Calf Enriches
Building Fund
$1,600 at Sale

The Veterans Memorial Building Fund got a big boost at the Junior Livestock Show Tuesday morning, when a calf owned by Max Pearson was sold seven into the building fund. Pood Herndon first bought the 680 lb. Angus for 47 cents per pound, then returned the animal to the ring, to be sold again and the proceeds to be put in the building fund.

L. R. Conner bought the calf next, for $400, and said "Sell it again!"

Auctioneer Walter Britten obliged, and this time C. W. Foote bought it for $275, saying "Sell it again!"

J. S. Slaughter next bought the calf for $275, and said "Sell it again!"

W. C. Herndon bought the calf for $225 and said "Sell it again!"

The next time the calf sold, it was on a poundage basis, and the F. B. Sumpter Insurance Agency was high bidder with 36 cents, making a total of $244.80 for the calf, and again the order was "Sell it again!"

This time, the bidding dropped a bit, and L. R. Conner bought the calf for the second time, at 30 cents a pound, making the purchase price, $204, and this time had the calf taken out of the ring.

Total amount given to the Veterans Memorial Building Fund was $1,623.80, which came in especially handy, since the fund was getting low.

Teen Town Sets
Food, Rummage
Sale Saturday

Teen Town will hold a food sale and rummage sale in the Bob Schuster Pontiac building on Saturday, February 11, beginning at 10 o'clock and continuing through the entire day. It has been announced. The proceeds will go for operational expenses of Teen Town.

Teen Town this year is attempting to operate without asking for cash donations from civic clubs or individuals, and thus far are making their own way through sales and other activities.

They have received one cash contribution, given by the Tune Twisters, local male quartet composed of Fred Osborne, Clifton Bell, J. D. Davis, Dr. Roy Sanford and Coke Harlow. The Tune Twisters received $50 from the Woodward Chamber of Commerce for their part on the annual banquet program, and they turned the money over to Teen Town.

Among the improvements this year was the installation of six booths along the west wall of the building. This expense was paid out of proceeds from cake sales.

Mrs. C. A. Igou is the hostess and director of Teen Town, and has held this position since Teen Town was organized.

The Teen Town finance committee is composed of Mrs. Fred Osborne, chairman, Mrs. Manse Wood, Mrs. J. H. Kershaw, Mrs. Dewey Allen and Bob Drake.

Local Methodist Church Gives Cash, Clothes to Missionaries

Dr. and Mrs. Roy E. Teele, ministers to Japan and their three children were guests of the First Methodist church in Perryton last Thursday. The family was honored at a noon luncheon and were presented with gifts.

The Teele family have met speaking engagements at several Methodist churches across the North Plains as guests of the Perryton District of the Methodist church, and will sail for Japan around February 22 where they will take up their new responsibilities as teachers at Kwansei University, Nishinomiya, Japan, which is situated near both Osaka and Kobe.

Their salary will be provided by the Methodist churches of the Perryton District through their mission special offerings in support of the missionary phase of the "Advance for Christ and His Church."

Dr. Teele holds the Ph. D. degree and Mrs. Teele the Masters degree. During the war, Dr. Teele was in the language section of the Navy in which he specialized in the Chinese language. After the war he went as an educational missionary to China teaching in Nanking University. After one year in China he was advised to leave because of the approach of the Communists.

They were especially urged to leave because of the threat of danger and privation to their children. Returning to the United States, they had been back a year when the Perryton District asked for a missionary family to support in Japan and the Teele family were released to go as representatives of this district.

There are three children in the Teele family, Kit, Nicky and Becky, ages 8, 5 and 8 months. Families coming into Japan from the outside are required to bring with them enough food and clothing for one year. Consequently the churches of the Perryton District presented them with cash offerings for the purchase of food and other essentials. They also gave them bed coverings and household linens and outfitted them with items of clothing.

They were given a lovely shower of helpful gifts by members of the First Methodist church of Perryton. Individuals and groups participated in giving members of the family numerous items of clothing.

Mrs. Teele received two or three suits and several dresses. The children were presented with many items of clothing and Dr. Teele was outfitted with a suit and other garments.

Rev. Lloyd H. Jones, pastor of the local church, and Rev. Luther Kirk, superintendent of the Perryton District, have expressed their thanks to all persons who participated so generously in the outfitting of this family for their mission in a foreign land.

Local Ministers Attend State Meet at Dallas

Rev. Lloyd H. Jones, pastor of the First Methodist church, and Rev. R. Luther Kirk, district superintendent, left Monday morning for Dallas where they will attend Ministers' Week at Southern Methodist University.

Approximately 1,000 ministers from the southern portion of the U. S. are expected to attend. Rev. Jones stated. Highlight of Ministers' Week will be three lectures. These lecturers are Bishop Sante Barberi of Buenos Aires, Dr. Charles Goff, pastor of the Chicago Temple, and Dr. John Knox of the Union Theological Seminary.

Ministers' week is under the auspices of the Methodist church, but ministers of all denominations attend.

Veteran Forum

Q — My husband, a World War I veteran, gets a pension and does not give me enough money to pay doctor bills. Could I get a part of his pension?

A — Pension may be apportioned only where the veteran and his wife are not living together, you may not be granted a part of his pension.

Q — Is it important for me to show that I have had experience in the line of business in which I am an applicant for a GI business loan?

A — It is important to show such experience because the law explicitly provides "... that ability and experience of the veteran, and the conditions under which he propose to pursue such business or occupation are such, that there is a reasonable likelihood he will be successful. . . ."

Q — Will I have to go to VA for advisement and guidance in event I wish to change my educational course under the GI Bill?

A — To avoid possible delays, a veteran seeking to make his first change of course may go to his school for counseling service. If the school has no organized counseling service or if the student seeks to make further changes in his course after the initial change, he must go to VA for advisement and guidance.

Q — I was discharged from the Army four years ago and now wish to enter a course of embalming. What school may I attend and get the benefits provided by the GI Bill?

A — You may enroll in any school of embalming approved by the State in which the school is located, provided it is willing to accept you.

Prince Charles Has Namesake

LONDON.—(AP)—More and more Britons are naming their sons after Prince Charles. Birth notice columns of the "London Daily Telegraph" alone showed 54 babies christened Charles in 1949 — more than double the number in 1948.

It was well down the popularity list, however. John led, as usual, with 179, followed by David, Richard, Michael and Christopher in that order. Elizabeth — the name of the prince's mother — held second place on the girls' list. First was Susan, with Jane in third place.

— WEEKLY NEWS LETTER —

From W. J. (Bill) Craig

The Legislature convened last week for the purpose of making appropriations for the state hospitals and special schools for next year beginning September 1, 1950 to September 1, 1951. The late Governor Jester vetoed the appropriations as passed by the Legislature last year because they exceeded the estimated revenues as given out by the State Comptroller.

There have been four possible methods proposed to solve the problem of this special session.

1. Reopen appropriation bills passed last spring and trim them down to make available the money for the state hospitals.

2. Pass a tax program to raise additional tax revenue needed.

3. Pass appropriations and spend money not in the treasury. Deficit financing as practiced by the Federal Government.

4. Sell the land that several of the state hospitals now have in the City of Austin, which has become very valuable, take the money and relocate the hospitals outside the city limits. As many of our present buildings have been condemned and declared obsolete, this would give a complete new setup designed for the purpose to be used at less expense than rebuilding and remodeling present buildings.

The state hospital board is asking for a supplemental budget of $488,000 for operating expenses for the balance of the year and $19,250,000 for next year. They are also asking for $5,080,000 for a construction program at the various schools and hospitals. This is a total of $24,827,000. Various tax bills already offered have proposed to place a tax upon divorces; increased tax of one cent a package upon cigarettes; increase in the omnibus tax bill which taxes oil, gas, sulphur, public utilities, phone companies, insurance companies, sales tax on automobiles, liquor and beer, radios, cosmetics, playing cards, carbon black, cement, cigarettes, motor buses, sale or assignment of shares of stock or securities, oil well cementing, occupation taxes upon businesses and persons. There may be other tax bills, but as yet they have not been introduced.

We all realize that the problem of the state hospitals and schools must be solved. The last legislature by the creation of a board of interested public spirited citizens appointed by the governor to investigate the problem and make recommendations, has started to bring about the reforms that have long been needed. As your voice in the Legislature I want to represent your views on the problem. I will sincerely appreciate hearing from you as to your ideas and views upon raising the money to begin to correct and improve our state hospitals and schools; we can do more than just place inmates in a cell and keep them till they die. With a little expenditure we might make useful citizens of many of them with improved methods of treatment now available, and a building program must be started to provide proper care of these people.

Weather Report Is Sealed

SAN PEDRO, Calif.—(AP)—Sunny the seal is acquiring a reputation as a weather prophet among harbor workmen here. He's a reliable sun and smog detector.

On foggy days harbor men keep an eye on Sunny. When the sleek, semi-tame beast pops out of the water to his favorite piling, they know that the sun is about to break through. He usually anticipates it by half an hour.

But if eye-smarting smog is in the air, Sunny refuses to leave the water, even for the lure of a sun bath. He just swims around snapping up choice morsels his human friends toss to him.

Showgirls May Aid Railway

TOKYO.—(AP)—Pretty showgirls may be used in an effort to stimulate lagging passenger traffic on Japanese trains. One railroad official hopes to increase traffic over his line by putting 680 showgirls aboard a special "revue train" designed to carry 1,600 paying passengers. The train would run to Atami, a famous hot springs resort.

Many Japanese Shipwrecked

TOKYO.—(AP)—Shipwrecks cost 5,410 vessels — mostly fishing boats — in Japanese waters last year — an average of almost 15 craft a day.

The marine safety board blamed typhoons and other "irresistible forces of nature" for 40 per cent of the losses. Careless navigation was listed as the cause of 25 per cent, faulty design or obsolescence 15 per cent; and the remainder miscellaneous.

Wheat Prospects Not Improved Southwest, Says Santa Fe Report

As a result of cold weather which froze top growth to the ground, and continued lack of moisture, wheat prospects over the Southwest have not improved during the past month.

Generally speaking, the western third of the wheat belt has received no effective moisture since early October and the threat of wind erosion is ever present, especially where the top soil is loose and cover growth is insufficient.

This section, however, has a large amount of summer fallowed and irrigated wheat which can be expected to produce considerable grain regardless of the weather, and given a favorable break during the next three months all of the western area can come through with a bumper crop.

Benefitted by rain, sleet, and snow, prospects in the eastern two-thirds of the territory generally are very bright at this time, although a few central Kansas counties are severely handicapped by lack of moisture, and some wind damage, has taken place the same as it has in western Kansas, eastern Colorado and parts of the Panhandle country.

The threat of "greenbugs" or aphids still exists as they have been found in damaging numbers in southwestern Oklahoma and in adjacent counties in Texas. Their spread later in the season will depend on weather conditions and the effectiveness of control measures used by farmers.

ers. Leaf rust also has become a serious pest.

Despite these uncertainties about crop larger than in most of these situations probably exist nearly everywhere must be admitted must come due two or three months.

Brand Book Issued by Plains Society

Symbolic of the just traditions of the West, the legendary brands burned into the tough hides of hundreds of thousands of beef cattle are the inspiration for a recent limited edition published by the Panhandle Plains Historical Society at Canyon, Texas.

Bearing the title of the "Heritage of the Range," the 35-page book consists of eight historical sketches by the Southwestern Rancher and historian, J. Everett Haley. Author Haley wrote the sketches from material he has gathered during the course of many years of research into the history, legends and lore of the famous old cattle ranches of the Southwest. The stories deal with the significance of such famous productions of brands and text built the State Capitol of Texas; the famous Belles of New Mexico; the 101 brand, famous throughout the plains of Oklahoma and Kansas; the historic JJ brand of Colorado fame and five others, many of which still survive on the hides of cattle as well as in the minds of men. The stories are attractively illustrated with the fine pen and ink sketches of artist Harold D. Bugbee of Clarendon, Texas, and with reproductions of brands and text material selected from early day brand registration records.

The dam is scheduled to be finished during the 1953 fiscal year. In 1948 a portion of the earthen dam was already completed and the area along the axis of the embankment was cleared of trees and brush, as shown in top picture. Construction of the concrete spillway; across the Brazos River got under way in March 1949, middle picture. Temporary cofferdams were constructed to reroute the stream and concrete mixing plant (background) is rapidly rising above the river, bottom picture. Cranes traveling on a trestle place the concrete. ditional lines.

After the dinner, the group went to the new phone company building, where the actual conversion from hand-wound to dial system was made. At 10:50 p. m., the connections were pulled, and the dial system started operating.

First long distance call over the dial system was made by Carl Ellis, who called J. B. Linn in Amarillo and told him about the new dial system.

Workmen started early Monday morning taking out the old magneto type sets, and expected to be completed with this phase of the work within a few days.

One feature of the open house will be an exposed dial mechanism showing just what happens when a number is dialed, tracing the call through the elaborate wiring in the plant.

The Hereford beef for the barbecue was donated by C. J. Frantz, Jr., and was prepared by Roy Reed of Liberal.

Jake LeMaster, superintendent of the Junior Livestock Show, and Percy Powers, assistant, awarded the cash prizes to the winners of the show, held Monday afternoon. The Chamber of Commerce, sponsors of the calf show, gave the cash prizes, ribbons and banners.

Among the out-of-town guests were John Burns of Ft. Worth, who judged the two shows; Walter Britten of College Station, auctioneer; Henry Elder, secretary of the Texas Hereford Assn.; Claude Willett and Lewis Fields of the Cattleman; and Mason King of the Amarillo Globe-News.

Music on the program was furnished by the Tune Twisters, local male quartet composed of Fred Osborne, J. D. Davis, Clifford Bell, Dr. Roy Sanford and Coke Harlow. They received a big hand and sang two encores.

Approximately 300 persons attended the barbecue.

Forrestal Bust Ordered

WASHINGTON—AP—The son of the late Kysti Kallio, president of Finland from 1937 to 1940, has won a commission to execute a bronze bust of the late James Forrestal, first secretary of defense.

The sculptor, Kalervo Kallio, won by submitting a plaster model in an open competition. His bust was the unanimous choice of the award committee. The Forrestal Memorial Committee, of which Defense Secretary Johnson is chairman, will pay $5,000 for the bust. It will be erected at one of the entrances to the Pentagon.

HAPPINESS AND HEARTBREAK—Dana Andrews and Susan Hayward are the focal characters in "My Foolish Heart," as a couple whose ill-fated love has vast human appeal. In principal support are Robert Keith, Kent Smith, Lois Wheeler, Jessie Royce Landis and Gigi Perreau. The picture comes to the Ellis on Tues.-Thurs. Feb. 21-23.

'My Foolish Heart' Is Tense Drama of Human Emotions

Heralded as one of the most unusual romantic dramas of recent years, "My Foolish Heart," starring Dana Andrews and Susan Hayward, comes to the Ellis Theatre on Tues.-Thurs. Feb. 21-23.

The story concerns a wife who married just after she discovers she is to have a child by another man.

After about seven years the marriage hits the rocks. As Miss Hayward is preparing to leave with her child, she finds an old evening gown which brings back poignant memories of her boarding school romance with a young GI (Andrews), and his untimely death before they can be married. In desperation, she inveigles her school room-mate's fiancé (Kent Smith) into an immediate marriage, with nobody any wiser regarding the parentage of her child. However, this emotional tangle ends on a note of future adjustment.

Great Outdoor Drama Returns With Three Stars

Henry Fonda, star of one of Broadway's biggest stage hits, "Mr. Roberts," can be seen in his greatest film success, "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine." Technicolor drama which returns to the Ellis Theatre on Fri.-Sat., Feb. 11-12.

"The Trail of the Lonesome Pine" is an adventure-packed story of mountaineers and their age-old feuds. Fonda and Miss Sidney play members of the Toller clan, united in their love for each other and their undying hatred for the rival Fain clan.

Their first contact with the outside world occurs when MacMurray, an engineer, arrives to construct a railroad line through their remote hills.

Fonda's jealousy is aroused when Sylvia becomes romantically interested in MacMurray. Knowing only one code — to fight and kill for what he loves — Fonda sets out to "get" MacMurray — with thrill-packed surprises.

Practical Miss Chooses Mate In New Film

Revolving around a business woman's business-like efforts to pick herself a husband, "Bride for Sale," co-stars Claudette Colbert, Robert Young and George Brent in a fun-filled offering which comes to the Ellis on Sun.-Mon., Feb. 19-20.

The film presents Brent as the head of a big accounting firm who hires Miss Colbert as an income tax expert. But his satisfaction at the way she does her job is tempered when he discovers that she took it solely for the purpose of finding a prospective bridegroom with a thriving income.

To teach her a lesson, Brent persuades his wealthy pal Young to pose as a client, get Miss Colbert interested in him, and then turn her down cold. The scheme is fine in theory, but it doesn't work out as expected. The complications get hilarious as both men mind themselves battling for the lady's attentions.

Missionaries Write History

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — Missionary reports make good history, says Dr. Frank J. Klingberg of the University of California. He and his staff have been working 19 years on reports from 1700 to 1949 on the British missionary societies.

Some of the early reports deal with colonial America and give detailed data about communities, Klingberg says.

Perryton Artist Stays Busy

An outstanding collection of oil paintings, relief landscapes, and figurines pay tribute to the dedication of Mrs. Nancy Edmondson, 522 S. Colgate, to keep her complete advanced age and good health.

For seventy-five years old, Mrs. Edmondson has carried out her life, "Keep on keeping on," took up oil painting at age 70, but was recently forced to stop this type of work because of strain on her eyes. At present, painting and painting of figurines occupies her time. She has her own molds from liquid plaster, and has created a wide variety of figures. She has sold a number of them, but at present, no suitable place to display work. Before some of her work was sold through a second store which belonged to her husband of her niece, Mrs. Boston.

Mrs. Edmondson is a native of Perryton, Texas, and was born in Montague county, Texas, but she spent twenty years of her life in New Mexico. She came to Perryton following the death of her husband at Des Moines, New Mexico. "I like Perryton fine; it's a nice place to live," she said, "and I thought the climate in New Mexico better for my health."

One of Mrs. Edmondson's favorites among her work on display at her home is an oil painting entitled "Sir Galahad." The day also includes three-dimensional work with both rebus and frontier subjects. Her figurines include a wide variety of subjects including Indians, frontiersmen, buffalo, cats, etc.

Mrs. Edmondson says that she is interested in drawing as a hobby, but never received any instruction. She learned oil painting and relief landscaping while living in New Mexico.

Mrs. Edmondson has no children and lives alone at 522 S. Colgate. A niece, Mrs. Rose Powell, is a member of the Perryton pool faculty.

Mr. and Mrs. H. I. Hudson of was visited friends in Perryton today.

MRS. NANCY EDMONDSON is shown above with a display of her art work which includes figurines, two dimension landscape work, and oil paintings. Now seventy-five years old, Mrs. Edmondson started doing oil painting when she was sixty years old.

Legislature Is Cooperating to Raise Money for Institutions

(Note: this is the last of three articles by the Governor of Texas, outlining the eleemosynary needs and the financial problems of the State.)

By ALLAN SHIVERS
Governor of Texas

The Texas Legislature, now in special session at the Governor's call, is showing a laudable inclination to pitch in and solve the state hospital problem.

Legislators differ, of course, as to the best way to do it. That is natural, and a desirable feature of our democratic system. The important thing is to arrive at a solution so the state hospitals and other institutions for sick and handicapped Texans will not suffer from lack of funds.

As explained in two earlier articles, the Legislature must (1) appropriate operating funds for the fiscal year starting Sept. 1, 1950, (2) make some start on a badly needed building program at these institutions and (3) find the money with which to do these necessary things. The cost is estimated at $26,000,000.

I have explained that an anticipated $26,000,000 deficit in the General Fund makes it impossible to appropriate from that fund at this time. It also casts great doubt upon the possibility that the Legislature can cut enough out of current expenditures to make up the deficit and free any money for hospitals. And under the Constitution, the deficit would have to be covered before any money from General Revenue could be spent on the hospital program.

As explained in the second article, we now spend 90 cents of each state dollar on three things: schools, roads, public welfare. It would be impossible to cut back present spending to the required point without dipping heavily into some or all of those three appropriations. The question then is, do the people of Texas want the school, rural road and old age assistance programs curtailed?

Assuming that they do not, the Legislature would have to supply additional revenue to foot the hospital bills.

The only other possibility would be to vote, by four-fifths majority in each House, to let another $26,000,000 be added to the deficit we are expected to face next year. The Legislature has indicated no definite desire to do that.

My own views on the emergency and the most practical solution were given to the Legislature in part as follows:

"Having called this emergency session, I think I ought to have the courage to share with you the responsibility for resolving the emergency.

"Therefore, I earnestly recommend to you the following program:

"1. That you give immediate and sympathetic consideration to these requests for funds to operate our state hospitals, special schools and correctional institutions and to start the building program, making adequate appropriations for these purposes; and that you finance these appropriations by levying a special additional tax upon the broad base that now provides revenues for the so-called omnibus tax fund. The tax to raise the operating funds should be a temporary tax expiring with the emergency. This would mean an additional levy upon such items as oil and gas, sulphur and whiskey, beer and wine, cosmetics and playing cards, automobiles and cigarettes, carbon black, radios and cement, insurance companies, telephone companies and utilities.

"2. That you give the same urgent consideration to the Board's recommendation for a long-range building program.

"3. That the income from these special levies be placed in a special fund or funds, to be used for the sole and exclusive purpose of financing these necessary programs.

"The tax proposed is a broad-based tax which spreads as widely and as fairly as possible the common burden of our common problem and common duty. Obviously I think it is the most practical and desirable plan under the circumstances or I would not recommend it to you. Frankly, I can think of no other cause or purpose for which I would suggest the levying of additional taxes at this time.

"I have given you my idea. I welcome yours. Let's work together with wholehearted application to the problem.

"Quick action on this emergency matter will have another desirable effect — it will leave us time, perhaps, to re-examine our financial commitments and effect any economies that the Legislature, in its wisdom, might deem possible. Our first duty is to those who are under our care and on our conscience. When that duty has been discharged, we can and should consider very reasonably possibility of achieving economy. I want to stress again that such savings will decrease the General Fund deficit but, because of that deficit, can hardly be expected to benefit the hospital program.

"Time is precious. This is a 30-day session, and the people of Texas will rightfully expect us to take appropriate final action within that period."

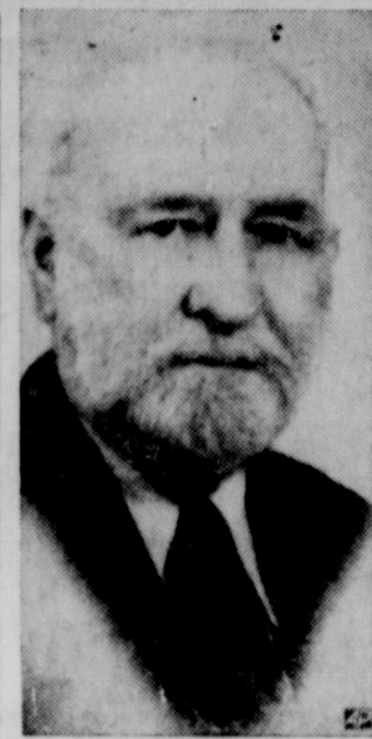

Of one thing, I am sure — the people of Texas want their friends and neighbors cared for properly and cured if possible when they are so unfortunate as to have to be placed in a mental or other state institution.

I wish to thank those who were so nice to me during my stay in the Perryton Hospital. Thank you for the flowers, cards and visits.

A Notable Birthday

America's Boy Scouts and leaders, now numbering 2,300,000 strong, are observing the 40th anniversary of their organization from Feb. 6 to 12. Scouting has become so woven into the American way of life it is difficult to recall when our nation did not have this character-building, leisure time program for its youth.

Since 1910, more than 16,500,000 American boys and men have had the benefits of the training, fellowship, handicraft skills and high adventure of Scouting. America is all the richer for it. Many men in high places in American affairs today proudly credit Scouting's influence in their lives.

The year-in, year-out civic and emergency service to the nation by Boy Scouts, needs no recital here. Scouting brings to boys at an important time in their lives a program of worthwhile activities, under high grade volunteer leadership.

The need is for more boys to have the advantages of Scout training. Although more than 2,300,000 boys and leaders are now in Scouting, there are thousands of boys still outside the organization. They can get into the fun if more institutions open their doors to them in their own neighborhoods, and if more men interested in boys, volunteer their time as leaders. It's an investment that pays off richly in personal satisfaction.

This Is Not Fiction

Will the reader pretend that he has an obscure neighbor by the name of Harry Truman? And will he pretend that Neighbor Truman has decided he must borrow money, a decision which many of us ordinary folks have reached many times in the tempestuous course of life?

Neighbor Truman, we're going to pretend, steps into the bank to apply for the loan, and we're going to have the privilege of observing the transaction.

"I want to borrow $500," says our neighbor. (Now most will anticipate the next few questions, having been through it.)

"Do you have any debts at the present time?" the banker inquires.

"Yes," says our neighbor. "I owe the bank at this moment about $25,800."

"What is your annual income, Mr. Truman?"

"I have take-home pay amounting to $3,750 a year," says he. "Hmhmhm," the bank hms. He at once is suspicious of the client's ability to pay the old debt without $500 more added. And aren't his eavesdropping neighbors suspicious, too?

But the banker gives allowance for unforeseen circumstance. So he asks Mr. Truman, "Do you think you will be able to save a large portion of your income this year and each succeeding year to reduce your indebtedness?"

"Oh, no," Neighbor Truman replies to the surprise of the banker, and the neighbors listening in. "My necessary living expenses this year will be $4,250. I'll be forced to spend more than I earn."

"Pardon me," the startled banker interjects. "Do you mean that, owing already an amount that constitutes seven times what you'll take in during a year, you're going to spend more than you earn?"

"That's right," says neighbor Truman.

"You see I must provide tuition at private schools for my children. I must help a poor relative set up a new business in which he's going to lose money for a long time to come."

"Just what kind of business is that relative going to sink your money in?" the incredulous banker asks.

"Why," says Mr. Truman, "he's got a wonderful humanitarian idea. He's going to sell milk to the Hottentots at a price they can afford to pay."

"But just those things want eat up your whole income this year, will they?"

"No, but that isn't all," says Mr. Truman. "I am building security for my children by putting price supports under them. My boys sell newspapers to the neighbors at a nickel apiece, but I give them an extra nickel. My daughters make lamp shades which sell for $5, but I don't think that's a fair price, so I give an extra $2 for each one they sell. Besides my wife wants a television set."

The banker now steps aside to get his breath. Here's a fellow who owes more than he can ever repay if he lives frugally below his income seeking to borrow still more, and at the same time boldly proclaiming his intentions of carrying out fantastic money-spending schemes.

What will the banker do?

Will he lend the new money? It's silly even to ask the question. This scene is not fiction. It constitutes a faithful reproduction of the program set forth in regal solemnity by President of the United States Harry S. Truman. Multiply all figures by 10 million and you have the Truman budget, his plan of government, the government's income, and the government's debt.

In this case Congress is the banker. If it makes the loan, Borrower Truman's note will have to be signed by the taxpayers, which is to say by all the people. Who, in his right mind, would voluntarily sign the note of such a profligate spender?

Wolf Creek Philosopher

Wants Potato Deal Applied to Wheat

(Ed. note: The Wolf Creek Philosopher has a strange idea about the government farm program, his letter this week reveals. We suppose his idea is as good as any, at that.)

Dear editor: I have been reading a lot of comment in the newspapers about the government's potato deal, been reading how the commentators and editorial writers are outraged over the government's payin farmers a big price for potatoes and then sellin em back to the same farmers for one cent a hundred pounds, to get em off the market, but it seems to me all the editors is missin the main point.

What burns me up about this deal ain't that it looks like a pretty good thing for the potato growin farmer or that it may cost a little money, government's gonna spend money, whatever it does.

What burns me up is the fact that the government is gonna dye the potatoes so the farmer can't sell em again.

As I understand it, the farmer grows the potatoes, the government buys them at a fair price which happens to be considerably above the market and then sell em back to the same farmer at a fraction of what it just got through payin.

So far, such a deal sounds reasonable to me. But some smart aleck slips in the provision that the potatoes has to be dyed so they can't be sold again.

What I want to know is what in thunder difference does it make to the government whether it's buyin a new potato or a used potato so long as it ain't gonna go nowhere except from the farmer to the government and back to the farmer? What in blazes difference does it make to some Washington bureaucrat whether the potato the government's buyin and losin money on is new or second hand, soft or hard, sproutin or not, so long as it ain't gonna be eaten anyway?

Why make a farmer go to all the trouble of growin a new crop, wearin himself and his equipment out and wastin time and energy and money, when his old potatoes would depress the market just as much if they turned loose? Let him store his equipment and sit by the fire and sell the same potatoes back and forth till they wear out.

There's always some bureaucrat thinkin up some scheme to make the farmer work harder for no reason at all. I don't grow no potatoes myself but I got sense enough to see they could use the same potatoes over and over with a whole lot less trouble. Any chance of gettin that program started in Ochiltree county on wheat?

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Returned 'Husband' Wrong Man

BERLIN—AP — The German frau burst across the street into the arms of a man. For six years she had not seen her husband, a prisoner of war in Soviet Russia. He stood there, his arms around her in dumb shock. The tableau broke quickly and the passersby moved on.

The couple went home and the wife picked up the threads of the old existence as though it never had snapped. Eight weeks went by. Then the husband's brother started to get a little picky about things. Much to the wife's annoyance he took his brother's fingerprints to the police.

The case wound up in the Lichterfelde courts. The man wasn't a "husband" and he wasn't a "brother." The court imposed six months prison sentence on him.

Mexico-Italy Talk Barter

MEXICO CITY—AP — Mexico would be glad to trade more goods with Italy. She might even take small complete industries from Italy, machinery, materials and workers with the know-how. One of these barter deals — Mexican sugar for Italian rayon yarn — has been successfully concluded. It was for a value of "several million dollars." Both sides are satisfied but the deal will not be renewed. Mexico now produces all the rayon she needs and Italy has found a cheaper place to buy sugar. Barter deals are not as easy to arrange as they seem. Two countries must first find products they can export and which the other needs. Then they agree on the value of the goods for trading purposes. Want Ads are

W MOTOR OIL—Continental Oil Company scientists and technologists inspect automobile engines in a 50,000-mile test run along the sizzling Mexican border to prove the quality of new Conoco Super Oil. Norman Penfold (left center), of the Southwest Research Institute, certified the test. Here shows making measurements on a crankshaft after the 50,000-mile run. Test run was made over a period of 70 days, with car making an average of 60 miles per hour, 14 hours each day, 6 days a week. Mexican border heat that often reached 110 degrees in the shade. Measurements showed that engines had no wear of any consequence; by actual measurement with sensitive instruments, wear was less than one one-thousandth of an inch on cylinders and crankshafts. Other men in picture, (left), general sales manager for the Continental Oil Company, and W. F. Ford, director of the company's engine laboratory, helping Penfold measure motor parts; Frank Suess, director of sales engineering, and E. R. WHAT IT MEANS

Inter-American Defense

By CLARK BEACH

WASHINGTON—American defense plans are by no means confined to the North Atlantic area to cooperation only with North Atlantic Pact nations. U. S. is working as closely ever with other American republics in mutual defense agreements. The Inter-American Defense Board has just been organized, and it will continue initially to prepare plans for cooperative effort in case any of 11 American republics is attacked by an outside power. The board now has new quarters at 2600 16th St. N.W. in Washington. In it about 60 military men from all the republics are working. Chairman of the board is Gen. Willis D. Crittenden, former head of the U. S. Caribbean Defense Command. He is also chairman of military advisers to the U. S. delegation to the United Nations. He also has just been named representative for the United States on the Military Committee of the North Atlantic Military Organization.

Gen. Omar Bradley is the representative. Since Bradley has full duties as chief of U. S. military forces, it is assumed Crittenden will be a key man in the new job.

The technical work of drawing up military plans is handled by a staff under the direction of another American Maj. Gen. Robert L. Walsh, U. S. Air Force. Walsh is also chairman of the Canadian-United States Defense Commission and of the Joint United States-Brazil Defense Commission.

The Inter-American Defense Board has been in the business of preparing plans for multi-national defense for such a long time that its methods of accomplishment are likely to be studied with considerable interest by the men now working on North Atlantic defense plans. Already some of the experts from the North Atlantic group have visited the Inter-American headquarters to establish contacts and obtain information.

Creation of the Inter-American Board was decided upon in the dark hour when the Axis powers were a threat to security of the Western Hemisphere. Its formation was directed by the meeting of Foreign Ministers of the American Republics at Rio de Janeiro in January, 1942.

Military delegations from all the republics met in Washington and on March 30, 1942, set up the Inter-American Defense Board. It has been in continuous operation ever since, with headquarters here.

It has drawn up a voluminous set of detailed plans for collective defense action. The plans are sent to each of the governments when completed. They become binding after the separate governments adopt them.

The plans have included such subjects as home defense units, training in the detection of clandestine radio transmissions, exchange of air information, transit of military aircraft, organization and operation of irregular forces, supervision of telecommunications, protection of merchant marine, security against sabot-fense against any other aggressors. The emphasis has been on standardization of army and technical equipment and on uniformity of organization.

Late in 1945 the board began to consider the matter of reorganization on a permanent basis. Such a reorganization was directed by the Ninth International Conference of American States held at Bogota, Colombia, in the spring of 1948. The reorganization was completed last month.

The work of the board is directed by a council of delegates, in which each nation has one vote. The technical work, handled by the staff, is accomplished chiefly by four permanent committees, designed along the lines of the Army General Staff. The committees are concerned with (1) plans, (2) intelligence, (3) training and organization and (4) logistics.

Gives Chickens Fresh Air

DES MOINES, Iowa—A new, thermostatically controlled, in the new Murray Crisman chicken house enables him to house 1,000 birds in an area that normally would accommodate only 600.

Crisman farms northeast of Vinton, Iowa. The ventilating system in the big, modern chicken house, includes an 80-foot long aluminum duct bisected by an insulating material to provide separate channels, one for sucking in the fresh air and the other for blowing out stale air.

A 20-inch fan at one end of the building pulls in the fresh air. The house is kept closed.

Conoco to Put New Motor Oil On Market

PONCA CITY, Okla., Feb. 8 — Continental Oil Company today announced development of a new motor oil which is the result of more than eight years' laboratory research, two winters of testing in Montana and Colorado, and 50,000-mile road-run in temperatures that range as high as 110 degrees in the shade.

The new product will be made available to the public February 15 throughout the company's trade outlets, according to L. F. McCollum, president.

The oil, McCollum said, marks another step forward in methods pioneered and developed by Continental to use additives in mineral oils to increase effectiveness against wear and assure longer life for automobile engines. It is called Conoco Super Motor Oil.

"The spectacular road test, conducted in the summer of 1949 on the Mexican border, showed that the new oil virtually stops wear before it starts," McCollum stated. "In fact, by measurements with highly sensitive instruments, wear was an average of less than one one-thousandth of an inch on cylinders and crankshafts. Original factory machining marks were still visible on cylinders and piston rings."

"In a 70-day road test, six cars and four trucks piled up a combined mileage of a half-million miles at an average speed of 60 miles an hour by the cars and 50 miles per hour by the trucks," McCollum continued. "The cars traveled 800 miles a day and the trucks 690 miles daily, six days a week until each hit the 50,000 mile mark. This distance is equal to five years' mileage for the average family car."

Because trees keep sun from the ground, forests are cooler than plains.

Modern oil wells commonly reach depths of 10,000 feet.

THE TEXAS POLL:

Economy Is Fine, Says Texas Public—For the Other Fellow

By JOE BELDEN

Director, The Texas Poll
AUSTIN, Texas — Economy advocates are bound to have a hard time in the current session of the Texas Legislature because the public is not prepared to accept cuts in the major services of the state government.

A statewide survey by The Texas Poll shows very little sentiment for reducing the big costs of the state government. At the same time, three out of every four tax payers are echoing the demand for improvement of our mental hospitals.

Practically all of the state's tax money now goes to education, highways, old age pensions, law enforcement, public health, and care of the mentally ill. Very few Texans think we are spending too much for any of these services.

This survey was completed just before the Legislature opened its special session. It is based on interviews with a representative cross section of one thousand men and women living in all parts of the state.

These questions were asked:

1. "What is your opinion about each one of the expenses of our state government? (Six major services were listed on a card shown to each person.) Are we spending too much, not enough, or about the right amount for law enforcement? Education? Care and treatment of insane? Old age pensions? Public health? Roads and highways?

Law enforcement:
Too Much 28% Not Enough 50% Right Amount 12% Don't Know 10%
Education:
Too Much 4% Not Enough 56% Right Amount 35% Don't Know 5%
Care and treatment of insane

Public health 2 48 35 15

2. "In your opinion, what is the biggest problem facing our state government in Austin?"
Mental hospitals and other state institutions 15%
Raising more money 14%
Efficiency-economy in operating the government 7%
Education 5%
Facial problem 4%
Tidelands 2%
Unemployment 1%
Health 1%
Roads 1%
Old age pensions 1%
Juvenile delinquency 1%
Miscellaneous other problems 8%
No opinion what is the biggest problem 43%

(The percentages in the above table add to more than 100 because some persons named two or more problems.)

It is significant that 43 per cent would express no opinion as to what is the biggest problem. Many who felt more money should be spent for the mental hospitals apparently were not prepared to say this is the state's biggest problem.

A wide variety of miscellaneous problems were named by 8 per cent of the persons interviewed. These problems include "industrializing Texas," "stopping oil imports," "paying veterans bonus," "getting rid of lobbyists," "public housing," "rent control," "price control," "conservation of water," "crime prevention," "liquor control," "getting new ideas over in our one-party government," "preserving states rights," "the coming election," and "ignorance."

Economy advocates may find some encouragement in the fact that an articulate minority (7

(Ed note: This is the first of a series of articles written by Gene Ehrlich, a Texas University journalism student. Gene, whose home is in Follett, wrote similar articles on the Texas Legislature for the Herald last year.)

State politicians generally shun the mention of the word tax in an election year as if it were a plague. Now, since they were called to special session by the governor they can't get away from talking taxes in the 1950 election year. What a difference this has made in the legislature!

Gone are the fiery speeches about taxes, the arm waving, and the impassioned tirades against "special groups" that don't pay their share.

The 30-day special session is to raise money for state mental and juvenile institutions which have long been neglected. The opening days saw politicians grouped together in every corner talking in serious deliberate tones.

No legislator is anxious to come back home with the record of having voted for tax increases in an election year, no matter how pressing the need, for the simple reason that it isn't good politics. Maybe this year will be different but there is no denying that legislators are keeping their ears tuned to the home pastures for signs of trouble.

Senators and representatives are agreed the situation is serious. They have also been stung by the report of the U. S. Public Health Service which branded Texas mental hospitals, "the worst in the nation."

One Associated Press correspondent stated, "Why in committee meetings legislators are even listening to the speaker before the committee and what's more they are all seated."

Last year it was a different story for the main reason that there was a rosy surplus of $100 per cent) voiced a demand for cutting expenses and reorganizing the government for greater efficiency. But more than twice as many persons believe the mental hospitals come first.

up for consideration.

Another proposal which has received a lot of attention is a one cent increase in the state tax on cigarettes. Representative Jimmy Horan of Archer City has estimated it would bring in $35,500,000 over a five year period.

Governor Allen Shivers asked in his address to the legislature, Wednesday, February 1, that a special additional and temporary levy be placed on such items as gas, sulphur and whiskey, beer, and wine, cosmetics and playing cards, automobiles and cigarettes, carbon black, radios, cement, insurance companies, telephone companies and utilities. This falls under what is called the "omnibus" clause for taxing. He also asked that the income from these levies be put aside for the exclusive purpose of financing programs to take care of Texas mental hospitals and juvenile institutions.

Panhandle representatives whose terms expire this year are: William J. Craig, Miami, law student; Grainger W. McIlhenny, Wheeler, attorney; J. Blake Timmons, Amarillo, insurance man and law student; and A. J. Rogers, Childress.

Senator Grady Hazlewood, Amarillo, was elected president pro tem of the Senate for the special session and does not come up for reelection until 1952.

Committee hearings on the proposed tax measures are scheduled to begin Monday, February 6. It is almost a certainty now that the legislature will not go on deficit financing. Which simply means they won't leave this special session without raising some money by some

National Youth Week Observed By Perryton Christian Church

The Perryton Christian Church observed National Youth Week, Jan. 29 to Feb. 5, with three nights of special activities for young people.

The kick-off was a program scavenger hunt beginning at 5:30 p. m. Sunday night when four different teams were given thirty minutes to secure persons to come to Sunday evening church services and take in the evening's program.

Balko Junior High Cagers In Forgan Tournament

ORGAN — Balko's smooth king junior basketball team is in the Forgan tournament today night defeating the pin juniors 16 to 15 in the first game.

Balko scored in the first ten minutes of the game and were ahead all the way despite the fact that they never gained a comfortable lead. Both clubs had air-tight defensive ball, poor shooting did not account for the lack of scoring. Balko led 8 to 7 at the end of the first quarter, and the half score was 8 all. At the end of the third period Balko was ahead 14 to 12. Early in the fourth quarter Duff arched a beautiful shot from near the center of the court to make the score 12 giving Balko their most substantial lead of the game.

Coach Palmer, Balko coach, was in the Beaver hospital and unable to attend the game. Supt. L. Boyer piloted the team through the breath taking game which left a packed gymnasium near nervous exhaustion in the final whistle sounded. The Balko juniors won their first game of the tournament finals by beating Bethany and Forgan.

and their three tournament game made it 16 straight wins for the outstanding little club.

Balko junior girls won their opening game over Forgan 21 to 11, but were defeated 34 to 21 by Beaver. They were eliminated Friday night when they lost to the Bethany sextette by a score of 28 to 25.

White House Flag Is Down

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The flag isn't flying over the White House any more. It was taken down recently as reconstruction work got well started, and it won't be raised again until the job has been completed.

Old Glory is still flying, nevertheless, over the Blair House, where the President now lives.

Holly trees should be planted 25 to 30 feet apart.

IS HE CONFUSED?—Basketball coach Jack Williams of Sam Houston State College, Huntsville, Tex., seems to be having as much trouble telling the Dickens twins apart as does the opposition. Floyd is in the middle and Lloyd is on the right. But coach Williams wonders if they might not have switched around for this picture. Anyway, he finds the confusion pleasant as the twins, both freshmen, are playing an important role in the Bearkats' bid for the Lone Star Conference basketball title this year. (AP Photo)

The Balko Independents met the Adams outsiders in the first game of the Turpin tournament, and the score was tied at the end of the fourth quarter, but Adams was out front by one point at the end of a three minute overtime period.

The meeting of the Balko Parent-Teachers Association was well attended Monday night, and after the program parents were shown three educational motion pictures including "Pop Rings the Bell," "The Assignment for Tomorrow," and "Things That Happen Over Coffee."

The next program which is scheduled for March 6 will be under the direction of Mr. Westfall, band director.

Thomas Palmer, Balko coach, was a patient at the Beaver hospital Saturday through Monday. Mrs. Marie McGlamery is teaching in his place this week.

Derrel Dean Renfrow, who has been working at Snyder, Texas is now at home with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Renfrow.

Rangers Win One, Drop One to Lynx

The Rangers played their best game of the season Friday night against the Spearman Lynx, led most of the half, and victory seemed secure until Burleson of the Lynx dropped in a two-pointer with 45 seconds to play and gave the Lynx a 30-29 victory.

Even after Burleson's game-winning goal, the Rangers had three chances for victory. Floyd Pletcher missed a crisp shot. Dean Morgan missed a free throw and Sonny Schnell missed two free throws with seconds left in the game.

The Rangers were behind, 13-16, at half time, but forged into a 25-22 lead at the end of the third quarter. With five minutes left to play, the Rangers were in front, 27-24, and when the official time out came with three minutes left, the Rangers led, 29-27.

The crowd went into a frenzy during those last wild three minutes, and it looked as if the Rangers would win their first basketball game of the season. In the curtain raiser, the Ranger B team won their second start of the year, trimming the Spearman seconds, 19-11. The Ranger seconds were ahead all the way and increased their lead during the final quarter from two points to eight.

Bobby Campbell was high point man with 5, followed by Laurel Lovett with 4.
