Burkburnett Residents Urged To Start Christmas Gift Mailing Now

Postmaster W. T. Zimmerman today urged Burkburnett residents to start their Christmas shopping and mailing now. "After December 1st the Post Office will be hard pressed to handle the tremendous volume of Christmas mail expected," he said.

He noted that selections are better early in the season, shopping is more enjoyable, and one can be assured that his mail will be delivered before Christmas.

"Literally billions of pieces of mail will be delivered between now and Christmas. If everyone were to wait until the last week to mail their gifts and greetings, postal facilities would be severely overloaded," he said.

More important, special greetings would be delivered on time. Public cooperation is the key to fast on-time delivery at this time of the year.

He asks citizens to purchase and mail gifts as soon as possible and mail them with ZIP Codes.

Postmaster Zimmerman also encouraged all persons receiving mail to make special effort this year to up-date mailing lists by recording the ZIP Codes in return addresses of incoming mail.

Did you ever notice that your bills seem to arrive on time. That's because to business, the mail is vital. Businessmen make it a point of knowing how to get the best possible mail service. They learn two things fast. First, ZIP Code does help get the mail though, and second, by mailing early in the day avoid the after five p.m. rush of mail. Their mail makes the proper trains, planes and truck connections to assure on time delivery. Take a hint from business. Use ZIP Code and mail early in the day.

ON CENSORSHIP

A radio station made news across the country a few weeks ago by setting aside one entire day when nothing but good news was broadcast. Every scheduled newscast ignored the Vietnam war, automobile accidents, obituaries, and unpleasant news of every kind. The experiment was well-received and there are reports that the plan will be copied by other stations in the country.

If memory is correct the Chicago Tribune used the same technique years ago, and on one day each year, either Christmas, or Easter, the front page announced that there was no bad news in that day's issue of the paper.

But we think the Pottstown, Pennsylvania, Mercury has a better idea. The editor of that excellent paper issued a totally censored edition a few days ago. The intent was to give the community, for one day, the kind of paper it would find in a country with a controlled press.

No news was printed that was in any way critical of any government, municipal, state or federal. Like treatment was accorded the Vietnam war and the troubles that various cities across the country are experiencing. The censorship extended, of course, to the letters to the editor, and only those praising the actions of the government were printed.

Deleted news was highlighted by blank spaces, to show the readers that something had been edited out. Those big white spaces must have given the readers cause for reflection. The readers had been informed of the purpose of the special edition, and we venture to guess that the subscribers have an increased respect for the Mercury as a result.

Thomas Jefferson once wrote that, "Error of opinion may be tolerated where reason is left free to combat it."

That applies in any country blessed with a free press. This country enjoys the greatest leeway of any nation in the world in being able to sound off for or against the political structure. It's true that there would be a bunch of white space in this paper if all comments critical of the government were censored. The fact that we have a lot of bold and black comments is part of the effort to preserve and protect the right to be bold, even if we are sometimes considered wrong by some of our readers.

SENSING THE NEWSBy THURMAN SENSING
Southern States Industrial Council

While many of the problems facing the new President are truly nationwide in scope, some of the most critical ones involve a small number of big cities. The situation in New York City, the country's biggest metropolis is particularly acute.

New York City has been deteriorating in terms of law and order for a number of years. But the deterioration has been speeded-up in recent months, with a wave of strikes, slow-downs and general strife.

New York's school children have missed a good part of their classroom work this fall as a result of three illegal strikes by city's teachers. The teachers, for their part, are in a state of fear. A decision to decentralize the schools has opened the doors to domination of several decentralized districts by Black Power advocates. Teachers have been assaulted by parents who are in sympathy with the Black Power leaders. Schools have been broken into by irate factions in the school disputes.

New York's policemen, who keep the city from collapsing into total savagery, feel that they have been betrayed by the spineless municipal leadership of Mayor Lindsay, the fashionable "liberal." As a result, they recently engaged in a slowdown as a gesture of protest.

In summary, New York City is in a terrible mess. Not only is there chaos in the schools and a law and order problem in the streets, but the welfare situation is out of hand. During the past year, leaders of welfare recipients union urged reliefers to apply for every conceivable type of aid. When the city finally cut back certain specialized welfare programs, and combined welfare payments to individuals and families in a single package, some of the reliefers stormed the welfare offices and damaged public records.

It now turns out that in the last fiscal year the city budgeted more for welfare than for education. The percentage allotted to welfare was more than double what was budgeted for police and fire protection.

This situation isn't a matter of concern for the New Yorkers. Fifty per cent of New York's welfare costs are borne by the federal government — that is, by taxpayers throughout the country.

Aside from taxes they pay for welfare in New York City, Americans elsewhere in the nation have cause for concern about the metropolis because it is the principal financial and commercial center in the nation. The continued deterioration of New York City could adversely affect business in many parts of the United States. Americans simply can't allow their largest city to be plunged into chaos and overcome by savagery in the streets. Nor is New York the only city that is getting out of hand several other big cities have become bottomless pits insofar as welfare is concerned. They have become the focus of rioting and other forms of strife.

What is to be done about these cities that are on the verge of total breakdown? This is a question the new Congress will have to ponder. New York City and several other cities are in trouble because they lost so many of their blue-collar and white-collar citizens who have a sense of civic pride and because they have been invaded by swarms of drones who intend to make a lifetime career of relief at public expense.

The hard-working, self-reliant citizens will not return to the central cities unless and until something is done about masses of arrogant and often lawless people who are now living on welfare handouts. What seems to be needed is relocation of substantial numbers of such dependent persons to areas where they can learn for themselves the civilities and the disciplines of responsible community life. While no hard and fast answers are now available, it seems possible that a major, drastic overhaul of the laws on federal welfare assistance could be an instrument for accomplishing the needed relocation of dependent persons.

Many of the so-called "solutions" to economic and social problems have been a total failure. Congress needs to re-examine national problems, such as the problem of New York City, in new, dynamic ways. A free republic can't coexist with a rootless, lawless proletariat in its major cities. Ways must be found to transform this proletariat mass into law-abiding, self-supporting citizens.

Do-It-Yourself Physical Fitness In Privacy

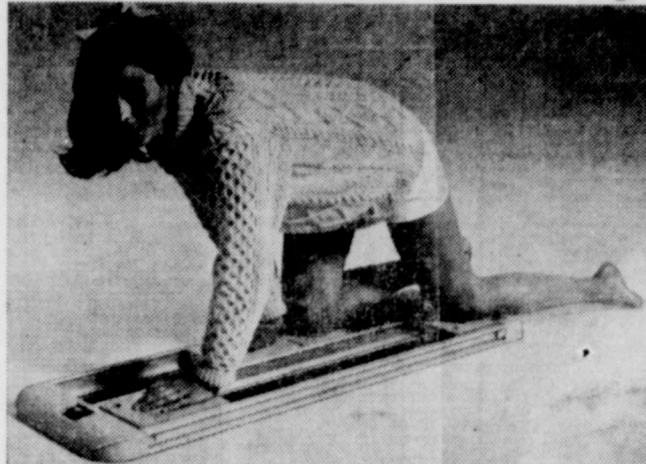

There are signs these days that more people are exercising seriously — exercising not only for the fun of it, but to increase their physical fitness. Perhaps the sign that best typifies this trend toward more earnest, purposeful exercise is a man or woman running or jogging — along a beach — down a suburban street — in a park — or even along a city sidewalk.

Partly, the exercising step-up is a response to current urgings from the President's Council on Physical Fitness and Sports. Partly, it's a result of new books on "aerobics" and jogging, and a reaction to recent research which shows that physical fitness is primarily the ability of the body to absorb oxygen at an adequate rate to meet maximum demands of every day living.

In the midst of this boom in fitness programs, a new machine, Exer-Cor, has been introduced. It allows a person of just about any age or condition to improve his physical fitness right in his own home. The user "cycles" on all fours, which many physical fitness experts feel is the ideal exercise position.

"People have been jogging, running and bicycling for years to stay fit," reminds Engineer-Industrialist Frank Flick, who invented Exer-Cor. "In developing Exer-Cor we allow a person to duplicate the motions of 'life's first major exercise' — cross-patterned creeping. It affords a pleasant way for people to exercise, in the privacy of home or office, regardless of the weather; and does not oblige a person to don sweat clothes and run around the neighborhood in sweltering heat or freezing cold."

For an informative illustrated booklet, "The Astonishing Truth About Physical Fitness," which reports on health and fitness, and tells the complete story of Exer-Cor, how it was invented, how it may improve coordination and athletic skills, as well as physical fitness, and EXERCISING IS THE 'MOD' WAY to maintain physical fitness. Using "life's first major exercise" — cross patterned creeping, it offers a pleasant way to improve physical fitness and coordination.

ENGINEER INDUSTRIALIST Frank Flick demonstrates how his invention, Exer-Cor, can be used in an office. Unit is compact and can be stored in a closet for ready use during "exercise break" by busy executives.

Festive Fruit Bread Is Nordic Yuletide Treat

Christmas is the oldest of Nordic festivals, and the Norwegian celebration is steeped in tradition. All Christmas preparations must be completed before St. Thomas' Day, December 21st. During the next two weeks, Norwegians observe the Christmas peace and only the most necessary work is done. The table is always set during this period, and visitors drop in any time for food and drink.

A traditional sign of yuletide hospitality is a special Norwegian fruit bread known as Jule Kaga. A cardamon-flavored round loaf filled with raisins and candied cherries, Jule Kaga is covered with snowy frosting and decorated with "flowers" of candied cherries and slivered almonds.

This modern version of Jule Kaga is prepared by the Rapid-mix Method recently developed by Fleischmann's Yeast. The "no-dissolve" method, Rapidmix treats yeast as a dry ingredient, adding it with the flour, sugar and salt. In addition, initial beating steps are done with an electric mixer for easier preparation and handling.

Home-baked Jule Kaga, attractively packaged on a bread board and decorated with a holiday bow, is a thoughtful hostess gift during the Christmas season. To package, cool loaves completely after baking. Let frosting set, then place bread on a board and wrap loosely in plastic wrap or foil. If desired, box and cover with holiday paper.

JULE KAGA

1 to 4 1/2 cups unsifted flour
1/2 cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon ground cardamon
2 packages Fleischmann's Active Dry Yeast
3/4 cup milk
1/2 cup water

1/2 cup (1 stick) Fleischmann's Margarine
1/2 cup seedless raisins
1/4 cup chopped Planters or Southern Belle Blanched Almonds
1/4 cup chopped candied cherries
1/4 cup chopped candied citron
Confectioners' sugar frosting

In a large bowl thoroughly mix 1 1/2 cups flour, sugar, salt, cardamon and undissolved Fleischmann's Active Dry Yeast.

Combine milk, water and Fleischmann's Margarine in a saucepan. Heat over low heat until liquids are warm. (Margarine does not need to melt.) Gradually add to dry ingredients and beat for 2 minutes at medium speed of electric mixer, scraping bowl occasionally. Add 1/2 cup flour, or enough flour to make a thick batter. Beat on high speed for 2 minutes, scraping bowl occasionally. Stir in enough additional flour to make a soft dough. Turn out onto floured board; knead until smooth and elastic, about 8 to 10 minutes. Place in greased bowl, turning to grease top. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour and 15 minutes.

Punch dough down; turn out onto lightly floured board. Knead in raisins, Planters or Southern Belle Blanched Almonds, candied cherries and citron until evenly distributed. Form into round ball; place on large greased baking sheet. Cover, let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour.

Bake in moderate oven (350°F.) 50 to 60 minutes, or until done. Remove from baking sheet and place on wire rack to cool. When cool, frost with confectioners' sugar frosting. If desired, garnish with Planters or Southern Belle Sliced Almonds. Makes 1 large round cake.

Little Yule Cakes:

Prepare dough as directed above. Punch dough down; turn out onto lightly floured board. Knead in fruits and nuts. Divide into 16 equal pieces. Shape each into ball; place 3 inches apart on greased baking sheets. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour. Bake in moderate oven (375°F.) about 25 minutes, or until done. Remove from baking sheets and place on wire racks to cool. When cool, frost with confectioners' sugar frosting. If desired, garnish with raisins, candied fruit or Planters Nuts. Makes 16 individual cakes.

PLENTY OF WORK went into the planning and staging of St. Jude's Fall Festival Saturday night.

LOCAL SCHOOLS TO SEEK FEDERAL HELP IN BUILDING AT SOUTHSIDE, HIGH SCHOOL

Federal assistance will be sought for the construction of new classroom space in the Burkburnett Schools.

Superintendent I. C. Evans reported that the plans include 8,000 square feet of teaching space in the high school, and about 17,000 square feet for classrooms, library facilities and cafeteria space at Southside Elementary School.

Cost is estimated at $368,000. The request has been submitted, but further action by the local board will await development at Washington.

Enrollment at the Southside

School is now 456, but a slight enrollment increase is expected next fall.

High school enrollment is expected to rise from the present 928 to 1,020 by fall of 1969.

In other action, two new teachers were hired. Mrs. Beatrice Knarr will teach the fourth and fifth grades at Sheppard-Burkburnett School, and John H. Selman will be assigned as biology teacher at the high school.

Routine audits were approved, and the financial, athletics, activity and cafeteria reports were approved.

Cleanup Hints for Outdoor Living

Satisfying your cabin fever this summer? If you are renting a cabin at seashore or mountain-top, don't let cleaning get in the way of fun. Keep it cool and simple by assigning this hard-working quartet to all clean-up jobs: one good broom, a supply of sponges and brushes, an all-purpose pine oil cleaner-disinfectant, and a supply of re-usable paper towels.

Has your broom beat a retreat — just when you need it for a pre-barbecue clean-up? Solve the mystery of disappearing household tools by getting a special set for outdoors. Keep the outdoor clean-up equipment near as possible to your outdoor living area. You can even hang your pretty broom on a hook outside. Hint for good brooming: Always dampen broom before you sweep. This keeps the dust from flying.

Screens keep the bugs out but let dust and dirt in. Keep dust from spreading by regular screen-cleaning. An oversized sponge, plus a high-concentration pine oil product will not only clean screens speedily but will disinfect them as well—an especially good idea when tiny hands and faces press against screens for a look outside.

Before a dress-up summer party, be sure outdoor furniture and tables are fresh and clean. In tune with summertime, take it easy and hose furniture down, then sun dry. If you clean your garden furniture the day before, cover with plastic cleaning bags. This way your guests will really be sitting pretty at your party.

It is no Secret...

One of the great joys that children have is in telling a secret. This is one way that secrets have of becoming known.

However IT IS NO SECRET what God can do for you. This was never intended to be a secret, for God wants all to know the good news.

Isaiah said: "The Lord hath anointed me to preach good tidings... to proclaim the acceptable year of the Lord."

Attend church regularly and hear God's word preached.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

'Political Rally' Features Meeting Of Study Club

"A Political Rally" was the theme for the social sponsored by the Modern Study Club. This event was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Dillard, Saturday, Nov. 2, 1968.

The Dillard's den was most appropriately decorated for the occasion. Amidst a large poster of Uncle Sam overlooking all the stickers, pictures, buttons, etc., of the three presidential candidates; red, white and blue decor completed the colorful setting.

After a buffet of beans, corn bread and all the trimmings, the campaign was on with Hubert Humphrey (portrayed by Jean Dolan) promising if elected, to have beans on our tables morning, noon and night. Next on the campaign trail was Richard Nixon (portrayed by Peggy Cozby) giving all the reasons

Richard should be our next President. Last, but certainly not least was George Wallace (portrayed by Carolyn Gray). In a most southern manner a most enlightening speech was made. Not scheduled on the tour but very much in the running was Linus and his blanket (portrayed by Martha Griffith) also campaigning. Linus was promising if elected, a blanket for each and everyone because security is what we all want.

Preceding the introduction of each candidate an appropriate song was sung by Carolyn Gray. Hubert Humphrey was introduced to the tune of "Yankee Doodle"; Richard Nixon to the tune of "My Bonnie Lies Over the Ocean" and George Wallace to the tune of "California Here I Come." Songs were written by Albert Dillard.

A poem written by club members, Martha Griffith, Tona Cornelius and Carolyn Gray were read by Evelyn Nichols. They were as follows:

Nixon, Humphrey and Wallace squared off for a fight, Didn't want anyone to miss hearing these names tonight. Humphrey, Wallace & Nixon promise everything to voters. It all gets mixed up coming back from the quaters. Wallace, Nixon & Humphrey are too serious and no fun. I think I'll cast my vote for Pat Paulsun.

The world of politics is so foreign to me.

I listen intensely to the men on TV.

But Hubert's too fat and seems like a snob

And Nixon could still use a good make-up job.

Wallace would change the country, that's true

But imagine a poster saying, "The Klu Klux Klan wants you"

Whatever the outcome, no matter who's who—

I'll vote for Paul Newman in '72.

The Presidential race is in a spin.

Trying to choose the right man to win.

He must have courage, dignity and pride.

But most of all he is to be America's guide.

Do WE as women seem to push aside—a man in which we can confide?

Our first candidate is loaded with lies.

But all I can see is his beautiful blue eyes.

Number two is a man who is sincere and fair.

But we can't vote for him—He's losing his hair.

Our third prospect has gorgeous clothes

But they can't hide that ugly nose.

If we women were to pick the best of the three

We'd rather not choose—We'd rather stay free.

After the skits had been presented, ballots were passed to guests for voting on the candidates of their choice with Humphrey winning and a tie between Nixon and Wallace.

Putting you first vaaarrrrrooooooommm keeps us first.

Chevrolet's got a big surprise for the guy who'd buy a sports car if only it had more room. It's the Impala SS 427.

Like all Impalas, it comes with a 119-inch wheelbase, Astro Ventilation and full door-glass styling. Like all Chevy Sportsters, it comes with a beefed-up suspension and grabby red-stripe wide oval tires. Under the hood, it's more of the same. We tucked in a 427-cubic-inch 390-horsepower Turbo-Jet V8.

That means it's the kind of car you can take for a workout even if you're just going to work.

There's driving excitement in these other packages too: Corvette

Stingray, Chevelle SS 396, Camaro SS, Camaro Z 28 and Nova SS.

Vaaarrrrrooooooommm!

Listen for it at your Chevy dealer's Sports Shop.

Putting you first, keeps us first.

See the Super Sports at your Chevrolet dealer's Sports Department now.
