Postoffice Receipts For City Show $9,000 Gain For First Seven Months

LUBBOCK'S postoffice receipts so far in 1930 are more than $9,000 larger than for the first seven months last year and the July receipts show a gain of $2,155.70 or slightly more than 23 per cent over the same month in 1929, John L. Vaughan, postmaster, said yesterday. Gain for the first seven months was $9,201.40, or a little over 14 per cent more than for the same period in 1929.

Gained $2,000

"I'm almost afraid to give the July figure," the postmaster said. "People will not believe it. But, we actually gained over $2,000 this year over last year."

July's receipts show both the largest amount, $11,289.19 and the largest gain, $2,155.70.

Average gain was $1,314.48. The smallest monthly gain was in March when the increase was but $255.35.

Increases Given

By months the increases were: January, $1,276.06; February, $1,609.52; March, $255.35; April, $833.45; May, $1,236.88; June $1,834.48 and July $2,155.70.

The first quarter's gain was $3,140.63 over the same period in 1929 and the second quarter's gain was $3,904.81.

"My prediction is that we will have in excess of $125,000 in receipts this year," the postmaster said. "It may be more than that, depending on the receipts for December and the fourth quarter. If conditions are right, we may have fourth quarter receipts of $40,000 or more and again we may have totals of only $35,000 or so."

By months, the receipts were:

January, ...	$ 9,731.97	$11,008.03
February, ...	8,196.58	9,806.10
March	9,311.85	9,567.20

Primary Vote Heaviest Ever Polled in a Texas Election

(By Associated Press)

DALLAS, Aug. 2.—The Texas Election Bureau announced tonight that the total vote of 828,998 already accounted for from last Saturday's Democratic primary was the heaviest vote ever polled in a Texas election.

A. F. Henning, director of the bureau, said the highest previous vote cast in July, 1926, was 821,767.

Tonight the bureau had returns from each of the 253 counties in the state including 237 complete. Henning said the bureau expected to complete the tabulation on all races Sunday night.

Results so far from the democratic primary showed the following computation in the governor's race: Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, 340,393; Ross S. Sterling, 169,760; Clint C. Small, 135,781; Thomas B. Love, 96,667; James Young, 72,340; Earle B. Mayfield, 67,277; Barry Miller, 55,215; C. C. Moody, 4,538; Frank Putnam, 2,850; C. E. Walker, 2,065.

Returns from the republican primary from 90 counties, including 34 complete, in the governor's race showed: Dr. George W. Butte, 2,364; H. E. Exum, 1,764; John Gaines, 77; John F. Grant, 785. A total of 4,990 votes had been tabulated in the republican primary.

Mears Poised For Ocean Hop

Airman Plans to Take Off at Harbor Grace Early Today in Effort to Retain Round-World Flight Record

(By Associated Press)

HARBOR GRACE, N. F. Aug. 3.—John Henry Mears, who twice in a comparatively short life time has broken the round-world time record only to see it again shattered, was poised here tonight for the longest hop of his latest effort, 1,900 miles across the north Atlantic from this airport to the Baldonnel airdrome at Dublin Ireland.

Mears dropped out of the skies at 1:55 o'clock Eastern Standard Time this afternoon in his red and silver monoplane, the City of New York, after a speedy flight from Roosevelt Field, N. Y. in the unusually good time of 8 hours and 15 minutes. The distance was 1,150 miles.

With him were two passengers, Henry J. Brown, 31-year-old air mail pilot, who acquitted himself perfectly in his first long over-water test, and tailwind 2nd, a terrier and the gift to Mrs. Mears from Mary Pickford.

If all goes well, and there was every prospect tonight that weather tomorrow would be as near to ideal as possible over the dead stretch of the fog shrouded north Atlantic which they must next negotiate, the fliers hope to be off at dawn.

The world's record for the circumferential journey they have undertaken is 21 days, 8 hours and 26 minutes, and it belongs to the Graf Zeppelin which made the mark last year. Mears and Brown hope to cut it to 15 days.

Sooner Officials Face Pro Charges

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Aug. 2. (AP)—P. V. Ruch, county attorney of Tillman county, and C. A. Wages, sheriff, were charged tonight in warrants with conspiring to violate the national prohibition laws. Simultaneously with the issue of the warrants by Roy St. Lewis, federal district attorney, an order was sent to Attorney General J. Berry King by Governor Holloway, directing him to take charge of a a Tillman county grand jury August 15, to investigate an alleged liquor ring.

Lewis indicated a thorough investigation of prohibition enforcement in Tillman county similar to the probe of the Pottawatomie county conspiracy last winter would follow arrest of the two officials. Representatives of the United States marshal's office were sent to Frederick to arrest Ruch and Wages.

Portales Highway To Be Completed

Culminating a program which has extended over a period of more than a year, announcement was received in this city yesterday that completion of the Lubbock to Portales highway, via Morton in Cochran county, will be seen within the near future.

The new road was dedicated last summer when a large motorcade was over the route from Lubbock to Portales and visits made to all towns on the way. A program was held in the New Mexico terminus at that time which included a barbecue for the visiting road boosters.

Only a few miles remain to be graded on the route, a part of these in New Mexico and the remainder in Texas. Announcement yesterday stated that these are fast being eliminated.

The route is 125 miles long and is 80 feet in width. Twenty-six miles of highway is practically new road while the remainder is an old road which has been improved.

Plans of Communists to Dam Siang River Reported

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2. (AP)—Plans of communists to block the Siang river and thus force the United States gunboat Palos to remain in the upper reaches of the stream in the vicinity of Changsha were reported today to the navy department.

The gunboat laden with Americans evacuated from the city last week when it was destroyed by communists and bandit hordes, relayed the report to the Yangtse river patrol which in turn communicated it to the navy.

Alton Phillips Is Good for More Tree Sitting

This morning at 8 o'clock Alton Phillips, finishes his first 400 hours of tree-sitting and late yesterday afternoon avowed that he was "good for several hundred more." If he does as he had planned when he first "took off" Alton will come down one month from tomorrow.

The insistance with which several boys in the state, particular in El Paso, are sticking to their posts worries Alton somewhat because he expected them to come down before now.

He is hoping that they will decide the laurels are not worth the patience and descend, giving him the championship title in Texas at any rate.

G.E. Lockhart Wins Over John Thomas

Local Man Has Margin of 269 Votes in Race

Tahoka Candidate for State Representative Takes Lead in Six of Nine Counties of This District

Interest Is Shown

Lubbock Attorney Carried to Victory by Support from Lubbock and Crosby Counties, Returns Reveal

A margin of 269 votes enabled G. E. Lockhart, Lubbock attorney, to defeat John Thomas of Tahoka in their race for the Democratic nomination as representative in the state legislature from the 119th district, it was revealed Saturday by an official tabulation of votes cast in the primary election.

Lockhart received a total of 8,305 votes and Thomas 8,036, upon the basis of official returns as announced Saturday by Democratic executive committee chairman of the nine counties composing the 119th district.

Thomas Leads Six

Although Thomas received a majority in six of the nine counties, Lockhart more than doubled the vote of his competitor in Lubbock and Crosby counties and carried Hockley county by a slim margin.

Lockhart's power was centered where the greatest number of voters reside, returns indicate. In addition to carrying his own county of Lubbock, the lawyer-candidate had heavy support in Crosby county, which was second only to Lubbock in the total number of votes cast in the race. Lubbock county votes were 3,345 for Lockhart and 1,514 for Thomas. Lockhart received 1,397 votes in Crosby county as compared to Thomas' 165.

Lynn county turned in a heavy majority for its candidate, Thomas acquiring 1,818 votes there to 876 for his opponent.

Holds Interest

The contest was one of the chief sources of interest among political enthusiasts here who characterized it as "a hoss race" from the beginning. Early returns gave Thomas a lead which he relinquished the

To Fight Alien Pro Violators

Reorganized Enforcement Bureau Launches Campaign on Foreigners; Hope Is Given Through Jones Law

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug 2.—A campaign against alien violators of the prohibition statutes and the invocation of the Jones law to bring about felony convictions and deportation hold a major place in the program of the reorganized enforcement bureau.

The plan fits in smoothly with the general policy of concentrating on the big operators in an effort to shut off the supply of intoxicating beverages at its source.

Provide Leadership

Although reluctant to estimate the proportion of immigrant offenders, the directing officers of the war on illicit liquor are firmly of the opinion that aliens provide the leadership, and the rank and file as well, of a majority of the big rum-running gangs.

In proof of this contention, they point to Chicago and other cities in which a foreign element controls the activities of the underworld.

It Must Be Sterling!

(AN EDITORIAL)

THROUGHOUT the remainder of the second primary campaign The Avalanche-Journal publications will allign themselves with the forces supporting the gubernatorial candidacy of Ross S. Sterling. And, to make matters entirely clear, we take this method of announcing our opposition to the candidacy of Mrs. Miriam Ferguson for a great variety of reasons, chief among which is that we believe her election would be detrimental to Texas.

Everyone knows Mr. Sterling was not our favorite among the gubernatorial candidates in the first primary. In fact, his candidacy was the target for editorial attacks almost without number, and for which we offer no apologies. Anything but backward in their support of Senator Small, The Avalanche and Journal turned their siege guns upon Mr. Sterling because they believed him to be the strongest rival of the Wellingtonian in this section. Whether correct in that pre-primary belief or not, that was our course and we still defend it.

However, the first primary and its upsets have been relegated to history. Today there are but two gubernatorial candidates left to consider: Mrs. Ferguson and Mr. Sterling. The limited choice offers but one decision. As we see it, to support Mrs. Ferguson is impossible. To support Mr. Sterling is essential to loyalty to Texas and its future growth and development.

In announcing fealty to the cause of Mr. Sterling, The Avalanche-Journal would make one point clear. That is, Lubbock's newspapers are making no attempt to climb aboard anybody's bandwagon; no effort is being made to ride any crest of popular appeal.

We are fully aware of the fact that present indications are the South Plains, generally, will vote for Mrs. Ferguson. We are also completely cognizant of present indications that Lubbock county may also be found in the Ferguson column when all the votes are cast. In spite of these indications we urge—and will continue to urge—that the citizens of this section vote for Ross Sterling for governor. We simply believe he will make Texas a vastly better governor than will his opponent and, win or lose, we have no apologies for that.

The Avalanche and Journal are unceasing champions of West Texas and its rights. There are those in this territory who frankly believe that for West Texas, Mrs. Ferguson will make the better governor. Perhaps they are right—perhaps they are not. But whatever be the case this is one occasion where all Texas must be considered and where the benefits of all Texas overshadow the benefits of any particular portion of it.

In our opinion, the Fergusons, both Jim and Miriam, have been tried and found wanting in the governor's office. Mr. Sterling, while a totally new political experiment, is certain to serve to better satisfaction than the man and wife who oppose him in this campaign. For these, and other reasons which will be propounded at later dates, The Avalanche and Journal urge:

"Ross Sterling For Governor!"

Mishap Victim Improves Here

A. M. Caraway, of Amarillo, Regains Consciousness in Sanitarium Here Following Car Accident at Abernathy

Having regained consciousness early Saturday, A. M. Caraway, of Amarillo, last night was reported by sanitarium officials as showing some signs of improvement though his condition is still considered very grave. Caraway is suffering of a fractured skull received late Friday afternoon when the automobile in which he was riding overturned twice near Abernathy.

Caraway sustained a fracture at the base of the skull on the left side and blood and cranial fluid flowed from the left ear. The accident occurred about 3:30 Friday afternoon one and one-half miles south of Amernathy.

An unidentified companion, traveling with Caraway from Hobbs, N. M. to Amarillo, escaped serious injury.

Abernathy officers said the right rear casing had blown out and that the automobile skidded 40 or 50 yards before turning over twice, landing upside down and pointed in the direction from which it had come.

Wife of the injured man, and an infant son, arrived here from Amarillo at 9:50 o'clock Friday night after they had been notified of the accident. Caraway was brought to the Lubbock sanitarium by a Rix-Sanders ambulance.

Deserter from Capone Ranks Warned of Fate by Police; Slain After Futile Effort to Conceal His Identity

(By Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Aug. 2.—Jack Zuta lived an extra month.

His stay of gangland's sentence ended last night when a squad of executioners drove up to a summer resort at Delafield, Wis., for him. Now "Bugs" Moran and Joe Aiello must look for a new collection manager for their north side liquor trade. His death made gangland cut the 50th notch in its 1930 collective gun stock as against 48 all last year.

Zuta, deserter from the Capone ranks, reputed plotter of the death of Jake Lingle, Tribune reporter and friend of Al Capone, knew his time was coming. He said so a month ago when he was discharged from the detective bureau, and asked for an escort across the loop. At State and Jackson streets his enemies overtook the squad car and showered it with lead. Two innocent bystanders were hit, one killed, but Zuta slunk out of sight uninjured.

That was July 1. Aug. 1 he had no chance. He had registered four days ago at one Delafield hotel under an alias, J. H. Goodman. He had moved to the Lakeview hotel. There they found him.

Transact Business

The five killers transacted their savage business in the matter of fact gangland way. They stalked across the dance floor, brushing aside boys and girls gliding to the patter of a mechanical orchestra. Zuta idly fed a nickel into the machine.

Hoboes Are Killed

Two Unidentified White Men and One Negro Are Among Victims; Engineers, Firemen of Both Trains Die

(By Associated Press)

McNEIL, Ark., Aug. 2.—Eight men were killed in the head-on collision of two freight trains of the St. Louis Southwestern railway company on a curve of the main line here today.

The dead:

Engineer H. W. Jennings.

B. F. White, fireman.

B. L. McKenzie, brakeman, all of train number 18, first section, northbound.

Al E. Simpson, engineer, and T. E. Hilburn, fireman of train number 775, extra, southbound, and two unidentified white men and a negro.

The unidentified white men and the negro were "riding the rods" when the trains collided, railroad officials said.

Between 50 and 60 box cars were derailed in collision and the two engines were practically demolished. Working crews sent to the scene of the wreck were expected to repair it and clear it for traffic some time late tonight.

The cause of the collision was not determined immediately by railroad officials but it was reported one of the train officials overran his orders.

Railroad officials said orders were issued to give the north-bound train

Delegates to State Meet Are Selected; Resolution for Return to Convention Plan of Nomination Is Beaten

TRANSACTING for the main part only routine matters of business and passing, by an almost unanimous vote, a resolution urging democrats to support the nominees of the party following the second primary elections, 65 delegates from 32 precincts met in the biennial session of the Lubbock county Democratic convention here yesterday afternoon.

The convention was held in the Criminal courtroom of the courthouse and the few references made to the split of the party here two years ago were entirely amiable. The name of the Democratic presidential candidate, Alfred E. Smith, who was defeated in this county in November of 1928, was mentioned upon only two occasions and only one reference was made to Tammany hall, a bug-bear in Democratic circles of Texas ever since the national elections.

The meeting was opened at 3 o'clock by J. K. Wester, retiring county Democratic chairman, who turned his gavel over to Marvin T. Warlick, newly elected chairman, as temporary presiding officer, chosen without opposition.

Charles A. Guy was chosen as temporary secretary and upon motion passed unanimously Mr. Warlick and Mr. Guy were chosen as chairman and secretary, respective-

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y. Aug. 2. (AP) — The Red endurance monoplane piloted by Slack and Lou Reichers, was forced down at 6:05 o'clock (E. S. T.) tonight. The pilots said the motor went dead.

The motor had functioned perfectly during its nearly 13 days of continuous flying up until the time it quit. Neither pilot could explain why it went dead.

A passing motorist brought the flyers, both begrimed with oil, back to the airport before field officials could verify the report that the ship was down. It had not appeared above the field for 45 minutes when the pilots were brought in.

Neither had been deafened by the steady roar of the motor and both said they had gained weight.

Chosen Beauties Of World Begin Matching Charms

(By Associated Press)

GALVESTON, Aug. 2.—The chosen beauties of this country and from foreign nations began matching their charms this afternoon in the international pageant of pulchritude.

Hardly had 38 of the 40 contestants been introduced at a ball luncheon than they were made ready for a decorated float parade on the beach laje today. At the luncheon, each received a "diploma" signifying she had been selected to represent her locality in the competition to determine who shall be the 1930 "beauty queen of the universe."

Most of them had short hair and all were dressed either in afternoon or sports costumes. A couple or so were without stockings.

No bathing costumes will be worn until tomorrow's float parade, at 4:30 p. m., and the first title winner, "Miss United States," will be selected Monday night. For the universal title, Miss United States will contest with seven foreign entries, introduced at the luncheon today along with the others. To the obvious surprise of a number of spectators, four of the seven were of the blond or near blond type.

Meanwhile, a mixup which had caused quite a bit of trouble, involving the question as to who should be Miss San Antonio, was settled with the official and final announcement that Miss Florida Edwards would be distinguished. She was designated as the official entry by the mayor of San Antonio, and although Miss Peggy Sumfhers had been reported at headquarters en route in an airplane to deny the designation, she had not appeared.

Lubbock Is One Of Stops In National Race; Lap Prizes Of $500 Offered By Local Chamber Of Commerce

ENTRANTS in the women's national air derby will fly to Lubbock from Roswell, their night stop, Thursday morning August 21, according to word received here Saturday.

The fliers will arrive at Roswell about 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon and, after spending the night will come here. The party leaves Los Angeles August 17 for Chicago.

Roswell Girl in Party

Miss Juanita McDaniels, who played a major role in the capture of a rum running plane at Roswell several years ago, is to be in the party. She is credited with discovery of the Western Air Express plane which was lost some months ago in the mountains near San Bernadino, Calif.

About 20 women pilots are expected to participate in the "powder puff" derby. Seventeen stops at airports in California, Arizona, New Mexico, Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri, Iowa, Wisconsin, and Illinois, are included on the route to be followed.

Officials to Be Along

Six planes carrying officials of the derby will accompany the contestants, who are expected to arrive in this city about 11:30 o'clock the morning of August 21. The contesting planes will take off from the municipal airport here about 2:30 in the afternoon, expecting to reach Amarillo about 3:45 o'clock.

Lap prizes totalling $500 have been posted by the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, officials here said. Rules of the derby provide that cash awards, for fliers having the shortest elapsed time over the lap ending in the control city, shall be divided as follows: First, 50 per cent; second, 30 per cent, and third, 20 per cent.

Luncheon will be served the visiting pilots here, following greetings by city officials and possibly responses by several of the fliers.

Sheriff Newt McCleskey, Of Gaines County, Has A Dandy Assortment—If You Can Get Him To Give You One!

(By Staff Correspondent)

SEMINOLE, Aug. 2.—Sheriff Newt McCleskey, of Gaines county, in the four years he has been sheriff, has captured a number of liquor stills and now has on hand an assortment of liquor-making apparatus and supplies that he is holding until Judge Gordon B. McGuire issues an order for their destruction.

On one of the raids several months ago, when he arrested three men and a woman, the sheriff seized 1,000 pounds of high grade sugar and 600 pounds of shorts. The still had a capacity of 150 gallons.

Bond in the amount of $500 cash was put up by the quartet and nothing has been seen of them since.

A recent raid netted a still and 20 gallons of liquor but no owners of the property.

Altogether the sheriff has five stills now on hand, for which no destruction orders have been issued by the court. The sheriff keeps them under lock and key in the jail and he is awaiting the opportunity to legally destroy them.

CROPS IN GOOD SHAPE

Considerable Moisture Is In Ground Despite Drouth

(By Staff Correspondent)

SEAGRAVES, Aug. 2—All crops in the north part of Gaines county are reported to be in good condition at this time. Despite dry conditions the ground is said to have considerable moisture.

"Crops that have been kept clean of weeds are not suffering from the lack of rain," W. D. Rhea, newspaper editor, said.

"Our corn is good and our cotton also is good. We will have lots of feed crops this fall. Even if we don't get much more rain right away, cotton is going to make a pretty fair crop."

Farmers say that so far the sun has not wilted the cotton to any appreciable extent. Some stalks are a little wilted in the mid-afternoon according to farmers, but the cool nights bring them back in fine shape.

Geologists are reported of the opinion the hole may be deepened to 5,500 feet or more before the pay is found.

"So I Took The Pennies--," And Dieter Finds Lubbock Scales Divided On Weight Problem

Arrows Range From One to 12 Pounds Difference

BY A WOULD-BE DIETER

WEIGHING as a pastime has never appealed to me and the least said about the matter the better, yet to find out what was my weight was the assignment.

"Here, take these pennies," said the editor, offering me twenty-five coppers, "weigh on the public scales around the square and note the variance. Then come back and write a story about it."

So I Took The Pennies

The significant look that he gave me had as much as anything else to do with the haste with which I took the pennies and started.

Here let me say that exponents of the famous 18-day diet would have crawled away could they have gone with me. Specialists would have admitted that they talked out of turn and other fat people would have refused to weigh any more. In other words it isn't what you weigh but where you weigh that makes the difference because the scales that I consulted showed a great variety of standards. Consider, also, that I have been dieting for a week and at one place weighed more than ever in my life.

Drug Store First

The drug store was visited first and the unsteady board stepped upon. Click! The arrow sped around to 146 and stopped apparently satisfied.

"A graceful beginning," I thought in disgust and began my trek around the square.

Going east one of the white elephants was encountered and climbed upon. Lovely scales they were for I registered a mere 143 1-2 pounds.

Stationary At 148

Somewhat encouraged the next machine was approached with less dread but I batted my eyes to find the arrow stationary at the 148 mark.

The next scales were near normal I thought because they weighed me 144 1-2 and I almost tripped across the street to the post office and hopped upon the tiny platform. The marker raced around to 147 before I had time to place the copper in the slot.

They're Used a Lot

"Never mind," I told myself, "they're used a lot and are out of order."

Those on the opposite side of the square were weighed on with the result of 145 and crossing over to the west side I discovered an identical measurement, the first since my adventure began.

Walking slowly in order to let curious passersby get ahead I cautiously approached the next ordeal. Two tiny boys giggled at my gasp of 146 pounds indication and imagine my horror at discovering the next scales stopped at 147 with promise of continuing a few pounds more.

Gone Far Enough

"Stop," I gasped, "you've gone far enough."

All of a sudden a profit sharing machine was in sight. Gingerly stepping on the scales I found the arrow to measure 145 1-2 but the penny whirled around and came out the slot.

"Well," I thought reflectively, "it didn't cost any thing at any rate."

Being a fiend for punishment this time I decided to walk down Broadway and the next scales must have been more or less accurate in indicating a weight of 145 1-2 since they had been recently tested.

Consolation Given

A five and ten cent store was visited in front of which were three sets of scales. The first one presented a card which although bearing the number 144 stated that the holder was a "tireless worker" and "deep thinker" which partly made up for the disappointment.

The middle machine handed out a card that was marked with 146 and weight of my ancestors. The final one gave me a poundage of 162! Thinking that if there were other scales there I would have to use two pennies to weigh I hurried away.

The remaining scales told much the same story. One weighed me 143, one 143 1-2 and another 144 but still another, which will always be my favorite weighing machine, indicated 141 pounds.

Determined to know my correct weight if possible I went to a local sanitarium and removing my shoes stepped on the scales. Moving the weight along the rod I found it balancing at 142 and here the weighty matter ended.

Hoover Calls For Conference On Home Ownership

President Is For Changing Of Conditions

Better Layout Of Residential Areas Important For Nation, He Says; Mortgage Laws Need Changing

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—Coordinated effort to remove influences which are depriving thousands of Americans of the advantages of home ownership was set in motion today at the direction of President Hoover.

Privately financed, and with its studies directed at coordinating and stimulating private effort rather than seeking relief through legislation, a national conference on home ownership and building has been called by the president. A score of associations representing the majority of the interests touching on the problem were invited to detail their chiefs as members of a planning committee which will make up the conferences program.

Conditions Bad

Mr. Hoover pointed out that financing conditions surrounding home building have been extremely bad and are particularly in need of adjustment but this, he said, would be only one phase of the conference's work.

"Greater comfort and reduction in cost of construction in many parts of the country through improved design, the better layout of residential areas are all of first importance," the president said. "The expansion and betterment of homes in its bearing upon comfort, increasing standards of living and economic and social stability, is of outstanding importance."

Laws Need Attention

One legislative angle which the president said needed attention, however, was the matter of mortgage laws of many states which he said should be studied with a view to developing a "more intelligent attitude to the home builder."

Mr. Hoover pointed out that during the past months of depression there has been so acute a shortage of capital for home building that this branch of construction had fallen off greatly, while other forms of credit remained readily available. He noted particularly that first mortgages had been affected by competition of bonds and other investments, and that in many cities second mortgages, necessary to many prospective home owners, had risen in rates to the equivalent of 30 and 35 per cent by the time commissions, discounts and other charges were figured in.

The president said the building and loans associations have been of great service in home financing but were inadequate to carry the burden without aid. Curtailment of home building construction, he said was a notable cause of unemployment on the building trades.

Secretary Lamont will head the planning committee and John M. Gries, chief of the division of building and housing of the commerce department, will be executive secretary. The planning committee itself will set the date for the conference.

Sterling Confab To Be In Dallas

Letters are being received in this city by interested parties from Paul L. Wakefield, of Houston, state publicity manager of the gubernatorial campaign of Ross Sterling, in which they are invited to attend a conference to be held Monday morning at 10 o'clock in the assembly room of the Adolphus hotel at Dallas.

"The purpose of the conference is to more effectively organize and consolidate the supporters of Mr. Sterling in the run-off primary," Mr. Wakefield's letter states.

No Lubbock parties have as yet announced intentions of attending the meeting.

CHARGES DISMISSED

MIAMI, Fla., Aug. 2. (AP)—Albert Capone, brother of Scarface Al Capone, and three associates were freed on charges of vagrancy in Dade county criminal court today. Judge W. F. Paris Is Trying To Placate Working Women With Wide Variety of Clothes

By HAZEL REAVIS,
Associated Press Staff Writer.

PARIS, Aug. 2. (AP)—Paris is trying to placate the working women who protested when skirts were lengthened, by designing more than the usual varieties of clothes for utility wear.

The lilies who neither toil nor spin are still the favorites of the Rue de La Paix and probably always will be, but Paris now realizes that there is a sisterhood of the pay check in the United States worth catering to.

Will Wear Jerseys

The well dressed working woman is going to wear Jersey tweed for her hours on duty next winter, whether in the home or in the office. The jerseys are light in weight and dark in color. Black and white, brown and white, dark gray mixtures and blues and greens, all are important.

Fancy weaves and patterned mixtures are smart. Ensembles combine dresses and jackets or coats and skirts. Coats miss the hemline by a couple of inches. Skirts average ten to twelve inches below the knees.

Equipment will be installed for initial test Sunday and placed in full operation early next week according to John Blaine, manager of the Big Spring airport. This is the ninth aeronautical station to be installed by the Southern Air Transport System.

Cochran Faces Good Prospect For '30 Crops

George E. Lance, President of Morton Chamber of Commerce, Says Conditions of Crops Best in Years

While in practically all sections of the South Plains extremely hot weather is the vogue and crops are suffering as result, Cochran county, west of Lubbock, has prospects of one of the best crop years in its history, according to George E. Lance, president of the Morton Chamber of Commerce, who was a visitor in this city yesterday.

"Crops throughout our area are holding up well," said Mr. Lance, "especially the late planted row crops. This condition we attribute to the fact that we had a good supply of underground moisture. Corn is especially good in the county and farmers of our area have been marketing roasting ears for the past 10 days."

Good Yield Seen

Cochran county was hard hit several weeks ago by a heavy hail storm but Mr. Lance reported that all stricken land has been replanted and promises a good yield.

Three new gins have been constructed in the county, each of these just completed or nearing completion.

R. E. Hardberger of Lubbock has just completed a new 4-stand gin at Morton at a cost of approximately $25,000. The gin has a burr mill and all of the latest equipment. Another plant is under construction at Bledsoe by parties from Konowa, Oklahoma. This will cost approximately $15,000 and will also be a four-stand gin. The third plant, which has just been completed, is located at Whiteface and is of the three-stand type.

Wheat Is Still Arriving Here

Fifteen To Twenty Cars Are Reported Coming Into Lubbock Daily; Movement Is Steady

Wheat is still being handled into Lubbock from the several branches of the Santa Fe as well as the main line north, H. F. Bayless, local agent of the company said yesterday.

"Our receipts are running 15 or 20 cars a day, I guess," he said. "The cars are for the most part billed to the Burrus elevator here. The mill is storing a good deal of wheat just now."

Storage Total Unknown

No estimate as to the probable amount of wheat in storage in the territory or in the hands of farmers was ventured by the agent, who said there was no way of telling what the figures might be.

"The farmers of this section do not have very much in the way of storage capacities on the farms," another official said. "The small elevators are all full and about every time they buy a car load of wheat, they have to ship out one."

Not much wheat is going to the gulf ports from this territory, the greater part being stored in Plainview or Lubbock with a little at Fort Worth.

SUFFERS FRACTURE

VIENNA, Aug. 2.—(Special)—Mrs. George Clee of Dallas, about 70 years old, today suffered a fracture of the left leg and severe bruises to the head in a collision of a taxi cab and a surface car. She was taken to the Fuerth sanitorium where surgeons said her conditions was serious but improved tonight. She was accompanied by her niece.

The world's largest seaplane which is to fly from the European factory to the United States, recently had American engines installed in it.

'Wherever You Go, I'm Following You,' Apparently Motto Of Jackson Brothers

Twins To Receive Master Degrees At Tech

WEBSTER gives a definition for the word identical as being the "strictest term for entire and absolute agreement" and this is certainly true in the case of two men who are students at Texas Technological college. Not only do they look alike and talk alike but they are studying the same courses and preparing a thesis for the degree of master of arts in the same field on the same subject.

H. J. Jackson, superintendent of the public schools at Estelline, and H. A. Jackson, superintendent at Memphis, are the twins involved. They are brothers of Dr. W. A. Jackson, head of the department of government at Tech.

No Difference

In answer to the question if they really thought alike one answered that he has "never noticed any differences."

"We grew up together, ate the same food, wore clothes alike, and went the same places," said H. J. Jackson. "Of course we have experienced getting mistaken for one another, sometimes to the point of embarrassment.

"Why right here at Tech the other day one of our professors marked me absent when I was sitting here and my brother was the absent one."

One Heavier Now

During boyhood the twins even went so far as to weigh the same but now one is slightly heavier than the other.

School days in the early grades were spent side by side and later they went to Bryan academy for a year. Next they went to Decatur Baptist college and later enrolling at Baylor university, Waco, where they obtained the A. B. degree in 1923.

One summer the brothers began graduate work at the University of Colorado at Boulder and transferred their work to Tech college.

Divide On Thesis

The advanced degree is being taken in the field of government with a subject "Judicial Interpretation of the Constitutional Bill of Rights of Texas" with H. A. Jackson taking the first 14 and his brother finishing with the remaining 15 sections.

Similar work is continued in that each is in the others classes and in this way they study together and prepare work alike.

CONGRATULATE SERVICE

Seminole Pleased With Its Early Morning Delivery

SEMINOLE, Aug. 2.—(Special)—Subscribers of the Lubbock Morning Avalanche here are very much pleased over the early arrival of copies of the morning paper as it reaches this town before the inhabitants are awake.

We certainly enjoy reading the Avalanche and the Sunday Avalanche-Journal early in the morning," C. C. Clothier, druggist, declared. "They have news hours ahead of any other paper and in fact we often see news in the next morning issues of other papers that we read the day before in the Avalanche.

R. W. Pittman, county judge, expressed himself along similar lines. "I want to congratulate the Avalanche-Journal on its splendid service to Seminole," he added.

Carol Cobb, county clerk and world war veteran, said: "The breakfast table is not complete now without the Avalanche.

"I don't know how you folks do it but we enjoy getting an early morning paper." Floyd Stark, hardware dealer, said.

MONTREAT, N. C., Aug. 2.—(AP)—The general mission conference of the Southern Presbyterian Church will open here tomorrow and continue until August 13.

The Rev. Robert Gribble of Austin, Texas, will lecture daily on home and foreign missionaries.

Receiving Of Bids Delayed On Building

Department Of Justice Has Not Announced Needs For Space In New Federal Unit Here; Expected Soon

Delay in the announcement of receiving of bids by the department for the erection of a new postoffice in Lubbock is due to the fact that the department of justice has not announced its need for space in the new building.

This is the word which Congressman Marvin Jones of Amarillo brough back from Washington, John L. Vaughn, postmaster, said yesterday.

Jones Called on Plans

"Congressman Jones telephoned me when he was here last and said that the day before he left Washington he called at both the postoffice and treasury departments to see about the plans," the postmaster said.

"The two departments have approved the floor space requirements for the office. Plans are now in the department of justice and they are trying to determine the amount of space they need for court, jury rooms, grand jury room and the like."

As soon as the justice department completes its work, it is expected the postoffice department will advertise for bidders on the job.

Both the postmaster and Congressman Jones are hopeful that the next several months will see final approval given the plans by the justice departments and bids called for.

Lacing by Pittsburgh Holds Chicago Back

Chicago matched the Pirates in number of hits at 16 each, but failed to bunch them. Ineffective pitching proved to be the Cub's downfall, Perce Malone, Guy Bush, and Lynn Nelson being unable to spread out the Pittsburgh hits.

Governors of North Carolina And Georgia May Talk Boxing

BY WILLIAM BRAUCHER
NEA Service Sports Editor

The governor of North Carolina may never have another word to say to the governor of South Carolina, but it's barely possible we will be able to report for you some chatter one of these days between a couple of other southern gentlemen, the mayor of Atlanta, Ga., and the mayor of Macon, in the same state.

Maybe we are just fooling, but it is our idea that some day one of these fine evenings, the mayor of Atlanta will say to the mayor of Macon, "Well, well, old sardine, I see where you have a champion, too."

This would take place (don't laugh) shortly after W. L. "Young" Stribling had knocked out Max Schmeling or somebody for the heavyweight championship of the world.

If I had said something like this in public no longer ago than last summer, somebody surely would have stood up and said, "Yes, yes, and now tell us all about your new idea for teaching horses to spit." But time flies, the Brooklyn Robins are at the top of one of the leading minor leagues, and you can't tell the age of a dead herring by its teeth. We are here today and gone tomorrow.

It is true that Willie, as they call him down in his native canebrakes has messed up every important chance he fell heir to. His bouts with Berlenbach, Loughran, Sharkey and a few more fellows linger in unfragrant memory. Of course the boy always was ready with an alibi—he had fractured a toenail or dislocated a couple of vertebrae in his tonsils or something like that.

But lately he has been playing country cousin to the people of the prize ring in a very negative manner. It has taken him less than three rounds to knock out Otto Von Porat and Phil Scott. He beat Scott before the plaintive Britisher had time to holler foul, which is some sort of a record. Even in these bouts there was something the matter with the Stribling left hand. Perhaps if Pa and Ma Stribling ever can get the young man in the ring in perfect physical condition he'll kill somebody.

Hubbers Beat Rotan Again; Meet Brownfield Today

Next Heavyweight Champion?

Looks like another gentleman fighter, does William (Young) Stribling, and also a possible heavyweight champion. Instead of the boos he used to get, he is now greeted by vociferous "Huzzas". Since knocking out Phil Scott, the British champ, last week, Strib is on the highway to boxing heights.

Marshall Hits Four Doubles As Locals Win

Continue South Plains Card Today When Hubbers Go to Brownfield; Tahoka Meets Levelland This Afternoon

The Lubbock Hubbers swept the series with the Rotan team when they won the second game 20 to 3 yesterday afternoon at Merrill Park. Three Rotan pitchers were unable to cope with the situation, and even their efforts were not supported by the field. "Fleetfoot" Waller was on Lubbock's mound all the way, giving up a total of six hits for the day.

The visitors originated the scoring idea yesterday when they ran across three in the second inning. Lubbock came back with one, made it two in each of the third and fourth, and batted around in the sixth for eight runs and again in the eighth for seven, while Rotan was held scoreless.

Marshall The Hitter

Marshall, playing first base for Lubbock, led the hitting for the day when he turned in a card of for two-baggers in four official trips four two-baggers in four official trips to the plate. Dick Green, Holber short, was high point man for the defensive with five putouts and as many assists in eleven chances.

The Hubbers go to Brownfield today to continue their South Plains League schedule. Manager Buenberger said that Cummings would start on the hill for the locals. Tahoka meets Levelland this afternoon, while Lamesa and Southland scrap it out at Lamesa.

Cub Comeback Amazing Story

Rise of Waco Team in 1930 to Be Remembered as Rivaling Miracles of Stallings as Boston Club Skipper

GAYLE TABOT, Jr.
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, Aug. 2. (AP)—The redemption of the Waco Cubs in 1930, A. D., will be remembered as one of the most amazing chapters in Texas League history. It rivals, in truth the feat of that almost legendary Boston Club that came off the bottom to win a pennant and make George Stallings famous as the "Miracle Man".

Today the Cubs are right at the top, battling the Wichita Falls Spudders for the second half flag, being taken more seriously every day. Little more than a month ago, unbelieveable as it seemed the light of a new day, Waco was on the verge of losing its Texas League franchise.

It may be told now. Emissaries actually were scouting about the state, trying to pick a city capable of supporting a club. It is learned on fair authority that Galveston, which relinquished its franchise six years ago, was anxious to get it back.

Had the Cubs not sold Hank Thormahlen for $10,000 and invested the down payment in a lighting system, and had not the team become immediately inspired under the arcs and begun drawing banner crowds, there might have been an announcement ere this that Waco would be just a flag stop for Texas League teams in 1931.

But, the Cubs did sell Hank and string bulbs about Katy Park, and the rest in current history. Right now Del Pratt's crew, which rates under at least three Texas League clubs on paper appears nearer a pennant than has any Waco club since 1916, when the then "Navigators" won their third successive championship under Ellis Hardy.

Bill Miller Is Scull Champ

Philadelphian Wins Singles Race and National Title in Sculling Events; Overcomes Heavy Obstacles

BOSTON, Aug. 2. (AP)—Young Bill Miller of the Philadelphia bachelor's Barge Club had to overcome tremendous obstacles here today to become the national single sculling champion.

Miller had to reverse an official ruling to get into the championship race, the featured individual competition of the 38th national rowing regetta, and once in, had to out-scull three strong-armed competitors.

Wins In Half-Try

To qualify for the championship race, an oarsman must first win the association single sculls event and this is what Miller accomplished yesterday without half-trying. He finished, however, many feet off the course and was disqualified, along with Jeremiah Shea of Boston, who was declared guilty of the same offense. With both ruled out, the association victory was awarded to Leo B. Menne of the Nassau boat club, New York, who actually finished third.

Miller protested vigurously to the Regetta's executive committee and that body gave him permission to start in the championship event, along with Menne, W. E. Garrett Gilmore, Miller's clubmate, and Russell S. Codman, Jr., of the Union Boat club, Boston, the latter two being winners of previous association sculls.

Big Oscar Eckhardt Cinches Texas League Hitting Crown

(By Associated Press)

DALLAS, Aug. 2.—Having shaken off his most persistent rivals in the last few weeks, big Oscar Eckhardt of the Beaumont Exporters virtually has cinched the 1930 Texas League batting crown five weeks before the race ends. Barring the possibility of a disastrous slump, the Shipper star also will gain the distinction of leading the field every week since the barrier dropped in April.

Through games of Thursday the former University of Texas hero was banging the apple at a .394 clip, 27 points higher than the next playing-through regular, Eugene Moore, of Dallas, with .367. Sam Leslie, San Antonio first sacker, had the lofty sticking average of .449, but had not played in half as many games as Eckhardt. Other top punchers in more than 100 times at bat were:

Rye (Waco) .358; E. Brown (Fort Worth) .352; I. Burns (Wichita Falls .348; Joe Moore (San Antonio) .347; Kloza (Wichita Falls) .345; Fitzgerald (Wichita Falls .344.

Moore Back In Line

Joe Moore, San Antonio's prize rookie, returned to the line-up during the past week and was slugging as of yore, apparently suffering no ill effects from the injury which laid him up several weeks. Joe Schinkel, his clouting teammate, dopped out of the first 10 for the first time since the season opened.

In addition to his batting leadership, Eckhardt also was pacing the field in total hits, 163, and was tied with Fitzgerald of the Spudders in doubles, each with 42. Chick Shiver, Beaumont moved into a tie with Joe Moore in triples knocked, each with 12.

Larry Bettencourt, the Spud power house, ran his homer list to 35, but lost ground to Hugh Willingham, Dallas sensation, who boosted his string to 28 and began to look like a real threat.

Bettencourt also was leading in runs batted across, 108, compared to 98 for his teammate, Kloza, and was second in runs scored with 96. Kloza had dented the plate 108 times. In the pair, Wichita Falls has one of the most effective scoring combinations ever seen in the Texas League.

Hunt Still Steals

Unless he breaks a leg, Joe Hunt of Houston promises to lead he base stealers to the tape with room to spare. He had pilfered 38 sacks at last count, eight more than his closest rival, Holley of Beaumont.

Although his 16 victories still had him ahead of the pitching pack, Hal Wiltse, Spudder southpaw ace, was having a terrible time annexing No. 17. He had two chances during the past week and was battered freely both times, failing to finish. He still was the circuit's hardest working pitcher, with 191 innings to his credit.

Oscar Tuere, Shreveport's ancient spitballer, had the highest winning average, with 14 wins and three defeats. Allyn Stout, Houston, other member of the league's "Big Three" had registered 123 strikeouts

ROVING THE SPORTS WORLD

WITH COLLIER PARRIS
JOURNAL SPORTS EDITOR

Pete Cawthon, head coach-elect of Texas Tech, is back in Lubbock after a summer's training and vacationing. His activity this summer has beencentered around the football situation at Tech. He has attended two coaching schools, one at Dallas and one at Shawnee, Oklahoma, and has been making statewide connections for the college. For the past week or two he has been taking an earned vacation in the Ozarks of Arkansas. This department joins with his many friends here in welcoming the Matador mentor to Lubbock, where he will be in association with his staff for the remainder of the summer in preparation for the season's football campaign.

Texas Tech is fortunate in securing Mr. Cawthon for its coach. The school could hardly have picked a man with a greater knowledge of the game, or a better handler of men. Had it not been for a break in health some four years ago he would today be coaching a winning team in a first class institution. As a result of the misfortune, however, he has acquired an even greater and more vivid knowledge of athletics. For three years he has been one of the most popular athletic officials in the southwest, and has called more games than perhaps any other official in the Southwest Conference. As a star athlete in high school and college, as a coach of high school and college teams, and as an official he has seen the game from all sides.

Cawthorn's uncanny ability to dope football is the envy of any sport scribe and enthusiast who knows him. He has picked the winner of the Southwest Conference ten times in the last twelve years. An interesting incident along this line occurred last fall when he picked Texas Christian University, Baylor University started the season like a house afire, setting a high scoring record at the first of the season in practice games, and seemed headed for the stars. Even before the Bears lost to Centenary, Cawthon aroused the ire of Baylor followers and the suspicions of others when he said that a team would rise up to defeat the Waco institution before the season was well under way. And so is happened. Baylor lost a practice game to Centenary, and were completely squashed by T. C. U. and S. M. U.

The links at the Lubbock Country club is undergoing repair this week in preparation for coming practice and tournament events. Officials of the club have high hopes of bringing the West Texas championship tournament to Lubbock, and prospects of this inspired the club to spend no small sums getting the course in readiness. Some of the greens are being rebuilt, some repaired, and some changed altogether. In the meantime members of the Lubbock clubs are practicing for their own city championship tournament, which will be held about the middle of August, and for the fourth annual Panhandle amateur tournament, held at Amarillo August 9 and 10.

Local golfers are taking quite an interest in the Amarillo tourney which promises to be one of the Southwest's greatest amateur golf tournaments, at least in point of attendance and prizes to be awarded. The meet, held at the Hillcrest and municipal links, will be attended by possibly 400 golfers of North and West Texas, Southwest Oklahoma, and Eastern New Mexico. The line determining the boundaries of the eligibles has its south point at San Angelo, extending north through Abilene, Stamford, Quanah, and taking in a strip of Oklahoma including Sayre, Hobart, Elk City, Woodward and Alva, then west through Liberal, Kansas and Raton, New Mexico, to Albuquerque, southeast to Carlsbad, and back to San Angelo. The Lubbock team has been cordially invited, and will send a delegation of some dozen men.

More about Hank Thormahlen, Waco, and Fort Worth. Friday was the date set for the remaining $5,000 to be paid the Waco club of the Texas League by Fort Worth, who purchased Hank for the record price of $10,000, paying half of it down, and agreeing to pay the rest August 1. It was not paid. Instead Ted Robinson, president of the Fort Worth baseball club, said, "Thormahlen isn't going to be returned to Waco, nor is the other $5,000 going to the club. Thormahlen is our property, and we intend to keep him. It is now up to Waco. Well, well. That's the ultimatum, and it's up to Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, commissioner of baseball, and his council to settle it for Waco is pretty sure to take the matter a little higher than a mere argument. Ten thousand dollars was too much for Thormahlen, who is now recovering from an attack of malaria, but what can be done about it?

Paul Carter's Circulation Boys go right on up the line, stacking up one of the best grand lot records the city has seen in recent years. They have lost one game since the season started, and have won something like twenty-five. And Bill Davidson, the star pitcher, has a record of which anybody could be proud. He has pitched the majority of the games, but was unlucky enough to lose the only one the team has lost. He has won about eighteen in a row, and has a strikeout average of nine per game. Sunday afternoon the Carriers will go to Monroe where they meet the city team of that town. The Monroe team has been playing the Hubbers lately in practice contests.

City Airport Work Rushed

Grass Is Being Mowed And Holes Filled In; Hangar Construction Is Progressing Rapidly

Work toward permanent improvement of the Lubbock municipal airport had reached noticeable proportions Saturday with the close-cropped landing field standing out as one of the features. A new mower has been busily engaged in removing tall grass from the field for the past ten days and the area now presents the appearance of a smooth grass carpet.

About 20 acres are mowed daily, requiring about 10 days to complete the entire acreage.

Holes Filled In

Aside from the mowing work, machines and men also have been engaged in filling all holes on the landing area to make it as smooth as possible. City officials reported yesterday that the surface should be completed within the next few days.

The 100-foot circle, which is to grace the middle of the landing area, was completed yesterday. The circle, a band four feet wide and 100 feet in diameter, is made of white caliche and stands out prominently from the air.

Fence to Be Erected

Construction has started on the fence which will run across the front of the field and gates are being installed for pedestrians. No automobiles will be allowed on the field though a large gate for use by trucks will be opened. Sanitary sewer lines have also been laid for the hangar and poles are up for an electric line. The wires possibly will be strung this week. No arrangements have been made for lighting of the outside portion of the field though fixtures for the hangar are en route.

Contractors are rushing work on the new hangar in an effort to complete the structure by August 21, when the women's national air derby will be halted in this city as a control point. The back wall of the building is two-thirds up on one side while one of the two large structural steel spans has been erected.

A "comet ship" is the name that has been given to this revolutionary type of plane, pictured here as it awaited its first tests at East Berlin, N. J. Its builders claim the craft will travel 300 miles an hour in the air and they expect to fly from New York to Berlin in 12 hours. Air is sucked into one end of the barrel-shaped plane by the four-bladed propellor of a 60-horsepower motor, and expelled at the other end. Once aloft, the craft will depend on a set of stub ailerons on the forward end and will be steered by elevators in the tail. Note the enclosed cockpit. The craft has been made to come down on either land or water, and because of its small wingspread, it can be stored in an ordinary garage or taxied along a highway.

NEW RESIDENCES BUILT

Seminole Gets New Houses And Business Buildings

(By Staff Correspondent)

Seminole, Aug. 2.—Two new residences are now being erected in Seminole and there are reports of several other new homes to be started soon.

Nearly every business building in town is occupied and there are no residences for rent, business men say.

Several new concerns have come into Seminole and have started operation. There is a new lumber yard now nearing completion.

Every room in town is taken at night, many people driving here from Hobbs in order to get a place to stay. The two hotels and a rooming house are always full and a number of people have begun to take in roomers to aid in meeting the housing situation.

Restaurants and filling stations are doing a large business. A new tourist camp completed several months ago, has been reported full nearly every night.

"We need a hotel very much," R. W. Pittman, county judge and real estate man, declared. "Both our places are full all the time and we could take care of more people."

Glasgow has a city "graft" scandal.

Mark McGee, Former Head of Legion, Against 'Ma'

HOUSTON, Aug. 2. (AP)—Mark McGee of Fort Worth, former Texas commander of the American Legion, who served as adjutant of Texas under Governor Miriam A. Ferguson, and Earle B. Mayfield's state campaign manager in the recent gubernatorial contest, announced today that he will suport Ross Sterling of Houston in the runoff primary for the governorship.

Mr. McGee declared his belief that the nomination of Mrs. Ferguson would renew previous factional fights within the Democratic party, reviving the bitterness of former years, and in all likelihood lead to a political upheaval at the general election in November.

Land O' Lakes Man To Speak At Lubbock Wednesday

Co-Op Representative To Tell South Plains Poultry Raisers Details Of Marketing Products

Lubbock County Producers Are Seeking Means Of Handling This Year's Turkey Crop On Cooperative Basis

By AL HILL
Avalanche-Journal Farm Editor

Turkeys are reported not so plentiful this year on the South Plains. Producers in numerous instances, declare that reason for a short turkey crop is because of the low prices offered at Lubbock and other market centers of this section last year.

"Highest prices we could obtain last year," George C. Cooper states, "were for the three carloads we pooled at Shallowater and sold for 17 cents a pound.

Condition Similar To Cotton

"The same thing existed in our tourkey market last year that this year's cotton crop is facing—what is claimed as a surplus crop. Yet, while South Plains producers received a 17 cent price only when pooling their own turkeys cooperatively, producers at Brownwood and San Angelo at the same time were receiving from 18 cents a pound for mediums to 30 cents for young toms.

"The Brownwood and San Angelo turkey raisers sold their crops through the Land O' Lakes Creameries, Inc., the nation's largest cooperative marketing association for dairy and poultry farmers. The net price paid in Texas last year by this association was 29 cents for young hens and 30 cents for young toms in the Thanksgiving pool, and 27 cents and 28 cents for young hens and young toms, respectively, in the Christmas pool."

Invites Poultry Producers Here

Mr. Cooper, who is chairman of the Lubbock county committee of dairy and poultry farmers who have been working toward bettering market conditions for their products, announces that all poultry and dairy farmers, particularly those who this year are raising turkeys, are invited to Lubbock next Wednesday to hear T. H. Christgau, Texas representative of the Land O' Lake Creameries, explain details of how this association is ready to handle all turkeys and other poultry products produced on the South Plains.

When Mr. Christgau was in Lubbock recently he stated the Land O' Lake Creameries have a market for all such products. The cost to producers of this section, in pooling their turkeys with this association, would be merely that of picking, dressing and carrying the birds to points of delivery.

Branch Sales Office Maintained

"We maintain branch sales offices in New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Syracuse, Chicago, Detroit, St. Louis and Omaha," Mr. Christgau declares "with more than thirty salesmen calling on the trade regularly. These salesmen cover the entire Middle West and Eastern territory and are in touch with all meat markets, chain stores, hotel supply companies, meat packers and canners."

When asked relative to the grades placed upon turkeys, Mr. Christgau replied that Number 1 turkeys included young toms, 12 pounds and up, young hens 8 pounds and up. Other grades are old toms, old hens and No. 2 turkeys.

It will be the purpose of Mr. Christgau's talk to producers here to explain the marketing agreement with the Land O' Lake Creameries. He is to speak at the courthouse at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

Cotton Farmers Will Not Suffer Losses On Cuts

Not the least benefit to accrue to members of the Texas Cotton Cooperative Association will be that of saving on losses from sampling, according to N. H. Payne, field representative of the association.

"Farmers who market their cotton through the association," he states, "will not see samples cut from between every tie on their bales. The association's grader and classer, under bond to the government and licensed, will cut only the necessary samples to get the information he is employed to secure.

Sample Will Not Be Cut

"While the farmer's cotton is stored to await shipment to spinners, there will be no cutting of samples, as occurs when cotton is placed, without protection, where buyers are free to cut innumerable samples."

Mr. Payne continues with the explanation that the association, at the end of the year, sells all of its loose cotton, acquired through sampling and otherwise, and prorates to each member the amount due from his share of these samples.

"During the first five years operation of the Texas Farm Bureau Cotton Association," explains Mr. Payne, "we paid back to members a total of $183,074.34 for this loose cotton. This figures approximately $9 per member."

George Smith Named Officer

Editor of Snyder Signal Is Chosen Vice-President of National Editorial Association; Has Hands Full

SNYDER, Aug. 2. — (Special) — George F. "Jimmy" Smith, editor of the Snyder Signal and secretary of the West Texas Press association, has been named by H. C. Hotaling secretary of the National Editorial Association as Texas vice-president, Sam Harben, secretary of the Texas Press Association, has announced to newspaper men here.

Mr. Harben in his announcement adds:

"'Jimmy' is going to have his hands awfully full this year with association matters, watching after the interests of the West Texas Press association, helping the Texas Press association secure fifty new members for the San Angelo meeting and then breaking Bill Collins' of South Texas, record of last year for National Educational membership. Texas should have two hundred members in the national association and we believe that 'Jimmy' will get them."

In accepting the appointment Mr Smith said "Well, Sam, all that we have to say is that if we can get the absolute cooperation of the publishers of the state as well as our own West Texas district, we'll break Bill Collins' record for a row of pins—and we sincerely mean that. As for the San Angelo meeting, our propaganda has already started."

NEW STORES OPENED

NEW HOBBS, N. M., Aug. 2—(Special)—Five new stores are being opened up in a fire proof brick business building which A. C. Chesher, formerly manager of the New Hobbs Townsite company, completed recently.

The building is near the Lea-Mev hotel and the offices of the development company. Several of the stores plan openings for the coming week.

Riding a home-made motorcycle with two oil cans used as a gasoline tank, the owner won a race at Lingfield, England, recently.

First Community Meeting For Co-Op Results In 70 Per Cent Signing Up

More than 70 per cent of the cotton farmers present at the first community meeting held in Lubbock county, on the driver for membership in the Texas Cotton Co-operative Association, at Hurlwood Friday night, joined the association.

Several weeks ago, when plans were first under way for the campaign in this county, Hurlwood representatives required that they be given the first community meeting in Lubbock county and, as Friday night's response indicates, they lived up to their prediction that a big percentage of their farmers would sign the marketing agreement.

Priviledge Was Wanted

In opening the meeting Friday night, A. F. Ham, community chairman, said:

"As Lubbock was the first town in Texas to sign a guarantee for a district office of the Texas cotton Co-operative association, we at Hurlwood wanted the priviledge of being the first community in Lubbock county to hold a meeting for members.

Given Reasons For Assistance

"The business men of Lubbock, and of the nation, are in this drive because our president and our government have called upon them to help organize the farmers, everywhere, in time to take care of this crop. It is because the government has requested their help that these Lubbock business men are helping.

"And, it is to their benefit, as well as to the farmer's, because they realize full well that the farmer in this section creates almost all of the wealth upon which these South Plains thrive. It is a strictly business proposition."

The speeches of R. J. Murray, president of the Lubbock chamber of commerce and chairman of this district; F. P. Burdick, publicity manager for the district, and Al Hill, were received with enthusiasm.

Legge Renews His Reduction Fight

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 2 (AP)—Alexander Legge, chairman of the federal farm board, told agricultural experts of six states here today that a 25 per cent reduction in soft red wheat acreage would double the present income from the grain and help improve world prices.

The long drought that has imperilled the corn crop, he said, offered an opportunity for using wheat for feeding purposes and provided an outlet for any surplus this year. If followed by decreased acreage, the farm board chairman said, soft red wheat farmers would have done much toward improving price conditions.

Agricultural extension directors, experiment station heads, and economists, from Indiana, Illinois, Ohio, Michigan, Missouri and Kentucky heard Chairman Legge, George S. Farrell, department of agriculture regional agent for the central states, and N. A. Olsen, chief of the department of agriculture's economic bureau, urge curtailed production.

NEW TEACHERS NAMED

Eight New Members Added To Big Spring Staff

BIG SPRING, Aug. 2 (Special)—At a meeting of the School Board for the Big Spring Independent School District here Thursday evening July 31, eight new teachers were selected for the 1930-31 term. Those chosen were Jeanette Pickle, Big Spring; Ion Alice Drake, Waco; Ralph Houston, Austin; Mary McElRoy, Denton; Kary Hart, Cisco; Marie Louise Johnson, Nixon; Mrs. Florence McDonald, Troup; Mrs. C. A. Cowan, San Marcos. Resignations accepted were Mrs. Fred Keating, Brown Hair, Joe Bullined, Mrs. P. E. Martin, Mary Lou Cushing, Mrs. J. L. Thomas, Mrs. F. C. Hopkins and Miss Cana Cowan.

Foundation is being laid on the Ward School building being built in the west part of the city and excavation is being pushed on the site for the building to be erected in the east part of the town. A third building will be erected in the north part of town.

Thirty-eight miles of shade trees have been planted along Alabama highways this season.

Murray States Business Men Back Of Board

Chambers Of Commerce For Agricultural Sections Are Solidly Supporting Federal Farm Board Efforts

"While the United States chamber of commerce, which represents more than industrial east than the agricultural west or south, is opposed to the Federal Farm Board and its work of aiding the farmers through operation of the Agricultural marketing Act, the chamber of commerce of the southwest, particularly Texas and the South Plains, are working hand in hand with the farmer," declared R. J. Murray, president of the Lubbock chamber of commerce.

"In this section, where agriculture is almost entirely the only source of wealth creation," continued Mr. Murray, "chambers of commerce are organized for the further development of our natural resources. It is a simple thing to see that, unless these natural resources in this country are developed, there can be no growth of business anywhere."

Problems Are Identical

Mr. Murray futher declares that any problem of the farmer is likewise the problem of the business man. "Our interests are mutual and it is gratifying to me to see business men throughout the South Plains enter into this campaign for members in the Texas Cotton Cooperative association.

"Heretofore the farmer has been compelled to fight his battles by himself and against the opposition of the business interests. Now that the government is back of the farmer, realizing his plight has become a national problem, it certainly behooves every clear-thinking business man everywhere to do everything he can possible accomplish to help this movement along."

Sunday-School Lesson

BY DR. J. E. NUNN

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON FOR AUGUST 3, 1930.

General topic—

Naomi and Ruth; A Study in Racial Relationships.

Scripture Lesson—

Ruth 1:6-10, 14, 22

Ruth 1:6. Then she rose with her daughters-in-law, that she might return from the country of Moab: for she had heard in the country of Moab how that Jehovah had visited his people in giving them bread.

7. And she went forth out of the place where she was, and her two daughters-in-law with her; and they went on the way to return unto the land of Judah.

8. And Naomi said unto her two daughters-in-law, Go, return each of you to her mother's house: Jehovah deal kindly with you, as ye have dealt with the dead, and with me.

9. Jehovah grant you that ye may find rest, each of you in the house of her husband. Then she kissed them, and they lifted up their voice, and wept.

10. And they said unto her, Nay, but we will return with thee unto thy people.

14. And they lifted up their voice, and wept again: and Orpah kissed her mother-in-law; but Ruth clave unto her.

15. And she said, Behold, thy sister-in-law is gone back unto her people, and unto her god: return after thy sister-in-law.

16. And Ruth said, Entreat me not to leave thee, and to return from following after thee: for whither thou goest, I will go; and where thou lodgest, I will lodge: thy people shall be my people, and thy God my God: and more also, if aught but death part thee and me.

17. And when she saw that she was steadfastly minded to go with her, she left off speaking unto her.

22. So Naomi returned, and Ruth the Moabitess, her daughter-in-law, with her, who returned out of the county of Moab: and they came to Bethlehem in the beginning of the barley harvest.

Introduction

The Book of Ruth is one of the most delightful stories ever penned. It carries us without an effort into an old-world realm altogether unlike our work-a-day life. Whilst we read it the customs of that other realm seem quite familiar to us. The story opens in Bethlehem, a village of Judah about six miles south of Jerusalem, the town later to be distinguished as the birthplace of David and of "great David's greater Son," our Lord Jesus Christ. A famine in the land caused a certain family to leave Bethlehem and go eastward a short distance to Moab, east of the Dead Sea. In Moab they could find food, for in those days it was fertile and highly cultivated, a land of many streams and of generous harvests.

Naomi And Her Family. Chap. 1:2

The migrating family consisted of Elimelech, his wife Naomi, and his two sons, Mahlon and Chilion. It was a godly family, and removal to the heathen land of Moab was regarded by them as a calamity. Only the extremity of famine could induce a worshipper of Jehovah to live in that unclean country of idolaters.

There Elimelech died, and his two sons, having become accustomed to Moab, so far forsook their native land and religion as to marry Moabite girls. Chilion's wife was Orpah, and Mahlon's being Ruth. After these marriages a double calamity fell upon the little household, for both Chilion and Mahlon died, and Naomi was left, bereft of her husband and two sons, and with only her two daughters-in-law, who were strangers and foreigners. We are at once admitted to ong of the loveliest scenes in all the Bible.

Naomi Returns To Bethlehem. v. 7

"Then she arose with her daughters-in-law, that she might return from the country of Moab." She had lived for about ten years in Moab, but it could never be home to a Hebrew woman. "For she had heard that Jehovah had visited his people in giving them bread." Bethlehem, which means "the house of bread," was once more true to its name. Jehovah is said in the Bible to "visit" his people both with blessings and again with penalties for wrong-doing. Naomi, like all Jews, felt herself to be one of God's people, under his protection, and receiving from his hand all good things. Christians should have the same sense of belonging to God, and so they pray to him, "Give us this day our daily bread."

"And she went forth out of the place where she was, and her two daughters-in-law with her." It has been suggested that one object of Naomi's return was to sell her land in Bethlehem and thus obtain something to support her, in her old age. Moreover, she had her old friends and neighbors to draw her back.

Orpah And Ruth. Cs. 8, 9

Both Orpah and Ruth loved their mother-in-law. At first they both intended to accompany her to her old home among the Israelites, but finally Orpah turned back to her Moabite home. Ruth, however, matched Naomi's unselfishness with her own devotion. In language which has become classic because of its beauty and pathos she declared her unalterable purpose to cleave to her mother-in-law until death should separate them. Vs. 16, 17. "Like David's lament over Jonathan these words have sunk deep into the human heart. As an expression of the tenderest and most faithful friendship they are unrivaled. From this moment a charm lingers about Ruth and she becomes dearer to us than any woman of whom the Hebrew records tell."

Orpah went back to her old home, and there she disappeared from history; Ruth went forward to a new home, and there she won a place among the immortals.

Ruth And Naomi In Bethlehem V. 22

"And they came to Bethlehem in the beginning of the barley harvest." It was April, and in the opening of the harvest season, as barley was the first crop to be gathered in. It was to be a happy harvest time for them, after all. "It is always darkest just before dawn."

"Barley harvest was followed a fortnight later by the wheat harvest (Ruth 8:3) and the harvest season lasted seven weeks (cf. Deut. 16:9). It was a humane ordinance of the Jewish law that when a farmer was reaping his field he should not 'make clean riddance of the corners' but leave gleanings for the poor and the stranger, and when he forgot a sheaf he should not go again to fetch it but leave it for the fatherless and the widow (cf. Lev. 23:22; Deut. 24:19). And here Ruth recognized an opportunity of staving off want for the next seven weeks. She could glean in the harvest field in the wake of the reapers. It was hard necessity for one nurtured as she had been, and Naomi would hardly have suggested it; but when Ruth proposed it she gave her consent.

The Kindness Of Boaz

Ruth, as it chanced under the ordering of God's providence, went to glean in the fields of Boaz, a rich man who was a near kinsman of Naomi's husband. "None disturb her, and no rural badinage is directed at her; she moves shyly by herself among the fields, as solitary as in her own home. In due time the great man whose land is being harvested comes down to greet the reapers; he notices the solitary gleaner, and is told who she is. Boaz at once steps up and speaks to the shrinking stranger, bidding her on no account to quit his fields, but remain among his maidens and refresh herself at his feasts. Boaz lets her know how he has heard of her loving care for her mother-in-law and her preference of Israel for Moab. Ruth's heart is full, for she had heard a word of kindness in the solitude of a strange land. So Boaz saw to it that Ruth's gleanings should be plentiful, and the industrious young woman had a bushel of grain to carry home to Naomi.

Ruth Marries oBaz. Chap. 4:13, 17

It was inevitable that love should spring up under such circumstances, and Ruth's love story, though the differing customs of the time and place make it seem strange to us, is very beautiful. It has the charm of a simple, pastoral life. It illustrates the feeling that "the family was more important than the individual, the clan than the family, the tribe than the clan," and that it is the duty and privelege of the individual to surrender himself to the larger interests." "Boaz would in any event have married Ruth in order ot perpetuate the line of his kinsman Elimelech; his love for the beautiful Moabitess made the task a joy."

Ruth An Ancestress Of Messiah Matt. 1:1, 5, 6

"No more is said of Ruth. She was only introduced into Scripture to make a link in the descent of the kings of Judah—in the descent of the distant Messiah. For her foreign extraction and the improbability of a worshiper of Chemosh becoming an ancestress of Messiah, and not for her gentle ways of love, and the charms which won the heart of Boaz, does she figure among the women of the Bible. But the hand of inspiration is opulent and delicate in its drawing; and introducing the tale of Ruth for another purpose, it draws the portrait of Ruth in this memorable way, to win the love of the ages, and to be the model for girls to imitate. Her grandson was Jesse, and Jesse was the father of David. Beautiful to us must be every strand of goodness and beauty which made the stock from which, according to the flesh, Jesus came."
—Rev. Robert F. Horton, D. D.

A World Brotherhood

Christ's descent from the Moabitess summons all Christians to a world brotherhood. We of all men should never look down on a foreigner or scorn those whose history, customs, and ideas are different from ours. We belong to the world religion and we have for own the World Redeemer. Human brotherhood is the corollary of the Divine Fatherhood.

Ruth's Pledge Of Devotion To Naomi. Vs. 16, 17

The sixteenth and seventeenth verses form one of the most beautiful, eloquent, and memorable passages in the Bible. It is a passage which in all ages has been peculiarly dear to lovers and to husbands and wives. It is charged with strong emotion and is rhythmical, being in the true language of poetry. Ruth said:

"Entreat me not to leave thee,
And to return from following after thee;
For whither thou goest, I will go;
And where thou lodgest, I will lodge;
Thy people shall be my people,
And thy God my God;
Where thou diest, will I die,
And there will I be buried:
Jehovah do so to me, and more also,
If aught but death part thee and me."

Peace Reigns As County Democrats Hold Convention Here On Saturday

ly, to serve throughout the coming two years.

Committees Chosen

Two committees, one for resolutions and the other to nominate the coming state convention at Galveston, were appointed by Mr. Warlick. They were composed of: Resolutions committee: T. J. Richardson, New Hope, chairman; L. O. Burford and J. B. Maxey, Lubbock. Delegates committee: J. K. Wester, Lubbock, chairman; W. M. Ross, Southwest ward, and C. T. Jackson, Lubbock.

The delegates committee submitted 29 names, all of which were accepted by the convention and from which 20 delegates will be commissioned to attend the state convention on September 8 and 9. Those named as delegates were:

Delegates Listed

W. H. Bledsoe, J. H. Hankins, M. T. Warlick, J. K. Wester, W. A. Jackson, C. C. Crenshaw, J. H. Goodman, W. O. Stevens, L. O. Burford, Douglas Pounds, Ab Humphries, L. A. Howard, Mrs. W. H. Bledsoe, Mrs. F. R. Friend, Miss Delia Wilkinson, Tom Garrard, Mrs. C. J. Atchison, Amos Howard, Jess Levens, C. T. Jackson, George Dupree, J. H. Brewer, R. J. Murray, W. R. Witson, W. L. Brashear, T. C. Calley, Jim Benton, G. M. Eubanks and W. A. Fincher.

The resolutions committee offered resolutions commending, as is the custom, the services of state and national representatives. Resolutions were offered and passed approving the official acts of Senators Morris Sheppard and Tom Connolly; Congressman Marvin Jones; State Senator Pink L. Parrish and newly elected Representative G. E. Lockhart.

Two Resolutions Beaten

Another resolution, proposed by James H. Goodman, was placed before the convention urging a return to the old convention system of selecting nominees in precincts, counties and the state. After considerable discussion, in which Mr. Goodman and J. H. Hankins spoke in favor of the measure; J. K. Wester spoke in explanation of it and E. B. Speck and Durwood Bradley spoke against it, the resolution was defeated by a vote of 13 to 5.

C. B. Powell, local independent lumber dealer, offered a resolution which had been previously approved by the resolutions committee. His resolution, upon which he spoke at length, urged the convention to go on record as approving state laws controlling monopolies and to improve the unemployment situation. The motion was defeated 4 to 0, the majority of the delegates refusing to vote one way or another.

Speck Explains Stand

E. B. Speck, who was conspicuous in his campaigning for Herbert Hoover as opposed to Alfred Smith in the last presidential campaign, took the floor to explain that he had voted for Hoover, the republican nominee, and that he felt the individual voter had the right to vote as his conscience dictated, rather than by the dictation of the now famous Democratic pledge. He said he had been a Democrat for 26 of his 28 voting years, casting a ballot for Hoover over Smith, and George Butte, over Mrs. Miriam Ferguson in the 1924 gubernatorial campaign, as his only exceptions.

Durwood H. Bradley spoke urging fealty to the party and support of the pledge, as did J. K. Wester, who in a fiery address touched on the candidacy of Governor Smith and explained the origin of Tammany hall. Mr. Wester maintained that Governor Smith's adherence to the Roman Catholic faith was the cause of Democrats bolting the ticket and urged that a man's religion in the future not be considered as either for or against his candidacy. He urged absolute loyalty to the party.

Warlick Makes Talk

Mr. Warlick, upon taking charge of the meeting, said that he had forgotten all inter-party troubles of two years ago and was taking his position with the state washed clean. He said he would support all the nominees of the Democratic party as long as he held office in the party and that when he could no longer vote the ticket straight he would resign.

The chairman asked the convention to give him an opinion upon support of the Democratic candidates. Upon motion of Barrett Penney, seconded by A. F. Hamm, it was resolved that the county convention urges the Democratic voters of Lubbock county to support all nominees of the coming primary through the general elections in November. The motion was carried, 28 to 1.

Members of the county executive committee, headed by J. K. Wester, held a session early Saturday afternoon and then resumed their deliberations following the close of the county-wide convention at 10 o'clock. They gave attention to official canvass of the last Saturday's primary elections, attending to no other business.

Sterling Favored

BEAUMONT, Tex., Aug. 2 (AP)—By a large majority the Jefferson county democratic convention indorsed the candidacy of R. S. Sterling for governor in regular session here this afternoon. Mild opposition to the move in the form of another motion to rable the Sterling motion was voted down.

Ferguson Scored

MARSHALL, Aug. 2 (AP)—A resolution unanimously condemning the past administration acts of former Governor James E. Ferguson, both as an individual and "as proxy for his wife," Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, candidate for governor, was adopted unanimously today by the Harrison county Democratic convention. The resolution indorsed R. S. Sterling for the nomination for governor.

Ma Supporters Bolt

FORT WORTH, Aug. 2 (AP)—Supporters of Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson runoff candidate for governor, bolted the county democratic convention shortly after it had opened today in seventeenth district court room and set in operation their own convention at the opposite end of the hall in ninety sixth court room. The regular convention unanimously endorsed R. S. Sterling for governor at its close.

The court room was packed with the convention opened and about 25 or 30 persons left it when the Ferguson bolt occurred. Later the Ferguson meeting was increased to over 100 persons.

"Good-bye Ku Kluxers," was a parting shot from the Fergusonians. To them those remaining in the convention retorted "you didn't have a vote any way."

Ferguson Forces Rule

TEMPLE, Aug. 2 (AP)—Partisans of Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson candidate for governor in the run-off, today steam-rollered the opposition in the Bell county democratic convention and elected Ferguson delegates to the state convention.

Pro-Ferguson and anti-Sterling resolutions were adopted. Mrs. Ferguson's character, platform and ability were praised and the delegation instructed in her behalf. Campaign expenditures of R. S. Sterling, her opponent in the run-off, were condemned, the resolutions stating that they were "reliably reported to be hundreds of thousands of dollars" and called on the authorities to look into violations of the law involved.

Sterling Indorsed

HOUSTON, Aug. 2 (AP) — Harris county democrats went on record here today in indorsement of the candidacy of Ross Sterling at a harmonious session of the county democratic convention.

At a session attended by nearly 1,000 persons a resolution praising Mr. Sterling and condemning Fergusonism was adopted almost without a dissenting vote. A motion by a Ferguson supporter to table the resolution was shouted down.

Against Bond Issue

SNYDER, Aug. 2 (AP)—The Scurry county Democratic convention today went on record against a state bond issue of any kind and favored a pay-as-you-go highway policy. Delegates elected to the state convention were J. H. Allen, Fritz R. Smith, Lee Stinson and J. T. Biggs.

Moody Forces Rule

AUSTIN, Aug. 2 (AP)—Supporters of Governor Dan Moody ruled the Travis county Democratic convention today, electing the governor and Mrs. Moody delegates to the state convention and Mrs. Jane Y. McCallum, secretary of state, chairman of the convention.

Mrs. McCallum, a known opponent of James E. Ferguson, whose wife, Miriam, was placed in the runoff campaign for governor, asserted in the keynote speech "the flag of battle is raised, the fight is on, and the time has come for us to line up a solid front." She mentioned no names of gubernatorial candidates.

The convention commended the administration of Governor Moody and "his gallant fight in the interest of efficient government and clean politics."

El Past for Sterling

EL PASO, Aug. 2. (AP)—The El Paso county Democratic convention today unanimously indorsed the candidacy of Ross Sterling for governor but agreed to back the party nominee regardless of who won in the August 23 run-off.

To Support Sterling

BROWNSVILLE, Aug. 2. (AP) — The Cameron county Democratic convention today went on record as supporting Ross S. Sterling for governor, Senators Morris Sheppard and Tom Connally and Representative John N. Garner.

MENCKEN ENGAGED

BALTIMORE, Aug. 2. (AP)—Announcement of the engagement of Miss Sara Powell Haardt, writer for popular magazines, to Henry L. Mencken of Baltimore, author, critic and editor of the American Mercury, was made today by Mrs. John Anton Haardt, of Montgomery, Ala., her mother.

POLICE GUARD CAPITOL

Communist Demonstrations in California Threaten

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Aug. 2. (AP)—Police guarded the capital today to prevent communist demonstrations while John MacDonald, Baltimore waiter, told Governor C. C. Young his original testimony in the Mooney-Billings bombing case at San Francisco was "all lies."

State guards and city police were placed around the building when it was reported a "number of communists" were en route from San Francisco.

No demonstrations occurred but all entrances but one were kept locked while MacDonald told the governor and the advisory pardon board in the senate chamber he had falsely identified Thomas J. Mooney and Warren K. Billings as the bombers of the 1916 San Francisco preparedness day parade.

CALLES IS MARRIED

Former President of Mexico Weds Senorita Llorente

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 2. (AP)—In the rustic setting of his Santa Barbara Hacienda, and with the simplest of ceremonies, General Plutarco Elias Calles, former president of Mexico, and "iron man" of her politics since, married Senorita Leonor Llorente at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Fewer than a dozen persons witnessed the brief ceremony, which was held on the screened-in porch of the hacienda while farm activities went on uninterrupted. Only two of the generals Calles, Fortunato Robinson and Alfredo Calles were present.

rect organization work of the Texas association until it is completed, which will be when the various districts of the state fulfill requirements allowing them to become independent units. Seven such districts are being set up, and in operation for the present season as sub-divisions of the Texas association, with expectation that they will be handling sufficient cotton to become independent units by next year. Some thirty branch offices will be operated in Texas with sub-offices and receiving stations grouped around each. Each of the branches now being built or business, the remainder being rented, as fast as cotton movement develops in their territory. They will be operated by the Texas Cotton Cooperative association with Mr. Westbrook maintaining supervision on behalf of the American association, which, with headquarters at New Orleans and S. P. Cobb as manager, makes advances for the Texas association of the eleven other cooperatives which are unit members of the American Cotton Cooperative association.

Organization work in Texas is reported as proceeding very successfully, with each district having reached or being expected to reach its assigned membership quota shortly. Local organization work will be taken over by the personnel of the branch offices, sub-offices and receiving agencies, and continued under Mr. Westbrook's direction, Mr. Moser said, with such added personnel as may be needed.

Largest Port Elevator in U. S. Is Open

Galveston Structure Capable of Handling 6,000,000 Bushels; Can Load Three Ships at One Time

(By Associated Press)

GALVESTON, Aug. 2.—The biggest port grain elevator in the United States was officially opened here today when the first car loads of wheat were unloaded into its bins.

The elevator has a storage capacity of 6,000,000 bushels and can load three ocean ships simultaneously. About 450 cars of wheat can be unloaded daily it was estimated.

Belief that export grain business from the southwest will grow in volume was expressed by George Sealy, president of the Galveston Wharf company. He said a formal celebration and opening will be held when the entire elevator is functioning in the fall. Governor of grain growing states, members of the railroad commission, railroad officials and others will be invited.

Largest Cargo for England to Be Loaded

GALVESTON, Aug. 2 (AP) — The largest wheat cargo to be lifted at the gulf in several seasons will be loaded by the British steamer Prumento, which arrived here to take 408,000 bushels for the United Kingdom. Grain loadings in July at Galveston amounted to 5,550,000 bushels and it was thought the August total would be about 11,000,000 bushels.

CONFER WITH LEGGE

Leaders of Cotton Movement Discuss Co-Op Plans

CHICAGO, Aug. 2 (AP)—Leaders of the southern cooperative cotton movement conferred today with Chairman Alexander Legge and members of the federal farm board, discussing problems confronting growers and price advances to be made on next year's crops.

No formal announcement was made concerning the nature of the discussions, which will be continued over the week end.

The meeting is the first of a series here at which the farm board officials will confer with livestock cooperative representatives, as well as officers of the grain cooperatives. The meetings are part of an itinerary that will take Legge in a wide swing through the grain and livestock growing regions.

DIRIGIBLE REPAIRED

Crew of R-100 Begin Patching Up Damaged Ship

ST. HUBERT AIRPORT, Que., Aug. 2. (AP)—Determining to make their own repairs without resorting to the use of the United States naval hangar at Lakehurst, N. J., the crew of the British dirigible R-100 today began the work of patching the air monarchs damaged fin.

Unable to use ladders because of the air currents which move the giant ship around despite her grounding cables and mast, a crew of the crew is faced with a most painstaking task. For a time officials considering taking the R-100 to Lakehurst where the hangar and equipment would facilitate the repair.

The work of lacing on the new piece of fabric over the huge rent will be comparatively easy but it is when the work of "doping" the new covering begins the task becomes dangerous. Men must be swung down over the dirigible to apply glue and paint to the patch.

Greece is buying more products from the United States than from any other country.

the right of way and it should have passed the train it struck at Stamps, 15 miles south of the scene of the wreck.

Division officials of the railroad said the train crew either misread or misunderstood the orders, as they were checked for accuracy after the wreck and were found to have been issued correctly from division headquarters.

A large number of persons attracted to the scene of the wreck hampered the work of railroad crews in untangling the huge mass of debris. Officials feared other bodies of "hoboes" might be found in the wreckage.

Gang Slaying

bullet into Zuta's body. While horrified dancers and swimmers watched, the five dispatched a volley of unnecessary but convincing lead into the gangster's prostrate form, and then, as cooly as they had entered, left.

Newberry Sought

Once more the police are seeking Ted Newberry, the erstwhile boss of Moran's whisky bureau, now an ally of Al Capone, who was reported to be in Chicago. They have been looking for Newberry since the first attempt to kill Zuta—and last night, they believe, he may have had the assistance of Capone marksmen.

Zuta was credited by police theorists with inspiring the assassination of Lingle, friends of Al Capone and former police commissioner Russell. Through Lingle's death there came about the retirement of Russell from the commissionership and the end of an alleged liasion between gang boss and police chief through a reporter, according to published reports.

Given Warning

CHICAGO, Aug. 2. (AP)—Last March, Jack Zuta sat in a plain wooden chair at the detective bureau and heard this warning from Capt. John Stege, then deputy police commissioner in charge of detectives:

"Fourteen men have sat in this chair, Jack, and heard me warn them to get out of town. They didn't go—and now all 14 are dead."

"I'm not worrying," was the answer of the Moran-Aiello gang's so-called "master mind."

A fifteenth nick was chipped out of the chair today. Gangland foes of Zuta stalked into a Delafield, Wis., resort last night and made Stege's prophecy come true.

YOUNG WOMAN HELD

'Voice' Which Lured Buckley to Death Is Sought

DETROIT, Aug. 2. (AP)—Police today continued to hold a young woman who, they say, knows the "voice" which lured Jerry Buckley to his death, and took another woman into custody for questioning.

Miss Marjorie Mansell, entertainer for radio station WMBC—independent station for which Buckley was the militant political commentator—was ordered held 48 hours more under the equivalent of $200,000 bond after hearing this morning before Judge Henry S. Sweeny in recorder's court on a writ of habeas corpus.

The latest woman to enter the case is Miss Ethel Erickson, said by police to have been with Buckley 24 hours before he was shot dead. She was taken into custody this morning and questioned most of the day.

Cotton Evening Up Marks Trading in Cotton Livestock Cattle Trading Has Nominal Appearanc Grain Lighter Offerings In Wheat Market

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 2 (AP) — The cotton market today was restricted largely to evening up for over the week-end in advance of the approaching government report. The market here opened 4 to 7 points up and continued to advance after the start owing to absence of rain in the drouth sections of the central and western belts until gains of 14 points were shown. Prices later eased off 13 to 14 points on a bearish view of the weather forecast for the coming week but rallied a couple of points at the end closing steady at net gains for the day of 3 to 4 points.

Despite the fact that Liverpool was closed first trades here showed gains of up to 7 points the market here continued to improve after the start until October traded up to 12.75 and December to 12.94, or 14 points above the previous close.

During the second hour of the short session prices eased off on a bearish view of the weekly weather forecast and prices made few lows at 12.62 for October and 12.80 for December, or 13 to 14 points from the highs. The market rallied a few points at the end on covering and October closed at 12.64 and December at 12.83, or 3 points net higher on those months for the day.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Aug. 2 (AP)—An early advance in cotton on a continuation of yesterday's buying on the southwestern crop situation and firmer technical position, was checked by week-end realizing today. After selling up to 12.78 at the opening, the new October contract reacted to 12.60 but steadied later on renewed covering and closed at 12.64. The general market closed steady at net advances of 3 to 7 points.

The opening was firm at an advance of 10 to 16 points on overnight buying orders and further covering, which appeared to reflect continued unfavorable weather in the southwest.

Rallies Shown

Closing quotations showed rallies of some 4 to 8 points from the lowest.

Up to the close of business today eight private condition reports had been issued with the condition ranging from 64.3 to 68.0 and averaging 66.6, compared with 71.1 the average of the same reports a month ago. Crop figures accompanying condition reports have showed a comparatively wide range, the minimum figure on indicated production being 13,412,000 and the maximum 15,004,000. The average of the five indicated crop figures issued is 14,348,000 bales.

Local Markets

These prices are furnished by the following Lubbock firms: Poultry—Lubbock Poultry and Egg company. Dairy Products—Bell Ice Creamy company and Mistletoe Creameries; Grain—S. E. Cone Grain and Seed company and Cotton—Blocker Cotton company. Prices subject to change during day.

REVOLT IN EVIDENCE

Sterling To Get Support From Mayfield Forces

BEAUMONT, Aug. 2 (AP)—A Revolt in the ranks of Jefferson county supporters of Earle B. Mayfield was in evidence here today when J. B. Norris, United States commissioner and chairman of the Mayfield committee in this county, announced that members of the committee had pledged their support to R. S. Sterling, regardless of the way Mayfield may vote.

CAR, GARAGE DESTROYED

LOCKNEY, Aug. 2. (Special)—The garage and car of Jim Downs were destroyed by fire of unknown origin. A truck belonging to Jim Beal also was damaged. The garage is a total loss. Insurance is said to be insufficient to cover the losses.

Record Saturday Low Established In Stock Market Trading; Trend Upward

By JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—The meandering stock market managed to muster enough energy to keep going today, but speculative enthusiasm was at such a low discount that trading established a record Saturday low. Sales amounted to 386,000 shares, or less than the volume for a normal half hour, against 358,700 shares May 8, 1926.

The trend, such as it was, was upward. The few speculators for the rise who had not gone out of the city for the week-end professed to find encouragement in the recent dullness, contending that the apathy, especially when viewed in the light of the enormous shrinkage in brokers loans since early in the year, indicated stocks were strongly held.

Firm Tone Prompted

The market's firm tone prompted week-end covering in the utilities. American telephone rallied more than a point, although it held only a small fraction of its gain. Consolidated Gas closed more than 2 points higher and Standard Gas & Electric and North American moved up one. Radio, General Electric, U. S. Steel, Vanadium, National Biscuit, Westinghouse Electric, Eastman Kodak and American Can improved about a point. Union Pacific, which was not traded Friday, rallied nearly 5 from Thursday's close. Ingersoll Rand and Auburn Auto rose 4 and 3, respectively.

Wheat Lower

Wheat futures closed half a cent lower. Corn finished steady and fractionally higher, while cotton encountered realizing on an early upturn. Final quotations were 3 to 7 points net higher.

Foreign exchanges were mildly irregular. There was a small decline in sterling, but the German mark continued firm.

Naval Combine Is Discussed

Roosevelt, International And Other Interests May Be Merged Into Largest Under American Flag

By Associated Press

NEW YORK, Aug. 2 (AP)—Conversations between the Roosevelt Steamship company, the International Mercantile Marine company and other interests have been held regarding a consolidation of the two lines, Kermit Roosevelt said today, but no conclusion has been reached.

The combination would create the largest steamship company operating under the American flag.

Nothing definite

Commenting on reports that the merger had been effected, Mr Roosevelt, son of the late president and head of the Roosevelt line, said, "nothing of a definite nature has been decided upon."

Mr Roosevelt declined to say who participated with the two steamship lines in the preliminary negotiations. Reports in shipping circles were that the Pennsylvania railroad and the Baltimore and Ohio were to figure prominently in the affair of the new company.

To Be Vice-President

The reports said that Mr. Roosevelt would become a vice-president of the new organization and P. A. S. Franklin, president of international Mercantile marine, president.

A fleet of 46 vessels having a combined gross tonnage of 427,000 is operated in five lines by the International which was founded by the late J. P. Morgan. Two of the liners, the Panama Pacific and the Atlantic Transport are under American registry. The Atlantic Transport Ltd., the Red Star and the Leyland Lines are under foreign flags. The Roosevelt line has a fleet of 24 motorships operating between American ports and the far east.

Plans to dispose of the foreign lines and concentrate on the development of the American merchant marine are understood in marine circles to be part of the reorganization.

COMPLEXION CHARGE IRES

Do men have better complexions than women, even if the fair sex uses cosmetics? That is the question being asked by many women of Britain following the surprise they received when Dr. M. B. MacKenna, honorary dematologist of Liverpool Stanley Hospital, in a recent number of the British Medical Journal, sounded a warning against the use of certain cosmetics. He said: "The present trend of fashion seems to be that a woman considers she is looking her best if her skin is covered with a translucent layer of greasy substances. If the teachers in girls boarding-schools would prohibit the use of cosmetics we would be able to produce a race of women whose complexions were as good as those of men, but at present the possibility of this eventuality seems very remote."

The United States has 78 per cent of all the passenger automobiles registered in the world and 62 per cent of all commercial vehicles.

Livestock

FORT WORTH LIVESTOCK

FORT WORTH, Aug. 2 (AP)—U. S. D. A.)—No carlot receipts of cattle or calves were counted into the market at Fort Worth Saturday and the trade presented a nominal appearance.

California buyers have been furnishing a fair outlet for the better grades of cake fed steers, most of which have been selling around 6.85 @ 7.25. Friday's business included a two car shipment of 1,065 pound cake-feds at 7.40, the week's top. Fed steers of medium grades have been selling in the 6.00 range.

Few Fat Yearlings

Not many good fat yearlings have been received, although a few sales of good to choice grades have been reported from 9.50 @ 10.00. Desirable light weight yearlings, usually sorts on the heavy calf order, have been selling around 8.00 and butcher heifers ranged downward from around 6.50. Fat cows, good enough to sell above 4.75, continue very scarce in Fort Worth receipts. Most of the butcher grades have been moving around 3.75 @ 4.25 and prices for low cutters range from 2.25 @ 3.00.

Good heavy stock steer calves sold at a quotably steady price of 7.00. Fat calves have been reported on most days around or above 7.00.

Truck hogs moved at quotably steady prices, one lot of fairly good butchers bringing 8.90. Some packing sows at 6.75 and a few good feeder pigs at 6.25 were quotably steady.

Offerings of lambs have been limited to two or three decks in the rail section that sold at 6.75 and rather short supplies of fat lambs in the truck division, reported mostly around 6.00 @ 6.50.

MIDWESTERN LIVESTOCK

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 2 (AP)—U. S. D. A.)—Cattle trade around the eleven market circuit this week was very uneven, killing classes at several points were substantially higher. Chicago with a very short supply reported upturns of 50 cents to 1.00. Packers however, at markets having anything like normal runs were able to shade values on some classes as much as 25 cents. Western grass steers for the most part were little changed, eastern dressed beef markets showed considerable improvement but are in no shape to take care of any liberal supplies. Corn belt areas are badly in ned of a general rain and any expansion in the movement of stocker and feeder steers would probably be followed by lower prices. Receipts totalled around 141,300.

Hogs Higher

Hogs are 10 to 30 cents higher than last Saturday but somewhat lower than the high spot on Wednesday. Chicago had a late top of 9.65. Offerings were around 353,400.

Fat lambs after taking a price jolt of 50 cents to 1.00 early in the week staged a recovery and are steady to 25 cents lower than a week ago. Fat ewes are uneven, steady to 25 cents higher. The supply approximated 241,900.

FRIONA BANK SOLD

FRIONA, Aug. 2. (Special)—Sale of the Friona State bank to Bruce McLean and Esther Noble, of Dimmitt, and associates, is announced here. Mr. McLean is president and Mr. Noble, active vice president. Jess Osborn, former cashier, remains as assistant cashier.

Grain

FORT WORTH GRAIN

FORT TWORTH, Aug. 2 (AP)—Still lighter offerings characterized the wheat market at Fort Worth as the week closed and demand continued good with sales rather small. Exporters were bidding 89 1-2 @ 90 for ordinary export wheat. Mill bids ranged 90 to 90 1-2, basis ordinary No. 1 hard delivered Texas common points, high protein wheat premiums were problimentical.

Other grains reflected like conditions with prices nominal and demand and offering light.

Estimated receipts: wheat, 76 cars; corn, 2; oats, 1.

Bids and offers on coarse grains ranged nominally as follows, basis carloads delivered Texas common points, freight paid:

Corn, No. 2 mixed 1.00 1-2 @ 1.01 1-2; No. 2 white 1.06 1-2 @ 1.07; No. 2 yellow 1.05 1-2 @ 1.06 1-2.

Oats, No. 2 red 46 @ 47.

Barley, No. 2, nominally, 57 @ 58.

Sorghums, No. 2 milo per 100 pounds 1.63 @ 1.65; No. 2 kaffir 1.53 @ 1.55.

Dealers also quoted as follows, basis delivered Texas group one points: No. 2 mixed corn 99 @ 1.00; No. 2 white corn 1.05 @ 1.06; No. 2 yellow 1.04 @ 1.05; No. 3 white oats 45 @ 46, to which add one cent for delivery Texas group three.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Aug. 2 (AP)—Both corn and wheat shattered price records today, but did so in exactly opposite directions. Corn smashed through the previous top figures for the present season, whereas wheat dived under bottom levels not heretofore touched in many years.

Forecasts indicated that drought damaging the corn crop would remain generally unbroken next week, and on the other hand that there would be a liberal increase of the United States visible wheat supply total on Monday.

Quotations Irregular

Closing quotations on corn were irregular, varying from 3-4c decline to 1 3-8c advance compared with yesterday's finish. Wheat closed unsettled, 3-8 to 3-4c net lower, oats 1-8 to 3-8c off, and provisions showing 17 to 45c gain.

Extreme nevrousness showed itself throughout the day in the corn market and in the wheat pit as well. Reports that rains had fallen at various points in Iowa, the state which most often as a corn producer leads all others, did much to bring about a temporary rush to sell corn and to start wheat into sympathetic weakness.

Information Given On Precinct Lines

Some confusion has been occasioned in the minds of voters as to who can cast votes for the offices of justices of the peace, precinct 1, place 1 and 2.

At the primary election last Saturday a noticable falling off of votes in these two races was noted.

Announcement was made Saturday to clear the confusion that voters in all six boxes in the city of Lubbock, Precincts 1, 2, 3, 4, 27 and 28, together with voters in the Canyon box, may cast their votes in this race.

Hester's Report Says Crop Short

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 2. (AP)—The commercial cotton crop for the season just ended was placed at 14,513,672 bales, a decrease of 1,271,684 bales from last year, Secretary H. G. Hester of the New Orleans Cotton Exchange announces. He made the carryover at the end of the season, including linters, 6,344,000 bales compared with 4,679,000 last year and world's consumption 14,927,000 bales compared with 16,309,000 last year.

LEGION BUYS LOTS

DIMMITT, Aug. 2 (Special)—The Castro County post of the American Legion has voted to purchase a lot or two near the business section for the location of a new home. J. C. Stringer, Bob Allen and Pete Duree are the committee named to investigate a location.

Four Murder Cases Are On Term Docket

Lovington Court Will Be Busy In Next Term With Criminal Cases; Civil Cases Flood Docket Too

BY J. SAM LEWIS
Staff Correspondent

LOVINGTON, N. M., Aug. —Four murder cases, all from the Hobbs oil field, are on the docket for the next term of district court for Lea county, which is to convene in the court house at Lovington on September 8, W. M. Beauchamp, court clerk, said today.

Besides the murder cases, the criminal docket will be large, probably the largest in the history of the county, Mr. Beauchamp went on.

Crime On Increase

"Criminal business in this county has increased a great deal since the oil field came in," he said. In fact, all our work here has grown.

"Since the 7th of January this year there have been filed in this court, 121 civil cases. This is in addition to the criminal docket for this term."

Richardson To Preside

Judge G. A. Richardson of Roswell is the district judge. He will preside over the next term of court.

J. G. Osborn, also of Roswell, is district attorney in charge of the prosecution of criminal cases.

A record attendance is expected to be had during the next term of district court, both civil and criminal. Civil cases will for the most part involve property rights in the oil field areas.

'Ashes To Ashes, Dust To Dust' City's Slogan At Incinerator, Officials Say

Lubbock's Refuse Is Handled At Slight Cost to City

If the little pig doesn't go to market, he probably goes to the incinerator, if he lives within the city of Lubbock. The swift execution of the "ashes to ashes, dust to dust" policy is for sanitation's sake.

Although the incinerator is not used to consume all refuse removed by employes of the city health department, carcasses of four or five head of livestock and 50 or 60 domestic pets are cremated in it each month.

Two Operate Plant

The estimate is that of L. W. Maynard, who assists his father, R. D. Maynard, in operating the incinerator and managing disposal of junk and refuse in the city dumping grounds, upon which the incinerator is located.

Constructed by the city in 1925 at a cost of $21,818, the incinerator has a daily capacity of 10 tons. Boxes, cardboard and similar inflammable materials are used, at present, to fire the incinerator and sole remuneration to the Maynards is that which they receive by salvaging metals, automobile parts and other articles from the junk brought to the dump yards, City Manager J. Bryan Miller said.

Operation Cost Low

There is virtually no cost of operation. However, there is a possibility that a proposal to burn all refuse in the incinerator will be introdueed, city officials said, and indicated that altering of the present incinerator would be necessary if the consumption were increased to that extent.

Carcasses are dropped into a single chamber over one burner and are reduced to ashes, which drop through huge grates and later are scattered on the slopes of the dumping grounds. The chamber is about 16 feet wide and 18 feet long, made of brick and concrete and lined with steel. A smoke stack extends from one side of the chamber and emerges from the ground, separate from the brick structure over the crematory, extending about 40 feet into the air.

Cost Is Negligible

Each year the city disposes of 3,000 tons or 15,000 cubic yards of trash, on the basis of a ton per wagon load, at a total annual cost of about $6,000, City Manager Miller said. The cost last fiscal year was $5,977.55.

Average cost for collection and disposal of refuse and disposal of refuse is about $2 a ton or 40 cents a cubic yard. Most of the trash is burned out-of-doors.

Four units are employed to collect the trash, one being assigned to the business section and three to residential districts. Two men are employed in the business district and the other units are composed of one man each. In busy periods, an additional unit is used. Capacity of the wagons used is about five cubic yards.

Longest Haul Four Miles

The longest haul made by a trash wagon is from University Place to the dump grounds, a distance approximating four miles.

Although carcasses of dead pets are taken to the incinerator by the city wagons, owners of stock are required to have the bodies brought to the burner. A minimum charge of 50 cents and a maximum of $3 is made by the city for the disposal of carcasses, the rate being 50 cents per 100-weight.

Although frankly not satisfied with the incinerator as operated under the present scheme, city officials have disclosed no developments in the movement to adjust the condition. Such a movement is underway, however, they indicated.

Improvement Of Herds In Hale Shown

Several Specific Instances Of Progress Cited By R. M. Milhollin; Masterman Stock Doing Good

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

PLAINVIEW, Aug. 2—After several years of experience with bull circles, established for the purpose of increasing the quality and production of dairy cows in this county and section, Hale county farmers are able to tell of actual results obtained, and County Agent R. M. Milhollin has called attention to several specific instances of dairy herd improvement, and production increase as a result of the Hale County Masterman Bull Circle which has been in operation for the past three years.

"Although every precaution is used in selecting bulls for the bull circles," Milhollin says, "Their value is not established until the daughters of the bulls come into production. Necessarily then the first daughter of these bulls are checked for production and a value of the bul circle is determined. The owners of the Hale County Masterman Bull Circle are well pleased with with the results, the good increase in production, of daughter over dam, and the exceedingly high production with good dairy type.

Oxford Eva Outstanding

"One of the outstanding daughters of the circle is the first daughter in milk of Oxford Eva's Masterman 273412. This heifer, Natalie's Beauty, was only nineteen months old when she freshened, but was put on official test by her owner, H. A. Brotherton. In May, the first full month of test, she made fifty-five pounds of fat, and in June, fifty-eight pounds. Mr. Brotherton in commenting on the heifer says, 'she is much superior in type, milks six pounds a day more, and tests equally as high in butterfat as her dam.'

"The first daughter in milk by Blue Girl's Masterman 273411 owned by M. P. Cornett of Plainview shows extreme dairy temperament, and although only seventeen months old she has milked as high as 34.6 pounds of milk a day with an average of well above thirty pounds. Mr. Cornett tests all the herd the year round, but does not own the dam of this heifer. However, he knows the dam and is sure that the heifer is very superior. Blue Girl's Masterman has been first in her class for two years at the Texas Panhandle-Plains Dairy Show at Plainview.

"Pet's Masterman Dawish 271202 has proven his ability to transmit type and quality in his offspring. His heifer, Dawish Mary Ann 859717 placed third in the Junior Heifer Class at the Texas Panhandle-Plains Dairy Show with thirty-eight entries.

"The fourth bull of the circle, Butterfly's Masterman 274402 only has one daughter in milk, however, J. P. Cumby says she is doing thirty pounds of milk a day, and is one of the best heifers he has owned. With the first heifer as a sample of the possibilities of the four bulls of this circle, these bulls will surely leave their mark of good Jerseys in Hale county.

Church To Erect Tabernacle Soon

Erection of a tabernacle with dimensions 44 by 84 feet is underway adjacent to the Asbury Methodist church. The building will be used to hold a series of revival services which begin Sunday, August 10, with the Rev. D. B. Doak, pastor of the First Methodist church in Plainview, in charge.

After the revival the tabernacle will be walled and converted into Sunday school rooms, according to the Rev. G. P. McCollom, pastor of the church.

Local Folk Leave On Vacations As August Is Begun

Various Camps Hold Interest For Folk Here

J. D. Carroll Named President Of Post Encampment For Coming Year; Other Meets Are Planned

WITH the Post Baptist Encampment being brought to a close today, a Methodist leaguers rally being held last Friday and Saturday in Meadow, an annual Baptist Panhandle encampment planned for August 4-10, and the program announced for the Cumberland Presbyterian encampment in Decatur, August 25-31, the interest of local church workers continues to center around religious assemblies.

Among those going to Meadow from First Methodist church were Misses Cleo Garrison, Lucille Hailey, Eva May, Dollie Clements, Ruth Love, Lizzie Bell Clements, Messrs. Bennett Cole, Garland Newsome, and Clarence Whiteside.

Asbury Methodist church was represented by Misses Addie Belle Fort, Lucille Lilljdahl, and Bonnie Mills, Messrs. Alvin Blanton, Coy McCullough, Thaddeus Thomas, Stewart Roma Geuze, Rev. G. P. McCollom and Mr. and Mrs. Vernon McCullough.

To Teach Book

Mrs. D. J. Wilhelm is leaving Monday to attend the annual Baptist Panhandle encampment which is to be held at Ceta Canyon August 4-10. She is to teach the W. M. U. book "Prayer and Missions."

The encampment will embrace both study and recreational features.

Twice daily Dr. W. T. Meroney, of Waco, will make an inspirational address before the assembly, and other encampment leaders include the following.

Sunday school work, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Allen, Dallas; Rev. Joe Wilson, Hale Center; Dr. M. T. Tucker, Claude; B. Y. P. U. work, J. D. Riddle, Amarillo; Rev. P. D. O'Brien, Floydada; Dr. A. G. Gross, Amarillo; R. E. Bost, Amarillo; Mrs. P. E. Hand, Amarillo; W. M. U. work, Mrs. D. J. Wilhelm; Daily Vacation Bible school, Rev. and Mrs. I. J. Gregory, of Miami.

J. D. Riddle will be musical director, and an orchestra is to be organized by Mrs. C. B. Brooks, of Groom. Dr. O. W. McDonald, president of Wayland college, will conduct a rally in interest of the college.

Decatur Camp

Several members of the Cumberland Presbyterian church are planning to attend the Encampment of Texas Synod of the church which will be held at Joe Wheeler park in Decatur August 25-31.

Rev. Thomas H. Campbell of this city is secretary-treasurer of the encampment board and the Rev. O. N. Baucom, pastor of the local church, is on the publicity committee. The Rev. Clark Williamson, general secretary of young people's work, is dean of the faculty.

On the morning of August 25 an address of welcome will be made by S. M. Ward, mayor of Decatur, with response by the Rev. Baucom.

Intermediate Work

Intermediate work will be directed by Rev. and Mrs. Baucom. Each group will have a period of worship and Bible stories, hand work, nature study, stories and games.

"Joe Wheeler park is an excellent camping ground furnished with electric lights, water and other conveniences. Arrangements have been made for about 25 tents which will be on the grounds ready for occupancy.

Smart Togs That Make For Coolness

BY BETSY SCUYLER
NEA Service Writer

SOUTHAMPTON, N. Y., Aug. 2—There is a nice lazy note about this spa right now, with hot weather styles appearing daytimes at the Southampton Beach Club, wide brimmed straw hats that really keep off the sun, sleeveless frocks, many of them cottons and linens, and bathing suits and beach outfits of wide variety.

Margaret Tiers wore a pajama suit with a modified wind-break one coolish day that was of striped, knitted fabric, cut with a bosom front of white silk. The wide trousers were white.

Dorothea Kavanaugh is one who wears big hats with a real flair. She had on a white peanut panama one day with a little linen sports suit with frilled collar. Cool, immaculate, charming!

Bathing suits are extremely varied, one-piece, two-piece, ensembles with as many as five parts all appear. Mrs. Robert I. Powell dips in a jaunty suit with shorts and bolero jacket over a white jersey top, with all the edges scalloped. Mrs. William de Rham looked stunning one day in a beautifully fitted white suit. Mildred Meagher has a chic suit with a yoke effect of white setting off the rich blue of the rest. She wears a long white cloak of terry cloth over it, white cap and shoes.

Brown and white sports shoes are the favorites for marching over miles of golf links. I have seen many white ones, some black and white or novelty colored ones, but the trim brown and white oxford is the accepted mode. Mrs. Fenton Taylor wears them with many of her spectator sports things too, such as a sweet rose beige one piece frock and coat, and another pastel colored frock.

Sleeves or no sleeves, that is not the question it was before it go so hot. Most of the girls just forget Dame Fashion and wear their frocks without. Mildred Lee is one who likes very short, straight little sleeves, and has them in most of her morning and sports frocks, usually a stylish little wash silk or plain colored crepe, often with matching jacket over one arm, and hat either in the hand or left behind.

Sun-tan beads with white frocks are good. On Mrs. Raymond Schweitzer they are excellent. She is wearing her sports frocks much longer than many, they hit her at the Paris length, below mid-calf.

Something new in collars was sponsored by Natalie Convert in a soft pink crepe frock, a cowl collar that ended in an all-around frill at its lower edge, making a kind of new bertha effect. Her skirt was finished in a six-inch ruffle just like the frill around the shoulders. Belted snugly at the waistline, it had an original quaint flavor, very feminine. Louise Coburn, who goes around with her often, has a way of wearing the tuck-in blouse and skirt combination with great distinction. It's her lithe figure, really, for you can say all you please about new styles being easier on the stouter ladies, it's the slim, well-built ones that carry off the honors.

MRS. E. R. HARRIMAN —in one-piece frock.

MRS. C. F. GORDON— with bows for decoration.

MRS. G. I. FLEITMANN —in greens and browns

Returning Parisian visitors report that Paris is going in for pink weddings, and mighty pretty they are, too. Evelyn MacDonald, whose marriage to Norman G. Tyson was one of the social events at the British Embassy Church in Paris, not only foreswears the classic ideas in having her entire wedding pink, bridesmaids, maid of honor, her own gown and veil, but in addition tempted fate by wearing opals set in diamonds— shades of our superstitious grandmothers —opals being her birthstone.

It is quite the vogue this year for Southamptonites to motor or fly about more than in other seasons, polo games at Sands Points, bridge over at Newport and so on.

Mrs. E. Roland Harriman drives in one-piece frocks, often wearing pastel colored sheer straw hats, with medium brims to match in color. Mrs. C. Pellowes Gordon is another who is most successful in her color ensembles. She wore a sweet frock with scalloped yoke effects and bows for decorations and one-strap sandals, gloves, and hat match perfectly.

Of course, prints still are in the run. Especially for afternoon affairs. Mrs. Henry T. Fleitman has a charming woodsy print, in greens and browns, that has sweet sleeves and neckline and an overskirt with longer sides than the front and back.

Misses Anna Cecil, Marion Evans Are Honored At Pretty Bridge Party Here Saturday

Games Are Played In Artistically Decorated Rooms Of A. W. Evans Home; Refreshments Served At Close Of Playing To Thirty-Nine Young Women

Mrs. A. W. Evans was hostesses at bridge Saturday afternoon to compliment her daughters, Misses Anna Cecil and Marion Evans. The rooms of the Evans home, 2307 16th street, were artistically decorated in a variety of cut flowers for the occasion, with yellow being chosen as the predominating color.

Orange punch was served during the games, and at the close of the afternoon a lovely ice course with angel food squares was passed.

Series Of Lovely Events Being Held Honoring Beauties

Perhaps the gayest whirl of social functions in Texas this week-end is in progress at Galveston where beauties the world over are competing in the International Pageant of Pulchritude for the title of "Miss Universe."

Saturday morning the first official panorama photograph of the girls was made, and at 12:30 p. m. the beauties were guests of the Kiwanis club at a luncheon given at the Buccaneer hotel. After luncheon, the keys of the city were to be presented by the mayor, and at 5 o'clock the float parade, with the beauty entries in sport costume, was to be held in Menard park. A ball at the Galvez hotel was scheduled to close the first day's activites.

Cohen, jr., will give a luncheon at their home honoring the girls, newspapermen, mothers and officials. At 8 o'clock at the City auditorium the selection of "Miss America" will be made.

The entertainment program for Tuesday includes a luncheon aboard the Steamship Galvez for beauties, their mothers and officials and most important of all, the selection of "Miss Universe," as the world's most beautiful woman.

Building Respect For Property Rights Shown As Important Aim Of Local Schools

Superintendent M. H. Duncan Tells How Children May Be Made To Respect Such Rights

Environment, Teaching And Habit All Play Part, Says Lubbock Educator; States Sacrifices Necessary

BUILDING respect for public and private property rights is one important phase of the work of the Lubbock public schools in making for good citizenship, according to M. H. Duncan, superintendent, and it is the aim of the school to have the child practice this respect in every phase of his school life.

"The teacher should remember," said Mr. Duncan, "that the child becomes a citizen just as soon as he is born and it should be the aim of those who have charge of his training to place him in an environment where the practicing of the things necessary to good citizenship will be a pleasure to him. The child should live every day in an environment conductive to his practicing with satisfaction the skills ideals, attitudes and interests necessary for good citizenship. It must be remembered that the child becomes a good citizen not by being told to do this or that by parents or teachers, or by reading about good citizenship, but by always practicing good citizenship. The school is the child's world in miniature during his school hours, and the atmosphere of the school should be such as to make it easy for him to practice every day the things necessary to a wholesome life.

Must Sacrifice

"The child must learn from the environment of the school and from his everyday life that other people have rights just as he has and that frequently he must sacrifice his own wishes for the good of others. The atmosphere of the schools must be such as to build in the child a consciousness of his membership in the several groups to which he belongs and the necessity of his frequently subordinating his own welfare to the good of the group as a whole.

Aim Is Good Citizenship

"The aim of the teacher is good citizenship. Among other elements, good citizenship includes honesty, dependableness, co-operation, unselfishness and knowledge.

"It is a good plan for the teacher to write these terms on the board and, with the help of the members of the group, to study their meaning, devoting one period per day or one period per week to each, as the situation may demand. With the help of the class she will write on the board all words that help explain the meaning of these terms and show how the life of the pupil should be directed by that for which they stand. She will make clear what each one of the terms includes in all the child's relationships. She will show especially how each is related to public and private property rights, and show the hopeless condition in which the word would be without respect for these rights.

"The teacher should make it clear that good things we have did not come to us in a day and that they cannot be taken from us in a day. She should have the pupil study life among uncivilized tribes, and show how their condition is due to their failure to respect property rights.

The Law of Conduct

"A child, even before he starts to school, should be taught that school property belongs to the state and that he has a right to use it only as he uses it in the right way. The following rule is a good one for the child to observe. I shall be guilty of no line of conduct unless all may practice the same without the impairing or tending to impair the usefulness of the school.

"Then, the teacher must everywhere practice a rigid respect for public and private property rights, for her example will mean a thousand times more than her words.

Good Citizenship Club

"The next step in building the right kind of ideals, attitudes and interests with reference to property rights is to make use of that which as already been built up in the children. One plan is to organize a 'Good Citizenship' club for the purpose of caring for property rights, both public and private. With the teacher's help the pupils may draw up a constitution for the club and make one of the main points the protection of property rights.

"It is impossible to protect property rights in school by a rule imposed from without. The only way is to build public opinion that will lead the group to take this matter into their own hands.

Teaching A Factor

"School environment and teaching also are important factors in developing a respect for property rights. This teaching should not be isolated but should be emphasized in the different classes and subjects as occasion may arise.

"The child really knows only that which he works out for himself. If he can follow a line of investigation and find that stealing is wrong it will mean much more than if some one tells him it is wrong. He should be given problems relating to property rights, and their solution will mean a hundred times more to him than the solution of a like number of problems in algebra, geometry or any other subject.

Boy Scouts of America

"Perhaps one of the greatest organizations in the country for building character is the Boy Scouts. There are certain ideals of honesty that the movement seeks to build in every boy who becomes a scout.

"Let the pupil take the following standards of Boy Scouts and show that a disregard for property rights tends to destroy each one: trustworthiness, loyalty, helpfulness, friendliness, courtesy, kindness, obedience, cheerfulness, thriftiness, bravery, cleanliness and reverence.

"The study of the lives of great men will mean much in such teaching.

Honesty Test

"The teacher will, from time to time, seek to find out the pupil's attitude towards property rights. In the upper grades it is not a good idea to submit all the questions at one time for in such a way more than likely the real attitude of the pupil will not be found. The young teacher in the lower grades would not fail in the majority of cases what he really thinks.

"Perhaps the book that did more than any other to build correct ideals in the minds and lives of the people of the past generation was Wallace's Ben-Hur. Philosophy, President Wayland says it is a truly a violation of property rights to take little as it take much to turn a book or a penny as to steal money to steal fruit as to steal a horse to defraud the revenue or the tax collector as to rob a neighbor to overcharge the public as to overcharge my brother, to cheat the postoffice as to cheat my friends, and again 'The right of property of another can be acquired only by his own voluntary choice,' taking property without the knowledge of the owner is theft, and we do not vary the nature of the act by persuading ourselves that the owner would not care about it, or that he would not know it.'

Practical Application

"Let the pupil study the implications of the above. What does it have to do with taking leaves from another's tablet without permission? With borrowing another's fountain pen without his consent? With taking a book from the library without permission? With copying from another's notebook? Would copying from another's notebook be all right even with the owner's permission? Who else besides the owner is involved?"

Although Egypt has had a business depression, automobile sales this year have been about normal.

Old Shoes' Thud Still Sounds Good To Modern Brides

BY SUE McNAMARA

(Associated Press Staff Writer)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2 — Wedding superstitions are as strong today as in the time of the covered wagon. Gowns may come from Paris but Washington brides avoid donning their veils before the ceremony just as their grandmothers did.

Though she whirls to the church with a police escort to clear the way and to keep back the curious mob, the daughter of a wealthy man or prominent statesman secretly welcomes the thud of a worn old shoe, omen of good luck, against her car.

Is Rare Exception

Alice Huston, daughter of Claudius Huston, chairman of the Republican national committee, was a rare exception to the rule. She went through rehearsal and allowed photographers to take her picture the day before her wedding fully arrayed in bridal finery from veil to slippers.

The old superstition is so strong with most brides that they try the effect of the veil on some girl friend, then slip it on themselves just before the ceremony.

Another Recent Bride

Marjorie Mondell, another recent bride of prominence, clung to the old belief and wore her wedding dress and veil for the first time as she went up the aisle. Cameramen waited until after the ceremony and rehearsal was conducted with the bride in an old dress.

The modern bridal gown is the one notable exception in the unchanging wedding customs. The bride of today often wears a colored wedding gown instead of the traditional white.

Informal Frock

BY MME. LISBETH

For informal dancing there is nothing more alluring than a colorful printed chiffon frock.

The one pictured, worn by Dorothy Jordan of the screen, is made in the latest slendering manner with a velvet sash that brings out one of the tones of the print.

Printed chiffon is enjoying its greatest popularity in many versions. It is cool and easily packed in vacation wardrobes. A heathen-like array of prints confronts milady when she shops for the more formal afternoon and evening dresses.

Local Girl Tells Of Activities At Camp In Michigan

Miss Claryce Adcock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Adcock, 2601 19th street, who is attending the National High School Orchestra and Band camp at Interlochen, Michigan, has written friends telling of her experiences since she has been in camp and of the daily routine there.

According to Miss Adcock every state in the United States is represented, as well as Alaska and Hawaii, with 114 girls and 184 boys enrolled.

Five From Texas

The camp is situated on Lake Wabekanetta with 9 girls' cottages and 14 cottages for boys. There are five representatives from the state of Texas.

Everyone rises at 7 o'clock in the morning and breakfast follows at 7:30 o'clock. Setting up exercises and a dip in the lake are taken prior to breakfast and afterwards the cottages are cleaned.

Miss Adcock is studying violin, sight reading and taking choir, orchestra and choir sectional rehearsals. Spare moments are spent in swimming, rowing, playing tennis, archery and hiking.

All of the students are asked to be in camp at 9 o'clock and at 10 o'clock taps are blown and every light turned out.

Sousa Is Conductor

During the first week of camp Henri Verbrugghen, of the Minneapolis Symphony directed the broadcast and last week Commander John Philip Sousa was the guest conductor.

Traverse City is the nearest town to the camp, a distance of 14 miles. Permission is granted for the girls to go with their councellors and this they usually do on Monday afternoons since they are free from classes then.

Fur And Velvet Will Keep Milady Snug And Smart And Slender In Fall

BY BARBARA BEAUFORT

(Associated Press Fashion Editor)

PARIS, Aug. 2.—While the people who wear the styles are bathing in the surf at Deauville and the Lido, the people who make the styles are locked into their workrooms perspiring over the autumn collections.

Chiffon and linen are done for this year so far as dressmaker designers are concerned.

Their creative minds revolve about velvets and furs and how to keep silhouettes slender and still keep women warm.

Before society set forth for the seashore, the mountains and the country, it uttered a few famous last words in style form at affairs of the big week or grande semaine of the Paris season.

Black and White

Most of the last words were set forth in black and white for Paris has never had each a furore of black and white as this year. The vogue is to continue into the winter, many people think.

Ermine has been the fur of the season here but silver fox is going to be just as important next winter, judging from smart women's recent fur investments.

Fox neckpieces are being worn in double and triple pelts. They do duty on collarless afternoon and evening coats as well as taking the place of wraps with summer dresses.

Informal Games Played By Group

Complimenting her granddaughter, Martha Jane Sellen, of Kansas City, Mrs. Claude G. Tatum entertained a group of children at her home, 1718 Avenue N, recently.

As the little guests arrived they were presented balloons and following an hour of games and contests on the lawn, they were served Dixie cups, cake and ice, white and lavender in color.

Those attending were Dandridge and Jacqueline Long, Henrietta Beall, Betty and Charlotte Mc-Spadden, Shirley Shepard, La Wanda and Wildring B. Sherrod, Frances Graham, Rayleen and Jean Alley, Ella Jean Newman, Barbara Ann Tatum, Nancy Ann Neely, Mary Lou Scott, Mary Joe Timmons, of McKinney, Mozael Sellen and the honoree. Grown-ups present were Mesdames John H. Lewis, Lewis Tatum, W. H. Burns, John H. Sellen and Clyde G. Tatum.

Girl's Camp

Others to assist Miss Warner in directing camp activities are Miss Mary Frances Gall, Lubbock, and Misses Teressa Vehle, Earlleen Kirby, Louise Taylor, and Marjorie Taylor, all of Sherman.

ACTRESS OPENING SHOP

Miss Jenny Doley is the latest actress to succumb to the lure of opening a shop. Fortified with her winnings of $150,000 at the baccarat tables at Le Touquet, Miss Doley is opening a shop, devoted largely to children's clothes.

WAITRESS TAKES TO THE AIR

THE 'RED THREAT'

FOR a considerable portion of the past three months a branch of the United States government has been diligently investigating the activities of radicals, 'reds' and communists in this country. The investigation has uncovered some activity upon the part of these groups but has brought out nothing to indicate that any serious effort to overthrow this government will be made soon.

It is good to keep an eye on the plottings of these people. The government is wise in keeping under constant surveillance, all such groups which would m'Ve of this nation a second Soviet Russia. But it is likewise reassuring to find that the work of the radicals thus far is not a drop in the bucket to what they will have to accomplish before they can hope to get very far over here.

The Avalanche-Journal is not familiar with the conditions which prevail in the industrial centers of the North and East. Neither is it prepared to say much concerning the opinions and the ideals of the foreign-born population in other parts of the country. We can say, however, without fear of contradiction, that no considerable portion of the nation has been affected by the propaganda of the reds.

Two years ago, in the Hoover-Smith balloting in Lubbock county, there was one lone vote cast for the communist candidate for president. Doubtless there were other counties in this section where the red candidate received no votes at all. And doubtless the 'splash' may by the communists was, throughout the Middle West and extreme West, very similar to that made here.

There are those who would have you believe that United States is sitting on a powder keg and that an armed revolt on the part of radicals is threatening. Judging from conditions in our own section, a red revolt would be about as dangerous as a school boy strike over the changing of athletic coaches. It just "wouldn't get to first base," that's all.

We feel toward the communist "threat" just about like the story of the heavyweight prize-ring champion who became enmeshed in a difficulty with an artist.

When the latter, doubling his slender fist, threatened the champion he received just this advice:

"Buddy, if you hit me—and I ever find it out—it's going to mean trouble for you!"

That's the way we feel about the red 'threat' at this time.

BEAUTY CONTESTS

This has proved a great season for beauty contests, and the end is not yet. The picture section of almost every paper is decorated with pictures of prize-winning beauties. Few are the week-day issues that are not generously sprinkled with cuts of aspirants to coveted first-place distinction.

While average male readers will be disposed to concede that all such fair claimants to exceptional pulchritude are restful to the eye and worth a lingering look, few of them will be inclined to admit that the lovely faces at which they look are near as lovely as certain faces that they carry photographed in their hearts. To almost every man one woman is more beautiful than all others. She may not have perfect features. Her coloring may be far from exquisite. Her hair may not be up to date. But, to him, she is beyond compare. Therefore average men are unwilling to take the opinion of mere judges as to relative merit of the claims of beauty contestants of superiority. They are pretty enough, but as for being the most beautiful—well, the average man, being gallant by nature, would prefer not to say.

And there is the average woman. Can the aspirants to beauty honors, or the winners of them, for that matter, expect to get by that critic? Not much. What average woman would grant that the gleaming beauties who smile at them from pitured pages are unsurpassable? Not one. This critic might concede that the prize winners are fair—except for blemishes from which the average woman who is doing the talking thinks she is free.

Pride of locality also confuses judgment on this matter. Would any dweller in Texas concede that the prize-winning beauties of Pacific slope surpass those of his state. Of course not. Would inhabitants of Podunk grant tht the blue-ribbon beauty of Washington outshines any one of a dozen maidens in their home-town? And, again, of course not. Beauty contests may be counted on to bring out an array of beautiful maids that would gladden the heart of any average man and fill that of the average woman with something approaching envy. But as for deciding anything—well, hardly.

CONSOLATION FOR BIG NAVY-ITES SEEN IN RATIFICATION OF TREATY

BY CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—After all, big navy-ites do not need to feel very badly. The London treaty, ratified by the senate 58 to 9, just before adjourning July 21, does not mean much.

The bargain was a mere gesture, as diplomats express it.

On this country's part, it was a gesture by the administration, just as it was a gesture by Ramsay MacDonald's labor cabinet in England, and by the executive branch of the government in Japan.

If the senate had refused to vote approval of our administration's gesture, it would have been a snub to President Hoover. If parliament refuses to approve Premier MacDonald's gesture it will be snubbing him, and the Japanese administration will be snubbed if the diet refuses to approve its gesture. Parliament and the diet probably will not refuse, however.

Naturally no administration enjoys being snubbed. At best, it is unpleasant. At worst, sometimes it is politically damaging. Thus the senate's ratification of the London naval compact was a vindication of one of President Hoover's policies. In that respect it was of material consequence.

As for the treaty itself, it makes mighty little difference, either way, to the UnUited States.

It may make a trifle more difference to England, because the British do a great deal more honest-to-goodness warship-building than we do. Japan also takes its navy more seriously than we take ours, hence perhaps is more genuinely interested in the compact than we are.

It is hard to believe that the little group of senators, who fought treaty ratification, did not see the agreement's intrinsic inconsequentiality; it is so exceedingly obvious.

An easier belief is that they estimated it about as Senator Hiram W. Johnson estimated the Kellogg renunciation-of-war pat, which the Californian referred to as "complete nothingness," when it came up for ratification a year or so ago, and voted for out of politeness to retiring Secretary of State Kellogg, its negotiator—as harmless, anyway.

Nevertheless, Senator Johnson led the opposition against the London naval treaty, backed by a few other irreconcilables.

On the theory that this small handful of recalcitrants really cared nothing in particular, pro or con, about the naval pact, why was it that they bucked it so energetically—after acquiescing in the Kellogg bargain with only one dissenting ballot, cast by Senator Blaine of Wisconsin, who, by the way, voted to ratify the more recent naval treaty.

It almost looks as if Senator Johnson and followers wanted to snub President Hoover—the treaty being mainly his treaty and Ramsay MacDonald's.

The Kellogg pact, be it recalled, was framed up in President Coolidge's time. The naval understanding is supposed to have been worked out by President Hoover and Premier MacDonald, sitting on a log across the Rapidan last summer.

Can it be that Senator Johnson was friendlier to Mr. Coolidge than he is to Mr. Hoover?

There has been gossip to the effect that he is not especially friendly to the latter, anyhow. Unquestionably relations between them were strained for one while, before the Kansas City convention. It was related that they came to like one another better during the 1928 campaign, but later an unfortunate incident occurred. Senator Johnson's name accidentally was omitted from the list of guests to be bidden to a White House dinner to which official usage imperatively dictated that he ought to be invited. How to explain satisfactorily to the victim of such an oversight that it was unintentional, he simply was forgotten, is a problem no etiquette book solves adequately.

Possibly this contretemps had nothing to do with Senator Johnson's attitude toward the naval treaty, but some folk think it did.

The original Hoover-MacDonald plan was a naval reduction treaty.

As finally signed, it does not effect reduction, but only fixes a naval limit, which is so high that America will have to build a good many hundred million dollars' worth of ships to get up to it—unless we choose to remain outclassed by the British. Japan also gets a larger navy.

ENCOURAGE YOURSELF TO CONTINUE REDUCING

"I own a copy of your Petersizing pamphlet, and it has been a great help to me. I weighed 250 a month ago. I am 43 years old, 5 ft. 5 in. tall. My normal weight should be around 146, but how I am ever going to get down to it, is a problem.

"The first week of dieting I lost 10 pounds, the second 3 1-2, and since then I've been holding my own. How I wish you could give us tablets containing will power and stick-to-it-iveness! The trouble with me has been that I'm too good a cook; we have lots of friends and we all like to eat. Physically I am sound.

"I am enclosing my picture to show you what an awful looking human I am. MRS. M."

Don't think of your loss in terms of 50 or 100 pounds; think of it in units of 10. Say you weigh 209 pounds; think of getting down to 199, so you're out of that horrible 200. And when you're down to 199, think of getting down to 189, etc.

Your being too good a cook gives a clue to your overweight, doesn't it? You probably use a lot of butter in your cooking and other things that you could leave out, and you would soon find out that you'd like the food better. For instance, I used to love fatty foods, but I hate 'em now.

Fat is the one element you can cut out almost entirely on the reducing diet, without any harmful effects. However, there is no need of cutting it out entirely. It makes the food mode satisfying, for fat stays longest in the stomach in the process of digestion. And on account of the vitamin A, you should have some butter, at least 100 C. (one level tablespoon), or cream (about two ounces, thin), unless you take cod liver oil. A teaspoon of that would contain only 35 C. and is very much higher in vitamin A than an equal amount of butter or cream. It also has the sunshine vitamin D, which has to do with the calcium and phosphorus matabolism, so is necessary for teeth and bones at all ages. You could take cod liver oil tablets, three or four daily (they are calorieless. Get the brand that is accepted by the American Medical Association Council on Pharmacy and Chemistry; this fact is stated on the label.)

It is not unusual to lose as much as 10 pounds during the first week—especially if you are very much overweight and go on the liquid diet for three days. Then it is not at all unusual after this, to go for four or five days without reducing at all. In fact, the scales seldom show a loss every day; it's usually after three or four days that they show a loss. Some days the weight will even be higher, even while on a reducing diet. This is on account of the water balance factor. Your tissues are holding some water for some reason; perhaps the food was more concentrated or saltier. But don't let this discourage you, because you have actually lost in fat if you have been on the reducing number of calories, and it will register sooner or later.

Thanks for sending me your picture, Mrs. M. You certainly do need reduction!

As you followed column rules, the Petersizing pamphlet was sent to you.

DANCING JUDITH

by CORALIE STANTON and HEATH HOSKEN
COPYRIGHT 1930 by CHELSEA HOUSE

BEGIN HERE TODAY

JUDITH GRANT, artist's model, loves ALAN STEYNE, painter, who is also loved by CHUMMY MORLEY, Judith's best friend. Chummy had loved Steyne years ago, and had lost her memory when he went away, so although it is his duty to marry Chummy, whose memory comes back when she sees him again, Judith studies dancing, rejects the offer of the rich BRUCE GIDEON — whom Steyne distrusts—to star her in a show, and appears in a show backed by RICHARD WYON, who is secretly acting for Gideon. Chummy sees Judith in Steyne's arms and breaks her engagement, without letting the two know that she has found out their secret. Judith makes a tremendous hit on the stage and becomes famous. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XXVI

Judy paid a visit to [illegible] town on the first [illegible] December. She was [illegible] if she could find any [illegible] of her mother, who had been a native of the thriving town. She was so overflowing with generous spirit that she could not find enough people to share her success.

She had come across one elderly and very impecunious couple. The husband was a distant cousin of her mother, and he had been a scene shifter at the theater until he injured his spine. They lived on a very scanty pension.

Judy was in despair because of their scanty means; but she made them take money and she had a splendid dinner sent in from a hotel. She sat with them and delighted them with her high spirits and her laughter and her account of her wonderful life, which to them was like a fairy tale.

She went for a walk with the [illegible] because the train left for New York. She walked [illegible] until she [illegible] the end of a street, a [illegible] path that [illegible] to the [illegible] above the river.

And to her amazement, whom should she meet but Alan [illegible] with a bleak, [illegible] look, [illegible] in the face and [illegible] quite so exuberantly [illegible] but as splendidly young and [illegible] and [illegible] of the [illegible] simultaneously [illegible] a few years from [illegible] each other.

"Nothing [illegible] of the [illegible] I had [illegible] Athena, short [illegible] way. The [illegible] sent me here to [illegible] all [illegible] gorgeous [illegible] look [illegible] with the hunger [illegible] one [illegible] keep out of [illegible] south of [illegible]

"Judy said [illegible]

"How do you know?"

"I was there on the first night. What did you think of it?"

Judy's voice was a mere thread. "I adored it, Judy, and I hated it."

She laughed at his vehemence, though her heart stood still. Steyne came a step or two nearer.

"Do you know that Clarissa and I [illegible]"

He broke off. Judy nodded.

"Judy, he went on, it may seem low and caddish, but I can't help it—"

She backed away from him.

"You're not going to say anything—please—"

"Judy, I must. Clarissa doesn't want to marry me."

That can't be true. Clarissa loves you and [illegible] couldn't [illegible] [illegible]

"Then what [illegible]

"About you and me."

"I don't know what [illegible]

"She's [illegible] you that she won't marry me unless she's utterly [illegible]

"That [illegible]

"Judy, [illegible] mind [illegible] had [illegible] Alan, [illegible] the truth [illegible] Clarissa is [illegible] with [illegible] mind, will you change yours?"

She shook her head, meeting his desperate eyes with every appearance of calm determination.

"No, no—nothing will make me change. I know Chummy. I dare say she will be what you call 'of the same mind,' next year and in 10 years' time."

"Then what could I do, anyhow?"

Steyne groaned.

"You are utterly impossible, Judy! How can I do that? I can't believe you mean to be so cruel. I won't believe it!"

"You must," she said. "I'm not

OIL NOTES

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Aug. 1 (AP) — Two locations were announced today for the Oklahoma City field and two new producers were brought in. No depressing tone was noticed in the field's activities, and production continued to climb under the strictest proration measures that have ever been enforced here, exclusive of the two week shutdown.

Two wells, I. T. I. O. properties, made their first flows early in the day. The only real completion of the morning was Number 5 Watters, in se sw ne 28-11-3w. The first half hour's run was reported by company officials to be 65 barrels. Gas very weak. The zone was bailed 3300 feet.

The Number 1 Coppinger, in ne ne sw 11-11-3w, further north, was brought in late yesterday and shut in overnight. On being reopened this morning it made 579 barrels the first hour.

Wirt Franklin's Number 1 Minnie Page, se se se 35-12-3w, was brought in Wednesday afternoon and turned into tanks, being estimated by company men as good for 10,000 barrels of oil and 30,000,000 feet of gas.

Reversing the efforts for strict observance of Sunday in Ireland, the city council of Fermanaugh passed a resolution requesting that a new pleasure boat on Lough Erne be run on Sunday, but the operating company refused.

Plainview Farmer Operates Model Farm; Makes Profits On 160 Acres And Dairying

J. W. Heavin's Record Demonstrates How Successful Farming Can Be Done On South Plains

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

PLAINVIEW, Aug. 2.—Farming at a profit, even with low prices prevailing for all farm products, is the achievement of J. W. Heavin, Plainview farmer, on his one hundred sixty acre farm which is cited as a model for the farmer who desires to diversify and have a year round income from his agricultural activities. The Heavin farm activities were recently surveyed and investigated by County Agent R. M. Millhollin of Plainview, who came to the conclusion that what has been done on this one hundred sixty acre farm can be duplicated by the same methods on any similar area in the South Plains section.

The farm is divided as follows: 40 acres of alfalfa, 15 acres of oats, 10 acres of millet, 40 acres of grain sorghums, and 50 acres of cotton. Seven dairy cows are supported and kept on the farm, two brood sows, and 150 laying hens. Enough horses to operate the farm are the only other livestock.

Has Two Sources

From the farm crops, Heavin has two dependable sources of income. The alfalfa in addition to furnishing grazing for the hogs, and hay for the cows, brings annually about one thousand dollars in cash. The cotton crop, with an average yield of about a half bale to the acre, is the other cash crop income source.

"The feed crop is marketed from my automobile, and trailer the year round," Heavin said. Eggs, poultry, cream, and hogs are taken to town regularly. The hogs net two hundred dollars over and above Heavin's requirements for home use, the cows, six hundred dollars, and the chickens one hundred fifty dollars. Very little feed is sold. It is all fed out to the chickens, cows and hogs.

Records Show Profits

Heavin's dairy record book shows conclusively the profits that can be derived from dairy farm operations in the Panhandle-Plains. During March of this year, for instance, Heavin's cows produced an average of 43.3 pounds of butterfat that cost only twelve and a half cents per pound. Good pastures are credited with this exceptional low cost. Starting in November, Heavin began a demonstration with the aid of the county agent to see what his dairy cows were doing, and how much money they were making. Taking a five month period from November to March, inclusive, the average proportion per cow was thirty-three pounds of fat. The seven cows in the herd were the basis of the average regardless of whether they were in production, and also the costs were figured on the same basis. The average cost per pound of butterfat was 18.7 cents. The seven cows have made a profit of $9.17 each per month. The feed brought $1.70 in this way where it would have brought one dollar if sold on the market as grain.

Millhollin's report of Heavin's dairy operations follow: J. W. Heavin of Plainview started records on his herd as a dairy demonstrator on November 1, 1929. With four cows which were later increased to seven, he produced an average of 43.2 pounds of butterfat per cow. The following table will show the changes that have taken place:

Month	Cows In Herd	Average Fat Per Mo.
November	4	33.7
December	6	36.4
January	7	39.7
February	7	32.6
March	7	43.3

Month	Cost Per Lb.	Profit On Herd
Novemebr	28.8	$ 8.05
December	18.9	47.13
January	25.8	60.98
February	14.6	61.99
March	12.5	96.32

Heavin has used for a basic ration: 2000 pounds ground alfalfa; 1000 pounds ground bundles; 1000 pounds ground heads; 800 pounds cottonseed hulls; 600 pounds cotton seed meal; and 800 pounds of bran.

The grain ration has been changed at times depending upon the nature of the pasture, and the kind and quantity of roughage used. It is especially interesting to note the cost per pound of butterfat was only half as much in January and March as in November. Heavin says "Good pasture is a sure way to decrease the cost of butterfat.

"Every Thrill Of Flying And All The Danger Removed," Is Gliders Report

EVERY thrill of flying and a of almost daily flying and not a scratched finger yet" "more exciting than an airplane and no danger at all" are just some of the statements by members of the Lubbock Glider Club concerning the new amusement. Every member of the club eighteen in all, have made successful flights in the glider owned and operated by the local club and not a member has received an injury.

"Oh, we've had two or three little crack-ups, resulting in a split fuselage or a wing dropping off, but nothing serious." This from C. J. Wright, president of the organization. "Everybody flies it and a great time is had by all", he said. Members of the club go to the flying field almost daily, sometimes twice [illegible] and take flights. A spirit of friendly contest is going on between the boys, most of whom are under 21 years of age, to see how long the ship can be held aloft, and records are set and broken every day. Mr. Hubert Allen, member of the club said. Mr. Wright claims one of the longest records when he held the glider aloft for eighteen minutes, circling the field over. Others have kept the machine in the air longer, but they were not as heavy as J. Wright said.

To Get Larger Plane

At present, and for the past two weeks since the club has been organized, the members use a single glider with a wingspread of 36 feet. When the members have learned to fly the present equipment without any trouble the club plans to purchase or build a larger sail plane. Mr. Wright said it would be some forty or sixty days before the new plane would be on the field, depending on the progress shown by the students and whether the club buys or builds a plane. The new one, according to Mr. Wright, will have a wing spread twice the length of the present glider and its proportion will be twice as great, capable of seating two men or perhaps weight.

The club was organized July 22 with C. C. Wright as president, H. L. Allen vice president, and Eggers Adair secretary and treasurer. Ben Brannon, pilot for the South Plains Air Transport, Inc., is instructor and general overseer of the club's flying activity. The glider made its trial flight about two weeks ago.

LUBBOCK IS GOING AHEAD

Just stop to consider the momentus force back of progress in Lubbock and the Great South Plains. There is nothing to retard us for years to come, for even after years and years have passed by, the practically unlimited resources of this territory will still be under development, nor will they have reached maximum development. With only 30% of the land in this territory now under cultivation, and with natural mineral resources just barely etched, there is no indication but that Lubbock will be on the Up and Up for a long time. Lubbock, and towns throughout the South Plains, have not come into existence through promotion and exploit, but through a sturdy growth, founded upon the basic industry of America, Agriculture. With this stability, the coming of railroads and means of transportation more and more each year, this country is sure to be a white spot on the business map each month, and Lubbock as the natural 'hub' of our Empire cannot miss going forward.

As development continues throughout the Plains, your Utilities will be found up with the times in service, facilities and economical distribution of our products.

Hobbs Church Groups Plan Active Work

First Christian And First Methodist Congregations Formed; Lubbock Men Are Pastors Of Both

(By Staff Correspondent)

HOBBS, N. M. Aug. 2.—With approximately 90 possible members already lined up, the First Christian Church of Hobbs is in process of formation and a campaign to raise $2,000 for the erection of a church home is being launched Rev. J. F. Mathews, Lubbock, church missionary of the denomination, announced here.

"We have been given two lots by the Hobbs Townsite company in the same section and block as several other churches," Reverend Mathews said. "The lots are are in a splendid location, with the Presbyterian church just across the street and other churches near us.

To Erect Building

"Our plans call for the raising of about $2,000 for the building. We hope to get the funds started in a short time. I am hoping that some of the oil companies will be able to help us."

Reverend Mathews said the present plans call for a church building 32 by 60 feet. The main auditorium will be 32 by 48 feet and will seat around 300. In the rear there will be three small rooms to be used for Sunday school purposes.

Meets In Theater

Meantime the church is meeting in the Ritz theater. Last Sunday there were 50 present for Sunday school and more than that for the church service.

Reverend Mathews will probably act as pastor of the church until such time as the missionary board can afford to take over the work of assisting the local congregation in organizing and calling a regular pastor.

"I have been on the job in Hobbs for about a month and in that time I managed to find some 90 people who are memers of the Christian church in other towns," the missionary said. "I have begun the campaign to raise funds for the church butiding and also have started church services here."

Methodist Church Is Started In Town

HOBBS, N. M., Aug. 1. (Special)—Another church organization for Hobbs has been perfected with the organization of the First Methodist church and the starting of services by a regularly assigned pastor.

Rev. J. W. Cole, of Lubbock, is the new pastor of the Methodist church. He came here last week and is now busy looking after his flock.

Services In Theater

Services for the present are being held in the Derrick theater, on Carlsbad street. It is owned by Mrs. G. T. Scales of Lubbock and is only recently completed.

Gaines County's Rate Is 90 Cents

SEMINOLE, Aug. 2. (Special)—Gaines county will have a tax rate for the coming year of 90 cents per $100 valuation, R. W. Pittman, county attorney, says.

Valuation figures for the county have not been completed by County Assessor Parker, but a tentative valuation of $4,294,000 has been made. Last year the valuation was $3,245,000.

Members of the commission are said to expect the total to be slightly over $4,300,000 when complete returns and adjustments are made. This will represent a gain of over $55,000 for the year.

GETS ANOTHER STATION

Seagraves Has Sixth Oil Firm In Business Now

SEAGRAVES, Aug. 2. (Special)—The new Phillips Petroleum company's retail and wholesale filling station here is to be completed about August 9, it is announced here.

This makes the sixth wholesale filling station for Seagraves. The Humble, just finishing its wholesale station, is adding a retail station.

It is reported the Texas and Pacific Coal and Oil company and the Wagner 3-D company will come here. These companies have made surveys of the local situation but have not made definite announcement of plans.

GIRL IS RECOVERING

Miss Lorene Clark Will Live Over Shooting Wound

HOBBS, N. M., Aug. 2. (Special)—Miss Lorene Clark, telephone operator, who was shot by Robert B. McAlpine in a local rooming house when he is said to have mistaken her for his wife, from whom he was estranged, is expected to recover according to attending physicians.

For a time it was not thought she would recover, because of the wound, which penetrated her liver. She was operated on in a local hospital and since then has shown signs of regaining her strength.

The shooting occured the night of July 24 Mr. McAlpine is said to have come to Hobbs from Big Spring, his former home, to see his wife from whom he had been separated. She was staying at the same rooming house as Miss Clark.

Reports are that McAlpine, passing the house where he had seen his wife enter, saw through the window a figure of a woman and took it to be his wife. He fired a shot at her and then turned the gun on himself, dying about midnight, or two hours after the shooting. McAlpine made no statement, it was said by Leon de Cordova, chief of police.

Sterley's School Is To Be Delayed

FLOYDADA, Aug. 2 (Special)—Declaring the enactment of the legislature which gave county school boards power to create new school districts was not sufficiently clarified in the minds of officials of the Attorney General's Department, the representatives of Sterley District were told in Austin that the plans for the new school at Sterley would have to await another session of the legislature of the state, when a validating law could be presented for enactment or the status of the county board's power could be more clearly defined.

R. W. Smith, jr., and Price Scott made the trip to Austin in the interest of the district, when it became apparent that the Attorney General's Department would not approve the recent bond issue voted for the construction of a school at Sterley. "While expressing sympathy with the intentions of the people of the newly-created district to provide school facilities for the children of Sterley and that area of the county, the department said the statutes covering the situation were not sufficiently plain and they could not approve the bond issue until such time as the county board's powers were more clearly defined," Mr. Scott said here. Several newly-created districts over the state have the same situation facing them, he said.

The school bond troubles will not affect the operation of the school for the year.

The new district of Sterley was created this spring by the county board and following their action people of the district voted a bond issue for the construction of a school building and a dollar tax for school purposes. The district, when eventually made effective, will have an area of slightly more than twenty-six sections.

Makes Record

Mrs. Rita Schoemaker of New York, formerly of Chicago, mother of a two-year-old son, who leaped from an airplane over Roosevelt Field, L. I., in an effort to establish a new altitude record for women, is believed to have smashed the world's record. Her barograph probably will show between 15,800 and 16,000 feet. The record 14,800 feet, was held by a French girl.

Gilbert Swan

In New York

With Swan

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—Marketing for those giant Atlantic liners comes under the heading of skilled trades.

It's really more than that, since the tastes of an average cargo of passengers are international. Figure, for instance, that the Leviathan takes aboard enough food to keep a town of 5,000 people meals for two weeks.

Since eating is supposed to be one of the most universally interesting subjects, here are a few statistics which have come to my desk from that liner's supply department.

California and Florida orange groves contribute 30,000 oranges for breakfasts. And there are some 9,000 grapefruit in addition.

The vegetable gardens supply 4,000 heads of lettuce, the same number of cabbage heads and a thousand pounds of artichokes. Potatoes appear more often and, hence, 50,000 pounds are carried. It would take, the statistician goes on, one square mile of farm land to produce this quantity.

But the kitchen departments of the liners, like those of the swank hotels, are extremely particular in the matter of selection, and demand that potatoes be a certain size and properly shaped for decorative purposes when cooked.

Just before sailing times, the fish supplies come aboard. The nets of the Asbury Park, N. J., section provide the lobster supply. And the codfish of Sandy Hook lose 2,000 pounds every time an ocean giant pulls out. There are, of course other varieties of fish in proportionate quantities.

The pullet population decreases 2,000 per sailing, 700 geese vanish into ice boxes along with 400 ducks brought in from Jersey.

Those hours just preceding the sailing, before the crowd of passengers arrive, are strangely reminiscent and a busy prelude to a county fair, what with great trucks rushing up prize garden products and live stock.

Thus, if you arrive at the proper time, it's possible to see a small army of cows going aboard to supply fresh milk and an assortment of other animals that perish enroute to please the palates of the diners.

Such delicacies as caviar set the buyer back $3,000 each trip. In the pantry one could find 1500 tins of pork sausage and a thousand pounds of fresh coffee.

But since this is being written at 12:45 a. m., and I have had nothing but a cup of coffee since noon, excuse me if I drop the subject.

Yet with all the supplies mentioned and Heaven knows how much more, the docking of a ship after an Atlantic voyage sees an amazing parade of merchants selling fish, fruit, meat and vegetables who optimistically hope that most everything will have been eaten up and another opportunity for sales will be opened.

For it is said that, given fair weather, the appetites of seagoing folk will burst all normal proportions and a first class ship dare not set to sea without a little sample of almost everything that might be asked for.

And what passengers ask for at times is sufficient to whiten the hair of the most widely experienced chef. These special requests range from some obscure Slovakian dish of Boston baked beans and back again.

Are Times Hard On The Plains?

Goodrich Tire Dealer Claims Talk Of Hard Times Is Not True; Cites Sales of 55 Car Loads Of Tires As Proof

"Since we took over the sale of Goodrich tires," declares B. E. Needles, "four years ago, we have received 55 carloads of them from the Goodrich factory of Akron, Ohio.

"These tires total some 66,000 or enough to fully equip 16,500 automobiles. Figuring the average retail price of tires at $12.85, that makes a grand total of more than three-quarters of a million dollars. That does not look very much like hard times on the South Plains."

Gives Big Figures

Mr. Needles continues with the figuring that, giving each tire the 10,000 miles average credit, if all these tires travel that far, there are 660,000,000 miles of service running around on these South Plains from Goodrich and Needles. That's 26,400 times around the world.

"But, really, we can not see where times are hard. Folks have plenty of work, plenty of money and plenty of opportunity. To those who own and operate automobiles we say, give our gas a trial. You will find no better gas anywhere no matter what you pay. We test our gas.

Varied Entertainment Is Offered In Week's Films

Byrd's Picture Is Feature; Comedy Has Portion

A varied program of amusement is offered Lubbock theater-goers this week by the theaters. Romance, adventure, comedy, pathos, the ridiculous and even a touch of the classics may be found in the week's films which run the gamut of screen entertainment.

At the Lindsey today, Norma Shearer, Marie Dressler, Hedda Hopper and Rod La Roque offer "Let Us Be Gay" for approval. The show runs for four days. On Thursday, William Powell returns in a drama of love "For The Defense" in which he plays the part of a brilliant attorney and risks scandal and prison for his sweetheart, Kay Francis.

At The Palace, adventure holds sway for the first of the week, anyway. Heading the week's programs is the film, "With Byrd At The South Pole" which opened yesterday for three days. The order changes on Tuesday and Edward Everett Horton, Allan Hale, Patsy Ruth Miller and Edna Murphy present "The Sap" which is certain to be another of those side-splitting comedies of Horton's. Thursday and Friday, a bit of the classic is seen on the film presentation of "Disraeli." On Saturday, Gary Cooper comes back to the local screen after several weeks absence in "A Man From Wyoming." Jane Collyer and Regis Tooney play with Gary in the picture which runs for three days.

"With Byrd at the South Pole" is filled with the romantic heroism. The homely humor, the daring feats and the awe-inspiring wonder of Byrd's gigantic undertaking landed in Little ment the expedition landed in Little America until the final trek for home, the moving picture document shows the hardships, the amusements, the drama and romance of the forty-two men who braced the perils of the unknown.

Byrd Plays Part

Admiral Byrd, himself played an important part in making the picture. Vander Veer, who also accompanied the leader on his previous expedition to the North Pole, says "It was largely due to the continual cooperation of Admiral Byrd that Rucker and myself were able to secure film that we are confident will result in one of the most out-standing moving pictures of all times. The same personal interest he gave the work of every scientist attached to the expedition secured for us, not only a complete photographic record of the expedition's lift in the Antarctic, but also permitted us to devolop all the lements necessary for a feature production of adventure, pathos, comedy and drama."

Standards Of Writings Kept Up In Summer

Life Of Cooper To Be Given In Book

STANDARDS in book publishing are kept up even during midsummer.

This week, for instance, there are a biography, a historical narrative, a novel and a poetry authology of exceptional merit.

The biography is "Oscar Wilde: His Life and Confessions," the former two-volume work by Frank Harris, which Bernard Shaw has called "the best life of Wilde."

Republished now in one volume, it contains also 35 pages of hitherto "confessional material" by Lord Alfred Douglas, whose friendship with Wilde caused the latter's famous trial. It explains not only their relationship, but also clarifies other points in the life of the erratic English poet and playwright, whose health was broken by a two-year sentence in Reading gaol.

Scourges

The historical narrative is Robert M. Coates' "The Outlaw Years."

Here is told in the exciting technique of a crime story the record of the land and river pirates who terorized the American wilderness during the years 1797 to 1835.

The pirates were a cruel and fiendish tribe, some of them plainly mad, as in the atrocities of Big and Little Harpe, brothers who left a trail of beheaded bodies behind their tomahawks, and Murrell, who dreamed of a Napoleonic pirate empire along the Natchez Trace.

The novel is "Youth Dares All," supposedly an anonymous autobiography of a hill billy on the loose, but actually a unique bit of American fiction.

The hill billy is Eddie Law, an ignorant small town boy who wanders from job to job up and down the Atlantic states, romanticizing his adventures in trite, sentimental phrases that ring true.

It is such a narrative as a drifter, looking at the world through rose colored glasses, might easily be expected to write. He sees glamour in every experience, with small town companions and with the girls he meets, and for good measure he throws in accounts of Alaskan shipwrecks and other adventures that have the sound of romantic inventions.

"Fortune tossed me as if I were a mere straw in the wind" is a typical expression. Another passage:

"So being under the devil's influence for sure now, I was carried along. But the devil's form had changed: now it was Lovely Woman!"

But one was his "guiding star"—Elsie Hubbard of Gardiner, Vt.—to whom he returns.

Verse And Math

Louis Untermeyer does much more than merely collect poems in his fourth edition of "Modern American Poetry."

Presenting the songs of native bards, he also pulls Average Man and the shy poet together, explaining one to the other.

In "Number, the Language of Science," Tobias Dantzig tells, among other things, the story of the discovery of the numeral Zero. It is barely 1,000 years old, without it men took hours for computations now requiring but minutes.

Bonyton Writes New Biography

Wilde Biography, Narrative And Novel Listed

From the quiet village of Bristol, Vermont, comes the news that Henry Walcott Boynton, well-known literary critic and magazine writer, is rapidly nearing the completion of his modern lifeof James Fenimore Cooper which is to be published by the Century company. Mr. Boynton hopes to have his manuscript ready in time for publication early next year.

The new book will present a complete and rounded life of Cooper, according to the publishers. It will show Cooper not as the romancer of the Leatherstocking tales, or as the man who deliberately made himself disliked by his contemporaries, but as a real person and an important influence in his day.

The present James Fenimore Cooper, grandson of the novelist, is said to have been so pleased with the plan of the new book, that he turned over to Mr. Boynton a vast amount of material which has remained in the archives of the Cooper family for years inaccessible to any one.

TAHOKA, Aug. 2.—(Special)—Lynn county has a rival to Eastland county's famous horned frog.

A Lynn county lizard can live 13 days or longer without food, water, or air, and still have energy left.

Inez and Modelle, 16 and 13, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Barton living near here recently placed a lizard in an air tight fruit jar. Thirteen days later, Mrs. Barton began to feel sorry for the faster and had the girls turn him loose, only to watch him scamper to safer quarters.

They have placed another lizard in the jar, and will this time give a fair test to the length of time one can live under the conditions.

H. G. Wells Writes Of Nationalism And The Things That Lead To War; Propagandist Smothers The Novelist

AMONG those sensitive souls whom the World War bruised beyond relief you may list the name of H. G. Wells. Mr. Wells used to be a first-rate novelist. Since the war, however, he has written nothing but propaganda—although, because he manages to put forth his propaganda with something of his old great story-telling skill, it is not hard to read it.

"The Autocracy of Mr. Parham" is Mr. Wells' latest book. In it he returns to the theme that has obsessed him for the past decade: the idea that the world cannot stand another great war, that the creed of nationalism will inevitably bring it to another, and that humanity's only hope is to forget its old traditions and form some sort of superstate that will make wars, international rivalries and diplomacy forever things of the past.

Does Job Well

This particular book does the job rather well. Mr. Wells presents a mercilessly satirical picture of the way in which the creed of nationalism brings on war, and his excoriation of generals and diplomats is sharp and to the point. His description of the imaginary naval engagement in which the American and British battle fleets met by chance and mutually obliterated each other with the result that the people of each nation arose and called off the war, is satire of the highest order.

And yet—isn't one permitted to wish that the old H. G. Wells could return? The first third of this book is more novel than propaganda, and it is so entertainingly done that one longs for more of it. To be sure no one can wonder at Mr. Wells for his obsession with the evils of war and the things that lead up to war. No one can complain because this first-rate mind has dedicated itself to the fight for world peace. Nevertheless all of this has cost us a very fine novelist. There are passages in "Mr. Parham" that remind you of it and stir your regret.

Incidentally, this book is one of the dollar books offered by Doubleday, Doran & Co. Whatever publishers and authors may think of this dollar-book idea, it's swell for the reader. In this case, at least, you get more than your money's worth.

Book News Notes For This Week

All Worth While

THERE comes a time when a publisher puts out an entire list of exceptional books, even in the summer months that are all worth attention. The E. P. Dutton company has a list of that type issued this week.

For instance THE ARCHER'S CHRONICLE AND GREENWOOD COMPANION, by Kenneth Harex. This is an anthology of archery. The author asserts that archery was a means of warfare as well as a sport indulged in by kings and potentates. Edicts were issued all but forcing good and loyal subjects to indulge in archery, discouraging such other sports as "tenys", "dise," and "cardes". Archery was supposed to bring health and to constitute guard against disease. It is an amusing book and an informative one of decided historical interest.

ELIZABETH BARRETT BROWNING'S LETTERS TO HER SISTER, edited by Leonard Huxley, reveal a most striking personality. One becomes intimately acquainted not so much with the poet as with the wife, the mother and a woman keenly interested in other things aside from poetry and love. The letters include references to many outstanding and important figures, prominent in both history and literature and Mrs. Browning's references to the changing fashions and customs are particularly interesting.

FISHER FOLK AND FISHING BOATS, by Peter Anson, is the author's own interesting story of his experiences with the fisher flok along the east coast of Scotland, and a history of the fishing industry between Berwick-on-Tweed and Pentland Firth. Mr. Anson tells the local history of each quaint little village, its quaint customs, its religion, and superstitious notions of its inhabitants. He has illustrated the book himself and his verbal descriptions are almost as vivid as his drawings.

ELIZABETHAN UNDERWORLD, by A. V. Judges, is a collection of Tudor and early Stuart tracts and ballads telling of lives and misdoings of vagabonds, thieves and rogues, with some account of the operation of the criminal law.

THE PURPLE LAND is a new illustrated edition of W. H. Hudson's biographical novel—being the life story of one Richard Lamb and his adventures in the Banda Oriental in South America.

MADAME DE MAINTENON, by Maud Cruttwell is a detailed and psychological study of an extraordinary woman who was born in a prison and raised to the side of the greatest monarch of Europe. This unusual woman has been unjustly and most unfortunately handled by most of her biographers, but Miss Cruttwell's portrait of her is generous, and sympathetic.

Sophia Pens Second

Sophia Cleugh, author of "Song Bird" (Houghton Mifflin company) has just arrived in America from the Isle of Wight where she spent the winter in close cooperation with her typewriter. As a result, she has just delivered to her publishers the manuscript of her new novel which is scheduled for publication next under the title of "Enchanting Clementina." Mrs. Cleugh, who is now visiting friends in Wellesley, Massachusetts, reports that her earlier "Common Cheat" is being translated into French by Mme. Marguerite, and will be serialized in the ECHO DE PARIS before appearing between paper covers.

Writes of North

A. C. and Carmen Edington, "The Edingtons" known to readers of "The House of the Vanishing Goblets" and "The Studio Murder Mystery," have temporarily forsaken mystery stories to write a mighty epic of the Alaskan tundra inspired by the life of Bert Hansen, former U. S. Deputy Marshal in Alaska. "Tundra," as their book is to be called, will be published early in the autumn by The Century Co.

Bert Hansen, the hero of this narrative, went to Alaska before the Klondike gold rush, a very young hobo in search of romance, and eventually became U. S. Deputy Marshal for that vast section of Alaska which includes the greater part of the wild unknown interior. From his own lips the Edingtons heard the story of his extremely adventurous life "mushing" across Alaska, tracking criminals and saving lives, and will now retell it in their new book "Tundra."

Frank Harris's biography of Oscar Wilde has just been published in a new one-volume, unexpurgated edition. . . A 75-cent reprint of "All Quiet on the Western Front" also is out and it contains the excerpts excised from the previous editions.

The mental degeneration and physical deterioration of a street-walker and drug addict unwittingly from a sermon against these vices in "No Bed of Roses," a reconstructed diary of "a lost soul."

And "The Thrill of Evil" is another exciting collection of real crime stories by H. Ashton-Wolfe, former asistant to Bertillon, the finger-print man, who makes the police records read like fiction.

Has Another

Carman Dee Barnes, whose sensational SCHOOLGIRL was written at the age of 15, now, at the age of 17, again looks at life through young eyes, and writes another exciting novel. It will be published by HORACE LIVERIGHT under the title of BEAU LOVER. In a letter to her publisher, she writes: "When SCHOOLGIRL first appeared, a boy said to me: 'You don't know a thing about boys, do you?' So I decided to give them 'the once over.' I think men are as mysterious as women are supposed to be, and those in my story may be far from manlike. What concerns me somewhat is that the public may begin worrying all over again as to whether BEAU LOVER is, in fact, autobiography.

SHOULD A COMMUNITY COLLECT 'TAXES' FROM BOOTLEGGERS? IDAHO VOTERS TO DECIDE; COUNTY OF 'RUM REBELLION' PLANNING 'RUM REFERENDUM' NOW

BY PHILIP J. SINNOTT
NEA Service Writer

WALLACE, Idaho, July 29—Idaho's "rum rebellion" in which numerous public officials and others were convicted in federal court recently is ended, but Idaho's "rum referendum" is on the way.

The wives of two officials who were found guilty of collecting money from bootleggers—not for personal gain, but to be placed in the city treasury—have been induced by civic organizations of Wallace and Kellogg to run as candidates for the offices their husbands held.

And now, as an aftermath of the strangest case of "corruption" in the history of prohibition, Mrs. W. H. Herrick, wife of the former county assessor, and Mrs. R. E. Weninger, wife of the former sheriff, are candidates seeking vindication." They have just filed.

"Graft" Went to City

But it isn't the ordinary "vindication," for while Sheriff Weninger and Assessor Herrick admitted they took considerable sums from liquor sellers, they did not profit personally one cent. Instead, they turned the money into the public treasury, to be spent on fire and police department budgets and on good roads and bridge building activities.

"These men are martyrs to the cause of what we call human liberty, personal rights and self government," declares A. P. Hutton, of Kellogg, who suggested the candidacies. He predicted that the voters of Shoshone county will rise up and give the women an overwhelming vote in the coming election.

"If we were conducting our civic affairs improperly, they could have told us and we would have corrected things," said another resident, voicing the general sentiment. "What we object to is this sentencing of city officials to federal prison because they tried to convert to public good the liquor and gambling activities they couldn't eliminate."

Made Bootleggers Pay

Wallace's story is not much different from that of many other towns that see bootleggers making huge profits—and the city getting nothing in return. The same thing happened over at Mullan, a neighboring north Idaho town, where two score of men were convicted recently of conspiring to collect from saloons, the money supporting the town and paying the city police force.

In each case, the government showed, police officials saw to it that money was paid into the treasury.

Wallace's corporate limits do not cover much territory. Outside these limits are big mining properties, employing over 5,000 men. The hills encircling the town are covered with dense young timber. It is just 20 years ago since a disastrous forest fire swept down these hillsides into the town.

The Wallace fire department, therefore, is maintained at a standard that provides not only protection to the community, but for the mining properties and against possible forest fire recurrence. There are other expenses in connection with the 5,000 miners—many of them transients—that must be borne by the taxpayers within the small area of the incorporation.

Saloons Yielded $30,000 Yearly

Before Idaho went dry, saloons contributed to Wallace approximately $30,000 a year in license fees. There was strict enforcement for awhile, but the war saw the camp shunned by the experienced miners, until some of the mines nearly were forced to close. Then came federal prohibition, and the mining companies passed to the government the job of enforcement.

As usual in any big center of transient workers, the liquor trade grew. The city officials found themselves unable to cope with it. But here, they saw a chance for gain—for their city, not themselves.

"These people pay no revenue whatever into the public treasuries, yet they have the benefit of police, fire department and the bridges and culverts we must build," was the thought.

Over at Mullan, the matter was handled boldly through a city license ordinance. In Wallace, however, there was no ordinance. But money was paid by the saloon and resort keepers to the city officials and by these placed in the city treasury. Culverts and bridges were built, fire department expansion was provided for, and—any Wallace residents—the cost was spread a little more equitably.

This spring, however, federal operatives swooped down upon Wallace. An in a short time, there were more than 40 indictments, charging conspiracy to violate the prohibition law.

Officials Are Convicted

W. H. Herrick, ex-mayor of Wallace, and for 18 years assessor of Shoshone county, was indicted. So was Mayor Herman J. Rossi, and Police Chief W. J. Bailey, and Sheriff R. E. Weninger of Shoshone county. Most of the others were operators of resorts.

Trial was held in Couer d'Alene City. No witnesses were presented by the defense. Defense attorneys stressed, in their cross-examining and their pleas, the angle that all money so collected went to the city, not to individuals. The officials merely used the means at hand for the community good, declared the attorneys.

The federal court jury convicted 31 of the conspiracy charge. Herrick and ex-Chief Bailey were given 15 months in federal prison. Both left as soon as possible, saying they were willing to take whatever punishment might be inflicted.

Mayor Rossi and Sheriff Weninger, also given 15 months each, have started appeals. Rossi declares he is ready to carry the fight to the U. S. Supreme Court if necessary. Others were given jail terms, and most of these are serving their sentences in the jails of three Idaho counties.

When heavy sentences were meted those convicted at Mullan, citizens of that town at once raised funds for relief of the convicted men's families. When heavy sentences were given Wallace officials, the Wallace Board of Trade and business men from adjoining towns called a mass meeting and adopted resolutions expressing sympathy for the convicted officials.

Out of this came the suggestion that Mrs. Herrick run for assessor and Mrs. Weninger for sheriff as a county-wide means of vindication for their husbands.

THIS IS THE TOWN THAT COLLECTED "HONEST GRAFT" from local liquor dealers and put the money in the city treasury to help pay salaries of policemen and firemen, build bridges, etc.—a bird-eye's-eye view of Wallace, Idaho. Below is Mayor J. Rossi, who says he is ready to appeal his conviction all the way to the U. S. Supreme Court.

SIX-CYLINDER SMOOTHNESS AT LOW COST

Seen From The Top Of
The Yellowhouse Windmill

BY J. SAM LEWIS, FIELD CORRESPONDENT

THREE OF A KIND

Luke Roberts, editor of the Lovington Leader, and W. M. Beauchamp, with Sheriff Cain, are differing over the ownership of the fruit on a certain peach tree situated on the west side of the Lea county courthouse at Lovington. Each man watches the tree every time he enters or leaves the building. The tree, a young one, has a pretty fair crop of peaches for that sized tree. Just at present the peaches are about as hard as the stones inside but each of the trippers "has hopes" of getting a crop provided, others do not beat him to it.

MEETS ROAD HOG

"Dangers of road hogs" might be the title of a little drama which was enacted the other afternoon between Seminole and Hobbs on the state highway. A truck man, with a load of merchandise bound for the oil field town, was headed west and making pretty good time. He saw another car coming towards him, away out in the middle of the road. The truck driver tried to keep out of the road of the oncoming car when he saw its driver was not inclined to give an inch. As a result he was forced over to the side of the shoulder and went into the barpit, the load being dumped on the ground. "He never stopped to see what had happened," the truck driver commented in telling a passing motorist of his troubles.

CAROL COBB HAPPY

One of the happiest candidates in Gaines county is Carol Cobb, genial county and district court clerk and a veteran of the world war, who is suffering from the effects of being gassed. He is completing his first term and was renominated without opposition. Carol came as a boy to Gaines county, nearly a quarter of a century ago and lived on an early day ranch. During the world war he went overseas and was gassed, but returned in apparently good shape. Several years later the effects of the gas was found to be centering in his legs and he is now unable to walk without the aid of a wheel chair. Meantime he was induced to run for county and district clerk and has proved so popular with both lawyers and the public that he had no intimation of opposition from any source.

LIKE GOLF GAME

Young couples of Seagraves like the miniature golf course on Main street next to the bank and from evening until late at night it is well patronized. The parking space in front of the lots where the course is located is always filled. Sometimes there are a dozen to fifteen couples playing at one time. Some farm machinery nearby provides a resting place for the gallery of spectators and from noon until late at night there is always to be found a group. By common consent the children play golf in the afternoon.

MEDLIN IS PEEVED

Jack Medlin, right hand man of Publisher Ostrom of the Hobbs Times-Herald, is just a trifle put out. Jack went on his vacaton a short time ago and they slipped one over on him by deciding to get out a city directory. "This job came up while I was away," Jack explained. "When I got back, here it was. I do everything a round this office but sell ads. I work in either the front or back shop and so I've got to get out the job. The ads were all sold when I returned—they did that much for me."

MILK FOR VICTOR

Some of the boys down at Lamesa found out recently that Vic Lamb, publicity man for the chamber of commerce, is not particularly fond of milk. Lamesa is opening formally its milk plant this week with a series of banquets. Somebody put Bill Whittkamp, manager, wise and Bill threatens to make Vic drink all the milk he can hold and then some. He has appointed Clyde Backenstoss, Owen Taylor and Philip Yonge as a committee to see that Vic gets his fill of all kinds of milk, from powdered to buttermilk.

LOSES "TOWN FARMERS"

Gaines county will probably lose two more town farmers and gain two practical men as a result of the decision of the county judge and the sheriff to stay out of politics this year. R. W. Pittman, county judge, owns a couple of farms near town and deals in real estate. "I live on one of my farms and come to town," he says, "but I guess I'll have to stay there all the time after the first of the year." The sheriff, who used to be a farmer before he went in for the peace job, says he is looking for something to do. "I don't want to go back to the farm but I guess I'll have to," he complains. "If I can't land a job I will."

EDITOR IS GARDENER

W. D. Rhea, editor of the Seagraves Signal is one of the editorial gardeners on the South Plains. He is almost in the class of Jack Suits, Loren Zo editor and chicken fancier. W. D. has a garden next door to his place of business and in that he has a lot of growing vegetables. He has had all summer plenty of beans, peas, onions, radishes and lettuce and now has some okra, a little corn, some tomatoes, potatoes, a few melon vines both cants and water. The fourth estate has even gone to far as to say he is willing to climb the windmill with a watermelon provided it ripens before frost.

BOYS WILL BE BOYS

Con Watson, union bus agent at Hobbs, has a lot of boy friends. In fact, says W. D. Benton, Charlie Jones and several others, Con has too many. He is agent for an out-of-town newspaper that arrives about 9 o'clock in the morning and for an hour or so before that time he finds the bus terminal crowded with a score or so of young Americans, as noisy as can be. The other day Con refused to let one boy take some papers out to sell. While his back was turned the boy slipped behind the counter and made away with an armful of papers Con had put aside. Bill Williams, the barber, threatens to name Attorney Benson as juvenile judge to try the cases of Con's friends.

A VERSATILE FAMILY

The Sigler family, over at the Hobbs News, is a very versatile organization. Mrs. Sigler is a first class linotype operator and when it is time to get the "stuff set" she sits down at the Model 14 and pounds away on the keys. Mr. Sigler sets ads, rustles news, makes up the pages and runs the press and Mrs. Sigler works along with him. The two girls and the older boy of the family also work at the cases and the younger boys go out and hustle for news when their mother sends out an "S.O.S." for "copy." The entire family works together and they have lots of fun in "getting out the rag." S. H. Wimberly handles the ads, news, business details, circulation and the like. He is the partner of Stanley Sigler in the paper.

NEW MEXICO SCENERY

One of the prettiest sights in this part of the country at night is the line of derricks that dot the landscape over around Hobbs these warm summer evenings. Coming into town from the east, one does not see much of the lights until near the New Mexico line. There the five or six mile line of derricks, all lighted up like so many attractions at a summer resort, suddenly flash up out of the black night. The lights twinkle and flicker in the distance. Also, going away in other directions from town or else coming into town, the lights may be seen for a little greater distance. Persons who have never seen the lights of an oil field at night frequently stop and gaze in wonder at the sight.

A UNIQUE STATION

Texas has a unique filling station over on the New Mexico line, six miles east of Hobbs. It consists of an old Model T top that covers a hole in the ground, a filling station pump sans shelter of any kind and the car from which the top came. There is also a small tent and some boxes and barrels and a few housekeeping effects. Two men operate the station, or were seen there, the other evening. They have struck up an acquaintanceship with the regular truck and bus drivers who pass the place every day. The station is less than 25 feet from the state line.

OIL HEADQUARTERS

The Smith filling station in Seminole is headquarters for all oil dope in Seminole and central Gaines county. At this station there may be found samples of the line found in the Humble's test south and west of the county seat. These samples smell to high heaven of oil and they are all sacked in small sacks and carded showing the depth at which the rock came. When any resident wants to know the latest about the rest they wander over to the filling station and get it.

PRAY FOR RAIN

People who travel the state highway between O'Donnell and Tahoka are praying for rain. The new detour has been opened to traffic in spite of the fact that the dirt is like so much talcum powder for fineness. At the north entrance to the detour the dirt is so fine that wheels sink down into the ruts almost up to the hubs. Near the south end of the detour there is another soft place. State highway men say they had to open up the detour although they did not want to and that they are as anxious as any one, if not more so, to get the detour settled by moisture. As it was they pumped hundreds of gallons from the lake onto the road to wet it down enough to start traffic.

A GAME PARTNER

"Game to the core" was the comment of George T. Harris, Hobbs justice of the peace, in commenting on a recent suicide case in Hobbs: A young woman, partner with a man in a rooming house, took her own life shortly after her marriage to another man. She came from down the other side of Shreveport, La., and her people, living on a farm, were unable to send for the remains. "Her partner sold out his half of the business and spent his last cent in sending the body back to the old home." Mr. Harris said. "I call that man game. He sold out everything. I am reliably informed, and is starting all over again."

DODGE DEPENDABILITY

TRUE ECONOMY
is more than price deep

Owners of the Dodge Six and Eight are gratified that the features which contribute most notably to the pleasure of owning these cars are also responsible for their economy, dependability and long life.

The carefully-perfected balance of the engines means less vibration. The floating comfort on the road means that the engine and chassis, as well as the passengers, are virtually free from shock and strain.

The strength and permanent silence of the Mono-Piece Steel Bodies reflect freedom from upkeep expense as well as greater safety. The internal weatherproof hydraulic brakes, which give such reassuringly positive stops, are self-equalizing—require no costly adjusting—reduce wear on tires.

Now more than ever before, Dodge cars combine all of the factors you want most in a motor car.

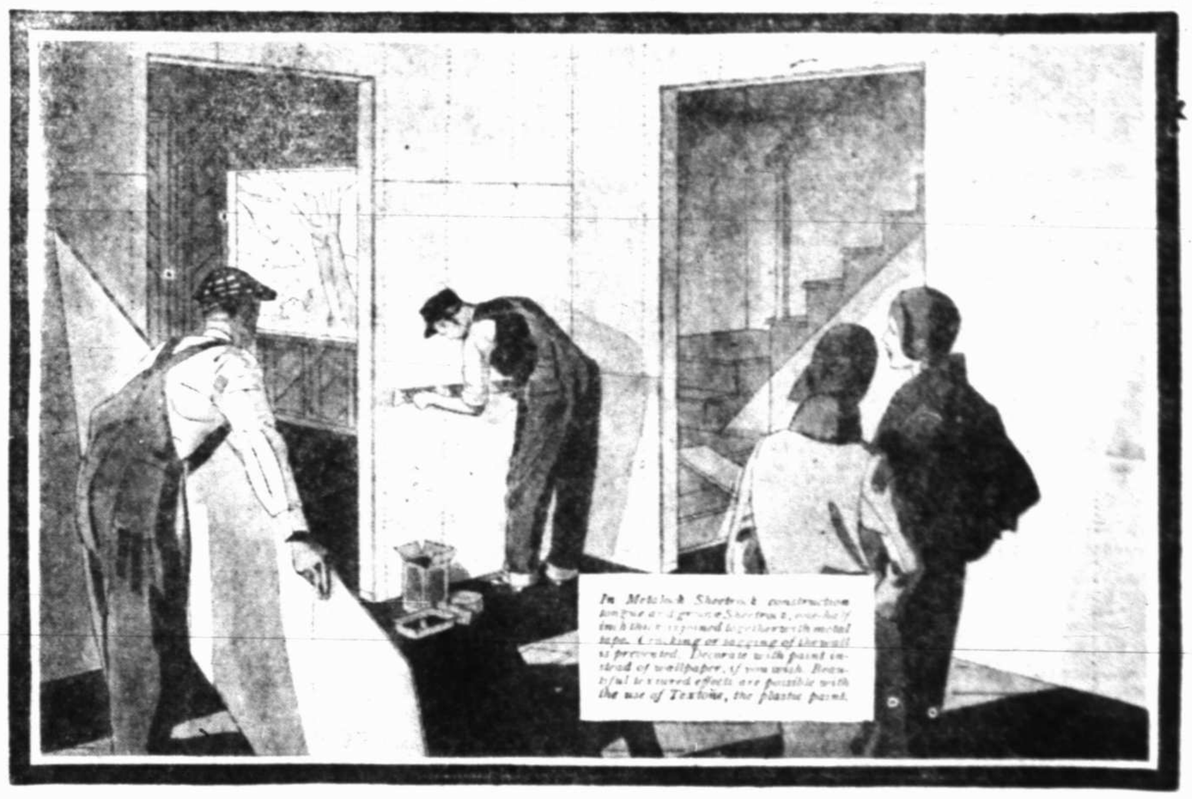
THIS MODERN CONSTRUCTION INSURES LASTING BEAUTY

A MESSAGE TO THE PUBLIC FROM THE UNITED STATES GYPSUM COMPANY



IT'S so discouraging," said a Dallas lady, "to see what happens to walls and ceilings of almost new houses."

It's discouraging—that's true. But over 3,000 Texas home-owners and builders have found a way to end forever this bugaboo of ugly, cracked, disfigured walls.

These folks have used the patented, scientific form of interior walls and ceilings called Metalock Sheetrock Construction.

Metalock Sheetrock Construction provide three important advantages:

1. Permanently smooth walls and ceilings—as smooth years after your house is built as the day you move in. Our patented construction makes failures impossible.

2. You can decorate these smooth, solid walls and ceilings any way you choose. Use paint instead of paper. Or see what beautiful textured effects can be secured by the use of Textone, the plastic paint. Use wallpaper, of course, if you prefer.

3. Metalock Sheetrock Construction is vermin-proof and fire-proof. Wind and sand cannot penetrate.

This modern, new-type interior wall is just as easily installed in old houses as in new. Ask your builder or your lumber dealer to give you full information. Or write us direct for descriptive literature.

We also suggest that you see what beautiful textured effects are possible with Textone, the plastic paint. The ideal finish for Metalock Sheetrock walls and ceilings.

Ask, too, about Sheetrock Tile Board. It gives handsome and durable tile effects to bathrooms, kitchens, restaurants, stores. Can be decorated in any one of many ways.

Lamesa Proud Of Bus Lines Which Give City System Of Transportation Unexcelled

Watson Gives Home Town Something To Be Proud Of; Schedules Radiate To Many Points Every Day

BY VIC LAMB
Special Staff Correspondent

LAMESA, July 2—One of the most complete network of bus lines serving a city the size of Lamesa in Texas spreads out to all points from the Lamesa bus terminal. Over 50 miles are covered each day by drivers using Lamesa as their headquarters.

Bill Watson, manager of the local terminal is also owner of the main line system which plies between Brock and Big Spring. He is also vice-president and holds a large percentage of stock in the Carlsbad auto stages, a company operating two buses between Lamesa and Carlsbad, New Mexico. The Carlsbad stages are managed by C. C. Cain and C. W. Jones.

Connections Are Made

Two buses make the Del-Paso Caverns highway trip each day, leaving here at ten o'clock in the morning and seven in the evening, to arrive here at 8:30 a. m. and 6 p. m. A branch line out of Lamesa, New Mexico to Brownfield, 40 miles southeast, is also owned by Watson. A line to Lubbock, is also owned by the Carlsbad stages company. They have two drivers and several cars and have been operating out of Lamesa for two years, making departures at the Lamesa terminal. Connections may be made from Carlsbad stations to all points in New Mexico and to El Paso and the east.

The Big Star Coaches, incorporated, owned and managed by Bill Watson here has a total valuation including stock, terminals, shops and equipment of $50,000. Mr. Watson's bus lines operates between Brock and Big Spring with headquarters here. Three coaches make a trip each way daily, arriving in Lamesa from the north at 8:30 a. m., 2:40 p. m. and 8:45 p. m., arriving from the south at 8:30 a. m., 12:30 p. m. and 6:40 p. m. They leave here north at 8:30 a. m., 2:40 p. m. and 6:30 p. m. and are going south at 8:40 a. m., 2:30 p. m. and 7:30 p. m.

300 Passengers Per Day

They handle over 300 passengers a week out of Lamesa, Watson stated, but there will be the need for a company to add more buses to the line when schedules it would not want to enter for I have on the buses that can be put immediately. We can handle over 500 passengers out of Lamesa in one night.

Watson has three eighteen passenger coaches, four twelve passengers cars and three eight passenger cars. He has his own repair shop on a lot directly across the street from the terminal in which repairs to cars are made, mechanical work done and also new motors. Three mechanics are employed to keep the buses each in perfect shape. They are engaged principally on the bus which is kept in readiness for operation every hour of the day. Watson's motors run about 70,000 miles per month and a number to them and they have from 5 or 12 passengers.

Has Large Payroll

The drivers, four agents and 3 mechanics are employed by Watson and including himself he has twelve on his payroll.

The Big Star line covers over 300 miles daily between Lubbock and Big Spring making connections out of Lubbock for all northern points, out of Big Spring for Mexico, Fort Worth and the west coasts. Out from Lubbock is arranged for a passenger from Big Spring to make a straight route from Lamesa, Lubbock and Plainview, Texas, without any connections.

Watson has been managing the bus line terminal for four years and in handling it he has steadily increased the holdings in this field, now owning one of the best systems in Texas.

Stops are made in Lamesa for dinner and supper on four trips. One bus stops over for lunch and three in the evening for meals.

Have Rush Seasons

"We have our rush seasons like the post office, especially at Christmas. Last year we had as high as fifty and sixty during each schedule leaving here, necessitating an addition of more buses at that time."

Watson is in favor of Federal designation of the Del-Paso Caverns Highway running between Dallas, through Lamesa and Carlsbad and into El Paso.

"I would be glad to see that road hardsurfaced and get more attention and I'd back all programs instigated by the Del-Paso Caverns highway association that will be for the improvement of this short-trip route."

Watson stated that although it seems peculiar, his big buses hold up better over dirt roads since they get better traction and can stop and start easier.

Hobbs Growth Is Typical Of Oil Sections

Town Now Becoming City And Business Is Greatest In History; Operations In Field Increased

BY J. SAM LEWIS
Staff Correspondent

HOBBS, N. M., Aug. 2—Hobbs is coming out of the kinks in fine shape and is looking like a real city now.

The greatest change possible has been made in the past six to eight weeks and the town today does not bear much resemblance to the town of two months ago.

Hobbs is still a typical oil field town as far as the hustle and bustle are concerned. There are as many or more people here now than at any time in the history of the town.

Field Being Developed

But the development of the oil field has increased so that the field is now said to be caught up with the town. This was not true up to a few weeks ago. Prior to that time the town was far ahead of the field in general development, there being not so very many tests going down and the number of producers was small.

Within the past 30 days the number of oil wells has increased to around 30. A month or six weeks ago there were only one third of that number here.

Operations Increase

Likewise the drilling operations are increasing. Now there are estimated to be at least 60 to 75 drilling holes, possibly more, with that many locations that will begin to be operations in just a short time.

A conservative estimate is that there are a thousand possible locations in this field that will be due to be started within the next year.

Area of the field is unlimited. Present operations have not defined the field and there is no way of telling how far the pool is going to extend.

Supply Houses Plentiful

There are probably a score of oil field supply houses here. The townsite officials say around 65, but they count ever firm that handles oil field machinery or supplies in any way.

But as far as oil men are concerned the number of supply houses is a score or so. These are the larger companies, such as National, Continental, Atlas, Frick-Reid, Hinderleiter, Murray Tool; Black-Sivals-Bryson and the like.

These concerns all have built substantial buildings and yards and they have stock on hand that run into the grillions of dollars. These houses carry pipe and other supplies needed in the drilling of wells and they cater only to the oil companies and drilling contractors handling actual operations.

Town Is Settling

The town is settling down into a semblance of a real community. There is a more orderly sequence of business events.

Erection of new homes is increasing. The number of business buildings is now about at the saturation point as far as the amount of business is concerned. But the big need is for residences.

Local men who are permanently here are building homes and bringing their families to Hobbs. They are prepared to stay here and to this end want to make the stay of their loved ones more comfortable.

Numerous residence, that in other towns would be classified as in the $5,000 and $6,000 class, which is pretty fair for a small town, are being erected here. It is expected that within the next 60 to 90 days the number of homes will be more than double the present number now built or in process of construction.

DETOUR IS CHANGED

Shorter Route Around Lake In Lynn County Given

TAHOKA, Aug. 2. (Special)—The state highway detour around the two big lakes between Tahoka and O'Donnell, has been changed and a new road, just east of the north lake, is now open to the public.

This detour has shortened the old detour around the lake to a considerable extent. It is a little rough at the present time, owing to lack of rain since the work was started.

The south lake has been pumped out a little to permit the state highway to be raised to get above the old high water line.

THE TINYMITES

STORY by HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES by KING

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

"Oh, my," cried Clowny. "We look fine. I think the best shoeshine's on mine. Just look at how they glisten when they're in the bright sunlight. It seems these shiners do not shirk. They sure know how to do their work. Their motto is, when doing things, be sure to do them right."

"And that's a dandy motto, too," replied the Travel Man, "and you should all be governed by that thought whene'er a task is done. When people do things incorrect, no good reward can they expect, but when you do things right, at least it is a lot of fun."

The boys then paid the shoeshine man and they were on their way again. "Let's climb up on a towering wall," exclaimed the Travel Man. "I know the very place to go, to gaze down on the town below." He pointed to a winding path and off the Tinies ran.

"Hey! Wait for me! Don't run so fast. At that quick pace I'd never last," exclaimed the robust Travel Man. The Tinies laughed aloud. "Oh, we're just full of pep today. That's why we hastened on our way," replied one of the Tinies. "We're a very lively crowd."

But, anyway, they stopped their race and all fell in the same slow pace. Soon Carpy said, "Well, mercy me, who is that girl ahead? She has a velvet jacket. Gee, her costume looks real nice to me." The Travel Man just smiled. "Why, she's a vegetable girl," he said.

"That's how all of those girls are dressed. It seems that here folks think the best of vegetables is cauliflower. That's what she's selling, see? Each morning she starts out to roam and makes a trip from \ime to home. Folks buy the cauliflowers and cook them, tasty as can be."

(The Tinymites see a peculiar type of smoking pipe in the next story.)

U. S. LEADS IN AUSTRALIA

Latest American ideas and equipment have been used in the $2,500,000 addition to a leading chain of variety stores in Australia. The innovations were adopted after the architect had toured the United States in quest of ideas. The cafeteria, seating 1,000, is American-equipped, even to the facing of the building with rose-pink, white and blue terra cotto, and the interior with tile and marble in modernistic color arrangements—a radical change in conservative Australia.

AYR'S HELP TO AIRE ENDS

The "adoption" by Ayr, Scotland, of the little town of Aire in the Ardennes came to an end recently, along with the release of 40 French towns and villages which were "mothered" by British communities. Aire was badly battered during the World war, and the Scotch town helped it get back on its feet, presenting a peal of bells to the new church and adding other gifts. Pleasant relations between the two communities grew into a warm friendship when it was found that "Aire" is one of the forms of the spelling of "Ayr."

Judy was too wise to raise any jection or to offer further ad-ce.

"I hope you'll have a good time," e said, with the straight, friendly kind of glance that she gave umont. It was a marvelous piece acting. "But I dare say you'll nt to come back before long." 'll come back when you call ," he said.

"I must make him believe it," said to herself. "I've got to that for Chummy's sake."

The month passed in a whirl Judy. She suddenly changed her habits. She bought clothes developed a taste for late urs and gayety. She was always h Bruce Gideon.

She seemed to hesitate for a moment; then her face broke into the old radiant smile of sheer childlike happiness.

"Of course I'd love to, Bastien! How nice of you to ask me! I love dancing with you."

The more he looked at her, the more poignant grew the longing that could never be fulfilled. Judy with something unapproachable about her — with dainty white gloves on her hands, and high-heeled suede shoes on her perfect feet, and real silk stockings, and a little coat of moleskin fur with a big skunk collar! He left her with a heavy heart.

What hurt Judy most was that she never saw Chummy now. It was to a large extent Chummy's fault, for the latter was engrossed in her work. She had refused one or two invitations to have a meal alone with Judy.

Then, when they did meet by accident, Chummy reported that Alan was thinking of going to Persia with Prany Hylton.

"I think it will do him good," she said in her quiet way. "He doesn't really seem to care for painting."

"A man's got to have some job in life," Judy replied. "I think Mr. Steyne had better find one. Nowadays a young man can't hang about doing nothing."

Camps Being Erected For Oil Concerns

Hobbs Area Is Dotted With Employe Quarters Of Several Big Companies: Humble Has Three Camps

BY J. SAM LEWIS
Staff Correspondent

HOBBS, N. M., Aug. 2—Five large oil companies now operating in the Hobbs field either have completed their camps here for their own employes or are rushing them to completion, L. A. Daniel, of the Hobbs Townsite company, said today.

In addition four large companies have announced they will have camps completed within the next 60 days and will have children ready for the Hobbs school when it opens in October.

Humble Has 3 Camps

The Humble Oil company is using three camps, for its pipe line and its supply department as well as other departments. These are now completed and are in use.

Work on the Shell, Phillips and Amerada camps is well under way with the Gypsy Oil company now starting to erect a camp.

Other companies that will start their camps soon include the Continental, Texas and Pacific and Prairie.

The Gypsy has several houses nearing completion and also a large supply house. This camp is located west of the Humble camp and south of the Shell casinghead plant.

Meantime, the Shell company has begun its camp east of the Texas-New Mexico railroad and north of thte Humble camp.

Each camp is expected to house several hundred men, with a number of them having their families with them. Between 50 and 150 children of school age will likely come from each camp to the new Hobbs school.

Several of the companies, it is learned, expect to have as high as 500 people in their camps by the first of January.

Is Modern City

The Humble camp is attracting wide attention. Situated along the Hobbs-Lovington highway on the west side of the railroad track, the camp is a modern city in itself.

Electrically cooled drinking fountains, electric refrigeration, electric lights, natural gas and other modern conveniences and necessities predominate.

Houses Well Built

The houses are all well built, cool and comfortable. They are all either painted or will be painted as soon as the work can be done.

Construction is so that it provided a maximum of cool air and a breeze from every side during the hot weather. At the same time the buildings are so built as to be kept warm during the winter.

Other companies will use similar types of construction in this field. It is believed that within three or four months every major oil company and also most of the smaller ones, will have camps housing from 50 to 300 people, in full operation.

Supply houses also are well supplied with camps. Their staffs are smaller, as a rule, and not so many houses are needed.

Bunk houses are built for single men and houses for married men. There are dining rooms in each camp for the single men, all modern and sanitary.

SCHOOL MEETING SLATED

LAMESA, Aug. 2.—The Dawson county school board will meet here August 4, it was announced today by W. T. Webb, school superintendent. Classification of schools and arrangement of the school budget will be the principle business.

DIRECTORS TO MEET

LAMESA, Aug. 2.—The regular monthly meeting of the board of directors of the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce will be held Wednesday, August 6. The members meet during a breakfast conference each time.
