Nation's Holiday Deaths Climb To 148

PILE OF JUNK — This was a 1949 Packard sedan before it crashed into the rear of a semi-trailer truck at 5:15 p.m. Saturday on the Plainview highway about eight miles north of Lubbock, injuring three persons. The accident was one of 14 in and near Lubbock as the Labor Day weekend began. Theron Cruce, 2, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Cruce, of 2722 N. Sixth street, received a gash on his side when he was thrown through the windshield of the car shown above, narrowly escaping death. His parents are under examination for possible broken ribs and internal injuries. (Staff Photo by Tom Davis.)

Seven Persons Injured In 14 Area Mishaps

SOUTH PLAINS motorists began a smashing Labor Day weekend Saturday with a series of traffic accidents in and near Lubbock that left seven persons injured, none critically.

Road mishaps, like wreckage on the highways, were scattered through the day and into the night, with a total of 14 separate accidents investigated by the Texas Highway patrol and the Lubbock police department by early today.

Car Rams Truck

The most serious mishap came at 5:15 p. m. about eight miles north of Lubbock on the Plainview highway, which resulted in the hospitalization of Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Cruce, of 2722 N. Sixth street, and their son, Theron, 2, who was thrown through the windshield of their car.

A three-month-old daughter Cynthia, escaped without injury when the Cruce 1949 Packard sedan crashed into the rear of a semi-trailer truck, causing heavy damage to the car.

Young Theron received a six-inch cut near his waist when he struck the windshield and was caught—half in and half out of the car. Cruce, 26, and his wife were examined at West Texas hospital for possible broken ribs and internal injuries and kept overnight for observation. Hospital attendants said all three were in a satisfactory condition.

The Highway patrol said Cruce, driving north, attempted to pass the truck, which was going in the same direction, as the truck made a left turn.

Trucker Is Uninjured

Driver of the truck, Elwood Taylor, 22, of 123 Aye. W, was not injured, nor was a passenger riding with him, Hibe Robison, of 1708 Ave. D. The truck, not loaded at the time of the accident, is owned by the Jeff Graham Trucking company. Damage to the truck was slight.

Mrs. Cruce said her son was in her lap when the crash, which threw him against the windshield came. The infant daughter was in a bassinet in the front seat.

Mrs. Cruce, the former Miss Edith Sarchet of Tulia, had worked as a nurse at West Texas hospital until about a year ago.

New Record Set In Bendix Race

(By The Associated Press)

CLEVELAND, Sept. 3. — Husky Joe De Bona streaked home first in the Bendix cross-country dash today to highlight a National Air races program given entirely to record smashing.

De Bona's victory in the thirteenth running of the 2,000 mile push from Rosamond Dry Lake, Calif., was made with an average speed of 470.1 miles an hour. The record of 447.9 MPH was set by Paul Mantz last year.

Says He Is Finished

Bill Odom, who likes oceans and continents for his records, hung one up in his first try at closed course racing today by winning the Sohio trophy at an average of 388.3 mph. He exceeded Tony Le Vier's mark set in 1947 by 28 miles an hour.

Odom has another big race ahead of him—the Thompson

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3. — Sen. Elmer Thomas (D-Okla.) today demanded a detailed accounting of White House and "high brass" air travel after Defense Secretary Johnson refused to assign a military plane to senators for a round-the-world junket.

Thomas, chairman of the military appropriations subcommittee which passes on all armed forces appropriations requests, called on Johnson for a full report on:

1. "Description of the use of the aircraft assigned to the President . . . since Jan. 1, 1949, including the destination, number of miles flown and estimated cost."

Information Asked

2. "Number of trips made by all military aircraft to the winter white house at Key West during the last two visits of the President."

3. "A complete list of persons using the so-designated aircraft 'Sacred Cow' (Mr. Truman's personal plane before the DC-6 Independence was commissioned) when the President was not aboard."

4. "Description of each airplane trip made at government expense by the present secretary of defense since taking office . . . a complete list of persons accompanying the secretary and the estimated cost of each trip including cost of crew."

Thomas also requested a report on all military and civilian personnel of the government who have aircraft assigned to them.

The Defense department said Johnson was out of the city "probably at his home" in Clarksburg, W. Va.

Estimate Of Area Cotton Output Hiked

By H. I. KIEFER
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

AN improvement almost without precedent in South Plains cotton crop prospects during the "critical" month of August was reported Saturday by K. N. Clapp, area observer for Anderson, Clayton & Co., Houston cotton firm.

Clapp's forecast of a crop of 1,385,000 bales, based on conditions Sept. 1, was 63,000 higher than his Aug. 1 prediction of 1,322,000 bales. The figures compare with 614,000 bales actually ginned last year in the 20 counties above the Caprock in Clapp's territory.

Normal Yield Foreseen

It is one of the few times during the 26 years he has been observing South Plains cotton that his Sept. 1 forecast has been larger than that of the previous month. August drouth last year caused him to cut his Aug. 1 prediction of slightly more than 1,000,000 bales to approximately 600,000 on Sept. 1.

Clapp's September forecasts in the past have averaged within about 3 per cent of actual ginnings, and usually have been under the final official total.

The observer's latest prediction created a paradoxical situation. It anticipates a crop far exceeding that of any previous year—the previous record was 959,000 bales in 1937. He expects the yield per acre to be about normal.

Forecast Disappoints Some

Yet the prediction caused disappointment in a good many circles—particularly those who had anticipated ginnings which might run higher than 2,000,000 bales.

Clapp conceded the probability that ginnings might run over 1,500,000 bales, if growing conditions are more favorable this month than he expects.

But he regarded a 2,000,000 bale crop as "out" unless conditions during the remainder of the growing season are phenominally favorable.

With the weather which reasonably must be expected during September and October, Clapp said he expects ginnings to fall short of 1,500,000 bales.

But he also expects them to range up or down from his 1,385,000 bale forecast, according to whether the weather is favorable or unfavorable during the next

Traffic Mishaps Take Grim Toll In Victims

280 Expected To Die In Car Accidents As 33 Million Autos Travel Highways

(By The Associated Press)

THE nation's toll of accident dead climbed to 148 by the end of the first full day of the three-day Labor day weekend. Since 6 p. m. Friday, 127 persons were killed in highway mishaps by Saturday night. Eleven persons drowned and 10 others died from various accidental causes related to the holiday.

The highway toll rose steadily as an estimated 33,000,000 cars took celebrants to vacation spots.

The National Safety council had made this grim Labor day prediction:

"Between 6 p. m. (local time) Friday, and 6 p .m. Monday, 280 Americans will die in traffic accidents."

On Labor day weekend last year the traffic death figure was higher than that—293.

The 293, plus 60 persons drowned, and 54 more killed in other mishaps, ran the 1948 holiday's violent death toll up to 407.

In the Chicago area, the president of the Chicago Motor club, Charles M. Hayes, said that the flight of vacationists to the surrounding playground areas had, on some major roads, topped the flood of last July 4. Independence day crowds then were among the largest in history.

New York Swamped

As the holiday observance got underway, city people flocked to the country; people from the country came to see the sights in the big cities—drawn by baseball games, parades and bright lights, International News Service reported.

The nation's largest city, New York was literally swamped with incoming travelers. It was the biggest influx since July 4. Outgoing New Yorkers jammed railroads and airlines. Officials said 70 extra sections have been added to departing trains and 111 extra flights have been added.

In addition, some 400,000 New Yorkers used their autos to leave the city.

Capital Workers Leave

In the nation's capital the big movement was out with thousands of government workers taking advantage of the long holiday for a brief visit home. Yesterday, 20 additional trains were added and still more were scheduled for today. At Washington's Union station 16 extra ticket booths were opened to handle the rush. Airlines and buses were also jammed.

An estimated [illegible] ans were expected in the city over the [illegible] fling of the Sa[illegible]ce reported that auto traffic was "extremely heavy"—from 10 to 20 per cent over last year's Labor day traffic record.

Thousands of travelers converged on Cleveland, where the big attraction was the National Air races.

Travel was reported heavy in the South. Here showers were predicted over the weekend. The weather forecast for the rest of the nation was generally fair and mild.

In the West, rodeos, fiestas and parades were scheduled in many areas and travel was expected to be heavy.

Hundreds of thousands of autos were on the highways in California and extra airline flights were scheduled from Los Angeles and San Francisco. Railroads and buses also did a rushing business.

Probers Hear Firm's Claims

By GLENN M. GREEN

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3. — A member of the Senate "five per cent" investigating committee demanded today that the group look into a Washington firm which "modestly" boasts of "pulling a few rabbits out of hats for some of our clients."

The senator, Karl Mundt (R-SD) made public a circular letter from the firm, the Earl C. Noyes agency, public relations counsellors, which he has referred to the committee staff for investigation. The letter said:

"When 'in trouble with the government' or if you need or want anything done in Washington it may pay you big dividends to get in touch with us."

Firm Is Described

The multilith form missive was signed by Earl C. Noyes. It said the firm's "small, closely-knit, seasoned staff" would act as "your government representative and expediter at any of the 1,800 agencies, departments, bureaus, corporations or other units."

Noyes declared that the letter was written "during the heat of the Senate investigation." He explained that it was aimed at garnering "for a legitimate firm" the business abandoned by the unethical management representatives "driven out of Washington by the probe."

He asserted that his agency functioned "exactly as a manufacturer would, if he were in Washington himself," and added:

"I know absolutely no one in 'high places.' "

The Senate committee currently is conducting an investigation of "influence peddling" by Washington operators on the behalf of businessmen seeking government contracts.

Move Just Southwest Of Present Downtown Area Seen

Major Shift By Several Firms To New Locations Planned Here

By BILL CLARK
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

A SERIES of large real estate transactions which promise to change drastically the retail business picture of downtown Lubbock are in the offing, investigation revealed Saturday.

More than $700,000 worth of property is involved. Contemplated construction, which might include two six-story buildings, total more than $2,000,000, conservative estimates indicate.

Of far more significance, however, is the effect present plans would have in shifting the "heart" of the downtown business district a block south of Broadway and several blocks west of the courthouse square.

Options Are Revealed

tions of Thirteenth and Ave. K and Fourteenth and Ave. K, as follows:

Citizens National bank has obtained option to purchase the present Hemphill-Wells company building at Thirteenth and Ave. K for conversion to a bank and office building, together with vacant lots behind the building on the northwest corner of Fourteenth and Ave. K; four lots on the southeast corner of Fourteenth and Ave. K; and four lots on the northeast corner of Fourteenth and Ave. L.

Retha R. Martin, president of the Dunlap company, has an option to lease on a 31-year term three lots on the northwest corner of Thirteenth and Ave. K, with a four-to-six-story department store building presumed to be contemplated. (The site is now occupied by Bryant's Taxi Company.)

First Federal Savings and Loan association has obtained an option to purchase the west half of three lots on the northeast corner of Fourteenth and Ave. K, as a site for construction of a permanent home for the association. (The property, vacant at present, is behind the old Kuykendall building.)

None of the options has been exercised, but action on all except Martin's option will be due in less than 30 days. His is a 90-day option.

The transactions have been handled by Robert W. Wright, Lubbock realtor, who Saturday issued this statement:

"Options have been executed for the purchase and lease of certain properties . . . which, if options are exercised and other details worked out satisfactorily, may result in construction of three or more modern business buildings, including a bank home and office building, a large store, a home for

Lubbock Unions Schedule Heavy Labor Day Observance Program

By EMMETT SHOCKLEY
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

ONE of the fullest programs in recent years has been planned for the annual Labor Day celebration here Monday, according to a special union steering committee headed by Garrett Fox, which completed final plans for the day's festivities late Saturday.

On the day's program is a parade Monday morning, a barbecue and gathering at Mackenzie State park and a dance.

Dr. D. M. Wiggins, president of Texas Tech, is slated to give the principal address of the day at a noon barbecue for union members in Mackenzie State park.

Many Activities Planned

The barbecue will be preceded by a parade through downtown Lubbock shortly after 10 a.m. The coronation of the Queen of Labor Day, to be chosen from seven contestants, and a Monday night dance at the VFW clubhouse are other high points of the day's activities.

The parade, the first major event of the day, will feature almost two dozen floats representing local crafts unions, women's auxiliaries, civic organizations, and Lubbock merchants. Mayor W. H. Rodgers will act as parade marshal, and will lead it in an official car behand a police escort. The VFW will provide color bearers and guards.

The parade will begin at the corner of Ave. N and Main promptly at 10 a.m. It will proceed south down Ave. N to Broadway, east down Broadway to Texas Ave., north to Main, and then west on Main to the starting point.

Most business houses will open for business as usual Monday, but openings will be delayed until 10:30 a.m. so that employes may see the parade. Banks and government offices will observe the Labor Day holiday, as will most building material supply houses, such as lumber yards and paint stores, and other businesses directly connected with union labor, which will observe the holiday. The general delivery window at the post office will be open from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m., but stamps will not be sold, nor any other window service provided.

Float judging will be from the

Mortgage Loans Set Mark Here

An all-time record for residential mortgage loans was believed established in Lubbock during August, when 207 loans totaling $1,125,578 were completed.

Concurrently, construction volume took a sudden upsurge during the month for a total of $1,201,698 in August. It was only because of a technicality that another permit totaling $2,511,000, for the Modern Manors apartment project, was not added to the month's total.

Permits Exceed $7 Million

The year's construction total in Lubbock now stands at $7,717,144, and when the Modern Manors addition is brought into the city limits the $2,511,000 permit for that project will be added to the total. In actuality, Lubbock's building total therefore stands at $10,288,144 now, with the Modern Manors project included.

The mortgage loan volume was totaled by Weldon Gibbs of First Federal Savings and Loan association, who used deeds of trust filed in the office of County Clerk Louie F. Moore as his source.

His figures include only residential mortgage loans of $20,000 or less. Mass dwelling unit projects are not included, and neither are non-residential mortgage loans.

Negro's Body Is Found On Street

The body of a negro, Thurmond Ross, about 35, of the 1600 block Ave. B, was discovered early Saturday lying in the 300 block on Sixteenth street.

Corinne Childress, a negro woman, discovered Ross at 6:35 a.m. and called the police. C. E. Lynn, justice of the peace, the district attorney's department and other officials conducted an investigation.

Dr. J. A. Chatman, negro physician, and the county health officer, Dr. Fred P. Kallina, told Lynn there were no signs of external violence and that Ross apparently had died of natural causes. The inquest verdict reflected that finding.

Bond Set In Case

A negro woman, Jo Williams, about 35, of the 1700 block Ave. C, entered a plea of not guilty to a charge of possession of beer for the purposes of sale. She was released after bond of $400 set by County Judge Walter Davies was posted. The charge was filed by the Liquor Control board after her arrest by the Lubbock police department.

A. W. Phillips, of Clarkesville, reported he lost a brown leather billfold containing $14 and personal papers around noon Saturday in downtown Lubbock.

Couch Sentenced To 50 Years For Murder; To Appeal Case

AMARILLO, Sept. 3. (AP)—Sam C. Couch tonight was sentenced to 50 years in prison by a 47th district court jury that convicted him of murder.

The jury received the case at 5:32 p.m. and returned its verdict at 11:20 p.m.

States attorneys had left the penalty up to the jury.

Defense attorneys said they would appeal.

Couch, Amarillo used car dealer, is charged with fatally shooting his business associate, Jesse F. Tennyson, on Nov. 10, 1948. The state presented 19 witnesses, the defense nine.

Thundershowers Are Predicted For Area

Partly cloudy skies, with scattered thundershowers, were forecast for the South Plains area for the Labor Day weekend today and Monday, as thunderclouds which gave parts of the Panhandle heavy showers Friday night and Saturday morning, moved steadily southward.

Unless showers intervene, the high in Lubbock today will be about 90, but probably will cool off somewhat Monday for Labor Day festivities here, the Weather bureau station said last night.

A low pressure trough which caused winds as strong as 25 miles per hour here Saturday, moved east early this morning, and little wind was forecast for today and Monday.

Slayer Says He Is 'Not Sorry'

DALLAS, Sept. 3. (AP)—"I'm not sorry I killed her—I'd do it again," Keith Petersen said thoughtfully today.

"Yes, under the same circumstances, I'd do it again. I loved her for seven years and I lost her. Then I lost my head and shot her."

The 21-year-old college student, son of wealthy parents, was perfectly calm and poised as he related in detail interview how he fatally wounded his beautiful sweetheart, Carolyn Schofield, yesterday.

"I bent down and picked her up and I kissed her dying lips."

May Plead Insanity

Miss Schofield, 20, was slain in a downtown office building—in the office of a geologist for whom she was a secretary. She and Petersen quarreled almost two hours before he killed her with a new pistol. A murder charge was filed against Petersen today.

An instructor at Southern Methodist university where young Petersen was a junior journalism student described him as: "Intellectual, very spoiled and highly intelligent."

Women's Group Buys Building On Broadway For Clubhouse

By MARGARET TURNER
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

PURCHASE of the Plains Funeral home building, 2020 Broadway, for use as a long-awaited Lubbock Women's clubhouse, was announced Saturday by Mrs. James G. Allen, president of the board of directors.

The 17-room, two-story structure, Colonial type of white brick veneer, was bought for $50,000 from Bryan McDonald; the board, through authorization of the advisory committee, paying $20,000 cash and assuming a loan of $30,000 indebtedness.

Negotiations for the sale have been going on for several weeks.

A mass meeting of the Lubbock Women's club has been set for Monday, Sept. 12, at 4:30 p. m. at the building, at which time the following committee members will be announced: House, emergency, kitchen, gifts and donations, membership and service. Amending the charter also will be discussed.

The realization of the clubhouse is culmination of years of work and dreaming on the part of Lubbock women. Since the club was organized Feb. 12, 1945, participating clubs, individual and life members have raised more than

Top Attractions Announced For Panhandle-South Plains Fair

THE finest grandstand entertainment at the lowest prices in the history of Panhandle-South Plains fairs were announced Saturday for the 32nd annual exposition to be held here Sept. 26 through Oct. 1.

The night attraction will be an elaborate musical revue, "A Trip to Wonderland," requiring a personnel of approximately 100 people for its presentation.

Afternoon entertainment has been scheduled at the stand only for Tuesday and Saturday, featuring the "Lucky Lott Hell Drivers."

Grandstand Prices Lowered

Another announcement Saturday was that the Forsythe & Dowis carnival will present as a free attraction on the midway Edmondo Zacchini, who will be fired nightly out of a cannon to a small net 200 feet away.

The grandstand price schedule, as announced by Neil Wright, jr., president of the fair association, will be $1 for adults and 40 cents for children, both including tax. The amounts are substantially lower than admission charges to grandstand attractions of the past.

"We hesitated to set these prices because we feared patrons might conclude the fair is offering cheap

Good Attendance Is Indicated For Salesmen's Barbecue Here

More than 200 reservations had been reported at noon Saturday for the chicken barbecue in Mackenzie State park at 6:30 p. m. Friday honoring traveling salesmen who reside in Lubbock and those who travel the South Plains territory.

Reports still were incomplete, according to Jim Crook, assistant manager of the chamber and secretary of the arrangements committee, of which Irving L. Jones is chairman.

More Than 500 Expected

Expectation is that attendance will exceed the approximately 600 persons who were present at the second annual event last year.

Of the reservations reported, Crook said, about 150 are for salesmen and their guests who will receive free tickets.

Other reservations have been made for representatives of Lubbock business establishments. The number thus far has been disappointingly small. Hopes are that as many of these will be on hand as salesmen. Reservations should be made not later than Wednesday by calling the chamber of commerce, telephone 4666.

Dr. D. M. Wiggins, president of Texas Technological college will be master of ceremonies. Entertainers will include the Notables quartet, the Kiwanis Hotshots and Lewis Zafran, nationally known amateur magician.

The barbecue has been arranged as an appreciation to the salesmen for their loyal boosting of Lubbock. Sponsors are the chamber of commerce and The Avalanche-Journal.

Water Group Names Officers

W. O. Fortenberry, Monroe farmer and ginner, was re-elected president of the Lubbock County Water Conservation association Saturday afternoon at a meeting in the 72nd District Court room.

L. A. Howard, a lawyer, was re-elected vice president, and Bob Bean was re-elected secretary.

The association heard talks from State Sen. Kilmer Corbin, State Rep. Preston Smith, Arthur Duggan of Littlefield, the association's attorney, F. W. Struve of Abernathy and club officers.

Struve was appointed chairman of the finance committee.

Duggan outlined the association's part in killing legislation that would give the state ownership of underground water and helping in the enactment of House Bill 162, which provides for the establishment of underground water districts.

"Such districts would have the power to recharge the underground water sands, regulate spacing of wells, insure proper construction of wells, prevent waste, require drilling permits and to make studies concerning conservation," Duggan said.

Such a water district could be established or dissolved at the voters' will, according to Duggan, and would not have any jurisdiction of wells pumping less than 100,000 gallons of water a day or temporary wells such as are found on oil well sites.

Few Expected To Receive Farm Home Loans Under New Measure

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3 (AP)—The Farmers' Home administration expressed belief today that farm home loans under the new housing law will average only about five or six to a county during the first year of operations if Congress provides authorized funds.

The loans, agency officials estimated, would average $2,200.

During the next four years, as more funds are appropriated by Congress, the number of loans will be increased, they said. The loans will be made only in deserving cases where local credit at reasonable rates is unavailable.

The housing act authorizes $25 million[illegible] loans for housing and other[illegible] the first year [illegible] grants and loans [illegible] provements where there[illegible] or safety hazards.

Safety Department Teaches Law Enforcement To Officers

AUSTIN, Sept. 3 (AP)—The Texas Department of Public Safety taught 937 peace officers how to enforce the law during the fiscal year ending Aug. 31.

Homer Garrison, jr., public safety director, reported today that 201 rookie highway patrolmen and drivers license examiners were graduated from 19 schools; 185 department members received in-service training; and 551 city and county officers graduated from schools offered by the department.

A school was held for newly elected sheriffs and their deputies, and classes were held in several cities for the benefit of local officers.

Seaman Accused Of Desertion Awaits Verdict Of Court

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3 (AP) — Seaman Patrick Joseph Ryan now must "sweat out" a naval officer's review of his court martial before learning his penalty for missing his ship.

He hopes his story that he was "shanghaied" into the French Foreign Legion, and the scars and broken teeth he says he got in that rugged army, will win him leniency.

A five-man Navy court martial adjourned yesterday without acquitting 24-year-old Ryan of a charge of desertion. Navy legal experts said the action amounts to a finding of guilty but leaves the way open to reduce the charge—perhaps to "unauthorized leave."

Decision Due Tuesday

Cmdr. Lloyd Straits, president of the court, said a decision was reached but it would have to remain secret until reviewed by Rear Admiral Glenn Davis, Potomac naval station commandant who convened the court martial.

Davis was expected to announce his and the court's decision Tuesday. He has the power to set aside the court's sentence or reduce it but cannot increase it.

Before the court retired, Lt. Comdr. R. H. Kroetz, Navy judge advocate general, introduced Navy records showing that Ryan had previously been convicted of desertion from October to December, 1946, while stationed at Brooklyn, N. Y.

The court in that case gave him the maximum penalty—two years confinement and dishonorable discharge. This sentence eventually was cut to a rating reduction and six months on probation.

Story Related

He was restored to active duty in May, 1947, two months before he missed his ship out of San Remo, Italy.

Asked if he had a final statement to make, Ryan told the court tersely:

"Sir, I was granted liberty leave from my ship on July 3, 1947. I got tight. When I came to, my ship was gone. I tried to get to it. I was shanghaied into the French Foreign Legion. I've got scars all over my body from the beatings I had to take. My teeth were knocked out.

"I was sent to Indo-China. I got into China. There I lived on any kind of food I could get — cats, dogs, rats. I got back to the Navy and it turned me over to stand trial for desertion."

Kidnaping Disbelieved

In summing up the Navy's case, Kroetz told the court he did not believe Ryan's story about being "kidnaped" into the French Legion. He did believe "100 percent," he said, Ryan's story of beatings and hardships in the Legion.

"I don't believe Ryan wanted to go back to his ship," the officer said. "The reason was not shown. But there was a girl in the picture . . ."

If found guilty of desertion, Ryan faces two years confinement and dishonorable discharge as the maximum sentence.

But if the court believed he didn't deliberately intend to desert but was AWOL, the maximum sentence is six months confinement plus the number of days of unauthorized leave. He said he tried to reach his ship in France after being "passed out" for three days.

JAYCEES PLAN CANVASS OF CITY

Drive For 1,500 New Matador Club Members To Open Monday

"Join the Matador club!"

That's the slogan 70 Jaycees will have on their lips Monday when they will begin a week's drive to recruit 1,500 new members to the club, a volunteer organization to create interest and lend moral support to the athletic activities of Texas Tech.

This year, the club will be patterned after the Frog club of Fort Worth and the Mustang club of Dallas, according to Matador President Paul Cates.

What Club Offers

The club this year will offer its members the following considerations:

1.—Desirable parking space reserved on a first come, first serve basis.

2. Admission to all secret workouts of the Red Raiders.

3. Opportunity of improving season ticket seat locations.

4. Best vantage points at the Monday night showing of Tech football films and quarterback sessions with Coach Del Morgan and his staff.

5. Subscription to a monthly news letter containing the latest information on the various teams, their players and club activities.

6. An opportunity of having a voice in improving the athletic program.

No Official Connection

Bernard C. Vincenti, chairman of the Jaycee Public Affairs committee, which will canvass the entire city for new members, said the Lubbock Junior Chamber of Commerce actually has no official connection with the Matador club.

"We feel every civic minded citizen should belong to the club to insure full support and adequate interest in the school's athletic program," Vincenti said.

R. S. Wilkinson, president of the Jaycees, said "We want the students of Tech to know the business men of Lubbock are interested in the school's athletic program and activities."

Divided Into Districts

The Public Affairs committee composed of Vincenti, Guy Eagan, vice chairman; Dorcell Young, Jack Garrett, Harold Banks and Jim Little, has divided Lubbock into 70 districts to be canvassed by separate Jaycee teams.

Individual membership cards and organizational membership certificates will be issued to each member along with automobile windshield stickers to insure admission to the reserved parking area.

Coach Morgan, Vincenti, Wilkinson, Cates and several Tech gridmen will be interviewed over Radio Station KFYO from 6:45 p. m. until 7 p. m. Monday night to give the listening public a brief insight of the prospects for the coming season.

937 Texas Peace Officers Are Given Training During Year

AUSTIN, Sept. 3 (U.P.) — Law enforcement training was given to 937 Texas peace officers during the last fiscal year, the state department of public safety announced today.

Homer Garrison, jr., director, said the 19 schools conducted by the department trained 201 rookie highway patrolmen and drivers license examiners, 185 highway department members and 551 city and county officers.

The fiscal year ended Aug. 31.

Expert Motorcycle Rider Killed By Skidding Machine

AUSTIN, Sept. 3 (AP)—Harold M. James, 26, considered one of Austin's expert motorcycle riders, died today of injuries received when he was thrown from his skidding machine.

Police said James apparently lost control of his motorcycle when it hit rough pavement or loose gravel.

The machine skidded about 39 feet along the pavement, jumped onto the sidewalk of a bridge and went 55 feet more before the rider was thrown.

James was treated at a hospital for shock, a fractured right arm, multiple cuts, and internal injuries. He died an hour and a half after reaching the hospital.

He had worked with his father, P. R. James, sr., at the Austin Motorcycle company. He had driven motorcycles since his youth and was known in Central Texas for his expert riding.

Navy's B-36 Probe May Swing To Major Warplane Builders

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3. (INS)—The Navy planned today to investigate reports that several big-name warplane builders, in addition to already-mentioned Glen L. Martin, furnished information for the "anonymous" document which attacked the B-36 program.

Officers connected with the naval court of inquiry which on Tuesday begins a searching probe of how the document came to be prepared said word has been received that certain aircraft manufacturers, disgruntled over contract cuts in favor of the B-36, supplied data.

Paper Brought Probe

The critical paper, charging procurement irregularities, resulted in the recently-recessed congressional investigation, during which testimony was received that Martin, Baltimore dean of American aircraft constructors, contributed information to its author.

Identity of the other alleged contributors was not obtainable but several big plane building companies were affected some time ago when the Air Force canceled $300 million worth of contracts to expand the B-36 program.

Cedric Worth, suspended special assistant to Navy Undersecretary Dan Kimball, admitted authorship of the document before the House Armed Services committee after it had circulated anonymously for many weeks.

Worth testified that he received information for inclusion in the document from Martin and two widely-known naval officers. The officers are:

Commander Thomas D. Davies, who piloted the renowned "Truculent Turtle" on its 11,000-mile record nonstop flight. Davies will be the first witness before the court of inquiry as it seeks to determine if additional naval personnel were involved in preparation of the Worth charges.

U. S. Zone Flooded By Germans From Soviet Held Sector

FRANKFURT, Germany Sept. 3. (AP)—More than 42,000 Russian zone Germans "invaded" western Germany today without papers or authorization from the allied side. Tonight most of them had returned to the east.

The invading Germans smashed through border barriers, overwhelming western police and U. S. soldiers along a 600-mile frontier from the Baltic to Czechoslovakia. They forced their way into the British and American zones.

The opportunity for their entry came from Russian celebration of "peace day" on the 10th anniversary of the starting of World War II. The Soviets relaxed their border controls for the occasion. The apparent reason for the enthusiastic German response to lowering the barriers was the desire for such items as food, shoes, and something to drink.

Business Picks Up

Shopkeepers in the American zone did a rush business in these items, exchanging one west mark for 5.40 east zone marks.

Western allied authorities were unable to say whether the German mob action was encouraged by the Russians or whether it was just eagerness of the east zone Germans to go west. It appeared to be a bit of both.

Late tonight a majority of the "invaders" returned to the Soviet zone. They went back with parcels under their arms and food in their baskets. Some were reeling drunkenly and some were accompanied to the border by relatives they had visited over the line.

Normally, properly authorized interzonal passes are required for travel between the east and west.

Private flying is reported making good progress in Venezuela.

Federal Grand Jury To Report

The first federal grand jury to be impaneled here in 14 years will report to Judge Joseph B. Dooley, of Amarillo, Wednesday morning.

Judge Dooley will convene a new term of the Lubbock division of the Northern Federal district at 10 a. m. Monday, and will call his dockets for setting.

A petit jury will report a week later.

An estimated 15 to 20 cases may be presented to the grand jury for investigation.

No Special Meaning

Court officials said there was "nothing particularly significant" about the impaneling of a grand jury here—for the second time since creation of the district.

It just means, it was explained, that now the district has a West Texas judge and it is as convenient to have grand juries assemble in far West Texas as it was to have them impaneled in Fort Worth and Dallas when the district's presiding judge was from that section.

The only other time a grand jury was impaneled here was to return one indictment, it was recalled. The indictment, returned in 1935, named the late Sheriff W. F. Cato of Garza county, charged with murder of a government agent, and was voted to cure a defect in an indictment returned earlier in North Texas.

Fifty-six civil cases, termed a "heavy docket," are to be set.

The court session, it was believed will require five or six weeks, and may go a substantial way toward "cleaning the dockets."

Soil Conservation Officials Conduct Meeting At Floydada

FLOYDADA, Sept. 3.—Supervisors of the 17 soil conservation districts of the Texas Panhandle met in the Floyd county court house last week to discuss a pending conservation bill. The legislation is now in the Texas House and involves a fund of $5,000,000 for soil and water conservation work.

R. G. Dunlap, chairman of the Floyd county board of supervisors, presided over the opening of the meeting. Dunlap introduced Sid Payne, a board member who served as master of ceremonies for the balance of the meeting.

Howard Goss, an administrative officer of the State Board, explained the provisions of the proposed legislation. He explained how the money would be distributed and the uses for which it could be appropriated.

The funds, Goss said, to be alloted to each district will be controlled by the district board of supervisors. The money will be used to obtain materials and equipment needed to assist farmers in controlling erosion and conserving water and soil.

Lewis Dawkins, Plainview, a representative of the State Board, also commented on the new bill.

South Africa's Eastern Cape area recently reported the worst drought in 85 years.

Frenship School Set For Opening Tuesday

Plans for the opening of Frenship school Tuesday for the 1949-50 session have been completed, according to Supt. E. J. Deering.

Lunches will be served this year in the school's new cafeteria, which will seat approximately 175 persons, Deering announced. The building housing the cafeteria is located between the high school and gymnasium and is connected by a breezeway.

Secured from the War surplus administration, the new cafeteria is a former army mess hall which has been remodeled and equipped with an asphalt-tile floor and sea green walls. The ceiling is a mist grey and the building is equipped with food lockers.

Supt. Deering said the school board plans for the cafeteria to become a community relations center, with churches, clubs and other organizations using it.

The Frenship superintendent also announced that buses will follow regular schedules this year, and that they will not get off the set routes unless a child lives more than three-fourths of a mile from the route, in accordance with the state law.

New teachers who will begin their duties at Frenship Tuesday include, J. H. Harper, high school mathmatics; Mrs. M. R. Armstrong, commercial studies; W. L. Willis, science; Bradford Bullard, sixth grade and coach; Sena Brown, fourth and fifth grades; Miss Lucille Adams, second grade, and Mrs. Luke Thompson, first grade.

A faculty meeting will be held at 10 a.m. Monday to discuss special problems and the new Gilmer-Aikin school laws.

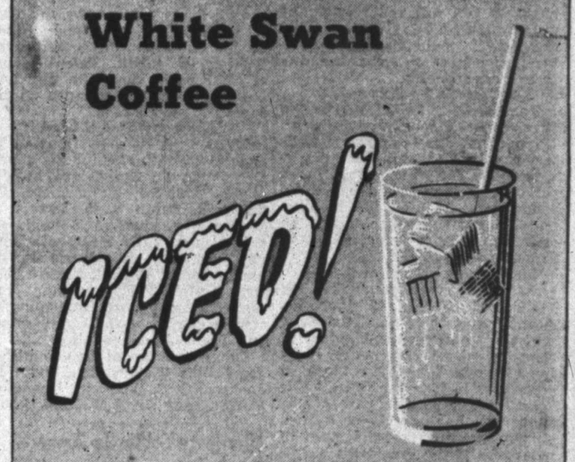

Palo Pinto County Reunion Is Scheduled Here Sunday

Over 100 persons are expected to attend the first annual Palo Pinto county reunion to be held at Mackenzie State park next Sunday, it has been announced.

Formal organization of a Palo Pinto county association is expected at the reunion, B. T. Rucker, who described himself as "general ramrodder" of this year's get together, said.

Persons attending the reunion will meet north of the swimming pool at 2:30 p.m., Rucker said. Plans are to make the reunion an annual affair.

Plans Nearing Completion For Annual Lions 'Jubilee Minstrel'

Plans for the fourth annual Lions club "Jubilee Minstrel," to be held Nov. 7 to 9, in the high school auditorium, are rapidly nearing completion, according to Frank Junell, publicity director for the event.

In two meetings of a special minstrel show committee of 16 members under the direction of Lions Pres. Groves Denman, the organizational framework for handling the different phases of preparation for the show has been completed, and directors have been appointed to head the different departments.

Cast To Be Selected

The cast is to be selected at the first rehearsal scheduled for Sept. 19, at the Baldridge bakery auditorium, Junell said. He said it would be the first of 15 such rehearsals, including the dress rehearsal, scheduled for Monday and Thursday evenings during the seven-week interim prior to the show.

This year's show will use a carnival theme suggested by Ray Wells and Richard G. Richards. According to their plan, the show will open outside the big tent at the carnival, with the barker making his "pitch" to entice the local citizenry inside the tent. The "olio," or vaudeville part of the show will be the acts performed outside the tent as a sample of what awaits the spectators inside.

Candy Sale Included

The traditional candy sale will be conducted directly from the stage as part of the carnival setting, and then the scene shifts inside the tent for the "big show," or the minstrel performance.

The show will be written, produced, directed, and presented by members of the Lubbock Lions club only, and it promises to be "bigger and better than ever before," said Junell.

This year's performance will mark the second time the "Jubilee Minstrel" has been put on exclusively by local Lions, since last year's show also was done without outside help.

Show Tour Planned

After its presentation here, the show will be taken on a tour of about eight West Texas and New Mexico towns under the sponsorship of local Lions clubs in those communities, winding up at Ruidoso in April for the final performance of the season, and a weekend outing in the offing for members of the cast.

The "Jubilee Minstrel" has become almost an institution in Lubbock since its inception in 1946. The first show that year was received like most home talent shows, but the people that saw that performance saw a professional production. The word spread rapidly, and has continued to spread, until the committee expects a packed house every night of the performance this year.

Lions clubs elswhere have picked up the idea, and shows now are being produced by Lions in several other towns, including Lamesa, Big Spring, and El Paso. Many of these clubs were given direct aid in starting their shows by local Lions.

The first two performances of the "Jubilee Minstrel" were straight shows, but last year's show created a reason for the acts. A Mississippi river captain piloted his showboat down the river looking for talent. Talent scouts at river ports along the way had acts ready for performance on the captain's showboat.

Show Officials Listed

Lions Pres. Groves Denman is general co-ordinator for the show. Dr. Clyde C. Craig will be director, assisted by Richard G. Richards. Ralph S. Dorsett is in charge of production; John Lowery, property; Dr. Marshall Harvey, costume; Ed Merriman, finance; Elmer V. East, ticket sales; Dr. Weston Pettey, general arrangements; Wayne Henly, huckster in charge of the candy sales; and Frank Junell, publicity.

Other members of the committee are Dallas Whaley, Dr. Doyle D. Jackson, O. R. Wells, jr., Raymond Burford, and Dr. J. William Davis.

Miss Joyce Griffin To Marry Joe French At Ceremony Here

Miss Joyce Griffin, daughter of J. A. Griffin of Spring Lake, will become the bride of Joe French, son of Mrs. Nettie French of Olustee, Okla., today at 5 p. m. at the home of the groom's brother, C. O. French, south of Lubbock.

Miss Griffin has been employed at Anderson's jewelers. French is owner-manager of French Food store, number three, on east Broadway.

The groom's mother will be unable to attend her son's wedding as she is now confined to Lubbock Memorial hospital here. Relatives and friends will attend the ceremony, to be performed by the Rev. W. F. Gaede, pastor of the Overton Methodist church.

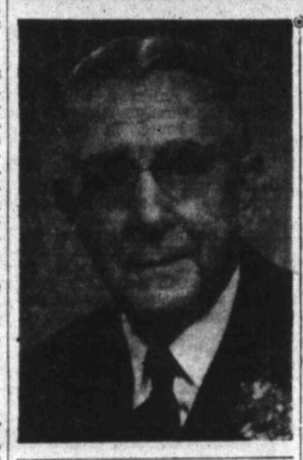

The couple will take a short honeymoon trip and then will be at home on Route 1, Lubbock. They are leaving for their honeymoon immediately after the ceremony. z

NO SMOKE, NO FIRE

LINCOLN, Neb., (U.P.)—During a rain, a resident near the Nebraska capitol telephoned the fire department to report smoke coming from the state house tower. A general alarm was sounded. Firemen discovered the "smoke" was rain, illuminated by the building's floodlights.

NEW METHODIST STUDENT CENTER—Pictured above is an architect's drawing of a new Methodist Student Center to be constructed on Fifteenth street just east of old College Inn. The Center, donated by Dr. M. C. Overton, pioneer Lubbock physician to the First Methodist church, will be started within the next few days, contract for the project having been awarded to Claude Martin, Lubbock contractor, for $94,000, last night. Haynes & Kirby are architects. The new building will be of brick and tile with plaster walls and semi-fire-proof construction. Facing south, the building will be three stories high, 60 by 80 feet. A half basement will contain a large recreation room and and a large assembly room with stage, seating 400 persons. Both rooms may be opened together for larger meetings. The second floor will have a large lounge, large family room, two offices for the director, Rev. Cecil Matthews; an office for student directors of St. John's and Asbury Methodist churches; classroom for 40 students, a prayer room and a large kitchen with all-steel equipment and dumb waiter for serving banquets in the basement. The third floor will comprise a 5-room apartment for the director's family. The prayer room on the second floor will feature a large art glass window of appropriate design. Construction will require an estimated four to five months. Cost of the Center, including lots purchased by Dr. Overton several years ago, building and equipment will total $100,500. The old Center, located at 2301 Tenth, has been maintained by rental donations by Dr. Overton the past seven years. Dr. Overton is pictured below at the left. The Student Center will be for use by all Methodist students attending Texas Tech and Lubbock High School.

Aleman Opens Enlarged Foot, Mouth Disease Vaccine Plant

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 3 (AP)—President Miguel Aleman opened today the enlarged plant making vaccine to stamp out aftosa (foot and mouth disease) among cattle and other animals.

The laboratory was established by the joint Mexico-U. S. commission for the eradication of the foot and mouth disease.

At present the plant produces 100,000 doses daily and the output is being increased. Cattle are being given three vaccinations at intervals. So far, the commission says, the treatment has been highly effective and it expects to free Mexico entirely of the disease which has been a plague here.

Mexico no longer is able to ship her normal 500,000 head of cattle to the United States but the industry is canning much beef.

About 13 million cattle have been vaccinated once, 7 million twice and 1 million for the third and probably last time. The three injections are expected to immunize the animals while the active campaign cleans out the disease in the present closely quarantined area affected in central and southeastern Mexico.

Posts For College Teachers Are Open In City Of Baghdad

AUSTIN, Sept. 3 (INS) — A call for qualified college teachers to take jobs in the magic city of Baghdad, Iraq, has been received at the University of Texas.

A letter to Vice-President J. C. Dolley from the royal consulate general of Iraq in New York indicates teachers are needed in physics, mathematics, chemistry and biology in the newly established College of Arts and Sciences in Baghdad.

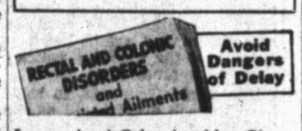

Applicants should have had previous experience teaching in an American University. Salary will be $7,263 per year plus a cost-of-living allowance ranging between $484 and $677 annually.

Travelling expenses from the place of residence to Baghdad and return after one year will be paid by the Iraq Ministry of Education.

Applicants should contact the Royal Consulate General of Iraq, 86 Riverside Drive, New York, N. Y.

Irrigation Pumps Turned Out By Lubbock Company Are Marketed In Five-State Area

Irrigation pumps manufactured in Lubbock are going to market over a wide area, and the city has acquired a new industry as a result.

South Plains Pump and Equipment company has been in production on the A. & C. brand of deep well turbine pump for something over two months.

Named after the first initials of the partners of South Plains Pump and Equipment company, A. J. Davis and C. H. Shoemaker, each pump that goes out of the Lubbock plant will spread Lubbock's reputation as an industrial city, for "Lubbock, Texas" is cast right onto the pump head.

The plant is now employing 15 men in its building at 2006 Ave. C, and Davis and Shoemaker are shooting for production of one pump a day, which they plan to market in Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Kansas and Colorado. A dealer or distributor system will be employed.

The firm receives shipments of raw castings from a Wichita Falls foundry. These are machined in Lubbock and shafts and tubings are fabricated in the plant.

Pumps ranging in capacity from 100 to 2,000 gallons per minute will be manufactured.

Pump bowls ranging in size from 7 inches to 14 inches, including 10 and 12-inch bowls, are planned.

The business was established as a pump dealership by Mr. Shoemaker about three years ago. Mr. Davis operated the Abernathy Pump and Equipment company at Abernathy. That business was dissolved some time ago when Mr. Davis came to Lubbock.

Corps of Engineers in Texas, the Congress also has authorized the construction of a number of other stream improvements for local flood protection for urban and agricultural areas.

Improvements Planned

These other local improvements consist of seven levees or leveed floodways and three channel enlargements or rectifications. These improvements will provide a substantial measure of flood protection in the valleys of the Trinity, Brazos, Colorado and Lavaca-Navidad rivers and Buffalo bayou. It is estimated that the total cost of these local improvements will

Two Dog Shows Are Scheduled To Be Staged Here This Month

By OPAL DIXON
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

Extensive plans are being made for two dog shows to be conducted this month at Lubbock Municipal Air field.

The South Plains Cocker Spaniel Specialty club will sponsor the second annual Cocker Spaniel Specialty show Monday, Sept. 19, in the athletic building at the field, five miles north of Lubbock and one mile east of the highway.

The first annual all-breed dog show given by the Heart of the Plains Kennel club will be conducted Sept. 20, also in the athletic building.

Both Shows Licensed

Both shows are licensed by the American Kennel club and both are expected to attract dog handlers with dogs from all parts of the nation. Both will be unbenched shows.

Mrs. Emma Loest of Kansas City will be superintendent of both shows. She is to be at Hilton hotel in Lubbock Tuesday and Wednesday to receive and close entries for each show. Entries for either show are to be mailed to her, care of Hilton hotel.

The Cocker Spaniel Specialty show will be judged by Clifford Jackson of Dallas. It will open at 1 p. m.

Persons wishing entry blanks may telephone Cecil Paschall, show chairman, at 2-4908.

Ribbons and trophies will be awarded to winning dogs.

About 100 Expected

About 100 cockers are expected, from as far away as Iowa and California.

Officers of the cocker club are W. K. Patterson, president; Mrs. Bruce Stewart, vice president, and Mrs. Elizabeth Breco, secretary.

Dog classifications will be puppy; novice; American bred; limit; open; winners. Bitches classifications will be the same.

Any pure bred registered dog is eligible to be entered in the All-Breed Dog show Sept. 20. Points won are registered with the American Kennel club in New York and will apply toward championship for a dog.

Information Is Given

The following other information was given concerning the all-breed show:

Chris Shuttleworth of Sun Valley, Calif., and J. H. Johnson of Denver, Colo., both American Kennel club licensed all-breed judges, will judge dogs. The children's handling classes will be judged by Mrs. T. A. Ayers of Odessa.

Groups of various breeds have been designated to include:

Sporting breeds—Pointers, Labrador Retrievers, Irish Setters and Cocker Spaniels and English Springer Spaniels.

Working breeds — Boxers, Collies, Doberman Pinchers, German Shepherd dogs, Great Danes, Shetland Sheep dogs and St. Bernards.

Terrier breeds — Airedale terriers, Bedlington terriers, Dandie Dinmont terriers, Fox terriers (smooth), Fox terriers (wire haired), Irish terriers, Kerry Blue terriers, Schnauzers (miniature), Scottish terriers, Sealyham, Skye, Welch, and West Highland White.

Toy breeds—Chihuahuas, Maltese, Papillons, Pekingese, Pinchers (miniature), Pomeranians, Pugs, Toy Machinester and Yorkshire.

Cups To Be Awarded

All dogs listed in those breeds may not be exhibited and some not listed may be shown under the different groups.

The club will give a gold tone cup and $10 as trophy in each of the six groups. For the best of show, a trophy and $50 and bouquet will be given.

The all-breed show will open at 8 a. m. and judging will be from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m. The winner in each group will be judged for best dog in show that evening.

The children's handling class will be conducted and judged in the evening and will include two classes: Class A, 6 to 10 years, and Class B, 10 to 16 years.

No fee will be charged for the children's handling class but all dogs shown in those groups must be entered in one of the regular A. K. C. classes, show officials announced. Quality of dogs will not be considered in the children's handling class, but ability of the child in handling and showing the dog will be judged.

Organized In 1948

Further show information and entry blanks may be obtained from Mrs. L. O. Sparks, secretary of the Heart of the Plains Kennel club, 2618 Thirty-third in Lubbock, telephone No. 2-5704.

The Heart of the Plains Kennel club was organized Jan. 25, 1948, in a meeting attended by 40 persons at Hilton hotel. Thirty-five of that number were included in charter membership of 78. Dr. W. T. Rogers presided as temporary chairman of the first meeting and Miss Carol Cobb was temporary secretary. During the meeting, name of the club was selected and the following officers were elected: W. C. Boyd, president; Mrs. Harold Ball, secretary and treasurer; Dr. Rogers, first vice president, and Cecil Paschall, second vice president. At the annual club meeting held in November last year, the following officers now serving were elected: Boyd, president; Mrs. Sparks, secretary-treasurer; Leete Jackson, first vice president, and Leete Jackson, jr., second vice president.

Object of the club is to promote and encourage breeding of pure-bred dogs and general welfare of all dogs; promote good sportsmanship and good fellowship among all dog lovers, and hold shows, matches and field trials considered advisable.

Constitution and by-laws of the club were approved and registered with the American Kennel club in New York.

The club held two sanction matches, on April 18 and Oct. 24 in 1948, before being able to hold an all-breed licensed point show unler A. K. C. rules.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ball, early supporters of the club, moved to Las Cruces, N. M., last October but have remained members.

Members of the committee for the all-breed show, elected by the board of directors, are E. Kelley Nail, show chairman; Mrs. Sparks, show secretary; Miss Cobb, trophies; Boyd, show hall chairman; Mrs. Cecil Paschall, catalogue; Leet Jackson, jr., publicity, and Mrs. Boyd, hospitality.

Texas Tech Experiment Establishes Value Of Alfalfa Pasturage As Safe Cattle Feed

Proof that alfalfa is a safe pasturage has been established in an experiment being conducted at Texas Technological college along with several other features which will help cattlemen in Texas and elsewhere, Dean W. L. Stangel has revealed.

The experiment has established the value of alfalfa and alfalfa mixtures as a pasturage for cattle, Dean Stangel reported, saying that no bloat has been found in steers used in the experiment. He added that bloat is prevented by proper management of steers before they are placed on alfalfa pasturage.

Ten Calves Selected

A new phase in a three-year experiment began last November when ten calves, selected on the open market, were placed in dry lot. The calves were typical of those that can be purchased by exercising normal care in selection.

On dry lot until May 1, the animals were given daily rations of one pound of cottonseed meal, two pounds of alfalfa hay and as much sorghum silage as they would eat. They averaged about 30 pounds each per day.

The consistent ration was altered only on extremely cold days when four pounds of milo chop were given each to add body heat.

On May 1, the calves were turned into an irrigated pasture where they will stay until October. The four acres used are divided into an acre of alfalfa, one of alfalfa and brome grass, one of alfalfa and perennial rye grass and one of all three. The calves, in two groups, graze alternately on each of the pastures in a manner to show comparison of results in grazing.

The animals will return to dry lot in late fall for fattening and finishing. In general, the rations will follow the same pattern as that in the spring, with slight changes in proportions. The daily feed will include two pounds of alfalfa, two pounds of cottonseed meal and as much sorghum silage as will be eaten.

Milo Chop To Be Added

In addition, each calf will receive one pound of milo chop per 100 pounds of weight, advancing as fattening progresses. Dean Stangel says 15 pounds will be the top for daily milo chop consumption.

The dean said 1948 results show that alfalfa is of greatest value for grazing. Cattle grazing on this diet for 91 days produced 537 pounds of beef, or $134.41 in beef per acre at current prices. Animals on alfalfa and brome netted $115.20 on 461 pounds in 70 days of grazing. Alfalfa and perennial rye netted $120.50 for 482 pounds in 70 days, while a mixture of all three brought $108.63 for 434 pounds in 91 days.

Hail Delays Grazing

Records kept on the project are aimed at showing value of different irrigated pasture mixtures for production, cost of establishing and keeping the pasture mixtures, species dominance during the grazing period, and exact forage yields.

Dean Stangel says 1949 results will not be as good as 1948 because hail completely destroyed the first grazing crop only six days after the calves went on pasture, causing loss of 21 days of grazing.

The dean says the steers although not especially prepared for show could easily qualify. Actually, what he hopes to accomplish is the better and more economical production of choice steers for commercial market.

Tech is also experimenting with field fattening of lambs, and in cooperation with Texas A and M, is studying cause of sheep and cattle losses from grazing wheat.

Alice Judge Reported In Good Condition After Major Surgery

HOUSTON, Sept. 3. (AP)—Judge Lorenz Broeter was reported in "good" condition in Hermann hospital here after undergoing a serious operation this morning.

The Alice jurist is the judge who ordered the special grand jury investigation of the gun slaying of Bill Mason, 51-year-old crusading Alice radio newsman, on July 29.

Judge of the 79th District Court, Judge Broeter ordered the investigation and a special court term which began in Alice Friday.

Expecting a Baby?

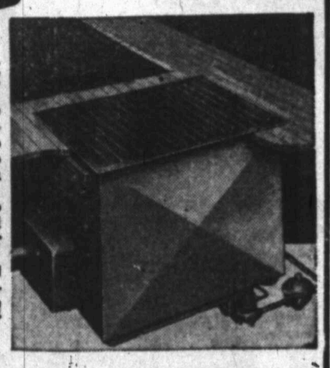

Mother's Friend massaging preparation helps bring ease and comfort to expectant mothers.

MOTHER'S FRIEND, an exquisitely prepared emollient, is useful in all conditions where a bland, mild anodyne massage medium in skin lubrication is desired. One condition in which women for more than 70 years have used it is an application for massaging the body during pregnancy... it helps keep the skin soft and pliable... thus avoiding unnecessary discomfort due to dryness and tightness. It refreshes and tones the skin. An ideal massage application for the numb, tingling or burning sensations of the skin... for the tired back muscles or cramp-like pains in the legs. Quickly absorbed. Delightful to use. Highly praised by users, many doctors and nurses. Millions of bottles sold. Just ask any druggist for Mother's Friend—the skin emollient and lubricant. Do try it.

POLITICAL EXPERTS NEEDED

'Bench Warmers' Urged To Vote By Democratic Party Chairman

(EDITOR'S NOTE: William M. Boyle, Jr., newly-elected Democratic national chairman, declares in the following signed article that America's traditional two-party government system is threatened by the "bench warmers"—the citizens who neglect to vote. The 46-year-old Boyle, who started in politics 30 years ago as a teen-age precinct worker, makes a non-partisan appeal to the millions of stay-at-home voters to "get into the game.")

(Chairman Democratic National Committee Written Expressly for International News Service)

By WILLIAM BOYLE, JR.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3—Americans are the most political people in the world—or are they?

There's plenty of surface indication that every American is an expert politician.

At the corner cigar store, in restaurants, at union meetings or lodge meetings, at luncheon clubs or between innings at the ball park, in the country club bar or the corner grill and taproom, wherever Americans get together, you hear them talking about how they would run the government.

Everyone Has Answer

"I'll tell you what I would do if I was in his shoes . . ."

How many times have you heard that? Economy in government? "What they ought to do is . . ."

Too many strikes? "If I was running things I'd . . ."

Prices and profits too high? "If they had any sense what they'd do is . . ."

Unemployment? "Everybody would be working if they'd only . . ."

National defense? "I was in the Army and they ought to . . ."

Relation with Russia? "If they'd just tell Uncle Joe . . ."

Balance the budget? "All they have to do is . . ."

Higher taxes? Lower taxes? "They certainly ought to know by now that if . . ."

Impression Proves False

Yes, any visitor from Mars listening to American conversation would deduce that every one of us is a skilled politician, a keen student of government and its problems, ready with a solution for every trouble of the federal government on down to villages and townships.

But after listening to these conversations the visitor from Mars would be mightily shocked to know that the federal government has to struggle along without the participation in its affairs of almost half of these conversational political experts.

In the last presidential election, with 94 million potential voters, only 48 million citizens bothered to cast their ballots.

Voting Costs Little

Almost half of our political experts were so busy telling each other how they would run the government that they failed to cast their votes, which is, of course, the way Americans decide how their government will operate.

To be blunt, we determine the course of our government by voting, not by gabbing.

It costs money to go to the ball park and tell the manager of your favorite team how to run the club and we spend a lot of money to give just this sort of help to the managers of the big league clubs.

Minority Rule Threatens

But in most states it costs only the time needed to register and vote to determine the policy of your federal government.

The last two national elections, one won by the Republicans, the other by the Democrats, have been won by a minority of those eligible to vote. Yet we say that in our democracy the majority rules.

Minority rule is a threat to our sound, two-party system of government. Stay-at-home voters invite minority rule, invite a breakdown of our fine system of government.

I have made an all-out "register-and-vote" campaign the number one effort of the Democratic National committee.

Naturally, we want people to register and vote democratic.

But the first challenge is to get more people to register and vote. This should be a non-partisan goal. I hope our Republican rivals will be as active as we are in seeking a larger vote in 1950.

I hope that the radio and the press, regardless of their political views, will join with us in making every effort for a larger vote.

Right now there are too many spectators in the game of politics and not enough players. Let's all get into the game.

That means you—everyone of you 46 million bench warmers in the 1948 title game!

Food Council Rice Committee Ends Distribution Activities

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3. (AP)—The rice committee of the International Emergency Food council has terminated global allocations of world rice supplies.

The system, aimed at equitable distribution of insufficient rice supplies, has been in effect since 1946.

Yesterday's decision becomes effective Jan. 1, 1950.

The committee made allocations for the year 1948 last April. These will continue in effect until the end of the present year.

While the committee decision will not be announced until tomorrow, it was understood Thai (Siam and Burma), world's largest rice exporters, led the drive for discontinuance of the allocation system.

Most importing nations were understood to have favored continuation of the allocation system. These were understood to include Great Britain and other nations in the sterling currency areas.

All other foodstuff allocations maintained by the IEFC were discontinued some time ago as result of increasing world food supplies.

Camp Hood Soldier Killed In Automobile Wreck Near Taylor

TAYLOR, Sept. 3. (AP) — Pfc. Junious W. Stewart, 23, of Camp Hood was killed yesterday when the car in which he was riding overturned just outside the city limits.

His companion, Pfc. Van Anderson was treated for shock at a Taylor hospital.

Papers found on the men indicated both were from North Carolina.

Lubbock Auto Co. Is Participating In Ford Car Safety Contest

Lubbock Auto Co., Inc., Ford dealership, has been entered in a $100,000 car safety contest sponsored by the Ford division, Ford Motor Company, Harry Morris, president, announced Saturday. The firm is one of 6,400 Ford dealers throughout the nation who have entered participation in the contest during September and October.

A total of 700 prizes amounting to $100,000 will be awarded winners of the safety contest. Prizes include 25 new Fords including five Ford trucks, 25 $1,000 U. S. savings bonds, 100 $100 bonds, 200 $50 bonds and 350 $25 bonds.

In order to participate in the contest, Morris pointed out, motorists must bring their car or truck, of any make, to the dealership for a safety check at no cost or obligation to the motorist. Free checks will be made on brakes, steering, headlights, rear and stop lights, tires, windshield wipers, mufflers, glass, horn and rear view mirror.

An attractive safe driver reflector insigna will be placed on the vehicle inspected and the motorist will be given an entry blank to participate in the contest. Other details of the contest are available at the Lubbock Auto Co.

The contest has the support of the National Safety Council, the Inter-Industry Highway Safety committee and other safety organizations.

Promotion Of Two Employes Is Announced By Stanolind Firm

Stanolind Oil and Gas company Saturday announced the promotion of two employees in the company's North Texas-New Mexico division. They are John B. Rosen, who will be district engineer in the Lubbock district, and George L. Ellis, who advances from geologist to senior geologist at the Fort Worth division office. Ellis will direct geophysical and geological coordination. He replaces F. H. Schouten, who has been transferred to the Canadian division.

Rosen joined Stanolind in 1934 and had been a petroleum engineer supervisor at the Tulsa general offices since 1947.

Ellis had been a geologist for Stanolind since he was employed by the company in 1945.

NO HARM DONE

STEEN, Minn. (U.P.)—A tornado smashed through this town 16 years ago and took with it a good share of the William Funk home. Mrs. Funk lost her wedding ring. She has it back now, though. She turned it up as she dug in her garden. It was unharmed by 16 years in the ground.

Woman's Trap For Thief Successful

BOSTON, Sept. 3. (AP)—Miss Mattie Bell, 26, has the kind of neighbors from whom you can borrow burglar traps.

A few days ago a handbag snatcher got away with Miss Bell's pocket-book which contained cash and her apartment keys.

Because she feared the keys might lead the thief back to try a break in her apartment, Miss Bell made plans with Mr. and Mrs. John Hawkes, who live across the street.

Miss Bell explained that she would keep one light on as a signal and if they saw that go out it meant trouble.

Early today she heard noises at her door, doused the signal light, and minutes later police arrested a man at her doorstep.

The Hawkes had spotted the signal and called police.

McCleskey Is Named Local Bar President

Geo. W. McCleskey, Lubbock attorney, was elected president of the Lubbock County Bar, in the first fall meeting of the group at the Hilton hotel Saturday noon. McCleskey succeeds Tom W. Duggan, jr.

James G. Denton was named first vice president; John Vickers, second vice president and Warlick Carr was re-elected secretary.

In a surprising upset, especially for the two nominees, E. L. Klett dethroned W. W. Campbell for the post of sergeant-at-arms. Campbell has been traditionally elected to the office but he got only one vote (Klett's) in the apparently "framed" election.

Approximately 50 attorneys attended the luncheon, a monthly affair during nine months of the year.

A firm in Copenhagen, Denmark, seeks American buyers for a box-nailing machine.

Slight Decline Reported In Prices For Texas Farm Crops

AUSTIN, Sept. 3. (U.P.)—Prices received by Texas farmers for agricultural products declined only slightly in August from the previous month, but dropped 15 per cent below the same period a year ago, the United States Department of Agriculture reported today.

Only wool, eggs and milk cows brought higher prices than a year ago; the USDA report said, while the livestock index fell 17 per cent below August, 1948.

Declines were reported for most crops now being harvested in volume except cottonseed and hay, the USDA noted. Hogs, which advanced 80 cents, were the only meat animals that did not decline in price.

"HEADACHE BALL" DOES IT

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (U.P.)—N. C. Boyd, a steel worker, received a brain concussion when he was struck in the back of the head by a "headache ball," which is what steel workers call a heavy iron weight attached to the cable on a large crane.

Students Bring In Monroe's First Bale

MONROE, Sept. 3 (Special) — Harold Wayne Williams, 13, and his 12-year-old brother, Sammy, were $403.25 richer Saturday for bringing in Monroe's first bale of cotton.

The New Deal school students planted the cotton May 19 on the farm of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Williams, five miles east and two miles north of here.

They pulled the cotton from a 35-acre patch Friday and had 1,390 pounds of seed cotton ginned at the W. O. Fortenberry gin here by 8:30 p. m.

The bale weighed 420 pounds and the seed 625 pounds. The gin paid 35 cents a pound for the bale and $100 a ton for the seed and the Monroe Lions club raised $225 in premiums.

Both boys belong to the 4-H club.

Weatherford Mayor To Resign; City Commissioner To Serve

WEATHERFORD, Sept. 3. (U.P.)—Maylor Willard Sadler of Weatherford will tender his resignation Monday to become effective Sept. 15.

He has been mayor three years.

FACULTY MEET SLATED MONDAY

Plans Completed For Opening Of Lubbock Schools Tuesday

Preparations were complete Saturday for the opening of schools within the Lubbock Independent School district, according to Superintendent R. W. Matthews.

Final instructions are to be given to teachers at a general faculty meeting at 9 a.m. Monday in the Senior High school auditorium. Mrs. Ivy Savage, principal of Roscoe Wilson, will open the meeting with prayer, after which Robert J. Pipkin will play violin and cello selections.

Following greetings from the superintendent, the 61 new teachers to the faculty this year will be introduced and routine announcements made by Matthews. When the general meeting is over principals will meet with their faculty members in the various school buildings.

One School To Open Late

One of Lubbock's schools will not open on schedule Tuesday, Matthews has announced, since construction work is not complete. Carroll Thompson Junior High will not open until September 19, and faculty members of this school are not being required to report to the faculty meeting or for duty until that time.

Superintendent Matthews announced Saturday afternoon that Central Ward students will report at the Fourteenth street entrance of Carroll Thompson Junior High school for several days because fire escapes have not been installed yet at the Central Ward building. Ground floor rooms 101, 102, 103, 105, 107 and 108 are the only rooms to be occupied until the escapes are installed, he said.

Two elementary schools in the district are to go on half-day schedule, Matthews said. At Central Ward school construction will not be complete by Tuesday, so sudents will be placed on half-day schedules for the remainder of the week. Grades two, four, and six will report from 8 a.m. until 12:30 p.m. and grades one, three, and five will report from 12:30 p.m. until 5 p.m. At Cottage a part of the students will be required to attend on half day schedule until the new building is completed. Mrs. Iris Bergholm will notify students on Tuesday morning as to which schedule they will observe.

Coordinators To Meet

Miss Dorothy Lomax, director of secondary education, has announced a meeting of secondary coordinators at 2:30 p.m. Monday in room 138 at Senior High school. Coordinators for this schol term as announced by Miss Lomax are as follows: Language arts, Miss Irene Armes; mathematics, Miss Aline McCarty; homemaking, Miss Gertrude Watson; science, W. C. Watts; commercial, Miss Bessie Bullock; physical education, Marlin Hayhurst; social science, Miss Gladys Butler; vocal music, Mrs. Eloise Elliott; and industrial arts, E. E. Key.

According to Principal Floyd Honey, Senior High students may continue to get their books on Monday afternoon from 1 until 4 p.m. All Senior High students who wish to make changes in their schedule from the way it was planned last spring may report Monday afternoon at 1 p.m. to their guidance teachers.

Senior High Opens Tuesday

The building at Senior High will be open so that students may enter at 8:35 a.m. Tuesday. Tardy time is 8:45 a.m. Students are requested to report first on Tuesday to their guidance teachers and receive instructions, Honey said. Guidance students of N. J. Robnett, agriculture teacher, are being requested to report to the new agriculture room, located on the northwest corner of the building.

Enrolling of new students and transfers in both O. L. Slaton and J. T. Hutchinson Junior High schools will continue on Monday afternoon. On Tuesday morning all students who are in the seventh grade are being asked to report to the school auditorium at 8:45 a.m. while all other students of junior high schools are to report to their guidance teachers.

Elementary students may report to their buildings from 8:30 a.m. until 9 a.m., Ishmael Hill, assistant superintendent, said. The regular teaching day will last from 9 a.m. until 3:40 for intermediate pupils in schools without cafeterias and from 9 a.m. until 2:40 for primary students in schools without cafeterias. The schedule for elementary students in schools where cafeterias are located will be from 9 a.m. until 3:25 for intermediate pupils and 9 a.m. until 2:30 for primary pupils.

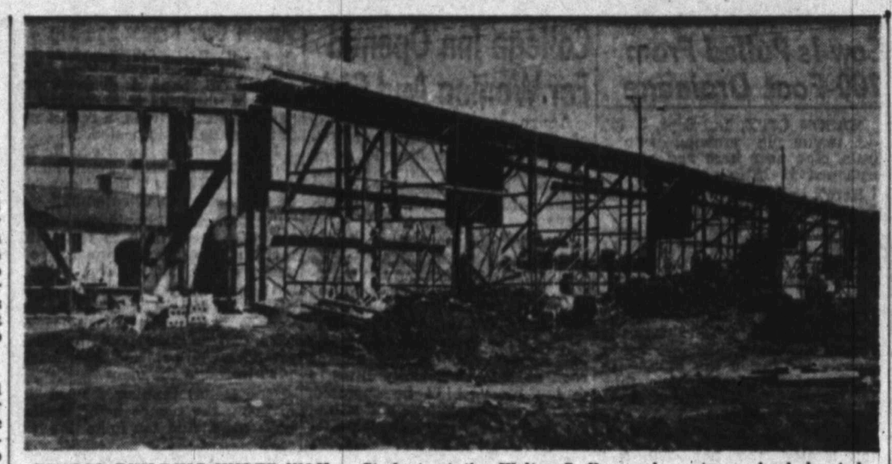

On Tuesday all elementary students will be given lists of supplies they will need along with a list of the merchants who are carrying them. Grades four, five and six are this year being required to buy dictionaries, Hill explained, in an effort to improve both spelling and reading abilities.

Mrs. Josephine Ballenger, principal of the School for Exceptional Children, has announced that her school day will be divided so that all children who are crippled will report on Tuesday afternoon, and those with other handicaps will report on Tuesday morning.

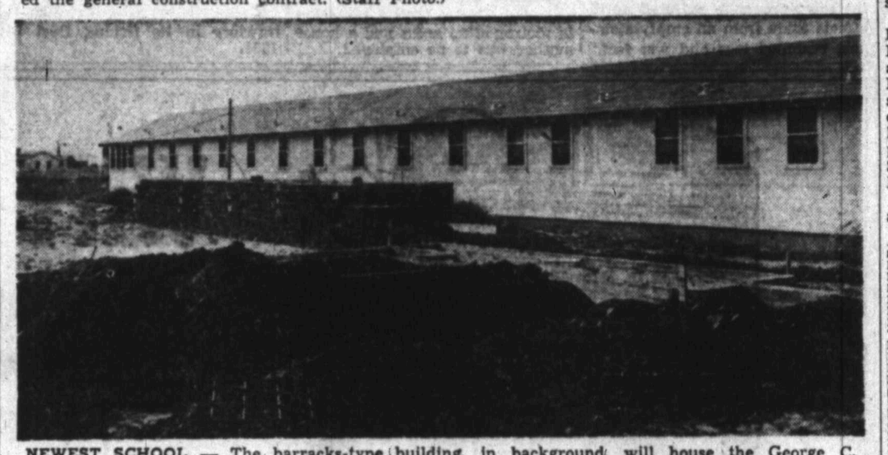

Minor bus changes as announced this week by A. C. Jackson, school business manager, are as follows: Elementary students who live in the extreme northwest part of the district who last year attended Central Ward school will go this year to George M. Hunt; students who live on the Levelland highway route who attended Central Ward last year will attend Overton this year; students who live in the extreme southeast part of the district will attend the P. F. Brown school this year; two buses are to run the short routeout the old Tahoka highway, one for Chris Harwell school and one for students of junior and senior high; the route which goes out North College and east and back through the Crowe addition will go to the Arnett school in the Carter-Coffee addition; and students in the extreme northeast part of the district will attend the Arnett school.

Jackson pointed out that students who ride the buses and go to the new Arnett school have to bring lunches, since this school has no cafeteria.

All students who are new to the Lubbock system this year and have not previously enrolled are requested to do so on Monday afternoon, since no new students are to be enrolled on Tuesday. All schools in Lubbock except those on half-day session will observe a full school day Tuesday.

SCHOOL BUILDING UNDER WAY — Students at the Walter S. Posey elementary school, located east of the canyon on East Broadway, can watch the progress being made on their new permanent school structure. But all this year they'll attend classes in the temporary frame building shown in the background. The new 18-classroom building is scheduled for completion in time for the 1950-51 school term. Contracts for the new building, which will cost $212,695, were let May 24 by the board of trustees of the Lubbock Independent School district. Tidmore Construction Co., was awarded the general construction contract. (Staff Photo.)

NEWEST SCHOOL — The barracks-type building, in background, will house the George C. Wolffarth elementary school until completion of the permanent school building, foundation of which is shown in foreground. The school unit, in northwest Lubbock, is the newest addition to the Lubbock public school system. Work on the temporary buildings, both of asbestos siding construction, will be completed for Tuesday's opening. The buildings, which face each other, will provide nine classrooms, in addition to offices and utility rooms. Completion of the 12-classroom permanent building is expected next spring. Contract for the new structure was let June 28. The structure will cost approximately $153,000. John T. Glover and Son Construction Co., was awarded the general contract. The school plant is located south of Littlefield highway on a site in Rush tract, northwest of Arnett-Benson addition. (Staff Photo.)

Final Scheduled Oil Belt Games Are Set For Today

The final scheduled games in the Oil Belt Baseball league are set today, and the top contest appears to be Slaton at Post.

Fourth place in the league may hinge on the result of that encounter. In other games Sundown is at Seagraves, Brownfield at Denver City and Levelland at Tahoka. Tahoka has given notice that the game will be forfeited to Levelland.

The top four teams in the league will participate in the Shaughnessy playoffs.

Texan Killed In Louisiana While On Way To Visit Sick Brother

SHREVEPORT, La., Sept. 3 (AP) —A Texan was fatally injured just as he turned into the driveway of a hospital to make a bedside call on a brother under treatment.

The victim was Robert Clinton Copeland, 63, a Bronson, Texas, merchant. He and other members of his family had been called to the bedside of Copeland's brother, Joe, a patient at the Converse, La., hospital.

As he was making a left turn into the hospital drive late Thursday, his car and a truck collided.

BILLION DOLLAR MARK PASSED

Record Making Texas Income Fails To Solve State Problem

By BO BYERS
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, Sept. 3.—State revenue for the two-year period ended Aug. 31 totaled $1,036,033,671—one billion, 36 million, 33 thousand and 71 dollars—State Comptroller Robert S. Calvert reported today.

It was the first time in Texas history that revenues for a single biennium of state governmental operations had reached the billion-dollar mark. But Texas still faces future financial worries.

Revenue for the 1948-49 fiscal year was $522,421,226, and for 1947-48, it totaled $513,611,845.

Oil Income Increases

Major sources of revenue for the year just ended were the state's 4-cents-a-gallon motor fuel tax, which neeted $92,907,597; the gross production tax on crude oil, $88,958,247; federal aid for public welfare, $71,822,941; and federal aid for Texas highways ,$27,931,823.

State income from crude oil production taxes was greater the past 12 months than in 1947-48, when the total was $87,423,829.

With the Texas oil allowable for this month up approximately 130,000 barrels daily over the August figure, revenue from this source will begin to rise. It had declined considerably because of heavy cutbacks in allowables the past eight months.

Shortage Not Solved

However, the September oil boost is not enough to solve the financial shortage which the state faces on the basis of the comptroller's estimate of revenue for the next 12 months.

This is true because the comptroller had anticipated a decline in oil production through the summer months this year and an upward trend this fall.

At the September producing rate, state oil tax revenue for the coming year would be $78 million—contingent on the price of oil remaining the same.

The comptroller's statisticians figure that allowable oil production will have to go up another 260,000 barrels a day to make good their estimate of $83 million in oil tax revenue for the fiscal year which began Sept. 1.

Even that revenue is not expected to keep the state out of the red. To balance the budget temporarily, the late Governor Beauford H. Jester vetoed $17 million from funds appropriated for operation of state eleemosynary institutions the second year of the new biennium.

Thus the 51st Legislature apparently will still have a tough financial problem to solve when it meets for the second time in January.

New Protestant Weekly Paper Planned By Dallas Corporation

DALLAS, Sept. 3. (AP)—Directors of the Protestant Publishing Corp. announced yesterday that a new weekly Protestant paper, the Protestant World, will begin publication early in 1950.

The announcement came from board members Harry C. Withers, Methodist layman and managing editor of the Dallas News; Harry Hines, and Harry Byrd Kline, both Disciples of Christ (Christian) laymen of Dallas.

Couple Consider Divorce As Child Lies Ill With Polio

WICHITA, Kan., Sept. 3 (INS)—A Garden City, Kan., couple today sat at the bedside of their pretty seven-year-old daughter, stricken with polio, and considered divorce.

Little Rosie Lee is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Feeler, the parents of eight children. Mrs. Feeler is expecting a ninth child.

Doctors were doing everything they could to help Rosie Lee get well, and they hoped her father and mother would save their marriage for her sake and the other children.

Mrs. Feeler said she wanted a divorce and her husband is trying to change her mind. She said she would drop wife and child desertion proceedings filed after Feeler left home a week ago.

Feeler said he took Rosie Lee and two other children with him to look for work in Guymon, Okla., after he was laid off a construction job. They went to several towns while he looked for work. And then Rosie Lee was taken ill.

He brought the girl to Wichita where police found him and said they had a warrant for his arrest. Mrs. Feeler was notified and made a hurried trip to Wichita.

Floyd Voters Approve Courthouse Bonds

FLOYDADA, Sept. 3. (Special)—In a county-wide bond election held here today, $200,000 was voted to be used in remodeling the Floyd county court house damaged by fire here last March.

The election saw 539 votes for the appropriation and 419 against it.

KKK Member Proclaims U. S. In For Week Of Cross Burning

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Sept. 3 (AP)—By the edict of "his majesty," Samuel II, and imperial wizard 4-006800 today, the nation is in for a week of cross-burning.

Anyhow, that's what one Bill Hendrix, who describes himself as adjutant for the southern and northern knights of the Ku Klux Klan, said via "imperial" proclamation.

Hendrix declared the crosses would be burned in a crusade against Communism and to give support to the veterans of Peekskill, N. Y., involved in a riot last Saturday.

The order of "his majesty" and 4-006800 commanded klansmen "to burn a cross on open fields or on vacant lots in protest against Communism in this country."

One Death Reported Among 1,750 Texans Treated For Rabies

AUSTIN, Sept. 3. (INS)—Of the 1,750 Texans given the Pasteur treatment for rabies so far this year only one has died—and he had been "bitten" by a rabid cow.

Ironically, the victim died of the treatment and not from rabies. The State Health department says it is a 3,000 to 1 shot that the Pasteur treatment will prove fatal, but the percentages worked against C. B. Douglas of Winnsboro.

Douglas, a 30-year-old farmer, took the treatment after his cow had developed rabies. The cow had been bitten by a mad cat, and dripped saliva on an open lesion in Douglas' hand while the farmer was milking.

Rabies Record Good

Douglas died after the tenth treatment.

The 1949 record for rabies control in Texas is remarkable, considering that more than 600 positive tests have been run on animals submitted to the State Health department laboratories at Austin and Houston.

And even those 600 positive cases of rabies in animals are an indication that a rabies scare is always worse than the disease itself. More than 24,000 animals have been submitted to the state laboratories since Jan. 1, meaning that only one in 40 turned out to be rabid.

There is apparently no cure for hydrophobia, either in an animal or a human, after the symptoms appear. The victim invariably dies.

Three Texans Die

But the Pasteur treatment, health officials say, is near perfect if administered in time. Antirabies treatments, each entailing 14 to 21 shots, cost the state of Texas $200,000 in 1948.

Only three Texans died of the disease last year, and one of those—a young Waco boy—did not receive the treatment. The other two deaths were in Longview and San Antonio, and came despite the treatment.

Several other rabies deaths were reported to the health department but never confirmed.

Over the nation, rabies kills an average of 60 people a year.

Unconventional Spelling Of Word Brings Public Comment

AKRON, Ohio, Sept. 3. (U.P.)—Advertising, the devic efor capturing the public's eye and taste, has added another wrinkle.

The B. F. Goodrich Co. began an advertising campaign to familiarize the motoring public with its technique for manufacturing tires that give an extra smooth ride. They described the effect of the tires as "The R-y-t-h-m Ride."

The alert public immediately jumped in to inform the company of its error and unanimously offered the conventional spelling "r h y t h m" to the naturally pleased advertising department.

The ad-men wrote to each of the complaining persons and explained that the spelling was intentional and that actually it was correct. They pointed out that the Oxford unabridged dictionary offered eight ways to spell the word, including the one used in the advertisement.

The explanation added that Goodrich had spelled the word unconventionally on purpose to add distinctiveness to the product.

Sow Is Pulled From 700-Foot Drainage

MASON CITY, Ia., Sept. 3. (AP)—A mama pig crawled into a drain pipe near here and almost orphaned 11 little pigs.

Here's the story as Clem Hebel, the porker's owner tells it:

A 350-pound sow disappeared Sunday after giving birth to 11 pigs. Hebel searched in vain Monday and Tuesday.

Finally, while hunting for the missing porker in a ditch near the opening of a 24-inch drainage tile Tuesday evening, Hebel heard squeals for inside the pipe. He summoned neighbors and they dug for the animal from 7 p. m. to 1 a. m. without success.

Yesterday morning their fifth hole located the hog—700 feet from the mouth of the pipe. Neighbors pulled her out with the aid of ropes.

The piglets now are back with their mother. Farmer Hebel said the sow apparently suffered no ill effects aside from an empty stomach, cramped legs and wet feet.

College Inn Opened For Women And Girls

Announcement of the opening of College Inn, located at Fifteenth and College Avenue, as an apartment and rooming house for working women and girls was made Saturday by M. D. Temple, owner.

Temple said more than $10,000 had been spent completely renovating and redecorating the building this summer. The building also has been completely refurnished throughout.

There are five apartments and 38 rooms in the building and as soon as it is sufficiently filled, a dining room will be operated, Temple said. A lounge and sitting room and a patio are available for occupants.

Temple said there had been requests for rooms for working girls and students from Draughon's Business college and employes of the Lubbock Air Force base.

He said the Inn would be operated similar to YWCA buildings in metropolitan areas and a house mother was to be employed.

Dispute Over Proper Spelling Of Family Name Still Thrives

DALLAS, Sept. 1. (INS)—A 50-year-old dispute over spelling a name is still thriving, a recent reunion at Dallas indicated.

Back in 1895, the Rev. R. M. Chenault of Lebanon, Tenn., started a controversy: "Should one "n" be eliminated in Chennault?"

He thought it should and called a family conference to settle the matter. That touched the row off and it's still not settled.

Most of the relatives gave in to his persuasion, but others rebelled and continued to spell the name with two "n" 's, as did the three brothers who came to America in 1730 to found the clan.

The Dallas reunion showed the division, the names being spelled both ways. And the folks like 'em so.

One rather widely-known Chennault is Major General Claire B. Chennault, famed one-time head of the Flying Tigers and the U. S. 14th Air Force in China. He was invited, but was unable to attend.

Iceland will have 44 modern trawlers in its fishing fleet by 1951.

NEW LAW EFFECTIVE OCT. 5

Medical Exams To Be Required Of Marriage License Applicants

Effective Oct. 5; women and men planning marriage will have to file with the county clerk a certificate form signed by a duly qualified physician stating that a medical examination including a standard serological test for syph- Legislature of Texas, requires that Clerk Louie F. Moore said Saturday.

House bill 588, passed by the 51st Legislature of Texas requires that no marriage license shall be issued unless each applicant files such a certificate.

The marriage ceremony must be read within 15 days after the medical examination, it further is provided.

"Usual Case" Outlined

Moore explained the "usual case" and the "exception" as found in the law.

The applicant for a marriage license, he said, consults a duly qualified physician for a medical examination and a blood test. The physician sends the specimen of blood to a laboratory approved by the Department of Health.

The laboratory makes a confidential report of the result of the test to the physician and to the state board of health and transmits the certificate form to the physician.

Exception Explained

The physician completes the certificate form and gives it to the applicant.

The applicant gives the completed certificate form to the county clerk, who then issues a marriage license. Previous to the issuance of the license, the county clerk shall certify upon the reverse side of the license that all certificates or the court order required by the act have been received and filed. This statement of the county clerk shall show the dates of the examination of both parties unless the court order has suspended the examination.

On joint application by both parties to marriage, any judge of a county or district court within the county in which the license is to be issued may waive the requirements as to medical ex aminations and laboratory tests and certificates and may order the county clerk to issue the license, if the judge is satisfied by proof that sufficient cause for such action exists and that the public health and welfare will not be injuriously affected thereby. The order of the court shall be filed by the county clerk in lieu of the certificate form.

Crenshaw, Marbut And Charness Form New Law Firm Here

Formation of a new law firm, Crenshaw, Marbut and Charness, at 1306½ Broadway was announced Saturday.

Members are Charles C. Crenshaw, jr., Syrian E. Marbut and S. K. Casey Charness.

Their offices are in the Grollman building.

Crenshaw was graduated in 1938 from Southeastern University School of Law, in Washington, D. C., with an LL.B. degree. He was admitted to the Texas bar May 1, 1940, and served in the Army Air force during the war.

Crenshaw formerly was a member of the law firm of Crenshaw, Dupree, Milam and Crenshaw, resigning April 1, 1949, to set up his own office.

Marbut attended the University of Oklahoma, from which he took the A.B. and M.A. degrees, and the university's law school, from which he was graduated with the LL.B. degree.

He was admitted to the bar of Oklahoma in 1931, when he was a junior, to the Texas bar in 1932, when he moved to Lubbock.

Marbut served four and a half years as county attorney of Lubbock county, two and a half years as assistant city attorney for the City of Lubbock.

Charness, native of Illinois, attended the University of Illinois, De Paul university, Chicago-Kent College of Law and University of Arizona College of Law, and successively was admitted to the Illinois bar, the U. S. district court of the Northern district of Illinois, the U. S. circuit court of appeals of the seventh judicial circuit, the Supreme court of the U. S., the bar of Texas, and the U. S. district court of the Northern District of Texas.

Enlisted as an infantry private in June of 1942, he was separated as a major of the air force in March of 1946, after overseas service in the European theater.

Charness moved to Lubbock in February of 1946 and was with the Lubbock regional office of the Veterans administration before returning to private practice in October of 1948.

MISS PHYLLIS HEADLEE

O'Donnell Classes To Start Monday In Improved Buildings

O'Donnell Independent schools will open Monday for the 1949-50 session, Supt. S. F. Johnson revealed Saturday in announcing the faculty for the fall term.

Students were registered Thursday and Friday at the O'Donnell schools, but classwork will not begin until Monday, he said. The high school building has been repainted on the interior and the gymnasium has been put into "tip top" shape, the superintendent added.

Floors in the grade school have been covered with rubber flooring, Johnson said, to protect children from falls. He also announced that no children will be without bus transportation this year.

This year's staff includes M. D. Conger, high school principal; W. D. Jeeter, coach; James Hatter, assistant coach and mathematics; J. W. Reed, agriculture; Miss Helen Stokes, homemaking; Bill King, band master; Nola Bolch, Spanish and English; Norene Cathey, social sciences; Ruby Heath, commercial studies; J. B. Caldwell, science; Robert Parr, Librarian; and J. Ben Stone, English and journalism, all in high school.

In grade school: Mrs. Paul Gooch, principal and seventh and eighth grades; Ray Carr, boys' coach -and eighth grade; Miss Mary Sufall, girls' physical education; Mrs. Faye Smithson, seventh grade; Mrs. Oma Lee Doss, sixth grade; Miss Mary Townsley, fifth grade; Mrs. O. D. Robinson, fifth and sixth grades; Mrs. Mable Brock, fourth grade; Mrs. Cleo Conger, third grade;

Mrs. Inez Lawerence, third and fourth grade; Mrs. Louise Line, second grade; Mrs. Thelma Showalter and Mrs. Lucile Worthington, first grade; Mrs. Robert Parr, grade school music; Mrs. A. W. Gibbs, grade school piano; Mrs. Ellis Barns, high school piano; and Mrs. Marjorie Smith, will teach and be in charge of Draw school.

Other staff members are: Mrs. Iris Line, lunchroom manager; Mrs. Leona Porterfield and Mrs. Ben Young, assistants; Jones Pierce, head janitor; Jim Brush, assistant janitor; and J. R. Edwards, superintendent over drivers and maintenance.

Dinner Meeting Of Club Is Set

Miss Phyllis Headlee of Marfa, lieutenant-governor of district 8 of Pilot club International, will arrive in Lubbock Tuesday to attend a dinner meeting of Lubbock Pilot club at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday night in the Yaqui room at Hilton hotel.

Miss Headlee was charter president of the Pilot club of Marfa and is serving her second term as president. She also is district representative of the Pilot International finance committee. She is owner and manager of a retail grocery store in Marfa.

Pilot International is one of the five international civic and service organizations for business and professional women, similar to service organizations for men, such as Rotary, Kiwanis, Lions and others.

Organized Here In March

It is nonpartisan and nonsectarian and tis basic principles are friendship and service.

The Lubbock Pilot club was organized in March, 1949, with a charter membership of 20. Officers are: President, Miss Lois Alexander; first vice president, Mrs. Ida Harkleroad; second vice president, Mrs. Lillie V. Smith; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Pearl Smith; recording secretary, Miss Avey Leeth Smith; treasurer, Miss Hadena Hester; directors, Mesdames Jewel Huie, Bess Ford, Letha Simpson, Salome Hugo and Misses Lois Graves and Peggy Hess.

The club has adopted aid to Girlstown, U. S. A., near Whiteface as one of its civic projects.

Miss Evelyn Clewell will give a tea for Miss Headlee, committee chairmen and club members at her home at 2208 Main from 4:30 to 6 p. m. Tuesday. At the dinner meeting at Hilton hotel, she will hear reports from officers and committee chairmen.

Faulty Fire Warning System Blamed For Forced Landing

YUMA, Ariz., Sept. 3. (U.P.)—A faulty fire-warning system was blamed today for the forced landing of an American Airlines DC-6 plane en route from Los Angeles to Tucson, Ariz.

The plane carried 45 passengers and five crew members. It landed here yesterday after its instrument panel indicated excessive heat and smoke in a baggage compartment.

Pilot A. R. Perkins, Fort Worth, released two separate racks of fog-type fire extinguishers but the indicator still gave a fire warning. Examination of the plane after landing revealed no trace of fire, he said.

The true Meaning OF LABOR DAY

Labor Day means much more to us than a pleasant holiday and an opportunity to relax. It is a day to reflect on the American Way—where employer and employee meet on equal terms. More than ever, we are proud of our American heritage.

But do not forget that your working conditions in the next few years will also depend upon the reserve you are able to build out of your earnings. Work for the future as well as for today.

Major Shift By Several Firms To New Locations Talked Here

a federal savings and loan institution, and/ providing of automobile parking or storage facilities."

"These projects are big enough that, if they materialize, they will change the picture in the downtown section considerably and be a big lift towards a solution of downtown parking problems."

Would Expand Building

Neither George E. Benson, president of Citizens National bank, Retha R. Martin, president of Dunlap's, nor Knox Thomas, president of First Federal Savings and Loan association, was in a position to announce specific purchase or construction plans for the property involved.

However, it is believed that if Citizens National bank exercises its option, the temporary Hemphill-Wells building would be increased to six stories in height and employed as a bank and office building. Vacant property behind the building and the other properties across the alley and diagonally across the street would be used for parking space.

Benson did not deny that a multi-story parking building is being considered for one of the vacant sites.

Present Owners Named

The bank obtained option to purchase the east 50 feet of lots 20, 19, 18 and 17, and all of lots 16, 15 and 14, block 147, original town of Lubbock, from the Hemphill-Wells company through Mr. Wright.

The bank obtained option to purchase the west 42 feet of lots 11, 12 and 13, block 147, original town, from Robert E. Maxey, J. D. Jenkins and T. J. Vallas through Wright.

The bank obtained option to purchase lots 7, 8, 9 and 10 block 147, from Mrs. J. D. Peters through Wright. Mrs. Peters at present lives on that property, at 1212 Fourteenth.

The bank obtained option to purchase lots 1, 2, 3 and 4, block 164, original town, from J. L. Stimson of Abilene through Wright. That property is located on the southeast corner of the intersection of Fourteenth and Ave K.

Group Holds Meeting

The property under option would provide ample parking space immediately adjacent to the proposed office building and what would become the center of the downtown shopping area.

Martin obtained the option to lease for a 31-year term the property on the northwest corner of Thirteenth and Ave. K, described as lots 11, 12 and 13, block 131, original town of Lubbock. The option was obtained through Wright from the owner, Mrs. W. A. Bacon.

Following a meeting of the board of directors of First Federal Savings and Loan association Saturday morning, Thomas confirmed that the institution contemplates the erection of a "modern, imposing" structure as a permanent home. The lease on the association's present location expires in about a year. The building in which it is now located is owned by Charles Bacon.

Business To Move

The association received its option on the property from J. D. Jenkins and Robert E. Maxey, who in turn had an option on it from Alex McDonald, the present owner.

Simultaneously with these announcements, it was revealed that M. B. Hilburn, owner of Lubbock Printing company, plans to move his business into a building in another location.

Mrs. Hilburn has signed a contract of sale for the purchase of lots 15 and 16, block 164, original town. The property is between Fourteenth and Fifteenth on Ave. J.

Hilburn indicated a building might be started within 90 days if present plans are carried out. The structure probably would consist of one story and a balcony, with a foundation to support three stories eventually.

Major Move Is Seen

One real estate observer of long standing who did not wish to be quoted by name commented in this fashion on the transactions:

"For seven or eight years Lubbock has been at the point of 'breaking off' from the square in the manner that many larger cities have done.

"It could not be determined which direction the business direction would turn until a group of business firms took off in some direction from the square.

"In my opinion, this is the thing that will bring the city in a southwesterly direction.

Increase In Values Seen

"After all, Lubbock is getting to be a city and our parking problem is acute. In these transactions, an area is being optioned for parking purposes which would solve a lot of the city's parking problems.

"Unquestionably, the moves, if carried out, will increase property values southward and westward."

The proposed new home of the Citizens bank and office building, while built as a temporary home of Hemphill-Wells to allow construction of the $1,000,000 new building at Thirteenth and Ave. J, was constructed to allow five additional stories to be added. Bank architects from St. Louis were reported to be in Lubbock in the past few days to examine the property.

Other Moves Rumored

As it stands now, the building contains 36,000 square feet of floor space—15,000 in the basement, 15,000 on the first floor and 6,000 on the balcony. The proposed parking area would total 36,000 square feet.

Official announcement of building plans might be expected in the near future if the options are exercised and other obstacles are overcome, bank officials indicated.

Strictly in the rumor stage, but considered a liklihood was the fact that further expansion might occur on the site of the old Kuykendall building at Thirteenth and Ave. K, east of the temporary Hemphill-Wells building.

The building is leased, supposedly on a 10-year basis at present, by Montgomery Ward and company. It was leased as a warehouse and sales room for hard goods.

It was considered a distinct possibility that the location might become the home of another large department store, with the establishment of the other businesses nearby.

Seven Hurt In Area Accidents

came at 7:50 a. m. three miles east of Lubbock on the Idalou highway, involving a motorcycle and a jeep.

The motorcycle rider, Wayne S. McElroy, 21, of Lubbock route 2, received serious head injuries, including an injury to his right eye. Attendants at St. Mary's hospital said his condition was not critical.

Two Hurt In Mishap

McElroy, a press operator for Wilke's Metal and Iron works and a member of the Lubbock Motorcycle club, was thrown to the pavement when his 1938 Harley Davidson cycle hit the right rear of a 1946 Willys Jeep driven by Horace W. Ash, 44, of east of Lubbock.

Ash was not injured, the Highway patrol reported. Both McElroy and Ash were driving west toward Lubbock.

Two other persons were injured at 11:50 a.m. when their car overturned one and one-half miles west of Carlisle on the Levelland highway, approximately 10 miles west of Lubbock.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Adams, of 2218 Fourteenth, both students at Texas Tech, were taken to St. Mary's hospital. Adams, 27, was under observation for a possible back injury, while his wife, 16, was being kept overnight for observation. Both received bruises and abrasions.

The Highway patrol said Adams, driving west toward Levelland in a 1936 Ford sedan, was traveling behind a 1947 Chevrolet coach driven by John C. Englin, 27.

Woman Is Injured

The wreck came, according to the patrol, when Englin started to turn right off the highway into an intersection. Adams headed for the borrow ditch on the right to avoid hitting the Chevrolet, which kept going down the main highway.

The Adams car jumped the ditch at the intersection and overturned twice.

A Latin-American woman, Mrs. Margaret Gonzales, 35, of Lubbock route 1, was taken to St. Mary's hospital with minor injuries received when she was struck by a car at Ave. H and Thirteenth street in Lubbock at 7:30 p. m.

Mrs. Gonzales suffered a possible fractured arm and lacerations, and was being kept under observation for possible internal injuries. Her condition was not considered serious.

Several Wrecks In City

Driver of the car, a 1936 Ford sedan, was Leland Yarbrough, 20, a mechanic, of 2820 N. Fifth street. Investigating police said Mrs. Gonzales apparently attempted to cross in the middle of the street and that Yarbrough was unable to avoid the mishap. Police issued a traffic summons to Yarbrough for driving without a license.

Cars Heavily Damaged

In another mishap, a woman swerved off the highway to avoid an oncoming truck and ran into a fruit stand on East Broadway shortly before 8 p. m. The woman was shaken up but not injured. Her identity was not learned, and full details of the accident were not available.

A minor accident without injuries came at 8:15 p. m. in front of the Cotton club, about three miles east of Lubbock on the Slaton highway.

A 1939 Pontiac, driven by Barbara Strickland, 20, of Roswell, N. M., crashed into the rear of a Yellow Cab driven by Herbert Lee Lewallen, 30, of 614 Ave. N.

Damage to the cab, a 1948 Chevrolet, was estimated at $40, while the damage estimate on the Pontiac was $100 to $150.

Still another accident was reported at 9:15 p. m. by the Highway patrol near the Lubbock Municipal [illegible], about five miles north of [illegible] on the Plainview high[illegible] Details were not available e[illegible] this morning, but no injuries were reported.

Lubbock police were kept busy Saturday moving from one wreck to another as they investigated a total of seven other traffic mishaps that did not result in personal injuries.

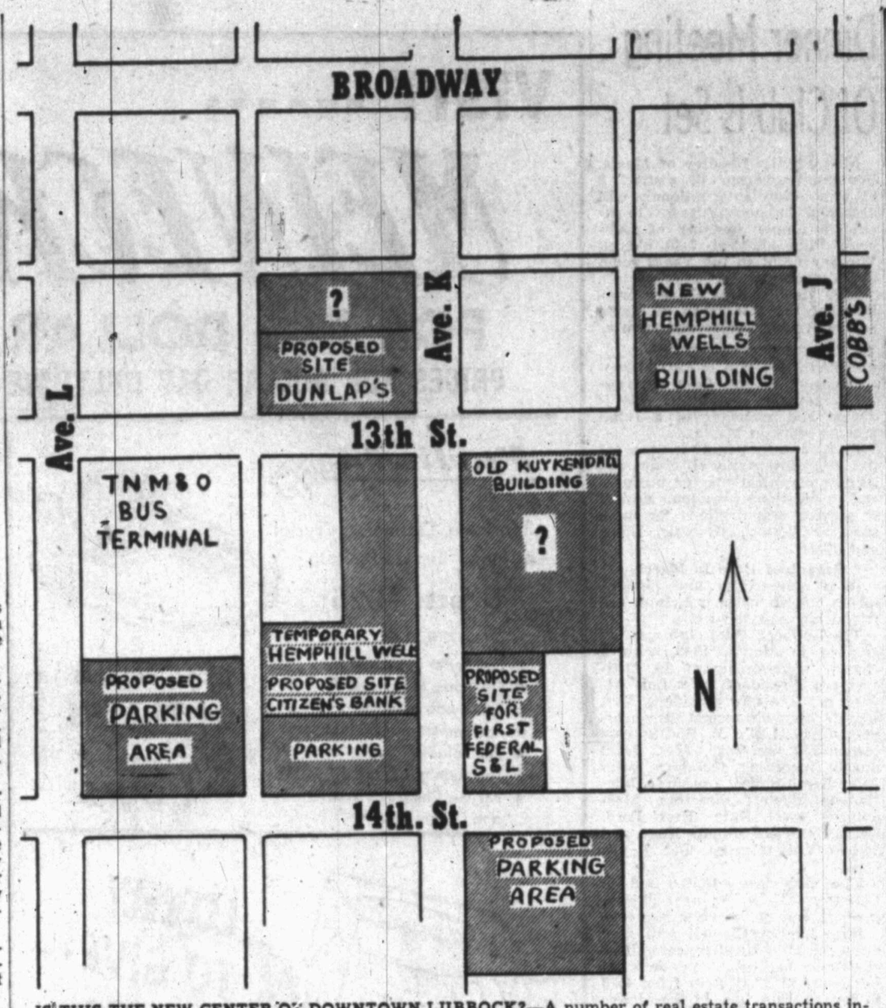

The time schedule on these, with locations, ran like this: 7:19 a. m., 2519 Ave. H; 12:07 p. m., Texas avenue and Sixteenth street; 1:59 p. m., 1700 block on Texas avenue; 2:32 p. m., 600 block on College avenue; 5:20 p. m., Ave. Q and Fourteenth street; 6:46 p. m., Main street and Ave. H; and 8:20 p. m., Ave. F and Fifteenth street.

week from Maj. Gen. Harry Vaughan, President Truman's military aide. Vaughan's name had cropped up almost daily in month-long committee sessions.

The unit's investigators are running down new leads during the indefinite recess, after which public hearings will resume. Demands have already been voiced by Mundt and Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) that Vaughan be recalled to testify further.

IS THIS THE NEW CENTER OF DOWNTOWN LUBBOCK?—A number of real estate transactions involving property valued at more than $700,000 may well result in shifting of the center of Lubbock's downtown business district one block south of Broadway and several blocks west of the courthouse square. The sketch above portrays property involved. Citizens National bank has obtained option on the temporary Hemphill-Wells company home at Thirteenth and Ave. K, plus the shaded areas designated as proposed parking areas, at the southeast corner and northwest corner of Fourteenth and Ave. K, and the northeast corner of Fourteenth and Ave. L. The Dunlap company, through its president, Retha R. Martin, has obtained option on a 31-year lease on the northwest corner of Thirteenth and Ave. K for a department store site. First Federal Savings and Loan association has an option on property at the northeast corner of Fourteenth and Ave. K as a site for a proposed new home for that institution. Question marks portray indefinite plans for two pieces of property. M. B. Hilburn of Lubbock Printing company has plans to move his firm from that location, and it was considered a distinct possibility that the old Kuykendall building might become another department store site. (Drawing by Staff Artist Allen Todd.)

Clubhouse Purchased

$20,000 through memberships, donations and projects.

Several Plans Discarded

In Nov. 1945 a tract of land 180x240 feet was bought at Ave. S and Thirty-fourth, the proposed site of the clubhouse. During the next two years, a building committee, headed by Mrs. Mary Hagelstein, considered plans to move Army barracks from Abilene and remodel them in to a lounge, tea shop and club rooms. When this was voted infeasible, James Atcheson, architect, was instructed to draw plans, the proposed sketches being presented to the group at a mass meeting in 1947.

When the funeral home was put on the market, the board and advisory committee met to consider the possibility of buying a clubhouse, rather than having it built. Since the initial meeting, members of the board have been in consultation with representatives of a loan company and have sought advice from business men on the practicability of the purchase.

Final papers were signed Saturday morning.

The indebtedness will be paid through rental of two apartments in the building, through donations and through proceeds realized from projects, the first fall one being the Home Beautiful clinic to be held Sept. 24-25.

Board members, in addition to Mrs. Allen, are Mrs. J. C. Rigney, vice president; Mrs. Ivy G. Savage, secretary; Mrs. Harmon Jenkins, treasurer; Mrs. Retha Martin, Mrs. A. T. Cocanougher, Mrs. Claud Keeton, Mrs. George Berry and Mrs. W. C. Wood. Mrs. Berry is chairman of the committee on finance.

check. Rowan had been arrested by officers at Vernon.

Jim Young, Texas Tech student, reported theft of an alarm clock and table model radio from his room at the rear of 2202 Seventeenth street, between 8:50 and 10 p.m. Value of both articles was estimated at $27. Young said the room was not locked.

Theft of a black 1940 Ford coupe was reported at 10 p.m. by Billie E. Fenley, of 207 Ave. U. License number was Texas, AT-121. Fenley said the car had been parked, with keys in the switch, at the Brown Derby cafe on North Ave. H.

A Lubbock woman, about 27, was fined $15 and court costs and sentenced to one day in the county jail after entering a plea of guilty to a charge of theft before County Judge Walter Davies.

The woman was charged with the theft of beauty treatments valued at $6.50 from Elsie's Beauty shop, 1114 Texas Ave.

In other action, Judge Davies overruled motions for new trials filed by Cecil Baker and Gus Walker, both of whom had been convicted in jury verdicts last week of liquor law violations.

Mortgage Loans Rise

50 per cent increase over July, when 152 loans granted totaled only $879,111. The loan volume in June was even smaller, with $772,486 represented in 135 mortgages. The May figure totaled $855,440 in 148 mortgages filed.

The tabulation of August loans made revealed 13 loans totaling $50,375 were made by the building and loan institution; 29 loans totaling $190,900 were made by insurance companies; 47 loans totaling $333,825 were made by banks; 63 loans totaling $180,813 were made by individuals; and 55 loans totaling $369,655 were made by other agencies. The last figure would include so-called "GI loans."

Gibbs pointed out there was no way of verifying absolutely that the August mortgage loan total was the largest in the history of Lubbock, since records have not been kept over a long period of time.

144 Dwellings Included

However, it was certainly the largest total in post war years and therefore it may be considered safe to assume that it was the largest volume in history.

In August, according to figures compiled by Building Inspector Lloyd Ross, 144 dwelling units were included in the permits. Permits for building of all types totaled only 122, but a number were for multi-unit apartments and residences. A total of 293 permits were issued, that figure including moving and sign permits.

The increase in mortgage loan volume and building volume brightened considerably the hope that 1949 will see another $15,000,000 building year equal to 1948, which shattered all records.

Loan experts predicted that the mortgage loan volume on residences will hit a million dollars a month at least through November.

sane," Petersen said, "but insanity probably will be the plea — I have tried suicide twice, you know. My father thinks I'm as crazy as hell — told me so when he and mother came up here to see me last night."

Girl Getting Away

The tall, handsome Petersen sighed, and went on:

"I loved the girl so very much. She was very, very attractive. She was five feet three inches tall, she had brown eyes, dark hair, olive skin and a very trim figure. She was getting away from me and I didn't want to let her go. I haven't been able to eat or sleep — for two weeks I've lived on a bowl of soup a day. My weight has dropped from 215 to 186.

Trustees At Sudan Seek Superintendent

SUDAN, Sept. 4. Sunday, (Spl.) —Trustees of Sudan independent school district were still in session at 12:30 a.m. today after a night-long session in which some five applicants for the position of superintendent were being considered.

The superintendent's post was vacated Tuesday by the resignation of Perry Moring, who was to have started his fifth year in Sudan this fall. The former superintendent resigned to assume teaching duties at Abernathy.

Resignation of Moring placed an entirely new administrative staff in the Sudan schools, as both the high school and grade school principals for the coming year are new to the district. Leslie Browning of St. Jo, new grade school principal, was hired about a week ago, as was Gordon Mills of Lubbock, who will be high school administrator.

Cotton Estimate

few weeks. But he predicted his figure will be close to the final total unless growing conditions are exceedingly good or turn extremely bad.

As he reported last week, his forecast is lower than he anticipated two weeks ago because of the discovery that insect damage earlier in the growing season—particularly leaf hoppers—was much heavier than he had supposed.

Based on present conditions, estimates are that the hoppers probably have cost South Plains farmers 200,000 to 400,000 bales of cotton worth, with seed, $30,000,000 to $60,000,000.

However, they still have the prospect of a crop now regarded as a virtual certainty to be worth well over $200,000,000, with a possibility of hitting closer to $300,000,000.

No Drastic Changes Seen

No drastic changes in prospects as observed Aug. 1 were noted by Clapp Sept. 1 in any of the counties of his territory.

An indicated crop of 220,000 bales in Lubbock county was 5,000 below the Aug. 1 forecast. If ginnings should reach such a figure, it would be an all-time record for any county in Texas history. Lubbock, incidentally, has been the No. 1 cotton producing county of the state the last two years—with 126,000 bales last year and 181,000 in 1947.

Among the larger producing counties of the area, the most improvement during the past month was observed in Hockley. Clapp's new forecast for Hockley was 205,000 bales, compared with 185,000 a month previously.

Dawson Crop Improved

A significant improvement in outlook was reported in Dawson, where practically all the cotton is grown on unirrigated land. He boosted his Aug. 1 forecast of 115,000 bales to 125,000.

Among the other big producing counties, he upped the Lamb forecast from 160,000 to 170,000 bales and the Lynn total from 100,000 to 115,000. Rain last week helped Lamb county's prospects.

In Crosby, he cut his Aug. 1 prediction of 120,000 bales to 90,000 a month later. Some spots in that county have suffered from drouth and others have been hard hit by hoppers.

The hopper danger now is over this year, Clapp said, but bollworms are spreading in some localities and they could do serious damage unless brought under control. He expects them to be controlled.

Angular leaf spot, a plant disease, he described as "generally present" in irrigated fields which have been over-watered. The disease may adversely affect the quality of the cotton by causing it to become spotted.

Record Acreage Reported

He estimated that 2,761,000 acres remain in cotton, including 698,000 irrigated and 2,063,000 unirrigated. All the figures are record-breakers.

The following table lists Clapp's Sept. 1 and Aug. 1 forecasts and actual ginnings last year: (000 omitted.)

Finals Are Held In Lamesa Rodeo

LAMESA, Sept. 3. (Special)—About 4,000 people attended the final performance here tonight of the three-day professional rodeo sponsored by the Lamesa Rodeo association. Prize money, $1,650 plus a portion of the 150 entry fees, totaling $4,150 was awarded to the event winners as a climax.

Sue Wasson, 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Wasson of Big Spring, was officially recognized as the rodeo queen as she made her final appearance tonight with her attendants, during the grand entry.

Over-all judges for the contests were Hovart Flower of Duncan, Okla., and Charlie Broadnax, of Pampa. Cutting horse contest judges were Joe York, Snyder; and Kirby Miller, Big Spring.

Winners Announced

Bareback bronc riding—Red Walker, Belton, first; Bub Evans, Fort Davis, second; Tommy Steiner, Austin, third; and S. A. York, Temple, fourth.

Calf roping (open only to the members of the Lamesa Roping club)—Jim Smith, O'Donnell, first; Rex Smith, O'Donnell, second; Lydell Sharpe, Lamesa, third; and Ray Burnett, Lamesa, fourth.

Professional calf roping—Buddy Fort, Lovington, N. M., first; Sunny Edwards, Big Spring, second; J. D. Holleman, third; and Herman Virdan, Ballinger, fourth.

The best time for this event turned in during the rodeo was recorded tonight when Merle Kelton, 19, of Crane, roped and tied his calf in 10.6 seconds.

Ladies barrel race—June Probst, San Angelo, first; Mary Black, Lovington, N. M., second; Billie Anne Bunton, Marfa, third; and Snooks Creighton, Lamesa, fourth.

Saddle bronc riding—Bub Evans, first; Jack Wilkinson, Menard, second; Hood Abercrombie, Lubbock, third; and Alfred Cox, Spicewood, and Dutch Taylor, Albany, tied for fourth place money.

Cutting horse contest—Robert Corbett, Breckenridge, first; Phil Williams, Tokio, second; Jeff Beal, Tokio, third; and Jess Everett, Gail, fourth.

Steer wrestling—Junior Hays, Big Spring, first; L. G. Gibbs, Killeen, and Leon Jones, Enoch, tied for second and third places; while Tom Hatley, Lawton, Okla., took fourth money.

Wild brahma bull riding—Jack Wilkinson, first; Don McDonald, Gail, second; Bub Evans, third; and Jack Buchanan, Big Spring, fourth.

The announcer during the three-day rodeo was Buck Jackson. Rodeo stock was furnished by T. C. and Tommy Steiner of Austin.

Lamesa's first professional rodeo was such a success that J. Homer Beal, president of the Lamesa Rodeo Association, promised that it would be an annual event.

NEWS BRIEFS

Mrs. Clinton Quenton and her daughter, Frances, entertained Miss Jane DeWald of Snyder here Friday night with a party. Games were played and refreshments of sandwiches, cookies and punch served the guests. Those present included Patricia Sharrell, Betty Faunders, and Shirley Newcomb, who helped in serving the guests, and Nina Smith, Nancy Abbot, Joanne Bean, Steve Allen, Buddy Hill, Don Rutledge, Dennis and Vic Zackary, Roy Carnes, George Nelson and Dick McIlhaney.

Judge G. V. Pardue Saturday noon recessed 99th district court until 10 a. m. Tuesday, when evidence will be resumed in the compensation action of Ed Patterson against Texas Employer's Insurance association. Most of the defense evidence, it was indicated, had been presented. Patterson, a negro, sought compensation for alleged total and permanent injuries alleged to have been suffered in a fall during course of employment at a mill here.

Mr. and Mrs. Garnet Reeves, 2510 Twenty-first, returned Saturday from a ten-day trip to California where they were guests of the Jefferson Standard Life Insurance company in Pasadena.

balcony of the Lubbock hotel, with the union float which best portrays its craft to get a silver cup, and a gold cup to go to the best decorated of the floats entered by non-union groups.

Judges for the union floats will be W. C. O'Mara of Sears-Roebuck and company, H. L. Allen of the Southwestern Public Service company, and George T. Dale, president of the A.B.C. club.

Other floats will be judged by Miss Margaret Turner, woman's editor for The Avalanche-Journal; Mrs. Chester A. Hubbard; and Mrs. W. L. Sasser.

Barbecue May Draw 1,500

W. M. Barton, carpenters' union, will represent the steering committee on the judges stand, and will answer their questions regarding the floats. The plumbers union will have charge of the parade, with R. G. Scott acting as chairman of their parade committee.

Members of the steering committee, which was responsible for arranging most of the day's activities, will ride in the parade with Mayor Rodgers. Garrett Fox of the Electricians' union, is chairman of the committee. R. P. Raney, Typographical union, and Mrs. Jerry Holleman, Ladies' auxiliary to the Electricians' union, are members.

More than 1,500 are expected to attend the noon barbecue. A 2½-hour program has been prepared, with Dr. Wiggins' address scheduled for 1 p.m. The Rev. H. I. Robinson, pastor of the First Methodist church, will give the invocation.

Queen To Receive Award

The coronation of the Labor Day queen from seven contestants entered by local unions is scheduled for 12:30 p.m. The queen will receive a $100 merchandise certificate purchased from the local store having the best display of union label work in its windows.

Float winners will be presented cups after Dr. Wiggins' address. Music at the barbecue will be provided by the Holsum Range Riders, including a radio broadcast at 12:15 p. m. Ladies auxiliaries of the Typographical, Carpenters, and Electricians unions are in charge of food for the barbecue. Tickets are available to union members, their families and guests, from union officers.

Special guests at the barbecue will include state Sen. Kilmer C. Corbin of Lamesa; City Commissioners Clarence Whiteside, E. K. Hufstedler, W. B. Price, and John Spikes; W. Earl Creel, local VFW commander; County Attorney Waggoner Carr; A. B. Davis, manager of the Chamber of Commerce; Chas. A. Guy, editor of The Avalanche-Journal; and Arch S. Underwood, prominent West Texas businessman.

Queens of local unions in competition for the coveted Queen of Labor Day crown are Mrs. Opal Pruitt, Electricians; Jean Summers, Laborres; Doris Laseman, of Levelland, Plumbers; Mrs. Sylvia Gafford, Painters; Claudette Sims, Carpenters; Jane DeWald, Lathers; and Laura Lou Bailey, Typographical.

The dance at the VFW clubhouse will feature Bailey Ireland and his ten-piece band. Jerry Holleman is chairman of the entertainment committee, composed of electrical workers.

The union label contest, with 23 local stores entered, is part of the activities scheduled for the observance of National Union Label Week, Sept. 3 to 10. Purpose of the displays are to bring to the attention of the general public the number and variety of goods manufactured by union labor. Window displays will be judged this afternoon, and the winner will be announced during the barbecue Monday. The $100 certificate to be awarded the queen of Labor Day will be purchased from the store with the winning display.

Lubbock stores with these displays are Terry and Childress Hardware, Glassman's Department store, Dunlap's Department store, Montgomery Ward and company, Levine's Department store, Walton's Store for Men, J. C. Penny company, Durham-Burdine company.

Cook Paint and Varnish company; Newsom Paint and Supply company's three stores; J. D. Hinson Appliance company, Myrick-Wofford Appliance company, Anthony company, Sears-Roebuck and company, Mallory's, S and Q Clothiers, Grollman's, Skibell's, Hanna-Pope and company, and Sherrod Hardware company.

Unions to enter floats in the parade are the Painters, local 342, with J. M. Comer, jr., in charge of float construction; Electricians, local 850, with Bill Blount chairman of the float committee; Plumbers and Steamfitters local, with R. G. Scott, float chairman; Laborers, local 357, B. M. Moore, float chairman; Carpenters, local 1884, L. A. Bell, float chairman; Plasterers, local 687, B. W. Lane, float chairman; Lathers, local 424, R. J. Teal, float chairman; Teamsters local, Marvin Mitchell, float chairman; Sheetmetal workers, local 432, E. C. Tabor, in charge of float; Roofers local, Troy Ross, float chairman; and Typographical Union No. 888, W. D. Donald, float chairman.

Three ladies' auxiliaries also will have floats. Mrs. Garrett Fox is in charge of the Electricians Auxiliary float; Mrs. Claudine Sims, the Carpenters Auxiliary float; and Mrs. Joyce Malone is Typographical auxiliary float chairman.

he did not know whether the secretary was traveling by plane or whether he would go on Labor day to Pittsburgh and Des Moines where President Truman is speaking.

'AMERICAN WAY' IS LAUDED

Labor Officials Call For Fight Against Depression, Communism

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3. (AP)—In Labor day messages, the nation's top labor officials appealed today to industry and workers alike to fight against depression and Communism.

AFL President William Green called for action "to preserve the free American way of life from the threat of domestic Fascism and world Communism."

"Reactionaries" Scored

"Both on the national and international fronts," Green said, "America is involved in a cold war. In our own country, reactionary forces are attempting to turn the clock backward and are gambling upon a depression to return them to power over the nation's economic and political life.

"On the world front, the leaders of the Kremlin are also gambling upon a depression to weaken American resistance and to enable them to gain dominion over all of Europe and Asia. We must not allow that depression to take place."

Tobin Raps "Sweatshops"

Philip Murray, head of the CIO, said:

"For our own sake, and for the cause of freedom everywhere, we must show that free collective bargaining works in behalf of all the people; that we can avert mass unemployment and in fact, constantly raise our living standards; that our government acts vigorously, at all times and in all places, to avert hardship and distress, while buttressing our civil liberties and our economic rights.

"The CIO is committed to these goals, and determined that they shall quickly be achieved. Workers in America are devoted to the preservation and strengthening of our Democratic way of life against the attack of all totalitarians. We will fight, and fight hard, against all who seek to undermine our liberties or encroach upon our standards of living."

Secretary of Labor Maurice J. Tobin, said:

"In too many areas, sweatshop working conditions still persist. These bring adverse effects upon the whole economy. They tend to drag down wages in high-wage areas, reduce the work-week, and cause work to flow into sweatshop establishments. They also have an adverse effect upon decent business management, for the lowest wages have an effect reaching to the extreme end of our economy."

Senator Seeks Raise In Cottonseed Prices

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3 (AP)—Better prices for cottonseed under the government support price program is being sought by Sen. Stennis (D-Miss).

The Mississippian told Secretary of Agriculture Brannan something should be done to raise prices right away—especially in his state.

Stennis informed Brannan that seed prices in Mississippi hill counties opened at $40 to $42 per ton, with only a few delta areas paying as much as the $49.50 per ton support price.

Actual gin tickets furnished by Stennis showed that farmers were receiving a return of only $8 to $10 a bale for seed after paying ginning costs.

"Farmers have been assured that a $49.50 price support has been established, and unless an effective support system is adopted, faith with them will have been broken," Stennis said.

The Mississippian also reported that gin reports showed the average moisture content of seed now being ginned is 19 per cent, but seed accepted for the loan under present requirements must be 11 per cent or less.

"I am confident," Stennis told Brannan, "that the Department of Agriculture does not want the support program to yield such meager benefits to the farmer, with the resulting depressing effect upon business in general."

'Appreciation Day' Is Slated To Honor Longview Publisher

LONGVIEW, Sept. 3. (AP)—Longview business and civic leaders have set aside next Tuesday as "Estes appreciation day" in honor of Carl L. Estes, publisher of the Longview News and Journal.

Estes will be recognized for his work in bringing industries to Longview and East Texas. The latest industry to anounce it will build a plant in this area is Tennessee Eastman Corp.

T. W. Dunbar, president of the Retail Merchants association, said a special program will be given at 8 p. m. Tuesday on the campus of Le Tourneau Technical institute here.

Invitations are being sent to state and national leaders and a blanket invitation has been extended to friends throughout East Texas "to join us in paying tribute to Estes," Dunbar said.

Dunbar said the coming of the Tennessee Eastman plant and the Tuesday night program will give Longview and East Texas an opportunity to thank the publisher for many things he has done for the city and area during the nearly 15 years he has owned and operated the Longview papers.

FEATURE OF FAIR MUSICAL REVUE—The colorful spectacle, "Ballet of the Flowers," will be the climaxing finale of, "A Trip to Wonderland," brilliant musical revue to be presented each night in front of the grandstand at the 32nd annual Panhandle-South Plains fair here Sept. 26 through Oct. 1. A chorus of 16 girls, pictured above, will provide the glamorous background for the presentation.

entertainment," A. B. Davis, manager of the fair association, said.

Elaborate Attractions Set

"The attractions, including the musical revue and Lucky Lott, are among the most expensive ever booked for a fair here or elsewhere in this portion of the Southwest. They are outstanding entertainment.

"We will need almost capacity attendance every night to break even on the musical revue. The same is true of the Lucky Lott performances Tuesday and Saturday afternoons."

The musical revue has been built around a chorus of 16 girls, who will appear in numerous colorful and striking costumes. The production carries elaborate scenery and the presentations will require the construction of a large stage.

Specialty Numbers Included

The performance will begin with a presentation of "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," and will be brought to a close with an elaborately staged number under the title of, "Ballet of the Flowers."

Specialty acts between the opening and closing numbers will include:

The Three Melody Notes, a singing trio widely known to stage audiences and scheduled for television appearances after their current tour.

The Mar-Vels, a teeterboard troup; one of their stunts will be a backward somersault by a blinded performer from floor level to a chair on a 14-foot perch.

The Three Jerks, whose comedy will be strictly slapstick.

Dog Act Scheduled

The Arwoods in a dog and balancing act; one of their numbers, said to be an exclusive of theirs, will be a hand stand by one of the team on the head of a dog.

Larry Griswold, tampoline artist, whose act will combine comedy with spectacular skill. A tampoline is a contrivance which resembles a bed, but on which a trained performer can leap 20 feet and higher into the air.

Lucky Lott's troup will include Rudy Cedro, who is billed as having doubled many times for Frank Sinatra in the movies.

Lott himself has been a professional stunt man about 15 years. He has appeared in more motion pictures, he said, than he can recall, usually as the double for an actor in some hair-raising stunt.

Events in the Lubbock performance will include:

A leap by Lott from a racing car to the top of a speeding trailer; he is said to be the only person who will attempt this stunt. The uncertain motion of the trailer makes the feat exceedingly dangerous.

A crash through a blazing plank wall with a man lying head-foremost on the hood of the car.

And a "rollover" in a car traveling at 80 miles an hour; this will be accomplished by hitting a ramp in a way which will hurl the auto upon its top.

Italy entertained 14,000 American tourists in the first two months of this year.

Senate Gathers For 15 Second Meeting

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3 (U.P.)—The Senate today made speed for a change, meeting and recessing within 15 seconds.

Members are on an unofficial one-week holiday, but the rules require that the Senate meet every three days. So acting Presiding Officer Carl Hayden, (D-Ariz.), convened the Senate exactly at noon (EDT). He read his appointment as temporary presiding officer, then declared the Senate in recess until noon Wednesday.

Reporters' watches showed that 15 seconds had been consumed.

Attending the session besides Hayden were Democratic leader Scott W. Lucas, Ill., and Sens. Robert A. Taft, (R-O.), and Bert H. Miller, (D-Idaho). Sen. Elmer Thomas, (D-Okla.), strolled in at 12:01 p. m. but by that time it was all over.

A MEMORY BOOK OF PROGRESS OF LUBBOCK AND THE SOUTH PLAINS

1873 — 1949

To attempt to record, even sketchily, the work that has been done on the State Experimental farm east of Lubbock would require volumes. Its contributions to agricultural prosperity and stability not alone on the South Plains, but in West Texas and the Southwest, are beyond estimate.

It has experimented with innumerable new crops, many of which were proved adaptable to this region. Through its efforts, strains of other producing crops have been developed to make them more resistant to unfavorable climatic conditions and to increase their yield. Research has been constant and invaluable in methods to combat and control damaging insects and blights of many kinds.

All this work has been carried on upon the original 160-acre tract where present efforts are becoming increasingly cramped. The need for additionl land for the experimental farm has been under discussion for sometime, with prospects encouraging that something will be done about it before too long.

But the need for enlargement has not retarded efforts on the land available. The farm has become one of the "show places" of the entire area. And, as one testimonial to the results of efforts there was the selection a few months ago by one of the State's leading farm publications of Don L. Jones, the farm superintendent, as the outstanding man of 1948 in Texas agriculture.

LUBBOCK AVALANCHE-JOURNAL Sports

Albuquerque Dukes Beat Lamesa Loboes, 15-6, Behind Ferrarese

ALBUQUERQUE, Sept. 3. (AP)—Lamesa's Loboes bowed 15 to 6 to the Albuquerque Dukes tonight. But they gained at least a tie for a West Texas-New Mexico league playoff spot.

The Lamesa tie for a playoff spot was by virtue of Amarillo's 14 to 9 victory over Pampa at Amarillo. Lamesa dropped back 8 1/2 games behind the Dukes but maintained three games over Pampa. The Loboes have only three more games to play.

Southpaw Don Ferrarese pitched and batted the Dukes to victory.

After Ferrarese shook off a wild streak his curve ball claimed 15 strikeouts. That boosted his season mark to 236. It was his 16th victory of the year and 11th in his last 12 games. He has lost 10.

He aided his own cause with three hits, including his third home run of the year. It came in the fifth with one on. He batted in three others.

Ferrarese walked 12 but set down Lamesa thrice with the bases loaded.

Singles by Dick Dawson, Cliff McClain, Les Mulcahy, Len Attyd and Ray Hamrick combined with a walk and doubles by manager Hershel Martin and Ferrarese gave the Dukes a seven run lead in the first. They drove Stan Grzywacz off the mound.

Ferrarese walked four to give the Loboes their first run in the next inning. An error and a homer by Dan Pinto gave Lamesa two more in the third. Two walks, a single by Jim Calo and a double by Pinto added another duo in the fourth.

Pinto's hit in that inning was the last for Lamesa.

A walk, a single and an outfield fly produced one run for the Dukes in the third. Another walk and Ferrarese's homer gave two tallies in the fifth.

Lamesa wound up its scoring in the sixth on three walks and an error.

The Dukes turned in five runs in the eighth on singles by McClain, Martin and Attyd, a pair of walks and a double by Dawson.

Blue Sox Gain 13-8 Victory Over Clovis

CLOVIS, Sept. 3. (AP)—The Abilene Blue Sox all but cinched a playoff berth here tonight riding rough-shod over the Clovis Pioneers to the tune of 13-6.

A four-run outburst in the eighth inning sewed up the verdict for the Sox. A double by Bobby Fernandez and a homer by George Sturdivant featured the rally. Fernandez and Sturdivant had a field night at bat, collecting four and five hits respectively.

Freddie Rodriguez, who was summoned to the rescue in the fourth inning when Joe Nakamura ran into a streak of wildness, was credited with the win.

Rodriguez was nigh invincible, for the five and two third innings he toiled. He was very stingy, giving up only one run and three hits while in the process of fanning eight Pioneers.

Western Union Seeks Dismissal Of Injunction On Racing News

DALLAS, Sept. 3. (AP)—Western Union is seeking dismissal of the state's injunction suit against its distribution of horse racing news.

John W. Miller, attorney for Western Union, said tonight he mailed a motion of dismissal to Austin yesterday and it was filed today with the 126th district clerk.

Miller said the motion contends there is no point in hearing the injunction suit, since Western Union has stopped transmitting racing information to A. C. Coggins, owner of the Texas Daily Sports News.

Lubbock's E. G. Pope Racks Up Perfect Score In Shoot

CAMP DODGE, Ia., Sept. 3. (AP)—Robert E. McMains of Dallas, Texas, set the early pace as America's leading riflemen opened the National Small Bore Championships.

McMains, one of 10 shooters who scored perfect 400s in the first of four Saturday matches, put 35 of his 40 bullseye shots in the "X" circle. The first match was at 50 yards, metalic sight, from prone position.

Others with perfect scores in the opener included E. G. Pope, Lubbock.

Schools Open Grid Seasons

(By The Associated Press)

Forty-four games bringing 70 City Conference and Class AA teams into action open the schoolboy football season in Texas this week.

Thirteen of the City Conference's 26 schools play games while 56 of the Class AA's 84 will roll.

Top game of the state appears to be the battle of Port Arthur with Odessa at Odessa Saturday. It matches two of the highest rated teams of the year.

Austin plays Thomas Jefferson at San Antonio, Kerrville meets Brackenridge at San Antonio, Breckenridge goes to Abilene, San Angelo to Denison, Mineral Wells to Hillsboro, Alice to Corpus Christi and Kingsville to San Benito in other feature tilts.

Woodrow Wilson (Dallas) journeys to Mexico City to play Polytechnic while Bowie (El Paso) will be at Carlsbad, N. M., El Paso High at Roswell, N. M., and Marshall at Fair Park (Shreveport) in intersectional play.

The week's schedule:

CITY CONFERENCE:
District 1 (Dallas)—Friday: Crozier Tech at Ennis, North Dallas at Pampa, Sunset at Tyler, Woodrow Wilson at Mexico City Polytechnic.
District 2 (Fort Worth)—Friday: Paschal at Weatherford.

HEIRESS IS SOUGHT

REDWOOD CITY, Calif., Sept. 3. (AP)—Attorney F. W. Hammond, jr., of San Carlos would like to find Donnie Lee Nance Howard Collier Marcopulas—to present her with half a $50,000 estate. It was left her by her husband and she is entitled to the half under the law. She is believed to be either in southern California or Texas.

Horse and cattle tail hair have been added by Paraguay to its export items.

Between the Lines by Joe Kelly

Lubbock's outstanding softball team, the Bluebonnet-Sunbeamers, are in Greeley, Colo., today waiting for their chance to take the field in the opening of the National Softball Congress tournament. According to the Associated Press, the Blue-Beamers are slated to see their first action this afternoon at 3, when they play Athens, Tenn. It is one of five games to be played today in the double elimination tournament. Taft, Calif., which beat the Blue-Beamers last year, is the defending championship team an expected to win the title again. But tournament officials expect their stiffest competition to come from Hanford, Calif., Tulsa, Okla., Toronto, Can., and Lubbock. With Red Denham added to the mound staff, the Blue-Beamers could be the toughest team in the tournament.

Billy Henderson went off and fought again the other night and no one was interested enough to let us know about it. When Dickie Griffin placed a local call and told the sports department that Henderson had won, everyone was a little surprised. He fought on the card with Jessy Fonseca at El Paso and knocked out a tough little Mexican fighter named Torres in the fourth heat. Jack Dempsey, who refereed Henderson's bout here a year ago, did the same thing in El Paso. The most surprising thing about Henderson's fight this past week in El Paso is that he has a tough fight slated for Monday night in Lamesa. There he meets Trinidad Perez in a 10-round feature bout on the Jaycee card. He may be tough enough to go two heavy fights in slightly over a week, but it isn't good for him.

Incidentally, the fights in Lamesa tomorrow night should be good, but nothing special. One of the big troubles Lubbock promoters are facing is in getting fresh talent into the ring. Lamesa fans generally haven't had an opportunity to see Henderson and Gene James work, although some of them have come to Lubbock, Levelland and Plainview for those fight cards. But to those who haven't seen these two fighters since they appeared in Golden Gloves, it will be a treat. Both are greatly improved since those amateur days and James is beginning to develop into a fine, punishing heavyweight. They will be worth watching, even if the remainder of the card is weak. Charley Neff and E. E. Sparks are nice guys, but they are professionals only in the sense that they can fight around here. Leonard Duncan of Hale Center might develop, but Don Livingston doesn't look like a comer. By all means see the fights. They'll be worth it for Henderson and James alone.

We don't like to go against Texas Tech in any way, but forcing a citizen of Lubbock to buy a membership in the Matador Club in order to see pictures of the Raider games is outright robbery. Many of the members of the Quarterback club the past two years were not members of the

FIRE CLAIMS HEAVY TOLL

CANTON, Sunday, Sept. 4. (AP)—The Chinese Central News agency reported today one thousand persons had died in Chungking as that wartime capital in western China was swept by the worst fire in its history. Seven thousand dwellings were burned and more than 100,000 persons left homeless, it reported. The fire, which started Friday afternoon, raged for 18 hours, it said. Its cause was unknown.

Fort Worth Beats Indians

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 3 (AP)—Eddie Chandler turned back five scoring threats as he pitched the Fort Worth Cats to a 4-0 shutout victory over the Oklahoma City Indians here tonight.

It was the third straight for the league-leading Cats over the Indians and was the sixth loss in a row for the Tribe.

Chandler allowed eight hits in besting youthful Dick Rozek.

Longhorn League Will Hold Playoff Games In Big Spring

BIG SPRING, Sept. 3. (AP)—Directors of the Longhorn baseball league have decided to hold the first two games of the playoff here, beginning Sept. 13.

Since five other clubs have a chance to finish in the first division, no other dates or sites were picked.

Big Spring has clinched the pennant. Other delegates at the meeting were from Vernon, Midland, San Angelo, Ballinger and Odessa.

Sullivan And Prince Bang Out Homers; Walt Whiffs Thirteen

BORGER, Sept. 3 (AP)—Behind the eight-hit hurling of big Walt Stenborg, the Lubbock Hubbers handed the Borger Gassers a 16 to 8 pasting before a meager 1,000 Saturday night fans.

Manager Jackie Sullivan and Jim Prince each banged out four baggers for the Hubber nine. Sullivan opened the seven-run third inning, while Prince chose to have one man on the bags in the fifth frame to blast his clout out of the park.

Verdon Gilchrist got two hits in two official trips to the platter, while Earl Butler turned out to be a thorn in the side of the Hubbers. Butler got three for five—plus limiting the Hub City nine to one lone hit and no tallies in a 2 2/3 inning tenure on the hill.

During the top of the sixth, fireworks flew like the Fourth of July in Huber park. Manager Ken Sears protested a decision by umpire Simon behind the golden platter, and then umpire Cran gave Sears the old heave-ho for saying something later on the base ump didn't particularly like. Gordon Nell came in as a reliefer on the initial sack, but never did quite reach there. Nell got the boot for telling Cran to bear down.

Stenborg scattered the eight hits collected by the Gassers and gave up two in one inning only in the eighth, and ninth frames. Thirteen batters went down via the whiff route, as the big hurler tossed razzle-dazzle pitches all night.

Gold Sox Take 14-9 Win Over Pampa

AMARILLO, Sept. 3. (AP)—Amarillo's Gold Sox stretched their first division lead to two and one-half games here tonight with a wild 14-9 win over Pampa's Oilers.

It took two hours and 36 minutes to get the slugging contest over, but part of the delay was caused by the actions and subsequent ejections of Oiler manager Grover Seitz and Oiler owner R. L. Edmondson, sr., from the field of play. It happened in the fourth inning after Paul Halter's adroit theft of home plate.

Seitz voiced his disapproval of the safe call by tossing in a towel and was dismissed after much discussion with base umpire Henie Binz.

That was when Edmondson began his tirade. He too tossed in a towel, fortified himself in the Oiler dugout, and refused to be bounced.

Plate arbitrater Steve Sadowski got the aid of police officers and Edmondson left the field but for the stands. He hung around to see his Oilers lose.

The Sockers worked three Oiler hurlers over before stalling for a short time with Merlin Hubbard.

Rams Tangle With Bulldogs In Pro Tilt At San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 3 (AP)—A wild aerial battle is forecast here Monday night when the Los Angeles Rams and New York Bulldogs square off in Texas' only professional football game of the season.

Both the Rams of the western division of the National football league and the Bulldogs of the eastern division are shoulder pad deep in top-notch pitching talent.

Leading the New Yorkers will be Bobby Layne, the University of Texas great who last year was with the Chicago Bears.

Sixteen-Hit Attack Gives Bosox 10-3 Victory Over Philadelphia

Yanks Gain 6 To 0 Shutout Over Nats

BOSTON, Sept. 3 (AP)—Supported by a lusty 16-hit attack, Boston's surprising Ellis Kinder today pitched his 18th victory for the Red Sox, who walloped the Philadelphia Athletics 10-3 before 21,269 Fenway Park fans.

The victory, second successive over the A's, kept the runnerup Sox within two and a half games of the American league-leading New York Yankees, who won, and moved them three games ahead of the third place Cleveland Indians, who were defeated.

Each of the Sox hit at least once.

The Sox were held scoreless until the fourth by Alex Kellner, who lost his 10th game against 16 victories.

SPORTS Slants

BY CHOC HUTCHESON

This correspondent has read some mighty touching stories, including such classics as Victor Hugo's "Les Miserables," but never have I run across a tome as tear-provoking as a dispatch received this week from Gordon Wood.

Mr. Wood, in case the name fails to register with you, is head coach of the Seminole High school football Indians. If we take his word for it, however, this year he is doctoring—rather than coaching—the team.

If you think Little Eva of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" fame had it rough just lend an ear to Wood's soul-saddening story. The Seminole mentor has more worries than Maj. Gen. Harry Vaughan, deep freeze or no deep freeze.

Trusting that my tear stains won't make this illegible, here are a few quotes from the letter penned this week by Gloomy Gordon, who makes Moanin' Matty Bell of SMU look like an optimist.

At the start of his dispatch to The Avalanche-Journal sports desk, the Indian coach explains that he has delayed writing in hope that his plight would improve. Apparently it didn't.

Using an old Pete Cawthon saying, Wood states that "The elements are against me!"

Then, one by one, he lists his squad's most recent misfortunes.

His first-string tailback, it seems, has broken an ankle. To make matters worse, the second-string tailback has a badly-sprained ankle and—tragedy of tragedies—the third-string tailback has poison ivy "from top to bottom." The Seminole roster also lists a fourth-string tailback, and since Wood makes no mention of this youth, I presume that he still is in sound health. However, in view of the mysterious chain of mishaps that have befallen his predecessors, it wouldn't be to surprising to learn any day now that this fourth-stringer has jaywalked into the path of a speeding oil truck along the Seagraves-Odessa highway.

Besides his tailback troubles, Wood has a multitude of other woes. As a matter of fact, he's just about fresh out of fullbacks, too.

"My first-string fullback," he writes, "has a bad knee and hasn't started working out yet. And my second-string fullback is in the hospital with a skin infection."

Dry your eyes, dear reader. There is more to come.

"My first-string right end will be out for five weeks with a knee injury," Wood laments, "and one of my first-string guards has a pulled muscle in his chest. We lost nine starters and seven second string men from last year's team, and we have the youngest squad in West Texas—with no boys 18 years old and only one 17-year-old as of Aug. 15."

Apparently at this stage of his letter-writing chore, Wood took time out for a liver pill, for suddenly his message turns violently optimistic.

"Our boys have a fine spirit, and they really are working hard," he confesses, with a hint that, after all, there still is some slight hope for Seminole this fall.

He closes by listing a probable starting lineup for the Indians' season opener this week.

After reading his doleful dispatch, I rather expected to find the Indians using the school drum majorette at tailback and a cheerleader at fullback. But, lo and behold, what does Wood's lineup show but a line averaging 169 pounds per man and a backfield hitting 150—which is quite hefty, indeed, for Class A football nowadays!

Yes, maybe the Indians can, with the help of a little good luck (or, at least, not so much bad luck) capture another District 5-A championship.

Tech's Jake Broyles Gains Win In Tri-State Open Net Tourney

AMARILLO, Sept. 3. (Special)—A. J. (Jake) Broyles, Texas Tech ace from Lamesa, today rolled to two easy triumphs in the men's division of the Tri-State Open tennis tournament.

Broyles opened with a 6-0, 6-2 conquest of George Smith, Amarillo, then ousted James Dye of the University of Arizona, 6-3, 6-1.

Houston Boyd, Lubbock, defeated Ed Jacobson of Amarillo, 6-0, 6-1, but then lost to R. G. DeBerry, Texas A&M star, by 6-3, 6-0 in the second round.

Eddie Scudday, Texas Tech and Lubbock, spilled Amarillo's Dick Hardin, then fell before top-seeded Brant Smith, Tucson, Ariz., by 6-1, 6-0.

David Hester, Texas Tech and Lubbock, downed Hayden Hardin, Amarillo, 6-1, 6-2, but was beaten by Glendon Riley, another seeded player, 6-2, 6-2.

In men's doubles, Scudday and Hester defeated Jack Hayes and Tom Smith, Amarillo, by 6-2, 6-3.

In the women's division, Marjorie Cone of Lubbock lost a hard-fought 7-5, 10-8 decision to Connie Crosnickle, Amarillo.

Offense Stressed In Tech Practice

Coach Dell Morgan took pity on the Texas Tech grid squad yesterday, avoiding scrimmage in both morning and afternoon practice sessions as the Red Raiders went through their third day of football workouts.

Instead of the head knocking that took place on the first two days of training, Coach Morgan sent the big squad through two long offensive drills. Emphasis was on timing in the backfield and assignment blocking in the line.

The squad, divided into two groups, worked out for over two hours in the afternoon with improvement noticeable. While it was dummy scrimmage against lines composed mainly of last year's freshmen, there was some light contact. Most of it was more from eagerness than anything else.

Passing came in for considerable scrutiny by the coaches and half a dozen men were doing the chucking with only fair results. Of the lot, Milton Rathbone and John Moughon appeared to be doing the most accurate jobs.

Line plays featured the usual off-tackle slants, mixed with pitchouts, end runs and power plays through the center. Some of the time the dummy scrimmage showed Raider work as good, but much of the time players were missing assignments.

Before the afternoon session, coaches took the players into the lecture rooms for an hour-long chalk talk. Another legnthy chalk talk is scheduled for this afternoon, with double drills again slated for Monday through Thursday.

Morley Jennings, Tech athletic director, announced yesterday that 6 p.m. Friday is the deadline for persons applying for reserved seats to pick up their reservations. All reservations not called for by that time will be placed on public sale.

SPOCA To Hold Fall Grid Rules Meeting

The South Plains Officials and Coaches association will hold its annual fall football rules meeting this morning beginning at 9 in the Hilton hotel, with Rube Leissner, prominent Southwest Conference official, conducting the interpretation meeting.

Officials, coaches, players and any other football enthusiasts from the South Plains are invited to attend the meeting. Officials of the section who belong to the SPOA are urged to be present for the rules session.

A test will be given during the afternoon and any member failing to take the tests will be placed on inactive status.

Officials of this association may vote to join the officials association at this meeting.

721 Winchester Claimed Good Brush Gun

Local Hunters Plan Pack Trip Into New Mexico Mountain Area

By C. S. FITCH
Avalanche-Journal Sport Writer

Along with thoughts of the waning baseball season and the coming football season, many South Plains residents are getting that 'far away' look in their eye. That 'far away' look usually means that they have glanced at a gun rack or looked into some store window where guns, hunting coats and ammunition are being displayed.

To any man or boy who has ever gone on a hunting trip, the urge to get that favorite gun and take to the deep woods or lonely prairie usually returns when September rolls around. When the dreamy look has cleared from their eyes, the perennial hunter will start talking and grow eloquent about that long planned deer hunting trip and that alert and elusive 10-point black-tail buck that flits momentarily before the sights of his trusty 30-06 Winchester.

Uses New 721 Winchester

Among the well known Lubbock hunters succumbing to this fall fever are Tom and Donald French, a father and son team and from the evidence they have brought back, both can qualify as expert nimrods.

Each man has his favorite gun and Tom French, owner of Tom French Company of 1937 Avenue H, states that the gun he uses and swears by in open hunting country is the No. 70, 30-06 Winchester. For use in brush country and obstructed mountain ranges, he uses a 35 Remington automatic or the new 721 Winchester.

The Frenches are planning a bear and deer hunting trip of several days into the vicinity of the Mogollon Mountain range in Catron county, New Mexico, October 1. This area, set in the midst of a huge national forest, is said to be ideal bear and deer country and some of the ranges run well over 10,000 feet. The black and the grizzley bear both prefer high altitudes and most always the best place to seek them is close to timberline or even above it.

Party Will Pack In

The party of which the Frenches will be members, will establish a base camp several miles from the particular area over which they wish to hunt and use pack horses or the more sure-footed burros, if available, to carry the camping equipment into the region. This method enables the party to be absent from the base camp longer than otherwise. No guides will be used, Mr. French said, as the hunters will depend on the direction of mountain streams and their natural sense of direction to help them on the return trip.

They will hunt for bear first, because the season for bear opens up first in New Mexico. After bear will come deer and also wild turkey, for which the area is noted.

Both Mr. French and Donald will use rifles equipped with Alaskan all-weather scopes and will carry seven-power binoculars for spotting distant game. The Alaskan scope is a favorite with a large number of western hunters as it enables the hunter to clearly see his game on cloudy or misty days. No cross-hairs are provided but the scope has a dot in the middle and the hunter lines up this dot with the dot on the open front sight. This helps the hunter to aim and hit a vital shot, but sometimes it is as important to knock the game down and then take another shot as it is to try to get a killing shot the first time.

19-year-old Donald French has long been considered one of the youngest hunters on the South Plains. He bagged his first deer when he was 10 with a 410 guage double barrelled shotgun his father bought him. From that time on he has accompanied his father on most all of the hunting trips the elder French has been on.

Both father and son belong to the National Rifle Association ad the National Skeet Association and they have a collection of rifles, pistols and shotguns that now total 23. They often compete against each other in shoots all over Texas.

Decoys Important

Donald is also one of the top-notch duck callers on the South Plains and uses a tube with a thin, flexible piece of metal attached inside. The metal vibrates

Mrs. Taylor Wins At Meadowbrook

Mrs. Oscar Taylor was the winner of the Meadowbrook Ladies Golf association "poker hand" golf tournament staged last week at Meadowbrook Country club.

Mrs. Taylor took top honors by shooting four five's, while Mrs. Jean Herriage was the low putt winner in the tourney.

Plans currently are being made for Scotch foursome play to be held in about two weeks. All ladies interested in competing are requested to contact Mrs. Oscar Taylor, telephone number 24220. A picnic and putting contest will be held in conjunction with the Scotch foursome play.

On Wednesday all members of the Ladies South Plains Golf association are to meet at Levelland Country club for their regular association competition.

R. A. Boyd Breaks 25 Out Of 25 Birds In Gun Club Shoot

R. A. Boyd's aim was accurate Saturday as he broke 25 out of 25 birds to walk off with top skeet honors in Lubbock Gun club's regular weekly shoot.

Boyd used a 12-gauge gun for the win. He also broke 20 out of 25 with the 20 gauge shotgun. Carl Maxey racked up 20x25 and Si Hamilton got 20x25.

In the trap shoot, C. D. Blair was tops with 24 out of 25 and R. A. Boyd was second with 20 out of 25.

Blair has recently returned from the Grand American Trap Shoot in Vandalia, Ohio, where he won several money prizes.

Brooklyn Drops 6-3 Decision To Giants

NEW YORK, Sept. 3. (AP)—Lefty Monte Kennedy threw a monkey wrench into the pennant ambitions of the Dodgers today as he pitched the New York Giants to a 6-3 triumph over Brooklyn.

Kennedy granted nine singles, walked one and didn't strike out a batter. His mates were his worst enemies as they came up with four errors which led to two Brooklyn runs.

The Giants jumped on Jack Banta for four runs in the first three innings and added two more in the seventh at the expense of Erv Palica.

CHICAGO CUBS DEFEAT PITTSBURGH PIRATES, 11 TO 7

CHICAGO, Sept. 3. (AP)—The Chicago Cubs exploded for a nine-run rally in the eighth, topped by Hank Sauer's three-run homer, to defeat Pittsburgh 11 to 7 today.

Sauer also hit an earlier homer to run his total to 26. Ralph Kiner hit No. 40.

Junior Golf Qualifying Set At Lubbock Country Club Today

Qualifying rounds in the Junior Golf tournament at the Lubbock Country club will be held today, with tournament play beginning sometime next week.

A week from today there will be a Father and Son tournament at the Country club. Play will consist of 18 holes with handicap.

Herbert Schroeder, club professional, announced last night that Gene Towery, who has been named assistant pro, is due in Lubbock this week. Clyde Mitchell, who has been helping Schroeder, will return to Texas Tech.

Tickets Going For Lamesa Fights

LAMESA, Sept. 3. (Special)—Tickets are going well for the 32-round boxing card scheduled for the Lamesa Rodeo Grounds here Labor Day night under the sponsorship of the Lamesa Junior Chamber of Commerce and featuring Bill Henderson in the main event.

Jaycee officials reported that there has been a good demand for ringside and reserved seat tickets, but there still are plenty of good seats left. Drug stores in Lamesa are selling tickets and Lubbock residents can pick them up at three or four drive-in restaurants.

James On Card

Scale of prices is $3.60 for ringside, $2.40 for reserved seats and $1.50 for general admission.

Henderson will meet Trinidad Perez of Mexico City in the 10-round main event, the second meeting between these two. On a recent Lubbock card, Henderson pounded out a narrow decision and Perez allegedly told his manager that he'd whip Henderson if they met again.

Gene James of Lubbock will face Al Sullivan of Dallas in what should be a fine heavyweight go. It is scheduled for six rounds. James has won nine straight fights by knockouts, but in Sullivan he will be meeting a tough foe in good condition and ready to mix it up.

Grudge Fight Off

Bill Brackeen of Slaton is scheduled to tangle with Don Livingston of Borger in the opening four-rounder and Leonard Duncan of Hale Center will oppose Al Wail of Dallas in another four round fight.

E. E. Sparks of Lubbock, scheduled to meet Charley Neff of Petersburg in a grudge fight, has been scratched from the card because of an injury. A substitute, probably from Dallas, will take his place.

Local Deer Hunters Planning Pack Trip

when blown upon and accurately immitates the mating and distress calls of ducks. For decoys the Frenches use a No. 48 and it must be so placed that the descending live duck will think it is his decoy must face into the wind or long-lost brother. The head of the the live ducks will smell a rat and just fly on.

In speaking of hunting trips of some length, Mr. French relates that few persons realize the amount of preparation that goes into a successful pack trip into the mountains. "The proper animals must be selected, camping equipment must be light and easily packed and unpacked and utensils, tents, food and ammunition and even rubber boats must be properly packed and tied on a regulation pack saddle, if the trip is to prove a success," French said.

Both Frenches have been on two prong horn antelope hunts and both trips were made into the region southwest of Signal Peak in the Big Bend country of Texas. The trips were successful as evidenced by the mounted heads in Mr. French's office.

Keeps Hunting File

A file is kept by Mr. French on all reports that come to him concerning areas that have plentiful game. He needs only to refer to it and then check with some resident in that area and the place to go next fall is solved.

Last year the Frenches packed into the vicinity of Lake Latier in northwest Colorado. They caught 168 trout in the lake during four days fishing.

Both men stated that the Lubbock grapevine reports lots of dove in and around the caprock. This area is in the north zone and there is no staggered season.

Mr. French says that the success of a hunting trip depends on the selection of the right gun for the job in hand and the proper care of that gun, both before the trip and after.

Hunting is Mr. French's only hobby and for clean fun and a chance to get away from it all, he says it can't be beat.

Matador club, but they did support Tech, both vocally and financially. The Quarterback club has been a group that has been growing and, under the proper leadership, could have been an important corollary to the Matador Club. Lubbock isn't Fort Worth or Dallas and Tech belongs more to Lubbock than TCU does to Fort Worth or SMU to Dallas. There's been a storm of protest raised already and there will be more. It doesn't look like the Matador club was about to gain more friends or influence more people. Rather, it looks as though they might lose both.

If the New York Yankees last out the season and win the American League pennant, no one can say that Casey Stengel is a push button manager. Rather, they'll have to doff their caps to him for his achievement and to the Yankee farm system, which has dug up replacements for injured men. What most persons don't realize is that the Yankees have suffered a total of 62 injuries this season, an almost unheard of number. Moreover, this is far more than the usual football team suffers. The injury bugaboo has gone all the way down the line from Joe DiMaggio to Bob Porterfield. And still the Yanks hold onto first place. You have to admire a club that will fight off adversity the way they have. But the important thing about the Yankees is that they beat Boston and Cleveland when it counts, injuries or no.

A week ago last night in San Angelo, the new super fast game of fastball was given its world debut. Two teams played a nine inning game using the new softball that measures 11 inches in circumference. Ralph Bumpass, in his characteristic manner, mentioned the game to us when he returned, but said nothing else about it. Yesterday we received a letter from Marvin Nichols, who is at Sanatorium, Texas. Marv was the most popular player on the San Angelo club and the team's leading hitter. Midway through the season he suffered an attack of tuberculosis and had to quit the game. A short while later, Bert Hester broke an ankle. Bert, a Tech student and end candidate on the football team, was San Angelo's leading hitter.

So Hugh Welch, who operates a good deal like Ralph Bumpass, drummed up a benefit game for the two players and all proceeds went to the boys. When Ralph went to San Angelo, he knew only that fastball was to be played. When he entered the park and learned that it was a benefit game, he hurriedly wrote out a check for $20 and donated it to the fund. So here's the letter from Nichols: "In regards to the benefit game held in San Angelo for Bert Hester and myself, on my behalf I appreciate the hearty donation of Ralph Bumpass very much. Thanks a million to a guy who has done much for the game of softball in Texas—one Ralph Bumpass."

Tech Has Won Four Of Seven Games

Raiders Hold Slight Edge Over Wildcats

ABILENE, Sept. 3. (Special)—Unless some middle-aging alumnus has told them, very few of today's students at Texas Tech and Abilene Christian college know that their schools' football teams once had a very warm rivalry.

But the fact remains, Saturday's meeting in Jones Stadium at Lubbock will be the ninth between the Red Raiders and the Wildcats. Of the series, Tech has won four and ACC has won three. In the past the game usually has been played on Armistice Day and was from 1925 through 1931.

Coleman Is Coach

A. B. Morris was head football coach during those years and now is athletic director. Tonto Coleman assumed football command in 1942 and still is with the Wildcats.

Tech fans helped set an Abilene record back in 1925 when 450 rabid supporters hopped on a special train and rode into Abilene and out to West Texas Fair park for the first game. The Raiders won, 10-7. The following year Abilene Christian went to Lubbock and suffered a 29-6 defeat, but snapped back to win three in a row. They took the 1927 game 6-3, the 1928 game 7-0 and the 1929 game 7-3.

The following year Pete Cawthon made his debut at Tech and the Raiders plastered a 53-6 licking on the Wildcats. The next season, 1931, Tech again triumphed, 26-6, but the Wildcats won the 1941 game 34-6.

Curiously enough, Goober Keys, later Lubbock High school coach, beat the Raiders in 1929, tossing a long pass to C. B. Hendricks, now living in Ralls, for the winning touchdown.

The game Saturday night will be the first between the two colleges since 1941, although an intra-squad scrimmage was held last year in Lubbock. Coleman has lost a lot of his 1948 players, but has the nucleus for another good squad.

Five Sets Of Brothers On Hardin-Simmons Grid Squad

ABILENE, Sept. 3. (AP)—Football's a family affair at Hardin-Simmons university.

Five sets of brothers are on the squad. They hail from Oklahoma, Texas and California.

Bob and Howard McChesney, three-year lettermen are from Van Nuys, California.

Oklahoma's contribution to the Cowboy family is Nolan and Chick Tiger.

Three combinations from Texas, Raymond and Burl Troutman of Abilene, Verne and Leslie Stamper of Ysleta and Ed and Paul Petty from Clyde round out the family members.

Westerners Hold Light Practice

Coach Pat Pattison put his Lubbock High school Westerner football charges through a brief but brisk football workout Saturday morning to wind up three weeks of work.

No afternoon schedule was held for the first time since August 15, and from this point the boys will engage only in afternoon sessions. The next drill is scheduled for 3:15 p. m. Monday, and with the opening of school on Tuesday the workouts will continue in late afternoon throughout the season.

Following a skull practice yesterday, the team took to the field in light equipment to work mainly on punt protection on both quick kicks and regular punts. Return of the kicks was emphasized and a short offensive drill was held.

Wayne Noland is still out of commission due to a nose injury which was hurt again on Thursday, and Douglas Wienke is greatly handicapped from a severely sprained ankle suffered at camp. Both Noland and Wienke are lettermen, Noland at end and Wienke at center. The loss of these two leaves only 11 lettermen in condition at present. Tackle Joe Brock was back at practice after being out Friday with a cold.

Things are looking up for the Westerners, with great improvement shown during the past week on defense and the offense continues to sparkle.

A cat at Tydd St. Giles, England, has driven hawks from their nest 20 feet up in a tree and taken it over for her three kittens.

Lamesa Stadium To Be Ready Sept. 16

Project Features All-Steel Stands

LAMESA, Sept. 3.. (Special)—Lamesa High school's Golden Tornadoes will play their first home football game with Seminole here September 16 in one of the finest new football stadiums in this area.

The new athletic plant, practically completed, is situated directly behind Lamesa's new million-dollar senior high school plant. Both are located in a fast-growing new residential district in north Lamesa.

The new stadium will seat about 5700 persons, and every effort has been made to assure maximum comfort and safety for fans, players, scouts, and press and radio representatives.

Stands Made Of Steel

New all-steel stands, sealed against wind and weather, have been erected on west side of field which lays north and south. These stands seat 3,000. The east stands, which seat visiting fans, were moved from the old field and refinished. Their capacity is about 2,700.

A modern, roomy press-box has been constructed atop the west stands. It is built of aluminum with rounded corners and curved glass at the front and ends. There is room for 20 sportswriters in one section and space for that many radio workers in a raised second section. The booth will be equipped with telephones and electric heaters.

The old press box atop the east stands will be used by scouts, and will seat approximately 20 observers from other schools.

More Light Slated

A completely new lighting system, affording twice as much light as was available at McCollum field, is ready for use. Six 80-foot, derrick-type steel poles, built in a local blacksmith shop, have been erected, three behind each grandstand. Each pole will carry 14 complete light units.

Large concession stands have been erected under each stand along with adequate box offices.

An electric scoreboard, one of the finest available for high school plants, will be in operation. The board, which gives fans a complete picture of the game situation, cost about $2,500 and is mounted on 21-foot poles at the north end of the field. Over half the money for the board has been raised by Ross Woodson, Lamesa publisher.

At the north end of the field are roomy rest-rooms for both men and women on each side of the field. In between is a field house, 110x40 tile building, which has complete facilities for both A and B squads. The structure also houses space for coaches offices and dressing rooms, and storage space for equipment.

Turf Ready This Fall

The field, which has been sown and will have good turf by the time of the season opener, is surrounded by a track which coaches say will be one of the best in West Texas.

The track encircles the field, is bordered by concrete curbing, and a 220-yard straightaway runs past the west stands. The field is watered from the school's own well, with a movable sprinkling system that wets 360 feet at a time.

The Tornadoes will work out on a 125-100 foot practice field at the northwest corner of the lay-out. Goal posts have been erected there, and the posts on the main field have been set in concrete.

A seven-foot cyclone fence of heavy mesh wire surrounds the entire plant, connecting to the rear of the high school building on each side. Another wire fence four feet high, separates the raised stands from the track and field.

Early demands for season tickets for Lamesa's five-game home schedule indicate that local football fans can hardly wait to show their pride in their fine new plant.

Scottish yards launched 31 ships of 137,390 tons in the first four 1949 months.

NEW LAMESA STADIUM — Shown above in the picture is the new football stadium at Lamesa, where the Golden Tornadoes will play their grid games this year. The stadium, one of the most complete on the South Plains, has high light poles to illuminate the field for night games and the stands are constructed of steel. With the new set up, 5,600 fans will be able to see Lamesa home games. The field, which will be played on for the first time this year Sept. 16 when Seminole visits the Golden Tornadoes, will have all the most modern conveniences. Telephones have been installed, an electric scoreboard is in place, storage rooms are ready for equipment and a new press box will be in operation. (Photo by Roberts Studio.)

Schedule And Roster For Golden Tornado Eleven Is Announced

LAMESA, Sept. 3. (Special)—The 1949 schedule of Lamesa's Golden Tornadoes includes five home games to be played at the school's new stadium, and five games away from home.

The Lamesa schedule: Sept. 9, Levelland at Levelland; Sept. 16, Seminole here; Sept. 23, Plainview here; Sept. 30, Big Spring at Big Spring; Oct. 7, Quanah here; Oct. 14, open; Oct. 21, Pampa at Pampa; Oct. 28, Lubbock at Lubbock (Conf.); Nov. 4, Odessa here (Conf.); Nov. 11, Brownfield here (Conf.); Nov. 24, Midland at Midland (Conf.).

Lamesa's "A" squad roster, with respective weights, classifications and number of years—if any—as lettermen, includes:

ENDS—Jerry Phillips (182, Sr., 2L); T. J. Womack (155, Sr., 2L); D'Wayne Lambert (145, Jr.); Ray Taylor (140, Soph.); I. V. Ferguson (140, Jr.); Marshall Crawford (150, Soph.).

LUBBOCK SHOOTERS SECOND

MIDLAND, Sept. 3 (AP)—A Midland skeet team today took top honors in the third annual West Texas Open skeet tournament here with a score of 980 of a possible 1,000. Lubbock's team, composed of Clyde Tatum, Joe Fulton, Hal Lankford, Ty Williamson and E. T. Daniels, finished second.

Prospects Better Than In 1948

Tornadoes To Field Experienced Eleven

By CHOC HUTCHESON
Avalanche-Journal Sports Writer

LAMESA, Sept. 3.—If Lamesa High school's football squad has its way, 1949 will go down in South Plains gridiron history as the "year of the big wind."

The Lamesa Golden Tornadoes are all set to huff and puff—and there's a fair chance that they'll blow someone's house in.

While the critics are busy wrapping up the District 3-AA crown for presentation to the winner of the Odessa-Lubbock game, Coach Bob Harrell is preparing his Lamesans for what should be one of their better years.

Loaded With Lettermen

In fact, don't be at all surprised if the Tornadoes go into their first conference game, against Lubbock Oct. 28, boasting an undefeated record. They're loaded with lettermen, and while not rated on a par with either Odessa or Lubbock, might make things quite interesting for both.

Harrell can, if he chooses, field a team boasting lettermen at every position except left guard. What's more, four of his starters have won two letters each, and seven of them were regulars on the 1948 team which won six, tied one and lost six.

Harrell himself views the District 3-AA chase as a two-team affair between Odessa and Lubbock, but he admits that the situation at Lamesa "looks better right now than it did at this time last year."

Summing it up briefly, here's the Tornado outlook:

Line — Plenty of experience; average weight, 166; fair speed.

Passing Untested

Passing — Untested, but Quarterbacks Bobby Hawkins and Ronald Chapman show signs of developing into fair throwers. Capable receivers in Ends Jerry Phillips and T. J. Womack, both two-year lettermen.

Punting — Good, with Phillips dropping back from end to do most of the kicking.

Running—Fair, featuring Dick Echols (the team's fastest back) and Delbert Dickenson (a shifty, hard-running varsity newcomer).

The Tornado line looks OK. Phillips and Womack provide a good end combination, while Robert Adair and Jamie Pearson are big enough — and experienced enough—to hold down the tackle posts satisfactorily. Starting Guards Jim Bob Boothe and Keith White are a bit light as Class AA linemen go, and the same may be said of four substitute guards. Bill Hart, a fine center in 1948, is expected to be even better this fall.

Lack of size and speed undoubtedly will handicap the Lamesa backfield. The heaviest starting back is Fullback Larry Lattimore, who scales just above 140 pounds.

To Vary Formations

Because of his underweight secondary, Coach Harrell plans to use a variety of formations, as he did in 1948. Chief among these will be the straight T, single wing and double wing—with the boys coached to either run or pass from all three.

Assisting Harrell with coaching duties are O. W. Follis, assistant coach; John Mason, "B" team backfield, and Everett Martin, "B" team line.

Except for the fact that the team is in a district boasting two teams reputed to be among the state's finest, Lamesa would be looking forward to a banner year. As it is, with Odessa and Lubbock in the 3-AA limelight, the Tornadoes are a "could be" ball club enjoying the underdog's psychological advantage.

Bill Henderson Scheduled To Fight In Lubbock September 12

Bill Henderson, Levelland and Texas Tech lightweight, who is scheduled to meet Trinidad Perez in Lamesa tomorrow night, will fight again Sept. 12 in Lubbock, just a week later.

Henderson has been matched with Jeep O'Neal of Oklahoma City, Okla., in a 10-round main event at Sled Allen's arena. Other fighters on the card will be Gene James and Leonard Duncan.

O'Dowdy Returns To Allen's Arena

One of the most colorful characters of the spring mat wars at Sled Allen's arena will be making his appearance here again next Wednesday in the main event.

The terror of Big Spring, Pat O'Dowdy, is returning to this territory after wrestling back east and in Ohio. He had a very successful swing through that area, but is glad to be heading back to Texas.

Dory Funk, who recently won the Junior Heavyweight championship in the Southwest in a tournament at Amarilo, will be O'Dowdy's opponent in the ring. Funk has been keeping fit by teaching athletics to the youngsters at Boys Ranch near Amarillo.

Another top match seems certain in the semi-final event between Bob Cummings and Gorilla Pogi. Cummings staged a comeback last week in his match with Dale Haddock, and he will take on the tough old timer in the 45-minute event which shows promise of being a rough bout.

The preliminary event could be called the battle of the referees as Billy Sandow and Vic Weber square off in this one. Sandow has handled the officiating the past two weeks and will be making his first start in a long while. Weber has always been popular with the fans and may be a bit faster than Sandow, who has a weight advantage.

Matches start at the arena Wednesday at 8:30 p. m., and tickets will be on sale from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. that day.

Shallowater, Wolfforth Meet In Cotton Belt Loop Playoff

Shallowater and the Wolfforth Wolves meet today at Shallowater in the semi-finals of the Cotton Belt baseball league double-elimination playoffs.

Game time is 2:30 p.m.

Shallowater and Wolfforth have lost one playoff game each, which means that today's loser will drop out of the title picture. The winner will move into the final round against undefeated Cooper.

In a practice game today, Cooper is at Ropesville.

Two second-division playoff contests today find the Wolfforth Eagles at Smyer and Lubbock at Meadow.

Drobny's Service, Timing Off

Bill Talbert Wins In National Tennis

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 3. (INS)—William F. Talbert of New York City defeated Jaroslav Drobny today, 6-4, 6-2, 6-2, to become hte first player to crash the semi-finals of the National Singles tournament.

Twice runner-up for the National title, Talbert used only 51 minutes today in throttling the Czech ace in the quarter-finals at the West Side Tennis Club. An early crowd of 10,000 gasped at the economical dispatch with which he settled the event.

Drobny's service, which created 22 aces in his slaughter of Earl Cochell yesterday, found its match in the blazing work of Talbert at the line. More important, though, was the fact that Drobny's timing in soft, over-net placements was off by the one stride it took Talbert to get to the ball and send it smashing back. Though the Czech hardly ever changed his charging style of play, Talbert was seldom caught short.

In women's play, defending champion Margaret Osborne Du Pont ran tall Patricia Canning Todd to distraction in winning their quarter-final engagement, 6-3, 10-8. Mrs. Todd saved match point three times before succumbing in the second set.

The tenacious play of Mrs. Betty Hilton, top-seeded invader from Great Britain, who saved match point and went on to defeat Sussie Moran yesterday, won out again in the quarter-finals today. Mrs. Hilton won her way into the semi-finals with Mrs. Du Pont by outsteadying Helen Perez, Los Angeles, 6-4, 4-6, 6-3.

To Ted Schroeder went the "Little Bill" Johnson memorial cup for "character, sportsmanship and spirit of cooperation" for the year 1949. It was the third time the cup has been awarded. Jack Kramer won it in 1947, and Victor Seixas a year ago.

The Dominican Republic's sugar crop was larger than expected this year, but the spring cacao crop dropped below earlier forecasts.

Texas Duck Season To Be In Two Parts

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3. (AP)—The Fish and Wildlife Service has ruled that Texas must stick to her original proposal for a split shooting season on wild ducks.

Albert M. Day, director of the Service, told a reporter today he had so notified Texas authorities within the past few days.

Day said Texas originally planned two open seasons of 18 days each, one in the northern half of the state and the other in the southern. After federal officials had issued regulations in accordance with that decision, Day said, state officials put in a new request for an uninterrupted season of 25 days throughout the state.

He said the service normally gives state officials considerable leeway in fixing the type of season they want, but that in this case the regulations had already been issued and the service received numerous complaints against the proposal for a straight statewide season.

"Besides, we think a split season is best for Texas duck hunters," Day said. "It gives those in the northern part of the state a chance at the birds which come over early and gives those in the south a chance at the later birds.

"Accordingly, I have notified state authorities would not go along with their latest request."

Oil Belt All-Star Game Cancelled

A proposed three-game series in Lubbock between the Texas league's Beaumont Exporters and a team of Oil Belt league all-stars has been cancelled because of failure to arrange for a suitable playing site.

Curt Wilson, Oil Belt loop representative who had been negotiating with Beaumont personnel regarding the proposed exhibition tilts, announced Saturday that he had dropped all plans because he had been unable to secure the use of Sam Rosenthal field. The series, had it been held, would have been played later this month.

A group of Beaumont players, led by Catcher Vince Castino, former Lubbock Hubber manager, has been planning an exhibition tour through this section of the Southwest.

Here's Hoping Wins $54,425 Princess Pat Stakes Race

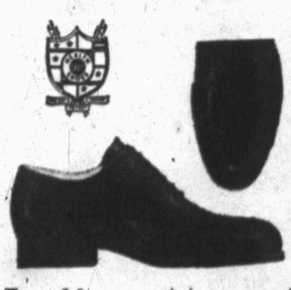

CHICAGO, Sept. 3. (INS)—Dixiana's Here's Hoping won the $54,425 Princess Pat stakes for two year-old fillies at Chicago's Washington Park today.

Calumet Farm's Duchess Peg was second in the six furlong dash and Brownell Comb's Amiga finished third.

Here's Hoping was timed at 1:10 2/5. Doug Dodson was the jockey.

10,000 ACRES

10,000 acres, located in the famous San Luis Valley, Colorado. Railroad runs through same for 3 miles; 1 mile from the paved highway; only 3 miles from town. This is one of the best tracts in the valley; every acre is good; prettiest tract to colonize I know of anywhere. This is wonderful stock farming country; one of the best wheat and barley countries and summer vegetable countries in the United States. The best farmers in this territory average 150 to $300.00 per acre, net, for a series of years on vegetables. Price $20.00 per acre, provided you let me colonize same and have a 2 year contract on it. If you don't want me to colonize it, I'll charge you $30.00 per acre. To net you 6% on what you pay for the land and improving same, it won't cost you over $35.00 per acre, including the necessary leveling in 320 acre tracts. All over we get above that, we'll divide 50-50 less expenses of selling and commissions. I can sell this land in 320 acre tracts to people from the central west at $150 to $300 per acre. The total cost of buying this land and improving same, wells, pumps and engines will not exceed $55.00 per acre and I believe the party that buys land for me to colonize will make $300.000 to $500.000 in 2 years. I've sold millions of dollars worth of land, but this will be the best tract I've had to colonize. It will not take a great deal of money to handle this deal. If you're able to buy this land and want to make money, bring your wife along and I'll pay all your expenses. I have an option on this tract.

2200 ACRES

Located in the famous San Luis Valley, Colorado

2200 acres with well and pump on it and furnishes plenty of water; every part in the tract can be irrigated with shallow wells; well located to roads, railroads and ½ mile from town and only about 7 miles from the county seat. Can all be put in cultivation and under irrigation with wells, pumps and engines and the necessary leveling not to exceed $35.00 per acre and have a well on each 320 acre tract. Lift won't exceed 60 to 80 feet, won't have to be drilled to exceed 120 to 200 feet. Price $25.00 per acre. I will sell half at the same price. Now where can you buy land in cultivation and under irrigation in one of the best summer climates in the United States and the winters are more desirable, according to my judgment, than they are in any part of the central northern states or even in the Panhandle of Texas. In this country there is very little wind in the winter; very dry cold and the cattle can run all winter without sheds. This is one of the best summer vegetable countries in the United States and I think you can produce more Irish potatoes per acre in this territory than anywhere else in the country. Several farmers have told me they average approximately 300 sacks per acre. Great country to raise cabbage, cauliflower, broccoli and carrots in summer months and the best farmers will average 60 to 75 bushels of barley per acre; have made over 100 bushel; average over 30 bushel of wheat per acre; wonderful alfalfa and stock farming country. The reason this land is so cheap is they recently discovered they had plenty of water to irrigate with under the ground. If you don't find this as good a buy as I recommend, I will pay all your expenses in connection with seeing this land and if I'm not here the Milvard brothers will show it to you. I recommend you to act promptly because the first man that's able to buy this land will buy it, according to my judgment. I control this land by option.

COASTAL 'TARGET' SITES OPPOSED

Air Force Pushes Dispersal Of Plane Plants To Inland Areas

By ELTON C. FAY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3. — A quiet but persistent effort of the Air Force to get warplane factories moved out of potential bombing target zones will be stepped up next week.

Air Secretary W. Stuart Symington is scheduled to fly to Seattle on Tuesday, accompanied by production experts and other officials of his department, to talk with the Boeing Aircraft company.

Officials explain that in the case of the Boeing plant or any of the other plane factories the Air Force's primary interest is in having production of military craft dispersed and moved inland from danger areas along the coasts.

"Firm Understanding" Reached

Where the companies build commercial type planes is no business of the Air Force, they say.

In the case of one contract with Boeing, that for the new, high speed jet bomber, the B-47— the Air Force reached a "firm understanding" with the company these planes are to be made at its Wichita, Kan., plant instead of at the coastsal plant in Seattle, officials said.

(During the war, clauses were written into contracts requiring production at specified places, but it was unclear whether such a clause went into the postwar B-47 contract.)

Seattle Vitally Interested

However, Boeing has other military plane contracts for production or development and what the Air Force apparently aims at is to get this work moved to the inland Wichita plant.

Boeing officials say they are waging no campaign against the transfer effort. However, Seattle business interests are vitally concerned.

The payroll at the Boeing-Seattle plant runs into millions annually, the company being one of the major industries at Seattle. Boeing men point out that an additional shift of military production to Kansas would require answers to several problems, including the fact that the Wichita plant presently has about half the space of the Boeing plant.

Work On New Bomber

In addition, some officials say it might be difficult to induce skilled workers who are longtime residents of Seattle to move to Wichita, thus requiring training of new artisans.

At present, the Boeing Seattle plant is turning out B-50s, the modern version of the wartime B-29.

But of greater interest to the Air Force is the fact that Boeing is working on development of the BX-52, a heavy bomber, jet-powered. That bomber, the Air Force has indicated, may become the successor to the B-36, the intercontinental bomber powered by six reciprocating engines with for jet "pods" attached for added speed and climb in emergencies. If an experimental model is found satisfactory, the Air Force wants to see actual production of the plane carried out at some less exposed point than the northwest coast, it is suggested.

Other plane manufacturers are keeping a sharp eye on developments in the Boeing transfer case, although the Boeing plant seems to be the only currently active objective of the Air Force's plant dispersal program.

Lubbock County Social Sorority Initiates Three New Members

Three new charter members to the recently organized Beta conclave of Kappa Kappa Iota social sorority for Lubbock county teachers, were initiated Saturday at 3 p.m. at the home of Mrs. A. F. Rasor, 2313 Thirty-second.

New members are Miss Katherine Manning of Cooper school at Woodrow, and Mrs. R. M. Armstrong and Mrs. Dee Lyde, both of Frenship school at Wolfforth. They were initiated by Mrs. Martha Morgan of Idalou, president of the conclave.

The other 18 charter members were initiated and officers elected last Monday, under the direction of the Alpha conclave here.

The new chapter was presented with a crystal tray at the meeting Saturday, as a gift from the Alpha conclave. A short business meeting was held after the initiation ceremonies.

Guests included Mrs. Zarina Putman and Mrs. Dee Hancock of Shallowater.

Barkley Plans New Visit With Widow In St. Louis

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 3 (INS)—Vice President Alben W. Barkley plans another date with his lady friend in St. Louis over the Labor day weekend.

The "Veep" will meet Mrs. Carleton S. Hadley tomorrow.

He will fly to St. Louis from his home in Paducah, Ky.

The attractive 37-year-old widow and mother of two daughters said she doesn't know what has been planned for Barkley's visit.

The "Veep" is scheduled to speak in Springfield, Ill., next Thursday. He is expected to remain in St. Louis at least until Wednesday night.

Barkley's last visit to St. Louis was Aug. 14, when he flew back with Mrs. Hadley from Paducah, where they had gone for the weekend to attend the dedication of Barkley airport.

Truman Sets Quota On Foreign Cotton

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3 (U.P.)— President Truman today set a quota of 16,487,042 pounds on foreign long-staple cotton which can be moved in or out of warehouses in the United States between Sept. 20 and next Jan. 31.

Mr. Truman also directed that hereafter the quota year for imports on long-staple cotton shall begin Feb. 1 instead of Sept. 20.

The action applies to imported cotton with a stable of 1 1/8 to 1 11/16 inches in length.

The quota during the year just ending for long staple cotton which could be made available for consumption in this country was 45,656,420 pounds.

Beaumont Included In List Of Names For Antarctic Glaciers

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3. (AP) — Beaumont, Texas, soon may have Antarctic glaciers named for it.

It is among 44 Antarctic place names on a study list which the U. S. board on geographic names published today. Those that are approved will be used henceforth on government maps and guides.

The names were proposed by Cmdr. Finn Ronne, head of a 1947-48 Antarctic research expedition.

This is the first batch of Antarctic names to be considered by the board since July, 1947, when it approved 850.

The proposed Beaumont glacier has been shown on some charts as Texas glacier. It flows into the southwestern part of Hilton bay, on the Richard Black coast.

Ronnie asked approval of the name Beaumont in recognition of the public support that city gave to his expedition.

Best fed cattle steady, grassers 50-100 lower, cows steady to 50 higher, fat calves steady, butcher hogs and sows 50 higher, pigs steady, spring lambs and yearlings steady, feeder lambs and yearlings strong.

Week's prices, slaughter steers and yearlings 14-24, beef cows 13.50-16, slaughter calves 12-24, stocker yearling steers 16-21, stocker calves 17-24, stocker cows 13-16, best butcher hogs at close 21-21.25, sows 16-17.50, feeder pigs 14-17, slaughter spring lambs 20-23, yearling sheep 14-18, feeder lambs 17-20.

Grain Market

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, Sept. 3. (AP)—Wheat No. 1 hard 2.27¼-34¼.
Oats No. 2 white 84½-85.
Corn No. 2 white Texas 1.50½-55½.
Sorghums No. 2 yellow milo per 100 lbs. 2.27¼-34¼.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Sept. 3. (AP)—Grains moved over a narrow price range in quiet dealings on the board of trade today. The market did not have much of a trend, but relative weakness in the September corn contract was apparent. It fell more than a cent at one time.

Wheat closed unchanged to ½ lower, September $2.03½-¼, corn was 1¼ lower to ½ higher, September $1.22¼-⅜, oats were ⅛ lower to ⅜ higher, September 68½-⅝.

MARKETS at a glance

CHICAGO:

WHEAT: Slightly easier in light trade.

CORN: September weak; cash grain arrivals increase.

OATS: Steady; expect better European demand.

SOYBEANS: Little changed; trade light.

Texas Oil Man Raps Krug Shale Program

ESTES PARK, Colo., Sept. 3. (INS)—A Texas oil expert at Estes Park today accused Secretary of the Interior Krug of promoting an "ill-advised" $9 billion program.

Paul D. Torray, of Houston, petroleum consulting engineer, told a conference of oil men and public officials that production from shale and from hydrogenation of coal should be discounted.

He urged, as an alternative, more extensive investigation of methods of mining oil from petroleum sands. He said the Wolverton bill backed by Krug, would have spent $9 billion for plants to get oil from shale and by other secondary methods.

Rather than this program of direct competition with the petroleum industry on a tax-free basis, Torrey said, the possibilities of securing the nation's defense needs for oil products through oil mining should be explored.

Gov. Roy J. Turner of Oklahoma spoke at the concluding session of the Interstate Oil Compact commission, describing regulations for oil conservation as a boon for the independent producer.

Turner said, "under conservation rules a little fellow can play the game alongside the big fellows."

Earlier the commissions' economics advisory committee reported that the total crude oil supply exceeded demand during the first eight months of this year."

Army Officer On Way To Wed Texas Girl Dies In Car Crash

BRECKENRIDGE, Sept. 3. (AP) —A Kansas Army lieutenant was killed in an auto accident yesterday enroute to the home of the Texas girl he was to marry tomorrow.

Lt. William H. Miller, 38, Coffeyville, Kas., was thron from his convertible and killed 14 miles south of here on highway 6 early yesterday. He died yesterday afternoon.

Miss Jean Chrisco of Zephyr, Tex., whom he was to have married Sunday, came here when notified of the accident.

Eisenhower 'Optimistic' Over World's Chances For Peace

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 3.(INS)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower said in St. Louis tonight that he is "more optimistic about the chances for peace now" than he has been at any time in the past two years.

The president of Columbia university and retired military leader arrived in St. Louis late today for a reunion with his four brothers.

He told newsmen in a brief interview that Marshal Tito in Yugoslavia showed that it is no longer necessary to be completely subservient to Moscow.

Questioned about the possibility of his being a presidential candidate in 1952, the general laughed and said:

"When five Eisenhower brothers get together for the first time in three years, they think about today—not 1952."

In a speech at Topeka, Kas., last night General Eisenhower said that "an attack on freedom anywhere is an attack on freedom here" as he called for a "respectable rearmament" of Europe for self-defense.

Cartoonist's Cross-Country Solo Flight Ends In Ohio Field

CLEVELAND, Sept. 3 (AP)— Cartoonist Norman Marsh's "poor man's Bendix" cross-country solo flight ended in a field near Havana, O., today when his Aeronca plane ran out of gas, the Civil Aeronautics administration reported.

Marsh took off from Los Angeles in the hope of making a non-stop flight to New York City in 20 hours. The CAA said he phoned that he made his forced landing in Huron county, west of Cleveland, without mishap.

The tag "poor man's Bendix" was invented by Marsh himself in referring to the flight of his 140 horsepower sedan as compared to the high speed jobs that left Los Angeles this morning.

He reportedly left Los Angeles at 2:59 a. m. (CST). He soared over Toledo at 11:2[illegible] a. m. (CST).

ADVERTISEMENT FOR BIDS

Sealed proposals for the construction of Alterations and Additions to Administration Building, Texas Technological College, Lubbock, Texas, will be received by Mr. M. L. Pennington, Comptroller, Texas Technological College, Lubbock, Texas, at the St. Anthony Hotel, Room 330, San Antonio, Texas, until 2:00 p. m. (C.S.T.), Friday, September 23, 1949 at which time they will be publicly opened and read aloud.

Any bids received after closing time will be returned unopened.

General construction; plumbing; heating and air-conditioning; and electric wiring will be awarded under separate contracts.

A Cashier's or Certified Check, or acceptable Bidder's Bond, payable to Dr. D. M. Wiggins, President, in an amount of not less than five per cent of the largest possible total bid submitted must accompany each bid. The Owner reserves the right to reject any or all bids and to waive any or all formalities.

Plans and specifications may be examined without charge in the office of the Business Manager of Texas Technological College, Lubbock, or the office of the Architect-Engineer on and after Thursday, August 18, 1949, and contractors may procure plans and specifications from Wyatt C. Hedrick, 1005 First National Bank Building, Fort Worth, Texas, upon deposit of $25.00. Such deposits will be refunded to bidders upon return of plans and specifications in good condition within ten days after the time bids have been received.

All contractors shall comply with and conform to all labor laws of the State of Texas and the various acts amendatory and supplementary thereto, and to all laws, ordinances, and legal requirements applicable thereto.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS
TEXAS TECHNOLOGICAL COLLEGE
LUBBOCK, TEXAS
By: Charles C. Thompson, Chairman on the Board

NOTICE TO BIDDERS
(Non-Legal)

Sealed proposals addressed to the Hon. Commissioners' Court of Gaines County, Texas, will be received at the office of the County Judge, Court House, Seminole, Texas, until 10:00 A. M. September 6, 1949, at which time they will be publicly opened, for the furnishing of all necessary materials, machinery, equipment, superintendence and labor for the finishing of existing Caliche Base Course and the application of Asphalt Surface Treatment on approximately 8 blocks of City Streets in the Town of Seminole and approximately 26 miles of rural roads in Gaines County.

The bidders' attention is called to the fact that only ten to twelve miles of base course will be completed in time for asphalt work this year and that the contractor shall suspend asphalt operations not later than October 15, 1949, and shall not resume operations until after April 15, 1950.

Plans and specifications are on file at the office of Arzie L. Kirk, County Judge, Court House, Seminole, Texas, or C. A. TUBBS, ENGINEER, 808 TEXAS AVENUE, LUBBOCK, TEXAS.

Copies may be secured upon deposit of $10.00 to be returned to the CONTRACTOR on submission of a bonafide bid on the work, with such plans and specifications; or upon the return of Plans and Specifications immediately after examination of same, and advising the Engineer that bid will not be submitted; otherwise the deposit shall be forfeited.

SECURITY FEARS GROUNDLESS

Returned Red Airman's Attempt To Kill Fellow Officer Revealed

By TOM AGOSTON
INS Staff Correspondent

FRANKFURT, Sept. 3 — A high - ranking U. S. Air Force officer disclosed tonight that Anatol Barsov, escaped Russian airman who decided to return to the Soviet Union, tried to kill the fellow officer who persuaded him to flee his homeland.

The American informant, who declined to be identified, said Barsov attacked Piotr Pirogov with a knife with intention to kill because Pirogov had engineered their escape and talked Barsov into leaving his wife and child in Russia.

Quick Death Predicted

Pirogov and Barsov crash-landed their plane in the U. S. occupation zone of Austria last year and announced they wanted to live in the United States. The pair were brought to the United States where they remained under surveillance. Barsov recently "repented" his escape, and was returned to the Russians in Austria yesterday.

Pirogov, still in the United States, warned yesterday that Barsov would "die like a dog" in Russia within six months.

The American officer said Barsov's attack on Pirogov "was our tipoff that something was not quite right with Barsov, and this proved to be correct."

Fears Without Basis

He added:

"Right from the start the U. S. Air Force in Europe acted on the assumption both fliers were plants, hence State department and Army fears that Barsov now might prove valuable to the Soviets are totally groundless.

"They saw nothing of a classified nature."

"We knew at once that both understood considerably more English than they let on.

"We never relaxed. Our tongues were guarded. We took all precautions.

The officer said the same was true during the Soviet airmen's month-long swing through American messes, bases, and homes where they were shown the American way of life after their arrival in the United States last February.

The officer described Barsov as "no mental giant" and termed him "just a low-grade peasant who was taught to fly, without any background."

Man Hangs From Ledge While Asleep

LONDON, Sept. 3. (AP)—When Donald Giddings awoke this morning he found himself hanging by his finger tips from his bedroom window ledge—40 feet above the ground. And the window was closed.

Giddings blinked a couple of times and let out a loud yell.

Lubbockite To Head State Insurance Men

HOUSTON, Sept. 3. (AP)—Clark Wood of Lubbock was elected president of the Texas Association of Mutual Insurance agents this afternoon, climaxing the association's two day meeting in the Rice hotel.

Other newly elected officers are George B. West of San Angelo, secretary-treasurer, Russell B. Grace of Fort Worth, vice president, and Jimmy Holt, owner of the Jimmy Holt Insurance agency, Houston, second vice president.

New members of the board of directors are M. Abbe Strunk of San Antonio, and Henry Moore of Austin.

New York Cows Get Drunk After Eating Green Apples

WESTFIELD, N. Y., Sept. 3. (AP)—Have you ever seen a drunken cow?

Veterinarian C. L. Ullrich has treated about 25 of them in the past few days.

He blames it all on Thursday's windstorm. The wind knocked down bushels of green apples. The cows ate them. The apples fermented in their stomachs, forming alcohol.

Mexico Expects To Double Oil Output

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 3 (AP)—Pemex, the government oil monopoly, believes it can double its oil soon.

Director General Antonio J. Bermudez, in comment published today, said a new field seems likely to duplicate the noted Poza Rica area near Vera Cruz. It and three others, he said, give every sign of yielding enough to double the present Mexican output of about 59 million barrels a year.

Bermudez said he wished to emphasize President Miguel Aleman's reference to oil in his September report to the nation.

In his address Aleman said oil development "has been very satisfactory" but complete development will take "three or four years." The president told of 14 oil and gas fields found during his three years in office but singled out for comment the new field at Papantla, 5 miles south of Poza Rica, Vera Cruz, Mexico's richest producer.

Of it, the president said only "finally, it is with satisfaction that I can announce there has been discovered a new field with characteristics similar to those of Poza Rica. Great production and rapid development of this field is expected."

Bermudez said "the president's excessive modesty" kept him from telling the full importance of the field which Bermudez christened "Miguel Aleman."

As Mexico is short of money for development, Bermudez said the new field is especially important because it is close to the Poza Rica refineries and other plant installations which can be used for the new oil supply.

Search For Pirate Treasure Delayed By Canceled Lease

HOUSTON, Sept. 3. (AP)—B. J. Krigar's dream of finding "five bearskins full of gold" from a sunken pirate ship got a setback today.

The lease contract on the treasure site which Krigar and his partner held was cancelled by Texas Land Commissioner Bascom Giles.

In Austin, Giles said he voided the contract because the treasure hunters failed to meet their contract obligations.

Krigar and his partners held the lease contract on the north end of Lake Miller, an arm of Trinity bay, where they believe Jean Lafitte's ship, "The Pride," may be sunk.

He and Leo T. Behne, jr., of Houston had formed the K. & B. Exploration company for the sole purpose of finding the buried treasure. Through a newspaper ad they got in touch with two men who knew of the sunken ship in Lake Miller and believed it to be the pirate Lafitte's golden-laden schooner. The four ironed out some difficulties over contracts recently and had said they would be ready next week to start work.

Writer Enjoys Finnish Bath Despite Prior Forebodings

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following is another in a series of articles written by Sarah McClendon, Avalanche-Journal Washington Correspondent who is now visiting in Finland.)

By SARAH McCLENDON
Avalanche-Journal Washington Correspondent

HELSINKI, Finland.—The sauna, or Finnish bath, is now a thing of the past in my life. I survived. It was not so bad. In fact, now that I look back upon it, I am apt to be a bit cocky about having undergone it. This, to me, primitive sort of ritualistic bathing does something to one—I can not say what it is. But it makes me feel stronger— to have done it— just looking back upon it.

Makes one feel a bit kin to the people who rowed across this beautiful lake at Aulanko and walked into that interesting 1200-year-old church or the people who carved these lovely bronze necklaces one finds out of graves all over Finland.

Human Relations Improved

I don't know just what the bath does to one but I do know that six American women, five British women and the two Finnish women who took it together came out of there feeling like they were just human beings. We didn't seem to grit our teeth any more at the British women saying, "If it's good, it must be British—nothing else would wear — don't you know," and they doubtless are not cringing at my American colleague's insistence on shocking them with "Are your dogs barking after that last mile?"

After the sauna and what we had been through together, we rather thought each other jolly good sports. Did I say "jolly"? Cheerio!

Here's exactly what happened. Immediately after arising at 6 a.m., walking to the railway station in Helsinki and taking a Finnish train for 60 miles to Aulanko, then eating a big breakfast, and permitting hopes to rise of putting off this bath business, we immediately heard that "sauna" was ready.

Women Bow To Custom

We had our pictures taken by Finnish newsreels as we walked to the slaughter. We tried to smile to show that we were as good as the Norsemen.

As we wandered down the path to the icy waters of the lake, some one said: "Is this the pier from which we jump—right here in front of the hotel?"

"Not I," sang out May Marshall of numerous British magazines. Later, who do you think it was who jumped in, just as we all did, although the spot turned out to be somewhat more secluded—Why, May Marshall.

If any one had ever told me that I would stand on the banks of a lake outside a heated little red frame hut in Finland and calmly take off my clothes, I would have said, "You're crazy."

Realism Of Finns Noted

That's what my Finnish colleague did, and wanting to be truly a sharer while in Finland, I did, too. Can you imagine taking off a pale blue girdle against the dark background of Finnish forests? One of my colleagues said "Every time you look up in Finland, you see something different."

The Finns are so sexless, we found. As one of the English girls said—No Frenchman would like the realism of the Finns. There were no peepers. One of the Finnish girls told us we had nothing to worry about as some fishermen rode by in the distance. Truly, they did not even look our way.

After undressing, we walked into a dark, hot little room with a sort of upper platform or balcony. Rows of benches were on either side. There was a great volume of heat issuing from a pile of blackened stones above a wood fire in an oven. Each of us took a small bunch of birch leaves with us and a pail of water. We dipped the leaves into the cold water and hit ourselves with it. This made for more humidity and more steam. The hot air was such that one had to catch breath and swallow hard.

Water Feels Cold

There was great splashing of water and steaming bodies caught little pieces of dried green leaves which made one itch. Meanwhile, the wooden boards we sat on got hotter as if they had been piped with steam. I remember seeing resin pour out of the boards and wondering just when the wood would burst into flames. I don't know why the sauna baths do not burn up, but apparently they never do.

Just as we were beginning to get somewhat accustomed to the heat, the Finnish girls ordered us outside, and into the lake. It was not as we had been told. It was not true that being hot, we would not mind cold water. A cold Finnish lake is always a cold Finnish lake. We submurged quickly and swam to another pier, up we came, back into the sauna. This time it was much hotter. We stayed until our nostrils seemed singed. Then back into the lake. It was still cold water. Then back into the sauna, but this time we did not stay.

Wood Shavings Used

Each of us had our turn at a wooden table where a strong Finnish girl soaked us completely and then rubbed us down with white wood shavings. Then it is the style to jump into the lake again. Don't let it ever be said that an American girl can't do what the Finns can. After the third leap into the icy water, we were permitted to dress, which we did, right out on the banks. While in this process, we were told to leave the sauna quickly as the Finnish minister of Finance had engaged it for that time and even then was approaching the hut.

Sauna, it must be explained, is so well loved by the Finns because of their severe cold climate and also because in the country the people had no bathrooms. These separate huts for basking in warmth were thus heartily appreciated by the begrimed Finnish farmer who naturally likes cleanliness. In the country, most Finnish babies are born in the sauna, we were told. But the city dwellers love sauna as well and on Saturdays, there is a general exodus to country places for sauna. Finnish soldiers in wartime build the sauna before setting up camp.

Belgian Succeeds In Swimming Channel

DOVER, England, Sept. 3. (AP)—Fernand Du Moulin, 229-pound Belgian industrialist, breast-stroked across the English channel tonight.

The 33-year-old man from Liege was the 28th swimmer to cross the treacherous 21-mile stretch of water since Capt. Matt Webb started the sport in 1875, and the second this year.

Du Moulin, who scorned training in the approved manner, plunged into the water at Cap Gris Nez after a champagne party and treaded water enroute to take additional refreshment from a French beer bottle.

He remained on British soil only five minutes after completing the swim, returning to France at once for a celebration.

On the fishing smack which accompanied him were two carrier pigeons to carry the word to Mrs. Moulin who remained in France because she gets seasick.

The Belgian was the second to swim the English channel this year. Philip Mickman, 18-year-old Englishman, did it 10 days ago in 23 hours and 48 minutes, slowest time ever from the French side.

De Moulin beat that time, but only a little. Different watches clocked him at 23 hours and one minute and 23 hours and three minutes. The official timer was on the smack and he did not come ashore.

The fresh southwest winds which swept up the channel today delayed Shirley May France's projected swim. The 17-year-old Somserset, Mass., school girl insists "any old day" would suit her, but her handlers said she must wait.

Resignation Of Rail Board Chief Engineer Announced

ESTES PARK, Colo., Sept. 3. (AP)—Resignation of Clark Loyd as chief oil and gas engineer to the Texas Railroad commission was announced here today by members of the commission.

The resignation, effective September 16, was attributed to ill health and plans to enter private business in Austin.

Loyd has been with the commission 17 years and has served as chief engineer since last December.

Announcement of the resignation was made by railroad Commissioner Olin Culberson while speaking before the summer session of the Interstate Oil Compact commission.

Loyd and Commissioners Bill Murray and Ernest O. Thompson also are attending the meeting.

Child Is Killed As Train Hits Tricycle

HOUSTON, Sept. 3 (AP) — A blond, three-year-old youngster Johnny Plaza, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph B. Plaza, was fatally injured about 11:30 a. m. today when he was struck by an eastbound Rock Island freight train.

The train's engineer, W. B. Phillips of Teague, told Deputy Sheriff Jeff Spencer that he did not see the child riding his tricycle along the tracks until the locomotive was about 100 feet away.

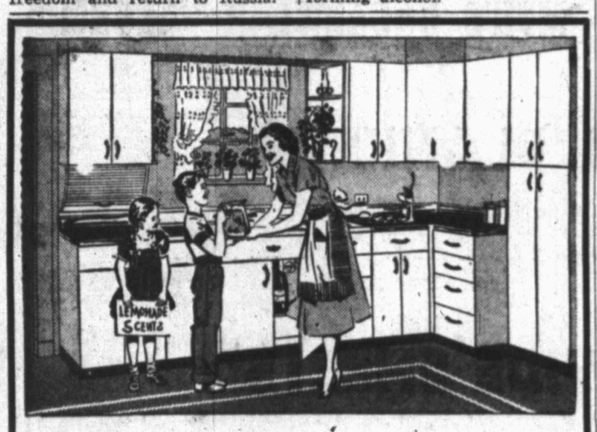

Phillips said he blew his whistle, clanged his bell, and applied the brakes.

The engine's cowcatcher brushed the little boy aside, dragging the tricycle about 30 feet down the right-of-way.

Johnny died at 12:26 p. m. of a fractured squll. Both legs were broken above the knee and he had suffered international injuries.

Neighbors said that Johnny had been playing on the tracks with his little black-and-white terrier for some time before the accident happened.

"I told him to get off the tracks," said David Leach, 10, who lives near the scene, "but he wouldn't listen to me."

Series Of Parties Scheduled For Mrs. George Etz, Jr.

AS THE late summer bridal season comes to a close, Mrs. George Etz, the former Miss Carolyn Cole, will be honored with a series of bridal courtesies, and Miss Rebeccah Bradshaw will be entertained with two Monday prebridal parties.

Opening the entertainments for Mrs. Etz will be a Monday morning breakfast with Miss Paula Fix as hostess at 3106 Twenty-second.

Tuesday parties include a breakfast to be given at the A. L. Scoggin home, 2207 Sixteenth, with Mesdames Scoggin and W. F. Eisenberg and Miss Jean Eisenberg as hostesses. Mrs. Roy Furr, Mrs. Don Furr and Miss Shelley Furr will be hostesses at a 12 o'clock luncheon to be held at 3120 Twentieth for Mrs. Etz. The final Tuesday courtesy will be a coke party in the home of Miss Elizabeth Howard, 2309 Seventeenth, with Miss Dorothy Barnett as co-hostess.

On the Wednesday schedule for Mrs. Etz are a 10 a. m. coffee to be given by Mrs. John Hampton and Mrs. Charles Whitacre at the Whitacre home, and a buffet supper with Mrs. Homer Grant as hostess at 3402 Twenty-first.

Two Thursday Parties

Mrs. Joe Bryant will honor Mrs. Etz with luncheon at the Lubbock Country club Thursday, and Mrs. R. C. Tucker will be hostess for dinner at the club that night.

Mesdames Mary Ware, E. R. McGee and James Gunn will entertain with a Friday breakfast at 9 a. m. in the Gunn home, 2409 Twenty-ninth, and Mrs. C. E. Dean will be hostess at 1 p. m. that day for a luncheon at the Country club.

On Saturday, Mrs. N. A. Payne and Mrs. Harold Wall will entertain with a 1 o'clock luncheon for Mrs. Etz, at the Payne home on Levelland road. That afternoon, Mrs. W. A. Dykes and her daughter, Mrs. Duncan Ellison will close the week's courtesies for Mrs. Etz with a coke party at the Dykes home, 2120 Broadway.

Honoring Miss Bradshaw, Mrs. Allen T. Stewart is planning a kitchen shower for Monday morning, and Mrs. C. W. York will entertain that afternoon with a coke party.

Sunday Wedding Will Be In Bride's Home

MISS MARY Clare Barnett and Matthew Dinsdale Smith, jr., of Washington, D. C., son of Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Smith, sr., of Ancon, Canal Zone, will exchange marriage vows at a double ring service at 9 o'clock this morning in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Barnett, 1310 Ave. R.

Dr. Jack M. Lewis will officiate.

White gladioli will center the mantelpiece with candles set against greenery on either side.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, will wear a white tissue faille day length dress with inset yoke and sleeves of imported chantilly lace. Her bouquet will be a white glamellia centered bouquet with bouvardia.

Miss Johnnie Barnett, who will serve as her sister's maid of honor, will wear a blue faille dress with white lace trim and a white gladioli corsage.

The bridegroom's father will be best man.

A wedding breakfast will be served at the Hilton hotel following the ceremony. Centering the table will be a bowl of mixed pastel asters.

The bridegroom's parents; his sisters, Misses Miriam and Loretta Smith, all of Ancon, Canal Zone, and Mrs. Charlotte Preap of Wayland, Mich., will be out-of-town guests.

The couple's wedding trip will be near Taos, N. M., and they will fly to Washington, D. C., where they will be at home after Sept. 20. The bride will travel in a taupe gabardine suit with black

Members of the publicity committee as announced this week by Mrs. Allen are: Mrs. Ross Ayers, chairman, Miss Lula Mae Cravens, and Mrs. Charles Cobb.

Town Talk

MR. AND MRS. W. B. AGEE, 2342-A Nineteenth, left Friday for Mexico where they will enjoy an extensive vacation, returning to their home Sept. 27.

Main points on their itinerary are Mexico City and Acapulco and Mrs. Agee said packing her wardrobe posed a problem, since she needed warm clothes for the high capital and summer wear for the resort city.

The Agees will stop in San Antonio on their way back to Lubbock to see the Tech-A. and M. football game.

Honoring Miss Louise Wilson, her bridal attendants and special guests, Mrs. Gladys Sims and daughters, Marjorie Ann and Mary Ruth, will entertain at the home of Mrs. T. M. Carter, 2305 Broadway, this morning at 10 o'clock with a brunch.

A fall theme will be carried out with pastal flowers. A miniature bride and a floral arrangement will center the head table, and small bridal bouquets will center the other tables. Place cards will be decorated with tiny bridesmaids' bouquets. A gift of silver will be presented to the honoree.

Guests will be Misses Wilson, Tinker Miller, Verdia Beth Edler, Norma June Edler and Mesdames G. W. Parkhill, Herb Miller, R. H. Edler, Harold Mann, Robert R. Click, Mary W. Doak, Bill Smith, S. H. Ware and R. D. Richards.

An earlier courtesy given for Miss Wilson was a Thursday tea shower in the home of Mrs. R. H. Edler, 1909 Seventeenth. Other hostesses were Mesdames Marshall Lewis, M. L. Hogan, Bill McCarty, Ed Vernon and Harold Munn. Calling hours were between 4 and 6 p. m., and 50 guests were invited.

An arrangement of white carnations centered the table, and a reflector held a large green bow lettered with the words "Louise and Henry." A miniature bridal couple completed table decorations and the colors yellow and green were carried out in refreshments.

Mesdames Hogan and McCarty presided at the punch service, and Miss Norma June Edler registered guests.

Mrs. D. B. Doak, 1717 Twenty-second, and her sister, Mrs. E. C. Raney, 2316 Tenth, returned recently from a five weeks' vacation in California and Idaho.

The Lubbockites visited two brothers and nieces in California, and a sister in Boise, Idaho. They also spent two weeks at their

Floradare Stuart Is Bride Of Mr. Wood

THE marriage of Miss Floradare Stuart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Travis Dare Stuart of 1715 Thirtieth, and William Thomas Wood, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wood of 1803 Eighteenth, was solemnized Saturday night at 8 o'clock at First Presbyterian church with Dr. Jack M. Lewis reading a double ring ceremony.

Fern formed the background for altar decorations of baskets of white chrysanthemums and candelabra and the aisles were marked with white satin bows and formosa.

Mrs. R. C. Douglas, jr., organist, accompanied Miss Joyce Watson who sang "Because," and played traditional wedding marches.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a pink tinged slipper satin chapel length gown fashioned with fitted torso bodice, scalloped at the neckline to outline the lace yoke, lace sleeves and full skirt. Her illusion fingertip veil was caught with a shirred satin half cap and she carried a crescent bouquet of gladioli buds centered with a white orchid and lilies of the valley.

Attendant To Bride

Miss Annie Jo Wood, sister of the bridegroom and maid of honor, wore American Beauty satin made with fitted bodice, scalloped neck, full skirt corded at the hipline. She wore a shirred satin half cap with back bow and streamers and carried a crescent bouquet of pale pink roses.

Parker Stuart, the bride's brother, served as best man and James

Ruth Estelle Price Is To Marry Dr. James Morris

The marriage of Miss Ruth Estelle Price of Wilmington, Del., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lucien Lee Price of Morton, and Dr. James William Morris of Wilmington, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Morris of Paris, Tex., will take place at 4 o'clock this afternoon at the First Methodist church at Morton with Rev. C. C. Armstrong officiating at the double ring service.

Mrs. William Sharbutt of Levelland, pianist, will play a prelude and accompany Mrs. Billie Rae Proctor of Morton who will sing "Because" and "I Love You Truly."

The altar will be decorated with fern, palms and baskets of white gladioli and white chrysanthemums. Graduated cathedral tapers will light the scene.

The bride, who will be given in marriage by her father, will wear a floor-length marquisette dress with narrow taffeta bands on the short sleeves and at hip-level, full skirt and a row of covered buttons from the waise to Peter Pan collar. She will wear elbow length mitts. Her fingertip veil of imported Swiss illusion with lace applique will fall from a seed pearl tiara. Stephanotis caught in white satin ribbons will fall from the old fashioned nosegay of white rosebuds.

Sister To Attend

Miss Beverly Price of Wilmington, sister of the bride and maid of honor, will wear a aqua replica of the bridal gown an aqua net headdress with pastel flowers and aqua ribbons and will carry an old fashioned nosegay of light pink carnations.

Miss Billie Knutson of Lubbock and Mrs. James Porter of Morton, bridesmaids, will wear pink dresses identical in style to the maid of honor's and will carry nosegays of dark pink carnations.

William H. Paschke of Austin will be best man and ushers will be Bill James Cox of Lubbock and James Porter of Morton.

At a reception that will follow the ceremony, Myra Jo Morris, sister of the bridegroom, will preside at the register.

The couple will go to Mexico City for a wedding trip and after Sept. 19 will be at home in the Park Lynn apartments at Wilmington. Both are with the Du Pont company where Dr. Morris is a research chemical engineer. He is a graduate of the University of Texas and the bride is a graduate of Texas Technological college.

Keep Noise Down If You Care To Save Strength

By ALICE HART
NEA Staff Writer

Noise—any kind of noise — crashing, whirring, clattering or pounding bangs at a housewife's nerves, saps her strength and makes her more tired than she ought to be.

Being "on-edge" can be traced directly to a noisy house. Its noise comes from almost uncontrollable factors, like the youngsters whooping it up. But there are other noises, such as the clatter of pots and pans, and the banging of a screen door which can be controlled.

For the children, you can try substituting quiet toys for the "bang" and "wham" variety. Keep children in soft-soled shoes, without metal taps or metal heel edges while they are playing indoors.

Rubber matting on your drain board and the trick of lining the bottom of the sink will eliminate dish-washing clatter. If dishes are stowed carefully, the whole operation can be almost noiseless.

Spring Will Help

A tight spring on a screen door eliminates the ryhthmic bang as children and tradespeople troop in and out of the house. A chime or dull buzz used to replace a noisy doorbell saves nerves too.

Turn your radio on so that you can barely hear it. Also have the telephone company soft-pedal the shrill call of the phone, and see if that doesn't help.

Fans, washing machines, air-conditioning units and refrigerators that make dull but constant noise as they operate can be toned down by lining the floor beneath them with insulating material.

Running faucets should be turned off when washing is finished. Weather stripping can be put under doors and windows. Squeaking clothes-line runners and rusty hinges can be oiled. Loose shutters rattle and shake in the wind.

Through The Coral Doors

Howdy Folks!

I meant to write to you right after I left Decorators Studio from my weekly visit through the coral doors, but Durwood talked me into going with him to hang some draperies. What a job that turned out to be! You sure have to be a "Jack be nimble, Jack be quick"—and that Durwood is sure nimble. He had me handing him this—holding that, until I was dizzy. Durwood says — "Aw, there's nothing to it, Grandpa," but I'm not inclined to agree with him.

Durwood drove to Odessa early Thursday morning to hang draperies, and Bee flew to Midland and met him there to take care of some of the little finishing details on accessories for a client. I guess it's those little details being just perfect that makes a home decorated by the Studio have that "just perfect look."

Bee and Durwood had just driven in from their trip when I walked through the coral doors Friday morning. Fredda was busy answering the phone, wrapping packages, and just about everything. She was mighty happy to see Bee and Durwood drive in 'cause everyone is serving double duty now that Josie is on her vacation.

Josie is visiting in Minnesota and we are all hoping that she gets a chance to go to Chicago to see a few things at the Merchandise Mart. I think that would really be a pleasure—hope someday that I get to go through the Mart. Wouldn't I have fun seeing all those pretties. I know it must take a trained eye to pick just what to buy or not to buy.

The studio is blossoming in new lamps these days—all types—all colors. In fact I believe they have more lamps in stock now than I ever remember them having. There were two that really took my fancy—one a basket weave design, a tall cylinder of rubbed brass and copper. The other of pewter—rubbed to look old and would be perfect in an early American or country home. I know you will want to see them—so go by the first of the week. Decorators Studio, Broadway and N.

See ya' there,

Grandpa Nosey.

P. S. James and Ann are so busy finishing up with school that their letters are short, sweet, and ALL business. Won't be long before we will have a first hand report. adv.

Junior Fashions For Fall Reveal Odd Combinations

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE
INS Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—Next fall's curious mixture of junior fashions should bring out either the cutie-pie or the Cleopatra in coeds!

Teen-agers — accustomed to dressing in "P. J." (parent-issued) clothes—can now trade the sugar-coating for sophistication. And do it with fashion dictated propriety.

Fifth avenue shop windows are stocked this week with an odd combination of trends. Junior mannikins sport creamy satin frocks, prim dark cotton, jeweled shoes and denim jeans.

Big Three Chosen

For the first time, it's up to the back-to-school girl to decide whether she's to be cuddly or coquettish. And it's up to mother to accept all-black dresses, satin jackets, snug hips, and low-dipping necklines for her daughter.

Fashion's "big three" junior glamour items for fall include: 1. Short satin frocks; 2. Rhinestone and pearl-studded shoes, and 3. All-black date dresses.

Runners-up include heavy gold jewelry, black velvet basque jackets, wine-colored coats, and jeweled ankle bracelets.

These high-fashion trends, designed to sophisticate "sis," are counteracted by dozens of the quaintest, most demure and most casual styles for juniors by seasons.

Top Sellers Predicted

In all of Fifth avenue's 'teen departments, buyers agreed that the top sellers will be: dark plaid clothes in cotton and wool; jumpers in all fabrics; velveteen and corduroy shirts and skirts, and fleece or tweed coats.

They will best sell because, said buyers: "casuals will sell over glamour clothes, as long as there are mothers."

There will be a strong comeback for fall cottons in the 'teen-age field, with colorful ginghams and cotton plaids on every show rack on Fifth avenue. They range in price from $7.95 to $20.

Most of the dark cottons have either touches of white pique or the newer velveteen trimmings. Their bodices are usually buttoned down the front, and the skirts are skinny-hipped but flared at the hem.

All stores are showing corduroy skirts, most of them straight and slim, with separate leather belts. The few flared corduroys have huge pockets on the hips.

Square Necklines

Three-button classic jackets are the most popular separates in corduroy, but suits have snug, waist-length jackets with rounded shoulders and pockets at the bustline. The two big corduroy colors for fall are dark green and copper.

Jumpers for juniors next season will have tight-fitting tops and full-gathered skirts. Newest of necklines is the square type, to show off tucks, jabots or shirt-waist collars on blouses.

Jumpers are being shown in velveteen, wool plaid, corduroy, and (for the very snooty) leopard-stencilled velvet.

According to Fifth avenue store buyers, the velveteen date dress will sell generally for an average of about $19.95, which adds up to the "best dress" in most budgeted teen-agers' wardrobes.

Tea Honors Bride-Elect

Miss Camille Stevens, bride-elect of Bob Renner, was named honoree at a tea given at the Lubbock Country club Friday afternoon by Mrs. A. E. Miller and Mrs. Earl D. Miller.

A motif of pink and green carried out the honoree's chosen colors, being featured in asters and mums and in candles.

Mrs. Amos Howard and Mrs. W. L. Stangel presided at the refreshment table and were assisted in serving by Misses Imogene Fortenberry and Olive Pearl Matthews.

Miss Betty Fortenberry registered guests.

The hostess gift was a place setting in silver.

Seventy called between 3 and 5 o'clock.

Sylvia Roth Honored At Swim And Picnic

Sylvia Roth, who will leave next Sunday to enter Hockaday School for Girls, was honoree at a swimming party and picnic given Friday afternoon by her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Bill West, at the B. Sherrod swimming pool on Brownfield highway.

Miss Roth, who attended public school here last spring after coming to Lubbock from Lima, Peru, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Roth, formerly of Lima and now en route to Montevedio, Uruguay. Mr. Roth is employed by the National bank of New York and has held posts for that bank in other countries several years.

Those attending the Friday party were Helen Mize, Carol Reckor, Sandra Stanton, H. W. Stanton, Ronnie Smith and Jim Dunlap.

Assisting in hospitalities were Mr. and Mrs. Walker Stanton. Sara Jane West, baby daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill West, also attended.

Buffet Supper Given For Club, Husbands

Dr. and Mrs. A. A. Holmquest and Mr. and Mrs. Pat Henry were hosts to members of the 1941 Needle club with a buffet supper at the Holmquest home, 2013 Main Friday at 7 p. m.

Following supper a telescope party was held in the backyard.

Attending were Messrs. and Mesdames O. S. Cates, Merritt Clark, E. R. Trego, John Mallory, Wesley B. Smith and J. O. Pope.

Next regular meeting of the club will be on Sept. 14, at 3:30 p. m. in the home of Mrs. J. O. Pope, 2315 Thirty-first.

PLAN FASHION SHOW—Junior Welfare league members pictured above were meeting to plan the league fashion show, Timely Trends. The Woman's Angle

By Margaret Turner

FOR many of us religion is not a bother, but a necessity: a necessity first of all because it gives a purpose to life. We accept that, and declare that life must find its purpose in God. If the purpose of life is not wrapped up in God, then we know neither why we are here nor where we are going.

Religion is a necessity because it offers peace to mankind.

Religion is a necessity because it brings mental and spiritual security. Many of the problems of our age stem from a particular type of frustration which arises when men seek for security in the material world.

Finally, religion is a necessity because it offers the greatest hope for the future. Science does not even profess to change men, and the humanities have not. Indeed few would argue that education can make any intrinsic change, thought it may polish men, give them better manners, train them and make them more efficient.

FOR GIRLSTOWN

UNDER sponsorship of the Pilot club of Lubbock, first benefit to be given for Girlstown will be the bridge-bingo-forty-two party Thursday night at Seaman hall, beginning at 8 o'clock.

Lubbock merchants will donate gifts for favors in the games.

Members of the sponsor club are selling tickets at fifty cents. They also are on sale at Wylie's.

This is the first project to be undertaken by Pilot club, which was organized early last spring. The young women hope they will be successful, since they are anxious to help with the upkeep of Girlstown.

SCATTERINGS

CANASTA, the latest card game fad, is pronounced Ca-NAH-sta" and not "na" as in "nag," the experts tell us. Incidentally the game has sent the sale of bridge cards over the country to never-dreamed of heights. . . One of the most astounding inventions to us is the mold whereby now kiddies make their own popsicles . . . At a recent manufactures association convention in Chicago, a pretty girl slipped delegates pieces of paper inviting them up to her room. The ones who accepted found themselves at a sales exhibit.

FREEDOM SLIPS

HAVE you ever heard of a "Freedom shower?" We read about one and thought it might be workable for some of our readers. This party was for a mother-to-be.

When she arrived at the party she found a pile of small envelopes, instead of the usual array of pink and blue packages.

Yes, she was puzzled; but the moment she discovered what love and thoughtfulness were in each of those envelopes, she almost wept with joy.

One guest had arranged for her to have a permanent before she went to the hospital. You can imagine what a blessing that would be.

Another presented her with two tickets to a play and the promised sitter for the evening. One envelope explained that a dinner had been arranged for her and her husband in one of the town's finest restaurants. Another friend offered to help with cleaning house every morning for a week after the baby came home.

We think a "Freedom shower" would be received with delight by almost everyone.

GIVING THE PITCH

A READER sent this clipping from the editorial page of the Chicago Daily News.

"This paragraph from Shakespeare's Henry IV part first, act 2, scene 4, which he thinks should be required reading for the President:

"There is a little thing, Harry, which thou hast often heard of, and is known in one land by the name of pitch: this pitch, as ancient writers of report, doth defile; so doth the company thou keepst."

And our reader adds, "Gen. Vaughan please note!"

Play Hookey From Home

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

Playing hookey from home once in a while is recommended if the stolen time is used by the lady of the house to make herself more solid with her children and her husband.

Nothing drastic is urged in order to take time out! One day floors may be left unswept and silver unpolished as mother and Junior head for high adventure in the park. One young mother we know took horseback riding lessons with her son one day a week, another took sewing lessons with her teen-age daughter. Time taken out to paint or draw will interest even the very young child and may help mother to find an unsuspected talent.

Go Back To School

Some women with college-age children have rediscovered their interest in school subjects and have gone back to the class rooms. Some have gone back to a better-late-than-never degree, others to learn music, art or a new language or merely increase their knowledge in a field which has always tantalized their interest.

Modern housewives are expected to keep up with the world beyond the kitchen. In self-defense, it is necessary to find time to read the daily papers and to settle down occasionally during the day with a non-fiction best-seller.

Sometimes a wife's little extra-curricular shopping will put a fresh bloom on even a many-an-niversaried marriage. Golf balls, a favorite record, a tricky bottle opener, a better screwdriver, or any much-talked-of purchase, never made, brought as a gift, might fit into a plan to intrigue a husband.

Installation Will Be Conducted By Altar Society At Hall

An installation service will be conducted in St. Elizabeth's Altar society Tuesday night at 8 o'clock in Blakeslee hall.

Mrs. C. B. Qualia and Miss Margaret Turner will relate highlights of their trips to Europe this year.

Hostesses will be Mesdames Roy Grimes, R. F. Hinchey, U. B. Chambers and Roy Riddel, jr.

VETERAN TEACHER HONORED ON BIRTHDAY—Mrs. J. K. Wester, above, pioneer teacher of Lubbock, was honored Wednesday in an open house on her birthday. Mrs. Wester won't reveal her age, but she taught in the Lubbock public schools 35 years before retiring in 1936. Many of her former pupils were among the 100 people who called at her home at 902 Ave. S during the day. Her late husband, J. K. Wester, who died in 1935, served as superintendent of schools here six years and two terms in the Texas Legislature as representative from this district. He was one of the people who worked for the establishment of Texas Tech. In the receiving line were: Mrs. C. M. Whipp, 812-A Ave. K, a sister; Mrs. Madelle Wester Lindsey, Levelland; and Mrs. F. C. Wester, 412 Ave. R. A daughter, Mrs. Lyna Wester Wells, Amarillo; Mrs. V. T. Brady, Levelland highway, and a granddaughter, Miss Patricia Wester, assisted in serving refreshments. Ten out-of-town guests were present for the occasion. (Staff Photo).

Kennedy-Gallimore, Collier-Allen Weddings Read

Vows Read In Church

First Christian church was scene of the marriage of Miss Marjorie Ann Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert L. Allen, 2124 Seventeenth, and Ray Donald Collier of 2109 Twenty-ninth, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. K. Collier of route 3, Goldthwaite, solemnized Saturday at 8 o'clock in the evening. Rev. J. Ralph Grant read the double ring ceremony.

The service was performed in a setting of palms and oregon brake fern. Baskets of white gladioli were tied with large blue satin bows, and large white pottery urns were filled with gladioli. The church was lighted by tapers in candelabra.

Mrs. Carlos Reynolds, organist, played traditional wedding marches, and "Indian Love Call" was heard during the ceremony. Mrs. Everett Patterson, soloist, sang "I Love Thee, Dear."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white bridal satin fashioned with a gathered skirt extending into a train and joining the bodice at the low waist line. The bodice was finished with wide tucked collar and deep shaped neckline. Long fitted sleeves extended over the wrists. Her fingertip veil of illusion fell from a halo crown of satin and lillies of the valley. She wore a blue garter traditionally worn by members of the Ko Shari club. Her rhinestone necklace and earscrews were a gift from the bridegroom. The bridal bouquet was a heart-shaped arrangement of white rosebuds centered with a white orchid.

Mrs. T. A. Serrurier, sister of the bride from Amarillo and matron of honor, wore a powder blue dress with a full net skirt and a taffeta bodice designed with a drop shoulder neckline. Her heart-shaped boquet was of yellow rosebuds and she wore a matching halo. Mrs. H. L. Allen, jr., sister-in-law of the bride, and Mrs. Fred Stubbs and Misses Dorothy Barnett and Jean Eisenberg, all of Lubbock, wore dresses identical to that of the matron of honor, and their heart-shaped bouquets were of red rosebuds with satin streamers.

Roy A. Collier, brother of the bridegroom from Goldthwaite, was best man, and ushers were T. A. Serrurier, H. L. Allen, jr., brother of the bride, Charles Kelley and T. W. Womack, all of Lubbock.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the parlors of the church, and assisting the couple in receiving were Mesdames H. L. Pharr, Vernon Brown, Robert Allen, H. D. Woods, G. H. Nelson, G. P. Kuykendall, Ruth Carter, John Hampton and Misses Elsie Link, Elizabeth Howard, Sadie Bownds, Marrion Woods and Betty Quinlan.

Decorating the receiving rooms were baskets of white flowers with blue and silver trimmings.

Following a wedding trip to points in New Mexico and Colorado, the couple will be at home at 2109 Twenty-ninth. For traveling the bride chose a brown wool gabardine suit with eggshell accessories.

The bride was a junior commercial art student at Texas Tech, where she was a member of Ko Shari social club. The bridegroom was an August graduate of Tech.

MRS. WALTER COFFMAN KENNEDY

MRS. RAY DONALD COLLIER

Newlyweds To Return Here To Make Home

Miss Gentry Marie Gallimore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Gallimore, became the bride of Walter Coffman Kennedy, son of Mrs. Neva Kennedy, 1805 Sixteenth Saturday at 7 p. m. in St. John's Methodist church with Rev. C. J. McCarthy reading a double ring ceremony.

A white bridal aisle led to an altar banked with baskets of white gladioli and white mums, fern and candelabra. Mrs. T. J. Lovett sang "Because" and "Through the Years" accompanied by Bob Scoggin, organist, who also played "Indian Love Call" and "Clair de Lune" as a musical prelude, traditional wedding marches, and "Ah Sweet Mystery of Life" during the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of magnolia satin designed with a sheer illusion yoke of nylon, and a soft flowing skirt extending into a cathedral train. Tiny self-covered buttons defined the sculptured bodice and long fitted sleeves which tapered to points at her hands. The bride's fingertip veil of imported silk illusion cascaded from a tiara of pearl-petaled orange blossoms. For something old and borrowed the bride carried her grandmother's wedding band. For something blue she wore a blue garter, which is traditionally worn by member of the Nu Phi Mu sorority. Her double strand of pearls was a gift from the bridegroom. The bridal bouquet was a modern arm bouquet of white pom pon chrysanthemums.

Miss LoRena O'Neall, maid of honor, wore a dress of burnt wine irridescent taffeta fashioned like that of the bride, except for an off-shoulder neckline and cap sleeves. Both Miss O'Neall and the bridesmaids carried arm bouquets of bronze mums tied with satin streamers. Misses Vivian Gallimore, May Ellen Bourland and Geraldine Brown, all of Lubbock, were bridesmaids and were gowned in irridescent taffeta dresses made of different autumn colors in copin emerald, copper-flecked brown and flamingo blue. The full skirts were gathered on to a fitted bodice designed with a low round neckline and a bertha type collar at the front extending to below the armholes in back to form small cap sleeves.

Candle lighters were Joan and Charlese Gallimore, sister and brother of the bride. Dennis Kennedy of Houston served as best man, and ushers were Loyd Stack and Gene Gibson, both of Lubbock, and Edwin Coffman of Littlefield.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Brown, 1925 Ave. N. with the couple's parents assisting them in receiving. Carrying out the bride's theme of autumn colors, the candle lighted reception table was laid with a handmade imported linen cloth centered with formal arrangements of autumn flowers. The wedding cake was fashioned after the bride's wedding ring, rested on a pedestal of confection lace and was decorated with confection roses, lily of the valley and ribbons on the top.

After a wedding trip to San Angelo, the couple will be at home at 2215 Fourteenth on Sept. 9. For traveling the bride chose a burma red gabardine suit with all navy accessories.

The bride is a graduate of Lubbock High school, and is vice-president of Nu Phi Mu sorority. The bridegroom is a senior student at Texas Tech.

Woolsey-Wilson Vows Are Read In Garden Setting

IN A garden ceremony performed at the home of the bride, Miss Alice Ann Woolsey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Woolsey, 2607 Twenty-second, became the bride of Terry Erle Wilson, son of W. D. Wilson of 1907 Twenty-third, at 7 o'clock Thursday night.

Officiating for the single ring ceremony was Dr. H. I. Robinson, pastor of First Methodist church.

Mr. Woolsey gave his daughter in marriage. She wore a gown of white imported hand-embroidered silk fashioned with fitted bodice, rolled bertha and long fitted sleeves. Her veil of imported bridal illusion cascaded in misty tiers to the floor from a headpiece made of the same material as her dress and edged with seed pearls. She carried a white orchid and lilies of the valley showered with satin streamers.

Mrs. John H. Reeves of Dallas was matron of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Margaret Wilson, sister of the bridegroom; Mrs. Thomas R. Culver, jr., Abilene; Mrs. Calvin E. Webb, Tyler; Miss Martha Jo Moore, Sonora; Miss Joan Prouty and Miss Nancy Nell Norman, Houston, a cousin of the bride. They all wore nile green marquisette redingotes over yellow taffeta strapless slips and nile green bonnets accented by bows. They carried yellow glamelia colonial bouquets.

Relatives Are Attendants

The bride's cousin, Miss Marilyn Ann Norman of Roswell, N. M., was junior bridesmaid and her cousin, Joy Elaine Norman of Roswell, and the bridegroom's niece, Gail Ann Buckner, were flower girls. They were dressed like the other attendants and wore fresh flower coronets and the flower girls carried baskets made from the material of their dresses and filled with petals.

Best man for the bridegroom was his brother, John H. Wilson, and ushers were Robert Lon Cole, Hubert Burgess, jr., Lowry Wallace, Charles A. Wiley, and Robert O. Lowery, and Amos H. Howard, jr.

Bob Scoggin played "because" and "I Love Thee" as an organ prelude and accompanied William A. Harrod, violinist, who played Meditation from "Thais." Traditional marches were used.

The bridal procession was down a winding path from house to ivy covered stone fence where the altar was arranged under a willow tree. The path was marked by stands with double candles surrounded by flowers and entwined with ivy. The flower beds were filled with gladioli, asters and fancy-leafed caladium.

A reception followed the ceremony. The couple has gone on a wedding trip to Colorado, California and New Mexico and after Sept. 17 will be at home in Austin at 110 East Seventeenth. The bride's traveling ensemble was an American Beauty milateen suit with navy accessories and a white orchid corsage.

The Wilsons will attend the University of Texas as seniors, the bride majoring in French and the bridegroom a law student. He plans to begin the practice of law in Lubbock in the summer of 1950.

Mrs. Wilson is a graduate of Hockaday preparatory school and a former student at Texas Tech college where she was a member of Sans Souci club. She is a member of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority at the university.

Mr. Wilson served in the United States Navy during the war and received his commission after studying at Notre Dame. He is a graduate of Lubbock High school and attended Texas Tech where he was a member of the College club, Kappa Kappa Psi and played in the Lubbock Symphony orchestra. At the university law school he is a member of the Chancellors and of Phi Delta Phi fraternity.

Out-of-town guests included the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Anna Norman, of Roswell, N. M.; Mr. and Mrs. Ben Choate and family of Austin; Mr. and Mrs. John C. Norman and family of Roswell; Mrs. Owen Parry of Dallas and S. N. Henry of Spearman.

Bus Driver's Troubled Dream Is Reality For Fellow Worker

MELBOURNE, Sept. 3. (AP)—A school bus driver, J. C. Doherty, had a troubled dream the other night. He dreamt a rear wheel of his bus fell off.

Next day he checked all four wheels of his bus. His journey to the school was uneventful.

But another of the school's buses had an accident. A rear wheel came off. No one was injured.

South Australia Uses Brown Coal To Power Locomotives

ADELAIDE, Sept. 3. (AP)—South Australia has a tip for anyone who wants to run locomotives on low-grade brown coal. It can be done by mixing black coal with the brown. But what if you have no black coal?

The answer is to spray a little fuel oil on a thin bed of burning brown coal. An oil reservoir, fuel lines and blowers for spraying can be fitted on a locomotive in a day. South Australia has done this, and it's keeping her locomotives puff-puffing along. The state was forced to find such an alternative when all miners of black coal in Australia went on strike.

Big brown coal deposits in South Australia have been developed only in the past ten years. South Australia is the only Australian state that has no black coal deposits. South Australia now is using brown coal in the furnaces of its industries, and to make electricity.

Chicken Pie Is Wonderful Dish For Sunday

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

Old-fashioned chicken pie is a wonderful Sunday main dish during summer. Served with corn on cob, a green garden vegetable and lots of gravy, it's a family feast.

Let's listen to Ann Batchelder's Vermont version of chicken pie. This is what she writes in her mouth-watering new cookbook:

"Don't put into your chicken pie an assortment of 'garden sass. Small potato balls and small onions belong. But I've known people to put carrots, parsnips and even turnip into their chicken pies. It's a crime," she writes.

"Now for the recipe. Have the large chicken or fowl cut up into portions, as for a fricassee. Put it in enough cold water to cover well and set it on the stove to simmer. Add a little salt. Cook gently until the meat is tender enough to fall from the bones. Remove the skin. Separate all the meat from the bones—and never, never cut it up fine. Leave it in pieces just as it comes from the framework.

"Cool the broth and extend it by adding chicken soup (canned or extra) as needed for plenty of gravy. Be sure to skim every speck of grease from the top of the cooled broth before going any further. Now cook smooth a thickening roux of flour and butter. Reheat the broth and when it is warm, add the thickening gradually and cautiously, stirring every minute and stopping the instant you think it's thick enough. If you are a good measurer, 6 tablespoons flour to 1 quart broth is about right.

"Cook until the gravy is about the consistency of very heavy cream. (If there's a single lump, strain the gravy. One lump in a gravy is like a mote in the eye).

"Season, circumspectly, with salt and pepper — nothing else. Taste to see that it has savor. Put the chicken portions back into the hot gravy and be sure to keep it hot.

"Make a rich biscuit dough. Roll the dough out lightly into a sheet about one-half inch thick. Put the hot chicken and gravy into a casserole, cover with the crust, fitting it carefully around the edges, and pricking or slitting the top.

"Bake in an oven, at 450 degrees F. (hot) until crust is brown and done. Don't let the crust lean too heavily on the chicken part. Some people set a cup in the center of the dish to bolster up the crust, but I don't. Enough for four to six."

Orphaned Russian Squirrel Is Puzzle To "Mother" Cat

MOSCOW, Sept. 3 (AP)—Antics of one of the younger members of her family have driven a good-natured mother cat at the Moscow zoo to the edge of a nervous breakdown. It's an ever-continuing puzzle to her as to just how her smallest "offspring" can scamper along the ceiling of the cage they live in without mortal danger. But just wait till she sees him crack a nut!

For the baby is a young orphaned Russian squirrel.

LOCKED DOORS NO HELP

CHICAGO (U.P.)—James Nicholaou spent $1,800 for a new set of locks for his liquor store. He said he thought the peace of mind made the investment worth while. But burglars broke in and took $150 and whiskey valued at $2,000.

Mrs. Rozanne Haley and daughter, Peggy Lou Caffee left by plane Friday night for Dallas, where Peggy Lou will enroll in Our Lady of Good Counsel academy.

S/Sgt. Charles Rowan has spent six weeks with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Muckleroy, 2415 Thirty-first, after a year of service with the Army Air Forces in the Aleutian islands.

He left Thursday for El Paso, where he will report at Biggs field for assignment.

The former Lubbockite has been in the army for the past nine years and this is the first time he has been home in 25 months.

Gay Reeves, president of Sans Souci for the coming year, writes from Fort Worth about the reunion which her club held last weekend in Dallas. The girls all arrived Friday, Aug. 26, and stayed at the Baker hotel. Saturday they had a luncheon at the Century room of the Adolphus hotel and attended the Ice revue, and later that afternoon a swimming party was staged at the home of Shirley Harris's aunt. For entertainment Saturday night, the Soucis attended a performance of "Showboat" at the Starlight operetta. After a Sunday morning breakfast, the reunion closed and the girls started leaving for home.

Attending were Elizabeth Howard, Zen Harris, Shelia Jondanl, Billie Ruth Yant, all of Lubbock; Rachel Dunaway, Amarillo; Pat Johnson, Lefors; Pat Vasen, Nan Whistler, Grace Garrison, Dorothy Bozenhard, all of Fort Worth; Jeannine Smith, Tahoka; Lam McKay, Austin; Bobbie Manning, Waco; Loy Anderson, Seagraves; Gay Reeves, Wellington; and Shirley Harris and Wynona Bard, Dallas.

Lam and Gay stayed over in Fort Worth with Pat Vasen, this week and the girls are attending the Socii reunion there this weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. S. S. McKay returned Thursday night from Austin, where for the past 12 months Dr. McKay has been a visiting professor of history at the University of Texas.

He has returned to resume his position as professor of history at Texas Tech, and they are at home at 2909 Twentieth.

Former Newspaperman Will Get Position As Governor Of Guam

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3 (AP) — President Truman today named Carlton Skinner of Milford, Conn., to be the first civilian governor of Guam.

Skinner, 36, is a former Washington newspaper man and is now special assistant to Secretary of the Interior Krug.

GOSSIP

Dear Buck:

Classes are starting in the Larrymore Dance Studio this week, but it's not too late to enroll. It's hard to believe that it is that time of year, but it is and everyone around the Studio is eager to get started.

There is a new dancing teacher on the staff at the Larrymore Dance Studio, and she teaches ballet, Spanish, Hula, Character, and Modern. She is from Des Moines, Iowa, and her name is Janet Schick. We are sure glad to have her.

We are beginning to get a little worried about the musical kindergarten. We do not want to have a waiting list, and it sure looks like we are going to have one.

We are just plain lucky to have a progressive dance studio like the Larrymore Dance Studio in Lubbock, and I'm sure all of the students will be proud to be a part of it this year.

Yours for better dancing,
Wing.

P. S. Baton classes have already started, but new classes will be starting this week.

Rush Family Reunion Will Be Held Today

ACUFF, Sept. 3 (Special)—More than 50 descendants of Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Rush will meet at the old Rush home place, one mile west of Acuff, today for their annual family reunion.

Although Mr. and Mrs. Rush have been dead for a number of years the children, seven boys and two girls, bring their families back to Acuff for an annual get-together.

At the suggestion of Mrs. Bessie L. Smith, a daughter of the Rushes, now living in San Antonio, the reunions were started in 1922. They have met every year with the exception of 1947 and 1948.

The seven Rush boys beginning with the oldest are: W. P., Clovis, N. Mex.; O. E., 2405 Thirtieth street, Lubbock; J. R., Morton; Clark, San Angelo; Elmer, Acuff; Otis, Levelland; and, Hughie, the youngest, now living on the original Rush homestead.

The daughters are Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Lulia Kelly, also of San Antonio.

There will be all of the nine children, a score of grandchildren and several great grandchildren at the reunion.

Grand Prairie Will Crack Down On Persons Cashing Hot Checks

Crude Oil Allowable Highest Since March

AUSTIN, Sept. 3 (AP) — Texas' total average calendar day crude oil allowable today reached 2,104,647 barrels, the highest it has been since March 26 of this year.

Today's allowable was an increase of 141,013 barrels daily over the week-ago average of 1,963,634 barrels, the Railroad commission reported.

The last time the permissive production stood at a higher level was during the week ended March 26, when Texas producers had an allowable of 2,249,309 barrels per day.

Expanded September production is the result of a one-day addition to the statewide and East Texas producing schedules by the Railroad commission.

However, the allowable still is more than 600,000 barrels below the daily quota of late December, 1948. Sharp reductions of the Texas permissive began in January and continued throught August.

Oil well completions this week totaled 167, the Railroad commission also reported. The year's total now stands at 5,885 compared with 4,959 a year ago.

There were nine gas wells completed, bringing the 1949 figure to 508 compared with 471 a year ago.

Fifty-nine dry holes were reported.

Wildcat drillings resulted in five oil wells, one gasser, and 33 dry holes.

Fifty-seven dry wells were plugged, as were 42 oil wells and one gas well.

President Peron announced that industrial salaries in Argentina are up 270 per cent from 1943 and hours worked have been reduced 10 per cent.

Miss Georgia Joyce Hamilton Is To Marry Rallo Henry Today

Miss Georgia Joyce Hamilton, daughter of Mrs. Aura Mae Hamilton of Route 2, and Rallo Carroll Henry, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Henry, 2123 Twenty-third, will be married today at 3 p. m. in St. John's Methodist church with Harvie Pruitt, Church of Christ ministerial student, reading a double ring ceremony.

Baskets of white gladioli will be arranged against a background of banked fern, and tapers will burn in four candelabra.

Traditional wedding marches will be played by Gerre Hancock, organist, who will also accompany Miss Barbara Perkins, cousin of the bride from Amarillo, as she sings "Because' 'and "Indian Love Call" before the ceremony and The Lord's Prayer after the service.

To be given in marriage by her brother, Bob Hamilton, the bride will wear a dress of Grotto blue irridescent jacquard faille designed with a balcony style style neckline and a bouffant skirt. Her accessories will be navy blue and white, and she will carry a white Bible topped by a white orchid showered with split white carnations.

In Bridal Party

Mrs. Steve B. Meinecke, sister of the bride and matron of honor, will wear a dress of ice blue satin fashioned with an overskirt which tapers from the front to the center back at the hemline. Her accessories will be gray and she will carry pink asters. Misses Jeanette Hackney of Lubbock and Beth Hardin of Plainview will wear wine crepe dresses and carry bouquets of blue asters and wear matching halos in their hair. Candlelighters will be Patsy Ann Hamilton, sister of the bride, and Sharon McCauley.

Newell Baldwin will attend the bridegroom as best man, and ushers will be Bill Draper and Delbert Henry, brother of the bridegroom.

At a reception to be held at the church following the ceremony, the couple will be assisted in receiving by their parents, Mrs. J. A. Peel, Bob Hamilton, Mrs. Meinecke and Misses Hardin and Hackney.

Assist In Hospitalities

The bride's table will be laid with an embroidered linen cloth and centered by the bride's bouquet. The double ring cake will be decorated with pink rosebuds. Mrs. H. L. McCauley will serve the cake, and punch will be poured by Mrs. L. E. Settle. Others assisting in hospitalities will be Misses Virginia Ruth Robertson, Pat Hamilton and Sharon McCauley and Mrs. James H. Pruitt.

After a wedding trip to Colorado Springs, Colo., the couple will be at home in Lubbock after Sept. 9. For traveling the bride will wear a red wool gabardine suit with brown and tan accessories.

The bride is a graduate of Lubbock High school, where she was a member of Y-Teens and president of the Mary Emma Chapter of F. H. A. She will attend Tech this fall. The bridegroom graduated from Lubbock High school, attended Tech and is in business with his father.

Texas Farmers Get 16 Percent Less For Crops Than Year Ago

AUSTIN, Sept. 3 (AP) — Texas farmers didn't get quite as much money for their products in August as in July, the U. S. department of Agriculture reported today.

A mid-month price report showed the index of agricultural products was only one point below that of mid-July but was 50 points, or 16 per cent, below that of August, 1948. Crop and livestock price declines accounted for the downward trend. Wool, eggs and milk cows were above the price level of a year earlier.

Tournament Tuna Fishing Is Thrilling, Tough Assignment For Skilled Anglers

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press Staff Writer

This befuddled old world of ours has become so far-minded that it spends half its time talking about past conflict and the other half worrying over the next.

I fear that we live too much in the past and future, and not enough in the present. Anyway your columnist is fed up with war and rumors of war. So let's talk about fishin,' one of the really worth while things in life. I've angled in many countries for various kinds of fish, but I struck something new as an observer at the recent state of Maine tuna tournament held at Boothbay harbor, one of America's beauty spots. I'd like to tell you about that.

Some call tuna fishin' with rod and reel the acme of piscatorial sport. Well, we won't argue that point, but it certainly is one of the most rugged—so much so that unless the fisherman is physically fit he runs the risk of bodily injury. A batle with say a 900 pound tuna is terrific, a fact which of course explains its fascination for the seeker after thrills. It's the purpose of this article to record an impression of such a fight with a big fish—one that got away.

Crew Is Described

I had the privilege of being for three days aboard the fast cruiser of one of America's widely known tuna fishermen—Walter McDonough, of Brielle, N. J. He won last year's tourney at Boothbay. Aboard the "Jersey Lightning II" also were his charming wife, who accompanies him in all tournaments, and his crew of two—Louis (Sonny) De Filipo, skipper, and Bob (Red) Stuart, mate—both experienced tuna fishermen and first class sailors. The crew have to be wizards in the handling of the boat, as you shall see.

McDonough is a huge, barrel-chested chap, about six-feet-two and weighing 245 pounds. I'll tell you how powerful he is: I was put aboard his cruiser one day from another craft in a rough sea. My boat was backed close to the cruiser as I balanced my 200 pounds in the pitching stern. McDonough stood by his rail and at his command I stepped trustingly out into space. He grabbed me and laughingly hoisted me aboard as though he were handling a five year old.

Well, that's the giant I saw battling a big tuna. He had been sitting patiently for a long and wearing time in his swivel chair at the stern, feet braced and set for action if a fish should strike his bait. He was stripped to the waist and wore a heavy, wide leather corset like a pony saddle. Tournament fishing is a serious business.

Hook Is Set

Sonny crouched against the controls of the cruiser, watching McDonough. "Red" kept on "chumming"—throwing pieces of fish overboard to attract tuna. Mrs. Mac (Betty) played a highly important role by relaying occasional bits of food to her husband and resorting to frequent bits of bandiage to ease the tension.

Suddenly McDonough barked "let's go!" He swung on his huge rod as he set the hook in what was estimated to be an 800 to 900 pound fish. Sonny yanked a cord which released the craft from its pooring. The powerful motors began to throb. Betty and I made ourselves scarce, "Red" stood at hand for any emergency, but away from McDonough since no aid can be given a tournament fisherman once he has hooked his fish.

The battle was on. It's an absurd comparison, I know, but as McDonough fought that fish I could think of nothing but a man tackling a Bengal tiger with his bare hands.

The tuna now had perhaps 300 yards of line run out and was in command of the situation. It was Mac's business to curb the fish's rushes and gain command himself. He had to work mighty fast because we were encircled by other boats and our theater of operation was relatively small.

Line Is Severed

It was a savage fight. Mac's big muscles swelled as he threw every ounce of his vast strength into the task of curbing the tuna's wild rushes and reeling it in inch by inch. His chair swung violently back and forth as his line lashed the water. No man could stand that long.

Meantime Sonny was performing unbelievable feats with the craft. He swung it, he reversed it with screaming gears, he drove it lunging forward—he rode it like a spinning polo pony. He followed every movement of the fisher man.

Nobody spoke. The tension was thick enough to cut, and became more so as we approached other boats anchored nearby. About nine minutes had passed and Mac had all but gained control over the huge fish when the tuna gave a sudden rush around the anchor line of a neighboring craft.

McDonough's line was severed. Silence on the Jersey Lightning II. Everybody was stunned. Sonny was as white of face as a sheet. Mac sat and stared at the water for a long minute. Then he suddenly threw back his head and his big, boyish laugh boomed out.

With that the crew jumped into action to prepare for more fishing. Betty slipped a sympathetic and encouraging arm about her husband's neck as he settled down to more hours of tedious waiting.

Well, there you have nine minutes in the life of a tuna fisherman—and an observer. Mac took second place in the tournament but he can gain the permanent trophy if he wins next year, since he already has one leg on it through his victory in 1948. I reckon he'll be there trying.

Program To Boost Facilities Of Minnesota's Hospitals Underway

ST. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 3 (AP)—A new deal for Minnesota's 10,500 mentally ill persons, and one that may catch on nationally, has begun.

It may take weeks, even months, for all the improvements to be carried out in that state's seven mental hospitals. But there will be immediate effects as the first half of the two-year $28,000,000 appropriation fund granted by the 1949 legislature becomes available.

There will be, for instance, a single food diet for patients and hospital employes alike. When the employes eat speak, so will the patients. When fresh oranges or other fruits are served, almost a rarity now, all will share them. The state will spend 65 cents a day per patient for food, which is more than double previous allowances and higher than any other state allows.

There will be individualized clothing for the confined patients and a touch of color here and there to brighten up life in an institution. There won't be any more sackcloth, formless gowns or ditry gingham aprons.

Recreation Provided

Patients won't sit their days out on wooden benches, in ill-lighted halls with only a guard to watch over a roomful of them. There will be cheerful recreation rooms, with books, phonographs, games and puzzles. Sewing rooms, movies, organized dancing parties and hairdressing parlors will give a degree of normalcy intended to speed the patient along recovery road.

Restraints will be removed from nearly all patients. The extra 2,500 employes made available for the next two years will make possible personalized care, so that patients won't have to be tied to their beds for lack of anybody to watch over them.

Best of all, modern medical methods will be put into play in up-to-date operating rooms, so that the wonders of science can be used in brushing away some of the cobweds in the brains of the mentally ill.

Governor Prevails

The program, aimed at returning patients to normal, useful lives instead of leaving them in hospitals for years, came from a doubting legislature that was "softened up" in an eight-month preliminary campaign carried on last year by Luther Youngdahl, Minnesota's crusading governor.

Shocked into action by visits to the hospitals and by hearing patients referred to as "nuts" or "lunatics," Youngdahl jumped into the campaign with both feet, and carried his message into hundreds of Minnesota communities. By speeches, radio talks, and organization of local committees, the governor built up public pressure that the state legislature couldn't ignore.

"We can't put these people away in a hospital and forget about them," he argued. "We in America have a responsibility to bring our mentally ill back along the road of recovery."

Money For Research

The funds granted were almost double any previous appropriations allowed in Minnesota. Also, there was $177,000 granted for mental health research, more than all the other states spent together in the last two years. Minnesota was ready to take the leadership, and passed a mental health "policy" bill which made it a law for the first time anywhere that Minnesota would put its mental health care on the highest possible level.

The challenge has awakened other states, from which officials have written Minnesota for briefings on how the campaign was carried on. The American Phychiatric Association is watching the campaign closely, and state officials have a feeling that their "new deal" may become a national improvement program for mental patients.

"There can be hope for these people and their families, if the public is aroused to do something about it," Youngdahl said.

FROM THE LUBBOCK ALBUM—The late John D. Chadister, early day freighter, had returned from a trip in which he brought lumber from Amarillo to the A. G. McAdams Lumber Co. when the above photograph was made about 40 years ago. Chadister was on the horse in front of the wagon. The man standing at the head of the team was the late J. W. Winn of Lubbock. Pictured in center background was the Citizens National bank building, later replaced with the present building on the southwest corner of Broadway and Texas Ave. At right in background was the Western Windmill Co. building. Chadister lived in Lubbock at that time and later moved to Tatum, N. M. A granddaughter, Mrs. Flossie Fay Sanders, lives at 2711 Seventh. Mrs. Dovie M. Griffin of Lubbock route 6, owner of the photograph, was a sister of the late Mrs. Chadister.

NEWS BRIEFS

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Tanner of 2007 Twenty-seventh left by train for Rochester, Minn., last week, for Mr. Tanner to undergo a checkup at Mayo clinic. They spent the months of January and February at Rochester, where he had an operation performed on his throat. They expect to be gone two or three weeks.

A regular meeting of the northwest district Naturopathic Physicinas society will be held in Lubbock Sept. 11, it was announced Saturday by W. S. Dickenson, secretary - treasurer, of Plainview.

Ens. James K. Sikes, USNR, 705 Ave. H, and James C. Batson, seaman recruit, USNR, 1008 Ave. V, joined shipmates in observance of V-J day at sea en route to Vera Cruz, Mexico, for a two-day liberty. They are with destroyer division 122, which includes four warships commissioned too late for the Tokyo bay ceremony that ended the shooting war four years ago but which are already seasoned veterans in battle maneuvers.

Ralph S. Dorsett, of Lubbock, district manager of the American General Life Insurance Co., yesterday was advised by the company's president, Burke Baker, that his concern had passed the $100,000,000 mark of insurance in force on the lives of Texas citizens. Of the $100,000,000, approximately $1,000,000 is in force in the district served by the Lubbock office.

Three South Plains men, associated with Fidelity Union Life Insurance company of Dallas, will leave today for a three-day outing on Lost Valley dude ranch near Bandera, as guests of their company. They were described as among the upper 20 per cent of agents who accomplished special production over a specified period. Chick Trout and Barney McCasland will go from Lubbock, Tom Baker from Plainview.

ISRAEL SEEKS CATTLE

SYDNEY, Sept. 3. (AP)—Israel is looking for stud cattle in Australia and New Zealand. Eliyahu Hopovetzki, an Israeli cattle expert now in Australia, says he hopes to buy 2,000 stud cattle in Australia and New Zealand for Israel.

On his way to Australia, Hopovetzki spent 20 days in India examining cattle breeding there. He said he would be in Australia and New Zealand for several months.

Dock Operations In Hawaii Are Hiked By Non-Union Stevedores

HONOLULU, Sept. 3 (AP)—Dock operations, without which sea-girt Hawaii cannot live, picked up on this 126th day of the big longshoremen's strike.

Operations soon will pick up even more, even though peace talks opening in New York next Wednesday should become bogged.

The big employers had ships on the way to Hawaii. These will be unloaded by non-union stevedores working for the government. They will draw the current wage of $1.40 an hour.

A group of smaller merchants already had striking stevedores at work unloading two ships. They draw $1.72 an hour. That is what the 2,000 dock workers of Hawaii demanded when they quit work May 1.

The Honolulu Chamber of Commerce calls this deal a "stab in the back." It said the agreement broke a solid front which Hawaii business had shown the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's union.

Henry Schmidt, ILWU leader, said the union had contracts with eight barge and ship operators for such operations.

Castle and Cooke, Ltd., shipping agents, announced meanwhile that at least eight freighters of the Isthmian line would arrive in September or be en route by the end of the month.

These ships, from Gulf and east ports, will carry 90,000 tons of cargo. They are the ships which will be unloaded by government longshoremen.

The agents predicted that 16 ships would be available in September and October to carry sugar and pineapple to the mainland.

The agents said rapidly expanding service through the east and Guly ports would provide increasing cargo for Hawaii by avoiding the blockade of the Pacific coast, where the ILWU holds forth.

The ILWU announced that Harry Bridges, head of the union, will lead a three-man team to the New York negotiations.

MRS. CLINTON DAVIDSON

MRS. O. T. WILKINS

Davidson-Cloyes; Wilkins-Owen Vows Read In Saturday Church Ceremonies

Miss Mary Cloyes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Cloyes of Pittsburg, Tex., and Clifton Davidson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom G. McAbee 2306 Twenty-sixth, were married Saturday at 8 p. m. in the Pittsburg First Methodist church with Rev. Charlie Lamb reading a double ring service.

"If God Left Only You" and The Lord's Prayer were played. Mrs. H. H. Holman was organist, Miss Martha Cloyes, sister of the bride, was pianist; and the soloist was Mrs. M. E. Larkin.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white slipper satin designed with a yoke of Chantilly lace, covered buttons down the front of the bodice and on the long fitted sleeves ending in points at the hands, and a full skirt ending in a chapel length train. Her veil of French illusion fell from a cloche of Chantilly lace which was detailed with seed pearls. The bridal bouquet was of white chrysanthemums and lace showered with braided white satin ribbon.

Sister Is Attendant

Miss Jane Cloyes, sister of the bride from Pittsburg, wore a gown of bronze satin with a yoke detail of braided bronze satin, matching mitts and a velvet cloche. Her bouquet was of bronze mums. Mesdames James Robert Hill of Houston and Gerald T. Owens of Austin wore dresses identical to the maid of honor's and similar flower arrangements. Betty McAbee, sister of the bridegroom from Lubbock, was flower girl and wore a gown of ivory taffeta styled like those of the other attendants.

T. G. McAbee, attended his step-son as best man. Ushers were John M. Barnard and Frank G. Holman, both of Wichita Falls; and Dick White of Pittsburg.

The couple will be at home on Sept. 16, after a wedding trip to Santa Fe. They will reside in Austin for one year, and will then move to Lubbock. For traveling the bride chose a beige wool suit with dark green accessories and a corsage of green orchids.

The bride has attended Texas State College for Women in Denton and the University of Texas. She is a member of Zeta Tau Alpha. The bridegroom, a member of Beta Theta Pi, is a University of Texas student.

St. John's Church Is Scene Of Ring Vows

Miss Ann Owen, 2309 Tenth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Quinton E. Owen, Sparta, Tenn., and T. O. Wilkins of Cain Terrace, son of Mrs. Satys Wilkins of Fort Worth and W. D. Wilkins of Lubbock, were married in St. John's Methodist church Saturday at 8:30 p. m. Rev. Hubert H. Bratcher read a double ring ceremony in a setting of white gladioli, mums and fern, and white tapers in wrought-iron candelabra.

Bob Scoggin organist played traditional wedding marches and accompanied Miss Norma Lee white as she sang "because," "Oh Promise Me," and The Lord's Prayer.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white satin fashioned with an illusion yoke outlined in a leaf motif of sead pearls, with a drop shoulder neckline having a satin bertha. Her fingertipe veil was edged with imported lace and attached to a seed pearl tiara. She carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid showered with stephanotis. Something old and an opal and diamond necklace belonging to the bride's aunt, Mrs. W. J. Spikes.

Mrs. Murray Owen, sister-in-law of the bride and matron of honor, wore a gold satin gown trimmed with lace, and lace covered satin mitts. Her bouquet of bronze mums was tied with gold satin ribbon and she wore a head band of tiny bronze mums. Mesdames W. C. Warren and Dial Oliver, sisters of the bridegroom from Lubbock and Fort Worth, respectively, wore gowns of emerald green satin trimmed with lace, and lace covered satin mitts. Their flowers were identical to those of the matron of hnor.

W. D. Wilkins attended his son as best man, and groomsmen were Charles Meinecke and Murray Owen, brother of the bridegroom, both of Lubbock. Ushers were J. E. Owen, brother of the bride from Fort Worth, Dial Oliver, brother-in-law of the bridegroom from Fort Worth, and W. C. Warren, brother-in-law of the bridegroom from Lubbock.

After the service a reception was held at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. W. J. Spikes, 1913 Twenty-third. Assisting the couple in receiving were Mrs. Spikes, the bride's parents, the bridegroom's mother and the bride's attendants.

A nylon and lace cloth over satin covered the table which held a wedding cake topped by a miniature bridal couple. Flowers in a cut glass bowl centered the table, and lime punch was served.

The couple will be at home about Sept. 18, following a wedding trip to New Mexico. For traveling the bride chose a navy blue suit with navy and mauve rose accessories and a white orchid corsage.

The bride attended Tennessee Technological college at Cookeville, Tenn., and has been employed in Lubbock as bookkeeper at Sherrod Hardware company. The bridegroom attended Baylor university at Waco and served as a lieutenant, junior grade in the Navy.

Two Borger Women Released On Bond After Man Is Shot

BORGER, Sept. 3 (AP)—Two Borger women have been released on $1,000 bonds each following the shooting Wednesday of Ben Weibel in the rear of a beauty shop here.

Mrs. Opal Weibel, his wife was charged with assault with intent to murder. Mrs. Ruth Mazelle Osburn was charged with adultery.

Weibel was shot in Mrs. Osburn's beauty shop shortly after Mrs. Weibel filed the adultery charge against Mrs. Osburn.

STEPS TO GET WORKERS EXPLAINED

South Plains Farmers Given Okay To Use Mexican Labor

South Plains farmers may use the imported Mexican agricultural laborers to help harvest the bumper cotton crop this year, it was announced Saturday by B. T. O'Connell, manager of the Lubbock district office of Texas Employment commission.

The Lubbock office has been named an information control point for a wide West Texas area on the cotton harvest labor market.

Labor Shortage Feared

"Several thousand Mexican nationals may be needed on the South Plains in addition to the South Texas workers who always come here for the cotton harvest," O'Connell said. He thought the figure of Mexican nationals needed in this area might run as high as $20,000.

The TEC fears that the shortage of harvesting help may be more acute this year because of the conflict in the harvesting period in East and Central Texas. The crop in that part of the state is late and consequently many laborers are expected to remain there after the West Texas harvesting gets under way.

Procedure Explained

The procedure for importing Mexican nationals for farm labor requires a number of steps, but no great amount of trouble to the farmer. O'Connell estimates it would take about two weeks for the farmer to receive labor after he orders it.

The steps through which the order for Mexican national farm labor must go are as follows:

1. The farmer places his order with the local TEC office, which clears it through the district and state levels of TEC.
2. The state level of TEC passes the order on to the United States Employment Service, which in turn gets in touch with immigration authorities, who pass it on to the Mexican government.
3. The Mexican government approves the order, making the laborers available.
4. The TEC notifies the farmer of the approval, and he goes to the Immigration Service office and posts a bond as follows: $15 per head for one to 499 workers; $10 per head for 500 to 999 workers; $5 per head for 1,000 workers or more.
5. The TEC then advises the farmer where to go to pick up his workers.

Detailed instructions are available to interested farmers at the Lubbock district office of the employment commission, 1114 Tenth street.

Certain requirements have been set up regarding travel and work conditions. For example, trucks must be equipped with fixed seats and cover to protect workers from weather. Trucks must not travel more than 12 hours a day, and travel shall not begin before 4 a. m. or extend later than 8 p. m. Each driver must be required to pause for 10-minute rest stops at two-hour intervals, and for a half hour at each meal.

WHAT TO DO?

Callie Martin and her mother, Mrs. Retha R. Martin, 2701 Nineteenth, are wondering what to do about finding a waste basket which will be in line with the theme of Callie's dormitory room at Randolph-Macon this winter. The clever Martins have dreamed up a wild west motif which is to be carried out in the room down to the last detail.

Monday afternoon found Mrs. Martin in the middle of the floor burning cattle brands and western symbols into bookshelves with a electric needle. They have made bedspreads and matching draperies from a Western patterned fabric and the "tie-backs" will be a spur on one side and a toy pistol in a holster on the other.

On Collie's desk will be a real old fashioned campfire coffee pot marked off with levels of "one cup," "two cups," etc. This will serve as a vase for flowers.

And about the current "waste basket problem," the Martins and their friends think an old zinc wash tub would be perfect in theme, but too large in size. But they're still thinking it over, and although there's not much telling what idea they will come up with, Lou's betting it will be a good and unusual one.

LOVE,
LOU.

Island Residents Complain Of Mystery Atmosphere Which Damages Cars, Homes

TILGHMAN, Md., Sept. 3 (AP)—Auto paint is eaten away. Holes are burned through clothes on the washline. Stone houses are discolored.

Complaints from residents of this Chesapeake Bay island led to an investigation today of a mysterious "mist" believed to be responsible for such phenomena.

There are several theories. One involves fumes from a fertilizer plant. Another, put forward by Dr. Lewis S. Welty, Talbot county medical examiner, believes water cabbages may be to blame. Dr. Welty explains his water cabbage theory thus:

When the big leaves of the plant rot, they give off a hydrogen sulphide fume. If enough hydrogen sulphide gets into the air and there is a heavy dew, the hydrogen sulphide may dissolve in the dewdrops and form sulphur dioxide. That in turn becomes sulphurous acid. The acid does the dirty work.

Maryland state police at nearby Easton said they had received a dozen complaints this week, most of them Wednesday afternoon and Thursday morning.

One badly damaged car was taken to Baltimore for study by Dr. Henry C. Freimuth, state toxicologist. His findings were not available immediately.

For a different salad, soften cream cheese and mix with sliced pimento-stuffed olives; mound this mixture attractively on thick ripe tomato slices and arrange on watercress or shredded salad greens. Serve with French or old-fashioned boiled dressing.

Cost Of Wheat May Be Lower

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3. (AP)—The Agriculture department said today wheat production in 1950 may pass the 1,000,000,000 bushel mark and the price may be 10 per cent lower than in 1949.

The department said this may come to pass even with acreage allotments in force for the first time since 1943.

However, on the 1950 price outlook the department based its figures on assumptions that are virtually certain to be changed by congressional devision of the farm price support law.

Moreover, the price forecast was based in part on an assumption that there will be a decline in the prices of things farmers buy, which would mean a lowering of the parity indices.

The department's long look ahead was embodied in the annual "outlook issue" of its monthly bulletin "The Wheat Situation." It sized up the situation about like this:

1. The wheat price support level next year, under existing law, might range $1.65 and $1.77 a bushel. But this estimate is under the so-called Aiken farm price support law, and congress is expected to write a new farm price support law for 1950 before it adjourns this fall. The present support price is $1.95.

2. If 73,000,000 acres are planted to wheat next year and yields are average, a crop of about 1,100,000,000 bushels would be produced. The production forecast for 1949 is 1,131,830,000 bushels.

3. Domestic consumption will remain near 700,000,000 bushels annually and exports may total 400,000,000 bushels. This would mean no increase in the wheat carryover or surplus.

"Under these conditions," the report said, "prices would be expected to average about the support level."

Wheat now is selling at farm prices considerably below the $1.95 a bushel support level. Farmers can get the support price by putting their wheat in storage, but those now selling outright are reported to be receiving on the average about $1.79.

FINANCIAL CRISIS AGGRAVATED

British Stand On Devaluation Of Pound Is Important Issue . .

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3. (AP)—Diplomatic officials said today that Great Britain's economic come back route looks bleak until she rules recisively one way or another on devaluing the pound.

They said Britain's answer on this point is probably the most important issue in the forthcoming British-American-Canadian financial talks.

If rumors of devaluation persist after the conference ends, they said, many British customers are likely to continue to hold back buying British goods, thus making it difficult for Britain to earn the dollars she needs so badly.

Rumors Are Denied

This slowdown in buying, especially by some American customers, has been one of the factors that has aggravated the British financial crisis in the last few months and caused the Labor government to dip deep into its reserves.

Sir Stafford Cripps, Britain chancelor of the exchequer, has repeatedly tried to spike these rumors. But thus far he has not succeeded. In fact, an increasing number of newspapers and businessmen have joined the chorus that Britain's money is over-priced under present conditions and that devaluation is necessary to increase trade.

Sir Stafford will get anotner chance to put these rumors to rest during the meetings with Treasury Secretary Snyder and Secretary of State Acheson and Top Canadian cabinet officers. These discussions are scheduled to begin next Wednesday.

Action Is Favored

Snyder and other top rank American government financial and economic experts are said to believe Britain must cut the value of the pound if Britain's goods are to be able to compete in today's world market.

However, Snyder and Acheson are reported to have decided not to press the British lest the United States be blamed if devaluation fails to solve the British slump. American officials do not regard it as a "cure all" but are convinced it is one of the important steps necessary to restore confidence in Britain's economic future.

The preliminary agenda drawn up by British-American-Canadian "fact finders" in their sessions which ended yesterday made no mention of devaluation as a topic for discussion at Wednesday's conference. The three-power negotiators agreed to suggest a half dozen steps which could ease Britain's dollar shortage but which would not solve the long-range British problem.

The agenda that will guide the cabinet level discussions however, is flexible enough so that devaluation can be raised as part of almost any topic to be discussed.

Some diplomatic officials believe it is possible that a decision on the future rate of the British pound may be delayed until after the international bank and monetary fund meeting which begins here Sept. 13.

The international monetary fund was created three years ago to stabilize world currencies and it would have to approve any change in the par value of any member country. There are reports that the French government delegation is determined to bring up the question of devaluing the pound at this meeting.

Canada's Foreign Minister Lester B. Pearson, and Canadian Finance Minister Douglas Abbott are scheduled to arrive here Monday to be on hand for the three-power financial conference. British Foreign Minister Bevin and Cripps are on their way aboard the Mauretania.

Man Without Hands Seeks From State License To Drive

MADISON, Wis., Sept. 3 (INS)—A 20-year-old youth, born without hands, was planning legal action today to compel the state of Wisconsin to permit him to drive a car with his feet.

Donald Tillung of Christiana, Wis., declared previous rulings deprived him of his constitutional right to earn a living.

"Other people reach with their hands," he said. "I reach with my feet. Anything they can do with one set of limbs, I can do."

He has learned to write with his feet and is also a skilled welder. But his special pride is his ability to drive a car. He points to his record of driving 18,000 miles without an accident.

Requires No Clutch

At that time Donald drove with a license restricted to his home area. Some weeks ago he got a job as a salesman driving through the southern part of Wisconsin. He then applied for an unrestricted license.

In driving, Donald operates with his left foot the brake, accelerator and a switch which signals the way he plans to turn. His car requires no clutch.

Bride Of Jimmy Stewart Gets Full Endorsement Of Father

INDIANA, Pa., Sept. 3 (AP) — Movie actor Jimmy Stewart took his bride to a county fair and got a top prize—full endorsement of his choice from his father.

Alex Stewart, Jimmy's father, said he was "happy as the dickens" over the actor's marriage to the former Gloria Hatrick McLean, 31.

"She's 100 per cent wonderful. She helped make this a perfect homecoming," Alex said.

The couple provided most of the excitement yesterday at the Indiana county fair itself.

They munched hotdogs, ate popcorn and talked with Jimmy's boyhood friends. Father Stewart owns a string of harness horses and operates a hardware store here.

The Stewarts motored to Cleveland for the national air races. Then they'll begin a honeymoon in Honolulu.

Texas Minister Starts War On Slot Machine Gambling

LA MARQUE, Sept. 3 (AP)—The Rev. Harry H. Burch, pastor of Paul's Union church and president of La Marque's Anti-Vice league, has started a war on slot machines.

Yesterday he said he was handing out "raiding assignments" to members of the league.

Thursday Burch visited a local cafe, then filed gambling charges against the operator Bill Williams. A hearing on the charges is set for next Thursday.

"We're going to keep slugging away," Burch said, "until there isn't a machine left in the community."

Crippled Italian Youth Finds Health And Success As Art Director In United States

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—The setting for this story is a mud hut in Italy. Time: 1920.

The Perri family was worried. The little one in the family, a lad named Lee, didn't seem to be right. He had no inclination to move his legs. The local doctors said the trouble was something known as "polio."

Little Lee was helpless, to be frank about it. His mother, Maria, carried him wherever she went. His father, Salvario, was more than desperate. He was practical. He decided to go to the land of the free, i. e., America. Salvario found work here, and in a few years was able to save up enough money to send for Maria and the kids—including the crippled Lee.

Sends For Family

Lee told me yesterday that at the age of eight, when he was hobbling around on crutches, he resigned himself to the life of a hopeless cripple.

Then the father sent for his family. It was a great "homecoming." Particularly between Salvario and Maria and little Lee.

The father had settled in the village of Farrell, Pa. Maria took her sick boy to a small clinic there. One day a nurse told mama a very famous specialist on infantile paralysis was visiting the hospital. He would like to have a look at Lee.

The specialist examined the boy—for 25 cents. He said an operation was indicated.

Operation Is Success

It was performed. It was a success. And it cost nothing.

Lee Perri learned to walk. First with the aid of a cane. He still gets around, sometimes with a cane—more often without.

But what really happened to Lee in that little hospital is more important. A nurse at the place took a tracing book away from him and suggested that instead he try to do original drawings.

Lee tried it and was good at it. After he left the hospital, his parents skimped and saved and sent the lad to art school.

In 1932, during the bicentennial celebration, Lee copped first prize for the best drawing in the capital. That tickled his ego, and also stimulated his father's interest, which at the time was rather dim.

To Marry Sweetheart

Participation in high school art activities led to a state scholarship at Pennsylvania museum of industrial art.

That led to other things, and today Lee Perri is art director of Cortland D. Ferguson, Inc., one of the biggest advertising agencies in Washington.

I forgot to mention one of the most important things. One of the childhood sweethearts Lee left behind in Italy—before he could even walk. A cute little girl named Sylvania.

In a couple of weeks or so, Lee is flying back to Europe (France is where she lives now) to marry his loved one and bring her back to the land of liberty.

Lee Perri is pretty much all American now. And you know who drops the first coin when they collect for polio victims? It's Lee.

Soviet Claims Russian Scholar Pioneered Theory Of Evolution

MOSCOW, Sept. 3. (AP)—A Russian scholar, it is claimed, was far ahead of Darwin in the theory of evolution of the species. Professor B. E. Raikov, writing in "Komsomol Pravda," said it has been established that in the 18th Century the theory of evolution had its supporters in this country.

"The earliest Russian evolutionary-biologist," he said, "was the talented young scientist Afanasi Kaverznev. In 1775 he published a work in which he dealt with the mutability of animals, with the facts that some species arise out of others."

The Soviet professor said this 18th Century Russian might have done much more but for the hostile attitude towards progressive science on the part of the Tsars.

Lebanon's Bad Tourist Season Blamed On Advertising Mistake

BEIRUT, Lebanon, Sept. 3. (AP)—A mistake in advertising is believed to have cost Lebanon a poor touring season this summer. Lebanese have been puzzled by the absence of travelers from Egypt, Iraq, Saudi Arabia and other neighboring countries.

The explanation came when pamphlets sent abroad to attract tourists were checked. The Touring Department found out that last year's prices—exceeding by more than 20 per cent this year's cost of living—were advertised by mistake. Hotel rooms were listed at $11.12 per day instead of $7.04. All other prices were inflated accordingly. This, it is estimated, was enough to scare thousands of would-be tourists away from Lebanon.

Shakespearean Plays Are Still Popular Among Russian People

MOSCOE, Sept. 3. (AP)—Shakespeare continues to be a popular author among the peoples of Central Asia. The paper "Soviet Art" announced recently that Hamlet had been put on at the Uzbek Theatre of Drama in Tashkent.

In Moscow when the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the Moscow Art Theatre was celebrated last fall, a group of actors from Central Asia put on a scene from "The Taming of the Shrew" in their native language.

Shakespeare's plays are presented in many of the national languages of the peoples of the USSR—and of course in Russian also—in Moscow and elsewhere.

Barn owls have been brought to the Seychelles Islands to help catch rats.

Is there a "top of the bottle robber" in your home? If there is you shouldn't be surprised if the children won't drink their milk.

Milk's delicious flavor as well as its health-giving vitamins and minerals abounds in the cream.

Children like Borden's Homo better because every drop of this delicious milk tastes like milk from the top of the bottle. Because the cream particles are broken up 200 to one, Borden's Homogenized Vitamin D tastes richer and digests easier.

The creamy smooth, country fresh flavor of Borden's Homo makes little milk rebels call for more . . . and its greater ease of digestion makes sure that their bodies assimilate more completely the body building vitamins and minerals.

EXCHANGE PROGRAM IS STARTED

Woman Chosen As First State Department Worker For Post

By MARTHA KEARNEY
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—Margaret Joy Tibbetts of Bethel, Me., is the second woman within recent months to make State department history.

The first, of course, was Dorothy Fosdick, the 35-year-old daughter of the famous New York Clergyman, Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick, who recently became the first woman to help shape United States' foreign policy.

Now Miss Tibbetts has been chosen the very first State department officer to be sent aboard as part of the exchange program between the department's foreign service and the domestic service.

Result Of Report

The program is the result of the Hoover commission recommendation that diplomatic personnel be completely interchangeable so State department officers will be able to serve anywhere at a moment's notice.

Margaret Tibbets will serve in the American embassy in London, replacing David Linebaugh. He will be transferred back to the capital for a tour of duty in the domestic service.

Miss Tibbetts has been working as an assistant in the department's office of British commonwealth affairs for the past few years. Before that she was a research analyst in the Office of Strategic services.

The youthful diplomatic career girl was graduated from Wheaton college in 1941. She took her Master's degree and doctor's degree at Bryn Mawr immediately afterward.

First So Honored

She is not only the first woman to be chosen as an exchange officer but the first departmental official, man or woman, to be so honored.

Dorothy Fosdick, the first woman ever to be made one of the nation's top policy advisors, is a member of the State department's nine-member policy planning staff.

Her work is really and truly top secret and cannot be described in detail. However, it is no secret that the members of the policy planning group are the moving strategists in the cold war.

Although the young, dark-haired woman would rather be teaching political history, she has now become reconciled to the idea of making history instead.

Took Minor Job

Miss Fosdick was born in Montclair, N. J., and was graduated from Smith college. After taking her doctor's degree at Columbia university, she returned to teach at Smith.

To give herself a background in practical government work she took a minor State department job. Her first real task was her appointment as technical secretary at the Dumbarton Oaks conference.

After that she worked at several other diplomatic conferences. She has had a hand, since then, in United States policy on Spanish recognition, disposition of the Italian colonies and the Berlin crisis.

Now, at only 35 years of age, she is one of the nation's top—if almost anonymous—policy makers.

Margaret Joy Tibbetts and Dorothy Fosdick are true pioneers in the field of American diplomacy as it concerns women.

Two Hubbies On Vacation With Same Wife Results In Divorce

WATERLOO, Iowa, Sept. 3. (INS)—James G. Wells of Waterloo figures two husbands on the same vacation trip with the same wife, and in the same house at the same time is just two, two much.

So he filed suit for divorce from his wife Clara today, charging cruelty on grounds her first spouse took a trip with them to the West Coast at her insistence, and that she threw her present husband out of the house so she could live with her first love.

He asked only for title to a cemetery lot.

Thelma's Sweet Shop Has Formal Opening

Thelma's Sweet Shop, handling fine food products, gifts and delicacies, is open for business at 1109 Ave. K following its formal opening Thursday night.

"The Sweetest Spot in Town" is the motto Mrs. Thelma Holwerk, the owner, has selected for her business.

She has stocked a fine assortment of food delicacies including DeMets candies, Judy Stowe Party Line confections, genuine imported Swiss and Roquefort cheeses packed in Kirsch and brandy, Norwegian sardines, fine preserves, anchovies, colossal olives and other fine domestic and imported foods.

In addition, Mrs. Holwerk will handle Mrs. Camp's pastry products. She also has fancy gift boxes of party delicacies.

She expressed appreciation to the vistors who attended her opening.

Pakistan, Rich In Materials, Slow To Develop Resources

KARACHI, Sept. 3. (AP)—Pakistan is rich in raw materials but still backward in exploiting her natural resources, a recent government report shows. Pakistan produces 7,000,000 bales of jute every year worth $330,000,000, but there is not a single jute mill in the whole dominion. Pakistan has 35,000,000 pounds of wool every year but has only one mill with 2,000 spindles.

There is not a single paper factory in Pakistan, which annually imports $9,000,000 worth of paper. Its first paper factory will be completed by the end of next year. Its annual cotton production is 1,125,000 bales, but its 12 textile mills have only 170,000 spindles and 4,500 looms.

The dominion has no dry docks. Soap is produced on cottage industry scale and there is no plant for the production of toiletries and medicated soaps.

German Ex-Soldiers Receive Discharge Papers At Bremen

BREMEN, Germany, Sept. 3. (AP)—German men are being discharged here from the Nazi army that has been out of existence for four years. The U. S. occupied city of Bremen is issuing new identity cards to its inhabitants. In order to obtain this card, men must show they were discharged from the Wehrmacht.

If they cannot satisfy the police that they were correctly separated from the German army, the police will give them new discharge certificates.

Stratosphere Is Studied At Pennsylvania State College

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Sept. 3 (AP)—The zone where guided missiles will travel has a double-deck roof, extending completely around the earth. The lower deck is a layer of air filled with electrons and is about 18 miles thick. The upper is about 60 miles thick, made of the same kind of air. The lower deck is about 100 miles above ground, the upper about 150. The electrons are the same stuff that form the current in electric wires.

The Pennsylvania State College is studying this roof for the U. S. Air Force, because the layers affect long-range guided missiles. Little is known about their effects on the electronic controls of a flying bomb.

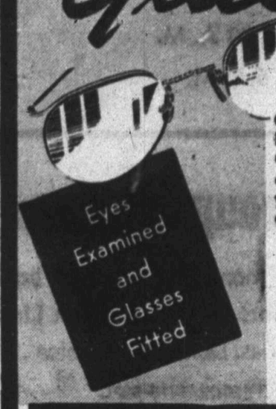

The double decks are not fixed in position, but fluctuate up and down. The heights and densities (the amount of floating electrons) are different at night than in day. They also vary for other, irregular causes. They are broken at times by magnetic storms from the sun. The northern lights, or auroras, also give the decks a beating. All these changes are recorded at Penn State.

Hard-Working British Leader Faces One Of Greatest Tasks

By JOHN H. MARTIN
INS Staff Correspondent

"Mr. Austerity," who probably eats less and works harder than any of his British fellow Socialists, will arrive in the United States this week for the toughest battle of his stormy career.

Sir Richard Stafford Cripps, 60-year-old chancellor of the exchequer, has taken a six-weeks' rest in a Swiss sanitarium to prepare for the British-American-Canadian economic talks opening in Washington next Wednesday.

With Sir Stafford will be British Foreign Secretary Bevin—but it undoubtedly will be the titled economic czar who does most of the complex bargaining job in Washington.

Churchill Recognizes Ability

Sir Stafford, as a leading Laborite of the British "welfare state" is on the spot. He must devise means of halting the Laborite plunge toward bankruptcy caused by a shortage of dollars which manufacturing British needs to buy necessary food and raw material imports.

Winston Churchill, his Conservative foe, once said of the self-confident Sir Stafford:

"There but for the grace of God goes God."

But Churchill was not actually slurring "Mr. Austerity" when he said that.

Churchill recognizes the ability, but often resents the air of infallibility about Sir Stafford. Churchill used Sir Stafford as ambassador to Moscow early in the war at a time when Moscow-London relations were distinctly cool. He also used him later in the war cabinet in many important posts.

Remained In Power

When the Laborite party victory ousted Churchill in 1945 Sir Stafford remained in power although before the war he had been kicked out of the party for urging a "popular front" alliance with the Communists.

Churchill commented in 1945 about Sir Stafford: "Well, at least there is one first-class intellect brooding on our affairs."

The Conservative leader and others since then of course have attacked Sir Stafford many times, accusing him and the Laborites of "dissipating" more than five billion dollars of aid—mostly from the United States—and still being unable to keep Britain from the edge of economic abyss.

Sir Stafford, the man who is coming to the United States to argue for more aid, has a ramrod posture which makes him seem taller than his height of just under six feet.

Deplores Poor Posture

The erectness of this vegetarian results from his following the teachings of Matthias Alexander, theorist who believes many body ills result from poor posture.

Sir Stafford never slouches. And the man who at times bears a strong resemblance to the late President Woodrow Wilson also seldom stops working.

Even his bitterest enemies have remarked that if everybody in the "welfare state" worked as does Sir Stafford then Britain could rapidly produce more at less cost and compete to advantage in world markets. She is not doing that now and her purse is getting thin.

Britons are depending on the austere Sir Stafford to pull them through. They admit they don't know how he can do it; many of them also believe that if he does not he will be wrecked politically along with the rest of the Laborite party.

Keeps Long Hours

The man on whom so much hope rests—even the hope of Conservatives—has been scientist, world war one ambulance driver, an industrial lawyer who earned up to $250,000 yearly, diplomat, politician and now "No. one economic trouble-shooter."

His usual working routine is to arise at No. 11 Downing street, the chancellor's residence adjoining that of Prime Minister Attlee, before 5:30 a. m.—sometimes as early as 3:30 a. m.

With his precise mind he plows through great sheafs of state papers, orders, projected speeches. He does his writing by long-hand and in red ink, and has breakfast about 6:30 a. m. Breakfast mostly is fresh fruit.

Then a brisk walk with Lady Cripps in nearby St. James park. By 8:45 a. m. he is in his office at the treasury building for another exhausting grind.

Seldom Relaxes

He seldom relaxes until 9 p. m. when he goes to bed. Meals usually consist of vegetable salad, fresh fruit, and a quantity of yoghurt—the thick sour cream which he believes is good for a trick stomach that has plagued him for years.

Sir Stafford was born April 24, 1889, the fourth son of the first Lord Parmoor, one of Victorian England's most distinguished church lawyers. His family was well-to-do, but he turned to socialism early. His father was a late convert, but his brothers remained Conservatives.

Today Sir Stafford is one of the stanchest defenders of the socialized medicine and other blanket Laborite innovations such as free false teeth, wigs, etc. He says that any balancing of the British ledger must not be done at the expense of the social gains of the last four years.

One Conservative critic commented "if England goes down, Staffy is determined it will go down with false teeth gleaming and wigs still flying."

Exact Measurement Of Big Sea Turtle Awaited By Experts

SEOUL, Sept. 3 (AP)—They'd better get that big sea turtle up here from South Korea quick before it shrinks to terrapin size.

The big fellow, which fishermen said probably was 1,000 years old, was caught off the southern tip of Korea a few days ago.

President Syngman Rhee of the South Korean republic, announcing the remarkable catch, said the turtle was six or seven feet long. If seven feet long it would be the biggest turtle ever captured.

The newspapers took up the story and said the turtle was five by six feet long.

And horrors, today came information director Clarence Ryee and said it might be only five feet long.

Way he figured it, when the newspapers said "five by six feet" they probably meant "five by six chuk." A chuk is about 10 inches.

Two Korean fisheries experts have sped south to escort the turtle to a place of honor in the Seoul zoo.

They took along a measuring stick. Their official communique is eagerly awaited.

Stores In Moscow Encouraged To Specialize In Merchandise

MOSCOW, Sept. 3. (AP)—Stores in Moscow are being encouraged to specialize more sharply in the goods they sell. "Evening Moscow" announced recently the opening of a special store which will sell only cloths and fabrics for clothing.

Among other stores an important role is now being played by the so-called "firm" stores. These are retail outlets maintained not by the Ministry of Trade or other regular retail organizations but by an industrial ministry or an individual factory.

These stores are designed to enable the given ministry or factory to keep more closely in touch with the needs of the Soviet retail market by having direct experience with it.

Frenchmen Claim Development Of Process For Finding Metals With "Radio Waves"

By RENE BALBAUD
United Press Staff Writer

PARIS, Sept. 3 — Jules Calte, a radio diviner, and an inventor, Andre Coatrieux, claim they have perfected a process for discovering metals and even lost persons with the help of mysterious "radio waves."

Using Calte's properties, which are "controlled" by a kind of Geiger counter invented by Coatrieux, the pair claim tc have helped Paris police discover a body last March.

Police, they said, had given up all hope after a vain search of two months, but the team, using the machine which works by short waves, found the body without any trouble.

"Every metal and every person, living or dead, sends out short waves of different lengths," Coatrieux said.

"Personal wave lengths are as individual as fingerprints. The only problem is to know how to receive them. We have not solved this problem," he said.

Coatrieux said the pair worked together to find water and metals, rather than bodies.

How It Works

"Here is how we work," he said. "We limit the region of our search through the efforts of Calte, using a ring or a watch. Then, with my electric counter, which has an antenna and earphones, I wait for an interruption of the low hum which shows the presence of the object. Each metal, gold, silver, copper, must have a special machine keyed to its waves."

He said he thought once he had struck gold, but on digging, found a body with gold teeth.

In looking for water, he said, the low buzz was interrupted by a zzzeee sound like a mosquito if there was water, and a whistling sound if he was near a cave without water.

Coatrieux said his process was very similar to radar.

"Eventually I hope to develop it for diagnosing disease," he said. "We surely can invent a machine keyed to the waves of microbes or cancerous cells, for example.

Tricky Safe Invented

Calte and Coatrieux already have invented a practical application of "personalized waves."

They have constructed a safe which opens automatically by a counter device when the owner approaches it. The owner wears a "sending apparatus" on his arm, keyed to his own personal wave length, and nobody else can open the safe.

And if the person dies? "One would have to blow the safe up," Coatrieux said.

Coatrieux, who works with scientific X-ray, radio and television equipment for a living, said he and Calte were planning a trip through France's Vendee region this summer.

"During the battle between French Royalists and the Bretons in 1795, Royalists were rumored to have used bullets made of gold and silver," he said. "They also were supposed to have gold medals for identity. We also think there may be some gold veins there, but very slight. Our trip should prove very interesting."

EDUCATION FAULTY

PENHALE, England, Sept. 3 (AP) — Field Marshal Sir William Slim, chief of the Imperial General Staff, thinks there's something wrong with the British educational system. Otherwise, he told army cadets in camp here, "we should not be getting 2,000 chaps in the army a year who can't sign their names."

Locations For Wildcats Reported Staked In Central-West, Northeast Gaines; Production From Devonian Is Developed

Gaines county provided the features of the oil activity on the South Plains during the last week. Locations for wildcats in the central-west and northeast sectors of that county were reported, and the first commercial production from the Devonian in Central-South Gaines county was devoloped at an outpost to the opener of the Flanagan field.

Mid-Continent Petroleum company is to starte drilling soon on its No. 1 L. R. Nichols as an 8,000-foot rotary wildcat in Central-West Gaines county.

This venture is to test the lower Permian for production.

It is 660 feet from north and west lines of the north half of section 7, block A-10, psl survey, and 23 miles west of Seminole.

In extreme Northeast Gaines county, Cabot Carbon company of Midland, and associates, are to start operations at their No. 2 S. E. Bice, scheduled 5,000-foot wildcat to test into the San Andres of the Permian lime.

Producer Is Indicated

The exploration will be 660 feet from south and east lines of section 2, block C-31, psl survey. That makes it two miles northwest of the nearest completed oil wells in the Welch field of Northwest Dawson county, three and one-half miles east of the Adair field and the same distance north of the Cedar Lake field.

Each of those fields produce from the San Andres.

A natural flowing producer, Magnolia Petroleum company No. 1 Flanagan, has been indicated from the Devonian in the Flanagan field of Central-South Gaines county. It is now in the process of perforating to test in the Clear Fork.

If that zone shows for oil and gas in commercial quantities operator may make a dual completion of the exploration which is a direct east outpost to the discovery well of the Flanagan field.

The Magnolia I Flanagan had perforated the casing at 10,345-382 feet. The well kicked off without swabbing and flowed a total of 399 barrels of oil in 27 hours through a one-half inch tubing choke.

Of that recovery, 90 barrels was load oil and 509 barrels were new oil, with a gravity of 33.55 degrees. The gas volume was too small to measure. Flowing tubing pressure ranged from between 40 to 20 pounds.

To Perforate Section

In a subsequent four-hour period of flowing, the well made 84 barrels of oil through a one-half inch choke.

Operator then started in to perforate and test in the Clear Fork of the Permian.

The section at 8,424-70 feet will be perforated in the Clear Fork.

This well, which will be the first Devonian producer completed in the Flanagan field, is 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from west lines of section 9, block A-23, psl survey. It is one quarter of a mile east of Shell Oil company, Inc., No. 1 Hawkins, the first well to be completed in the Flanagan field. That well finished in the Ellenburger after showing for production in the Clear Fork and Devonian.

Magnolia No. 1 Flanagan drilled to a total depth of 12,255 feet in the Ellenburger. That zone made some oil and considerable water, and has been plugged off with cement.

Shell Oil company, Inc., No. 1 Andrews, 660 feet from south and west lines of section 2, block A-23 psl survey, and five-eighths of a mile north of the Flanagan Ellenburger field, was at total depth of 11,228 feet in lime and was mixing plastic to regain circulation.

This wildcat made sulphur water in the Devonian.

To Drill Ahead

The same company's No. 3 Hawkins, in the Flanagan Clear Fork field, was a total depth of 7,050 feet in lime and was conditioning mud and preparing to drill ahead.

This venture is 560 feet from east and 1,980 feet from north lines of section 8, block A-23, psl survey, and 18 miles southwest of Seminole.

The Texas company No. 1 E. D. Harris, Central-South Gaines county wildcat three miles south of the same company's No. 1 A. B. Wharton, Jr., recently completed Glorieta discovery, took a drillstem test in the middle Permian at 5,926 feet to 6,000 feet.

The tool was open two hours and 15 minutes. Recovery was 430 feet of free oil and 168 feet of oil and gas cut drilling mud and salt water.

Operator then tested the zone from 5,980 feet to 6,020 feet and recovered 308 feet of salt water slightly cut with oil and gas.

The project is now drilling ahead below 6,067 feet in lime. It is scheduled to drill to 7,500 feet.

Samedan Oil corporation and Anderson Brothers and associates No. 1-E-A Andrews, slated 125,00 foot wildcat in the Robertson area of Central-South Gaines county, was drilling below 8,690 feet in lime and operator was continuing to make hole.

This prospector, located 660 feet from north and west lines of the northwest quarter of section 12, block A-24, psl survey, and 15 miles southwest of Seminole, made sulphur water in the lower Clear Fork.

Another wildcat in Southwest Gaines county, Forest Oil company & Anderson Prichard No. 1-A Parmer county school land fee, was making more hole below 7,966 feet in lime and shale.

This project is scheduled to drill to 15,000 feet to explore the Ellenburger.

The drillsite is 860 feet from west and 660 feet from south lines of labor 12, league 317, Parmer county school lands.

Oil and gas producing ability of the Devonian in a one-quarter of a mile north stepout of the Landon-Deep field in Central-South Cochran county is to be determined shortly at Stanolind Oil & Gas company No. 2 Holt.

This venture is bottomed at a corrected total depth of 11,817 feet in the Devonian. A string of 7-inch casing, which had been cemented at 11,809 feet had been perforated at 11,747-794 feet and at the end of the week operator was swabbing to test.

No Gauges Reported

No accurate gauges had been reported. It is expected that official reports will be available in a few days regarding the venture's petroleum production.

The project had shown on two drillstem tests between 11,755 feet, and the current bottom that it had a considerable amount of free oil despite the fact that it is extra low geographically to the initial producer from that formation in the Landon-Deep field.

It is located 660 feet from south and east lines of section 3, block L, psl survey, and one-quarter of a miles north of Stanolind No. 2 Edwards, the first producer in the Landon area from the Devonian.

Another deep exploration in the Landon-Deep region of Central-South Cochran county, Stanolind No. 1 Grollman, located 407 feet from south lines and 660 feet from west lines of section 4, block L, psl survey, had reached 10,693 feet in dry Pennsylvanian lime, and was drilling deeper.

This exploration is due to dig to find and test the Devonian.

In Northeast Terry county, Seaboard Oil company of Delaware No. 2 E. M. Hinson, had penetrated below 7,600 feet in sandy lime in the lower Permian and was drilling ahead.

To Test Pennsylvanian

It is scheduled to continue to between 9,500 feet and 10,000 feet to test the Pennsylvanian lime which was found productive several months ago at Seaboard No. 1 Hinson, the discovery of the Mound Lake field.

Seaboard No. 2 Hinson is eight miles northeast of Brownfield and 660 feet from south and west lines of the northwest quarter of section 91, block 4-X EL&RR survey. It is one quarter of a mile south of the Mound Lake opener.

Four miles east of the shallow Adair pool in Southwest Terry county, Tide Water Associated Oil company No. 1 J. P. Nystel, slated 12,000-foot wildcat, was drilling in lime below 5,760 feet and operator was drilling ahead.

This prospector is located 660 feet from north and west lines of section 9, block C-38, psl survey, and 14 miles south of Brownfield.

Seaboard Oil company of Delaware found salt water in the San Andres-Permian at its No. 1 Mart Barrow, Northeast Dawson county wildcat to 10,000 feet, three and one-half miles northeast of Lamesa.

This venture, now drilling below 5,763 feet, had slight signs of gas in a drillstem test at 4,270-4,380 feet. It then deepened to 4,485 feet and took a 45-minute drillstem test with the packer at 4,385 feet.

Recovery was 630 feet of salt water, with no shows of oil or gas.

It is slated to go to 10,000 feet unless it finds the Pennsylvanian above that point.

Drillsite is 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 8, block 35, T-6-N, TP survey.

Flow Is Reported

In Southeast Dawson county Seaboard No. 6-D Spraberry, in the Spraberry field, flowed 260 barrels of oil in a 24-hour period through a three-eighths inch tubing choke. Flowing tubing pressure was 225 pounds.

Operator was preparing to take a Railroad commission potential test and complete.

This prospector is 660 feet from south and east lines of section 38, block 34, T-5-N, TP survey.

An east offset to the No. 6-D Spraberry, Seaboard No. 7-D Spraberry, was drilling below 6,294 feet and operator was continuing to make more hole.

This venture is slated to test for Spraberry production, and is one mile northeast of the discovery for deep production in the Spraberry field.

It is 660 feet from south and west lines of section 37, block 35, T-5-N, TP survey.

The same company was preparing to drill the cement plug at its No. 7-A-D Robinson after seven and five-eighths inch casing was cemented at 3,324 feet. It is to drill ahead.

This venture is to try for production around 7,000 feet, and is at the center of the northwest quarter of the northwest quarter of section 37, block 34-T-5-N, TP survey. It is one mile northeast of the discovery from deep production in that region.

No Show Of Oil

Herman & George R. Brown of Houston No. 1 C. W. Bassinger, wildcat in Northwest Garza county, had reached 3,640 feet in lime and was slated to drill deeper. It has reported no show of oil or gas so far.

This exploration is to drill to 3,800 feet.

It is 11 and one-half miles northwest of the town of Post and 5,112.4 feet from west and north lines of section 726, B. Hall survey, A-893.

In southwest Garza county P. W. Anderson of Midland and others, No. 1 A. R. Clyde Miller was drilling below 2,300 feet in lime and anhydrite and was understood to be drilling deeper.

It is slated to drill to 2,500 feet. This wildcat is 440 feet from north and east lines of the southeast quarter of section 41, block 6, H&GN survey, and five miles southwest of the town of Justiceburg.

Comanche corporation No. 1-A Garza Deep-Montgomery and Davies located in Central Garza county adjacent to Post, was bailing to clean out after treating with 1,000 gallons of acid in the Permian lime above total plug back depth at 3,575 feet.

The drillsite of this wildcat, in the Garza-San Andres field, is 660 feet from south and 1,910 feet from west lines of the northwest quarter of section 5, block 5, K. Aycock survey.

So far it has made no shows of new oil.

Move In Rig

Rogers Brothers & Stewart and others No. 1 E. M. Wahlenmaier, and others, was moving in a rotary rig to start drilling in the near future.

This wildcat is 330 feet from south and east lines of the northeast quarter of section 3, block D-15 WTRR survey in the Central-South past of Crosby county. It is to test to 3,200 feet to test the upper Permian.

Seaboard Oil company of Delaware and Republic Natural Gas company No. 1 OS Ranch, wildcat 15 miles southeast of Post, was drilling in middle Permian lime below 4,940 feet.

This exploration, at the center of the southeast quarter of section 2, block 5, GH&H survey, is slated to explore the Ellenburger at about 8,250 feet.

Slick-Moorman Oil company and C. W. Chancellor No. 1 Cloud, Central-North Lubbock county semi-wildcat, was swabbing approximately eight barrels of fluid per hour, 40 percent oil and 60 percent water at last report.

The production was being developed after the bottom section of the hole between 6,134-44 feet. It was coming after that interval had been re-acidized with two injections of 4,000 gallons of acid.

Washed With Acid

Previously the entire open hole zone between 6,100 feet and the total depth at 6,144 feet had been washed with 500 gallons of mud acid, and treated with 2,000 gallons of regular acid. After the 2,000-gallons acid injection, the 6,100-44 foot horizon had swabbed 51 barrels of new oil in 13 hours, with no water.

Operators were installing a pump to test and complete. It is expected that a potential test will be reported in a short time.

Each of four flankers to the Ellenburger discovery in Northwest Borden county, Sinclair Oil & Gas company No. 1 Williams, are making progress toward their destination of about 10,000 feet to try for production from that depth.

The company's No. 1 Pratt, 660 feet from east and 1,980 feet from north lines of section 44, block 32, T-6-N, TP survey, was drilling in lime below 8,606 feet and is continuing to deepen.

Sinclair No. 1 Reynolds, one and one-half miles north and slightly west of the No. 1 Williams, was drilling in lime and shale below, 8,523 feet.

Drilling In Lime

This project is 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 33, block 32, T-6-N, EL & RR survey.

The third Sinclair project, No. 1 Turner, located 660 feet from south and west lines of the north half of section 46, block 32, T-6-N, EL & RR survey was making hole past 8,119 feet and drilling was in lime and shale.

The company's other exploration in the region, Sinclair No. 1 Bryan, was being deepened after drilling to 8,075 feet in lime and shale.

The No. 1 Bryan is 660 feet from south and east lines of section 40, block 32, T-6-N, TP survey.

Three International Meetings Scheduled At Rome During '50

VATICAN CITY, Sept. 3. (AP)—The Holy Year central committee has announced that three international conventions will be held in Rome next year.

From Sept. 4 to Sept. 8 the International Missionary Congress will be held with 10,000 delegates attending from all parts of the world. From Sept. 5 to Sept. 9 a special International Congress of Catholic Nurses and Social Assistance Women Officers will be held here. The third congress will assemble the international members of the Catholic Social Service from Sept. 8 to Sept. 13.

Oil Industry Speeds Search For Reserves Despite Slump In 1949

By MAX B. SKELTON
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOUSTON, Sept. 3.—Millions of dollars still are being spent in search for new oil reserves despite the 1949 slump in domestic production.

Current domestic output is approximately 800,000 barrels daily below a year ago but there still is a good chance more new wells will be drilled this year than in 1948.

Long-range, multi-million dollar exploration programs are well underway by several major companies.

New Wells Completed

Last week's edition of the Oil and Gas Journal reported 21,672 new wells having been completed the first seven months of 1949. This is only 16 less than the same period in 1948 when the industry's post war boom reached its peak.

This week Sinclair Oil corporation announced details of a $250,000,000, five-year expansion program concentrating on undeveloped leases.

Meanwhile, imports of crude oil still dominate fosecasts on probable changes in domestic supply and demand the balance of the year.

Major importers recently advised the Texas Railroad commission they expect imports to average about 430,000 barrels daily the last three months of 1949.

Russell B. Brown, general counsel for the Independent Petroleum Association of America, this week said such an estimate indicates a continued increase in imports.

Allowable Is Hiked

The Texas oil regulatory commission, following receipt of the import estimates, increased the state's September crude allowables by 132,000 barrels daily.

But Ernest O. Thompson, senior member of the commission, thinks the action may have been a mistake.

Domestic stocks, he said, still are in super-abundance.

His remarks were in reply to a State department charge the commission has kept domestic supplies below desired levels by reducing Texas allowables seven times since last December.

Texas congressmen had solicited the State department's aid in curtailing imports.

Secretary of Interior J. A. Krug this week indicated the proposed compromise legislation designed to end the Tidelands ownership controversy can expect a veto from the White House.

Krug, testifying before a House judiciary committee, said a veto awaits any legislation turning control of coastal oil lands to the states.

Compromise plans reportedly would split control as well as oil revenues between the respective tidelands states and the federal government.

Tidelands operators meanwhile hope for an early settlement, whether in favor of the states or the federal government. Some companies have declined to develop leases until the title question is settled. Others have curtailed operations.

Current operations, however, involve huge investments.

Walter S. Hallanan chairman of the National Petroleum council, advised the House committee investments have exceeded $190,000,000. Gross returns to date, he said, have totaled only $900,000, or less than 0.5 per cent of the investment.

Gas Sales Boom

Industrial plants are carrying the weight of the summer end of the postwar swing toward use of natural gas.

A federal Power commission report says natural gas company sales to commercial and industrial consumers increased in June 3.1 per cent and 3.6 per cent, respectively, over the same month last year. Household sales dropped 0.8 per cent.

Over all company sales the 12 months ending June 30 jumped 16.8 per cent over the previous fiscal year.

Crude oil production cutbacks in Texas have caused little change in the state's gas output.

In June Texas gas production totaled 273,571,840,000 cubic feet. compared to 260, 379,865,000 in June 1948. Oil well gas dropped 900,000,000 cubic feet but natural gas jumped 14,000,000,000.

Pipelines took 50.85 per cent of the state's June produttion, compared to 45.21 per cent a year earlier.

Prohibition In "Dry" Province Of India Is Very Unsuccessful

MADRAS, India, Sept. 3 (AP) — Prohibitionm offenses are increasing in Madras India's most completely dry province. In July, there were 5,581 offenses in all 25 districts of the province. Nearly half of these were cases of illicit distilling of spirits. The French-Indian settlements adjoining the Madras province are "convenient bases" for liquor smuggling, government reports said. Bottles of liquor are being brought into Indian territory concealed in tea chests.

The government blamed public apathy for the increase in prohibition offenses. It said that when that prohibition police raided a "suspicious" village in Kurnool district, they were received with a barrage of stones. Even the village prohibition committee failed to cooperate in the detection of offenses.

A member of the provincial legislature, the Yuvaraja of Pithapuram, has given notice of resolution advising the government to drop prohibition in the province which, he says is unsuccessful, and results in the loss of a third of the provincial revenue.

Man Builds Big Business Out Of Sale Of Used Horseshoes

LEXINGTON, Mass., Sept. 3 (AP) Fulton Brown's horseshoe forge here is one of the largest sellers of horseshoes in the world. But none of the shoes are used to shoe horses.

The business is built around foot scrapers, andirons, nameplates for houses and other metal devices which are fashioned mostly from the shoes. It uses both used and new horse, pony, mule and donkey shoes. Brown explains that the used shoes start out being iron but are hammered into steel under the pounding of the horses' hoofs.

Brown has refused to use substitutes for genuine horseshoes. He says his business has been built on the strength and sentiment attached to the genuine article.

Brazil Considering Exporting Coffee In Form Of An Extract

SAO PAULO, Brazil, Sept. 3. (U.P.)—A minor revolution in the economic field is brewing in this fastest-growing industrial center of South America. It is development of coffee extract for export instead of the traditional coffee bean.

Scientists at the Instituto de Pesquisas Technologicas of the University of Sao Paulo are putting the finishing touches on praparation of a coffee extract of which 10 kilos (22 pounds) equals 60 kilos or 132 pounds of coffee beans. The bean is shipped from various Brazilian ports in bags usually weighing 132 pounds for the United States market.

The powdered extract is arrived at by special roasting of the coffee bean and then brewed as ordinarily with the present coffee. The brew is then evaporated until only six per cent of the moisture remains. The resulting slightly moist powder is packed in air-tight containers.

The process was witnessed by Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker of Eastern Air Lines on his recent trip here and he pointed out that this process alone should bring new industries to Sao Paulo. Eighty per cent of Brazilian industry already is located in the Sao Paulo and Rio de Janeiro areas.

Shipping Space Saved

If adopted on a grand scale, the export of coffee extract would cut down the amount of shipping space necessary for coffee bags and allow cargo room for the shipment of other products from Latin American ports, according to those enthusiastic over the new method.

An idea of the saving in space is given by those citing the shipment by Brazil of 11,726,000 bags of coffee to the United States during the period of January to August of 1948. One-sixth of that would be be 1,954,300 bags.

For the Sao Paulo area such a new product would mean the erection of canning plants and sheet metal plants for making tin cans. Also, the principal by-product, coffee oil, would eliminate the necessity of the United States and other industrial nations relying on many vegetable oils now imported from the Pacific and which in event of armed hostilities might be cut off from them. The oil at present is used for industrial soap and mixing with other soaps.

Ice Cream Eating Contest Set For Indiana Dairy Exposition

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 3. (AP)—Some lucky youngster may wallow in an ice cream sundae as big as a washtub at the international dairy exposition here Oct. 9. But there's a catch. The child that concocts such a dream sundae will face the nightmare of eating it within a 15-minute time limit.

The ice cream eating contest is all part of an attraction aimed to please the younger folk at the big exposition Oct. 8-15. Ice cream, syrup, nuts, fruit and whipped cream will be provided free to all contestants. Any boy or girl between 8 and 15 years of age will be eligible to match wits and digestive powers in local eliminations throughout the state Sept. 17. The winners will compete in the finals at the state fairgrounds during the exposition.

Eight-Year-Old Boy Found In Dog House

MOSS BEACH, Calif., Sept. 3. (AP)—Eight-year-old Robert Lawes got lost, which is not uncommon for him.

Sheriff's deputies, summoned by the lad's foster mother, searched for six hours yesterday.

Then they noticed Robert's dog, Sarge, standing outside the dog house. He seemed a little dejected. Now and then he cast a reproachful look toward his little domain.

The deputies had a hunch. They looked inside. There was Robert, sound asleep.

Chinese Red Receives Catholic Baptism Just Before Execution

NEW YORK, Sept. 3. (AP)—In a roundup of Communists in a Nationalist section of China recently, General Li Chi Pin discovered among the Communists some who had learned about doctrines of the Catholic church and wanted to be baptized.

One day, reports the Society for the Propagation of the Faith, the military chief told a local priest one of the Communists wanted to be baptized. "You should not come, Father," he warned. "We will baptize him ourselves."

The next morning at sunrise the Communists were executed. In the afternoon the military chief returned with a smile on his face. "Well, how did everything go?" asked the priest. "Very well, Father. I stood next to him and when the music stopped immediately before the execution I baptized him. Before the water was dry on his head, he was already in the other world. He never had a chance to damn his soul."

OPENS OWN DEATH NOTICE

ALTOETTING, Germany, Sept. 3 — Frau Maier was notified by German authorities recently that her husband, Johann Maier, had been killed in action with the German army in the last days of the war.

Johann Maier opened the letter himself. He was captured by Allied troops, released in summer 1945, and has been with his family ever since.

Safe Cracker Given Long Jail Sentence

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 3. (AP)—A self-styled actor and writer was booked for a long run serial at Ohio penitentiary yesterday by a Franklin county judge.

Kenneth L. Scott, 29, formerly of Hollywood, who described himself as the "third best safe cracker in the country," was sentenced to a two to 30 year term in prison. He was convicted on six burglary charges.

When arrested by Columbus police last April, Scott boasted of his safe cracking abilities and told law enforcement officals he had been a Hollywood film actor and script writer.

A companion, Thomas N. Reilly, 28, of Darby, Pa., who Scott described as his "apprentice," was sentenced to one to 15 years on similar charges. Both men pleaded guilty.

Scott never revealed who he labeled as the best and second best safe crackers. But he did demonstrate his ability by dialing open a "burglar-proof" safe at police headquarters in five minutes. He said he had "grossed better than a quarter of a million" in safe burglaries through the country.

TRIES SYNTHETIC RICE

MADRAS, Sept. 3 (AP) — The Government of Madras is experimenting with production of synthetic rice as a means of overcoming the rice shortage in the province. Synthetic rice is a mixture of the flours of tapioca, sweet potato, dried bananas and de-oiled peanuts. Food officials say synthetic rice had three times the caloric value of natural rice.

Sleeping Sickness Is Blamed For Escapades Of Dillinger

NEWCASTLE-ON-TYNE, Eng., Sept. 3. (AP)—A British psychologist says John Dillinger, America's top public enemy about a decade ago, got that way because he once had sleeping sickness.

The theory was advanced by Dr. Alexander Kennedy, professor of psychological medicine at Durham university, who said:

"The great American gangster era of the late 20's and early 30's was linked with an epidemic of encephalitis (sleeping sickness) which lasted from 1918 to 1926. Many people were affected.

Kennedy claimed people who contract sleeping sickness between the ages of eight and 20 often develop into the gangster type and "become violent, cruel and obsessed with the idea of gloritying themselves at anybody's expense."

At Chicago the coroner's physician who performed the post mortem on Dillinger denied that it showed the slain gangster had encephalitis. Dr. Jerry Kearns said the examination of the mobster's brain showed no such damage as described by Dr. Kennedy.

SPEAKING OF Furniture
By WAYNE D. GROCE

THE FIREPLACE
When Grandpa was a boy, necessity made the fireplace the main attraction in the room. Today, with central heating, we can take the fireplace or leave it alone.
The smart housewife will take it . . . and make something of it, because she knows that for charm and warmth you can't beat the living room built around the friendly fireplace. It's an invitation to many cozy hours.
The arrangement of furniture is up to you, of course, but don't place your sofas, couches or chairs too far away. You'll note how the two couches are placed facing each other in the illustration above . . . providing a conversational setting. The coffee table on the thick throw rug is within easy reach.
If the room is smaller than the one illustrated, try facing the couch toward the fireplace, with a chair on the side.
Mantel decorations depend, of course, on the type of fireplace you have. Pewter mugs and china are used here because of the "period" of the fireplace.
If at any time we can be of assistance, please call on us.

NEW HEALTH SERVICES PROVIDED

Lubbock County Schools Will Have Nurses For First Time

Two full-time nurses to serve rural schools of Lubbock county have been employed, giving rural schools nursing service throughout the school year for the first time, according to joint announcement of Roy Boyd, Lubbock county superintendent of public instruction, and Gerald Jarvis, director of the city-county department of public health.

The Gilmer-Aiken bill contained a provision for employment of part-time nurses and part of the nurses salary will be paid out of Minimum foundation school funds as provided by the Gilmer-Aiken bill. Remainder will be paid by each school they serve.

School Assigned

Mrs. Joe Hitchcock, a graduate of St. Joseph hospital School of Nursing in Fort Worth, will serve Shallowater, New Deal, Idalou and Estacado schools in the north part of the county. Mrs. Hitchcock has been employed the last two years in the office of Dr. O. R. Hand of Lubbock Memorial hospital. In 1948, she had special work in polio during the summer with the Harvard medical unit at Edinburg, Tex.

Mrs. Donna Harris, graduate of the School of Nursing of the Muskogee General hospital at Muskogee, Okla., will serve Roosevelt, Cooper, Frenship and Posey schools in the south part of the county. Mrs. Harris has served as private nurse in Fort Worth, Mineral Wells and Midland and also was nurse formerly for the Midland County Health unit, served five years as nurse at Texas Technological college and the last two years has been school nurse at Andrews.

Program Voluntary

They will work under direction of Mrs. Grace Garrett, who is employed by the city-county department of public health, whose work is supervised by Dr. Fred P. Kallina, medical director of health activities in the county.

The school nurses, who will have headquarters in the city-county department in Lubbock, will have access to all facilities of the department, said Jarvis.

The program will include a voluntary immunization program against small pox, diphtheria and whooping cough. Other activities will include weighing, measuring, and checking ears, throat and eyes for any defect and encouraging pupils to go to their family physician to have any defects corrected.

The immunizations will not be compulsory. "Our purpose in the program is to see that all the children have the opportunity for those immunizations," said Jarvis.

X-Ray Machine Available

The health education program was arranged in Lubbock county through agreement between the county schools and health department. By incorporating the program with that of the health department, it can be carried on more economically and on a broader scale, with facilities of the department being made available.

Mrs. Garrett, who joined the health department as nurse in the spring, did some work in the county schools last school year.

The x-ray machine of the city-county department will be available to all participating agencies, said Jarvis.

The nurses began duty Thursday, Sept. 1. With opening of the schools, they will begin filling out questionnaires on health status of children in the various schools. Examinations will follow.

Letters explaining the program will be sent to parents of each child registered.

All of the schools participating are rural schools except the New Deal district, which wished to participate.

Boyd said that in event epidemics should occur and nurses should be needed, "We would be happy to cooperate with the City of Lubbock and the City of Slaton." In event of urgent need, either in Slaton or Lubbock schools or involving some unexpected conditions such as the flood conditions which occurred in Lubbock this year, nurses will cooperate, it was stated. Following the downpour and resultant conditions causing typhoid immunization to be considered advisable, immunization was given to more than 10,000 persons by public health nurses of the county.

Water To Be Tested

In connection with the school program, general sanitation activities of the health department will include inspection of school cafeterias and premises. Laboratory facilities of the health department will be available for water analysis and other work related to health. The county DDT unit will be used at schools. School buildings will be sprayed and water supplies will be tested this month.

Another nurse may be employed, depending on whether moving of families here from Barksdale field increases school enrollment at Frenship school sufficiently to make possible employment of another under provisions of the state bill. Only two more units, comprised of 20 pupils each, are necessary before the schools will qualify for another nurse. Addition of a nurse would reduce the number of students served by each nurse and make possible a more extensive program.

Ninety-eight units, including approximately 1960 students, already are included in the schools to be served.

The number will be classified as special teachers under provisions of the Gilmer-Aikein bill.

LONDON, Sept. 3 (AP)—Artificial insemination of British cows increased steadily in the 1948-49 period, the Milk Marketing board reported. A total of 256,054 cows, belonging to 33,249 farmers, were inseminated during the 12 months ended March 31. When the Board started its artificial insemination experiments in 1946, 6,401 cows belonging to 922 farmers were submitted to the process.

The Board said that average inseminations per bull rose from 975 in 1947 to 1,297 in 1948, and the largest number of cows inseminated from one bull was 3,956 last year. Figures show that the greatest number of inseminations were performed with British Friesian semen, 40.3 percent, while the Dairy Shorthorn breed came second with 26.3 percent. Bulls in use for artificial insemination by the Milk Marketing Board centers on March 31, 1949, totalled 303.

Reds Place Metal Cover On Cross Atop Korean Church

ROME, Sept. 3. (AP)—When a workman was unable to remove a granite cross from atop a Korean Catholic school building, Communists covered the cross with a metal drum, Fides, the International Catholic News agency, reported from Seoul.

The report said that when Reds occupied Won-San they took over the Benedictine school for use as a Communist school. A workman was ordered to remove the cross atop the building but the heavy stone was too much for him.

Sweden has ended meat rationing.

Tedious Hand Labor Will Be Used To Save White House From Injury During Repair

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3. (U.P.)—Methods older than the building itself will be used by workmen charged with the delicate task of repairing the White House.

A "tedious pick and shovel job" will be necessary to protect the historic structure from possible injury, Public Buildings Administrator William E. Reynolds said.

The use of modern equipment would be a hazard to the already crumbling walls under which 20-foot deep footings must be placed, Reynolds explained.

Contract for repair of the White House may be awarded soon, Reynolds said.

To Preserve Walls

Present plans call for digging a 10-foot wide excavation to bedrock 20 feet below the surface. It will be filled with cement which will be allowed to harden as a support before another 10-foot sector is started. In this manner, Reynolds said, the outside walls of the building will be made structurally sound and preserve for future generations the original exterior "unmarred by modern materials."

Underpinning will be the first step in the $5,000,000 project. The second will be to shore up the interior walls to support the third story and roof. After the temporary supports are placed workmen will tear down the interior walls, which are slipping dangerously because they rest on no foundation at all.

All possible interior trim will be carefully removed and kept for reuse so that when the job is completed rooms will have lost none of their original appearance. Huge mahogany windows will be salvaged and replaced. All this, too, requires hand labor. It will not include use of wrecking bars, which might make the project less expensive.

No Modernization

This will be the first major structural change in the White House since it was occupied by President John Adams in 1800. George Washington, who advised the architect, James Hoban, on planning, said it should be built to meet "the present needs" and yet include plans for "improvements when the wealth, population, and importance of it shall stand upon higher ground than they do at present."

However, the American public (and officials who authorized its renovation) were loath to "modernize" the building which has become America's most treasured shrine.

Modern equipment which will be installed will be well hidden in the spacious new basement made possible by a deeper foundation. Included will be an air conditioning unit to make the president's home and office more livable.

When the job is finished, the White House will look exactly as it did before its structural defects developed—a building which has come to be regarded as a symbol of American democracy.

Actress Files Suit For Divorce From Former Star Jackie Cooper

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 3. (AP)—Actress June Horne wants a divorce from Jackie Cooper, 27, one-time film juvenile player, claiming he has caused her "anguish, pain, humiliation and embarrassment."

The 30-year-old actress, in her suit filed yesterday, said she has "conducted herself with kindness and affection" but Cooper has treated her cruelly.

She asks custody of their son, John Anthony, three. The Coopers were married Dec. 11, 1944 and separated last May 1, her complaint stated.

Amarillo Man Is Convicted Of Murder Without Malice

OZONA, Sept. 3 (AP)—Olan G. Northcutt, an Amarillo plasterer, was convicted yesterday of murder without malice in the rifle slaying of J. D. Freeman, also of Amarillo.

He and Freeman were working on an Ozona church. Freeman was shot Jan. 14 in an Ozona motor court. Northcutt testified there was a fight shortly before the shooting. He said he took a rifle from a closet when he saw Freeman coming toward him.

"I shot from the hip," Northcutt said. "I figured he was going to kill me."

Armed Services Petroleum Board Advised By Producers To Create Oil Stock Piles

OIL CITY, Pa., Sept. 3 (U.P.) — The Pennsylvania Grade Crude Oil Association says that now is a good time for the government to build a stock pile of oil.

A slumping market in lubricants, the association told the Armed Services Petroleum Board, has resulted in "an alarming increase" in oil well abandonments and a consequent loss of unrecoverable reserves.

Government stock-piling would have the two-fold advantage of safeguarding the nation's future supply of crude stocks for vital defense needs and relieving "an abnormal market condition," the association feels.

The trade classes Pennsylvania grade oil as that produced in New York, Pennsylvania, West Virginia and certain pools in southeastern Ohio. The area's production averages about 58,000 barrels a day.

Balance Lacking

Among the points stressed by the military board was the fact that more than two-thirds of current production comes from what are called secondary recovery operations.

"As a result," the association wrote the board, "the extent to which the producers can bring about a balance of crude oil supply and demand without waste of resources is limited by technical operating factors."

For example, it was explained in the fields of Bradford, Pa., and Allegany County, N. Y., where recovery by water flood is employed, studies have shown that any curtailment of established water floods now in process would result in a permanent loss of oil.

The association said the war left serious damage in the oil market.

To supply military needs, the producers said, the industry had to sacrifice much of its domestic trade and outlets.

Exports, which consumed 15 per cent of the Pennsylvania grade lubricants before the war, now are down to "a trickle" because of foreign buying policies.

Not Enough Markets

"Consequently," the association said, "the Pennsylvania grade industry is confronted with a critical over-availability of lubricanting oils and insufficient markets."

The boards attention was called to the present "bargain prices" in oil, now down 50 per cent from pre-war.

The association also made the point that in the event of another war, petroleum would play an even greater role than it did in the first two world wars.

"The increased mechanization of our war machine," the association said, "will place even greater emphasis upon the need for high grade lubricants."

The petroleum board said it would withhold an answer on the stock-piling proposal until it completes a nation-wide survey of the "lubricating oil problem."

Six native chiefs left Nigeria to attend a trade show at Shrewsburg, England.

France, Britain Began War With Hitler Ten Years Ago

By PIERRE J. HUSS
INS Staff Correspondent

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Sept. 3—Ten years ago tomorrow the late British Ambassador Sir Neville Henderson stood in his suite in Berlin's Adlon hotel and said gruffly:

"Now they've done it, the bloody fools."

It was 6 a. m. of a Sunday morning.

Across the elm-lined "Unter Den Linden" in the French embassy, the French Ambassador Francois Poncet said to his assembled staff and foreign correspondents:

"Voila, the stupidity of the Boche wins again."

The two ambassadors were not only angry; they were shaken. Until 6 o'clock Poncet had hoped for a miracle which would pull Europe back from the brink of war.

Briton Less Optimistic

Sir Neville was less optimistic. But he, too, knew that in dealings with Hitler the unexpected had to be reckoned with.

But when 6 a. m. came and there was no call from the Hitler chancellery or the foreign office of Joachim Von Ribbentrop they knew it was war.

At that hour the British and French ultimatum to Germany to halt the three-day attack on Poland expired and the two allies were officially at war.

The prelude to World War II began on Sept. 1, when Hitler's panzers, Stuka dive-bombers and mechanized columns launched the blitzkrieg by invading Poland. But the blitzkrieg did not strike the west until May 10, 1940.

Listened To Broadcast

But in the Adlon hotel it was taken for granted by the British delegation that dive-bombers already were hammering Paris and London. They listened to the radio for initial hints that panzer columns were slicing across the borders of Belgium and Luxembourg. The only thing they got was the German broadcast about huge victories in Poland.

At 6:30 a. m. uniformed gestapo and foreign office officials ordered newsmen out of the British suite and a moment later Ribbentrop's giant red-headed spokesman, Doernberger, marched in to give notice to Sir Neville that he and his group must not leave the suite.

Then he strode over to the French embassy and repeated his order to Poncet and his team. Anglo-French diplomacy was the first casualty in Berlin but the last laugh was on Ribbentrop seven years later when he swung from the gallows at Nuremberg as a condemned war criminal.

Decided On War

Hitler had cold-bloodedly decided on war to gain the mastery of Europe, when Stalin signed a friendship pact with him on Aug. 23, Hitler tossed caution to the winds, turned a deaf ear to President Roosevelt's appeals, and cut loose his military power on the assumption that neither France nor England would stand by their guarantee to Poland.

His carefully plotted pattern was atended to with icy deliberation.

The rapidity with which the plot unfolded is illustrated by the following chronology of events:

On Monday, Aug. 28, Hitler stamped his booted foot in the chancellery and summarily notified Paris and London that the free city of Danzig (established by the League of Nations after World War I) and the Polish corridor separating Germany from East Prussia must be incorporated in the reich.

On Tuesday, Aug. 29, Hitler staged a "saber-rattling" parade of armed troops past his chancellery balcony. That afternoon, Sir Neville and Poncet separately delivered replies on the above points to Hitler himself and stayed for an hour and a half each. This somewhat relieved the tension beginning to paralyze Europe.

On Wednesday, Aug. 30, Hitler answered London and Paris in notes sufficiently conciliatory to slow the war fever.

On Thursday, Aug. 31, the British and French governments made it unmistakably clear that the Danzig and corridor issues must be settled by negotiation and that any attempt by Hitler to seize such territory by force would be an act of war against signatories of the Anglo-French and Polish pact. Hitler then announced formation of a national defense council, with Goering in the chair.

On Friday, Sept. 1, the German army struck into Poland and blockaded Danzig and the Polish port of Gdynia. The British more fleet mobilized and the high commands of France and England consulted. Italy's Mussolini urged a five-power conference and Roosevelt appealed for peace.

On Saturday, Sept. 2, the British and French ultimatums were presented by the two Berlin ambassadors, who cooled their heels in Ribbentrop's office and then ran into a tirade of abuse.

On Sunday, Sept. 3, the British and French ultimatums expired and World War II was underway.

Russia Trying To Woo East Germany To Soviet Culture

BERLIN, Sept. 3. (AP)—Russia is making a determined effort to woo Germans into its camp with tastes of Soviet culture. But East Berliners, busy trying to be Germans again, just won't woo.

Mission after mission has come to Berlin from Moscow. One of the latest Muscovites to lecture in the Soviet Sector of Berlin was author Konstantin Simonov. He wrote the play "The Russian Question," a scathing denunciation of American newspapers and newspapermen.

Germans traditionally were fond of Russian music. But now, explained a Berlin German, "with the Russians here as an occupying force, people are liking it less and less. What we want is more of our own music."

LUBBOCK AVALANCHE-JOURNAL
Lubbock, Texas, Sunday, September 4, 1949

A GROUP of Tahoka business and professional men, together with some outstanding area farmers, have set up what promises to be an international organization. It is known as the Effervescent Order of the Yellow Dog. The initiation provides a world of fun for those who have already been through it. Membership has spread to Lubbock, Post, Sweetwater and as far away as Canada. Biggest boosters are Dr. Emil Prohl, Terry Thompson, Truett Smith, Cotton Carter, Otis Spears, Frank Hill and Wynne Collier.

Has Two Firsts

Farmer Ted Schuler of Gaines county had two firsts this year. It was his first season at growing cotton in the Seminole area and he was the first man to produce a bale in Gaines. His bale weighed 445 pounds and will be auctioned at the Chamber of Commerce, according to "Ox" Jameson, president of that organization.

Cochran County Judge G. W. Thompson accomplishes his business the modern way. The judge flies a small airplane whenever he has to go more than just a few miles.

PLANS have been completed for Parmer county's annual Dairy Show and Fair to be held in Friona, September 22, 23 and 24. This show will give County Agent Ollie Liner a chance to shine in his own right. Ollie has probably officiated at more shows and fairs on the South Plains this year than any other one individual. I run into him everywhere I go and he is always busy. T. L. Leach will be show judge.

* * *

Dr. Douglas B. Black of Lamesa's Price hospital, is a "shutterbug." Doc Black braves the perils of shaky ladders and creaking roof-tops to get pictures of the home town scene.

Another camera fan is W. H. Collins, who with his father, W. B., and brother, Dick, runs a department store on Lamesa's busy court house square.

Comes To Rescue

David E. Aynes came to my rescue during the Lamesa rodeo parade this past week. While trying to figure out how I was going to climb a straight and narrow ladder lugging some 20 pounds of camera equipment Dave suggested a plan. He got a cardboard box and passed a rope through the side. I attached one end of the rope to my belt and climbed to the rooftop and then pulled up the box. Pretty simple when somebody tells you how.

* * *

THE Lubbock Sheriff's Posse deserves a lot of credit for adding color and spirit to parades. They travel many miles to participate in the parades that take place in South Plains cities and towns. Their fine horses always draw comment from the onlookers.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Simkins, Crosbyton, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary at their home recently. Life on the South Plains seems to be conducive to long and happy marriages.

The Littlefield Chamber of Commerce membership drive went over the top but is still continuing, manager Pat Mann said this week. More than 30 new members were signed up.

Calves Are Bought

Bill Griffin, agriculture agent for Lynn county, says his 4-H boys have made their calf purchases and will be real competition in fat stock shows next spring. "The boys have been able to buy some of the finest calves I've ever seen" Bill said.

Floyd G. Rowell, of near Amherst, had twins last week. Both were males and were able to walk a few hours after they were born. Oh! Yes. The twins were half Jersey — half Shorthorn dairy calves.

* * *

Like most gathering places for young folks the Chieftain theater confectionery in Crosbyton has a "juke box." Unlike most of the "juke boxes" in the country this one has no hillbilly tunes on it. When Jack Arthur had the machine installed he promised there would never be any such tunes. He has kept his word.

Makes Discovery

I found a little community that isn't on the maps. In driving along the edge of the Cap Rock this past week I came onto Canyon Valley, a gin, general store and two or three houses. It lies at the junction of two narrow dirt roads and is about 15 miles south and a little west of Crosbyton.

* * *

MR. and MRS. C. T. Norris operate the general store at Canyon Valley and sell a little of everything including ice and gasoline. "Business is really good back here," Norris says.

The Canyon Valley gin is owned and operated by the Quanah Cotton Oil company and is managed by Cliff McCollum. It has 5-70 stands of Mitchell and Continental machinery and is prepared for a big season. All the cotton in the area is on dry land but it looks extra good this year.

* * *

If you want to get to Canyon Valley turn south at Crosbyton on farm road 651. Continue on after you run out of pavement until you come to the Kalgary crossroad. Turn west on this road and follow the ruts.

Man Surrenders Two Sons To Police After Robbery Attempt

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 3. (AP) —A father surrendered two of his sons to police yesterday after learning that a third was in custody and the others were wanted.

The boys, John Green, jr., 17, and Robert, 20, were escorted to the police station by their father, John Green, sr., to face an attempted robbery charge. Their brother, Donald, 15, had been taken into custody a short time earlier on the same charge.

Detective Thomas Blong said Harry Righter, 55, identified John and Robert as the two who entered his confectionary store and threatened him with pistols. The gunmen ran when Righter refused to open the cash drawer. Blong said he sent a message to the father after Donald told of waiting outside the store while his brothers threatened Righter.

MILK CLEANUP ASKED

REGENSBURG, Germany, Sept. 3 (AP)—The Tirschenreuth, Bavaria, dairy cooperative has complained about the odd items found in milk farmers bring it. There are bugs, teaspoons, tooth brushes and many other things cows don't produce. One farmer who delivered a can of milk containing a dead mole will face a German criminal court.

Police Building To Be Modern

By DAVE CHEAVENS
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, Sept. 3. (AP)—In about a year, Texas will have a new state police headquarters now being planned as the best in the country.

It will cost between $800,000 and $1,000,000 and will be especially designed as a state police headquarters. Col. Homer Garrison, jr., director of the department of public safety, believes that it will be the only one in the nation so specifically planned.

Construction of the new building was authorized by the 51st legislature. One novel thing about it is it won't cost the taxpayers a penny.

Excess In Fees

Funds for the construction will come from an excess in fees collected for chauffeurs' and drivers' licenses—unused money. Transfer of the fund from an inactive status for the specific purpose of constructing the new state police dream building was authorized by legislative act. A four-year accumulation of funds will be used.

The building will be located on a state-owned tract of land in North Austin, on the Dallas-Fort Worth highway.

State police are now housed in a miscellaneous group of buildings at Camp Mabry in West Austin. Many of the buildings are old National Guard barracks and they are not suited for administrative use.

None of the work could be started until after the beginning of the state's new fiscal year in September. Garrison said an architect would be employed and he would confer with each department head in the vast state police organization before making preliminary plans.

Will Be Most Modern

The effort will be to come out with a building precisely suited to the needs of a statewide police organization.

"It should be the most modern state police building in the nation," Garrison said.

"It will be built to house modern laboratories—such as photographic and chemical."

"One of the features I am especially interested in is a centralized communications room. Our system of communication is being constantly improved, and it should head up in a place quickly accessible to police executives and newsmen."

Garrison said this communications center would be especially useful in time of disaster to quickly clear information useful in relief and necessary for public information.

REALLY CLOSE TO HOME

FORT WORTH, Tex. (U.P.)—Police Capt. Karl N. Howard, on night duty when he heard a radio fire alarm, thought the blaze must be close to where he lived. It was in the same block. A police car reported back by radio. It was Howard's home.

THE QUESTION

Do you think President Truman should fire Maj. Gen. Harry Vaughan as White House military aide as result of the Senate "five per cent" probe?

THE ANSWERS

DR. S. S. McKAY, 2909 Twenty-ninth, professor of history at Texas Technological college: "The answer is yes. The President should be surrounded by men of unquestioned integrity."

JOHN W. MINOR, who arrived in Lubbock Friday to be associated with Levine's as buyer: "I appreciate President Truman's attitude as a friend until it actually has been proven that General Vaughan has done something wrong. I feel General Vaughan should have retired by himself as result of what has been revealed—should have done so at an earlier date to protect President Truman from having to make that decision."

FRANK CATES, Lubbock route 7, Lubbock Sash and Door Co. window maker: "No, I don't think they have proven anything definitely against him. If they don't prove him guilty, I guess he is innocent."

CLARK SCHOOLEY, 3415 Twenty-eighth, assistant professor of journalism at Texas Technological college: "I think he should have been fired long ago, because I think he and John Maragon have been working hand in glove to use their influence to get favors for certain people and I believe they have profited personally."

C. D. GUY, 1943 Ave. N, in charge of used car lot of Bill Dean Motor Co.: "I don't think he should until he's proved guilty more than he has been so far. I think some of that is just talk and hasn't been proved."

W. A. CONWELL, 918 Thirty-fourth, owner of Conwell Engineering Co. and manager of Lowrimore Service station on Ave. H: "No, I don't. It's just politics. Some of those Republicans just want to stir up a little stink. They have a good man and he didn't do anything wrong. If he had I don't believe Truman would have backed him up."

POSTERS SENT OUT

VATICAN CITY, Sept. 3 (AP) — Official Holy Year posters, showing the Egyptian obleisk in Saint Peter's Square and the dome of the basilica, have been sent to all parts of the world. The central committee in charge of the jubilee said 99,000 posters have been sent to the United States. Another 566,000 were sent to other foreign countries.

Russia Works On Collection Of Old Folk Songs And Sagas

MOSCOW, Sept. 3 (AP) — The work of collecting the folk songs and sagas of the scores of nationalities making up the USSR goes on without interruption. "Izvestia" recently told of the activities of one of the best known folk-song collectors of Russia, the director of the Russian People's Chorus of Northern Songs, A. Y. Kolotilova.

Kolotilova, in 40 years of work among the Russians in the Archangel and other northern districts, has discovered more than 700 folk songs, tales and epics which have been handed down from generation to generation by word of mouth alone.

Fire Losses In Texas Decline

LUFKIN, Sept. 3 (AP) — The usual summer fires that swept through East Texas forests and left charred black stumps have been conspicuous by their absence this year.

The Texas forest service credits their lack to:

1. Improved fire prevention and fire control methods.
2. Rainfall much heavier this year than last year.
3. Better care and watchfulness from the people.

Only 301 Acres

In district 3, which embraces Angelina and Trinity counties, plus the southern halves of Nacogdoches and Houston counties and the western half of Polk county, loss of timber acreage from fire has been only 301 acres so far this year.

"This time last year we'd lost about 3,500 acres," said division 3 forester Johnnye Foster.

District 3 is one of the best equipped in the state for fighting fires. It has 16 towers connected by 400 miles of telephone lines. Close to its headquarters building just south of Lufkin is the two-way F-M radio station which maintains contact with all the towers, with 10 crews that man the fire fighting jeeps and with the 125 horsepower plane the service uses for patrol duty.

Details Of Release Of Many Reserve Officers Are Given

AUSTIN, Sept. 3. (Special)—Details concerning the release prior to April 1, 1950, of 3,387 Army Reserve officers now on active duty have been announced by the Department of the Army after Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson put into effect an economy program for all three services designed to reduce expenditures for national defense.

Under the Army's plan, 1,250 of the 3,387 officers will be released by Dec. 31, 1949, and the remainder will revert to inactive status by April 1, 1950.

All officers will be given at least three months' notice prior to their release. Those officers serving in the United States who are chosen for release will be frozen in current assignments and those serving overseas areas will be returned to this country prior to their release date.

Selections for release will be made from all non-Regular officers now on duty with the Army.

Girl, 11, Conducts Weekly Bible Class In Back Yard

CLEVELAND, Sept. 3. (NEA)—At an age when most girls are busy playing with dolls, 11-year-old Linda Kassimatis spends her time playing preacher before a sun-suited "congregation."

Every Wednesday afternoon for an hour she gathers her flock of neighborhood youngsters in her backyard for a Bible class. More than 40 children usually attend.

With all the decorum of one dedicated to the church, she calmly leads them in hymns and tells Biblical stories.

Her seriousness in leading her squirming audience never deserts her. Her answer to the discipline problem is, "I just start talking and they keep quiet."

It's not really that simple. A couple of the older children act as monitors and her parents stand by to shake a finger at the too active. Linda's father, a cook, is unemployed because of illness.

In front of her on a little bench, she keeps her briefcase with church papers, Bible and bookmarks with religious pictures or texts. She gives the bookmarks to members of the congregation for good attendance or for bringing new members.

LINDA: First it was dolls.

Police Chief Shows Smashed Autos To Speeding Tourists

CLAYTON, N. M., Sept. 3 (AP) — Instead of a speeding ticket, Police Chief Emmett Coble took a carful of hurrying tourists to see some smashed up cars.

"We have a nice city," the chief said, "and like to have motorists drive slow enough to see it. We also have some nice eating places." Then he released the visitors.

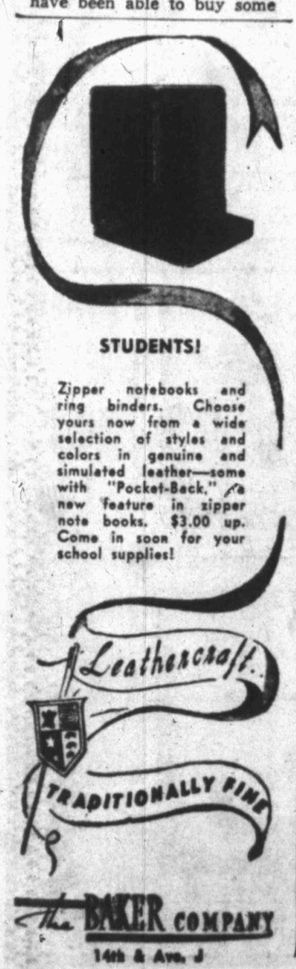

They ate in Clayton, too!

Jugoslav Soccer Players Are Dazzled By Australian Girls

MELBOURNE, Sept. 3 (AP) — Visiting Yugoslav soccer players are dazzled by Australian girls. They are the most beautiful and best dressed in the world, the Yugoslavs say.

And these lads have been in most countries around the globe. The unmarried ones, however, have met trouble on the road to romance. They can't speak English. But they're still hopeful.

West Texas Gas Company
Installs Short Wave Radio Network

Nine Fixed Stations

West Texas Gas Company recently completed the installation of nine fixed short wave radio stations along its more than 800 miles of transmission lines.

This radio network, consisting of the most modern equipment together with more than 300 miles of company-owned telephone lines and long distance commercial lines, provides as good a communication system as is available.

Thirty Mobile Units

We have also equipped 30 trucks and automobiles with two-way radios.

The installation of the short wave radio system enables us to call together emergency crews at a few moments' notice. Licensed radio operators are on duty at all nine fixed radio stations. They keep in contact with maintenance men making repairs and new installations along the transmission lines and also dispatch pressure readings via radio when other communication systems are busy or out of order.

Communication between all points of West Texas Gas Company's transmission lines is very essential and must be maintained at all times in order that the company may render good natural gas service to the thousands of homes and businesses in the 23 counties it serves.

Good gas service doesn't just happen.

Overton Methodist Church Will Hold Anniversary Program Today

The congregation of the Overton Methodist church, Forty-sixth and Overton Drive, today will celebrate the fifth anniversary of the establishment of the church with special services.

At the morning worship service at 11 a. m., Dr. L. N. Lipscomb, retired Methodist district superintendent, will preach. Dr. Lipscomb was instrumental in the founding of the church under auspices of the First Methodist church of Lubbock. He preached the first sermon in the new church five years ago.

Lunch To Be Served

A lunch will be served at the church at noon today. At 2:30 p. m., a special program is planned, at which charter members and former ministers of the church will be introduced. Mrs. I. F. Kennedy, of Ruidoso, N. M., who was the first Sunday school superintendent at the church, will speak. Mrs. Kennedy also was active in the establishment of the church.

At the evening worship service at 8 p. m. today, Rev. Charles Lutrick, associate pastor of St. John's Methodist church here, will deliver the sermon.

Church Is Expanded

Rev. Lutrick was the first minister to spend a full year as pastor of the Overton Methodist church.

The church, originally known as Overton chapel, was established with the support of the First Methodist church. The church plant has been expanded at least twice to accomodate the increased number of members, which now total about 240.

Rev. Wilbur F. Gaede is pastor of the church. He succeeded Rev. W. A. Appling as pastor in June, 1948.

All members, former members, and friends of the church have been invited to attend the birthday celebration today, Rev. Gaede announced.

CONDUCTING REVIVAL—Rev. Cecil Pool of Los Angeles currently is conducting a series of revival services at Bethel Tabernacle, Sixth and Ave. L. Rev. Boyd McSpadden, pastor, has announced. The revival began Thursday night. Rev. Pool, better known as the Gospel Troubadour, is a former western movie actor. Rev. McSpadden announced that services begin at 7:45 p. m. daily. Rev. Pool will broadcast at 9:15 a. m. today over Station KSEL on the Echoes of Faith program. Rev. and Mrs. McSpadden also will participate in the radio broadcast.

Evangelistic Services Are To Continue At Church Here

Roy H. Lanier, of Abilene, currently is conducting evangelistic services twice daily at the Southside Church of Christ, Twenty-third and Ave. N.

Mr. Lanier, a widely-known evangelist who has preached throughout the United States, will remain here through Sept. 11. Services are being held at 10 a. m. and 8 p. m. each day.

The public has been invited to worship at the services.

The Duke of Edinburg has made a plea for more British playing fields.

Alonzo Balcom, High-Ranking Dallas Mason, Is Claimed

DALLAS, Sept. 3 (AP)—Alonzo J. Balcom, 68, high ranking Dallas mason, died yesterday at his home here.

Funeral services are set tentatively for 10 a. m. Monday.

Balcom retired three years ago as superintendent of communications for the Magnolia Pipeline Co.

For 23 years he was a member of the Dallas Scottish rite stage crew. He was a 33-degree mason, and lieutenant commander of the Council of Kadosh, Dallas Scotish rite bodies.

At his death he was president of the Koon Kreek club of Athens in Henderson county.

South Side Baptist Church Sets Youth Program Tonight

A special young peoples program is planned for the evening worship service at South Side Baptist church, Forty-fourth and Ave. D, at 8 p. m. today.

The worship hour will be given over to a coronation service for the Girls Auxiliary of the Women's Missionary Union of the church. Approximately 60 young people are to participate in the service.

A devotional, entitled "A Lily," will be given by Mrs. J. M. Glenn, young peoples' secretary.

Program Is Given

Following, the Girls Auxiliary song, "We've A Story To Tell To The Nations," will be pantomimed as follows: Musical reader, Nelda Grace; soloist, Marian Davis; pianist, David McPherson. The Y.W.A. Sunbeams and the R. A. members will compose the choir, with Jerry Fornier as leader.

Others who are to participate and their respective parts of the program include: Maidens, Linda Bostic, Vivian Manley, Patricia Norton, Evadene Bostic, Katie Leak, Charlene Hadaway, and Jeannette Jones; ladies in waiting, Barbara Cline, Betty Hadaway, and Carolyn Cone; princesses, Patsy Watson, Betsy Watson, Orvalene Harris, Antonette Watson, and Eva Watson; queens, Birdie Shaw, Georgia Murray, and Betty Joe Morse.

A song, "Christ for the Whole Wide World," will be sung by all the young people, after which the service will be concluded by the pastor, Rev. Fred McPherson. A dismissal prayer will be offered by Mrs. W. C. Davis, president of the South Side Women's Missionary Union.

Man Claims He Was Bitten By Horse, Dog Owned By Doctor

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 3. (AP)—Walter C. Reeves claims he was bitten in the neck by a horse at a horse show. Then, he says, injury was added to injury when he was bitten by a dog when he went to complain about being bitten by the horse.

Reeves, 45, a bus driver, filed suit for $15,355 damages yesterday against Dr. Ross H. McCloskey, Pomona, Calif., physician, described as owner of the horse and dog.

Reeves complained that the horse chewed him on Sept. 3, 1948 and the dog bit him on the hand and leg six days later at the doctor's home.

Arrest Of Top Communists In China May Be Difficult

CANTON, Sept. 3. (AP)—Acting President Li Tsung-Jen today ordered the arrest of Mao-Tze-Tung and 18 other Chinese Communist leaders.

The order will be a little difficult to carry out. The armies of Mao now are pressing toward this refugee Nationalist capital.

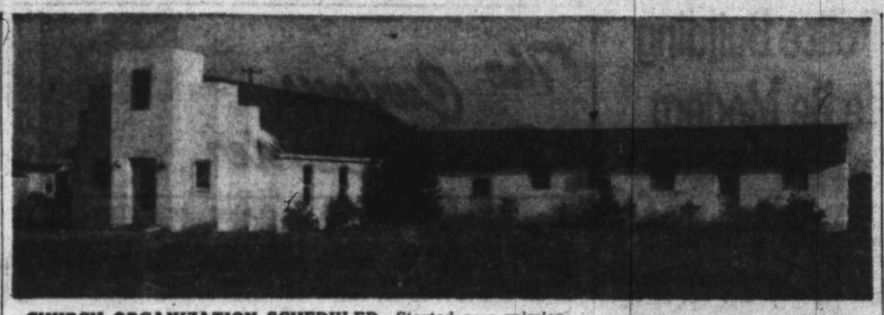

It appeared likely the order was a belated reply to the Communist Branding of Chiang Kai-Shek, Li and other Nationalists leaders as "war criminals."

Li's order said Mao and others on the list were Communist bandits.

BODY IS FOUND

HOUSTON, Sept. 3. (AP)—Morris Allen Wilson, 43, was found crushed to death in an elevator shaft in the Labor Temple club here yesterday. Police estimated he had been dead for about two days.

The elevator has been rarely used since 1947.

CHURCH ORGANIZATION SCHEDULED—Started as a mission in January, 1947, the Trinity Baptist church, pictured above, at Thirty-fourth and Adams, will be organized Sunday afternoon, Sept. 11, at 2 o'clock. Special services will be conducted during the day and dinner will be served on the ground at 12:30 o'clock. Rev. Geo. Dale, retired Baptist minister, will act as moderator and the sermon will be preached by Dr. J. Ralph Grant, pastor of the First Baptist church. Rev. John Baker, pictured below right, is pastor of the new church, which has a membership of 334. Sunday school membership totals 436 with an average attendance of 200 and the training union has a membership of 195 with average attendance of 78. First Sunday services held in the church in 1947 drew an attendance of 27. First unit of an educational building is planned as quickly as possible.

Introducing Lubbock's Ministers

Rev. Wilbur F. Gaede Leads Congregation In Observance

REV. WILBUR F. GAEDE

Rev. Wilbur F. Gaede, pastor of Overton Methodist church, today will join with his congregation in welcoming friends, former pastors, and former members to the special program which is planned in celebration of the fifth anniversary of the establishment of the church.

Rev. Gaede observed his first anniversary as pastor of the southeast Lubbock church in early June. He came to Lubbock from Hedley, in Donley county. Previously he had held pastorates at Blackwell, Sylvester and Woodson.

Graduated At SMU

A native of Muleshoe, Rev. Gaede did his undergraduate college work at McMurry college in Abilene. He attended theological school at Southern Methodist university, graduating from that institution in 1939.

When he came to Overton Methodist church last year, the church membership stood at 191. There are 240 members at the present time.

Under Rev. Gaede's pastorate, the church has added an additional 1,000 square feet of floor space for Sunday school and recreational purposes. The church sponsors an active youth program.

Mrs. Gaede is also a native Texan. Rev. and Mrs. Gaede have one daughter, Nita Ann, 7. The family resides at 505 Forty-sixth.

Immigration Claimed Solution To Aussie Population Problem

SYDNEY, Sept. 3. (AP)—Native-born Australians are decreasing in numbers, says Immigration Minister Arthur A. Calwell. Writing in an immigration booklet, Calwell said Australia had 644,100 boys and girls in the 15-19 age group in 1940. By 1951, he said, it is estimated the figure will have fallen to 516,400.

On the othe hand, said the minister, the number of people 65 and over has almost doubled in the past 45 years. Next year 85,000 of every million Australians will be in this age group, he said. Calwell said immigration offers the only solution to Australia's population problem.

Henderson Building At Odessa Is Heavily Damaged By Blaze

ODESSA, Sept. 3 (AP)—The Henderson building here was heavily damaged by fire yesterday with the damage estimated at more than $100,000. The two-story brick building contains a drug store and 15 offices.

The fire was Odessa's first major blaze in more than a year.

Australia Dislikes Calling Settlers Displaced Persons

CANBERRA, Sept. 3 (AP)—When is a displaced person no longer a D. P.? When he becomes a new Australian.

Immigration Minister Arthur A. Calwell has asked Australians to stop referring to European immigrants as displaced persons, D. P.'s or Balts. He asked that they be called new Australians, newcomers or new settlers. Australia has received 50,000 Europeans sent here by the International Refugee Organization.

COMMENTATOR DEFINED

An optimist in New Zealand, says an Auckland commentator, "is a person who expects industrial peace and good sense to rule for any appreciable length of time on the waterfront."

Central Assembly Of God Revival To Start

The Grussendorf Evangelistic Party tonight will begin a revival at the Central Assembly of God church, Ninth and Ave. N.

The family, which has conducted evangelistic meetings throughout the country, offers a versatile musical program in addition to their evangelistic messages.

They are accompanied by Clifford and Bernice Meeks, who play the Hawaiian guitar and bass fiddle respectively and who have had wide experience in radio and recording fields.

Rev. E. S. Walden, pastor of the host church, has invited the public to attend the services. Services are to be held nightly.

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 3—Paulette Goddard would like to be the next Mrs. Clark Gable. She usually gets what she wants. But this time I doubt whether she'll make it. Gable is too happy as a bachelor.

Sam Goldwyn turned down Lloyd Nolan for a sympathetic father role in "Beloved Over All," saying: "Audiences just won't accept him in the part."

Wonderful switch in "I Was a Male War Bride." When Cary Grants puts on a brunet wig and impersonates a gal one of Hollywood's best-looking men becomes the screen's ugliest "woman."

Van Johnson finally has that comedy he's been yelling for at M-G-M. It's "The Big Hangover," Norman Krasna' whimsy about a GI who almost drowns in brandy when a wine cellar is bombed during the war. The kid comes back with a weird allergy. Every time he gets a whiff of brandy he's drunk.

Running gag in the film is a talking" dog with Van's voice. Lizabeth Taylor is the girl. Van is wailing: "The dog is cute. Between Lizabeth and the dog, no one will be looking at me."

"We must find the most dramatic sound in the world—a bomb, a baby's cry, a scream, whatever it is."

"I don't have to think it over," said Mitch. "I know what it is." "What?" said C. B. "Silence," said Mitch. A few days later Mitch was fired.

Russian Film Industry Pushes Production Of Color Cartoons

MOSCOW, Sept. 3 (AP)—Since the end of the war the Soviet film industry has issued cartoon comedies and cartoon films in large numbers. Most foreigners here who have seen them agree that they are of high quality and well-produced.

There have even been issued full-length cartoon films. One of these was called "The Little Hunchbacked Horse." It took its subject from a Russian folk tale. Like all cartoon films here it was in color.

Russians have also had a look at a foreign cartoon film. Walt Disney's "Bambi" was shown here and was liked both by children and adults.

Story Of Attack Heard By Jury

TAVERES, Fla., Sept. 3 (AP)—A young white farm wife told an all-white jury yesterday that four negroes beat her husband insensible then raped her at gun point one at a time.

The 17-year-old girl pointed out three defendants — Walter Irvin, 22; Samuel Shepherd, 22, and Charles Greenlee, 16—to a circuit court jury. They are charged with rape.

The fourth accused negro, Ernest Thomas, was killed by a possee in northwest Florida several weeks ago.

Tells Of Attack

Quietly the alleged rape victim told the jury the four negroes fought with her husband, forced her into their car, drove to a lonely road and raped her at gun point one at a time.

"I didn't want to do it but had to or be killed," she said in answer to questions by state attorney Jesse W. Hunter.

The alleged rape touched off demonstrations by white mobs against negroes at Groveland and other nearby communities. Night riders set fire to negro houses and fired shots into others. The Florida National guard finally restored order.

Testimony Is Given

Her husband told virtually the same story.

He said four negroes offered help when his car broke down returning from a dance at Clermont the night of July 16. The negroes started a fight, he testified, and overpowered him. They threw him over a ditch, he said, and when he regained his senses his wife was gone.

Men Are Identified

The husband identified Irvin and Shepherd as two of his attackers but said he was not positive about Greenlee.

Deputy James L. Yates said the girl's husband was with him when he found the negroes' car in front of Irvin's home in Groveland.

"There's one of them right here," Yates quoted the husband as saying as he jumped on one of two negroes coming out of the house. Yates related he and another deputy had to pull the man away.

There was no sign of unrest or disorder in the packed courtroom as questioning began. The all-white jury was selected after more than 12 hours of detailed questioning by opposing attorneys.

Intellectual Trend Noted In Movieland

Six Young Starlets Signed By Studio Have Sheepskins

By GLORIA YARBROUGH
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 2.—Gone, apparently, are the days when movie queens were picked from the ranks of hashslingers and beauty contest winners. Stars of the future will have to be intelligent as well as beautiful—or so say the bosses at one Hollywood studio.

Six lovely young things with college sheepskins neatly filed away in their memory books have arrived at Universal-International to be launched upon cinema cameras. Thus have talent scouts gone intellectual.

Even so, the studio has decreed that all starlets shall pose for cheesecake during the first five years of their contracts (if they last that long). Brainy women must have sex appeal, too.

Four Studied Drama

Four of the six studied drama at college, but only one was really preparing for an acting career.

"I took drama simply because I liked it better than any other subject," said Peggie Castle, from Mills college. Peggie is a blonde, with blue eyes. "When my husband went overseas I wanted to do something, so I started acting in soap operas."

Dark-haired Ann Pearce, a graduate of the University of Southern California, was a pre-medical student until she switched to drama in her senior year.

"I finally decided that I wanted to act," she said. "But I think my pre-med training will help. Both doctors and actors have to study people."

Taught To Dance

Dorothy Hart, the gal who had the acting career in mind all the time, went through Western Reserve in two and one-half years, "so that I wouldn't be an old lady by the time I got on Broadway." Dorothy, a blue-eyed brunette, modeled in New York to pay for music and drama lessons.

Peggy Dow, another blonde, has a degree from Northwestern. Said Peggy: "Whether you can sing or dance doesn't make any difference at the studio. They'll teach you. I told them I couldn't; but I wound up doing both."

Helena Carter, a green-eyed redhead from Columbia university, has been taking diction lessons for a year to polish off a British accent. A literature major, Helena said an acting career never entered her head. "It was just a matter of circumstance, and quite a surprise, when I got a bid."

Signed On Campus

Donna Martel, signed right off the campus of Los Angeles City college, wants to make films abroad and wants to be a wife and mother some day. She can't see any conflict between the two pursuits.

The girls are unanimous in the belief that a college education is a great asset to an actress. Said Peggie Castle:

"The college girl has more tolerance. She has a sharper perception of human traits and characteristics and is, therefore, better equipped to imitate them. There is no place in the movie industry for a biased viewpoint."

Only one question seems to await an answer: Can they act?

Disraeli's home from 1848 until he died in 1881, Hughenden Manor, in Buckhamshire, England, has been reopened as a museum.

Modern Japanese Girls Leave Traditional Kimono For "New Look" Dresses, Falsies

By EARNEST HOBERECHT
United Press Staff Writer

TOKYO, Sept. 3—One hundred years ago you could thrill a Japanese girl by telling her she had a face like a melon seed.

Today she wants to be told she looks like Lana Turner.

The old Japanese warlords wanted their girl friends to have oval faces. They called them "urizanegao," or melon seed faces.

And 100 years ago, if you wanted to insult a lady, you hinted that her chest was not as flat as that of the other women in town. But that has changed too, and today the Japanese bobby-soxers are flocking to the fashion shops which feature "American style falsies."

Want Democracy

Most Japanese girls now prefer the western manner of dress. For one thing, they say they are treated "more democratically" when they have on dresses than when they are in kimono.

Lots of changes are taking place, but there always have been changes in fashions here from time to time. For example, even the so-called "traditional" kimono has developed from an ancient loose costume to the modern tight garment that it is.

While the Japanese girls now want to bulge in the right places, their sisters of old hated to see those additional pounds come on, since very slender figures bring out the elegance and beautiful lines of the kimono to a better advantage. It was a desire to harmonize the face with the slender body that decreed a melon seed face to be the most fashionable.

Different Dream Girl

The dream girl of the Tokugawa warrior was a bashful little creature with oval face, narrow waist, small hips and delicate hands and feet.

The women of Tokugawa days attached a great deal of importance to their manner of walking, sitting down or carrying themselves.

When she was standing, she was supposed to look like one kind of peony; when sitting she was supposed to resemble a different peony. A walking lady, the rules declared, had to remind people of a lily.

"MISS VENUS" — Pretty Beverly Cottiewell, 18, shows the figure which won her the title, "Miss Venus," in a French bathing suit contest. Beverly also got a movie contract.

ENJOY BELGIAN HOLIDAY

BRUSSELS, Sept. 3 (AP)—A second contingent of 50 R. A. F. orphans has been invited to spend holidays in homes found for them by the Belgian Air Force Welfare Section in Belgium. They will stay one month. A third contingent of 50 children will follow one month later.

Soviet Raises Spotted Deer For Medical Value Of Horns

MOSCOW, Sept. 3. (AP)—In the Soviet Far East special farms are busy growing deer horns. This sounds like a strange occupation, but in fact it is a profitable one. For the deer are the exceedingly rare spotted deer and the young horns of this species possess medicinal qualities highly valued by specialists.

The spotted deer is found only in the Maritime Districts of the Soviet Far East. The deer farms have a double task—to collect this valuable product and to permit the spotted deer to multiply.

Woman Held In Jail Receives 50 Proposals Of Marriage

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 3. (AP)—Brenda Allen, who gave her occupation as prostitute when she appeared before the county grand jury, says she received 50 proposals of marriage by mail during her four months sojourn in the county jail.

The Hollywood madam, released from jail yesterday on a state supreme court writ, told reporters the proposals were included in letters she received from all parts of the United States.

Miss Allen, one of the central figures in the police vice tie-up investigations, claims she was illegally convicted on an attempted pandering charge. The Supreme court ordered her released on $2,0000 bond pending arguments on this point Oct. 3.

World's Most Marvelous Clock Knows All, Tells All, And Entertains As Well

HEIDELBERG, Germany, Sept. 3. (U.P.)—The world's most marvellous clock is on view here.

It took Michael Waitz 39 years to put the 12-foot apparatus together, and if he hadn't told his two sons on his death bed how to handle the hundreds of wheels and transmissions the world would never have seen the wonder clock in operation.

The glittering clock now set up in a tiny workshop here does everything to let you know what time, day, month or season it is, and it throws in extra performances.

A deep gong bangs out every minute.

The quarter hours are announced by a child, a teen ager, an adult, and an old man, who appear in front of the clock. All four are hand carved.

A skeleton death declares the past hour dead every sixty minutes. He comes out of the "clock house" too.

When death appears he is "guarded" by an angel looking from a window above.

Also on stage every hour are the twelve apostles to bow before Christ, who blesses every one of them from his position atop the clock.

When Hitler's propaganda minister, Paul Joseph Goebbels, took a look at the construction before it was finished he asked that the twelve apostles be replaced by a dozen storm troopers.

"Christ's blessing would suit them well" he is reported to have said. Waitz rejected the request.

In the morning, at noon, and shortly before sunset a sexton rings a special bell for prayers as an old man bends his knees and raises his hands in prayer.

Watchman Toots Horn

During the dark hours a night watchman toots his horn. The new day is heralded by a crowing cock from the roof of the clock, and ushered in by an angel.

In addition to telling the time in both hemispheres, you may gather what day, month or year it is from the clock's season dial which also marks Christmas, Easter, the signs of the zodiac and the four seasons.

New Year's Eve is greeted by a bugler playing a fanfare on his trumpet.

That, however, isn't all.

If you want to know where the moon will be 10,000 years from now, just ask Waitz's clock. It also shows Christ's last days in a special Easter performance.

HST Gets His Loyalties Mixed; Oil Under Air Field Poses A Problem

A CASE IN POINT:

The Vaughan Muddle

PRESIDENT Truman's intense, personal loyalty to personal friends is a quality well recognized and, more frequently than not, commended by the American public. But this quality ceases to be admirable, and becomes the reverse, when the President permits his personal and official loyalties to become hopelessly mixed. When his loyalty as President blinds him to propriety, then Mr. Truman misuses the highest office within the gift of humans to bestow.

The most extraordinary example of the President's obvious confusion as to a fitting beneficiary of loyalty is Maj. Gen. Harry Vaughan, his military aide.

Giving General Vaughan the full benefits of all doubts as to intentions and integrity, many of his actions and associations have not been of a nature which reflects credit upon a Presidential aide and as the incumbent's close—if not closest—confidant.

Some of the many incidents which have involved General Vaughan include acceptance of a high decoration from the Argentine dictator, Peron, whose obvious motive was to improve his chance of getting a big handout in the U. S.; his intimate associations with acknowledged "5 per centers;" his intimate friendship with "Fixer" John Maragon, whom Vaughan himself now describes as being "beyond fumigation," the related deep freeze gifts and many others.

The best that can be said of Vaughan is that his conduct has not reflected the judgment and good taste which should be essential qualities of any official aide and close confidant of a President. Yet Mr. Truman stubbornly reiterates his determination to keep in a position of high honor and responsibility a man repugnant to great numbers of Americans.

These Americans would not — could not, with justice—criticise the President's friendships if he would keep them personal. But people have every right to criticise when objectionable personalities are made part of their government.

Most Americans unquestionably have their fill of the Vaughan escapades. Their respect for and confidence in Harry Truman, the President, suffer because of the friendship involved. The sooner Mr. Truman rids himself of such confidants, the more he can hope to salvage in confidence and respect for the high office which belongs to no individual but to all the people of the United States.

Following The Line

PAUL ROBESON, the negro agitator, must be given credit for one thing. There's nothing half-way about his following of the Communist line. His announced plan to hold a concert near Peekskill, N. Y., scene of bloody rioting in protest of his scheduled appearance recently, proves it.

One of the basic teachings of the Communist mob is to stir up all the trouble possible among people not enslaved by the Reds. Recent events have proved Peekskill to be a prime spot for starting trouble. So Robeson has done what he can to start and prolong trouble, in obedience to the wishes, if not the direct orders, of Uncle Joe Stalin, by whom the negro was honored recently when he visited Russia.

Whether Robeson actually intends to be present at the scene of the proposed concert is another question. He was far from the zone of trouble—"delayed" his stooges said—when the recent rioting broke out. There's a pretty good chance that he might make it convenient to be late again, because it should be apparent to any reasoning person that Robeson's object is, not to sing, but to touch off all the violence he can.

Motorists, Beware!

THE start of the new term of Lubbock schools during the coming week will mean, among other things, that thousands of children will throng the streets. Newcomers will register Monday, Classwork begins Tuesday.

No driver should require sermonizing as what this means in terms of traffic dangers. He must drive with more than usual care unless he wants to take the chance of killing or injuring some child.

It is to be hoped prayerfully that none will take that chance.

The Melancholy Days Are Here

DEFENSE CHIEF PRAISED BY TEXAS' SEN. JOHNSON

Sec. Johnson Sets Fine Example In Economy Move

By SEN. LYNDON B. JOHNSON
Avalanche-Journal
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3 — Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson made history — and enemies—two weeks ago when he pared 137,000 government workers from the payroll of the payroll of the National Military establishment.

This action marked the first occasion since the end of the war that a department head in the Federal government has voluntarily dismissed so many workers for no other reason than to save the tax-payers dollars.

SEN. JOHNSON

Secretary Johnson estimates that the August dismissals should save $500,000,000 or half-a-billion dollars. He intends to save more than a billion before he finishes this economy drive.

Lost Friends In Move

Ordinarily, it might be expected that Secretary Johnson would be applauded and acclaimed for what he has done. Nothing has been sought more diligently, promised more often, or demanded more firmly than "economy in government." Everybody is in favor of it, they say, and nobody is opposed to it.

But Secretary Johnson is not being hailed as a "hero" for what he has done. He has put himself in the unenviable position of saving more dollars and losing more friends in a single day than any other public official in many years.

SECRETARY JOHNSON'S efforts to save half-a-billion dollars reached into nearly all the 48 states. It meant that military installations in many cities will be closed down, that workers in places thousands of miles from Washington will be out of jobs. That, apparently, is not the kind of economy most of the loud-spoken economy advocates have been asking for; they have received Secretary Johnson's action coolly and even Johnson's action cooly and even

The truth of the matter is, economy is somewhat like castor oil—everybody prescribe it for the other fellow, but nobody takes it unless it is forced down.

Louis Johnson poured a stiff dose of castor oil down a lot of people, and he didn't provide any orange juice to kill the taste.

Personally, I hope the Secretary will hand out more doses of the same medicine and that other officials will take courage and do likewise. The only sure way to cut government expenditures is to economize first and explain later.

From my own experience, I have found that the greatest obstacle to economy is, ofttimes, the group of people who wail loudest and longest for economy.

Solons Put On Spot

One day a congressman or a senator may receive a bluntly-worded letter from a group of prominent constituents demanding that he "stop this foolish, wasteful spending in government."

In threatening tones the constituents will write:

"We will be watching your voting record to see whether you are looking out for the taxpayers or the bureaucrats."

Next day, the same congressman or senator will receive an equally blunt letter from the same group of prominent constituents demanding that he get a $10,000,000 bill passed for some purely local pet project that is dear to their hearts.

What is the man in Congress to do? If he is true to the taxpayers, he will refuse to sponsor the bill pouring $10,000,000 down the drain in his home district. If he refuses to sponsor the bill, though, the voters — yes, the taxpayers —will vote against him in the next election and send some man to Congress who is pledged to vote for economy everywhere except in the home district.

* * *

THE same story could be told over and over. Every member of Congress receives an armload of mail each week demanding that the bureaucrats be "driven away from the public trough."

Looking At Life - - - - - - By Erich Brandeis

THE lady who told me this story swears by everything that it it true.

We were sitting on the porch of some friends yesterday afternoon, playing Canasta, when this lady came in with her daughter

BRANDEIS

Now, as you probably know, whenever anybody one doesn't know very well drops in to call one starts to talk about Art or Literature.

Since the parties of the first and second part usually know equally little about art and/or literature these are pretty safe subjects to talk about.

So the conversation turned to Art yesterday afternoon.

This lady knew a lot about Art, as you will see in a minute.

She told us about a noted portrait painter whom she knows very well.

And this great portrait painter told her of a recent experience with a very wealthy woman.

She came to him and asked him to paint her portrait.

He agreed but asked a very, very stiff price for his work.

The very wealthy lady agreed to pay it, provided her dog, "a most intelligent and refined animal" approved of the painting when it was finished.

That was all right with the painter.

He knew that he was a very good painter, and he also knew that an intelligent dog might know just as much about good Art as some of his patrons.

So she sat for the artist, and he did what he thought was a very fine job.

He brought the painting to the lady's home and placed it on a low easel, where the dog —setters being quite large—could easily examine it.

Te dog was called it.

"Nice boy," said the lady,

Barksdale Involved

Being Drained Off

(ED. NOTE: While Drew Pearson is on vacation, the Washington Merry-Go-Round is being written by his old partner, Robert S. Allen).

By ROBERT S. ALLEN
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON. — Pentagon chiefs have a perplexing problem on their hands at the Air Force's big Barksdale field at Shreveport, La.

It has been definitely established that there is a lot of oil under the base.

The big question is what to do about it, in view of a number of complicating factors involving ownership and preservation of the base.

The 23,000-acre reservation was given the A. A. F. in 1932 by the city of Shreveport, which bonded itself for $1,500,000 to acquire the land. While there is no issue over the Air Force's ownership of the property, Shreveport is claiming a "moral right" to a voice in what is done about the oil.

The city contends the field was given the nation for military purposes and the government is under obligation to preserve it for that. Shreveport does not want the base turned into an oil venture of indefinite tenure. It prefers a permanent military establishment with an assured steady income to local businessmen.

On the other hand, experts have warned the government that oil under Barksdale is being drained off by numerous private wells adjoining the field. Unless prompt steps are taken to exploit the Barksdale oil, it will be lost in a few years.

Still another problem is how to dispose of the oil, if it is decided to do anything about it.

City authorities favor leasing by competitive bids. They feel that will offer the best assurance of retention of the air base. Private oil companies want the government to sell the land. They say the government will make more money that way.

Rep. Overton Brooks, Shreveport, and Rep. John Bell Williams, whose Mississippi district adjoins Brooks', are vigorously insisting on competitive leasing. Williams, who lost an arm as a wartime pilot, has introduced a bill making competitive leasing mandatory on public oil lands.

After a conference with Shreveport officials, Brooks and assistant Interior Secretary C. Girard Davidson decided the best way to handle the problem was to hold a public hearing. It has been set for September 27 in the city, and everyone who has any views will be given a chance to air them.

The Pentagon hopes an amicable solution will be found.

Visit To Japan

If the mountain won't go to Mohammed, then Mohammed will go to the mountain.

That's what Sen. H. Alexander Smith, R., N. J., will do next week when he flies to Tokyo to confer with Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

The Jap occupation commander recently declined a foreign relations committee invitation to give it his views on the hotly controversial issue of more large-scale aid to the Chinese Nationalists. Senator Smith, a member of the committee, is a strong advocate of such a policy.

So, with MacArthur unwilling to come to the U. S., Smith decided to go to Tokyo. He will also visit Korea and the Philippines.

VICE PRESIDENT BARKLEY received a letter asking to what he attributed his success in life. He wrote the following answer: "I can best answer your letter with this story. A bride was playing bridge with her husband. After a series of misplays, he said to her, 'darling, how can you be so beautiful and so dumb?' To which the bride answered sweetly, 'I am beautiful so that you will love me, and I am dumb so that I will love you'."

French Kickback

The ECA has made no announcement about it, but it has cracked down on a neat little kickback scheme that netted the French government an estimated $700,000—at the expense of U. S. taxpayers.

The deal involved brokerage commissions on chartered ships to transport coal to France. Half the total coal tonnage shipped to France must be carried in American vessels. By an involved process, the French were cutting themselves in for a kickback on the money ECA was spending to supply the French with coal. This netted them a nice wad of dollars over and above their Marshall plan allotment.

From now on, the brokerage fees will go where they belong—to the ECA.

A NEW administration "plan" will be uncorked at the next big Democratic regional conference, in San Francisco, September 18-19. It will be the "Sawyer plan," fathered by Commerce Secretary Charles Sawyer, and designed to do for hard-hit industrial areas what, it is claimed, the Brannan plan would do for agriculture.

Sawyer has been working on his plan since returning from his recent business-sounding tour. The plan has been discussed at a cabinet meeting and has the President's approval.

A large contingent of labor leaders will be on hand for the San Francisco unveiling. Among them will be Joseph Keenan, head of the AFL League for Political Education, Jack Kroll, head of the CIO's Political Action committee, W. Park Kennedy, new president of the railway trainmen, and officers of the International Association of Machinists.

In addition, there will be representatives from farm organizations, west coast Democratic leaders, a large contingent of the cabinet and national committee chiefs.

Potpourri

Adm. William Leahy, retired presidential chief of staff, will publish his book of memoirs next month . . . James Roosevelt, eldest son of the late President, is wasting no time in running for governor of California next year. He broadcasts every Sunday on a Pacific coast network "on a sustaining basis." . . . Puerto Rico has a density of population four times greater than any Latin-American republic except Haiti . . . Sen. Russell Long, D., La., takes strongly after his late father in one regard. Young Long's favorite food is mustard greens, cornbread and buttermilk mashed together . . . Joe Borkin, former ace Justice department trust-buster, says automobile making is the one giant industry that still maintains genuine competition.

"A victim of arthritis can secure beneficial results by inciting bees to sting him," says a physician. He can also loosen up his joints considerably by provoking a bull to chase him.

A scientist says intense sound waves will destroy germs and bacteria. The hay fever victim should sneeze louder, if he can.

CHRISTOPHER AWARD NOVEL

"Call It Treason" Good Reading

"CALL IT TREASON," by George Howe; (Viking).

FOR THE subject of this novel, which out of 2,000 entries won the $15,000 Christophers award for a book "in accord with Christian principles," the author chose treachery—treachery which theoretically merits praise since it is treachery to our wartime enemy, Germany.

Prisoners of war were put to work at various jobs, among them, if they were Anti-Nazi and volunteered for it, spying for our Army. Word was passed around informally through the prison camps that anyone who wished could make his hatred of Hitler effective by some secret special services . . . inquire at the office.

Three Men Inquire

Three men inquire. They are the Tiger, a Communist; Paluka, a strapping big fellow who enjoys adventure; and Happy, son of a Berlin doctor and a convinced foe of Nazidom. They are thoroughly briefed and equipped, as Howe, who was with Seventh Army G-2, spares no pains to tell us, and then with a slap on the back and a couple of extra drinks, they are flown behind German lines, where they come down by parachute and set out on their dangerous missions.

Accompanied by Paluka, the Tiger is expected to foment an uprising in Mannheim, Happy's assignment, to locate some German army outfits, is described at greatest length. Dropped almost as far east as Augsburg, he must thumb rides back to the Rhine, picking up the required information on the way, and swim back with his report. How the secret police close in on him should make thrilling reading.

Howe uses a lot of footnotes. Instead of breathlessly following Happy's death-defying adventure, you have to follow a star or asterisk to the bottom of the page to learn how the Wehrmacht calibrated guns, that an Imbert is an auto which burns wood, and so on.

Even so, attention is held more by this unusual factual background, with which you assume the author is familiar, than Happy's adventures, which are imaginary. Most of his escapes are hairbreadth but not hair raising.

The first half of the novel is interesting, but in the second the author forgot to put in the suspense. Maybe the judges read only the first half.

Panoramic Novel

"THE HAPPY GENERATION," by Ferenc Kormedi, translated from Hungarian by Claud W. Sykes; (Crown).

BEGINNING WITH the infancy of Paul Hegedus in Budapest in 1900 and carrying on a detailed account of him, his friends and family until he reaches his thirties, this panoramic novel unfolds as Europe develops from an age of innocence to the bitter ripeness of wisdom.

Paul and his elder brother George are sons of a doctor. They have servants, chamber music, theater parties, long summer holidays; it's a civilized existence, and the doctor sees no reason for not expecting Paul's generation to be still happier. The boy graduates from nursery to governess to school, learns to count on his mother for loving kindness and his father for stern justice, and is taugh by various uncles, aunts and cousins that it take all kinds to make a world.

The first significant change in his prospects occurs with his mother's death and his father's second marriage to Clara, a household employe. Beginning in 1914, the lives of these people are no longer their own; they are the victims of warfare, of the struggles of Left and Right, of the fluctuations of currency. In a world which is breaking up, the entire Hegedus circle breaks up, too, individuals becoming unfaithful spouses, ingrate children, rich, poor, Communist, rightist, Jew baiter.

The novel should be popular with the reader who likes a big dish, a literary blue plate special, something he can get his teeth into. Since it was first published 15 years ago, it has been popular abroad.

But for me, Paul's search for happiness, at several kinds of jobs and at love, is not carried on with much intelligence. He wanders around at loose ends which, however, even those loose times do not adequately explain. For all its uncommon length, the novel leaves many personages insufficiently motivated. And I have the feeling that the connection between the Hegedus clan and the continental background is incidental; it didn't have to happen this way just because it happened that way to Europe; their mass is one thing, Europe's another. The novel is too big for its pants.

Desperate Children

"THE DESPERATE CHILDREN," by David Cornel DeJong; (Doubleday).

TWO YOUNGSTERS are introduced in this novel to each other, and to adults, and they suffer growing pains which are made none the easier by the eccentricity of the community into which this author has thrust them.

The boys are Orrin, whose father killed himself, and Sebastian, whose mother tells him his father tried to kill himself. Their teacher, Miss Tumolcy, is all sympathy and understanding; but the principal, Miss Stroock, though ostensibly it is a progressive school, is as old fashioned as birch rods and maiden aunts, and she does her best to counteract Miss Tumoley's good influence. Orrin, who lives on a farm, learns about sex from his cousin; Sebastian is given one lesson by a negro girl, and he gets a low mark. In the background are the stilted, dry romance of Miss Stroock, and the love affair of her sister and Orrin's cousin Chet. And there is a zany Mrs. Giloogley, who has for oddity's sake changed her name from Geel, and who puts up signs on her property. "All children welcome."

Despite a few poignant moments, this novel is too contrived to be wholly convincing. The problem of growing into long pants is difficult enough without such added complications as hysteria, kleptomania, dipsomania and just mania in general. If these children are "desperate," it is rather DeJong's fault than society's.

For Young Readers

"THE MYSTERIOUS CABOOSE," by Mary Graham Bonner; (Knopf).

INTO THIS tale for and about youngsters, the author has worked ingeniously many fictional matters which appeal to grown-ups; while she skips the love interest, there are some boy-and-girl business, bravery and its reward, mystery and its solution, railroading, the Mounties, and adventure.

Jock and Tom McNair dash to the rescue of a girl on a runaway pony. And who is the girl's father? Nobody less than a Canadian National Railways vice president, who says, sure, if the boys want to be repaid with a ride in a caboose, he'll arrange it. That's where restaurant robber and bag of cash come in. Young readers will learn it pays to be bright as well as brave.

New Bid Of Former General For Release From Prison Reported

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3. (AP)—Bennett E. Meyers, the one-time major general ousted from the Army and sent to prison in 1948, was understood today to have made a new bid for early release from custody.

His attorneys, asked about reports that Meyers had suggested a compromise settlement of the government's $87,000 income tax claims against him, said there have been "some discussions" with the Justice department on the subject. They declined to talk details.

Both the Justice department and the Internal Revenue bureau declined official comment.

Now Serving Sentence

The former Air Force purchasing officer is now serving a 20 months to five year term at Lorton (Va.) federal reformatory. The sentence was imposed after his conviction of inducing an associate to commit perjury before a Senate committee which investigated the general's private wartime business activities.

Meyers will be eligible for parole in mid-November after completing the minimum time fixed by the court. The suggested compromise of his income tax cases evidently is intended to bolster his case for freedom before the parole board.

Meyers is under a series of Baltimore, Md., federal indictments charging evasion of $61,389 in personal income taxes between 1941 and 1946.

Charges Are Filed

In addition, the Internal Revenue bureau filed charges at Dayton, Ohio last year accusing him of falsifying by $26,708 the 1941 tax return of Aviation Electric corporation, Dayton, Ohio. He was alleged to be the aircraft parts firm's secret owner during the war while he was in uniform.

These claims, totaling $87,097, involve felony charges—punishable by five years imprisonment in event of conviction.

A compromise, in lieu of further court proceedings, might involve a reduction of the charges to misdemeanors — punishable by one year—in exchange for a payment by Meyers to the government of a sum probably less than that claimed.

Meyers' present prison term stems from the charge that he induced Bleriot H. Lamarre, alleged "dummy" president of the Aviation Electric company, to give false testimony to the Senate committee about Meyers' interest in the concern.

Man Pleads Guilty

Lamarre first claimed the company and its profits were his. Later, he revealed he was only a low-paid clerk for Meyers with most of the profits being pocketed by the general.

Young Lamarre pleaded guilty to perjury based on his first story, which he said was dictated by Meyers, and let go free on probation.

Meyers' lawyers are currently pressing habeas corpus actions here and in the federal court at Alexandria, Va., near Lorton, to have Meyers' sentence set aside.

Both are based on the recent Supreme court decision that Harold R. Christoffel, Wisconsin labor leader, was improperly convicted of perjury because there was no evidence that a quorum of the house committee before which he had testified was present at the time of the alleged perjury. The same issue has now been raised in the case of the Senate hearings involving Meyers and Lamarre.

Italian Cattle Now Number Higher Than Pre-War Years

ROME, Sept. 3 (AP)—Italy's cattle population now exceeds that of pre-war years. Figures released by the Central Statistics Office show there were 7,923,000 head of cattle and oxen at the end of 1948, compared with 7,667,000 ten years ago. Pigs total 800,000 more than the 1938 figures, while sheep equal the pre-war level. Goats now number 2,174,000 head compared with 1,828,000 in 1938.

Only horses have not reached the pre-war level, numbering 720,000 against 791,000 in 1938.

The Agriculture Ministry program aims at 8,000,000 head of cattle before the end of 1950. The Ministry expects to raise the number of pigs to 3,700,000 and to obtain better meat production through selective breeding.

Sec. Johnson

So, the congressman votes to reduce expenditures in some department and the department is forced to dismiss several thousand workers. In the next mail, more letters pour in by the sackloads telling the congressman that "Aunt Minnie" has lost her job with the government and something's got to be done for her quick.

So long as the "bureaucrats" are merely unidentified statistics, everybody wants to fire them, but when a fired "bureaucrat" turns out to be somebody's aunt or brother or cousin, everybody loves them.

What many people do not realize is that the "government" which they consider bad and wasteful in Washington is the same "government" which they consider good and indispensable when it spends money in their own backyard. If government spending is to be cut, those cuts will be felt first at the forks of the creek — where the spending is done, not here in Washington where the spending is merely planned.

Economy, like charity, begins at home.

Must Face Facts

If the voters really want economy — and I believe they do — they must prepare to accept the effects of it right at home, even in their own pocketbooks. That, I know, is easier said than done. Very few men walk into their boss's office and ask for a cut in their paycheck, even though they known the firm would be in better financial straits if expenses were cut.

It is a futile and empty gesture to demand that public officials cut expenditures, then criticize them when the cuts strike close to home.

We can have economical government, we can save much more than the $500,000,000 Louis Johnson has saved — but that goal cannot be realized without the unselfish and wholehearted support of the people who elect men to public office.

In the final analysis, this economy drive — or any economy drive — will result in some hardships both to communities and to individuals. When you deal with billions of dollars and hundreds of thousands of employees, it is impossible to anticipate the result of each dollar saving that is made.

But we should remember this: the hardships of economy are not likely to be so severe nor so permanent as the hardships of waste. Economy may be bitter medicine but it is necessary to cure the deadly, crippling disease of waste.

What Louis Johnson has done should be an example to all government officials. They should borrow some of Secretary Johnson's forthrightness and much of his courage to accomplish in other departments and agencies this same, sensible and essential economizing. The United States will have a better government and a healthier economy, if prudent economy is recognized as a virtue and not a fault for high officials.

Boom In Typewriter Thefts Reported By Bangkok Police

BANGKOK, Sept. 3. (AP)—Stealing typewriters has become the recent rage in Bangkok. The "CID" reports that more than 1,000 have disappeared recently and, what's more, typewriter shops are becoming afraid to buy the stolen machines from thieves. Too hot.

So the loot is being stored in hiding places pending private sales. Identifying marks of the stolen machines have been reported to the CID which also let it be known that plainclothesmen are making unannounced visits to typewriter shops to discourage shopowners from dealing with the thieves.

Dr. Kinsey Silent On Latest Report

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 3. (AP) Dr. Alfred C. Kinsey, who has turned from men to women in his long range study of sex behavior, has the true scientific approach on the question of Hollywood women.

The Indiana university professor, who arrived here yesterday in connection with his studies, was asked if he had and comment on the Hollywood phase of his research.

He cautiously replied to interviewers: "I will wait until I find out what I find out."

The noted author of "Sex Behavior in the Human Male" is here pursuing his studies for a report, "Sex Behavior in the Human Female."

Early Tito-Soviet Dispute Revealed

PARIS, Sept. 3. (AP)—Yugoslavia's premier, Marshal Tito, has been on the outs with the Kremlin longer than anyone suspected, an American professor said yesterday.

Prof. Kirtley Mather, Harvard geologist, who lunched with Tito in Yugoslavia last week, said he asked his host if relations with Stalin were harmonious during Tito's Moscow visit in 1944.

"They were not," Mathers said Tito answered.

In 1944 Tito was leader of the Yugoslav partisans in the war against Germany and to all appearances had been hand-picked by Moscow for the job. He took over the country as prime minister following liberation in 1945.

The formal break between Tito and his erstwhile comrades came in June, 1948, when the Cominform blasted him for too great independence from Moscow.

Since that time the Russian-led bloc and Yugoslavia have engaged in a war of words which has kept the Balkans smoldering with war fears.

Mather said that from his conversation with Tito he gathered that the Yugoslav chieftain does not expect an armed Soviet attack, but is prepared for it if it comes.

He said that Tito would be swayed neither by Moscow nor by the western powers from pursuing whatever policy he believed best for his own country.

Looking At Life

"look at the picture and tell me what you think of it."

The dog gave the painting a cursory sniff and walked away wothout even one wag of his tail.

"SORRY," said the lady, "no deal"

The painter looked at the painting and at the lady.

"Ah, I see," he said, "I must take it back and add a few touches."

Two days later he brought it back.

The dog was called in again.

This time he not only wildly wagged his tail but again and again licked the picture in evident approval.

The lady beamed.

"I can see the improvement," she said, and made out a check.

What the artist did not mention to his wealthy patron, but confidentially told my friend's friend was that the only improvement he had made to the painting was to rub some bacon grease on it.

WHISTLE TOLD TO WALK

DORTMUND, Germany, Sept. 3 (AP) — "Your engine whistles too much at the crossing," irate Neheim-Huesten residents complained to railway authorities here.

They suggested the train conductor get out and walk before the engineer ringing a hand-bell.
