In Moody Place Pond

Farm Hand Is Drowned

An all-night drinking spree and an overwhelming desire to catch a fish led to the death of a 50-year-old farmhand yesterday morning.

Emilio Resendez, 50, who lived on and was employed by the Moody Farms at the site of the old Pampa Air Force Base, drowned in a man-made fishing pond behind the air base site.

His fishing partner, Mariano Barbosa, said Resendez had placed his pole on the ground, and apparently a fish took the line and pulled it into the water. Resendez then dived into the water, Barbosa said, and started to swim after it.

Barbosa said he rushed to a nearby farm house and asked Leslie Moore to come to the pond and help Resendez.

Moore said Resendez went down for the last time just as they reached the shore.

Chief Deputy Sheriff Shirley Nickols and assistant fire chief Vernon Pirkle rushed to the scene and got dragging operations underway by 10 a.m. It was 1:45 Saturday afternoon before they found the body in 12-foot-deep water.

Barbosa told the Daily News he had known Resendez about three months, but didn't know where he came from originally or anything about his family or other friends.

Late Saturday night, the sheriff's department was still trying to contact survivors.

None of Resendez' identification cards indicated whether he had a family or not.

Barbosa said Resendez had picked him up in downtown Pampa about 4 p.m. Friday and they had gone on a drinking spree.

"He was drunk," Barbosa said. "He had about seven or eight beers."

VICE PRESIDENT RICHARD M. NIXON

Nixon, Rockefeller In General Agreement On Policy Disputes

'Won't Take Second' Rocky Plainly States

CHICAGO (UPI) — Richard M. Nixon and Nelson A. Rockefeller reached "general agreement" in their policy dispute Saturday but Rockefeller declared once and for all that he would not accept the vice presidential nomination and wouldn't serve if elected.

Simultaneous statements by Rockefeller in Chicago and Nixon in Washington nailed down Rockefeller's refusal to take second place on a Nixon ticket at the Republican National Convention opening Monday.

In rejecting the spot, Rockefeller said that if the occasion arose he would take the same position as Gen. William T. Sherman who turned down the presidential nomination with the words: "If nominated, I will not run. If elected, I will not serve."

In Washington, Nixon told a news conference he accepted the New York governor's decision and would not try to persuade him to change his mind. His statement made Henry Cabot Lodge and Thurston B. Morton favorites for the vice presidential spot.

Rockefeller also left Nixon with practically a clear field to the presidential nomination. He said he knew of no plans to place him in nomination for the presidency and he would not permit any such step unless there was a genuine draft. He added that, realistically, he saw no such signs despite existence of a "Draft Rockefeller" committee.

The Nixon and Rockefeller statements came after the two did not wish to be a vice-presidential candidate.

But No Love Affair

Big Differences Settled By GOP

CHICAGO (UPI) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller said Saturday he would refuse to accept the Republican vice presidential nomination and would not serve in a running mate.

He also said Rockefeller reiterated to him at their unannounced conference in New York Friday night that he didn't want to be vice president.

The Vice President described his platform peace pact get-together with Rockefeller as one which was designed to "set the record straight" and show there was no general disagreement among Republicans on basic issues.

Belgians Strike Colors In Bitterness And Anger

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI) — Belgium lowered its flag here Saturday, abandoning this capital city of its once great African empire to the United Nations.

The Belgians pulled out in a haze of bitterness and anger. U.N. officials said the 23-day-old Congo Republic had "virtually collapsed" as a modern state and appealed urgently for medical aid to stave off epidemics.

Congolese lining the tarmac at the airport, smiling gleefully, as young Belgian paratroopers moved up to board the last plane flying out just in time to meet the deadline set for Belgian troops to leave the city.

The Belgians' helplessness in the face of the situation was underscored by the arrival of a giant Russian IL-18 transport which shouldered its way onto the take-off strip while a Belgian military transport plane waited quietly for a clear runway.

In a last gesture of pride, a Belgian lieutenant colonel announced that the final plane carrying paratroop headquarters units was lifting off the runway exactly at deadline time "and exactly at deadline time" (See STRIKE, Page 2)

Lumumba Wants Help

LONDON (UPI) — Congolese Premier Patrice Lumumba, en route to New York to appeal for help for his chaotic country, denied Saturday he is a Communist and said with a grin that he is simply an African "progressive."

Lumumba, goateed, 34-year-old former beer salesman, arrived here to an official welcome from Minister of State John Profumo after two hours of conferences in Accra with President Kwame Nkrumah of Ghana and other Ghanaian officials.

Lumumba planned to spend only about five hours in London before departing by airliner for New York and his planned appearance before the U.N. Security Council and conferences with American and Canadian government and business leaders.

Lumumba insisted that his central government would be able to reclaim the Province of Katanga, which "seceded" under provincial Premier Moise Tshombe and which accounts for some 60 per cent of the Congo's vast, untapped mineral riches.

Traveling with Lumumba was American financier Edgar Detweiler who said he planned to exploit the Congo's riches under contract with the Lumumba government, although he still has to raise the $2,000,000,000 he said was the "absolute minimum" needed.

Lumumba, cheered on his arrival at London Airport by a small group of Negroes, charged that Belgium "planned, engineered and carried out" the secession of Katanga Province.

More Than 900 Forest Fires Raging In West

By United Press International

More than 900 forest fires, started by flashes or ashes, raged through nine Western states Saturday.

Authorities said that the blazes, mostly ignited by flashes of lightning or carelessly discarded cigarettes, probably constituted the worst outbreak in 30 years.

More than 225,000 acres of brush and timberland were burned over by the fires and at least four pilots lost their lives battling the raging flames.

Thousands of firefighters, professional and volunteer, worked around the clock to check the fires, which were aided by weather conditions that had left the West without rain for many weeks.

The four pilots were killed in two crashes of converted bombers engaged in dumping borate solution in the path of the advancing flames. One of the planes crashed in Angeles National Forest in Southern California and the other in the Walla Walla National Forest in Oregon.

The fires were raging in California, Arizona, Colorado, Idaho, Montana, New Mexico, Oregon, Utah and Wyoming. President Eisenhower proclaimed two areas of Idaho as major disaster areas and the state of California proclaimed Los Angeles and San Bernardino counties—its two largest—as disaster areas.

The fires ranged from areas of a few acres in remote spots to 46,000 acres near San Simeon, Calif., where the Hearst Castle, estate of the late publisher William Randolph Hearst, was slightly damaged.

Shivers May Oppose LBJ

HOUSTON (UPI)—Former Gov. Allan Shivers may make a formal announcement of his intentions to run for the U. S. Senate against Lyndon Johnson this week.

Johnson, who will run for both vice president and re-election to his present seat, already has two formal opponents. They are Republican John Tower, and Bard Logan, of the Constitutional Party.

Shivers was reached Saturday by the Houston Press while on vacation in Banff, Canada.

"I may have something to say after I get back home Monday or Tuesday," Shivers said when asked about his possible candidacy.

U.S. Prepared To Tell Secrets

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) — U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge Saturday was reported planning to present the United Nations Security Council with sensational evidence to prove Russia's latest spy plane charges were nothing but "sinister fabrication."

In a brief rebuttal Friday Lodge rejected the "unconvincing but sinister fabrications" of the charges presented by Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily Kuznetsov.

Police Rescue Woman From Kidnaper

BETHANY, Conn. (UPI) — A Negro intruder shot a lawyer in the face in his Long Island home Saturday and then kidnapped his red-haired wife. She was rescued unharmed after a police chase and said the kidnaper told her he had been offered $5,000 to kill her husband.

Attorney Leonard Rothkrug, 32, was shot in the left cheek by the gunman, who surrendered without a struggle.

Mrs. Nancy Rothkrug, 23, said the man tried to shoot her husband a second time, but the gun misfired because she startled him. She said the gunman then forced her to tie up her husband with a piece of telephone wire and kidnapped her, after allowing her to give her 2-year-old son his breakfast.

Police were under the impression that two burglars had broken into the Rothkrugs' expensive home. Rothkrug said he had seen two-colored men in his bedroom. Mrs. Rothkrug said she saw only one man, but Long Island police were believed to be questioning a handyman at the Rothkrugs' home at Great Neck, overlooking Long Island Sound.

Mrs. Rothkrug was freed unharmed from her kidnaper about 75 miles from her home after a 100-mile-per-hour police chase set off by a Connecticut State Police man driving an unmarked car as part of a state anti-speeding campaign.

Connecticut police identified the alleged kidnaper as Ruben Black, 30, of Hempstead, N.Y.

A loaded .32 caliber revolver was found on the floor of the kidnap car, a 1957 blue Buick belonging to Mrs. Rothkrug. They found $330 in cash and a stocking stuffed with jewelry on the back seat.

Nothing To Hide

SOLBAKKEN NUDIST CAMP, Denmark (UPI) — Worshipers of the sun from 16 nations opened their seventh international congress here, throwing open the gates to show they have nothing to hide.

Erik Holm, a Danish editor, preceded his welcome to the assembly delegates with an appeal to "strip at least to the waist" in order to show the guests of the press "that we are naturists."

Newsmen and photographers were accepted. Despite the gray, chilly weather the nudists laughed and stripped, some of them completely.

Kennedy Gets Secret Data

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (UPI) — Sen. John F. Kennedy got a top-secret briefing from the nation's intelligence chief Saturday on problems the United States faces in Berlin, Cuba, the Congo and elsewhere around the world.

The Democratic presidential candidate conferred for two hours and 15 minutes at his summer home here with Allen W. Dulles, director of the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA), who made a special flight here for their meetings.

CHICAGO (UPI) — Conservative Republicans rebelled Saturday against what they regarded as an attempt by Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller to hoist an ultra-liberal platform on the GOP convention.

Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, a spokesman for the conservative bloc, vowed to wage a convention floor fight to keep the platform from containing some items contained in the celebrated Nixon-Rockefeller agreement worked out in New York Friday night.

Goldwater said in a statement that the Nixon-Rockefeller conference amounted to "a Republican Munich." He accused Nixon of making a "bid to appease the Republican left" and of selling out to Rockefeller on nearly every point.

In Washington, Nixon told a hastily-summoned news conference that he and Rockefeller still differed on defense policies and some other major domestic issues. But he said they did reach general agreement on the broad principles.

Rockefeller also told a news conference shortly after his arrival in this convention city that he and Nixon still disagreed on details but were in accord on basic party principles.

Opportune Election Year

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Walters Rogers of Pampa said Saturday it is "fortunate" that this year, filled with international tension, is also a national election year.

"The American people will have the opportunity for reeducation, and I hope that in making their will felt it will be realized that the times do not call for wishful thinking," he said in his weekly newsletter.

"We not only cannot afford a tranquilizer in the White House, but we also cannot indulge in any self-conscious hoopla or reckless experimentation."

Anti-Americans To Eastern Cuba Rally

HAVANA (UPI)—Thousands of Cubans headed Saturday for a gigantic anti-American "youth congress" in the Sierra Maestra amid speculation Fidel Castro soon would make Cuba the first Western Hemisphere nation to recognize Red China.

Castro supporters whipped up enthusiasm for the rally in the eastern mountains that will commemorate Castro's "July 26" revolutionary movement. Among those arriving for it were France's precocious writer Francois Sagan and Jacobo Arbenz, who has been living in Czechoslovakia since the overthrow of his Communist-dominated regime in Guatemala in 1954. Miss Sagan was on assignment from a Paris newspaper to cover the "Latin American Youth Congress."

Telephone operators in Havana answered phones with "to the Sierra with Fidel" and the Cubans headed Saturday for a gigantic anti-American "youth congress" in the Sierra Maestra amid speculation Fidel Castro soon would make Cuba the first Western Hemisphere nation to recognize Red China.

Earl Long Still Has Chance To Be Elected

ALEXANDRIA, La. (UPI)—Ex-Gov. Earl K. Long, his request for endorsement turned down by Negro voters, made a last-ditch bid to save his political life in Saturday's congressional election.

Long was considered a good bet to make it into a runoff against incumbent Rep. Harold McSwain in the race to represent the Eighth District of Louisiana, a traditional Long stronghold, in Congress.

The third candidate, former State Rep. Ben Holt, was not given much chance to survive Saturday's first primary, although he took the Negro endorsement away from Long.

Long, one of the rare Southern politicians to publicly plead for the Negro vote, became even more rare when his pleas were ignored. The strongest Negro organization in the district—the Rapides Voters League—endorsed Holt-Friday night.

The madcap former governor has mounted a bitter campaign against McSwain and Holt, two of his worst political enemies. McSwain has twice before defeated Long-backed candidates, and this is the first time that Long has ever personally entered a race against McSwain.

Holt, once close to Long, broke with the 64-year-old ex-governor last summer, when he went on his wild tour of mental hospitals and his well-publicized vacation through the southwest. When he returned, he called a special session of the Legislature with such aims as "taking all the locks off the mental hospital doors" and forcing airlines to hire married stewardesses.

Holt led a rebellious Legislature in adjourning the same night they convened.

But Long has saved most of his famous invective for McSwain, brushing Holt off as an ungrate-erated to him at their unannounced conference in New York Friday night that he didn't want to be vice president.

The Vice President described his platform peace pact together with Rockefeller as one which was designed to "set the record straight" and show there was no general disagreement among Republicans on basic issues.

Nixon said he and the governor reached "general" and "ready" agreement on general principles. But he conceded they "still disagreed on details."

He declined to predict whether their differences would result in a floor fight when the GOP National Convention opens in Chicago next week.

Nixon, virtually certain of the GOP presidential nomination, told reporters that the purpose of his unannounced meeting with Rockefeller was to "set the record straight" and show there was no major disagreement among Republicans on basic issues.

Nixon said there was no discussion in the overnight meeting whether Rockefeller's name would be put into nomination for the presidency at the convention next week. He said he did not discuss the meeting with President Eisenhower.

men reached agreement on major foreign and domestic issues at a dramatic New York meeting only hours before Rockefeller arrived here for the GOP convention.

Rockefeller was jubilant upon his arrival in Chicago where the consensus already was that Nixon had made most of the concessions. Rockefeller proclaimed he now could support the party platform with "pride and vigor." Before he had deemed it "seriously" inadequate.

"Firmly Together" The statement issued by Rockefeller immediately after his meeting with Nixon said they now stand "firmly together" on 14 points ranging from defense and foreign policy to medical care and civil rights.

Many went considerably beyond Eisenhower's policy. But there was no comment from the President either on the policy agreement or on the major political developments within the Republican Party throughout the day.

Rockefeller took himself out of the vice presidential race in no uncertain terms. He had said before that he "positively and absolutely" would not accept the post of pro-Rockefeller delegates continued to keep after him to take ful boy who "took a runout on me when I was sick." McSwain—whom he refers to as "that little sapsucker"—of some unspecified crime and predicts he will go to jail.

A sapsucker is a local term for a woodpecker.

McSwain, who has concentrated on national issues, says Long's hints are a "vicious political trick" common to Louisiana politics. He broke loose from the higher plateaus of stumping last week to advise the voters that if "whiskey drinking, chasing women and the bug house are qualifications of a congressman, then he is more qualified than I am."

Holt, returning the charity Long has shown him as compared to McSwain, only refers to Long as a "sick old man who ought to go home."

Long sneers at these charges. "Uncle Earl never did anything you ladies would be ashamed of," he trumpets. "I don't drink, I don't run around."

AF Film On Nuclear Blast Informative

The effects of a nuclear explosion and how to protect oneself against it were depicted in an Air Force film shown at the 9913th Air Reserve Squadron building last week.

Lt. Don Scott, instructor of the squadron, presented the film. About 30 people attended the showing.

Lt. Scott showed that the theory that an atomic bomb shelter would turn into an oven was fallacious. "If an individual were near enough to ground zero to be baked inside a shelter, he would be completely burned outside," Lt. Scott added.

Lt. Scott also said additional information on what to do in case of a nuclear attack would be made available to civilians in the near future.

Typifying the attitude of some of the delegates, the platform subcommittee on defense approved without change the defense plank it drafted Friday before the Nixon-Rockefeller communique calling for "increased defense spending."

Southern GOP delegates were particularly upset about the Nixon-Rockefeller demand for the strongest civil rights plank in GOP party history. It called for an end to discrimination in "voting and housing, schools and jobs" and an endorsement of Negro "sit in" demonstrations in the South.

The proposed plank would closely parallel the sweeping civil rights plank adopted by the Democrats in Los Angeles last week. The furor over the Nixon-Rockefeller pact forced the platform subcommittee drafting the civil rights plank to postpone its efforts to reach agreement until Sunday. The 14-member group was reported badly split on the issue.

Selby Trial To Begin

AUSTIN (UPI) — The trial of Joseph F. Selby of Houston for his part in the murder of his wife will open here Monday before Dist. Judge Mace Thurman.

Selby's trial is the climax of one of the most widely publicized Texas cases in recent years, and had to be moved to Austin on a change of venue because feeling ran so strong in Houston.

Already under a death sentence for the murder is Maggie Morgan, 45, a Negro fortune teller who was convicted of acting as a go-between in hiring the killer.

Prosecutors charge that Selby paid the woman $1,000 to have his wife killed. They say Mrs. Morgan in turn hired Clarence (Sack) Collins to shoot Mrs. Selby to death last Nov. 16. Collins awaits trial.

Wanna Get Married? -- Then Read This

Want to get married? If you do, but not necessarily in Texas, the marriage laws of surrounding states can be confusing. And sometimes, says County Clerk Charlie Thut, failure to understand them can lead to unnecessary delays in obtaining a license.

To help avoid some of the confusion, Thut has obtained explanations of marriage laws from the county clerks at Sayre, Okla.; Clovis, N.M.; and Liberal, Kan. Here's a brief rundown on the laws in the three neighboring states:

KANSAS — Blood tests from laboratories in Texas are acceptable, provided they are on forms provided by Kansas. Texas forms are acceptable if the applicant isn't feeble-minded. There is no waiting period after the license is issued, but it takes three days to get one after an application has been filed. Boys under 21 and girls under 18 must present written permission signed by one parent, and notarized, to obtain a license.

NEW MEXICO — A health certificate from Texas must be presented to obtain a license anywhere in the state. Under-age persons must present a signed statement from one parent, notarized. However, no license will be issued to any boy under 18 or girl under 16 years of age. There is no waiting period.

OKLAHOMA — No blood tests from other states are acceptable. There is no waiting period for couples of age, and each applicant must present proof of his age when obtaining a license. Parents must appear to give their consent to underage couples; the only way a notarized statement is acceptable is if the applicant has a doctor's certificate saying his parents are unable to appear because of illness. All under-age applicants must wait five days before obtaining a license.

Break-Ins In Pampa

Two business firms were broken into Friday night and burglars failed to gain entry at a third establishment.

Approximately $97 in cash was taken from a locked filing cabinet at Dirksen Electrical Motor Service, 720 W. Brown some time between 8 p.m. Friday and 7 a.m. yesterday.

Police Captain Denny Roan, who investigated the burglary, said the thieves had entered a window at the rear of the building, and gained entry to the main building by pulling off the bottom section of a connecting door.

An electric adding machine, valued at about $200, was taken from the Goldsmith Dairy at 112 N. Ward Friday night.

Bill Buin, a driver for the firm, discovered the burglary when he reported for work at 4:40 a.m. Saturday.

Speculation On Dem Proposals For Farmers

By BERNARD BRENNER United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democratic farm sources speculated Saturday that Sen. John F. Kennedy's new farm bill may be built around proposals to take surplus-producing acres out of production in return for payments drawn from government farm surplus bins.

Kennedy, the Democratic presidential nominee, has said he would push for passage of an "emergency" farm bill when he resumes the role of senator from Massachusetts in the post-convention session of Congress.

Neither Kennedy nor any other leading Democrat has yet spelled out the details of the bill. But one informed source said Saturday there was a good chance it would be built around a land retirement program. Both Democrats and Republicans seem to agree that the nation's number one farm problem is the still-growing surplus of wheat.

GOP Enjoys The Very Best Of Health

NIXON: "Health is excellent."

By JERRY BENNETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
WASHINGTON (NEA) — Health will be a dead issue at the Republican National Convention.

Unlike some Democratic candidates who made political hay out of each other's infirmities, Vice President Nixon and his only possible rival, Nelson Rockefeller, have almost spotless medical records.

Spokesmen for Nixon report: The Vice President's only ailment is hay fever.

Stories about his "high blood pressure" and "nervous stomach" are false.

A record of his April physical examination shows his "health is excellent in all respects."

The Vice President is 5'11", weighs 165 pounds.

He follows no particular diet but eats only easily digestible foods on the road.

He plays golf and swims. At 47, Nixon can expect to live about 26 more years, according to estimates of the National Office of Vital Statistics.

New York Gov. Rockefeller's latest physical examination, taken in May, found him in excellent shape. He has no medical history of serious illness. An aide describes him as, "One of the healthiest guys I have ever heard of." NOVS figures show that Rockefeller, 52, has a life expectancy of 73.

The Democratic party dispute centered chiefly on whether Sen. John F. Kennedy suffered from Addison's disease, an adrenal ailment which is fatal unless treated with cortisone pills.

A Washington doctor doubts that Kennedy, 43, ever had Addison's disease, which requires lifetime care. Kennedy says he stopped taking cortisone pills in 1958 after two years of such treatment.

The specialist accepts the Senator's statement that he had an adrenal insufficiency, a milder affliction which is curable.

The Senator, who also required several delicate operations for a back injury, today needs no special medical treatment, his doctors say. He should live for at least 29 more years (NOVS).

Sen. Lyndon Johnson reportedly has made a complete recovery from his 1955 heart attack. At 51, the 6'3" Senator weighs in at 190 pounds and could live for 22 more years (NOVS).

He and Adlai Stevenson have been troubled by kidney stones. Stevenson is reported in top notch shape at 60 and has an estimated life span of 76 (NOVS).

Sen. Stuart Symington, in a 1947 operation, had some nerves severed to relieve a high blood pressure condition. He says his blood pressure is now normal, his general health excellent and NOVS figures show that, at 59, Symington's life expectancy is about 75.

Wildcatters Discover 13

AUSTIN (UPI) — Wildcatters made 13 oil discoveries during the past week, the Railroad Commission reported Saturday.

The commission said four oil finds were made in the Houston district, three each in the Abilene and Wichita Falls districts and single finds in the Refugio, Palestine and San Angelo districts.

Single gas discoveries were made in the San Antonio, Kilgore, San Angelo, Abilene and Midland districts.

The commission reported 198 oil well completions during the week to bring the total for the year to 5,589 compared with 6,643 last year. There were 32 gas well completions for a year's total of 1070 compared with 1,125. Drillers hit 70 dry holes.

The oil allowable showed an increase of 6,367 barrels daily, climbing to 2,636,426 barrels. Wells totaled 196,172.

Claude Cox Cited For Safe Driving

Army Specialist Four Claude Cox Jr., whose wife, Freida, and parents live on Route 1, Wheeler, Tex., recently received a safe driver award while assigned to the 51st Transportation Company in Mannheim, Germany.

Specialist Cox won the award for driving military vehicles 20,973 miles without an accident or traffic violation.

The 23-year-old soldier entered the Army in October 1958, completed basic training at Fort Carson, Colo., and arrived overseas in March 1959.

Cox is a 1956 graduate of Wheeler High School and was employed by the Harvey's Queen Mills & Elevator Company, Plainview, before entering the Army.

Area Man Trains At Summer Camp

Cadet Bobby P. Timms, 23, whose wife, Carol, lives in Canyon, is receiving six weeks of training at the Army Reserve Officer Training Corps summer camp at Fort Hood, Tex. The training is scheduled to be concluded July 29.

During this training Cadet Timms is receiving practical experience and instruction in tactical, technical and administrative subjects, with special emphasis being placed on the duties of a second lieutenant.

Cadet Timms is a student at West Texas State College. He is a 1955 graduate of Canadian High School. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jess L. Timms, live in Canadian.

Perle Goes To Work At GOP Meet

By HELEN THOMAS
United Press International
CHICAGO (UPI) — Washington hostess Perle Mesta, who's devoted to the Democrats, has showed up for the Republican National Convention.

But she said she's here "strictly as a working girl."

Looking every inch the wealthy matron that she is, rather than the career girl she claims to be, Mrs. Mesta discounted any thought that her presence at the GOP convocation could mean a political switch.

Since she voted for Republican presidential nominee Wendell Wilkie in 1944, Mrs. Mesta at times has been called "two-party Perle." But there is no doubt that her heart belongs to the Democrats.

Party-giver Perle is "covering" the convention as a radio news commentator. She also appeared in Chicago to testify for an equal rights plank in the GOP platform. The proposal would bar discrimination against women on the basis of sex.

Since she checked into the Blackstone Hotel, Mrs. Mesta has been kidded about being a "spy" by long-time Republican friends. She was accompanied by her blonde Republican sister, Mrs. George Tyson of Lake Tahoe, Nev.

Newton Finishes Jump Training

Army Pvt. Charles V. Newton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Troy D. Newton, Canadian, recently was graduated from the 82d Airborne Division Jump School at Fort Bragg, N.C.

Newton received his paratrooper wings after completing four weeks of intensive ground and aerial training which included five parachute jumps. The 20-year-old soldier entered the Army in December 1959. He is a 1959 graduate of Canadian High School.

J. Timms Enlists In Marine Corps

Joe Irven Timms, son of Mr. and Mrs. Irven Loyd Timms, 430 Rider, has enlisted in the U. S. Marine Corps for four years.

He was sworn into the Corps at the recruiting station in Albuquerque, N. M. He was flown from there to San Diego, Calif., where he is now undergoing twelve weeks of extensive recruit training.

Upon completion of recruit training, Timms is a 1959 graduate of Pampa High School.

Vernon McGahey Finishes Training

Vernon F. McGahey, whose wife, Betty, lives in San Antonio, graduated July 15 from The Army Information School, Fort Slocum, N. Y.

McGahey received eight weeks of training in public and troop information, newswriting, press-photography and radio-television scriptwriting and broadcasting techniques.

He is a 1935 graduate of Pampa High School and a 1941 graduate of the University of Texas in Austin.

Nixon Plans Invasion Of Deep South

CHICAGO (UPI) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon was reported to be making plans for a campaign invasion of the Deep South in a bid to broaden the Republican bridgehead in Dixie.

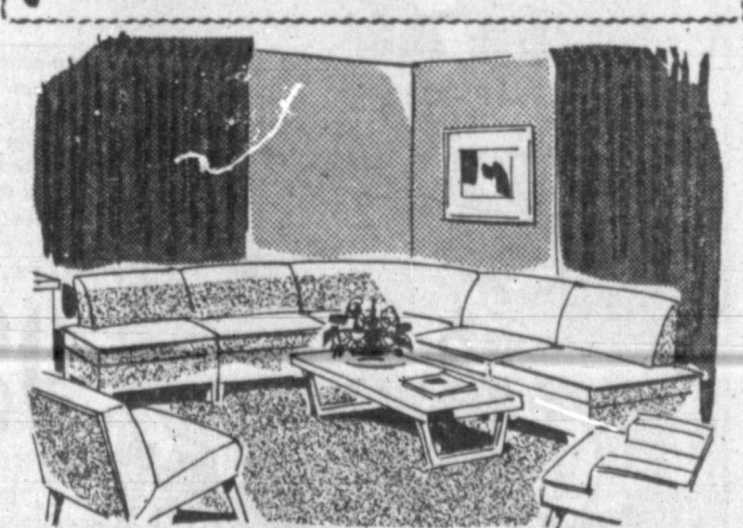

The Nixon forces sense continued Southern dissatisfaction with the Democrats despite the selection of Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas as a running mate for Democratic presidential nominee John F. Kennedy.

They feel that personal appearances by Nixon in the South as an early part of his campaign will pay dividends, and already are considering possible speaking engagements.

No definite schedules have been arranged pending Nixon's actual nomination. But his advisers are prepared to recommend not only stops in Southern states the Republicans carried in 1952 and 1956 but also possible appearances in such traditional Democratic strongholds as South Carolina, Georgia, Mississippi and North Carolina.

They reason that Nixon has nothing to lose and possibly much to gain in light of the southern distaste for the Democratic platform's strong civil rights plank.

Half The U.S. Needs Vaccination To Hold Back Rising Polio Tide

By JERRY BENNETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON (NEA)—The fight against polio is only half won as the 1960 season begins. Almost 90 million of the nation's 180 million persons still need vaccinations, say officials of the U.S. Public Health Service. Another 20 million have received only one or two of the four recommended Salk injections.

Since January, polio has struck more than 450 Americans, crippling 320. And PHS doctors say the toll will keep climbing until everyone gets vaccinated.

Surgeon General Leroy Burney is particularly worried about unvaccinated children under five. He explains that this age group accounted for 43 per cent of last year's 8,577 polio cases of which 5,694 were paralytic.

There are still 4.5 million children under five who have not completed the required number of shots," he warns. "Nineteen per cent of them have had no vaccine at all. These young and vulnerable children still lack optimum protection against a disease that may cripple them for life."

PHS statisticians recently designed a simplified survey system to locate within four days the number of unvaccinated persons in a community. They are now teaching the system to state and city health officials throughout the nation.

The polling technique has an important psychological effect, one health official explains.

"The majority of unvaccinated persons live in poor areas of town," he explains. "Of course, these areas are always easy to spot. But to have documented proof that there are so many hundred unvaccinated people in a neighborhood usually intensifies a vaccination drive."

As polio protection campaigns get going throughout the country, scientists are still working to improve the vaccine. Merck Sharp and Dohme Research Laboratories recently announced development of a highly purified killed virus vaccine which requires only two shots given a month apart for immunity.

ROCHESTER, N.Y., school children are fed the Sabin live polio vaccine in controlled field tests of the substance which Russia has given orally to more than 60 million.

The PHS has approved the first batches for distribution to high polio rate areas in the South and Southwest.

Immunity with the Salk killed virus vaccine, used since 1955, requires a minimum of three shots with a fourth recommended for extra protection. The first two shots are given two to six weeks apart followed by another injection seven months later. The fourth shot is given a year after the third.

Tests also are underway on three live virus vaccines that are reported to provide greater and faster immunity than the killed virus types. Live vaccines, which can be taken by mouth, have been used extensively in Russia, Latin America, Africa and several European countries.

Before PHS experts license live vaccines for use in the U.S., they want to be sure that the weakened viruses can't regain their strength and become dangerous.

Trial live virus vaccination programs are now underway in Dade County, Fla., Waco, Tex., Cincinnati, Ohio, Minneapolis, Minn., and New Haven, Conn. PHS officials believe it will be at least a year before they can guarantee the vaccines' safety and effectiveness.

Oil Industry Relation To Smog To Be Probe

Retail Sales Only Slightly Down In Texas

AUSTIN (UPI)—Retail sales in Texas in June totalled $1,217,900, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reported Saturday.

Retail sales during the month were 4 per cent less than June a year ago and 1 per cent below the January-June, 1959, average, the bureau said.

However, June sales in both major goods categories exceeded seasonal expectations.

Non-durable goods volume, which amounted to more than 70 per cent of total retail sales during the month, was down 3 per cent from sales of non-durables in May, but a 6 per cent decline between the two months is seasonally normal.

Sales of durables, which usually fall 1 per cent from May to June, actually rose 8 per cent. However, June sales in both categories were below the year-ago level. Durables were down 11 per cent and non-durables were off 1 per cent.

Apparel sales in June were down 11 per cent from May while the customary decline is 18 per cent. Eating and drinking places, which usually observe a 4 per cent dollar drop from May, showed a 1 per cent decline.

Food stores reversed the customary seasonal pattern. Instead of dropping 2 per cent from May, a 1 per cent gain was recorded. Gasoline and service stations exceeded an expected 2 per cent seasonal rise with an actual 5 per cent improvement.

General merchandise stores showed the effect of season sales trends. Dollar volume was down 11 per cent from May, and showed a 4 per cent decline from June a year ago.

In the durables classifications, automotive stores, including car dealers, showed a 9 per cent jump from May.

Retail sales in Texas in the broad durables category which includes lumber, building materials, hardware and farm implements, showed a 1 per cent dollar sales decrease from May, while a 2 per cent gain would have been seasonally normal.

June sales of furniture and household appliances were up 5 per cent above May, but were down 7 per cent below June of last year.

Decline In Deaths

AUSTIN (UPI)—Traffic deaths on Texas highways have declined 9 per cent so far this year, the Department of Public Safety reported today.

There have been 1,083 fatalities so far this year compared with 1,190 in 1959, a decrease of 107, the DPS said.

The "smog" stories out of the Los Angeles area have been legion. The oil industry has a stake in smog, too, since the consensus seems to be that it is largely caused by automobile exhausts.

There have been opinions, too, that refining and other oil industry operations are among the major causes of pollution in Los Angeles and other urban areas.

The U.S. public health service has recently proposed a 10-year research program on air pollution. And local and state authorities have dealt with the problem, some by suggesting controls.

The U.S. Public Health Service program calls for spending some $250 million in the next 10 years for research. From the estimated current level of $117,000 annually, the research effort would be expanded to $30 million during the seventh year of the program, the Oil and Gas Journal says.

Agricultural damage in the Los Angeles area alone has been estimated at more than $5 million yearly. The effect of air pollution on humans has yet to be determined, but recent research indicates it may aggravate chronic bronchitis and heart cases.

Solutions to the pollution problem won't be easy, but the oil industry seems destined to play a big part in them.

Highway Spending Plans Announced

AUSTIN (UPI)—Plans to spend almost $700 million during the next biennium were on record today for the State Highway Department.

The department called for expenditures of $348,300,000 in 1962 and $350,300,000 in 1963.

Only $300,000 each year would come from the deficit ridden general revenue fund, and that would be used to advertise Texas to potential tourists.

The money requests were made by the department to the Legislative and governor's budget boards Friday.

The Equipment Gets Better, But The Pictures Get Worse

By WARD CANNEL
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK (NEA) — The table lamp goes out. The guests sit forward eagerly. A switch clicks, the projector whirs. It's home movie time again for the Average American and tonight's first offering will be a 50-foot reel — perfectly exposed in the magnificent color of a thumb.

It's sad but true, according to highly qualified critics of today's photo-crazy American. In a nutshell: We spent $2,120,000,000 on all kinds of photo goods last year. We'll spend more this year by at least an estimated 10 per cent.

The equipment we bought was only better than ever. It was good for us, in the words of the successful photo dealer. And it was everything any photographer could have dreamed of, in the words of a photography historian. But the pictures we took — both movie and still — were easily as poor as usual, and maybe a little worse.

Listen to Jacqueline Bailish, editor of Modern Photography, which is a journal for the serious amateur:

"The man who took 50 feet of film is hardly uncommon. His other regularly takes 50 feet of film and pepper shakers while he sits at the table and tries to remember how the camera works."

"Why don't people read their instruction books? Or if they read them and don't understand a few hints, why don't they go out and ask for explanations? And for heaven's sakes, why don't they get a few rolls of film just to learn how before going out and shooting for the record?"

The answers to her questions may be found in part in the photographic catalogs.

"This camera is fool-proof," begins one. Or: "With this electric eye you don't have to worry about exposure again." Or: "This film is a 'fantastic' latitude. It's hard to make a mistake."

Hard, maybe. But not impossible. A ruined roll of still color film, with all costs figured in, can about five dollars thrown away. And an electric eye is no better than the man behind the camera. In the second place, industry statistics show, the American photo consumer needs little encouragement to trade himself up — from a more expensive camera before he's mastered the simple equipment. To complicate matters, he's also gadget happy.

"The two million serious amateurs in the U.S.," editor Bailish said, "are a small part of the amateurs. But what are you going to do with a fellow who buys loads of equipment and then never uses it? There are an awful lot of those around."

Apparently, she said, there can be something fearful about the little x with its buttons, eyes, lenses and straps that can drive a man mad.

"I think I'll leave the camera alone today. After all, we're going to have a good time, aren't we?"

But even if the photographer has had his instructions and understood them, practiced with a few rolls of film before he shoots for the record, has mastered the film light meter — even then he faces two additional hurdles that rarely account for wasted money, location time and footage. According to Mrs. Bailish:

"He's so busy shooting pictures he doesn't know what kind of vacation he's had until the pictures are developed."

nalists and advertisers, he forgets he's taking pictures of his family and concentrates instead on making shots he could get on postcards. It's so common that some camera stores offer pre-packaged footage of popular vacation places, made professionally but poorly enough so you can run them off on your own projector and say you took them yourself.

By LEROY POPE
United Press International
ENGLEWOOD, N.J. (UPI) — A new system using small copper tubing instead of big ducts may produce a boom in central air conditioning of older homes and buildings, according to inventor Calvin D. McCracken.

Only about 2 per cent of the homes in the country have central air conditioning at present.

McCracken is the inventor of an air heating system using the same type copper tubing and of a successful line of solar water heaters. He has been working on his copper tubing air conditioning for dozen years, started testing it four years ago and put it in production this year as a companion to his warm air heating system.

Early efforts to use easily installed copper tubing for air conditioning stumbled over the fact that after cold air was pumped through the tubing, it heated up rapidly the minute it was dispersed in the room.

McCracken said he solved this by several procedures. First, he cools the air down to 40 degrees Fahrenheit compared to about 57 degrees in a conventional air-conditioning system.

The cold air then is forced through the tubes at very high velocity, 2,000 cubic feet a minute, and is expelled into the rooms through special aspirating registers. The cold air in effect is forced up to the ceiling and mixes rapidly with the warm air from the room.

Also the two-inch copper tubes are insulated with fiberglass, which eliminates pipe condensation in the walls.

By this system McCracken says he can force more cool air into a house through the two-inch copper tubing than through conventional large sheet metal ducts. Only a dozen years ago, many air conditioning engineers said the copper tubing system couldn't be made to work.

A complete unit for a seven-room split level house would cost $1,200 plus installation and financing.

The explanation given by station commander, Lt. Cmdr. Donald L. Fuller, was that the "action is necessary to handle the volume of applicants that must be enlisted in the next two months to bring the Navy up to strength."

It is said that the expanding Polaris missile program and the need for mobile carrier forces is the prime consideration in the current personnel build-up.

Along with the announcement of the expanded work week, Comdr. Fuller said that to support the expansion of the submarine force, especially in the nuclear power and Polaris areas, enlistments are being accepted for qualified applicants in the nuclear field (launcher and electronics).

Persevering Husband Finds Rapist

DALLAS (UPI) — A husband who spent all of his spare time looking for the Negro rapist who attacked his wife found him because of a brightly-colored cap.

Det. Capt. Will Fritz filed rape charges against Joe Sneed, 25, a brawny ex-Marine, last week and immediately asked that bond be denied.

Sneed was arrested last Saturday, and had been questioned continuously about the rape until Thursday when he finally broke down and admitted it. He signed a confession.

It was early the morning of June 16 that the woman, 28, said Sneed forced her car to the side of a lonely road. When he approached her car, he smashed the window with his fist. She jumped out the other side, but he caught her with his car about a block away.

The woman said she pleaded with him, and even tried to bandage his hand as he drove her to the Trinity River bottoms and raped her. Then he drove her back to an all-night service station, gave her two times for a telephone, and drove off.

A search was already underway. The woman's abandoned car

Anti-U.S. Drive Has Begun To Backfire In Mexico City

By JAIME PLENN
United Press International

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — A leftist-sparked anti-U.S. drive provoked by repercussions of the U.S.-Cuba conflict has begun to backfire here, and a current of opinion favorable to the northern neighbor is becoming evident.

Contributing to this boomerang aftermath of street disturbances were the government's announcement that permits must be obtained for demonstrations, a U.S. businessman's organization statement expressing "absolute confidence" in Mexico, and Washington's hiking of the Mexican annual sugar quota by 250,000 tons.

The presence of Sen. Lyndon Johnson in Acapulco served as a morale booster for depressed travel agents who had suffered tour cancellations after last week's anti-U.S. outbursts.

The travel season has been on the slack side, anyhow, and some government tourist officials who had been under fire for failure to bring more visitors this week sought refuge behind U.S. news laborer.

Miniaturization Coming In Home Air Conditioning

By LEROY POPE
United Press International
ENGLEWOOD, N.J. (UPI) — A new system using small copper tubing instead of big ducts may produce a boom in central air conditioning of older homes and buildings, according to inventor Calvin D. McCracken.

Only about 2 per cent of the homes in the country have central air conditioning at present.

McCracken is the inventor of an air heating system using the same type copper tubing and of a successful line of solar water heaters. He has been working on his copper tubing air conditioning for dozen years, started testing it four years ago and put it in production this year as a companion to his warm air heating system.

Early efforts to use easily installed copper tubing for air conditioning stumbled over the fact that after cold air was pumped through the tubing, it heated up rapidly the minute it was dispersed in the room.

McCracken said he solved this by several procedures. First, he cools the air down to 40 degrees Fahrenheit compared to about 57 degrees in a conventional air-conditioning system.

The cold air then is forced through the tubes at very high velocity, 2,000 cubic feet a minute, and is expelled into the rooms through special aspirating registers. The cold air in effect is forced up to the ceiling and mixes rapidly with the warm air from the room.

Also the two-inch copper tubes are insulated with fiberglass, which eliminates pipe condensation in the walls.

By this system McCracken says he can force more cool air into a house through the two-inch copper tubing than through convention large sheet metal ducts. Only a dozen years ago, many air conditioning engineers said the copper tubing system couldn't be made to work.

A complete unit for a seven-room split level house would cost $1,200 plus installation and financing.

The explanation given by station commander, Lt. Cmdr. Donald L. Fuller, was that the "action is necessary to handle the volume of applicants that must be enlisted in the next two months to bring the Navy up to strength."

It is said that the expanding Polaris missile program and the need for mobile carrier forces is the prime consideration in the current personnel build-up.

Along with the announcement of the expanded work week, Comdr. Fuller said that to support the expansion of the submarine force, especially in the nuclear power and Polaris areas, enlistments are being accepted for qualified applicants in the nuclear field (launcher and electronics).

The Pampa recruiting office is in the Post Office building. The hours are from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday and 8:30 a.m. to noon Saturdays. At other times Chief Vance can be reached by calling MO 4-2707.

When keynote Walter Judd, Minnesota congressman (on the rostrum, upper right), raises his arms for order, this is how the CBS Television Network will cover the 1960 Republican National Convention, starting Monday, July 25, at the Chicago International Amphitheatre. In cutaway area (1. to 7.) anchor man Walter Cronkite cues the switch to the cameras and microphones covering the floor, for the keynote speech. Behind his studio is complete newsroom CBS News will build into the convention hall. To the right of the anchor studio are Central News Desk and Master Control room, heart of the CBS Television Network operation. Pictures from 28 cameras and sound from 82 microphones funnel into Central News Desk, where a dozen specialists under John F. Day, Vice President—News, CBS News, will supervise the entire on-air operation. Control desk is headed by Senior Convention Director Don Hewitt. In Master Control room, technicians have thrown switches connecting the network with the convention broadcast. At extreme right, in a separate studio, Betty Furness rehearses her first live commercial. On the street in front of the Amphitheatre is the CBS News mobile unit.

Nine Counties
Back Sales
Tax For Aged

By BILL CLAYTON
United Press International

AUSTIN (UPI)—Nine Texas counties want a state sales tax to help finance broader programs to help older people in Texas, a survey by the governor's committee on aging showed Saturday.

The counties concluded that older people do not have a decent standard of living.

The bulky results of the survey conducted by the committee for the White House Conference on Aging were announced Saturday. A report on conclusions is expected next month, the committee said.

Gov. Price Daniel named a steering committee last October to make the survey into current resources and needs of Texas' old folks.

Local survey reports were received from 178 counties.

Only one county said its old people were able to maintain a decent standard of living. Fifty-two counties reported increased old age assistance was needed, and others asked for a general assistance program in addition to old age assistance now in effect, or increased old age security insurance benefits.

The question of increased taxes for Texans loomed when the survey asked counties for recommendations on county, state, and federal government financing of the program increases.

Nine counties mentioned specifically a state sales tax and some recommended state income taxes.

Several others had suggestions such as "a broad-based tax."

Havana University
Professors Fired

HAVANA (UPI)—The new supreme governing council of Havana University today fired 32 more professors for a breach of discipline. The assistant university comptroller also was ousted.

The new firings bring to a total of 61 the number of faculty members removed since the government-controlled council grabbed power in the university following a protest by students of the pro-Castro student federation that the professors were "counter-revolutionary" in their teaching.

Cop Turns Burglar

EL PASO (UPI)—Fidencio C. Baza was fired from the El Paso Police Department's Vice Squad today on a charge of burglarizing a tavern.

Officers went to the bar when someone reported a prowler had broken into it after it closed. They found Baza hiding on a shelf in a closet in the tavern. He had a cigar box containing $20.10 worth of dimes. Nearby were looted cigaret and bowling machines.

Baza, a member of the police vice squad since 1958, was charged with burglary and dismissed from the police force. He was held in lieu of $1,500 bond.

San Antonio Evangelist
Chosen For Pampa Rally

The Rev. Buckner Fanning, pastor of Trinity Baptist Church, San Antonio, has been named evangelist for the youth-sponsored Pampa Revival Aug. 8 through 18. Directing the music will be a 20-year-old ministerial student from Plainview, Jimmy Bateman. Bateman is a member of the First Presbyterian Church in Plainview and is a junior student at Trinity University.

The Pampa Revival general committee met at the First Methodist Church last night to report progress and plan further action. Butch Dunham, chairman of the committee on evangelism, announced the selection of the evangelist and Glenda Gorman, chairman of the committee on music, presented information on Bateman.

General Chairman Mert Cooper reviewed the work in preparation for the revival. The Committee has adopted a total budget of $1,175; secured the use of Harvester Stadium for a rally the closing night at the revival (all other services to be held in the First Methodist Church); ordered posters, handbills, and cards; prepared and published letters of invitation; recorded spot announcements for radio, and held prayer services.

Nannette Flynt, a member of the Central Baptist Church, will be the revival organist. Marilyn Smith and Jerry Baxter will alternate at the piano.

A city-wide prayer service for all young people was announced for July 30 at 7 p. m. in the sanctuary of the First Christian Church.

Jim Scott, chairman of the revival committee on prayer groups, announced prayer vigils each night, Aug. 2 through 6 at the First Christian Church. The sanctuary will be open from 6:30 to 8 p. m. Tuesday through Saturday of the week preceding the revival. The public is invited to visit the prayer vigil any time during those hours. Young people will read from the Bible and organ music will be played throughout the vigils. There will be no set program, but those who wish to do so may come in for private meditation.

Cooper complimented the members of the executive and general committees for the progress made in the revival plan.

The Pampa Revival will hold services in the sanctuary of the First Methodist Church Aug. 8 through Aug. 13. The closing service will move to Harvester Stadium Sunday night, Aug. 14. All participating churches will disperse with their regular services that night in order to support the city-wide religious rally.

Afterglow programs are planned each night following services; and the closing fellowship will be held in City Park following the Harvester Stadium service Sunday night.

Fronzizi Blunt
In Speeches On European Trip

By WILLIAM L. F. MORSEY
United Press International

BUENOS AIRES (UPI)—Since President Arturo Frondizi seldom does things on the spur of the moment, there was nothing impulsive about the plain talk to which he recently treated the capitals of Europe.

Fronzizi went to Europe to judge at first hand the impact of the six-nation Common Market on Argentina's farm exports.

To the Common Market nations of France, Italy, West Germany, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg, he delivered this blunt message:

Either support Argentina and the other Latin American nations economically or risk the loss of their support politically. And any move to shut out Argentina's meat, wheat, grains, wool, fruit, hides and other products will mean that Argentina not only will not buy their machinery but probably will not be able to do so.

On the political front, it could mean that Argentina would lean toward the growing Afro-Asian bloc which threatens soon to control the United Nations by sheer strength of numbers.

It also could mean that in sensitive pocketbook areas as the del Castro's seizure of the British Shell Oil refinery in Cuba, Argentina would stay on the sidelines merely watching.

On the economic front, the Brazilians at least, were quick to assure Argentina that the thing, the Brussels government wanted was to lose its export market in Argentina.

On the other side of the coin, Argentina, blessed as she is with 100 feet of topsoil in the pampas and an excellent climate, still has a long way to go toward scientific farming. The British who most of Argentina's export chilled beef, still manage to raise one-third of their needs in the tight little island. The British know how to get much more meat per animal.

In Hamburg, the president had to listen to complaints from wheat importers that the quality of Argentina's wheat had gone down through the years due to the ravages of fungus and insect pests. Finally, shippers complained the chaotic situation in Argentina's loading ports caused their vessels to lose valuable time.

This situation largely is the heritage of the pie-in-the-sky preachings to the peasants in Peron decade; the lack of mechanization and the exodus of farm laborer to the new industries in the cities.

Morris Is Convinced Nice Guys Finish Last In Show Biz, Too

By DICK KLEINER
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK (NEA) — Chester Morris seconds Leo Durocher's famous remark about nice guys finishing last.

"If I had it all to do over again," says Morris, a confirmed nice guy, "I'd be the meanest so-and-so in the world."

His reasoning is simple. Morris is recognized in the acting trade as one of the best. Yet he was ruined by Hollywood. From the time he made his screen debut in 1928, he appeared in 80 movies. Thirty-six were in the Boston Blackie series. The majority were B-pictures or lower, with Morris generally the heavy.

He was so terribly typed that he never recovered. For 26 years, he worked in Hollywood (and he never liked the life there, either).

"I have nobody to blame but myself," Morris says. "I hate actors who are ashamed of what they're doing. I always tell them, 'Nobody forced you to sign a contract.' Well, nobody forced me, either."

So he did his best in prison pictures, detective pictures, a few Westerns. His best was always a good, workmanlike job. But nobody gets an Oscar for a grade B crime film.

"I've recently come to the conclusion," Morris says, "that the good parts go to the people who get talked about. And who gets talked about? The actors who make trouble — the temperamental ones, the hard-to-handle ones, the demanding ones. Nice guys don't get talked about, and they rarely get good parts."

He has a pretty good part in the coming CBS summer replacement series, Diagnosis Unknown. He'll be a policeman, "but not a flatfoot." Patrick O'Neal and Phyllis Newman play police physiologists in the series about scientific detection of strange cases. Then, in the fall, Morris may appear on Broadway in a new play about Adm. Hyman Rickover.

And so he continues working, which may account for his continuing to look much younger than you know he is. He's often kidded about being the only actor of his vintage who doesn't mind seeing his old movies on the Late Show because he looks in better shape now than he did then.

Morris' two older children had no theatrical ambitions — a son is in the Air Force, a daughter is married — but he has a 13-year-old boy, Kenton, who has the acting bug. He recently made his professional debut on the True Story TV series, playing a newsboy. He loved it — except for his credits. Where everyone else in the cast was listed "in order of appearance," Kenton Morris was tagged on at the end. Chester figures this concern with billing means Kenton is a natural born actor.

According to Aaron Spelling, producer of Dick Powell's Zane Grey 1, after their next year will be an exciting one.

Spelling likes to differentiate between programs like his, which he calls "dramatic Westerns," and the usual run of shoot-'em-ups, which he calls "action Westerns." There need not be any violence in the dramatic ones, merely a dramatic situation involving people.

He plans a full hour Zane Grey, dealing with hunt-hunts in the Old West, with June Allyson, Powell and Robert Taylor in the leads. He's also planning half-hour Westerns to star Red Skelton, Milton Berle and Rossano Brazzi.

As an example of how dramatic Westerns can handle any kind of plot, Spelling cites a play he wrote for Playhouse 90. He had been

CHESTER MORRIS in the Boston Blackie days, left, and as he appears today.

Filming Life Of Jimmie Durante Poses Problem Of Nose Casting

By RICK DU BROW
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Once again, Hollywood has run into a snag in its attempt to make a movie of the life of Jimmy Durante.

The problem is obvious. "Day can't find nobody who looks like me or sounds like me," said the possessor of the prominent proboscis. "Dere's only one Durante, and dem are da conditions what prevail."

Plans had been made in the past year to make the movie with Frank Sinatra, Dean Martin and Bing Crosby as the legend show business team of Clayton, Jackson and Durante.

"Dean was gonna play me, we thought," said Durante, 67, "but even dere, we had a problem. Dean's such a personality by himself, it would be hard to believe he was me."

"One day, we thought it would be him as me, and da next day we thought maybe Frank. We had another problem too—dese three guys are too busy to wait around. Day got too many irons in da fire."

"Da director, Frank Capra, finally quit after wain' for dem. He had already started workin', but he couldn't waste his life on da pitcher."

As of now, Columbia Pictures still has the idea for the movie, but unless something happens soon, it appears headed for the same shelf as previous attempts to make the film.

"About four or five years ago, after my pal Gene Fowler wrote my life ('Schozola'), everybody from all da studios wanted to make it," Durante said.

"But it was a catastrophe when day tried to find someone who looked or sounded like me. I kept sittin' and wondrin' what happened."

"MGM said it had rights to da pitcher 'cuz I worked dere so long. Don Hartmann of Paramount begged me to do it. Jack Warner called me up personally to get my okay."

Durante thought about playing himself but decided he was too old to portray his early career, which would probably take up most of the Emmett Till murder case and wrote a play which Playhouse 90 "wouldn't touch."

"So I re-wrote it for Zane Grey," he says. "I just changed the main character to an Indian and everything was OK. That way, I got it out of my system."

New Tunes Make Grade

CHICAGO (UPI)—This has been a big week for newcomers on the United Press International Top 20 Tunes.

The chart shows six new names, the return of one old one.

Newest of the new one is from rock-and-roll king Elvis Presley. In fourth place is Presley's "It's Now or Never."

The Ventures are in 11th place with an instrumental entitled Walk—Don't Run. Hank Ballard and the Midnighters are right behind in 12th place with "Twist." That's two hits for the Ballard crew. They are in 10th place with a jumping item entitled "Finger Poppin' Time."

The oldie that's back is Don Costa's arrangement of "Theme From the Unforgiven." It's in 16th place.

Here's the rundown:

(1-4) — Itsey Bitsy, Tweeny Weeny, Yellow Polka Dot Bikini, Brian Hyland, Leader.

(2-1-7) — I'm Sorry, Brenda Lee, Decca.

(3-3-6) — Only the Lonely, Roy Orbison, Monument.

(4-4-1) — It's Now or Never, Elvis Presley, RCA-Victor.

(5-6-7) — Image of a Girl, Safaris, Eldo.

(6-2-9) — Alley Oop, Hollywood Argyles, Lute.

(7-5-9) — Because They're Young, Duane Eddy, Jamie.

(8-8-9) — Everybody's Somebody's Fool, Connie Francis, MGM.

(9-7-6) — Mule Skinner Blues, The Fenderners, Soma.

(10-13-2) — Finger Poppin' Time, Hank Ballard and the Midnighters, King.

(11-0-1) — Walk—Don't Run, Ventures, Bolton.

(12-0-1) — Twist, Hank Ballard and the Midnighters, King.

(13-12-3) — Please Help Me, I'm Falling, Hank Locklin, RCA-Victor.

(14-0-1) — Feel So Fine, Johnny Preston, Mercury.

(15-14-4) — Mission Bell, Donnie Brooks, Era.

(16-13-5) — Theme From the Unforgiven, Don Costa, United Artists.

SUDDEN ACQUAINTANCE—It may be sudden, but it can also be lasting as a tang and a pair of grunts meet up with a skindiver. He's swimming through their home territory near Nassau, in the Bahamas, where the water living is easy.

CHICAGO FLYER—Giving Chicago its biggest kick since Mrs. O'Leary's cow, British beauty June Wilkinson launches her heavenly body into orbit next to the Buckingham Fountain. The 19-year-old blonde is soon to make her movie debut.

SINGLE THOUGHT—Dennis Hurley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Hurley of Covington, Ky., shows pure concentration as he lines up a putt in Orlando, Fla. Dennis placed second in the first day's play of the National Pee-Wee golf tourney and shot a 28 for five holes.

PRINCE OF SAILS—Learning the ropes of seamanship, Sweden's Crown Prince Carl Gustaf (in front) has a pretty blonde sailing mate at the Swedish island of Loholmen. The 14-year-old heir to the Swedish throne was among 75 boys and girls who took a special course in the art of sailing. It was all part of a summer course and was apparently enjoyed by all concerned.

PLAYING IT COOL—What is so rare as a ski jump in summer? That's what folks are asking in Portland, Ore., where this baseball field has been taken over by a wooden tower covered with a narrow layer of chicken wire, straw and crushed ice. It was built for the local Rose Festival.

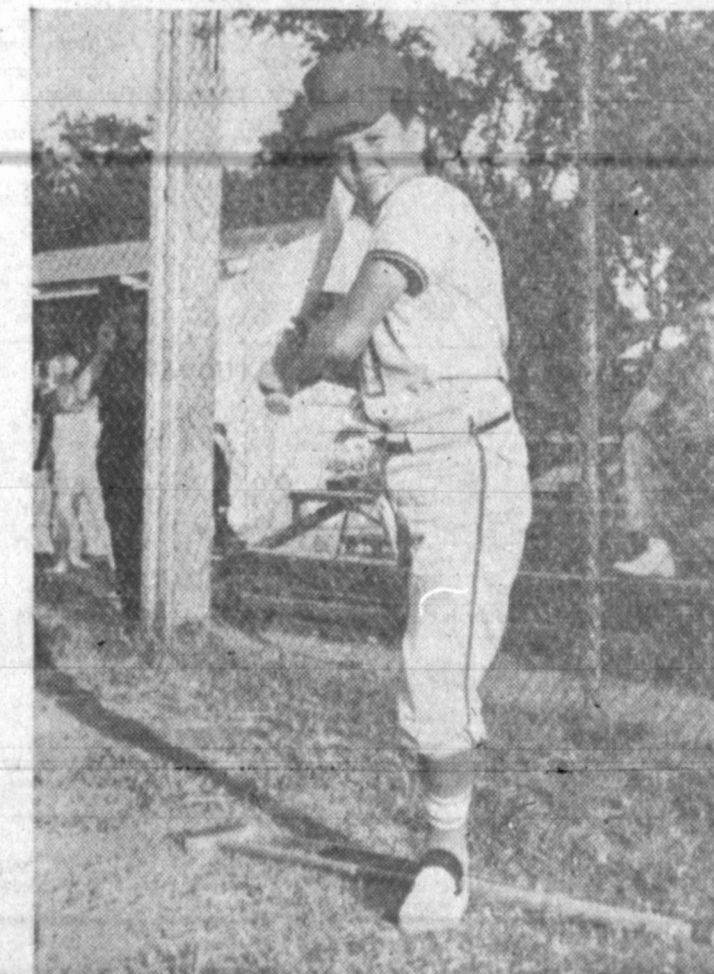

TWICE OVER LIGHTLY—In the case of Jetta Giles and Jerry Dale, it seems to be two-getherness. They're using one pair of water skis as they skim over the waves at Acapulco, Mexico, where the skis are doing double duty.

WHAT HAVE WE HERE?—Imagine!—These expert waiters use bicycles to speed food to hungry guests at a swank resort in Jasper National Park, Canada. The pedal-pushers in the heart of the Canadian Rockies provide all room service to the cabins that surround the central building at a lodge.

CONTRAST—The littlest rider and the littlest horse in the competition, three-year-old Jennifer Davies and her pony made friends with some of the bigger entrants at a horse show in Richmond, Surrey, England. Gay Tilney is seated on one of the largest horses.

REAL GAME GUY—Fate may have two strikes against him, but one-legged batter Walter Criswell, 13, is right in there during practice with a junior baseball team in Memphis, Tenn. (left). He was the team's first baseman until his right leg was amputated a few weeks ago. Now he's the team's first base coach and is getting his practice hits in preparation for the day he'll get back into the lineup with a new artificial leg.

SWEET SWINGTIME—Hitting a peak of high adventure, Diana Keith has a raging case of swing fever. She's high among the clouds at Largo, Fla., where that swing is proving a lot of excitement.

HIGH TIDE—It wasn't planned, but Richard Yinger (left), 13, and Rex Korden, 12, took advantage of flood waters near their homes in Detroit, Mich. After the city was hit by a heavy rainstorm, the lads got out their bicycles and took a ride. They put on some skin diving equipment as they navigated this deep water.

Maris Takes Aim At No. 60

Ten is the magic number for Roger Maris, the new-look in hitters for the New York Yankees. That is how far he is ahead of the record-setting home run pace of Babe Ruth during the 1927 season.

The Bambino poked his 31st homer of the 1927 campaign July 24, but it was the 94th game of the season.

Maris now has 31 round trippers

Ruth Was Hot In September

Where Ruth eats up the challenges to his record is in the month of September.

He hit 17 in the most torrid finish ever staged by a major league slugger.

Presently it's simple for a good home run hitter to stay even with the Bambino's pace up until that final go-round.

But by the time September gets here, they're usually so tired they can't even approach the Babe.

It figures that some relatively unknown slugger, maybe such as Maris, will pop up with a new home run record.

Well-known power men have assaulted his record, and were figured by many authorities to stand a good chance of hitting better than 60 homers.

In the American League, Mickey Vernon hit 52 in 1936; and Greenberg of the Detroit Tigers and Jimmy Foxx of the Philadelphia Athletics each hit 58. Greenberg made his best run for the money in 1938, and Foxx turned the trick in 1932.

The closest any National League slugger came was in 1930 when Hack Wilson sent 56 into orbit.

Ralph Kiner twice hit more than 50 homers in a season when he was with the Pittsburgh Pirates; and Johnny Mize and Willie Mays have done it once each.

Remember Bauman? He Did It

A total of 60 homers in a season isn't impossible. It's been topped in the minor leagues four times, at least.

In 1937, Joe Hauser, who played for the Minneapolis Millers of the American Assn., hit 66 for an all-time baseball standard.

Dick Stuart, when he played in the old Western League, hit 68 in a season, and Ken Guettler, who was with Shreveport in the Texas League in 1956, hit 62.

But the new record was set in 1954 by a player whose name should still be remembered in this area.

He was Joe Bauman, at that time a hulking first baseman with the Artesia Drillers of the Longhorn League.

Bauman and the drillers pulled into Sweetwater on the final day of the season to play a doubleheader.

In those two games Bauman hit six home runs—Nos. 69, 70, 71, 72, 73, and 74.

So it can be done.

Western Wins, 10-2

The Western League All-Stars roared into the finals of the Area 4 Little League baseball tournament with a 10-2 victory over the Northern League last night.

The Western Stars will meet Spearman in the finals of the tournament at 8 p.m. tomorrow.

Eugene McCampbell picked up the win for the Western team in last night's game.

The Western League All-Stars advanced to Saturday's game with a 5-3 win over the Eastern team.

Larry Daniels picked up the victory after he relieved Gary Molberg in the fifth with the bases loaded and went the rest of the way with-

Former UT Back, Lackey, Quits

CALIFORNIA, Pa. (UPI) — Rookie quarterback Bobby Lackey, regarded as a top-notch prospect for professional football, has called it quits.

The former University of Texas standout left the Pittsburgh Steelers training camp Saturday, his second departure in the past week. But Lackey told coach Buddy Parker this time it was for good.

The six-foot, 205-pounder disappeared last Monday night and turned up at his home in Weslaco, Tex. He returned upon Parker's urging.

Lackey, who Parker held in high esteem, said he was homesick after being in camp less than two days following his 4,000 mile trip to the Lone Star state.

WHO ARE THE RAMS? — The new Los Angeles Chargers, an American Football League entry, seem to be well-stocked with husky linemen, if these five gentlemen are any indication of the team's overall size. From left, they are Ron Mix of Southern California; Fred Bole of Maryland; Joe Armistutz of Indiana; Orlando Ferrante of Southern California; and Sam Deluca of South Carolina.

Rawls Wins 4th Ladies Crown

WORCESTER, Mass. (UPI) — Hot-putting Betsy Rawls Saturday became the first woman to win the U.S. Women's Open golf tournament four times after shooting a record-tying 68 in the semi-final round.

The 32-year-old Spartanburg, S.C. golfer slowed down on the final round at Worcester Country Club with three over par 75 but it was enough to beat Joyce Ziske of Waterford, Wis. by one stroke. The winning four-round total was 292.

Rawls stood near the 18th green as Miss Ziske missed a five-foot putt that would have meant a tie and a playoff round Sunday.

Mickey Wright of Chula Vista, Calif., who went into the final two rounds Saturday with a seven-stroke lead over Miss Rawls, grew shaky in the semi-final round, shooting a 75, and in the final round fell apart with an 82. She finished fifth with a four-round total of 299 strokes. If Miss Wright had won Saturday's tournament, it would have been her third consecutive victory in the U.S. Women's Open.

It marked the first time the White Sox took over the American League lead since May 24, and also the first time the Yankees moved out of it since June 26.

Minoso was chiefly responsible for both accomplishments with a double and three singles.

He singled home Chicago's first run in the fifth inning to tie the score at 1-1, then produced a two-run single during a sixth-inning four-run rally that clinched the game for the Sox.

Bob Shaw, who pitched the first eight innings before yielding to Gerry Staley, recorded his ninth victory although rougher up for 10 hits, including Bill Skowron's 18th homer with the bases empty in the eighth. Whitey Ford, who was knocked out in the sixth, suffered his sixth loss against the same number of victories.

MAN TO BEAT — The man to beat in the huge field of 186 entrants participating in the 42nd Professional Golfers Assn. championship in Akron, Ohio, is Arnold Palmer. Palmer already owns the Masters and U.S. Open championships for this year and can make sports history by capturing this third selection of U.S. golfdom's "triple crown."

White Sox Rip Yankees; Jump To First Place In AL

NEW YORK (UPI) — Minnie Minoso personally led the Chicago White Sox into first place Saturday and to their seventh consecutive victory by slamming four hits and driving in three runs in a 5-3 decision over the stumbling New York Yankees.

It marked the first time the White Sox took over the American League lead since May 24, and also the first time the Yankees moved out of it since June 26.

Minoso was chiefly responsible for both accomplishments with a double and three singles.

He singled home Chicago's first run in the fifth inning to tie the score at 1-1, then produced a two-run single during a sixth-inning four-run rally that clinched the game for the Sox.

Bob Shaw, who pitched the first eight innings before yielding to Gerry Staley, recorded his ninth victory although rougher up for 10 hits, including Bill Skowron's 18th homer with the bases empty in the eighth. Whitey Ford, who was knocked out in the sixth, suffered his sixth loss against the same number of victories.

GIANTS 3, CUBS 1

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Juan Marichal limited the Pittsburgh Pirates to four hits in his second major league outing Saturday and Willie Mays hit a two-run homer in leading the San Francisco Giants to a 3-1 victory.

The loss cut Pittsburgh's lead in the National League to one and one-half games over Milwaukee.

Marichal, a red-hot rookie from the Dominican Republic, who blanked the Philadelphia Phillies with a one-hitter last Tuesday in his big league debut, lost his bid for a shutout in the seventh inning when Smokey Burgess doubled home Rocky Nelson. Nelson had singled for the second time off the right-handed fastball.

Marichal struck out six, walked four and was helped along by four double plays.

NATS 3, A'S 3

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Washington Senators achieved the first triple play of the American League season Saturday in beating the Kansas City Athletics, 3-3.

The triple play was the second in the major leagues this year, since Milwaukee made one earlier in the National League. It came in the third inning after Bill Tuttle and Jerry Lumpe opened with singles off Pedro Ramos.

With a 3-2 count and the runners on the move, Whitey Herzog lined to Ramos for the first out. Ramos threw to first baseman Julio Becquer nailing Lumpe, who was halfway to second, for the second out. Becquer fired to shortstop Jose Valdivielso for the third out on Tuttle who had no chance to get back to the bag.

Childress Bumps Stars In Tourney Final, 6-2

The Pony League All-Stars reached the finals of the regional tournament at Childress Friday night before a flock of errors brought about an abrupt ending to their baseball season.

The All-Stars whipped Borger, 9-8, in the semifinal game, but committed six errors in the finale and dropped a 6-2 decision to the host Childress team.

Bobby Price, the third in a line of All-Star pitchers, picked up the victory.

Mike Bridges started on the mound, but was knocked out when Borger rallied for seven runs in the fifth inning.

Larry Gregory came on and walked two batters before Price came in and retired the side.

Ronnie Goodwin rapped two singles and Gary Larimore had a double to pace the victory.

Dee Wright went the distance in the final game, and gave up six runs on six hits. He struck out 15 Childress batters.

Larry Johnson had a pair of singles, Jimmy Lollar hit a double and Larry Gregory added another single, accounting for all the All-Star hits.

AKRON, Ohio (UPI) — Convivial Doug Sanders, a modern Walter Hagen on and off the course, laughed and jarrapped his way to the third round lead in the P.G.A. Golf Championship Saturday with a two-under-par 32 37-69 and a pace setting 210 total.

The gay young man from Miami Beach thus took a one shot lead over second round leader Jay Hebert; 48-year-old slamm'n Sammy Snead and 45-year-old Jim Ferrier in a torrid action over the sup-baked acres of the Firestone Country Club.

Another shot away at 212 as they belabored this treacherous 7,165 yard par 35-35-70 course came Don January of Dallas with Doug Ford and Fred Hawkins back at 214; Dave Marr of Houston and Dow Finsterwald at 215 and among those at 216 was golden boy Arnold Palmer who who Saturday "took the pipe" in his apparently thwarted bid for "triple crown" victory.

Sanders stepped out on the head end with a blazing front nine in which he played "unconscious" golf after a gay-evening of early celebration on the 27th birthday he will observe Sunday.

"Maybe you ought to be home in bed because you're only two shots back of the lead," he was told. "The rest of the leaders will be sleeping."

That's when young Doug gave them an old Hagen line.

"They may be in bed," he grinned. "But they ain't sleeping."

Young Doug, in the ancient Hagen manner, didn't get much. But he didn't do any sleeping out there Sunday as he battled the wire-tough rough and split some—or most—of those thread-needle fairways. For on the front nine he shot five birdies against one double bogey and when all the divots stopped flying he was riding on the head end by one slim shot. Yet, still ahead.

Ferrier fired a course record 34-32—66—breaking the first round 67 which Palmer set in the first round and Hebert matched in the second round—to move into hot contention for the crown he won 'way back in 1947. That put him at 211 along with Snead, who had a 37-33-70 and Hebert, who shot 35-37-72.

It was a scorching, sultry day of torrid developments which included:

Palmer's eyebrow-raising collapse as he finished the last three holes with a triple bogey and two bogeys to fall six shots off the pace and only 18 holes between him and his hopes of a fabled triple as he sought to add the PGA to his U.S. Open and Masters victories.

With a score of 224 necessary to survive the cut to the low 80 and ties for Sunday's final round, the elimination of Ben Hogan with a 78 for 225, as well as defending champion Bob Rosburg and former Open king Jack Fleck.

The calling on the carpet of Cary Middlecoff, where he was censured for slow play after requiring four hours and 20 minutes to complete a round in which two threesomes played through.

Announcement of a record payoff purse of $63,130 with a record $11,000 to the winner and $5,500 for second place.

Pleasure Boatsmen Beating Seasickness

MEDICAL science has gone a long way toward preventing some of the uncomfortable feeling of a bouncing boat can bring.

"Seasickness can affect almost anyone," points out Dr. Dana M. Sheldon, an experienced sailor-physician.

"The pleasure boatman sensibly remains ashore when the storm winds blow. In times of national emergency such as World War II, however, soldiers, sailors and marines had to go to sea despite the weather and the Navy conducted experiments to find out why motion sickness occurs and how it can be controlled.

"An ingenious machine to reproduce the action of a boat in rough seas was built at the Neurological Institute in Montreal. It was found that 90 per cent of the volunteers who rode it became sick if the 'weather' got rough enough."

The pleasure boat skipper can stay home away from such seas, and can aid the comfort of passengers in other ways.

Since the chief troublemaker is the balance mechanism in the inner ear when it is moved in rapid and unaccustomed ways, a crew member who begins to feel tired, listless and depressed can often be aided by having him lie down.

"Don't overlook his feeling of depression," Dr. Sheldon cautions. "He may get careless because of it, lie down on deck without holding on, and slip overboard."

Keep the victim in the fresh air. Anyone who does not feel well should be brought out on deck. A leaky engine exhaust or stove might be causing carbon-monoxide poisoning below decks with early symptoms of drowsiness, lethargy and headache that are very similar to seasickness signs.

Some people just stand on a boat and feel ill.

A knowledge of swimming, learning to use sea legs so that you stand upright while the boat rolls, and, in general, getting used to boating will help.

The wise skipper with an uneasy crew member will keep him warm, possibly let him steer the boat to distract him, advise him not to read or use his eyes intently, and avoid talking to him about food.

Aboard a sailboat he should sit amidships where there is less motion, farther aft in a power boat.

Within the last 10 years several anti-motion drugs have appeared. The best time to start taking them is half an hour before going out on the boat.

As with any drug, direction must be followed very carefully. It is well to get a doctor's advice as to how best to use them. They

But She's Back Down To Earth Now

Terry's Something To 'Bragg' About

WILMINGTON, Del. (NEA) — The picture was in all the papers the day after the Olympic Games Trials at Palo Alto, Calif.

There was Don Bragg, who wants to be Tarzan. He had just qualified for Rome by pole-vaulting a world-record 15 feet, 9 1/4 inches — nearly 10 inches higher than the Olympic standard.

Pole-vault pictures you can always get. But there was a dancing, whooping, completely gone Bragg clinging to a suddenly disheveled blonde — which is the recommended way to cling — who had jumped out of the stands and sprinted into the brawny arms of her betrothed.

Right there in the middle of Stanford Stadium, before 40,000 people, two overjoyed and attractive young people from Penns Grove, N.J., shared the most glorious moment of their lives.

"Tarzan threw 'Me Jane' in the air, caught her on the way down, and the two staged what some considered a good imitation of an Apache dance," typed Sid Ziff, the Los Angeles Mirror News sports editor.

Theresa Fiore, 20 years old, 5-4, 112 pounds, very blonde, very pretty, a private secretary in the Du Pont Company, advertising department, was the "Me Jane" of the foot wall in front of the seats and wildly happy California scene. She's back to earth and work and she now can talk quietly & but proudly and still with a touch of emotion—about the vacation trip she just had to afford.

Terry Fiore and Bragg plan to be married when he gets out of the Army in November, which might help you understand the turbulence inside this Italian girl who started out sitting in the 57th row in the stadium and wound up in the first during the vault series.

"It was merely impulse," she can explain now. "I saw Don go over at 15-9 1/4 and didn't even watch him land."

"As soon as I saw the cross-bar remain still, I sprang to a three-foot wall in front of the seats and dropped five feet to the track. I heard a cop yell, but I screamed, 'Get out of my way!' and ran. Don had danced out of the pit and picked me up and the next thing I knew I was in the air."

"Later, I felt a little humiliated. I bet the people thought I was an idiot. But I didn't care. Something like this doesn't happen every day. You just can't imagine what this means."

These are sweethearts of seven years. They met at a dance in

Scattered Showers Awaiting Gulf Coast Fishermen Today

By CARLTON F. WILSON
United Press International
Partly cloudy skies with widely scattered showers over the weekend will greet Gulf Coast fishermen.

During the week rains averaged around two inches, but lots of fishing was done.

A string of artificial reefs formed by dumping old automobile bodies in the Gulf have become populated with small fish. This brings in the larger fish to eat the smaller ones, and the fishermen are not far behind.

Bill Ellis at Port Aransas says the reefs have been paying off great with large catches of sand-trout, kingfish and red snapper. Some of the red snappers were reported up to ten pounds.

Last weekend two sailfish were hooked in the surf close to the Horace Caldwell Pier, but both got away. Three more sailfish were hooked around the artificial automobile reef.

But the most spectacular sailfish catch wasn't even caught at all. It was gaffed. A fisherman put a hook in the sailfish as it made a pass at a kingfish on a line. The sailfish measured seven feet four inches.

It will take a whopper this weekend to outweigh the Mako shark caught last week by Bill Vaughn III during the deep-sea round-up. Vaughn, landed a 241-pounder on rod and reel, and he can testify that there's no better fighting fish. The Mako shark is the only shark which jumps from the water like a tarpon when hooked.

Good catches in the deep-sea tournament were made by a pair of Austin anglers — Dave Hawk and Gordon Dickey. They landed 15th as much water as is to be found in all of Lake Erie.

IMPOUNDED LAKE
Boulder City — Lake Mead, behind the Hoover dam on the Colorado river, contains about four-fifths as much water as is to be found in all of Lake Erie.

Tides for the week-end:
Saturday — Highs 5:07 a.m. and 2:32 p.m.; lows at 11:10 a.m. and 9:54 p.m.
Sunday — Highs at 5:40 a.m. and 3:09 p.m.; lows at 11:27 a.m. and 10:26 p.m.

If you suspect that the legal hassles between the National and American Football Leagues (having to do with Cannon, Flowers and Robinson) were something, wait till next fall... when they start going after the '60 college crop... both leagues made it clear they're going to keep signing kids under cover as soon as they draft them and before their college eligibility in Bowl games is up...

The situation is serious enough for Wellington Mara of the New York Giants to suggest (seriously, too) to Commissioner Pete Rozelle that the NFL huddle with the NCAA's Walt Byers about formulating a possible letter of intent... so the kids won't professionalize themselves right away...

Willie Mays can't help himself in San Francisco by the glowing way he talks about preferring to be around New York: "If I didn't like this place more, I'd never move back..." referring to his purchase of a home in Westchester...

Incidentally, Willie doesn't think Candlestick Park is always unfriendly to right-hand hitters. "Sometimes," he says, "just before 9 o'clock at night, the wind shifts toward left field to favor a right-hand hitter like me. Early in the season I tried hitting everything to right field and messed myself up so now I hit straight away..."

The one concession Mays makes to the prevailing winds in the field... he plays every hitter to the right of second base.

Biggest puzzle in baseball: Why does Charley Dresen of the Braves stay with rookie Ron Piche as his clutch reliever in the face of repeated wallpings? ... Next biggest puzzle: The continuing incredulity that Horace Stoneham could have made Tom Sheehan manager pro tem of the Giants...

Wasn't Jimmy Piersall left off the All-Star roster of the American League at the request of Cleveland skipper Joe Gordon?

The Cardinals have already gotten around the problem of what to call Hooten Hooten (Julian Javier), recruit second baseman... he's "Caviar"... Kenny Boyer was raving about the potential of Javier, "He was amazing body..."

Willie Mays

with his bad knee... with the same kind of risk involved in signing men like Ray Collins and Bill Svoboda (Dallas), Ron Waller and Howie Ferguson (Los Angeles)...

Roger Maris professes to be a small town boy who likes his home in Missouri and tolerates New York only for the baseball he has to play there... but the country cousin manages not to look out of place dining in swank spots like the Harwyn...

Mention the relief pitching problem of the Braves to Eddie Mathews, and he shakes it off, "We'll win anyhow... and without relief pitchers..."

Red Schoendienst has had it as an every day regular in the majors... The television sponsor may have as much to say as the players about whether there'll be a second All-Star Game next year...

Beck Leads In Pentathlon Try

SAN ANTONIO (UPI) — Lt. Jim Moore of Eric, Pa., won the 4,000 meter cross country run Saturday, but Navy Lt. Robert L. Beck of San Diego, Calif., despite a tenth place finish, continued to hold the lead in tryouts for the four-man U.S. Pentathlon Olympic team.

Moore scored 1,195 points by winning the 4,000 meter run in 13:55.3 minutes. However, he was in seventh place in overall standings, with 3,532 points.

With one more day of competition remaining — Sunday's 3,000-meter steeplechase — Army Lt. Alan Jackson of Rolling Hills, Calif., was in second place with 3,928 points; Lt. Jack Daniels of Missoula, Mont., was third with 3,830 points and Cpl. Dick Solt of Minneapolis, Minn., was fourth with a total of 3,772 points.

Only the first four places will qualify for the Olympic Games at Rome in August.

George Lambert of Sioux City, Iowa, held fifth place in overall standings with 3,739 points. Pfc. Paul Pesthy of San Antonio was sixth with 3,645. Lambert scored 985 in the cross-country and Pesthy 847.

Army Lt. Arnie Sowell of Pittsburgh finished second in the cross country with a time of 14:9 and third place was taken by Dale Griffith, a civilian from Spokane, Wash., in 14:40.3. Sowell scored 1,180 points for his run and Griffith 1,060 points.

City Slickers Try For 3rd Victory

AMARILLO — The City Slickers hope to make it three straight over the Sodbusters in the third annual Panhandle Grid Classic — Aug. 20 at Price College field.

Selected from Conference AAAA and AAA schools of this area, the City Slickers won the first classic, in 1958 by a 24-12 margin. Last year they were again victorious, this time by a 12-6 count.

Some of the top football names in this area have appeared in the Russell of Amarillo, Coolidge Hunt Panhandle Grid Classic — David Russell of Amarillo, Coolidge Hunt of Lubbock; and Jesse McGuire of Plainview.

Again this year the City Slickers, coached by Clark Jarnigan, should prove to be a topflight team. The roster includes:

Free Crappie At McClellan

Want some free fish?

You can get just about all the small crappie you want, merely for the telling.

For years now, Lake McClellan has been over run by small crappie.

Now the Game and Fish Commission, in cooperation with the U. S. Forestry Service, is thinning them out.

Last week a group of 15 men, headed by Game Warden Jack Woodford of Miami, took approximately 15,000 of the small crappie from the area lakes. Some 9,000 went into Buffalo Lake and the rest were put in Lake Rita Blanca.

"The crappie have been a problem for a long time now," Woodford said. "There's so many of them, and not enough food. What crappie there are can't grow."

Woodford said that a lake in the Lubbock area, and another at Dyess Air Force Base in Abilene, probably would get some of the fish. The remainder of the excess fish will be killed near the end of the summer unless they are claimed. Anyone having a place to keep the fish may seine them out of lake, provided they tell Joe Tipton, head of the concession house there.

Woodford said the crappie were from one to six inches long. When the cleaning out program is completed, Lake McClellan will be restocked with black bass and channel cat.

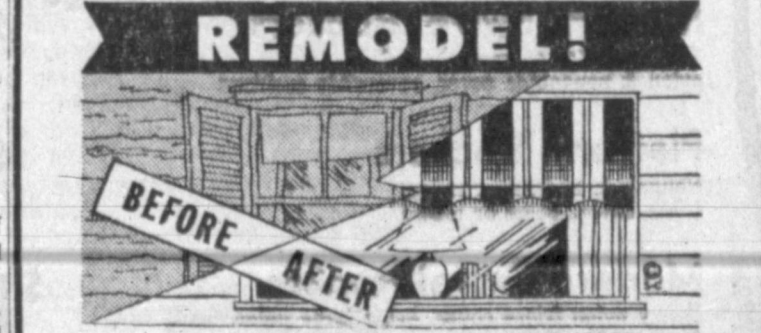

(No. 1 of a Series) The Olympic Games, symbol of peaceful competition, were founded on war.

Pick your version of their origin. One has it that Hercules started them to celebrate his triumph over King Atlas of Elis. A second insists that the god Zeus inaugurated the Olympics to glorify his victory over his father, Kronos.

Peg O' Pampa

WE DROVE BY the swimming pool the other evening, just at dusk, and we must say, the water and the swimmers were a pretty sight... illuminated by the big lights... there is nothing quite like going swimming in the evening... although it seems to us it has been almost too chilly these past few marvelous, cool days.

WE WERE AMUSED some weeks ago... and we forgot to mention it before!... to read one of the advertisements on the revolving bulletin board at Furr's... a very clever and snappy ad for kittens... described as "3 guaranteed mouse catchers... made of real fur!"... hope the owner was successful... he or she deserved to be for such an original little statement.

A REWARDING tour of the Coronado lobby shows some very interesting pictures by local people... Ruth Smalley has two... one large, and very effective abstract-impressionistic painting full of vivid reds and blues and whites, called appropriately "Fourth of July"... and another, smaller one called "Anger" which we also liked... and a beautiful enamel on silver-plated steel, "Red Eyed Clown"... done by Leone Davies... Virginia Whitten was represented by a painting titled "Skyrockets"... and speaking of the Whittens... we understand Joe Whitten is an active member of the Board of Directors of the Community Concert Association... Ruth Nienstiel is displaying one of her beautiful enamel-on-copper pictures... an abstract in reds... and round the corner are two charming water-colors by Mary Hills entitled "Vacation scenes"... of a beach and a car-and-house trailer set... the technique is oil, and the method was partial obscuring of a visual image by the use of white... go in and take a look and you will see what we mean!... you should go in regularly to view the changing displays, for some very fine art work shows up there.

HERE AND THERE... as usual... not a very original title for the section, but very descriptive... Bob and Mary Norton, and their children, Christopher, Michel... and Russell are vacationing and visiting relatives in Idaho for a week or two... we saw Carolyn Davis downtown... we admire the way she has risen to the job of managing the DavCo Toy store... as housewife turned businesswoman... she looked smart and pert on the way to do some errand or other... we have noted the Becks... Will and Curt and little Curt and the sweet baby Ann at the swimming pool at the Country Club these past hot summer days... looks as if next school year will see the cheerleaders better than ever... six from Pampa will attend a Cheerleader Clinic at Lamar Tech, Beaumont... where they will study pep rallies... tumbling... stunts... chants... routines synchronized with bells... crowd psychology (!)... and so forth... they are among 398 teenagers from 86 towns in Texas and Louisiana... Ruth Ann Guthrie... Myrna Pope... Jerry Nichols... Jerry Porter... Margaret Burns... and Jan Hall.

WE SAID LAST WEEK that we would have something more to say about dolls and collecting this week... here it is, for better or for worse... seems that the hobby is fourth most popular in the country... and there is to be a big doll-collectors convention in Cleveland, Ohio, in August... Bertie McCulloch (Mrs. Jack) is planning to attend the convention... and she will wear a unique hand-painted skirt... decorated with copies of some of the most beautiful dolls in her collection... the skirt is made especially for the convention... because it seems that the custom of those attending is to do or wear something special connected with the hobby... you'd be surprised how much research goes into collecting dolls... because one must know the correct costumes and be able to recognize hundreds of types of dolls and to recognize authentic old fabrics which can be used to make costumes... collectors like to dress their dolls in fabrics of the same vintage as the doll wherever possible and they are always on the lookout for such fabrics... Bertie McCulloch has some very interesting and beautiful dolls in her collection including a baby-doll whose head was modeled from that of a still-born child in the Nineteenth Century... we are sure there must be other doll-collectors in Pampa... Bess Griffith, for example.

INTERESTING SIDELIGHT on the visit of the Japanese Boy Scouts here in Pampa... they were taken as houseguests by several families in Pampa... and were treated to a visit to the Ed Gething ranch to see cattle-branding one day... which really excited them... Rachel and Parks Brumley... and the H. V. Wilks... and Sandy and Ed Williams... and M. K. Griffiths... and Don and Marion George... were hosts to one of the boys for a night on their four-day stay... the boys could speak only a very little bit of English... and were assisted by Sato Kaji, Harvard student... a Japanese who is staying at the Coronado Inn this summer... and fortunately was available to interpret for everyone... Bob and Aleith Curry were hosts for the older boy, Kenji Yasuno, of Tokyo, whose father is a wool-importer... and who is planning to become a diplomat... they called him Kishi... and he could speak enough English so that they could talk... he was very observant and wanted to know all about everything he saw... and was induced to try some of the "strange" American foods such as grits and barbecue... although fruit was their favorite... the boys were also interested in all the plants we grow in our backyards... you all know the Japanese interest in nature and gardens... the leader and Hitoshi Oshima, 13, stayed with the E. E. Shellhamers one night... and before leaving the boys presented their hostesses with a small gift... Aleith found a beautiful spray of cherry-blossoms made of pink silk left in the room he occupied, and he presented her a pink fan... and Bess Griffith was presented with a doll for her collection... all in all it was a rewarding experience all around... and now they are off for the National Jamboree in Colorado Springs that you have been hearing so much about... Don Curry with a big collection of preserved Jack-Rabbit ears for purposes of trading!... trading is big business at the Jamboree.

AND SPEAKING OF JAPAN... this month's House Beautiful magazine is devoted to the subject with some highly informative articles and beautiful pictures... the ball is rolling for the rodeo to be held the first week in August... the High School band will be the official Rodeo band... awards for the Kid Pony parade will be offered for the first time... and this should make this event more interesting and important... with rewards in sight for the winners... the Parade should be bigger and better than ever this year... cross your fingers for good weather... not too hot... just right... Libby Shotwell and Mildred Cook were hostesses for a recipe shower given for Carol Henry... a small informal party in the Cook home... for Carol who is to be married soon... this is a wonderful kind of shower for a bride-to-be, we think... the S. E. Tedrows visited their parents (next-door neighbors in Waynesboro, Pennsylvania), recently... this is one of those romantic couples who grew up together as neighbors... and after the war he "came to realize" she wasn't the same "pig-tailed with braces" girl he knew... and so forth... it really does happen in real life, of course, we don't know about the pigtailed or braces, but that's the tradition... anyway, as we were saying, they visited their parents and Joan brought back a collection of dolls she had had as a child... and has them on a peg-board display in her daughter's room... Carrie and Becky can now enjoy them as their mother did.

GUESS that's about all for this time... see you next week.
Love,
Peg

Miss Bonnie Sue Glaxner To Represent Pampa In 1960 'Miss Texas' Contest

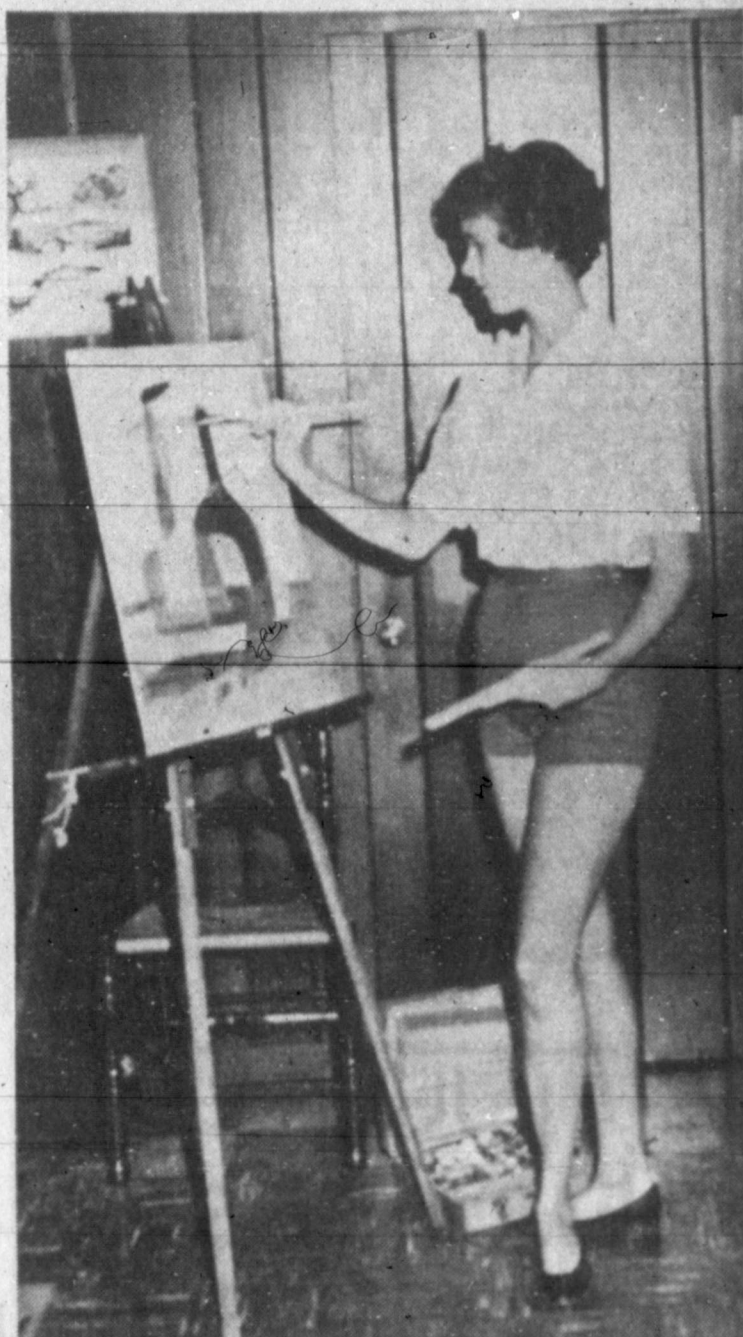

Contestant To Drive To Beaumont Pageant

Miss Bonnie Sue Glaxner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. Glaxner, 701 N. Gray, will leave tomorrow to drive with her mother, brother, aunt and sister-in-law to Beaumont where she will represent Pampa in the Miss Texas contest. She won the right to go to Beaumont when she was named Miss Pampa last year in the annual Jaycee Miss Pampa contest. Winner of the Texas contest will represent Texas in the Miss America contest this fall in Atlantic City, N. J. Contestants in the Miss Texas contest will have a press-conference Tuesday; the contests will be held Wednesday through Friday and winners will be announced Saturday. Winner receives a $1,000 scholarship, trip to Atlantic City, and an honor which will call for hosts of personal appearances.

Many Hours Of Work Involved For Entering

Winning a beauty contest isn't all glamour and fun. "It took many, many hours of hard work to prepare for this contest," said Bonnie. After winning the Miss Pampa contest, the Jaycees sent her to Amarillo for the American Beauty Charm Course under the direction of Mrs. Mickey McDonald. Mrs. McDonald used to have a John Powers studio in Amarillo. It was a 36 hour course. "But I've had to practice every hour since," said Bonnie. The course included modeling, speech, make up, how to wear clothes, colors to wear, etiquette and exercise. To enter the Miss Texas contest, a girl must be between the ages of 18 and 28 and a high school graduate. She must never have been married. This August the Jaycees will sponsor for the fourth year the Miss Pampa Contest. It will be at Coronado Inn. This year's winner will again be sent to a charm course, and next year she will enter the Miss Texas contest. Eight girls have applied for this year's contest and entries will be open until the first week of August.

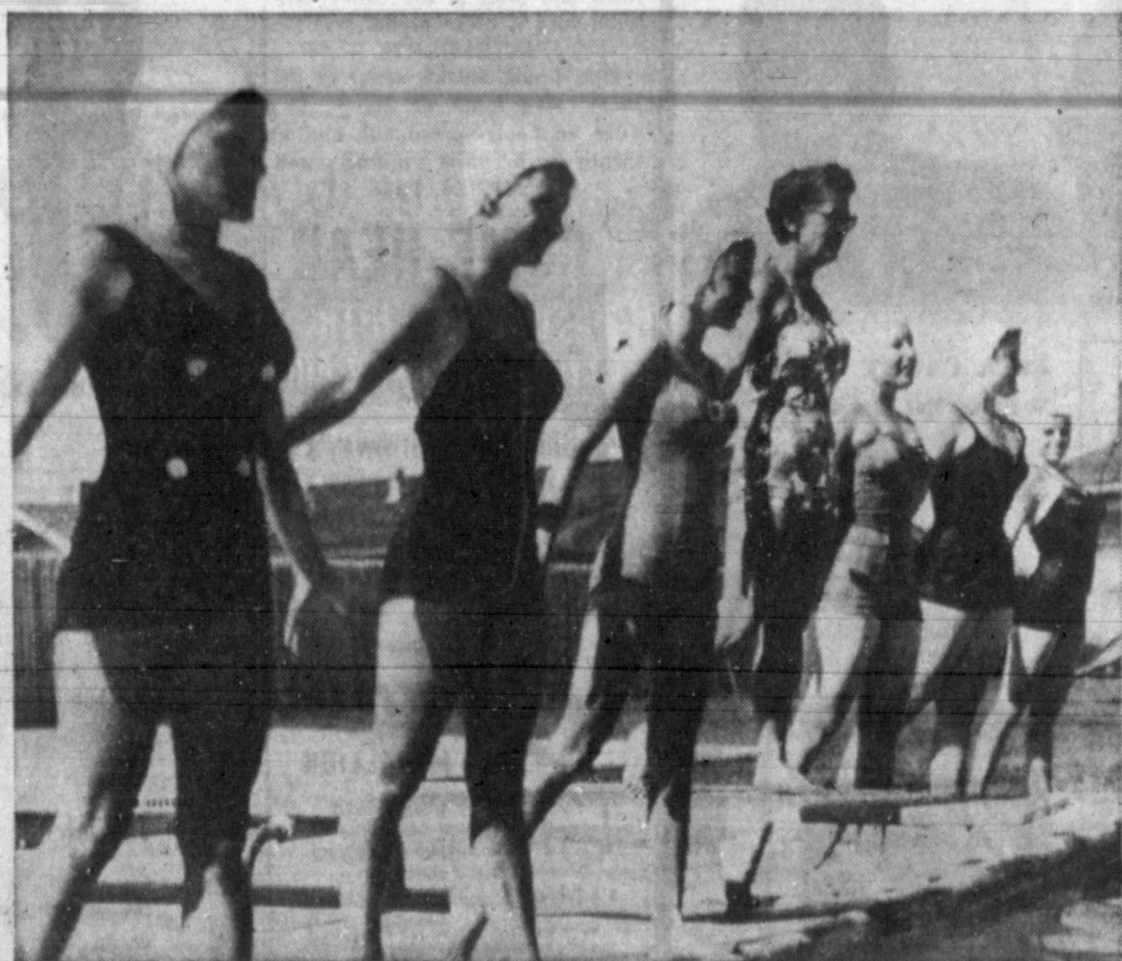

Entries Judged On Different Qualities

Personality, intelligence, charm, talent and beauty of face and figure are the qualities that the girls are judged on in the Miss Texas contest. Bonnie has many talents. She paints, plays the piano and dances. Her favorite is painting. In fact, she has made art her career. Bonnie is a junior at Texas Tech, Lubbock, where she is majoring in art education. In the Miss Texas Contest talent division, she will perform a modern dance to "Nobody Knows the Trouble I've Seen." Other divisions of the contest are appearances in a bathing suit and a formal gown. Bonnie will wear a white bathing suit. Her formal is a strapless white silk chiffon. It has a bouffant floor length skirt with tiers of material. The skirt is caught up in front with pink and rose roses. Bonnie has many other interests including cooking and modeling. "I'm very excited about going to the contest," she said. "And I'm going to do my best to win. It is both fun and hard work, but I'm enjoying both."

Swimmers Give Water Ballet

Performance Reflects Skill, Beauty, Precision

The setting was from the movies, a backyard swimming pool just off of a beautiful patio. The courtyard lights went off; the underwater pool lights came on; and the music began. Splash! Six lovely young ladies dove with precision, each one split seconds after the other, into the water, their bodies forming a flowing spiral arch. The group is a synchronized swimming class which was begun only two weeks ago. The class was under the direction of Mrs. Don George and is held at the pool of Mr. and Mrs. Kirk Duncan, 2322 Duncan, Friday night the group gave a show for their parents and friends at the pool. They will also perform at the final sessions of the Red Cross swimming classes Friday at the Municipal Pool. The routine consisted of a precision water ballet by the complete group, individual stunts and diving. The girls did both surface and board diving through a hoop, and several of them performed specialized dives including the jack knife, swan, front-twist, back twist, sitting dive and back flip. The girls showed a tremendous amount of skill and precision for the short time they had worked together. "There is a lot of native swimming ability in the group, and the girls worked hard," said Mrs. George. "We had a lot of fun working together, and I hope we can keep the group going. This type of swimming is great fun and very rewarding." Girls in the group are, left to right, Sammy Kay Osborne, White Deer, Joy Watson, Martha Lou Kelley, both of Pampa; Mrs. George, instructor, of Pampa; Nora Ruth Wells, Janice Lively and Zip Hall, all of Pampa.

Miss Hilton Bride Of Leon E. Stephens

Tall baskets of pink gladioli, baskets of palms and tapered candelabra adorned the church for the marriage of Miss Patricia Ann Hilton to Leon Earl Stephens at 6 p.m. yesterday in the First Baptist Church.

The bride is the daughter of R. J. Hilton, 717 N. West, and the late Mrs. Hilton. Mr. Stephens is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Stephens, 124 Klein, Dumas.

Dr. E. Douglas Carver, pastor of the First Baptist Church, performed the double ring ceremony.

BRIDE

Given away by her father, the bride wore a dress of chantilly lace over bridal taffeta. The bodice featured a scalloped Sabrina neckline and gathered elbow-length sleeves. Her ballerina-length veil of bridal illusion fell from a seed pearl tiara, and she carried a bouquet of gardenias with Stephanotis.

ATTENDANTS

Miss Pina Sturdivant was maid of honor. She was dressed in an outfit of pink-flocked nylon over taffeta. Dressed the same as the maid of honor, bridesmaids were Miss Eddie Jo Hilton, neice of the bride, Amarillo, and Miss Anita Sperry, Follett.

Douglas Savage, Canyon, served Mr. Stephens as best man, and James Byars, Pampa, and Deryl Stephens, brother of the bridegroom, Dumas, were ushers.

Mrs. Sheila Williams accompanied Mrs. Floyd Hatcher as she sang "I Love You Truly." Accompanied by Lee Way Motor Freight Inc., Amarillo.

ways" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Mrs. R. E. Hilton, sister-in-law of the bride, stood in as the bride's mother. She wore a smoky-blue dress of lace over taffeta with white accessories. Her corsage was of pink carnations.

The bridegroom's mother was attired in a beige dress of lace over taffeta with pink accessories. Her corsage was of pink carnations.

RECEPTION

A reception was held after the wedding in the church parlor. Miss Ann Smith, Amarillo, and Miss Ann Morgan, cousins to the bride, presided at the table. Miss Marlene Sperry was at the register. Music was provided by Mrs. Sheila Williams.

For a wedding trip to Las Vegas, N.M., and the surrounding area, the bride wore a light green linen suit with beige accessories. Her corsage was the gardenias from her bouquet.

When they return, the couple will be at home at 1710 Van Buren, Amarillo. Both will attend West Texas State College, Canyon, in the fall.

The bride graduated from Pampa High School in 1956 and is a senior at West Texas State College. The bridegroom graduated from Dumas High School in 1957 and is a senior at West Texas State College. He is a member of the Alpha Psi Omega, dramatic fraternity at West Texas, and is presently employed with Lee Way Motor Freight Inc., Amarillo.

RUTH MILLETT

What kind of husband are you?

Do you go for weeks without paying your wife the kind of compliment that makes a woman's face light up?

Do you have such a tight hold on the purse strings that your wife has to ask you for every cent she needs?

Do you make important decisions without taking your wife into your confidence or giving her a chance to express her ideas?

Do you think that all women's clubs and outside activities are nonsense and the a woman's place is the home?

Do you shirk a husband's responsibilities around the house — such as making repairs, doing heavy yard work, etc., and then accuse your wife of nagging when she tries to get you to take a little pride in your own home?

Do you make constant clutter because you never put anything you use back where it belongs so that your wife has to pick up after you constantly?

Do you clam up whenever your wife tries to talk to you about her problems?

Do you sit at home night after night with your shoes off watching TV, even though your wife is tied down all day with small children and you know she would love to go out one or two evenings a week?

Legion Auxiliary Elects New Officers

The American Legion Auxiliary of the Cerley Crossman Unit 334 met with Mrs. Eunice Pierson Thursday evening for a salad supper. Thirteen members and two guests were present.

During the business session, presided over by the president, Mrs. Lee Harrah, the group learned that 24 new flag holders for the cemetery had been received and given to the caretaker. Flags are placed on the graves of veterans on Memorial Day each year.

The nomination committee slate was read by Mrs. F. M. Foster, and the following officers were elected by acclamation: Mrs. Frank Shotwell, president; Mrs. Roy Hall, first vice president; Mrs. Estelle Wheeler, second vice president;

Mrs. F. M. Foster, secretary; Mrs. J. M. Turner, treasurer; Mrs. Cora Yates, sergeant-at-arms; Mrs. Lyles K. Stout, color bearer; and Mrs. Lee Harrah, chaplain.

The program was a report on girls state by Zip Hall and Sue Guthrie. The girls represented the American Legion Auxiliary from Pampa at the 1960 Girls State in June at Austin.

The next meeting will be announced by the president.

Just a few miles from world-famous resorts on the French Riviera, there are little towns utterly untouched by the twentieth century — where women still gather in the town square to do their washing at a common trough.

Meeks-Vitrano United In Longview Chapel

Mrs. Frank Vitrano

The First Methodist Church Chapel, Longview, was the scene of the marriage of Miss Jane Meeks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack H. Meeks, Longview, to Frank Anthony Vitrano, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Vitrano, Waco, at 6 p.m. yesterday.

The couple will live at 1342 Coffey, Apt. 4, in Pampa.

Dr. Stanley Carter officiated at the double-ring ceremony. Wedding music was provided by George A. Rieder, organist, and Miss Judy Roberts, vocalist.

A fan-shaped arrangement of white flowers decorated the communion table, and the altar was adorned in a traditional green and white theme. Many candles gleamed in wrought iron spiral candelabra. Family pews were marked with white ribbons.

BRIDE

Given away by her father, the bride wore an exquisite bridal gown of silk organza and chantilly lace. The dress was designed with a figurine bodice, frosted with lace, embroidered with pearls and iridescent sequins, forming a scalloped lace Sabrina neckline. Long sleeves tapered to petal points over her hands. The bouffant skirt of silk organza was appliqued with beaded lace medallions, was enhanced in the back with a large organza butterfly bow frosted with lace and swept to a formal train. Her white chapel-length veil of French illusion bound with starlight satin fell from a dainty pearl tiara. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley centered with a white orchid.

ATTENDANTS

Miss Linda Meeks, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore an apple-green silk chiffon sheath with satin midriff and (See MEKS, Page 16)

Miss Mary Murphy Weds Ernest Wilkinson In Dallas

Miss Mary Suzanne Murphy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jay F. Murphy, Dallas, and Ernest Benjamin Wilkinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Wilkinson, southeast of city, were united in marriage at 7 p.m. yesterday in Bassett Chapel of Cliff Temple Baptist Church, Dallas.

The Rev. Claude Simmons, Ft. Worth, officiated at the double-ring ceremony. Wedding music was provided by Mrs. W. F. Shelton, Dallas, organist, and Jerry Delaney, Houston, vocalist.

BRIDE

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white gown of silk organza and chantilly lace over taffeta. The bodice was fashioned with a portrait neckline edged in pearls. Her long sleeves came to points over her hands. Lace medallions were applied on the bouffant skirt which swept into a chapel train. A cultured pearl tiara held her tiered veil edged in chantilly lace. She carried a cascade bouquet of white orchids, carnations and stephanotis.

ATTENDANTS

Mrs. Gail Jones, Dallas, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Misses Colleen Duckett, Ft. Worth, Joy Warnack, Dallas, Patsy Redding, Dallas, Linda Eil-Maysey, Paris, and Sandra Williams, DeLeon Tex., Marilyn Maysey, Paris, and Mrs. Sandra Clare, Arlington. They all wore yellow silk taffeta dresses fashioned with scoop necklines and elbow length sleeves of silk organza. They wore yellow hats and shoes.

Bucky Atkins, Cristole, Tex., was best man. Ushers were Bobby Waddell, Pampa, Keith Franklin, Odessa; Robert Nemir, Roscoe, Tex.; Dub Robinson and Eddie Patterson, Ft. Worth, and Daniel Jonsky and Jim Kaladky, West Texas, Tex.

The bride's mother wore a beige taffeta dress with a silk organza over skirt and a lace bodice. Her corsage was yellow rose buds. The bridegroom's mother wore a claret red chiffon dress with elbow length cap sleeves and a full skirt. Her accessories were pale pink and she wore a pale pink rose bud corsage.

RECEPTION

A reception was held after the wedding in Meade Hall of the church.

After a wedding trip to Colorado, the couple will be at home on a ranch south of Lefors.

The bride is a graduate of Sunset High School and attended Arlington State College and North Texas State College. The bridegroom is a graduate of Pampa Military Institute of Boonsville, Mo. and attended North Texas State College where he was a member of Sigma Nu, social fraternity, and served as a representative on the Inter-Fraternity Council.

PRE-WEDDING SOCIALS

The bridegroom's parents gave a rehearsal dinner at 8:30 p. m. Friday at the Adolphus Hotel for the wedding party and out-of-town guests.

Miss Jimma Garrett Says Vows With Gabe W. Crossman July 16

Miss Jimma Joy Garrett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Garrett, 315 1/2 E. Francis, became the bride of Gabe Wells Crossman, 2015 Russell, at 7:30 p. m. July 16 in the Lamar Christian Church.

The Rev. David Mills performed the double-ring ceremony. Wedding music was provided by Bill Hassell, organist, and Jeannine Leith, vocalist.

BRIDE

Given away by her father, the bride a white gown of chantilly lace and nylon net over satin. The bodice was fashioned with a scalloped V neckline with a tiny collar. The long sleeves came to points over her hands. Tiny buttons in the back extended to the waistline. The full, floor-length skirt of tiered net swept into a slight train. Her only jewelry was a heart-shaped tear drop diamond necklace, a gift of the bridegroom. Falling from a crown of sequins and seed pearls, her elbow-length veil was of scalloped illusion. She carried a bouquet of white roses.

ATTENDANTS

Mrs. Cotton Jordan was matron of honor. She wore a mint green crystalline dress with matching shoes and a white illusion headpiece. Her bouquet was of white carnations and rose buds.

David Crossman, cousin of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Robert Garrett, brother of the bride, and Jimmy Gardner.

The bride's mother wore an egg-shell cotton lace sheath with matching hat and shoes. Her corsage was of pink carnations. The bridegroom's mother was dressed in a beige cotton chiffon sheath with matching hat and accessories. She wore a corsage of coral carnations.

After their honeymoon, the couple will be at home in Pampa.

The bride graduated from Pampa High School in 1958 and attended West Texas State College, Canyon, and Frank Phillips College, Borger. The bridegroom graduated from Pampa High School in 1958 and attended Texas Tech, Lubbock, West Texas State College and Frank Phillips College. He is employed by Crossman Implement Co.

PRE-WEDDING SOCIALS

A rehearsal dinner was held July 15 at Johnson's Dining Room. The bridegroom's parents were host and hostess. The decorations carried out the bride's chosen color.

For a wedding trip to California and Las Vegas, the bride wore a royal blue and green silk sheath with white accessories. Her corsage was the roses from her bridal bouquet.

Beauty Tips

Teen-agers aren't being as vain as they seem when they spend hours changing hairdos and experimenting with cosmetics. This is the only way to find out what is most complimentary to them. If they look better, then they have more confidence to carry them through the trying teen years.

The shape of your eyebrows is important to a facial expression. Avoid straight-across brows. These make a woman's face look masculine and too severe.

Stretching exercises will make a girl more lithe but it won't change the fact that she is short-waisted or short-legged. So she has to camouflage these problems. Select clothes in the same color and tone and get variety by combining them in a monochromatic manner.

In these days of mass production, we girls often encounter each other dressed alike. However, no dress or suit looks the same on you as it does on another person. This is because of the individual style we add to a costume.

Neighborhood children are a problem when playing in someone's yard. To keep mothers' tempers at a minimum in a block, get together and set up rules of conduct. Once each agrees to enforce them, there should be no arguments over discipline. The children will be better behaved when they visit their friends because they have to be.

Showers, Brunch Given To Honor Miss Linda Steele

Miss Linda Steele, bride-elect of Brent Perry, was honored at two miscellaneous showers and a patio brunch.

Both showers were held Tuesday at the home of Mrs. M. McDaniel, 1801 Charles. One was a coffee that morning, and the other a tea that afternoon. A total of 60 guests attended during the day.

Hostesses were Mrs. McDaniel, Mrs. Arthur Teed and Mrs. McHenry Lane.

Miss Steele, her mother Mrs. Aubrey Steele and Mrs. McDaniel were in the receiving line. The honoree and her mother were presented with white carnation corsages.

The table was covered with a white cloth with a centerpiece of white stock and blue shasta daisies.

Mrs. Joe Gordon presided at the coffee service in the morning, and Mrs. Frank Smith was at the punch bowl in the afternoon. Miss Judy Prescott, cousin of the honoree, from Altus, Okla., sang for both occasions.

The patio brunch was at 10 a.m. yesterday at the home of Mrs. C. A. Brauchle, 1206 N. Russell. Co-hostesses were Mrs. Ed Williams and Miss Heidi Schneider.

A red and white theme was carried out in the decorations. The table was covered with a red cloth centered with white majestic daisies. White stoneware was used.

RUTH MILLETT

Husbands CAN be spoiled.

Almost every batch of mail that comes to my desk contains letters from wives who have foolishly spoiled their husbands in the first years of marriage and then find it impossible to get their husbands to quit acting like the star boarders the wives have let them become.

So if you don't want to spoil your husband, don't get off to the wrong start in the first months and years of marriage.

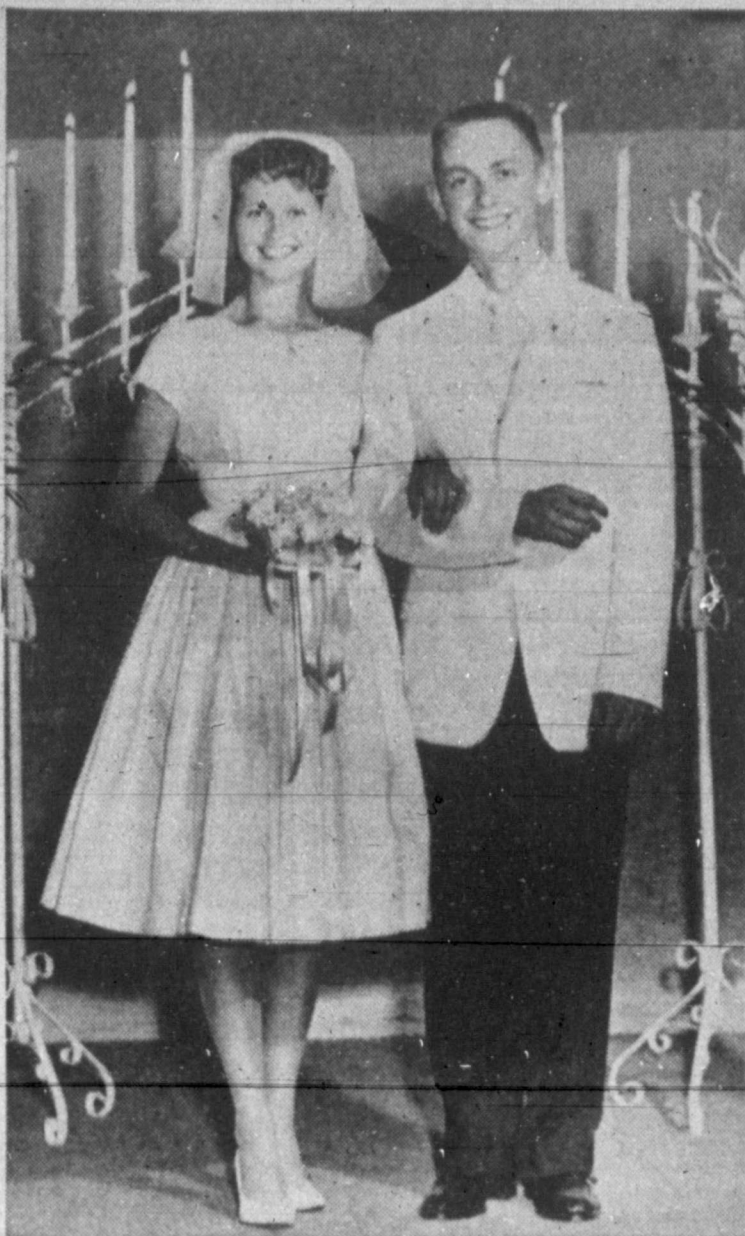

Don't take over the heavy yard work because it is easier to do it yourself than to get your husband interested. If you do, you'll be the family "yard man" the rest of your married life.

Don't run around behind your husband picking up the things he carelessly throws down. Tell him right at the start that if he wants a well-run home, he can't act as though he were living in a hotel.

Don't let him get by with doing out money to you in bits and dabs. Either say you would like a joint checking account or work out a household budget so that you get a set amount each week or month for housekeeping expenses, spending money and so on.

Of the two joint checking accounts is better, for it makes you your husband's full business partner.

The bride was honored at a shower June 23 in the home of Mrs. Johnny Spinks, 2300 N. Charles. Other hostesses were Mrs. R. C. Rawden, Mrs. H. T. Gantz, Mrs. T. J. Warrell, Mrs. Shelby Gantz and Mrs. E. B. Stueben.

The table was covered with a white cut-work cloth with a mint green underskirt. The centerpiece giving in to your husband's wishes in order to avoid an argument. You have a right to get your way once in a while.

Don't let your husband become a stay-at-home stick-in-the-mud who never takes you anywhere or a gay blade who goes out with the boys all the time just as he did when he was single. (That doesn't mean your husband shouldn't ever have an evening out, but that the majority of his evenings out ought to include you.)

Just remember that it is easier to start a husband out in the way he should go than to try to change him after you have let him get headed in the wrong direction.

consisted of large bronze mums and white stock arranged in a fan shape. Crystal candle holders adorned either end of the table. Gold punch, white cake decorated with mint green leaves, small party sandwiches and mixed nuts were served.

The bride, her mother, and the bridegroom's mother were presented corsages of white carnations with mint green ribbon.

Robbin Gantz was at the guest register. Others assisting were Judy Wells, Carolyn Barrett and Bonnie Jordan.

About 80 guests attended or sent gifts.

Miss Doris Lovelace Becomes Bride Of Billy Burger In Double-Ring Service

Miss Doris Ann Lovelace, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George D. Lovelace, Pampa, became the bride of Billy Ray Burger, Perryton, in a double-ring ceremony in the Pentecostal Holiness Church last Sunday.

Mrs. Beulah Burger, Perryton, and the late R. O. Burger are the bridegroom's parents.

Rev. Luther T. Reed of Guyman, Okla., officiated.

A nuptial prelude and traditional wedding music was presented by Mrs. Paul Reimer. Mrs. Caroline Schmidt sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer." Lois Jean Lovelace, sister of the bride, lighted the candles.

Vows were exchanged before an altar flanked on either side by large baskets of white gladioli.

BRIDE

Escorted down the aisle and given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a street-length dress of white cotton. For something old she wore a lavalier which belonged to her grandmother, Mrs. C. E.

Blount of Hammon, Okla. She carried a white Bible topped with miniature white carnations.

ATTENDANTS

Miss Patsy Pritchard, Pampa was maid of honor, and Noel Hoods, Spearman, was best man. Ushers were Corky Godfrey, Pampa, and Bob Tillman, Amarillo.

After the wedding, a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents. The table was covered with lace underlaid with blue and centered with a three-tiered wedding cake.

Mrs. Dean H. Burger registered the guests. Mrs. J. L. Stewart, Amarillo, Mrs. Oran Burrows, Kansas City, and Mrs. Clyde E. Blout Jr., Pampa, all aunts of the bride, assisted with serving. The couple are making their home in Amarillo.

Mother's Anxiety Prepares Way For Curtis' Food And Drug Bill

By PATRICK MCCORMACK United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI)—We parents owe a vote of thanks to a Missouri mother who called her congressman as well as her doctor when her toddler son guzzled fingernail polish remover.

When she found her son, Martin, drinking the polish remover, Mrs. Floris Mills, of Webster Groves, immediately called her doctor to find the antidote for the poison.

The doctor asked Mrs. Mills what the polish remover contained. But the bottle's label did not list the chemical contents. The doctor needed to know the contents to prescribe a specific antidote.

By good fortune, the general antidote the doctor prescribed saved the child's life. It doesn't always work for all poisons, Mrs. Mills was upset. She asked herself why the label didn't contain a listing of chemical ingredients in the fluid. She thought that federal laws covered such situations, that potential killers in the home had to be labeled.

At once, she called her congressman, Thomas B. Curtis (R-Mo.), asking him to do something to protect children who innocently drink household poisons.

Curtis thought federal laws covered such situations, too. But when he checked with the Food and Drug Administration he was told that many household products which have dangerous ingredients were not bound by existing federal labeling laws.

Further investigation revealed great interest in the problem of death and injury resulting from the accidental ingestion of hundreds of new, useful, but dangerous household products on the market.

The Food and Drug Administration was anxious to bring these products to the same standards of safety as many already covered by federal law.

Doctors were particularly aware of the problem. In many locations, local medical groups established poison control centers in which records were kept on the harmful ingredients in thousands of products and to which individual doctors might refer inquiries concerning them.

These were a help, but frequently not help enough in an emergency, Curtis learned.

The congressman also contacted representatives of the industries making many of the products with potentially lethal ingredients. They shared the desire to prevent needless deaths.

The congressman drafted a bill calling for the enactment of legislation to close the gaps in the labeling laws. But the bill, introduced in 1957, wasn't acted upon the first time around.

The father of five, he shared the anxiety Mrs. Mills felt over existing gaps in the law. He continued to work for passage of the bill which finally was signed into law 11 days ago by President Eisenhower. It gives the federal government authority to regulate the labeling of all hazardous substances for non-manufacturing purposes.

It covers the labeling of any hazardous substances in fingernail polish remover and other helpful liquids, creams, powders and lotions in the nation's homes.

On the record, it's Curtis' bill.
