Germans Cut Off From Old Poland Supply Points

Berlin Admits Evacuation Of Strategic City On Rail Line To Ploesti Oil Fields; Other Russians Driving Toward Odessa

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, March 30. — Czernowitz, (Cernauti) capital of Bucovina and gateway to the Balkans, has fallen to the Red army's advance, Premier Stalin announced tonight a few hours after Berlin acknowledged German evacuation of the strategic city.

Russian forces had broken into this third largest city of pre-war Rumania from the north and west after forcing the Prut river.

The city, which lies 17 miles north of present-day Rumania, is astride the rail line extending northwest to Lwow, in old Poland and south to Iasi (Jassy), Galatz on the Danube, and the oil center of Ploesti.

Its capture cut the Germans off from their supply bases in pre-war Poland and split the southern German armies off from those of the central and eastern Ukrainian front.

City Taken 'By Storm'

In his order of the day broadcast from Moscow Stalin said the city had been captured "by storm" —a statement denying the German announcement it had been "evacuated."

He ordered a 20-artillery salvo salute from 224 guns to thunder out over Moscow tonight in celebration.

The early German announcement had admitted also that "German troops disengaged themselves" from the lower Ukrainian Bug, on the eastern approaches to Odessa, but as usual claimed this was done without enemy interference.

Driving For Czechoslovakia

Other Russian forces were driving through the Carpathian foothills toward the northern frontier in Czechoslovakia, following the capture of Kolomea, Prut river town on the main Berlin-Lwow-Bucharest railway 45 miles northeast of Czernowitz.

Indicating another Russian threat to Lwow in old Poland, the Berlin broadcast said that heavy fighting was under way with advance Red army formations in the area of Stanislau, about 70 miles below Lwow and only 40 miles from the old border of Czechoslovakia on the Lwow-Bucharest rail line.

Another Berlin broadcast said the Russians were throwing 15 rifle divisions and three tank corps, upwards of 175,000 men, into the battle for the White Russian pathways to the Baltics in new smashes at the 100-mile German are between Vitebsk and Chausy. It said the new offensive had been unable to gain ground, however.

Headquarters Of Enemy Rail Base Damaged

Gen. Stilwell Says 5,423 Japanese Have Been Killed

By J. B. KRUEGER
Associated Press War Editor

Allied air commandos have struck at Mohnyin, Burma, in an apparent move to isolate further the important Japanese base at Myitkyina, toward which Lt. Gen. Joseph Stilwell's American and Chinese forces are driving hard.

Adm. Lord Louis Mountbatten's headquarters today said the glider-borne commandos in a slashing attack on enemy communications, damaged Japanese headquarters in Mohnyin. This town is on the railway connecting Mandalay and Myitkyina. Myitkyina, situated north of the Burma road, stands between a junction of this highway and the new Ledo supply route out of India.

Chinese Push Southward

Gen. Stilwell's American-trained Chinese pushed on southward toward the enemy base. Cutting the main road 14 miles inside the Mogaung valley and setting up a road block a mile north of Laban.

Stilwell announced that 5,423 Japanese had been killed in northern Burma since last Oct. 26 in opposing the Allied drive toward Myitkyina.

Elsewhere in the Burma battle the fighting grew in violence.

Stilwell's Chinese fighters in addition trapped 1,000 Japanese troops in an egg-shaped region north of Shaduzup, above Myitkyina.

Allied troops inflicted heavy casualties on a Japanese force driving up the Tiddim road toward Imphal, important communication center about 15 miles inside the border of India.

Threat To Imphal Countered

A second threat to Imphal was countered with a concentrated blasting by planes and artillery of a Japanese column caught in the open while driving on that city from the north. The column reeled backward with heavy losses.

Adm. Lord Louis Mountbatten's New Delhi headquarters, reporting these successes in the many-sided Burma warfare:

A second threat to Imphal was countered with a concentrated blasting by planes and artillery of a Japanese column caught in the open while driving on that city from the north. The column

Fire Bombs Hit U. S. Hospital Area At Anzio

Two Men Killed And 56 Others Badly Injured

BY REYNOLDS PACKARD
United Press War Writer

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Naples, March 30—German fire bombs turned an American hospital area on the Anzio beachhead into a bloody shambles last night, climaxing a night and day of savage patrol fighting and artillery exchanges on the three major Italian fronts.

Screaming in over the waterfront under cover of darkness, a formation of Nazi bombers dropped high explosives and incendiaries across the port area in an apparent attempt to blast Allied military installations and shipping.

Two Killed Instantly

Three big incendiaries landed on a cluster of hospital tents jammed with wounded troops and medical corps personnel. Two men were killed instantly and 56 others badly hurt, including a number of captured Germans.

The bombing raised to 35 killed and 128 wounded the number of casualties suffered in a series of Nazi bombing and shelling attacks on Allied beachhead hospitals. It was feared the death toll of the latest bombing will rise when complete figures are compiled.

United Press War Correspondent Robert Vermillion, who witnessed the attack, said there was no immediate indication that the Nazi planes had struck deliberately at the hospital area.

No Major Changes

On the fighting fronts, there was no major change in the opposing battle lines, although feverish patrol and artillery activity indicated that both sides were

Use Of 4-Fs In War Effort To Be Necessary

Stimson Believes National Service Bill Is Solution

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 30 — Secretary of War Stimson said today it was essential to draw 4-F men into the war effort, but that he would accept their induction into the Army as labor corps only as a last resort.

Questioned at his press conference about the statement of Undersecretary of War Robert P. Patterson, that the Armw would accept induction of 4-F's who refused voluntarily to enter employment in essential activities, Stimson replied that he agreed fully that the war effort is suffering by failure to utilize this group of men.

"I do not think this most vital step should be taken by indirection and by induction into the Army of men not qualified to serve in the Army."

Service Legislation Solution

The secretary emphasized "very strongly" his belief that national service legislation was the best solution of the manpower problem.

Upwards of a million 4-F's between the ages of 18 and 37, inclusive, face the probable alternatives today of taking essential jobs in civilian or war industry or being inducted into Army labor battalions.

Abandoning plans for an Easter recess, a House military sub-committee headed by Rep. Costello (D-Calif) began drafting legislation to surround the big group of rejectees with statutory controls.

The committee worked under the spur of a request from the War and Navy departments that something be done immediately to find replacements for younger, occupationally - deferred men

Bestwick Quits Rationing Post

Frank Ford To Be Successor

Resignation of C. A. Bestwick as chief clerk of the Lubbock County War Price and Rationing board and the appointment of Frank Ford, former Federal Land Bank representative here as his successor was announced this morning by Roy Furr, chairman of the board. The change becomes effective April 1.

Bestwick is resigning his position to re-enter private business, his letter to the board revealed. He plans to re-open an automobile business, which he formerly operated here.

Bestwick's Work Praised

"We accepted Mr. Bestwick's resignation with much reluctance," Furr said, in making the announcement. "He has carried the rationing program in our county through its critical period and we hate to lose his able direction of this important phase of the War effort. . . . We realize, however, that he has been making a tremendous sacrifice in personal finances in continuing his work with the board."

"It has been a pleasure to have served the people of this community under your able direction," Bestwick's letter of resignation to Furr and the board said. "Convey my thanks to your board and panel members for their splendid cooperation. I feel that it is necessary for me, at this time, to resume my business. I have enjoyed the time spent in the work and feel that we have made a contribution to the War effort. If we have rendered a service to the City of Lubbock and the surrounding community, then I feel amply repaid and am pleased to have been associated with the work. If I can be of any assistance in the future, you have only to call me. As I have discussed with you, I can make arrangements to give several hours per day if it is necessary and if the people of the community feel it would be of service to them. Let me thank you again for the splendid cooperation of yourself and your board members."

Bestwick also sent a letter to Howard Gholson, district director

Churchill Is Given Vote Of Confidence

Vote In Commons Is 425 To 23

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, March 30—Winston Churchill tonight won his eighth vote of confidence in four years, from a recalcitrant House of Commons openly vexed at being called to mark over a minor domestic issue but ready to show its continued support of the government's overall program on the eve of a great new phase of Allied attack.

The division was 425 to 23—the prime minister's strongest showing since the first three virtually unanimous votes of confidence early in his leadership through the grim days of warfront reverses.

The House, packed with an urgently summoned turnout of government supporters, cheered until the old chamber rang as the vote was announced.

Churchill's First Setback

The immediate question was whether the House should stand by its action Tuesday when it overrode the government for the first time in Churchill's four years of wartime leadership by adopting a measure providing equal pay for equal work by men and women teachers.

Mrs. Cazalet Keir, who offered the equal-pay amendment in the first place, told the House:

"The prime minister has left no other possible choice open to us than to support him. In this vote of confidence I am going to vote against a clause embodying my own amendment not because my views are changed at all on equal pay—but because more vital matters have been superimposed upon it. In this great democracy of ours convention for once seems to have overruled common sense."

Many Members Provoked

Many in the House, government supporters among them, were plainly provoked at their position.

The potential vote against his government dwindled sharply last night when the conservative reform committee, declaring the

Soldier Says Joan With Him

LOS ANGELES, March 30. (AP) —Charlie Chaplin's attorney introduced further testimony today to prove that Joan Berry, the actor's accuser in his Mann act trial, had associated with other men.

Lionel Bonini, an Army private stationed at Ft. Custer, Mich., testified that the actor's former protegee had been in his company the evening of Dec. 30, 1942, one of the dates, Joan previously declared, she had been with Chaplin in his home.

Jerry Giesler, the actor's attorney, was completing his case, with the prospect that Chaplin himself would take the stand in his own defense before the close of today's sessions.

Visited Apartment

Bonini said he and Miss Berry visited his apartment briefly and later visited two night clubs. While he spent about an hour in the latter of the two, he testified, Miss Berry remained asleep in his car, despite his attempts to awaken her.

Then he drove home, he said, and left the car, with Joan in it, parked in the street. He fell asleep inside his apartment and was awakened two or three hours later.

"I heard noises in the street," Bonini continued. "I went down. Miss Berry apparently had fallen on the sidewalk. People standing round asked me if I knew her."

"I helped her into my car and

Frozen Foods To Be On Point-Free Basis

WASHINGTON, March 30. (AP) —The whole wide assortment of frozen fruits and vegetables will go on a ration-free basis beginning Sunday and the bargain point values now in effect for all kinds of meat will be continued through April.

All the cold storage space that can be found is urgently needed for meat, poultry and dairy products, the office of price administration explained.

Technically the frozen foods—some of which were made point-free earlier—are still on the ration list, but stamps won't be required for them until further notice.

The April charts continue butter at 16 points a pound and margarine at six points, but canned peas drop from three points to a zero rating and carrots are reduced, going to three points from five for a No. 2 can. Tomato juice will be a point less in can sizes of 14 ounces or smaller.

Canned fruits are being held at present high point values because supply continues short.

A.&M. Board's Activities Hit

AUSTIN, March 30. (AP)—The board of directors of Texas A. & M. college has gone too much into administrative affairs of the school, Grayson County Judge Jake Loy of Sherman testified today.

Loy, a witness before a state senate educational investigating committee, asserted the "board's attitude has had a bad public reaction."

He had referred previously to the board's dismissal of Dr. T. O. Walton as president and H. H. Williamson as director of the far flung agricultural extension service which is administered by the college.

Method Said Blunder

Loy said the board's method of dismissing Dr. Walton was a "serious blunder" and that its failure to name a permanent extension director had had a disturbing effect on the service.

"The time has come when we must have a president and a permanent extension director in whom the pople have confidence," Loy added.

He said further he disagreed with a recent board statement that Dr. Walton was released because the college had outgrown Dr. Walton.

"I can't help but think Dr. Walton's wisdom at this time would be good for the institution," Loy declared.

To Meet Board Friday

Members of the college board are scheduled to meet with the

Nazis Stopped Us--Stimson

WASHINGTON, March 30 (AP)— Secretary of War Stimson, discussing the situation at Cassino, said today "the simple fact is that the Germans stopped us."

He told a press conference that the Allied attack on the Italian fortress town "has subsided for the time being without achieving the results for which he had hoped."

The Germans, Stimson said, showed again "that they are obstinate and effective soldiers who do not quit when they are ordered to hold a key post at all cost."

Stimson followed up his blunt acknowledgment that the Germans stopped the Allies at Cassino with this statement:

Learned Many Things

"That would be a severe setback only if we did not profit from our lessons. We have learned a great many things since the war and we have put our learning into practice. There is no reason to believe that our ability to profit from experience has ended now."

The secretary also reminded that "no one made this a test of Allied power or suggested that in these operations we are concentrating our main strength."

"I say this," Stimson said, "not to minimize the obvious facts of the Cassino action but to keep that action in a proper prospective. Despite Cassino, the final chapter of the story has not yet unfolded."

French Targets Raided By RAF

LONDON, March 30 (AP)—The entire German radio system went off the air this morning, usually a sign that American heavy bombers are over the reich.

However, at mid-morning the Berlin radio announced there were no enemy planes over Germany. Most German radio stations still remained off the air, however.

Mosquitos bombed Kiel, the air ministry announced. One bomber was lost.

It was the first time since Sunday night that the RAF's four-engined bombers had been out but it was their 12th attack of the month on French targets figuring importantly in Hitler's anti-invasion program.

Follows Fortress Raid

The British night operation came after a day in which the United States Eighth Air force sent Flying Fortresses' against the Brunswick area of central Germany and Liberators to the Pas-de-Calais coast of France

For the first time since March 23 German fighters gave serious battle.

A U. S. communique announced today that the American fliers had shot down 48 Nazi planes, escorting fighters accounting for 39 of the enemy and the heavy bombers for the remaining nine. Other enemy planes were shot up on the ground by American fighters which strafed airdromes on the way home.

Nine U. S. bombers and nine fighters failed to return from all operations of the day, including the Pas-de-Calais foray, where the only opposition was moderate to heavy anti-aircraft fire.

Vacant Lots Owned By Churches Taxable

AUSTIN, March 30. (U.P.) — Vacant lots owned by a church which are separate and apart from the place of worship are subject to taxation, the attorney general's department today ruled.

The opinion was in reply to an inquiry from County Attorney E. S. Stone, jr., of Brazoria county. He said a church intended to use the now vacant lots as a future building site, but actual construction had not started.

Teachers In Favor Of Electing Board

AUSTIN, Mar. 30 (U.P.)—The Texas State Teachers association was on record today for election of the state board of education, appointment of the state school superintendent and removal of the $25 annual limit on state school apportionment.

The recommendations were made in an outline handed to a state legislative committee that is to submit a school code to the next session of the legislature.

Filed with the committee yesterday by H. W. Stilwell of Texarkana and Chas. H. Tennyson of Austin, for the association, the outline sugested that the board members be elected by districts. Board members now are named at large by the governor. The state school superintendent is elected by popular state-wide vote.

WASHINGTON, March 30 (AP) —The latest reports on American war casualties set the total at 173,239 for the Army and Navy, an increase of 4,947 in a week.

Secretary of War Stimson said today that Army casualties in all theaters through March 15 totalled 130,619. The latest total reported for the Navy. Marines and Coast Guard is 42,620.

Man Drowns Trying To Rescue Cattle

CARTHAGE, Tex., March 30 (AP) —One man was drowned and two others were missing today as livestockmen sought to rescue cattle from the bottomlands of the swollen Sabine river.

Cecil Hooper, 38, livestockman and owner of extensive Panola county lands, drowned this morning in the Sabine's swift current when he was thrown from a horse with which he was not familiar.

One of the fifteen employes who were with Hooper is missing.

Felix Metcalfe of Beckville, 9 miles from here, also is missing after he went out yesterday to rescue his cattle.

The water in this area was reported only two and a half feet below the all-time flood record.

Livestockmen estimated the loss of livestock along the Sabine from north Panola county to the Logansport, La., area at $25,000.

Three Nazi Prisoners Caught At Ballinger

FORT WORTH, March 30 (U.P.) —Three of the 12 German prisoners-of-war who escaped last night from Camp Barkley at Abilene, were captured today near Ballinger in Reynolds county by sheriff's deputies.

Plans Complete For Pickup Of Waste Paper In City Friday

Is your waste paper ready for the big pickup drive in the city tomorrow?

The pickup is in progress in the rural areas and in the Lubbock negro district today. Fleets of Army trucks left LAAF and SPAAF during the noon hour to collect the paper collected during the past 10 days at the rural and negro schools.

Friday will be the big day in the city of Lubbock. Schools will be at recess so that students can aid Boy Scouts in putting the paper where it can be reached by the trucks.

Instructions Are Given

Here are the instructions once more: Separate newspapers, magazines and other kinds of paper. Sort the magazines according to size. Then bundle them separately and securely. Loose paper will not be collected. Don't make the bundles too large —20 pounds should be the maximum. Take them to the nearest street corner if you can. If not, put them on your front porch. Boy Scouts will deliver them to the nearest corner. Have the bundles in place early.

The pickup in Slaton is scheduled Saturday. The same plan will be followed there as in Lubbock.

The Army will handle the final sorting, packing, shipping and selling of the collected paper.

Soldier Vote Bill May Become Law Without FDR's Signature

WASHINGTON, March 30 (U.P.)— Indications mounted today that President Roosevelt will let the 1944 soldier vote bill become a law without his signature.

The President has until midnight Friday night to act. He has three choices—he may sign it, veto it, or let it become a law without his signature.

Expectations that he will take the latter course were strengthened greatly by the fact that Congress intends to hold an unusual Saturday session this week.

Desires To Aid Voting

Political observers believed that if the President decides to let the bill become law without his signature, the decision would be based on his desire to do everything possible to facilitate soldier voting despite his dissatisfaction with the bill's limitations on use of a simplified federal ballot.

The bill's advocates claim it would facilitate soldier voting by waiving some of the cross-mailing provided under the 1942 soldier vote law. It would not, however, meet the administration's original proposal to let all members of the armed forces vote for the president, vice president and members

War Prompts Stand Of Texas Demos

BY DAVE CHEAVENS
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, March 30—Undercurrents that occasionally welled near the surface at yesterday's state Democratic executive committee meeting indicated that the Texas Democratic leadership's decision to stay in line with the party in the national election is a matter of wartime expediency.

The three speakers who urged that Texas go along with the party on the fourth term issue unanimously premised their position upon what boils down to an expression of opinion that no matter what individual Texas Democrats think about a fourth term for President Roosevelt, or the administration's domestic policies, the exigencies of war demand continuation of the President leadership.

These speakers here Gov. Coke R. Stevenson; and the national committeewoman and committeeman from Texas, Mrs. Clara Driscoll of Corpus Christi and Myron Blalock of Marshall.

Joe Hill Applauded

They were politely and moderately applauded. Applause was not so moderate, however, when former State Senator Joe Hill of Henderson accused the U. S. Supreme court of trampling the state and national constitutions during the last four years.

Hill alluded to a matter which was not formally considered by the committee, but which may be resolved into a question for party consideration before the state convention meets here on May 23. That is the pending case involving the right of a negro to vote in the Democratic primary, now before the Supreme court.

The negro vote question was also discussed by Eugene Germany of Dallas, who said that while he had no objection to a negro Democratic party in Texas, "This is the white Democratic party of Texas and I am going to see that it remains so." His speech was also vociferously applauded. Germany is a former executive committee chairman.

Controversies Sidetracked

Yesterday's meeting disposed of pre-convention business in a short half-way session at which possibly controversial questions were sidetracked. A resolutions committee headed by Fred A. Wemple, jr., of Midland brought out only one resolution, urging that the Texas delegation work for restoration of the two-thirds rule at the Chicago national convention.

The convention here may see a revival of one resolution which was by-passed. This resolution, by C. C. Gibson of Amarillo, suggested since there is disagreement over the executive committee's power to open the primaries to servicemen who have not paid their poll taxes, that the convention itscelf consider the matter.

The resolutions committee also recommended that a resolution by Cecil Lotief, committeeman from Rotan, critical of Democrats who try "to sabotage the party by opposing it" did not come within the purpose of the executive body's session. The executive committee agreed, while Lotief attempted vainly to gain recognition from the floor to re-introduce his resolution.

"It looked like dictatorship to me, but I am not mad at anybody," Lotief commented.

Most Of Speculative Farm Buying Done By Non-Farmers

COLLEGE STATION, March 30. (AP)—Most of the speculative buying of farm lands in Texas is being done by non-farmers with idle money to invest, says a progress report issued by the Texas agricultural experiment station's division of farm and ranch economics.

The report says that records obtained in Jones, Ellis and Nacogdoches counties — considered representative of important agricultural areas in West, Central and East Texas, respectively — disclose that prices paid for farm lands in the three counties averaged 12 per cent higher in the October-December period of 1943 than in the same quarter in 1942.

Turnover Increases

In that same quarter, said the report, prepared by Joe R. Motheral of the Texas staff and Max M. Tharp of the U.S. Bureau of Agricultural economics, 13 per cent of the land transfers represented resale of tracts purchased since 1940 and the number of non-farmer buyers increased from 24 per cent of the total in 1942 to 35 per cent in 1943.

Speculative buying was found most prevalent in Ellis and Nacogdoches counties, stated the report, which covered specifically trends in the last three months of 1943 and for the entire year as compared with 1941 and 1942.

The report showed an increasing proportion of cash sales and increased buyer's equity in farms encumbered after the sale and cautioned farm operators and tenants not to buy farm lands now unless the land can be purchased at prices in line with long-time earning capacity.

Exchange Of Envoys Explained By Paper

MOSCOW, March 30. (AP) — A front page editorial in the government newspaper Izvestia explained today that the exchange of envoys with the Italian regime of Marshal Pietro Badoglio did not mean full recognition of his government and in effect called on Britain and the United States for a change in the government in Italy.

"The Italian question is one of the important problems confronting the Allies and it should be settled as soon as possible to help hasten victory over Germany," the editorial said.

"I WAS CONSTIPATED FOR MANY YEARS!"

Now I'm 'Regular' Every Morning!"

Constipated? Then here's an unsolicited letter you'll want to read: "I'd been troubled with common constipation for many years. Was taking laxatives and pills all the time, and feeling very weak and run down. 3 months ago, I began eating KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN daily. Now, I have a regular, natural movement every morning, which helps me feel my best!" Mr. Samuel D. Blank, 292 Kings Highway, Brooklyn, New York.

What is this seeming magic of KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN? Scientists say it's because KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN can really "get at" a common cause of constipation — namely, lack of sufficient "cellulosic" elements in the diet. KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN is one of Nature's most effective sources of these elements, which help the friendly colonic flora fluff up and prepare the colonic wastes for easy, natural elimination. KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN is not a purgative! Doesn't work by "sweeping out." It's a gentle-acting, "regulating" food!

If you have constipation of this type, eat KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN or several ALL-BRAN muffins regularly. Drink plenty of water. See if you don't find lasting relief! Insist on genuine ALL-BRAN, made only by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. Adv.

Hawaii Is Said Still In Danger

HONOLULU, March 30 (U.P.) — Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, commander of the Pacific fleet, and Lt. Gen. Robert C. Richardson, jr., Army commander for the Hawaiian area, warned in affidavits filed in federal court today that Hawaii was still in "imminent danger" of Japanese invasion and had been ever since the Dec. 7, 1941 sneak enemy attack.

Both Nimitz and Richardson contended that continuance of martial law and suspension of the writ of habeas corpus were necessary for the prosecution of the Pacific war.

Their affidavits were filed as part of a lengthy brief in which counsel for Honolulu county Sheriff Duke P. Kahanamoku, famous Waikiki swimmer and surf rider, asked dismissal of a petition for a writ of habeas corpus that sought the release of a civilian war worker jailed by a military court.

Second Case In Year

The case was the second within less than a year to challenge directly the existence of military law throughout the Hawaiian territory. Counsel for the war worker, Lloyd C. Duncan, charged that martial law no longer existed in Hawaii and said Duncan should have been tried by a civilian court.

Duncan was convicted by the military court of assaulting two Marine guards and sentenced to six months in the county jail. His attorney is Garner Anthony, former territorial attorney.

Hearing Set Friday

A hearing was scheduled for Friday on the new habeas corpus writ before Federal Judge Delbert C. Metzger, who last fall fined Richardson $100 for contempt of court after the general refused to produce two Americans of German ancestry who had petitioned for similar writs. The earlier case was dismissed when the two internees returned to the mainland and were released.

The fine later was set aside.

In written arguments for continuance of martial law and suspension of the writ, attorneys representing Kahanmoku said information from military authorities showed more than 35,000 out of Hawaii's total civilian population of 485,000 were Japanese aliens.

The total population includes, the arguments said, 124,000 American citizens of Japanese ancestry of which 67,000 were dual citizens as they were born in the United States and still were Japanese nationals.

The attorneys pointed out that "a number of these persons are known to be loyal to Japan and are thus dangerous to the United States. A number are interned."

General Picks Former Baseball Man For Aide

MONTREAL, March 30 (AP) — Col. Guy Gauvreau has been appointed an aide to Gen. Sir. Bernard Montgomery in Britain and has been sent to Camberley staff military college. And his father, Vice President Romeo Gauvreau of the Montreal Royals, attributes it to his service as road secretary for the Montreal baseball club in 1936.

Among the applications for the position, the listing of "baseball road secretary" as Guy's former occupation caught the general's eye. Montgomery asked for details and the younger Gauvreau replied:

"Arrange transportation, book hotels, sign up players, agree on salaries, fork out advance money, score the ball games and write pieces for newspapers."

Said the general: "You're my man."

Right Wing Leaders Quit Labor Party

NEW YORK, March 30 (AP) — The turbulent career of the American Labor party, organized in 1936 to support President Roosevelt in his home state, was climaxed today by secession of right wing leaders, who said the party was now Communist-dominated.

Having lost control of the state committee in Tuesday's primary to a left wing-CIO coalition, the right wing quit the party last night after declaring "another experiment in independent labor political action has failed."

Their statement said "Earl Browder (Communist leader) has captured the American Labor party."

Politicians pondered what effect the split would have on the developing presidential campaign.

DECRIES MENTALITY 'MYTH'

CHICAGO, March 30 (U.P.) — Joseph A. Brandt, director of the University of Chicago Press said, "The American mind is doomed to continued adolescence unless educators give up the 'myth' that the nation's average mentality is at the 12-year-old level."

During World War I, chemical warfare accounted for about one-third of the American casualties.

O'Daniel Unwittingly Aids Demo Candidate

MUSKOGEE, Okla., March 30 (AP)—Senator W. Lee O'Daniel (D-Texas) unwittingly was of great assistance in William G. Stigler's successful campaign in the second district congressional election over Republican E. O. Clark, Judge William S. Hall, who managed Stigler's race, said in a statement to the Associated Press.

Judge Hall said that O'Daniel's anti-New Deal speech in Muskogee "had the reverse effect of stirring the labor vote to fighting pitch behind Stigler."

Stigler carried 99 per cent of the worker vote, Judge Hall estimated.

Printers Still Idle At Corpus Christi

CORPUS CHRISTI, March 30 (U.P.)—Printers of the two Corpus Christi newspapers, the Morning Caller and the afternoon Times, remained away from work again last night and today, still in the "continuous meeting" which the regional War Labor board has termed a strike.

A WLB order to return to work had not been heeded.

The meeting, which began at 3:10 p. m. Tuesday, drastically curtailed the newspapers, but they continued to appear on schedule with front pages printed from engravings. Comics, puzzles, pictures and a limited amount of advertising occupied inside pages.

It is only six minutes by bomber plane from Dover, England, to Calais, nearest port in occupied France.

Nazi Writers Score Big Win--On Paper

WITH THE U. S. NAVY in Britain, March 30. (AP)—The extent to which the Nazis go in making false reports of naval actions for propaganda purposes has been exemplified anew.

Recently an LCI (landing craft, infantry) wandered out into the channel when her compass broke down. Visibility was poor and the ship was all alone. Light German forces destroyed the ship and the fate of her crew is in doubt.

The next day the Nazi pencil pushers reported that a large invasion force had been destroyed in the channel.

"Buy A Plane" Bond Drive Is Over Top

Lubbock High school's "buy a plane" bond campaign is over the top.

Students and teachers of Lubbock High school bought $75,390.25 in War bonds and stamps, exceeding the goal of $75,000 by $390.25, in their "buy a plane" drive which began Jan. 29 in connection with the Fourth War Loan campaign and came to a successful close yesterday. The quota had been exceeded by 1 o'clock, according to Mrs. Dick Cozby, publications director.

The school's campaign was to purchase a P-51 Mustang fighter plane which will bear the school's name. When the drive was launched in assembly on Jan. 29, the original quota was $15,000, but when more than $35,000 in bonds and stamps were subscribed for the first day, the quota was raised.

The drive was sponsored by the student council of Lubbock High school, and was directed and planned by a "buy a plane" committee headed by Ben Wells. The committee was composed of one representative from each guidance class with Mary Ann Dykes as secretary and Lareence Stone, vice-chairman.

Miss Mozelle Cobb's guidance class led in highest sales during the entire campaign and at the deadline yesterday the total for her group was $20,308.75. Ranking second was the class of Miss Glenys Honey which bought $12,086.85 in bonds and stamps. Coach J. "Mule" Davis' class bought $11,444.35; Mrs. Rosa Mae Burford's class, $5,955.75; and Mrs. Lozelle Turnbough's class, $5,545.85.

Air Forces Hold Edge Of 4 To 1 On Enemy

WASHINGTON, March 30. (AP)—The Army Air forces destroyed 9,463 enemy planes in the air and 1,579 on the ground in 1943, Secretary of War Stimson reported today, while losing 2,809 in aerial combat and 76 on the ground.

This edge of nearly four to one, said the secretary, represented a careful tabulation of results from all theaters. As the scale of the offensive increased, he said, the air forces destroyed almost twice as many enemy planes in the last six months of the year as in the first half of 1943, and its own losses increased about 80 per cent in that period.

News Briefs

West Texas hospital officials informed police at mid-morning that Margrette Hamrick, 14, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Hamrick of 2430 Twenty-fifth street, apparently had suffered no bone fractures or other serious injuries as result of a collision of motor vehicles at 8:17 o'clock this morning at Sixteenth street and Avenue U. She was released after examination. The child was riding in a car driven northward on Avenue U by Tom French, 40, of 2428 Twenty-fifth street. French's car was struck by one driven westward on Sixteenth street by Herman Lawrence, 58, of 1905 Sixteenth street, said patrolmen Ralph Goldwater and Bill Lamb of the police traffic department.

The entire counter space in the tax assessor-collector's office was lined at mid-morning by persons seeking to register motor vehicles before the statutory Saturday midnight deadline. H. B. Bryan, assessor-collector, said 1,200 tabs were issued Wednesday, raising the 1944 total to 9,630—which still leaves, however, an estimated 9,000 to 10,000 registrations to be issued. His office will be open from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m., then reopened from 7 p. m. for two hours today and Friday. Saturday, the last day before new tabs must be in place on vehicles that are operated, the office will be "open all day and up to the midnight deadline."

Theft of a $50 fan from the Wall building office of George H. McFadden & Bros., was reported to police.

James Halsey of 1909 Twenty-seventh street complained to police and to W. Guy Casey, Lubbock fire marshal, that someone had set his car afire in several places. Apparently, friends said, someone tossed individually lighted paper matches into the cushion of the coupe, burning it "through to the springs."

Warner Peticolas, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Peticolas of 2411 Twenty-first street, who was injured while playing Monday at the High school where he is a student, returned to his home from West Texas hospital today and was reported improved. Warner suffered a punctured lung when he was accidentally stabbed with a piece of tin.

Five CC Directors Will Be Elected

Ballots in the annual directors' election of the chamber of commerce have been mailed to the membership, officials reported this morning.

They must be cast before 6 o'clock Saturday afternoon. The ballot box is in the chamber of commerce.

Five directors, one-third of the membership of the board, are to be elected. Officials explained, however, that the present election will be for the purpose of naming 10 nominees. The five new directors will be chosen from among them in another election, set tentatively for next week. The term of a director is three years.

Board members whose terms expire are Charles R. Bacon, president of the chamber, and J. Ray Dickey, J. B. Maxey, J. L. Quicksall and Sam Rosenthal. They are not elegible to re-election.

Holdover directors are H. L. Allen, Sam C. Arnett, J. A. Fortenberry, George P. Kuykendall, George A. Simmons, Earl B. Collins, Roy Furr, J. D. Hassell, jr., Jack M. Randal and H. H. Vanaken.

With each ballot, officials announced, individuals have been supplied a roster of the chamber of commerce membership. From this list, each member will vote for five nominees.

Wayne Lonergan Trial Enters Final Stages

NEW YORK, March 30 (AP)—A blue ribbon jury will hear final arguments today before deciding whether Wayne Lonergan, lanky RCAF aircraftsman, will go to the electric chair for the murder of his beautiful wife, Patricia Burton Lonergan, heiress to a brewery fortune.

Assistant District Attorney Jacob Grumet will sum up the state's case and again ask for a first degree murder conviction, carrying with it the death penalty unless the jury recommends mercy. Edward V. Broderick will deliver the defense summation.

Reds Capture Balkans Gate

Carpathians into Carpatho-Ukraine.

Severing of the Berlin-Lwow-Bucharest railway by Zhukov's troops cut the last German rail supply line to Czernowitz and the entire southern front, dispatches said.

One hundred seventy miles to the east, meanwhile, Marshal Ivan S. Konev's Second Ukrainian army stormed the fortified city of Balta, southern Ukraine city 115 miles northwest of the great German-held Black sea port of Odessa. Other Russian forces were driving toward Odessa on a 215-mile semi-circular front extending from captured Nikolaev to the Dniester river.

More than 2,000 Germans died in the futile attempt to hold Balta, the Moscow war bulletin said, and prisoners captured wore the uniform of Hitler's famous SS elite guards. Another 2,000 were killed as Konev's troops ploughed through Nazi defenses south of Yarmolintsi at the top of the Kamenets-Podolsk pocket, where other theusands of enemy troops were facing a repetition of the Cherkasy trap in the Dnieper river bend.

Konev's main army remained poised on the eastern bank of the Prut river for the fourth day, apparently waiting to give Rumania a final chance to invite Russia into her territory as an ally. Supporting this belief was a Moscow dispatch quoting the newspaper Izvestia as urging Rumania, as well as Bulgaria, to resist the Germans and join the "democratic countries," before it is too late.

War In Pacific

reeled backward with heavy losses.

Big Role For Airmen

Adm. Lord Louis Mountbatten's New Delhi headquarters, reporting these successes in the many-sided Burma warfare, pointed out the increasing role of air power in this theater. Allied planes have bombed and strafed Japanese positions in India and have helped clear a way for Stilwell's two-pronged advance.

The Chinese troops laid their trap by cutting in behind enemy troops who couldn't be budged frontally. They were reported closing the trap with all haste, hoping to capture as much Japanese artillery as possible. The work of the Chinese was a fruit of long, patient tutoring by Gen. Stilwell's Americans. He had them flown out of China to southern India and there trained and equipped as Americans are.

In the Pacific, Allied airmen steadily pounded away at favorite targets such as Rabaul on New Britain and went on to pick out a new objective, Pakin island. Pakin, hit for the first time Monday, is a significant target because it is just 18 miles northwest of Ponape—which would make a good base, in American hands, for the reduction of powerful Truk to the west. Ponape has itself been struck ever harder air blows in recent weeks.

Rabaul Blasted Again

Ninety-three more tons of bombs fell on reeling Rabaul, which after the raid found itself with 39 fewer buildings. (Tokyo radio conceded "enemy raids on Rabaul are becoming more persistent," and said 335 planes attacked in two days this week.

The wide range of the air attacks took Allied airmen westward to Hollandia on the north coast of Dutch New Guinea, and even farther to Timor in the Dutch East Indies, an area long under complete Japanese dominion. A Japanese dispatch said "12 enemy four-engined bombers made the Timor raid.

Mop-up fighting continued on Bougainville in the Solomons, where trapped Japanese have been trying suicidal assaults against Americans dug in near Empress Augusta Bay.

Japs Have Other Worries

The Japanese had other worries. Gen. Kensuke Fujiye warned the homeland, Tokyo radio said, that Allied air raids on the Japanese capital were inevitable, and called for their best efforts to defend the city.

American fighter-bombers tore through Japanese interceptors and damaged rail facilities at Nanchang in central China yesterday, Gen. Stilwell's headquarters announced. Other Allied planes the day before hit bridges, a warehouse, an airdrome. In the two-day operations the 14th Air force lost no planes.

4-F Service Bill

needed for combat service.

Early Action Indicated

"We hope to have a bill ready after the recess," Costello told reporters. "We are going to sit during the recess and will ask the War department to help us draft the legislation."

Predicting prompt action by both the Senate and the House, Costello said he believed the legislation should provide for control of the activities not only of the 4-Fs between 18 and 37 but also of 4Fs up to 45 and of non-fathers between 38 and 45.

Ultimately, he added, the armed forces presumably will insist on taking only men under 31 for general service, retaining control over the older men by exercising power to put them into labor battalions if they fail to go into essential jobs.

Vast Labor Pool Seen

As evidence that there is a vast pool of labor available but untouchable now among the 4-Fs, Costello cited testimony given the committee yesterday by Undersecretary of War Robert P. Patterson.

Patterson, advocating legislation to conscript 4-Fs who won't take essential jobs, said there were 3,500,000 4-Fs between 18 and 37. About 1,000,000 of them are qualified to take industrial jobs to release younger men, he said.

His proposal, which struck a responsive chord among committee members, was that 4-Fs not in essential work be inducted and placed in an enlisted reserve from which they would be assigned to jobs or, refusing to take jobs, would be used in labor brigades for such work as picking apples, harvesting crops and doing other war-supporting work.

Lt. Brown will speak at this session on "Educational Blueprint for a Democracy Culture" and Col. Dykhouse will speak on "What the Teacher Can Do for Pre-Induction Training."

Chaplin Trial

asked her where she lived, and she said, 'Mr. Chaplin's house behind the Beverly Hills hotel,'" the witness continued.

"Where did you next see Miss Berry?"

"Early in the morning. About 8 o'clock in my apartment. She was alone."

"What time of night did you let her out of your car at Chaplin's residence?"

"It seemed quite late. It was a foggy night. It was, say, 3 o'clock—earlier maybe."

"When you helped her off the sidewalk into your car, what was her condition?"

"She Was Dizzy"

"She was dizzy. Her stockings were broken at the knees."

"When she came to your apartment later that morning, where did you and she go?"

"To a doctor's office."

"Was she wearing a fur coat?"

"Yes, one of those long silver fox things."

Today's first witness was Harry Cooper, operator of women's clothing shops. Giesler tried unsuccessfully to get into the court record an account of transactions he had with Miss Berry.

Defense Attorney Jerry Giesler, announcing only a few lesser witnesses remained to be summoned, indicated he expects to call the white-haired 54-year-old British-born actor, and perhaps conclude the defense's case, before nightfall.

Defense Motion Overruled

After Federal Judge J. F. T. O'Connor yesterday overruled a defense motion for a directed verdict of acquittal, Giesler called eight witnesses in rapid succession.

Most pungent defense testimony so far came from Hansruesch, 30-year-old New York writer.

He said Miss Berry came to his apartment about two o'clock on the morning of Dec. 31, 1942 and remained until 8 a. m.

On her arrival, Ruesch asserted, Miss Berry "was not sober," her clothing was disordered and dirty and there was blood about her face.

J. Paul Getty, Tulsa oil man, was another defense witness. He testified he had met Miss Berry, and early in 1941 had seen her frequently here. Giesler asked him if he had seen her in Mexico City in March, 1941, but a government objection was sustained.

A. And M. Board

Senate committee tomorrow.

Reviewing the details surrounding Dr. Walton's dismissal last year and his appointments as president emeritus, Loy had this to say:

The board should have open meetings and give the full light of publicity to its actions: the legislature should prescribe qualifications for board members and at least one should be a farmer.

Extension Director Needed

The committee also heard Mrs. Leon Sullivan of Red Oak, president of the Texas Home Demonstration association, declare:

"We are terribly distressed over the situation. The lack of an extension director has caused much unrest."

Mrs. Sullivan who said her organizations included 45,000 farm and ranch women asserted a delegation from her association had appeared before the college board and was "amazed to find out how very little the board knew about the organization."

She declared unrest had been created by college board proposals to place home demonstration agents (women) in the counties under the supervision of agricultural extension agents (men) and to reduce the number of administrative districts.

Habeas Corpus Writs Denied In Fraud Case

DALLAS, March 30. (AP)—Writs of habeas corpus have been denied George A. Graham and Jack Victory Muldrow, former North American aviation, Inc., (NAA) employes sentenced to prison here recently in NAA time card fraud cases.

U. S. circuit court of appeals Judge Robert L. Williams of Durant, Okla., denied, in an opinion received here, writs to the two men, given prison sentences here by Federal Judge T. Whitfild Davidson after they had pleaded guilty to charges of defrauding the government through falsification of time cards. Graham is serving a six months' term at Texarkana federal prison and Muldrow is serving an 18 months' term at the same place.

Judge Williams heard the arguments on the writs sitting at Paris for Federal Judge Randolph Bryant of the eastern district of Texas. Muldrow and Graham requested their freedom on the basis that the federal court here had no jurisdiction in the case and that the fraud, if any, was against North American aviation as a private corporation, and not against the United States.

Howard Dailey, attorney who argued both cases, said an appeal from the decision would be made to the United States circuit court of appeals at New Orleans and that application for freeing the new pending determination of the appeals would be made.

Finnish Emissary On New Peace Mission

STOCKHOLM, March 30. (AP)—Finland's veteran peace emissary, Juho K. Paasikivi, was reported off on a new mission today for another try at arranging a Finnish-Russian armistice.

Reliable reports filtering through the tight Finnish censorship said Paasikivi may already have made contact with Russian representatives, possibly in Moscow.

It was in Stockholm that Paasikivi, who negotiated the peace that ended the Finnish-Soviet war in 1940, first met Russian diplomats Feb. 16 to hear Moscow's six points for getting out of this war. Premier Edwin Linkomies' government informed Moscow two weeks ago that it could not accept the terms, but it is known that peace advocates have remained active in Helsinki.

Senate Group Studies State Institutions

AUSTIN, March 30. (AP) — A Senate educational investigating committee today resumes its study of various state institutions.

Chairman Penrose Metcalfe of San Angelo said the group would consider matters other than those pertaining to Texas A. & M. college and Friday it would discuss the A. & M. situation.

The A. & M. board of directors scheduled a brief meeting Friday morning to be followed by a meeting with the Senate committee. Committeemen made a brief investigation last month concerning the dismissal of Dr. T. O. Walton as president of the college and presumably will receive further testimony on the subject or discuss it with board members.

Judge Dan Blair of 72nd district court this morning overruled a motion of Robert Clayton, a negro, for a new trial, a sentenced him formally to serve 25 years in the penitentiary for murder of Cliff Spears, a negro bootlegger, Dec. 19. He gave notice of appeal through his counsel, Jimmie Cunningham and Gene Mathis, and was given the statutory period of 90 days to perfect his record an dfile his bills of exception. The defense had filed its motion within the two-day period prescribed after a jury had found the black guilty, but offered no amended pleas. Burton S. All Executive Orders To Be Investigated

WASHINGTON, March 30 (AP)—The Senate voted its judiciary committee $5,000 today to finance an investigation into the constitutional and statutory authority for every executive order and presidential directive issued since the advent of the first Roosevelt administration.

The action was taken after Majority Leader Barkley (Ky) expressed the view the information might prove "useful to Congress" provided there was no attempt to make the inquiry "a fishing expedition" designed to probe into the reasons for the issuance of each order.

Congress, he said, has no more reason to inquire into executive conferences that preceded the issuance of such directives than it would to summon members of the supreme court to inquire into discussions of its members.

Senator Shipstead (R-Minn), sponsor of the resolution, said he wanted to know the authority for the imposition of "fines and other penalties" by some agencies for violations of executive orders.

Few Texans Left In 36th Infantry Units

AUSTIN, March 30. (AP) — Infantry units of the 36th division "have only a small number of Texans left," Maj. Gen. Fred L. Walker, commander of the 36th infantry division, today said in a letter to Gov. Coke R. Stevenson telling of fighting done by the outfit.

"I do not recall any campaign in the whole history of the United States Army in which soldiers have had to endure greater hardship or have performed greater deeds of heroism than this campaign in Italy," General Walker wrote.

The 36th has had three difficult assignments, including the initial landing on Sept. 9, General Walker said. For the magnificent way it was executed, the President has cited one of the infantry units.

Losses have been heaviest in the infantry, and replacements have come from other states. Artillery, engineers, signal and medical units, because of light losses, still have the largest number of Texas officers and men, the general said.

The first large American dictionary contained 70,000 words, only a fraction of the number in modern ones but 20,000 more than the standard one then in use in England.

List Announced For Deferments

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 30—The War Production board today announced an official list of urgent manufacturing programs in which the WPB, Army, Navy and Maritime commission will ask draft deferments for key men 22 through 25 years old.

Considerably larger than a previous list compiled last week, today's list represents those activities now considered most important in the light of immediate military needs.

Specific Items Listed

The WPB, Army, Navy and Maritime commission recommendations for deferments for men 22 through 25 will be limited to the following production items, including production of component parts for these items:

Army list: Amphibious "ducks," tires and tubes (aircraft, combat and heavy-duty) including necessary tire cord, fabric and molds; radar; rockets; critical components for trucks 2 ½ tons and heavier, including truck trailers and class one and two tractors; research and development work specifically assigned by the technical services; certain airplanes to be listed in detail later.

Navy list: Landing craft; rockets; submarines; aircraft carriers; high capacity ammunition; radar; maintenance of ships and aircraft for the fleet; certain airplanes, to be listed in detail later.

Maritime list: All tanker construction; combat-loaded cargo and transport ships (Akas and Apas).

Voting Strength In Texas At New High

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, March 30. — Texas goes into the political year 1944 with the greatest officially indicated voting strength in history.

George H. Sheppard, comptroller of public accounts, today announced that 1,362,733 persons paid 1943 poll taxes, making them eligible to cast votes this year.

When estimated exemptions are added to this figure, the total indicated voting strength is 1,567,143, which compares with 1,448,859 in 1940, the last presidential election year.

1940 Was Record Year

The number of exemptions is figured on the basis of 15 per cent of paid poll taxes. The total voting strength for 1940 was the last largest figure on record.

Harris county reported 129,455 poll taxes paid, compared with 95,894 for the 1942 election and 102,751 for 1940. The Dallas report to the comptroller (estimated) was 99,452 compared with 50,237 (1942) and 66,097 (1940). Bexar county reported 67,492 with 56,361 (1942) and 64,623 (1940). The figures for some other large counties, in the same order, includes:

Figures In Large Counties

Jefferson 35,975, 25,761, 28,344; El Paso 15,440, 12,593, 15,941; Galveston 17,754, 15,000, 16,337; Hidalgo 15,231 (estimated), 12,978, 13,744; McLennan 19,395, 15,853, 17,922; Nueces 21,446, 16,304, 15,562; Wichita 15,265 11,581, 14,050.

The comptroller said the paid poll taxes were 8.16 per cent greater than in 1940 and 17.5 per cent greater than in 1942.

preparing for another test of strength on the beachhead and in the Cassino sector.

(A German radio commentator heard by the United Press in New York reported that the 5th army was shifting troops and equipment to the Anzio beachhead in great numbers and predicted that a major Allied attack would be launched on that front within the next few days.

"The massing of troops and war material in the Anzio beachhead point to the fact that the Anzio-Americans intend to transform the hitherto isolated beachhead into front No. 1," the commentator said. "A new breakthrough attempt from the Anzio beachhead toward the east, and at the same time in the direction of Rome, is expected."

Nazi Attacks Repulsed

German infantrymen attempted two small-scale attacks against American and British positions southwest of Cisterna yesterday, but both were repulsed by artillery and rifle fire. A Nazi tank also was knocked out by anti-tank fire in the area south of Aprilia.

On the main 5th army front, Allied artillery laid down a heavy barrage on German tanks hidden in the rubble near the Continental hotel in Cassino, while Nazi gunners raked Allied positions inside the town with shellfire and mortars.

ALLIED PLANES RANGE OVER WIDE AREA

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Naples, March 30 (AP) — Allied planes ranged far and wide over Italy Wednesday, hitting targets in the Rome, Turin and Bolzano areas and sweeping across the Adriatic to bomb Sofia.

The attack on Sofia, capital of Bulgaria, was carried out last night by formations of both heavy and medium bombers, a communique said.

In addition to assaults on rail lines in northern Italy by large formations of escorted bombers, air operations yesterday included medium bomber sweeps against the Viterbo airdrome north of Rome and harbor and rail installations in northwest Italy.

Twenty-two enemy aircraft were destroyed during the days operations against an Allied loss of 11. The Mediterranean Allied air force flew approximately 1,800 sorties during the day.

Every Flying Fortress is armed with a minimum of thirteen .50-caliber machine guns.

Davis Reports On Airlines

Kiwanians of Lubbock heard a report by A. B. Davis, manager of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce on prospects of air passenger and mail service for this city at the weekly luncheon of the club in the Lubbock hotel today noon.

Davis pointed out that possibly four airlines, American, Braniff, Continental and TWA would be serving this city within the near future, with the possibility of additional lines following the war.

A number of feeder lines have made application to the Civil Aeronautics board for lines serving Lubbock, he said. It is not improbable that lines serving Lubbock will connect the South Plains with every section of the United States.

Highway Outlook Cited

Speaking of postwar highway construction, Davis said a bill is now pending in Congress which provides $84,000,000 each year for three years following the war for highway construction in Texas. "It is up to us on the South Plains to get our share of this construction." He added that highway construction would do much to help solve the unemployment problem which will follow the war.

Davis was introduced by W. C. Wood, member of the program committee. T. E. Buckner, president of the club, presided.

Special guests at the luncheon were Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Thompson, their sons and daughters-in-law, Capt. and Mrs. N. E. (Bud) Thompson, Marine Corps, San Diego, Cal.; Capt. and Mrs. Clay E. Thompson, jr., Roswell, N. M., and Pvt. Aubrey Thompson, Sheppard field.

EASTER RECESS POSTPONED BY CONGRESS 'TIL SATURDAY

WASHINGTON, March 30 (AP)—Democratic Leader Barkley said today Congress will postpone its Easter recess until Saturday so that President Roosevelt may permit the service vote bill to become law without his signature, if he elects to do so.

Previously, Barkley had said Congress would quit Friday, but it was discovered that the period in which the bill could become law without signature extends until Friday midnight. If Congress adjourned before then and the President did not sign it, the measure would die by "pocket veto."

Barkley said he did not know the President's plans.

Anti-Pollution Law Violation Charged

GALVESTON, March 30 (U.P.)—Charges against H. S. Graves, a drilling superintendent of the Phillips Petroleum company, have been filed here, alleging violation of the new Texas anti-pollution law in connection with overflow of a wild oil well.

Graves allegedly permitted oil from the wild well, Phillips' Lobit No. 1 in the League City field, to flow into Dickinson bayou, Moses lake and Galveston bay "on several different days" late in December and early in January, leaving waters unfit for wild game and fish and interfering with navigation.

Outlook Tense In Palestine

JERUSALEM, March 30 (AP) — The situation in Palestine on the eve of the expiration of the British white paper under which the difficult Jewish and Arab matters have been regulated since 1939 found both sides considerably although illegally armed today, with the picture splotched by recent sporadic outbreaks of violence and the outlook still admittedly tense.

Authorities continued to be outspokenly hopeful, however, that major clashes could be averted. A dusk curfew has been imposed and stringent laws carrying the death penalty for extreme terroristis activities have been reissued.

The 1939 white paper which expires tomorrow and which neither the Arabs nor Jews agreed to, provided that 75,000 Jewish imigrants might be admitted to Palestine up to March 31, 1944 with immigration prohibited thereafter except with the consent of the Palestine majority. This meant the consent of the Arabs, who now outnumber the Jews by two to one.

Jewish Immigration Slowed

Jewish immigration into the country has been slowed to a trickle by the war and the latest announcement in the British House of Commons on the number who have entered said only slightly more than 47,000 had arrived in the country since 1939. The announcement said another 28,000 would be admitted to fill the original quota as conditions permitted. This statement caused little open stir in the Middle-East.

However, in recent weeks outbreaks of violence have been more frequent. A number of policemen have been murdered in Jerusalem, Haifa and Tel Aviv. Bombs have been placed in immigration offices and police stations, causing some deaths in the latter. Palestine authorities claim these are due almost if not entirely to Jewish extremist groups and that the Arabs have been ostentatiously refraining from terrorist activity in the hope of improving their case.

Beaufighters Repel Nazi Raid On Convoy

ALGIERS, March 30 (AP) —Beaufighter pilots beat off a strong German attempt to attack an Allied convoy off the North African coast, destroying two Dornier-217's and damaging a Junkers-88, it was announced today.

The raiders were repelled before they reached the vicinity of the convoy. No coastal airforce planes were lost or damaged. The attack was smashed by the same Beaufighter squadron that took a heavy toll of Nazis in two previous convoy raids in recent weeks.

Training In North Is "Not So Hot"

None Of Teams To Be In Good Shape

BY JACK CUDDY
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, March 30—It takes a brave bird to get a robin's-eye view of the baseball training camps these days and the first one to weather its way to our window ledge would be a 4-F in anybody's aviary after surviving "north of the border" temperatures from Bloomington to Bear Mountain and from Wilmington to Wallingford.

Giving the little red-breasted harbinger of spring the cookies we had given up for the lenten season, we nursed him back to health and got in turn a stern conviction that the northern camps are no places for baseball players in March, let alone a robin.

It is picking no quarrel with chambers of commerce to say that not even one major league manager is satisfied with the conditioning that is attained in the middle west, middle Atlantic and New England towns they selected. Even with good weather in the next two weeks, none of the teams will be in top physical trim when they open the season two weeks from Tuesday.

Getting "Gymnasium Jitters"

Players are getting the "gymnasium jitters" from working out day after day in cramped indoor quarters and there is more than one recorded instance of a temperamental trainee walking off in a huff because there weren't enough rubber sneakers to go around or because he was tired of banging his knees against maple flooring.

Frankie Frisch, manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates at Muncie, Ind., said he didn't know whether to go through with scheduled outdoor exhibition games or to challenge the Indiana state high school basketball champions, because the team had been working out indoors so long.

Moreover, the players are just as weary of trying to "cat-foot" their way over boggy fields that have the color and consistency of fresh chocolate frosting. Yesterday, no exception, found 15 of the 16 teams either "confined to quarters" or forced to curtail outdoor drills because of the weather.

Exhibition Games Cancelled

The communiques from the camps revealed a succession of cancelled exhibition games, indoor workouts or just plain enforced idleness.

At Cape Girordeau, Mo., the Browns stuck to their hotel rooms because of "continued wet weather," at swampy Cairo, Ill., the "chilly day" kept the Cardinals indoors, while "rain swept the Washington Senators off the diamond" at College Park, Md. The Yankees were driven back to their armory at their "resort" quarters in Atlantic City, while the Giants were just getting started when sleet struck at Lakewood, N. J. It also was "sleet colder" at Bear Mountain, N. Y., where the Dodgers, resigned to working inside listened to the pelting on the big field house roof at the West Point academy.

Snow Stops Pirates

Snow provided diversion at least for the Pirates at Muncie, Ind., who haven't worked up a good case of prespiration yet. It was more of the same at Evansville, Ind., camp of the Detroit Tigers and at Bloomington, Ind., the stamping ground of the Reds. Start at the "city series" between the White Sox and Cubs at French Lick, Ind., was postponed because of rain and the Cleveland Indians were rained out at Lafayette, Ind.

Connie Mack of the Philadelphia Athletics who praised the "Florida-like" weather at Frederick, Md., the first week they were there has been strangely silent on atmospheric matters since and the Phillies at Wilmington, Del., still have a pool room pallor.

The Red Sox went from New England to Maryland and found matters no better at Baltimore where they worked indoors for the third straight day. Maybe they should have stayed where they were, because only the Braves, training at Wallingford, Conn., had a dry drill yesterday.

District 4-A Tennis, Volleyball Tourney Set In Denver City

DENVER CITY, March 30—Early entries filed here with J. W. Jones, district chairman, for the district 4-A volleyball and tennis tournaments indicate some keen battles ahead for top honors in these two sports.

Drawings in both volleyball and tennis will be held at 9 o'clock and first round matches will follow the drawing. All events are scheduled to be completed in the one day session.

Team trophies will be awarded to first and second place winners in volleyball while individual medals will be given to first place winners in tennis. J. W. Jones, district chairman, announced Wednesday.

Five Teams Entered

The volleyball tournament has drawn an entry list of five teams with Levelland, Sudan, Olton, Denver City and Seminole to battle it out for the honors.

Little has been learned of the strength or records of the teams entered in the meet, but indications are that there will be a number of strong clubs playing. Play in volleyball does not extend beyond the district tournaments in the Interscholastic League.

In the tennis tournament there should be some top notch battles for honors with entries from schools running high. Boys doubles draws the top number of athletes with seven schools entered for this event. Singles in both boys and girls draw six schools into the fight with five schools sending girls doubles teams.

Excellent Performers Due

As in volleyball, the personnel and records of the various teams have not been announced, but some excellent performers are expected.

The boys doubles will draw entries from Seagraves, Seminole, Denver City, O'Donnell, Olton, Levelland and Morton. Boys singles teams will come from Seagraves, Seminole, Levelland, O'Donnell, Denver City and Olton.

Girls doubles will come from Seagraves, Olton, Denver City, Levelland and O'Donnell. Girls singles entries have been filed from Seagraves, Seminole, Olton, Denver City, Levelland and O'Donnell.

SUDAN GIRLS VOLLEY TEAM ENTERS TOURNEY

SUDAN, March 30 — Twelve girls from Sudan High school will carry the colors of the local high school in the volleyball tournament at Denver City Saturday in the District 4-A meet.

The Sudan girls have won about 50 percent of their games this season, but have shown promise of a good team and are hopeful of making a great showing in the Denver City meet.

The personnel of the team includes Jo McNabb, Nell Ruth Hammock, Juanita Maxfield, Elouise Beauchamp, Zanelle Boyles, Mary Brown, Yvonne Olds, Lois Fox, Gladys Pierce, June Gatewood, Minnie Bell Wells and Mavis Whisenhunt.

Supt. Roy L. Morris also announced that Sudan would not have any entries in the Denver City tennis meet.

Golfer Jack Munger In Army Air Forces

WICHITA FALLS, March 30 (AP)—Jack Munger, a Texan whose golfing ability carried him to national recognition, rolled an approach shot along the giant wing of a medium bomber.

His buddies had hoisted him atop the plane for his first demonstration since arriving at Sheppard Field several days ago for basic training as a private in the Army Air forces.

Private Munger has been a member of the Texas cup team for the last seven years being captain in 1940 and 1941. He is a former national interscholastic champion, winning the title in 1933. That same year he was semi-finalist in the national amateur.

Local Netters Down Lamesa

Westerners Win 3 Of 4 Matches

Showing a marked improvement in their play, the Lubbock Westerners' tennis squad battered out a 3 to 1 edge over the Lamesa High school net team with the Lubbock squad winning both boys divisions and girls doubles while Lamesa's lone win was in the girls singles.

Virginia Broyles repeated her victory of last week over Betty Nance, the Lubbock girls singles winner and carried off a 6-0, 6-2 win. Broyles defeated Nance last week at Lubbock in the finals of the girls singles at in invitation tournament.

In the boys singles, Billy Walker nosed out a win over Glen "Bottles" White, the Lamesa ace, but only after forced into a third set and three hard fought sessions. Walker's victory came on a 6-4, 4-6, 7-5 count and was in doubt until the final point.

Locals Win Straight Sets

The Lubbock doubles teams swept through both boys and girls events with Francys Peters and Juanice Bagwell winning on straight sets from Dot Burleson and Polly Carroll by a 7-5, 6-3 count after a hard battle. In the boys, Jerry LeMond and Delbert Cooper rolled over Wayne Roberts and H. L. Crouch of Lamesa by a 6-1, 6-3 score.

The Lubbock boys will battle the Shallowater boys in singles and doubles here this afternoon. Friday afternoon, the entire tennis squad will enter a triangular meet here with Lamesa and O'Donnell.

The Lamesa team will return Wednesday's visit then, while the O'Donnell netters will warm up for the District 4-A tournament at Denver City with the matches here. O'Donnell will likely bring both singles and doubles for both boys and girls for the Friday play.

Westerner Trackmen Enter San Angelo Invitation Meet

The Lubbock Westerners track and field team passed it's first test last week with flying colors by sweeping 13 of the 14 first places in a meet with the Amarillo Golden Sandies. But Saturday they may face a greater test as a picked squad enters the San Angelo Invitation meet.

E. J. "Pinkey" Lowrey, athletic direction, said Wednesday night that final arrangements had been completed Wednesday for sending a team to the meet.

Lubbock officials had been under the impression the meet was scheduled April 15, and would be unable to enter a team, but when the word was received the meet would be this week, it was planned to send a squad.

Entrants Not Named

Just which men Coach Marlin "Shorty" Hayhurst will select to make the trip to San Angelo has not been named, and will not be known until about Friday.

The Westerners have shown surprising strength in a number of local meets during the season, but have had no chance to really test the extent of this strength but some strong teams will be entered at San Angelo against which the locals will compete.

The real tip off on Westerner power was shown here last week when the team took 13 out of 14 first places against the defending track champions of District 1-AA, the powerful Amarillo Golden Sandies.

Tigers Again Are Depending On "Nine Old Men" Tactics

EVANSVILLE, Ind., March 30 (AP)—The Detroit Tigers won the 1940 American league pennant with "nine old men," and if they finish on top this season it again will have to be with something better than green hands.

You mustn't get the notion the Tigers are talking about winning in 1944. Contrarily, there is some speculation whether Detroit, only major league club never to have finished last, will not have a battle on its hands to keep out of the cellar.

You don't have to look far for an answer. The club has 34 players in the armed forces.

Not Making Any Claims

"We aren't making any claims in a season where you don't know how you stand from one day to the next," says Manager Steve O'Neill, who is starting his second season with the Tigers. "But right now it looks like we are as well off as anybody."

At all positions but the infield, the Tigers are reasonably well fixed from a pool of 15 draft-exempt players. Rudy York, Don Heffner, Eddie Mayo and Pinky Higgins, who are O'Neill's choices as the starting infield in the league opener April 18 against the St. Louis Browns, are all 1-A in selective service or up for reclassification.

Detroit has a promising 4-F pitching staff in Paul Trout, Hal Newhouser, Frank Overmire and Ruffus Gentry. Bob Swift, acquired from the Philadelphia Athletics for first string catching duties, likewise is 4-F.

It remains to be seen, of course, what Congress does about the 4-F's, who are important to the Tigers. A start was made today in Washington on legislation which may require 4-F's to take essential jobs in civilian or war industry, or be inducted into Army labor battalions.

Swimming Meet Filled With Wartime Irony

ANN ARBOR, Mich., March 30 (AP)—The 1944 national AAU indoor swimming meet, which sends more than 100 stars and would-be stars splashing into Michigan's pool tomorrow and Saturday, is crammed with wartime irony for the defending team champion, Ohio State.

Sadly Buckeye Coach Mike Peppe will watch Bill Smith lead Great Lakes to an inevitable team triumph, thinking that in normal times the Hawaiian-born husky would be churning to fame on his team.

As a Buckeye newcomer last year, Smith swam off with the 220 and 440 free style titles. As the key man of the 10-member Bluejacket squad, he's expected not only to retain those two crowns, but also annex Alan Ford's undefended 100-yard title and pace Great Lakes to a free style relay championship.

Then, too, another of Peppe's former boys may topple Ohio State's AAU diving dynasty. That would be Charley Batterman, Navy trainee at Columbia who last week won the low and high board titles in the national collegiate meet.

NEW YORK, March 30. (AP) — Giving some consideration, no doubt, to Utah's success in the NCAA cage tournament, Wyoming is planning to resume basketball next season with Ev Shelton returning to his old job as coach. And Colorado likely will follow suit if the Army vacates the field house. Real hard-luck guy of the hardwood is Neal Harris, Albright college coach. He worked all season tutoring an 18-year-old, six-foot, 8½ inch freshman for stardom next year—drilling him to become a "goal tender"—and now the rules makers have wiped out a season's labor . . . That Girl on Broadway says if you talk horse sense these days a lot of misguided moderns think you're a jackass.

A week or so back, an American airplane flew from California to Australia and back in three days, 23 hours and 20 minutes. That's about the same length of time it took South Plainsmen of 35 years ago to travel in a lightly-loaded, two-horse wagon from Lubbock to Canyon, then the nearest rail point.

The catch, of course, is that very few pioneers got killed falling out of wagons, or were drowned when their horses died!

INTERIOR Secretary and War Petroleum Administrator H. L. Ickes, Navy Secretary Frank Knox and other administration leaders are now beating the drum in favor of constructing a government-subsidized oil pipeline in Saudi-Arabia, more than half-way around the world.

Oil men — including representatives of three major companies which would profit by the project —say it doesn't make sense. We wouldn't know for sure, so we're not getting mixed up in the argument right now.

But we do know — as does every informed reader—that:

(1) Oil exploration in this country (including this very North Permian basin area) is languishing because the administration will not approve an increase in the price of crude to offset inflated production costs; and

(2) While there is a world of oil underground in the U. S. (including a veritable sea of it in this section of West Texas) our national reserve of petroleum aboveground has sunk to a very dangerous level.

Unless the government OK's an increase in the price of crude, drilling will be held to a minimum —and above-ground stores of oil will continue to drop. That is a simple as ABC.

The Plainsman personally has no oil investments of any kind.

Frankly, he is not nearly so much interested in seeing oil men get more money for their oil (despite the fact that such a move would bring a lot of business into Lubbock and this area) as he is in seeing our dwindling oil reserves replenished as a safeguard to the nation and everyone in it.

In every category, the price of oil has gone up to the consumer; the cost of producing oil — including labor — has gone up, yet the producer's income from each barrel of oil remains the same as it was prior to the war and all its dislocations of materials and labor.

THE following comparison of figures is interesting. Prices quoted are those in force in the area around Ada, Okla., but similar disparagements would maintain if figures were collected from any other Oklahoma or Texas area where oil and the other products listed are produced.

Take a look at these comparisons, then you'll better understand the situation under current price schedules. The cash figures listed represent the price paid to the producer of the commodity.

1 Ton crude oil	$ 7.68
1 Ton wheat straw	12.00
1 Ton cement	15.00
1 Ton prairie hay	18.00
1 Ton alfalfa hay	24.00
1 Ton potatoes	40.00
1 Ton cottonseed	45.00
1 Ton wheat	50.00
1 Ton corn	60.00
1 Ton cotton	360.00
1 Ton pecans	400.00

Note that all the commodities listed are essential commodities and the oil men are not arguing that the producers of such commodities are being overpaid.

But, they say with logic, "it is economically unsound to explore for oil at the current price to the producer and we are NOT interested in drilling wildcats at $7.68 per ton — even providing that every wildcat produces oil!"

We shouldn't wonder what a lot of people think about if we didn't listen to them talk.

That Man on Avenue Q says about the only kind of luck a person has who trusts to luck is bad luck.

* * *

You have reason to feel complimented when someone imitates you. Remember, nobody ever counterfeits a penny!

TO BE real honest about it, we've always thought that much of the criticism of government communications as being difficult of interpretation was simply good, clean fun. Since we don't have to read much of that sort of stuff, we've always figured that anyone with average intelligence should be able to figure out federal regulations, advice, counsel, etc.

But we've come to the conclusion that criticism — or, at least, a great deal of it — is pretty well-founded. And here's why:

The other day our Willie Walcott, who for years has been the duskiest member of our household and who pretty much runs our home culinary department, received a communication from the Department of Internal Revenue. It instructed her to do something, but she wasn't quite sure just what.

In spite of the fact that Willie has been around us for quite a spell now, she still labors under the opinion that we Know About Things. So she turned her letter over to us for translation.

* * *

The communication was only of about three paragraphs —mimeographed.

It couldn't have contained over 250 words.

But as far as The Plainsman was concerned, the darn thing might as well have been written in Sanskrit. We couldn't make heads or tails of it and we read it backwards as well as forwards and upside down as well as in the normal manner.

Finally we gave it up.

"Willie," we said, "your Uncle Sam'l has quite a few people in an office of the Internal Revenue department here. Some of them by this time probably have learned this strange language concocted in Washington. You'd better go down and see if you can find a translator.".

Willie went down and she did find a pleasant young man, name of Nelson, who decoded the epistle. She asked him to call us, explain the matter — and he did, deftly and to great detail.

Finally, we asked Mr. Nelson:

"Just a minute, please. Does this simply mean that all Willie has to do is go on about her business?"

"Yes sir," said Mr. Nelson. "That's what it means."

OF course, we never went to Columbia university, or to the Harvard Law school and, thank heaven, we've never sat at the feet of the Great Frankfurter, or any of his little Hot Dogs, so we haven't been exposed to the weirder methods of bureaucracy as practiced by New Dealers.

But as a plain, old country boy, we can't see why the government doesn't write its communications so people can understand them. That might help the rank and file of us a little as we struggle along in an era which daily is proving that the more government a country has, the worse it is governed.

* * *

The Treasury department reports that more than $21,000,000,000 is now in circulation in the U. S.

Uh-huh. And in increasing velocity!

WE see in an aviation magazine where farmers will use airplanes after the war is won.

Most of those we know would be willing to settle right now for a couple of new tires for the old trailer!

Night For The Morrow

By ROBERT D. LUSK
(Copyright, 1944, NEA Service, Inc.)

PROLOUGE: A Colorado farmer, looking for some strayed calves on a September evening in 1919, comes upon a sick stranger who burdens him with an important written message. Seeking help, the farmer falls and knocks himself out. When he revives both stranger and message are gone. No one believes his tale.

THE STORY: Jan Mesrik, Czechoslovak, comes to America in search of personal freedom. He settles in Colorado. His daughter and son-in-law, George, together with his grandson, Little Jan, are visiting him.

GEORGE FLAIN AND OLD JAN
VI

THE hired man had gone to the barn. The rest of us were in the living room. All were seated except my father who seemed hesitant about where he would light. He walked around jerking on his ear lobe with his finger and thumb. Finally he settled himself in a rocker.

"I've been thinking of a plan," he began, "of how to make your daughter and grandson happy."

"What's the matter?" interrupted Old Jan with a look that indicated that he was on guard. "Aren't they happy now?"

This sort of threw my father for a minute, but he recovered.

"Why, of course, of course, they are happy in a way," he replied. "That is, they're not unhappy. But what I mean is really happy. How can you be really happy if you have to slave over dishes and laundry and all that? What I mean is really happy where you have a hired girl to do the work, where you have a nice home in a good neighborhood, where you can take vacation trips and all that."

"Well, George," Old Jan said, "you are not doing so bad. You have a good job. You visit around with people and sell them cars. And you always liked to visit. You have enough to get along on nicely. After all, you have only been really working at this thing for about four years. I recall you didn't do much for over a year after you got back from Camp Funston. I hope Anna isn't complaining."

"Oh, no, pa," my mother said quickly. "I ain't complaining, but don't you think George is right?"

"You know why I didn't work right after I got back from Funston," my father broke in. "I was looking around for something good."

"Well, all right," drawled Old Jan, "it was probably the thing to do. And I believe you found it."

"Found it? Found what, Found a sucker's job where I do all the work and someone else gets the profit. That's not for me. I want to be my own boss where you can use your brain and someone else uses his back. That's how to get ahead in this world."

"WELL, George," said Old Jan, "that will come in time, I hope, if you plan carefully."

"In time. In what time? When we're old and gray and worn out. What good will it be then? I'd rather have some of the pleasures of this world now while I can enjoy them. And, under the circumstances, I think it's no more than right that I should."

"Under what circumstances?" asked Old Jan in a voice pitched more calmly than George's.

"Well," said my father, pausing to change to a straight chair and pull it up so that he was facing Old Jan. He assumed a business-like tone. "I have a swell chance to buy a garage. It's got a good location and is doing a good business. I could start right off by making $4,000 a year. And that would be minimum. I could build it up fast. It's really an opportunity that comes once in a lifetime."

He waited for Old Jan to reply. Slowly the farmer began.

"There is nothing I would like better than to see you and Anna just as happy as possible, although I don't believe that pure pleasure is the prime purpose of life. But what do you want me to do about it? I do not know anything about the garage business."

"You don't need to," said George. "I know the garage business. All you need to do is lend me the money to buy it."

* * *

"HOW much do you need?"

"It will only cost $8,000. You lend me the $8,000 and I'll pay you back with whatever interest you want."

"But I don't have $8,000."

"Maybe not in cash, but you have this farm. You could easily borrow money on it."

There was a long pause. Grandfather was smoking a pipe and he took several draws on it, blowing the smoke out slowly, carefully, before he replied.

"No, George," he said finally, "for various reasons I cannot do it. In the first place the farm couldn't stand it. We have had some good years here, and have made money, but we're just as apt to get some bad ones. A farm like this needs a reserve. It needs some margin for play. It has given me a good living and has bought part of itself, but I am sure that it couldn't buy a garage. The farm better stay in the farming business and not go into the automobile business. I think that you and Anna should be a little more patient. There will be other opportunities. If you plan ahead carefully, you will be able to take advantage of them."

My father argued for more than an hour. His voice rose. He shouted. His arms waved. He nearly tore his left ear off his head. Yet Old Jan never yielded. He was sorry, as sorry as he could be, but no was final. That jaw was set.

When we left for town late that evening, George Flain was mad clear through.

THE HOUSE'S DECISION MAKES SENSE

The refusal of the House to agree to a measure which would require Senate confirmation of all federal employes making $4,500 per year or more would seem to be in line with the public interest.

This statement does not suggest criticism of the Senate for having passed the bill. Certainly the Senate has had sufficient provocation to enact a measure of that kind. Repeatedly, men high in the administration have employed officials to whom a majority of the members of Congress have been opposed. On numerous occasions, the administration leaders have ignored point-blank demands from Congress that some of these objectionable appointees be discharged. So the Senate proposed to take steps which would prevent repetitions of abuses of this kind.

But it would be unfortunate, to say the least, if the Senate, which already is burdened with tremendous responsibilities, should try to devote attention to a detail of this kind. We don't know how many jobs would be affected, but certainly they would number in the several thousands. The Senate could make no more than a pretense of making more than a superficial investigation of the qualifications of most of the names which would be submitted to it for ratification.

Of course, if abuses of power continue, there may be no choice except to enact legislation of the kind proposed. But it is to be hoped that it can be avoided. The time of the United States Senate would seem to be too valuable to be taken up by anything of that kind.

Walter Winchell

ON BROADWAY
(Copyright, 1944, For The Journal)

A Broadwayite in Italy—"Dear Walter: It's a far throw from pounding copy in a Broadway flack mill to Fifth Army public relations in Italy, but there I was and here I am. At Fort Bliss, Texas, I was instructed in the finer points of a 50 calibre machine gun, finally embarking for the Big Adventure and going directly into the Sicilian invasion with an ack-ack unit attached to the 45th Infantry Division. During the run of the show we weaved our share of that old flak magic but after Salerno I heard the call and joined forces with the public relations section at Fifth Army headquarters. That was undoubtedly the best thing that ever happened to me because it plopped me down in a ringside seat at the greatest show on earth.

"I'm writing this to you from our quarters just outside of Anzio, for this is one public relations setup that doesn't draw up the rear. Most of the writers came in with the assault troops on D Day, newspapermen being what they are. Thus far we've been shelled out of two office sites, but at the moment we're all pretty determined to stick where we are. The scriveners with us are some of the gamest and squarest guys I've ever met, all top men in their field and as earthy and regular as your best pal. There's a lot of them here, representing every big press association back home, not to mention some of its top gazettes.

"We're in a three-story villa overlooking the harbor, where the navy is still unloading men and equipment. For the first time in many months, sunny Italy has stopped looking like Florida's conception of California. The sun is strong and beautiful, even if you can't see the Messerschmitts camouflaging themselves in its glare. The air raids have been coming fast and furious, and the flak from our own naval guns droppeth not as the gentle rain from heaven; more often, as it droppeth, it is as a skeleton having a conniption fit on a tin roof. Even the quality of mercy is conspicuously absentee, for it scareth the hell out of a man.

WINCHELL

"However, if the truth be told, the air raids during the day are not so bad. For then most of the press cards are up at the front gathering the stuff dispatches are made of, and there's little confusion in our halls. But at night, look out. When that first bomb drops, the patter of feet may be heard rather distinctly carrying their respective owners in the direction of the air raid shelter in the basement.

"OUR acting first sergeant and maitre d'hotel is one Technical Sergeant Robert C. Geake, who has been cracking SEP of late with some very whimsical pieces. It is this same Geake, who once played a gravedigger to Orson Welles' Julius Caesar, who has contrived to find sleeping space and cots for his guests and transients amid this bedlam, and who is thus the gravedigger to whom we are all indebted for the reasonable facsimile of orderliness that prevails.

"Ernie Pyle was with us for about six weeks, and a simpler and more unpretentious celebrity I have never known. In fact, if you didn't happen to know that he was a newspaper personage he'd strike you, if at all, as being an obscure private with an inferiority complex. He says very little, and is scrupulous about minding his own business. He's courteous to a fault, and shy. Perhaps that's why it came as a jolt to most of us when he walked up to Doris Fleeson during our Christmas night supper and kissed her square on the mouth. He may have been feeling emotionally high, which would account for it, but whatever it was it certainly started something. Six other correspondents gleefully lined up and followed suit. For the record, let it be cited that Doris was the only lady present at our shindig that night, she was very flushed, and very beautiful.

"I had the unique thrill of carrying the first stories and pictures on this invasion back to Naples, where it was censored and radioed to the States. I felt a thousand editors all over the country prodding me with invisible fingers to make better time, for they had front pages that were waiting for the dispatches and photos I carried in my red courier bag. I left the beachhead a day after the invasion and traveled by LST for 15 hours, reaching Naples just before midnight, but I returned the same route the next day. On the way back we had four air raid alarms and that night missed hitting another LST by inches. When a sailor asked me if I wanted some chow, I assured him that I wanted only to be dead.

* * *

"AND so it goes, Walter. Broadway wouldn't care very much, but give it my regards just the same. I'm one of its little people, and whether it cares or not I call it Home. And please don't let it change too much while I'm gone.—Mel Diamond, In Italy."

Anzio-Nettuno Section Strewn With Wreckage Of War

Battles Fought In Area Where Nero Fiddled

By ERNIE PYLE
Journal War Correspondent

WITH The Allied Beachhead Forces In Italy, March 29.—(By Wireless)—Anzio and Nettuno run together along the coast of our beachhead, forming practically one city. There is really only one main street, which runs along the low blocks just back of the first row of water front buildings.

The two cities stretch for about three miles, but extend only a few blocks back from the waterfront. A low hill covered thick with tall cedar trees rises just back of them, and along some of the streets there are palm trees.

ERNIE PYLE

I had supposed these two places were just ancient little fishing villages. Well, they are old, but not in their present form.

Anzio is where Nero is supposed to have fiddled while Rome burned, but in more recent years he would doubtless have been sprawling in a deck chair in the patio of his seaside villa, drinking cognac.

For these two towns are now (or rather, were until recently) high-class seaside resorts. They've been built up in the modern manner within the last 20 years. They are much bigger and much more modern than I had supposed.

Civilian Life Gone

When you look at them from a certain place, they extend 200 yards from the water's edge, forming a solid flank of fine stone buildings four and five stories high. Most of these are apartment houses, business buildings, and rich people's villas.

Today there is no civilian life in Anzio-Nettuno. The Germans had evacuated everybody before we came, and we found the place deserted. A few Italians have straggled back in, but they are few indeed.

IN the path of warfare over here, business as usual" seems to have been the motto of the natives. Adult civilians have stayed in some places despite the fall of heaven and earth upon them. They'd stay and deal with the Germans while we were blasting their towns to bits, and those who survived would stay and deal with us when the town changed hands and the Germans began showering the same death and destruction back upon us. The ties of a man's home are sinewy and strong, and something that even war can hardly break.

But in Anzio and Nettuno the expensive villas are deserted — the swanky furniture wrapped in burlap and stored all in one room or two. The little hovels are empty also, and so are the stores. Scarcely a door or a window with whole shutters remains. There is no such thing as a store or shop in business today in these two towns.

Shelling Is Spasmodic

When our troops first came they found things intact and undamaged, but the Germans changed that. Little by little, day by day, these cities have become eroded and torn from the shells and bombs of the enemy.

It has happened slowly. The Germans shell spasmodically. Hours will go by without a single shell coming in, and then all of a sudden a couple of shells will smack the water just offshore.

A few buildings will go down, or the corners fly off some of them. One day's damage is almost negligible. But it is cumulative, and after a couple of weeks you realize that less of the city is left whole than two weeks previously.

TODAY you can't walk half a block without finding a building half crumpled to the ground. Between breakfast and lunch the building next to the mess where we eat was demolished. One man was killed, and our cook got a broken arm.

The sidewalks have shell holes in them. Engineers repair new holes in the streets. Military police who direct auto traffic occasionally are killed at their posts.

Broken steel girders lie across the sidewalks. Marble statues fall in littered patios. Trees are uprooted, and the splattered mud upon them dries and turns to gray. Wreckage is washed up on shore. Everywhere there is rubble and mud and broken wire.

Weather Worse Than Shells

Yet this German shelling and bombing has had only the tiniest percentage of effect on our movement of supplies and troops into the beachhead. One day of bad weather actually harms us more than a month of German shelling.

It is a thrilling thing to see an LST pull anchor when its turn comes, and drive right into the harbor despite shells all around. And it is thrilling, too, to see the incessant hurry-hurry-hurry of the supply trucks through the streets all day and all night despite anything and everything.

From all indications we are supplying our troops even better by sea than the Germans are supplying theirs by land.

OFF TO A FLYING START
On the Road to High Production with
STANTON'S MANAMAR CHICK STARTER
Most poultry authorities agree that profitable poultry raising depends largely on three important factors . . . good chicks, good management and good feed. Our job is to produce good feed that will combine with your good chicks and good management to get your flocks off to a flying start on the road to high production and profit. We have just such a feed in Stanton's ManAmar Chick Starter. A blend of locally-grown grains, ManAmar and B-G plus, it is rich in the vitamins, minerals and proteins which promote vigorous growth in baby chicks.

B-G PLUS
—is a patented vacuum concentrated extract from fish. This new and potent product, resulting from ten years of ceaseless research and experiment, supplies extra trace minerals and vitamins in Stanton's ManAmar Chick starter.

MANAMAR
—in Stanton's ManAmar Chick starter supplies the hard-to-get feeding essentials—fish proteins, food minerals and vitamins, including the important Vitamin B "complex."

ManAmar and B-G plus have been developed and are produced in the laboratories of Phillip R. Park, famed livestock nutrition authority. These laboratories have approved the formula for Stanton's ManAmar Chick Starter. Let the records of users tell the rest of the story. Get all the facts today.

COTTON SEED
D. & P. L. No. 14
TEXAS STATE CERTIFIED
This is the new, early, high yielding strain now grown exclusively by Delta-pine originators of D. and P. L. Made inch-staple and high gin turnouts on the Plains. Kemgas delinted, Ceresaned seed, germination 96% $12 per 100 lbs.

CHAMPION SNAPPER 140
Grown by R. E. Karper from breeding block seed furnished by Chillicothe Experiment Station where the 140 strain originated. This is an early maturing, lightweight bur cotton bred by Texas Experiment Stations for the South Plains where cotton is snapped. Its light burs enable gins to make better grades from snaps and give higher turnouts. Made ⅞ to 31-32 staple. KEMGAS DELINTED, CERESANED SEED, $10.50 per 100 lbs.

OLD TIME HALF & HALF
Grown in Wilbanger county by Arnold Seed Farms. This is the old-time high linting, early, short staple cotton. In Lubbock county in 1942 1500 lbs. of snap made 500-pound bale. Planted in May it made lots of cotton of 13-16 and ⅞ inch staple. Planted the middle of June it was gathered before other cotton planted at same time. We sold several cars on the Plains and have found only satisfied customers. KEMGAS DELINTED, CERESANED SEED, $11 per 100 lbs.

Send your order with deposit of $2 per 100 lbs. and we will hold seed for May delivery. Other varieties of Kemgas delinted. Ceresaned seed can be supplied by Kemgas delinting plants in Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico. For further information address—

Simplification Not To Take All Of Sting Out Of Income Taxes

By MARLOW AND ZIELKE
Associated Press Staff Writers

WASHINGTON, March 30. — Congress will take great strides toward simplifying the federal income tax if, as expected, it passes the "streamliner" proposal now being cooked up.

It's designed to eliminate most of the complications for 40,000,000 of the nation's 50,000,000 income tax-payers.

However, before the enthusiasm gets too high, let's note some of the things the proposed law will NOT do:

1. It won't reduce your taxes unless you have more than two children or other dependents. Some persons, particularly childless couples, will be nicked for more money.

Must Pay "Unforgiven" Hangover

2. It won't excuse you from paying next March, if you haven't done so already, the second half of the "unforgiven" hangover of 1942-43 tax.

3. It won't excuse you from filing an annual tax report—but in the average case this will be simply the slip you get from your boss showing how much he's paid you and how much was taken out for tax. For others, the forms will be a lot simpler than in the past.

4. It won't eliminate the requirement of declarations of estimated 1944 tax by April 15 from 15,000,000 taxpayers who aren't on regular wages or salaries, or who earn more than $2700 if single or $3500 for a married couple, or who have more than $100 of outside income in addition to wages or salaries. But fewer persons would have to file declarations next year.

Would Mean Two Taxes

The proposed law would replace the present setup with two taxes:

1. A "normal" tax of 3 per cent of each person's income over $500 (regardless of marital status).

2. A "surtax" starting at a rate of 20 per cent on the first $2,000 of taxable income after exemptions of $500 for each person dependent on this income (husband, wife, children, other dependents).

On each tax, a person automatically would get deductions amounting to 10 per cent of income up to $5,000; automatic deductions would be $500 on incomes of $5,000 up. If he had more legal deductions, he could get them by writing them on his return.

The Internal Revenue bureau would figure the tax for anyone with wages or salaries up to $5,000, provided he had less than $100 of additional income—and send a bill or a refund if due.

Would Withhold Whole Amount

Starting next year, the whole amount of tax would be withheld on wages and salaries up to $5,000.

For those who aren't on wages or salaries but whose income is less than $5,000, the tax return would require no complicated mathematics—the taxpayer would write down his income, "count noses" on members of his family, and find his tax in a set of tabulations arranged under number of persons dependent on this income.

In effect, everybody would be worth $500 exemption on the surtax—his own or somebody else's. This would be broad enough to include children in college who presently aren't classed as dependents because they're over 18.

Some Taxes Increased

Although the streamliner is intended to keep tax burdens generally at present levels, let's take a case in which the tax would be increased:

Johnny Jones, draft-deferred, is married, with no children. He earns $60 a week. For 1943 his federal income and victory taxes totaled about $380.

If the streamliner goes through, he'll owe $430.84 for this year.

The increase would come primarily from lowering of his exemptions. Now he gets $1200 exemption on regular income tax as a married man, $624 exemption on the victory tax. These would be cut to $100 on the proposed surtax, $500 on the proposed normal (replacing the victory) tax.

The exemption cut would be offset in part by the automatic 10 per cent deduction, which in an average case would more than make up for the abolished 10 per cent earned income credit, because: the taxpayer would get 10 per cent across the board instead of the former 10 per cent off the normal 6 per cent (and no other tax).

Churchill's Demand Surprises Commons

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

British Prime Minister Churchill's surprise move in challenging his house of Commons to give him a blanket vote of confidence for his war and post-war policies, after he had been defeated on a purely domestic issue, is typical of this square-jawed individualist—whole hog or nothing!

The premier apparently caught his opponents off guard, for certainly many of who voted against the government (on an educational measure giving women teachers the same pay as men) weren't registering lack of confidence in his general policies. Indeed they made it clean that they wished to dissociate the domestic matter from the broader issues, but he hunched his expansive shoulders and called for a show-down.

Adverse Criticism Growing

Churchill's reason for this move undoubtedly was that there has been a growing volume of adverse criticism leveled at his government. Part of the criticism has concerned domestic affairs. However, it appears to have been due largely to lack of public information regarding international policies.

You will see what I mean if you will stop and check on the amount of concrete, official information you yourself have regarding the political decisions, or lack of decisions, at any of the big Allied conferences. It's mighty meagre. The Allied publics are asking just what the relations are among the Big Three—Britain, America and Russia—and how those relations are affecting the military and political trend.

The nearer we get to the end of the European war, the greater the problems become. And what more natural than that, since upon their solution depend the political complexion of the world and the maintenance of peace?

Russia's Aims Unknown

Many of the anxieties are inspired by lack of knowledge regarding Russia's post-war aims. The main thing we know is that she will be the dominant power of the whole eastern hemisphere — both continental Europe and Asia. What we don't know is how she will use her vast new influence.

Not to sidestep any issues, apparently relations between Uncle Sam and John Bull also are a matter of concern to our overseas friends.

Do you know why bombing is more terrifying than artillery fire? Well, it's because the bombs come at you willy-nilly, without any fixed source, while you know exactly the direction from which the gun-fire comes. The shells are dangerous, but you can at least face your menace squarely.

That's the way it is with unexplained politics.

Congressman Quits To Go Into Army

WASHINGTON, March 30. (AP)—Rep. Domengeaux (D-La) quit his House seat today to go into the Army as a private, with a parting denunciation of bureaucracy and what he termed administration domination of the government.

The 37-year-old bachelor also criticized "self-seeking demagogues" who he said were raising threats of trouble among negroes in the South.

The resignation is not effective until April 15, but Domengeaux said he had completed his legislative chores and would leave for Lafayette, La., Friday to report for induction in about two weeks.

His resignation cuts the Democratic force in the House back to 216, the number before that party won Tuesday's special election in Oklahoma, with 210 Republicans and four minor party members.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

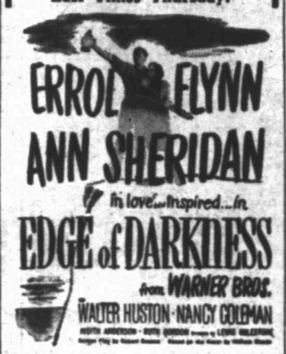

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.
