The Woman's Day

By Allene Sumner

On an autumn day with heaps of gold and crimson leaves crackling underfoot, and the chestnut man selling his piping-hot nuts, one would hardly be thinking of Christmas. But a bargain can make a woman think of anything. It was a sign in the window of an art shoppe that lured me in—Ten Per Cent Reduction on All Engraved Christmas Cards Bought This Month," said the sign.

Pawed 'Em Over. I went in to paw over with a dozen other women the array of Christmas cards which the girl set before me. Such an array! The post chaise spilling out crinolined ladies, gay bundles under their arms; slim-legged Windsor clinkers circled about an old fireplace; cat-tailed spires towering over quaint old-world streets; snow-drift and sleigh, poinsettia and golden candle-green wreath and stained glass panel. With the prices nearly halved under each card at so much a hundred. That made me stop my enchanted looking. That meant one order on 'em cards—I couldn't have them all. I had to decide on one card.

Rebellion rose in my breast. What is this code which insists that "our best people" must select one card? I stamped with their names and end it out wholesale to perhaps a hundred friends as different as the Christmas cards themselves? Friends, to some of whom, one might wish to nod just a casual, indifferent "merry Christmas"; to others, a more personal wish or "Christmas message." What fun it would be these calm days long before the Yuletide rush begins to calmly sit down to a thousand Christmas cards and, with no jesting bargain-hunting, hurriedly select just the right Christmas card for each. The girl behind the counter looked at me. "But, Madam, everybody orders engraved cards!" "I don't!" said I, continuing seeking out ethereal spires and crinolined ladies of the long ago.

Contagious. My revolt started something. A girl next me had handed over her engraved name plate and was told that it would cost her a dollar to have the "Miss" waxed out on her plate. "You never use 'Miss' on a Christmas card," explained the clerk. "Why not?" asked the girl. "Oh, nobody ever does it!" "Well, I think I will!" said the girl, and she did.

Can it be that something within the breast of modern woman is endangering the chaperon of Etiquette with her spoon to the right and fork to the left, her two calling cards left with the right corner of one thrust down, her soup that must be dipped away from the face?

Is Etiquette Bank? Perhaps it's a depression, but what about etiquetual rules, anyway? My free-born spirit of a Kilt Brother argues that Blue and Red and Yellow Books of Etiquette are all the bank; that it's a man's own self that counts whether he uses his fork right or not. Nothing original or new in K. E.'s argument, of course. Nor for that matter, in mine.

I argue that an observance of etiquetual rules saves a lot of time by introducing one to Society. It saves for one, "I've had a little bringing up—I want to be agreeable and considerate; I want to line up with the right people." Even though we grant the intrinsic folly of some of Etiquette's maxims, the idea is sound.

Mrs. R. A. Mills Is Charming Hostess At Bridge

A charming party of yesterday was given by Mrs. R. A. Mills, 2509 15th street, when she entertained for a number of friends at bridge. Hallowe'en colors were found in the score pads and other appointments and in favors for each guest Chrysanthemums and other fall flowers were in harmony with the decorative scheme. In the home Mrs. G. H. Atwood high and was presented with a hand-painted nut bowl; Mrs. D. D. Cross, who cut high, was given a crystal candy jar, and Mrs. L. R. Gamble was consoled with a sachet box.

Guests were Mesdames Earl Spores, E. L. Doherty, R. D. Benson, R. D. Moxley, Gus L. Ford, LeRoy Patton, W. M. Craig, D. D. Cross, John Dalrymple, J. H. McKinney, Ross McWhorter, Owen McWhorter, Don Mitchell, W. H. Washburn, R. Gammill, G. L. Tave, Vanita Robinson, M. E. Farris, G. H. Ater, R. M. Chitwood and R. E. Gartin.

REFEREEING A GRID GAME ISN'T AS EASY AS IT LOOKS, SAYS DR. EDDIE O'BRIEN, FAMOUS FOOTBALL OFFICIAL

By DR. E. J. O'BRIEN, Famous Football Referee. Most football fans do not realize that before a big game the referee has a great many details to look after.

REFEREEING A GRID GAME ISN'T AS EASY AS IT LOOKS, SAYS DR. EDDIE O'BRIEN, FAMOUS FOOTBALL OFFICIAL

The first is to see that the ball is one which is made according to the dimensions laid down in the rules. They state that the ball shall be made of leather, in which is a rubber bladder, and that this must be tightly inflated, and when so shall have the shape of a prolate spheroid.

REFEREEING A GRID GAME ISN'T AS EASY AS IT LOOKS, SAYS DR. EDDIE O'BRIEN, FAMOUS FOOTBALL OFFICIAL

Also, he must weigh the ball, which shall weigh not less than or more than 15 ounces. He must also see that the field is a rectangular field, 360 feet in length, and 160 feet in width.

REFEREEING A GRID GAME ISN'T AS EASY AS IT LOOKS, SAYS DR. EDDIE O'BRIEN, FAMOUS FOOTBALL OFFICIAL

He must also see that the field is properly marked with white lines five yards apart and parallel to the goal lines. The goal line is established in the field of play 10 yards from and parallel to the end lines.

REFEREEING A GRID GAME ISN'T AS EASY AS IT LOOKS, SAYS DR. EDDIE O'BRIEN, FAMOUS FOOTBALL OFFICIAL

It seems to one who has specialized as a referee that the majority of spectators appear to be of the mind that the referee, and he alone, calls all fouls and inflicts all penalties. It might be well to be acquainted with what constitute the duties of the four main officials of a football game.

The linesman is under the supervision of the referee and marks the distance gained or lost in the progress of the play. He is also charged with seeing that players are on-side when the ball is put in play, and is also to look out for the tripping of ends, encroachment on the neutral zone. This year, he is specially charged with the duty of looking for fouls committed by the offense on the so-called screen forward pass play.

The umpire is the judge of the conduct and position of the players. He is charged with seeing that the players wear only equipment as provided for in the rules. For instance, if a man has sharp metal cleats, or has hard metal or projecting shoulder pads, knee pads, etc., it is the duty of the umpire to see that this equipment is not worn. He is the man who calls most of the fouls committed by players, such as holding, pushing, pulling, tripping and the like. He reports the foul to the referee, who then proceeds to inflict the penalty.

"Yes, Willard Mack is right, Luckies are best," says Paul Berlenbach

Popular pugilist tells his manager, Benedict Sterns, that Lucky Strikes are the finest cigarettes.

Willard Mack, Noted Author, Producer and Actor, writes:

"We people of the theatre are, as a rule, extremists. This is the reflex action from overwrought nerves. When a man smokes forty cigarettes a day, as I do, he must be sure of his brand. I smoke Lucky Strikes because I have found they are soothing to the nerves and at the same time they cause no throat irritation. My voice is always in perfect condition and I am never troubled by any coughing which might be annoying to me in my work as an actor."

You, too, will find that LUCKY STRIKES give the greatest pleasure—Mild and Mellow, the finest cigarettes you ever smoked. Made of the choicest tobaccos, properly aged and blended with great skill, and there is an extra process—"IT'S TOASTED"—no harshness, not a bit of bite.

LEGISLATIVE PROGRAM OF THE NATION'S BUSINESS

Most of the important matters with which Congress must deal, and which the President doubtless will discuss in his annual message, are included in the legislative program that Lewis E. Pierson, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, has submitted to that body's directorate in annual session at West Baden (Indiana).

JARDINE PLAN VS. McNARY-HAUGEN BILL

His vacation spent in the Northwest—close by the storm-center of agrarian unrest—it was expected, would afford President Coolidge a new viewpoint regarding the perennial farmer-relief issue.

Secretary Jardine would help the farmer attain a stabilized market—and thus a larger degree of independence from weather-hazards, insect-depredations and fluctuating demand—through a co-operative business organization "built from the ground up."

The National Safety Council is officially urging rigid regulation for pedestrians. Maybe they had better be licensed and examined to see whether they can qualify for the hazards.

As a matter of protection the footsteppers should form a party of their own. It would properly be headed by Mayor Jimmie Walker of New York.

OUT OUR WAY

THE SPIRIT OF 76—1876

SO THINK WE

We think that every loyal supporter of the Lubbock High school will be represented at the game this afternoon at the Tech Park when the Westerners of this school battle with the Tigers of Electra high school.

We think that sometimes a fool, rushing in where angels fear to tread, finds something that makes angels regret their timidity and lack of initiative.

We think that the millionaire who dresses as well as his clerk is more or less eccentric.

We think that if you desire to outshine your neighbors you must acquire a good reputation and then keep it well polished.

We think that lots of men who attend the races can not win even a little sympathy.

We think that when a man is speaking of love he should look before he leaps or is apt to fall in.

We think that it is sometimes difficult to convince the head of the house that two heads are better than one.

We think that in contemplating what he has done for others the average man is likely to overlook what others have done for him.

We think that white lies are apt to leave black marks on a person's reputation.

We think that new that electric servants have relieved women of the drudgery of housework they have become so restless that they want to stay out half the night.

We think that should you aim for a goal you have at least the chance of realizing its destination.

We think that the Lord helps those who help themselves. So let Lubbock county citizens get together and put over the paved highway proposition.

We think that Lubbock has made a good step in the improvement of their parks. No city can have any too many parks no matter how small or how large.

We think that the other towns of the South Plains are looking for a big day for the Texas Tech than even Lubbock by the indications of the ticket sales of the game. Come on fans of Lubbock let's lead the attendance during the banner contest of the Matadors schedule.

OPINIONS

American Malady.

Is there a specific and peculiar American malady? There is, according to Landon Mitchell, a sympathetic interpreter of the American spirit and American institutions. In his book, "Understanding America," Mr. Mitchell well reproduces not a few of the stereotyped foreign criticisms of puritanism and other historic factors of American civilization.

IT IS REPORTED

It is reported that the Lubbock high school football team, meeting with the Electra high school club this afternoon at the Tech Park in the second conference game. Every loyal citizen of this city should be present for this game.

It is reported that whether clothes are expensive or not it is just as hard to keep women in them.

It is reported that some people work with clock-like precision provided the clock is stopped.

It is reported that the ladies are to wear old-fashioned boots again—but we fear that their shins will find their way out.

It is reported that the most curious thing in the world is the woman who isn't.

It is reported that law makers are persistent fellows as they keep trying to think up one the people will obey.

It is reported that Ambassador Morrow says he will apply reason to the Mexican situation—but unfortunately there are but few down there that understand it.

It is reported that another fuel shortage is predicted, but, of course that does not apply to the fellow who has money to burn.

It is reported that the cattle market made another big jump yesterday—the cattlemen who have stayed with their heads are benefiting from their long and patient time for the increase.

It is reported that in Amarillo the Board of City Development handed the Texas railroads a blow on their proposed rail rates for excursion rates. Amarillo was planning to storm the state fair with some 400 or 500 people but when the state fair failed to come across with a mediocre rate the Amarilloans backed down—let's all pull for a better excursion rate of special trips.

SOUTH PLAINS PRESS

GOOD ROADS.

Ten years ago there were long stretches of unpaved highway on the Colorado-Gulf route, as on other Texas highways. At that time it took a very great optimism to believe that not many years would elapse before the paving would be joined.

YOUR HEALTH

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second of a series of four articles on the mental aspects of golf. Tomorrow: Mental Handicaps.

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEN, Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine.

Dr. Theodore B. Hyalop, the well-known British neurologist, lists practice, automatism, and reason, as the three mental factors necessary to produce par golf.

Automatism is reached only by practice. When automatism becomes perfect, reason can assert itself without encumbrance.

He defines golf as a mental and physical complex in which the complex is to recover his poles, but as automatically, while the mind should be free to exercise its higher functions of control and guidance.

Fatigue Hurts Game. Fatigue of mind or of body is not conducive to good golf. Mental stability varies according to the physical condition of the person concerned.

When we are very tired we become irritable and slightly unbalanced. When the golf professional is very tired during match play he "blows up" or "cracks."

The tendency of the nerve cells to recover rapidly from fatigue is great, and it is possible for the golfer to recover his poles, but as been noted by many great players, the interval period between "blow ups" or "cracks" tends to become shorter and shorter as the match goes on.

James Leans Lesson. Bobby Jones wrote recently that he used to walk rapidly up to the green after approaching and putt at once. Nowadays he delays after the arrival on the green, studying the line of the putt, but also covering his breath, because he is a rapid walker.

Dr. Hyalop recommends a condition of cheerful optimism as less harmful than one of extreme timidity. Unfortunately there are many golfers who let their mental states become clearly apparent to other members of their foursome.

The wise player will not permit the pessimism of his partner or of his opponents to destroy his own confidence. "A good sportsman," says the British authority, "will never be found guilty of assuming a mental attitude calculated to influence the mental stance of his partner."

The Golden Mean. Of course, optimism may be so exuberant as to produce an actual psychosis, or as the golfer would phrase it, a "blow four" attitude. On the other hand, pessimism or self-depreciation may extend to actual melancholia, with a devil-may-care attitude that results in wild swinging.

Each of the circumstances that arises should be taken as it comes. Such a philosophic attitude is good advice not only for golf but for mental hygiene in general.

To have one's equilibrium disturbed by events of the past, circumstances of the present, or possibilities of the future is a tact acknowledgment of weak-mindedness which bodes ill for the effectiveness of immediate action.

What's Going On in Russia

By JEROME DAVIS

Member of the Faculty, Yale University Divinity School

MOSCOW, Oct. 20.—I have seen nearly all the outstanding Communists, including Trotsky, Zinoviev, Chicherin, Kallin, and Stalin. It would be easy to summarize these interviews, but they would not adequately portray Russia. Sweep away all the Communists and there still remains one hundred million peasants who will eventually make or mar the new Russia.

It is more important to understand what the peasants are thinking than any other group. With this in mind, I went into village after village in Russia, living and eating with the peasants and trying to understand his psychological attitude. He still lives in poverty and filth, and flies are everywhere. In self-protection he usually slept on the hay in the barn.

I found the peasant critical. He did not hesitate to say what he thought about the government, the Soviets, and the Communists. In fact, he often condemned them unsparingly.

"Prices are very high, we can't buy what we need. Taxes are terrible. We can't sell our grain for what it is really worth. The government is the worst. Look at Ivan the head of our Soviet, for example. It is the city workers, not the peasants, who have gained from the revolution. They get vacations with pay. They only work eight hours and make big money. They are the new bourgeoisie. Before we had taxes and now we have taxes. Before we starved and now we are starving. It's all the same."

Bad Because He's Honest. From the superficial observer could make out a terrific indictment against the Revolution. Their criticisms are in some measure true, but consider them in the face of further questioning. Take the matter of bad government. The peasants insist that under no circumstances do they want a czar or the white guard generals. "What is the difference between you present bad chairman and a good one?" I asked. "Well, you see," replied a peasant. "We had a good chairman who was clever and reported only part of our gain so taxes were low. The present czar is honest and reports all our gain and we have to pay high. In other words Ivan, the head of our Soviet is bad, because he is honest."

If one stops to appraise the gains of the revolution for the peasant, one is amazed to find that there is almost no unfavorable factor present which did not exist under the czar except high prices. On the other hand, there are genuine advantages today.

State Insurance. In the first place the peasant, despite poverty and filth, is living better than ever before. He no longer pays the landlord, and makes sure of his own needs first. The government steps in at countless points to aid him. There is state insurance which protects him from fire and hail. He can insure a horse against death for $125 a year, and a cow for 50 cents.

Today a group of peasants even if they only have 15 cents apiece, can band together and start a co-operative with money furnished by the government. They can secure credits for tractors. Thousands of Fordsons are available, but Russia is now manufacturing her own machines, although they cost more.

It is also true that taxes are lower than ever before. They are actually only one quarter of what they were under the czar. For 1925-27 they were only 15 per cent, and 50 per cent of this had to be spent for local needs, schools, hospitals, libraries, bridges and roads.

Probably the greatest advantage which the peasant now has is his changed status. While the worker is the backbone of Communism, the Communist knows that the peasant is the backbone of Russia. Consequently government leaders have their ear close to the ground as far as the peasant is concerned.

In fact, Stalin has opposed Trotsky by insisting that as much should be done for the peasants as for the workers. What the peasants persistently demand they get. When the Bolsheviks first took the power they legalized the peasant's seizure of all the landlord's property, although this was against their own theories. They wanted the land run communally.

The peasant has a changed legal status. No matter how bad his crops, he will not lose his land. There can be no foreclosures as in America. The poor peasants everywhere are tax free. There are poor peasants committees in every county Soviet which can provide money for the purchase of seeds.

Protecting Women. The position of the peasant woman is also changed. In the old days it was customary for the husband to beat his wife. Now, as one peasant woman said: "The Soviet law is kinder to a woman than her own husband." The fact is that a woman today has every right that her husband has. She can leave him whenever she wishes. The Soviets are also trying to improve medical conditions. A certain number of peasants are sent every year to some of the new health resorts for free treatment.

Listen to him. "Prices are very high, we can't buy what we need. Taxes are terrible. We can't sell our grain for what it is really worth. The government is the worst. Look at Ivan the head of our Soviet, for example. It is the city workers, not the peasants, who have gained from the revolution. They get vacations with pay. They only work eight hours and make big money. They are the new bourgeoisie. Before we had taxes and now we have taxes. Before we starved and now we are starving. It's all the same."

From the Montreal Star. Mrs. Wickwire—I wish you'd give up that stupid habit of saying "My Jove!" What do you know about Jove? Mr. Wickwire—I will if you'll stop saying, "The idea!" every time you're spoken to. What do you know about ideas?

From the Boston Transcript. Tom—Ever notice how dandy movie-pictures look at close range? Ted—Don't speak so loud. I told my girl over there she looked like a picture.

From Tit-Bits, London. Applicant (to magistrate)—I want some advice about my husband. He left me 25 years ago and I ain't seen him since. Magistrate—Well, "What about me 'aving a separation?" "Dear, are you keeping our accounts up weekly?" "Yes, very weekly."

He—Do you like to take walks? She—Of course I love to. He—Great! We can do that as we walk along.

Nephew—Up among the snows and glaciers of Alaska, Aunt Sally, I hunted bear. Old Aunt—I can't believe it. John, you'd have gotten pneumonia and died.

Both Pairs Needed. A humorist asks why no costume has ever been designed for chess. Well, there is the two-pants suit. —Detroit News.

Admittance Taxes. A determined drive for the abolition of the Federal inheritance tax will be made at the next session of Congress. The movement has the declared backing of 23 states and many powerful civic organizations, which advance the plea that under it estates are often subjected to double taxation and that the return to the state of a large proportion of the amount of the Federal tax has not eliminated the injustice of this tax. Another argument is that the tax was definitely a war measure for the purpose of raising unusual revenue and that its retention in the state should call for the emergency that called for its imposition has passed. —Bangor Commercial.

DAILY MARKETS

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Oct. 20. (AP)—A further decline of approximately 10 points in the cotton market today was attributed to further liquidation of old long accounts and southern selling. December broke to 19.45 or 42 points below yesterday's closing position, and the lower price held at 12:30 early last afternoon. The close was at the lowest of the day on all active months, with the tone barely steady at net declines of 4 to 54 points.

The market opened easier at a decline of 1 to 12 points under selling, influenced by relatively easy Liverpool cables and reports that the weather was warping up in the south. Initial offerings were absorbed by covering or trade buying but selling continued, and the market soon worked lower. Occasional rallies occurred as offerings were held off after reports of liquidation and trade buying as well as covering was reported on the decline but the lowest prices of the day were reached in late trading when active months showed net losses of 4 to 54 points.

March broke below the 20 cent level selling off to 18.95, a decline of approximately 5 cents a pound from the high level. September, there were rumors of an easing spot basis in some parts of the south, which may possibly have contributed to some of the early afternoon selling but they were confined, and most advices received here indicated the basis was firm with a better demand in some markets.

Expectations of large figures on ginning prior to October 18 were regarded by some traders as one of the factors on the decline, which, however, and additional liquidation of long accounts.

Private cables said the decline in Liverpool was due to hedging combined with local and continental liquidation and that demand for cotton cloths and yarns was inactive, with spinners and manufacturers holding ground.

Exports today 41,268 bales, making 1,771,462 so far this season. Port receipts 42,957, U. S. port stocks 2,021,982.

COTTON GOODS

NEW YORK, Oct. 20. (AP)—Cotton goods were very quiet today with some easing reported on print cloth, sheeting and yarns. Announcement was made of the opening of spring dress gingham for 1928. Raw silk steady. Furlaps and jute were easier and a fair sized volume of business was placed for shipment from Calcutta, estimated at 1,000 bales. Local markets were steady. Wool goods were quiet.

COTTONSEED OIL

NEW YORK, Oct. 20. (AP)—The cottonseed oil continued to decline today under renewed hedging by refiners against purchases of crude in the southeast, along with liquidation promoted by the favorable weather news, the decline in cotton and unemployment in crops. Final prices were at about the lowest and from 5 to 17 points below the previous close. Sales 22,300 barrels. Prime crude 9.00; prime summer yellow spot 18.40; October closed 10.40; December 10.50; January 10.62; March 10.81; May 10.99.

BOSTON WOOL

BOSTON, Oct. 20. (AP)—Receipts of wool at Boston have declined to approximately the same level as a year ago. During the five months May to September inclusive, however, the receipts of domestic wool at this port were nearly 20 percent greater than for corresponding periods last year. Up to the end of September, the receipts amounted to approximately 191,000,000 pounds compared with 128,000,000 pounds during a similar period in 1926.

FORT WORTH LIVESTOCK

FORT WORTH, Oct. 20. (AP)—Nearly all of the different divisions of the livestock market here today were generally steady. Calves however, were slow at 25 cents lower.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK

CHICAGO, Oct. 20. (AP)—Cattle: 12,000; fed steers strong; closing at highest level of the season on all grades, top yearlings 17.35; non-grassy steers 12.00; stockers and feeders steady; vealers mostly 12.25.

Hogs 26,000; uneven; better grade butchers strong to 19 higher; lighter weights and packing sows 25 lower; top 11.50; butchers 11.40; 11.75; lights 10.00; 11.45; sows 9.25; 9.10; pigs 5.00; 10.80; estimated holdovers 12.00.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Oct. 20. (AP)—Farm deliveries of wheat in Canada have suddenly jumped to above 4,000,000 bushels for a single day. Largely as a result, wheat prices here were forced a heavy index to a new all-around low record for the season. Closing quotations on wheat were weak, 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 cents net lower, with corn 7 1/2 to 1 1/2 cents to 1 1/4 cents down, and 5 1/2 cents to 1 1/2 cents up. All provisions and oil unchanged. A net-back of 12 cents.

Holds Light Law Hard To Enforce

FORT WORTH, Oct. 20. (AP)—The state anti-glare headlight law is a good one, but is hard to enforce, Captain William R. West, head of the Tarrant county highway officers' bureau, declares.

Its chief fault is it is too lenient on offenders who violate it intentionally in most instances, according to West.

Under the law a motorist, with glaring headlights, is allowed 72 hours after detection by officers to come into justice court, West said. "If then he presents a certificate showing the headlights have been tested, no charge is filed."

The majority of violations of the law involve tourists from out of the state, and in 72 hours they can be for beyond Texas, borders, West pointed out.

"The only way to stop glaring lights on cars is by fining the own-

COW TESTING NOW MALE COUNTY PLAN

SWISHER COUNTY ALSO IS MEMBER OF NEW MOVE FOR BETTER MILK

(Special To The Avalanche) TULLIA, Oct. 20.—Male and Swisher counties are the second counties in the whole of Texas to introduce a cow testing association to serve their territory. Wise County was the pioneer in this field, having maintained an association of this kind for the past year with marked success. Cow testing work is carried on extensively in the northern dairy states but is a new activity for the Lone Star State.

Twenty-four farmers in Male and Swisher counties organized themselves into the Male County Association for the purpose of introducing a cow testing association. The organization was begun this month with the arrival of J. A. Stark of Cuero, graduate of A. and M. College, who will be in charge of the testing.

Members of the association are expected to keep records of the weight of the milk of each dairy cow and of the food she consumes. Stark will take the record sheets and compute the net profit or loss made on each individual cow. He will also offer suggestions on feeding and management of dairy cattle.

Advancement is also being made in other fields of agricultural activity in Swisher county. A new 20,000 egg capacity hatchery is being organized, and poultry raising has been organized in Anti-Thief Association. The first sale of cotton has been given and picking of a crop is going forward.

The town of Swisher, capital of Swisher county, is writing a charter of powers. The gas permits are being issued for use of this gas just made available there. Postal records are showing big increases over those for the same period last year, and numerous other constructive work is underway.

ROPEVILLE HAS NEW CIVIC BODY

REVITALIZED ORGANIZATION WILL SHOUT TO WORLD ASSETS OF REGION

(Special To The Avalanche) ROPEVILLE, Oct. 20.—A general and revitalized chamber of commerce is being organized here. Tuesday night at a meeting of the prominent citizens of Ropeville and community at the New High School building. The following officers were elected: A. E. Cottman, president; Chas. W. Roberts, secretary; and Clifford Moore, treasurer. A new business office was launched and new objectives were outlined. Enthusiasm ran rampant when the president outlined ways and means of increasing Ropeville's trade territory and bringing notice to the world that Ropeville has the best schools, churches, land and natural resources to be found in any county on the South Plains. The oil well being drilled by the World Oil Company right at our door, now down 1175 feet and going deeper, and indications favorable for oil, cotton coming in, turpentine coming in, these things are being pointed out to the people of the community on Tuesday night, October 20, for the purpose of collecting the oil and support of every member of the community in the promotion of the following objectives: good roads more and better, location of a new country, encourage regional plans, cotton buyers, grain buyers for the town, better markets.

(Special To The Avalanche) BIG SPRING, Oct. 20.—The West Texas Hardware and Iron Merchants' association closed their session in Big Spring Tuesday night with a banquet given by the chamber of commerce. Frederick Pratt, 1926 representative of the State Hardware association was hostmaster for the evening. The meeting closed with a musical program by Misses Lillian Harwood, Evelyn Jackson and Mrs. Omer Pittman.

Representatives were present from as far north as Pecos and west as El Paso. Several field representatives of wholesale hardware companies were in attendance. Among the subjects discussed were: "Is it practical to attempt to run a hardware business on a cash basis?" "Which is more profitable to buy in small or large quantities?"

A unique feature of the evening program was a question box conducted by H. L. Rix of the Rix Hardware and Furniture company of Big Spring.

Pioneering Days of Old West Relived In Hockley Area

(Special To The Avalanche) LEVELLAND, Oct. 20.—Pioneering days of the West are not over as far as Hockley and other West Texas counties are concerned, and a large influx of settlers is expected into the Levelland country this fall and winter.

The 1927 pioneer to the West faces a country of great potential wealth and a land of substantial profit which in this particular county means from agricultural pursuits. Hockley county's acreage of 77 square miles is very fertile and from 95 to 98 per cent tillable. The principal crops are cotton, corn and all varieties of grain sorghums. Sudan grass, national seed production of which is restricted almost entirely to this part of West Texas has received a striking money crop for Levelland farmers. One man realized $45 per acre net profit from this crop alone. Two new farms will be opened here soon by farmers from Anderson and Houston counties.

The town of Levelland, county seat, is a progressive and growing place. A number of improvements have been made within the past months there. Recently, within 15 days twenty-five miles of power line were extended and 15,000 volts of electricity added to the city system.

TOWN OF ROPEVILLE GETS FIRST CLOTHING MERCHANT

ROPEVILLE, Oct. 20.—When Hockley county farmers need a pair of "beans" for the first time they can drive to Ropeville, trade center of the southeastern part of the county, and buy their work clothes. Ropeville has had no dry goods establishments since its founding, but a store merchant has moved to this place to set himself in that business.

The whole of Hockley county had but 127 population in 1920, but it was organized the following year, and its development since that time has been very rapid. Leveland county seat, and Ropeville are the principal towns of that section.

Prosperity Wave Rolls Over Ralls

(Special To The Avalanche) RALLS, Oct. 20.—The prospect of prosperity for Ralls and the Ralls country since the year 1918 is indicated here. Building activity is being forward in a big way. An announcement has been made of a new cotton compress, the second to be erected in the city this year. It will be a high density Webber cotton compress and will be in operation by the middle of November.

Two new businesses have opened up in Ralls, a new market, and a furniture and undertaking establishment. Hamburger stands and popcorn and peanut vendors are becoming numerous, and are indicative of a busy fall trading period. The West Texas Gas Company is erecting a modern office building in Ralls. The house is to be of modern brick and will serve as district headquarters.

Contract has been let for building of two modern and substantial residences. There is an acute shortage of desirable rent residences in the city and movement is underfoot for erection of other houses.

COOLIDGE AGAIN "DOESN'T CHOOSE"

TAKES FURTHER STEPS TO ELIMINATE SELF AS A CANDIDATE

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—President Coolidge took additional steps today to remove himself from discussions of candidates for the republican nomination next year. He did so indirectly, informing Senator Fess, republican, Ohio, that predictions that he would be drafted to run for reelection, despite his statement of August 22 that he did not choose to be a candidate, were distasteful to him.

The Ohioan, who has been regarded generally as one of the foremost Coolidge advocates in the senate, was in conference with the president for upwards of half an hour. There was no waffle house version of what transpired in the privacy of the executive's office, but Dr. Fess, flushed and obviously somewhat dejected, spoke at some length to newspapermen concerning his talk with the president.

He disclosed that Mr. Coolidge had reprimanded him for reported forecasts that he would be drafted. He said the president expressed the view that such public statements made an appeal to the people in a country, a dasked him to refrain from making them.

"I regret that I am forced to admit," said Mr. Fess "that I am not now so positive that the president will consent to be drafted. If he insisted on having his own way, there would be nothing doing."

Then, with emphasis, Senator Fess added:

"But he will not have his own way. I will contend that the convention will deadlock and Mr. Coolidge will be drafted. I cannot see how any man could turn down such an appeal unless it was because of poor health—and Mr. Coolidge is not in poor health."

Declaring that in spite of the accident he received today, he would not discontinue "talking about the president's future," the Ohioan said. Even the president's statement that he did not desire to have the country think Senator Fess was talking for him would have no effect upon him.

GLACIER PARK GETS NEXT RAIL MEET

CONGRESS ASKED TO MAKE ELEVEN DISTRICTS FOR I. C. PLAN

(By Associated Press) DALLAS, Oct. 20.—Glacier Park was the 1228 convention of the National Association of Railroad and Utilities Commissioners over here today. The vote was 71 to 29. September 16 was set as the date for next year's convention.

Lee Dennis, member of the Montana board of railroad commissioners, offered a resolution in the convention today urging that Congress be asked to amend the Interstate Commerce Act so as to divide the United States into 11 geographical districts. The purpose would be to give each portion of the country representation on the I. C. C.

Joseph R. Eastman, member of the Interstate Commerce Commission, held that public ownership would give substantial advantages to the people.

All the reports were referred to the executive committee. One of the main addresses of the afternoon session was that of A. P. Carillo, consul general of Mexico at San Antonio, Texas. General Carillo depicted the great resources of his country and told of its growth in the realm of commerce.

The convention will end tomorrow noon.

RAILROAD MEN TRY TO CUT ACCIDENTS

INCESSANT LABOR, HOWEVER, FAILS TO CUT NUMBER OF ACCIDENTS

(By Associated Press) HOUSTON, Oct. 20.—Railroad officials labor incessantly to reduce train service accidents. Just now supervising officers on one transcontinental line entering Houston, who are technically responsible for them, are concerned over their increase.

"Can't figure it out," one of them said, according to a report from the general offices in Houston. "On the face of the returns some of the really serious casualties appear to have occurred when the exercise of a normal sense of preservation, or an appreciation of the surroundings for but a significant moment, would have averted the tragedy. That there are mental lapses may not be denied, and equally true it is that the sudden intrusion of a thought may destroy for an instant the conservative operation of the best balanced minds. How can we otherwise explain accidents in which the very elements of personal safety to which his years of activity have trained him, are suddenly with deliberation put himself in a position to be killed."

"Maybe it's the jinx, maybe something else. But whatever it is it seems to overcome years of training and habit and get its victims when they least expect it. The way to prevent the accidents is to keep one's minds always in the proper channel. No time to dream when there are tracks to thread and wheels to move. But the mind is an odd thing and once in a while goes out of its boundaries."

"I received no special favors nor privileges, still at all times I felt that he was conscientiously interested in the remaining of my health."

"Today the book is finished and now I trust I may return peacefully to my work in the theatre. I shall be forever indebted to those who tolled so untiringly for my release. The prison rules forbade me of news and unknown friends who wrote such encouraging letters, but the Christ-like attitude which they expressed will send me back to those I love with an even firmer belief that what I did was the only thing I could do and that there are times when a man's honor is far more precious than liberty—and liberty more precious than life."

No announcement of Carroll's release was made at the penitentiary. The first appearance of Carroll was in the lobby of the Anasley hotel downtown. Waiting newspapermen saw Carroll with his wife, his brother, Jim Carroll, and his sister, Mrs. Alice Schneider, walking into the lobby.

New Grain Machine Invention Of Man At Lockney, Saves

(Special To The Avalanche) LOCKNEY, Oct. 20.—A combination dump, storage and threshing machine, designed by R. C. Ayers, local grain dealer, is believed to be the newest and most unique machine employed in the handling of milo maize and other grain borthums, in the head.

After many years in the grain business in West Texas, where a large amount of grain sorghum is handled in the head, at a high overhead expense, Ayers has now perfected a machine that will save $10 per car on the threshing bill, and the labor of about 12 men in the unloading from the conveyance and feeding the thrasher, or a total saving of approximately $175 on the 24 hours run. The machine is designed to unload and thresh 300 tons of milo heads every 18 hours, and is being installed in such a manner as to permit it to run 24 hours per day. Using electricity and compressed air for power, the machine is practically automatic in control.

Ayers is now installing this machine as an adjunct to his elevator plant, at an approximate cost of $10,000 and upon its completion, a patent will be applied for, according to the designer.

FLOOD-CONTROL

There will be many important questions before the ensuing Congress, but none of greater importance than this: Politics—the wrong kind of politics—should not enter into the consideration of this problem—it is an American problem. The president voiced the best thought and wish of the people when he decided that the government is resolved that such a calamity shall not again recur. Death and doom for hundreds of thousands of fellow citizens are indefensible where a nation is competent enough in engineering skill and wealth to prevent misfortune so stupendous. And this nation is competent in ability and resourcefulness to provide the means by which such visitations shall be rendered practically harmless in the future. Money and American genius will solve the problem.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

FALL TESTIFIES

any does not understand from the questions propounded, or, claimed to not understand him, and which could be easily cleared up. Otherwise, I think the court might be led into a ruling that the court would very much regret a little later.

"Counsel for the government state that Judge Finney cannot interpret this matter, or say that he cannot testify as to his interpretation of the letter of his instructions from the secretary of the navy and that he cannot testify as to his interpretations of the rules and regulations of the interior department.

Interpretation is Law

"Why, sir, the law puts this gentleman who is now on the stand in that position for that very purpose, as first assistant secretary of the interior, and in the absence of the secretary of the interior, he is acting secretary of the interior and the law makes it his duty to interpret the laws which he must administer. Who else is in fact to do it?"

"If he interprets the law incorrectly, or without his jurisdiction, the supreme court of the United States may reverse him, but as long as it remains within his jurisdiction, his interpretation stands as the law of the land."

"Now, if your honor please, that is the situation. That applies of course to the secretary of the interior. Judge Finney knows that, and he knows his business. So that, I submit, if your honor please, if the ruling that I have understood the court to make as to Judge Finney's interpretation of what he understood the law to be, or about this document or that document, I will say that Judge Finney is particularly and peculiarly in a position to understand these matters and I am sure if given an opportunity would then clear them up."

"If the objection by the government is on the ground that this is not proper to be asked on cross-examinations, that is one thing but if the objection is based upon the ground that the witness can not testify as to what his interpretation was, that, sir, I may say, is absolutely vital to the defense in this case, and I think if the court understands just what Judge Finney's position in the department is you will see the situation in a different light."

"I see the court's reaction for interpreting a statement at this point, and I have hesitated a long while, as the court will understand, before addressing myself to the court. I thank your honor."

"This was the first statement Finney had made at any of the oil hearings as trials since he appeared before the senate investigating

Hard Times Teach Farmers To Change Their Old Program

(Special To The Avalanche) ROPEVILLE, Oct. 20.—Shakespeare said, "sweet are the uses of adversity." This little gem from the bard of Stratford-on-Avon has hit the proverbial nail on the head as far as the farmers of the South Plains are concerned, and it seemed to have been made to measure for the farmers of the Ropeville community.

Three years of unprecedented hard times for the farmers of this section has made life seem anything else but sweet. Reaching out after something to keep the wolf from the door after being thrice denied by the banker who was more natural than that the farmers' eyes should light on old Bessie, who would have fed them through years had they but known it. So in desperation, the farmer turned from vain and blavie promises of King Oton, and embraced the lowly creatures of his own barnyard and it was the crow of the roosters and the cackle of the hens, the lowing joveys, and the grunt of the swine that finally chased the wolf so far from the door that he has not been heard in many days.

As a result of the three-year course in adversity the farmers of this section are not indolent for supplies upon which they made this year's crop, but are out of debt and as a result good prices will have more ready money than in many previous years.

demonstrations, all in a manner intelligible to any one.

Mrs. Chiswood does not repeat on a lecture or demonstration. Those who attend this year may be assured that the program will vary from that of the other seasons. In a similar manner, the program of lectures and demonstrations is changed day by day.

The course is sponsored by the Avalanche and Journal publications, in accordance with its policy to give the very best in service of all kinds—to the people of the section which it serves.

Various awards will be made, free, each day to some of those attending. And, remember, it's all without charge—that is except by the Avalanche-Journal.

DENIES COMPANY TO SPLIT "MELON"

A. T. AND T. PLANS NO BIG DIVISION WITH SHARE HOLDERS, NOW.

(By Associated Press)
DALLAS, Oct. 20.—Rumors and reports that the American Telephone and Telegraph company would announce a big melon cutting, which have been persistent in Wall Street for some time, today were denied in an address by Walter F. Gifford, president of the company, before the 1927 convention of the National Association of Railroad and Utility Commissioners' meeting here.

"There are today over 430,000 stockholders of the American Telephone and Telegraph company and no one of them owns as much as one per cent of the capital stock," said Gifford. The business of this company and its associated Bell Telephone companies, whose common stock is largely owned by this company, is to furnish telephone service to the nation. The business from its very nature is carried on without competition in the usual sense.

"These facts have a most important bearing on the policy that must be followed by the management if it lives up to its responsibilities. The fact that the ownership is so widespread and diffused imposes an unusual obligation on the management to see to it that the savings of these hundreds of thousands of people in a secure and reasonable way. The fact that the responsibility for such a large part of the entire telephone service of the country rests solely upon this company and its Associated Companies also imposes in the management an unusual obligation to the public to see to it that the service shall at all times be adequate, dependable and satisfactory to the user. Obviously, the only sound policy that will meet these obligations is to continue to furnish the best possible telephone service at the lowest cost consistent with financial safety. This policy is bound to succeed in the long run and there is no justification for acting otherwise than for the long run."

Davies Win Suit On Trial In City

A judgment of approximately $6,148, to be paid in a lump sum, was rendered in favor of Walter Davies, in connection with the suit which has been on trial in the ninety-ninth district court, brought by the Texas Employers' Insurance association.

The court held that Davies had suffered total incapacity as a result of an injury received while working on the textile building at Tech, that the injury was permanent, and that compensation at the rate of $25 a week for 461 weeks, minus $2889 already paid, should be given in favor of the defendant.

Men Wanted Here Held At Amarillo

Wanted here for passing an alleged worthless check on Sherrod Brothers hardware store, a man held in Amarillo was taken in custody by Deputy Sheriff V. L. Ford, who brought him here to this city.

Bledsoe Thrives As Cattle Center

BLEDSOE, Oct. 20.—Cattle and sheep shipments from Bledsoe will total over 200 carloads for the month of October. This number gives Bledsoe a position in the leading ranks of southwest livestock shipping points. October shipments will represent an valuation of $600,000.

Fifty-six car loads of cattle were shipped out in one day this month, and were pulled out by a special train. The shipments from Bledsoe are consigned to varied and widely separated points. Some have gone to market, some to the wheat pastures of the Panhandle, and some to feeding pens of the North and East.

Labor Survey Is Made At Lamesa

(Special To The Avalanche)
LAMESA, Oct. 20.—C. W. Woodman of the United States Labor Bureau of Fort Worth, had a representative in Dawson county this week checking amount of labor needed in the county. Prior to the coming of this agent, the local chamber of commerce prompted by demands on it, wired Woodman that the county needed 1500 pickers and maize headers. After a thorough going over the county, the agent concluded that this number was in line with the actual needs of the county.

There are 150,000 acres planted to cotton in the county and practically half of the total production is now open. Half of the large maize crop is yet to be harvested. The two crops coming together doubly demands a heavy influx of labor into the county.

Farmers are paying $1.50 per hundred for pickers and $2.00 per day and board for maize headers. Farmers are rushing the harvest of these crops as rains or winds would do considerable damage at this time.

Girl Leaves As China Missionary

In China, Miss Lung will learn the vernacular and take further work fitting her for missionary activities. She has completed two years of missionary work at the Baptist Seminary at Fort Worth.
