Posse Tracks Down Killer In Nebraska

MERRIMAN, Neb. (AP)—Grim Nebraska ranchers avenged the killing of three neighbors yesterday by cornering the gunman in a shed and firing bullet after bullet until the triple-slayer cried out:

"I'm through, come and get me!"

The angry posse poured into the building and dragged out 32-year-old Blaine Ellis, still clutching his shotgun.

Mortally wounded, Ellis gasped out the phrases "they bawled me out" and "just the meanness in me."

Officers said it was the dying man's admission that he killed Mr. and Mrs. George Mensinger and a neighbor, Deo Gardner, yesterday morning. Ellis formerly lived about two miles from the Mensingers.

The posse opened fire after Ellis raised his gun as if to shoot.

Mensinger, 28, was the operator of a 3,000 acre ranch five miles south of Merriman. He was killed early yesterday by a shotgun blast through the front doorway of his farm home. His wife, Elaine, 24, was wounded but reached a telephone and gave the alarm. Another shot killed her and wounded her 10-month old baby.

Gardner, 50, and another neighbor, Cliff McDonald, had started for the Mensinger ranch when they met the assailant. Gardner was killed by a pistol shot and McDonald wounded by a shotgun blast.

Ranchers and townspeople helped comb the almost roadless sandhills with planes, jeeps, cars and horses. A posse of more than 100 cornered Ellis in a shed on the Andy Andersen ranch about six miles from Mensinger's place.

Hearing Set For New Field In Mitchell

The Railroad Commission has set April 1 as the date for a public hearing on the application of W. J. Rasnick for discovery oil allowable rights, a new field designation and special field rules to apply to the reservoir found at the Rasnick No. 2 W. L. Elwood Estate, wildcat in Central Mitchell County.

The No. 2 Elwood was completed for a daily pumping potential of 61.44 barrels of oil plus 74 per cent water. Production is from open hole at 130 - 132 feet. Completion was natural. No gravity of the oil was reported.

The No. 2 Elwood is 261 feet from north and 1,271 feet from east lines of the lease in section 4-16-SP survey.

In the same area, Rasnick No. 2 Mrs. O. P. Price was completed for 77.28 barrels of oil plus 48 per cent water. Gravity of the oil was 18.9 degrees. Pay was topped at 126 feet, and total depth is 137 feet. Completion here was also from open hole.

The water in both wells is fluid in addition to the oil recovery.

The No. 2 Price is 330 feet from south and 1,306 feet from the southeast corner of the John Babcock south of Colorado City.

SCURRY COUNTY

Humble Oil & Refining No. 1 James Davidson, Northeast Scurry wildcat, is drilling in shale below 6,058 feet.

This prospector ran a drillstem test from 5,757 - 92 feet in a lime thought by some geologists to be the Cisco. Recovery was 330 feet of drilling mud with 2,000 feet of salt water and no shows of oil or gas. The tool was open 55 minutes.

HOWARD WELL

P. R. Rutherford No. 1 Binie White, extreme North - Central Howard wildcat, recovered 400 feet of gree gas in the drillpipe with 60 feet of oil and gas cut mud on a drillstem test in the Wolfcamp. The zone tested was from 6,990-7,025 feet. Operator is now drilling below 7,210 feet in shale.

KENT COUNTY

The Superior Oil Co. has completed a new oiler in the Salt Creek field of Kent County near the area which the State of Texas has asked be placed in receivership.

It is the No. 1-A-A-A. Wood, 467 feet from east and 2,212 feet from south lines of the lease in section 3, John Rodman survey. It flowed 24 hours for a potential of 203 barrels of 39.8 gravity oil. Gas-oil ratio was 546-1.

Pay was topped at 6,252 feet. Elevation is 2,064 feet, and total depth is 6,429 feet.

TRIPLETS NOW ARE 84

Taking a nibble of their cake in preparation for their 84th birthday party in Marlboro, Mass., are identical triplets, the former Faith, Hope and Charity Couglin (l to r). As schoolgirls in nearby North Brookfield, Mass., their mother had to dress them differently so teachers could tell them apart. All widows, the married names of the spry ladies are (l to r) Mrs. Faith MacDonnell, Mrs. Hope Daniels and Mrs. Charity Murphy.

Truck Collision Is Cause Of Huge Fire

SKIDMORE, Tex. March 28 (AP)—At least three business houses in this South Texas town were destroyed by fire today following collision of a gasoline and chemical truck.

First reports were that the chemical truck crashed into a car, swerved into a filling station, set it afire, then smashed into a parked gasoline transport, setting off an explosion.

Destroyed were the Harnden Sinclair Station, Paula's Cafe, the Hugh Lewallen home and the Skidmore Drug Store. The service station was across the street from the other buildings.

No one was killed but the driver of the chemical truck was taken to a Beeville hospital.

The driver of a parked gasoline transport, Jack Ferrell, Yoakum, was in the cafe at the time and was not hurt. E. L. MacRaven, Three Rivers, driver of the car involved, also was not hurt.

The resulting fire and explosion spread.

"Probably the whole block will be burned before this is over," said Deputy Sheriff W. M. Hobbs.

Skidmore has about 700 people in a cattle, small grain and cotton area of southern Bee County. It is about 10 miles south of Beeville.

The Beeville fire department came to help Skidmore's small fire fighting force but there are no city water mains here and the firemen had difficulty bringing enough water by tank truck.

The deputy said the truck came over an overpass on Highway 181 in the southern part of the business district hit MacReven's car, swerved to the right, knocked down all the pumps at the service station, then rammed across the street into the cafe.

Drouth Wasn't BrokenByRain

By The Associated Press

Dented but unbroken by slow, soaking rains — some of the first in months — the Texas drouth hung on Friday as scientific measures were planned to cope with the long dry spell.

A statewide water conference was planned by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. An attempt at rain making was in the assessment stage for some 26 counties chartered as the Colorado Water Assn. And Chancellor Gibb Gilchrist mobilized scientific and research resources of the big Texas A&M College system to combat the drouth, its efforts, and possible recurrence.

Prayer seemed to have paid off at Del Rio.

The Weather Bureau had no public comment, but farmers in the South Plains said they thought a rain making firm from Denver, Colo., may have brought the section's first moisture since early January. Giant snow flakes and light rain fell over a wide part of the Plains.

Precipitation totals for the state during the 24 hours ending at 6:30 a.m. included San Antonio 1.30; Austin .80; Waco .35; Del Rio .24; College Station .35; Junction .43; Cotulla .65; Tyler .28 and Corsicana .35.

Rainmaker Due Here Tuesday

Ken Milyard, a representative of the Krick Corp., a Denver "rain increasing" firm, was here yesterday and asked that a meeting be called of all farmers and businessmen interested in Scurry County's participation in the West Texas Weather Improvement District.

The district now embraces 11 counties with headquarters in Lamesa and has the Krick Corp. under contract to attempt its "rainmaking" process by using generators to seed clouds with silver iodide.

Operations for the district have already begun, and generators have been placed at Lamesa, Sterling City, Ballinger, Abilene, Leuders, Caddo, Wichita Falls, Childress and Lubbock.

Leon Huff, Jr., Chamber of Commerce manager, called the meeting of all interested for 7:30 o'clock Tuesday night at the district courtroom. At the meeting, Milyard will demonstrate the "rainmaking" idea by use of a deep freeze.

Steel Negotiations Are Recessed Until Truman Able To Make Decision

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman, just returned from his Florida vacation, faced the prospect today of having to act soon in the steel labor crisis.

Negotiations between Philip Murray's strike-threatening CIO steelworkers and big steel companies are in recess—with every indication they won't resume until the government clarifies its wage-price position.

A strike, already postponed four times by Murray at the government's request, is now fixed for April 8.

Recommendations made by the Wage Stabilization Board (WSB) are in doubt with the WSB claiming they fit within the anti-inflation rules and Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson contending they are "a serious threat" to economic stabilization.

Steel companies insist that if they are to put the WSB proposals into effect they must first get government approval to boost steel prices by $12 a ton.

Any such price increase is being stoutly resisted by Price Stabilizer Ellis Arnal. He fears it would open the way for price boosts up and down the line, causing a new burst of inflation just when living costs have leveled off.

The entire matter was ticketed for a thorough review by the President's Cabinet today. But there was no sign when Truman will step into the situation.

Murray has insisted that he won't settle for anything less than the WSB recommended.

This calls for a 17½ cent an hour pay boost, of which 2½ cents would be payable next July 1 and 2½ cents next Jan. 1. The WSB also recommended the union shop, which would compel all steel workers to belong to the union, and added vacation, holiday, shift and Sunday pay benefits.

Steel workers now average about $1.80 an hour. But when overtime and other premium pay is added, their earnings average nearly $2 an hour.

Mystery Man Drops Down In Parachute, Naps, Leaves Town

STRATFORD, Wis. (AP)—A reticent stranger dropped out of the sky yesterday, took a snooze at a local hotel and then dropped out of town.

He left behind an open parachute with unidentified instruments attached, yards of plastic material taken to be a deflated balloon, and scores of gaping townfolk.

The blossoming mystery was nipped in the bud last night when an official of General Mills, Inc., at Minneapolis identified the sky traveler as one of the firm's weather researchers on a business holiday.

Charles Moore, in charge of balloon work for the Aeronautical Division of General Mills, said the employe—Nick Green—had taken an unauthorized jaunt in a weather balloon on his day off.

What made local townsfolk scratch their heads was that the visitor wouldn't talk to any one except Undersheriff Myron Mueller. And neither Mueller nor his father, Sheriff Carl Mueller, would pass along the information.

Myron Mueller, called to the farm of Emmett Colvin because a parachute was hanging from a power wire, said he found the man who had been seen leaving the area, asleep in a hotel room here. He said the man, who admitted the 'chute was his, gave his name as Nick Green. Mueller said his father, the Sheriff, had telephoned Minneapolis.

The silent stranger left town by bus in the afternoon. Moore said a man would be sent from Minneapolis—about 200 miles west of here—to pick up the parachute, instruments and plastic material which the sheriff's department put away for safe keeping.

Moore described the weather balloon as 25 feet in diameter and filled with helium and said it carried orthodox instruments for weather observation aloft. He said the balloon was incapable of going higher than 5,000 feet.

Moore said cables usually are attached to the balloons when men are sent aloft to make observations but that free flights by parachute-equipped observers, as was Green, have been made.

General Mills is engaged in cosmic ray research work for the Navy.

Tideland Talk Delayed Again

WASHINGTON, March 28 (AP) — The Senate sidetracked the submerged oil lands legislation for a third time today but with the understanding voting on the various proposals will begin Wednesday.

The first issue to be decided then is whether federal revenues from oil leases on lands beneath the marginal seas will be set aside for grants to the states for schols.

The Senate agreed to follow that with rapid-fire votes on whether the federal government or the abutting states should own and control the off-shore lands and the minerals in them.

Pending before the Senate since March 3 has been a resolution for federal control of lands seaward of the low water mark on the coasts. The coastal states would be given 37 per cent of the royalties from oil and gas produced within their exterior boundaries, usually three miles seaward.

The measure was set aside, when prolonged debate developed, to permit the Senate to take up the president's reorganization plan for the Internal Revenue Bureau and the Japanese Peace Treaty. It was set aside again today to take up a proposed military pay increase.

Majority Leader McFarland (D-Ariz.) last night sought agreement to dispose of the question today. But senators objected, asserting there would be absentees.

Backers of "oil for education" argued yesterday the nation's schools are facing "desperate" need for additional classrooms and teachers.

Cobra Thought Loose In Town

DENVER (AP)—A deadly king cobra was believed loose in Denver today.

The snake apparently slithered out of a reptile garden operator's automobile during an attempted burglary of the car.

Police said they had been on the alert for more than 12 hours, but had received no reports of its whereabouts.

The snake, said to be from five to six feet long, was in a carload of assorted reptiles and animals being transported to Bergen Park, Colo., by Scott Lamb.

Lamb said about 400 snakes, including rattlers, boa constrictors and blue indigos, were in cotton sacks in the rear of the automobile. He said a sack containing about $700 also was in the car, but was not touched.

The cobra was sacked with a blue indigo. The blue indigo snake was found by a man shoveling snow near bustling downtown Denver.

Denver General Hospital hastily consulted local drug wholesalers for a supply of serum to combat the bite of the cobra.

AgencySlow To Take Action

WASHINGTON, March 28 (AP) — Government reluctance to file criminal charges against men involved in allegedly corrupt grain deals was marked today for deeper Senate investigation.

At issue are shortages amounting to millions of dollars in grain purchased by the Agriculture Department or mortgaged to it in the price support program. The Senate Agriculture Committee is investigating.

Sen. Aiken (R-VT.), ranking Republican on the committee, denounced as "an invitation to dishonesty" a letter written in April by James A. Cole, an Agriculture Department official in Minneapolis.

Cole's letter, addressed to an Agriculture Department lawyer, said "there are so many cases of conversion" of mortgaged grain to the profit of those who stored it "that we feel it is not only impractical but actually damaging to the farm programs to bring criminal action in every case of known conversion."

"Although it appears there has been conversion and that conversion continues," Cole wrote, "We prefer that the matter be handled as a civil case unless your office wishes to make a recommendation for criminal action."

No More Signs Of Cow Disease

Several farmers and ranchers in the county have asked that their cattle be vaccinated against anthrax, Dr. Robert J. Kidd, Snyder veterinarian, said today.

Kidd said none of the farmers have found any symptoms of the disease among their cattle, but many want to guard against it. The precautionary steps are being taken by stock owners in connection with the quarantine early this week of four farms near Inadale after one farmer's cow died of anthrax. After the quarantine was placed on the farms, vaccination of all cattle on that property began.

Farmers who have asked Kidd for vaccinations are widely spread in the county, he said.

Freezing Again In Night

Freezing weather hit Snyder again last night as temperature fell down to a low of 28. Mrs. D. P. Strayhorn, weather observer, said yesterday's high was only 45, and the thermometer stood at 30 at 7:30 o'clock this morning.

Pay Increase For All Military Personnel Due To Pass Senate

WASHINGTON (AP)—A pay boost for the 3,600,000 persons expected to be in military uniform during the next year comes up for Senate debate today.

Sen. Russell (D-Ga), floor manager for the measure, told a reporter he is confident of passage but said it may take several days.

The House approved a flat 10 per cent increase in base pay and food and rental allowances for everybody in the armed services from recruit to five-star admiral or general on Jan. 15.

The Senate bill, as revised by its Armed Services Committee under Chairman Russell, provides an average increase of 5.6 per cent, with lower-ranking officers and enlisted men getting the largest percentage boosts.

Russell said the Senate bill is closer to an "actual cost-of-living increase" than the House measure.

He told the Senate last night he believed it to be "a fair bill" although "judging by my mail, it does not meet with universal acceptance in the armed services."

Majority Leader McFarland (D-Ariz) tried to get an agreement to vote on the bill Monday or Tuesday, but Sen. Case (R-SD), Sen. Long (D-La) and Sen. Douglas (D-Ill) objected.

Douglas plans to offer a number of amendments.

The Senate bill carries a flat 3 per cent raise in base pay for all service personnel. The rate of increase in allowances for food and rent is based on the number of dependents.

For example all officers now collect $42 a month for subsistence or food. All would get $54 monthly under the Senate bill, a boost of $12.

Quarters or rental allowances for all officers would be increased $10 a month if they have one or two dependents, or $20 a month if they have three or more dependents.

Similar increases in food and rental allowances would go to non-commissioned officers and enlisted men under the Senate bill.

Once the bill passes the Senate it goes back to the House and a Senate-House conference committee then must adjust differences.

Annual cost of the Senate bill is estimated at 470 million dollars —380 below the 850 million estimated cost of the more liberal House measure.

New Premier Named In Tunis

TUNIS, Tunisia, March 28 (AP)—The Bey of Tunis today named a new premier regarded as friendly to France to succeed Mohammed Chenik, who was arrested by the French for his nationalist activity.

The Bey, the country's nominal ruler, named Salah-Eddine Baccouche to replace Chenik. The new premier is a big Tunisian landowner and was premier in 1949. He is regarded as a moderate in politics.

(In Paris, a high official of the French Foreign Ministry commented: "That is good news. Now France should be able to put into effect the reforms she proposed.")

The apparently conciliatory move by the Bey followed a day of ominous calm after the arrest of Chenik and three of his top ministers Wednesday on order of French Resident General Jean de Hauteclocque, Tunisia's real ruler.

Big Air Force Group Hits Red Supply Lines In North Korea

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—Skies cleared over North Korea this afternoon and Allied warplanes in force attacked the Reds' battered supply lines. Bad weather had kept them grounded more than 24 hours.

A few B-26 bombers flew through storm clouds in the morning and dropped high explosives on rail and highway traffic.

Thursday night B26s blasted 61 Red supply trucks off North Korean highways.

On the ground, an Allied patrol worked its way back to U.N. lines Friday after it had been cut off by Red fire west of Chorwon.

The action started at 1:40 a. m., and the withdrawal began about three hours later.

On the eastern Front Allied Artillery blasted Red positions between the Mundung and Satae valleys.

Haze and drizzle drenched most of the 155-mile front.

Allied Headquarters said Communist shore batteries in battered Wonsan were active on six of the last seven days. Near - misses splashed into the water around several American destroyers Wednesday.

Counterfire silenced the Red guns.

The U. S. cruiser Manchester and the destroyer Hanson pounded the east coast port all day Thursday. Farther north the British destroyer Cossack, and American destroyer Chandler and fast minesweeper Doyle attacked transport targets in the Songjin area.

The American cruiser Rochester and destroyer Moore supported Allied ground troops on the eastern end of the battleline near Kosong.

American pilots from the carriers Philippine Sea and Valley Forge reported they cut rail lines in 133 places and knocked out 14 railway bridges and by-passes on the east coast. In the west marine pilots from the carrier Nairoko reported three bridges and 65 supply buildings destroyed or damaged.

A North Korean broadcast said Communist amphibious troops captured Ko-Do Island near the mouth of the Taedot river on the west coast. It is a small island north of the 38th parallel. There was no Allied comment.

Mexicans Still Mad In Oaxaca

OAXACA, Mexico, March 28 (AP)—Hopes of an early peace between the Oaxaca state governor and the angry citizens of his state capital dwindled today.

Leaders of the eight-day resistance movement, which has shut the city up tight, spurned yesterday's armistice offers by Gov. Manuel Mayoral Heredia.

They stood firm on their demand that Mayoral resign or be ousted.

In reprisal, the governor cancelled his order that armed rural reserves withdraw and instead ordered in reinforcements. Another battalion of federal troops also moved in to keep the uneasy peace.

The clash began last Friday as a demonstration against a stiff new tax law. The law was repealed, but two demonstrators were killed, and the movement flared into a grim campaign.

Restaurant Prices Are Placed Under Ceiling

WASHINGTON, March 28 (AP) — Restaurant meal prices have been frozen, effective April 7, at their Feb. 3-9 level.

And operators must post by April 25 the ceilings on their main food and drink items.

The Office of Price Stabilization (OPS) issued the order last night. It said restaurants could change their prices up or down only on OPS orders. These would be based primarily on significant changes in the Bureau of Labor Statistics' monthly wholesale food price index.

Price Stabilizer Ellis Arnall said he forsaw no general changes in restaurant prices since food costs are "fairly well stabilized."

The new regulation replaces an order which permitted restaurants to adjust selling prices to match percentage changes in food costs.

Tarrant County Officials Get Tax Indictments By Grand Jury

FORT WORTH, March 28 (AP) — A federal grand jury investigating crime today returned income tax evasion indictments against Sheriff Sully Montgomery and Asst. Dist. Atty. A. L. Wardlaw of Tarrant County.

Montgomery was charged on three counts in connection with income tax payments for the years 1948, 1949 and 1950.

One alleged Montgomery paid a tax of $1,647.24 on a joint return showing income of $10,112.79 while his income was $16,422.23 and the tax due was $3,204.28. The second count charged the sheriff paid a tax in 1949 of $1,599.46 on a reported joint income of $9,903.97 while his actual income and tax due were $19,295.53 and $4,036.58.

The third charged that on a single return filed in 1950, the sheriff paid $1,221.90 on a reported income of $7,826, while he owed $2,743.56 on an income of $14,300.19.

Wardlaw was charged on two counts. One alleged he filed an individual return for 1948 showing taxes of $395 on an income of $3,999.84 while the government charges, he owed $2,292.34 on an income of $13,932.22.

The second count accused the assistant district attorney paid $581 on a reported income for 1949 of $5,100 while he owed $1,709.68 on an actual income of $10,385.66.

County records show Montgomery's income was $7,399.99 in 1948, $7,400 in 1949 and $7,553.30 and Wardlaw's was $4,000 in 1948 and $5,100 in 1949.

Maximum penalties are five years and $10,000 fines on each count.

U. S. Dist. Atty. Frank Potter, who directed presentation of the cases, said he would ask Federal Judge T. Whitfield Davidson to set a speedy trial date. He requested the trials be placed on the May docket of Dallas venue, being in Dallas because it is the headquarters of the collector of internal revenue in this district.

Montgomery is serving his third term as sheriff and has announced his candidacy for a fourth. Previously he was a constable.

Wardlaw served as an assistant district attorney from 1938 to 1944. He returned to private practice and returned to serve under Dist. Atty. Stewart Helman in 1947.

The 23-member grand jury will turn its attention to Dallas next week.

PRESIDENT HEADS HOME

Leaving Key West, Fla., at the end of his eleventh vacation trip there, President Truman shakes hands with Boy Scout John David Lawler, 12, just before boarding his plane at the Naval Air Station for his flight to Washington. The boy came to see the President off and stood in line with the officials when someone told him to.

Accuse Reds Of Holding Back Armistice Talk Just To Argue

MUNSAN, Korea (AP)—An Allied truce negotiator said today the Communists appear to be "unnecessarily holding up the armistice just to argue."

Col. Don O. Darrow said arguments ranged from the key issue of whether Russia should help supervise a truce down to which words should identify United Nations forces and Korea.

There were strong indications staff officers would hand the Russia problem back to top level armistice negotiators.

Darrow said the Reds were "not interested in discussing the problem among staff officers."

The Reds insist that Russia serve on a neutral inspection commission which would check troops and supplies moving into Korea during a truce. The Allies say Russia is wholly unacceptable.

The Russian question and the problem of how to exchange prisoners of war are the two primary current obstacles to an armistice.

Another group of staff officers met in secret session for the fourth time Friday in an effort to break the deadlock over whether prisoners should be allowed to reject repatriation.

Col. George W. Hickman told newsmen after the 2½ hour session, "we have reached no conclusive results."

Communist negotiators charged Friday that an Allied plane dropped propaganda leaflets over the Panmunjom truce talk area three days ago. They protested "this insolent behavior."

Lt. Col. Joseph Borchert said an investigation is under way.

In the neutral inspector discussion, Darrow again proposed that each side name only two rather than three nations. The Reds would be represented by Poland and Czechoslovakia and the U.N. Command by Sweden and Switzerland.

"There is no problem," Darrow said. "You can accept these and wrap the problem up. There is no need of six nations."

North Korean Col. Chang Chung San replied that the Allied position was unreasonable.

Man Electrocuted Here This Morning

S. A. Bonner, 53, of the Del Norte Courts on the Lubbock Highway, died by electrocution near the "Y" on the Roby Highway east of town this morning.

Bonner, an employe of the Bell Transportation Co., was electrocuted when he stepped from his truck after he had backed it into position to remove rods from a water well near the Hilltop Apartments at the "Y".

He had backed the truck up to the well and one of the rear wheels hit part of the concrete curbing on the well and caused the truck to tilt, throwing the gin pole into the Texas Electric Co. highline. When Bonner stepped from the truck he grounded the current and was apparently instantly killed, W. C. Dawson, justice of the peace, said.

Investigating officers from the police department said the accident occurred about 10 o'clock this morning.

The justice of the peace, called to the scene, pronounced Bonner dead shortly after 10.

Police said Bonner has lived in Snyder only about a month having moved here from Dallas. He and his wife live north of town at the Del Norte Courts. He has a stepson who lives in Lubbock, police said.

Funeral arrangements were not complete at noon today.

Kerr And Kefauver Go At Each Other Hard In Nebraska Race

OMAHA (AP)—It's a bare-knuckle struggle today between Sen. Kefauver of Tennessee and Sen. Kerr of Oklahoma for Nebraska's Democratic vote in next Tuesday's presidential primary.

The silk gloves are off. The polite phase is over. And the spirited Democratic contest for the moment has shoved the GOP's Taft-Eisenhower fight into the background in this old-time Republican stronghold.

Kefauver accuses Kerr of starting a "smear" campaign, and trying to taint him with the tar brush of "Communist leanings."

Kerr charges the Tennesseean shows "an utter disregard for the truth" and that he has tried to inject a note of religious intolerance into the campaign.

In the middle of these harsh Democratic words, Republican groups are beating the bushes to flush out support for Sen. Taft of Ohio, Gen Dwight Eisenhower, Harold Stassen and Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Almost overnight, the Nebraska election has assumed considerable importance as a major testing ground for candidates of both parties. And MacArthur-For-President leaders have come up with the suggestion that Taft should step aside and be "honored to serve as vice president under MacArthur as President."

But the center of interest was in the Kefauver-Kerr dispute in which the mild-mannered Tennesseean dropped his customary unruffled composure for the first time during his weeks of hand-pumping.

Kefauver angrily accused Kerr yesterday of trying to smear him through speeches and an advertisement sponsored by Kerr-for-President partisans. Kerr had said Kefauver favors a greater concentration of federal power in Washington. The advertisement criticized the Kefauver voting record in Congress on issues relating to Communist-control legislation, and said Kefauver would surrender U. S. sovereignty to an Atlantic Union.

"It's the same kind of tactics they used against me in Tennessee," Kefauver said, referring to his fight for election to the Senate against the opposition of Memphis political leader Ed Crump.

A reporter asked Kefauver if he had seen a published report alleging that Kerr, in 1928, had supported Republican Herbert Hoover against Democrat Al Smith, a Catholic.

Kefauver replied he had read the article and he was sure Kerr would want Nebraska voters to know his position in that race.

A short time later, Bernard J. Boyle—Kerr's Nebraska campaign manager—accused Kefauver of "trying to raise the religious question in this campaign." He said the Tennessean had "sunk to low levels."

Boyle, who is a Catholic, insisted Kerr had supported Smith against Hoover.

Kefauver denied he had raised any religious issue and added: "I still think Sen. Kerr should answer directly and not through a third person. For myself, I always prefer to make direct answers to any charges against me."

Earlier, Kefauver had accused Kerr of supporting legislation to aid the oil, gas, and allied industries in which he has a personal stake. The Oklahoman replied to this that Kefauver had shown an "utter disregard for the truth."

Meantime, Republican forces were drumming up interest in a write-in vote for both Taft and Eisenhower. The only Republicans listed on the ballot will be Harold Stassen and Mrs. Mary Kenny, a Lincoln housewife who is the nation's only woman candidate for President. Mrs. Kenny says she is a MacArthur supporter.

Secretary Pace Pleased With Mock Battles Through Texas

FORT HOOD, Tex. March 28 (AP)—Army Secretary Frank Pace called it "real realism." This Exercise Long Horn—biggest air-ground maneuver in U. S. history.

The cold, mud and rain are real. So are the endless waits and the endless marching. The never ending trudging up a slippery road or over rocky, barren hills.

Communication lines that don't work, orders that countermand orders, a sense of confusion, of being isolated from the "big picture"—these are real.

The bullets are blank but Korean veterans that make up what Pace said was 30 per cent of the outfits say that is the only part that isn't real.

It's as physically tough and so close to realistic conditions for the man who is going to face war as we can make it," Pace said.

Tactically, the 82nd Airborne Division—the aggressors—are two days ahead of where they should be in the northern sector of the front, but in the south the U. S. forces are holding the drive toward Waco as planned. Yesterday the first portion of the confident First Armored Division met the cocky paratroopers and handed them probably their first big setback since the maneuver started Tuesday.

An armored infantry company commanded by Capt. Howard Bowden, Fort Worth, backed by two platoons of medium tanks, knocked out half of an aggressor tank force of 26.

Indications were the U. S. forces—the 47th Division on the line, the 31st ready in another sector and the First Armored in reserve—were building for an attack. It would be the first counteraction of the maneuver, excepting brief engagement yesterday.

The first listing of "simulated" casualties were posted yesterday. The U. S. had 179 and the aggressor, with incomplete reports, at least 49.

The 31st (Dixie) Division took up position on the east bank of Cowhouse Creek. It has been held in reserve. Today a parachute drop of 50 tons of rations and 50 tons of fuel will fill its larder.

More than an inch and a half of rain soaked the maneuver area, turning dust-covered roads and fields into slippery quagmires.

The rain soaked through ponchos, field jackets, combat pants, the cold numbed faces, hands and feet, made teeth chatter and eyes water.

The gloomy, dripping skies curtailed air activity, with only little liason planes puttering tree top high in observation flights.

NEW DODGER CATCHER?

Two Producers By Magnolia

Magnolia Petroleum Co. has reported the completion of two new producers, one in the Von Roeder field of Borden County and in the Kelley - Snyder field of Scurry County.

Magnolia No. 7 W. Ed Murphy flowed 15 hours for a calculated potential of 209.28 barrels of 46.1 gravity oil. Gas - oil ratio was 845-1.

The flow was through a 14-64th-inch choke with casing pressure 375 pounds and tubing pressure 860 pounds.

Pay was topped at 6,784 feet, where five and one-half inch casing is cemented. Total depth is 6,794 feet. Elevation is 2,278 feet.

Drillsite is 1,880 feet from north and 2,070 feet from east lines of section 69-25-H&TC.

Magnolia No. 2-L McDonnell Estate made 91.08 barrels of 42.1 gravity oil on a 24-hour pumping test. No water was present. Top of the pay was called at 6,950 feet. Five and one-half inch casing is cemented there, and total depth is 7,016 feet. Elevation is 2,541 feet.

Drillsite is in the south half of the northeast quarter of section 335-97-H&TC.

Eastern Star Will Present Quartet Here

The Rangers Quartet will be presented at 8 o'clock Saturday night in the Snyder High School auditorium under the auspices of the Order of the Eastern Star. Tickets are now on sale at the Manhattan Coffee Shop, or may be purchased from members of the chapter.

Proceeds from the program will be used in helping build a wing on the hospital at the Arlington Eastern Star home, Mrs. Garland Armstrong, chapter member, said.

Concert Program At High School Tonight

The Snyder Concert Association will present the fifth, of its six scheduled programs at 8 o'clock this evening in the high school auditorium.

Appearing on the program will be the Dreamdusters, a male quartet with piano accompaniament.

Admission to the program is by association membership only, although association members may transfer membership cards for the evening's performance.

2 Fuller Sand Wells Finaled

Completions of two Cisco sand projects in Scurry County and a Fuller sand completion in Kent County have been filed with the Railroad Commission.

The Kent producer is Chapman & McFarlin Producing Co. No. 59 D. M. Cogdell, drilled in section 716-97-H&TC. It rated an initial potential of 139 barrels of 42.3 gravity oil. No water was present.

Gas - oil ratio on the test was 149-1. Pay was topped at 4,991 feet, with seven - inch casing cemented at 4,998 feet. Elevation is 2,346 feet. Total depth is 5,004 feet.

In the George Parks - Cisco sand field, Standard Oil Co. No. 26-S George E. Parks was finaled for 118 barrels of 42.7 gravity oil with no water. Gas - oil ratio on the test was 673-1.

Pay was topped at 6,034 feet. Elevation is 2,350 feet. Seven-inch casing is cemented at 6,026 feet and total depth is 6,070 feet.

The No. 26-S Parks is in the northeast quarter of section 447-97-H&TC.

In the same field, J. L. Collins and Co. No. 6 George E. Parks made 129.84 barrels of 42 gravity oil on the completion test. Gas-oil ratio was 80-1. There was no water.

Pay was topped at 6,158 feet. Seven - inch casing is cemented at 6,230 feet, total depth, and perforations are from 6,158-068 and 6,176-188 feet. Elevation is 3,290 feet.

Location is 467 feet from north and 1,179 feet from west lines of section 442 - 97 - H&TC.

Special treatment of sawdust has been developed to make it useful as food for cattle.

It is believed that the first Christmas trees were used in America about 1840.

Five New Cisco Sand Wells In Two Fields

Standard Oil of Texas has announced locations for five new Cisco sand tests in the Brown and Parks - Cisco sand fields.

One test, the No. 30-S George E. Parks, will be in the Parks field. It is 467 feet from south and 2,497 feet from west lines of section 448-97-H&TC, about 10 miles north of Snyder.

In the Brown field, Standard No. 1-6-S Mrs. Jessie W. Brown is 1,628 feet from north and 467 feet from east lines of section 439-97-H&TC. The No. 2-6-S Brown is 467 feet from north and east lines of section 439-97-H&TC.

Standard No. 6-8-S Brown is 1,234 feet from north and 2,670 feet from west lines of section 449-97-H&TC, and the No. 4-15-S Brown is 1,477 feet from south and 1,400 feet from east lines of section 496-97-H&TC.

Contract depth of all these projects is 6,300 feet.

Two Plead Guilty On Drunk Driving Charges

A fine of $123.50, including court cost, was assessed Robert M. Mollett, 58, of Lockney, when he pleaded guilty this morning to a county court charge of driving while intoxicated.

Alvin L. Morris, 38, of Lee Courts, pleaded guilty to a similar charge yesterday and was fined $75 plus the court cost of $23.50.

In both cases, driving privileges were automatically suspended for six months.

Driving Program Is Given At Rotary Lunch

A driver education program was presented to members of the Rotary Club yesterday by Elmer Taylor, school driving instructor, and two of his students, Marie Winters and Margaret Moore, held a quiz for the club.

Asking 10 questions on driving and driver safety, Taylor and his students showed the group how little most persons remember about driving.

Visitors at the meeting were Hiram Arrant of Abilene, Bob Kountz and Tom Rosson of Big Spring, E. F. Wetzel of Overton, Earl Vandervoort of Sweetwater, and Elmer Moore.

Fire At Furr's Today

A fire in an electric motor at Furr's Food Market early this morning did practically no damage, but filled the building with smoke, Ivan Gatlin, fire marshal, said.

Gatlin said the blaze was confined to the motor, and was quickly put out after arrival of the fire fighting equipment.

VOTE AGAINST
LEGALIZING LIQUOR, APRIL 5TH

Vote against it because God's Word condemns it. Heb 2:15; Prov. 20:1; Prov. 23:29-35; Isa. 5:11, 22-23; Prov. 31:45.

Vote against it because Medical Science condemns it! The American Medical Association has gone on record with the following statement: "Alcohol is a narcotic; it is a habit-forming poison drug." It is an established scientific fact that alcohol in beer, wine, or whiskey is a habit-forming, narcotic, poisonous drug. It befuddles the brain, it depresses the nerves, it distorts the vision, it retards muscular reaction, it releasee the inhibitions, or takes the moral brakes off. Dr. Howard Kelly, famous surgeon said: "There is no disease in the world for which alcohol is a cure. It causes thousands of cases of disease. Its use is ruinous to the kidney, liver, heart and small blood vessels."

VOTE against it because liquor—bootleg or legalized—does not pay financially. "Let Uncle Sam get the revenues instead of paying double price to the bootleggers" is a laugh to the well informed.

VOTE against it because it is not essential to the material prosperity of a city. The wets say, "You have to have legalized liquor in the town or grass will grow in its streets. Business won't come to the town, and people will move away so they can get their liquor."

ANSWER:
Lubbock, Texas, "The Hub of the Plains", population 1940 census, was 31,000. The 1950 census was 73,000 population. Lubbock more than doubled in 10 years. Lubbock's population now is estimated 90,000. You cannot buy a legal bottle of beer, wine, or whiskey within 100 miles of Lubbock in any direction. Let Snyder learn from Lubbock.

Scurvy County dry are against bootleg and legaliezd strong drink. There is no difference in the alcohol content of bootleg or legalized booze. Would you rather be bitten by a water moccasin or a rattlesnake? Poison is in the fangs of both. Scurry County Drys do not want to be bitten by either—and neither do we want our neighbors bitten.

BE WISE—DON'T ALCOHOLIZE
Vote Against Legalizing Liquor Saturday, April 5th

Background On How Dispute In Steel Got In Such Mess

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—Before the steel dispute gets more fouled up, here's a run-down on how it got that way.

Late last November Philip Murray's CIO steelworkers and the steel industry began talking about a pay increase.

The CIO wanted a boost of about 18½ cents an hour, plus other benefits. The steelworkers now average just under $2 an hour.

The steel industry said it couldn't grant such a raise unless the government, which controls wages and prices, let it raise prices, too.

The talks broke down. The union threatened to strike Jan. 1, one day after its contract with the industry ended.

President Truman could have delayed the strike 80 days by using the Taft-Hartley Act through which the government can get a court order forbidding a strike for about that length of time.

But the union would have been free to strike at the end of those 80 days if no settlement had been reached in that time. Besides, Truman has said publicly he doesn't like T-H.

So he asked the union and industry to let the Wage Stabilization Board, which sits on wages, to consider the case. And, until the board gave an opinion, Truman asked the union not to strike. It agreed.

The 18-man WSB—six members represent industry, six labor, and six the public—began hearing both sides. It held a number of sessions. And last week, on March 20, the labor and public members made a recommendation:

It would give the union, in installments, a pay boost of around 17 cents an hour, plus other money benefits and a union shop. In a union shop all eligible employes must join to keep their jobs.

There is dispute on just how much the union would benefit under the WSB recommendations. One industry spokesman says the total might come to 42½ cents an hour. But this much was certain:

The WSB recommendation was simply an opinion. It wasn't compulsory on the union or on industry to accept. The union said it would accept.

But the industry said it couldn't grant the increase unless the government, through its Office of Price Stabilization, let it have a price increase, figured to run around $12 a ton by industry estimates. OPS officials had previously said the industry, out of its large profits, could afford a wage increase without raising prices.

The net result: the union and the industry are back where they started last November, except that the union has the recommendation of WSB to support its demands, for whatever that is worth.

The big question: would the pay boost recommended by WSB, if it went into effect, smash the government's efforts to stabilize wages? WSB Chairman Nathan Feinsinger says there's nothing unstabilizing about it. Defense Mobilizer Charles Wilson says it's a threat to stabilization.

If the union wins, other unions probably will troop in, loking for more of the same. And if steel prices go up very far, other industries which depend on steel will certainly want to raise their prices.

Once again the government has to try to find a solution.

HOSPITAL NOTES

An employe of the Edding and Walcher Trucking Co., Albert Jones, about 49, of 2607 Avenue V, was admitted to the Snyder Hospital yesterday with a broken finger after a barrel he was loading on a truck fell on his hand.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Noble of Wells Trailer Court are parents of a daughter, born at the hospital last night. Born this morning was a son to Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Hirst of Snyder.

New Producer In Borden

Seaboard Oil Co. of Delaware No 3-B Jerry B. Clayton and others is a new producer in the Good field of Borden County.

It flowed 24 hours on the completion test to make 177.29 barrels of 43.4 gravity oil with no water. The flow was through an 11-64-th inch choke. With packer set in casing, tubing pressure was 500 pounds. Gas - oil ratio was 822-1.

Pay was topped at 8,204 feet, and five and one-half inch casing cemented there. Total depth is 8,225 feet. Elevation is 2,576 feet.

To Ask Health Inspection Here

After hearing a report from J. E. Craven, city - county health unit sanitarian that 286 pit toilets still stand inside the city limits, health and sanitation committee voted to ask Dr. George W. Cox, state health department head, to come here and make a survey of the city.

Headed by Stanley Noah, the committee decided Cox should review sanitation conditions in Snyder and make recommendations on action that should be taken. They have written Cox and asked him to come here April 10.

Members of the committee are F. I. McClanahan, Sid Worrell, R. E. Patterson, Haskell Beard, Mrs. Bess Fish, Dr. H. P. Redwine, Charles Noble, Ross Hemphill, J. S. Langridge, R. L. Nash, Mrs. Thelma C. Ross, Joe Burkett, Mrs. Sam Williams, Rev. W. W. Adcock, and Craven.

Absentee Vote Is Clarified

Only 30 absentee ballots have been turned in for the local option election scheduled April 5, Pat Johnston, county clerk, said today.

Johnston said that only those who wil be out of town or physically unable to go to the polls April 5 are allowed to vote by absentee ballot. Those voting by absentee ballot may vote in Johnston's office at the courthouse or by mail.

Deadline for absentee voting is midnight Tuesday, and those sending their ballots by mail must have them postmarked before the deadline.

Johnston said several persons whose jobs require them to be on 24-hour call have inquired about voting by absentee ballot, but he said only those who are reasonably sure they will be out of town on election day may cast absentee ballots.

Johnston said that those voting by absentee ballot must comply with one of the two following statements by signing an affidavit:

"I expect to be absent from said (Scurry) county on the said day (April 5) of election."

"I am because of my sickness or physical disability unable to appear at the polling place in said precinct on the said day of election."

AIRLINER BURNS

A Braniff Airlines four-engine plane burns after making an emergency landing in a wheat field near Hugoton, Kansas. The plane caught fire enroute from Colorado Springs, Colo., to Oklahoma City. The right inboard engine fell off and pilot Jack Stanford of Dallas landed the plane safely. The 45 passengers and crew of four got out safely except for some minor injuries suffered in getting out of the plane.

BUSINESS MIRROR

Guaranteed Wage Is Touchy Point In Steel Settlement

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK, March 28 (AP) — The dream of many an hourly worker—job security in the form of a guaranteed annual wage — is one of the issues in the steel wage-price dispute.

The steel union is asking the companies to agree to pay at least three-fourths of what a worker would make if he worked all year long, whether there's that much work for him at the mill or not in any one year. But the Wage Stabilization Board is not buying any of that squabble. It is tossing it back for management and the union to discuss further.

Other issues probably will decide whether there's an agreement or a steel strike. But the drive for a guaranteed annual wage doubtless will crop up again in other industries. Interest in it, at low ebb in periods of full employment, revives when men are being laid off and ople start fretting about the chances of another depression.

Demand, as usual, will be strongest in industries having wide ups and downs in jobs —where the workers are haunted most by the fear of unemployment. And here management will be the hardest to convince, arguing it's hard to foresee these cyclical swings, they often are caused by nation-wide or world-wide conditions beyond the company's control, to agree to such a plan is to sign a blank check.

"No company, however strong financially, can long afford to pay for work that is not performed," the Guaranty Trust Co. of New York points out today.

To which labor leaders reply that, if financially obligated to pay for part of the time a man is laid off, management might have more incentive to plan steady employment. Labor points to some industries, now depressed, who over-produced at a fast rate and now are under producing while getting over the binge — but with many of their employes out of work meanwhile. Labor contends a little better management might have prevented that.

Another argument for the guaranteed annual wage is its tendency to stabilize wage-earners' purchasing power, helping the entire economy. But the Guaranty Trust, in its April survey, holds this stabilizing effect is "very uncertain and probably very limited." It also calls the result of paying a worker for not working inflationary.

And the company, in assuming the cost, would pass that cost on in higher prices, the bank says.

Charter Granted To Ranmaking District

AUSTIN — A state charter was granted yesterday to the Colorado Water Association, Inc., which plans to try to increase rainfall in the Colorado River watershed.

The organizational meeting of the corporation, a non - profit organization, was held at San Angelo recently. G. J. Schmid of Austin, chairman, said operations are to be started about April 1.

Incorporators other then Schmid included three other board members, Joe Funk of San Angelo, W. T. Stewardson of Santa Anna, and Jack Williams of Paint Rock.

Schmid said 20 generators for cloud seeding were now in place, some as far south as Sabinal, with others in Junction, Brady and San Saba.

Evaporation of water produces a cooling effect.

Three towns in Berkshire, England are named Upper Wallop, Middle Wallop and Nether Wallop.

Americans have tripled their use of turkeys since 1930, says the National Geographic Society.

Study Series At Church Here

The first in a series of four study programs with classes for the entire family will be held at the First Presbyterian Church Sunday night.

"Churches for our Country's Needs" will be the general theme of the series. Mrs. Robert F. Wasson will have charge of the studies. Sunday night's program will be entitled "Scrambled America."

Classes will be conducted for junior - senior high school, primary - junior and adult age groups. The nursery will be open for younger children.

A buffet supper will be served following each meeting, with Mrs. R. T. Roberts in charge of the food committee.

The classes will be open to all who wish to attend, whether members of the church or not, the Rev. Ronald Hubbard, pastor of the church, said.

Adcock Speaks To Men Of Presbyterian Church

The Rev. W. W. Adcock spoke briefly on the hostile feeling toward America among the peoples of the Mediterranean at a meeting of the Presbyterian Men's Association Tuesday night.

Following Mr. Adcock's talk officers for the coming year were elected. New officers are Houston H. Harte, president, R. T. Roberts, vice - president, and Armor McFarland, secretary - treasurer.

Youth Temperance Meet Planned Monday Night

A country - wide youth temperance rally is being planned for 7:30 Monday night in the auditorium of the First Methodist Church.

Ollie Peak, who is helping direct arrangements for the rally, said the program has not yet been completed. A similar rally was held last week.

All young people of the county are invited to attend the rally, Peak said. It is being planned by an inter - denominational group, he said, with the hope of reaching as many young people as possible in Snyder and other towns in the county.

Presbyterian Women To Study Church Youth

A study program on youth in the church will be lead by Mrs. Armor McFarland at the Presbyterian Women's Organization meeting at 2:30 Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Robert Wasson directed a mission study on Latin America at a recent meeting of the group. She wore a native costume and displayed clothing, glassware, jewelery and other items brought back from Mexico and Latin and South American countries.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Q. Hagan, Lone Star camp, will be hosts for a wiener roast at 7 o'clock tonight, for the junior boys of the Church of the Nazarene. Hagan is teacher of the junior class.

Adopt Whole Latvian Family

OXFORD, Mich. (AP) — Factory worker Harold Hauser and his wife, their three children grown and gone, volunteered to adopt a child refugee from Europe.

That was two years ago.

Today the Hausers have the daughter, plus her four sisters and her mother and father. But everybody's happy at the tightly packed five-room Hauser home.

Here's what happened:

After the Hausers volunteered to adopt a displaced person as a daughter, Ruth Jansohn, a 12-year-old Latvian was selected for them. But Ruth hated to leave her family.

The Hausers heard of her predicament.

"All right," they said, "send us all seven."

This week Ruth got to Oxford with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Jansohn, and her sisters, Anna and Sylvia, both 19; Dsidra, 16, and Mirdsa, 15.

The home, where they'll stay until the Hausers can get them established in America, is the first real one the Jansohns have known since they fled Latvia in 1940.

Big Spring Minister To Talk On Radio Here

The Rev. P. D. O'Brien, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Big Spring, will be the speaker on a special program to be broadcast at 5 o'clock this afternoon.

Mr. O'Brien is to speak on the issues in the coming liquor election, comparing Big Spring before and after the sale of alcoholic beverages was legalized there, the Rev. E. K. Shepherd said.

Week-Long Revival In Dunn Church Planned

The Rev. Cecil Rhodes of Big Spring will conduct a week - long revival at the Dunn Baptist Church starting Sunday.

Mr. Rhodes, pastor of the West Side Baptist Church in Big Spring, will be assisted by Bud Richburg, who will serve as song leader. Services are to be held at 8 o'clock each night and 10 o'clock each morning. The evening service will be held Saturday.

All residents of Dunn and the surrounding communities are invited to attend the meeting.

Abel Tasman, the noted explorer, is believed to have been the discoverer of the Fiji Islands in 1643.

Snyder Negro Given 5 Years In Penitentiary

Earnest James, 22-year-old Snyder Negro man, was sentenced to a term of five years in the state penitentiary when he pleaded guilty in district court yesterday to a charge of robbery by assault.

James was charged by grand jury indictment with the robbery of Troy Little on May 4, 1951. The charge alleged he took $37 from Little after an assault by which he threatened his life. He was previously brought for trial on the same alleged offense, but the indictment was dismissed when James told the court it was in error inasmuch as it charged the amount of money taken was $100. The next grand jury returned a new indictment on Oct. 12, 1951.

Bob Davie, district attorney, said he did not recommend the sentence be suspended because James was already under suspended sentence, making him ineligible for another suspension. He had been convicted Dec. 6, 1950, on a felony charge of theft.

Credit on his sentence of five years was allowed James for 10 months time in the county jail while awaiting disposal of the case. The credit was made by order of the presiding district judge, Ben F. Thorpe.

Robbery by assault in punishable by a sentence of not less than five years and may carry as much as life inprisonment, Davie said.

Church Women Council

Women of the Presbyterian Church will have charge of a program for the United Council of Church Women Monday morning. The program is scheduled for 9:30, and will be held at the First Methodist Church.

Methodist Stewards

The board of stewards of the First Methodist Church is scheduled to meet at 7:30 Tuesday night, Haskell Beard, chairman, said. The meeting will be held in fellowship hall.

State Politics Centers Around Connally, Eisenhower And Parr

By The Associated Press

Texas' slow-starting political season sputtered and popped today with all campaigns still in the warm-up stage.

What noise there was came from politically hot Duval County, Austin and Washington.

A state Republican leader told Associated Press Correspondent Dave Cheavens that hope for a two-party system in the state depended chiefly on the younger generation. Senator Tom Connally answered a blast from his opponent in—for Connally—very mild words. And a new political party in South Texas joined the "Get - George - Parr" campaign.

Parr, Duval County judge, is reputed boss of a South Texas area long noted for its bloc voting. His father, the late Senator Archie Parr, also reputedly controlled large blocs of votes.

Senator Connally said State Attorney General Price Daniel stated an untruth when he said Connally tried to make the tidelands a political issue. Daniel is contesting Connally's re-election to the Senate in the Democratic primaries.

"LOOK AT RECORD"

By intimation, Connally said Daniel himself was playing politics with the submerged lands. Said Connally: "I have never undertaken to make the tidelands a political issue. Others may do so, but I have not been actuated by politics, although others may be so influenced. x x x

"The public record shows that my position has constantly been to oppose any effort of the federal government to take over the tidelands, and that is still my position." The veteran Senator said he started the tidelands fight for the states 13 years ago, March 27, 1939, when he and the late Senator Morris Sheppard opposed a resolution directing that suits be brought against the states for tidelands possession.

Daniel, in a letter to the Senator, last Monday asked him "to lay aside political considerations and let's work together for the passage of the tidelands bill."

In Austin, Ralph W. Currie of Dallas, a support of Senator Taft (R-Ohio) for the presidential nomination, said hope for a two-party system in Texas lies with the younger generation. He spoke of the "young middle-aged."

Currie, who was GOP candidate for governor in 1950, said "one mistake the States Righters made in 1948 was that they failed to appeal to the younger voters who did not have the same traditional Southern viewpoints they expressed."

ADMITS IKE STRENGTH

Currie admitted it was a definite possibility that Eisenhower Republicans can seize control of the state convention May 27. But he said that Taft-Eisenhower fight in Texas was still wide open. "It could go either way," he said, pointing out that it all depended on which side had the most voters at May 3 precinct conventions.

Currie said he didn't think the state Republican committee's action in requiring a party loyalty pledge would prove a brake on Eisenhower backers. Henry Zweifel, national committeeman from Fort Worth, is the generally recognized Taft leader in Texas, while Oilman Jack Porter of Houston is the leader of the Eisenhower forces.

Currie said the "I Like Ike" crowd is busy all over the state working on unhappy Democrats and younger voters.

In bloc - voting Duval County, Matias D. Garcia, announced the formation of the Freedom Party. Garcia is secretary of the group and said the party was pledged to end the political rule of George B. Parr, and to reform the county's politics.

Garcia said last night the Freedom Party would enter a full slate of candidates for county offices in the July 26 primary. He said it would be announced next week.

FOLLOWS REAMS' PLEA

Formation of the party followed a recent plea by District Judge Sam Reams in his announcement for re-election: "I am unalterably opposed to George B. Parr's personal control of Duval County," Reams said. "I cannot believe that any man should be a dictator over the lives, property and freedom of the people of a county. x x x I am sure that a majority of the people of Duval County are opposed to the political dictatorship of George Parr. x x x If these people will join me now, the political dictatorship of George Parr will be forever ended."

In the last state election, Duval County voters gave State Rep. A. J. Vale of Rio Grande City more than 4,700 write-in votes. Reams was certified as duly elected.

Another GOP candidate for the presidential nomination showed up just across the Texas line in Shreveport, La. He was Reginald B. Naugle, who identified himself a Conyngham, Pa., X-ray laboratory owner.

Naugle said that Denton, Tex., had been chosen as his "western headquarters" and that he would tour the nation in a campaign for the GOP nomination. He made his first speech from a sound truck on busy Texas Street in downtown Shreveport.

EXECUTION CARRIED OUT

Crumpled bodies are shrouded in dust and smoke as five convicted murderers are executed by a 40-man rifle squad in a Guatemala City, Guatemala, cemetery. Leaning over the wall to get a better view of proceedings are part of a crowd of 5,000 men, women and children who gathered to watch the execution. The men were condemned to death after being convicted of trying to rob a house and murdering five members of the family living in it. This picture was made by Gey Grunner of Guatemala City.

Newbold Morris Is Even Checking FBI

WASHINGTON (AP) — Newbold Morris' office said today that some" of his outside income questionnaires for government officials will go to top executives in the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Morris, the Truman administration investigator assigned to seek out any corruption in the government, told a recent news conference he was specifically exempting the FBI from the questionnaire routine because he had never heard any intimation of scandal in that agency.

Aides said today that on further consideration, Morris had decided the FBI should be included.

ClearSkiesOver Most Of Nation

By The Associated Press.

Skies were clear and temperatures near or above normal marks over most of the nation today.

There were a few chilly spots in the Midwest early today but warm weather was in prospect. It was near zero in Northern Wisconsin and upper Michigan. The chilly air extended into Northern Texas.

Warm weather continued over the Far West and the Southeast. It was 86 in Los Angeles yesterday, the hottest March 27 in 20 years.

Snow flurries hit parts of northern Wisconsin and Western New York early today. Light snow or rain was reported in sections of the Middle Atlantic states.

First Come, First Served Is Rule For Water Use In Texas

AUSTIN, March 22 (AP) — Who has priority to take water from Texas streams when they run low, as most are now?

H. A. Beckwith, chairman of the State Board of Water Engineers, says among holders of state permits the priority system is simple.

"It's first come, first served. The oldest permit has first priority, second oldest has second priority and so on."

But from there, it's not so simple.

Complications come with rights claimed by riparian owners to divert water without a permit. They are the holders of original title to property through which a stream flows.

It usually takes a court judgment to settle those, Beckwith said.

There is no authority either in the law or in the Board to set up any other priority system, to ration or to apportion water among permit holders or to cancel or revise any permit that the holder claims is still in use, he explained.

If the water users want to get together and work something out, that's permissible. The board can't initiate it, though. It could act as an arbiter if the participants request it.

"A situation at San Angelo is an example of something the board has no authority to do anything about," Beckwith said. "The city is about out of water while private claimants to water on the North Concho are diverting water before it gets downstream to the city.

"When the water-rights permits are valid and their holders are taking water in the legal manner, the only thing that can be done is simply for the people involved to get together and work out something to their mutual benefit."

Even if water is being diverted without a permit or more diverted than the permit calls for, the Board has no enforcement powers, the Board chief noted. If someone legally entitled to water is cut off by illegal diversions, he may seek relief in court, but the Water Board can do nothing for him.

Beckwith characterized the Board as being much like a county clerk, who has power to grant certain valuable rights such as issuing a marriage license but who has no enforcement powers at all.

Emphasis through the years has been on placing water to beneficial use rather than on enforcing through state action any priority or any permit right given by the state.

That policy is the will of the Legislature which is also the only power that can change it.

The Board won't ask for any changes, Beckwith said, even though some changes, including some enforcement powers, may be needed.

"Public opinion must make the rules before we can successfully administer them. If the drouth pinches hard enough, the Board feels the people will find better ways to handle their water problems and take their recommendations to the Legislature. Then we can administer the laws that result as a will of the people rather than the will of the Board," he said.

Kansas Pair In President Race

CULVER CITY, Calif. (AP) — It may be that F. E. Anderson, 76-year - old presidential candidate from Topeka, Kan., doesn't realize that a woman intends to run right along with him as vice president.

Anderson stated publicly he had never heard of the woman candidate, Mrs. Marion Mosick of Culver City, but her campaign manager, Chet Swital, had a ready answer. Said he:

"Anderson probably knows Mrs. Mosick by her maiden name of Mickeltree, or else he's just forgotten. He's an old man, you know."

Anderson says he'll make the nation debt free if elected. Mrs. Mosick is for paying the national debt and returning troops from Korea, where her husband and only son are in action.

Swital said Anderson and Mrs. Mosick are backed by an "independent Republican" group.

Flyers Ought To Keep Mind On Their Business

CHEBOYGAN, Mich. (AP) — Two fliers claim a fox wrecked their airplane.

Gene Babcock and Glenn Gibbons said they were watching a fox on the ground while flying over Lake Thompson near here yesterday. Intent on watching the animal, they let the plane slip out of control.

It hit the ice-covered lake. The men escaped with minor injuries. The plane was wrecked.

THE ADVENTURES OF PATSY

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—His face has become lined and somewhat weatherworn from a thousand suns, but his left arm still hangs at that strange angle and heads still turn when he strides through the hotel lobby.

They whisper: "That's Carl Hubbell. He was one of the greatest. You think the Giants have some pitchers now—you should have seen that skinny guy bend his screwball across the outside corner. I'll never forget the day he struck out six American Leaguers in a row in the '34 All-Star game."

Hubbell's left wing took on a permanent slant from the years he threw the screwball, a sort of patented and unnatural delivery in which he twisted his wrist backward and let the ball go from the side of his hand. Nothing quite like it, or quite so consistently effective, has been seen since. Carl now is head of the Giants extensive farm system, and he is showing results. He's here trying to find out which youngsters the parent club can let him have back so he can begin to smooth out his minor league rosters.

"I guess I won't ever forget that '34 game either," he admits. "Actually, I've always figured that I only struck out five of them in a row. It was six only if you count Lefty Gomez. Lefty was a lot of pitcher but he didn't exactly scare you with the bat.

"I've often been asked what I was throwing Ruth and Gehrig and Simmons and those fellows. Well, it's a little complicated. I was throwing everything I knew how, including fast balls and curves, but the only thing they got a chance to hit was the screwball. I saw to that very carefully. It was the only thing they hadn't seen, and I knew what they could do with the other stuff if I ever got it within range."

This led by stages to a discussion of the science of pitching as practiced by the good ones, and Hub, one of the true greats, was able to shed much light on some of the inner workings.

"Some managers have a kind of mania about getting that first pitch over, staying ahead of the batter," he observed. "I never worked that way, and neither have any of the real good pitchers I've known. I guess I was what you would call a two-behind pitcher, because I always felt better and had the most success against a majority of hitters after I had put the first two pitches outside the strike zone. . . .

"That way you really get most batters set up. He says to himself, now this sucker will have to come right through the middle with a nice, fat fast one, and he gets himself set to knock it a mile. That's when you slip him the one with some stuff on it . . .

"Of course, if you miss with that third one, you're in trouble. I wouldn't recommend the two-ball routine to any pitcher who hasn't got absolute confidence in his control, as I had in mine. But it's wonderfully effective if you know you can put the ball where you want it and with some stuff on it.

"The funniest thing is that batters, with very few exceptions, never change. I pitched exactly the same way to scores of batters for years and years, used exactly the same tactics in every game, and yet they went right on falling for it."

Marty Furgol Leads Tourney

WILMINGTON, N. C., March 28 (AP) — Marty Furgol nursed a two-stroke lead and a burning desire to prove that he was more than a front runner going into today's $10,000 Azalea Open Golf Tournament second round.

"This time I'm going to be the rabbit and the rest of these fellows will be the greyhounds, and you know the greyhound never catches that rabbit," was his clubhouse comment after an eight under par 64 tied the course record and left him two strokes ahead of the field yesterday.

In all, 35 players bettered par and six more equalled it.

Art Wall, Jr., Honesdale, Pa., and Jimmy Clark, Laguna Beach, Calif., were hot on Furgol's trail with 66s.

In fourth place with 67 were Doug Ford, Jim Turnesa and Joe Kirkwood Jr.

In a dangerous position was Bobby Locke, with 68. The five-man 69 group included Sammy Snead.

Tech Beats Hardin-Simmons In Track Meet

LUBBOCK, March 28 (AP)—Texas Tech's Red Raiders took eight first places yesterday to win a lopsided victory over Hardin-Simmons and the University of New Mexico in a track and field meet.

Texas Tech scored 91½ points to 60 for New Mexico and 19 for Hardin-Simmons.

The Raiders took first and second places in the discus, pole vault, mile run, 440-yard dash and a half mile. They won both the relays and took another first in the javelin throw.

Best Cagers In Land Meet For Olympic Trial

NEW YORK (AP)—How will the nation's top college basketball teams—Kansas or La Salle, for instance—stack up against the tourney-tough AAU contingents in the Olympic trials, opening tomorrow night?

Warren Womble, 32-year-old coach of Peoria's champion AAU Caterpillars, took the question and bounced it around a bit today. When he was through, the AAU came out on top.

"I think our best AAU clubs, our team or the Phillips Oilers, should beat the best college team eight or nine times out of 10," the young Oklahoman said.

"There's always that other chance, of course, and there's always Lovellette."

Womble has brought his Caterpillars to town early for the opening round of the tryouts to pick Uncle Sam's cage representatives in the Summer Games at Helsinki.

The tournament, involving four AAU and four hand-picked college quintets, begins tomorrow night in New York's Madison Square Garden and in Kansas City. The schedule (all times EST):

At New York: 7:45 p.m., Peoria Caterpillars (AAU champion) vs. U.S. Air Force (AAU No. 3); 9:30 p.m., La Salle (NIT champion) vs. St. John's (NCAA runnerup).

At Kansas City: 9 p.m., Phillips Oilers (AAU runnerup) vs. Hollywood Fibber McGee and Molly (AAU No. 4); 10:45 p.m., Kansas (NCAA champion) vs. Southwest Missouri State (NAIB winner).

Under the schedule, the collegians and independents can't test their wares against each other until Tuesday's final here. The semi-finals here Monday night match the college winners in one bracket and the two AAU survivors in the others.

Ira Baseball Schedule Set

District baseball play begins today for Ira boys, who have been working out for several weeks.

The Ira nine will journey to Westbrook for their first game, while Highland will be playing at Divide.

In announcing the schedule for his team, Coach Eddie Redwine said the district is divided into two halves, with Ira's half including Highland, Divide, Westbrook, and Loraine. After the schedule for each half ends and a winner for each is determined, a playoff will be held for the district championship. Games will be seven innings long.

Now working out with Redwine are Franklin Bryant, catcher; Sonny Thomason, Don Sumruld, John Mengwasser, and James Sawyer, pitchers; Harold Roddy, first base; Jimmy Pat Woosley, second base; James Maupin, shortstop; Scrubby Vinson, third base; Linnon Burney, left field; Bob Newton, center field; and Joel Robertson, Joe Smith, and Robbie Smith still competing for the right field position.

SCHEDULE

March 28 — Ira at Westbrook
Highland at Divide
Loraine bye
April 4 — Loraine at Ira
Westbrook at Divide
Highland bye
April 10 — Westbrook at Highland
Divide at Loraine
Ira bye
April 18 — Divide at Ira
Highland at Loraine
Westbrook bye
April 25 — Ira at Highland

14 Ball Teams In Softball League Here

Managers of teams in the Snyder Softball League at a meeting last night re-elected Eddie Hight as president of the organization for this year and Charles Duran as secretary-treasurer.

Hight said that managers of 12 teams attended the meeting and that two other teams will enter. The group voted to play all 14 teams in one league in two rounds this spring. Their schedule is not yet made up, but play will begin on April 28.

Admission prices were raised for this year's games to 25 cents for adults and nine cents for students instead of the straight nine cent fare charged last year. They also voted to adopt the use of the 10-inch fastball instead of the regular softball used last year.

Hight said that most teams are now working out and that some managers need several additional players. He added that another meeting of the group will be held April 10 to vote on the schedule by-laws, and several other matters connected with the league.

New teams entering the league are C & S Sporting Goods, Chevron Stations, Texas Co., and Snyder Steam Laundry. They replace Harris Pharmacy, Parker Drilling Co., VFW, and Halliburton, which all dropped out of the league this year. Other teams remaining in the league are West Texas State Bank, Hermleigh, DeMolays, Sun Oil, National Guard, American Legion, Town & Country, Sunray, Paso-tex, and Pan American.

Bratton Fights Castellani In Garden Tonight

NEW YORK, March 28 (AP) —Rocky Castellani, the up and down middleweight from Luzerne, Pa., hopes the referee won't be too hasty tonight when he takes on stiff-punching Johnny (Brittle) Bratton in the main ten rounder at Madison Square Garden.

"Just because I'm floored by a punch on the jaw," said Rocky, "doesn't mean I can't take a punch. Ive lost only four fights in my career, only one in the last 13. That was the knockout by Ernie Durando. Sure, I was down, but I wasn't down when the referee stopped the fight."

The 25-year old ex-Marine pointed out that he picked himself off the floor the first time he met Durando and went on to outpoint him.

"I would have won the second time the same way," added Rocky. "I was 'way ahead in rounds."

Bratton has reason to remember his last Garden effort, too. It wasn't a happy occasion. He lost his NBA welterweight crown to Kid Gavilan last May, had his jaw fractured for the third time and fractured his right hand. The fragile-chinned Chicago negro had his jaw broken previously by Ike Williams and Beau Jack, two former lightweight champions.

Big Interest Shown In Little League Baseball Last Night

More than 100 Snyder businessmen, small boys, and parents were at the high school last night for an open meeting and discussion on the possible organization of the Little Baseball League.

Speedy Moffett, head high school coach, showed a film explaining the operation of Little League and the league's 1950 World Series. Moffett told the group before the film "I showed this film to about 1,000 boys today, and my phone has been ringing ever since, with parents asking about Little League."

After the film, Carol Herod introduced Gerald Breeding, president of the Little League in San Angelo, who told the group that Little League has helped boys and parents in many ways. "If the boys learn nothing else, they learn sportsmanship, and that's what Little League is for," he said. He added that boys are easily disciplined in learning the game of baseball.

Breeding said that in organizing Little League here, those interested should first select a board of directors, who will then take care of selecting sponsors, getting applications to boys, picking managers and coaches, and purchasing uniforms. After sponsors contribute money, the league buys all the uniform and equipment except the shoes and gloves, which should belong to the boys themselves.

Carl Morrow, YMCA worker and Little League executive in San Angelo, said managers who know baseball and are interested in youth should be selected, and they should teach boys not primarily to win the game, but to play clean ball.

Morrow said sponsors should never have anything to do with the management or coaching of a team. "They have to contribute their money only in the interest of youth," he said, adding that the only job suitable for a sponsor is on the policy - making board. When the sponsor contributes, he does not buy the team's uniforms himself, but that is the job of the board, Morrow said.

After the meeting, Moffett and Herod called a meeting of all those interested in sponsoring a group for 7 o'clock tonight in the office of Forrest Beavers, county superintendent, in the courthouse.

Semi-Finals Slated For Women's Match

WICHITA, Kan., March 28 (AP) — Two southern teams and two Iowa teams clash tonight in the semi-finals of the National AAU Women's Basketball Tournament.

Iowa Wesleyan College gained the semifinal round by upsetting a fighting Chihuahua, Mexico team, 59 to 46, last night. The contest was close until the last five minutes when the Iowans widened their margin.

The other Iowa club, Davenport AIC, also beat a favored team. Davenport downed the Nashville, Tenn., Highway Patrol, 37-30.

Defending champion Hanes Hosiery, Winston-Salem, N. C., moved into the semifinals with a 57-30 win over the Jackson, Miss., Magnolia Whips.

Strong Drink!

Among the Tennesse mountains some years ago, there lived a man who made a living by catching rattlesnakes. He put them in boxes covered with glass and exhibited them on his front porch upon the public road, and sold them to curiosity hunters. This mountaineer had one child, a fat-faced, chubby-handed, sweet little boy named Jim. Jim was the most precious object on earth to him. He brought a rattlesnake from the mountains one day, placed it alive in a glass-covered box, slipped the lid over it, and stepped out to the wood-pile to chop some wood.

Little Jim came up, pulled back the lid, and with his chubby little hands, pulled the reptile out and on his lap. The snake planted its fangs in the litle boy's cheek, while he screamed: "Papa! papa!" The father ran, slipped the axe handle into the coils of the snake, threw it into the yard and chopped its head off. Gathering little Jim in his arms, he began to cry: "Jim's dead! Jim's dead!"

His neighbor Tom, hearing his cry, ran over to his cabin home. As the little boy lay on his mother's lap, his body swelling and his eyes bloodshot, the mountaineer said: "Tom, little Jim is going to die, and I would not give little Jim for every rattlesnake in these old mountains, and for every dollar I have made off of them."

Friends, can we afford to take the serpent of strong drink, and the bootlegger, off the back-alley, and set them up in glass-front stores on the public square? "At the last it biiteth like a serpent, and stingeth like an adder." Prov. 23:32. I never look into the bloated face or bloodshot eyes of a drunkard American young man, that I do not say in my heart: "I would not give that one boy for every dirty dollar that was ever made off the infernal stuff."

E. J. Richardson, H. F. Rogers, J. T. Stephens, Elders; and Gordon Smith, Garth Austin, Alfred Lieb, J. L. Browning, Ennis Floyd, Jay Rogers, and Earl McDow, Deacons, all stand whole-heartedly against the sale of strong drink, whether it be legal or otherwise.

Friends, all the laws on earth can not make right that which God Almighty declares to be morally wrong. "Woe unto him that giveth his neighbor drink, that puttest thy bottle to him, and makest him drunken also." Hab. 2:15. The drunkard can not inherit the kingdom of God. 1 Cor. 6:10.

OPEN SEASON

By DALE WALTON

Those interested in organizing the Little Baseball League may have considerable trouble finding those who have the time to spend working with boys in workouts, but one thing is for sure—they'll have no trouble finding boys who want to participate.

One example of an eager boy is Billy Dubose, a 10-year-old fifth grader in the North Ward School.

Billy, the son of W. W. Dubose of the Post Highway, a water well contractor, has spent many hours playing ball with kids in his neighborhood since he was big enough to hold a bat.

"I'd sure like to play on a Little League team," Billy said yesterday. "One like that — run like the big leagues—would be lots more fun than what we play."

Billy added that a couple of weeks ago he visited a friend in Odessa and played awhile with boys who have been on Little League teams there, adding that they had learned plenty about baseball.

"I like to pitch," he said, "and I have a bat, ball, and glove of my own."

There are dozens of boys just like Billy in town—eager to learn baseball or any other sport if they have a place to play and someone who knows the game to teach them.

Little League could give them a part of those benefits.

High school girl volleyballers took on more wins Wednesday over Colorado City girls.

The A squad, playing for a best-two-out-of-three series, beat the C-City team 15 - 6 and 15 - 8, with Nancy Dorman as high scorer. Joyce Page led the B squad to two victories in 15-7 and 15-12.

The girls will play Monday night at Rotan and Tuesday night at Colorado City.

Clarence Minton and James Bowers, ex-high school baseball stars, said they did not make the team when they tried out for the Lamesa Lobo squad this week. Minton said he has an offer for a try-out at Harlingen, but Bowers has no present plans.

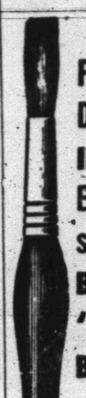

HermleighMeet Starts Today

Play will begin at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon in the Hermleigh volleyball tourney, when the Hermleigh squads will play host to teams from seven other schools.

Entered in the tourney for A and B teams are groups from Roscoe, Roby, Ira, Loraine, Colorado City, Rotan, Coahoma, and Hermleigh.

Play will run until about 10:30 o'clock tonight, and the teams will resume play at 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon and last until about 9 o'clock tomorrow night.

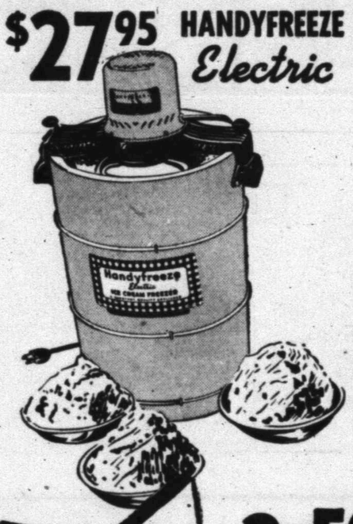

An all-tournament team will be chosen from members of A teams.

Struck Plant Keeps Going

ALBUQUERQUE (AP)—The head of two Rockford, Ill., newspapers said last night he "couldn't compromise the issue brought on by the work stoppage of printers" who refused to use teletypesetter tape furnished by news services.

Albert G. Simms, Albuquerque rancher who heads Rockford Consolidated Newspapers, Inc., said he "would rather close down the papers" than compromise on the point.

"That is the kind of matter we could not compromise on," he said.

A curtailed force is publishing the Morning Star and evening Register-Republic since a strike of about 70 members of the International Typographical Union (AFL) last Monday. The union said the issue was over handling of mailed feature copy in teletypesetter tape. The tape is run through typesetting machines instead of having the type set by operators.

Simms said that editorial staff members, stereotypers, pressmen and mailers are at work "and I think we've got over the worst of it."

"We're putting out a paper," he added.

GOOD GREEN PASTURE ALL YEAR!

ARE YOU INTERESTED IN AN INVESTMENT?

(1) In land that will hold the money you put into it and which will furnish pasture when you do not have it other places?
(2) Grazing stock on green pastures of Blue Grass, Orchard Grass, Fesque Grass, Alfalfa, Lespedeza, Koby, Alsike, Red and other clovers mixed with grass for 10 months each year. Smaller pastures but better pastures with bigger and better cattle.
(3) Raising 1 cow per two acres and more when desired.
(4) In getting your feed, hay and seed from your own stock farm?
(5) Having enough diversified farming to control your labor?
Think not of the rain, it will come 48 to 60 inches of it each year.

TALK OF THE TOWN

By SUE HOLMES

Texas is getting it from all sides these days. First, a Texan, Stanley Walker, went hog - wild in an issue of Look Magazine, recently and exposed the wrongs of the state. Now a Dallas woman has written about her life as a Texas bride in one of the recent women's magazines.

The article entitled "A Yankee Wife in Texas" is by Elizabeth Mooney, a Rome, N.Y., girl transplanted into Texas where her husband swears she has learned to say "you - all" with a vehemence few Texans would show.

Being a lover of horses, the young woman headed for a stable thinking she would show herself to be quite an equestrienne. Several minutes and a sore seat later, she learned the difference in Western and English saddles. She learned that the saddle horn has a purpose. (We thought everybody knew it was to hang on to.) She also found that Texas horses missed out on the fine art of trotting, being gaited to put each foot down at a different time and with a different force.

So much for the horses. She had to learn that because of a long-lived feud between cattlemen and sheep raisers, many Texans refuse to eat mutton, saying it tastes "woolly." And she thought Texans' black - eyed peas resembled balls of mattress stuffing. (My, my, even gourmets know there's nothing more tasty than peas, cornbread and turnip greens.)

These were the Texanisms that sent her into spasms of misunderstanding: "Get right down to the lick log." Or "He's rooting' him away from the trough.'" Or "tow sack" for burlap bag. And the exaggerated "Ah-lak to die' when a person means convulsed with laughter or some other superlative. (We don't say it that way at all. It's more like, "I like to have died.")

And "hornswoggled' her, as did "high - heeled good time" and "cotton - pickin shame.'

But what really got the best of her was the merchants habit of saying "come back" as a gesture of appreciation for business. She eternally thought she'd forgotten to pay for the merchandise or forgotten her change.

She had to learn the hard way that the cute little holes in the garden didn't house chipmunks at all, but tea - cup sized hairy tarantulas. And she thought for sure she's found baby lobsters when in reality she'd discovered crawdads.

She disliked Texans' habit of frying everything in deep fat or throwing a hunk of fat bacon into everything to flavor it. (You're not the only one, lady, who resents the things that can be done to a steak that would be perfect broiled or to eggs that turn out leathery.)

Anyhow, the old gal believes she's adjusted to this durned furrin country. One thing she noticeably avoided in the article was men. Obviously, she likes Texas manhood since she married a specimen of it. And she's even getting well - versed in the art of sprinkling down sheets in the sweltering summer months, and she's conquered her fear of the sheet rains so resembling a minor Noah's flood.

Chalk up another convert!

One of the most attractive centerpieces we've seen is made of Chinese elm buds. The tender green just - opened leaves are a pale chartreuse color and resemble closely the Bells of Ireland that recently made their debut on tea table decorations. Mrs. DELL SMITH introduced us to the idea, and the home economics girls used the same foliage combined with daffodils for an effective centerpiece.

Foot and Fiddle Square Dance Club, 8 p.m., at the Ranch House banquet room.

SATURDAY

Saturday Night Bridge Club, 7:30 p.m., in the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Rosser, 3702 Austin Avenue.

Ask Mildred

Send your questions to Mrs. Mildred Sparks, county home demonstration agent, the courthouse, or to the Snyder Daily News.

Mrs. Sparks, could you tell me how to fix smothered chicken? I had some at a friends house recently but failed to find out how she fixed it. Mrs. P. H.

Cut young chicken in pieces as if it were to be fried. Wash and dry. Roll in well seasoned flour and saute in butter, bacon or pork fat, until well brown. Then cover with light cream, bring to a boil. Turn into casserole and bake, covered, in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for ½ hour or until tender. Serve from casserole. Allow ¾ pound per portion.

I have a gardenia plant in my house and it has bloomed once. Lately I have noticed a mold over the upper surface of the leaves. The mold is black. Could you tell me what that is and how I should treat it? Mrs. E. M.

According to the Extension Service bulletin, "Plant Diseases in Texas and Their Control," your gradenia plant has what is called a sooty mold. That is caused by a fungus that grows on sugary exudate from white fly insects. Control insects on under sides of leaves by spraying with one and one-half teaspoons nicotine sulphate and three tablespoons summer oil per gallon of water.

* * *

I have been wanting to plant some dahlias and wondering if they will do very good in this part of the state. If so, when should they be planted and how deep should they be planted? M.G.

Dahlias will bloom until frost and they will do well here. If you will plant some bulbs in May you will have flowers until frost. They will grow in full sunshine but it is best to have them in a placed protected from the hot evening sun. They should be planted about six inches deep and three feet apart. When you place the bulb in the ground put a stake in a few inches from it so that as the bush grows and becomes top heavy you can tie it to the stake and prevent the bush from falling over.

'Ma' Ewen Doesn't Take Misfortune Lying Down

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Staff

"You've got to be scared!"

That's the philosophy of "Ma" Ewen, who built an island empire in Jamaica, British West Indies, and now, at 75, is credited with starting the multi-million-dollar tourist business which is one of Jamaica's principal industries.

Today's young people are likely to be too pampered, protected and petted, says the regal, white-haired Mrs. Ewen. They are inclined to take the easiest course, and if things don't go well, to proceed on the theory that the world owes them a living.

"Ma" Ewen got seared back in the early 1920's, when hoof-and-mouth disease wiped out Jamaica's vast cattle herds and brought the Ewen ranch close to bankruptcy. Her husband, the late Rupert Ewen up to then a successful cattle rancher, was caught in the general panic.

That was the period when "Ma" (who was christened May Belle) learned to be an expert tailor, so that she could make the suits needed by her husband and three sons. The little finger of her right hand still bears a callous mark from cutting and sewing the cloth.

"Ma" was not one to take misfortune lying down. She checked the family's assets and found they consisted mostly of climate and scenery. She acquired a run-down villa on the choicest stretch of coral beach at Montego Bay, got to work with scrub brushes and paint, delegated carpentering and handy-man jobs to the rest of the family, and set about devising lures for tourist trade.

At that time there was no plane service to the island, and even ships arrived infrequently, but "Ma" was undismayed. Her first customers were local people. As transportation facilities increased, her fame began to spread to the world outside.

Today her Casa Blanca is a resort known from New York to London and from Paris to Calcutta. The guest list reads like a roster of the world's "Who's Who. You'll run into people who speak of "Ma" Ewen with affection and respect in most of the corners of the world.

THE STARS

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Lo, the poor Indian on the TV and theater screens.

He is pictured as a howling, warpaint-smeared savage. His vocabulary is limited to "ugh" and he is shown going mad on fire water. He submits cowboys and pioneers to all kinds of torture, and murders for the heck of it. In fact, he is accused of just about everything short of being an enemy alien or a Communist.

Some Indians don't like the way their race is portrayed in the movies and on television. One of these is Iron Eyes Cody, a Cherokee who is in a position to do something about it. An expert on Indian lore, he has been in the movies as actor and technical advisor since "The Covered Wagon" in 1924. Only recently has he been able to induce producers to lessen their libels of the redskins.

"There have lately been some excellent pictures that show the Indian's side," he remarked, naming such films as "Devil's Doorway," "Broken Arrow," "Comanche Territory' and "Navajo."

"But still there are too many pictures which are either inaccurate or put Indians in a bad light. For instance, the studios nearly always paint up the Indians like African savages.

"The truth is that the Indians did not put on paint to look ferocious. They only put on lines of color to represent dreams they had before going into battle. Certain lines meant they dreamed they were going to die, and so forth."

As for Indians burning their victims at the stake, Iron Eyes said there is no such instance in Western history.

Iron Eyes added that the Indians are no more maddened by liquor than any other race.

"It's all a matter of whether a person has built up a resistance to alcohol," he explained. "Some Indians had their own native alcoholic drinks, so the white man's liquor didn't faze them."

Besides advising the film studios, Iron Eyes has other means of clearing up notions about Indians. He has his own television show on a local station, KTLA. He has formed Iron Eyes Enterprises, with which he plans to make TV films about the true Indian life.

"My main purpose," said Iron Eyes, "is to present the American Indian as what he really was—and is—a human being with high cultural standards. When he had to use force, it was to protect what he felt was rightfully his."

Man Kills Three Of Family, Takes Own Life

BIRDSEYE, Ind. (AP)—A 40-year-old Crawford County farmer killed two neighbors and their mother and then took a fatal dose of poison last night in a feud over a lost billfold.

Town Marshal Merle Berg said Russell Hollowell, admitted before he died that he shot Frank Crocket, 38, his brother, Nolan, 35, and Mrs. Pearl Crocket, 70.

The Crockets and Hollowell lived in the hill country east of Birdseye.

Marshal Berg said Hollowell explained that the feud started when he lost his billfold and accused Frank of stealing it. Hollowell later found the billfold with its contents intact, but refused to apologize.

Berg said Hollowell mumbled, "They tried to run me off, but they didn't get away with it this time."

More Atomic Tests In Nevada Next Week Due

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—A surprise series of atomic tests gets under way next week at Nevada test site, and the emphasis is expected to be on civilian defense.

The Atomic Energy Commission yesterday issued its customary pretest warning to all persons, except authorized workers, to vacate the test site by the end of this week.

No starting date for the new series has been announced, but newsmen have been summoned to a conference Monday morning. It was realiably indicated that the spring series will be scattered throughout April.

The Nevada series is not designed to test any startling innovations in weapons, it is believed. That may be forthcoming at a future series at Eniwetok.
