Conservation of flood waters and reclamation of semi-arid lands is to the fore. In all the dry farming sections of the country, flood waters should be conserved or stored in order that the cultivated lands may be irrigated when spells of droughts come. According to the Fort Worth Record, the Texas Irrigated Land company will begin work within sixty or ninety days, to rehabilitate the old Arno irrigation system in the Pecos valley, according to a statement made by Clay Cooke, attorney of the firm of Cooke, Dedmon & Potter, representing the company. Mr. Cooke recently returned from Pecos, where he accompanied E. P. Falkenburg, appraiser for the American Appraisal company of Milwaukee, Wis., for the purpose of inspecting the canal and irrigation system and approximately 10,000 acres of land owned by the Texas Irrigated Land company. The present plan is to reconstruct the system on a permanent basis by putting the canal, which is about fifteen miles long, in first-class condition and putting in the Tucker reservoir, the rights, to which they own, thus providing an adequate reserve supply of water, Mr. Cooke said. This reservoir will cover approximately 2,500 acres of land, and will provide water for the irrigation system when the Pecos river is low. Besides the 10,000 acres owned by the company, about 5,000 acres more will be benefitted by this system, he said. This land is held by small farmers, and water rights will be sold to them by the company or the company will purchase the land outright. The 15,000 acres will be drained by a complete set of drain ditches, and concrete work of a permanent nature will be put in along the present canal to prevent breaks and troubles and to assure a permanent and dependable water supply, he said. It is the intention of the Texas Irrigated Land company, Mr. Cooke, said, to put the land owned by them under irrigation and cultivation and then divide it into small tracts, on which farm houses will be built, and sell these tracts to farmers. The present holdings of the company in the Pecos valley, including the canal and irrigation system, are worth approximately $300,000 at the present time, and when the old canal system is rehabilitated the approximate worth of the 10,000 acres of land and the irrigation system will be over $1,000,000, he said. It will cost about $300,000 to rehabilitate the system, and a bond issue has been made to cover it. Land at the present time is assessed for taxes in the Pecos valley at $5 per acre, and after the irrigation system is rehabilitated it will be assessed at about $50, according to Mr. Cooke. At the present time land is worth $7.50 an acre, and when it is put under irrigation and cultivation will be worth $100 to $150 an acre, he said. This land under cultivation yields unusually large crops, and one farmer in particular in 1920 made twenty-one bales of cotton from nine acres of land. Mr. Cooke stated that under cultivation and irrigation this land would yield from a ton to a ton and a half of alfalfa to an acre and from three-fourths to a bale of cotton. The old Arno system has been in litigation since 1912, Mr. Cooke said, and it was only recently that the supreme court handed down a decision on it, and the Texas Irrigated Land company got a clear title. This system, which is located about twenty miles from Pecos, will make the sixth irrigation system in the valley, and will be one of the most complete and valuable irrigation systems in the entire Southwest. Mr. Cooke stated that it was the hope of the company to have the land under cultivation by next spring, but that it would probably be 1923 before the irrigation system was completed and the land under cultivation.

Hon. Sam Rayburn of Fannin county has for years represented what is known as the oil Bailey district. Hon. Jeff McLemore, editor of the Texas Commonwealth, served four years in the Lower House of Congress as a colleague of the Hon. Sam Rayburn. The current number of the Commonwealth contains the following story: "In this issue of The Texas Commonwealth may be found the tariff speech of Hon. Sam Rayburn, member of congress from the Bonham (Texas) district. Mr. Rayburn argues well from his point of view and he holds to what was once good Democratic doctrine. We believe, however, that Mr. Rayburn will find a difference of opinion among many of his farmer constituents, who, like the writer, have become impressed with the belief that what is good for the manufacturer ought to be equally good for the producer. Before the protection of our "infant" industries had become a fixed policy of our government, it was the popular thing for the Democrats to shout for "a tariff for revenue only." But the protection policy has become so thoroughly engrafted on our government and has also become so hopelessly permanent it is a hard matter to convince the producer that a protective tariff is not good for him since it works such benefits to the manufacturer, especially when the producer stops to think what he is getting for his raw material and what he must pay for his raw material and what he must pay for his manufactured articles. However, Mr. Rayburn's views on the tariff will not take from him the vote of his farmer constituency to any appreciable extent, if at all. He has so many good qualities as a statesman that his farmer constituents

Brilliant Display of New Gowns and Gems Features Style Show

With a brilliant display of clothing and gems, from the store of Wichita Falls merchants, and a scintillating program by young Wichita Falls talent, the first night of the Wichita Falls 1921 Fall Style Show, staged under the auspices of the Woman's Giuld of the Church of the Good Shepherd, was accounted very much of a success on Thursday night.

From the standpoint of entertainment and from the "style educational" standpoint it can be considered to have fully accomplished all that was hoped for it.

The model displays were accomplished cleverly, introduced as social functions, with the living models as guests. The display from the stocks of the local merchants were sufficiently splendid to do credit to a style show in any city, in fact many of the garments shown were exact duplicates of garments in the big New York style shows held in August.

A particularly attractive feature of the show was the scene "The Old and the New," in which a wedding gown of a bride of a half century ago, was shown contrasted with the extreme styles of today. The old-fashioned gown was of heavy silk, in a rich dark red, high neck and long sleeves, much bedraped and fitted, and stood out quaintly against the gaily colored, short skirted, and muchly revealing cut bodices of the modern frocks and gowns.

The jewels worn were from the Art Jewelry Company, the shoes from Miller's Walk-Over Shop and Salmon and Nutt, and from the department stores, and Mrs. Joss Dickson and Mrs. Mary Cross exhibited hats with Kimberlin, W. B. McClurkan and J. C. Penny Co.

The merchants exhibiting were: Anderson's, J. C. Penny Co., Parisian, P. B. M. Co., Kimberlin's Baum & Gardner, Freeman-Black & Co., W. B. McClurkan & Co., Perkins-Timberlake Co.

Outside the living model displays there was a very effective program, of fancy dancing and choruses, for which especial mention is due Miss Leslie Davis, for her work as director, and also for her solo dance work. Also Miss Elvia Allman, the soloist in the school scene chorus.

The program will be repeated in its entirety tonight.

NO. 17 BURNETT FLOWING AND SWABBING OIL

Planet Petrolem Company's Well in West Electra Field Brought in at Depth of 1,650 Feet.

Flowing and swabbing at the rate of 225 barrels daily, the Planet Petroleum Company's No. 17 Burnett, on the west side of the lease, in the south Electra shallow fields, was brought in Wednesday in the 1650 foot sand, according to reports from the field Thursday. This well is the second in the new sand, and was drilled deeper from the 1400 foot sand of the shallow pool.

It gives a westward extension from the discovery well, the Planet's No. 20 completed a few weeks ago, and is of additional interest from the fact that it is larger than the first well, indicating a real pool in this original Electra sand, instead of a mere streak, as other tests have found at deeper levels than the usual producing horizons of the Electra shallow pool.

Another interesting development in this south Electra field is the striking of a sand below 1500 feet in the No. 1 W. T. Waggoner of the Arco Trust company. This well was first completed in the 1070 foot sand, for a small pumper.

It was then drilled deeper, and is now set and cemented on the 1500 foot sand, according to latest reports from the field. The Arco Trust lease is south of the Planet, where the 1600 foot sand developments are the center of interest, and is west of the Grace Jennings lease of the Gulf Production.

Rise in Cotton Market Will Aid Farmers in Liquidating Debt to Country Merchants

The rise in the price of cottton will be a great factor in liquidating merchants, especially those in smaller towns who have been carrying the cotton farmer, according to Marvin Smith, of W. R. McClurkan & Company. The $300,000,000 of the new money which the favorable price will bring to Texas will affect all of the so-called merchant class from the smallest country storekeeper to the largest jobber and manufacturer of cotton goods, he says.

Cotton goods have gone up in price from 20 to 25 per cent during the past 10 days, Mr. Smith says, and all future orders will be based on the increased prices. The public will not be affected by rise for the time being as merchants have quite a stock of cotton goods on hand at the old prices.

"We have already realized a good deal from collections made possible by the sale of last years cotton crop at the present prices" Mr. Smith says, "and I am sure other stores and merchants have done the same."

Included in the list of cotton goods which will soon cost the consumer a good deal more are outings, wide sheetings, bleached, domestic, bed spreads, shirts, and numerous other articles in every day use, he says.

The rise in cotton has had a steadying effect on clothing as well, although the use of cotton is limited in this line, he says.

Clothing is not expected to become any cheaper, on account of the fact that while material is nearly as cheap as it was before the war, labor, which is an important item in the total cost of manufacture of a suit of clothes, is practically the same as it has been for some months, he says.

DAUGHERTY MAY RESIGN FROM CABINET

Attorney General Expected to Leave White House Family, Possibly to Serve in Other Capacity.

Looked Upon as Strong Ally of Ohio Republicans in Carrying State in Senatorial Campaign.

Special to the Record News.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—"I have nothing to say regarding the matter at this time" was the message Attorney General Harry L. Daugherty sent from his sick bed, before leaving Washington, concerning a report that he is to leave the cabinet. He left here in company with Brigadier General Sawyer, the president's private physician, for a brief recuperative vacation, during which it is not expected he will make any more definite statement regarding the persistent rumboe that he is desirous of giving up the portfolio of justice.

The rumor that Mr. Daugherty is to relinquish his position in the Harding cabinet is not new, by any means, but is has been revived within the last few days. The fact that he has not seen fit to give an unequivocal denial to the report, however, is not considered here as, in any sense, an admission that he is to quit the department. He may do so. There are reasons to believe that he may; but so far there is nothing to indicate that he will, and his silence upon the subject, when questioned, is not to be taken as an intimation that he will do so.

Never Made Much Money

Mr. Daugherty has never acquired a competency from his law practice or otherwise, and while the $12,000 annual allowance to the attorney general may seem a large salary, the de-

FAIL TO DECIDE ON WHAT CHARGE 'FATTY' WILL BE TRIED FOR

By Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., Sept. 15.—District Attorney Brady announced tonight that no decision had been reached whether to proceed against Roscoe ("Fatty") Arbuckle tomorrow in police court on the murder charge preferred against him, or to ask for dismissal of this in view of the grand jury indictment against Arbuckle for manslaughter.

The decision will be made here tomorrow morning, Brady said. His statement was made after a conference with his deputies and with Chief of Police O'Brien and Captain of Detectives Matheson.

The body of Miss Virginia Rappe is not to be removed from San Francisco to Los Angeles tonight, but will be taken to the southern city tomorrow. The undertaking establishment in charge announced today that arrangements could not be completed in time to send the remains before tomorrow.

The manager of the establishment was asked in a telegram from Henry Lehrman, Miss Rappe's fiance in New York, to whisper in the dead girl's ear: "Henry loves you."

"She will hear you," the telegram continued.

Mrs. J. B. Hamilton, chairman of the special committee named by the Woman's Vigilant committee yesterday to co-operate with Mr. Brady in the investigation of the Arbuckle case, and Mrs. Robert H. Dean, a prominent member of the special committee, waited on Brady today and pledged him the full support of the committee.

Protect Women Witnesses.

The women announced that the vigilante committee, which is made up of a number of San Francisco club women, will have members of the special committee at every public hearing of the Arbuckle case, will provide every possible protection to the women witnesses, and will cooperate otherwise in every way possible.

The developments in the case today were:

Robert H. McCormack, assistant United States attorney general in charge of liquor prohibition prosecutions, announced that he would conduct a sweeping investigation of the liquor phases of the Arbuckle case "even if such investigation reached into the moving picture colony at Los Angeles."

Arbuckle is accused of having had a quantity of liquor at the party at which he is charged with having inflicted fatal injuries on Miss Rappe.

The manslaughter indictment against Arbuckle, voted by the coroner's jury, yesterday, was returned in the court of the presiding superior judge, and the case assigned to the court of Judge Harold Lauderback. Bail was set at $5,000 cash, or $10,000 in bonds.

Arraignment Saturday.

Arbuckle's appearance in court was set for Saturday, when he will be arraigned, and may plead on the charge if he does not waive his right to continuance.

A certified check covering Arbuckle's cash bail was deposited with the bond and warrant clerk, but it was announced he could not be admitted to bail until the murder charges had been disposed of.

Officials of Judge Lauderback's court believe it will be two or three weeks before Arbuckle is brought to trial.

Brady declared that Arbuckle would be given as speedy a trial as possible.

"It will be pressed vigorously whichever charge we try him on, murder or manslaughter," he said.

Tomorrow's appearance before Police Judge Sylvan Lazarus is to complete the arraignment begun Monday on the murder charge preferred by Mrs. Bambina Maud Delmont, a member of the party in Arbuckle's hotel suite, charging the film comedian with the death of Miss Rappe.

Another telegram from Henry Lehrmann, of New York, friend of Miss Rappe, was received today by the district attorney.

It said: "Wish to thank you again for the righteous, strong and skilfull manner in which you are handling the defense of Virginia Rappe. Your determination to have justice is widely commended around here. You will earn gratitude and admiration of millions of people interested in the case. They are lining up here at newspaper offices for latest editions. Have communicated with Halstead (the undertaker) and am wiring him money today. Wired to Mrs. Delmont $150 as newspapers claimed she is without funds."

NEGOTIATIONS TOWARD PEACE NOT RUPTURED

Cancellation of Proposed Conference at Inverness Not Looked Upon as Definite Break in Parleys.

De Valera Insists Ireland Be Represented as "Sovereign State" but Premier Denies Request.

By Associated Press.

LONDON, Sept. 15.—The arrangements for the proposed Irish peace conference are cancelled, but the negotiations still are not ruptured. That in brief is the story of today's unexpected developments.

Eamonn De Valera, the Irish Republican leader, having re-affirmed his claim to enter the conference as the representative of an independent sovereign state, Premier Lloyd-George declares that such admission is impossible. He announces the cancellation of the arrangements for a conference and the necessity of his consulting his colleagues on the subject.

The premier is careful not to lose the door to possible resumption of negotiations. On the contrary he gives Mr. De Valera and his supporters the amplest time and opportunity to reconsider their position.

The fact that premier Lloyd George is suffering from a child was confirmed at his official residence in Downing street tonight. It was also announced that it would be necessary for the premier to remain indoors a few days.

Declaring that there was but one equivalent to Great Britain's acceptance to a claim which would be knowledging Ireland's right to negotiate a treaty of closer association with "some other foreign power" he mildly reproaches the Irish people for taking no single step to meet the generous advances of the British government.

The whole tone of the letter in fact, reveals that the premier still retains hope of some more favorable development. Although the prospect is that there will be no move now from either side for a few days. It is noteworthy that in the final exchange the traditional diplomatic methods of sending notes by courier were dripped in favor of the more expeditious telegraph lines.

The text of Mr. Lloyd-George's reply which telegraphed tonight, says "I informed your emissaries who came to me here Tuesday that reiteration of your claim to negotiate with his majesty's government as the representative of an independent and sovereign state would make a conference between us impossible."

Acknowledges Letter.

"They brought me a letter from you in which you specifically reaffirm that claim, stating that your nation 'has formally declared its independence and recognizes itself as a sovereign state' and it is only, you added, 'as representatives of that state and its chosen guardians that we have any authority or powers to act on behalf of our people.'"

"I asked them to warn you of the very serious effect of such a paragraph and offered to regard the letter as not delivered to me in order that you might have time to reconsider it. Despite this intimation you have now published the letter in its original form. I must accordingly cancel the arrangements for the conference next week at Inverness, and must consult my colleagues on the course of action this new situation necessitates. I will communicate this to you as soon as possible, but as I am for the moment laid up here a few days delay is inevitable. Meanwhile I must make it absolutely clear that his majesty's government cannot reconsider its position, which I have stated to you.

"If we accepted a conference with your delegates on the formal statement of the claim which you have reaffirmed it would constitute an official recognition by his majesty's government of the severance of Ireland from the empire and of its existence as an independent republic."

Only One Answer.

"It would, moreover, entitle you to declare as of right acknowledged by us, that in preference to association with the British Empire you would pursue closer association by a treaty with some other foreign power. There is only one answer possible to such a claim as that.

"The great concessions which his majesty's government made to the feeling of your people in order to secure a lasting settlement deserved, in my opinion, some more generous response, but even for every advance has been made by us.

"On your part you have not come to meet us by a single step, but have merely reiterated in phrases of emphatic challenge the letter and spirit of your original claim.

"I am, yours, faithfully,

"LLOYD-GEORGE."

GALVESTON, Texas, Sept. 15.—The board of city commissioners will ask the United States shipping board to amend its regulations providing for employment of American seamen only on order to assist more than five hundred foreign seamen who are "beached" here.

Enthusiasm for Trade Excursions Should Last Year Round—Anderson

"Enthusiasm over trade extension campaigns should last the year around, declares W. W. Anderson, of Anderson's department store, "and the friendships made on the trade excursions should be continued through a system of follow up correspondence to let the people know that we are anxious and ready to serve their needs.

Most merchants and business men are willing and eager to enter into a trade boosting campaign, Mr. Anderson believes, but when the actual trips are over they do not take advantage of the good will of their new friends and let them know they still think about them.

"It is important to keep a customer on the mailing list and when any special sale or new item is introduced he should be informed. In this way the customer, regardless of where he lives, feels like he is a regular customer of this house and does his business accordingly.

"Wichita Falls has advantages as a trade center for a radius of 60 to 75 miles in this section of Texas and Southern Oklahoma, which are real and when they are given sufficient publicity, will become apparent to the potential customers living in this section. With the completion of the Wichita Falls and Southern a great opportunity has arisen for Wichita Falls merchants, and retail and wholesale jobbers. Buyers in that rich and productive part of Texas can save time and money by trading in Wichita Falls in preference to other cities. What we want to do is to keep these ideas always before their minds.

"It is hardly possible to over-emphasize the importance of keeping in touch with our customers and prospective customers in this territory by a mailing list. Our house tries to follow up with correspondence what we already have done and improve the opportunity for closer ties both in business and friendship."

RODEO MORE EXCITING THAN ANY SINCE 1897 PROMISED FOR FRIDAY

By Record News Staff Correspondent.

SEYMOUR, Sept. 15.—"A rodeo program, more sensational than that of 1897, when Chief Quanah Parker brought his 500 Indians to the Baylor County Fair and Rodeo will be staged here Friday and Saturday. Frank Rhodes and John Davis, managers of the rodeo, announced Thursday on what is considered the most auspicious opening a Baylor County Fair has ever enjoyed. The weather was fair and fully 10,000 people are estimated to have thronged into the fair grounds today, where are displays in attractive array row on row of prize products of the soil and range as well as of the brain, hand and needle.

The throngs which seemed to fairly choke the streets and main arteries early Thursday morning were kept constantly growing by the additional crowds who arrived by train, by automobile and in horse-drawn vehicles.

All hotels and rooming houses are crowded to capacity and fair officials are expecting additions by the hundreds on Friday, which is Wichita Falls day, and for which special programs are being arranged for the entertainment of a large party of boosters who will leave Wichita Falls at 8 o'clock Friday morning.

Expect Record Attendance.

F. F. Fisher, president of the fair association, G. D. Morris, vice-president and W. W. Wood, treasurer estimate that before the exhibitions have been closed on Saturday night, more than 50,000 people will have passed through the fair ground gates.

C. C. DeGraftenried, who has been a big money winner in seventeen different rodeo during this summer, was leading the field at the close today of a series of exhibitions filled with fast and skillful work.

In the steer roping event, half of the contestants gave the signal of success under the fifteen second mark, while a half dozen left their animals hog tied within ten seconds. First prize in this event, however, went to Lem Colthorp, in the record time of six seconds.

TEXAS VETS OF '61 MEET IN TEMPLE

By Associated Press.

TEMPLE, Texas, Sept. 15.—The battle flag of the Confederacy floated majestically beneath Old Glory on the public square here today in honor of the twenty-ninth reunion of the Texas division, United Confederate Veterans, which opened today for a two day session.

Less than 300 delegates were mustered, due to crippled transportation facilities resulting from the recent floods. However, a large increment is expected to arrive by tomorrow.

Responding to the address of welcome, E. W. Kirkpatrick, of McKinney, division commander, declared that the country is sick, the government is sick, and society is sick." Adding that "some of the ideals or which the old southern soldier went to war in 1861 would be a good stimulus for modern times." He further declared that the principle of self-government is the only thing that will cure the world today.

The city is elaborately decorated in honor of the veterans, and all local facilities are practically at their disposal. They were guests today at a barbecue in the city park. Tonight they were addressed by R. L. Henry of Waco.

Following the military review at the academy today the president and his party, including Secretary of War Weeks, inspected the dormitory and mess hall. The chief executive expressed the opinion during the tour the dormitory rooms built for two cadets lacked sufficient ventilation for 3 or 4 youths now assigned to them.

mands upon a cabinet member are so heavy that none of them ever hopes to lay by a cent of his salary while in office. There has been a tacit understanding for some time that Mr. Daugherty would like to get back to his law practice in Ohio, and try to make some money. And he may still have that in mind.

The real reason back of the break in the cabinet, however, if the Attorney General should determine to leave it, would be generally considered as political. Should Mr. Daugherty leave the president's cabinet, it is felt by many who know of the close relationship which has existed between the president and his attorney general for years that he would only do so to be of greater assistance to the president in some other way than he could be by remaining in the cabinet. And it might be that his assistance in carrying Ohio in the senatorial election to be held next year would be considered of greater value to the president than his remaining in the department of justice.

Ohio is always an uncertain state in politics. It swings from side to side at different times, and candidates are often named because of the fancied ability they may leave to gather votes and swing the state into the proper column. There is naturally a very strong desire upon the part of President Harding to see Ohio remain republican and send a republican to succeed Atlee Pomerene, the present democratic senator, whose term will expire March 4, 1923, and whose successor will be elected next year. And, because he was nominated and elected from Ohio, and feels more than a personal interest in the politics of the state, the president is expected to take an active part in the handling of Ohio politics between now and the next election.

Party Not Harmonious

But the republican party in Ohio is not entirely harmonious. Governor Harry L. Davis, whose term will expire Jan. 1, 1923, in ample time to take a senatorial seat, is understood to have senatorial ambitions. He belongs to an element of the party not in accord with the Harding wing, and it would be a severe blow to the president to have the republican nomination go to Governor Davis. There is little doubt there will be an administration candidate in the field for the nomination for senator to contest with Governor Davis for it, and the belief is that the attorney general will be picked to make the race. In that event, he would feel compelled, a little later, to give up his cabinet post.

Mr. Daugherty's declination to discuss his possible resignation from the cabinet may mean that no decision has been reached as to whether he shall make the race for Senator or not. Others have been discussed as possible administration candidates. Walter F. Brown, the president's own selection as chairman of the joint congressional committee on reorganization of the government departments, has been mentioned as a possible choice of the president; while Dr. Simeon Fess, of Yellow Springs, for ten years the representative of the seventh Ohio district in Congress, and chairman of the republican national congressional committee, is also considered as a possibility.

Good Campaigner.

However, those who know of the relationship between the president and Harry Daugherty, and the president's high esteem of Mr. Daugherty as a man, as a politician and as a campaigner, do not hesitate to express the belief that the president will pick his present attorney general to make the senatorial race in Ohio, in order to keep the Harding element of the party in the ascendancy, and as the strongest candidate the party could put up for the senate. Next year will be an "off-year" and Ohio is famous for its changes in sentiment in off years. It is felt by the president and his friends that it would not do to let Ohio rebuke its president by electing a democrat to the senate, and the full force of the administration will be brought to bear to keep it in the republican column.

In view of this situation it is not at all improbable that Mr. Daugherty will soon be quitting the department of justice, to get into the race for the senatorship from Ohio. With that end in view, it is not strange that his answer to the question regarding his intentions was that he had nothing to say at this time. The primaries in Ohio will not be held in Ohio till next August, and there is plenty of time for a campaign before then. This far ahead it is reasonably to be expected that Mr. Daugherty would not want to announce definitely either that he would or would not be a candidate for the senatorship, but would await developments and continue in his present position until it is finally determined whether Mr. Daugherty or some one else is to be the candidate for senator.

Hays to Be Referee.

Should Mr. Daugherty retire from the cabinet and resign the attorney generalship, it would leave Will H. Hays, postmaster general, as the political referee for the president. He was chairman of the national committee when he was appointed postmaster general, and it was then thought by many that he would become the president's chief political adviser. But Mr. Daugherty assumed the role of politician in chief to the administration and Mr. Hays has had little to do with the political moves of the president. Should the attorney general leave the cabinet, however, Mr. Hays would be next in line for this unofficial position and probably his O. K. would soon become as important on an application for political preferment as that of the attorney general now is.

Mr. Daugherty has been a source of much trouble among politicians in some of the states, through his disagreement with their views as to patronage distribution, and the question of whether he is to leave the cabinet means a great deal more than a mere matter of a change in personnel. Further words from the silent member of the cabinet are being awaited with deep interest in many places, and the entire country will be glad to know of the decision, whichever way it is made.

BEGIN FIGHT FOR REMOVAL OF W. G. PRYOR

By Associated Press.

AUSTIN, Sept. 15.—Immediate removal of W. G. Pryor as a member of the Texas prison commission is prayed for in a petition filed late today in the 26th district court by the attorney general's department on behalf of the state and at the instance of Governor Neff. The petition was filed under the provisions of the act passed at the first called session of the 37th legislature.

Shortly after the filing of the petition, Judge Cooper Sansom, judge of the court, issued an order suspending Pryor and appointing Walker Sayles of Stephens county to fill the position. Such action is permissible under the act authorizing the removal of prison commissioners.

Pryor was appointed a member of the prison commission by former Governor Ferguson and had served about five years of his six year term. Governor Neff made an effort to have Pryor resign, but the latter declined. Pryor has been manager of the state farms. Governor Neff charged mismanagement of the prison farms in demanding Pryor's resignation.

By Associated Press.

UNEMPLOYED OIL WORKERS FORM UNION

Unemployed men in the oil fields have formed an organization and promise trouble for oil companies who employ men who are already employed, rather than men at present unemployed, according to an anonymous communication received by the Record News, postmarked from the Thrift Branch (Newtown) post office.

What form the "trouble" promised may take was not divulged from the communication—in fact that there would be any was merely implied, as the communication stated that the organization "would use it's influence" to the end named.

The communication, which was written with pen and ink and in a good handwriting on ordinary ruled note paper, and enclosed in a plain envelope, reads as follows:

"An organization has organized with about 200 members, principally unemployed men, from Burkburnett to Bridgetown.

"Their purpose is to use their influence in whatever way may be necessary to cause men already employed and making a living way to discontinue taking jobs from other companys.

"Also to insist that companys employing new men employ the unemployed and render their assistance in keeping men employed by other companys out of their employ."

IMPOSE THIRTY MINUTE TERM IN COUNTY JAIL

L. B. Gray, proprietor of a grocery store at the corner of Second and Scott streets, and who recently brought suit for $10,000 damages against Sheriff Fred Smith for injuries alleged to have been received at the hands of a Kangaroo Court while confined at the county jail was fined $1 and sentenced to thirty minutes in the county jail by a jury in the county court at law on a petty theft charge Thursday afternoon.

The verdict was returned after the jury had been out over two hours following a trial that had lasted several hours.

The case was hostly contested, a special attorney aiding the state in the prosecution of the case.

The case obtained considerable notoriety several months ago at the time of Gray's arrest by officers from the sheriff's department. Following his arrest he was confined at the county jail for a few hours and while there was tried by the Kangaroo court of the prisoners. Gray claimed at the time that he was severely beaten by the prisoners and he recently brought suit against Sheriff Smith for injuries alleged to have been received.

According to evidence introduced at the trial Thursday, Gray refused to return the change due a customer at his store. The defendant claimed that he kept the change to apply on the account of the customer's mother. He stated that it was his understanding at the time that the money belonged to the mother of the customer who owed him for groceries previously purchased.

War has been declared by the High-minded and sane living people in the movie world of Los Angeles on "a small but noisy minority" of the motion picture colony which "drives high speed motor cars to high speed drinking places," and "supplies material for gossip and scandal reflecting on the great army of well behaved, honest, sincere, generous, kindly people." Ben B. Hampston, former magazine publisher, now producing motion picture plays, was the spokesman for the reform element in the movie industry. Hampton confined to his bed in Los Angeles penned a statement on the Arbuckle case: "It is inevitable that the picture profession and industry should suffer temporarily from general indiscriminate criticism aroused by this horrible affair." Hampton declared. Many people in their hot resentment of conditions that made tragedy possible may be prone to carelessly criticise the entire industry. Such an attitude would be unfair and unjust to the extreme. The Los Angeles motion picture colony has suffered for years because of a small minority of black sheep." Ben B. Hampton is a sane living and right thinking man and when he reminded the public that because there are a few rotten apples in the movie orchard, all the fruit is not contaminated the public should give heed to what he has to say.

DODSON SOUNDS CALOMEL'S DOOM

The "Liver Tone" Man Warns Folks Against the Sickening, Salivating Drug.

Ugh! Calomel makes you sick. It's horrible! Take a dose of the dangerous drug tonight and tomorrow you lose a day.

Calomel is mercury! When it comes into contact with sour bile, it crashes into it, breaking it up. Then is when you feel that nausea and cramping. If you are sluggish, if liver is torpid and bowels constipated or you have headache, dizziness, coated tongue, if breath is bad or stomach is sour, just try a spoonful of harmless Dodsons Liver Tone tonight.

Here's my guarantee—Go to any drug store and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't straighten you right up and make you feel fine and vigorous, go back to the store and get your money. Dodson's Liver Tone is destroying the sale of calomel because it can not salivate or make you sick.—(Adv.)

UPS AND DOWNS IN THE PRICE OF COTTON.

The swing of cotton prices, which in the last fourteen months has carried the market from 43 3-4 cents per pound in July, 1920, to 10 7-8 last June and back again to 20 1-8 last Tuesday, is the most violent in the entire history of the cotton industry, says a writer in the New York Times. In the days when the blockade of the South, after having been made almost complete in the last days of the Civil War, was suddenly broken by the surrender of Lee, the New York price of cotton rose from 76 cents a pound in April, 1864, to $1.54 the next July, and fell to 40 cents in April, 1865. A little calculation will show that even these figures, though expressed in relatively higher values that today's, did not exhibit a percentage of fluctuation equal to that of the last year.

But movement of cotton prices has often been extremely erratic during the intervening period. Advances of 50 per cent. or more have occurred on a short crop within such years as 1899, when the price went from 6 1-4 cents to 10 1-4 and 1901, when it rose from 6 to 12. The once famous "Sully corner" of the short crop of 1903 drove the price from 8 7-8 cents in January to 13 1-2 in July, and it was back at 9 1-2 the next October. A season clearer in the present market's remembrance was that when the war broke out and when cotton, which had sold at 14 1-2 cents in October, 1913, and at 11 in August, 1914, was down to 7 1-4 in December of the last-named year.

That price was actually not far above the lowest spot price on record, the 5 5-16 cents of September, 1898. The decline of the war year was accompanied, as was the decline of nearly 75 per cent. of the eleven months following July, 1920, by an outcry from the South that it was ruined. In the present year the situation has been met by a virtual moratorium on the debts of Southern banks and planters to outside institutions. In 1914 one of the incidents surrounding the establishment of the Federal Reserve was the insistent demand of Southern Congressmen that the reserve note currency should be based on unsold cotton, whereby the price might be maintained. It will not have been forgotten that in November of that year the banks all over the country were induced to pledge an aggregate loan of $135,000,000 to carry the cotton crop, which was the largest crop ever raised, before or since. Yet in the end the cotton belt had actually used only the insignificant sum of $28,000 out of the banks' pledge, and by June of 1915 (the new crop's acreage having been reduced 5,000,000 acres, or 14 1-4 per cent. from that of 1914), the price was back at 13 7-8 cents.

The rapidity with which an excessive decline in price has almost invariably been recovered in the past, especially when a very bad crop season or a great reduction of acreage had changed abundance to scarcity, adds a kind of historical interest to the cotton market of the next few months. Whatever else may be said of the situation, the Agricultural Department testifies that the market now has behind it the largest percentage reduction of acreage ever made in a single season, taken as a whole, on the records of the department.

ANOTHER BANK AT RANGER.

Ranger is getting over its banking troubles. The Peoples State Bank has been organized. J. C. Stripling of Lano, stockman and banker, will be its president. John T. Turman of Big Springs will be its cashier. Many local men are associated with these gentlemen. Payments to depositors of the closed Guaranty State Bank of Ranger are to be made at once. More than $500,000 which has been tied up in the closed bank for seven weeks will be released and will give an impetus to fall buying in the city of Ranger. This should be a lesson for people everywhere. There was a run on this closed bank. It was solvent. Its depositors went up in the air. They tied up their institution and their own money. Now they are to get their money but they have their town a temporary black eye when they lost their heads and precipitated a run on their institution.

And now the Sinn Feiners are demanding admission to the League of Nations. It may be a good thing and the Celts in Celtland appear to be aware of the fact.

Appeals to English women to demand prohibition in Great Britain has been made by American reformers. John Bull's drink bill last year was more than [illegible] and yet John Bull is too poor to pay interest on American loans.

CANAL ROUTE SHIFTS TRADE TO AMERICA.

Although the Panama Canal has been in operation only seven years, it has already exerted a great influence on the direction of international traffic, says the National City Bank, in a review of the changes brought about by the shifting of traffic. The importance of its opening in August, 1914, was eclipsed by the outbreak of the war. Later traffic was limited by government requisitioning, high freights, scarcity of tonnage, financial and industrial uncertainties and fueling difficulties. Nevertheless, it is pointed out, throughout the war the Panama Canal had a potent effect on both domestic and international trade.

The shifting of ocean trade routes as a result of the war and the opening of the canal has affected no country more markedly than the United States, says the bank, because it opened a gateway to the commerce of the Pacific through its saving in distance and time and the consequent saving in freights. The increase during and since the war of shipments of Asiatic products to the United States is undoubtedly due considerably to the new waterway. New trade relations have already been established with many of the Asiatic ports which indicate the favorable position in which the United States has now been placed for obtaining a large share of world trade, it is declared.

The sea route from New York to Seattle is shortened 7,873 miles and New Orleans is nearer Seattle by 8,873 miles by using the Panama Canal instead of the Magellan route, while the route from Liverpool to Seattle is shortened by 5,666 miles.

The advantages to the trade between the United States and South America are also noteworthy, continues the review. While north European ports were also brought nearer to the west coast of South America by the canal, the proportionate gain to the eastern and southern ports of the United States was much greater than was the gain to Europe. Before the opening of the canal it was 410 miles farther from Loverpool to Valparaiso than from New York. By the Panama route Valparaiso is nearer to New York than to Liverpool by 2,600 miles. Another change that has resulted has been to bring the Pacific ports of South America nearer to the Atlantic and Gulf ports than to the Pacific ports of the United States. For example, the distance from San Francisco to Guayaquil, Ecuador is 3,514 nautical miles, as compared with 2,847 nautical miles from New York to Guayaquil by way of the canal.

Perhaps the most significant advantage from the standpoint of the foreign trade of the United States is the reduction in distance to the ports of the Far East. New York is 6,610 miles nearer Honolulu by the Panama than by the Magellan route, 2,964 miles nearer Yokohama and 1,233 miles nearer Shanghai by the Panama than by the Suez route. Sydney is 3,635 miles nearer to New York by the Panama than by the Suez Canal, and Wellington is 2,493 miles nearer New York by the Panama than by the Magellan route.

The eastern ports of the United States are nearer New Zealand and the east coast of Australia than are the ports of Australia than are the ports of Western Europe. The wool which was formerly sent from Australia to Europe and transshipped to the United States is now sent directly to the American mills. On the other hand, large quantities of wheat, frozen meats and other products are now sent from Australia through the Panama Canal to thickly populated countries of Europe. The United States with the products of the West and Far East passing near its principal ports holds a strategic position at the intersection of ocean highways.

Many advantages derived from the use of the Panama Canal have been based on the shortening of the distance via the canal as compared with other water routes. It has been considered, both in domestic and international transportation, that the greatest advantages of the canal in comparison with rail routes were in shipping heavy and bulky commodities in which low cost of transportation was the chief factor and speed in delivery was a secondary consideration. The chief commodities heretofore shipped through the canal have been nitrates, coal, oil, iron and steel, and grain. Recently refrigerator ships service has been installed, which adds a comparatively new feature to the advantages of using the canal. The first shipment of oranges and lemons from California to New York via Panama Canal proved highly satisfactory, and transportation cost was 75 cents per hundred pounds, as compared with the rate by rail of $1.66 1-2 per hundred pounds. The shipping of citrus fruit from Southern California alone amounts to 50,000 carloads annually. The first shipment of citrus fruit by the all-water route from Los Angeles to London, consisting of ten carloads of oranges and 100 boxes of lemons, passed via the Panama Canal in March, with a considerable saving in freight and a saving of three days in time. Rapid service is planned to Eastern markets, and the Seattle Chamber of Commerce and the California Fruit Growers' Association have announced their support of the all-water route.

From the time of the opening of the Canal considerable shipments of wheat have been made from Pacific ports of the United States as well as from Chile. Australia and New Zealand to Atlantic ports of the United States and to European countries. Heretofore, Canadian wheat destined for Atlantic ports has for the most part passed over the Great Lakes and through the St. Lawrence. Recently, on account of congestion on other routes, shipping Canadian wheat to Europe via Panama Canal was inaugurated. Shipping Canadian wheat by the new route has passed the experimental stage, although the amounts shipped thus far have been small. During the fiscal year 1921, the total shipments of wheat, passing through the Canal from all Pacific countries aggregated 607,000 long tons or about 26,000,000 bushels. The future importance of this route will be determined by competition from the new Canadian route via Hudson Bay, and the proposed Great Lakes-St. Lawrence route.

In addition to greatly facilitating domestic trade, the Panama Canal has placed the United States directly at the intersection of important international highways, and with the adjustment of commerce to natural channels the United States will be in a position to become an important factor in the economic and commercial life of a large part of the Pacific area.

Four hundred former service men in the city of New York are going to Spain to fight the Moors. Donald McGregor is their captain and where the McGregor leads there will be swords flashing under Moroccs skies.

THE BACK SEAT.

I often rode with Stephen Stuss, in his green super-eight; it was a large and powerful bus, and strictly up to date, and was admired by every cuss who marked its easy gait. I do not like to beef or knock, it doesn't seem refined; but I could say, on every block, "It aggravates my mind, the way you turn your head to talk with those who sit behind. The man who drives a motor car should always look ahead, and know just where the culverts are, and shun the mud-hole dread, or he may ditch us, with a jar, and leave us lying dead. The people in the seat behind would feel much better, too, if you would keep your feeble mind on what you have to do, and make your boat in safety grind, until this jaunt is through.", But Steve kept turning round to say his bright and wittye things, and ran into a load of hay, and busted all the springs; they took us home upon a dray, in plaster casts and slings. And foolish Stephen Stuss was hurt the worst of all, 'tis said; he landed squarely in the dirt upon his bony head, and ruined his twelve-dollar shirt, all striped with green and red. And as I said to that poor toad, I say to every gent: When you are driving, on the road keep all your glances bent, or you may soon have your abode beneath a monument.—Copyright by George Matthew Adams.

The suit of the J. A. Johnston Pipeline Company against the T. and B. Pipeline Company in which $30,000 damages are asked by the plaintiff will go to the jury today in the 78th District court. Trial opened Tuesday morning before Judge Ed Napier.

The suit involves the alleged purchase by the plaintiff of 150 cars of crude oil from the defendant company in 1919. According to the plaintiff's petition the defendant company only delivered a small amount of oil on the contract resulting in the damages asked by the plaintiff.

The Story of
YOUR ICE

Let us show you through our plant

Delivery Troubles

When your refrigerator gets warm, the ice-man has been due for an hour or so, and a dozen other things have gone wrong just because you are "completely out" of ice, just remember a few of the many troubles and hardships your ice-man has to go through with every day to see that you get your ice.

He may have run out of ice because of an unexpected heavy demand before he reached you, or have had to double back over part of his route because someone was "to busy" or not at home, or forgot to hang out the card.

Also remember your ice-man is using a slow, cumbersome horse-drawn wagon—not a fast truck. The latter would not mean the saving of any time as the stops are almost at every house. If it would give any better service, he would be using one.

Your ice-man has been at work several hours before you were out of bed, possibly, and the ice heavy and hard to handle. Please tell us your troubles—not him.

Cost—

With the thermometer registering about 106 degrees in the shade, you can imagine how much ice is lost through melting before the delivery wagon reaches you. This is a complete loss that cannot be helped.

Time has proven that with the constant drippings of water in the bed; jolting over rough streets and carrying heavy loads, the best ice-wagon lasts only a short time.

This cost of delivery and heavy loss in delivery is one of the big items in the manufacturing and distribution of ice through the long, hot summer months; yet you get your ice delivered to your kitchen for only a few cents.

The one place in Wichita Falls where the unique, the unusual, the appropriate gift for any occasion, can be found. In every home there are niches that must be filled with some ornament or choice bit of bric-a-brac that will complete the harmony of the setting. A Chinese Screen, beautifully carved and ornamented, an Italian hand-wrought Floor Lamp of graceful lines that will shed a soft radiance over the room and its furnishing, mantle ornaments that create an atmosphere of culture—a touch of refinement, pleasing to the eye of the discriminating.

Through our connections in the east we have been able to assemble thousands of these attractive articles—bits of Oriental coverings for lounge or chair. Baskets woven in brilliant colors by Chinese maidens in Shan Tung. Pictures that are exact replicas of the greatest work of the old Masters. Hand Painted Brass and Tin Novelty Trays, Wall Pockets, Waste Baskets, Magazine Baskets, and the ever necessary and beautiful boxes for cigarettes, sweetmeats, flowers, magazines, etc., that give an atmosphere of cheer and color in an otherwise dull spot. In fact a thousand charming items that you will find nowhere else.

The salespeople in charge are familiar with the history and the origin of these works of art and will take a distinct pleasure in showing them to every visitor.

A WIFE IN THE MAKING

BY PHYLLIS PHILLIPS

BETH WILDERS CASE.

Even as she was laughing with her friends, Beth suddenly straightened up anxiously at the sound of Miss Lutie's voice speaking with someone at the gate. Then came the deeper rumble of a man's voice and in an instant she was out of the room and calling to her husband frantically. Anything to distract his attention from Miss Lutie and to help her progress toward Miss Laura's house.

"That club of yours still in session, Beth?" called the tactless one loudly. Then, to her dismay, Beth saw him turn to Miss Lutie and ask her what she thought of "The Disgruntled Wives Club."

She groaned as she heard him do so and clinched her fists hard. At that moment, Beth would have given all she possessed for the privilege of slapping her husband's face soundly.

Next came the sound of Miss Lutie's response, oh, so beguiling, questioning concerning this new club. Her every note registered an ignoble curiosity. The deep, masculine answer and explanation was followed by a hearty roar and a titter from the lady. Then the sound of Dick's "Night, Miss Lutie. An' when you get married, just you drop around and join our merry circle of disgruntled ones!"

Another titter from Miss Lutie and off she went, quivering, as Beth very well knew, with the excitement of this new bit of gossip with which to regale her cronies.

There was a deathly stillness as Dick came whistling cheerily into the house. At sight of his wife's white, set face, he stopped and asked her what was the matter. For once Beth Wilders shook her fist at him and forgot all her mandates as to the proper behavior to be expected of a wife.

"You are an idiot, Dick Wilders. Furthermore, you are downright mean. I never thought that men could be that. Although I have been told often enough that they are far meaner than women folks when it comes right down to brass tacks. Now I know."

"What's all the row about?" asked her husband.

"You great big lout standing there and making fun of is and letting Miss Lutie have a new bit of scandal from our house. You ought to be ashamed of yorself. I hate you, Dick Wilders, hate, hate, HATE you!" And here Beth stamped her foot violently and ran back to her guests.

At her vivid report to them all became chaos. One by one the voices were raised in wails and protests. It would have gone hard with Miss Lutie had she been in the room then.

"I told you how Dick was. He's the meanest man alive. And I'm through being disgruntled, girls, I'm determined," said Beth, with a savage nod of her head. "This is going to be fought to a finish. Either he comes to my point of view and agrees to let me develop myself, as well as cook his meals, or I get out. I mean it, every word. I'm tired of this sort of life. I can make my living with my music, just as I did before I was married. Thank goodness I don't need Dick financially. I can support myself. And if we are not going to be mutually happy in our marriage it's better to part in time."

Lina—Doris Kenyon was born in Syracuse, New York. She was a stage actress before her appearance on the screen. Her latest picture is "Shadows of the Sea." She is also to play on the legitimate stage this winter.

Newt—Yes, May McAvoy is a star. Soon after her unusual and artistic portrayal of Grizel in "Sentimental Tommy" she was made a star by Realart. She is a tiny little creature, less than 5 feet in height, with big blue eyes and wavy dark brown hair. Her present starring vehicle is "Everything For Sale."

Seaside—E. K. Lincoln played in the "Littlest Rebel." It's true that Mary Thurman was a school teacher before she became a moving picture star.

Bonnie Lass—Beatrice Swanson is the sister of Gloria. They resemble each other very slightly, although both are good to look upon. George Chesebro played opposite Grace Darmond in "The Hope Diamond Mystery."

Milford—Robert Mantell is not playing in pictures at present. Louis Glaum was born in Maryland. Bill Dearmond was born in Ireland.

Fritz—Pauline Starke played in "The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come." No, she did not play the leading role.

A. B. C.—Edith Johnson is Mrs. William Duncan in private life. Ralph Graves is not married.

Esther—Pauline Frederick's new picture will be entitled "The Lure of Jade." The story for her picture was written especially for the star by Marion Orth.

Laura—Dorothy Bernard has not appeared on the screen for quite some time. She is playing one of the principal roles in "Personality," a stage play.

G. N. & H. Smythe—Such a flock of questions as you have sent! I will send the answers in several installments. Anne Luther is not married. That is her correct name. Pearl White is no longer married. Very recently she secured a divorce from Wallace McCutcheon. Mabel Normand has never ventured into matrimony and Mabel Normand is the name by which she was christened.

RECIPES FOR TODAY'S MENU.

Summer Club Sandwich—Poach two eggs for each person in morning and chill. On a slice of toast, place a leaf of lettuce and two slices of tomato. Place an egg on each slice of tomato and cover with thousand island dressing (mayonnaise and chili sauce). Put a few slices of asparagus over top and garnish with paprika. This serves well as an appetizing dish for a summer lunch and serves as main dish and salad combined.

Boston Cooler—One quart vanilla ice cream, one quart root beer (ice cold). Put some ice cream in bottom of tumblers or ice tea glasses. Pour root beer over ice cream slowly and stir with spoon slightly to dissolve froth.

This is a simple dessert. After a heavy meal it is a light food, tempting to look at and surprisingly delicious.

PICKLING SEASON.

With the coming of the harvest season the provident home caterer is turning her attention to the preparation of spicy pickles and relishes that will prove delicious eating when the snow flies and especially when "cold meat night" comes around.

With the markets and grocery shops filled with cucumbers, peppers, onions, celery and cabbages, all at very reasonable prices, and with reliable recipes to follow for your favorite "pickle," why not try your hand this year and see if you cannot more than rival the more costly commercial products?

The following practical suggestions are offered as "helps" in putting up pickles and other appetizing relishes:

Scalding pickles in vinegar in a kettle lined with grape or cabbage leaves, the top of the pickles being also covered with the leaves, is a material aid in retaining and intensifying the bright natural color of the vegetables.

Brine in which articles for pickles are to be stored should be strong enough "to hold up an egg." A generous pint of coarse salt to one gallon of water is the correct proportion.

Brine in which vegetables for pickles are to be kept simply over night should be made in the proportion of one cupful of salt to one gallon of water.

Articles to be pickled lose some of their crispness on being scalded, but they will absorb vinegar more readily.

Spices and the pungent horseradish are a decided aid in keeping pickles in good condition. Green or red fresh peppers of any variety are better to use than peppercorns, which often impart a bitter taste to the compound in which they are used.

Cloves are the strongest of all the spices and should be used less freely than mace or cinnamon. A teaspoonful of broken stick cinnamon, eight or ten whole cloves, one inch of ginger root and six blades of mace is a good proportion for a quart jar of pickles.

WOMEN INTERESTED IN LAW DEPARTMENT OF TEXAS VARSITY

AUSTIN, Sept. 15.—Trat women are now taking a prominent part in the law school of the University of Texas is demonstrated in the fact that a representative from the local chapter of Kappa Beta Pi, legal sorority, will attend the national convention to be held in Chicago, September 15-17, inclusive. Miss Ione Spears, law librarian of the University, will attend the convention as a delegate and as dean of the legal sorority in this institution. Miss Spears also represented the University chapter of Kappa Beta Pi at the national convention last year, and is in a position to gain valuable information for the benefit of the organization this year, it is pointed out.

There have been 23 girls in the law school elected to membership in Kappa Beta Pi since the installation of the Texas chapter in 1916, and 18 of these are now active members. Qualifications for membership are second year standing in the law department with a good scholastic record and recommendations by the other members. This is the only chapter of the legal sorority in Texas, but there are 24 chapters in the United States. They have been established in the law schools of leading universities, such as Yale, Cornell, Chicago, George Washington, and the universities of California, Oregon and Washington.

Although there is still only a small minority of women in the law school of the University of Texas, they have been remarkably successful in their legal study and later practices. Among the members of Kappa Beta Pi who received the LL. B. degree in June were Misses Irene Lohmann of Port Arthur, Edith Schneider of San Antonio and Zac Drummond of Mission. Mrs. Dickson D. Falvey of Austin received the law degree at the August commencement. Miss Drummond is now practicing law in Mission, and the others expect to enter actively into the profession this fall. Among former graduates is Mrs. Anna I. Sandbo, who received the master of laws degree and is now in legal partnership with her husband in Austin. Miss Lucy Moore of Stephenville will be registrar in the law school of the University during the next session.

HERE AND THERE AMONG WOMEN

Mrs. Hilda Willing, holder of the women's long-distance championship, declares that swimming does not make girls "masculine," but on the contrary makes for health, grace and beauty.

The vogue for athletics is credited with adding an inch and a half to the average height of American women during the past forty years.

By having her pre-war dresses altered, Queen Mary of England is able to keep her clothes bill down to about $1,500 a year.

To be in style in the Congo the women wear anklets, weighing as much as twelve pounds.

It is claimed that it is costing the former Mrs. William B. Leeds more than $1,000,000 a year for her Greek title of Princess Anastasia.

SPUDS EVEN FINAL SERIES OF HOME SEASON, BEATING CATS IN GREAT NINTH INNING RALLY

By C. F. CARTER.

Umpire Paul Sentell, chief of staff of the indicator handlers of the J. Doak Roberts circuit, step to the front and receive this beautiful prize; this handsome celluloid cook stove. We've got to hand it to you, Paul, after seeing the noble manner in which you donated a ball game to the Spudders by a score of 5 to 4 last evening—thereby enabling them to hold the climbing Houston Buffs at bay and to make a glorious finish of the Texas league season in Wichita Falls.

Had Umpire Paul decided to stick closely to the strict ground rules of the cambat, it is barely possible darkness might have ended yesterday's game with the Panthers and Spudders locked in a 4-4 tie. But in the last of the ninth inning, Paul decided to waive the ground rule regarding two bases on an overthrow of first and so permitted "Smiler" Bischoff to score from the first sack on a wild heave past Kraft by Topper Rigney. Perhaps Paul reasoned that Bischoff was entitled to second base anyway, had the throw been perfect, and was therefore entitled to third base and home on the over-throw if he lould make 'em. At any rate, not a soul on the Fort Worth club lifted his voice in protest, except Cecil Coombs, and the players trotted from the field and began hastily shedding their shoes as soon as the ball went through Kraft. Cecil hot-footed it in from center field protesting vigorously:

"Aw, whatta you care," we thought we heard Sentell's retort, "you got the rag won, haven't ya?"

Regardless of whether the score should still be a tie or not, Sentell's action in not stopping Bischoff made the game legally the property of the Spudders—and they probably would have won it anyway, as they had men on the sacks, only one out, the heavy end of the batting order coming up and Tiny Goodbread was weakening woefully after having clowned and hurled his way beautifully through eight swell innings.

It was one of those grandstand finishes, gang, such as the Spudders have so frequently pulled off in the past before the slump bug bit 'em; and it made a perfect ending to the home season. Although only a small crowd of fans were present for the season finale, they became "all het up" over the battle, roared, applauded, pounded the seats with pop bottles, stretched in the lucky seventh and otherwise cut didoes all-same regular championship series.

Dave Loses Trophies.

Dave Paul gave away his silver bat and silver ball to Bob Beecher, voted by the fans as the most valuable Spudder in 1921, and Dave thereby got his last free advertisement of the season. Hereafter he's got to pay for em like all you folks! B. Frank Johnson, state representative from this "deestrict," made the presentation speech, kidded the boys along, poured it on the Fort Worth team and then got a big hand when he expressed the wish that the Cats trounce the daylights out of the Memphis Chicks. B. Frank had a hop on his fast one, and his speech struck out his audience. Bob took the bat and ball, grinned handsomely, declined to make a speech, and toted his trophies to the bench like a delighted kid with a new air rifle.

And then Tiny Goodbread and Rabbit Dorough hooked up in a nifty little hurling duel for a few rounds, after each team had scored once in the first. The Spuds made their opening tally on good clean hits by Red Josefson, Tex McDonald and Danny Clark, and the Cats made theirs when Kraft's fly failed to stick in Cecil Griggs' clutching mitts.

From that point until the sixth Dorough and Tiny moved serenely along—and then the heavy artillery opened fire in the sixth:

Rabbit fanned Kraft, but Hoffman beat out a hit to second, and went to the No. 2 sack when Danny Clark made a bad heave to first. Haley singled to deep short, putting Hoffbit, and Bischoff ran Dutch down on man on third. Rigney hit to t' Rat- the line, Haley going to third and Topper to second while the case was on. Although Buddy twice told Rabbit to walk Homer Haworth, Dorough stuck one over in the groove and the Panther backstop clouted it to the center field fence for two sacks, scoring Haley and Rigney. Goodbread beat out a hit to short, Coombs walked—and Sears flied to left.

Danny Hits Homer.

The Spudders got one run back in their half, however, on a single by Danny Clark and a two-bagger by Leland McElwee. Danny, who had a perfect day with the willow, getting three out of three, helped the Spudders along some more in the eighth frame, when he fooled the fans and himself by smashing one over the left field fence for the circuit—not that Danny lannot bust that old apple out of the park, but it has been many moons since he selected the left field fence as his target.

The real thrill came to the fans, however, in the final chapter when Frank Kitchens went to the front to bat for Cecil Griggs. After Tiny had two strikes on him, Frank socked a single to left. On the hit and run, Works flied out to deep left, Bischoff smote a heated single into the same pasture, and Kitchens went to second. Knadler laced one at Topper Rigney, and the Fort Worth shortstop pegged wildly to first. Kitch and Bisch both scored, although just why Paul Sentell left Bisch get away with it we don't know 'em.

And so the season ended for the local fans. Sunday, if they're still looking for baseball, and want to see a really fast game we advise 'em to spend 35 cents a head, go to Athletic park and witness the game between the University Club and the All-Stars.

Today the Spudders open the final series of the Texas league schedule against the Cats in Fort Worth.

CORNER LOT STARS OF CITY TO STAGE BATTLE SUNDAY

What kind of baseball talent have the corner lots of Wichita Falls been developing this season?

Fans who seek an answer to the question may, perhaps, find it at Athletic Park this coming Sunday afternoon, when the University Club team of the Twilight league will hook up with the All-Stars, an aggregation of pill chasers selected from a number of the fastest amateur and semi-pro teams in the city.

The University Club nine has lost only six games since they opened their season on the 8th of last April. They have been playing one, two and sometimes three games a week since, against the best clubs in this section, and only a week ago walloped the strong Lawton, Okla., club, 8 to 5. The team is composed of former college and university players from almost every section of the United States, all members of the Wichita Falls University Club.

The All-Stars will have in their line-up many of the best players on independent and former city league teams of Wichita Falls. Since the City League "busted" several weeks ago, all the All-Stars have been playing together steadily and have been "mopping up" with consistent regularity.

It has been a big year in this city for amateur and semi-pro ball teams, and some mighty fine talent has been developed. Extra inning games have been common, several scores have been the rule and some really fast baseball has been played.

Sunday's game will be an admission affair, with every seat in the grandstand, including the boxes, priced at 35 cents. Billy Newell will be on the job with cold pop—and if you're still anxious about the Spudders, don't worry. THE RETURNS OF THE FORT WORTH-WICHITA FALLS GAME WILL BE ANNOUNCED BETWEEN INNINGS.

PARIS AND ARDMORE START THEIR SCRAP AGAIN TODAY

PARIS, Texas, Sept. 15.—The Paris and Ardmore clubs of the Texas-Oklahoma League, beginning tomorrow, will play here the remainder of games necessary to decide the playoff series for the league pennant. So far five games have been played, of which Ardmore has won three, Paris 1 and one was a tie. There was no game today.

GRID TEAMS OF WESTERN CONFERENCE PREPARE TO TACKLE EASTERN ELEVENS

CHICAGO, Sept. 15.—The western conference university football squads today held their first practice in preparation for a season which finds most of the stronger elevens of the 1920 season faced with the task of replacing a majority of their former stars and two of the tail enders of last year's training to develop teams which will make creditable showings on scheduled eastern invasions.

Squads ranging from two to four score reported to the gridiron instructors at the ten fields today with the interest generally accorded Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin and Ohio State championship teams temporarily subdued by that given Chicago and Indiana, the two elevens which will carry western conference colors into stadiums of the larger eastern schools for the first time in years.

Chicago faces Princeton October 22 in the first of a home series scheduled between the two schools. With only the remnants of his last year's team available, Coach Alonzo Stagg is paying little attention to the conference games, pointing his team entirely for the clash with Princeton. The strongest defensive team in the conference last year, the Maroons, are working to retain that defensive power and to develop an attack which will have a chance of getting past the Tigers' claws.

At Indiana University Coach "Jumbo" Stiehm has an even more difficult task than Stagg, for his eleven, one of the weakest last season, and with few of its stars back in school, must trade thuds with Harvard at Cambridge on October 8th.

In the conference itself, Ohio State, in order to retain its 1920 championship may need even more good fortune than last season when two games were won by one point and another by a touchdown actually made after the final whistle had blown.

Stinchcomb, former all-American half back, "Hoge" Workman, the middle west's greatest forward passer, and others in football's hall of fame, will have to be replaced by Coach Wilce.

Michigan and Wisconsin are expected to show considerable strength although the latter has lost many stars while Illinois, Minnesota, Northwestern, Iowa and Purdue are the "dark horses" of the season.

Illinois, always a factor in the championship race and runner-up last year, has lost its greatest players but Coach Zupke has a habit of always turning forth a winning team and while his followers do not know just how he will do it this year, they are confident the Illinois will be well in the running.

The schedule presents an unusual arrangement this year. Ohio State and Wisconsin, ancient rivals, have severed football relations, and will not meet, nor will Chicago and Michigan, or Minnesota and Illinois, all bitter gridiron enemies in past seasons. Michigan, however, resumes its rivalry with Wisconsin.

Practice games will be played at Northwestern and at Indiana a week from next Saturday but the regular season will not get under way until October 1st.

KEMP MAKES PREPARATION FOR BANQUET

The Kemp hotel management is making elaborate preparations to serve the Shriners mystic banquet at 6:30 p. m. Thursday, September 22nd, the day the temple is to be constituted by Imperial Potentate Ernest A. Cutts of Savannah, Ga.

The banquet is to be for shriners only, and tickets and reservations may be secured at the recorder's office in the Masonic temple building. The price will be $2.50 per plate.

H. J. Foerster of the hotel staff has arranged to use both dining rooms for this occasion, and will be able to accommodate at least 400 shriners.

A picked orchestra from the shrine band will furnish music during the banquet, after which a suitable program will be rendered by members of the tepic.

Several distinguished shriners will be in attendance.

Following the banquet, a dance will be given in the auditorium at Call Field, for shriners and their ladies.

At a regular meeting of Maskat temple held in Masonic temple, final arrangements were made for the entertainment of the imperial party, consisting of Imperial Potentate and Mrs. Ernest A. Cutts of Savannah, Georgia; Imperial Potentate Walter C. Temple and Chief Rabbon Harrison B. Cabe of Hella Temple, Dallas.

Thanksgiving day was designated as the date for the next shrine ceremonial. A large class of novices is expected at that time, as no ceremonial has been held since May 9.

Potentate Cline will appoint a special committee to arrange a buffet turkey luncheon for the shriners and their ladies. All the shriners and novices in Northwest Texas will be expected to bring their ladies along for this occasion.

It is the desire of the temple that the Thanksgiving ceremonial be the largest and most elaborate ever staged.

SPUDS LAST SERIES WILL BE SHOWN AT PLAZA AIRDOME

The play of the Spudders in Fort Worth for three days, beginning this afternoon, will be shown on the Star Ball Player board at the Plaza Airdome as usual, Carl Stoecker announced last night. Although the Spuds have lost the pennant, interest in the final standing of the local Texas leaguers is still strong and Carl intends to give his patrons an opportunity to follow the fortunes of the Spudders play-by-play until the last out in the final inning next Sunday officially winds up the season's schedule.

The game this afternoon will start at 4:00 o'clock.

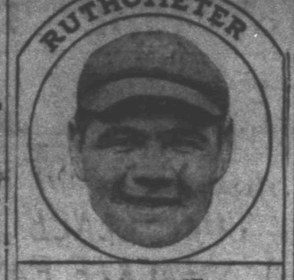

CLASS B CLUBS TO STAGE SERIES FOR WORLD'S CROWN

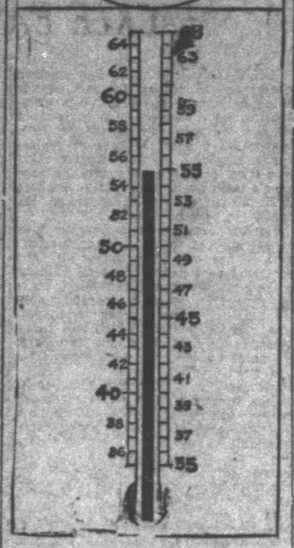

DETROIT, Sept. 15.—A proposed five game series for the class B baseball championship of the world, with the Moline, Ill., Three-I League club as one of the contestants, has been approved by George M. Haines, president of the Michigan-Ontario League. The other team would be either London, Ontario, the Michigan-Ontario League champions, or Ludington, Mich., pennant winner in the Central League. London and Ludington are to begin a seven game series at the Ontario city next Tuesday and the result of this series would determine which team should oppose the Three-I champions.

GOLDBERG WILL TALK ON "DILEMMA"

"The Dilemma" will be the subject of Dr. David Goldberg's talk to be given at Temple Israel Friday evening at 8 o'clock.

The opening session of the Sabbath school will be held at 10 o'clock Saturday morning and parents are urged to bring their children for enrollment.

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—Babe Ruth made his 55th home run today breaking his last year's record of 54, during the season. It was in the fifth inning of the first game of today's double-header between New York and St. Louis. One man was on base at the time and Bayne was pitching.

DANCING ACADEMY IS REOPENED FOR SEASON

The Arcadia dancing academy, located at Ninth and Travis, has again changed management and will in the future be operated by James S. Mills of Dallas. The opening dance will be given Saturday evening.

Mr. Mills states that it is his intention to give a series of interesting novelty dances throughout the season.

Dancing instruction will also be one of the features of the new firm.

URGES STUDY IRRIGATION PROJECT NOW

Wichitans should begin even now to give thought to various features of the irrigation enterprise in order that they not only should realize to the fullest the indirect advantages to be gained by the increase in agricultural population and increase of products, but should prepare to profit through the stimulation to the industrial side of the city which should follow, Judge J. E. Starley, attorney for the irrigation enterprise told Rotarians at their noon-day luncheon.

"While the bond negotiations are proceeding satisfactorily, and that is about all we can say about them at this time," Judge Starley said, "I feel that I can safely say that it will be only a short time until we will want you to be driving out and observing the progress of the work," he said.

"The irrigation project will not only add millions to the value of the annual agricultural production of the county, and add some 20,000 to 30,000 people in farmers families through the district, but it should bring a considerable addition to the industrial population of the city," he said.

Will Stimulate Industry

"This will come largely in the shape of workmen in canneries and creameries which will be a natural outgrowth of the irrigation district." The speaker here expressed the hope of some time seeing "Wichita Falls Brand" canned goods widely known and distributed, in which he was promised cooperation of the wholesalers by E. S. Goodner, speaking for his classification.

Many other things to which thought should be given were mentioned by the speaker, including the building of additional good roads, the building of additional schools, the planting of trees, and the providing of an adequate marketing system for a new and large variety of products.

Another angle to the situation, Judge Starley sees in the opportunity for workmen's homes, being units with two, three or four acres of ground around them where the men who work in the industrial plants in the city and their families will be able to make the most of their living at home, as well as accumulating a surplus beyond the "breadwinners" wages, becoming property owners, permanent citizens, and gradually achieving independence.

Improve Labor Conditions

"This opportunity will make for industrial conditions and will result in the presence of a type of labor which will make Wichita Falls a highly desirable industrial location," he said.

In addition to Judge Starley's talk, Thursdays luncheon was declared open season for suggestions for "the good of the order." The responses included a plea from Bert Bean a greater regard for one of the original purposes in the organization of Rotary, weekly talks from each member to acquaint the others more intimately; from John W. Bradley, again emphasizing the importance of the "get-acquainted" trips throughout the territory near to Wichita Falls, and urging on each of his hearers the importance of his going; from Tom Smock for more especial friendliness for the new members from old ones who are acquainted all round, and who have been inclined to be stand-offish; and from B. Frank Johnson that the plan of the Houston Rotary club in building a grandstand in the baseball park there the boys are guests of the club, and the tickets of which go to the boys and are dependent on good behavior and progress in school and other tasks be considered for the boys work of another season.

George Gutzman reminded the members of the Breckenridge excursion, and about 30 of those present declared their intention of going.

A. E. Murdock and Fred Couper enlivened the meeting by their rendition of "Old McDonald's Farm," with Murdock playing the accompaniment. Miss Temple Bray also furnished piano selections as a part of the program.

"OVER THE HILL," DRAWS MANY PLAYGOERS

"Over the Hill," now playing at the Strand, bids fair to break all local attendance records for an attraction of this kind. The picture, which is billed for all week, has played to capacity audiences at practically every performance and it is not improbable that there will be many disappointed patrons who will be unable to see this masterpiece of the screen.

An interesting and colorful prologue proceeds the picture. Mr. Barrows, a Wichitan, plays a principal role in the prologue. Though Mr. Barrows' professional career has been limited, it is conceded that he carries his part in a way that would receive commendation from the most seasoned theatrical critic. "Over the Hill" comprises of twelve reels and it takes approximately three hours to give the show. The theme of the show is such as to touch the heart strings of the most blase.

NEW YORK SUGAR

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—The raw sugar was weak again under continued pressure of uncontrolled sugars, with sales reported of 68,000 bags of Philippine Island centrifugals due to arrive this month, at 4.00. Cubas were unchanged at 4.86 for centrifugal.

Continued liberal offerings in the spot market led to further selling pressure in raw sugar futures with prices for active positions at one time showing declines of 1 to 9 points, or new low records. October closed at 2.60; December 2.34; March 2.28 and May 2.34.

Refined sugar was quiet and prices were unchanged at 5.60 to 5.65 for fine granulated.

Refined futures were without transactions. Closing prices were unchanged to 5 points net lower, with October at 5.45 and December, March and May at 5.40.

THIEVES GET VARIED LOOT FROM HOMES

Automobile accessories, an automobile, two sets of harness and a bicycle constituted the loot taken by thieves in Wichita Falls and vicinity during Tuesday and Wednesday nights, according to reports filed with city detectives.

The accessories were taken on Tuesday night when burglars took four automobile casings, two engine wrenches and several piston rings from the garage of Charles Hill, 300 Sixth street.

The disappearance of a five-passenger touring car was reported Wednesday night by Jones Riddle of the Perkins-Timberlake Co., and the harness was reported missing from the premises of J. Jensech, near Wichita Falls.

G. T. Rosser reported the disappearance of a bicycle from in front the Tipton Drug store.

H. R. Sofford, of Chicago, assistant to Hale Holden, president of the Burlington lines, of which the Fort Worth and Denver is a part, and a party of Denver officials including F. E. Clarity, vice president and general manager, S. E. Covington general superintendent, M. A. Steiner, engineer maintainence of way, John Pfeiffer, superintendent motive power, arrived in Wichita Falls Thursday afternoon on a special train. From here they were transferred to the Wichita Valley and joined by O. E. Maer, superintendent of the Valley, left for an inspection trip of that line as far as Abilene.

The party will return to this city from Abilene, after an inspection, and will continue south to Fort Worth on the Fort Worth and Denver. There is no special significance attached to the visit, it being one of the periodical inspections by the office of the president.

Until the Next Day.

CABLE NEWS SENDS WHEAT PRICE LOWER

CHICAGO, Sept. 15.—Wheat underwent new declines in price today chiefly as a result of Argentine rains and fresh breaks in foreign exchange. Hhe market closed unsettled 1 3-4 to 2 3-4 net lower, with December 1.28 1-2 to 1.28 3-4 and May 1.33 to 1.33 1-4. Corn lost 5-8@3-4 to 1 and oats 1-2@5-8 to 7-8. Provisions finished unchanged to 15 lower. With rains in Argentina where most needed the wheat market took the downgrade from the start and lacked throughout the session any definite stimulus from export business. Bulls failed to make much headway with reports of freezing temperatures in Canada and with advices that unseasonable wet weather in the Dakotas was spoiling wheat in the stack. Rallies proved transient and the market closed at lowest figures of the day.

Corn and oats descended with wheat notwithstanding that foreigners did some buying of both.

Provisions were weighed down by eastern selling of lard, presumably to undo spreads against cotton seed oil.

MEXICANS CELEBRATE ANNIVERSARY

Honoring the hundred and eleventh anniversary of the independence of Mexico, local Mexicans Thursday night began a two day celebration and song fest in a specially built tabernacle at the east end of Sixth street, near the baseball park.

The meeting was commenced Thursday evening with music and speaking. At 11 o'clock, the hour at which the documents were signed by the Spanish authorities granting the Mexican state its freedom a group of Mexican girls sang the Mexican national hymn, which was followed by the Star Spangled Banner and America. At exactly the stroke of 11 o'clock, a Mexican and an American flag were raised, side by side.

Following the flag raising and patriotic ceremony dancing, which was scheduled to continue until 4 o'clock Friday morning, was begun. The celebration is scheduled to continue through Friday night and will commence Friday evening at 6 o'clock.

Among speakers, who are scheduled to appear before the celebration are announced: P. Navarro, P. Sanches, Mrs. Rebecca Navarro and Mrs. Anita Rodruegues.

MOTORCYCLE OFFICER TENDERS RESIGNATION

The resignation of Motorcycle Officer N. Daves was handed to Police Commissioner Fitts Thursday. Mr. Daves announced that he expected to return to his former occupation as a glass blower at the window glass factory, in the near future.

No successor to Mr. Daves was appointed Thursday. Police Chief Morgan said that his successor will be chosen from a list of applicants already on hand.

COTTON HAS DULL DAY ON CROP OUTLOOK

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—The cotton market was much less active today with local brokers atributing the smaller volume of business to subsiding excitement over the crop outlook and a disposition to await developments in the goods and spot markets. There were further wide fluctuations, however, December selling up from 19.55 at the opening to 19.95 and later breaking t o19.48. That delivery closed at 19.52 compared with 20.10 at the close of the previous day and the general market closed weak at a net decline of 23 to 60 points.

The market opened barely steady at a decline of 37 to 47 points in response to easier Liverpool cables and reports of better weather in the south. There was a good deal of scattering liquidation and some selling but it was pretty well taken around 19.40 for October and 19.35 for January. Rallies followed on reports of a firm spot basis in the south including claims that middling could not be bought in the interior of Texas at prices which would show a cost of less than 150 points on October landed in New Yorkm. There were also rumors late in the morning that a prominent Chicago authority estimated the condition of the crop at 40, which would indicate a falling off of 9.3 points since August 25. Demand failed to broaden much on the bulge, however, and when the rumor was denied, prices broke sharply, October sold off from 19.75 to 19.30 and January from 19.97 to 19.35 in the late trading and the close was within a few points of the lowest.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 15.—The disposition in the cotton market today was to react, mainly because of liquidation from the long side, although there was hedge-selling at times and also more or less short selling on thetheory that a prolonged reaction was overdue. The tone was soft in late trading and the close was at net losses on the day of forty to forty-seven points, with October at 19.15.

The opening was easy under influence of a much lower Liverpool and this initial decline soon amounted to 54 to 74 points, which carried prices to lowest of the day, October trading down to 19.04. Favorable weather over the belt seemed to have the effect of increasing offerings.

The downward movement was checked and partial recoveries brought about by a private bureau report on conditions of forty per cent normal, pointing to a crop, of but 6,500,000 bales, the announcement overnight by the war finance corporation that the billion dollars authorized by congress to be distributed in agricultural loans was ready for use combined with reports from the interior of a much greater willingness on the part of banks to carry loans against cotton and played up as a bullish influence and the market at one time was back within 16 to 21 points of yesterday's close, October rising to 19.43 the high of the day.

LIVERPOOL SPOTS

LIVERPOOL, Sept. 15.—Spot cotton in good demand; prices easier. Good middling 14.29; fully middling 13.69; middling 13.24; low middling 12.34; good ordinary 11.29; ordinary 10.54; sales 20,000 bales, including 12,000 American.

DALLAS SPOTS

DALLAS, Sept. 15.—Cotton middling 18.90; steady. At Houston, 19.60; steady. At Galveston, 20.50; steady.

COTTONSEED OIL.

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—Cottonseed oil was comparatively steady for nearby deliveries through demand from shorts, but forward months were bearishly affected by the slump in cotton and poor showing in lard. Closing bids were 3 to 24 points net lower. Sales 15,400 barrels. Prime crude 8.00; prime summer yellow spot 9.85; October 9.92; December 9.52; March 9.66; all bid.

DRY GOODS MARKET.

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—Unfinished cotton goods and yarns were steady. Prices advanced on branded lines of cottons to a parity with gray goods and raw cotton. Raw silk was firm, with slight advances in China grades. Burlaps were firm with heavyweights scarce and higher. Knit goods advanced moderately on fair buying.

NEW BUILDING AT FARM WILL BE READY OCT. 1

The additional building being constructed at the county farm to care for the county poor will be ready for occupants by October 1, according to information Thursday from Louis Jenrigan, superintendent of the farm.

Carpenter work on the ten room building will be completed today. Only the plumbing work and the painting of the building will remain to be completed before the building is ready for occupants. The construction of the building was authorized by the county commissioners' court less than a month ago.

It is expected that the building will be filled as soon as completed as county officials in the past have been compelled to refuse several applications for admittance due to the overcrowded condition of present quarters.

STOCK MART DOMINATED BY PROFESSIONALS

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—Professional interests dominated today's less active and more restricted stock market. Efforts of bull pools in several of the prominent industrial and special issues prove abortive, leaders showing losses of one to 2 1-2 points at the heavy close.

Baldwin locomotive again featured the dealings at an extreme rise of 1 1-2 points but closed at a loss of slightly more than a point. Among affiliated issues, also oils, steels, motors and rails, heaviness prevailed. Sales amounted to 600,000 shares.

Apart from the operations of pools, stocks were influenced to a great degree by the money market. Call loans gave way to 4 1-2 per cent at noon, the quotation was back to five per cent in the final hour.

International remittances again took their cue from London. That market sent over lower quotations for all leading exchanges, including marks, which duplicated the early weeks low record. Later rates were firmer, sterling making full recovery. Another decline in the Argentine rate was attributed to reports of a suspension of negotiations for a loan to that government.

Extensive dealings in liberty issues, with marked strength in the 3 1-2s, was the feature of the bond market. Other domestic and most internationals were lower. Sales par value $14,850,000.

CATTLE SELL MUCH LOWER AT FT. WORTH

FORT WORTH, Sept. 15.—Everything in the cattle division had to sell on a lower basis today and the movement scaleward was decidedly draggy. Receipts were estimated to reach 1,500 head of cattle and 3,000 calves. Steers lost 15 to 25 cents, the decline on cows, heifers and yearlings amounted to 15 to 25c and the calf trade was sticky at a drop of at least 50 cents. The general trade was the poorest of the four day period, nothing seeming to be wanted.

With the exception of one car, which sold higher to an order buyer at $8.20, nothing very desirable was on offer out of a supply of 1,200 hogs, quality average being poor. The general market was steady. The packer top was $8.00 and bulk sales ranger from $7.25 to $7.75. Pigs sold generally 25c lower. Most sales were around $6.25 to $6.50, but outside buyers took over a few butcher pigs around $6.75.

In the sheep house receipts were close to 1,000 head. The early supply of 500 head ran exclusively to stocker lambs, and the market was dull. Quotations:

To Our Customers

—In order to make you better prices, and meet out-of-town competition, we have consolidated our printing plant and stationery store, now having all in one, right in the heart of the city, thereby curtailing our expenses, besides we have made reductions in various other ways, which will enable us to make prices on printing that will meet your approval.

—In future it will not be our policy to bother you with salesmen, excepting an occasional visit on the part of our superintendent. We do not mean by this that we have plenty and do not need your work; we need it the worse kind, and want to figure on all your printing but we are satisfied you had rather we give you the benefit of this expense in price, however we shall be glad to call should it not be convenient for you to come to our store.

—We are in Wichita Falls, interested in the welfare of Wichita Falls and whenever possible we will meet or better, legitimate competition.

IRRIGATION BILL TO BE WORKED FOR

Special to the Record News.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 15.—Henry M. Eaton, Washington representative of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, announced today that detail plans to push the Smith-McNary Irrigation bill through congress would be placed before the executive officers of the Western Irrigation Congress. This is the bill that has the official indorsement of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce Irrigation Bureau, headed by J. A. Kemp of Wichita Falls.

Former Governor Sperry of Utah, now commissioner of the Government Land Office, chairman of the Western Irrigation Congress, has appointed a special committee to push the matter. Representative Claude Hudspeth of El Paso is one of the members of this committee.

The Smith McNary bill would appropriate $250,000,000 to purchase bonds from irrigation districts to encourage and facilitate irrigation projects. If the measure passes, it is not probable that several reservoirs and dams will be constructed on the Colorado, Canadian, Concho and Llano rivers as well as on the Pecos.

AUSTIN, Sept. 15.—Resignations from the faculty of the main and medical branches of the University of Texas since last spring have just been compiled in revised form by F. W. Graff, assistant to the president. There are 41 names on this list, and of this number ten are known to have resigned in the last few weeks as a result of the recent salary reduction made by the legislature. RATIFICATION OF TREATY TO BE DISCUSSED

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—Multitudinous tasks, including revision of the tariff and internal revenue laws, the ratification of the German peace treaty and scores of lesser important bits of legislative business will confront the Senate when it convenes again late in September to complete the work undertaken during the extraordinary session of Congress called by President Harding in April.

The eyes of the nation will be turned upon the upper branch of the national legislature when the wheels of law-making machinery begin to revolve again, because the major purposes of the present session have already been accomplished by the lower house, and it is now up to the Senate to finish the job. House leaders "point with pride" to the grist which has come from their part of the legislative mill since April, and have decided to let the Senate go it alone for a few weeks after Congress reconvenes, while they remain in session only formally and transact no business.

Chairman Penrose, of the Senate Finance Committee, will bring out the Fordney Revenue bill soon after the Senate gets back on the job and, when it is tinkered with and finally passed will give his colleagues a chance to wrestle with the new Tariff bill. Many weeks will be occupied before these important fiscal measures are adjusted in conference between the two Houses and sent to the White House for presidential approval. There are whispered rumors that action on the tariff bill may be deferred until after the disarmament Conference which is due to get under way in November.

Many weary weeks will pass while the Senate argues over the ratification of the peace treaties with Germany and Austria, and it is generally admitted that these two documents will not receive senatorial approval during the extraordinary, session though it is probable that there will be some discussion of them.

To Oppose Finance Bill.

One of the big party fights of the wind-up of the present session will be over Senator Borah's bill to grant free passage through the Panama Canal to American vessels engaged in coastwise trade. President Harding has indicated his disapproval of the legislative method of granting free tolls to American ships, believing that the matter should be adjusted through diplomatic channels; but Borah insists that the senate pass his bill, and he will make a strenuous effort to put it through.

The Administration plan for authorizing the War Finance Corporation to purchase railroad securities, now held by the Railroad Administration, and to use the money thus acquired to extend financial relief to the steam lines to the extent of half a billion dollars, will encounter some stiff opposition when the Senate takes up the Winslow-Townsend bill, already passed by the House. Democrats of the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee will lead the fight on the bill, and they will receive able and protracted assistance from Senator La Follette, of Wisconsin. Administration leaders want to get the bill through, but even the most sanguine of them see no chance for its enactment before the beginning of next session and probably not until the middle of January.

In addition to engineering the Tariff and Revenue bills through the Senate, Senator Penrose, as chief of the Finance Committee, will also have a big job on his hands in securing the passage of his bill to give the Secretary of the Treasury blanket authority for the liquidation of the $11,000,000,000 indebtedness of foreign governments to the United States. Senator Simmons of North Carolina ranking Democratic member of the Finance Committee, is expected to file a minority report on the Penrose bill.

Anti-Beer Bill Fight Near.

In conference between members of the Post Office and Post Roads Committees of the Senate and House will be fought out the question of providing a different method for the extension of Federal aid to the various states in the construction of highways. The last action on this subject was taken by the Senate in the passage of the Townsend bill appropriating $75,000,000 for this purpose during the present fiscal year and giving the Secretary of Agriculture authority to control the distribution of these funds. The House has ideas of its own as to how this road-building money should be passed out and some interesting sessions of the "good roads" conference committee are in prospect before a complete agreement is reached.

The anti-beer fight will be reopened in the Senate, with members of the Judiciary Committee, led by Senator Sterling, intent on the adoption of the Anti-Saloon League's "search and seizure" amendment to the Willis-Campbell bill and with Senators Reed and Stanley, having emerged victorious from one fillibuster against the measure, leading the opposition with all the parliamentary stumbling-blocks which they are able to put in the way of adoption.

Among matters on the Senate calendar which will probably be productive of oratory in the coming weeks are a request the president to ascertain whether France is willing to discuss the cession to the United States of all or part of its possessions in the Lesser Antilles Islands, protecting against the United States taking any part in foreign councils except upon the understanding that the purposes are to be the fulfillment of the pledges made by responsible representatives of this country and the Allied governments during the war, calling upon the president for information relative to conditions in Mexico, instructing the president to remove from office the present five members of the Federal Reserve Board and to appoint five members who are not bankers, authorizing the president to call a conference of the leading mercantile nations to consider ways and means for the stabilization of international exchange.

Bergdoll Case Comes Up.

The House has no measures of great moment in its calendar, but is expected to stage a wordy battle over the adoption of the majority or minority report filed by the special committee which investigated the escape from military authorities of Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, wealthy Philadelphia draft dodger.

The present extraordinary session has not been without its accomplishments on the part of both Houses. Among the bills which have been enacted into law since April are: Emergency Tariff, Immigration Restriction, establishment of the Bureau of the Budget, passage of the resolution declaring peace with Germany, the Army and Navy appropriations for the present fiscal year, consolidation of governmental soldier relief agencies in the United States Veterans' Bureau, Federal regulation of grain exchanges, control of the packing industry, giving the War Finance Corporation power to bolster up agricultural credits for export purposes.

The "agricultural blocs" in both the Senate and House have had considerable influence over legislation in this Congress, with the result that much that has been done has been designed to relieve the depressed condition of the farming industry.

Congress still has much to accomplish before President Harding's dream of pre-war "normalcy" is realized, but the lawmakers will return to Washington refreshed by their vacation and ready to plunge into their job with renewed vigor.

MAY DISBAR LAWYERS ON IMMIGRATION

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—First steps toward combatting alleged organized efforts to break down the new immigration restriction law will be disbarring of a number of lawyers from handling immigration cases before the department of labor, it was announced today by department officials. Charges against the attorneys will involve excessive charges made to aliens for work in behalf of their entrance into the United States, and efforts to bring discredit upon the immigration law.

Department officials said they were amazed at the strength of efforts to nullify the law through the spreading of misinformation and that it had been decided to combat this propaganda" by making public the facts with regard to the opposition the department was meeting in enforcing the law.

Assistant Secretary Henning declared that "those in control of the flood of aliens coming into this country deliberately exceed the monthly quotas and depend upon compelling us, with their sob stories and tales of families being separated to permit the law to be disregarded."
