U. S. Seeks To Ban Shipments To Soviet Bloc

Entire World Will Be Covered Under Announced Rules

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—The government slapped rigid controls on shipment of strategic goods to practically the whole world today to prevent re-shipments to the Soviet bloc.

Communist China and Latin America particularly were covered by the new rules.

Officials told a reporter the step was taken more with the idea of averting future re-shipment difficulties than because of any great current traffic in re-shipments to Russian-dominated areas. Hitherto the Commerce department has applied these rigid controls only to Europe and adjacent areas, mostly along the southern rim of the Mediterranean.

All Parts Of World

The new action extends the control powers to exports to any place in the world except Canada, which has always been in a relatively control-free class of its own, even in war time.

By strategic goods, the department means for the most part industrial items that might contribute to "war potential" of the Soviet.

Export of military materials is rigidly controlled too but licenses for these are handled by the State department.

The Commerce department handles export licenses for goods covered by today's new rules.

This gives it a chance to "screen" proposed shipments. Thus it can deny shipment privileges where it suspects goods, apparently destined for some non-Russian area, are in fact to be reshipped to Soviet-dominated regions.

List Is Streamlined

Direct shipments of strategic items to the Soviet union have been under virtual ban since March, 1948.

In announcing the control extension, the department also streamlined its list of commodities covered by the controls. The aim is to end licensing for goods now considered non-strategic and also "in plentiful domestic supply."

It put approximately 100 classes of commodities under the worldwide license controls while simultaneously dropping 50 other classes of goods from the license

Lubbock Man Shot, Stabbed

ODESSA, Nov. 4. (Special)—James Jefferson Bennett, 34, was stabbed and shot Thursday night outside a cafe here, under mysterious circumstances that had not been completely explained today.

The Odessa American said assault with intent to murder warrants had been issued, naming three men who had not been reported arrested early this afternoon. The men, believed accompanied by another man and two women, may have left in an automobile, the newspaper said.

Charged In Lubbock

(Bennett was charged in Lubbock July 11 with swindling by $200 worthless check given to Carroll Pendley for automobile repairs, but a grand jury did not indict him, records at Lubbock county jail showed. Subsequently, on July 15, he was jailed in Lubbock county again, under a vagrancy charge. He posted bond and has not been tried on the charge.)

Bennett, giving Lubbock as his home when rushed to a hospital for treatment, told officials he was at the cafe when three men asked him to go outside. One poked a gun against his side, and

U. S. Moves On Coal Strike

Ching To Talk With Lewis In Capital Today

Miners' Chief Bids For Settlement In Illinois And Indiana

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—Cyrus S. Ching today arranged a meeting with John L. Lewis—the first step in government efforts to end the coal strike.

Word of plans for a meeting this afternoon was learned by reliable sources shortly after Lewis made a new bid to effect a settlement with a part of the soft coal industry. Lewis offered to negotiate in Chicago tomorrow for an agreement covering mines in the two states of Illinois and Indiana.

Bid Turned Down

Ching, the federal mediation chief, arranged to visit Lewis at the mine workers' headquarters here at an unspecified hour in the afternoon.

This afternoon's conference, authoritative sources indicated, may pave the way for a joint meeting between Lewis and soft coal operators next week in Washington.

The leader of the striking miners had made unsuccessful bids earlier this week for negotiations looking toward a settlement with Indiana operators alone.

Proposal Expanded

In effect, he expanded that to a two-state proposal with a telegram today to Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois. His proposal was for negotiations starting tomorrow afternoon in Chicago.

Lewis said that if Indiana coal operators can not be brought into the session, that a wage agreement perhaps could be negotiated for Illinois' 40,000 miners alone.

His wire was in response to an appeal by Governor Stevenson on Tuesday, addressed to both Lewis and coal operators, for a resumption of mining to relieve widening distress in Illinois.

There have been increasing signs that Lewis would like to achieve a settlement with some one segment of mine operators and use it as a lever for prying an agreement to his liking from the whole in-

"He Wanted To Make Love Every Night," She Complains

Wife's Murder Plot Failure

(By The United Press)

PORT ORCHARD, Wash., Nov. 4.—A mystified husband whose pert young wife admitted hiring two men to murder him because "he wanted to make love every night" today sought desperately to raise $7,500 bail to get her back home.

But tiny, blue-eyed Mrs. Margaret Susan Piatt, 31, was of a different frame of mind than her husband Wilford, 34.

"I feel swell here. I just spent the most restful night I've had in 15 years," she said from her Kitsap county jail cell.

The mother of two children was charged with attempted murder after confessing her plot to Kitsap county prosecuting attorney James Munro. In a signed statement she said her accomplices "welched" on her after she gave them more than $1,500.

The "killers," Hollis D. Scott, 23, and Wallace Mottern, 22, both of Bremerton, Wash., were charged with grand larceny by embezzlement. Scott, a former private detective, and Mottern, a navy veteran, were held under $3,500 bond each. Both insisted they had no intentions of carrying out the murder plot.

Mrs. Piatt, dressed in a snug, grey slack suit, said resignedly, "I guess it wasn't such a very good idea—it didn't work—but I decided it was the only way to get rid of him."

She said their wedded life was blissful until a few years ago when their happiness began to wear. She said he refused to grant her a divorce.

"Every night since we were

Ford Brightens Labor And Auto Outlook As GM Reduces Work, Chrysler Closes Plants

(By The Associated Press)

DETROIT, Nov. 4—The Ford Motor Co. threw a note of cheer into the auto industry's steel-darkened picture today, announcing it would be able to continue nearly full production in all divisions but Lincoln throughout this month.

Earlier the company had planned to shut down its huge Rouge plant between Nov. 11 and 15. That might have meant quick paralysis of the vast Ford system.

Emergency operation of Ford's own steel mill at the Rouge factory and "encouraging news in the press" on the steel situation made the new plan possible, a statement from executive Vice President E. R. Breech said.

Chrysler Closes

Breech reported the company would continue production of Fords and Mercurys at slightly reduced schedules all this month. Lincoln output will be halted Nov. 11, he said, but should be resumed in December.

Because of the move, about 100,000 Ford workers who had expected to be laid off within two weeks will be getting their paychecks for the rest of the month, at least.

"It is certainly our hope to continue operations without a complete shutdown," Breech declared. "We will do everything possible, even if it involves greatly increased costs, to keep the plants running."

The Ford announcement came as Chrysler Corp. closed its Dodge, De Soto and Chrysler divisions because of a lack of steel, idling about 35,000 of its 91,000 Detroit area employes.

Chrysler has said it hopes to continue manufacture of Plymouths and Dodge trucks "as close to Thanksgiving as possible."

General Motors Corp. has announced no shutdown plans, but

Negro Is Killed As Plane Crash-Lands

SHREVEPORT, La., Nov. 4 (AP)—An air force C-82 "flying boxcar" crash-landed about six miles from Barksdale field today, killing a negro cotton picker and injuring another picker and a crew member.

The plane with nine aboard, developed engine trouble seconds after taking off from Barksdale for Cheyenne, Wyo. Eight of the plane occupants escaped with minor cuts and bruises.

The pilot crash-landed in a muddy cotton field where about 100 pickers were working. The picker was killed outright and a negro girl worker was injured critically.

Vets' Dividend System Is Set

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4 (AP)—The order of payment of the $2,800,000 special insurance dividend to World War II veterans will be based generally on the last three digits of a veteran's service serial number.

The Veterans administration explained today for the first time the system under which checks will be mailed to veterans holding national life insurance policies. Payments are to begin in January.

Last Numbers Used

Under the procedure, VA said, a veteran whose serial number ends in 000—35,496,000 for example—will be included in the first mailing of checks.

On the other hand, a veteran with a serial number such as 100,990 will be among the last to receive his check.

The VA said this method of payment was decided upon after careful consideration, and described it as the most non-discrimina-

FAIR DEAL PROGRAM STRESSED

J. D. WILLSON

(By The Associated Press)

ABOARD TRAIN ENROUTE TO WASHINGTON, Nov. 4—President Truman's determination to stump the country again next year to elect "fair dealers" to Congress was strengthened today by his reception in Minnesota.

White House aides said he was elated by his welcome yesterday at Minneapolis and St. Paul where police estimated 400,000 persons lined the sidewalks to cheer him along a 20-mile parade route.

An applauding crowd the police estimated at 12,000 whooped it up again last night in St. Paul's civic auditorium when he gave a foretaste of the 1950 campaign with a slashing attack on "the propaganda of the reactionaries."

"Fair Deal" Pushed

The President is convinced that he can help elect liberals to Congress by conducting the sort of campaign he made in 1948 through back platform appearances in key states, one close advisers told reporters.

Mr. Truman stressed two predictions in his talk last night that the 81st Congress will enact a "good deal more" of his "fair deal" before quitting its next session and that there will be a heavier vote in 1950 elections for those with his views.

He called his civil rights, federal aid to education, national health insurance and other "general welfare" proposals the path to future growth.

Truman Not Worried

He said the people were behind him.

"I am not too much worried by those who oppose those policies," Mr. Truman declared. "Between the reactionaries of the extreme left with their talk about revolution and class warfare and the reactionaries of the extreme right with their hysterical cries of bank-

Willson had been city manager here also two years.

To Take State Job

A veteran of World War II, he succeeded the late G. M. Roberts as city manager. He said he would accept a position with the maintenance division of the Texas Highway department, a post similar to the one he held before entering the service.

Church Offers To Sell Building For Use As A Library

By H. I. KIEFER
Journal Staff Writer

The city commission today approved a $1,075,000 bond election for expansions of the sewage and highway dispersal systems and started investigations of the purchase of the Broadway Church of Christ, Broadway and Avenue N, for conversion into a public library.

A definite date for the bond election was not set, but tentatively was scheduled for about Dec. 15.

The date will be set in an ordinance formally calling the election which City Attorney Vaughn Wilson was directed to prepare for submission to the commission at a meeting probably to be held next week.

Are Emergency Needs

The issue will propose $550,000 for expansion of the sewage disposal plant and system and $525,000 to buy rights of way for further extensions of the highway dispersal system.

City Manager Steve Matthews termed both of these emergency needs. Community health will be endangered unless the sewage disposal plant is enlarged, he said. Further extensions of the highway dispersal system must remain at a standstill until money is available to buy rights of way, he added.

The bond issue to be submitted is far smaller than figures mentioned when such an election was discussed at a special meeting of the city commission Tuesday.

Estimated $6 Million

The city manager estimated at that time that about $6,000,000 will be needed during the next four years for expansions of the city's water, sewage, fire-fighting, storm sewer, highway dispersal and paving facilities if a broad program of city limits extensions now pending before the commission is approved.

He estimated the provision of these needs will cost about $3,000,000 if the city limits remain as they are now.

Public hearings are scheduled Nov. 29 on proposed city limits extensions which, if approved, will add about 11 square miles to the corporate territory.

To Await Action

Members of the commission agreed unanimously to wait and see what is done about the proposed extensions before calling an election on bonds which, for the most part, would be used to provide improvements in the annex-

Fort Worth Capitalist Who Offered To Endow School Is Flooded With "Touching" Letters

(By The United Press)

FORT WORTH, Nov. 4.—"Dear sir:

"Would you be so kind as to let me have five-million.

"Yours very truly. . ."

Such have been the tenor of more than 700 letters received by Judge George Armstrong, Fort Worth and Natchez, Miss., capitalist who captured the nation's attention a few days ago with his conditional endowment offer to Jefferson Military academy.

The 84-year-old Armstrong, whose personal fortune has been estimated by oil men "conservatively" at $50,0000,000, has been receiving mail by the pound ever since.

His endowment offer, first accepted by the school and later rejected, was contingent upon the college barring ang person of "African or Asiatic" descent.

All of the mail he has since received—from all parts of the country—has been of a "touching" nature, the sharp-eyed judge said.

One was in German from a doctor in Forest Hills, N. Y. Armstrong was unable to read it, so he scrawled across its face: "Translate."

All the others were in English—and straight to the point.

A widow wrote for herself and two grown sons: "Please send us $1,000,000. This would enable my sons to go into business for themselves and have their own homes. We would be the three happiest people in the world."

"Please send me $100,000 to buy a bowling alley. I know the business well,"

Prices Soar As Buyers Start Hoarding

Rumors Of A Coffee Shortage Over Country Branded False

(By The United Press)

NEW YORK, Nov. 4 — Nationwide coffee hoarding resulting from false rumors of a shortage has sent prices up as much as 20 cents a pound and may induce an actual scarcity of coffee, a United Press survey indicated today.

Dealers in a number of cities predicted that nationally advertised brands will reach 76 to 79 cents a pound next week if "senseless" hoarding continues. All said hoarders will be sorry because their "emergency" supplies will turn rancid in a short time, even in sealed cans.

The hoarders began stocking up last week when sharp coffee price increases were announced as the result of South American crop failures. Grocers reported sales increased as much as 500 per cent in the last 10 days.

Coffee companies vainly pointed out that a bad crop does not mean an immediate shortage. They said reports that coffee would reach $1 a pound were "deplorable."

"There is no shortage now," said T. Carroll Wilson, vice-

Mary Haworth's Mail

Completely In Love With Improvident Man, Woman Unstrung By Family's Criticism

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I am in my late thirties, still attractive and I hold a very good position. I have been engaged for over a year. My fiance is a fine looking man, who have the same background, enjoy the same things and understand each other perfectly.

However, before we met, Evan had led a stormy life, having affairs with women and spending money as fast as he made it; but meeting me seems to have changed him completely. He now spends all his evenings with me, visiting mutual friends, going to movies or concerts.

Evan started on a new job a couple of years ago and is doing well, but unfortunately hasn't managed to save anything, as he is paying for a car that his work requires, etc. I am willing to keep my job and help him, but I want him to have at least enough saved for the wedding expenses—i.e., suits, down payment on furniture, honeymoon trip, etc. Do you think I am being "foolishly romantic," as my family puts it, accepting marriage under these conditions?

CONFLICT ALLOWS NO PEACE OF MIND

THERE is another man who also proposed to me a year ago and whom my family would like me to consider. If I weren't so much in love with my fiance I suppose I would accept him, as he is kind, hard working and well established; but I am not attracted to him physically. Do you think that at my age, to quote my family, I should look for security rather than love?

I get terribly discouraged and depressed at times and then I feel like breaking the engagement and marrying the other man. But other times I am so perfectly happy with Evan that I don't seem to want anything but to be with him. The problem is upsetting my peace of mind so badly that I have decided to come to you for help. Do you see anything wrong with me? Please advise.

(Signed) E. L.

CASE OF PERSON AFRAID TO MOVE

DEAR E. L.: Two marriage proposals in a year indicate above average attractiveness in a woman your age, if both were proffered by passable men; thus it is something of a minor mystery why you weren't married long ago. But perhaps your tremendous unconscious dependency upon your family's guidance and approval for "security" is the answer.

It occurs to me that you feel stymied to the point of distraction in veering towards marriage to Evan, chiefly because your feelings for him are opposed by your family's feelings against. And the older you grow, the less courage you have to put your judgment, versus theirs to decisive test. I think that's what you signify when you ask, "Should I look for security rather than love?" Fundamentally, you are afraid to move. That's what the psychological impasse amounts to.

When a person bogs down in this type of indecision, it isn't over the specific situation or choice confronting him, actually. Rather it means that his capacity to think and act for himself hasn't been normally developed by proper exercise; and that the corrosive effects on personality of this 'dysfunction" are beginning to break out, all of a sudden, seemingly.

LEARN TO STEER YOUR OWN CANOE

THUS creative help for you in this predicament can't be rendered in the terms you ask, namely, in terms of repeating your family's habitual mistake, of telling you emphatically what presumably is "best" for you. What you need to learn, somehow, is to steer your own canoe out into the river of life, ready to risk without craven retreat whatever hazards or trials may emerge as the journey unfolds.

As between settling for stagnant security with a tedious provider, or having bright companionship on a day-to-day basis of sustenance, I personally would take the latter if a choice must be made; but that is a matter of taste, or maybe of philosophy. I wouldn't urge it on any who might feel "lost" without visible "worldly" protection.

You write from a fairly enlightened social climate, where goood psychological counsel should be available; and my advice is to get that type of navigator help in piloting your own way to a decision that will work for, or satisfy, you.

If you have an ice cream scoop you've been using all summer don't put it away now that colder weather is here. It's an excellent tool to keep around the kitchen with which to serve mashed potatoes, tuna fish or salmon salad, or cottage cheese.

If you want to vary the flavor of green beans add a little chili sauce—about four tablespoons—to about four tablespoons of melted butter or margarine and use this as a dressing for the beans. Season well with salt and freshly ground pepper.

Three districts, the 3rd, 11th and 17th, offered unopposed candidates.

In the 11th district, Leslie Huff, 40, of Waco, was the only candidate. E. J. Woodward, 59, of Sweetwater, was unopposed in district 17. Thomas B. Ramey, 57, of Tyler, is running from district 3.

The new elective board, succeeding the nine-member appointive state board of education, was created under the Gilmer-Aikin education program.

Dr. O'Loughlin also said that parents should not try to shield children from the realities of life.

A quintet composed of Gene Zachary, Jimmy Crawford, Bob Parr, Jerry Collins and Bobby Gene Stewart sang "Sidewalks of New York," "Let Me Call You Sweetheart," "Tell Me Why" and "Holy Spirit Light Divine." The accompanist was Joan Dean. Gene Zachary sang a solo, 'Ol' Man River."

Hospital Says Wreck Victim Is Improving

SLATON, Nov. 4 (Special) — Reported to be in "good" condition today in Mercy hospital here was Fannie Bell Gordon, 43, Negro resident of Post, whose left arm was ripped off above the elbow in a car-truck collision on the Slaton-Post highway at 8:30 p. m. Thursday.

Texas Highway patrolmen said the Negro woman was driving a 1940 Ford coach, which collided with a 1948 Chevrolet semi-trailer driven by Erick Winston Ward, 25, of Aspermont. Ward was not injured.

Attendants at Williams Funeral home of Slaton, who carried the woman to the hospital, credited Bill Carter of Post, a passing motorist, with saving her life by applying a tourniquet to the stump of her arm.

The Gordon woman, one of the first of her race to live in Post, owns a cafe there. Each Christmas she personally makes certain that the Negro and Latin American children of Post are not forgotten by providing food, clothing and gifts, friends said.

EXECUTIVE BOARD CHOICES BIG TEST

CIO Ponders Membership Loss In Ousting Left-Wing Unions

CLEVELAND, Nov. 4. (AP)—Selection of an executive board provided the big test today of the new right-wing controls over the CIO.

In sharp contrast to the predictions of a week ago, there were few delegates to the CIO 11th convention who would say that all leftist-controlled unions would be purged by the time delegates adjourned tonight.

Some of the reasons for the shift in opinion were rooted in the sudden realization that left-wing unions like Harry Bridges' longshoremen on the west coast and Ben Gold's fur and leather workers would be hard to cast out—or even to riddle in membership raids.

At least four unions were certain to get the heave-ho if the executive board could be satisfied that the membership loss was worth risking before the convention adjourned.

The unions were the mine, mill and smelter workers, united public workers, office and professional workers, and food, tobacco and agricultural workers.

A widespread merger of weak unions with strong ones was almost assured—whether they remained in the CIO or banded together in a third labor federation devoted to left-wing objectives.

Challenges from the convention floor were anticipated in case the fur workers nominated Gold, or if the longshoremen named Bridges, as their selection to the 51-member executive board.

Gold has made no bones about his membership in the communist party. The convention amended the CIO constitution to bar all communists from sitting on the board—and also to authorize the board to toss out unions whose leaders believed in communism or followed the party line.

Bridges was accused frequently during the convention, coming to a close today, that he had followed Soviet policy.

The west coast leader denied that. He said he was not under Moscow instructions when he advocated helping China and trading with Russia. He said businessmen didn't look on both sides of a dollar to find a Soviet hammer and sickle insignia.

Joseph Curran, president of the national maritime union, advised Bridges to "keep his --- ---- nose out of our union" when the San Francisco labor chief mentioned that the longshoremen were the only ones observing a picket line thrown by the Marine Engineers Beneficial association.

Bridges described that union as "right wing."

Curran said Bridges didn't have "the guts to support" a resolution barring CIO participation in the World Federation of Trade unions.

He said Bridges' arguments that longshoremen needed help from dock workers in other countries during strikes meant nothing because all the free unions in that line were members of a new federation.

Long Fight Seen

Curran said Bridges would get little support behind the "iron curtain" if the Kremlin objected.

The new world labor congress will be formed in London next month. Bridges argued his group should be in both. But the CIO pulled out of the WFTU last spring, charging communist-domination, and helped to create a new world movement in cooperation with the AFL and other U. S. trade unions.

The left-right warfare which started at this convention will extend for months to come, because organization director Allan S. Haywood and the top officers of CIO were pledged to wipe out the left-wing opposition.

While the convention votes seemed easy to get, judging from the right-wing's 10 to 1 majority, it was by no means assured that the executive board would remove the unions involved in the battle over left-wingers.

The united electrical workers, fired from the CIO by convention action and replaced with a newly-chartered group, challenged the CIO's right to grab off the name and jurisdictional field.

The largest of the left-wing unions, began a court suit in Philadelphia to halt the transfer.

On the other hand, James B. Carey, secretary-treasurer of the CIO and former president of UE, began an appeal to 1,200 employers to do business with the right-wing organization he is trying to build up in place of the ousted UE.

Carey told reporters that the relations with employers would be most important—in effect appealing to the plant owners to help rid the left-wingers from the unions.

Party For VFW, RAFB Personnel Scheduled

A "get-acquainted" party for all members of Veterans of Foreign Wars, personnel of Reese Air Force base and National guardsmen will begin at 8 o'clock tonight at the VFW post home, Thirty-fourth and Ave. N, William Earl Creel, VFW commander, announced today.

Free refreshments will be served during the evening, Creel said. He urged all VFW members as well as military personnel to be present.

An informal program has been planned for part of the evening, and Joe Meador will serve as master of ceremonies.

Reds Training False Priests To Sabotage Church, Vatican Says

BY MICHAEL CHINIGO
INS Staff Correspondent

VATICAN CITY, Nov. 4—The Cominform was reported today to have opened a drive to school "false priests" to sabotage religion.

Vatican sources said the Cominform has recruited 500 priests in several "subversive seminaries," including one near Lwow, Poland, for special training in theology, philosophy and Marxism.

These sources also said the Cominform has undertaken a vast program to teach rank and file Communists to defend the Moscow line.

New Pogram Opened

Prague reports said a huge new training program has been opened in Czechoslovakia to teach two-and-a-half million Communist party members and sympathizers the Kremlin-dictated tenets of Communism.

The move appeared to reflect Cominform concern over Marshall Tito's inroads on Communist influence.

The Vatican informants said the seminaries established by the Cominform were given the job of preparing "false priests who will be entrusted with the sabotage of religion."

They said those chosen for training "will try to sow confusion in the ranks of the Catholic clergy and religious orders, and preach the need for creation of national churches," on the Czech pattern.

Five Decrees Published

The official Czech Gazette published five decrees today bringing into operation the government's new powers of control over religion.

Before appointmenst of priests, who will receive government salaries, the Catholic church is required to publish a list of all vacancies in the government's "Catholic Gazette."

The new church affairs office then will present church authorities with a list of candidates "suitable" for the vacancies.

The decrees, covering all church denominations, stipulated that where higher ranks of the clergy are involved, "the government may refuse approval only for reasons of political objection against the personality of the candidate."

In non-Catholic churches, candidates may be selected by church authorities who then must seek state approval for their choices.

Noted Druggist Says He Is Not Scientist

OAKLAND, Md., Nov. 4 (AP) — Joseph E. Harned is 79 years old. He has run a drug store here for 57 years, and he says he is a druggist, not a scientist.

But he has wrftten a botany text book, "Wild Flowers of the Alleghenies." It is used in schools and libraries all over the country. The botany departments of Harvard, Cornell and other universities encouraged the work and helped him with it. He has two honorary doctorate degrees. He is listed in "Who's Who" and "American Men of Science." Also, he's a fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. He is the friend of many scientists and of the late Thomas Edison.

He insists, however, he is still "just a country kid pursuing a hobby." His book has been praised both for its accuracy and its popular style. It has brought him letters from all over the world.

Expansion Of Line Is Asked

The growing importance of Lubbock and Odessa as wholesale supply centers was pointed up Thursday in a hearing held here before the Motor Transport division of the Texas Railroad commission.

This situation was brought out by witnesses from Odessa and Borger testifying in favor of an application by Curry Motor Freight Lines, Inc., for extension of its Odessa to Amarillo line on to Borger.

Fourteen business men gave testimony before Horace Soule, chief examiner for the Motor Transport division.

Lubbock Group To Testify

The hearing, being held in the north ballroom of Hotel Lubbock, recessed Thursday night until 9:30 today. About 16 witnesses from Lubbock are expected to appear today in favor of the Curry extension.

Completion of the Lubbock session is expected by early afternoon, with opponents to the application expected to call in witnesses in a two-day hearing scheduled in Amarillo on Dec. 7.

Witnesses from Borger pointed out that they could obtain better service on plumbing and building supplies if overnight, one-line motor freight service is made available from Lubbock.

Odessa witnesses testified that oil field machinery supply companies there are in competition with Tulsa and Dallas companies, and the added freight service is needed to meet that competition.

B. J. Winters of Odessa said that an estimated $150,000 in business has been lost in the Borger area as a result of inadequate motor service.

Verbal fireworks that threatened to become more serious sparked the hearing at one point.

Al Hannaford, of the American Body and Trailer company at Amarillo, wanted to complain about present motor freight service over the objections of Carl Finney, defense attorney, from Dallas representing Amarillo-Borger Express company. Tempers flared, but the tension eased without any blows being struck.

If the extension is granted, it would serve the towns of Fritch, Sanford and Phillips as well as Borger.

Among those present for the hearing were R. C. Jordan of Amarillo, president of Curry Motor Freight line; Joe White, manager of the firm's Odessa-Midland district; and W. B. Pearce of Lubbock, vice president of the lines.

In addition to Finney, opposition attorneys were Jack Little of Amarillo, representing Amarillo-Borger Express; Reagan Sears of Dallas, Red Ball Motor Freight of Dallas; and a Mr. Cavin, the Texas Association of Railroads.

Uncontested hearings were conducted Thursday morning by Joe T. Lanham of Austin, examiner of the division. Among applications filed was one by Merchants Fast Motor lines, 2402 Texas avenue, Lubbock, for an additional freight route between Reese Air Force base and Lubbock.

Scandinavian Group Plans To Merge Into New Customs Union

PARIS, Nov. 4. (AP)—Norway, Sweden and Denmark plan to merge themselves into a single market by forming a complete Scandinavian customs union.

This was announced yesterday by the foreign ministers of the three countries — Norway's Halvard Lange, Sweden's Osten Unden and Denmark's Gustav Rasmussen.

The ministers told W. Averell Harriman, chief U. S. ambassador for the Marshall plan in Europe, that the formation of the customs union will be undertaken as soon as possible.

They said their governments will faithfully observe the resolution approved Wednesday by the 18-member general council of the Marshall plan's Organization for European Economic Cooperation (OEEC). That resolution called upon European nations receiving American aid to liberalize their trade policies for the eventual creation of a large single trading area.

The OEEC suggested that regional groups be formed as an intermediate step if the creation of a unified European market could not be undertaken immediately.

The Benelux countries — Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg—already are moving toward economic unity. A regional customs agreement linking France and Italy with the Benelux countries has been proposed.

Gridiron Powers Of Nation Battle Tough Foes Saturday

Notre Dame-Michigan State To Tangle; Fordham Tests Cadets

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 4—Notre Dame and Army, the two topmost gridiron powers, will find their paths to greater glory blocked tomorrow by opponents capable of giving them more than the customary week-end workout.

Not Dame's clash with Michigan State at East Lansing was tabbed weeks ago as one of the high spots on the Irish schedule and the Spartans have not disappointed their backers.

But the entire gridiron world is somewhat surprised at the showing made by Fordham, which meets Army at West Point. Like Army and Notre Dame, Fordham is unbeaten and untied.

There was a time when Notre Dame and Army reserved the first Saturday in November for their annual wrestle in New York. That series has ended, but the two perennial powers may feel as if they've been banging into each other by the time they're through tomorrow night.

Michigan State Impressive

Michigan State has waltzed through Marquette, Maryland, William and Mary, Penn State and Temple since losing its opener to Michigan, 7-3. It holds the No. 10 spot in the Associated Press rankings.

With Notre Dame rated at the top of the list, the East Lansing get-together is the only one of the week involving two of the first ten teams.

Among the remaining members of the select circle, Michigan and Baylor face the greatest apparent danger. Fifth-place Michigan will be invaded by a Purdue team that pulled the upset of the year last week in knocking off Minnesota.

Baylor, ranked sixth and winner of all six of its 1949 starts, visits Texas, a team that has lost three close ones. Their Southwest conference clash is one of the few toss-ups on tomorrow's slate.

Sooners Are Favored

Oklahoma, the No. 3 team, is a 34-point favorite in its Big Seven conference game at Kansas State. California, all-victorious and rated fourth, is a 28-point choice to down Washington State in their Pacific coast tilt at Berkely.

Seventh-place Cornell, unbeaten Ivy league leader, will be host to Syracuse, a team that has been beaten four times.

Rice and Southern Methodist, rated eighth and ninth respectively, meet underdog opponents in the Southwest conference. Arkansas goes to Rice, while SMU performs at Texas A. and M.

Tonight's arclight schedule is a skimpy one(headed by such games as Villanova at Georgetown, Detroit at Miami (Fla.), Hardin-Simmons at Loyola (Cal.) and Presbyterian at the Citadel.

Games Are Listed

Other major games carded tomorrow by sections:

East—Virginia at Pennsylvania, Ohio State at Pittsburgh, Penn State at West Virginia, Temple at Boston university, Brown at Yale, Colgate at Holy Cross, Dartmouth at Columbia, Princeton at Harvard and Rutgers at Lafayette.

Midwest — Iowa at Minnesota, Indiana at Illinois, Wisconsin at Northwestern, Kansas at Nebraska, Iowa State at Drake, South Carolina at Marquette. Tulsa at Oklahoma A. and M. and Kentucky at Xavier (Ohio).

South—Navy at Tulane, Georgia Tech at Tennessee, Vanderbilt at Louisiana State, North Carolina at William and Mary, Mississippi State at Auburn, Wake Forest at Duke, Boston College at Clemson, Georgia at Florida, Chattanooga at Mississippi, Richmond at North Carolina State, Davidson at Virginia Military, Virginia Tech at Washington and Lee and George Washington at Maryland.

West — Stanford at Southern California, Washington at Oregon, Oregon State at Idaho, Denver at St. Mary's, Missouri at Colorado, New Mexico at Arizona, Colorado A. and M. at Utah, Utah State at Brigham Young and Wyoming at Colorado State.

Odessa Meets Frosh Tonight

Victory No. 3 will be the goal of the Texas Tech freshmen at Odessa tonight when the Picadors, with two scalps under their victory belt, tackle the Odessa Junior college Wranglers tonight at 8.

This will be the second meeting of the two teams on consecutive weekends, the Picadors beating the Odessa eleven 13-0 last week in Jones Stadium. Neither team had a game scheduled for this week, so Coach Red Coats of Odessa and Coach Allie White of Tech quickly agreed to the second clash.

Ground Attack Strong

Both teams exhibited strong ground attacks in between the 20-yard lines, but neither exhibited much scoring punch on the ground. The Picadors, moreover, were held four times on the one-yard marker, after chalking up a first down.

Victory came to the junior Red Raiders through the air, with Quarterbacks Don Seale and Carl Madison leading the attack. End James Thames turned in a fine performance as a pass receiver, even though the Picador eleven missed fire most of the time.

Coach White has been spending a lot of time this week on blocking, which was disappointing last week after playing such a large part in the 59-7 licking of the West Texas State college first year men. As a result, the Picadors hope to pick up yardage that they lost last week because of blocking weakness.

Barker To See Action

Ready for full duty tonight will be Halfback W. H. Barker, one of the best varsity prospects to come along in years. Barker has been operating on a bad knee and bad ankle, but still has been a sensation. He's a vicious tackler on defense and a hard runner on offense.

Also ready for heavy duty are Waldo Young, Chuck Reynolds, Sandy Welton, Denton Lambert, Ronnie Miller and other top Picador backs. The line is the strongest part of the Picador machine and the freshmen are counting on the forward wall to open holes.

Leading the forwards are such standouts as Jimmy Williams at center, Bubby Barron and Don Gray at guards, Edward Briggs, Marland Ribble, Joe Harris and Charley Goff at tackles and Thames, Alton Linnie and James Clark at ends.

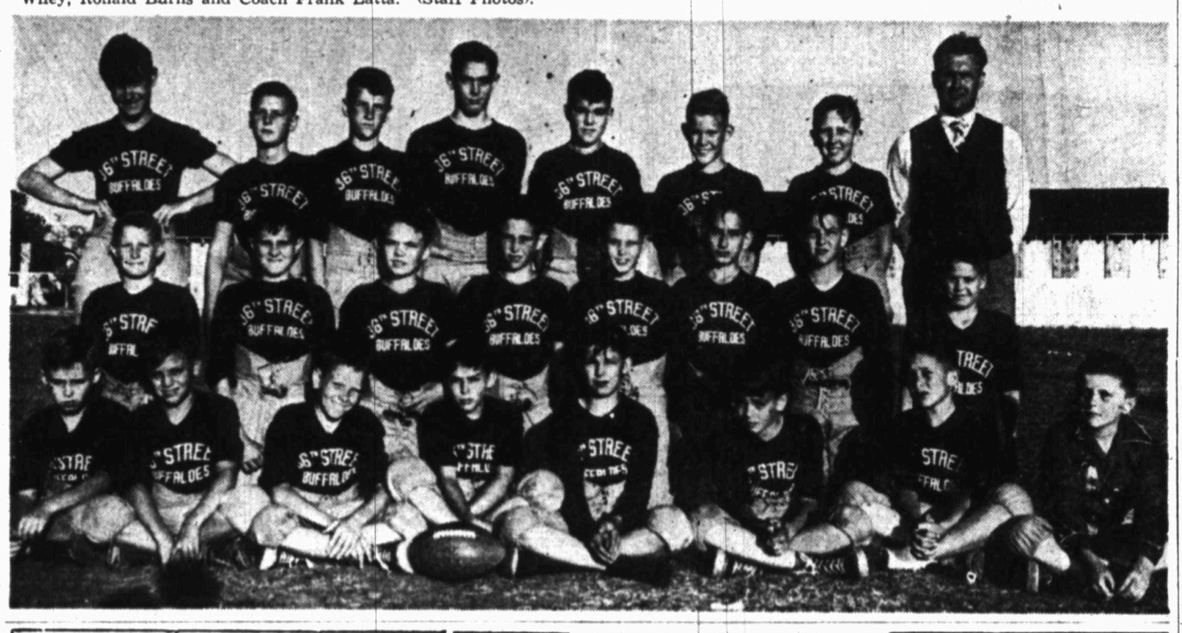

Odessa, which uses the split T, is counting on the same backs who caused so much trouble here last week. It should be a better game for the spectator this week than it was last week, with the odds in favor of the Techsans.

TO BROADCAST GAME

Radio Station KSEL will broadcast the Amarillo-Pampa game Saturday afternoon from Pampa. Both elevens, defeated by Lubbock, will be fighting for the District 1-AA conference lead.

MEET TONIGHT FOR TITLE—The Sanders Bulldoggers, above, and P. F. Brown Buffaloes, below, clash at 7 o'clock tonight at Chapman field for the Lubbock elementary school "flag football" championship. Admission for the title game will be 35 cents for adults and nine cents for children. Sanders and Brown each registered four straight triumphs in league play as they won the north and south divisions, respectively, this year. Shown on the Sanders team, front row, left to right, are Travis Youngblood, Robert Munkres, Bobby Davis, Kenneth Wayne Fox, Donald Norton, Roy McDaniel and Jimmie Thomas. Back row, left to right, are Thomas Mandrell, Jackie Babbitt, Coach William Lowrance, John C. Mapp and James Mullenix. Pictured on the Brown squad in the photo below are, front row, left to right, Gordon Deering, Phil Sanders, Kenneth Jolly, Bobby Burgess, Lonnie White, Buba Farmer, Johnny Shipman and Bill Boyd. Second row, left to right, are Donald Clement, Jim Hancock, Larry Warren, Delman Hilton, Jerry Etter, Teddy Caro, Harry Scoggin and Donnie Baxter. Back row, left to right, are Billy Stroud, Kenneth Marmaduke, Don Wells, Robert Herrin, Milton Daniel, James Wiley, Ronald Burns and Coach Frank Latta. (Staff Photos).

Grid Officials Are Defended By Pony's Mentor Matty Bell

DALLAS, Nov. 4. (AP)—Southwest conference football officials, who have been suffering in silence from the jibes of coaches, fans and sports writers, had a champion today.

Coach Matty Bell of Southern Methodist, irritated by statements that the officiating made it difficult to beat SMU in the Cotton Bowl, declared that if "there unjustified criticism of officials" didn't stop the time will soon come when "capable men will not be willing to work our games."

"I have been coaching college football since 1920 and I think the officiating this year is just as fair and efficient as ever in the past," Bell said. He added that a close study of moving pictures of Southern Methodist's football games with Texas, Kentucky and Rice fail to show that the officiating affected the outcome of the games.

It was after Southern Methodist beat Kentucky 20-7 that Coach Paul (Bear) Bryant of Kentucky said the officials lost the game for him. Johnny Vaught, coach of Mississippi, criticized the officiating in his game with Texas Christian at Fort Worth when Mississippi lost 33-27. Coach Blair Cherry of Texas did not comment but the fans and sports writers lashed out at the officials for their work in the game with Southern Methodist here last Saturday, criticizing particularly a ruling that Texas didn't make a first down at SMU's 10-yard line, thus halting a Texas drive.

None of the officials commented. They are forbidden to by James H. Stewart, executive secretary of the conference who will not comment publicly himself.

Apparently the climaxing words were those of Jinx Tucker, Waco sports writer, who said it seemed "that this year and last year, teams playing Southern Methodist university in the Cotton Bowl have been victims of terrible officiating."

MANCUSO GETS POST

CINCINNATI, O., Nov. 4 (U.P.)—Gus Mancuso, former major league catcher, was welcomed back to the big time today as a coach with the Cincinnati Reds. Mancuso formerly played for the St. Louis Cardinals, New York Giants, Brooklyn Dodgers and Chicago Cubs. He managed San Antonio in the Texas league during the past two seasons.

Meadow Team Beats Ropesville, 26-13

BROWNFIELD, Nov. 4 (Special) Another notch in Meadow's victory string was made here last night as the Broncos defeated Ropesville, 26 to 13, in a District 4-B football tussle which left Meadow undefeated and untied and on top the standings.

Meadow led at the half, 13-0, following second quarter scores by Robert White and Jesse Upton.

Ropesville pushed across a tally in the third period to close the gap to 13-7 on a touchdown by Kenneth Means, but the Broncs took the kickoff and marched to paydirt, Lawrence Joplin going 39 yards to score early in the fourth period.

The Eagles tallied once more during the final quarter, Means running eight yards to score, and on the last play of the game Meadow scored again, with Upton plunging over from the two-yard line.

A victory by Meadow over New Deal next week would clinch a tie for the district title.

Red Raiders Leave Today For El Paso Tilt Against Miners

Texas Tech and Texas Western clash tomorrow night at El Paso in a Border Conference game that is tense with possibilities for both college teams.

Western, beaten only by Hardin-Simmons, and Tech, unbeaten in conference play, collide in a make or break contest. If the Miners win, Tech would have to beat Hardin-Simmons to gain a three-way tie for first. If Tech wins, the Miners are finished in the circuit chase.

Take Large Squad

But the Red Raiders, 40-strong, boarded a T. N. M. & O. bus this morning at 8:30 bound for the Border City filled with confidence of a bringing home a victory.

Coach Dell Morgan, with several of the squad partially injured, is taking no chances on not having replacements in case these players sustain further injury. He is taking the largest traveling squad of the year.

Only four members of the active squad are being left behind and all of them have injuries that prevent their playing. On this list are Halfbacks Bill Barbee and Walter Maloney, Quarterback Milton Rathbone and Guard Don Williams.

Maloney Suffers Injury

Making the important trip will be leg injury that will keep him out of action until sometime next week, while Barbee still is suffering from a painful shoulder, the result of a dislocated arm, and Rathbone's trick knee is bothering him.

Making the important trip will 12 backs, including Quarterbacks Ernest Hawkins, Bill Lyman and Albert Salem; Halfbacks Tim Hatch, Herman Bailey, Bobby Close, Cal Steveson, Ike Stuver, and Eural Ramsey; Fullbacks Bud Conley, Earl Jackson and J. W. Thompson; four centers, Bobby Williams, J. B. Mahler, Red Phillips and Bob Hix; seven guards, Dan Pursel, Dick Cavazos, Milburn Haydon, Bobby Garner, Walter Edrington, Don Anthony and Bill Stallings; nine tackles, Jack Cockburn, Doug McSwane, John Tom Baker, John Andrews, Bill Glidewell, Marshall Gettys, Jerrell Price, Bobby Broyles and Rex Pinson; and seven ends, Bill Sharpley, Jack Davis, Dick Pirtle, Dick Jackson, Hugh Jackson, Elbert Johnson and Luke Thompson.

Seek Third Loop Win

The Raiders are expected to arrive in mid afternoon at El Paso and take a light workout at Kidd Field, where tomorrow they will seek their third Border loop victory of the season. A day of rest Saturday precedes the game.

Yesterday's drill was light, with emphasis on passing offense and defense, concentrated blocking on dummies for the linemen and dummy scrimmage against Western formations for the entire squad. Spirits were much higher yesterday and the Raiders appear once more to be in both physical and mental trim for one of their better games.

They have a tough problem in the Miners, who will send a stiff defense and one of the nation's top offensives at the Raiders. Injuries have struck the Miner squad and five players are on the doubtful list. They are Quarterback Jim Bowden, Guards Lee Fogle and Herman Foster, Fulback Cordell McCraw and H. L. "Sonny" Holderman.

Use Regular Offensive

Coach Jack Curtice is expected to use his regular offensive formation against the Raiders. At ends will be George Grounds and Jack Wilkinson, with Jim DeGroat, rapidly regaining full speed after being slowed by a knee ailment, and Tom Shockman at tackles. Shockman is hampered by a cut hand received from a cleat in the New Mexico game.

At guards will be All-Border Conference Ernest Keily and Don Slaughter. Keily's value was shown by Hardin-Simmons' ability to move through his slot on a long scoring march while he was sidelined with a charley horse.

Center will be Wayne Hansen, one of the top linemen of the conference.

Ralph Brewster will draw the nod at quarterback, although Bill McWilliams will share the duties. At regular halfback spots will be Harvey (Pug) Gabrel, leading ground-gainer from rushing of the conference and ranking high in the nation, and Bill Chesak, rugged line-bucker. Gerald Campbell has filled in at offensive fullback since McCraw was injured.

Oysters lay, on an annual average, about 16,000,000 eggs each.

Gridiron Powers Of Nation Battle Tough Foes Saturday

Notre Dame-Michigan State To Tangle; Fordham Tests Cadets

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 4—Notre Dame and Army, the two top-most gridiron powers, will find their paths to greater glory blocked tomorrow by opponents capable of giving them more than the customary week-end workout.

Not Dame's clash with Michigan State at East Lansing was tabbed weeks ago as one of the high spots on the Irish schedule and the Spartans have not disappointed their backers.

But the entire gridiron world is somewhat surprised at the showing made by Fordham, which meets Army at West Point. Like Army and Notre Dame, Fordham is unbeaten and untied.

There was a time when Notre Dame and Army reserved the first Saturday in November for their annual wrestle in New York. That series has ended, but the two perennial powers may feel as if they've been banging into each other by the time they're through tomorrow night.

Michigan State Impressive

Michigan State has waltzed through Marquette, Maryland, William and Mary, Penn State and Temple since losing its opener to Michigan, 7-3. It holds the No. 10 spot in the Associated Press rankings.

With Notre Dame rated at the top of the list, the East Lansing get-together is the only one of the week involving two of the first ten teams.

Among the remaining members of the select circle, Michigan and Baylor face the greatest apparent danger. Fifth-place Michigan will be invaded by a Purdue team that pulled the upset of the year last week in knocking off Minnesota.

Baylor, ranked sixth and winner of all six of its 1949 starts, visits Texas, a team that has lost three close ones. Their Southwest conference clash is one of the few toss-ups on tomorrow's slate.

Sooners Are Favored

Oklahoma, the No. 3 team, is a 34-point favorite in its Big Seven conference game at Kansas State. California, all-victorious and rated fourth, is a 28-point choice to down Washington State in their Pacific coast tilt at Berkeley.

Seventh-place Cornell, unbeaten Ivy league leader, will be host to Syracuse, a team that has been beaten four times.

Rice and Southern Methodist, rated eighth and ninth respectively, meet underdog opponents in the Southwest conference. Arkansas goes to Rice, while SMU performs at Texas A. and M.

Tonight's arclight schedule is a skimpy one(headed by such games as Villanova at Georgetown, Detroit at Miami (Fla.), Hardin-Simmons at Loyola (Cal.) and Presbyterian at the Citadel.

Games Are Listed

Other major games carded tomorrow by sections:

East—Virginia at Pennsylvania, Ohio State at Pittsburgh, Penn State at West Virginia, Temple at Boston university, Brown at Yale, Colgate at Holy Cross, Dartmouth at Columbia, Princeton at Harvard and Rutgers at Lafayette.

Midwest — Iowa at Minnesota, Indiana at Illinois, Wisconsin at Northwestern, Kansas at Nebraska, Iowa State at Drake, South Carolina at Marquette. Tulsa at Oklahoma A. and M. and Kentucky at Xavier (Ohio).

South—Navy at Tulane, Georgia Tech at Tennessee, Vanderbilt at Louisiana State, North Carolina at William and Mary, Mississippi State at Auburn, Wake Forest at Duke, Boston College at Clemson, Georgia at Florida, Chattanooga at Mississippi, Richmond at North Carolina State, Davidson at Virginia Military, Virginia Tech at Washington and Lee and George Washington at Maryland.

West — Stanford at Southern California, Washington at Oregon, Oregon State at Idaho, Denver at St. Mary's, Missouri at Colorado, New Mexico at Arizona, Colorado A. and M. at Utah, Utah State at Brigham Young and Wyoming at Colorado State.

Odessa Meets Frosh Tonight

Victory No. 3 will be the goal of the Texas Tech freshmen at Odessa tonight when the Picadors, with two scalps under their victory belt, tackle the Odessa Junior college Wranglers tonight at 8.

This will be the second meeting of the two teams on consecutive weekends, the Picadors beating the Odessa eleven 13-0 last week in Jones Stadium. Neither team had a game scheduled for this week, so Coach Red Coats of Odessa and Coach Allie White of Tech quickly agreed to the second clash.

Ground Attack Strong

Both teams exhibited strong ground attacks in between the 20-yard lines, but neither exhibited much scoring punch on the ground. The Picadors, moreover, were held four times on the one-yard marker, after chalking up a first down.

Victory came to the junior Red Raiders through the air, with Quarterbacks Don Seale and Carl Madison leading the attack. End James Thames turned in a fine performance as a pass receiver, even though the Picador eleven missed fire most of the time.

Coach White has been spending a lot of time this week on blocking, which was disappointing last week after playing such a large part in the 59-7 licking of the West Texas State college first year men. As a result, the Picadors hope to pick up yardage that they lost last week because of blocking weakness.

Barker To See Action

Ready for full duty tonight will be Halfback W. H. Barker, one of the best varsity prospects to come along in years. Barker has been operating on a bad knee and bad ankle, but still has been a sensation. He's a vicious tackler on defense and a hard runner on offense.

Also ready for heavy duty are Waldo Young, Chuck Reynolds, Sandy Welton, Denton Lambert, Ronnie Miller and other top Picador backs. The line is the strongest part of the Picador machine and the freshmen are counting on the forward wall to open holes.

Leading the forwards are such standouts as Jimmy Williams at center, Bubby Barron and Don Gray at guards, Edward Briggs, Marland Ribble, Joe Harris and Charley Goff at tackles and Thames, Alton Linnie and James Clark at ends.

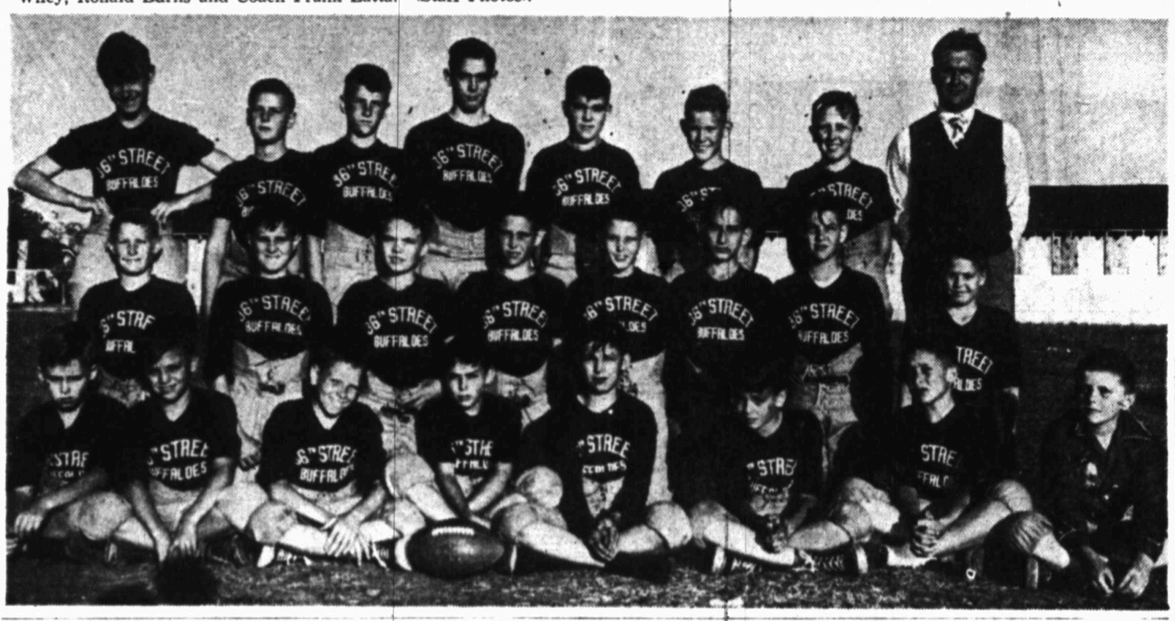

Odessa, which uses the split T, is counting on the same backs who caused so much trouble here last week. It should be a better game for the spectator this week than it was last week, with the odds in favor of the Techsans.

TO BROADCAST GAME

Radio Station KSEL will broadcast the Amarillo-Pampa game Saturday afternoon from Pampa. Both elevens, defeated by Lubbock, will be fighting for the District 1-AA conference lead.

MEET TONIGHT FOR TITLE—The Sanders Bulldoggers, above, and P. F. Brown Buffaloes, below, clash at 7 o'clock tonight at Chapman field for the Lubbock elementary school "flag football" championship. Admission for the title game will be 35 cents for adults and nine cents for children. Sanders and Brown each registered four straight triumphs in league play as they won the north and south divisions, respectively, this year. Shown on the Sanders team, front row, left to right, are Travis Youngblood, Robert Munkres, Bobby Davis, Kenneth Wayne Fox, Donald Norton, Roy McDaniel and Jimmie Thomas. Back row, left to right, are Thomas Mandrell, Jackie Babbitt, Coach William Lowrance, John C. Mapp and James Mullenix. Pictured on the Brown squad in the photo below are, front row, left to right, Gordon Deering, Phil Sanders, Kenneth Jolly, Bobby Burgess, Lonnie White, Buba Farmer, Johnny Shipman and Bill Boyd. Second row, left to right, are Donald Clement, Jim Hancock, Larry Warren, Delman Hilton, Jerry Etter, Teddy Caro, Harry Scoggin and Donnie Baxter. Back row, left to right, are Billy Stroud, Kenneth Marmaduke, Don Wells, Robert Herrin, Milton Daniel, James Wiley, Ronald Burns and Coach Frank Latta. (Staff Photos).

Red Raiders Leave Today For El Paso Tilt Against Miners

Texas Tech and Texas Western clash tomorrow night at El Paso in a Border Conference game that is tense with possibilities for both college teams.

Western, beaten only by Hardin-Simmons, and Tech, unbeaten in conference play, collide in a make or break contest. If the Miners win, Tech would have to beat Hardin-Simmons to gain a three-way tie for first. If Tech wins, the Miners are finished in the circuit chase.

Take Large Squad

But the Red Raiders, 40-strong, boarded a T. N. M. & O. bus this morning at 8:30 bound for the Border City filled with confidence of a bringing home a victory.

Coach Dell Morgan, with several of the squad partially injured, is taking no chances on not having replacements in case these players sustain further injury. He is taking the largest traveling squad of the year.

Only four members of the active squad are being left behind and all of them have injuries that prevent their playing. On this list are Halfbacks Bill Barbee and Walter Maloney, Quarterback Milton Rathbone and Guard Don Williams.

Maloney Suffers Injury

Making the important trip will be leg injury that will keep him out of action until sometime next week, while Barbee still is suffering from a painful shoulder, the result of a dislocated arm, and Rathbone's trick knee is bothering him.

Making the important trip will 12 backs, including Quarterbacks Ernest Hawkins, Bill Lyman and Albert Salem; Halfbacks Tim Hatch, Herman Bailey, Bobby Close, Cal Steveson, Ike Stuver, and Eural Ramsey; Fullbacks Bud Conley, Earl Jackson and J. W. Thompson; four centers, Bobby Williams, J. B. Mahler, Red Phillips and Bob Hix; seven guards, Dan Pursel, Dick Cavazos, Milburn Haydon, Bobby Garner, Walter Edrington, Don Anthony and Bill Stallings; nine tackles, Jack Cockburn, Doug McSwane, John Tom Baker, John Andrews, Bill Glidewell, Marshall Gettys, Jerrell Price, Bobby Broyles and Rex Pinson; and seven ends, Bill Sharpley, Jack Davis, Dick Pirtle, Dick Jackson, Hugh Jackson, Elbert Johnson and Luke Thompson.

Seek Third Loop Win

The Raiders are expected to arrive in mid afternoon at El Paso and take a light workout at Kidd Field, where tomorrow they will seek their third Border loop victory of the season. A day of rest Saturday precedes the game.

Yesterday's drill was light, with emphasis on passing offense and defense, concentrated blocking on dummies for the linemen and dummy scrimmage against Western formations for the entire squad. Spirits were much higher yesterday and the Raiders appear once more to be in both physical and mental trim for one of their better games.

They have a [illegible] problem in the Miners, who will send a stiff defense and one of the nation's top offensives at the Raiders. Injuries have struck the Miner squad and five players are on the doubtful list. They are Quarterback Jim Bowden, Guards Lee Fogle and Herman Foster, Fullback Cordell McCraw and H. L. "Sonny" Holderman.

Use Regular Offensive

Coach Jack Curtice is expected to use his regular offensive formation against the Raiders. At ends will be George Grounds and Jack Wilkinson, with Jim DeGroat, rapidly regaining full speed after being slowed by a knee ailment, and Tom Shockman at tackles. Shockman is hampered by a cut hand received from a cleat in the New Mexico game.

At guards will be All-Border Conference Ernest Keily and Don Slaughter. Keily's value was shown by Hardin-Simmons' ability to move through his slot on a long scoring march while he was sidelined with a charley horse.

Center will be Wayne Hansen, one of the top linemen of the conference.

Ralph Brewster will draw the nod at quarterback, although Bill McWilliams will share the duties. At regular halfback spots will be Harvey (Pug) Gabrel, leading ground-gainer from rushing of the conference and ranking high in the nation, and Bill Chesak, rugged line-bucker. Gerald Campbell has filled in at offensive fullback since McCraw was injured.

Oysters lay, on an annual average, about 16,000,000 eggs each.

Movies Of Games Offered As Evidence

Grid Officials Are Defended By Pony's Mentor Matty Bell

DALLAS, Nov. 4. (AP)—Southwest conference football officials, who have been suffering in silence from the jibes of coaches, fans and sports writers, had a champion today.

Coach Matty Bell of Southern Methodist, irritated by statements that the officiating made it difficult to beat SMU in the Cotton Bowl, declared that if "there unjustified criticism of officials" didn't stop the time will soon come when "capable men will not be willing to work our games."

"I have been coaching college football since 1920 and I think the officiating this year is just as fair and efficient as ever in the past," Bell said. He added that a close study of moving pictures of Southern Methodist's football games with Texas, Kentucky and Rice fail to show that the officiating affected the outcome of the games.

It was after Southern Methodist beat Kentucky 20-7 that Coach Paul (Bear) Bryant of Kentucky said the officials lost the game for him. Johnny Vaught, coach of Mississippi, criticized the officiating in his game with Texas Christian at Fort Worth when Mississippi lost 33-27. Coach Blair Cherry of Texas did not comment but the fans and sports writers lashed out at the officials for their work in the game with Southern Methodist here last Saturday, criticizing particularly a ruling that Texas didn't make a first down at SMU's 10-yard line, thus halting a Texas drive.

None of the officials commented. They are forbidden to by James H. Stewart, executive secretary of the conference who will not comment publicly himself.

Apparently the climaxing words were those of Jinx Tucker, Waco sports writer, who said it seemed "that this year and last year, teams playing Southern Methodist university in the Cotton Bowl have been victims of terrible officiating."

MANCUSO GETS POST

CINCINNATI, O., Nov. 4 (U.P.)—Gus Mancuso, former major league catcher, was welcomed back to the big time today as a coach with the Cincinnati Reds. Mancuso formerly played for the St. Louis Cardinals, New York Giants, Brooklyn Dodgers and Chicago Cubs. He managed San Antonio in the Texas league during the past two seasons.

Meadow Team Beats Ropesville, 26-13

BROWNFIELD, Nov. 4 (Special) Another notch in Meadow's victory string was made here last night as the Bronchos defeated Ropesville, 26 to 13, in a District 4-B football tussle which left Meadow undefeated and untied and on top the standings.

Meadow led at the half, 13-0, following second quarter scores by Robert White and Jesse Upton.

Ropesville pushed across a tally in the third period to close the gap to 13-7 on a touchdown by Kenneth Means, but the Broncs took the kickoff and marched to paydirt, Lawrence Joplin going 39 yards to score early in the fourth period.

The Eagles tallied once more during the final quarter, Means running eight yards to score, and on the last play of the game Meadow scored again, with Upton plunging over from the two-yard line.

A victory by Meadow over New Deal next week would clinch a tie for the district title.

Texas Seeks Upset Of Unbeaten Bears

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor

Baylor's Golden Bears hit the stretch in the bruising Southwest conference gridiron trail tomorrow, facing the first member of that terrible triumvirate that stands between them and championship glory they haven't known in 25 years.

It's a rough and rocky road the undefeated, untied Bears must travel—Texas, Southern Methodist and Rice. Tomorrow it's Texas.

There are those who think Baylor will be in a second place tie tomorrow night and that Rice will be riding high, wide and handsome in undisputed first place. Even the boys who put money on the line give the Bruins no more than an even chance of toppling Texas in Austin.

Aerial Battle Seen

This game sends the leading offensive team of the conference—Texas—against the top defensive outfit. It is due to be a battle of the air with Paul Campbell going against that great marksman, Adrian Burk, whose percentage of completions is amazing.

At Houston Rice meets a rebounding Arkansas team that came back from a heart-breaking defeat to Texas to lick Vanderbilt and Texas A. and M. It is dangerous to the Owl hopes although they are figured as 14 points better than Arkansas.

Baylor is the last undefeated, untied team in the conference but Rice also is unbeaten in conference play.

Southern Methodist will be seeking to keep its title hopes alive against the hapless Aggies at College Station. SMU has lost only to Rice and by going unbeaten the rest of the way could tie for the championship in the event Baylor and Rice both lose.

Ponies Are Favored

The Methodists are rated 19 points better than the Aggies.

Texas Christian is idle.

Having not missed a game in two weeks and boasting a record of 24 wins, five losses and one tie for the season, we hereby give you the benefit of our phenomenal (that's what the man said in the fan letter) foresight:

Texas vs. Baylor at Austin—A tight game but we'll cast a shaky ballot for Baylor to win by a touchdown.

Rice vs. Arkansas at Houston—It could be a good game but Rice has too much power; the Owls in a high-scorer by three touchdowns.

Southern Methodist vs. Texas A. and M. at College Station—Because the Aggies always give SMU trouble we're taking the Methodists by only two touchdowns.

Lamesa Tests Broncs Today

LAMESA, Nov. 4. (Special)—The Lamesa Golden Tornadoes are decided underdogs today in their District 3-AA clash with the powerful Odessa Bronchos, with the game scheduled to get underway at 2:30 p. m. at Tornado stadium.

After winning five games in a row this season, the Lamesa squad, coached by Bob Harrell, has lost its last two games to Pampa and Lubbock, and today's game will probably be the third.

The Bronchos, only threat to Lubbock's drive to a district title, are favored over the battered Tornadoes by three touchdowns or more by local grid guessers.

Injuries Hamper Team

Last week in their first district start, the Odessa squad ran free and easy over Midland, winning by a 55-7 margin.

On Lamesa's hospital list are Center Bill Hart with a bruised leg; End T. J. Womack, knee injury; Halfback Delbert Dickenson, ankle injury; and reserve Fullback Don Hackney, broken hand. All four may see service, but their performances will be below par. Last week Dickenson, Womack and Hart were standouts in the Lubbock game.

One casualty is back in harness. Jamie Pearson, regular tackle, who missed the Lubbock encounter because of a virus infection, is ready for duty.

New Faces in Lineup

Two new faces will probably be in the Tornado starting lineup, Coach Harrell reported. He said that Ronald Chapman will replace Bobby Hawkins at quarterback and that Marshall Crawford has won the right end position from Jerry Phillips.

The Lubbock Westerners, idle this week, will view the game from the stands, so Broncho mentor Joe Coleman is expected to try for a triumph while showing as little top-drawer strategy as possible.

3,000 Fan Expected

A crowd of 3,000 persons or more, the largest of the season, is expected to view the contest. Odessa ordered 1,500 tickets, and the Broncho band and pep squad will accompany the team here.

Lamesa reserves who will likely see action include Ends I. V. Ferguson and Tink Lambert, Tackle Phil Johnson, and Fullbacks Randall Reeves and Jerry Millsaps.

Carrying the load for Odessa will be Dawton Hughes, Howard Dye, Carl Beard, Joe Childress, Charles Clover, Joe Howell and others in the backfield.

Tech Play Presented At Floydada School

FLOYDADA, Oct. 4. (Special)—Texas Technological college speech department's production of Shakespeare's Twelfth Night hit the road Thursday night, playing before a large audience in the Floydada high school auditorium.

Original costumes and stage props made by the troupe were used in tonight's "streamlined" version of the play, which ran approximately 90 minutes.

Other performances to be given by the group include one at Lamesa Nov. 14 and another at Odessa on a date yet to be determined. Slaton high school has also asked the troupe to play there.

Twelfth Night, probably Shakespeare's most popular comedy, was first presented by the Techsans in five nightly performances on the Tech campus last week. The play marks the first attempt in at least 20 years by Tech students to stage a Shakespearean dramma.

Decision to take the show on the road was made in an "effort to present classical drama to high school students and others as it was intended to be staged," according to Miss Annah Jo Pendleton, head of the speech department. The presentations also give the players training in adapting themselves to different stages, she said.

Miss Cecilia Thompson of the speech department is director of the drama and John Upshaw is technical director.

Westerners To Get "Holiday"

A holiday is in order today for the Lubbock Westerners, and the coaches and team members were scheduled to leave by bus to witness the Golden Tornado-Odessa football contest in Lamesa this afternoon, a game with bearing on District 3-AA.

Yesterday in practice a spirited defensive drill was held by the Westerners, and head Coach Pat Pattison felt that firsthand knowledge of the Odessans' attack would benefit the team more than boardwork showing their offense.

Gridders See Film

Before practice Thursday the Westerners viewed films of the Lamesa-Lubbock football contest made last week when the local eleven defeated the Tornadoes, 41-14. Coaches Pattison, Bill Floyd and Fred Taylor pointed out mistakes made in that game as the film was shown.

Calisthenics yesterday were led by Ends Garnet Reeves and Billy Wright, co-captains for the Nov. 11 tilt with Odessa, before the squad went into its defensive workout.

As in past days separate teams alternated on offense and defense in the drills, with concentration being on defensive patterns against Odessa plays as run by the second and third teams.

Plays were not run at full tilt, as would be a scrimmage, but emphasis was being put on defensive setups against the Odessans.

In spite of precautionary warnings and explanations by Coach Pattison, some of the running and passing plays went for long yardages before the ball carrier was touched and action halted.

On passing plays the passer was allowed to get rid of the ball, and the added time in spotting receivers showed up weaknesses in the Westerner aerial defense.

Odessa uses a variety of offensive formations and can be counted on for plenty of speed and deception. Although suffering two defeats and a tie thus far during the 1949 campaign, the Bronchos are expected to be at their best against the Westerners on the Armistice day meeting which should decide the district winner.

In preparing for the Odessans, Coach Pattison is calling a Saturday morning defensive drill which should break the long period of inactivity between Thursday and Monday without a practice. Although the Saturday session will be without pads, the defensive team can gain valuable pointers from the drill.

Homecoming Event Held At Seagraves

SEAGRAVES, Nov. 4. (Special)—The first annual Seagraves school homecoming program, begun Thursday night with a bonfire and pep rally, continued today with registration of all ex-students.

The festivities will be climaxed by tonight's Seagraves-Tahoka football game.

Seagraves Junior High's grid squad helped send the homecoming observance off to a successful start Thursday night by trouncing the Tahoka Juniors, 39-0. Richard Hibbitts, Buddy Johnson, Elbert Robinson and Paul Stafford were the top offensive performers for the victors.

In a fifth, sixth and seventh grade game preceding the junior high tilt, Seagraves and Tahoka battled to a 7-7 deadlock.

A crowd estimated at 700 persons saw the junior grid doubleheader.

Texas Frosh Trounce Baylor Cubs, 25-6

WACO, Nov. 4. (U.P.)—University of Texas' frosh football team bounced the Baylor Cubs, 26-6, before 4,000 shivering fans last night.

Never endangered, the Shorthorns took a 13-0 lead in the first period and rolled home ahead easily. Big Tom Stolhandske, up from Baytown, scored the initial Texas touchdown on a bootlag play from the 14. Another Shorthorn touchdown followed quickly, with Hugh Reeder Snagging a Claud Kincannon pass and getting back to the Cub 23. It took six plays for the smooth Texas backfield to move the ball over the goal line, with Gib Dawson carrying on the payoff.

Dawson also scored another touchdown, the last of the night, in the final period on a 30-yard pass from T. Jones.

YANK PLAYER HONORED

NEW YORK, Nov. 4. (AP)—Gerry Coleman, fancy-fielding second baseman of the New York Yankees, was voted today the American league's rookie of the year.

Between the Lines by Joe Kelly

Texas Tech's Red Raiders, by this time in El Paso, face a stiffer test than might be anticipated in Texas Western tomorrow night. Not that we think for a minute that the Raiders won't win. We believe that they will and that they could win by more than two touchdowns — if they play the type of ball of which they are capable. But they meet the Miners on the rebound from the Hardin-Simmons defeat, which was far more bitter bile for them than Tech's defeat by Rice; this is Homecoming in the Border City; and the Miners have the incentive to avenge last year's 46-6 licking, the only defeat they suffered throughout 1948.

No one, least of all Coach Dell Morgan, underestimates Coach Jack Curtice. The canny Miner mentor has a way of coming up with surprise performances and he always has a good, well-coached team. This time he has all the advantage. The game is at home and, as chronicled above, he has the psychological odds in his favor. At the same time, the Red Raiders are proud of their Border Conference title and will fight to defend it, to say nothing of winning it for the third time in succession. The first half of the game might tell the story. If Tech plays the way it did against Baylor and Texas in the first two quarters, the Raiders might pile up a good lead. Bt if they follow their usual pattern of being a second half club, they might trail at the intermission. We still pick the Raiders easily.

Coach Damon Hill's Dunbar Panthers didn't play last night, since they have an open week before meeting their biggest rivals, San Angelo, here next Thursday. Damon told the quarterback club Monday night that he had looked forward to a good week's practice Only about 15 boys showed up Monday and most of them were late. The trouble is, his players are getting $2.50 a 100 for cotton picking and Damon says not one of the boys is pulling less than 1,000 pounds a day. Moreover, Damon says he isn't about to tell a kid he can't pick cotton, that he has to practice football, when it means cutting him out of at least $25 a day.

The thing that bothers Damon the most is the fact that the money actually doesn't improve the boys any. He says that they don't come to school wearing any better clothes, that they don't live any better at home. He says that their parents usually "use" the money the boys make for themselves. He's powerless to do anything about it, but he feels deeply about the situation. He'd almost rather they'd forget cotton picking entirely, despite the high wages. Incidentally, Damon praises Lubbock High school officials for helping Dunbar so much in the athletic line. The school has a football field and plans to use it next year. They need lumber for stands and they have to get a fence erected, all of which will be accomplished before another grid season rolls around.

We were mentioning wrestling yesterday and C. W. Ratliff passed on a story that Lonnie Langston, part time official and insurance man, told at the Toastmaster club dinner this week. The story, entitled "Life's Darkest Moment," concerned a true experience during the recent world conflagration. Langston, a seaman in the Navy, was asked by an officer one day if he had had any experience in athletics. He replied that he had. Imagine his surprise when he was announced as the soccer coach for his unit. Bt Lonnie was undaunted. He learned soccer and taught it. Then he was made basketball coach and the next thing he knew he was assigned as wrestling coach at North Carolina Pre-Flight base.

Now Lonnie, who knew about as much about wrestling as the average football player, was nonplussed. He carefully asked some questions and finally found another corpsman who knew the intricacies of the sport. With the corpsman as the nucelus of his team, Langston coached wrestling. He picked up some of the finer points by listening to his corpsman and before the season was over, Langston found his team the champions of the conference in which they were wrestling. Finally, to top it all, his team was sent out to meet the finest in the nation. The climax came when his North Carolina mat squad drubbed that of Ed Don George, one of the big names in wrestling! Do you think that that ends the story? You're wrong. As he was about to leave the Navy at Annapolis brass hat came around and offered Lonnie the position as wrestling coach at Annapolis!

THE ROUNDUP: Although no one bothered to let anyone here know, we hear that Gene James beat Eddie LaMarr last week . . . The Hubbers may get Eulis Rosson, former Hubber pitcher who toiled with Lamesa this year . . . Wrestler Al Getz became a papa not so long ago. It was a boy . . . Amarillo's Bob Seeds and Buck Fausett will be against raising the WT-NM League to Class B status, if it is brought up Sunday . . . Saw Ace Freeman, who used to wrestle here, make his Houston debut last Friday night. Watched it on television, probably the best way to view wrestling . . . Dingy Davis, who operates the Plains Athletic Club on College Avenue, hopes to set a new Border Conference shotput record.

Junior Teams Get Victories

In five junior high school games played yesterday, Lubbock teams came out on top in four, the lone loss being a 7-6 decision dropped by Carroll Thompson's Yearlings to the Brownfield Cublets.

Carroll Thompson's Cowboys defeated Brownfield Juniors, 24-0, as Sammy Garner scored two touchdowns and John Blocker and Richard Bowles one each. Helping greatly were Red Noland and Billy Biggs.

Littlefield fell before the Thompson Calfropers, 26-0, with Billy Foster having a perfect day on the receiving end of passes, catching eight of eight thrown his way. Bennie McCollom scored twice and Ernest Eller and Gary Garner once each, Garner converting twice. The Yearlings' lone tally was by Speedy Warren to climax a 60-yard drive.

J. T. Hutchinson Rangers downed Midland, 7-6, as Halfback James Greer skirted end for 20 yards and Dub James passed to T. Miers for the point after touchdown.

Down at Lamesa the Redskins of O. L. Slaton ambushed the Lamesa Juniors and came away with an 18-0 decision. Jimmy Welch ran 45 and 95 yards for two of the touchdowns, and Dick Lowrey plunged over from the one-yard line for the other to climax an 85-yard drive.

Lack Of Funds For Gridders Deplored

STILLWATER, Okla., Nov. 4. (U.P.)—Finding a successor for Coach Jim Lookabaugh of Oklahoma A. and M. college will be difficult because the college does not "pay" its football players well, a Stillwater newspaperman believes.

The salary of the new coach will not be a problem, Jones Ramsey, columnist for the Stillwater News-Press said, but Lookabaught's successor "will want to know how much money he will have to get players with."

"And that's the stickler, because A. & M.'s well-balanced athletic program has no budget for the proselytizing of talent.

Push On Chest Drive Is Urged

A plea for workers in the Lubbock Community Chest financial campaign to complete their work this week so that the drive can be closed as quickly as possible was made today by J. Ray Dickey, chairman, and Roy Riddel, co-chairman.

The campaign is lagging because workers have not completed their assignments, Dickey said. Up until noon today, $49,768.28 had been collected on the $98,850 goal.

"Contrary to rumors that you may be hearing, we are not failing," Dickey said in a letter to captains and lieutenants in the drive. "We have more than 50 percent of our goal with only 42 or 43 per cent of the reports turned in. We can still make it easily. All we need is for the captains and workers to make one final round.

One Unit Complete

"Reports have been audited from 430 out of a total of 1,040 businesses included in the "unit" account division and from 26 areas out of 55 in the men's sales division," Dickey's letter continued.

"Only one 'unit' team has reported complete. This team is the "cotton team, which is complete and set a pace for all other teams to shoot at in reporting a 248 per cent increase over 1948.

"Two of the 11 men's sales teams are reported complete with increases of 21 and 23 per cent respectively over the same areas last year. You can readily see that with only 41 per cent of our unit accounts and 47 per cent of the men's sales groups reported, our job is far from finished.

"Checks with the executives of the businesses not yet reported reveal that most of them have completed their reports and are ready for the worker to pick up the report and turn it in," Dickey said.

Dickey pointed to the Amarillo campaign, where more than $75,000 of the North Plains city's goal of $157,000 was raised in the first two days of the drive.

"But they had teams out working and making calls as they should be made and therefore they got good results," he added.

Further efforts will be continued by the campaign leaders to get workers to turn in their reports as quickly as possible so that the campaign can be closed out quickly.

"A long drawn-out campaign keeps all of us from our regular work," Dickey said. "We should have had this job finished this week. So why not all get busy and wind up our task this week."

Bond Election

ed areas.

The consensus of the commission appeared to be that most of the areas proposed for annexation will be brought inside the city limits and that a call for another bond election to provide for their needs then will be considered, probably to be held next summer.

They agreed, however, that action of the sewage disposal needs cannot be deferred without peril to the community health. The city already has far outgrown the present disposal plant, designed to serve the needs of approximately 50,000 people.

Of the sewage bonds to be proposed, $400,000 will be for the enlargement of the disposal plant and $150,000 for the laying of trunk "collection" lines.

Church Building Offered

The commission also agreed that attempts to obtain needed highway dispersal rights of way cannot be deferred without risk that the cost of the property needed will rise further. The extensions specifically mentioned included Nineteenth eastward from Texas avenue to East Broadway, Fourth street and Avenue A.

In regard to the Broadway Church of Christ, Mayor W. H. Rodgers said the present church building has been offered to the city for $135,000. This includes 135 feet of property fronting on Broadway and extending about 140 feet northward to the alley.

The mayor and Commissioner John Spikes were asked to discuss the proposal further with officials of the church.

The city manager also was directed to seek the advice of an architect as to whether the present building is suitable for conversion into a public library and to estimate the cost.

The building, started in 1922 and completed in 1925, will be vacated when the new edifice of the Broadway church on Broadway at Avenue T is completed.

A $500,000 city bond issue was voted in 1947 for a public library. The bonds have not been sold. They would supply the financing for any library project the commission might undertake.

Daily MARKETS

Stock Market

GAINS AND LOSSES MIXED

NEW YORK, Nov. 4 (AP) — A handpicked group of railway and utility stocks attracted support in a narrow market today.

Closing prices generally showed a thorough mixture of gains and losses, most of them a point or less.

Aside from a few special situations, the market stuck to its narrow rut from start to finish.

Turnover hit a rate of around 1,500,000 shares for the full session.

Demand for rails developed for the second day running. This group has fallen behind the market during the long advance that started in mid-June.

Among the gainers were Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, American & Foreign Power $6 and $7 preferred, North American Co., Consolidated Natural Gas, Youngstown Sheet, Montgomery Ward, Philco, International Paper, Gulf Oil, and U. S. Gypsum.

Bond stores dropped to a new low for the year, with one trade of 1,800 shares made at 15, off ⅛.

Also lower were Goodyear, Sears Roebuck, American Smelting, Dome Mines, Westinghouse Electric, Yoew's and Johns-Manville.

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Nov. 4 (AP) — Cotton futures were firm today, with mill buying against textile sales featuring the market. Hedge selling was light, despite continued heavy sales of spot cotton at the ten primary markets. The market was helped by private advices that mill demand for spot cotton continues good, covering a wide range of qualities, with the opinion of some dealers that mills still have a good deal of cotton to buy.

Corn No. 2 white 1.55½-58½.

Sorghums No. 2 yellow milo, per 100 lbs. 2.08-13.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Nov. 4 (AP) — A small amount of export business helped sustain grain prices on the board of trade today. Dealings fell off from yesterday's rapid pace.

Some flour sales were made overnight to Holland, and lifting of hedges against these sales by mills gave wheat a firm tone. Holland also bought some oats. In corn, exporters reported sales of around 300,000 bushels to Ireland.

One weak spot in the grain market was July wheat. It sold off because of an estimate yesterday by an Agriculture department official that support levels next year would be about 10 cents less than this year.

Wheat closed ¾ lower to 1⅛ higher, December $2.13⅛, corn was ¼ lower to ⅛ higher, December $1.19⅛-¼, oats were ⅜-½ higher, December 73⅞; rye was ⅛ to 1 cent lower, December $1.41, soybeans were unchanged to 1½ lower, November $2.23⅝-2.24, and lard was 2 to 12 cents a hundred pounds lower, November $9.45.

That would figure approximately $1,175, his counsel, the firm of Boling, Smith and Allen, said.

"I am ill. Am going to. ." it said.

It was believed Mrs. Shields picked up the child and ran for help. Her body was found 1,000 feet from the home.

Tunnell had moved to Plainview from Quitaque. His wife operates a gift shop in the Grenada theater building here.

recently placed a few of its plants on a four-day week.

Among other producers, Hudson Motor Car Co. closed its plants yesterday with plans to resume operations Monday, and Nash Motors has announced it will shut down its two main plants in Wisconsin in the middle of November.

Breech suggested the possibility that Ford might eventually have to operate on a four-day week should the steel and coal strikes last much longer.

Breech added that the firm could not at this time "go so far as to predict definite December schedules or rate of operations."

"The production outlook for December was bleak, but the end of the Bethlehem strike plus encouraging news in the press indicating possibility of further settlements have caused us to resurvey the possibility of continued output," the official said.

He referred to Bethlehem Steel company's settlement with its CIO United Steel Workers this week, and the union's drive to put similar agreements into effect in other major steel firms.

Even if steel becomes available in volume soon, Ford - id its coal supplies would reach a critical level by the end of this month.

Truman Talk

ruptcy and despair, lies the way of progress.

"Between those two extremes, the main stream of American life rolls steadily onward toward a better world."

Mr. Truman spoke on the anniversary of the day last November when he received word of his victory over Thomas E. Dewey in the bitter 1948 campaign. It was "Truman day" in Minnesota's centennial observance.

Republican Gov. Luther Youngdahy was one of his hosts. The President called it a "bi-partisan" visit but laughed every time he did so.

Equality Is Stressed

And he described last night's talk in advance as one of "bipartisan nature which will be entirely satisfactory to the Democrats in Minnesota." He even kidded about hoping to make a Democrat out of Youngdahl.

The President's train, the one in which he campaigned last year, is due back in Washington tonight (10:15 p. m. EST).

In last night's speech, the President said his administration holds that "all Americans are entitled to equal right and equal opportunities under law, and to equal participation in our national life, free from fear and discrimination."

It's policies, he continued, "spell progress for all our people."

"These policies mean more personal freedom for all Americans, not less. They are our staunch shield against Communism and against every form of totalitarianism. They are the means by which we will achieve the better world we seek."

Pressure Growing

Union men think that pattern is taking shape in the steel strike where CIO President Philip Murray has reached a settlement of the steelworkers' pensoins dispute with Bethlehem, the industry's No. 2 producer.

Pressure is growing for government action in the coal situation if the operators and Lewis make no progress toward an agreement.

Lewis told Stevenson that he was proposing a two-state agreement because "it may be more acceptable to some operators who have overlapping mining interests in both states."

The proposed Chicago meeting, Lewis said, "could be assembled in Chicago tomorrow afternoon" with Governor Stevenson and Gov. Henry F. Schricker of Indiana attending as "moderators and representatives of the public interest."

"The parties could work intensively over the weekend in an effort to accomplish the desired results," the wire added.

president of Hills brothers. "Actually it may not be felt for a year, if at all."

As the buying rush continued, many grocers started rationing purchases to one or two pounds. Others promoted coffee substitutes such as tea. Stores in Cincinnati, O., posted signs announcing they would not give refunds for over-age coffee which hoarders try to return.

A leading Washington, D. C., grocery chain said housewives were buying four or five cans of coffee at a time and housewives in Schenectady, N. Y., bought as much as 24 pounds in a single order. A Minneapolis, Minn., chain store official said all grocers there have run out of some brands of coffee completely.

"We tell the customers there is no reason for excitement and we put up signs trying to discourage hoarding," said a Pittsburgh, Pa., grocer. "But it hasn't done any good. They keep right on buying."

Murder Plot

married 15 years ago he had wanted to make love," she said. "I couldn't stand it. I tried to run away a year ago to my folks in Stockton, Cal., but he forced me to return."

Piatt, meanwhile, declared undying love for his wife and hired an attorney, Ray R. Greenwood, to defend her. Frantically, he begged deputies to let him swap places with his wife in jail.

Completely baffled by the plot to murder him, he said:

"I don't know why she would want to get rid of me. I have as much to offer as any man.

"I know Margaret didn't plan such an awful thing herself. She's not guilty. She's just a sweet little woman."

Scott, however, told Munro that Mrs. Piatt admitted to him she had tried to kill her husband twice before—once with a poisoned drink and again by bludgoning him while he was asleep.

"He passed the drink by and woke up just before she could hit him," Scott said. "She told me that when he woke she just couldn't hit him."

"I love her regardless," Piatt said.

Mrs. Piatt said she "liked" her husband too, but added that after she bared the whole conspiracy to him last Monday night, "he still wanted to make more love."

Last night, Piatt talked briefly by telephone to his wife from their home where he is staying with the children.

"Do you love me?" he asked.

"Yes, Wilford," she replied.

"Say that more convincingly, honey," he pleaded.

"Please, sweetheart, don't have anything to do with any men," he said.

"How can I," she asked, "where I am?"

Ex-Newspaperman Attacks Theology In Record Of His Own Funeral Oration

DENVER, Colo., Nov. 4 (U.P.)—"This my funeral" said the voice of a dead man in a Denver mortuary.

The body of Oscar O. Whitenack, 49, lay motionless in the coffin, but his voice filled the room and rolled out over the small audience of friends.

The former Denver newspaperman had recorded his "rational funeral" address several months before his death. He asked that the record be played at his services.

The voice on the record departed from a funeral oration to attack "this theological nonsense."

"We are thousands of years behind in science and medicine because of clergy and religion," the voice said. "I am an atheist and have been for many years . . .

"I have the utmost contempt for this theological nonsense. The Bible and religion have done nothing but spread the ignorance and impede the progress of the human race . . ."

Mortuary officials said the service, carefully planned by Whitenack before his death, was "most unusual."

Eight Convicts Go To Prison

A prison transfer van left Lubbock county jail this morning with five prisoners who had been convicted of felony offenses in the district courts of Lubbock county, one who had been left here by Parmer county for transfer, and two who, in transit from other Texas places, had been lodged here overnight.

They were:

Adolph Blalock, 25, a negro, sentenced to two years for burglary; Osby Lois James, 31, of 3300-block Ave. H, four years for burglary; Howard Eugene Cutright, 19, a soldier whose civilian home was Charleston, Ill., two years for car theft; Albert Lyons, 43, a Lubbock negro, three years for car theft; J. A. Avery, jr., 20, of 3300-block Ave. A, who Thursday was granted court permission to withdraw his appeal from a five-year sentence for burglary; Jack Bee Wyatt, 51, two years for bigamy from Parmer county; and the two in transit from other points: Henry W. Strickland, 20, of Jackson, Miss., and Jack Lyons, 29, of Abilene, a negro.

Held For Theft

William Terrell (Billy) Tate, 17, of 701 Wabash, was arrested at Idalou Wednesday on a charge of felony theft in connection with the disappearance of a truck loaded with unginned cotton from the yard of the Lubbock Cotton gin Wednesday.

The youth, charged with theft of the truck at present, has posted bond of $1,500 set in the case by C. E. Lynn, justice of the peace. Owner of the vehicle was identified only as Roque Gomez by Assistant District Attorney A. W. Salyars.

Second Man Released

Officials said two men, with the truck and cotton, showed up Wednesday at a New Deal gin which allegedly gave one of the men a check for $240 as an advance on cotton picking costs. A second man picked up by officers in connection with the case was released after questioning, Salyars said.

The check was cashed Wednesday at a bank here, officials said.

Highway Patrolmen Jean Pate and Chris Haskins arrested the youth. Young Tate made and signed a statement of admission that he alone had stolen the property.

Several thefts were reported to law enforcement agencies Thursday.

A pistol was reported taken from Skains' Hardware company at 806 Main. It was described as a .22 caliber target weapon valued at $65.

From Lynn county came reports of theft of equipment from irrigation wells. An engine was taken at one place, a starter, generator and sparkplugs from another. Deputy Sheriff Meldon Leslie of Tahoka reported the thefts.

A 1935 green Ford two-door sedan, license AS 1104, was reported stolen from the Sitz Wrecking yard here.

Money Requests

pleaded another.

The writer of still another letter wanted $300,000 for a mink farm. A Massachusetts man wanted to learn first if Armstrongs racial prejudices included persons of "Celtic" origin, before he asked for money. He was "descended from highland Scotch blood," he wrote.

Eight colleges scattered throughout the nation have appealed to Armstrong for money, with officials of all declaring they were welling to meet the judge's conditions in return for grants.

Hospitals have asked for endowments, requests have come from persons waiting backing for television shows, and publication of songs and poems. One writer, wanting to make sure his letter reached the right Armstrong, placed in parenthesis on the address: "The Rich Mr. Armstrong."

None of the letter writers will get a penny, Armstrong said.

He said he would like "to give everybody money who wants it, patricularly those who need it. But it's impossible."

Armstrong plans to give the money to his foundation, trustees of which will decide what to do with it.

Boswell advised Hale to turn himself over to Atlanta police.

Bader, reportedly a licensed pilot, had been flying the plane since he came to Tulia June 15 with the Texarkana Steel Building company to erect quonset huts in the area.

Owned By Student

The light plane was owned by Bob Bills, a University of Texas student, according to his brother, Dick Bills, a Tulia service station operator.

Tabor Alford, owner of the farm on which the plane crashed, said the craft circled the area for five or 10 minutes and then pulled up after flying at a low altitude. The plane next went into a spin but pulled out just before nosing over and hitting the ground.

Nose of the plane was buried in the ground by the impact and the engine was jarred back into the cockpit, apparently killing both men instantly. The plane did not burn but was demolished.

Wallace Funeral home attendants said Addington, a resident here for five years, is survived by his wife. Bader is survived by his wife and two daughters, whose names were not available today.

Lubbock Man

An unknown man took him to a hospital, where his condition remained serious this afternoon.

No names of any other witnesses had been obtained, The American said. However, the Odessa sheriff received a call from an anonymous person who said he had seen one of the men charged shoot Bennett, and had seen another stab him.

The suspects, leaving their victim in front of the cafe, quietly disappeared.

At a swank tourist court where Bennett had been staying here, it was learned that three men in a car answering description of one described to be occupied by the three suspects charged had driven up to the court several times looking for Bennett.

Reports also circulated in Odessa that Lubbock police, about midnight, had received a local call from a woman asking if "anything happened" to Bennett.

(Lubbock police were checking their records this afternoon, at request of Lubbock newsmen, seeking to determine if such a call was made.)

Residents Are Urged To Get X-Ray Exams

All Lubbock county residents 15 years of age or older are urged to report either individually or in groups to receive free x-ray examinations at the American Legion hall, Lubbock County Tuberculosis association reminded early this afternoon.

The total receiving examinations since Wednesday morning had reached 1,730 by noon today. Survey officials had hoped, however, that as many as 1,500 would report daily.

Examinations will be given from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. Saturday and will be given each day next week except Armistice day.

Some persons are under the impression they will be accepting charity if they report for the free chest examination, but that definitely is not correct, survey officials have stated. The examinations are financed by taxes and provided by the State Health department.

PARTY LINES ARE CRISS-CROSSED

Rowdy Campaign For Mayor Of New York Nearing Final Stage

NEW YORK, Nov. 4. (AP)—One of the rowdiest mayoral campaigns in New York City's history roared into its final stages today.

With party lines hopelessly snarled, three candidates fired volley after volley of accusation and denial. And each claimed a winning hold on the record number of 2,773,677 qualified to vote in next Tuesday's election.

Democratic Mayor William O'Dwyer, 59, the Irish-born ex-cop who is seeking reelection, called the campaign "the dirtiest we've ever had."

HST Backs Mayor

Certainly it's among the noisiest. Fighting tooth-and-nail against O'Dwyer, and against each other, are:

Rep. Vito Marcantonio, 46, fiery candidate of the American Labor party and boss of a tightly-organized east Harlem district. The communists are all-out in support of his rallies, street movies and door-to-door campaigning.

Newbold Morris, 47, socially upper-crust choice of (A) the Republicans, (B) the pro-labor Liberal party, and (C) the City Fusion party, which campaigns for good government on a non-partisan basis.

President Truman is supporting Mayor O'Dwyer. The President, according to White House sources, will make his position on the mayoralty clear Saturday night when he delivers a radio speech from Washington. The speech will support the candidacy of former Gov. Herbert H. Lehman, Democratic and Liberal party nominee for U. S. Senator in New York state.

Graft Increase Charged

Normally the city is Democratic. But Marcantonio claims he'll poll 800,000 votes and win. Best off-the-record estimate of politicians is that he would beat O'Dwyer and elect Morris if he got 500,000. If he gets less, O'Dwyer is figured to win.

O'Dwyer says he kept many appointees of the late Fusion mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia on the job and expanded the "Little Flower's" slum clearance and other public works programs. Many AFL and CIO leaders have declared for him.

Morris, president of the city council in the La Guardia era, says gambling, graft and prostitution have flourished in New York since O'Dwyer was elected four years ago.

Marcantonio, onetime political ally of La Guardia, is blasting race segregation and charging police also demanding that the dime subway fare be dropped back to a nickel.

Candidate Neutral

Angrily, O'Dwyer has retorted that Morris is a stooge for Republican "reaction" and that Marcantonio is hand-in-glove with communists who, the mayor says, have a stranglehold on the city welfare department.

O'Dwyer is backing Lehman for the U. S. Senate. But the Liberals, supporting Lehman, are backing Morris over O'Dwyer. And Morris has refused to declare for either Lehman of his Republican opponent, Sen. John Foster Dulles.

A party coalition is seeking to put another negro in the city council seat of Benjamin J. Davis, jr., the city's only elected communist official. Davis is one of the eleven top communist leaders under prison sentence for conspiracy to advocate violent overthrow of the government.

The use of carrier pigeons for military purposes began in the days of the Roman Empire.

Expert Says British Tired Of Their Diet

LONDON, Nov. 4 (AP)—A University of Edinburgh expert on nutrition suggested today that ten years of bitter austerity may be getting the British people down. "The fatigue and lassitude so often complained of in this country," Dr. A. P. Meiklejohn wrote in "The Practitioner," a medical journal, "are much more probably the result of the common monotony and frustration of post war life than of underfeeding."

"There is no objective reason for thinking that normal people, receiving the average diet available in Britain, are likely to suffer from malnutrition,' he said. It's more likely, he added, that people are just tired of eating the same old thing.

Soil Conservation Team Chosen To Hold West Texas Meetings

Burlington Lines of Fort Worth Thursday announced the team that will conduct soil conservation meetings at selected West Texas and Panhandle points Nov. 14-18.

The team will consist of M. K. Thorton, extension agricultural chemist, and A. H. Walker, extension range specialist of Texas A. and M. and the Cook county range management team, composed of B. T. Haws, county agent, Douglas Robison and Billy Whitt.

The meetings are being held under the sponsorship of the Burlington Lines and the Second National bank of Houston in cooperation with the U. S. Soil conservation and the Texas A. and M. extension service.

Thorton, author of "Soils and How to Treat Them" and "Fertilizer Recommendations for Texas," has been an agricultural chemist for A. and M. since 1938. A native of Arkansas, Thornton came to A. and M. in 1919 after receiving his master of agriculture from Columbia. He served in the Chemical Warfare service of the U. S. Army during the war.

Walker, a graduate of Texas A. and M., has been associated with the extension department since 1937 when he served as county agent for Culberson county. After service in the Army he returned to agriculture work as county agent of Menard county. He received the appointment to extension range specialist in June, 1948.

Problems To Be Discussed

Walker will talk on the condition of range lands and some of the major problems confronting ranchmen. He will discuss brush infestation, overgrazing and droughts. Thorton will discuss soil building generally, emphasizing the value of legumes and fertilizers in soil building.

Meetings will be held in Shamrock at the Community building Nov. 14 at 1 p.m., in Childress at the high school auditorium Nov. 15 at 7:30 p.m., in Quanah at the Texan theater Nov. 16 at 2:30 p. m., in Henrietta in the Dorothy theater Nov. 17 at 2 p.m., in Spur in the Spur theater Nov. 18 at 1:30 p.m. and in Stamford in Round-Up hall Nov. 18 at 7:30 p.m.

Local committees are winding up the arrangements to tour local conservation projects with the official party.

Water Development Meeting Of WTCC Set At Fort Worth

ABILENE, Nov. 4 (Special) — Largest attendance since prewar general conventions is predicted by officers of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce as the organization makes ready for its annual business assembly and water development banquet set for Tuesday, Nov. 22, at Fort Worth.

Attending the latter, in addition to the WTCC's directors and distinguished guests, will be delegations from local chambers of commerce, mayors, city councilmen, water improvement association officials, and others from an estimated 140 West Texas towns.

Groups Plan To Attend

With the gathering still three weeks away the WTCC headquarters office has had a word from directors and chamber managers in many towns that they are already organizing their attendance. Memphis, Ranger and Haskell were first in with their orders for banquet tickets totaling 28, and assurances of delegations numbering from 5 to 15 have been received from Pampa, Dalhart, Big Spring, San Angelo, Colorado City, Roscoe, Roby, Ballinger, Sweetwater, Stephenville, Cisco, Eastland, Stamford, Rochester; Abilene, WTCC's headquarters city, and Odessa, hometown of President John D. Mitchell.

The confident prediction is that 1,000 or more West Texans will be in on the sumptuous banquet at Fort Worth's Texas hotel. That city's delegation is expected to number several hundred and, joined by Abilene's group, will host the concluding session.

Half-Day Session Set

The WTCC's executive board decided this year to hold a half-day convention. It will start at 1:30 p.m. on the 22nd with the annual business-only session at which around 200 directors and other delegates are expected. This will be held in the main dining room of the Worth hotel and will close around 5 o'clock. Then the entire concourse will meet at the Texas hotel for the banquet set to start at 6:30 p.m. There the speaker will be Julius A. Krug, secretary of the U. S. Department of interior. The secretary's address will be on "West Texas' Water Problem and Solution."

Distinguished Guests Expected

Amon G. Carter, sr., honorary lifetime director of the WTCC, will be banquet master of ceremonies. The distinguished guest list will include Michael Strauss, commissioner of the U. S. Bureau of reclamation; Senators Tom Connally and Lyndon Johnson; House Speaker Sam Rayburn; high officials of the state government; and members of the U. S. Congress and State Legislature from West Texas districts. A program feature will be the presentation to Commissioner Strauss of a portfolio containing letters from more than 100 West Texas towns setting forth their critical need of adequate municipal domestic water supplies.

The banquet will be in celebration of the Reclamation bureau's surveys now under way of West Texas upstream reservoir sites, to be followed by construction of a series of multi-city dams. convention, and its work program Over-all theme of the WTCC for 1950 and the long future, is WATER—as expressed in the adopted slogan: "Dam West Texas or West Texas Is Damned."

Movie Director Told To Pay Grocery Bill

SANTA MONICA, Calif., Nov. 4. (AP)—Everyone, including the hounds, ate scrumptiously at the Howard Hawkses.

That seemed clear yesterday as superior court ordered Hawks, the movie director, and his former wife, Nancy, to pay a grocer's bill of $3,590.48, covering one year.

An almost daily item: three pounds of hamburger for the Hawks' dogs.

Texas Solon Works To Get Black-Eyed Peas For Navy Men

GLADEWATER, Nov. 4. (U.P.)—Rep. Lindley Beckworth, D-Texas, worked on a project today to help popularize the black-eyed pea with the navy, an organization long noted for dishing out beans for breakfast.

It all began when some Texas sailors stationed at Green Cove Springs, Fla., naval station let Beckworth know they weren't getting the proper ration of black-eyed peas. Beckworth wrote the Navy department.

John T. Koehler, an assistant secretary of the navy, replied that "the small demand exhibited in the past for fresh and canned black-eyed peas has rendered it uneconomical to procure these items on a national basis."

He added, however, that tests were being conducted at the naval air station, Corpus Christi, to learn if "more general use" in navy messes would be justified.

Koehler also said the navy's bureau of supplies and accounts "is attempting to ascertain why there were no black-eyed peas available" at Green Cove Springs naval station.

Brothers Meet After 47-Year Separation

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 4 (AP) — Two brothers met here the other day for the first time in 47 years. Samuel and Leopold Austolker parted when Leopold left Latvia for South Africa in 1902. Later the rest of the family including Samuel came to Philadelphia.

Samuel changed his name to Stolker and started an auto accessory business in Baltimore. Leopold changed his name to Austoker and started a timber business in Johannesburg. Both were successful.

At a family reunion here each brother said he lived in the country with the greatest opportunities.

ACHESON KNIFES PROCEDURES

Years Of Red Tape Required To Get Some Goods Into U. S.

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—Secretary of State Acheson this week took a few sharp cracks at the trouble a foreigner runs into when he wants to ship goods into this country.

He made a speech which was a plea for better world trade. And he suggested very positively that the United States has to make some moves to help that trade by letting more goods from other countries come in.

As an example of the stumbling blocks set up by this country he cited the red tape that's been wound around world trade by the laws and regulations covering goods imported here.

Can Be Sure Of Nothing

The customs inspectors, in figuring out how much imported goods are worth and how much tariff should be placed on them, try to guide themselves by regulations (they fill a two-inch thick book) the tariff laws, and court decisions.

Said Acheson:

"Under present laws and procedures, it sometimes takes as long as three or five years before an importer knows exactly what amount of duty he will be required to pay on a given shipment. Sometimes the duty may, after a lapse of years, amount to more than the whole amount of the shipment.

"An importer can't be sure whether a tire is going to be classified as a tire or an article (made) in part of carbon. He can't be sure whether one of those little pianos you see in night clubs is going to be considered a musical instrument or a toy.

Corpse In Container

"In order to get in gloves trimmed with bird feathers to meet a sudden feminine fancy in this country, he has to prove that the birds from which the feathers came were tame, not wild, a process which turns out to be very time-consuming.

"It has even been suggested, although I shall not guarantee the veracity of this statement, that there is some question whether coffin containing a corpse should be dutiable as an article of merchandise or considered as the 'usual container' of its contents and hence be free of duty."

If a Frenchman wanted to send over those gloves trimmed with bird feathers, he could write and ask the U. S. customs some questions about the gloves.

Procedure Studied

But no one can find out, before his product actually arrives here for examination by the customs inspectors on the spot, exactly how they'll classify it as to value and so on.

A decision by the inspectors can be appealed to the collector—boss of the customs district (there are 40 such districts). If he upholds his inspectors, the case can be appealed to the bureau of customs.

If the bureau upholds the collector and the inspectors, the case can be appealed to the customs court for final decision.

The customs bureau itself has been studying its procedures and regulations for a couple of years.

And this week experts of the American, British and Canadian customs services have been going over the American set-up. Why?

To see how they may be simplified so that more trade can flow in here.

When Congress comes back the customs bureau may suggest some changes in the laws governing imports.

U. S. CONCERNED OVER PROBLEM

UN Struggles For Decision On Italy's Pre-War Territories

LAKE SUCCESS, Nov. 4. (AP)—Powerful groups within the United Nations worked today to try to ensure a decision on the disposal of Italy's pre-war African colonies at this assembly session.

Corridor conferences and special meetings of groups and blocs involved the United States, Britain, the Latin American countries and the Arab nations.

A U. S. spokesman said flatly the Americans attach considerable importance to getting a solution of the question, which was turned over to the assembly when the council of foreign ministers was unable to agree on it by Sept. 15, 1948.

Prestige At Stake

Spokesmen for all the groups agreed another postponement of action on independence demands for the colonies would be a severe blow to the prestige of the U. N.

The subject of what to do with Libia, Italian Somaliland and Eritrea is a touchy one because of the conflicting racial, political and strategic interests which converge in the area.

This is one question before the U. N., however, in which east-west rivalry is overshadowed by the intense interest of Latin American and Arab nations in Libia and Somaliland.

The 20-nation Latin American bloc, sensitive to both sentimental ties to Italy and the Italian minorities throughout South America, want to ensure Italian trusteeship over Somaliland. If they don't get their way, they threaten to upset plans to make Libia independent by 1952, as desired by the Arabs.

Proposals Described

The question has been threshed out at length in a special 21-nation subcommittee of the assembly's political committee. The subcommittee's recommendations come before the full 59-nation group as soon as the political committee winds up its debate on threats to peace in the Balkans.

The subcommittee recommends that Libia become independent by 1952; that Italian Somaliland be guided to independence by 1959, under an Italian trusteeship; and that a special five-nation group investigate conditions in Eritrea and report back next year.

The Latin American and Arab groups are reported authoritatively to have worked out a compromise plan whereby Italy would be given guardianship over Somaliland but two other nations would be named to exercise advisory functions in the trusteeship administration. One of these two would be an Arab nation.

U.S.-British Divided

An Arab-Latin agreement, backed by the United States, would provide a majority in the political committee. But the plan still needs a two-thirds vote of the full general assembly.

In order to gain wider support, the United States has been sending experts to meet with various delegations.

U. S. Ambassador-At-Large Philip C. Jessup has met with Britain's minister of state, Hector McNeil, in an attempt to assuage British misgivings about the plan as it affects Libia—held by Britain since the war.

The British feel that the subcommittee recommendation for a high commissioner and a 10-man advisory council in Libia would interfere too much with their interim administration. They also have expressed objections to "imposing" unity on the three provinces of Libia.

Some progress has been made in the Jessup-McNeil conferences, but the British and American views are not entirely reconciled.

If the subcommittee's recommendations can not be passed by an impressive vote in the political committee, the U. S. will attempt to salvage whatever parts of the plan can be saved, an American spokesman said.

Ava Gardner Leaves In March For Film Making In Europe

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 4.—It took years of trying, but Ava Gardner is now a big name at MGM.

The pride of Smithfield, N. C., leaves next March for Spain and England, where she will appear in "Pandora and the Flying Dutchman' for MGM. She will star opposite James Mason, who she says is a "dreamboat." She says he's the most cooperative and ablest actor she has worked with.

Cast In Role

The studio has also cast Ava for "Right Cross" with Dick Powell and Ricardo Montalban. This would follow her current loan—out for "Carriage Entrance," but Ava's got news for them: She's not going to do it.

Dale Evans revisits her home state of Texas (she's a Uvalde gal) when she and Roy Rogers play the Houston stock show Feb. 1-12.

Will Face Press

Robert Mitchum will face the New York press after he winds up "Carriage Entrance." It will be his first trip to the big town "since my recent unpleasantness." He returns to start work on "Smiler With A Gun," his fourth film this year. He claims he has to keep working to pay off his debts.

Dana Andrews plans to get back into producing his own films, despite his wounds from "No Minor Vices." He is nesting an idea for a big-time film which would cost a mere $400,000.

TYDINGS HITS NAVAL ARGUMENT

New Navy Chief Of Operations Junks Division Of "Strategy"

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4. (AP)—"Op 23," a naval agency said to have masterminded the admirals' bitter congressional attack on defense policies, has been junked by Adm. Forrest P. Sherman, new chief of naval operations.

Sherman, a strong supporter of armed forces unification, cracked down on the 30-man unit less than 24 hours after taking over from Adm. Louis Denfeld as the navy's top uniformed officer.

There were reports some days ago that the navy's inspector general, Rear Adm. Allen R. McCann, had seized the group's records and was investigating its activities.

Mapped Strategy

"Op 23" was what the navy called its operations division 23. Actually, its full title was organizational, research and policy division of the office of the chief of naval operations. It was headed by Capt. A. A. Burke, who testified in Congress against present Pentagon policy.

Sherman's order dissolved the group—which consisted of 13 officers and 17 enlisted men—and handed its work to other navy agencies. Op 23's "principle functions have been completed," a statement said.

The unit was said to have mapped strategy for the broadscale barrage laid down by top navy officers in sensational hearings before the House armed services committee last month.

The admirals charged that the air force was being strengthened at the navy's expense, with resultant damage to national defense. Adm Denfeld, one of those who testified, was fired soon after. Sherman was named to replace him.

Operations division 23 was originally set up with these broad objectives:

"To conduct research and study involving organizational units and principles now in use or proposed in the national military establishment in order to assist in formulation of policy by advising the chief of naval operations regarding relationships of units, functions and policies to existing legislation and navy department procedures."

The unit's junking came hard on the heels of another blow aimed at the position that American seapower is becoming dangerously weak.

Senator Tydings (D-Md), chairman of the Senate armed services committee, declared yesterday that the U. S. Navy is "three times" as strong as the combined navies of other nations.

Army Claimed Weak

On the other hand, Tdyings told reporters, "our army with only a few divisions is pitifully below the comparable strength of the other great country." That was obviously a reference to Russia.

Tydings recenfly returned to this country from a series of conferences with European military leaders.

In air strength, he said, Russia and the United States are about equal.

"Nobody can beat us on the high seas, and we intend to keep the best navy in the world," Tdyings added.

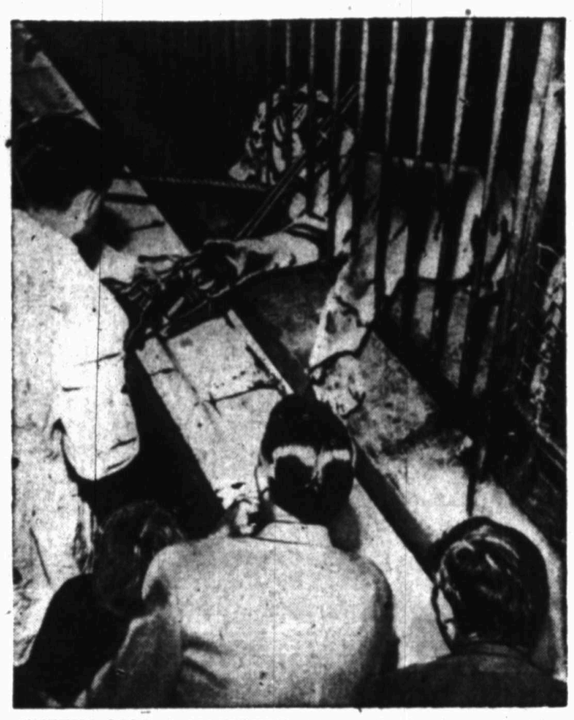

"But we must keep a good army and air force. That's where we are weak. That's where the enemy will beat us if it is done. I'm worried about the army and I will be more worried if the air force falls into second place."

Ozark Farmer Executed In Gas Chamber For Murder Of Wife

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Nov. 4 (AP)—An Ozark farmer was executed early today in the Missouri penitentiary gas chamber for slaying his wife.

The farmer, Ernest Afton Scott, 49, also was charged with killing circuit court Judge Charles H. Jackson, but the state elected to try him only on one count.

Scott's attorneys based their defense on the "unwritten law."

One of Scott's daughters, Willa Mae, was a key prosecution witness. She denied there was any romantic alliance between her mother and the judge.

Jackson and Mrs. Scott were shot to death March 29, 1948.

The farmer said shortly before his execution that he always paid his debts—"and this is no exception."

The architects are Haynes & Kirby of Lubbock.

Bolivian Pilot Battles Death

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4 (AP) — Doctors fought to save the life of Erick Rios Bridoux today after the Bolivian pilot suffered a sharp relapse upon learning that the plane collision which injured him had killed 55 others.

Attending physicians gave the battered young director of Bolivian aviation a 60-40 chance to pull through. He is in an Alexandria, Va., hospital with a broken spine, two broken ribs, head injuries and pneumonia.

Rios Bridoux was at the controls of a P-38 fighter plane which tore into an Eastern Airlines DC-4 over National airport Tuesday, causing the death of all 55 aboard the transport Tuesday, causing the death of all 55 aboard the transport. The Bolivian was the only person to survive the crash.

Doctors had kept from him all details of the accident. Bolivian Ambassador Ricardo Martinez Vargas had explained: "Latin Americans are very sensitive, and it would kill him to hear about it."

Visitor Spilled Story

Yesterday it was disclosed that a visitor had spilled the whole story to the injured pilot. Hospital attendants reported that Rios Bridoux, who had been on the mend, took a bad turn for the worse.

All but one of the victims' bodies had been recovered from the Potomac river last night. Navy divers who earlier had enabled a huge crane to lift part of the shattered airliner off the river bed also succeeded late yesterday in locating the P-38. They marked it with buoys and planned to pull it to the surface today.

Officials hoped the fighter's instruments might give a clue to the cause of the crash. It occurred after frantic control tower operators had tried twice to warn Rios Bridoux away from the big transport.

The Bolivian had bought the P-38 here for his government and was giving it a final check ride.

Federal Aid Sought By Frenship School

WOLFFORTH, Nov. 4 (Special) — Supt. E. A. Deering of Frenship school returned Thursday from Fort Worth where he testified Wednesday before a congressional sub-committee on education.

The hearing, which was attended by several Texas school administrators, was scheduled by the House sub-committee on education and labor to obtain testimony relevant to a plan for providing permanent legislation for federal aid to schools overburdened by students enrolling from nearby military installations.

Enrollment Hike Cited

Deering's testimony revealed an unusual increase in the enrollment at Frenship school since the beginning of the school term, primarily as a result of the reactivation of the Reese Air Force base.

His statement pointed out that Reese Air Force base is tax-free, but has brought into his district more than a hundred school children from outside Texas, for which no financial support from state school funds may be secured.

He said new enrollments thus far this year were 112, a figure which has swelled total enrollment to 598, and has burdened the school with a shortage of both teachers and class rooms.

Deering requested federal aid to build four additional classrooms to the 12-room elementary school building now under construction.

S. H. Bradford, a Frenship board member, accompanied Deering to the hearing.

THERE'LL BE JOBS IN THE SPRING

The Best Mental And Physical Specimens Sought For Census

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4. (AP)—Want to join the army of 140,000 men and women who will take the nation's 1950 census? They'll start next April.

You'll need good health, mentally and physically, and will also have to have an automobile available in good condition.

The census bureau said today that selection of enumerators for the bureau's field work will be made with extreme care, as these persons will be collecting confidential information.

Jobs For Few Weeks

Nobody should apply until after Jan. 1, the bureau said, because all census takers will be hired next year, and then only at local offices.

"They will be called upon to exercise sound judgment, patience and understanding, and they must be able to adjust themselves to varied circumstances," the bureau continued.

If you can get your application acepted after the first of the year you probably will be paid on a "piece-price basis" or for each person or farm of enumeration.

The average satisfactory worker probably will earn about eight dollars a day. Most enumerators will be employed from two to four weeks.

The qualification lists show that each applicant must be able to understand complex written and oral instructions, write legibly, conduct an interview, express himself "clearly and convincingly" and be able to gain the cooperation and confidence of people in all stations of life."

Age Limit Given

More than that, the applicant must have a "personable appearance" and his reputation, character and integrity must be above reproach.

He must be in good health and able to travel continuously in all kinds of weather and over all types of terrain.

"The work involves a good deal of walking and standing for extended periods. In cities it is frequently necessary for an enumerator to climb several flights of sairs in order to interview respondents."

The preferred age group is 25 to 45 years and the definite age limit is 21 to 65. Veterans who can meet the requirements will be given preference over non-veterans.

Those selected cannot hold office in any political organization or have any expectation of serving in any form of political activity while actually employed by the census bureau.

Third Brush Blaze In One Week Hits Los Angeles Area

PASADENA, Calif., Nov. 4 (AP) Weary Los Angeles county firemen fought today to douse their third serious brush fire in the last week.

With Southern California abnormally hot and dry (it was 95 to 98 yesterday), the latest blaze broke out and burned 100 acres in the Elintridge hills near the Rose Bowl. Barring an upsurge of wind, firemen expected to have it under control today. It was reported "well corralled" last night.

Fire Threatens School

About 150 students and teachers at Sacred Heart academy, Catholic girls school, had to leave in a hurry as flames seared to within 100 feet of the school and several large homes.

Earlier blazes burned thousands of acres in Angeles National forest and the Santa Susana mountains.

Still another fire in the Angeles Forest was reported burning briskly through brush and scrub pine in the uninhabited Sawmill mountains. The blaze was said to have a 10-mile perimeter.

HIS OTHER ARM

GERMANTOWN, Tenn. (U.P.) — Eight-year-old Gordon Haas fell from his pony two days before his piano recital and broke an arm, but he still was able to perform. His brother, 11-year-old Johnny, played the left-hand part.

IT'S 400-DAY CLOCK

PINCKNEYVILLE, Ill. (U.P.)—Mr. and Mrs. Leo Broha claim that the timepiece sent them from Europe by their son is 50 times as good as grandfather's old eight-day clock. Their son, a Berlin airlift flier, told them the clock would run 400 days without winding.

Parents Cause Of Four Deaths

HANFORD, Calif., Nov. 4. (AP)—Dr. Donald Upp, Kings county health officer, today placed responsibility for malnutrition deaths of four babies squarely with the parents.

"We can't put enough spark in these people (migratory farm workers) for their own welfare," he said. "They won't do anything for themselves. As long as they don't raise their standard of living, they are going to lose babies."

District Attorney William Harp requested Coroner J. Larry Smith to hold inquests into two Monday deaths. He said if negligence can be proved there will be prosecutions. The other two deaths occurred some time ago.

Health Lost Again

Dr. Upp told the county board of supervisors:

There have been cases in which parents brought undernourished children to the county hospital. The youngsters were nursed back to health. But in a few weeks they were back, once more in a starved condition.

The health officer said malnutrition exists through the San Joaquin valley where more than 100,000 farm workers are picking cotton in six counties.

Graveside Service For Infant Slated

Graveside services were conducted today at 10 a.m. in Eastlawn cemetery for an infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Baker, 2215 Thirty-first. The baby died at birth in West Texas hospital Thursday morning.

Dr. Travis White, pastor of the First Christian church, officiated at the services. Rix Funeral home was in charge of arrangements.

Texas Women Of '50s Defended By Paper

AUSTIN, Nov. 4 (U.P.)—Birth announcements, a standard feature of today's newspaper, weren't always an accepted practice.

Recent research by the Texas' department of public health shows that some editors in the 1850's branded such publication as "impious," "blasphemous" and "ridiculous, as honorable and deserving as Her Royal Highness."

bald."

However, the editor of the Texas Monument in October, 1857, defended the practice. Birth announcements. He wrote, was neither immoral, irreligious nor immodest.

"Besides," he added, newspapers of two continents have been announcing the births of sons and daughters to Queen Victoria and I consider the Texas ladies as virtuous as Her Royal Highness."

THE GOOD NEWS SPREADS ALL OVER TEXAS...

"Magic" Cooking, Baking, Frying Results Are Easy with New, Homogenized Swift's Jewel Shortening!

CHALLENGES THE COSTLIEST... COSTS MUCH LESS! SAVES 5¢ TO 7¢ A POUND

There's a new "headliner" in the shortening field! Swift's new, homogenized Jewel Shortening. Only recently introduced, this new product challenges costliest brands. Yet it costs 5¢ to 7¢ less per pound.

The new Jewel employs a controlled homogenization process in the blending of its fine vegetable oils and meat-food fats.

As a result, the finished product is of highest quality with a remarkable smooth and even texture. No other shortening is more nutritious or more digestible.

Many of the compliments now being lavished on Jewel by enthusiastic homemakers concern its use in preparing fried foods of all kinds. For this new shortening remains smoke-free and free from objectionable odors at extreme cooking temperatures. Actually, its "smoke-point" is 40° higher than costliest shortenings.

The thriftiness of the new product, has also come in for its share of applause. Many homemakers, in fact, state that they have been able to purchase 4 pounds of the new homogenized Jewel for the same price they usually pay for 3 pounds of costliest shortenings.

MAN AND WIFE AGREE:

"JEWEL CAKES TASTE PERFECT"

JEWEL'S "SMOKE-POINT" 40° HIGHER!

Simple test proves it won't smoke up or smell like costliest shortenings!

Dramatic proof that Jewel is smokeless is offered by a recent test comparing Jewel with three costliest shortenings. In every instance, Jewel demonstrated a marked superiority.

The test consists merely of placing equal amounts of Jewel and any costliest shortening in two separate pans of the same size. To verify temperatures reached, a cooking thermometer (preferably two) is used.

As identical heat is applied the expensive brand will begin to smoke and give off odors.

Jewel, however, can be left until its temperature is 40° higher than its competitor's.

Home economists agree that the perfect deep-fat frying temperature is 365° to 375°. Expensive shortenings will begin to smoke at 360°. Jewel, however, could be heated to 400°.

LIGHT, TENDER, FLUFFY... AND THEY COST LESS TO MAKE!

Want to keep hubby happy—and cut down on food costs, too? Then here's good news!

With the new, homogenized Jewel Shortening you can cook to his heart's desire—and save money while you do. For new Jewel—although it costs much less than costliest brands of shortenings—challenges them all when it comes to results.

In Memphis, for example, Mrs. J. A. Perry reported making a Jam Cake that would "just melt in your mouth!" While in New Orleans, another homemaker, Mrs. Alice H. Langston stated that her husband "just loves his biscuits made with Jewel!" Mrs. Langston further commented: "With the amount of shortening we use, we figure our savings on Jewel at about $8.00 a year. That'd buy plenty of eggs!"

As Swift's famous test kitchens have discovered however, Jewel's magic is not restricted to cakes and biscuits. Piecrusts, cookies, fried foods of all kinds, likewise benefit when new Jewel Shortening is used.

No Other Shortening Is More Digestible Or More Nutritious!

Don't be fooled—say scientists.

Just because a shortening costs more doesn't make it any more nutritious or digestible.

Actually, any fats—including the fine vegetable and meat-food fats in Jewel—are among the most completely digested foods.

Furthermore, all fats are important in good nutrition. For they yield 2¼ times as many energy units per pound as either carbohydrates or proteins.

In other words, money can't buy a more nutritious or digestible shortening than new Jewel. Not even if you pay $10 a pound!

Like Fried Chicken? Here's How to Add a Touch of "Magic"!

Developed by Swift's famous Martha Logan, here's a special fried chicken recipe featuring new Jewel Shortening. Just follow the 6 magic steps indicated for your convenience.

1. Clean, wash and drain a 2½ to 3 lb. (dressed) chicken. 2. Cut into serving pieces. 3. Measure ½ cup flour and 2 tsps. salt into a paper bag. 4. Drop in each piece of chicken separately and shake until coated. 5. Heat enough Jewel Shortening to make ¼ inch depth in a large skillet. 6. Fry chicken over medium heat, turning until golden brown. Reduce heat, cover and cook about ½ hour, until tender. Uncover and cook ten minutes.

Challenges the costliest...costs much less!

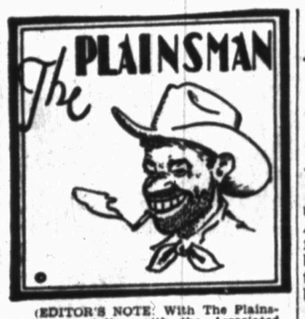

Based on a new and different formula—blended by homogenization for extra smoothness and even-texture. So economical you can purchase 4 pounds for the same price you usually pay for 3 pounds of costliest shortening brands.

NEW! HOMOGENIZED! THRIFTY!

THE CRUSADE against "falsies," those soft instruments that build up a lady's facade, seems to be sweeping the country.

From Hollywood, where a group of well equipped actresses protested the pretensions of those to whom Mother Nature was not so kind, it has spread to the students of the University of Houston. No doubt the crusade will grow and will generate sound and fury but I doubt very much that it will attain enough force to blow up a set of pneumatic falsies.

What, I wonder, is the objection to falsies? It seems to me that they improve the scenery, except for those extreme models that look as if a couple of spikes were pushing at the blouse from the inside.

The girls have always done things to their figures. They have made wasp waists with corsets, they have taken off inches with girdles, they have added to the beauty of their legs with high heels, they have padded their sterns, reddened their lips, blackened their eyes, whitened their faces, turned their hair red, yellow or black at will, curled said hair when it was straight and straightened it when it was curly.

As to their chests, they have lifted them up, strapped them down, covered them, uncovered them and now seem to be pushing them out.

IN SHORT, they have been doing with themselves as they wished, a custom which began with Eve in Eden and will continue till the Atom Bomb gets the last of them. Having crusaded against ugly shoes that allow toes and heels to flap, and against long dresses, and having noticed that the shoes are uglier than ever and the dresses still long, I have joined the ladies in the falsies war. If they want 'em, let 'em have 'em. Furthermore, not all man's prayers, threats, orders, gibes, jokes, scorn and pleas can do anything about it. The uplift movement can't be downed.

Anyhow, so long as the male merely looks, he isn't being cheated.

THE REPORT of the State Highway department on the tourist traffic in Texas last year shows that 3,859,157 people came to see us in their autos and left $178,562,365.

That's a nice bit of business and one that should be encouraged by every means.

The tourist spent a third of his money for food, a fourth for lodging, a sixth for car expenses and a fourth for other items.

Of our visitors, 36 per cent were impressed by the highway and traffic services, 19 per cent by the courtesy of Texans, 13 per cent by the scenery, and on down the line to 1 per cent who were impressed by the food they consumed.

The biggest item of expense was $59,520,789 for food, and only 1 per cent thought it was worth comment.

This doesn't mean that Texas food is any worse than in most other states. Probably only Louisiana and Maryland, and perhaps one or two more of the Southern States, would impress more tourists.

Texas food is like most American food—not good. It is something to fill the stomach and keep you going to next mealtime. It is cooked without skill, without imagination and usually without thought.

Perhaps the poor quality of American food accounts for the oceans of ketchup that are poured over it every day. Ketchup kills all flavor except its own—and ketchup has a good flavor—and we find Americans eating ketchup-flavored meat, ketchup-flavored potatoes, ketchup-flavored bread, and so on down the menu. Particularly is the taste of seafood lost under the sea of ketchup.

Why Americans are such poor cooks is anybody's guess. Maybe it is because we have always had plenty of good food—when raw—and don't have to resort to fine cooking and delicate sauces to make our meals edible. We have always had the best cuts and best quality and don't need to make low class provisions taste better than they really are. Instead we ruin the good stuff with bad cooking.

ISN'T IT amazing how many people can't do such a simple thing as scramble eggs? They are a fine example of what a difference skill in cooking makes—the good cook turns them out fluffy, tasty and inviting to look at; the poor one serves a soggy, greasy mess, the sight of which takes away the appetite.

I suppose American cooks do their best job on beefsteaks. They should, because we are about the only people in the world who can afford to, and do, eat beefsteaks. But up comes a fine steak, simmering in its own juices, putting forth a perfume that would delight the gods, and, from force of habit, we dump a gallon of ketchup on it, and it goes down with the same taste it would have were it tripe or cardboard.

Maybe cooking isn't the only thing we don't know. Maybe we don't know how to eat, either.

According to Dr. Lynn B. Mitchell, professor emeritus of classical languages at the University of New Mexico:

"You don't get a haircut any more, the learned doc explains, you get a trichotomy.

"A shave is a pogotomy, a manicure an ohychotomy.

"Your baby doesn't spit up after his meal any more; he has a case of anoptysis. And if you are a mother and your infant is fed by both breast and bottle, the brat is amphiphagous. But that isn't as bad as it sounds."

I hope the barbers don't get any hi-falutin' ideas from those fancy names. Might make haircuts and shaves more expensive. Like when physicians changed the names of old-fashioned catarrh to sinusitis. Price of treatment went up from 25 cents to $25.

LEE TALIAFERRO, of St. Joseph's sanitorium, sent me a piece the other day. It was written by the late, great William Allen White, who made his small-town daily, the Emporia, Kans. Gazette, a nationally known and quoted newspaper.

"What a curious profession is journalism," wrote Bill White. "It is the only profession whose dead are never buried. The doctor's mistakes never rise from the tomb to mock him. The teacher's failures submerge in the anonymous shortcomings of society. The lawyer's material errors mount the gallows or chafe behind bars. They can not follow him to hoot at his weakness. No ghosts come back to laugh at the preacher's futile homilies. But the editor carries in his files the embalmed copies of yesterday's blunders. They grin at him sardonically across the years. They haunt his visions and stay his hands when he tries to touch the stars. More than that, in a thousand hearts and faces around him the editor sees the shadows of his dead follies. Men know him for the fool he was. So we trudge on burdened forever with our sins; sins that once seemed so reasonable, so sane! Could Job have held his faith against (those) who came to 'mourn with him and to comfort him' if they had brought cuneiform tablets with them, setting forth all the brash sayings of his youth. In the face of that nonsense would Job not have cursed God, and died"

Yet Bill White worked in the business from the time he was a boy in his 'teens until his death at 75 a couple of years ago. And though most of your errors are forgiven or forgotten by the kindness or faulty memories of your neighbors, still, as he said, some remain to haunt you year after year. Like, for example, the man named Oswald whom I called Oscar 20-odd years ago in the best murder story I have ever written.

But let no one think that editors feel sorry for themselves. They don't. I wouldn't swap my job for the biggest bank presidency in Texas, even though bankers do have the privilege of charging off their errors to profit and loss.

BY DREW PEARSON: ISSUE FACING SECRETARY MATTHEWS IS CIVILIAN CONTROL OF NAVY

Admirals Never Forgave Forrestal On Unity Stand

WASHINGTON.—What Secretary of the Navy Matthews is up against in the demotion of Adm. Louis Denfeld is not Denfeld's testimony before Congress, but the basic question of whether the navy department is to be run by a civilian.

Except for stubborn old Josephus Daniels, who was thoroughly hated by the admirals, and Charles Edison, who was finally eased out by the admirals, there has been no secretary of the navy in the last 50 years who has really dominated the navy department.

PEARSON

In a previous column it was shown how Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox was constantly short-circuited or ignored by the admirals. One thing that upset Knox was the terrible submarine tragedy and the navy's inability to cope with it during the first year of the war.

In World War I not a single American soldier was lost from submarine attack while crossing the Atlantic. In World War II the death toll was so great that it was kept a strict military secret, and only afterward was it known that 4,400 American troops needlessly drowned. And this did not include merchant seamen.

In addition, the sinking of merchant vessels even one year after Pearl Harbor hit the sickening total of 1,000,000 tons per month. Nazi U-boats lurked along the American coast with brazen effrontery; prowled near the beaches of Atlantic City, Jacksonville and Miami.

Despite the secrecy, the American public knew that something was wrong with the navy's defenses. But few people ever knew what went on inside.

Secretary Knox stormed, cajoled, and pleaded. But he could not quickly surmount the mistake the admirals made in concentrating on big battleships at the expense of the glamorous escort vessel. Nor could he quickly remedy the fact that no provision had been made for enough sonic or listening devices, or to train men to use them.

Another trouble was that the navy had plans for nine different types of escort vessels, and the admirals could not decide which was best.

Finally it took a civilian, Charles E. Wilson, head of the war production board, to settle the question. He called in naval architect William F. Gibbs, who recommended a design not unlike the British corvette.

But this was not done until almost one year after Pearl Harbor.

Duke Of Windsor Intervenes

The admirals were also urged to borrow submarine experts from the British, who had gone through two years of fighting Nazi subs, and just about had them licked. However, only one British naval officer was invited to advise the American navy.

Subsequently the Duke of Windsor and Fred Searles of the war shipping administration stepped in to persuade the navy to adopt the protective device which ultimately defeated the submarine.

The device, invented by Lieut. Comdr. Carl Herluf Holm, a Danish-born American naval officer, got bogged down between three navy bureaus, all rivals—naval ordnance laboratory, bureau of ships, and bureau of ordnance. Between them, the invention remained stymied for two whole years—while American ships and lives were being sent daily to the bottom of the sea.

It was Fred Searles, who, learning of the invention from the duke, warned the admirals that if they did not immediately use this anti-submarine weapon, the Maritime commission would use it independently.

That was how the most important anti-submarine device of the entire war came into being. It illustrates what Frank Knox was up against in his struggle to run a department where the admirals kept him in the dark, ignored him, or went over his head to the White House.

AT the time Frank Knox died, the admirals made it a practice to meet in formal session, show him a few routine cables, then adjourn. Later they handled the really important war cables which Knox never knew existed.

When James Forrestal became secretary of the navy, his former aide, Capt. John Gingrich, tipped him off to this practice, suggested that Forrestal go up to the communications room and look over the other telegrams the admirals held out on him.

This Forrestal did. Simuleantously, Captain Gingrich got disciplined. The top brass relegated him to the innocuous job of chief of personnel at Miami, Fla., where he could not tip off the secretary of the navy any more.

That was the turning point in Forrestal's running of the navy—not unlike Secretary Matthews' crisis with Denfeld today. He ordered Gingrich back to Washington as deputy chief of personnel, appointed Admiral Denfeld chief of personnel, and things went smoothly for Forrestal from that point until the grueling debate over unification set in.

But when Forrestal finally sided against the admirals in favor of unification, some of them never forgave him. They worked against him in much the way they have opposed Secretary Matthews. And in the last two months of his life, Forrestal, emotionally upset by the bickering, sometimes broke down in the middle of conferences and wept over the fact that his friends in the navy had turned against him.

Bradley called Admiral Denfeld "Louise," and at the second meeting Denfield presided in Bradley's absence. Ironically, he was presiding at the moment President Truman fired him . . . President Truman has told friends he is going to ax several high-ranking air force generals if they don't quit scheming to build a 70-group air force.

An old timer can remember when the government spent less money on purpose than it now spends accidentally.

Some Day One Of Them Will Lean Over Too Far

BY RUTH MILLETT: TO THE LADIES

The Feminine Viewpoint

"I'M fed up with hearing that marriage is mostly the wife's job," a woman who has been married for 10 years writes me.

"How in the world can you possibly have a happy marriage if only one of the partners is trying to make it a success?" she wants to know.

MILLETT

That's a good point, and one husbands might give a little though to.

Most advice to wives is based on the idea that it's the wife's job to make a marriage successful, that it's mostly her fault if it fails, and that when it does fail she has more to lose than the hesband.

But is that the whole truth?

Why should the happiness of a marriage be other than a fifty-fifty proposition? No matter how hard she tries a woman can't keep a marriage happy unless the success of the marriage is as important to her husband as it is to her. A woman can't be a companion to her husband unless he lets her be. She can't ba a partner in his scheme for success unless he is willing. She can't keep their life together fresh and interesting if he is determined to be a stick-in-the-mud.

WIFE ISN'T ALL TO BLAME . . AND if the marriage fails, why should the wife get more than half the blame? After all, she is jst one of the two partners. When a partnership fails, then both partners involved in it have failed, haven't they?

And does the wife actually lose more when a marriage breaks up than her husband loses?

They both have to face the sense of failure that comes from a broken marriage. If there are children—they both know they have let the children down: Both face loneliness.

Marriage is a woman's main job. But it should be a man's main job, too.

Just because he ha sa career shouldn't excuse a man from a fifty-fifty responsibility for the happiness of his marriage.

"I'm afraid that's impossible," said the switchboard operator. "Mr. Rickard has been dead for ten years." "Oh," said the voice. "In that case, let me talk to his secretary."

FACTS—OR TAX PROPAGANDA?

President Truman's estimates of government revenues and deficit during the next year, as reported the other day, will be received with considerable skepticism because his guesses have been so far in error in the past.

For the current government year, which began last July 1, he estimated revenues at $43,500,000,000 and the deficit at $5,500,000,000.

It is on the basis of these figures that Mr. Truman has announced he will urge federal tax increases next year—an announcement which, incidentally, has aroused far more opposition than support.

As part of his presidential duty, Mr. Truman has made similar estimates about this time each year since he moved into the White House. Without a single exception, he has under-estimated anticipated revenues and over-estimated the deficit, in some instances by huge amounts.

Without an exception, he has drawn a financial picture far more unfavorable than facts subsequently justified—and has used this distorted picture as the chief supporting argument for his demands for increased taxes.

In the past, his reports have turned out to be propagrnada rather than facts.

They do not allow much reliance in the accuracy of his estimates of similar prospects during the coming year.

Death Of Old Yank Spirit Of Competition, Freedom Scored

NEW YORK, Nov. 4—The biggest puzzler, in my naive approach to the weightier problems of the world, is just what has become of the famed American competitive spirit, the rugged individuality for which the Yank has been famed for a couple hundred years.

RUARK

I seem to recall that we supposedly sprong from a roughcut people who plowed with one hand and shot Indians with the other; who bore babies and loaded rifles simultaneously; who invaded the wilderness, dug gold, drank, fought, and preyed on each other in a sort of good-humored, big-league banditry.

We leaped, I believe, from a people who worshiped success; who prided themselves on fulfilling the Horatio Alger tradition on paper-boy to president in six leaps; who haughtily rejected charity and who resented being lumped together as "humanity" or "the little man" or the other contemptuous titles coined by the directors of mass destiny.

You can say I just hit it lucky, and ought to be forced to pay for the privilege of writing little pieces for the papers, and so got no room to talk. This I will have to admit then I will talk anyhow. Because my life of slothful ease and vast riches, such as six bucks a week, was not ever thus and there were a fair share of lumps on the road to my stealing license.

Problems Are Recalled

Those lumps I recall as fun. The rocks in the path seemed pleasantly challenging, and any I could kick out of the way or leap over made me feel triumphant at the time. When I was filling the paste pots and hustling coffee for the city editor my evil brain was a-buzz with plots and plans to knock him off his chair some day. This too was fun for both sides, if slightly snide in concept.

But I never wanted any mass action to knock him off that chair and I certainly did not wish to be cheated of any fun of the combat. Certainly I did not care to retire at 21 years of age for a lifetime of having things done for me. I realize that this is heresy for this day and age and will probably get me shot by some hot-eyed zealot in the uplift league.

THE urge to unionize everything including the government, as has been done in England, seems to me unhealthy for the individual if it robs him of a right to go from rags to riches on his own time. It seems to me that perpetual care, from birth to death, by a government which shapes your life and curtails your room to expand, is no great gift. As somebody once pointed out, the only perfect security is a life-sentence in the jail-house, but it sure as shucks ain't much fun.

I believe also it is pretty well proven that the most miserable people in the world are folks who have retired to grow roses after a lifetime of meeting emergencies and sharpening the appetites on combats and crises. They seem to die pretty soon after retirement, and it could be from boredom.

Dull Life Seen

The current trend seems shaped toward retiring everybody at birth, and after the example of England, I should hate to be a legal remittance man for a full lifetime. Most of the baser pleasures would be legislated out of existence, and eventually even the miracle of man, maid and moonlight might also be taken over by the state. Hitler was working on that one when they pulled the rug from under him.

As a black reactionary I resent the power that tremendous, centrally-controlled organization gives to individuals who use it cynically. Mr. Truman was allowed to almost blackmail his way into the presidency, with direct threats to labor and the farm vote, which was under governmental thumb. I don't say his opposition provided much personal choice, but you have seen lately the kind of clunks which have settled in Washington as presidential partners.

There is not a great deal to this short and bitter span but a sense of physical and spiritual achievement, and both are largely gained through strife. When the right to rassle is denied and you are presented with an underwritten existence, all I can think is that there will be a great many dull people yawning at each other in perpetuity. Me, I'd rather go out and slug a cop or kick over an ashcan.

COLD WAR NEUTRALITY CLAIMED

Nehru Ends Tour, Declaring "Isms" Come Second To Food

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 4. (AP)—Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru of India ends his goodwill tour of America here today as he began it—promising little, hoping for much, but too proud to ask for a thing.

In a 25-day tour that carried him 9,500 miles through this country and Canada, Nehru has proclaimed neutrality in the cold war. But he has outlined strategy which the west seems to like although Russia did not.

In more than 40 public speeches he called for peace; said he doesn't like communism; said he finds Americans friendly and peace-loving, and said India is willing to fight if aggressors imperil human freedom.

What has he promised?

Needs Are Many

In speech after speech he promised friendship to those who will respond with generous and not-demanding friendship; and fair treatment to American investors willing to help his country industrialize and reach for the prosperous economy to which it aspires.

He told audiences his dollar-short country needs wheat to feed the poverty stricken masses and wants to pay fot it; two big steel mills it lacks the dollars to equip; hyrdoelectric development and technical skills which it also lacks the dollars to buy.

Firmly he said India is not asking for a handout but hopes government and private investors can see a way to cooperate with his country in getting these things on terms it can afford.

'Isms Secondary

He leaves for New York this afternoon to see and do some of the things for which he sad not time while he was an official guest. He plans to see some shows and visit Saturday morning with Albert Einstein. He presumably also will huddle privately with industrialists, financiers and others who expressed interest in helping India develop.

The west hoped Nehru would take its side in the cold war. Observers following him on the cross country trip felt he had outlined in his speeches different strategy that was satisfactory to Washington.

He described India as a pin which holds Asia together and himself as its leader. He said frankly the white nations would be wise to help Asia and contended people are less interested in political "isms" than in getting food and other necessities. There was belief in many quarters this was an indirect way of saying India will help steer Asia, including China, away from the Kremlin tieup but that western democracies can't hope to wood Asia into friendship unless they do something to help Asians prosper.

Deal Expected

Nehru's associates say they expect home deal to provide wheat and predict the government will be cooperative if he and his aides can sell private capital the idea of investing "risk" money in India.

Nehru's promise of equal opportunity for foreign investors is good only for the life of his government but there appears no serious threat to his administration if he can get wheat and other foods to feed his hungry voters. Most Indians expect the Nehru government to last at least 10 years unless something happens to him.

His sligthly left of center government appears more fearful of opposition from the rightist nationalists than from the rambunctious communist minority.

Death And Misfortune Strike At Life Of Frenchman Every Time He Breathes

LA SEYNE, France, Nov. 4 (INS)—Tragedy continues to mar the life of one of the unhappiest men in the world—a French military worker of La Seyne station.

The chain of misfortunes began for Baptistin Boeri during the wartime bombardments that preceded the liberation of La Seyne. Boeri lost three members of his family in the barrage. Twice he saw his home destroyed by bombs.

Just a few years later, his wife died.

After a short interval, Boeri remarried and for a time it seemed that the grim tenor of his life had changed.

But just the other day, an "autorail" was wrecked near Avignon, killing 12 persons and injuring 46. Boeri's mother, wife and two of his three children were among the victims.

But Baptistin Boeri's malign fate still was not quite through with him. Enroute to Avignon to identify the bodies, he passed through Marseille. There, in the railway station, a pickpocket robbed him of his wallet, which contained all the money he possessed.

"Big Spring Cantata" Writer Seeking Penitentiary Pardon

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 4. (AP)—A thrill-packed week in the wide open spaces of Texas has given life termer Frank Grandstaff a yen for permanent freedom.

"I think I'm a changed man now," the 47-year-old convict-composer said yesterday in pleading for freedom before the board of pardons and paroles.

He wants to get out of the Tennessee state prison and begin life anew, he said, in Big Sprin, Texas, where a taxicab company has offered him a job.

Granted Six-Day Leave

Last month Grandstaff, serving a life term as an habitual criminal, was granted a six-day leave from prison walls to be guest of honor at Big Spring's Centennial celebration. There he heard his prison-cell cantata sung for the first time.

The little West Texas town had inspired the 70-page composition, "Big Spring Cantata."

The prisoner flew to Big Spring under technical guard for the gala event. Now, he told the board, he wants to return there for keeps and take his 71-year-old mother with him.

He pleaded that his long list of crimes did not include a single major one. Grandstaff's 20 convictions were chiefly on charges of larceny.

Board Considering Case

The board took his case under advisement. It can only recommend action to Gov. Gordon Browning, and it promised a decision soon—next week, maybe.

When Grandstaff returned here after his Texas holiday, the governor indicated he did not favor a pardon for the man who wrote his cantata on the walls of his cell while in solitary confinement.

When he finished pleading his case yesterday, the bespectacled Grandstaff sat down at a piano and played parts of the cantata. Then he tossed in two new compositions for good measure—"Big Spring Girls" and "Big Spring Trail."

Germans Rehire Jew For Town Physician

OFFENBACH, Germany, Nov. 4 (AP)—Offenbach has given it sanswer to charges of anti-Semitism by reinstating a Jewish doctor as a city physician.

The doctor, Herbert Lewin, was named chief of the women's clinic by the city council last night. The vote was 29 to 15 in favor of Lewin over a German doctor temporarily appointed to the post.

The councilmen also suspended the deputy mayor, holding that he was responsible for the cancellation in September of Lewin's original appointment.

That action touched off a controversy. German newspapers charged anti-Semitism was a governing factor in the case, and United States military government officials ordered an investigation. The deputy mayor had said he felt Lewin might "resent treating non-Jews" because of the abuse Jews were subjected to during the Nazi regime.

Newspaper Reports Virginia Hill Now Underworld Leader

NEW YORK, Nov. 4 (INS)—The New York Mirror reported today that Virginia Hill, brunette girl friend of murdered Benjamin "Bugsy" Siegel, has taken over as head of underworld syndicates from Charles "Lucky" Luciano.

The Mirror's columnist Lee Mortimore said that Miss Hill accomplished this by warning Luciano she has enough evidence to implicate all Unione Siciliano leaders in this country as well as several important "fronts". He said:

Aided By Bosses

"She said she wouldn't hesitate to use what she knows and if she isn't around to spring it, her bank is authorized to send the contents of her vaults to state and federal agents in the event of her violent death.

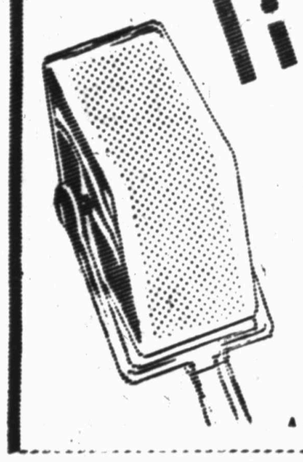

"Most of the local Mafia bosses, almost all of whom at one time or another have been linked romantically with her by columnists, are said to have supported her in her ultimatum."

Mortimer reported that "Virginia has cast off all secrecy and is openly making the rounds of Chicago night spots." he said her escort is Joe Epstein "bigtime gambler" and her constant companion is "Jan Prigano, whose husband was slain in a gang war."

Hunger-Strike Hit By Indian Solons

LUCKNOW, India, Nov. 4 (AP)—They're making things tougher for would-be hunger-strikers in the United Provinces. The provincial Congress Council has announced that party members may not strike on "frivolous" issues without getting the council's okay first. The council took the action after reviewing ten cases of hunger-strike by congress-men in the past year. Two of the strikers were protesting against alleged corruption in the Congress party.

The hunger-strike has been a weapon in India for generations and its popularity has not faded with Mahatma Gandhi's death. Usually, the hunger striker announces that he is about to undertake a "fast unto death" in protest against an unhappy state of affairs. No one has starved to death in recent years, however; a government official usually "intervenes" about the time the striker has worked up a strong appetite and convinces him that things will be set right.

MAYOR BUYS FIRST POPPY—Mayor W. H. Rodgers, right, inaugurates this season's Poppy day here as he buys the first poppy from Mrs. Floyd Lebow, left, of the American Legion Auxiliary. Although Poppy day doesn't officially start until Saturday, Auxiliary members will canvass the Veteran's administration building this afternoon.

VETS URGED TO SET EXAMPLE

Annual Poppy Drive Will Be Staged In City On Saturday

Saturday will be Poppy Day in Lubbock.

American Legion Auxiliary members and other volunteer workers will place 10,500 memorial poppies on sale in Lubbock Saturday in their annual drive to raise funds for veteran rehabilitation and child welfare in the city.

The poppies, made by patients in the Legion hospital in Kerrville, and in the Veteran's Administration hospital in Waco, were bought from them by the Auxiliary for resale here.

Mrs. Floyd Lebow, Auxiliary third vice-president, said the poppies are not being sold for any set price, and urged Lubbockites to contribute as much as possible.

Although Poppy Day doesn't begin officially until Saturday, it was announced that Auxiliary members would tour the Veteran's Administration building today, since the building is closed on Saturday.

Wayne Groce, commander of the Allen Brothers post of the Legion here, has called upon Legion members to help make Poppy Day a success.

"Members of the American Legion should be among the first to put on poppies on Poppy day, and should give the Auxiliary every cooperation toward making the observance of the day a complete success," he said.

He urged that veterans of both world wars set an example of reverence for the war dead by wearing the memorial flower throughout the day.

Mrs. R. J. Watson, who is Auxiliary poppy chairman, said the 10,500 purchased this year is a slight increase over the number sold here last year. The 1948 sale was the largest ever held by the Auxiliary, but an even larger total is expected this year.

Helping the Auxiliary members to canvass the town Saturday will be volunteer workers from the high school and Camp Fire Girls organization. Approximately 100 are expected to help with the sale of the flowers.

High school girls who expect to help will meet at 3:30 p.m., today, with H. J. McCabe, dean of boys at Lubbock Senior High school, for directions concerning the part they will play.

New Grain Elevator Set At Hale Center

HALE CENTER, Nov. 4 (Special) — Hale Center Wheat Growers, Inc., will build a 300,000-bushel elevator here to add to its present 175,000 plant, stockholders of the co-operative firm voted recently.

A new 100,000-bushel concrete elevator was put in service here this spring.

Ray Head, manager of the firm, said this week plans were for completing a drive for sale of preferred stock in the new structure in time to begin its construction soon enough to have the additional grain storage space available for the 1950 wheat harvest. More than two-thirds of the preferred stock to finance the new construction has been sold. Head added.

City Zone Changes Rejected

Further Study Will Be Given

Routine matters occupied the attention of member of the Lubbock City Planning commission at their regular monthly meeting last night in City hall.

The agenda included a number of zone change requests, five of which were rejected and two referred to the commission's zoning committee to be studied between now and time for the December meeting.

One plat was submitted to the commission, and was approved after such action was recommended by the platting committee.

Requests Are Rejected

Zone change requests rejected at last night's meeting were as follows:

Request from Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Nelson to change lot 1, block 2, College View addition (located at 2501 Thirty-first) from an "A" single family residence zone to an apartment zone which would allow construction of an eight-unit apartment house.

Request from Mrs. Grace Davis to change the west 50 feet of the east 100 feet of the north one-half of tract 59, Arnett-Benson addition, from a "B" residential zone to an "F" local retail business zone which would allow the installation of a beauty shop. The property is located at 2709 Maple.

Waynick Request Denied

Request from Floyd E. Waynick to change the south one-half of the south one-half of block 3, Kinser subdivision of the northeast one-quarter of section 14, block B, from an "A" to an "F" zone. The property upon which such a change is requested is located between Thirty-seventh and Thirty-eighth from Adams Ave. to Jefferson Ave.

Request signed by approximately 16 property owners to change to retail business zone all property abutting Thirty-fourth street from Ave. X to Adams Ave.

Request of J. Y. Yeager to change lot 3, block 5, Summers-Cockrell addition, from a "B" to an "H" zone. This property is located at 1906 Ave. P.

Zone change requests to be studied at length by the zoning committee of the City Planning commission and reported on at the December meeting were:

Request from W. I. Peters to change lots 13 and 14, block 30, Maddox addition, from a "B" to an "F" zone which would allow the construction of a retail grocery store at the southeast corner of the intersection of Ruby street and Van Buren Ave.

Petition from 11 property owners on the west side of Avenue Q south of Thirty-fourth, requesting that their property be changed

Explanation Of Amendments In Nov. 8 Election Offered

By H. I. KIEFER
Journal Staff Writer

THIS is the last of four articles presenting thumbnail explanations of and chief arguments for and against the 10 constitutional amendments upon which Texans are to vote next Tuesday.

No. 9

An amendment authorizing trials without a jury of lunacy cases.

UNDER the present law, no person in Texas legally can be declared insane without a trial before a jury. Under the amendment, the jury could be waived and the trial conducted solely before the judge. However, the person on trial could obtain a jury trial by demanding it.

The principal argument for this amendment is that non-jury trials might save the person on trial and the members of his, or her, family much embarrassment. It is argued further that the privilege of a person to obtain a jury by demanding it would be a safeguard against injustice.

The big argument against the proposal is this:

The amendment would simplify the "railroading" of unwanted persons into insane asylums.

There Is Some "Railroading"

While no one suspects that there is much "railroading" of this nature, undoubtedly such things are attempted occasionally—probably more often than many people realize. And it is to be acknowledged that, in the vast majority of cases, if the amendment should be approved, the trial judge would be conscientious in his efforts not to commit to an insane aslyum a person who did not belong there.

But common sense offers ample proof that an attempted railroading is less likely to succeed when a lunacy case is tried before six jurors in open court than it tried before one judge in private.

THE stipulation that the person on trial could obtain a jury trial by demanding it does not remove the objections of many of the opponents of this proposed amendment.

They point out that the soundness of the judgment of the person on trial is open to suspicion. They argue, too, that if "railroading" is being attempted, those guilty usually are in position to apply pressure upon their victim. Frequently they might be able, in one way or another to cause such a person to sign the waiver of a jury trial.

Everyone apparently acknowledges that lunacy proceedings as now conducted may embarass individuals on occasions.

But it may be that those proceedings occasionally keep unfortunate people out of the insane asyium to which they would be sent if a jury did not protect them.

No. 10

An amendment qualifying women as grand and petit jurors.

THIS amendment is self explanatory. Women cannot serve on juries in Texas now. They not only could, but would have to render such service, if the proposal is approved.

It seems a little unfortunate that this proposition could not be left entirely to a vote of the women themselves. Most men probably would take the attitude that if teh ladies want to serve on juries then, bless their hearts, let them serve.

Certainly no one has argued that they aren't as well qualified as men for such service. It has been demonstrated too conclusively for argument that they make just as good jurors as the mere males—maybe better.

Calm Consideration Advisable

But, before they stick their necks out, they might be wise to consider the consequences of what they are doing.

If the amendment is approved and they get a summons to jury service, it won't be an invitation. They'll be in court on time, or some nasty old judge may fine them, or put them in jail, or both.

If the summons happens to conflict with a party, or a vacation trip or something like that—usually they'll have to forego the party or the vacation, or whatever it may be, so as to render jury service.

If they happen to get on a jury on a long-drawn out criminal case, they won't get a chance to go home to care for husbands and children until the case is finished—which often might be several days, sometimes it might be several weeks.

AND there are no social or color lines on a jury. The close companions of a woman jury during the trial of any case would be largely in the hands of chance.

Likewise, in a great many courtrooms jury rooms lack the tidiness that most women prefer. Some of the rooms are plain nasty.

Furthermore, the housewife who employs domestic help might find herself out on a limb occasionally if this amendment is approved. The cook, or maid, as likely as not will be at the courthouse on a jury when she is needed most.

There also would be a lot of problems in business establishments of all kinds which employ large numbers of women. Some of them

Former Press Agent Directing Protestant Radio Commission

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK—The Rev. Everett C. Parker used to be a press agent for Chicago livestock shows.

Now he's an advance agent for the Lord—via radio. He sparkplugs religious publicity over the airlanes.

"This means something," he said. "That's why I'm doing it. The other thing"—his former work—"only meant money."

At 36 this energetic minister is director of the Protestant Radio commission. This organization of the nation's leading Protestant church groups is spending $172,000 this year for 800 religious radio programs to be heard over some 1,000 stations.

The programs are organized by Rev. Parker and a staff of three. How he decided to embark on this unusual career is quite a story.

Sold Doughnuts

"I had no particular religious background—and in college I lost any religion I had left," he said.

He sold doughnuts from door-to-door, worked as a chef in a Chicago cafeteria, then started a publicity firm. Then he became program director of a Hammond, Ind., radio station.

One day the owner asked him to go out and find a commercial sponsor for a Lenten program.

"How can anybody sell a religious program?" Parker demanded.

"Well, try it anyway," said the owner.

Parker finally got a utilities company to act as sponsor. With his flair for drama, Parker made the program a popular feature. It lasted 4½ years and was sponsored by a laundry and a cemetery, as well as by the utilities company.

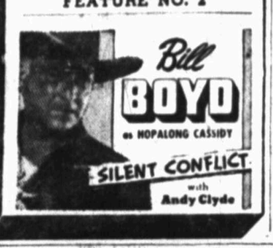

Awarded Fellowship

"I found out the influence a church has on a community, and the things a minister can do that no one else can do," Parker said. "So I decided to make the whole plunge—to go into the ministry myself."

He was graduated from the Chicago Theological seminary magna cum laude. Awarded a fellowship in religious radio, he spent a year with the NBC network. He was offered a permanent post with NBC but decided his real wish was to devote himself to the ministry.

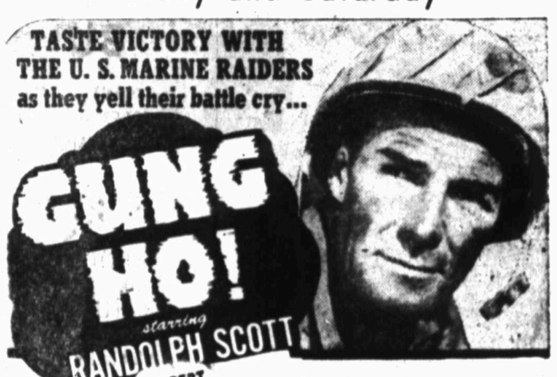

In the three years since then he has become a leading authority in religious radio, and held workshops at several universities to taech the subject to other ministers.

Absentee Balloting On Amendments Ends

Today is the last day on which absentee balloting may be done on the constitutional amendments to be voted in statewide elections Tuesday, Louie Moore, county clerk, reminded Thursday.

Less than a dozen have taken out absentee ballots thus far, Moore declared, possibly indicating interest in the elections will be low. Anyone who will not be in their precinct Tuesday must take out their ballots today if they wish to cast a vote, he said.

Moore also announced that all ballots, ballot boxes and other election materials are now available in his office for presiding judges of the 33 county precincts to pick up. The 33 precincts are seven more than there were last year, he explained, since several of the larger ones were split into smaller units.

New "Mule Train" Song May Assault Ears With Claptrap

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 4—Haw! Haw!

Clippety-clop. Clippety-clop.

You may expect to have your ears assaulted by these noises for the next few weeks. They are part of "Mule Train," a weird new song which is pouring forth incessantly from juke boxes and radios.

"Mule Train," which sounds more like a chant to a pack of mules than a song, hit the music trade like a cyclone. It has the record industry pressing night and day to meet the demand and beat the opposition.

All this fuss over a song was written four and a half years ago

Went On Spree

It came about when three Hollywood songwriters went on a spree to Las Vegas. Fred Glickman (formerly of Chicago), Hy Heath (Shreveport, La.) and Johnny Lange (Philadelphia) were returning home after a weekend over a hot crap table.

As they drove through the borax country of Death valley, they got to thinking about the fabulous mule teams that worked the desert mines. Lange also remembered the mules that hauled coal away from the railyards near his home in south Philly.

"We started working on a song as we drove," recalls Lange. "First we changed 'team' to 'train,' which sounded better in a lyric. By the time we reached town we had the song pretty well worked out."

Glickman, who is also in the record business, waxed the song with a singer named Buzz Butler. It was then forgotten.

Forgotten until a few weeks ago, when Glickman, Heath and Lange met again in Hollywood. Glickman dusted off the old record and played it for the other two. They became enthused, polished up the lyrics and put it on the market.

OFFICIAL WARNS OF WAR POSITION

Shipbuilding Subsidy Claimed Needed To Keep U. S. In Lead

By PAT J. McDONNELL
INS. Staff Correspondent

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 4—The chairman of the U. S. Maritime commission today described the United States as "the only nation in the world capable of building enough ships in time of war."

Maj. Gen. Philip B. Fleming added, however, that in order to maintain its present position, the government must provide more subsidies for the ship-building industry.

Gen. Fleming pointed out, in New Orleans, that shipyards in all parts of the world—except the United States — "are completely occupied with sufficient orders to keep many of them running for two years." He continued.

Constant Subsidy Likely

"I think there'll always have to be a subsidy on our shipbuilding."

Today, he explained, the disparity between the cost of constructing ships in the United States and in foreign yards is even more than the 50 per cent the Maritime commission is allowed to pay in subsidies.

Gen. Fleming said that he will ask the next Congress to remove the 50 per cent limit.

He said that one job that is immediately necessary, one that will give work to many idle shipyards, is the job of making the U. S. standby fleet of wartime ships seaworthy in event of another war.

Fleming to Seek Funds

Fleming described as "one of the first thing I am going to bring up in the next Congress," a bill for a $25 millian appropriation for work on the fleet. The bill was stopped by the House of Representatives in the last congressional session.

Gen. Fleming said another solution to the transportation problem is the plan to transfer truck-trailers from the highways to the waterways.

He said the plan will be tried on the West Coast, where the teamsters union already has given its approval to the conversion.

The coastwise ships, Fleming pointed out, will be able to accommodate a mile of trailers and 350 passengers. In addition they will be "fast ships, 25 knots, which would be very useful in wartime."

Mother Gets Custody Of Girl Tennis Star

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 4. (AP)—Laura Lou Jahn, 16-year-old tennis star, goes home with mother to Florida.

The girl, victim of the incest for which her father faces sentence, was awarded by court yesterday to her mother, Mrs. Lucy Meska of Miami. The mother's custody bid had been opposed by the paternal grandmother, Mrs. Laura Lou Jahn.

Leslie Jahn, 42, tennis professional, was convicted of immoral relations with his pretty blonde daughter. He is at liberty on $2500 bail until sentencing Nov. 16. He won custody of the girl at the time of his divorce.

All In A Lifetime — Life's Little Lessons

Legal Language Used In Many Goverment Publications Is Confusing To Readers

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4—A gentleman from New York wrote in to complain that I was kicking verbs and adjectives around in the wrong direction and therefore confusing our young.

I am, of course, guilty.

But I'm not by myself. I would like to refer my fine friend from New York to some of our government publications. Specifically, the Official Gazette, which is turned out in considerable thickness each week by the United States patent office. It is without flaw, gramatically, but the briefs are written by patent lawyers—and you know lawyers!

Case Is Reported

A case in point:

On page 1129 of the last issue of the Gazette is a listing for patent No. 2,486,028. It's called "tonsorial device," and was granted to a couple of inventors from Illinois.

The description: "A device of the class described comprising a pair of reciprocating cutter members each having elongated teeth incorporated therein, a pair of handles, having offset portions at their forward ends, said handles being pivotally connected together on a common axis etc."

It went on like that for many lines. Apparently the lawyers were talking about a gadget a man can use to cut his own hair. I couldn't tell for sure. I had to go to the patent office in the commerce building and dig into the complete file to find out.

The inventors, Neil Holsclaw of Chicago and Fred E. Sudlow of Rock Island, did a much better descriptive job in their original letter. They started out:

"When cutting a head of hair, normally a pair of scissors, a hair clipper and a comb are used. The comb must be used when either the clippers or the scissors is used, therefore, to do the job both hands of the hair cutter must be used at all times. The comb is used to lift the hair to a desired length, then the hair is cut over the comb, either with a pair of shears or a clipper.

"It is the main object of this invention to combine all these tools in one instrument . . . to produce such a device, designed so that anyone can cut his own head of hair without having developed previous skill, etc."

No. 2,485,673 is a dishwashing machine invented by James C. State of Kalamazoo, Mich. It's probably a dandy relief for tired hubbies. But, I swear, the lawyer who wrote the description didn't say what this apparatus can do that others of the same breed can't do.

Among the other new inventions is a bicycle sidecar ,invented by John Rolland Warner of Windsor, Canada. It's just what its says it is—a bicycle built for two with the free-loader riding on the side.

There are also several new "'drum beaters," which are nothing but drum sticks with wires sticking out the business end. They are called "musical instruments."

But, most interesting of the new inventions is an ice cream sundae container. And on that one, the lawyers came down to earth and described the container, the ice cream, the sweet stuff, and then just said it had a cherry on top.

Iran Reports Soviet Foray Across Border

TEHRAN, Iran, Nov. 4. (AP)—A reported new foray into Iran by Soviet troops gave Russian-Iranian relations another jolt today.

A high ranking Iranian government source gave this account of the incident:

The foray occurred Sunday at Baghcheh Sara, north of Astara, a port on the western shore of the Caspian sea. Soviet soldiers attacked Iranian border troops. The Iranian units resisted.

Firing lasted several hours, but no casualties were reported. The Russians withdrew when Iranian reinforcements arrived.

Iranians have accused the Russians several times in recent months of violating the frontier.

FAIR DEAL PITTED AGAINST REDS

Republicans' Bickering Over Foreign Policy Is Revealed

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4. (AP)—A foreign policy split among Republicans became more apparent today, even as President Truman called on lawmakers to enact his fair deal program as a "stanch shield" against communism.

Mr. Truman told a Minnesota centennial exposition audience in St. Paul last night that the way to beat totalitarianism of every kind is to provide full education, health, security and civil rights for all Americans.

These things, he said, "are our stanch shield against communism and against every other form of totalitarianism. They are the means by which we will achieve the better world we seek."

Policy Criticized

In various foreign programs designed to stop the world spread of communism, the Truman administration has had the help of important Republican leaders. But not all of them, as was demonstrated yesterday by James S. Kemper of Chicago, in a letter resigning his job as treasurer of the Republican national committee. The letter was critical of the bi-partisan foreign policy.

Kemper's resignation was submitted, he said, because Republican reserve funds had dropped below $90,000. He had made it clear in August, he said, he would quit any time the party allowed its treasury surplus to drop below $125,000.

Kemper said he fears the possibility of adoption here of some of the "socialist panaceas" to which Great Britain has resorted.

He went on to say that he had been hampered as party treasurer in taking a stand on issues when the GOP organization happened to be pursuing a different course.

Split Emphasized

"A case in point is our so-called bi-partisan foreign policy," Kemper said in a letter to Guy George Gabrielson, GOP national chairman.

Observing that the policy "seldom has been bi-partisan in genesis," Kemper continued:

"Everyone now seems pretty well agreed that Russian communism is a bad thing. And yet, as a result of our so-called bi-partisan foreign policy, Republicans have been asked to shower gifts on British socialism—the younger sister of communism.

"No one could view the British scene and not shudder at the thought of adopting socialist panaceas here."

Kemper's attack on the bipartisan policy emphasized the split among Republicans over this issue.

In New York state, Republican Senator John Foster Dulles has contended his defeat in a special senatorial election next Tuesday would encourage those in his party—like Kemper—who want the Republicans to renounce foreign policy cooperation.

GOP Given Advice

Kemper's views are similar to those expressed recently by Senator Wherry of Nebraska, the GOP floor leader in the Senate. Wherry represents a wing of the party that opposes the cooperation with the administration that has been spearheaded by Senator Arthur Vandenberg (R-Mich) and Dulles.

In a campaign that has drawn national attention because of the likelihood it will indicate trends in the 1950 battle for control of Congress, Dulles has assailed most of President Truman's domestic proposals.

This has brought the charge from former Gov. Herbert H. Lehman, the Democratic nominee, that Dulles is a reactionary.

Rep. Keefe (R-Wis) had some words of advice of his own today for fellow Republicans. Keefe told a reporter that Republicans criticizing the Democrats should not use loosly such terms as "welfare state" and "statism."

While he would never sanction socialization of medicine, or nationalization of industry or agriculture, Keefe said, it is plain that "the people in general want welfare programs." He mentioned social security as an example.

Moslem State Set Up By Western Javanese

TASIKMALJA, Java, Nov. 4 (AP)—Moslems in Western Java have set up a state of their own. They control much of an area of about 1,000 square miles and are believed to be expanding. They say they will fight both the Republican and the Dutch governments. Their enemies say they sponsor a reign of terror.

The new state was announced recently by S. M. Kartosuwirjo, its president. In the fighting between the Republicans and the Dutch, Moslem fighters were said to have attacked the epublicans. A story is that hundreds of Republican fighters were poisoned in one instance.

The Dutch and Republican forces are believed to be too weak at present to mount an offensive against Kartasuwirjo's men.

BIG TALK MADE GOOD

JOHNSTON CITY, Ill. (U.P.) — Town leaders proved they weren't joking when they talked about civic pride in their campaign speeches. When an expansion program they planned was threatened by lack of funds, Mayor K. Neil Thurmond and members of the city council voted unanimously to cut their own salaries.

Pocket Comb Gun Fails In Robbery

CHICAGO, Nov. 4 (U.P.)—Here's a holdup store involving no shooting, no guns and no policemen.

The only weapons used were a pocket comb and a butcher knife handle.

The hold-up man, James Peterson, 19, who said he lived in Oakland, Cal., entered a butcher shop and thrust his hand in his pocket.

Gripping his pocket comb as if it were a pistol, he ordered the cashier to turn over her cash.

But the employes at the shop began to advance on him.

Peterson sensed he was outclassed and started to retreat toward the door, grabbing a young woman customer as a hostage and shield.

A butcher, Edward Smolinski, meantime had crept around behind him and clouted the gunman on the head.

Americans In Europe Will Get Training

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4 (AP) — Seven University of Maryland Professors have left for Germany to set up the first full-time college training program for American military and civilian personnel.

The school will offer a course leading to a bachelor of military science and tactics degree. Its credits also can be applied toward degrees to be received in other colleges.

The school will be set up in cooperation with information and education authorities of the armed services. It will be known as the University of Maryland-European command College of Special and Continuation Studies.

ROACHES WELCOME

Disease Brings End To Eugene O'Neil's Play-Writing Career

MARBLEHEAD, Mass., Nov. 4 (AP)—A nervous disorder apparently has closed the writing career of Eugene O'Neil, Nobel prize-winning dramatist and author of several Broadway hits.

His wife, Carolita, said last night that he is suffering from Parkingson's disease and that it is "getting progressively worse."

She said his hands tremble so badly he is unable to write in longhand—his customary form of composing—and efforts to dictate have not been too successful.

The disease also has affected the 61-year-old playwright's speech, his wife said, and he prefers to stay in seclusion on his seaside estate here. He bought the place about a year ago.

Receives Many Letters

His last play, "The Ice Man Cometh," was produced on Broadway in 1946.

Holder of the Nobel prize in literature and three Pulitizer prizes, O'Neil also has authored "Emperor Jones," "Strange Interlde," "Anna Christie,' "Mourning Becomes Electra," and "The Hairy Ape."

Since he was stricken a few years ago, he has received many letters from all parts of the world. Most of them are from sufferers from the same malady, offering advice.

Homes Are Delivered 10 Days After Order

PHOENIX, Ariz., Nov. 4 (U.P.)—Ready-made homes are moving off an assembly line in Phoenix.

Hugh F. Knoell, president of the Mobilehome Corporation, said his company is prepared to deliver an FHA-approved dwelling 10 days after an order is received.

Constructed by assembly line methods, the homes are trucked to the purchaser's property on specially-designed trailers.

Buyers have a wide choice of designs and sizes, Knoell said, and may select their own color schemes, inside and out. The units can be hauled any distance, he said, and are expected to solve housing problems in rural areas where there is a shortage of skilled workmen and materials.

POWER IN WRONG PLACE

Mexico City's electricians' union is trying to organize a "light and power users' defense league" — which power companies fear that the union expects to control.

nearly always would be absent, in order to serve on juries.

Likewise, a cost element is to be considered. Taxpayers would have to pay the cost of providing separate quarters for men and women if the mixed-jury system should be adopted.

There's a lot to consider in connection with this amendment. But it is a safe prediction that if the jury "privilege" is extended to women, a great many soon will be wishing that it had not been.

Zone Changes

Joe B. Phillips presented a plat of Smithlawn addition, located east of Avenue H at about Seventy-fifth street. The commission heard a report from the platting committee and approved the plat on condition that a dead-end alley be eliminated.

K. N. Clapp, chairman of the commission, designated members of the commission's zoning subcommittee, composed of Homer D. Grant, Dr. J. T. Krueger, and J. H. Murdough, as empowered to act according to their best judgment in regard to questions of modern trends in intensity of land usage, in conjunction with the Lubbock Board of adjustment and the City commission if a joint meeting be requested.

That is, these three members of the planning commission would represent that body at any future meetings held with the Board of adjustment and the City commission to investigate the feasibility of reducing the number of square feet of land required for each individual dwelling unit, particularly such units in apartment houses and apartment hotels.

Members attending last night's meeting were Clapp, Dr. J. T. Krueger, W. L. Bradshaw, J. H. Murdough, R. L. Oldham, and C. J. Griggs.

Tot Gets Thrill Out Of Dramatic Rescue

ATLANTA, Nov. 4 (U.P.)—Mike Brown, age 2, went back to his home in little Cornelia, Ga., with an exciting idea of what city life is like.

During a visit at his aunt's home here, Mike had the thrill of seeing a fire engine, siren screaming, pull up to the house. The firemen leaped off and put a big red ladder under a two-story window.

Mike watched all the excitement from that very window until the firemen cut the screen, pulled him out and carried him down the ladder.

He had locked himself in the bathroom.

SKELETONS RATTLING IN CLOSET

Rugged Battle Being Fought By Philadelphia Candidates

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 3 (AP) — A local election of the sort that has been a Republican walkaway here for a half century has turned into a knock-down fight.

Before, during and since the days of such Republican stalwarts as Boies Penrose and William S. Vare, Philadelphia has been a happy hunting ground for GOP politicos. No Democrat has been elected mayor in more than 60 years. In the past three decades, the 22-member city council never has listed more than two members of the minority party, often none at all.

Demos Platform Simple

A lone Democrat won two terms as city controller a decade ago. But city hall offices and every municipal agency of the nation's third largest city is and has long been staffed almost exclusively by Republicans.

Coming up next Tuesday is an election of the sort politicians call "off-year" because no really big office is at stake.

Four city-wide posts, controller, treasurer, register of wills and coroner, are to be filled. Each now is held by a Republican.

Republicans lead more than two-to-one in registration, 742,230 to 285,623.

The totals are almost the same as 1948, when President Truman carried the city by 6,700, and an even bigger Republican lead than in 1947 when Republican Mayor Bernard Samuel was elected by 93,000 votes.

For a half century Democrats have campaigned for local offices on one basic platform. It has been shouted by hundreds of speakers: "throw the rascals out."

But never before has the minority party had so much ammunition.

For two years a succession of scandals has rocked city hall, rattled skeletons in the closets.

Convictions Cited

Tax shortages in excess of $200,000 have been found, city employes convicted and sent to prison. Two men committed suicide.

Bureau of fire officials have been convicted of graft. An impeachment proceeding against the receiver of taxes is underway. A former city director of purchases has been indicted.

Grand juries have accused city officials of "disgraceful laxity." One department head testified his hands were tied in operation of his office by political appointees who were unable or unwilling to do the work.

And Democratic candidates, led by attorneys Joseph S. Clark for controller and Richardson Dilworth for treasurer have hammered at this record in a months-long campaign.

Papers Back Demos

The GOP has stressed a "new look," saying the party has "cleaned house."

Republicans, led by city chairman William F. Meade, have aimed an attack on another front, charging the Democratic candidates are supported by "communist-led" groups. The Democratic party and candidates have denied the charge.

Within recent days the city's two biggest newspapers editorially have urged election of the Democratic candidates. Both list themselves as independent politically. In recent years they have supported Republican candidates in city, state and national campaigns.

The Inquirer, dismissing the register of wills and coroner posts as minor, asked support for Dilworth and Clark and said:

"The entrenchment in power over a long period of years by a party group can lead to many abuses, and that is what has happened in Philadelphia."

And the Evening Bulletin said "the Republican organization "has invited, by its recent record, a stinging rebuke."

Ex-Matinee Idol Of Silent Movies Dies

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 4. (AP)— William Desmond, another of filmland's old guard, is dead.

His family disclosed the death yesterday. Desmond, 71, a favorite matinee idol in silent movies, succumbed Wednesday night to a respiratory ailment.

Besides his many screen roles starting with "Peggy" in 1915, Desmond was also a matinee idol on Broadway. He was seen in such stage productions as "Quo Vadis," "Ben Hur," "Alias Jimmy Valentine," and "Romeo and Juliet."

His movie leads included "Ruggles of Red Gap," "Mr. Broadway," "Roaring West," "Heading For The Rio Grande," and "Phantom Of The Air." He played bit parts in recent years.

Desmond's wife, former actress Mary McIvor, died in 1941. Two daughters, Mrs. Robert P. Robertson and Terry Desmond, both of Altadena, Calif., survive. Funeral services will be held Saturday.
