Readmission Of Pair Sought

TEAR-DRENCHED MADONNA—A tightly clutched Madonna and eyes filled with tears tell this graphic story as a Negro girl is whisked away from the University of Georgia campus, Athens, Ga., in a State Patrol car. Charlayne Hunter, 18, who started classes at the school under federal order, was withdrawn for her own protection when students staged an uprising against the integration. (AP Wirephoto)

· MACON, Ga. (AP) — A legal move seeking readmission of two Negro students to the University of Georgia was planned today as the FBI and the Georgia Legislature opened separate investigations into rioting on the university campus.

The students were suspended following an anti-integration demonstration in which stones and firecrackers were thrown and police used tear gas. They were taken from the campus at Athens early Thursday and returned to their homes in Atlanta.

Constance Motley, an attorney for Charlayne A. Hunter, 18, and Hamilton E. Holmes, 19, promptly asked the U.S. District Court in Macon to reverse the suspension.

In overruling her oral motion, U.S. Dist. Judge W. A. Bootle suggested a written motion be filed. The judge conferred with Mrs. Motley and attorneys for the state and then said court would reconvene at 2 p. m., today.

Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers disclosed in Washington the Justice Department was "initiating a preliminary investigation of reported mob action at the University of Georgia to ascertain whether or not federal law violations occurred."

An FBI spokesman in Atlanta today said agents have been sent to Athens but he declined to disclose details.

"We are carrying out the orders," he said. "We are making the preliminary investigation. That is all we have to say about it now."

The Georgia House of Representatives named a special five-man subcommittee to begin hearings in Athens today to check conflicting reports and rumors of recent happenings at the university.

House Speaker George L. Smith II said in a statement he was confident the subcommittee would "neither whitewash the event nor engage in a witch hunt."

More than half the 600 members of the Georgia faculty Thursday night unanimously adopted a resolution saying, "We insist that the two suspended students be returned to their classes."

The resolution also urged "all measures necessary to the protection of students and faculty and to the preservation of orderly education be taken by appropriate state authorities."

Fifty student leaders began circulating petitions protesting violence and urging "decisive action" by university officials.

These developments in the state's week-old integration crisis occurred shortly after Judge Bootle issued a far-reaching decision invalidating that portion of Georgia's appropriations act which bans use of tax monies for support of an integrated public school or college.

The judge continued in effect an injunction granted Tuesday against Gov. Ernest Vandiver and other state officials which had kept them from closing the university by cutting off funds.

The governor had no comment on the federal order. But he made it clear at a news conference he had no plans to help Miss Hunter and Holmes return to classes at the university.

GOP Leaders Study Panel 'Packing' Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Republican leaders considered today a Rules Committee "packing" plan which Democrats are expected to approve at a party caucus Tuesday.

The plan was advanced by Speaker Sam Rayburn, D-Tex., as a painless solution to a problem that has vexed Democratic leaders for years. It would break a conservative coalition's grip on the Rules Committee, which can block legislation by refusing to send it to the House floor.

The plan would raise the membership from the present eight Democrats and four Republicans to ten Democrats and five Republicans. Theoretically, the new lineup would give liberals an 8-7 edge in the committee instead of the 6-6 standoff that has bottled up much liberal legislation in the past.

The plan is a compromise worked out by Rayburn and some Southern Democrats in an effort to assure smoother sailing for President-elect John Kennedy's legislative program.

The alternative would be to remove from the Rules Committee Rep. William Colmer, D-Miss., who often has teamed with Chairman Howard Smith, D-Va., and four Republicans to control the committee.

Willie Smith and some Southerners oppose what they call "packing the committee with left-wingers," sources close to them said the Southerners preferred Rayburn's approach to the more drastic purge procedure.

Two Probes Into Riots

Ex-Convict Is Sought In Kidnaping

AMARILLO (AP)—A hunt was on today for an ex-convict who kidnaped a policeman and a radio-television engineer Thursday night.

Kidnaped were patrolman Roy Collins, 28, and Henry White, chief engineer for KGNC radio.

Collins escaped by jumping from a car. White was freed when the gunman jumped from the car in downtown Amarillo.

The fugitive is Marvin Leroy White, 28, who has served three prison terms for forgery and theft. He is wanted on forgery charges in Amarillo.

The kidnapings started about 10 p.m. when Collins, in his patrol car, saw the ex-convict walking down a street with another man.

Collins said that when he stopped the man with the ex-convict came around on the driver's side while the ex-convict walked around on the right side of the squad car.

The patrolman said the ex-convict jumped into the car, pointed a gun at him and told him to start driving. The man with the gunman fled and notified police of the kidnaping.

Laotians Hit Rebels Again

By ROY ESSOYAN

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — The Laotian government's four newly acquired planes from the United States pounded the pro-Communist rebels' artillery positions 70 miles north of Vientiane today for the third straight day.

No reports were available so far on the damage but military experts said the Laotian pilots—trained in France and Thailand—probably would need more of flying to sharpen their aim.

So far there was no sign of air retaliation from the Soviet Union, Communist China or North Viet Nam, which support the Pathet Lao rebels. But Western intelligence sources reported an old model Soviet spotter plane was observed directing rebel artillery fire on Monday, the day before the United States delivered the four propeller-driven trainer planes the government forces are using.

Use of the planes for attack missions raised fears among British and French diplomats here that the Soviets or Red Chinese would supply combat planes for use against the anti-Communist forces.

The planes were reported attacking in the area of the Nam Lic River, 70 miles north of Vientiane, where two companies of government forces were reported engaged with a rebel force of about the same size.

Army sources said Premier Boun Oum's government is applying steady pressure on this front in an effort to link up with government units pushing down from Luang Prabang, the royal capital.

23 Exposed To Radiation

IDAHO FALLS, Idaho (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission says 23 men were exposed to radiation after last week's explosion of a nuclear reactor, but checks show no clinical symptoms in any of them.

The blast on the AEC eastern Idaho testing station Jan. 3 killed three young servicemen. The commission said in Thursday's report that one victim lived more than two hours after the explosion.

The 23 men were exposed to radiation while working in relay teams to recover the bodies and assess the damage inside the cubindrical reactor building. They wore protective clothing.

The blast killed Army Spec. 5 John A. Byrnes, 27; Spec. 4 Richard L. McKinley, 22, and Navy Electrician 1.C. Richard C. Legg, 26.

They were getting the reactor—a prototype of a mobile heat and power unit for the armed forces—ready to start up after a 10-day shutdown.

The AEC didn't say which man lived for a time after the blast.

Belgium's Austerity Plan Okayed

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP)—The lower house of Parliament approved 115-90 today the government's austerity program, target of a 25-day-old general strike called by the Socialists. Later approval by the Senate is considered a formality.

The Socialists opposed the plan bitterly, saying severe cuts in social welfare services and higher taxes will fall heaviest on the workers.

Premier Gaston Eyskens insisted austerity is necessary to offset losses of revenue from the Congo.

In the senate, Eyskens' conservative coalition of Social Christians and Liberals has a substantial majority.

Shortly before the vote, a mass meeting of Socialist political leaders issued a thinly veiled call for a federated Belgium split into separate French-speaking and Flemish states.

A meeting at Namur of 400 Socialist members of Parliament, provincial representatives and burgomasters adopted a resolution demanding that the Walloon area be free "to dispose for itself and to choose its own means of social and economic expansion."

The Walloon area is the southern half of Belgium, where the Socialist strike against government austerity is still going strong.

December's Jobless Roll Tops Since '40

WASHINGTON (AP) — Unemployment rose by half a million in December to 4,500,000 — highest December total since 1940.

Employment declined by 1,173,000 to 66,009,000.

Announcing these figures today, the Labor Department also reported that the rate of unemployment to the total work force rose from 6.3 per cent in November to 6.8 per cent. This is the highest December rate since 1940. The percentages are seasonally adjusted.

Seymour Wolfbein, Labor Department manpower expert, said that the idle total is going up further this winter.

Wolfbein said that if the seasonally adjusted 6.8 per cent idle rate remains unchanged the unemployed total will increase by one million to 5½ million during January.

On this same basis of assuming only seasonal factors, without continued worsening of factory employment, Wolfbein said that the prospective idle totals will be 5.6 million in February, 5.4 million in March and 4.9 million in April. The spring season generally brings improvement because the warmer weather permits construction and other outdoor work.

An indication how unemployment has mounted since the mid-December date, when the 4.5 million unemployment was recorded, can be seen in unemployment compensation claims.

These increased by 600,000 from Dec. 10 to Dec. 31, and reached a record December total of approximately three million.

December usually brings some decline in employment and increase is about triple the increase that would be regarded as normal for the month. The drop in employment also was extra-seasonal.

For the first time in a year, the employment total was smaller than the corresponding total a year ago.

The number of persons idle for 15 weeks or longer—the long-term unemployed—remained at approximately one million for the third straight month. Nearly half of these workers have been unable to find work for 27 weeks or longer—a half year.

The unemployment rate for married men reached 5.1 per cent in December compared with 3.6 per cent a year earlier, a significant change because of family responsibilities.

Oil Production Hike Predicted

By CHARLES HASLET

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Bureau of Mines estimates U.S. crude oil production will be up 2.7 per cent this year and domestic demand for all oils will show an increase of 1.8 per cent.

Of the total U.S. demand, domestic production will supply 81.9 per cent compared with 81.4 per cent in 1960, the bureau predicts.

To Alvin Hope, president of the Independent Petroleum Association of America, the outlook offers no promise of any substantial increase in drilling activity in this country.

In his estimate, 1961 "promises only moderate growth in demands and production."

Other forecasts by the Bureau of Mines:

Required new supplies for all oils this year will be 9,983,000 barrels a day, including imports.

Exports will drop 4.4 per cent, holding down the rate of increase in demand for domestic production.

A drop of 1.8 per cent in demand for residual fuel oil under the 1960 level. The bureau said new natural gas pipelines to the West Coast and import restrictions are expected to curtail use of residual by that percentage.

A 9 per cent increase in demand for kerosene, reflecting increased use by commercial jet planes.

The bureau said its estimates were based on an anticipated improvement in general business activity in the July-August-September quarter of the year, normal weather conditions, and no marked change in crude oil stocks.

Average value at the well of the 1960 domestic crude production was estimated at $2.92 a barrel, up 2 cents from 1959.

A 5 per cent increase was reported in marketed production of natural gas to a total of 12,682 billion cubic feet for 1960. Average value of the gas at the wellhead was estimated at 13.6 cents a thousand cubic feet, 0.7 per cent above the 1959 average.

The bureau reported a jump in helium production last year of 23 per cent over 1959, to about 580 million cubic feet, due to a full year's operation of the bureau's new helium plant in Keyes, Okla. Of the output, 109 million cubic feet went into underground storage during the year.

26 Boxcars Piled Up By Derailment

HOUSTON (AP)—A southbound Southern Pacific freight train derailed Thursday and 26 boxcars piled up at Cypress.

The wreck 28 miles northwest of Houston tore up 400 feet of main line and siding.

Krush Criticizes Pig Production

By PRESTON GROVER

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev has turned his ire about Soviet agricultural shortcomings to pig production, the Moscow press reported today.

Reports of Thursday's meeting of the Communist party Central Committee showed Khrushchev was somewhat gentler than the day before, when his anger flared over poor corn production.

But he went after directors in virgin land territory, his favorite project for boosting Soviet farm production to keep up with the food demand.

T. I. Sokolov, party secretary of the special territory created in the virgin lands of north Kazakhstan, admitted he had delivered only 449 million poods of grain in 1960, or 73 per cent of planned production. A pood is a little more than half a bushel.

Khrushchev interrupted to say that Sokolov had been unable to produce what was expected of him and "we are criticizing you for this."

Sokolov said the territory had increased meat, milk and egg production but three million sheep had died for lack of feed.

There was no indication Khrushchev said anything about the sheep, but the premier warmed up when Sokolov began to talk about hog production. Sokolov said it was planned to bring hogs to a market weight of 110 kilograms —242 pounds.

"It is wise to push them up to 110 kilograms?" demanded Khrushchev. "That is too much. Ninety kilograms is the most effective weight. Above that takes excessive feed. Why do you have to feed them up to 110 kilograms? Weight for bacon is 90 kilograms, which is profitable and produces good meat."

"That is right," Sokolov said, but added that many of the hogs he was talking about were being fattened for lard, not bacon.

Bill Asks Review Of Federal Business

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill calling for a review of the federal government's business operations and subsidies which compete with private enterprise was introduced Thursday by Rep. Bruce Alger, R-Tex.

Alger said his bill was aimed at getting the government out of competition with private business.

Bob Kennedy's Appointment Stirs Controversy On Panel

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen said today the selection of Robert F. Kennedy to be attorney general marks a departure from the idea of putting a seasoned lawyer in the office.

"I think the country has always felt that the attorney general should be a legal scholar and learned in the law," the Illinois senator said at a Judiciary Committee hearing on the appointment.

Democratic members of the committee quickly sprang to the defense of Kennedy, 35-year-old brother and campaign manager of President-elect John F. Kennedy.

Sens. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-NC., and John A. Carroll, D-Colo., said they had been struck by a strong parallel between the experience of Kennedy and William P. Rogers, attorney general in the outgoing Eisenhower administration.

Both Robert Kennedy and Rogers are former counsels of the Senate Investigations subcommittee.

The hearing on Kennedy's selection to be a member of the new Cabinet got off to a crisp, tense start in a jam-packed hearing room.

Unlike other Cabinet selections who have been called for questioning in advance of the formal submission of their nominations, Kennedy was sworn as a witness.

Dirksen got permission to lead off the questioning and began by reading newspaper editorials and other press comments critical of Robert Kennedy's selection to head the Justice Department.

The prospect was for some Republican needling—but no serious challenge—to Kennedy as the man to head the government's far-flung law enforcement activities.

None of the committee's Republicans said they intended to oppose Robert Kennedy's appointment or try to obstruct Senate confirmation.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, a committee member, said Republicans plan extensive questioning to compile a record to which they can point if Kennedy later stubs his toe.

The hearing on Kennedy, probably the most controversial of any of the new Cabinet appointments, was called in advance of official submission of his nomination.

Other Senate hearings were called today on Orville L. Freeman to be secretary of agriculture, Arthur J. Goldberg to be secretary of labor, Abraham A. Ribicoff to be secretary of Welfare and Stewart L. Udall to be secretary of the interior.

In addition, the Senate Finance Committee asked Douglas Dillon, Secretary of the Treasury-designate, to return for further questioning.

The Foreign Relations Committee completed a hearing Thursday on Dean Rusk to be secretary of state, and the Commerce Committee announced it will have a hearing next Wednesday on Luther H. Hodges, named to be secretary of commerce.

Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb., a Judiciary Committee member, said he has received more mail opposing Kennedy than any other Cabinet appointee. A similar report came from an aide of Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-NY., another committee member.

TIPRO Sets More Unitization Study

WICHITA FALLS (AP) — The unitization committee of the Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Association (TIPRO) submits today information concerning additional study of issues and problems involved in unitization, pooling and well spacing.

The committee decided Thursday night to conduct the additional study in executive session after an all-day open meeting at which independent operators from many sections of the state presented their views.

The study will be conducted in about 10 days, probably in Dallas, committeemen said.

Scott Hammonds of Dallas said he favors compulsory unitization. He urged that a legal committee of TIPRO review the appropriate laws of Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana, and Arkansas and then draft a proposed unitization law for Texas.

"TIPRO should then ask the Texas Legislature to enact it," he added.

Michel Halbouty, Houston oil operator and geologist, said conservation laws in Texas should be modernized.

One operator who spoke against compulsory unitization was Stanley Woods of Houston, who said proponents of it "are advocating a course which would put us out of business."

Woods contended that the causes of the domestic oil industry's troubles is excessive oil imports and not excessive drilling.

M. D. Bryant of San Angelo, a former president of TIPRO, said "Compulsory unitization would erect a signpost that would point straight ahead to federal control of the petroleum industry."

He said it would be "disastrous for TIPRO to lend even its tacit support to a movement designed, now or in the future, to bring about compulsory unitization."

Historically, TIPRO has opposed compulsory unitization on the grounds that such involuntery arrangements would cripple the small independent operator.

Cold Front Heads East

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A cold front which lashed the Washington and Oregon coastlines with high winds and battering waves drove inland today with rains in the Northwest and snow over the northern Rockies.

The storm Thursday night heaped mountainous breakers in the mouth of the Columbia River at Astoria, Ore., capsizing two small Coast Guard vessels and a crab boat they were seeking to help. Four Coast Guardsmen and two fishermen were missing and feared drowned.

On the Atlantic, a seagoing barge sank in heavy seas 10 miles off West Palm beach, Fla., and seven crewmen were reported missing. One man was rescued.

For much of the nation, it was a sunny day with warming air over the North Atlantic states and colder air flow over the upper Plains.

The West Coast again had temperatures in the 40s, with 40s and 50s in the extreme Southwest and east from Texas through the Gulf states to the Atlantic. Florida had readings in the 60s.

2 Ambulance Drivers Die

A former Snyder ambulance driver was one of two attendants in a Fort Worth ambulance who died today of injuries suffered when their vehicle was answering what proved to be a hoax emergency call.

The ambulance rammed a six-wheel truck at a busy intersection in Fort Worth.

The crash killed Cecil Brownlee, 25, and Carroll Whalin, 28.

Police Sgt. Tom Hayes said the heavy truck cut in front of the speeding ambulance as its driver tried to make a left turn.

Hayes said the ambulance was responding to a call from a home where a woman was reported to be attempting suicide. The report proved false, Hayes said, and came from a woman who has sounded similar alarms in past. She was sent to the Carswell Air Force Base hospital for observation.

Brownlee and Whalin were drivers for Miller Funeral Home in Fort Worth. Brownlee was employed as an ambulance driver for Bell Funeral Home in Snyder last summer.

Government TV Network Possible

NEW YORK (AP)—James M. Landis, President-elect John F. Kennedy's special assistant on federal regulatory agencies, says the possibility exists of establishing a government television network.

Landis, interviewed on WNTA-TV, was asked whether he was prepared to push for establishment of government programming to compete with commercial programming.

"Not at this stage, certainly," Landis replied. But he added he could see no reason why the possibility should not be explored.

Such a network, Landis said, might be similar to the British Broadcasting Corp., which has government produced and controlled programming.

Solons Fight Davis' Plan

BATON ROUGE (AP)—Sixteen Louisiana senators struggled today against the will of Gov. Jimmie Davis and some ardent segregationists in a fight against his proposed $28 million sales tax increase.

They are at home again to face those who want to persuade them to change their vote and pass the tax raise—which Davis says will be used to help keep white children from having to go to school with Negroes.

The 16 voted against Davis' House-approved tax raise when it failed Wednesday 22-16, to get a required two-thirds majority on the first vote. The administration saved the measure for reconsideration, which must come when the legislature returns Sunday, final day of the current special session.

Under Davis' bill, the statewide 2 per cent sales tax would be increased 1 per cent for an eight month period. The revenue, estimated at $28 million, would be used for grant-in-aid to pupils attending non-profit, non-sectarian private schools.

The senators, all favoring segregation, argue there has been no proof integration will be whipped if the money is voted, the state already is over-spending the money of tax-burdened citizens, and there is no immediate need.

Ike Presides Over Final Cabinet Meet

Attorney General In Senate Race

By ED OVERHOLSER

AUSTIN (AP) — Atty. Gen. Will Wilson, who etched sensational headlines with his crackdowns on the loan sharks, naturopaths and Galveston gamblers, has moved into the crowded field contesting for a U. S. Senate seat.

Wilson, who has never been beaten in a race for public office, joined 11 others in the April 4 special election race.

He, like U. S. Rep. Jim Wright of Fort Worth and State Sen. Henry Gonzalez of San Antonio, has nothing to lose, in one sense, because he is not jeopardizing his current elective job.

The attorney general's announcement came as no surprise. Previous Associated Press dispatches said he would announce today. A little more than a year ago, however, Wilson was debating whether to run for governor.

The main battle for the preservation of local government is now being waged in Washington. I think I can be of the Greatest service to Texas where the challenge is greatest," he said in his announcement. He timed his statement for 12:01 a.m. today, but the release was broken Thursday afternoon.

His announcement came about the same time the vice chairman of the House General Investigating Committee said Wilson would be ciriticized for failure to break up vice in the Beaumont-Port Arthur area.

Rep. Tom James of Dallas said the report also would slap at Wilson for not enforcing a state prohibition against the use of Western Union sports ticker tapes for gambling purposes.

Wilson replied that complaints have been referred to the Department of Public Safety. He said his office has no investigation department and said James' statement was "obviously timed for political purposes best known to him."

Wilson, 48-year-old former Dallas district attorney, is serving his third term as attorney general after six years on the State Supreme Court.

He played a key role in Texas' case before the U. S. Supreme Court decision apparently will mean millions of dollars to Texas from oil and gas revenues in the tidelands which otherwise would have gone to the federal government.

Adlai Leaves For New Job

CHICAGO (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson, expressing the hope that U.S.-Soviet relations may improve and tensions in Latin America relax, took leave of his Chicago friends Thursday to become U.S. ambassador to the United Nations.

Perhaps in the months ahead the United States and the Soviets might "do things jointly which we have not been able to do in the past," he said at a farewell testimonial.

The reception was sponsored by the Illinois chapter of the American Association for the United Nations and the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations.

Nearly 1,500 persons were on hand to give the former Illinois governor and twice-defeated Democratic presidential candidate an emotional farewell.

At an informal news conference, Stevenson said he has no definite solution to the tense U.S.-Cuba situation but hopes Cuba will "see the light so that once more we can enjoy happy relations."

One Mishap Is Reported In City

One accident was reported by the Snyder Police Department over the past 24 hours, occuring Thursday at 2342 Sunset.

A 1957 Oldsmobile driven by Wayne Bethel, 3773 Sunset, was damaged in the amount of $500 when it collided with a parked 1954 Chevrolet owned by A. J. Jones of Route one. Damage to the Jones car was estimated at $150.

Red River Study Set

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — A three-year navigation study on 740 miles of the Red River will start in mid-April.

L. R. Matthias, executive vice president of the Red River Valley Association, said Thursday Army Engineers will open the study with public hearings. The estimated completion date is Dec. 31, 1963.

The survey will include transportation, bank stabilization, levees, channel improvement, flood control, municipal and industrial water supply and recreation. The survey will extend from the mouth of the Red River to Denison Dam in Texas.

Congress set $50,000 for fiscal 1961 to start the survey which will cost $400,000 to $500,000 in all.

The survey also will include the feasibility of using low still dams and locks to provide navigation pools similar to those used on the Ohio, Arkansas and Ouachita Rivers.

Castro Eyes Disgruntled Labor Groups

By ROBERT BERRELLEZ

HAVANA (AP)—The workers' rally called for tonight by Fidel Castro is generally believed to be a move to whip dissident labor factions into line.

Observers saw the latest big parade as an attempt to counter the effect of the open demonstration of anticommunism last month by electrical workers, who marched on the presidential palace shouting "Cuba si! Russia no!"

That resulted in a nationwide purge of their union, including the anti-Communist leadership. The labor confederation hierarchy has been successful so far in putting down the dissension.

It was generally assumed that Castro would address the rally tonight.

He is expected to announce that the "invasion" from the United States had been scared off by the extensive display of Czech and Soviet arms which has made much of the island an armed camp for several weeks.

Roman Catholic Church sources said that the heads of all parochial schools have been summoned to an urgent meeting. The informants said the conference may draft a protest against the occupation of Belen College by Castro's militia last week.

Classes at Belen, a grammar and high school operated by the Jesuits, were suspended when troops moved in — as they have into numberous other public buildings—on the pretext of invasion defense.

Retirement Fund Gains

AUSTIN (AP) — State Auditor C. H. Cavness said today the state employes retirement fund increased $12 million in the last fiscal year.

He said the fund totaled $86,328,040 last Aug. 31.

The system made its first investment in corporate stocks in March 1960 and had acquired 10,000 shares in 30 corporations at a cost of $614,416 by the end of the fiscal year. More than $65 million was in U.S. bonds and $19 million in corporate bonds.

The system has 44,035 members with 3,120 now on retirement at an average of $72 a month. Members contribute 4½ per cent of their salary up to $3,600 a year with the state putting up 5½ per cent on a matching basis.

Europeans Rescued By U. N. Forces

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — U.N. forces fanned out across Kivu Province today to rescue Europeans, including two white nuns, from racial violence threatend by rebel Congo soldiers.

A U.N. spokesman said 29 American missionaries and their families are now under U.N. protection in Bukavu, capital of the province controlled by supporters of ousted Premier Patrice Lumumba.

A Belgian mother superior and one nun from a hospital in Bukavu were arrested Thursday on vague charges of misusing funds. U.N. officials are seeking their release.

Dag Flies Back From Congo To Answer Russia's Charges

By WILLIAM N. OATIS

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — U. N. Secretary General Dog Hammarskjold flew back from Africa today to answer Soviet charges that he helped Belgium organize and attack on pro-Lumumba forces in the Congo from the neighboring U. N. trust territory of Ruanda-Urundi.

After visits to the Congo and South Africa, Hammarskjold abondoned plans to go on to India and hurried back for the continuation of council debate on the Congo.

The council began debate Thursday on a Soviet complaint that Belgium helped troops of Col. Joseph Mobutu, the Congo army chief, mount an attack from Ruanda-Urundi Jan. 1 against troops holding the Congo's Kivu Province for Mobutu's prisoner, deposed Premier Patric Luhumba. The Lumumbist rebels repelled the attack.

Diplomatic sources said they expected Ceylon, Liberia and the United Arab Republic to submit a resolution critical of the Belgian action.

They said the resolution would be drawn to attract the largest possible vote and would be milder than the demands Soviet Deputy Foreign Minisier Valerian A. Zorin made to the council Thursday.

Zorin said the council should condemn Belgium as an aggressor, ask it to withdraw all Belgian military and civilian personnel from the Congo and request the General Assembly to give urgent consideration to 1 depriving Belgium of its trustee ship over Ruanda-Urundi and 2 granting the territory immediate independence.

A Soviet government statement circulated to U. N. members said Belgium and "ganster Mobutu" organized aggression against the Congo from Ruanda-Urundi "iwth Dag Hammarskjold's assistance."

The Soviets once more rejected the Mobutu regime in Leopoldville and said "the legitimate government of the Congo" was not the group in Stanleyville headed by Lumumba's deputy premier, Antoine Gizenga.

Belgian delegate Walter Loridan told the council that the Soviet charges against his government were baseless and were a "smokescreen for Soviet activities." The Indonesian delegation said in a press statement that Belgium had "shamefully abused" its trust in Ruanda-Urundi.

Fear Seven Lost In Barge Break-Up

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—A 400-foot barge from Texas, battered by mountainous seas, broke up suddenly and sank in the Atlantic today with a possible loss of seven lives.

The Arizona Sword out of Beaumont was being towed to Savannah, Ga., with a cargo of 5,000 tons of sulphur when the tow cable broke. Within minutes, she was battered to pieces by 12-foot waves.

A lone unidentified crewman, who said the barge broke apart so suddenly about 2 a.m. that he didn't have time to don a life jacket, escaped out a porthole and was picked up by the tug Sally R., of Tampa.

Coast Guard aircraft dropped flares to light the area and nearby vessels, including the destroyer Hunt, joined in the search for the seven missing men.

"It's pure soup out there," said Cmdr. John Doherty, pilot of one of three Coast Guard helicopters, when he came in at 10 a.m. for fuel after two hours of hunting. "The sea is a gray mass.

"We spotted debris, hatch covers, matfresses and planks in the water.

"We haven't yet seen any of the seven men. We'll stick with it all day, or as long as we know there might be life out there."

The Coast Guard identified the captain of the Arizona Sword as Joseph Cooper.

Others aboard were Angel Benitez, T. Dobbins, George Richardson, D. N. Broy, Markos Fraggos, F. O. Fernandez and Juan Valdez Jr. All were believed to be from Tampa.

The Sally R., owned by the Blue Stack Towing Co. of Tampa, was skippered by Jeff Harrison of Tampa.

Paris Paper Backs Wilson For Senator

PARIS, Tex. (AP)—The Paris News endorsed Atty. Gen. Will Wilson today for U.S. senator. Wilson is the latest announced candidate for the seat vacated by Lyndon Johnson.

"Our sincere feeling is that Texas can best be served at this time by a man who is neither far to the left nor far to the right, but one who will wade right down the middle," a Paris News editorial said. "Such a man is Will Wilson."

Blakley Pays His Filing Fee

AUSTIN (AP) — Sen. William Blakley came to the Capitol today to pay his $50 filing fee for a place on the special Senate election ballot April 4.

"If we can get a little help, I think I can raise it," the wealthy Dallas businessman told reporters. Asked how he registered his occupation, he replied, "U.S. senator."

Blakley promised a "vigorous, aggressive campaign" and said he felt his campaign organization is in much better position than when Sen. Ralph Yarborough defeated him in 1958.

He visited with Gov. Price Daniel. Asked if he had won Daniel's endorsement, Blakley said "The governor appointed me to the Senate and I rather imagine he wouldn't send me to the Senate unless he thought I would be all right."

150 Representatives Attend Scout Council Session Here

About 150 representatives of all 13 counties in the West Texas Girl Scout Council attended the annual meeting held in Snyder Thursday at which Mrs. H. L. DuPape of Waco was named executive director to succeed Mrs. Margaret Lloyd, director of the council for 9 years.

Johnnie Ammons of Roby, president, was in charge of the session, presiding at the morning meeting of directors meeting and the business meeting which followed a luncheon in the fellowship hall of the First Methodist Church, where the entire meeting was held. Board members attending the meeting included, Ed Jay of Sweetwater; Jack Holden, Morgan Jones Jr., W. O. (Hook) Davis, Steve Rowe, and Dr. J. C. Shipman, all of Abilene; H. L. Davis of Rotan; Mrs. V. Shearburn of Snyder (for Mrs. Dorothy Miller); Mrs. John Morgan of Sweetwater (for Mrs. Elmer Payne).

Officers elected at the afternoon session were Dan Conley of Big Spring as vice president, Mrs. Frank Mitchell of Roby as secretary, W. O. Davis as treasurer, Leon Wistl of Abilene as personnel chairman; Dr. Shipman as membership nomination chairman; and Jack Holden as public relations chairman.

District chairmen elected were Mrs. Morgan Jones Jr. of Abilene for the Butterfield Trail district; Mrs. Dorothy Miller of Snyder for the Black Gold district and Mrs. W. A. Stephens of Lamesa for the High Cotton district.

Mrs. R. B. Lawrence of Abilene, Jay Craddock of Colorado City, Mrs. W. D. Pratt of Lamesa and H. L. Davis of Rotan were named to the membership nominating committee.

A camp committee report stated that 378 girls used Camp Boothe Oaks, the council's permanent camp, during the summer of 1960, an increase of 11 per cent in the camping program attendance, and that 890 girls were in day camp activities during the summer.

The group heard a report of senior planning activities presented by Ailene Adcock of Lamesa and the junior planning board by Linda Cox of Sweetwater. They voted to send the finance committee a proposed sustaining membership program for study and also to combine District II (Nolan County and some nearby communities) and District VII (Rotan and Roby) with the consent of those involved.

A change was made in the method of selecting delegates to council meetings, basing the selection on the number of registered girl scouts instead of the number of troops.

Awards were presented by the president to Craddock, retiring treasurer; Ralph Krieger of Abilene, retiring personnel committee chairman; Hez Hawley of Sweetwater, retiring camp committee chairman and former vice president of the council; and to H. L. Davis of Rotan, acting district chairman of the Double Mountain district; and to Morgan Jones Jr. of Abilene, retiring membership and nominating committee chairmen.

The West Texas Council is made up of 13 counties-Taylor, Jones, Fisher, Scurry, Nolan, Mitchell, Howard, Borden, Dawson, Martin, Coke, Sterling, and Glasscock.

SCOUTERS COFFEE—Snyder girl scout leaders hosted a coffee for visiting members of the West Texas Girl Scout Council Thursday morning in the girl scout hut while the board of directors met in the fellowship hall of the First Methodist Church. Above, at left, Mrs. Fred Marr and Mrs. O. C. Stanley of Snyder show the achievement table to three ladies from Big Spring, Lamesa and Sweetwater.

Pork, Apples Get Together

Pork chops seem to be on almost everyone's list of favorite meats. They are fun to prepare, too, because there are so many ways to cook them. Try combining pork chops with other foods to give them extra appetite appeal.

An especially tasty topping is prepared with apples, onion garlic and catchup. It sounds different and it is! But the sauce is guaranteed to please any palate.

Braising is the cookery method for pork chops that is recommended by home economist Reba Staggs. Braising allows the flavor of the cooking liquid and seasonings to blend deliciously with the chops.

Here's a point of information about pork of which you may not be aware..today's pork is lower in calories. Leaner hogs are being produced and pork cuts are being trimmed more closely.

Pork Chop-Apple Delight

6 rib or loin pork chops, cut ¾ to 1 inch thick.
3 tablespoons flour
1 tablespoon lard or drippings
½ cup chopped onion
2 cups thinly sliced unpared apples
3 tablespoons catchup
1 small clove garlic
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper

Dredge chops in flour and brown in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Combine onion, apples, catchup and garlic. Add to chops. Sprinkle salt and pepper over chops and apple mixture. Cover tightly and simmer 45 minutes or until chops are done. 6 servings.

If that fresh pineapple isn't quite ripe, leave it at room temperature.

Add Meat For Hearty Soup

Hot soup is certain to take an important spot in your family lunches during the winter season. An excellent way to add hearty goodness to soups is to include meat.

You can find many ways to incorporate a variety of meats. Use the less demanded meat cuts, the bone from a baked ham, or cubes of leftover meat. Bacon is tasty in potato soup, and ham hocks will combine well with split pea soup. A quick way to add meat to soup is to include canned luncheon cube frankfurters, or canned smoked tongue.

Here's a savory meal-in-one vegetable soup that's recommended by home economist Reba Staggs. Cross-cut beef shanks are simmered until tender, then cut into small pieces. It makes a gallon of hearty soup to satisfy winter-day appetites.

Meal-In-One-Soup

3 to 4 pounds cross-cut beef shanks
2 teaspoons salt
2 medium onions, chopped
1 bay leaf
1 cup chopped celery
½ teaspoon pepper
⅓ cup rice
1 medium potato, diced
3 medium carrots, diced
¼ cup minced parsley
1 can (1 pound 4 ounces) tomatoes
Water

Cover meat with water. Add salt, onion, bay leaf, celery and pepper. Cover tightly and simmer for 2 to 3 hours. Add rice, potato and carrots and continue cooking for about 1 hour. Remove shank bones and cut meat into small pieces. Return meat to soup. Add parsley, tomatoes and enough water to make 1 gallon of soup. Continue cooking for 15 to 20 minutes. Add seasoning, if desired. 8 servings.

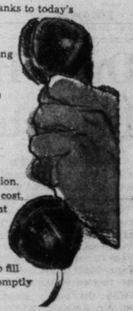
THE CRISIS THAT WASN'T

Today, there are many quick victories over disease. Each might be described as a crisis that didn't quite happen — thanks to today's superior medicinal agents.



Modern medicines prescribed by your physician score amazing triumphs over diseases which, only a decade ago, were almost certain to become dangerously serious.

Present-day pharmaceuticals, such as the antibiotics, require complex equipment, intricate controls and highly skilled technicians for production. Although somewhat higher in cost, they actually are an investment in economy. They effect an earlier cure and cut down expensive sick-bed time.

We are staffed and equipped to fill your doctor's prescriptions promptly at prices that are fair.

Mrs. Kennedy Gets Set For New Role

By FRANCES LEWINE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jacqueline Kennedy is getting ready for her White House role with two secretaries and a public relations aide.

But she's going to get into it slowly, giving herself plenty of time to recover from the caesarean birth Nov. 25 of her second child, John F. Kennedy Jr.

The word came from her Palm Beach resort resting place Wednesday that Mrs. Kennedy plans to take part only in the main festivities of her husband's inauguration.

That includes just about everything she'd been expected to attend except a pre-inaugural reception Jan. 18 for distinguished ladies. About 4,500 guests are expected for the reception in the National Gallery of Art.

But, the announcement serves notice that Mrs. Kennedy won't be at any of numerous unofficial celebrations Washington big-wigs are planning.

The future first lady, 31, has been engaged in a quiet planning operation. Shortly after Jan. 1, she called in her former part-time secretary, Mrs. Raymond Gallagher, a mother of two who lives in nearby Alexandria, Va.

At Palm Beach, the two have been working on correspondence and other chores.

Meanwhile, in Washington, Mrs. Kennedy's social secretary, former schoolgirl friend Letitia Baldrige, went to work in preparation for the White House moving day.

The latest addition to Mrs. Kennedy's personal entourage is Pamela Turnure, 23, who will help with public relations. A former secretary in Kennedy's Senate office, she has been added to the White House staff of News Secretary Pierre Salinger.

Mrs. Kennedy thus will have as her aides three women who have been close to the Kennedy official family long before the presidential election.

Miss Turnure's appointment came as something of a surprise, since she does not have a news or public relations background. She is expected to work closely under the direction of Salinger.

Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower had no similar aide. Her press relations were handled either by her social secretary, Mary Jane McCaffree, or by Presidential News Secretary James C. Hagerty.

The youngest of the trio of Mrs. Kennedy's staff, Miss Turnure worked in the Belgian embassy here before she joined the Kennedy staff in 1957.

Social Secretary "Tish" Baldrige, daughter of a former Republican congressman, has lots of diplomatic training. She worked for Clare Boothe Luce when she was ambassador to Rome, and also learned the ropes in international society from Mrs. David Bruce, wife of the former ambassador to France.

Mrs. Gallagher, wife of an insurance agent, has been working for Mrs. Kennedy on a part-time basis for the past four years. It looks as though her chores may run into fulltime now. She says she's come to feel like a member of the family and considers Mrs. Kennedy the "ideal boss."

The wife of the vice president-elect, Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson, is getting ready for her new role, too. She's selected one of her close younger friends, Bess Clements Abell, wife of a Washington lawyer, to be her personal secretary. Mrs. Abell is the daughter of former Kentucky Sen. Earle Clements.

IT'S OLD 'BIG-MOUTH' AGAIN

Duke Hopes To Bring State Department Down To Earth

BY INEZ ROBB

The State Department's next chief of protocol was born to striped diapers and a boiled bib.

Nonetheless, Angier Biddle Duke, who has been tagged for the important job by President-elect John F. Kennedy, hopes to take a lot of the starch out of it. He proposes to substitute heart where starch has reigned heretofore.

With the active blessings of both Mr. Kennedy and the incoming Secretary of State, Dean Rusk, Duke plans to scuttle the Emily Post aura that has always clung to this department of government and remake it into at least a hospitality center where visiting firemen and American citizens can meet and get acquainted with each other.

"Official visitors to the United States should be greeted in this country with more than the empty forms of official politness," Duke said a few days ago at his Park Avenue apartment.

"It is most important in these touch-and-go times that invited guests from other nations should get a knowledge of the essence of American life rather than a dose of red carpet and sterile formality," he continued.

"I shall hope to act as liaison between the State Department and the White House and their foreign visitors, and, just as importantly, as liaison between such visitors and the people of this country.

"This is the strongest democracy in the world today. We ought to see that our visiting dignitaries make its acquaintance in action. If a university president or professor comes here, he ought to make the acquaintance of some other university than Harvard," said Yale man Duke with a straight face.

"If he wants to, he ought to get the chance to live on a college campus, meet students, faculty and study the curriculum," continued Duke, who is a trustee of Iona College and a member of the Duke University Development Board.

"Heads of state and honor guards may be the most conspicuous ingredient among official visitors from other lands, but they are certainly a minority. Persons in every level of life and of officialdom are invited to visit the United States. It is in the best interest of this country to see that these visitors encounter real hospitality and get a chance to explore the areas of our life in which they are primarily interested. I would like to humanize relations all around.

"I am particularly interested in establishing contact between our visitors and members of Congress," Duke went on. "I am convinced that Congress represents the American people more closely and intimately than the legislature of any other country.

"I'd like to bring our official visitors into direct contact with the representatives of the American people. I feel they'll be interested in each other and mutually educational."

Duke has served time in the State Department before in Washington, in Buenos Aires (as secretary and consul in the Embassy), Madrid (as special assistant to the Ambassador to Spain), and as Ambassador to El Salvador in 1952-53.

He and his beautiful wife, a former Madrid belle, are now looking for a house in Washington. Duke owns a pair of striped pants and a formal morning coat, both tropical weight, made for his ambassadorial chores in El Salvador. He has not yet decided whether to hire or order a winter-weight set for the inauguration, Jan. 20, or wear long johns under the good-as-new tropical splendor.

Pilot Killed While Hunting For Object

HOUSTON (AP)—A pilot investigating a report of an unidentified flying object was killed Thursday night when his National Guard jet fighter plane crashed about for miles southwest of Alvin.

Lt. John Puckett, 28, of Houston died after his plane hit a power line, tumbled into a rice field and burned.

Puckett and a pilot in another plane had been sent out on an air defense mission to investigate an object picked up earlier on radar.

One Dead, Three Survive Jet Crash

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — One crewman is dead but three others have survived the crash of their six-engine Air Force jet bomber near famed Mt. Palomar Observatory.

The B47 crashed and burned Thursday, setting off a five-acre brush fire, shortly after taking off from March Air Force Base.

All four crewmen parachuted. But Lt. Col. Irwin L. Williams, 40, was dead when he was found. The survivors are Capt. Orville W. Wray, Lt. Kenneth W. Baisden, and Capt. Salvador G. Orosco.

Your Past Shows If You Remember...

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Your past is showing if you like to remember aloud about when—

A father welcomed his son to manhood by giving him a gold pocket watch on his 21st birthday.

Mother could still bake bread like her own mother used to bake.

People waited hopefully for Houdini, the great magician, to send a message from beyond the grave.

Nobody feared the atom. How could you be afraid of something so small you can't even see it?

Naturalists sternly warned raccoon might become extinct if college boys didn't stop turning them into coats.

A woman felt half-dressed unless she had a couple of silver fox furs swinging from her neck.

The Woolworth Tower was the world's tallest office building, and it was seriously debated whether, if they built many more skyscrapers, their weight might cause Manhattan Island to sink into the ocean. Some folks are still hoping this will happen.

Wally Reid was the film idol of the day, and nobody had even heard of Rudolph Valentino. He was learning to be a gardener.

The red caps at a railroad terminal were glad to handle your luggage at a dime a bag.

The local barbershop served as the poor man's club — and the town's main forum of political discussion.

Mothers took for granted their children would get chicken pox, measles and mumps, but prayed they would be spared scarlet fever and diphtheria.

Businessmen worried more about getting appendicitis than heart attacks.

A woman who smoked a cigarette in a restaurant was regarded as a shady lady. Fathers gravely assured their sons that if they smoked cigarettes they certainly would die young of tuberculosis.

A young man could go to a pool hall and keep his social standing, but if he were seen hanging around a bowling alley—well, it started talk.

With only a dollar bill in your wallet, you could impress your best girl by taking her to a movie, stop off later at the ice cream parlor for a couple of big double-dip sodas, spend an hour together sparking on her front porch swing—and still get home before midnight with a dime left in your pocket.

Social critics decried the arrival of network radio, predicting it would ruin the art of conversation in the American home.

The ordinary man knew nothing of television or space missiles. Parents had no problems with bubble gum or fretted about whether it was right or wrong to spank a child. Nobody knew how to spell cholesterol or went on a diet unless he was in a hospital. You could still be fat without feeling guilty. And only the wealthy ever got letters from the income tax collector.

Those were the days!

Storm Capsizes Two Coast Guard Vessels

ASTORIA, Ore. (AP)—A howling storm capsized two Coast Guard vessels at the mouth of the Columbia River Thursday night. The Coast Guard said six men are missing.

Three of them had been rescued once, and were being towed to seeming safety when mountainous waves snapped a tow line and they disappeared into the darkness.

Tiger '5' In District Opener Here Tonight

Riddle: When can a "darkhorse" be a tiger or a wolf? Answer: tonight.

That's the situation as it now stands as the Tigers from Snyder High brace for the invasion of the Wolves from Colorado City in the District 3-3A opener. Both are considered to be distinct possibilities to upset the favored Lamesa and Sweetwater applecarts in the upcoming campaign.

Site of the clash is Tiger Gym, with game time being 8 o'clock. A "B" game will be unfolded prior to the varsity tilt, and has a starting time of 6:15.

The Tigers of Coach J. P. Ward will enter the game with a slightly better season mark than the visitors. The Black and Golders are 8-7 for the year, with their season laurels including the consolation championship of the Winters Invitational and second place behind champion San Angelo in the Del Rio Invitational. Conversely, the Wolves are 8-10 and include among their conquests the copping of second place in the Winters Tournament.

The Tigers will be forced to "give away" some height to the C-City five, with only two local starters topping the six-foot mark as compared to four Wolves. One Tiger starter remains in doubt in the form of 6-3 senior stalwart Charlie Gladson, who has been plagued by knee trouble the past week. He returned to the practice court yesterday, but will probably see only limited action tonight. Subbing for him at the post, possibly as a starter, will be 6-3 Freddy Miller.

Rounding out the double post will be 6-1 Jimmy Don Robinson, the team's leading rebounder with 111 and second leading scorer with a total of 114 points. Pooch Hatter, at 5-9, will hold down the forward position, while the guard slots will be manned by 5-10 Weldon Ware, top team hand in the scoring department with 144, and 5-9 Mike Moffett, last year's leading scorer and a second team all-district pick.

Coach Caddo Matthews of Colorado City has indicated that he will go along with 6-1 Buddy Compton and 6-2 Mike Andrews at forwards, 6-3 Jon Moore and 6-3 Perry Loveless at the posts, and 5-10 Steve Hillhouse at guard.

The Tiger "B" team will enter its contest with a 2-5 mark. Tim Marcum is pacing the locals' point producing onslaught with 104.

Ernie Koy Jr. Honored By Wigwammers

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Ernie Koy Jr., son of a former University of Texas player, was named to the first team of the National High School All-America football team as selected by the Wigwam Wisemen of America.

Seniors who are named through the first seven teams will be eligible to play in the All-Star "prep" football game in August.

Koy, of Bellville, Tex., was named as a halfback.

Other Texans named to the first seven teams included:

Bobby Smith, San Antonio tackle, and Timmy Doerr, Cleburne quarterback, third team; Danny Thomas, Dallas quarterback, fourth team; Bert Gravitt, Denver City halfback, fifth team; and Junior Coffee, Dimmitt halfback.

Some 119 Texas players were given honorable mention.

Links Lasses Eye Georgia Tournament

SEA ISLAND, Ga. (AP)—Twenty-five elite women golfers take to the fairways today in quest of prizes totaling $6,000 in the Sea Island Ladies Open.

The amateur entries, 75 strong, warmed up the tricky, 6,250-yard course Thursday. The best of them, Mrs. T. R. Garlington Jr. of Atlanta, managed only a 41-42—83, eleven strokes off par.

Heading today's opening round for the pros are the defending champion, Mickey Wright of Dallas, and Louise Suggs of Atlanta. The experts pick them to duel it out for the title with Miss Wright getting the favorite role because she has won this tournament the past three years.

Both the amateurs and the pros will play 54 holes of medal play, the amateurs finishing Saturday and the pros Sunday.

Lamar, Travis Tourney Slate Is Announced

Pairings have been announced for tomorrow's one-day 7th and 8th grade cage tournament in Lamesa.

7th grade first round play will see Travis clashing with Lamesa at 9 a.m. and Lamar taking on Denver City at 1:30, with the finals game matching the winners being at 6:30 tomorrow evening.

8th grade action will involve Travis and Lamesa at 10:30 a.m. and Lamar and DeVver City at 2:45 in first round play. 8th grade finals will be reeled off at 8 tomorrow night.

It is a single elimination tourney, with a first round loss knocking a team out of the running.

GORGEOUS GUARDS—Sharing the bulk of the action at the guard positions for the Ira Bulldogettes is the above quartet of young ladies. From left are Judy Thomas, Wanda Boatman, Kay Byars and Jan Holladay. They will be looking for their third district victory without defeat tonight in Ira when they take on Fluvanna's girls. WILSON, BYNUM STAR FOR 9TH

Texans Nip Sweetwater Twice; Travis Blanked

Lamar Junior High's cage crews gained some measure of revenge over Sweetwater here last night, as they bounced back from an early season triple drubbing to ring up a pair of victories over the visiting blue-clad boys.

The Texan 9th, spurred on by the scoring prowess of Jimmy Wilson and Harley Bynum, roared to a surprisingly easy 44-33 victory in a game which wasn't as close as the final score would indicate. Lamar cabbaged onto the advantage early in the contest and was never headed in taking the win, after posting quarterly advantages of 11-5, 24-6, and 33-21.

At one stage of the contest, during third quarter play, the Texans increased their lead to 27-6, with that 21-point spread being the most lopsided of the evening.

Wilson and Bynum, in addition to playing stellar defensive games, each popped the strings for 14 points to lead the way to the win. Gale Potter and Benny Minor, also a pair of bright lights in all phases of the game, each contributed 5, while Sterling Kessler and Jim Marcum rounded out the Texan point making with 4 and 2, respectively.

Sweetwater's Bishop was high for his team with 9.

Lamar 8th survived a shaky second half in coming through to take a 20-19 triumph from the visiting five. The Texans spurted to an 8-0 first stanza advantage, increased it to 14-2 at halftime, but faltered through a scoreless third quarter which saw Sweetwater whittling the lead down to 14-10.

Jerry Vestal powered his mates to the win with 10 points, while Tom Kincaid chipped in 6. Phillip Floyd and Jay Williamson each accounted for two to complete the Texan scoring.

Jerry Heatly topped the visiting effort with 9.

A woebegone first half, in which the Texan 7th failed to score a point, led to their downfall in other action of the night, as they went under after a spirited second half comeback splurge, 18-24.

Lamar found itself on the short end of an 8-0 score at intermission, but Ray Kizer dropped in a pair of free tosses with 4:47 left in the third stanza to initiate the Texan scoring and bring the team out of its pointless doldrums.

Brother Roy Kizer was high point for the locals with 6, while Ray Kizer and Roy Rogers each canned 4, Eddie Greenfield 2, and Bill Blum and Kenneth Delke 1 each to complete the scoring picture.

Bardbury of Sweetwater was high for the game with 11.

Blue Devils Bombed

Travis Junior High found the going "lumpy" in a trio of battles across town against Lamesa, dropping all three encounters.

The Blue Devil 9th got itself clipped by 52-42 in the featured fray, falling victim to a slow third quarter in going down to the defeat. Travis had previously led by 10-8 at the end of the inital canto, had fallen behind by 21-24 at the half, then dropped still further back at 29-42 as the third quarter came to a close.

The Blue Devils held the edge in rebounding by a 41-34 margin, but bad passes were instrumental in holding down the team effort. There was little difference in the field goal percentages, as Travis made good on 19 of 56 (34 per cent) to Lamesa's 21 of 60 (35 per cent). The Blue Devils were hurt at the free throw line, however, as they saw Lamesa sinking 10 of 19 to their 4 of 7.

Roy Rice was the big gun in the Blue Devil attack, taking high point honors for the game with 17. Jackie Stewart was close behind with 14, while Billy Stewart tallied 8 and Rex Akin 3.

Lamesa's Robertson was tops for his team with 12.

The Blue Devil 8th paralleled their varsity brothers in falling by a 24-33 count, as they slipped out to a 6-4 first quarter lead, then fell behind by 10-11 at the half and acquired the third stanza blues by dropping to 14-25 at that point.

Leslie Brown was top Travisite in the scoring column with 10. Jimmy Featherston followed with 8, while Ronnie Martin had 4 and Gary Gergeron 2.

Russell of Lamesa led all scorers with 17.

In the 7th grade contest, Lamesa succeeded in carting home a 29-20 victory. In steamrolling to the victory, the visiting five plodded to quarterly leads of 8-6, 14-6, and 20-12.

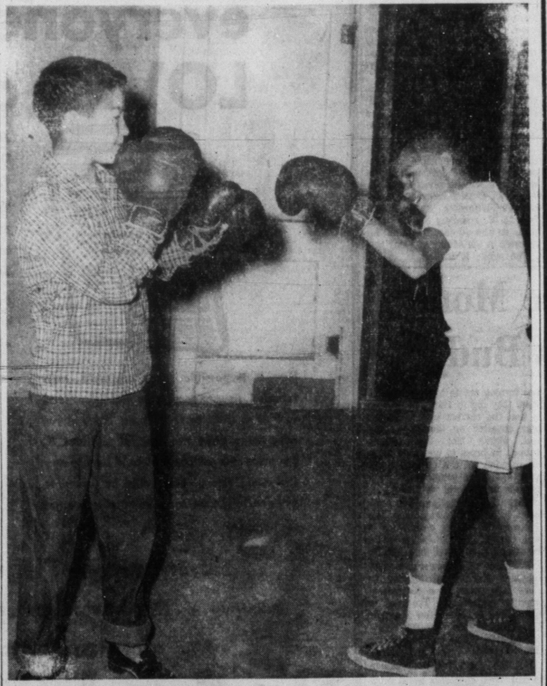
Marvin Mayfield, the Blue Devil dynamo, sacked 14 points to tie with Lamesa's Robertson for high point honors. Other Travis scoring was turned in by Mack Gaylean, who had 4, and Charles Newman, who tallied 2.

NCAA Closes Annual Meet

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The National Collegiate Athletic Association has adopted a program which asks member institutions to certify once a year that their school is living up to NCAA rules.

This program and the initiation of a hockey investigation were the chief items of business Thursday at the closing of the Association's 55th annual convention.

The certification program is similar to action taken in 1955 when head officers of schools were asked to certify that their schools were complying with regulations.



TO ABILENE TONIGHT—The Snyder Boxing Team—12 strong—will depart here this evening at 6 o'clock sharp for Abilene and a series of four-way matches in that city tonight. In addition to Abilene and Snyder, teams representing Cisco and Brownwood will also participate. Here, a pair of the Benitez brothers—Freddy at left and little bud Rudy at right—are caught sparring in preparation for the bouts. Another brother—Eloy—rang up one of Snyder's two victories last week against Abilene here, while Weldon Duke posted the other, as Snyder dropped four of six matches. Tonight's series of bouts will begin at 8 o'clock. (Photo by Jackson)

JFK Assets Valued At $10 Million

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—President-elect John F. Kennedy appears to have investment assets valued at perhaps up to $10 million.

This was indicated Thursday night when it was disclosed that Kennedy has converted all of his investments over which he had control into government bonds—federal, state and municipal.

Pierre Salinger, his press secretary, told newsmen in response to questions that the president-elect's total holdings now consist of such bonds, plus the houses he owns in Washington and at Hyannis Port, Mass., and three trust funds set up for him and his brothers and sisters by their father, Joseph P. Kennedy.

Salinger said the president-elect's income from these trusts—set up in 1926, 1936 and 1949—amounts to about $100,000 annually, after taxes. The income before taxes reportedly is about $500,000 a year.

Assuming interest at the rate of about 4 to 5 per cent, the funds could have a principal value of close to $10 million. Kennedy has disclosed value of investments he has converted into government bonds.

His home in Washington's fashionable Georgetown area reportedly is valued at about $100,000. The Hyannis Port place is an additional asset.

Salinger refused to give figures on Kennedy's holdings beyond the income realized from the trust funds.

The three trusts are irrevocable, which means the president-elect has no control over investment of the principal. His mother reportedly is one of the trustees.

Rev. Herren On Morning Devotions

The Rev. Hillis Herren, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene, will be the speaker on "Morning Devotions" next week.

The program is presented over KSNY at 9:15 a.m. daily, Monday through Friday. It is scheduled by the radio committee of the Snyder Ministerial Alliance.

The former Geo. Greeman & Bros. shipyard, which built square-rigged ships during the 19th Century, is now the site of Mystic Seaport, Conn., a recreated 19th Century coastal village.

Tower For Servicing Rocket Shown

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The tower from which missilemen will service the Saturn super space rocket is a massive, complex structure reaching 310 feet into the sky.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration showed it off to newsmen for the first time Thursday, and they were impressed.

The 28-story steel tower dominates the Cape Canaveral skyline, dwarfing the 115-foot tall Atlas and Titan service gantries and the shorter structures for the Thor, Jupiter, Polaris, Redstone and Minuteman.

The Saturn rocket, which will begin testing here next fall, is the United States' biggest hope in the next few years for placing multi-ton payloads into orbit, landing instrument packages on the moon, Mars and Venus, and hurling manned spaceships around the moon and returning them to earth.

The Saturn tower was built by Kaiser Steel Co., for the Army Corps of Engineers. It cost $4 million.

It is completely self-supporting unit with its own power station, heating, air conditioning and lighting facilities, three elevators and five enclosed moveable platforms from which the launch crew can service the 230-foot rocket at different levels. Each platform is the size of an average three-room house.

Theft Suspect Has Varied Interests

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—A misdemeanor charge of theft under $50 has been lodged against a high school senior girl—with varying literary interests—in the disappearance of more than 100 books from the Dallas Public Library.

The girl has been released on her own recognizance.

Some of the book titles:

"Analytical Geometry and Calculus," "Solar Energy," "Pecos Bill," "How to Understand Politics," and "Basic Volleyball."

Witnesses To Carlsbad

Travel arrangements in connection with their coming circuit assembly to be held in Carlsbad, N. M., Jan. 20-22, were discussed last night at their regular meeting by the Snyder congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses. J. D. Cook, presiding minister, said that almost the entire membership had expressed intention of attending the training session. He added that free transportation has been arranged for interested persons.

The local membership will incorporate instructions and organizational procedure learned at the Carlsbad meet in their congregational activity.

"Be Taught By Jehovah" is the theme around which the program parts will be developed. The main talk will be given by R. L. Anderson, district supervisor of Jehovah's Witnesses from Brooklyn, N. Y. speaking Sunday at 3 p.m. on the subject "Is God Interested in the Affairs of Men?"

The public is invited.

Treasury Asks More Money While Ike Prepares Budget

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—While President Eisenhower is readying his final federal budget which he says will be balanced, his Treasury Department is reporting it needs more cash—now.

The reason is that tax collections continue to disappoint. And the reason they do is chiefly that business activity continues to lag behind the Treasury's earlier estimates, even its sharply lower guess last October. The tie between the Treasury's health and that of business is a close one.

And while President-elect John F. Kennedy is preparing his inaugural address which may show what he expects of business activity, his choice for Treasury secretary, Douglas Dillon, is telling senators that slow tax collections may cause a deficit in the fiscal year starting July 1, no matter what the budget offered next Monday may predict.

The Treasury's present plight isn't serious. It is seeking $100 million in new money now — a mere dab in a $81-billion budget and a $90-billion federal debt—although it may seek still more cash in the next few weeks.

And the Treasury expects any cash stringency to disappear after February when collections from income tax returns normally pick up.

The point of the Treasury's current entry into the money market for more cash after it had presumably got itself well fixed for some time ahead is that this puts another dollar and cents emphasis on the extent of the business slowdown — the Treasury still doesn't like to call it a recession.

Last January the Treasury was expecting to have a $4-billion surplus when it closes its fiscal books this coming June 30. It was depending on bigger business profits it could tax. By summer it was obvious that business profits weren't going to be that good, and the Treasury revised its surplus estimate to $1.1-billion. Today many outside the Treasury doubt if there'll be that much of a surplus, if any.

Actually business profits in 1960 are turning out to total just about what they did in 1959. The trouble is that the current federal budget was counting on them to climb well above 1959 and furnish enough in taxes to meet the higher spending in the current fiscal year and leave some over to apply on the federal debt.

They didn't; the surplus prospect is melting away, and the Treasury is seeking cash when it was thought last October it would be sitting pretty well into spring.

President Eisenhower's budget message Monday is expected to show how much of a surplus, if any, he expects the Treasury to have June 30. And after the new secretary of the Treasury gets settled into office he may revise this estimate.

But the point for businessmen is that when corporate profit margins are pinched as they have been this year—sometimes by declining sales and more often by rising operating costs—it isn't just the stockholder who suffers. The U.S. Treasury gets squeezed right along with him.

Divergent Groups To Pray Again For Unity

NEW YORK (AP)—Protestants and Catholics throughout the world next week will kneel together—and pray separately.

They will be praying for unity—though with different ideas of the form it should take—in dual observances of a devotion as unique in origin as it is in practice, and one which goes far beyond any current endeavor of the popular ecumenical movement.

Unlike most current ecumenical efforts being carried out by learned church leaders on a lofty theological plane, this is an annual assault on religious differences by simple people on their knees.

Catholics call it the "Chair of Unity Octave;" the World Council of Churches calls it the "Week of Prayer for Christian Unity." It will be observed Jan. 18-25.

Can persons pray together from opposing positions?

The question itself, says Dr. Keith Bridston, secretary of the World Council's Faith and Order Commission, helps participants "to sense the naked scandal of Christian disunity."

He feels the observance at least brings the churches together to face their differences, and "this is one of the most creative things it can accomplish.

There is no mistake, however, about the route the founder of the observance had in mind for his prayer movement.

His name was Lewis Thomas Wattson, a deeply religious man and an eloquent speaker who graduated from the General Theological Seminary in New York in 1885 and assumed the name Father Paul James Francis.

From his earliest days in the ministry he dreamed of establishing an order of Anglican friars dedicated to the apostolate of unity.

This he did in 1898, in the monastic quiet of Graymoor, near Garrison, N.Y., across the Hudson River from West Point.

Father Paul called his new religious order the Society of the Atonement. He explained he chose the word not in its usual sense of expiation, but because of its literal, though archaic, connotation of at-one-ment, reunion. He and his 16 followers, including a small group of Anglican nuns, by this time were convinced they should be Roman Catholics.

For 11 years, however, they refused to desert their faith individually. Instead they worked toward corporate reunion with Rome of the entire Anglican Church. In their zeal, they considered such a goal attainable.

It was a trying period for Father Paul.

Understandably barred from Protestant pulpits, he likewise was berated by the Catholic press for his apparently contradictory position.

Finally in 1909—a year after his friars conducted their first octave of prayer for unity—Father Paul turned for advice to his Anglican superior, the Rt. Rev. Frederick J. Kinsman, bishop of Delaware.

"Either give up belief in a divinely established papacy and in Roman dogmas," advised the bishop, "or else give up Anglican orders—and be a good Roman Catholic. I have no hesitation in saying that if I were in your position I should choose the latter alternative."

Before the year was out the Society of the Atonement became the first non-Catholic religious community ever received as a group into the church of Rome.

Father Paul was ordained a Catholic priest eight months later, and in the years that followed he watched his society grow into a sizeable religious order with more than a dozen houses in North America.

Its goal of Christian unity never has changed, and has remained focused on the eight days beginning with the Catholic feast of the Chair of St. Peter in Rome, Jan. 18, and ending on the feast of the conversion of St. Paul, Jan. 25.

In 1916 Pope Benedict XV extended the Graymoor devotion to the entire Catholic Church, making it perhaps the only Catholic observance which originated as a non-Catholic venture.

Father Paul's intent for the octave plainly was for conversion of all people to Catholicism. But in 1935 a Catholic religious group in Lyon, France, began an observance on the same dates to pray for unity "in the way Christ wills and by the means he chooses."

Under this modification, one of the parent bodies of what is now the World Council of Churches adopted the dates for the Week of Prayer for Christian Unity.

The first Protestant observance was in 1940—the year Father Paul died.

Junior Editors Quiz on FOOD

QUESTION: What are cacao beans?

• • •

ANSWER: Cacao is not as familiar a word to us as the products that come from it: cocoa and chocolate. The Cacao is a tropical tree that is found in Mexico, Ecuador, Brazil, Venezuela, Puerto Rico, Haiti, Jamaica and the West Indies. It also grows in Ceylon and West Africa. The Cacao is an evergreen that grows to a height of 20 to 40 feet. It has a straight, thick trunk and many branches. It bears fruit which is about the size of a large cucumber. But instead of growing on the branches, the fruit grows on the trunk close to the ground. The fruit has a tough rind, about a half-inch thick. Inside there is a sweet, pinkish pulp and about 50 seeds. These are "cacao beans." The seeds are separated from the fruit, cleaned, dried, roasted and ground up to produce chocolate and cocoa. It takes about 400 dried cacao beans to make one pound of chocolate. Cocoa is simply chocolate with the oil removed.

• • •

FOR YOU TO DO: If you have not already learned, have your mother teach you how to make chocolate and cocoa.

Pilot On Jap Raid Is Judged Insane

WACO, Tex. (AP) — Claude R. Eatherly, a pilot who took part in the only use of the atomic bomb as a war weapon, is back in a hospital by court order for mental treatments.

Acting on a request by his brother, a County Court jury adjudged the decorated World War II flier insane Thursday. Its verdict capped a series of incidents landing him in jail the past eight years.

Eatherly, now 41, flew a reconnaissance plane just ahead of the 1945 A-bomb strikes at Hiroshima and Nagasaki in Japan. Psychiatrists say that as a result of the raids, the tall and affable Texan developed a nagging guilt complex, although he did not actually drop the bombs.

He once told Dr. O. P. Constantine at the Veterans Administration hospital here he held himself to blame for killing 100,000 people in Hiroshima.

Eatherly, from Van Alstyne, Tex., left the Air Force in 1947 as a major with an honorable discharge. The year before he was a pilot observer of Bikini A-bomb tests in the Pacific.

The insanity verdict forces Eatherly, a voluntary patient in recent months, to remain at the VA Hospital here in central Texas.

James Eatherly, a brother whose home also is at Van Alstyne, had asked the court last September to commit the wartime hero for "the protection of himself as well as others."

The ex-flier has entered the Waco hospital nine times—all of his own volution—since 1950, when he attempted suicide.

Ten witnesses reviewed Eatherly's activities since the raids on Japan at Thursday's hearing before County Judge Ray Mormino.

Eatherly spent two hours on the stand to relate calmly that he tried to get into jail periodically because he found "a certain amount of relief and a chance to get away from it all" behind bars.

His and the others' accounts covered a nine-month jail term for Eatherly in New Orleans after he forged a check in 1953, burglaries in 1956 of village post offices at Avoca and View near Abilene in west central Texas, armed robbery of a drive-in food store at Dallas in 1959 and another grocery store holdup near Sherman in north Texas.

He won acquittal on a plea of insanity at his trial for the post office break-ins. Dallas authorities dropped a robbery complaint on Eatherly's agreement to reenter the hospital here.

Repeated drunken sprees, coupled with his other troubles, led to a divorce for Eatherly in 1957.

He walked away from the VA hospital here last Oct. 19. Dallas police arrested him Dec. 21 after his car ran a red light and sent him back to the hospital.

Eatherly received the Distinguished Flying Cross for his weather scouting flights ahead of the atomic raid Aug. 6, 1945, on Hiroshima and the strike at Nagasaki three days later.

JFK Advisers See Much Work Ahead

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower paints a cheery picture of America. But study groups President-elect John F. Kennedy created to advise him see a lot more needed than Eisenhower accomplished.

The outgoing president, in his last State of the Union message to Congress Thursday, could have offered programs. But incoming Kennedy will do that.

So Eisenhower reviewed America as he sees it and the work of his administration. No doubt he hopes it will also be the verdict of history. He seemed satisfied. At times he spoke glowingly.

The following is the contrast between the views of Eisenhower and the Kennedy groups:

DEFENSE—As usual, Eisenhower defended his handling of this, predicted "the near future will hold such wonders as the orbital flight of an astronaut."

But the Kennedy groups think Russia will beat us with a man into outer space and said this country is lagging behind the Soviets in ballistic missiles and outer space exploration.

THE ECONOMY—in this field Eisenhower was both sunny and glum. He praised America's economic progress, admitted "there is little room for complacency," said the economy is operating at "high levels" but was concerned about unemployment.

But he didn't mention recession. Many economists say the country is in one. The Kennedy group suggested the new president act quickly with a batch of emergency measures to get recovery fast.

Kennedy has put top-priority on still another study group's ideas for helping both unemployment and depressed areas.

HOUSING — Eisenhower seemed to feel pretty good about this field. He said "more houses have been built during the past eight years—over nine million—than during any previous eight years in history."

But Kennedy's study group suggested broad programs to meet housing needs of low-income families, of the elderly, of farmers, of college students, plus broad spending for city planning.

Last December The Associated Press reported: "Housing disappointed in 1960. Demand fell, costs rose, money grew scarce, and fewer homes went up."

EDUCATION — Eisenhower recounted, with apparent pride, what his administration has done in this field. But the Kennedy study group on education thought far more is needed. It proposed a vast program of federal aid to schools, amounting to nearly $2.5 billion yearly.

"Millions of children, particularly in certain rural areas and in the great cities are deprived of an opportunity to develop talents that are needed both for society and for their own lives," it said.

This group called its proposals the minimum for accomplishing the needed "significant uplift" in American education.

SOCIAL SECURITY AND THE AGED—Eisenhower pointed to progress made in Social Security—the broadening of its coverage and new benefits added—and said this about the aged: "New legislation provides for better medical care for the needy aged. The administration recommended a major expansion of this effort."

But the administration's recommendations, while they would provide some help for some, were opposed to linking Social Security to medical care for the aged. This is what Kennedy wants to do.

His study group, not at all satisfied with the Social Security program as it exists, proposed a broad expansion of Social Security, public assistance, unemployment pay, medical education.

Hundreds Of Lobbyists Registering

AUSTIN (AP)—Lobbyists and plain citizens who plan to talk over legislation with legislators are registering by the hundreds in the House.

Last year more than 5,000 members filed "legislative representation" certificates with the chief clerk of the House, Mrs. Dorothy Hallman.

A 1957 law requires any person who appears before a House or Senate committee or who has other direct contact with a lawmaker to influence legislation, must register and declare his expenses during the session if they exceed $50.

The law also stipulates that violators may be fined up to $5,000 or imprisoned two years.

Among the first registrants include Mrs. Dee Cole and Dee Cole, Greenville, Quinlan Telephone Co.; Walter Caven, Austin, Texas Railroad Association; Tom Arnold, Houston, State Bar, Trademark Act legislation;

L. R. Sturgeon, Austin, Texas State Teachers Association; B. A. Jones, Austin, Lone Star Gas Co.; Reuben Senterfitt, San Saba, Texas Power & Light Co.; William Earl Osborn, Tyler, Texas Manufacturers Association.

H. T. Read, Austin, wholesale beverage legislation; Leonard Mohrmann, beverage legislation; Miss Eudora Hawkins, Abilene, Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, traffic safety legislation;

A. L. Robb, Electra, Electra Telephone Co.; James Temple, Dallas, Southland Corp., chain store legislation; C. R. Wimer, Cleburne, Texas Midland Telephone Co.; Marion Clay, Lufkin, Lufkin Telephone Exchange and Conroe Telephone Co.

Those representing the State Bar in the interest of judicial legislation include George Leonard, Sweetwater; A. J. Folley, Amarillo; W. C. Haley, Waco; Clay Brian, Marshall; Wilson Fox, Taylor; William Kerr, Midland; G. C. Harris, Greenville; John Atkins, Kerrville and Matt Dawson, Corsicana.

You can pep up a tomato sauce for fish or omlet by adding a little curry powder; a suspicion of thyme won't hurt either.

Burglary Suspect Deported By Mexico

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Hubert Hardin, suspected of a part in a $500,000 burglary of an armored car service in Tampa, Fla., was deported Thursday.

Police escorted Hardin to the airport, where reservations were made to fly him to Nuevo Laredo.

Hardin was arrested here Monday at a fancy apartment where he was reported hiding $16,000 in cash.

A $50,000 banking deposit and two new cars were also seized.

Life insurance statisticians say the accident death rate at ages 65 and over has decreased from 224 per 100,000 in 1949 to 164 in 1958.
