Eight Airmen Die In North Atlantic Crash

11 of Crew Rescued From Sea

NANTUCKET, Mass. (UPI) — Eleven of the 19 crewmen aboard an Air Force radar patrol plane that plunged into the North Atlantic were rescued by an armada of ships and planes today after surviving eight hours in the frigid water. Eight airmen perished.

Three of the survivors were reported in good condition. Ships of two nations joined planes and helicopters in picking up the dead and living airmen bobbing in life jackets in three to five foot swells.

Seven of the survivors were put aboard a German destroyer and the others were aboard the U.S. destroyer Barry.

The West German warship was one of three on maneuvers with the U.S. aircraft carrier Wasp. All were diverted to participate in the rescue.

The life-and-death drama unfolded at daybreak when rescue craft saw flares, dye markers, an oil slick and plane debris. Planes circling overhead spotted the survivors floating fairly close together in inflated vests. A dozen ships converged on the area including the Wasp and three destroyers of the West German navy. The German destroyer Blotter, a former U.S. destroyer, was the first to pick up survivors.

The massive air-sea search was launched shortly after the EC121H plane equipped with 5 1/2 tons of sensitive radar gear plunged into the ocean Sunday night with one of its four engines aflame.

The pilot had feathered or cut the power on a second apparently disabled engine six minutes before the crash.

The $2.5 million hump-backed plane was on a routine surveillance patrol with a range of 4,000 miles and the capability of staying aloft eight to 12 hours; was assigned to the 551st Airborne and Early Warning and Control Wing at Otis Air Force base on Cape Cod. The wing is part of the North American Radar Air Defense (NORAD).

The ditching was the first for a NORAD plane in 10 years. About 38 such planes are assigned to Otis and form a protective screen from Newfoundland.

4,000 US Troops in Viet

SAIGON (UPI)—Nearly 4,000 infantrymen of the U.S. 1st division began landing today in a troop buildup that by fall may bring U.S. troop strength to 100,000 men in Viet Nam.

American planes hit Communist targets on both sides of the border.

A U.S. military spokesman said an estimated 260 Viet Cong guerrillas were killed in air strikes in South Viet Nam.

In the north, five waves of U.S. planes struck two Communist ammunition dumps, barges and bridges.

The soldiers from the 1st Division, the famed Big Red One, swarmed ashore and it raised the number of fighting men in Viet Nam to nearly 71,000.

Dispatches from Washington said another 30,000 men will be sent here by late summer or early fall to bring the total to 100,000.

Marines from another newly arrived unit, the 2nd Battalion of the 9th Marines, got their first taste of combat Sunday when they routed an estimated 200 Viet Cong guerrillas from a heavily fortified hamlet only two miles from the Da Nang air base.

The Marines killed one guerrilla and captured seven suspects. The Marines hit back at the Viet Cong after snipers fired on a Marine patrol. The Americans discovered many tunnels, trenches, and gun positions built by the Communists.

In the air, 54 planes from the Air Force and Navy were involved in the five raids. Their targets included the Yen Bay and Yen Son ammunition dumps, both northwest of Hanoi, where nine tons of bombs were dropped by Air Force planes, and the Mai Linh army barracks, hit by planes from the aircraft carrier Independence.

The First Infantry Division, known as "Big Red One" for its distinctive shoulder patch, won many battle streamers during combat in Europe and Africa in World War II.

Today's landing was made amid reports from Communist China that "a shock brigade" of North Vietnamese volunteers has received an active assignment to resist alleged American aggression, presumably in South Viet Nam.

The Hanoi regime said recent landings by American and other foreign troops in South Viet Nam was "a reckless move."

Reorganization Program Under Way At City Hall

By DALLAS DEWEESE

Reorganization of the city's administrative staff and rewriting rules and regulations for city personnel are among several major projects under way at City Hall.

City Manager Jim White said today the administration has at least seven of these major programs going in addition to daily routine business.

They include:

1. Work in progress by 11 citizens' committees seeking solutions to city problems, and activity by the citizens' charter advisory group.

2. Putting together the 1965-66 municipal budget for the coming fiscal year.
3. Reorganization of the city administrative staff to fix individual responsibilities and better acquaint all city personnel with job requirements. The city manager said he also is working for better supervision and control of money spent, and better communication between the city commission and the city staff on down through employees of various city departments.

4. Reorganization of the city's purchasing policies to provide better control over purchasing and to improve the system of accounting for purchases.
5. Rewriting of rules and regulations governing city personnel. The city manager said there had been no changes in these rules and regulations since 1946. They are being brought up to date to conform with policy changes made by city commissions since that time.

6. Work is under way on the city's $950,000 sewerage treatment plant and sewer improvement project.
7. Another major event in the offing is the upcoming charter amendment election scheduled (See PROGRAM, Page 3)

Soviet Military Spending to Rise

MOSCOW (UPI) — Premier Alexei N. Kosygin hinted Sunday that the Soviet Union may be planning to increase military spending because of international tensions and the fighting in Viet Nam.

"The upkeep of military forces demands large expenditures which we would readily spend on the economy," Kosygin said in a speech at Volgograd. "But in the present situation to economize on defense would be acting against the interests of the country, against the interests of the Soviet people."

"It would of course give some advantages, but in the long run we would pay by weakening the defense ability of the country. We will never consent to do this."

"Our defense industry today is up to the level dictated by the international situation and the present development of military science."

Western observers said the additional military spending burdens for the Kremlin may include aid to Communist North Viet Nam, particularly missile sites.

It appeared that Kosygin was signaling the end of a trend over the past two years in which defense spending has been trimmed slightly.

Kosygin announced last December that this year's military budget would be cut by $555 million.

There was speculation, however, that the cut may not fully materialize because of the international situation and that the expectation of a further cut.

Whites, Negroes In Bogalusa Stage March

By United Press International

About 500 whites, many carrying Confederate flags and splitting the air with rebel yells, marched Sunday in Bogalusa, La., in protest of desegregation.

When they finished, about 600 Negroes staged a march over virtually the same route.

Scores of state police, mindful of earlier violence in the months-long demonstrations in the Louisiana paper mill city, were on hand. Some of them carried submachine guns. Police helicopters hovered overhead.

There were no incidents but an exploding firecracker gave bystanders a start. Police stopped and searched a group of 10 white men wearing Confederate vests during the Negro demonstration.

One white man was arrested when he stood in the path of the Negroes with a length of steel in his hand.

Three dozen state policemen moved into Allentown, S.C., Sunday when feelings ran high among the Negro population over the killing of a Negro convict by a white man.

However, Sheriff G. C. Forester said he doubted "that anything racial is involved" in the shooting.

The Negro, James Maymery, was killed during a Saturday night shooting spree that also wounded a white man and another Negro in a carnival-type picture studio in Allentown's Negro community.

Forester said J. H. Oswald, a white textile worker, was being held in an undisclosed jail.

Elsewhere: Cordele, Ga.: City police arrested three white men Sunday on charges of assault and battery for allegedly attacking a white minister participating with four Negroes in picketing a restaurant.

New Bern, N.C.: A white man was charged Sunday with assault with a deadly weapon in connection with the shooting at a car carrying two volunteer workers in the anti-poverty program. Police indicated the shooting Saturday may have been racially motivated.

FBI Calls off Search For Kidnaped Youth

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Police entered a second phase today in the investigation of the kidnaping five days ago of 9-year-old Denise Clinton during the $256 robbery of her grandparents' motel.

Officers called off the search for the missing child Sunday after eight military helicopters and searchers, including more than 60 horsemen, failed to turn up any major developments.

The search ended on a negative note after more than 160 hours of scouring fields, wooded areas, ditches and hills as far north as the Iowa border. It was felt that if the body of Denise was in the area it was so well hidden it could not be found except by accident, a spokesman said.

Search headquarters, which were set up at the Great Plains Motel — scene of the abduction — north of Kansas City, were abandoned Sunday and the investigation continued from police and FBI offices here.

Police failed to name any man as the prime suspect in the case but Robert Lee Hays, 32, was sought for questioning in the crime.

Hays, a former mental patient, is wanted on a federal fugitive warrant in connection with a robbery at Topeka, Kan.

Chicago Police Fear Mad Bomber Loose as Explosions Worry City

CHICAGO (UPI) — Another bomb exploded in Chicago today and police feared a mad bomber was loose in the city.

The fourth blast in five days occurred just before 2 a.m. CST in the garage of "Mr. Softee of Illinois," an ice cream plant. Five employees inside the garage were not injured.

Manager Richard Goudreau blamed "business competition" for the blast but would not elaborate. A witness saw two men speed away from the building shortly after the blast.

The latest bombing came little more than three hours after an explosion ripped through two automobiles in a street running below the towering Wrigley Building on North Michigan Avenue in downtown Chicago.

A crime laboratory technician said one bomb — apparently a black powder one — had been placed near three of the ice cream trucks. Damage was limited to six trucks and the ceiling of the 150-foot-square building.

Police said this morning's blast was the first of the four bombings to fall outside of a pattern they had hoped would trip up the bomber.

But authorities said they were not sure today's blast was the work of the same person who struck by night three times previously in the past five days.

The explosion Sunday night occurred in a tunnel — like area under Chicago's glittering North Michigan Avenue, within a block of the offices of the city's four major daily newspapers and United Press International.

The area is frequently teeming with pressmen, printers and newspaper delivery trucks.

The series of bombings gave Chicagoans the jitters. Fire Marshall Michael Mahon said he was afraid to walk in the downtown area of the city, an onlooker said at the site of Sunday night's blast.

Police said that explosion was caused by a black powder bomb similar to that used in explosions that rocked the seven-story Meyer Building west of the Loop late Saturday night and the Masonite Building in pre-dawn hours last Wednesday.

Authorities said Sunday night's bombing apparently filled out a pattern of destruction. According to Chicago's street numbering system, the first blast occurred at about 400 west. The second occurred at 400 south and Sunday night's occurred at 400 north. This morning's blast, however, occurred far west of the downtown area.

"It appears we have a mad bomber loose," said Deputy Chicagoans the jitters. Fire Marshall Michael Mahon said he was afraid to walk in the

Red Shock Troops Gets Assignment For Viet Fighting

TOKYO (UPI) — Communist China reported today that a "shock brigade" of North Vietnamese volunteers has received an active assignment to resist alleged American aggression, presumably in South Viet Nam.

A separate Peking statement charged that four American planes flew over the Chinese mainland Sunday and bombed a target in North Viet Nam.

China said the alleged flight was "a direct military provocation" and warned that the Chinese army is "in full battle array" to combat American forces if necessary.

In Washington, a Pentagon spokesman denied the overnight charge. U.S. planes bombing North Viet Nam have flown to within 65 miles of the Chinese border in recent days.

The report on the North Vietnamese volunteers made no mention of the size of the force and did not state its destination.

The National Liberation Front for South Viet Nam, the political arm of the Viet Cong rebellion, has threatened several times to call for volunteers from North Viet Nam and other Communist countries to oppose what it calls American aggression.

Today's report on the volunteers was carried by the official New China News Agency in the form of a dispatch from Hanoi, the North Vietnamese capital.

"Members of the labor youth and representatives of the youth here Sunday evening gave a stirring send-off to the first contingent of this capital's shock brigade of young volunteers to resist U.S. aggression and save the country before its departure for an active assignment," New China said.

Rusk Says Sanctuary Is Dead for Commies

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk says that the Communists and their allies must understand that "the idea of ... sanctuary is dead" as far as the war in Viet Nam is concerned.

The secretary said Sunday that the almost continuous U.S. bombings in North Viet Nam have established the no-sanctuary rule.

The bombings "have had an important practical effect upon the ability of the North to support or to increase the support of their effort in South Viet Nam," he said.

"We had never suspected this in itself would be a decisive element but it is important ... that they (the Reds) have discovered that they are not going to be permitted to send tens of thousands of people into the south to attack South Viet Nam and live in safety and comfort there in the North."

"The idea of the sanctuary is dead as far as this situation is concerned," Rusk added, "and that is something that all of the others who may be supporting Hanoi must take fully into account."

The secretary made the statement in a radio-television interview.

Questioned about the five Soviet anti-aircraft missile sites in preparation in the Hanoi and Haiphong area of North Viet Nam, the secretary said that as yet the United States had "not encountered any military problem from the presence, or the construction of these sites."

House Republican Gerald R. Ford, Mich., last week said the sites were a threat to the Americans already in Viet Nam and should be taken out of action, possibly by bombing.

But Rusk said Sunday that, as of the present, "no American has been lost from these missile sites. They are not, indeed, operational at the present time" and that much depends on "the military requirements of the situation."

He refused to be pinned down as to whether the United States had ruled out the bombing of the sites. "Those missile sites at the present time are not interfering with the things that we feel are required to be done, at the present time."

New Judge Appointee Called To Clarify His Racial Views

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former Mississippi Gov. James P. Coleman, picked by President Johnson for a federal judgeship on a key civil rights court, was called before a Senate committee today to clarify his views on racial matters.

Coleman was scheduled to appear before the Senate Judiciary Committee at a hearing on his nomination to the U. S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals which covers cases in the states of Alabama, Texas, Mississippi, Louisiana, Florida and Georgia.

Various civil rights organizations have criticized Coleman's non-assertion, charging that he is an avowed segregationist. But the administration considers Coleman a "moderate" on racial issues and competent to sit on the 5th Circuit bench.

A three-man judiciary subcommittee called Coleman to testify on June 29. But the hearing was delayed when Coleman was suddenly hospitalized with a kidney ailment.

Other congressional news: Overtime: A U. S. Chamber of Commerce spokesman said the administration's double time for overtime proposal would be an economic bone — not boom — to the nation's poor. He told a Senate labor committee the bill would boost costs and prices of goods and cut the number of job openings.

Guns: The House Ways & Means Committee opened hearings on bills to reduce interstate sales of guns, particularly of the mail order variety. The gun proposals are part of President Johnson's all-out attack on crime.

Traveling Bible Returns Home

TRAVELING BIBLE RETURNS — Rev. Russell G. West, former pastor of the Church of the Brethren in Pampa, wounds where a traveling Bible he stands near has been for 17 years. The Bible was started on a journey around the United States by Rev. West and a 1945 Bible class at Pampa High School.

By RAY RODGERS JR.

A traveling Bible, started 20 years ago by Rev. Russell G. West and a bible class at Pampa High School, recently returned home after 17 years of wandering throughout the United States.

Rev. West, formerly of Pampa, now pastor of the Church of the Brethren in Pueblo, Colo., and a class of Bible students at Pampa High School in 1942 decided to start a traveling Bible. At the time, Rev. West was teaching four Bible classes daily at Pampa High.

The first Bible was mailed to the postmaster at Lebanon, Kan., then the geographical center of the United States.

The Bible was then forwarded by the Lebanon postmaster to the Lebanon High School where the class president took it to a downtown street corner and

POLLY'S POINTERS

Save Old Paintings For Serving Trays

By POLLY CRAMER

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. DEAR POLLY — Many of us have old paintings and pictures that have been replaced by new ones but still have sentimental meaning. Do not discard them specially if they are framed with glass and wooden frames. They will make beautiful serving trays and even small ones can be used for snack trays. Clean and freshen the frame with enamel or gill. Screw a handle to each end and glue a cork mat or rubberized place mat to the back. Serve your guests with pride.

Very large pictures can make attractive and useful coffee tables. Have a carpenter (or handy husband) make a sturdy back for the frame and four strong legs. You can still enjoy the picture as it is always on display as the table top.

Dear Abby... Graduate's Uncle Was Brutally Frank

DEAR ABBY: For his high school graduation gift, my brother sent our son a check for $25 made out to one of our town's leading psychiatrists. I thought it was a joke. So I called my brother and he said it was no joke — he couldn't think of anything the kid could use more. Please understand, Abby, our son is not crazy. He has had a little trouble finding himself, but that is not uncommon in teen-agers today.

The check was addressed to our son, so he opened it. He wasn't hurt or insulted. He just looked puzzled and said he was going to use it. I'm afraid to tell my husband for fear he'll take my brother apart. What do you make of this?

DAZED IN CAMBRIDGE DEAR DAZED: Your brother may have meant well, but he was grossly presumptuous. Since the boy wants to use it encourage him. A session with a psychiatrist won't hurt anyone who doesn't need it.

DEAR ABBY: Arthur and I have been married almost a year. We are both in our late 50's. This is his second marriage and my third, and I am determined to make this marriage work. A woman couldn't want a sweeter, more considerate, affectionate husband, but he believes in togetherness until I could scream. We have a brand new five-room bungalow, and if Arthur doesn't see me, he goes looking for me. He even has to be right beside me when I'm cooking. There are times when I do need his help for emptying the trash, etc., but how can I get it across to him that when I need him I will call him? He's very sensitive and I don't want to hurt his feelings. Please answer this through your column as he goes to the mailbox with me when I get the mail. Sign me...

"GOING NUTS" DEAR "GOING": Arthur sounds like a friendly, warm-hearted man who is mad about you. When you want to be alone, announce it in advance. When you want privacy in the kitchen, tell Arthur you want to "surprise" him, so please stay out of the kitchen until you call him. There are many ways to skin a cat without killing the kittenish affection within.

DEAR ABBY: I can't forget that letter in your column from the mother who complained because her married children descended on her last Mother's Day with their spouses and their children, and she had to do all the work, serving and cleaning up, while all of her married children (and their husbands and wives) entertained themselves playing cards and gossiping. Just how blind can parents be? This mother raised these children, and they are doing exactly what she taught them to do. If she had trained them to accept their share of the household responsibilities, instead of waiting hand and foot on them like a servant while they amused themselves, this problem would never exist. And the "children" would have developed into much happier, considerate men and women.

I am writing this to point out that this is a classic example of what is happening to our nation. Because the mothers have not taught their children to be responsible, and to work for what they get, we now have a large percentage of adults who expect something for nothing. This is the attitude that promotes the Welfare State, and eventually Socialism. Why we

Buried cable: $10,000,000 in new life insurance for your telephone this year

Put telephone wires underground and you've put them in a safe place. Safe from wind, rain, hot weather, cold weather, stormy weather. Safer from the slow death of ordinary weathering. Safer from man-caused damage, too. All around safer from the kinds of trouble which most often affect the talkability, hearability and dependability of your phone service.

That's why this year Southwestern Bell is spending $10 million burying hundreds of additional miles of telephone cable underground. In effect, buying life insurance for your telephone service.

There's another tangible benefit, too. Because of this buried cable construction program, new jobs will be created. Some in the telephone business (which already has 52,179 persons on the payroll), but most important, an estimated 500 new jobs among the hundreds of firms which sell supplies, services and materials to the telephone company.

This is a 1965 communications bonus from Southwestern Bell. Part of a massive construction effort (our biggest ever) to make the world's best telephone service even more useful, dependable, convenient and valuable seven days a week, good weather and bad.

At present, Soviet authorities are engaged in drafting a new five-year plan and a program for streamlining industry.

The Kremlin has been beating the drums for more consumer goods spending in the past few years. Now, according to informed Western observers, this program and huge allocations for agriculture may have to compete with stepped-up defense needs for more cash.

Ivy League Students On Anti-Poverty Program

CHICAGO (UPI) — A prominent Chicago businessman complained today the federal government is "carrying the concept of a poverty corps to a ridiculous degree." He said it was trying to line up jobs for well-heeled Ivy League college students.

William H. Rentschler, president of a candy company and GOP senatorial nomination in 1960, said he was "absolutely flabbergasted" when asked to provide employment for some of the students.

"It's real tough to find summer jobs," explained Peter Garrett, a spring graduate of Princeton University and the man who did the asking.

Garrett, 21, told United Press International he was one of several Princeton men seeking employment for other students in a project sponsored by the government.

"The original donation was given by the government," he said, "I am told it is part of the war on poverty."

Rentschler said that when Garrett first telephoned to ask for jobs next year for some of the students, he thought the youth was looking for a job himself.

Then, Rentschler said, he found Garrett already had a job — functioning under an arm of the anti-poverty program — to drum up jobs for other Ivy League students.

Garrett, who plans to attend the Duke University medical school, said the government grant to Princeton "came through late in the spring." He said he and about "a handful" of other Princeton students were sent to major cities by the Princeton bureau of student aid to prepare lists of employers who might be interested in hiring Princeton students the following summer. He said he was contacting employers who were graduates of Princeton. Rentschler was a member of the class of 1949.

Garrett said he understood other schools had similar programs. "I'm sure it does involve other Ivy League, eastern type schools," he said.

Rentschler was upset, an amateur not withstanding.

"If a family could afford to send a kid to a college where the tuition is relatively high and the poverty corps has to find a summer job, it is unbelievable," he said. "I don't think you're going to find poverty-stricken students at Princeton or anywhere else."

headed for the first tourist who came by.

Printed instructions in the Bible asked that the person receiving the book notify the Pampa High School Bible class of its whereabouts and then send or give it to someone else after using it a few days.

The Bible class heard reports of the book being up and down the Pacific coast for some time, then cross the Rockies on its way to Michigan and later wander into Illinois.

Notice was sent in 1944 from Berwyn, Ill., that the book was headed for the Chicago Tribune. The Bible was then not heard about until 1946.

In 1946, the Bible was found lying on a dusty shelf at the Tribune, where a woman picked it up and shipped it to a Marine in the Panama Canal Zone.

This was the last word ever heard of Traveling Bible I.

On May 1, 1945, Traveling Bible II was sent on its nomadic mission by another Bible class at Pampa High School.

The Bible was mailed first to Eleanor Roosevelt. President Roosevelt had just died.

Mrs. Roosevelt wrote an acknowledgment in the back of the Bible and sent it back to the class. It then journeyed about the United States with frequent word as to its location until 1948. It was then located in Boston, Mass.

The Bible had not been heard of since until it was returned to Pampa several weeks ago. Where it had been during the last 17 years remains a mystery.

The Bible was returned by a man in Loring, Maine. It arrived at Rev. West's old address in Pampa and was taken to Rev. West by his son Russell G. West, Jr. of Pampa.

Except for slight wear, the expensive leather bound Bible is in good condition.

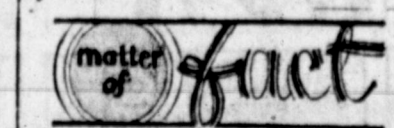

Rev. West said he was planning to launch Traveling Bible III in the very near future.

Rev. West was pastor of the Church of the Brethren here for many years and moved to Pueblo Nov. 1, 1964 after retiring to conduct revivals throughout the country and was booked nearly solid for a year.

He then became pastor of the Church of the Brethren in Pueblo.

SANTA MARIA, Azores (UPI) — An airport spokesman Saturday said a mysterious flying object apparently stopped all electro-magnetic watches at the Santa Maria Airport when it flew slowly over this island Friday. He said a white cylindrical object was seen flying northwest at an altitude of 33,000 feet and attempts to identify it were unsuccessful.

ALL SEEMS TO BE GOING WELL

LBJ Jubilant With Bills' Passage

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (UPI) — President Johnson, "deeply heartened" by the first year results of the Civil Rights Act, was nothing less than jubilant today about the way foundation blocks of his administration's legislative program are proceeding through Congress.

His pleasure over congressional action on the voting rights bill and the $7.5 billion medical care and Social Security benefits measure that went through the House and Senate was evident throughout the weekend.

And to add to his sense of executive well-being was a report today that in the first year of its existence, "compliance with the letter of the Civil Rights Act is being achieved, perhaps, faster than the drafters dared hope."

"The next step," said the report to the President, "is to achieve compliance in spirit. It is not enough for a Negro, for example, to win admittance to a previously segregated restaurant; he must be welcomed."

"Curiously, reluctance to make him feel welcome is now being expressed increasingly in the north, perhaps in reaction to pressures for open occupancy in housing. It is this dimension of the problem—the psychologically imprisoning aspects of prejudice—that needs to be attacked next, and on a massive scale."

After studying the report, Johnson said the first year report to functions and purposes of the Civil Rights Act represented "considerable political and social maturity on the part of the American people."

And to underscore his own feelings about the place of the

'Spanish' Script Letter Asks For Info on Pampa

City Manager Jim White had to call for assistance in deciphering a letter received this morning from Puerto Rico.

It was written in English but with a Spanish script which called for a bit of "putting together."

The letter was from Juan Santo Domingo, who described himself as a "U.S. Government retired employee." It was addressed to "The Hon. Mayor or City Administrator, Pampa Municipal Government, Texas, U.S.A."

It was finally decided that Senor Domingo was asking for information about Pampa, a copy of the newspaper, photos of the mayor, Texas governor and other important people in Pampa.

The letter writer said he wanted the photos and information for his "graphic album of the U.S. territories, possessions, the commonwealth of Puerto Rico and, naturally, of Pampa."

In the final paragraph, he wrote:

"Don't let my dreams go down and let me have your cooperation of the above request." Senor Domingo's address: 1504 Fernandez Apts., Santurce 00909, Puerto Rico.

for Aug. 24. These programs, the city manager said, are keeping the city administrative staff busy in addition to carrying on daily routine business.

White stated the city budget is taking most of the time right now and it is expected to be ready for city commission study within the next week or two.

The city manager, who has been on the job here only since last Feb. 15, indicated there were a lot of irons in the fire, but said he expected good results to come from them within the next year or two.

"Everybody is cooperating and all major projects seem to be moving along smoothly," White said.

The city manager said he was pleased with the way members of the Citizens' Committees were tackling their jobs.

More than 100 men on 11 different committees are making studies of various city problems and eventually will file recommendations.

Koufax Wins 15th Game, Killebrew Blasts Yanks

By United Press International
What started as a year of uncertainty for Sandy Koufax may wind up as one in which he sets a new major league strikeout record plus a National League victory mark for lefthanded pitchers.

With a 15-3 won-lost record and 195 strikeouts after the Los Angeles Dodgers' 89th game, Koufax looks like a good bet to win 25 games and threaten Bob Feller's major league mark of 348 strikeouts in a season.

No National League lefthander ever has enjoyed two 25-victory seasons. But Koufax, who had a 25-5 mark in 1963, is well on his way to becoming the first. He has won his last nine games in succession and figures to make between 17 and 19 starts in the Dodgers' remaining 73 games.

Koufax' road to Feller's major league strikeout mark poses more difficult problems but his season total would come to about 350 if he retains his current strikeout pace and works 130 more innings. Along the way, Koufax undoubtedly will break his own NL mark of 306 strikeouts — set in 1963.

Koufax, a question mark at the start of the season because of an arthritic ailment in his left elbow, reeled off his ninth straight victory Sunday, a 4-2 decision in the opener of a doubleheader over the Pittsburgh

Pirates. Manny Mota's 10th-inning homer enabled the Pirates to win the second game 4-3.

Koufax was tagged for homers by Bob Bailey and Donn Clendenon in the first inning but then shut out the Pirates with three hits the rest of the way. He walked only two batters and struck out 10. Sandy singled home Jeff Torberg for the Dodgers' first run in the third and Los Angeles took the lead in the fourth with the help of an error by Gene Freese.

Freese's bad throw enabled Lou Johnson to reach first base with one out. Singles by Ron Fairly and Jim Lefebvre and Ossie Virgil's passed ball produced the runs and a 3-2 Los Angeles lead.

A victory in the second game would have enabled the Dodgers to retain possession of first place but the Pirates pulled out the squeaker when Mota homered off Bob Miller with two out in the 10th. It was the first hit yielded by Miller in 3-1-3 innings but it dealt him his fifth loss and gave Frank Carpin his third victory. Maury Wills had four hits for the Dodgers and Roberto Clemente and Clendenon two each for the Pirates.

The Milwaukee Braves shaded the Cincinnati Reds 2-1 and the Chicago Cubs scored a pair of 6-0 victories over the St. Louis Cardinals in other NL action. Houston at New York and San Francisco at Philadelphia were rained out.

In the American League, Minnesota nipped New York 6-5. Los Angeles blanked Cleveland 2-0 and Detroit topped Kansas City 4-2. Chicago at Baltimore and Boston at Washington were postponed by rain. The New York Yankees wear the scars today to prove that Harmon Killebrew belongs among the Stars.

Killebrew will be in the starting lineup against the National League in Tuesday's All-Star game because Bill Skowron of the Chicago White Sox was forced out of the game by an injury.

The Minnesota Twins' muscular, 210-pound first baseman was the second choice of the AL players in their voting but as far as the Yankees are concerned he's the No. 1 choice for potential mayhem. In fact, it may be that the home run Killebrew hit Sunday — at just about the time he was replacing Skowron as a first-string All-Star — will be remembered as the most devastating blow struck against the Yankees all season.

The scene could have been set in Hollywood. The Yankees, leading 5-4 in the bottom of the ninth, needed this victory desperately to get into position for a late-season drive. Rich Rollins was on first base, two were out and the count was 3 and 2. Pete Mikkelsen needed only one put-out to preserve an important Yankee victory.

But Killebrew blasted the next pitch into the left field stands and the Twins made off with a 6-5 victory that gave them 10 wins in their last 11 games and enabled them to open up a five-game first place lead. It was Killebrew's 16th homer of the season and it gave Jerry Fossnow, the fifth Minnesota pitcher, his third victory of the year.

Sporting Sidelines

By JEFF COHANE

ANYONE FROM the Top O' Texas area who fails to feel pride in the achievement of Pampa in placing third in the state Jaycee meet this weekend is missing something. There were a total of 38 cities entered in the meet, and the population of the smallest city, except ours, was 50,000. The total population of Pampa, White Deer and Skellytown, even including the populations of Stinnett and Canadian, which supplied two competitors each, is less than 30,000; and their placing third is extremely noteworthy. When you consider further that Hurst, the winning team, has a population area of 250,000 to draw from and that the population of Lubbock, the second-place team is 150,000, the little Top O' Texas towns did pretty cotton-pickin' well.

It is this reporter's sincere belief that if the team had been at full strength, if the winners from this area such as Mark Westbrook, Doc Cornutt and Gary McCarrell and Randy Johnston, for instance, had been able to compete; and if the eight Canadian entries had not suddenly shrunk to two, the night before the meet, losing the fastest man on both the boys senior and intermediate relay teams, the Pampa crew could very well have placed second.

THE YOUNGSTERS themselves are still full of fight, and very few want to call a halt after this weekend. The Pampa Track Club will enter most of its regulars in the Perryton AAU meet this weekend if a USTF clearance is given, and if not, will enter a number of youngsters not yet in high school and several of the girls with no high school eligibility.

The Skellytown Track Club will take the week off, but Doc Bates' crew will join up with the PTC again to go for the regional TAAF honors at Lubbock the following Saturday, hoping to send a good number to the state meet at Denton.

SPEAKING OF Doc Bates, the ol' Skelly stinger deserves a fine word of thanks for the outstanding job he did all the way around at the meet, as one of the coaches, one of the chaperones, and more than anything as the bus driver. Mrs. Bates also deserves a word for joining with Mrs. George Kilcrease as the girls chaperones. One of the Jaycees there told me our girls were one of the best behaved teams at the meet.

THE JAYCEES of Bryan College Station also deserve effusive compliments for putting on a fine meet. . . they were one of the hardest working crews I ever saw and really ran off a fine meet, with the aid of the Texas A&M coaches. Aggie track coach Charlie Thomas and I had a few brief moments of visit, and he expressed interest in a number of our youngsters, especially Little Butch Crossland and Fred Cooper. Charlie was extremely sorry that Randy Matson was unable to speak at the meet due to being in an AAU qualifying event at Houston that weekend, but said that the Pampa Jaycees had sent his best to his old PTC teammates (and I don't think he would have been ashamed of their performance).

ANOTHER FAMILIAR face present was Randy Roten, former Pampa High coach, who brought a gang-down from Cedar Hills, where he has been head coach since leaving PHS. Randy sent regards to all his old friends, with special regards to Otis Holladay, Eural Ramsey and Weldon Trice.

Fleckman, Piskey Cop Golf

ODESSA (UPI)—Ignoring the hefty winds skittering across Odessa Country Club, Marty Fleckman of Port Arthur and Babe Hickey of Pocatello, Idaho smashed in a six under par 66 final round to take the 17th annual Odessa Pro-Am Golf tournament Sunday.

The win was worth $5,000 to pro Hickey. The duo went around the 6,600 yard, par-72 course for a four day total of 255, split 64-60-65-66.

Two teams tied for second: Ray Floyd of Fayetteville, N.C. and professional Rik Massengale of Jacksboro, Tex. shot 63-66-64-63 — 256.

Bo Winger of Las Vegas and Bobby French of Midland added differently, 66-65-62-63 but came up with the same 256.

Both Winger and Massengale got $2,750 for their efforts. Homero Blancas picked up $1,500 when he and amateur partner Mark Hopkins of Houston came in third with a 63-62-68-63—257.

Hickey and Fleckman had gone into Sunday's final round with a two stroke lead.

Whitworth Wins Carling Open

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI)—Kathy Whitworth shook off a near disastrous morning round and dropped in a nine-foot birdie putt on the last green Sunday to win the $10,000 LPGA Lady Carling Midwest Open golf tournament.

"I honestly thought I'd thrown it away with that morning 77," said the 26-year-old San Antonio, Tex., swinger. "I putted horribly and I was sure I didn't have a chance."

She finished the afternoon round with a two-under-par 70, the best round of the tournament, to pick up top money of $1,500 for her fourth triumph of the year. She boosted her leading money winning total to $13,535.

Richeys Rack Western Open

MILWAUKEE (UPI)—The brother-sister duo of Cliff and Nancy Richey of Dallas, Tex., bowled over some of the top amateur tennis players in the nation to take titles in the Western Open tournament which ended Sunday.

Cliff, who polished off Dennis Ralston, Bakersfield, Calif., the nation's No. 1 ranked player in the semifinals, whipped Marty Riessen, Evanston, Ill., for the singles crown, 5-7, 6-4, 6-3, 6-3.

Miss Richey, the No. 1 ranked woman, had little trouble throughout the tourney and beat Carol Graebner, Beechwood, Ohio, 6-1, 6-0, for the ladies' title. Mrs. Graebner was seeded No. 2 here.

Maloney, Pappas Starting All-Star

MINNEAPOLIS—ST. PAUL (UPI)—Jim Maloney and Mill Pappas, a pair of eager beaver righthanders who have practically pleaded for the assignment, were expected to be named the starting pitchers today for Tuesday's 37th All-Star game.

Rival managers Gene Mauch of the National League and Al Lopez of the American League were to announce their choices at a morning press conference and the betting was that Maloney and Pappas finally will get their long-sought opportunities to start an All-Star game.

Maloney, never even on an All-Star squad before, has won 10 games for the Cincinnati Reds this season and lost four, including an 11-inning game against the New York Mets in which he pitched hitless ball for 10 innings.

Pappas is making his third appearance on an All-Star squad but his two previous assignments were in relief and he was not involved in any decisions. He has a 9-4 record for the Baltimore Orioles and openly asked Lopez for the starting assignment, proving his readiness for it with a four hit 1-0 victory over Lopez' Chicago White Sox last Friday night. Lopez told Pappas not to worry about the assignment, assuring him he was "likely to see a lot of action" because he was well rested.

Unlike All-Star contests in recent years, a number of the pitchers in this one will come up to Tuesday's game well rested.

Maloney, like Pappas, pitched Friday night, defeating the Milwaukee Braves. And his manager, Dick Slater, told him after the game: "You won't touch a ball again until Tuesday."

No matter who the starting pitchers are, the National League was favored at 7 to 5 to go ahead in this All-Star series for the first time. Each league has won 17 of the past 33 games with one tie.

Last-Minute Change
There was a last-minute change in the American League squad, Joe Pennington of the Yankees replacing Bill Skowron of the White Sox, who is out with a side injury. Skowron was voted to start at first base by the players.

With Skowron out, Lopez was expected to start Harmon Killebrew of the Minnesota Twins at first with Peletons in reserve.

The National League faced the prospect of playing with a sub-par Willie Mays, long on All-Star hero, who is out with a collision at home plate in Philadelphia Saturday night, but N-rays proved negative and he is expected to start.

He said his leg hurt him a little but when asked whether he would play Tuesday he said: "I'm on the roster, ain't I."

Clarke Busy

BRIGHTON, England (UPI)—Australian distance runner Ron Clarke resumes his assault on track records this week when he runs a 10,000-meter race at Oslo, Norway, Wednesday and enters a 5,000-meter race in Paris on Friday.

Clarke bettered his own world record for three miles in the British Amateur Athletic Association track and field championships Saturday when he became the first runner to break the 13-minute barrier with a time of 12:52.4.

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—A field of 150 of the nation's best public course amateurs tee off Monday in the start of a week-long grind for the 1965 USGA Public Links Golf Championship.

They play 36 holes of stroke play, 18 Monday and 18 Tuesday, over the hilly North Park Course in seeking 64 berths in the match play which gets under way Wednesday.

North Park pro Bill Cooper figured it would take a score of 151 or 152 to make the grade. The course was lengthened to 6,781 yards, and par reduced from 72 to 71.

The Pampa Daily News

A Watchful Newspaper
EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Brutal Problem

If it were not so tragic it would be downright funny — the idea that 5,000 off-duty New York City policemen, whose biggest headaches have often been the controlling of mass demonstrations, should themselves feel it necessary to "take to the streets," as it were, and picket City Hall, Newark, N.J. was the scene recently of a similar incident, and we understand it has happened in other large and medium-sized cities as well. The New York demonstration was against a proposal to establish a "civilian review board" to investigate complaints of "police brutality." The Newark picketing was to obtain reinstatement of a patrolman who had been suspended for the shooting of a knife-wielding fellow who had threatened to kill the patrolman and his partner.

In smaller town like Pampa folks take it for granted that a policeman's job is to write oodles of traffic tickets, to protect the lives and properties of law-abiding citizens, perhaps point a heavy imber toward home before he gets into trouble, and maybe now and again to rescue a cat or hunt a stolen bicycle. Well, all those are part of a big-town policeman's job, too; plus a few additional problems, such as riots and hoodlum gangs, which are only now beginning to invade smaller towns.

This clamor in the big towns for "review boards" quite clearly stems from the same sources which scream "police brutality" whenever firm action is taken to preserve law and order. It is not surprising, therefore, that among the clamorers in New York City is the Communist Party publication, "The Worker."

Certainly no one with any sense would condone the use of unnecessary force by police. But there are existing laws and commissions in most communities to minimize that possibility. And certainly no law enforcement officer should be required to passively endure kicking and gouging by a "non-violent" demonstrator, or a barrage of rocks and gasoline bombs from rioting hoodlums. Yet it is from just such circumstances that most recent allegations of police brutality have arisen.

The real issue here is whether a community's police force shall remain under control of properly elected and appointed local officials. At stake is whether the job of policeman will remain attractive to honest and upright men.

Right now this is a grave problem in the big cities. If they fail to hold the line against the combined forces of hoodlums, social "reformers" and subversives, it's a safe bet that the small towns will inherit the problem, as the disintegration of law enforcement envelops the nation.

Backing Into the Buzz Saw

The Senate is expected, any day now, to put its (rubber) stamp of approval on the House-passed Administration bill that will permit untold numbers of Americans to live in quarters beyond their means — at the expense of the taxpayers.

As the measure now stands, if you are an eligible family and you can't find a nice enough place to live for a rental of 25 percent or less of your income, the Government will pay the difference — providing the landlord is a non-profit foundation, your church, labor union or co-op, maybe.

Originally, this cozy arrangement was to be available to families with incomes too large to qualify for public housing but with ceilings up to $6,450 in San Antonio, Tex., and $8,900 in New York City, and variously in between, depending on where you wish to live.

But, as opposition raised its bipartisan Conservative head in the House, the Administration altered this rent supplement section of its omnibus housing bill (HR 7904) when the whole extravaganza was threatened with defeat. Help-with-the-rent will be available only to those with incomes low enough to qualify for public housing.

Furthermore, the eligible family must also be contending with at least one of the following problems:

1. Occupying substandard housing.
2. Sixty-two years of age, or more.
3. Physical handicap.
4. Dispossessed by urban renewal or other Government programs, or by natural disaster.

Any way you slice it, however, whether a family is living by the grace of Government subsidy in public housing or a mansion owned by the Puttyknife Makers' Union, that family — by traditional American standards — is living in sin. In this case, it is living in the sin of an Administration dedicated to the erosion of American self-respect and the imposition of Socialism on a once-free nation.

Old Days Never Like This

The richest plum to be dangled before anybody's chamber of commerce in many a year by the Santa Claus that lives in Washington is the prospective "200 Bev Accelerator" — which will be about six times as spectacular as the biggest atom-smasher presently in operation. (In case your atomism is slipping, "Bev" stands for "billion electron volt.")

Chairman Craig Hosmer of the House Republican Conference Committee on Nuclear Affairs, advises that the $280 million reactor will require 3,000 acres of land and six to eight years to build. Operation will require 200,000 Kw of electricity, 5,000 gallons-per-minute of cooling water, 2,000 people and a budget of $80 million a year.

But that is not all. The 42 plants presently in the scramble (promising a choice of more than 200 sites in 92 "proposed packages"), and the others that will be along any day, might as well know you gotta have a nuclear reactor to get a smash.

And now, according to the Washington Post, the AEC is planning to have enough reactors to produce enough electricity to power the entire country — by 1975.

Cannel At Bay

Breakfast in Bed? Hah! NEW YORK (NEA) — The announcement reprinted below will explain itself. It was mimeographed and distributed by Le Petit Dejeuner, a breakfast shop in Manhattan's expensive and sophisticated Murray Hill section.

The document comes to us from a bachelor there who received it, and we thank him for his trouble. However, we have by-passed his marginal notes, underlinings and other amazement marks in the interests of good taste and — more important — clear thinking.

NEW LUXURY BREAKFAST SERVICE NOW AVAILABLE IN THIS BUILDING

Here's an idea from Europe which we are testing in this and other major apartment buildings in Manhattan:

—The breakfast of your choice — cooked the way you want it — exactly when you want it — and served to you in bed! Here's how it works. Before retiring, you telephone Le Petit Dejeuner with the time you'd like your breakfast served and the geography of your kitchen.

Next morning, your Petit Dejeuner girl arrives at the time you appointed (7-11 a.m.) and prepares whatever breakfast you feel like (using your food, utensils, etc.) while you stretch yourself, read, or enjoy some extra sleep.

Then she knocks on your door, enters with breakfast, your newspaper, mail, etc., and leaves. Petit Dejeuner girls are hand-picked and trained to be in and out within twenty minutes.

We think these girls, rotating weekly, are the least obtrusive, most attractive alarm clocks in New York.

And we think you'll find that a proper breakfast, well-cooked and attractively served is a better way to start your day.

Introductory tariff: $10 per week (Monday-Friday).

Our Murray Hill correspondent, of course, says he is going to try this introductory offer "just to see how it works." And in his shoes, we probably would have done the same.

In our bachelor days, if memory serves, we sometimes ate two or three dinners with candle light and wine on much summer promises of romance.

In that regard, there is something quite substantial in the prospect of an unknown girl drifting into your bedroom with breakfast each morning while you stretch youself, read or enjoy some extra sleep.

Put we are no longer in this bachelor's shoes. We are in "marital slippers." And we feel it is only fair to warn him against "consuming Murray Hill with Fanny Hill at the breakfast hour, or mistaking oatmeal for sex."

From what we have observed, no hour is less seductive than breakfast. Even if it is prepared and served by a girl who rotates weekly.

Why it is true of that meal alone, we do not know. After all, dinner is traditionally romantic. The cocktail hour is burgeoning with promise. Lunch is frequently intimate, and a brunch a declaration of love for the afternoon.

But the only thing we have ever heard of being consumed at breakfast is a big deal. Revenge is usually plotted at breakfast. Murder is premeditated at breakfast. Castro took Havana at breakfast. Hitler took Poland at breakfast. Japan took Thailand at breakfast. Children take forever at breakfast. Wives take offense at breakfast. Husbands take a scolding at breakfast, and everybody takes vitamins or thyroid pills at breakfast.

To our knowledge, no major passion exists in romantic literature. Even Ernest Hemingway, for all his lubricity, has never come anywhere close to:

"In the spring of that year they ate a lot of bacon and eggs." Chicken and rice, maybe. Veal and wine. But not bacon and eggs.

There is something very attractive about a girl who is making bacon and eggs for you in the morning. But that something is not sex appeal.

Just what it is we cannot say. But our guess is that most bachelors finally make up their minds to get married while the waitress is adding up the breakfast check and saying, "Will that be all?"

New Twist to Mysterious Hertz Disappearance in Saigon — He Was Reportedly on Mission to Discuss Prisoner Exchange

ROBERT ALLEN

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — The tragic, mystery — shrouded case of Gustav Hertz, highest-ranking U.S. civilian prisoner in Viet Cong hands, is taking a new sensational turn.

Congressional authorities have received information from Hertz' fellow workers in Saigon that at the time of his sudden disappearance, he was on an "official but covert mission" to initiate efforts for the liberation of U.S. civilians held by the Communists.

In courageously undertaking this hazardous endeavor, Hertz had reason to believe his personal safety was assured.

But the Viet Cong reneged on his safe conduct. Instead of discussing a possible exchange of prisoners, as Hertz understood they were prepared to do, the Reds seized him. Since then, his exact whereabouts has been unknown. Certain intelligence sources have reported he is in a prison camp in North Viet Nam.

As revealed in this column June 22, mystery was added to Hertz' strange disappearance by the disclosure that another foreign aid official in Saigon had taken out two $10,000 life insurance policies on Hertz after he vanished.

This AID official, who has been summoned to Washington for questioning, is not a member of Hertz' family. Mrs. Hertz has told federal investigators she knew nothing about the two policies. At the time her husband disappeared, while riding a bicycle in a Saigon suburb, she and their three children were residing in that capital.

The State Department, AID and FBI are probing the strange circumstances surrounding the two $10,000 insurance policies. When this column first reported the baffling affair, State Department spokesmen emphatically denied it — only to admit it a week later.

WHO AND WHAT WAS BEHIND IT — Hertz' friends in Saigon are urging a congressional inquiry to get at the bottom of three key points they are raising:

—The connection, if any, between the insurance policies and Hertz' secret mission. It is being strongly indicated there is a definite relationship between the two.

—The significance in that regard, of the fact that Hertz, congressional authorities have been told, was asked to undertake his dangerous effort by a State Department official. Also that a James Killen, AID chief in South Viet Nam and Hertz' immediate superior, knew about the mission and approved it.

Killen, now in Washington, reportedly is under strict orders not to discuss the matter.

—The vicious duplicity and treachery of the Viet Cong in seizing Hertz while under a safe conduct and on a humanitarian mission, which Hertz' friends wish to publicly expose.

It is contended that the full disclosure of this tragic incident would be a telling argument against those advocating that the Viet Cong be included in peace negotiations.

BOBBY STICKS IN OAR — Still another curious aspect of this extraordinary backstage drama is the interest being evinced by Senator Robert Kennedy, D-N.Y.

In private inquiries to administration officials and "foreign channels," the former attorney general has voiced a desire to aid in obtaining the release of four civilians in Viet Cong hands — Eleanor Ardell Vieth, Houston, Tex.; Archie E. Mitchell, Ellensburg, Wash.; Daniel Gerber, Dalton, O., and Donald Dawson, Costa Mesa, Calif. The first three are missionaries. Dawson disappeared while searching for his missing brother, a pilot.

In military quarters, Kennedy's attempted behind-the-scenes intervention in behalf of civilian prisoners is viewed with a jaundiced eye. It's deemed disruptive rather than helpful.

As disclosed in this column last week, efforts are underway to arrange discussions with North Viet Nam for an exchange of prisoners, military and civilian. So far, this unannounced endeavor has been unavailing. But it is continuing.

The overtures were initiated by the U.S. — before the Communists' announced execution of Sergeant Harold Bennett in retaliation for South Viet Nam's public shooting of a Viet Cong bomb terrorist. A Hanoi radio broadcast declared Bennett was slain "as a warning to U.S. aggressors and their henchmen."

At U.S. request, Canada and India, members of the ineffectual International Commission on Viet Nam, proposed to Hanoi that prisoner exchange deliberations be undertaken in Warsaw.

Two direct feelers were required before the Reds responded. Then they countered with a proposal of their own.

While indicating willingness to sit down at a conference table in Warsaw to consider an exchange of prisoners, they demanded Viet Cong participation in the official delegation.

This has been rejected by the Johnson administration.

However, it has kept the door open by proposing that representatives of both South Viet Nam and the Viet Cong attend the talks in the role of "observers."

Outcome of this move is conjectural.

Mrs. Hertz and her three children are now residing near Leesburg, Va. Her husband was chief of public administration for AID in Viet Nam at the time of his capture. He has not been replaced.

SPARKS — President Johnson has told congressional critics of Capital Architect J. George Stewart, 75-year-old former Delaware congressman, that he is looking for a replacement. According to Johnson, he is seeking a "top-flight engineer or architect." Appointed by President Eisenhower 11 years

More Top Castro Aides 'Disappear'

BY BRUCE BLOSSAT
Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON (NEA) — Ernesto (Che) Guevara is not the only Cuban to "disappear" of late.

A contact who has just arrived from Cuba reports that Raul Castro's trusted friend, Augusto Martinez-Sanchez, is under house arrest.

Martinez-Sanchez, who was minister of labor, was one-time No. 3 man in Cuba, after Fidel and Raul Castro. He reportedly attempted suicide last December.

Top old-line Communist Joaquin Ordoqui is also under house arrest. He's reportedly the toughest of the old-line Communists. Ordoqui was a graduate of the Frunze Military Academy in Moscow; he was vice minister of the armed forces and chief of political commissars in the army under Raul Castro.

Ordoqui's wife, Edith Garcia-Buchaca, is also believed under house arrest. She was head of international cultural relations in the Ministry of Education.

Ordoqui and his wife are understood to be close to Moscow.

A Che Guevara man, Omar Fernandez, was removed as head of Cuban customs in April. Cuban cattle czar Enrique Oltuski was ousted early this year. The list goes on and on.

The government men whose job it is to read signs see no evidence that Castro's government is in danger.

But Fidel Castro has real economic troubles. He's firing men right and left as scapegoats or fumbler.

Since March, Castro has purged 40 officials from the National Bank of Cuba. He ousted the bank's president, Salvador Vilaseca, a Che Guevara man, in June, gave him the face-saving post of rector of the University of Havana.

Before that, Fidel had ousted the key men in a handful of other key economic departments — the Ministry of Economy (the ex-minister now manages a condensed milk plant), the Ministry of Foreign Commerce and the Institute of Agrarian Reform (Fidel took the top job himself). Castro has potential political troubles, too.

Recent reports from Cuba indicate that Fidel, for the first time, is being heckled with regularity when he speaks. When he extols the big sugar crop, men from the audience cry, "We want beans," or they shout, "I am fainting."

Fidel has ordered a cleanup of the University of Havana, a political hotbed which had been believed under tight Castro control for years.

Though Che Guevara "men," and even Fidel and Raul "men," have been ousted in the government firings, hardest blows fell on the old-time Communists.

There is intensifying animosity between the Moscow-line "old Communists" (there before Castro) and the "new Communists" (who came in with the Castro brothers). Mutual distrust and hatred are running high.

Fidel has been attempting to play one group against the other. He's been doing it with consummate skill. But there could be seeds here for an eventual blowup.

WASHINGTON:

Atrocities Key Factor In Strategy

By RAY CROMLEY

Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON (NEA) — If Hanoi's Reds are following Mao Tse-tung military theory, the big Viet Cong offensive now in the news doesn't aim at taking territory, strategic points or even at defeating government armies.

It aims at killing men, not at killing a lot of men in a lot of units, but at wiping out all officers and men in certain crack units. It aims at killing these men in horrible and dramatic ways or in maiming them to death (as by slitting abdomens).

An official cable from Saigon reports that in recent battles in Quang Ngai Province "two Vietnamese government (crack Ranger) battalions were completely decimated (sic). Only 65 men were left alive from one unit. There were 115 casualties out of 300 men in the second unit."

The Reds are shooting wounded prisoners at point blank range. They're leaving bodies horribly mutilated.

For this "meat grinder" operation, Hanoi's Ho Chi Minh has put more northern regular army units into the south than has been reported. Five battalions of North Vietnamese troops may have been in these recent battles. They are highly efficient soldiers, uniformed and well-armed, with a heavy emphasis on automatic weapons.

They are backed up by auxiliary guerrilla units in nearby hamlets. These guerrillas move in and wipe out escaping survivors of a massacre.

These operations take advantage of two psychological facts: —Vietnamese fear mutilation after death, especially disemboweling.

—Complete destruction of elite army units is "convincing emotional evidence" the Reds will win and that it's hopeless for an ordinary recruit to fight.

If the V.C. succeed in wiping out a chunk of the elite Vietnamese units, they'll follow with an all-out nationwide propaganda drive aimed at breaking the back of Vietnamese resistance.

This propaganda drive will aim at securing massive desertions from the government's armies. (Chiang Kai-shek's forces collapsed in China when whole battalions, divisions and armies went over to the Reds.)

It will seek to convince the fathers, mothers and youths of 12,000 South Viet Nam hamlets that being drafted for the Saigon army or fighting the Reds is equivalent to a particularly horrible (mutilated) type of suicide.

If the Communists can break morale in the government and neutral hamlets, they've won the war regardless of the size of the Vietnamese armies.

It is too early yet to see whether this Mao strategy will work in South Viet Nam. Certainly the first South Vietnamese reaction is different. The Vietnamese are not running from battle. They're staying, fighting and dying.

One report from Viet Nam says bodies of 75 Rangers from one crack government unit were found on one slope. They died making repeated charges against Viet Cong entrenched on the crest of a hill.

The number of Vietnamese volunteering for military duty is small, but is growing, not declining. Individual desertions continue high but even the Communists claim only a handful of small-unit desertions and these among the local militia.

Recent reports from Cuba indicate that Fidel, for the first time, is being heckled with regularity when he speaks. When he extols the big sugar crop, men from the audience cry, "We want beans," or they shout, "I am fainting."

Fidel has ordered a cleanup of the University of Havana, a political hotbed which had been believed under tight Castro control for years.

HEALTH PLAN

RUSSIAN STYLE

Those who advocate that Americans emulate the Soviet system of health care should be interested in the following words from the "worker's paradise".

Izvestia, the Moscow newspaper, recently reported receipt of a letter from a lady pleading, "Help me to see!" The woman had undergone a successful cataract removal, but needed special glasses.

For more than a month, Izvestia noted, "the optical production section of the Pharmaceutical Administration of the Executive Committee of the Moscow City Society of Working People's Deputies" had been reporting that the lady's order was "being filled."

Then Izvestia editorialized: "Buying prescription lenses is a problem for thousands of our people. Dozens of organizations are involved in making them, not one of which is fully responsible. The crux of the matter is that there is no single responsible bureau. The Central administration for Medical Equipment in the Ministry of Health of the U.S.S.R. plans the production of lenses and frames for the whole nation, and regional economic councils 'adapt' this plan to local needs.

There are four semi-domestic enterprises in the Russian Republic capable of making prescription lenses. But A. M. Yevgenyev, chief of one of them, is nagged by hundreds of telephone calls and letters from indignant customers. But he cannot help his patients: his shops, which have to serve almost the entire country, can't even meet Moscow's demand. On March 11 they refused to accept new orders so as to "digest" those already in hand. It is intolerable that there isn't a single optical shop in 29 regional and district centers of the Russian Republic. People have to travel hundreds of miles to the capital to order eyeglasses."

This is government "care" in action at its extreme.

The Almanac

Today is Monday, July 12, the 193rd day of 1965 with 172 to follow.

The moon is approaching its full phase.

The morning stars are Saturn and Jupiter.

The evening stars are Venus and Mars.

Those born today are under the sign of cancer. American poet and naturalist Henry David Thoreau was born on this day in 1817.

On this day in history: In 1854, George Eastman, the pioneer in the American photographic industry, was born.

In 1862, the Medal of Honor was authorized by Congress.

In 1941, German armies cracked the "Stalin Line" in Russia and marched toward Moscow.

In 1961, 73 persons died when a Czechoslovakian plane crashed in Africa.

A thought for the day: Writer L. L. Mencken said: "Injustice is relatively easy to bear: What stings is justice."

They'll Do It Every Time By Jimmy Hatlo

GOMSLEY, OL' BOY... I WANT YOU TO KNOW WHY I WASN'T ABLE TO BE AT YOUR TESTIMONIAL DINNER--I HEAR IT WAS GREAT...

I WAS ALL SET, BUT MY BOSS WAS TAKEN TO THE HOSPITAL... I HAD TO DROP EVERYTHING...

GOMSLEY WENT TO ALL THEIR SELF-PROMOTED WING-DINGS-- THEY HAVEN'T BOUGHT A TICKET FOR ANYTHING SINCE SALLY RAND....

THEY WERE WAITING FOR THE TICKET SALE TO BE A FLOP SO THEY COULD GET IN HALF PRICE...

I HAD TO BE OUT OF TOWN--MY MOTHER-IN-LAW WAS SICK... THAT WAS ONE PARTY I WANTED TO MAKE...

THEY'RE 4-F IN THE WAR AGAINST POVERTY!

LISTENING TO THE NON-SHOW-UPS EXPLAIN WHY THEY MISSED A PAL'S GALA EVENING....

Thanks, Art!

B&B Pharmacy Offers 3-Fold Service Daily

B&B Pharmacy and B&B Toyland offers Pampanos a three-fold service. B&B Pharmacy, B&B Toyland, and the S&H Green Stamp Redemption Center, all located on the corner of Ballard and Browning, can solve most of your shopping needs. B&B is actually a small shopping center with a large selection of items from which to choose. B&B Toyland has the widest selection of toys in Pampa. They have dolls, games, chemistry sets, puppets, and many many others. On the other hand, B&B Pharmacy located next door to the Toyland, offers a complete line of cosmetics such as: Dorothy Gray, Revlon, Frances Denney, and other famous brands. B&B also carries drug needs, prescriptions, cologne, and has a snack bar and fountain. Any purchase made at B&B Pharmacy will be brought to your home free of charge, compliments of B&B. You save when you shop at B&B because you receive those valuable S&H Green Stamps with each and every purchase. And remember you can redeem them at the Toyland next door. Free gift wrapping is another service that B&B offers. So, for any need you might have, whether it be gifts for the tiny tots, older children, the young homemaker, or Grandma or Grandpa, a bottle of pills, or a doctor's prescription, or maybe just a relaxed cup of coffee and a sandwich at the snack bar, you can find it all at B&B Pharmacy and B&B Toyland.

It takes about 13,000 ordinary pins to weigh a pound.

British Tactics Brought Victory Against Commies

EDITOR'S NOTE: In Malaya, which now is part of Malaysia, the British fought a jungle war with Communist guerrillas—and won. The success posts the question of whether similar tactics may bring victory for U.S. and Government forces in South Viet Nam. A UPI reporter examines the question in the following dispatch.

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (UPI)—The one big lesson military and civilian leaders in South Viet Nam perhaps can learn today from Malaya's jungle war with the Communists is simply this:

Don't give up when things look blackest.

In 1950 and 1951, the Communists, in a sickening series of raids, inflicted 2,000 civilian casualties. A total of 1,179 were murdered, Fed and protected by Chinese squatters on the edge of the jungles, the Communists lived off the land and fought well with old captured weapons.

On Oct. 7, 1951, a Communist bugler overlooking a twisting mountain road sounded a victorious retreat to his comrades who had just ambushed and killed Sir Henry Gurney, the British high commissioner.

Morale Low

The Communists were a long way from overrunning the Malay Peninsula but British morale sank to its lowest ebb with Gurney's death.

A few months later, General Sir Gerald Templer was named supreme chief. Relatively unknown, Templer became the "man with fire in his belly" who rallied his men with congratulatory cables when they killed Communists, sharp criticism when they did not.

"The battle will be won in the hearts and minds of the people," Sir Gerald said and went out to prove it with a series of reforms, rewards and when he deemed necessary, harsh treatment.

It took the British and later the Malayan government a total of 12 years to beat the Communists. They never did crush or smash or obliterate the guerrillas but rather they starved and isolated them to death, beat them through rewards, intelligence reports, psychological warfare, new villages, military superiority and finally by getting the Malayan people firmly on their side.

Few Similarities

Political and military experts are hard pressed to find much here and the war in South Viet similarity between the Malayan "emergency" as it was called. Nam. Many, including American Commander Gen. William C. Westmoreland, have come to Malaysia to look for the answers but few have found any.

The Malayan Communists had no common border with a friendly nation. There are no indications they ever received outside military support.

The Communists were confined almost entirely to the Chinese population who made up about one third of the population. The predominant Malays were regarded as loyal and largely proved to be so.

The major turning point in the emergency was the resettlement of some 500,000 Chinese squatters on the fringe of the jungles. The massive move did much to cut off the Communist food supply. Some 10,000 Chinese of known hostility were deported to China.

Overwhelming Odds

No accurate count of the Communist forces was ever made but estimates ranged from 10,000 to 15,000. The British, with troops from Australia, New Zealand, Africa and Asia, established a 10 to one ratio in the drive to clear the jungles.

The ratio of government forces to the Viet Cong in Viet Nam is low, about four to one. The advantage invariably goes to the attacker.

Today, there are only an estimated 500 Communist terrorists still at large to the north along the border with Thailand. During the past five years they have appeared more interested in survival than terrorism.

But in 1961, as in Viet Nam today, the Communists and many others thought they were going to win.
