County Commissioners Vote Not To Pay Salaries of Lifeguards

The Navigation District recently asked Aransas County Commissioners to include in the county budget for next year the amount of $1,500 to help pay the salaries of lifeguards to patrol local beaches and the salt water swimming pool.

At its last meeting, the County Commissioners rejected the Navigation District request and voted not to include the $1,500 in next year's budget.

In other actions the Commissioners:

--Awarded to Pagan Lewis Motor Company of Corpus Christi a contract for a new jeep for mosquito control, on a bid of $3,092.12. Other bids included: Athey's of Beeville, $3,100; and International Harvester of Corpus Christi, $3,133.

--After discussing the county probation fund, the commissioners voted to transfer the accumulated probation money to the general fund in accordance with a suggestion of County Judge John D. Wendell. The money will be used for repair of the jail and the district courtroom lobby.

--Next discussion concerned employing an insurance inspector. County surveyor Tommy Griffith was contacted and he asked for time to consider the matter.

--County Attorney Ellis Clark said that after doing some research and also contacting the Attorney General's office, he was of the opinion that the American G.I. Forum was not exempt from taxation. The organization had asked for a tax-exempt status.

--The commissioners voted to increase the salary of Mrs. Virginia Shivers of the Sheriff's Department to $5,001.

Community Project Planned By Library

With an idea of rendering additional and more valuable service to the community particularly to the older age groups, the blind, handicapped or needy your Public Library is spearheading a plan for getting reading materials to those who are unable to secure them for themselves.

On Wednesday, June 14, a group of people representing some of the church groups and other local groups met at the Library with the Librarian, Mrs. Corinne Crabb to talk over the possibility of working out details with their groups, and have the Library as the central clearing house.

Mrs. Crabb emphasized that no work along these lines could be accomplished without volunteers. The main function of a volunteer would be to pick up and deliver materials to those requiring or wishing them who had no way, or could not pick up and return them themselves. In other words, people with cars would donate some time to picking up and returning materials to the Library.

In this connection it was pointed out that while there may be some blind people who would like to have the talking books, records, tapes, etc., there are probably also people who have restricted vision and other physical handicaps which would preclude their coming to the library to secure reading materials. This then is the basis of the plan.

Each representative was asked to go back to the group he represented and determine if and how many of that group would participate in such a plan. It was suggested that all those volunteering should have his or her own substitute.

The Library would then be supplied with a list for each day who the volunteer was for that day, so that the Library receiving a telephone call, or a written request for material would need only to contact one person to get the materials on the way. If enough volunteers are secured, each person probably would need only to take a portion of one day each month.

It was pointed out that the Texas Library Association has and will loan, the Library, large print books, talking books, records and other materials eliminating the necessity for purchasing them. Under certain conditions the equipment for using them would also be available. Several local organizations have volunteered money for the purchase of equipment where that was needed.

Mrs. Crabb stressed the fact that the Library has no desire to usurp any programs now under way, or proposed by any

7 KILLED

Family of 5 Killed In Car Crash

Man, Wife Also Shot at Scene

A family of five perished Sunday in a fiery two-car crash on U. S. 59 near Wharton.

The victims formerly lived in Rockport. They were Mrs. Lavernne Wright Faulkner, 37, her husband, Kenneth Faulkner, 42, of Katy; and their children, Christine, 9, Janet, 8, and William, 7.

Officers said the Faulkner car collided head-on with a van. The driver of the van, Douglas Thibodeaux of Houma, La., said he swerved into the oncoming lane to avert a collision with a car that was turning onto U. S. 59 from FM 961.

When he did so, Thibodeaux' van collided with the oncoming Faulkner car which almost immediately burst into flames that shot 50 feet into the air.

Thibodeaux, who was uninjured, stopped his van and ran to the Faulkner car, but was unable to aid the occupants because of the intense heat from the flames.

Funeral services for the five members of the Faulkner family will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday in Marshall Funeral Home chapel in Rockport. Burial will be in Rockport Cemetery.

The Keith Faulkner family, former Rockport residents, had been visiting here and were returning to Houston when the collision occurred.

Faulkner, a chemist, owned Monocar Co. of Houston. The family had lived in Katy for seven years, and in Rockport before that.

Survivors include a stepson, Joe Blackburn of Katy.

A few moments after the accident, a couple from Spring, Texas shot each other to death after an argument. The shooting began as the couple's car sped by the burning wreckage. The victims of the shooting were Ernest Ainsworth, 39, and his wife, Nina, 31.

Tomato Production Business Explained

Plans to enter the winter tomato production business with a capacity of 100,000 pounds a season were announced by Melton Pearson, owner of Pearson's Garden Center, at a luncheon meeting of Rotary Club June 14 at Corky's Restaurant.

Pearson, who recently opened his nursery operation on Highway 35 north of Rockport, said the tomatoes will be grown in a fibre glass greenhouse with a total area of 22,860 square feet. The building is designed to withstand moderate hurricane winds, he added.

Pearson explained that demand for vine-ripened winter tomatoes in the Rockport area is expected to permit sale of the entire crop at retail from the garden center. At present Rockport gets its winter tomatoes from Florida, Mexico and California where they are picked green to permit shipping.

In addition to the large greenhouse, a smaller one with 2,800 square feet of space and a capacity of 15,000 small floral plants will be built. Construction was scheduled to start this week.

Pearson said total cost of the garden center project will be approximately $250,000. The store building and slathouse, stocked with plants and shrubs, already are in operation.

Pearson reported public interest in the garden center has been surprisingly high with considerable patronage from tourists who are buying plants to take home. He added that the nursery business throughout the country is growing rapidly, due in part to widespread interest in ecology.

After several years in business in Florida, Pearson explained that he wanted to get away from the high pressure type of land and climate promotion prevalent in that state. He also said his family has many sentimental ties with Rockport where his father, a retired minister, spent the last eight years of his life.

CATCH LARGE CRAB — Jim Eaton, 9, son of Mrs. Val Jean Eaton, displays the crab he and two other children caught in a ditch at the entrance to Peninsula Oaks Subdivision. The crab's back measured five inches across, and each claw measured approximately six inches. Helping catch the crab were Maryane Kelly, 13, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Kelly, Jr., and Tammy Stephens, 9, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Stephens, Jr.

McDavid President Of Water District

Jack McDavid, local insurance executive, was elected president of the Aransas County Conservation and Reclamation District at a meeting of directors of the district in the Aransas County courthouse June 13.

Mc David, who has been secretary-treasurer of the district, succeeds Harold Picton who resigned recently after having served as a director and president since the district was organized in 1963 to provide an adequate supply of fresh water for the Rockport area.

Named to succeed Mc David as secretary-treasurer was David H. Crooks, public relations counsel for First National Bank. Frank-Yosemite, retired attorney, was appointed to fill Picton's unexpired term as a director.

In response to a growing public interest in a county-wide sanitary sewage system, directors authorized the president to check with several engineering firms as to their interest in exploring availability of state and national funds for such a project. If one of the firms is selected, it also would handle engineering for the project, provided it is undertaken.

The local conservation and reclamation district has authority to proceed with a county sewage system if and when public demand makes it feasible. A number of property owners who are in favor of such a system have written or contacted district directors, as well as county commissioners. At least two petitions favoring the project are being circulated, it was reported.

Selection of the Choke Canyon site for the second reservoir from which water would be supplied to water districts in this area, including the Aransas County Conservation and Reclamation District was endorsed by the directors. Water which the district purchases for sale to the city of Rockport comes from the Wesley Seale Dam empoundment, popularly known as Lake Corpus Christi. Growing demand for water will require a second reservoir in the near future.

Rockport Lions Install Officers

The Rockport Lions Club have installed the following new officers: Earl J. Stephens, Jr., president; Joe Randow, first vice president; Robert Konvicka, second vice president; James Dupnik, third vice president; Bill Brice, secretary-treasurer; Joe Barton, lion tamer; and Sam Harris, tail twister.

Phil Colling and Stan Heath were installed as new directors to serve two-year terms. Walter Falk, district governor, conducted the installation.

Four Named For Salvation Army Camp

Four boys from Rockport have been chosen by the Aransas County Salvation Army Service Unit Committee for a free one week vacation beginning June 25 at The Salvation Army's 370-acre Camp Hoblitzelle near Dallas.

"Our boys will be among 900 others sponsored by Salvation Army Service Units all over Texas who will attend the camp over a four week period this summer," Rev. Charles Fake, the committee's camp chairman said. They will go to camp by chartered bus with all expenses paid.

Boys attending from Rockport are Alejandro Galvan, Robert Towler, Ronald Towler, and Alejandro Villareal.

At Camp Hoblitzelle the boys will live in redwood and brick cabins and will receive well-balanced meals in the camp's dining room. All organized activities are supervised by coaches and counselors and include boating, fishing, archery, horseback riding, swimming, crafts, movies, sports--everything it takes to keep a boy busy for a whole week.

The Salvation Army operates the camp year round for people who could not otherwise afford to go to camp. During the summer months over 4,000 will vacation at Camp Hoblitzelle.

The building of Camp Hoblitzelle was financed by donations from more than 100 Texans. Included in the facilities are a 30 acre lake for boating and fishing, recreation hall, large swimming pool, a western fort, animals and playing fields for a number of outdoor sports.

Nab Two Youths In Theft of Car

Sheriff Bob Hewes reported Monday that Jacob Beasley and Mark Brooks of Rockport had been arrested and jailed at Sonora, Texas and charged with felony theft in connection with the alleged theft of a car from a local used car dealer.

Hewes said that on June 15 Tommy Webb of Tommy's Used Car Lot on Highway 35 North reported that a 1964 car had been stolen from his lot.

The Sheriff's Department immediately sent out radio messages throughout the state, reporting the theft and describing the car. On the same day, the two suspects were apprehended in Sonora.

TWO INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Two persons were injured last week in an auto accident on Fulton Beach Road about three miles north of the city limits.

Mrs. Ella Dawn Clark, 33, and her son, Mack Clifford, 11, of Rockport were injured in the accident. Mrs. Clark was reported in fair condition at Lyman-Roberts Hospital in Aransas Pass. Her son was reported to be in critical condition at Memorial Medical Center in Corpus Christi, with severe lacerations and a number of fractures.

Police reported the vehicle, a pickup truck, was headed north on Fulton Beach Road when it failed to negotiate a turn and left the roadway, traveling 30 feet in the air before landing in about three feet of water, where it overturned and came to rest on its top.

City, county and state officers rushed to the scene and extricated the woman and her son from the pickup truck. Two cats also had been in the vehicle when it overturned. Police were able to rescue one but could not find the other.

Officers on the scene included State Highway Patrolmen Bill Hill and Rick Brush, Deputy Sheriffs Jerry Lindsey and Vernon Duke, and City Patrolman James Russell.

Summer Homemaking Classes Conducted

Playschool, a repousse class, and sewing classes were the three major categories of activities which students were able to participate in during the past two weeks in the high school homemaking department.

Students who have taken homemaking during the regular school term are given an opportunity to extend their abilities and increase their homemaking skills by participating in the summer homemaking program.

Since June 5, students have been in the homemaking department from 8:00 a.m. to 11:00 a.m. During this time students have been busy constructing such garments as tennis dresses, school dresses, and other casual apparel.

During the week of June 5-9, students learned the art of decoupage and repousse. They were excited about making wall hangings and plaques, jewelry boxes, and handbags.

Students enrolled in the summer homemaking program include: Marsha Carpenter, Joann Davidson, Sylvia Frazier, Linda Howell, Debbie Miley, Ophelia Morales, Alice Green, Cindy Henry, Debbie Maley, Carol Mendiola, Connie Perez, Vera Perez, Pam Rowan, and Rhonda Haskin.

Eighth grade girls who joined the high school students included: Mary Ellen Hernandez, Lee Knuckles, and Tammy Boddie.

Mrs. Janice Spears, and Miss Frances Mutscher, homemaking teachers supervised the students.

Jr. High Teacher To Attend N.E.A. Meet

AUSTIN--Carl Stracener, teacher at Rockport-Fulton Junior High School, is expected to be a member of the Texas delegation to the 110th annual convention of the National Education Association June 24-30 in Atlantic City, N. J.

An orientation meeting for the 325 Texas delegates was conducted in Austin by officers and staff members of the Texas State Teachers Association and Texas directors of NEA.

State officers who will lead the Texas delegation are Mrs. Patsy Duncan of Amarillo, president; L. P. Strugeon of Austin, executive-secretary; Johnny Clark Jr. of Baytown, president-elect; and Archie Roberts of Beeville, immediate past president.

Delegates to the convention will consider a proposed NEA constitution which would--if approved in Atlantic City and later ratified by NEA's nationwide membership--radically change the teachers association.

The proposed constitution would give almost complete control of the organized teaching profession (state and local) to NEA and would virtually eliminate state associations from a decision-making role, Sturgeon said.

The document would make NEA membership a requirement for belonging to state and local associations and would change other membership requirements.

Since NEA membership in Texas now totals about 35,000, some Texas teachers feel the unified dues mandate would greatly reduce TSTA's present membership of 148,315.

Community Project—

particular group, only to assist and utilize the facilities available for the benefit of the community.

It appeared at the round table discussion on Wednesday that there was a need for volunteer transportation in some cases for other matters than reading materials, and that possibly these trips would and could be coordinated and the volunteer thus serve more than one individual for more than one purpose. Some citizens are incapacitated at only short periods of time occassionally and need the assistance of some one to drive for them. Where the individual was not in the category of the "needy" and did not want to feel that it was a case of "accepting charity" a contribution could be made to assist with the purchase of additional equipment or services.

A second meeting is planned for July 19, 1972 to hear the results of the contacts of the groups at which time it is hoped that committees can be appointed to work out details to get the plan into operation.

It is also planned to have some of the materials from the Texas State Library Division for the Blind and Physically Handicapped to demonstrate their use to those attending the meeting. Thus it is hoped that all interested in this project will attend, you need not be a member of any specific group, nor necessarily need the services, but it is also hoped that each one reading this item will contact someone who they know that might need such service and not learn of the project so they may be made aware of the uses and concepts of the plan.

Particularly along this line, please advise the Library if you know of people who may need any of these services as it is necessary to know how many people in our community may be counted.

In enlarging the basic plan one of the worthwhile suggestions made at Wednesday's meeting was for a "Golden Age Story Hour" (since every age is golden this does not mean old people) , where the volunteers could bring the users of the service or handicapped people to the Library one morning each week, to talk to each other, compare their needs, hear talking books, a talk on current events or a book review.

All those who have been talking about this project are enthusiastic and feel that here is a chance of "help your neighbor through a center the county has in operation, YOUR LIBRARY."

It should be added that blank tapes may be purchased and specific material thus made available such as church sermons, community projects; further along this line a need for readers might also be shown.

Anyone wishing information on the project may write the Aransas County Public Library, Aransas County Courthouse, Rockport, Texas or call the Library, the Librarian and her Staff will be happy to pass along information and answer questions on the plan.

Would you like to take part in a worthwhile plan--do something to help your neighbor or just feel that you are helping someone who needs you for a few hours a month--here is a wonderful opportunity.

Backward Swimmers

Octopi swim only when they must or if on migration. Then they swim backwards in a series of jerks, employing the same method of jet propulsion used by squids.

SOS, the internationally accepted call for help from a ship in distress, was chosen because it was convenient to send on the early wireless transmitters.

ACCENT ON HEALTH

One of man's most priceless possessions is his eyes, and help in conserving this treasure is on its way, reports the Texas State Department of Health.

This help is in the form of a federally-imposed requirement for impact-resistant lenses on eyeglasses. Thousands of Texans already wear them.

Effective December 31, all glasses and sunglasses sold in the United States must have lenses of laminated glass, heat-tempered glass or plastic. This seems like a simple solution to some of the eye injury problems. But it took years of effort by accident prevention experts to attain this ruling by the Food and Drug Administration.

Last year, reports the National Safety Council, there were 110,000 eye injuries in this country. It's obvious that only a fraction of this number came from broken lenses. Almost 11 percent of the injuries resulted in a permanent partial-blindness, which means that one or both eyes were damaged permanently. More than seven out of 10 persons suffering eye injury went through a period of blindness--even if only temporary.

While the impact-resistant lenses won't provide total protection from breaking, they will be a big step in the right direction. The FDA regulation will provide greater protection in tougher lenses. But they cannot be considered as providing an unbreakable shield against eye injury. The new regulation covers prescription and non-prescription glasses. If there is some reason why these impact-resistant lenses won't fulfill the visual requirements of a particular patient, regular lenses can be obtained.

The performance standard for impact-resistant lenses is based on American National Standards Institute specifications. Essentially, the standard requires that a given lens be capable of withstanding an impact test in which a 5/8-inch steel ball weighting approximately .56 of an ounce is dropped from a height of 50 inches.

Industry has long used the "shatterproof" goggles or glasses. It realized that tragedies resulting from lenses which have shattered into blinding slivers upon impact were needless and preventable.

One of the largest beneficiaries of the new regulation will be the average wearer of glasses -- the athletic youngster, the outdoorsman, the handyman and do-it-yourselfer, the housewife and office worker. They run into situations everyday which test the safety of their glasses and sunglasses. The new lenses will provide a better barrier against injuries to the eyes, says the Health Department.

1st Confederation

More than three hundred years ago the first confederation among the American colonies took place in 1643 --on May 19th--a move which was the first of many which eventually resulted in the establishment of the United States of America.

On that day a confederacy between Plymouth, Connecticut and New Haven and the General Court of Massachusetts was effected, with delegates to represent each colony. In the years to come this arrangement was superceded (in 1686) by another, administered by the royal Governor-General.

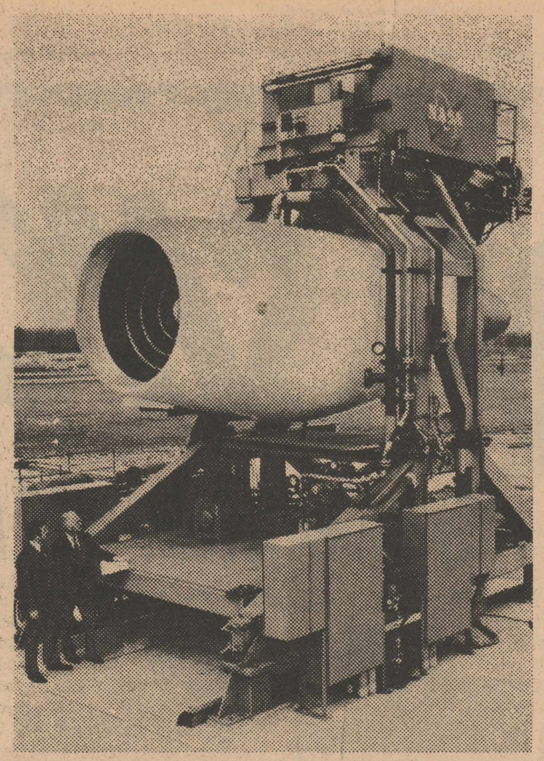

In less than a century, however, the colonies of New England moved again to organize with their own delegates and, eventually, all the colonies voted to govern themselves, free of British sovereignty.

The U.N.

The House Appropriations Committee recently voted to limit U. S. financing of the United Nations to twenty-five per cent. Immediately the expected howl went up from one end of the world to the other.

The action may yet be reversed but if it is not, other nations should act to increase their contributions and keep the U.N. solvent. With hundreds of members, the U. N. shouldn't be dependant on any one for more than twenty-five per cent of its income--if that much.

Since the United States is currently operating under the burden (if not euphoria) of record budget deficits, the nation must effect economies. Many other nations are heavily in the black, and should come to the U. N.'s rescue--and will if the U.S. cut is not rescinded.

QUIET POWER for jetliners of the future is the fuction of an experimental engine developed at NASA's Lewis Research Center in Cleveland, Ohio. Developing 22,000 pounds of thrust, it performs more quietly than most engines now in commercial use and is designed to keep coming faster, narrow-body jetliners within acceptable noise limits.

Food Pains

Recent action by the Price Commission affirms what many shoppers have long known--many food and drug stores mark up prices without any cost justification, in effect charging what the traffic will bear. This system was formerly defended under the patriotic flag of free enterprise.

The Price Commission has ordered a number of chains, however, to rescind to customers three times the amount of unjustified overcharges. That sort of thing is now illegal under the President's current economic stabilization program.

Anyone who has seen prices jump ten, fifteen or twenty cents a week on various items, obviously without relation to costs, appreciates the effort of the Price Commission. In the long run, it will do more to save the free enterprise system than those exploiting it.

It really works. Help it. Work.

the beauty of it all

A Look at Today's You

I often wonder why it is that so many fashion-conscious women are constantly changing their wardrobes while they continue to ignore the ever-changing standards of beauty and grooming. A woman should periodically re-examine herself and the look she creates for herself, for one of the greatest mistakes she can make is to try to follow fashions not becoming to her type or appropriate to her age. Yes, you change from year to year--from your age and physical appearance to your tastes and attitudes. Develop an honest awareness of yourself as you are now -- not as you were yesterday.

Makeup is definitely not at a standstill. Lips are rich and glossy; eyeliner is down to a thin sliver, if any; color extremes are out. Skin actually changes its natural tone from season to season, year to year, so re-check it, renew it often. Are your basetone and blusher still just right? Does a lipstick with orange or purple tones now suddenly make you appear too harsh, too old? If so, it's time for a change.

Professional application and individualism are the keys to your daily beautifying. That takes constant experimenting, periodic re-evaluations of yourself, and then--the most suitable up-to-date changes. Remember, today's styles just aren't compatible with yesterday's face. A beautiful woman is also a contemporary woman. Do you fit in, or have you allowed yourself to stay behind?

Prognosis

Mom--Susan, do you know what happens to little girls that lie?

Daughter--Yes; they grow up to be mothers who tell their children to eat their spinach because it makes their hair pretty and curly.

Women Police

More and more women are joining the nation's police forces and it's an encouraging trend. With crime at an all-time high and steadily rising, any change in law enforcement procedure which produces results is welcome.

There are, of course, some jobs only men should be asked to do. Other than these women are right to expect equal consideration, if they offer equal performance and capability.

Interestingly, in some fields of police work they are reportedly better than men. They provoke fewer violent reactions in some forms of arrest, it's said. Women undercover agents are said to perform at least as well as men in apprehending drug sellers. They have excelled in other forms of police work.

But as for sending in a 110-pound beauty (or two or three) to wrestle with bank robbers, gang toughies, etc., most Americans oppose such a role for women, as do citizens in most countries. An equal danger in the sphere of physical violence is not desirable and would surely produce unequal results.

Early Phase 2 end is seen as a buying trigger.

NEWS REPORT FROM WASHINGTON

McGovern's Victories-
The Next Step-
1300 Votes?
A First Ballot Win?

Washington, D.C.--Senator George McGovern's momentum continues to propel him toward the Democratic nomination; many now feel his California and New Jersey wins make it possible for him to obtain the nomination on the first or second ballot at Miami.

California was the big win, of course, New Jersey of vital importance also. And New York, on the 20th, is set to be the crowning achievement of the South Dakotan's campaign. He is well ahead there and with this added triumph McGovern will head for Miami with a considerable psychological edge over his rivals.

After the California victory it was claimed McGovern could see about 1300 delegate votes, but the estimates came from supporters and friendly counts in the past years have often been high. If indeed McGovern has that much delegate support, it's hard to see anyone heading him off at the pass at the convention.

If he comes to Miami with a lesser number, such as 1,000, it may still be possible, for over 1500 votes are needed to nominate. But a McGovern vote of over 1300 on the first ballot would surely set off the switching process, with various delegates and delegations eager to get the credit for putting McGovern over the top.

Thus the fascinating thing to watch on the first roll call will be whether McGovern's delegate total rises to the 1250 or 1300-level. If it does, he is almost surely in. And if that happens the big question at the convention will suddenly become the identity of the second-place nominee.

Will McGovern follow the traditional custom of looking to the South or will he conclude President Nixon is already too strong there to offer a Democrat much hope for a sizeable bloc of electorial votes? Will he get Edward Kennedy to run as the second-place nominee with him? (Kennedy already favors McGovern.)

It's unlikely Hubert Humphrey would accept second spot again, as he did with Lyndon Johnson in 1964. If Humphrey should win the nomination, however, he would welcome McGovern (or Kennedy) as running mates; of course, McGovern now feels fairly certain Humphrey won't face that decision.

Economic Stabilization Questions and Answers

Internal Revenue Service

Q: What types of rental units are exempt from controls?

A: The following types of rental units are exempt from controls:

1. Industrial, farm and nonresidential commercial property;

2. Rental units on which construction is completed and a certificate of occupancy or similar documents is issued for the first time after August 15, 1971;

3. Rehabilitated dwellings for which the cost of rehabilitation exceeds one-third of the total value of the rehabilitated property and for which a certificate of occupancy or similar document is issued for the first time after August 15, 1971;

4. Apartment units renting for $500 a month or more;

5. Owner-occupied dwellings of four or less units having longer than a month-to-month rental agreement; and

6. Single family rental dwellings rented for longer than month-to-month periods where the landlord owns four units or less.

Q: Are tuition and room and board charges exempt from price controls?

A: Yes. Tuition and room and board charges for state colleges and universities and private, non-profit schools, colleges and universities are exempt from price controls. However, private institutions operating for profit are not exempt from price controls.

Q: Is every price increase above 2.5 percent a violation of stabilization program guidelines?

A: No. The basic policy of the Price Commission is that price increases will not be allowed except as justified on the basis of cost increases, taking into account productivity gains. Thus, many price adjustments will be below 2.5 percent and some will be above 2.5 percent as justified on the basis of cost increases and other factors. The 2.5 percent figure is the goal the Price Commission is aiming at as the average price increase across the economy.

Q: I rent out a room in my home. Is the rent I charge subject to control under the Economic Stabilization Program?

A: Owner-occupied dwellings of four or less units having longer than month-to-month rental agreements are exempt from rent controls.

Q: Are small service firms, such as laundries, restaurants and television repair shops, exempt from price controls as are retailers with sales of less than $100,000?

A: No. This exemption applies only to retail firms and not small service firms.

Q: Is a department, such as a jewelry counter, which operates under a concession in a large department store exempt from posting requirements if the department has less than $200,000 annual revenues even though the store itself has more than $200,000 revenues annually?

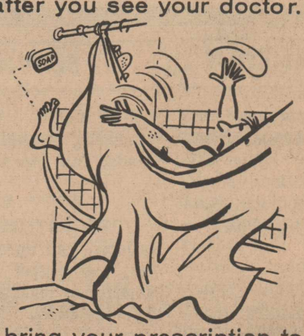

A: No. A concessionaire whose parent company has an annual sales volume of less than $200,000 is subject to the posting requirements if the store in which it operates has an annual sales volume of more than $200,000. A concessionaire whose parent company is less than $200,000 is not subject to the posting requirements if the store in which it operates also has an annual sales volume of less than $200,000. A concessionaire whose parent company has an annual sales volume of more than $200,000 must post base price lists regardless of the annual sales volume of the retail establishment in which it operates.

Q: Are the new Forms PC-1, PC-50 and PC-51 now available at Internal Revenue Service offices?

A: Yes. These forms are now available at IRS offices in many cities throughout the country. A PC-50 is filed only once, to detail base period profit margin data, by any Tier I and Tier II firms which have raised prices or desire to raise them. A PC-1 must be filed by Tier I firms whenever a price increase is sought. Tier II firms must file a PC-1 for the quarter in which a price increase has occurred. A PC-51 is a report of price increases, sales, costs, and profits and must be filed quarterly by Tier I and II firms.

There're times when the price to be paid for making money isn't worth it.

MENTAL HEALTH MATTERS

Bertram S. Brown, M.D.
Director
National Institute of Mental Health

SCHIZOPHRENIA CLUES

The major kind of mental illness known as schizophrenia has so long resisted our research and clinical attack that clues turned up from research are well worth noting, not only by professional workers and scientists, but also, as a matter of information and interest, by the public.

One such clue, a promising tool in the study of the disease is featured in the professional publication, Schizophrenia Bulletin.

Known by its scientific name as "average evoked response," this is a complex technique that allows researchers to study physical correlations to certain aspects of schizophrenic behavior by study electroencephalogram (EEG) readings.

Previously study of the central nervous system function in schizophrenic patients has been difficult because such research involves either an autopsy or implanting eletrodes into a patient's brain, a hazardous surgical procedure.

But now, with the development of the average evoked response method, made possible by the development of computer technology and its application in medical research, large-scale patient testing is possible and should lead to exciting new knowledge.

The Schizophrenia Bulletin also contained a report of a study of schizophrenics done by researchers of the University of California at Los Angeles.

The findings of this study help to give more precise knowledge of the use and affects of medications in the treatment of schizophrenia. The study was carried on in cooperation with California's Camarillo State Hospital, where a group of newly admitted schizophrenic patients was studied.

The findings indicated that some patients classed as schizophrenic may do better if their medication does not include tranquilizers. Certain types of schizophrenics in the study, those not paranoid and who had been socially well adjusted before they became mentally ill, displayed more signs of mental illness when they were on tranquilizer treatment than did similar patients who were given placebos--innocuous pills containing no psychoactive compound or medication but made only of harmless substances, like sugar and water.

These are only minute clues, perhaps, but it is the gathering of such information and the putting together of bits and pieces of knowledge that leads to the discovering of major cures for disease.

The name Charles or Karl stems from the High German word for "full-grown man." Because so many kings, from the time of Charlemagne on down, were given the name of Charles, it came to mean "great man; manly."

CPL Studying Nuclear Power Plant Project

Central Power and Light Company is considering an interim agreement for the study of the feasibility of building a nuclear power plant in a joint venture with four other Texas utility companies, it has been announced by W. G. Siegelin, CPL vice-president.

The CPL official said a task force composed of representatives from all five power suppliers has been studying the proposal for several months and has recommended a go ahead on the project. The interim agreement is now being drawn up for signature for the five participants, Siegelin said.

Siegelin said that while the interim agreement is not binding, he said CPL expects to sign a permanent agreement later this year for construction of the plant.

Participants in the nuclear study include CPL, the City of San Antonio, Houston Lighting and Power Company, the City of Austin, and the Lower Colorado River Authority.

He said that no site for the proposed plant had been selected, although site studies are now underway and will continue throughout the summer months.

The first unit at the proposed plant is expected to have a capability of 1,150,000 kilowatts and CPL is expected to have a 20 percent share of the jointly-owned plant.

The joint venture proposes construction of a central nuclear plant that would begin operation by 1980. A second unit on that same site is proposed for operation in 1982.

"Nuclear fuel appears to be the only alternative for future electric generating units," he said. "More than 100 nuclear power plants are either under construction or in the planning stage in the United States. About 22 are in operation in this country."

Government Pays 2/3 of Health Bill For People 65 and Over, Study Shows

Government pays for two-thirds of the health bill of people 65 and over, compared to one-fifth for people 19 to 65, and one-fourth for those under 19, according to social security officials here.

"According to a study of people's medical and hospital expenses in fiscal 1971," a spokesman said, "the health care costs for people 65 and over totaled $18.7 billion. Government funds paid $12.7 billion, or 68 percent. More than half of that—$7.5 billion—was paid for by Medicare."

The bill for young people under 19 was $11 billion—of which 27 percent, or $3 billion, was paid for by Medicaid and other government programs. For people 19 to 65, the bill was $39.7 billion—of which 22 percent, or $8.7 billion, was paid for by government funds, the study shows.

Medicare is Federal health insurance that helps pay the health care bills of almost everyone 65 and over. "Medicare payments last year amounted to one-third of all health care payments made from government funds," the social security spokesman said.

Medicaid is the Federal-State program that helps pay the health care bills of needy people of all ages. Medicaid payments amounted to one-fourth of the total payments made from government funds, according to the spokesman.

Health care payments by the Veterans Administration, the U.S. Department of Defense, and State and local agencies were included in the study.

The study was conducted by the Social Security Administration, which administers Medicare.

WEEKLY RECIPE

Sarah Anne Sheridan

Fresh vegetables are reaching the market and tender squash are quite versatile. This casserole is a favorite at our table.

Squash Casserole

8 medium squash
4 strips of bacon
1 onion, chopped
½ green pepper, chopped
1½ c crushed saltine crackers
2 eggs, beaten well
Butter
Salt and pepper
Paprika

Boil the squash in salted water until tender. Drain and chop. Fry bacon until crisp. Saute onion and green pepper in drippings until tender. Add crumbled bacon, onion and green pepper to squash along with one cup of the crushed crackers, the beaten eggs, and salt and pepper to taste. Mix well and put into a greased casserole. Top with remaining cracker crumbs, dot with butter and sprinkle with paprika. Bake in a 350 degree oven for 30 minutes.

Heart Disease Afflicts Largest Group Of Disabled Who Get Social Security

Heart disease is the most common affliction among people getting social security disability payments, according to social security officials here.

Social security pays monthly checks to over 1½ million people under 65 who are severely disabled and cannot work for a year or more. "More than 23 percent of them have severe heart diseases according to a recent study," a spokesman said.

The study, conducted by the Social Security Administration, shows that 17.6 percent of the disabled people getting benefits have arteriosclerotic and coronary heart diseases; 4.5 percent have hypertensive heart diseases; 1.2 percent have heart valve diseases.

Emphysema, a lung disease, is the second most common disabling condition, the study showed. Emphysema afflicts 6.3 percent of the beneficiaries.

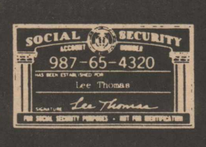

"Of course," the spokesman said, "millions of people can and do work with heart disease, emphysema, and other afflictions. The basis for receiving social security disability payments is not the presence of the disease but whether the disease is so advanced or acute that it prevents a person from working."

Other diseases reported as the basic cause of disability among the social security beneficiaries include:

Schizophrenic disorders, 5.8 percent; pulmonary tuberculosis, 3.9 percent; osteoarthritis, 3.2 percent; rheumatoid arthritis, 2.7 percent; apoplexy, 2.7 percent; cerebral blood clots, 2.6 percent; diabetes, 2.5 percent; and displacement of intervertebral disc ("slipped disc"), 1.3 percent.

Monthly social security checks also go to 1¼ million dependents of disabled workers. Social security payments to a disabled worker with a wife and one or more dependent children average $269 a month.

Questions and Answers

Q. I'm a working mother and would like to know whether my two children, who are 10 and 11, could get social security on my earnings record if I died or got disabled?

A. Children now have the same social security protection on their mother's record as on their father's. In the event of your death or disability, the children under 18 (or under 22 if still unmarried and full-time students) would be eligible for monthly checks if you had worked long enough under social security.

Q. I am nearly 62 and I'm thinking about retiring. How can I find out how much I would get from social security if I decide to retire at 62?

A. Call or visit any social security office. They can give you an estimate of how much your monthly checks would be at 62, and how much you would get if you wait until you are 65.

Income Tax News

Individuals who are missing in action or are prisoners of war as a result of the Vietnam conflict may get a refund of all or part of their Federal taxes paid in prior years, R.L. Phinney, District Director of Internal Revenue for southern Texas, said today.

The new law will primarily affect civilian employees and commissioned officers whose pay was formerly fully or partially taxable, Phinney said.

Dependents who have been filing Federal income tax returns on the basis of income they are receiving on behalf of those in missing or prisoner of war status may also file claims for refund of Federal taxes paid.

The Congress recently enacted a law providing that for Federal tax purposes, all American servicemen and civilian government employees who are, or have been, in missing or prisoner of war status may exclude from gross income all military or government pay and allowances received during the period they were missing or prisoners of war.

The exclusion provision is retroactive to February 28, 1961, the approximate date when American military advisors began accompanying Vietnamese counterparts on military operations.

The dependent of any individual who has been missing or a prisoner of war at any time since that date may file a claim for refund of any Federal taxes paid on the military or government compensation the individual received during the period he was missing or a prisoner of war.

Normally it would be too late for taxpayers to file claims for refund for tax years before 1969 (1961-1968) because the period allowed by law for filing claims for these years has expired. The new law, however, extends the period for filing claims for these years to April 26, 1973.

In the case of government employees, both civilian and military, who are missing in action, the expiration date for filing claims for tax years 1961-1968 has been extended to two years after missing status is terminated if that date is later than April 26, 1973.

In general, the period for filing a claim for refund for all tax years after 1968 expires three years after the date the return for that year was due.

Form 1040X or Form 843 should be used to file these claims for refund. These forms are available at all IRS offices. IRS personnel will also be available to assist anyone needing help in filing his claim for refund, and will give special attention to processing these claims, Phinney said.

PORTS OF CALL

...FOR TRAVEL AND ADVENTURE

Has Varied Scenery

The stark but infinitely beautiful region of Big Bend National Park in Texas encompasses painted deserts, bubbling hot springs, weirdly carved boulders, 1,500-foot-high canyon cliffs and pine-clad mountains that rise to almost 8,000 feet. The park belies the belief that desert is all flat monotony.

The style is changing, for travel to Africa. A few years ago it was big game hunting or perhaps camera safaris into the jungles and wilds. Today the accent is beginning to be placed, by BOAC at least, on cultural centers.

Beginning June 3rd BOAC is launching a new tour program to five African capitals, a tour which lasts twenty-two days and concentrates on museums, universities and development of these countries.

The tour begins in Kampala, Uganda--not far from Lake Victoria, source of the Nile. It then moves to Zambia (Victoria Falls) and then to Tanzania. Next is Nairobi, Kenya and the last stop is Ethiopia, a country dating back 3,000 years and especially rich in the history of Christian civilization. Ethiopia, by the way, is still ruled by the Lion of Judah, Emperor Haile Selassie, who successfully survived dictator Benito Mussolin's Italian invasion in the thirties!

The BOAC African tour will continue until late December, costs the traveler about $1300 for the 22 days and about $1150 for a shorter, 15-day tour.

Air France has really made it easy--as their ads claim--for the traveler to see western Europe. A new fare throughout May from New York to Paris and back is only $225. In addition, the airline will rent their passengers a car for a dollar a day each (minimum two persons) and mileage.

The only catch is that one must remain at least 22 days, and not more than 45. But all the other silly discriminations, such as age, the requirement to spend so much on "land arrangements," etc., have been dropped. These fares, however, go up June 1st.

Icelandic and International Air Bahama still offer the cheapest fares to Europe--the former flying from New York and the latter from Nassau but the new fares of the major carriers are bringing them much closer to a competative posture. Both Icelandic and IAB land in Luxembourg, a good central European location. Both offer group fares--and help place you in a group--for less than $200 roundtrip. One can fly either of these economy lines over and the other back, leaving from Nassau and returning to New York, or vise versa.

Know the Weather

How do clouds sometimes telegraph the arrival of a warm front? Why are they easier to predict than the arrival of cold fronts?

A warm front arrives over our head before you're usually aware of it. That's because the leading edge of a warm front slants forward at the top. Usually this slant is considerable, extending over a distance of hundreds of miles.

Therefore, when cirrus clouds appear far up in the sky, after a clear day, it may well mean that a warm front is approaching. These ice clouds very often are the first sign in the sky that a warm front is on its way.

In twelve to twenty-four hours, you will probably experience rain. Certainly, the clouds will steadily lower and in twenty-four hours they will be cumulus rain clouds.

When you see a halo around the moon, it may well be the first sign of a warm front.

Fix-It Tip

Eliminating condensation is a matter of doing many things, a trial and error process. Condensation occurs when warm, moisture-laden air hits a cold surface—basement walls, cold water pipes, toilet bowls. Part of the cure is to eliminate some of the moisture before it enters the air.

Clothes dryers should be vented so that moisture escapes outdoors. Exhaust fans in kitchens will cut down some of the moist air in the house. There should be fans in bathrooms, too. Opening a window when washing clothes or cooking will help.

Caster wheels on heavy furniture make moving the pieces easier. The wheels can be mounted in either a rigid or swivel frame. The wheel moves only backward or forward in a rigid frame. A swivel caster, with the aid of ball bearings, turns in a complete circle. Swivel casters are more expensive but worth it in versatility.

If you're old enough to want your own telephone, you're old enough to want your own typewriter.

There comes a time in your life when all of a sudden privacy really counts.
You need to be alone. In your own place.
With your own things.
You want your conversations with your friends to be just that—not a family gathering.
We understand.
Which brings us to your own typewriter.
Your own typewriter says you're getting serious (and better be left alone).
After all, when people hear the tappety-tap of a typewriter they figure you're into something important and automatically steer away from you.
Besides, when your own typewriter is sitting there, it has a way (a neater way than anyone else) of reminding you of the work you have to do.
And somehow you'll find yourself doing it.
And doing it faster—because with say, an electric portable, even a beginner can get to type twice as fast as writing by hand.
Other things can happen too. Like spelling can improve. Because a typed word that's misspelled looks misspelled, and just asks to be corrected.
You'll find your creative thoughts won't slip away from you, because a typewriter really listens to you—actually accepts every idea as fast as it comes up.
And then a little miracle called Organization can occur. When that happens, you can get a feeling of confidence you won't believe.
So drop a hint or two about wanting your own typewriter.
The mere act of asking says something about where your head's at.
Which could even go a long way toward getting you that telephone.
At the very least, your own extension.
Just remember when you're asking, who reminded you to ask.

Social Security Death Benefit: Who Gets It?

People are sometimes puzzled about the social security lump-sum death benefit because it isn't clear to them who gets it and why the amount can vary, according to social security officials here.

"The death payment is usually made to the widow or widower of a deceased worker who was insured under social security," a spokesman said. "But if there is no widow or widower who was living in the same household with the worker at the time of death, the payment may be made, under certain conditions, directly to the funeral home or to the person who paid the funeral expenses."

The amount of the social security death benefit is three times what the deceased worker would have received as a monthly retirement benefit at 65—with a maximum of $255, the spokesman said. The amount can vary from $211.20 to $255. The average is about $242, he said.

"The death payment is paid only when a worker who was insured under social security dies," the spokesman said. "It isn't payable if a dependent of an insured worker dies—unless the dependent himself had worked long enough under social security to be insured on his own record."

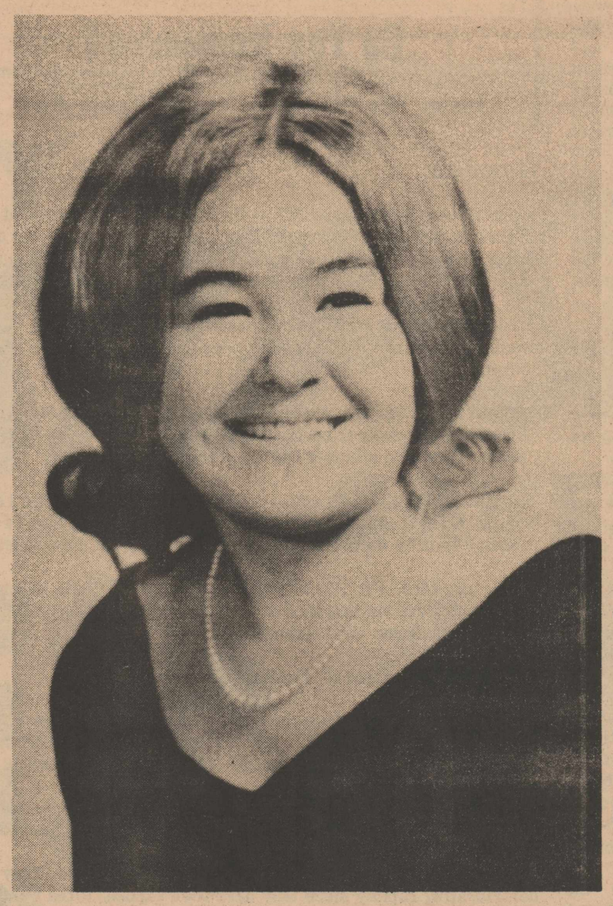

A social security official gave this example:

A retired couple receive monthly social security benefits on the husband's earnings record. The wife never worked under social security. If the husband died, a lump-sum death payment would be made to his wife because he was insured under social security.

If the wife died, a payment would not be made. She had received retirement benefits on her husband's record, but she was not herself insured under social security.

Last year, the Social Security Administration paid $293.6 million in death benefits on the records of 1,220,248 deceased workers, the spokesman said.

"If someone in your family dies, be sure to check with your nearest social security office for information about the death payment as well as for information on survivors benefits," he said.

Water That "Burned"

Alexander the Great, in his travels through the Persian Gulf area and Mesopotamia, heard tales of a kind of "water" that seeped from the ground and burned. He tested the story by pouring the strange liquid over a boy, then igniting him with a torch. Today, the area's chief product is petroleum.

Federal Tax News

District Director of Internal Revenue R.L. Phinney said today that household employers in the Austin District will receive through the mail on or about July 1 pre-addressed Forms 942, "Employer's Quarterly Federal Tax Return for Household Employees," for use in reporting Social Security taxes for the calendar quarter ending June 30, 1972.

Phinney pointed out that the use of these pre-addressed forms, which also carry the correct employer identification number, will insure the prompt and proper credit to taxpayer accounts when these quarterly returns are processed through the ADP systems at the regional service center.

Phinney said further that blank forms are available in the District and local offices for new filers and urged that those employers who have been assigned identification numbers make sure the number entered on the tax form is correct.

The deadline for filing Forms 942 for the second quarter is July 31, 1972.

To qualify for the honor list, a student must be enrolled in 12 semester hours of courses, excluding pass-fail courses, and have at least a 3.0 grade point average. Texas Tech uses a 4.0 grading system.

Tony Rinche Takes Trip

Tony Rinche reports a wonderful trip to Guadalajara, Mexico, last week. She was a member of the 8-day pilgrimage sponsored by Christ the King Parish of Corpus Christi. She left June 10 and returned June 17.

A total of 394 participants made the trip in 11 air conditioned chartered buses, with schedule including Laredo, Monterrey, Saltillo, Torreon, Durango, Mazatlan, Topic, Guadalajara, San Juan, Leon, Silao, San Luis Potosi and Lake Chapala.

Highlight of the trip was a visit to the great Shrine of Our Lady at Zapopan, Guadalajara, and also the mountain top basilica shrine in honor of Christ the King at Silao, outside Leon.

Entertainment included a grand evening fiest at Tequilla Souza and a great deal of sightseeing with the tour guides.

Double-Four Bridge

Mrs. W.M. Denny was hostess to the Double Four Bridge Club at her home last week. Members playing were Mrs. A.L. Bachman, Mrs. J.V. Ferguson, Mrs. Eva Lutz, Miss Winona McFall, Mrs. Art Cox, Mrs. William Plummer and one guest, Mrs. Nancy Scott. Mrs. Lutz was high scorer.

One-half of the people of the world seem to think they've been commissioned to tell the other half what to do.

TV COMMENTARY

By John Smilev

SOME of the top paid people in television are never seen--just heard. The voice-overs for TV commercials have fat wallets, if they work regularly. Some do. Their voices are heard when the viewer sees the jolly Green Giant, Bugs Bunny, and dozens of other sales pitches. It is reported that more than half of all the money made last year by members of the Screen Actors Guild came from commercials. A major portion of that went to the voice of a person who was heard but not seen.

SPEAKING OF MONEY, nighttime rates for advertising are generally much higher than daytime rates on TV. A typical prime-time charge is $50,000 per minute.

IT SEEMS that everything is vastly more expensive at night. It can cost a network anywhere from $90,000 up to mount the average half-hour drama at night. A daily serial can be cranked out for $50,000 a week. That's $10,000 per half hour show.

DICK CAVETT has quarreled with his bosses, saying they have not done a good job in promoting his show. He says this has hurt his ratings in a more serious way than the late movie. As a result, of late the viewer has seen spots promoting Cavett's late-night experience. If Cavett's ratings don't tend to improve by late July, he'll be replaced in October with an important, new top-budgeted show.

POLITICAL PARTIES are lining up TV and movie personalities for partisan duties. One wonders, and trust viewers will share in wondering, how show biz gives a person the experience necessary to make expert-like statements in the arena of national and international politics.

A HEAVY DOSE of nostalgia is available for those who wish to view the thensville things of the fabulous forties on ETV's "Playhouse New York--The 40s." Check your paper for the time slot in your area and enjoy everything from GI blues to Fibber McGee's closet.

ONE HUNDRED EIGHTY-TWO WRITERS, reporters and cameramen accompanied President Nixon to the Soviet Union. Adding to these 54 TV network technicians who were also working, one finds the total number of representative from American communications to be 236.

BEFORE the trip was over, these newsmen and writers traveled more than 15,000 miles, were airborne more than 35 hours, and were absent from the United States 15 days on their assignment.

A NEWSMAKER became a newscaster when Carl Stokes, former Cleveland Mayor, became co-anchor man on New York City WNBC-TV's evening news wrap-up. The powers that be are betting that the former mayor will pull votes to aid sagging ratings. It is reported that Stokes will get some $100,000 a year in his new position, versus $35,000 as mayor of Cleveland.

CBS TENNIS CLASSIC, which shows tennis at its best, is a welcomed addition to the sports fare normally presented on TV, all of which is appreciated. Hopefully the playing of Rod Laver will inspire many to slip into their tennis shoes and scat out to buy a good racket.

TV IS claimed by many to be a wonderful invention. Exercise is also grand. It might be wise to give equal time to exercise and to TV during the good weather, summer months.

They'll never bottle the secret essence that makes a hot dog taste twice as delicious at an amusement park as anywhere else in the world.

What makes a clock keep perfect time for only 4 cents a month?

Electricity does.

FIND ANCIENT ANIMAL TRACKS

Spoil banks south of here, near Palm Harbor, contain the tracks of animals which perished millions of years ago, according to Raulie L. Irwin, whose hobby is the study of rocks, minerals and geology.

On the spoil banks dredged from the channels, Irwin and his son have found bones, teeth and tracks of all sorts of interesting beasts, Raulie reports.

"I have gathered almost a truck load of bones. They are deteriorating rapidly since they have been exposed to the weather, but I have found vertebrae, leg bones and many pieces of ribs of large animals."

Plastic tablecloths seem so porous that it is hard to keep them looking new without rubbing the design off with household cleansers. Try using some hair shampoo on a wet sponge. It gets the dirt off but not the design.

Include a pillowcase in each load of wash. When the wash on the line dries, put the clothes in the pillowcase that is still hanging on the line, thus saving two or three trips to the house. This is most practical in case of a quick shower.

If you have small children who want to sprinkle clothes when mother does, give them an unused salt or pepper shaker filled with water. They can sprinkle to their hearts' content without wetting the clothes too much.

Murray's Offers Drapery Service

MRS. DAVID MURRAY

Mrs. David Murray of Murray's Furniture in Woodsboro has announced that the firm is now offering drapery service and interior decorating service for Rockport area residents.

She said anyone interested in these services is invited to call her at 543-4551 Woodsboro (collect) and she will be glad to make arrangements to come here and make free estimates.

Mrs. Murray recently returned from a four-day sales and decorating seminary sponsored by Norman's of Salisbury in Salisbury, North Carolina.

Norman's of Salisbury manufactures custom window treatments and bedspreads. The decorator-oriented program is held annually for Norman's of Salisbury dealers. Approximately 250 retailers attended the meeting.

This year the emphasis was put on the new line of semi-custom spreads introduced by Norman's of Salisbury in October of 1971, and on a new display program developed in response to dealers' demands.

Retailers also attended workshops on the use of color and fabrics in the art of window dressing and in using Norman's highly individual bedspreads.

Other class sessions were devoted to techniques of measuring, pricing and advertising and in discussions of today's consumer, her varying life styles and home furnishing needs. Upon completion of the school, retailers are qualified as window specialists.

Norman's of Salisbury was one of the first firms in the home furnishings industry to take this format in educating the retailers in selling not only the latest in window fashions but to sell the "total home." The firm has received national recognition for its schools, and many other firms in the industry have adopted similar methods of helping their retailers sell home furnishings.

BASEBALL * * *

By Pete Fritchie

Washington, D. C.--The national capital seems likely to have a Major League franchise again soon, possibly in 1973. That's the word from one member of a congressional subcommittee seeking to bring Major League baseball back to Washington.

It may be, as alleged, that the capital can have one of two willing teams, and it may be that the capital will switch over to the National League. There have been reports that San Diego would move in if the Padres' 1972 season is not more encouraging, financially, than in 1971.

The capital might also regain American League membership; what some here would like is to see Oakland's A's come to the national capital, with all that talent. But chances of this seem slim even if Oakland doesn't turn out in great numbers to see its heroes.

What is certain is that the national capital should have a Major League team. It should, however, be in the portfolio of a wealthy owner, for Washington is not really a baseball town, as far as gate is concerned.

Fans might turn out in greater numbers for a winner, however; actually it has been so long since the capital had a winner, it's hard to say a winner wouldn't change Washington's reputation--the capital being much more populous today.

ENGAGED — Mr. and Mrs. Arnett M. Lane announce the engagement of their daughter, Sharon Louise, to Steven Hadley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Hadley. The marriage will take place July 14 at First Assembly of God Church.

THE WORLD OF ENTERTAINMENT

POCKET MONEY

When it comes to Western movies, it sometimes takes wild imagination to assume that Jim Kane and Leonard even remotely resemble cowboys of the Old West in the film "Pocket Money." The cast consists of two actors usually rated among filmdoms top billings--Paul Newman as Jim Kane and Lee Marvin as Leonard.

Jim Kane rides an old pickup truck instead of the usual spirited horse and is in debt to the bank. He seems an expert in making bad deals, getting fleeced out of his pay and in general has none of the appeal of the dashing, gun-slinging, rough and ready cowboy usually the imagination of the film industry.

Lee Marvin, as Leonard, is an old Mexican who drinks all day and dreams all night of the riches he's going to get some day. His advice to Kane never paid off. The horses Kane drives up from Mexico are quarantined and he doesn't get paid for driving a herd of steers.

The whole situation is rather absurd but still there's fun and humor involving the character and mood of the principle characters. Rated PG.

Looking at WASHINGTON

The Debt Ceiling

Practically every year, often twice, Congress is asked to raise the debt ceiling, or to extend a recent temporary hike. There is always adverse talk, grumbling for constituents, and then the ceiling is raised.

Part of the reason for this is that Congress is appropriating the federal money it spends each year, and isn't really in position to refuse to raise the debt ceiling when federal spending makes that necessary. Part is sometimes bureaucratic extravagance.

The national debt now stands at $450 billions. That means the nation's taxpayers are paying at least twenty-five billions annually in interest, before receiving a dime's worth of defense or government administration. That take is sure to rise as the debt rises. Thus it is highly desirable to set a realistic limit on the debt, on both permanent and temporary borrowing.

The objection to this is that in time of recession the government is supposed to operate at a deficit, to stimulate the economy and aid recovery. Perhaps an emergency fund, to be used only in such cases, could be established by an annual appropriation, so that in a few years the nation would have an emergency, reserve fund. At that time both the White House and Congress could resolve to live within their means.

All Workers Need Social Security Numbers

If you are planning to work this summer, be sure to get a social security card first, advised H.M. Cleveland, social security district manager in Corpus Christi.

"Almost every job is covered be social security, even if it's only part-time or temporary," he said. "And no matter how young or how old you are, your earnings are subject to social security tax."

An employee's earnings are credited to his social security number when they are reported by his employer. The employee's earnings determine the amount of social security benefits he may collect when he retires, if he becomes disabled, or for his family if he should die.

"If all of your earnings are not credited to your social security number, your benefits may amount to less than they should," Cleveland said. "When starting a new job, always show your social security card to your employer, and make sure he copies the number and the name from your card. Some employers will not hire a worker who does not have his number."

The account numbers can be secured from the Social Security Administration, 1802 South Staples Street, Corpus Christi. Application blanks can be secured from that office, or from post offices in other area towns.

Independence Day 1972

July 4 probably is the most American of all our holidays. Certainly it is the most significant from a patriotic standpoint.

It marks the anniversary of the adoption of our Declaration of Independence from Great Britain in 1776. In addition, it has a special significance for all who love our country and what it stands for.

Americans realize that our nation is the greatest on earth with the finest form of government yet developed by man.

We are grateful for the many privileges and benefits we enjoy in America.

WEEKLY RECIPE

If you're planning a swimming party, here are some suggestions for ingredients which can be set up on a serving table. Let each guest assemble his sundae in a colorful paper cup or glass.

Pool-Side Sundaes

Ice Cream Cubes (Several flavors)
Fruit syrup, any flavor
Chocolate syrup
Chopped nuts
Maraschino cherries
Marshmallow cream
Whipped cream in pressure can

All of the preparations can be made well in advance. Cut ice cream into squares (or scoops) and place loosely in a serving container and return to freezer. Pile a basket (for table center) with a variety of snacks--those packaged in plastic bags are best. Place colorful trash cans conveniently for used napkins, paper cups and snack packs.

Home and Garden Club Organized

Women of the Methodist Church met June 13 in the home of Mrs. Bill Stubbs and formed the "Home and Garden Club of Rockport." The club will be restricted to 25 members at one time and will include anyone who is interested in gardening.

The object of the club is to encourage the study of and promote an interest in gardening, arts and crafts and flower arranging among amateurs; to aid in the protection of birds, native plants and the environment; and encourage civic planting and beautification. Beginning in September the club will meet the 2nd Thursday of each month in the homes of members.

Guest speakers, both locally and withing the area, will teach programs in flower arranging, organic gardening, crafts, hanging baskets, soil study and landscaping.

Members voted to arrange all flowers for the Methodist Church during their Centennial celebration to be held July 16. A Christmas luncheon will be held in December for members and their guests and a standard judged "Flower Show Tea" will be held in May.

Officers elected were Mrs. Bill Stubbs, president; Mrs. W.K. Thomas, first vice president; Mrs. E.N. Adams, 2nd vice president; Mrs. Richard Stafford, secretary; Mrs. Danny Adams, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Ross Demory, treasury; and Mrs. Tom McClung, parliamentarian.

NEWS REPORT FROM WASHINGTON

McGovern's Test-
Not In Bag-
Nixon's Peace Hope-
The Bombing-

Washington, D.C.--Senator George McGovern's chances for the Democratic nomination are very good but two hurdles are likely to prove the supreme test for his thus-far amazing 1972 campaign.

First, he must obtain another two hundred delegates, perhaps a few more. He has a reasonable chance to do this, partly because he is already so close to the magic number. But barring his path right now is the feeling of many Democrats, including many in the South and some in the Midwest, that he has assumed a political posture too controversial to win with in November.

Democrats who feel this way are either trying to change McGovern's policies, or block his nomination. To convince them he can win in November (his second problem) is directly linked to the first--obtaining the several hundred delegate votes he needs by August.

If he does not, McGovern's political star is clouded by the chance his opponents who feel he can't beat the President will begin a draft for Senator Edward Kennedy as a last resort.

Thus far, Senator Kennedy has favored McGovern; what the Massachusetts Senator would do if a serious draft attempt is made is debatable. If strong enough, it might sweep aside his plans to stay out of the race and nomination contest this year.

McGovern's chances of receiving the nomination are probably better than fifty-fifty, but not much more. There is genuine fear among some that if he is the standard bearer, he can't beat the President.

Meanwhile, President Nixon is gambling heavily that his all-out military assault on North Vietnam will put enough pressure on hawks in Hanoi to force them to accept his very conciliartory ceasefire offer. Nixon has only a little over four months before the election but the highly destructive bombing campaign has already ravaged North Vietnam's industry and transportation badly and the toll by mid-July will have become especially heavy.

The question Hanoi's leaders are facing right now is whether it will pay them to wait until after November, and whether the destruction the country will absorb in that time is too much of a price to bear. Thus far they have opted for taking the punishment but it is heavy punishment.

Episcopal Women Summer Program

The Women of St. Peter's Episcopal Church announce their summer program. Each Wednesday from 2-5 p.m. the women are having an afternoon of games in the Church's educational building. St. Peter's is located at the corner of Live Oak and Mimosa in Rockport.

There is a wide choice of games such as bridge, scrabble, dominoes, checkers, jig saw puzzles, etc. For those who do not wish to play, the ladies say "bring your handword and enjoy refreshments and fellowship."

Students Study Interior Decorations

Six summer homemaking students learned about the selection and placement of furniture in the home, the care of carpets, and the selection of major home appliances when they visited a Corpus Christi furniture store June 6.

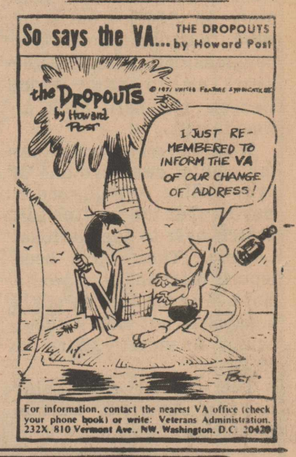

The girls were taken on a tour of the store where they viewed a large variety of living room, dining room, and bedroom furniture arrangements. Various styles of furniture, and the various ways to arrange furniture were pointed out to them.

The students also visited the carpet section of the store where they viewed a wide selection of carpet colors and patterns.

Various characteristics of such major home appliances as the refrigerator, range, washer and dryer, televisions, and stereos were also discussed.

Following the tour the students were given an opportunity to shop for fabric and notions at the Padre Staples Mall.

Those girls who participated in the field trip included: Sylvia Frazier, Marsha Carpenter, Pam Rowan, Linda Kelly, Joann Davidson, and Debbie Miley. Mrs. Janice Spears, and Miss Frances Mutscher, homemaking teachers accompanied the students.

Slide Show for Students Explains Social Security

SOCIAL SECURITY SLIDE SHOW—This is one of the 75 slides in "Help! I'm a Number," 10-minute slide show explaining social security to junior and senior high school students. The show, which includes a tape recording that briefly explains social security protection for young people, is available at social security offices for showing at schools and organization meetings.

A slide-and-tape show introducing junior and senior high school students to social security is available at social security offices.

Called "Help! I'm a Number," the 10-minute show consists of 75 color slides that flash on a screen while voices and sound effects are heard on a tape recording.

"The show explains the unique importance of a social security number," according to a social security spokesman here.

"The show also describes how the social security disability and survivors programs protect young people, as well as providing retirement benefits and Medicare health insurance later on," the spokesman said.

Information about showing "Help! I'm a Number" at schools or to organizations is available at any social security office.

Library News

Those who have been asking for plays at the Aransas County Public Library will be pleased to know there is now available a book of twelve plays titled "Stage 12" by Phil Sheridan.

You may recall the Phil Sheridan of television and radio. The same sincerity and good humor will be felt again in this group of plays. These plays offer entertainment for each of the twelve months of the year, and teachers, Boy Scout groups, church groups and individuals will find much help in this book. Some might just want the book for good reading. It would make a fine Christmas gift as it contains two lovely Christmas stories.

The twelve plays are "Mister Kreamer", a pupil-teacher campaign, "Pinky", a boy with a mother problem, "Be my Valentine", "A Spy for the King", a story of the American Revolution, "The Clever Leprechaun", a story of Irish wit, "An Easter Egg Tail", a rabbit fantasy, "A Grand Mother's Day, "O'er the Land of the Free, patriotic pageantry, "A Night in Spooky Mansion", a Halloween story, "Thanksgiving Adventure, "The Chosen Tree", a Christmas Fantasy, "The Other Side of Christmas", what the holiday is all about.

Stage 12 fills great need. It is difficult to find plays that are spirited enough for the youth of today. These plays are charactized by kindliness, patriotism, family devotion and fun.

Some schools have included in their basic reading one or two of these plays. Ideas for costumes, props and sets are included. The planning and rehearsing plays can be an exciting educational experience.

The next meeting of the Club will be in October.

Letter to the Editor

Just a few lines to pay compliments to a new and fine business in our area, one that will bring many dollars to the pockets of business men in the area, a credit to the city and I am sure is appreciated by citizens in the area.

I am speaking of the Lakewood Safari Mobil Camp. I spent three delightful days there, the manager was very nice and helpful, the grounds were clean and the business properly run, the owner should be congratulated, He has spent a ton of money to the credit of Rockport.

We will be back and visit you friendly people.

July Draft Call Is Announced

AUSTIN--The July Draft Call has been announced by Colonel Melvin N. Glantz, the State Director of Selective Service for Texas. Men in the 1972 First Priority Selection Group with lottery number 50 or lower will be issued induction orders with reporting dates in July. This Priority Selection Group is made up of men born in Calendar Year 1952 and of men who lose a deferment during Calendar Year 1972.

During April and May, induction orders went up to lottery number 015; during June to 035; and now for July, to 050.

Men with lottery numbers of 90 or lower will be ordered for pre-induction physical examinations during July if they have not yet been examined. The physical examinations are administered to men in the 1972 First Priority Selection Group, also.

Thirty days notice will be given on all induction orders. There is no quota for Texas; however, Colonel Glantz said he expects 400 men to be inducted in Texas.

"Wm. E. Nicholas, Chairman of Local Board No. 107, said 9 induction orders will be issued by his local board. There will be 46 pre-induction Physical Examination orders issued, also. Group will be forwarded on July 19, 1972."

STILLWATER -- Mary Jean Anna Day of Rockport, Texas, Home Economics sophomore at Oklahoma State University the past semester, is among 5,104 OSU students named to the Dean's Honor Roll for the spring term.

Listing on the Dean's Honor Roll is earned by students making a 3.0 grade average or better (4.0 is perfect) while taking at least 12 credit hours, with no grade lower than C, said Registrar Raymond Girod.

Mark Rogers On Dean's List

Mark A. Rogers, who is studying range management, qualified for the dean's honor list for the spring semester in the College of Agricultural Sciences at Texas Tech University.

To qualify for the honor list, a student must be enrolled in 12 semester hours of courses, excluding pass-fail courses, and have at least a 3.0 grade point average. Texas Tech uses a 4.0 grading system.

MENTAL HEALTH MATTERS

Bertram S. Brown, M.D.
Director
National Institute of Mental Health

"CHILD'S-EYE-VIEW"

Research study of a "child's-eye-view" of a mentally ill (psychotic) parent is leading to deeper understanding of both the child's chances of developing normally and of the mechanics of mental illness.

In continuing studies, Dr. E. James Anthony, of Washington University, St. Louis, is finding that children of the mentally ill have an increased probability of becoming distrubed themselves. They also have greater vulnerability to psychotic stresses at certain points in their development.

Surprising, the study shows that the effect of having a parent who is seriously ill physically can have an impact equally as upsetting on the children as having a parent mentally ill.

The ages during which children appear to be most vulnerable, according to the study, are four to seven, nine to eleven, and fourteen to sixteen. When the illness is severe, however, a child of any age can be affected.

With regard to school achievement, Dr. Anthony has found that children of normal parents do best and children of physically ill parents seem most handicapped.

On the other hand, 5 to 10 percent of the children who were studied developed "supernormal" capacities for adaptation in response to the stress of having a mentally ill parent.

Although all the data have not been analyzed from work done to date and the research is continuing, it has had significant impact on the scientific community and on the planning of mental health services. Recently, it figured in a revision of New York State's mental health legislation.

The Washington University research is among more than 100 studies related to schizophrenia, a major mental illness, that are supported by the National Institute of Mental Health and coordinated through its Center for Studies of Schizophrenia.

BROWN PATCH

Brown patch disease, caused by a fungus (Rhizoctonia solani), occurs mostly in the late spring or early fall. However, the recent wet weather in our area is currently causing an occurance of this disease. Development occurs most rapidly in temperatures between 75 and 85 degrees F. when free moisture is present. The disease is characterized by circular patterns of dead grass blades in the turf. Neglected, brown patch will kill a lawn in two to three months.

CHINCH BUG

Chinch bug development is favorable during wet weather. The "green thumb gardner," who understands plant language and responds to symptoms before a problem develops, will be considering a preventive application of a good bio-degradeable insecticide. Fortunately these safer chemicals are available and their spectrum is broad enough to control grubs and sod webworms too.

ROSE CARE

Summer care of roses is especially important in terms of fall and winter enjoyment of your plants. We are blessed with a climate that will allow roses to bloom almost year around. The hot weeks ahead will be hard on rose plants unless a few simple plans are made. Plan to fertilize every 6 to 8 weeks making a light application of a good all purpose rose food. Plan to mulch your plants to help hold moisture and filter the hot sun periods immediately ahead. Plan to control the two major rose diseases, blackspot and mildew through the practice of preventative care. Just a few minutes every 10 to 12 days will accomplish this if you use some of the newer fungicides now available. Plan to water every three or 4 days to a depth of 8 to 10 inches. Light applications of water will result in shallow root systems and greater susceptability to drougth damage.

IRON CHLOROSIS

Identifying and correcting iron deficiency in our area is of great importance. This area is rated as one of "severe deficiency" as iron does not naturally occur in the soil. Frequent applications of a good iron chelate will not only give your lawn and plants a good green color, but it is especially helpful in maintaining vigor in lawns and plants that will assist them in resisting or tolerating diseases, including St. Augustine Decline (SAD).

We are happy to help you with your gardening problems on a "do-it-yourself" basis or through our maintenance program; prescribed to fit your individual needs. Come by and talk it over or give us a call.

A kid with leukemia can die from a cold.

Leukemia is a disease of the blood-forming tissues. It keeps the body from producing the necessary amounts of normal white blood cells to fight infection.

An infection that means a day in bed for a normal child is a threat to the life of a child with leukemia.

Today research has made enormous progress. At one time, leukemia victims lived only a few months. Now, in some cases, we can prolong their lives a few years. That's good. But not good enough.

Even though we're closer to a cure, leukemia is still the major cause of disease and death in kids between the ages of 3 and 14.

We want to save the life of every leukemia victim.

We can't do it without a healthy contribution from you.

We want to wipe out cancer in your lifetime. Give to the American Cancer Society.

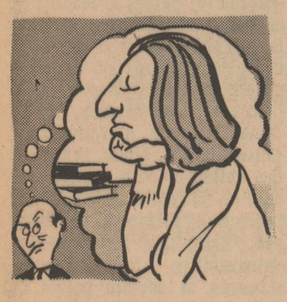

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Brickbats for Teacher

Billy's grouchy grandfather took such a violent dislike to the boy's homeroom teacher that he wrote a special letter of denunciation to the board of education.

"This woman is ignorant, lazy, and totally uninterested in her job," he alleged. "She just sits there and collects wages."

As it happened, Billy's teacher was both capable and energetic. When she found out about the letter, she determined to sue the grandfather for defamation of character.

At the trial, he was unable to produce even a shred of evidence to sustain his charges. Result: liability. The court said teachers need not put up with malicious charges that blacken their professional reputation.

Most courts agree. Still, not every mistaken statement about a teacher will support a defamation suit. Like other public employees, a teacher must "take" a reasonable amount of criticism from those who are legitimately concerned with the school system.

In another case, a pupil's mother complained to the school board that a certain teacher was "not competent." But this time, even though the mother's complaint was exaggerated, she did have a substantial amount of supporting evidence.

The teacher sued — but the court ruled against her. The judge said that for the good of public education, some leeway must be allowed to its critics.

Nor is it defamation if the charge does not seriously reflect on the teacher's professional qualifications. Take this case:

A school principal, writing a report about a new teacher, described her as being "careless in writing on the blackboard." Was this statement, if untrue, enough basis for a defamation claim by the teacher?

A court ruled that it was not, because it did not really mean she was incompetent in her job. The court said it was perfectly possible for someone to be very bad at wielding chalk, yet very good at teaching children.

LOUISA'S LETTER

Dear Louisa,

I am a retired school teacher but still working in the schools of our county for the past five years. Each year, since retirement, I have given each senior of our county a packet of good literature which they appreciate so much--at least some of them do.

I would like to have your permission to use your letter from Joan who was going to college and was elated to be on her own, and your excellent answer to her. I think this will be good for the seniors.

Hoping to hear from you soon, I am.

E.F.B.--Tenn.

Answer:

I shall be happy to have you use my letter E.F.B.

I should also like you to know that I think your idea of encouraging young people to enjoy and appreciate good literature, by giving such packets to the seniors in your county, is a wonderful thing for you to do.

Many of the children of today have grown up on an educational diet of comic books and television. The magazines that most of them read contain a great deal of trash or worse than trash. Consequently they never realize how much the reading of good literature can mean to a person.

Such a habit, not only continues one's education, but is an escape from loneliness and frustrations later on.

Keep up the good work!

Louisa.

Dear Louisa,

What do you do when you have a good husband but he has some little habits that irritate you? He doesn't like criticism and still it embarrasses me when he talks with his mouth full of food.

He is nice looking and has good manners with the exception of this. Should I say anything to him about this?

Wife--Del.

Answer:

A man can take criticism from anybody else better than he can from his wife but this is a habit that he should correct for his own good as people judge others, to a great extent, on good table manners and other courteous behavior.

First impressions can be important in many ways--perhaps in getting a coveted job or in being invited to places one would like to visit or in meeting with congenial people.

You might let your husband read this letter.

Louisa.

Dear Louisa;

I am planning to be married in July and will have a church wedding. My sister will be maid of honor and I had planned to have five of my friends as bridesmaids. Now my problem is this--My mother thinks I should ask the groom's sister to be one of the bridesmaids but we have never been good friends or had much to do with each other and I would rather have someone else in her place.

What do you think about this? Do you think it is necessary for me to include her?

Gertrude--Miss.

Answer:

I agree with your mother on this question for several reasons.

To begin with the relationship you establish with your husbands family will have much to do with your future happiness or grief later on and there is no better time to begin being gracious to the members of his family than now. It is customary to ask the groom's sister to be in the wedding unless there is some very good reason for not doing so and if you leave her out of the party you will probably build up resentment, not only from the girl, herself, but from other members of the family. Having as many bridesmaids as you are planning to have, you should certainly ask her to take part.

Louisa.

HEALTH - HOME - BEAUTY

(Practical Hints For The Modern Woman)

Add sparkling highlights to your hair by adding the juice of a lemon to your final rinse water and dry in the sun.

To prevent streaks on your wall, place thumbtacks along the lower underside of a picture frame.

Join the fun crowd, cycle for fun and health. A half hour brisk ride will burn up calories and keep you in good shape.

A barefoot romp in sand or grass is a good toner for your feet.

A word of caution is in order in this age of the aerosol-type sprays. Underarm deodorant sprays should not be inhaled. The same goes for hair sprays and body colognes.

A small piece of cotton stuffed in the fingers of rubber gloves will help prevent holes from long fingernails.

The Kinsey Report

It's so easy to become depressed, to get "down in the dumps," to feel sorry for yourself. Just about everyone goes through these periods, some more than others.

One cause is looking back and thinking, "Oh, why didn't I do such and such? I would have accumulated quite a bit of money and could do just about anything I wanted."

One way to get out of a black mood is to concentrate on Reinhold Niebuhr's philosophy: "God grant me the serenity to accept things I cannot change, the courage to change things that I can, and the wisdom to know the difference."

So you made some mistakes in former years. You can't do anything about them, now. That's where you can apply the part that says, "God grant me the serenity to accept the things I cannot change."

Then there are things you can do, right now, to make your life happier. That's where you apply the "courage to change the things that I can."

And, of course, it takes some wisdom to differentiate between the can't-change things and things that can be changed. Think about it.

In Fashion

One of the more flattering colors for the majority of women is the off-white. Some complexions look better in a cream color while others prefer a lighter shade. But whites and ivories are definitely in for the summer season.

"What Playwright Schisgal has done is to turn the theatre of the absurd upside down . . . He refuses to keep a straight face before some of the pious obsessions of the contemporary world and stage—alienation, loss of identity, inability to communicate, homosexuality, existentialism, Freudianism, self-expression and the meaninglessness of it all. In LUV, he devastates these themes in a holocaust of laughter."
—TIME

"LUV is probably the answer to existentialism, bad dreams, Sigmund Freud, fear and trembling, Dear Abby, Oswald Spengler and the ever-present problem of underarm unpleasantness. It certainly is the answer to a theatregoer's prayer . . . Amen, amen, and the Order of Merit for all . . . Investigate at once."
—Walter Kerr, NEW YORK HERALD TRIBUNE

"For the precious boon of fresh laughter, much thanks . . . Murray Schisgal throws a personal, distorting and cheerfully revealing light on such matters as love, marriage, divorce and a host of other familiar subjects. As he makes us laugh, he also reminds us of our airs and self-deceptions."
—Howard Taubman, NEW YORK TIMES

"A brilliant comedy . . . Under its steady flow of wild, hilarious levity, it manages to slip in many wise and brilliantly perceptive observations on the lunatic course of modern sexual relationship without changing pace. I would call it a triumph . . . Mr. Schisgal emphatically comes into his heritage with LUV."
—Richard Watts, Jr., NEW YORK POST

"This is a playwright's triumph, most of all . . . LUV is a jubilantly ringing hit . . . a perfect comedy."

"LUV" is the very funny story of three people who have made themselves thoroughly miserable and turned to each other to solve their problems. An estranged couple meet the husband's college classmate as he is about to jump off a bridge. The husband's solution to everyone's problem, is to match his friend and his wife, meanwhile, winning his own freedom from the marriage. The misunderstandings and problems of the trio are so ridiculous as to be richly comic.

Historical News

The doings of the Civic Improvement League, an organization formed in 1909 by a group of civic minded ladies, is resumed herewith:

There was a meeting of the Civic Improvement League Sept. 1st at Beachhaven.

The minutes were read and approved.

A motion to have the electric light turned on at the pavilion was carried.

As the young people of Rockport appeared to be in no immediate hurry to make free use of the pavilion for a dance, it was suggested that the offer be made to the Mexicans that the floor be tested as soon as possible.

On motion this was carried and A.L. Bracht volunteered to interview the Mexicans with the proposition--to have the use of the pavilion one night provided they pay for the light. If more than that amount was made, 20 per cent extra would be charged.

The rent question again came up for discussion. As nothing had been paid during the months of June, July, and August. As the studio rent of $7.00 per month had been collected, and some extra money had been made in various ways, a motion was made and carried that the League offer Mr. Henion $10.00 per month for the three summer months during which business had been almost suspended. The corresponding secretary was requested to write Mr. Henion and further explain conditions-- that the pavilion floor was again on the rampage, oozing oil to the surface, and forming a sticky substance like glue.

Receipts of the evening---20cts. monthly dues from Mrs. Bailey. $7.00 July rent of studio from Mrs. McCown. $3.30 on bathing privileges from Mrs. McCown. 50cts. pledge on Beach Park social from Mrs. Bailey. 25cts. pledge on Beach Park social from Mrs. Licardu. 25cts. interest collected from Mr. Licardu.

Total $11.50--which was given to the secretary to turn over to the absent treasurer, Dorothea Taylor.

The meeting adjourned.

The members of the Civic League met at Beachhaven Sept. 22nd.

The minutes were read and approved.

The state of the pavilion floor was again discussed. No amounts of bribes and persuasion had succeeded in getting the young people to try dancing on it. A letter had been written by our corresponding secretary explaining to Mr. Henion the whole situation. In his answer which was read before the meeting he still claimed not to be fully advised on the subject. A motion was made and carried that we send Mr. Henion a cheque for $80. marked "in full payment on rent for months June July and August.

Mrs. Hoopes stated that Judge Baldwin had asked for an expense account from the League for decorating the pavilion Sept. 20th. After some discussion it was agreed to render a bill of $5.00--$2.50 for general expenses, and $2.50 for rent of pavilion.

Mrs. Hoopes turned into the treasury 25cts. from Mr. McCown on baths. A motion was made and carried to pay Mrs. Hoopes 75cts. for broken lock.

A letter from the Dramatic Mirror was read and consigned to the waste basket. The secretary reported having received some letters from home seekers inquiring about the advantages in and around Rockport. The addresses had been given to the Gulf Coast Immigration Co. and to some of the real estate men.

The committee appointed on the stunt party--Miss Dorothea Taylor, Mrs. A.L. Bracht, and Miss Minnie Triend, were advised to get busy and report at the next meeting.

The meeting adjourned at the usual hour.

The Civic League met at Beachhaven Sept. 29th 1910.

The minutes were read and approved. The president reported having sent cheque of $30.00 to Mr. Henion but had received no reply. An announcement was made that Hon Leon R. Lock, secretary of the Interstate Inland Waterways Association would be in our town to lecture on the subject of the Intracoastal Canal. A motion was made and carried that we let the Board of Trade have the pavilion for the purpose and take up a collection to defray expenses.

Receipts of the evening were $5.00 from the ladies of the Catholic Church and $1.70 for baths. Total paid to the treasurer $7.50 out of which 75cts. was refunded to Mrs. Hoopes for broken lock.

A letter from the dramatic agent B. J. Williams recommending a number of attractions for our pavilion. A motion was made and carried that a committee, consisting of Mrs. Hoopes and Mr. Clevenger, be appointed to confer with Mr. Westmoreland about taking over the pavilion for the rest of the year ending Dec. 1st.

Mr. Clevenger was requested to see about finishing the paintings on the beach pagoda.

Further plans for the stunt party were discussed and those taking part were invited to meet with Mrs. Hoopes Tuesday evening.

Efforts were to be made in selling postal cards for the benefit of the League.

The meeting closed at the usual hour.

Gertrude B. Grewe.

The members of the Civic League met at Beachhaven Oct. 6th.

The minutes were read and approved.

A letter from Mr. Henion was received in which he returned the cheque of $30.00. He said he wished to have the cheque to apply on rents generally, and not specificly for June July and August, insinuating that a satisfactory agreement would be made at the end of the year. A motion was made and carried that the request be complied with.

In the absence of Mr. Clevenger, Mrs. Hoopes stated that he had procured paint for the pagoda, but on account of bad weather it had not been applied.

The president reported having received a bill of $7.10 from the electric light company and had given cheque in payment thereof.

A motion was made that the committee appointed to interview Mr. Westmoreland, (Mrs. Hoopes and Mr. Clevenger), be authorized to offer Mr. Davis 15 percent of the net proceeds if he would accept the position of pavilion manager.

Mrs. Hoopes reported having taken orders for $6. worth of postal cards.

It was stated that the young ladies of Rockport intended giving an ice cream social Friday night for the benefit of the fire department. A motion was made and carried that the League donate the free use of the pavilion for the evening if Mr. Ellis would donate the lights.

On motion the meeting was adjourned.

Library News

The Homemaking Classes No. II and No. III of Mrs. Frances Mutscher and Mrs. Janice Spears made nine beautiful crushed velvet cushions for the Children's Section of the Aransas County Public Library. The material was furnished by donations to the Library. An excellent job was done by these girls and a service to the community.

Cravens Host At Party

Poppa and Momma T. W. Craven were hostesses for a group of children at their home last Saturday night. There were 20, ranging in age from 18 months to 14 years.

The hot dogs. marshmallows and lemonade outlasted the girls and boys.

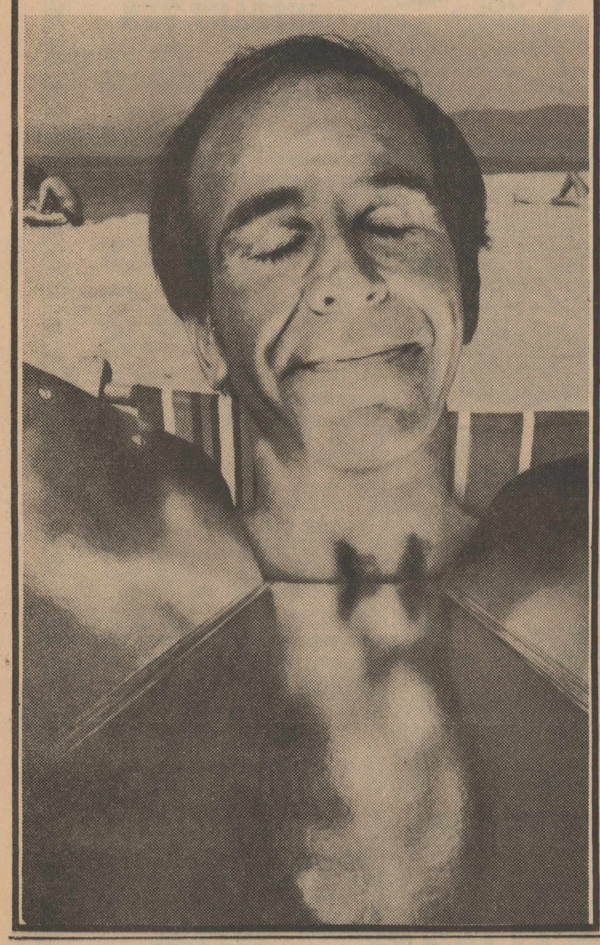

The only unhappiness was suffered by little Iva Elliotte (18 months old). She lost two hot dogs to Chire Smith's dog before she learned to outmaneuver the dog.

Those attending were Chire Smith, Rosie Galvan, Jennie Merryot, Lucy Galvan, Irma Galvan, Elsa Galvan, Christine Galvan, Ann M. Wilson, Sharon K. Wilson, Tine McFadden, Eileen Vest, Kay Pool, Iva Elliotte, Marie McLead, Alex Galvan, Pepe Galvan, Bubba Smith, Richard Merryott, Bobby Roaldson and Daniel Merryott.

You can get tan.
And you can get cancer.

Maybe you think you look better tan.
Tan looks healthy.
But under that healthy glow you could be giving skin cancer a head start.
So if you spend a lot of time in the sun, or if you work outdoors and you have a sore that doesn't seem to heal, see your doctor. Almost all skin cancers can be cured if diagnosed early.
If you have fair skin, cover up.
And if you've been lucky so far, plan on a little less sun this year. You'll be better off for it in the long run.

We want to wipe out cancer in your lifetime.
Give to the American Cancer Society.
