON, discovers that he is planning to elope with her half-sister, IRENE EVERETT. So she and her "gang" kidnap Tommy and take him into the country where she urges him to continue in college and not break the heart of his aunt who is financing him. Failing to convince him, Beryl lets Tommy return to her sister, Irene, enraged at the long wait, refuses to listen to his pleas and postpones the elopement.

Next day Tommy goes fishing with his uncle and find Beryl and her gang on the beach. One of the boys, ANGIE REED, slips away from the crowd and is carried out by the tide. Tommy and Beryl rescue him and she is arrested while speeding for a doctor. However, when the officer understands he helps her get the doctor and soon Angie is out of danger. Tommy scolds Beryl and she resents it. And she finds it doubly hard to bear the mild reproaches of MRS. REED and the open insults of her jealous sister.

Irene informs Tommy that she has important news.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER VII

Irene was indeed anxious to tell Tommy her good news, but he did not give her an opportunity at once. The instant they were outside the house he plunged into his plea for an early marriage and Irene was so pleased with the humble tone he took that she let him talk on until they had come within a block of her home. The harder he pleaded the more effective her refusal would be, she felt. Her big news would be even bigger when balanced against his contrition for being unable to rush to her that morning as she had expected he would.

"Won't you," he said finally, and waited for an answer. Irene smiled in a mysterious, smirking fashion. "It's too late," she said dramatically. "The decision is taken out of my hands."

Tommy stared at her somewhat taken aback. "Huh?" he said stupidly.

"I mean that while you were spending your time with Beryl and neglecting me my big opportunity came—and thank heavens I was home to hear when it knocked on the door. Think of it!" she seemed carried away with the immensity of the thought. "If I'd gone with you last night, Tommy, I'd have missed the first real chance I've had in my career."

Tommy was still unenlightened. "Think of what?" he asked.

Irene regarded him supercilliously. "Of course you wouldn't know," she said loftily, "well to be explicit, my voice teacher telephoned this morning and I'm to have an audition at RKG tomorrow afternoon."

"Radio!" Tommy exclaimed.

"What a clever guess," Irene jibed.

"Why, that's great," Tommy said with genuine enthusiasm. "I'm really glad, Irene. I knew you'd get a break some day. But listen, we always planned on it. Why should it interfere with our marriage now?"

"Interfere!" Irene repeated explosively. "There's no question of my career interfering with anything. It's the other way 'round. Nothing is going to interfere with it!"

"But you don't understand," Tommy said despairingly. "I may need a lot of time before fall to fix things up with Aunt Em. Otherwise I might not go back to college."

* * *

Irene shrugged very Frenchily. She thought. "That's your affair," she said unsympathetically.

"Oh, have a heart, Tommy," he begged.

"Yes?" Irene mocked. "Well, you needn't be a dog in the manger, Tommy Wilson. There's no reason why I should put your interests before mine after the way you've treated me in the past 24 hours."

"I know," Tommy admitted ruefully. "But I couldn't help it. I didn't do it purposely."

"That's no excuse."

"Then you won't do it? You won't even consider it?"

"Not now. My mind must be entirely free to think of my future. And if you don't mind, Tommy, I'd rather you didn't come in. This has been a terribly strenuous day and I'm exhausted. I must rest and save my voice."

"Yes," Tommy agreed. "I suppose you must. Well, goodby, Irene. You're sure you don't want me to come in?"

"I'm quite sure. Goodby. I'll let you know about the contract as soon as I get home."

"What contract?" Tommy asked foolishly.

"Why, the contract I'll get with RKG, of course."

"Oh, yes. I see. Well, goodby."

"Goodby."

A wave of her hand, and she was gone to let her mother make her comfortable for her rest and refresh her throat with milk and nine oil. She was too excited to sleep although everything ordinarily conducive to slumber had been done for her by her doting parent. Mrs. Everett, peeping for the tenth time into the darkened room where she lay and finding her still awake, came in to coax her to close her eyes and try to sleep.

Suddenly Irene sat up in a flutter of excitement. "Oh, I forgot," she exclaimed. "I told Mrs. Reed you'd be right over. Something dreadful happened and it was all Beryl's fault. Really, Mother, I don't know what she'll get us into some day with her crazy ideas."

"What do you mean?" her mother asked fearfully for her eldest daughter's "wildness" was a never ending source of worry to her.

"I mean that she nearly let Angie Reed drown himself this morning. Poor Mrs. Reed is all upset and of course Beryl is trying to high-hand the whole situation. She even attempted to order Tommy around, but I settled that. Just the same, I think you'd better go over and see what you can do. It's the least this family can offer as an apology for Beryl's carelessness. Somebody ought to do something about letting her have her way with those kids."

Mrs. Everett sighed deeply. "I suppose I'll have to go over," she said with a touch of weariness. "But I wish you'd told me sooner. I was just starting a pie for dinner." She paused and looked at Irene hopefully. "I don't suppose you could finish it?" she asked timidly.

"Mother!" Irene rebuked her. "I've got to rest, you know that."

"I've got the apples all peeled," her mother ventured, but Irene cut her off.

"Please don't let anyone disturb me," she said irritably. "With all this on top of what happened last night I'm completely exhausted. And I hardly got started with Mrs. Reed before Beryl came in and turned the house upside down."

Mrs. Everett started to ask how Angie was, thought better of it as Irene turned over on her side, and went out, quietly closing the door behind her.

She went back to the kitchen and put away the things she'd got out in preparation for making the pie, took off her apron, and returned upstairs to make herself presentable. It was her belief, fostered by Irene, that it became her to hide the graying of her hair with henna. That Beryl thought it hardened her wrinkled features was only another proof in their eyes that Beryl was not smart in her taste.

And when Mrs. Everett touched her lips with rouge, she was happily unaware that their thinness was not adapted to the addition of false color. Rouge looked well on Irene's rosebud mouth and all fashionable women used it, they agreed, so why not Mrs. Everett?

She looked, as she walked hurriedly toward the Reeds' house, precisely what she was—the somewhat vulgarly dressed mother of a daughter who saw no beauty in age; a spoiled daughter whose taste and whims colored the more characterless mother's life in too many respects.

She carried with her an everlast-

Last Legislature's Graveyard Large Although Time Was Given Solons For Law Making

Most Controversial Matter In "Boneyard" Was Highway Issue; Many Others Included In Long List

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, June 6—The graveyard of the regular session of the 42nd legislature was large notwithstanding the lawmakers had 131 days in which to procure the passage of their "pet" proposals.

Numerous bills died because the legislature did not get to them while many others expired because they did not have enough votes.

Highway Bonds Fail

The most controversial matter consigned to the "boneyard" was the proposed constitutional amendment to authorize a state highway bond issue of $212,000,000. Its sponsors repeatedly tried to get the house to give it the 100 votes necessary for submission but they always failed.

Had the session lasted longer, however, they might have succeeded. On the first vote, they had 80 votes. On the last they had 97. The proposal was approved by the Senate the first time it was up on final passage.

The vote on the bond issue this year was little different from that two years ago. The Senate passed it then and the House gave it 97 votes. Proponents said they lost the fight in 1929 because three of their number were unwittingly paired with absent opponents and were unable to cast their votes for submission. This year, they said three supporters were absent.

Others Die

Other proposed constitutional amendments which passed one house but died in the other were gradual abolition of the state ad valorem tax, county home rule, and lessening the legislative representation of the big counties.

The resolution to abolish the ad valorem tax was passed by the Senate the same day the bond issue was approved. It was never brought up in the House. Proponents did not press for its passage after the legislature agreed to submit an amendment to provide for exemption of $3,000 of the value of homesteads from the state property tax.

The House passed both the home rule resolution and proposal to limit counties up to 500,000 population to five representatives, but not on the first trials. Two or three efforts to pass them were made in the senate, with proponents gaining strength each time. Three days before the legislature adjourned, they were brought up the last time. Each received 19 votes, while 21 would have been necessary for submission.

Permitted Consolidation

The home rule resolution, offered by Rep. Walter Beck of Fort Worth, proposed to permit consolidation of county and city governments and to allow counties to adopt home rule charters similar to those under which several cities now operate. It would have applied to the large counties.

Another proposed constitutional amendment which came close to approval by the House was that to permit the legislature to levy a graduated income tax, with a different scale on corporations from that on individuals. The legislature at present has power to levy a flat income tax.

Among the bills which died on the calendar were Senate, House and Judicial redistricting, the appointive oil conservation commission, public utilities regulation, the oil divorcement bill, restriction of the earnings of pipe lines, the oleomargarine tax, the amateur boxing bill, lessening of state liquor law penalties and the oil proration bill.

The bill to legalize horse races under the contribution system, repeal of the evidence clause of the search and seizure act and the intangible assets tax were among proposals killed on a vote. The bill to provide for state censorship of motion pictures was killed unanimously in House committee.

With Demand For Loans On Veterans' Bonus Certificates Already Over The Billion Mark, New Movement Is Made

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON, June 6 (AP)—News that loans to veterans on their bonus certificates have now exceeded a billion dollars, interesting as it is for the reason, that the demand for loans has been so much greater than anyone expected, is even more so in the light of persistent reports that a strong movement will develop in favor of forgiving the loans altogether.

The demand is expected to be heard at the American Legion convention in Detroit next September and although most Legion leaders presumably will oppose it there is bound to be some support in Congress and there is always the possibility that rank and file sentiment will run away with the more conservative officers of veteran organizations.

If the forgiveness movement makes progress the most optimistic thought for its sponsors is that Congress has always given veterans what they wanted, sooner or later. The principal dampening factor will be the huge treasury deficit. No one expects forgiveness by the next Congress, which, however, is likely to pass a widow's pension bill. If and when veterans' loans are forgiven the total of them probably will have exceeded $1,500,000,000.

Rumors that the Republicans would hire the radio team of Amos and Andy to campaign for President Hoover in 1932 have been current for several weeks but the Republican committee certainly has no such plan at this time.

Conservative politicains, worrying plenty about 1932, believe it would be a dangerous experiment and might prove ruinous. General agreement is that it will be safer to try to warn and admonish the voters than to try to kid them into voting the republican ticket.

Among the government employes here now, a bright researcher has found, are George Washington, John Adams, Thomas Jefferson, James Madison, James Monroe, Andrew Jackson, William H. Harrison, John Tyler, James Buchanan, Ulysses Simpson Grant, Chester Arthur, Benjamin Harrison, William McKinley, Theodore Roosevelt and Herbert Hoover. Hoover is a captain in the army Roosevelt governor of Porto Rico. Grant is director of public buildings and parks and the rest are to be found among the chemists, engineers, clerks, guards, messengers and other employes.

The same authority reports that Zachary Taylor, James K. Polk, Andrew Johnson and Woodrow Wilson are also to be found in the local telephone directory.

Invited to the Big Red Cross Golden Jubilee 50th anniversary banquet here, one Washington editor returned his ticket with word that he didn't think he would enjoy the food and decorations because so many people were starving.

Congressman David J. Lewis of Maryland, returned to Congress after about 20 years, probably will be the freemost Latin scholar and the hardest-working student in the new House.

During his previous service he learned French so that he might read autheritha for an exhaustiv study preparatory to a speech on reorganization of the House. When his bill to create the parcel post was up and they were about to divide up hour's time between sides Speaker Jim Mann announced that there was only one man on either side who knew anything about it, so it might as well have all the time. So Lewis had the whole time.

Some movie stars show more than an interest in reels when they fish for compliments.

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KING

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The Jap tea pickers sat around ate comfortably upon the ground and filled the big containers full of tea leaves. Scouty cried, "Gee, can I help you fellows pick? It doesn't seem it's any trick." And then he rushed right up and sat down by one picker's side.

The picker smiled and pointed to a big container, saying, "You can fill that one, my little friend. We're glad to have your aid." "Come on," cried Scouty, "Everyone can lend a hand and have some fun. It isn't very hard work, so you needn't be afraid."

So all the Tinies turned right in. The Travel Man soon spread a grin and shouted, "You go at that work as if it were just play. It's fine to see you help a bit, 'cause working keeps you feeling fit. But kindly hurry up, boys, 'cause we can't stay here all day."

They rushed along and soon had filled a big container. They were thrilled when one Jap picker handed them some coins and said, "I'll pay you lads for work that you've done fine." "For candy I will soon spend mine," cried Clowny. Then the Tinymites were once more on their way.

Soon Mister Travel Man said, "Stop! We'll visit in this little shop. It's where they make fine lanterns that you've often seen before. To watch the man will be real fun. I see him now. He's painting one. And, all around his shelves I'm sure he has a lot in store."

They walked in, shouting, "Howdy do!" The man said, "Welcome, all of you. Just make yourselves at home, wee lads. I shortly will be through. And then I'll show you 'round my place. A smile spread on each Tiny's face. They watched the man dob one big lantern with a brilliant blue.

Radio Men To Gather In Chicago This Week

Latest Ideas Of Air To Be Given In Meet

New Discoveries, Tubes And Sets To Be Displayed By Manufacturers; Reception Is To Be Improved

BY ISRAEL XLEIN
Science Editor, NEA Service

CHICAGO, June 6.—Radio engineers, manufacturers, dealers, broadcasters and amateurs, converging here from all parts of the United States, promise still greater improvements in the science, art and industry of radio.

The annual convention of the Institute of Radio Engineers reveals considerable research work being done for the development of broadcasting and reception. Synchronization is one of the major topics of discussion and short wave transmission another.

One of the most important subjects taken up by the engineers is the recent application of extremely short wavelengths for broadcast transmission. Use of wavelengths as low as seven or eight inches in length, they concede, will open up thousands of additional channels for amateur and commercial communication, while synchronization on one wavelength of a number of stations now using several will open up the broadcast field to many more applicants.

With greater "elbow room" for radio transmission, the engineers suggest such improved methods that the radio fan may soon expect much clearer and stronger reception in the new type receivers.

To Clear The Air

The scientists report considerable study of magnetic and other natural disturbances to radio transmission, and they express hope of solving that difficulty very soon. They are working on special transmitters and receivers for aircraft use, and they are improving the radio beacon system already introduced on some of the airways.

Television is another subject of absorbing interest among the engineers, but very little has been offered by way of discussion at the present meeting.

Yet from three great research laboratories come actual television receivers for display among the radio dealers visiting Chicago during the annual Radio Trade Show. These sets still are crude reminders of the types of unsightly sound receivers that used to be haled with so much enthusiasm 10 years ago.

They are bold forerunners, however, of what may be expected in the near future.

New Tubes In Midget Sets

Perhaps the most interesting phase of the Radio Trade Show includes the use of "variable mu" and "pentode" tubes, and superheterodyne hookups, in midget receivers. Many new types of midgets are here, most of them with improved hookups and tubes, all of highly attractive design and rather low in cost.

This promises to be a "midget" year.

Some radio set manufacturers plan to go further with production of what are called "pigmy" sets, ever smaller than the "midgets," for use in offices. Reception of stock market reports are intended, but the sets could also be tuned in for the local ball game.

An innovation in radio reception is a set based on an English hookup design by which extremely fine selectivity is obtained, heterodyne, static and background noises are almost eliminated and reproduction is quite clear.

For Better D. C. Reception

From a quick glance at other apparatus brought here for the show, there is further promise of improved direct current receivers, what with the introduction of several new direct current tubes and the receiver that makes use of a new type battery operating only two-volt tubes.

For the individual enjoyment of the fan, home recording is coming in strong, and several companies are introducing some inexpensive but good recording and reproducing equipment for this purpose. Home talkies, too, is expected to become popular, several manufacturers offering talkie units to be linked with the radio set amplifier.

Dawson County School Head Is Retiring Bond Warrants

LAMESA, June 6 (Special)—Dawson county has one county officer who believes in retiring outstanding bonds to save the peoples money. More than $50,000 in school bond warrants and bonds have been retired before due during the present administration of W. T. Webb, county school superintendent. Recently $6,900 were retired according to Webb. The life of the bonds retired are from a few years to thirty years, it is pointed out.

Anton Banker Offers Cooker To Best Home Garden Record

ANTON, June 6, (Special)—L. W. Clark, president of the State Bank of Anton, has offered a pressure cooker to the family in his community with the best record of a "live at home" garden plan.

During the time he has been here Mr. Clark has fostered the formation of a bull circle, 4-H clubs and other groups and also has sponsored plans for the improvement of cotton seed by use of pedigreed seed and for better grain sorghum seed for feed. He also has urged farmers to feed out their crops in livestock instead of selling the feed.

Jugoslavia has started an extensive reconstruction program.

Climb From Poverty To Riches Fails To Spoil "Charlie" Nash; He's Known As "Most Common Cuss In The World"

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the sixth of a series of articles being published by the Sunday Avalanche-Journal on "The Man Behind Your Car."

BY JAMES F. DONAHUE
NEA Service Writer

KENOSHA, Wis., June 6.—"The most common cuss in the world" sits behind the wheel of Nash Motors Company and watches the progress of his brain child. That man is Charles W. Nash, better known around these parts as "Charlie."

There's nothing about this man to mark him the millionaire he is. He is tall and inclined to be portly. He has lost some hair in front, making his forhead appear very high. He has a trim mustache which adds a sportiness to his 67 years.

In short, there's nothing to show that he's a millionaire who once felt dire want.

Nash was the son of poverty-stricken parents. He was born in DeKalb, Ill., in 1864.

At an age when most boys played marbles and went swimming, he was bound out to a farmer to serve him, until he was 21, in any way the farmer desired. When he became 21 he was to receive three suits of clothes, $100 and his freedom.

First Job as Carpenter

For several years Nash endured this drudgery. Then he decided to run away. That was when he was 12. The next year found him an apprentice farm carpenter. He received $9 a month, but he managed to save enough to buy 10 sheep. Three years later he owned 20 sheep.

That venture, Nash says, really started him in life.

He spent four years at this trade and managed during this time, and the time he spent on the farm, to complete the ordinary grammar school education by the time he was 17.

At 21 he married and went to a large farm near Flint, Mich., to become foreman for $240 a year. The first year the couple saved $150 of the salary.

But farming didn't appeal to Nash. He got a job as carriage trimmer in Flint and after 90 days became superintendent of the plant.

Goes to Buick

From then on he climbed steadily. He was made vice president and general manager of the plant and, in 1910, when Buick officials found the company in difficulties, they took Nash in to put it back on its feet.

It was then that Nash made a name for himself. He introduced a six-cylinder Buick and it sold fast. He cut down inventory, saved a dime here and a nickel there on each operation in the plant, instituted a quick turnover system, and the automotive world sat up and took notice.

In 1912 he was made president and general manager of General Motors Company and paved the way for the huge corporation it is now. It was he who recognized the worth of Walter P. Chrysler, took that young fellow from the railroad yards and made him president of Buick.

In 1916, due to a difference in operating opinion, Nash left General Motors. Two months later he organized his own company and began the production of Nash cars in this city. He's been going strong ever since.

Now Takes Up Sports

Here is a man who, due to early poverty and hard work in his middle age, had no time for play. So he naturally turns to play now. He is a great fisherman and hunter. All his spare time during open season is devoted to these sports and golf. Like all stout men, Nash is jovial. The corners of his eyes are marked with "tiny "crow's feet." They are marks which tell of the millions of laughs the man has gotten out of life despite his hard struggle. And his daughter is probably what keeps him so young despite the fact he is well along in years.

Men in this town swear by him. He keeps his office door open at all times so that anyone can take his problems before "the boss" for help.

And his four grandchildren think he's the best grandad in the world.

Brief Bits Of News About Autos And Auto Dealers

MANY SALES SHOW RECORD

More new and used automobiles were sold in Lubbock during the month of May than through any other period of four weeks this year, official registrations show. Seventy-six new automobiles were registered and 159 used cars changed hands. The total of new car sales during the first five months in the year is recorded as 253.

The Lubbock Auto company, Ford distributors, experienced its best month of the year in May, selling 28 new cars and 36 used machines. Kuykendall Chevrolet had its best month in April, but sold 24 new cars and 37 used automobiles in May. Except for the month of February, sales have shown a steady climb each month this year, with new car registrations recorded as follows: January, 36; February, 32; March, 48; April 61, and May 76.

An interesting feature of the sales is the close race between Ford and Chevrolet. So far this year, Chevrolet leads with a total of 79 new car registrations, with Ford registering 77 new car sales.

LAST WEEK ACTIVE

Fifty-eight automobile sales and trades were recorded along Lubbock's auto row last week, with used cars involving a greater percentage of the business. Forty used cars were moved off local lots, the Lubbock Auto company setting the pace with 12 trades and closely followed by the Hub Motor company with ten and Kuykendall Chevrolet with nine.

TIPPS JOINS HUB MOTOR

Hub Motor Company announced the acquisition of Ted Tipps, formerly a Chrysler salesman but more recently associated with the Davis Insurance and Loan company, to the sales staff. Tipps began his new duties early last week at the Chrysler house. He was with Joe Hilton Company, former Chrysler agency here.

SLATON MAN COMES HERE

Clarence Byers, formerly with the Slaton Motor company, Ford agency at Slaton, has joined the sales force of the Scoggin-Dickey Oakland and Pontiac company. Byers has been in the automobile business for a numer of years, though his work in the Oakland and Pontiac house is a change of scenery.

TO ATTEND CONVENTION

Several local dealers plan to attend the annual convention of the Texas Automobile Dealers association at Mineral Wells June 15 and 16. George Kuykendall of Kuykendall Chevrolet company here, an official in the T. A. D. A., is sure to go and George Benson, of the Lubbock Auto company, plans to attend. Others intend to go to Mineral Wells but have not announced definite intentions.

SCHOOL HELD HERE

A service school for Oakland and Pontiac service men was held at the shops of the Scoggin-Dickey house here Friday and Friday night with nearly every head mechanic and assistant of the South Plains territory attending. The zones service manager from Oklahoma City was here to conduct the short course, using as illustrations various parts of the automobile under repair. About forty men attended the short course. Pete Logan, head of the service department at the local Pontiac distributing house, returned late last week from a vacation trip.

SALES RECORDED

Selling and trading six new and 12 used cars, the Lubbock Auto company, Ford dealers, set the pace in that line last week. The following sales were recorded: Great Plains Potato Company, heavy duty truck; O. L. Culwell, town sedan; J. L. Johnson, standard sedan; Davis and Thornhill, truckers, heavy duty truck; E. S. Billings, heavy duty truck, and West Texas Gas company, pick-up, closed cab.

Kuykendall Chevrolet sold seven new cars and nine used machines, distributed as follows: J. R. Minton, special sedan; C. C. Arnold, coach; W. E. Humphries, standard coupe; Leroy Vaughn, coach; Guy L. Wheatly, coach; Oscar Nisler, coupe; and Harrison Brothers, heavy duty truck.

Royalty Motor Company sold two new Dodge 6 sedans. It was reported, but the company would not divulge the names of the buyers and they were not revealed on the official register. One used car was reported sold by the company.

L. M. Leftwich purchased a new Chrysler 8 sedan last week, and the Hub Motor company sold ten used machines.

New Pontiacs went to Mrs. Madaline Larmer and C. A. Ashley in last week's sales, with Scoggin-Dickey selling five used machines.

Ratliff-Rogers Buick Company moved three used machines but no new car sales were reported.

Exhibits Will Be Displayed By Industry

Between 25,000 And 30,000 Men Expected To Attend Sessions; Television Is To Have Part In Show

(By Associated Press)

CHICAGO, June 6.—Radio, an "infant industry" in years, is far from infantile in methods where national conventions are concerned.

Radio manufacturers of America plan to retain, in their convention and trade show here June 8-12 the distinction of presenting the largest industrial gathering in the United States.

Between 25,000 and 30,000 manufacturers, dealers and wholesalers are expected. Four of Chicago's largest hotels will be virtually given over to the show.

193 To Exhibit

The Radio Manufacturers' association has 193 members, and nearly all will have exhibits.

No whisperings of startling innovations to be displayed have been detected. Radio experts are making no secret, however, of the fact that the new stenode radiostat, a device giving extreme selectivity, will be featured in many of this year's models.

Short Wave Sets Shown

Sets provided with special apparatus for making short wave reception possible—a concession to the "DX" fans—may be much in evidence.

While television is not expected to be a vital factor in the show, several exhibitors are to have their wares on display.

"Business without ballyhoo" has been chosen as the slogan for the show, Dr. Julius Klein, assistant secretary of commerce, will deliver the principal address June 10.

not having much in store with which to reason. Pretty generally, but not always, good mechanical memory and good reasoning go together. On the other hand, some children with very good mechanical memory reason very little since they can get along in school and keep up with others in book learning without having to think or reason.

Because of the lazy habits such a child acquires, he may be a relatively quick forgetter of logical material. More likely he had never learned it in the first place. I have seen some very bright children almost or entirely fail in school because of bad habits of learning caused by too great dependence on their ease of mechanically memorizing. One boy, for instance with an I. Q. of 145 (with 100 as a standard) had been in school for two years making good grades in reading without having learned to read a word. He had such a good mechanical memory that when called upon he could seem to read whole pages from the school reader, completely fooling his teacher.

Encourage the child who memorizes easily to cultivate the art, exercising himself in committing to memory many beautiful literary gems and useful facts; also encourage him to translate what he reads into his own words. Unless he learns early to do so, such subjects as history and science will give him no end of trouble.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Two pamphlets by Dr. Myers may be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin, for each, and a self-addressed, stamped envelope, to Dr. Garry C. Myers, in care of this paper, or Central Press Association, 1435 East Twelfth street, Cleveland, O. The pamphlets are "Punishments and Rewards" and "Feat."

Travel Over Dal-Paso Road Encouraged By Association

LAMESA, June 6 (Special)—According to highway officials in this city, efforts are being put forth to encourage travel over the Dal-Paso Caverns Highway from East and Central Texas to the Carlsbad Caverns, this being the nearest route to the Caverns, which are at this time attracting attention of tourists.

The route is in splendid condition, it is reported. Information is being disseminated daily by Wm. A. Wilson, secretary of this association.

The subject of the lesson today is: "God the Only Cause and Creator."

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH
Main and Avenue N
R. C. Campbell, pastor

On accounty of the baccalaureate service at the college Sunday morning at 11 o'clock, there will be no preaching service at the First Baptist church. Sunday evening the second of a series of messages on "Christ Crucified in the Homes of His Friends, or the Modern Dance." The large congregation last Sunday evening showed that there was a keen interest in this vital subject. The first message had to do with the prevalence and peril of the present day dance. The message today will have to do with the price of the dance. Also, arguments for the dance will be discussed.

Another question in connection with the discussion will be: "What is the difference of opinion between Dr. Granbery and the pastor of the First Baptist church concerning young people, as expressed in the columns of The Plainsman this week?"

Sunday school starts at 9:30, B. Y. P. U. at 7 o'clock, and Sunday evening preaching hour at 8 o'clock.

Miss Marian James will sing "All On An April Evening."

Seed Is Slow In Germinating In Parts Of County

Some cotton seed from the south part of the state has been slow in germinating and according to many reports, farmers are considerably worried over the lateness of the germination.

In speaking of the matter George C. Cooper, president of the county farm bureau federation said he had been shipping cotton seed from South Texas into the Plains county for the past score of years, averaging a new seed crop about every four years.

"I have noticed that the seed we get from off the caprock often does not germinate as quickly the first year as does our native seed," he said. "But the next year the seed begins to show up as quickly as the seed we have had here. I guess that it needs to be acclimated first."

D. F. Eaton, county agent, in explaining the cause, said that the seed from the southern parts of the state had more lint than seed acclimated to this section. For that reason, germination the first year is slower.

is slower. "The more lint, the longer the time of germination" he said. "It takes more time. But when the seed becomes acclimated to the South Plains, I believe it will germinate as quickly as any other."

BLIND CHICKEN BORN

CLEBURNE, June 6 (AP)—A chicken without eyes was hatched at the home of Jack Smith here. The chick could follow its mother all right but could not see how to eat so it died. If it had not possessed a beak the back of its head would have looked the same as the front.
