J. D. Sugg Named New Secretary of Panhandle Press

Executive Committee Meets in Amarillo to Plan Program

Howe is Invited

Next Meeting of Association Will be Held In Pampa

J. D. Sugg, former Wellington boy and present editor of the Pampa Times, was elected secretary of the Panhandle Press Association at a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Panhandle Press Association which met in Amarillo last Saturday. Clyde Warwick resigned as secretary, because his duties as a member of the legislature will not allow him to attend to the duties of the secretary and because he will be in Austin when the Press Association meets next spring.

The meeting was called by Deskins Wells of Wellington, president of the Association. At his suggestion, an invitation was extended to Ed Howe, famous Kansas editor, to address the convention on any subject he chooses. Mr. Howe, who is known as "the sage of Potato Hill," has written an autobiography which is now running in the Saturday Evening Post. He is also the author of many other magazine articles as well as a clebrated columnist. He is the father of Gene Howe, editor of the Amarillo News.

The Committe decided also to invite Professor J. H. Casey of the University of Oklahoma to appear on the speaking program, while J. J. Taylor, State Press of the Dallas News, will be the headliner at one of the three banquets which will be given in Pampa next spring.

The tentative program also includes a talk by Olin Hinkle of the Pampa News on Crime News, talks by R. H. Nichols of Vernon and C. H. Walker of Dalhart on the development of want ad pages, one by Lyman Robbins of Memphis on display advertising, and one by T. A. Landers of McLean on newspaper accounting. Seth Holman of Hereford will conduct the annual question box at which time the editors will thresh out various problems that have confronted them during the past year. For years this has been one of the features of the Panhandle Press Association.

Olin Hinkle and J. D. Sugg of Pampa assured newspaper men that the city of Pampa, the chamber of commerce, the newspapers and Hotels of that city were planning on making the next meeting of the Press Association one of the greatest that has ever been held.

The spring meeting was set for April 20 and 21.

Chunn Transfered To Childress Unit Utilities Company

C. B. Chunn has been transfered from the local West Texas Utilities company to the Childress unit of this company, where he will serve as electric foreman, according to S. P. Buster, manager.

George Spann of Munday is taking Mr. Chunn's place as commercial agent for the company in Wellington, and John Owens of Memphis has also been added to the local company as lineman, Mr. Buster says.

Miss Katherine Boverie, librarian, announces that the county library will be open on Friday of this week instead of the usual date of Saturday. This is not a permanent change in the library schedule, Miss Boverie explains, and is effective for this week only.

Wedding to Be Held for The Money

A mock wedding will be staged by the Four H Club Girls at the Rialto Theatre on Wednesday night, October 10. All weddings are thrilling, but this one will be a superlative affair from start to finish.

Lots of weddings are held for money, and this one is no exception. The Four H Club Girls are trying to raise money to send six girls to the Dallas Fair. The Rialto management is showing "Just Married" as a benefit for the girls, and the girls are giving the Mock Wedding as extra entertainment. The admission will be ten and thirty-five cents.

Skyrockets Drop Second Game of Season to Pampa

Locals Get Sound Trouncing at Hands of Husky Harvesters

Still carrying the same jinx that was with the Skyrockets when they played Mangum Tigers here in the opening game, the locals were handed their second defeat and the end of their second game which was played last Friday at Pampa with the Harvesters. The game ended with a score of 24-0, the Harvesters having crossed Wellington's goal line four times, but missing all kicks for extra points.

Manek, Harvester halfback, scored two of Pampa's counters, while Walstead, quarter, and Saltzman, substitute quarter, contributed one touchdown each.

Powell, Skyrocket quarter, was the most prominent Wellington player on the field, starring on the offensive plays with his variety of end runs. Defensive work was contributed largely by Leach, Long, Warrick, Henard and Lindsey.

The locals were outweighed but showed a game fighting spirit until the final whistle, and held Pampa to only one touchdown in the last half, the Harvesters having scored three times during the first half. Powell's punting was one of the factors which averted a greater defeat.

Stalls, powerful lineman, was Pampa's biggest assent in Friday's affray. He was a shining light in all Harvester offensive and defensive plays.

Pampa completed one forward pass for 30 yards, while Wellington completed one lateral pass 20 yards, Coleman to Powell.

Rayburn Speaks In Interest of Governor Smith

Crowded County Court Room Hears Interesting Address

Flays Republicans

Prolonged Applause is Frequent During Congressman's Speech

Taxing the Wellington court room to its maximum capacity, an enthusiastic crowd heard Congressman Sam Rayburn of Bonham deliver a caustic and highly interesting address in behalf of the candidacy of Governor Alfred E. Smith.

The Republican party and its nominee were flayed unmercifully by Rayburn in his address, and prolonged applause was aroused at frequent intervals.

"After eight years of corruption in Washington under Republican administration, it is hard to believe that Democrats, and especially those of the south, will fail to support the Democratic candidate in November," Congressman Rayburn dtclared.

He stated emphatically that the real issue in the present campaign is not prohibition, and declared it to be nothing more or less than religion. He scoffed at the idea that Smith would or could turn the United States into a land of Catholics, and reminded the people that the country was founded upon principles of religious tolerance. He asked if the Democrats had forgotten those principles.

Rayburn's statement that the Democrats who are fighting Smith are only those "with heads as hard as hickory nuts and hearts as small as black eyed peas" brought screams of applause from his hearers. "Only those Democrats who refuse to accept the true facts of the case and whose store of knowledge consists solely of prejudice are the ones who will support Mr. Hoover," he reclared.

"Prohibition is a part of the constitution and it is not within the president's power to change it, even if he were so inclined. Governor Smith knows that. Three-fourths of all the states of the union stand entirely for prohibition. Governor Smith knows that. But Governor Smith also knows that prohibition has not worked, and has guts enough to say so." At this juncture Rayburn's speech was delayed by prolonged applause.

He pointed out the fact that the greatest and most intelligent men in the United States were ardent Smith supporters, and that his entire public and private life was beyond reproach. He added that Marvin Jones, representative from this district; Morris Sheppard, author of the eighteenth amendment; Dan Moody, governor of Texas, as well as every Democratic congressman and senator in Washington had pledged their

Wellington Red Cross Lends Aid To Sufferers in Hurricane Swept Area

Following the receipt of an appeal for aid for the destitute families in Florida and the West Indies caused by the recent hurricane which swept that territory, fatally injuring 2,300 people and damaging property to an extent of more than fifty million dollars, the Wellington chapter of the American Red Cross was able to raise more than enough money requested of this city, according to Dr. E. W. Jones, chairman.

The call received here was for Wellington citizens to donate $50, but the local chapter was able to raise $63.

Those who contributed to the fund are Martin Donley, B. A. Boston, Percy Wells, Miss Inez Leach, Mrs. T. A. Hudson, Mrs. M. P. Watkins, E. W. Jones, H. W. Holbert, F. C. LeDerer, Leslie Wooldridge, Joe Hardy, Lee O'Neil, L. E. Gribble, R. E. Morrow, Winfred Payne, E. W. Moss, M. C. Dickerson, W. D. Robinson, First National Bank, C. E. Stone company, E. W. Cocke, Oscar Glasgow, W. E. Moore, John French, Joe Fuller, B. W. Boarman, Bob Sammons, W. H. Montgomery, J. N. Wallace, Ollie Raburn, Reed Stores, Famous, C. L. Trout, City National Bank, A. V. Cocke, Wellington State Bank, A. Y. Bell, H. A. Holcomb and First Baptist Church.

Roadside Repairs!

3,442 Bales Are Ginned

Cotton Bureau Now Offering New Contract

Richard Wischkaemper of Collingsworth county, one of the twenty state directors of the Texas Farm Bureau Cotton association left Sunday for Dallas to attend a meeting of that body, and Monday morning he notified J. M. Kayser, local field man, that after counting the ballots on the new cotton marketing agreements and finding that they had been ratified the board had then gone through the necessary legal proceedure to make the contract available to those members who desire to use it.

Mr. Kayser states that those who ship to the daily pool have the privilege of selecting the day on which the middling base price of his cotton can be fixed.

This form of contract has been in use in Oklahoma and several other cotton states for some time and is meeting with wide approval.

Mr. Kayser says there are many features in the new contract not found in the old one and that many members will avail themselves of these privileges.

Infant Girl Dies From Pneumonia

Betty Jean, the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert R. White, died in Wellington last Thursday from pneumonia. Funeral services were held from the Baptist church Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock with Rev. C. R. Joyner officiating.

Betty Jean was born in Ripley, Oklahoma, September 18, 1927. She is survived by her parents and by her grandparents who are Mr. and Mrs. C. W. White and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Caperton.

Ray Goodson of Wellington was in charge of funeral arrangements.

Club Girls Are Needing Money

4-H club girls of this county are needing money to send their representatives to the Dallas Fair, and instead of calling upon merchants for donations, they have decided to make enough money to meet their own expenses.

In order to accomplish this purpose, "Just Married," a new Paramount motion picture starring James Hall and Ruth Taylor, will be presented at the Rialto Wednesday, October 10, under the auspices of the club girls of this county.

Six girls have won the right to get free trips to the Fair and in order to raise $45 which is necessary to give the girls these trips, Miss Veda Swafford, home demonstrator, has decided to present this program under the auspices of the club girls.

The Gem Theatre has secured for their program one of the newest and most entertaining comedy dramas of the year. People who see this picture will not only be contributing to a worthwhile fund, but will also be assured of an evening of splendid entertainment as well.

Farmers Here Are Declared in Need Of Cotton Pickers

According to a survey completed Wednesday morning by The Leader, 3,442 bales of cotton have been ginned up until this time in Collingsworth county. These surveys have been taken at regular intervals during the ginning season for the past four years, and are 98 per cent accurate, as is shown by government reports which are given out later.

Although this figure is lower than it was at this time last year, it is somewhat encouraging in view of the fact that only 214 bales had been ginned in this county up until September 16 of this year, according to the Department of Commerce at Washington, D. C.

Hall county's production is running slightly behind that of last year, the government report shows. This is also true for the counties of Childress, Donley, and Wheeler, as well as Collingsworth.

The complete survey, as compiled by The Leader Wednesday, follows:

New Theatre Nearing Completion Will Afford City Fine Building

Wellington's third theatre, that which is being constructed by Judge R. H. Templeton, is slowly nearing completion, and when finished will afford this city with not only another splendid theatre building, but with a structure which will be a favorable reflection upon Wellington's growth in recent years.

This building will be thoroughly modern in every respect. It will inaugurate many new ideas in the theatre business for Wellington, Judge Templeton declares. An expenditure of approximately $25,000 will be made upon this building, he says.

It has not yet been disclosed who will be in charge of the operation of the new theatre. There is a possibility that it will be run by the owner, but he is also considering the idea of leasing the building to others.

In either event, Judge Templeton says that every attempt will be made to secure as good entertainment as can be provided. The opening date has not been anounced at this time but plans are already being made for the opening. One of the features of the new theatre will be the large stage and ample scenic effects.

Are Given More First Prizes Than All Others There

Secure More First Places Than All Other Counties Combined

County Anticipates Good Showing to be Made At Dallas Fair

Collingsworth county 4-H club boys won more prizes than all other counties combined at the Tri-State Fair in Amarillo last week. This makes the third consecutive year that the Collingsworth county boys under the direction of C. C. Stinson have repeated this performance. They also did the same thing at the Wichita Fair for two years, but will not have a chance to repeat this year as Wichita is not holding an exposition this fall.

The local boys did more than win more than all other counties combined. They won all first and second prizes except one first and one second prize which went to Hall county. The total prize money amounted to $110.00.

Collingsworth county clubs won twelve first prizes, ten second prizes, eight third prizes, eight fourth prizes, two sixth prizes, one seventh prize and one eighth prize.

The following boys were the ones who won prize money at the Fair: Monty Mitchell, Edward Mitchell, Vernon Barton, Aubert Keller, Harold Leach, Frank Leach, Harold Keller, Glenn Allen, Harry Lewis, John Jackson, Drexell Alexander, Raphael Easter, Clinton King, Oscar Chatman, J. T. Horton and Clay King.

The outstanding individual performance was recorded by Monty and Edward Mitchell who won $53.50 in club and individual prizes combined. At least one and possibly both of these boys will pay their way to the Dallas Fair out of winnings at the Amarillo Fair. Oscar Chapman will pay his way out of his Childress winings, and Buster Worley will pay his way. This makes eight boys in all who will attend the Dallas Fair. Those who were awarded free trips at the Collingsworth County Fair are: Harold Leach and Vernon Barton of Cross Roads, Glenn Allen of Lillie, Roy Pepper of Bowen, and Harry Lewis of Fresno.

C. C. Stinson left Wednesday morning for the Dallas Fair with the county exhibits and the boys will leave next Monday morning to go to Childress on their way to Dallas. They will make the trip in company with Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Winn.

Pastor's Sermon Meets Approvl

Rev. J. C. Clement, pastor of the Baptist church at Lillie, makes the following statement in regard to the sermon preached at his church Sunday afternoon by Rev. C. R. Joyner of Wellington.

"I have had the pleasure of being the pastor of the Lillie church for some 10 years and have witnessed many great hours in this good church, but believe we had one of the greatest hours on last Sunday eve when Reverend Joyner brought us a masterful address, clear in scripture, eloquence and power, after which we had and old fashioned hand-shaking when the large congregation wept and rejoiced. We feel the Wellington church and the town as well are to be congratulated on having this gifted prince among us."

Mr. and Mrs. Deskins Wells visited in Amarillo last week-end with Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Wells.

Samuel Hopkins of Hollis visited in Wllington with Jimmie Cochran last Sunday.

Fight Fires Before They Start

An Editorial Written for The Leader

By S. W. Inglish

There is no problem that is of more importance to the American people at this time the one which has been created by our extremely heavy fire loss. Thousands of persons are burned to death, additional thousands are injured, and hundreds of millions of dollars' worth of property values are being consumed by fire each year in the United States and Canada, largly through carelessness and thoughtlessness on the part of the public about fire hazars that have no reason to exist and are directly responsible for at least three-fourths of the fires that take place.

When we refer to statistics for 1926 compiled by the National Board of Fire Underwriters, we find some 30,000 casualties charged to fire during that year, together with a property loss of more than 560 million dollars, of which about 27 per cent were recorded as strictly preventable, 28 per cent as partly preventable, the remainder of some 252 million dollars having been classified as causes unknown but believed to have been largely of preventable origin.

While the preliminary estimate of last year's experience indicates a material reduction in the fire waste when compared with the record of the past, the figures still are so ridiculously high as to be entirely out of keeping with our progress made in other walks of life.

In the face of all of this, is it any wonder that the need for Fire Prevention Week has been keenly felt; that we have Clean-up Week in the spring of the year; that the public is constantly being warned against the increased danger of fire at Christmas time and on the Fourth of July; that the schools are being urged to teach fire prevention as a part of the regular program, and that the fire prevention forces are engaging in various other activities, all of which is to arouse the people to their own responsibility about preventable fires.

Nor has the public yet fully realized that the fire insurance companies do not pay the losses. Cheap fire insurance rates do not spring from carelessness. Every time there is a fire everyone must pay. The fire insurance companies are merely collectors and distributors of the premiums that they receive for insurance, the cost of which is added to the price of all articles of trade, and whenever we make a purchase we contribute our share of the fire tax.

By no process of reasoning can America's fire waste be justified. It is the common hazards that keep the fire department busy.

Defective chimneys and flues are responsible for more than 27 million dollars of our annual fire bill, yet it doesn't require much time nor involve a great expense to see that they are in good repair, and futhermore, it may cost the savings of a lifetime if you fail to perform this bounded duty.

The careless smoker is being charged with approximately 37 million dollars of our yearly wastage by fire, and we find that stoves, furnaces and boilers unsafely installed, spontaneous ignition, electricity, and sparks on wooden roofs are also among the chief offenders in carrying our fire loss to such tremendous proportions.

A policy of "I'll attend to the trash, the grass and the weeds tomorrow" has been responsible for the heavens being lighted up by fires, not only thousands but tens of thousands of times.

There is no poetry in a fire that destroys. There is no warmth no good cheer in a blazing house. Only misery and want and woe can echo from homes destroyed, from business houses wrecked, from savings that vanish by the way of the fire route.

When properly curbed and circumscribed a cheering fire is a thing that makes a most excellent servant, contributing greatly to the comfort of man. But to keep fire a servant requires constant and unceasing vigil.

Why not fight fires before they start? Why not so conduct your habits and so keep your premises that when the fire demon wants to pay you a visit he will have to pass you by. Too often those who suffer from fire cry out that they are the victims of bad luck, when the fact is they are but paying the natural penalty for their own carelessness.

Do away with your fire hazards. Stop inviting disaster. If your neighbor is indifferent, remind him that should he be visited by fire you will have to assist in paying him what he loses and that he may burn you out besides.

Be a fire fighter. You don't have to wear a uniform and live at the fire station. The most successful fire fighters today are those who prevent fires.

A Wilson county farmer has three Duroc-Jersey sows that last November farrowed 32 pigs, of which he raised 30. He has sold 20 of them for a total of $403.19, and still has the other 10. With the exception of six sacks of shorts, all the feed given them was waste products from the farm.

TEXAS & TEXANS

By Will H. Mayes

Railroad Income Increases

The net income of railways operating in Texas show an increase of 7.55 per cent during the first seven months of 1928 as compared with a like period in 1927. This amounts to a snug increase of $1,147,927, despite the fact that both freight and passenger earnings fell off. The increase in net income was due to a decrease in all major items of operating expenses. The decrease in passenger traffic was due to private automobile and motor bus travel, and some of the decrease in freight receipts was attributed to competitive truck lines.

Both bus and truck lines are offering quicker service in most cases than the railroads and deliveries at destinations closer to business centers. Greater frequences of both bus and truck trips also tend to make them more popular.

Cotton Goes by Trucks

Much of the cotton from interior points in Texas is now going by trucks to Houston, Corpus Christi and other coastal shipping points. Elgin reported that truck shipments from that point to Houston ran from 150 to 200 bales a day, trucks being loaded with from 16 to 22 bales each, and making a trip every 24 hours. Shippers say that the great advantage in truck shipments is that when the cotton is loaded it goes right through to the port without delay and is not left to stand around in railway sidings for days, or switheed off in the yards. The railroads are going to have to give quicker and better service, or they will eventually lise most of the local freight shipments. The public is looking always for better service and turns to the agencies supplying it.

Corpus Christi Port

Business at the port of Corpus Christi is increasing at a marvelous rate, proving that the development of that port was a great economic need. Foreign ships are loading and unloading there from all parts of the world. Cotton shipments are especially heavy, much cotton being loaded at Corpus Christi that otherwise would have to go by longer freight hauls to Houston or Galveston. Corpus Christi has become the popular port of a vast area of the richest part of Texas.

Point Isabel Port Project

If Government requirements are met by the people of the lower Rio Grande Valley, Point Isabel will become another Texas port. The requirements are $600,000 in cash and title to some lands at Point Isabel, on securing which the Government will make $1,000,000 appropriation for port development and budget $15,000 annually for maintenance as recommended by its engineers. This will prove convenient and a quick outlet for the large citrus fruit and vegetable out put of the Valley and result in complete development of that part of the State. It seems that all that is now needed is the cooperation of that section in meeting the requirements.

Falls County Bond Issue

Plans are being formulated for a $2,000,000 road bond issue for Falls county. A large part of this—nearly half—is to be used for retiring outstanding district road bonds, and the rest for improving its State designated highways, of which Falls county has six, two of them traversing the entire length of the county.

West Cheese Factory

West is to have a cheese factory, the first to be built in that part of the state. West and the surrounding country is populated largely of Bohemian farmers and it is a safe predicition that they will make a success of the enterprise and that it will make money for the owners and the farmers.

Lockhart's Creamery

Lockhart has a co-operative creamery, which has been running only a short while. Because of the fact that it started right at cotton harvesting time, it is not running yet to its capacity. Citizens of Lockhart already see one great advantage from it. Dairymen now sell their milk to the creamery, and instead of having a half dozen or more milk trucks rushing all over town and awakening the people at early morning hours, orderly delivery is made by the creamery at a great saving of noise and expense. The creamery products may also be bought from the grocery store and meat markets.

Teaching by Contrast

The Luling Foundation Farm, which is the Edgar B. Davis enterprise conducted for the special benefit of the farmers of Caldwell, Gonzales and Comal county farmers, is making an unusual live stock exhibit at the county fairs of those counties this fall. The exhibits consist of good types of feeder steers, sheep and hogs shown side by side with poor and unprofitable types. Figures are given out to interested parties showing comparisons between the value, feeding costs, etc. It is a practical exhibit that can't be forgotten and that is sure to make one wonder why anybody ever raises any but the best stock.

Stop Butter Fat Loss

The dairymen of DeWitt county last year sustained losses of from 9 to 11 cents on butter fat because of unsanitary handling methods on the farms. The county farm agent has been giving demonstrations on how to keep cream separators, milk cans and other vessels clean, the result being that the loss has been largely eliminated. Last year the total sweet cream creamery was receiving 125 gallons of sour daily; this year the amount of sour cream has dropped to 10 or 15 gallons daily. The change is due to more sanitary methods of handling the milk.

Terrell's Cotton Estimate

George B. Terrell, Texas commisioner of agriculture, in his latest report, estimates the Texas cotton crop at 4,775,000 bales and the total crop at 14,000,000. The heavy equinoctial rains will likely cause a still further decrease in production estimates. Commissioner Terrell says the crop now justifies a price of 20 cents, and there are good reasons for believing that he is right.

Texas Crate Factories

There are several crate factories in Texas. Another, with capital stock of $400,000 has recently been organized at San Antonio to manufacture vegetable and fruit crates and boxes from East Texas gum wood. Which shows that increased production is expected in Texas, as that amount of money is not placed in factory equipment unless there is good reason to exepct profitable returns.

Texas Pecan Crop

Buyers of Texas pecans are estimating the crop of native pecans at 14,000,000 pounds, for which prices ranging from 15 to 20 cents should be exepcted. Only a small percentage of Texas pecans are of the paper shell varities and these usually bring from 50 cents to $1.00 a pound.

DECK'S Didactics

By H. D. W.

J. B. Johnson who lives on my street has some prize shade trees. This summer when the wind began to blow so strong he taped the young saplins up to a post that he stuck in the ground alongside of them. They grew straight and true and his course seemed to be the wise plan.

I had some trees, and I just let them grow without any support of any kind. I did give them plenty of water. They grew a little knarled and knotted and sometimes it seemed the wind would whip them to pieces.

Recently a high norther came and wore through the twine with which Mr. Johnson had one of his trees tied. It had to stand on its own stem then, and the wind broke it off and blew it down. On the other hand my trees that had never been protected stood the gale without mishap, and the morning after seem to be reaching into the sunlight to gather new strength for the next welcomed fight with nature.

* * *

I don't like to moralize, but I wonder if there isn't a parallel between the way those trees were nurtured and the result and the way in which children are raised and the outcome of their training. Boys and girls who are allowed to grow and develop in a natural way with plenty of exercise, play and reading, and other esssentials to the development of mind and body are more likely to stand the winds of adversity when they have to meet the world on their own feet. Those that live sheltered lives develop weakness and inhibitions and are unable to meet the hard tests when they come.

* * *

A high official in the Federal Reserve Bank at Dallas gave out a report on the cotton situation in Texas last week which caused cotton to drop back a dollar a bale. He said Texas would make the second largest crop in its history. That is one bit of Republican prosperity propoganda that will not be welcomed by the farmers of the South.

* * *

Of course we would feel grateful to the Republican Party if they allowed us to raise that much cotton, but they didn't. Texas will not come anywhere close to making the second largest crop in its history. If the Republicans have sure fire control on prosperity, I wish they would pay us more for our cotton between now and November 6. But they don't seem to want to do that. If the present crop constituted the basis, cotton should be selling on the streets of this town for over twenty cents a pound.

* * *

The Republican Party allowed Hall county to raise a good crop, and as a result most of the business men of that city will vote for the Republican nominee. By the same reasoning, I suppose that all of the counties from Childress to Wichita Falls will not give Hoover a single vote.

* * *

I am not asking anyone to vote one way or aonther, for I believe that ninety-five percent of the people have already made up their minds as to how they intend to cast their ballots, and all the arguments will only strengthen their original convictions.

* * *

While you have been reading this far in this column, fire has destroyed $950 worth of property in the United States. Those are the exact figures compiled by the Insurance companies. Every minute both day and night that much property is destroyed by fire.

* * *

J. D. Sugg, who formerly worked on The Leader, was elected secretary of the Panhandle Press Association to fill the place of Clyde Warwick who has been demoted to the State Legislature. J. D. is the industrious editor of the Pampa Times, and is quite capable of taking care of all the work and managing his office incurs, and when the Association meets in Pampa this spring I intend to make no bones about taking the credit for the creditable work he will have done.

Graveyard Stuff

BY BUDGE

One certain way of accurately determining that fall is really here is by the great number of wads of cotton that accumulate on the street in front of The Leader office. And by the amount of tobacco juice that is streaked on the sidewalk by the Wellington State Bank.

▫ ▫

Football boys in uniform going to practice is another sign of the times.

▫ ▫

Wonder what's become of all those dogs that used to gather every night on the courthouse lawn just about dark? A year or so ago they assembled on the square in droves of twenty or thirty, and three or four good fights were staged every night.

▫ ▫

Last week a story was carried about the man who lives at Quail who had a finger bitten entirely off by an irate mule. That reminds one of the old wheeze about the man who stuck his finger in the mule's mouth to see how many teeth he had, and the mule closed his mouth to see how many fingers the man had, so thus the curiosity of both man and mule were satisfied.

Another unusual story was the one related last week about the bale of cotton in the trailer which came loose and ran down a pedestrian. The cotton must have been crossed with corn.

That isn't original, but neither is Moronia. In fact, she has been trying to persuade the editor to let her start writing a column.

SATURDAY IN WELLINGTON

Saturday was just like Friday except that lots more people were in town; with Lowell Wilks selling lots of popcorn with the aid of his ballyhoo; with a small boy ringing a cowbell to advertise a western movie; with Ice Cummings saying he wouldn't protest if cotton prices would advance more; with Jack Knight and Bura Handley both paying a visit the same morning but not at the same time; with Ray Goodson appearing in still another green shirt; with Ross Wilkerson lighting a cigaret, laying it down to wait on a customer and then lighting another one; with P. E. Starr, E. M. Hix, Pete Tommy, E. A. Wells and S. K. Parsons all looking at one bale of cotton; with a very little girl crying bitterly when she spilled a sack of candy corn on the sidewalk; with a cripple beggar taking a nickel out of his tin cup and giving it to the child to buy more candy; with everyone talking about how many people were in town—wondering where they came from and to where they went; with John D. Glenn skidding up to a stop sign and stopping audibly; with Doyle carter flinging his watch chain around his finger incessantly; with Herschel Combs making big plans for a trip to Oklahoma City; with Pete Boverie and Jack Deahl both joining the "horn-rimmed" class; with Mrs. Avery going about town nervously, doing all those things necessitated by moving away; with Roy Horn quoting O. O. McIntyre and dispensing philosophy with a flourish; with Mrs. C. E. High and Mrs. Morris Wells looking at the dresses in A. Bailey's store; with Wade Mahan home from college and wearing knickers; with Ben Moseley dolling the display windows at Baker-Hanna's; with a high school girl dolling up her face in Cochran's as she looked in the fountain mirror; with Merritt James talking up M System's Saturday sales; with Brother Joyner attending the Smith speaking; with Wade Arnold asking the people how they liked his speaker; with Billy Leach looking more like a stranger than a native son, having been gone so long; with Mrs. Henry Cocke complaining of feeling some better at the end of four week's illness; with A. M. Duvall going for the mail at the same hour in the afternoon that he always does, without variation; with Sooner Edwards wanting to know how Bob Gaines had held a job at The Leader so long; with John French buying Coca-Colas for the whole crowd in the drug store. as is John's custom; with Lee Gregg enthusiastic over the prospects of a new post office building; with Mrs. J. C. Hampton saying Wellington looked good after her trip through California and Arizona; with John Jackson appearing, as usual, to be in a tremendous hurry; with Milus Little looking sleepy as he waited upon customers; with Webb Moore saying it was easier to buy real estate than sell it; with P. At the end of Rayburn's speech for Al Smith Saturday, many of those present went down to shake hands with the speaker. After so long a time, one of the men who introduced himself said. "Robinson is my name." The next in line said, "Moody is my name," and then came the third who said, "I'm Mr. Smith." At this point the speaker looked to be prepared for the next man to declare, "And I'm Mr. Raskob."

The above is a true story, and can be verified by Judge Small, Claude McKinney and a few others who were present and heard it all.

MINING RECORD

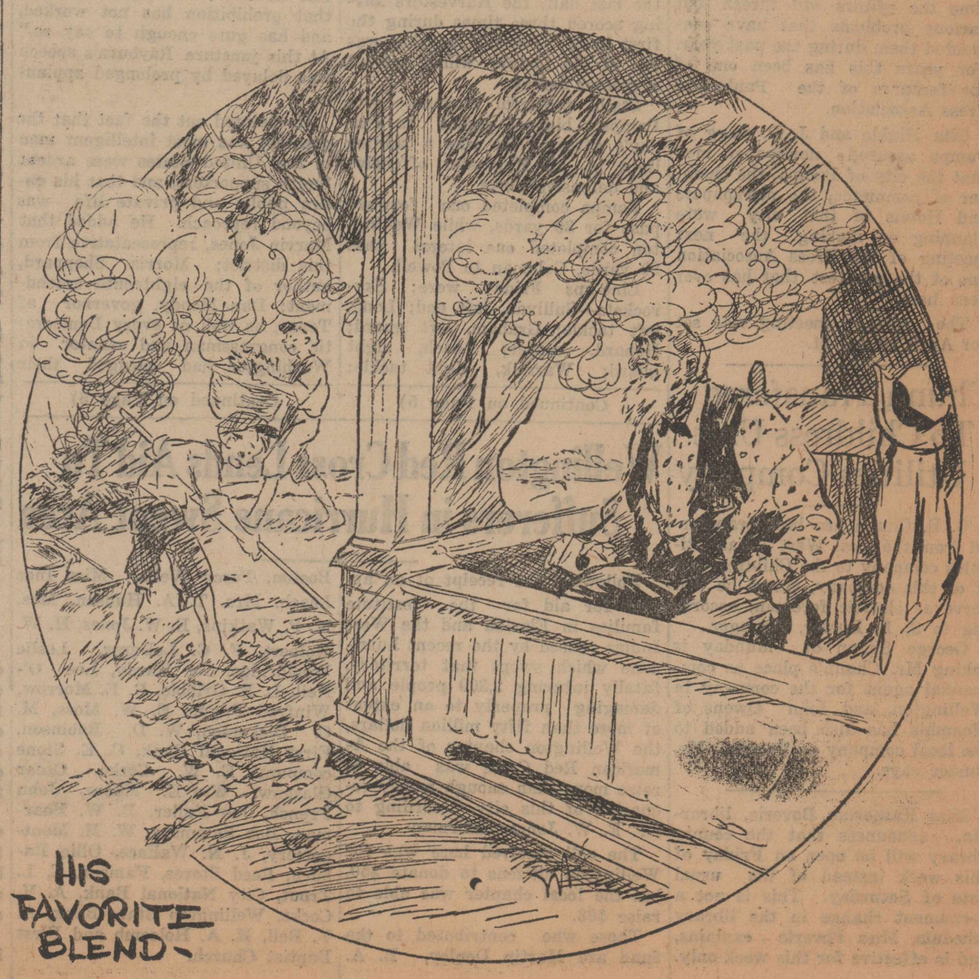

During a recent month the metal mining companies of America broke all records. As compared with earnings during previous years.

This is indicative of the progress being made in the mining industry. A few years ago conditions were chaotic, prices fluctuated violently, supply and demand were unrelated and a number of companies were paying no dividends.

Today new and scientific methods of production, and intensified executive competence and efficenciency have adjusted supply and demand, and evolved satisfactory and progressive general conditions. A price level free from radical fluctuations has been reached, and substantial dividends are the result.

Except for certain apes all animals are immune from measles.

Chevrolet Makes One Million Cars In Nine Months

DETROIT, Oct. 3.—Keeping pace with the most insistent demand in its history, the Chevrolet Motor Company has delivered more than one million cars into the hands of owners since the introduction of the popular "Bigger and Better" model last January first, it was announced at the company's office here today.

This sensational achievement of delivering one million cars in nine months is without parallel in the history of the manufacture of gear shift cars and is seen as a tribute to the manufacturing ability and far sightedness of the company. It is regarded here as a further indication of Chevrolet's leadership as the world's largest automobile producer.

How Chevrolet marched to this height of popular acclaim may be noted in the fact that within ninety days after the introduction of the new car more han a quarter of a million new Chevrolets were on the highways in the service of their owners. Two months later, or on June first, a half million cars were in use from Maine to California. Another two months saw 750,000 Chevrolets providing dependable transportation in every city, town and hamlet in the Union. And then came October, when the full million mark was achieved.

In order to accomodate the demand, new plants and additions to present ones were made necessary in the many cities across the country where Chevrolet now maintains manufacturing or assembly operations. Foremost among these was the opening in the spring of a mammoth assembly plant in Atlanta, now the largest automobile establishment in the South.

Despite new plants and factory additions, Chevrolet has been working on a night and day basis since the first of the year in an effort to keep pace with orders More than 40,000 men, the greatest number ever on the Chevrolet payroll, were employed to assist in the production of the million "Bigger and Better models now on the road.

Better Lighting Campaign ON MAZDA LAMPS

LOOK One 100-watt lamp, two 60-watt lamps, two 40-watt lamps, and one 25-watt lamp for $1.39

In the days of Governor Bradford, Light was so expensive that the frugal Puritan family extinguished it's single candle during prayers.

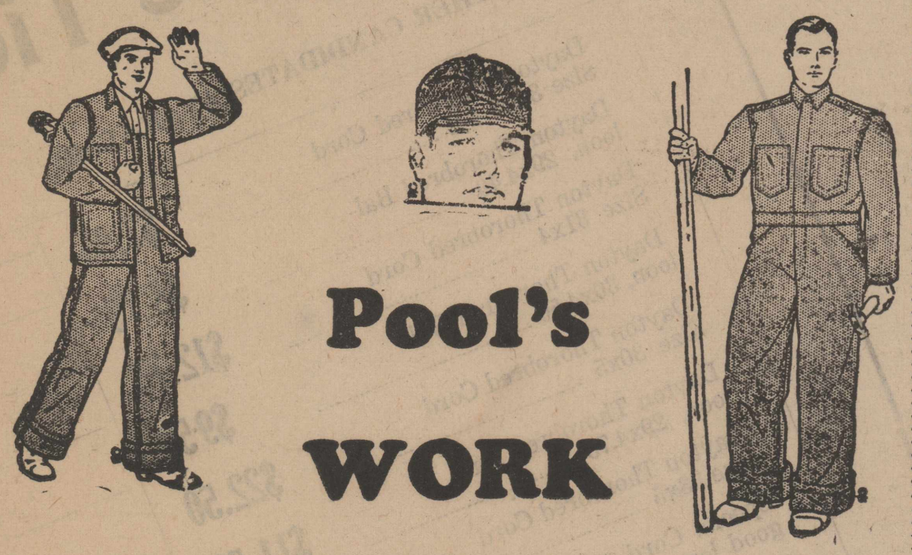

The early settlers had to learn to make candles themselves—the most ardous of tasks.

Your Light comes to you at a finger touch—and it is more than 100 times cheaper than a candle light.

Store Manager Is Confined to Bed

H. A. Phillips, manager of the Baker-Hanna store in Wellington was confined to his home during the fore part of this week. Mr. Phillips has been suffering from rhumatism for several months, and this was the cause of his recent illness. His friends here are glad to know he is able to be at the store again.

Edwards Trio Is Popular Feature County Singing

The fifth Sunday singing convention of Collingsworth county met with the Quail singing class at the Baptist church last Sunday in that city. There were singers from all over the county and some choir directors from out of the county. The program consisted of class singing, soloes, duets, quartets and instrumental numbers.

This convention was considered by many to have been the best that has ever been held in the county, from a musical standpoint, according to Miss Dollie Thompson of Quail.

"Judging from the crowd that attended this convention and those who took part in the program, there seems to be quite an interest in vocal music at this time," Miss Thompson says.

The feature of the convention was the Edwards Orchestra and their vocal numbers. The Edwards trio consisted of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Edwards and LeMoine Edwards of Wellington, who were accompanied on the piano by Miss Hermina Stover. They were encored time after time for their singing, and the bass solo by LeMoine Edwards was also well received.

These sing-songs are creating a fine spirit among the people of this county and doing much good in a musical way, Miss Thompson says. The next meeting will be held the fifth Sunday in December at the Plymouth church and all who sing and play are invited to be present on that day.

Large Tomatoes Are Raised Without Rain

Mrs. J. G. Gardner brought several large tomatoes to The Leader office Tuesday, the largest of which measured 12 inches in circumference. These tomatoes were grown on the Gardner farm two and a half miles northwest of Wellington, and had been grown in sandy land without rain and without the aid of irrigation.

This sandy land is fine for raising vegetables, and in years when there is only slight rainfall, it is as good as can be found, Mrs. Gardner declares.

Sentenced

Mrs. Eula Thompson is under sentence of death of a alarwarw sentence of death in Georgia for the murder of a storekeeper, alleged to have been committed by Mrs. Thompson, her husband and a negro accomplice during a robbery. Thompson and the negro have already paid with their lives for the crime.

ALFALFA ON CLEAN SOIL

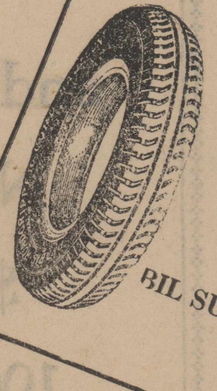

To avoid the destruction of the stands of alfalfa from bacterial wilt, in districts where this disease is present, the U. S. Department of Agriculture recommends that new seedings should not be made on fields that receive surface draining or flooding from land on which diseased plants are located. The most destructive outbreak of bacterial wilt, which has caused serious damage in the past 3 or 4 years in many alfalfa regions, particualraly in the central Mississippi Valley, have occurred in fields where the bacteria from diseased plants were probably conveyed conveyed to them by water flowing along the surface of by temporary flooding. Bacteria may be carried from diseased to healthy plants in a field by the knives of the mower, and possibility of infection in this way may be reduced by mowing the field when the plants are free from dew or rain. Dry fragmenas of alfalfa stems may carry the bacteria for many months, so disease infected stems should not be carried to new fields either mixed with unclean seed or mixed as unrotted refuse from alfalfa hay with manure.

In judging dairy heifers it is desirable to have in mind not only good looks based on general appearance and conformation, but also their possible development and their production when mature. The fact that animals change somewhat in many points of conformation from calfhood to maturity makes the judging of heifers more difficult than that of cows. The outstanding points to be considered in jugding heifers are length and depth of body, fullnss of barrel and chest, and dairy temperament (that is, that quality which shows their tendency to convert feed into milk rather than into body fat and flesh). The development of the udder should be noted, but this point should not rceive so much consideration as with cows in milk. Heifers shold be large for their age and show vigor and a thrifty, growing condition, indicated by a sleek coat and a soft pliable skin.

Mother Found A Way

By PHEBE K. WARNER

EDITOR'S NOTE:

Mrs. Warner, the author of this article, will address The County Federation of Women's Club Saturday, October 6 at 2:30 in the afternoon at the Methodist church in Wellington.

It was one of the early Autumn days in 1926. The four oldest children had gone to school and Mrs. Ray Calliham was left alone with the two little ones to work out the greatest problem of her life.

Theirs was a two room, two teacher school, sitting close beside the Rock Island railroad in one of the richest agricultural sections of the Texas Panhandle. For seven years the children had been toddling off to school until Thelma, the oldest, had reached the eighth grade. One more year and her school at home would be over. Then what?

Leave their thousand acre farm and move to town; with all the other children just to keep one child in school? Send a little fourteen year old girl away from home to school at a big expense and a lot of risk? Mother and the children go to town and leave Dad on the farm to shuffle for himself? Just give up, yield to fate, take their first child out of school and cheat her out of her birth-right of a free public school education? Or, get busy and do something for all their other children as well as all the children in the whole community.

There are hundreds of thousands of parents facing the same problem this very day. And if history repeats itself, most of them will follow the line of least resistance and greatest loss, and move to town to put their children in a better school that somebody else provided for them.

But the Callihams did the unusual thing. There were over 50 scholastics in the Conway school district. The trustees had just built a new teacherage. Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Patrick, who were to direct the school had proved themselves genuine rural school builders. The trustees had piped the water across the road and installed sanitary drinking fountains and made a good start on the playground equipment.

"Well, Ray, I believe I've thought out a way," was Mrs. Calliham's greeting when her husband came in from the field that night. "I simply can't think of sending Thelma away from home at fourteen. It isn't fair to her and it isn't fair to the other children. Besides I need her at home every morning and night to help me with the work and the little children. We can't afford to pull up stakes and move to town with the other five children to put one in school. But she's not going to give up school in the ninth grade. There's just one thing to do and that's organize a P. T. A. and go to work to make the home school a better school for all our children."

"That suits me," was Ray Calliham's answer. "The old one room schoolhouse was good enough for me because it was all my parents could afford when I was a child. But it's not good enough for our children in this day. I havn't much time to bother with P. T. A. but I'll back you in what ever you do for the good of the children. If you think you and the other women can put it over, go to it."

That was just two years ago. The Conway P. T. A. was organized, and in the past two years more than fifty community meetings have been held in the interest of the school and community. The first move was to place a piano in the school which added the best of all arts, MUSIC, to the two room school. Soon a music and art teacher was employed. The piano made many other programs possible and had soon paid for itself with the entertainments it helped put over. More records were added and the school entered the music memory contest and won first place in their class in the district.

The next year a new room was added and a third teacher was employed. More playground equipment was placed on the school ground and now tardiness is almost unknown. It's too much fun to get to school early to ever be late. The children are healthier and happier because of their outdoor activities and the morale of the school is high because every body is happy. The walls of the school rooms have been relined and the black boards made over and an electric light plant installed.

Best of all, through the cooperation of the entire district two whole years have been added to their school course. Last year there were 56 pupils enrolled. By adding two more years to their school course the parents have added 112 more years to the lives of their children in the home school and 112 more years to their lives at home in the big open country on the farm.

But that's not all. Through the leadership of Mr. Patrick, yes, he is still superintendent, the Conway school is publishing the best rural school paper in the whole country.

Think of it. A three room school publishing a good school paper and instead of Thelma Calliham being submerged in some city high school at fifteen years of age she she is at home finishing the tenth grade and playing the role of managing editor of the school paper the 'Blue and Gold."

But that's not all. The whole community has grown with their school. The educational programs put on to help make the money to improve the school have proved a real inspiration to all the people. Everybody is happier because they have done something of which to be justly proud. And we all like to feel proud. And this week the Conway community is putting over their second annual community fair. There is no limit to the good that can be done for the whole community when the mothers of that community decide to have a good P. T. A.

Skyrockets Drop–

Substitutions: Wellington—Cook for Watkins; Boveirie for Sullivan; Wildman for Leach. Pampa—Laid for Tracey; Jones for Manek; Chastain for Roberts; Saltzman for Walstead; Irwin for Sietz and Mason for Carson.

The Skyrockets' first conference game will be played Friday when the Childress Bobcats will come to Wellington. The two games with the Tigers and Harvesters have enabled Coach Harrison to learn his men and to locate their weakness as well as their strength, and he is optimistic over the outcome of Friday's game. The Childress team is slightly weaker than last year's squad, according to reports, but this fact, even if true, is not especially consoling since the Skyrockets this season are far below par with the old mainstays in the backfield absent.

Coach Harrison has been giving his men plenty of hard workouts, and is making every precaution to have his entire squad in jam-up good shape for Friday's game. The coach is becoming anxious for his team to score, and incidentally the boys are going to be in a fighting mood when the Bobcats invade their territory.

A large crowd will doubtlessly witness the game at the local fair park, which will be called at 4:00 o'clock. It's going to be a tussle for both sides, and every man on the 'Rocket squad is ready to play his best game.

support to the Democratic nominee. Rayburn asked if these men who really know and understand politics could see fit to support Smith, what reason could any Democrat give for bolting the Democratic ticket. He said the only reason was that many people are religiously intolerant.

At the end of Rayburn's address, scores of hearers rushed to the platform to personally commend him upon his forceful arguments.

The speaker was introduced by Judge C. C. Small.

Famous Women Identified With Demo Leaders

Answers Charge That Women of South Are Against Smith

Answering the charge that the women of the South are antagonistic to Smith because of his Tammany connections, the Southern Women's Organization in New York has issued a statement giving the names of prominent Southern women, resident in New York, who have identified themselves with the Tammany organization, for the sake of promoting the ideals of Democracy.

Among these is Evelyn Clay Everett, daughter of Senator Clay of Georgia, who is a member of the Tammany Hall Speakers' Bureau; Mrs. Pinckney Lee Estis Glantzberg, successful lawyer, and a descendant of the Pinckney and Estes families of South Carolina, is also a speaker enrolled with the Tammany Bureau, and a "captain" in her assembly district.

Mrs. Annie Caine Bridgers of North Carolina, mother of the brilliant young dramatist of the same name, is a member of the County Committee of Tammany Hall. Mrs. William Rutherford Hawkins, whose name makes introductions unnecessary in Virginia and Georgia, is also a member of the County Committee. She is a native of Georgia. Mrs. Winifred Kittredge Nonidez of Louisiana, a descendent of one of the most distinguished colonial famlies of Virginia, is a Democratic "captian" in her assembly district, the district that holds within its boundaries Columbia Unversity and Morningside Height the "acropolis of America."

A few months ago, Hon. Andrew B. Keating, Democratic leader in the 13th took up with Mrs. Nonidez the problem of getting out the Southern Democratic vote in this hitherto Republican district. No one knew how the Southern Democrats living in these "academic shades" were voting; probably they were not voting at all! With the assistance of her leader and that of many enthusiastic Southern women living in the neighborhood, Mrs. Nonidez in 1925 instituted a series of annual Southern Democratic dinners. Here the Northern and Southern Democrats met, ate, and talked, finding ground for goodfellowship and Democratic strength.

Today the 13th assembly district of the Borough of Manhattan is Democratic, defeating all Republican candidates and electing a full Democratic ticket from Alderman to the National Representative. The Southern Democratic vote has done this work and this Southern Democratic woman "captain" has become the founder and president of the Southern Women's National Democratic Organization in New York, In"

Urging the support of Governor Smith for the Presidency by Southern women, whether they live in the North or the Sout Mrs. Nonidez says, "I want all Southern Democratic women to help make this Nation what I have helped make the 13th assembly district—Democratic."

AN HOUR ON THE RAILROAD

In one hour 5,903 cars are loaded with revenue freight on the railways' lines and 146,240 tons of freight are loaded in the cars.

Passengers numbering 94,731 board trains, and the passenger service accomplished in one hour is equivalent to hauling 3,841,106 passengers one mile.

The freight service performed is equivalent to hauling 48,929,337 tons one mile.

In an hour, the railways earn $700,491 from their transportation operations. They spend $522,166 for operating expenses, $332,102 for wages, and $42,936 for taxes.

Present rail transportation service is the best we have ever had and the best and most reasonably priced in the world. The railroads' tremendous activities are the backbone of our industrial and social life.

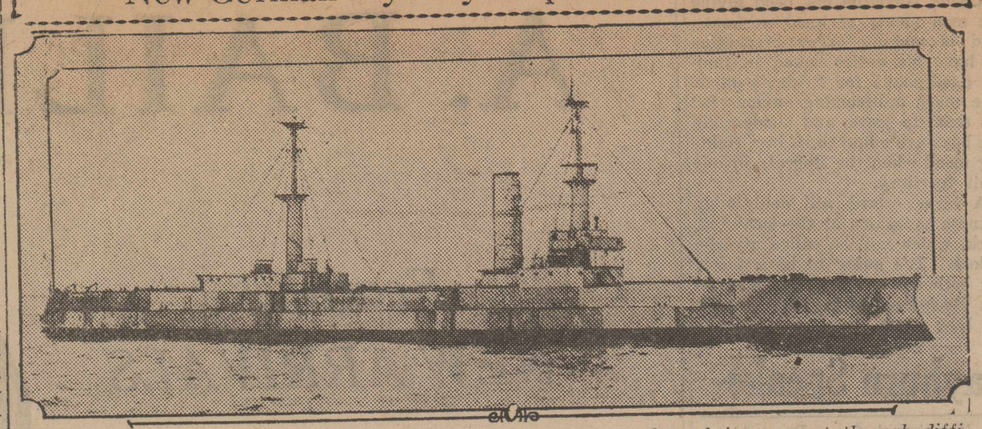

The National Railway Commission of Spain has announced that it iis considereing the construction of more than 6,000 miles of railways.

New German Mystery Ship Sails Without Crew

At Wilhelmshaven, Germany, recently this armored cruiser, the Uohringen, went through difficult cruising maneuvers, signalled, fired and sent up a smoke screen although there was no one on board. It is the new radio-controlled ship perfected by German engineers. Control is from a torpedo boat a short distance away from the cruiser.

GROWTH OF SCHOOLS

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 2.—The percentage of pupils in public schools in the United States as compared to private schools is steadily increasing through the years, and a stupendous growth is shown in the enrollment in the former institutions, according to statistics compiled by the Department of the Interior. These figures show that of the elementary pupils about 92 per cent are now in public schools, while 8, per cent were in such institutions a generation ago.

Sixty per cent of the pupils in secondary schools attended institutions supported by the public in 1890, while 91 per cent of such pupils attended public schools in 1926. Seventy-seven per cent of normal pupils went to public schools in 1890, but that number had grown to 93 per cent by 192 . While 13 per cent of college students attended institutions supported by the public in 1890, 36 per cent now attend institutions so supported.

In the thirty-six years that followed 1890 the attendance at colleges and universities increased in attendance 529 per cent. During the same period hte attendance at normal schools increased 676 per cent. These increases were strikingl great but were below those of high schools, which had more than ten pupils in 1926 where they had one in 1890. The increase here was 1,055 per cent.

Scripture Reading

Luke 14-25 John 1-2-15

25 And there went great multitudes with him: and he turned, and said unto them.

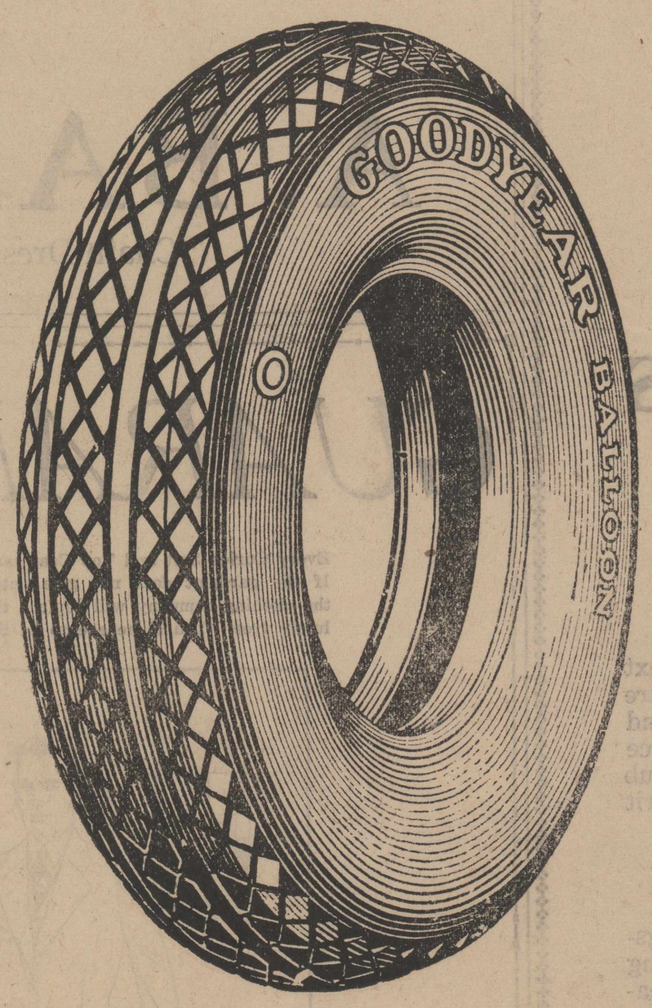

26 If any man come to me, and hate not his father, and mother, and wife, and children and brethren, and sisters, yea, and his own life also, he cannot be my disciple.

15 Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world. If any man love the world, the love of the Father is not in him.

These scriptures will be our message to you. Come and study them with us. Please read them, and reread them.

Buy Goodyear

"Best in the Long Run"

When you need new tires, remember to buy Goodyears. They cost you no more, and the service you get from them will be worth twice the price you pay. Ask the people who buy Goodyears every time and they will tell you they are best in the long run. That's why Goodyear customers remain Goodyear customers year after year. Why not equip your truck with Goodyear tires for the hauling season and forget your tire troubles?

We Sell For Less

Announce the Opening of an up-to-date

MEAT MARKET

IN OUR GROCERY STORE

Opening Date Thursday, Oct. 4

In installing this Meat Market, it will be our aim to give our customers the very best meats this country affords at prices as low as they can be sold. The savings we are able to make through our economy of operation and our quantity purchases are immediately passed on to our customers in the way of reduced prices. Because of our low every-day prices, Snell's Cash Stores are known throughout the country as the stores of greatest values.

MR. J. B. CHITWOOD

Will be in charge of our market. He needs no introduction to the people of Wellington, having run the White House Market for the past three years and has gained the reputation of being one of the best meat cutters in this part of the west.

FREE DELIVERY

We have put on a good truck and are now prepared to deliver your meat and groceries to any part of the city. Remember this service costs you nothing extra and we invite you to use it.

TERMS

Our terms are cash as they have always been. You can pay at the store or pay the delivery boy when the goods are delivered.

A REMODELED STORE

In installing the market in our store, it has been necessary to make many alterations, and our entire store is now placed in better arrangement. You will like to trade here, where you can buy all your eats so easily and economically.

VOLUME BUSINESS

We have unloaded two carloads of merchandise in the past week, and three more cars will arrive within the next few days. Snell's Cash Stores are the only retail stores in West Texas that buy groceries in carload lots. That's why we sell for less and why everybody likes to trade here. Our one price of spot cash insures lower prices always.

Junior College at Clarendon is Now Showing Progress

The department of speech of Clarendon Junior College under the direction of Miss Rita Foster is sponsoring an active program in dramatic work this year. The dramatic club presents three one-act plays each week, and one three act play each month. Students this year are showing much interest in acting, and are furnishing wholesome entertainment for the people of Clarendon. Miss Foster, the director, was chosen the best actress in the Little Theatre contest held last year in Dallas.

Enrollment at Clarendon Junior College is ten per cent larger this year. Students are showing a great interest in commercial work. Two full years' work in business is being offered. The outlook for the college this year, according to L. B. Cooper, dean, is indeed bright.

New Salesman Is Employed Here By Stone Store

O. M. Gilbert of Lawton has accepted a position as salesman with the local C. E. Stone store, according to P. A. Jones, manager, who says that Mr. Gilbert is an experienced salesman and is familiar with every phase of the drygoods business. Mr. Gilbert was employed at Altus just prior to moving to Wellington.

A simple way to destroy ants on lawns of small areas is to spray with kerosene emulsion or with a very strong soap wash, prepared by dissolving any common laundry soap in water at the rate of 1-2 or 1 pound of soap to a gallon of water. If the ant nests can be found, boiling water or a small uantity of kerosene will sometimes kill the insects in the nests. These fluids, however, cannot be applied in quantity with safety to the grass on lawns. In this case the soap wash should prove preferable.

4-H Club Girls To Offer Good Show Wednesday

Ruth Taylor and James Hall, popular young stars of Paramount pictures, have been co-starred in "Just Married" which will be shown next Wednesday at the Gem Theatre under the auspices of the Collingsworth county 4-H club girls. Proceeds derived from the showing will be used to send representatives from this county to the Dallas Fair. The picture was adapted from the successful play from the pen of Anne Nichols of "Abie's Irish Rose" fame.

Ruth Taylor will be remembered for her admirable performance in the leading role of "Gentlemen Prefer Blonds," a portrayal that brought this new Paramount "find" into international prominence. Her role of the young bride-to-be in "Just Married," adds another laurel to the wreath of glory that already adorns her blonde lovliness.

Mr. Hall is well known to picture audiences the country over, having appeared as leading man with many stars. His most recent performances have been in "The Fifty-fifty Girl," opposite Bebe Daniels, and several others. This is his first picture co-starring with Miss Taylor.

Another screen personality of outstanding prominence is Lila Lee, for several years a star in her own right, who plays the role of a fiery, French girl in this picture. William Austin, the clever young Englishman whose deft comic characerizations have added to the prestige and entertainment of many a picture. As the man who is engaged to Miss Taylor at the beginning of the story, life for him grows very exciting when Miss Lee, whom he has deserted after a love affair, discovers and pursues him.

Harrison Ford and Ivy Harris appear as a young honeymoon couple and add much to the suspense and humor of the plot. The role of Miss Taylor's aunt and uncle are played by Maude Turner Gordon and Tom Ricketts, two sterling character artists.

RESULTS DISAPPOINTING

Cumpulsory automobile liability insurance has been advocated because it is alleged that it will assure the financial responsibility of drvers, reduce accidents and lower insurance costs.

While 28 states voted down proposals for such compulsory insurance, only one state, Massachusetts, has established state wide compulsory automobile liability insurance.

The value of such a law is to be questioned. It makes many many citizens buy insurance unwillingly. It makes insurance companies issue insurance on undesirable risks. It makes insurance agents do more work for less pay.

It affords no protection to citizens against the recklessness of drivers of cars from other states. It prevents no accidents, as more people were injured and killed in Massachusetts in 1927 than in 1926, although there were fewer cars licensed. It has caused the insurance companies such serious losses that no decrease in insurance cost can be expected—rather the reverse.

An important preventive measure in the control of the flag-smut disease on wheat is the sowing of infested fields to other crops the following year unless a resistant wheat is used, as flag-smut spores easily survive in the oil from harvest to seeding time and are present to infest fall-sown wheat. The continuous growing of susceptible wheat on infested land may result in an increase of the disease. Since flag-smut affects only wheat, other crops may be safely grown in the rotation. Any wheat crop residue or material that may contain flag-smut spore, such as straw, manure, or a straw mulch on potatoes, may be a source of infection if applied to the land. Where such flag-smut infested residues are used, some other crop than wheat should be grown.

Mineral feeds which supply calcium and phosphorus should be included in rations for chickens. although nearly all the common chicken feeds contain minerals, there is usually a deficiency of calcium and phosphorus. Meat scraps and ground steamed bone meal as well as fish meal will supply phosporus. Calcium, the continued lack of which will cause a noticeable decrease in egg production, can be furnished by keeping a supply of oyster shells or of limestone grit before the hens at all times.

Relief Ass'n Is Shown to be In Good Standing

According to the monthly report by the secretary of the Wellington Relief association, that organization is shown to be in splendid financial condition. The records show that the balance on hand at the first of September amounted to $121.28, and deposits for the month were $67, giving a total credit for September of $188.28. The association spent $42.90 for relief work in September, leaving a balance at this time of $145.34.

Fire Department Receives Reward

According to Bura Handley, chief of the Wellington fire department, the boys of that organization were elated last week when they were presented with a check for $100 by the local Fain & company store as a reward for the work accomplished by the department when the Fain store caught fire several weeks ago.

Chief Handley says the fire boys are highly pleased with the generosity manifested by the managers of the store, and further adds that the hundred dollars is an appreciated contribution to the fireman's fund.

Home Ec Class Organizes At The High School

Blanche Saied Elected as President at First Meeting

Program Planned

Meetings Will be Held Regularly Twice Each Month

The first meeting relative to the organization of the Home Economics Club of Wellington High School was held last Tuesday evening, September 25. The Home Economics teachers, Miss Shepherd and Miss Crawley were in charge of the meeting.

Blanche Saied was elected president with Cora Cocke vice-president. Other officers are Bertha Sasser, secretary-treasurer and Julia Slough, press reporter.

The club is planning on having a number of interesting programs and a variety of social activities. In order to have money to sponsor the programs and socials, each member is to pay fifty cents each semester. A program committee was elected, which is composed of Nan Weird, Annalou Harper and Lois Templeton, and a social committee was elected which is composed of Margaret Goforth, Oletha Vaughn and Virginia Phillips.

Miss Shepherd and Miss Crawley were chosen sponsors.

The meetings are to be in the Singley building on the first and third Tuesdays of each month at four o'clock.

The members intend to put the activities of this club over in a successful way.

Automobile Seen Prime Factor in Mans' Happiness

Credit for the greatest stimulation of human activity during the last century if not for all modern time must be given the automobile, according to John R. Lee, general sales manager of Dodge Brothers.

"The motor car has been the prime contributing factor in our national welfare and prosperity—economically and phychologically—during the past 25 years," said Mr. Lee in a recent address in New York. "The industry has given profitable employment to 4,000,000 persons who form a large percentage of our total population when the customary four dependents of each employe are considered. The purchasing power of wages and salaries connected with the manufacture and sale of cars and associated industries, represent billions of dollars annually.

"When people have cars, they want to go. In order to go, good, wide highways must be built, and roads lead to fellowship and understanding between communities and the wholesome recreation of outdoor travel. Russia would present a different picture today is 20,000,000 motor cars had been poured into that vast country. India, China, Africa and the Far East countries are slowly being aroused to the advantages of the motor car. Remote districts have been pierced by automobiles. Bus lines have been started. The motor car is completely changing the habits and customs of the most p'oveltial people everywhere.

"Yet with all the cars owned and being bought today, the pleasure and convenience of possessing an automobile has not been grasped by millions who are financially able to buy. First sales to this market and replacements on the present market indicate that the surface has barely been scratched in the automobile industry, and that years of prosperity are ahead.

"The future happiness—even the very life of millons the world over—will depend upon road development, increased power facilities and the use of millions of more of motor vehicles."

South Africa will raise nearly 20,000,000 pounds of corn this year.

Want Ad Takes All Peaches From His Trees

E. L. Wilson's peach trees at one time had lots of fruit on them, but they are stripped now.

Mr. Wilson placed a want ad in The Leader, with the net result that the orde.. came so fast that the trees no longer bear fruit and he has $500 in his pocket.

Mr. Wilson sold his crop of peaches for $100, but t he orders were still coming in so he paid his neighbor $200 for his crop and sold it for $400. He says that many orders were received from cities in Kansas and Oklahoma as well as from several points in Texas, and declares that his advertising in The Leader was responsible for practically all of the business as the orders came from people who had read his ad or who had been told about it by friends who had seen The Leader. Mr. Wilson says he is more than ever convinced that proper advertising is worthwhile.

Altus School Deficit $6,427

In a report of the audit of June 30, made by M. C. Foy, City auditor of Oklahoma City, to the Altus school board recently, the general fund deficit was listed as $6,427.90.

The deficit of June 30, 1926, was $15,828.03 and on June 30, 1927, was $10,916.43. The deficit has been lowered during the year 1928 by almost $4,500.

For the past two years the expenditures have been kept within the revenue provided and a large part of the deficit absorbed. If the same plan is continued, according to the report, there will be no deficit at the end of the fiscal year ending June 30, 1930.

The accountant who made the audit further commented that the Altus board of education and officers should be commended on the condition of affairs of the district as compared to the condition in past years.

Yankee Pitcher Returns Home For Long Rest

Wilcy Moore of Hollis, pitcher with the New York Yankees, has returned to his home in that city for a needed rest, after sustaining injuries to his arm.

The report that he had decided to retire from baseball was erroneously constructed. He said that he told Miller Huggins, Yankee manager, that he wanted to retire for the rest of the season and give his arm a chance to mend and in some way or other the New York papers and the Associated Press understood that he had permanently retired.

"I will return to the Yankee training camp next spring, and I believe that 1929 will be my biggest year," the famous Yankee pitcher declared. "The only thing wrong with my arm is a pulled muscle, and it is now in a cast, but I believe it will be in good shape soon.

"I will remain in Hollis during the winter, and will probably do some light work on my farm in order to keep in training."

Moore stated that he was glad to be back among his old friends but that there were many new faces on the streets of Hollis. He has spent most of his time since returning there, greeting his admiring friends over the country.

Memphis People Soon To Present Famous Soprano

Miss Dorothy Greathouse Will Appear In Concert Program

Is Featured Singer

Has Appeared Throughout United States in Featured Roles

Dorothy Greathouse, lyric-coloatura soprano, late of the Chicago Civic Opera Company, star of that stering operetta, "The Student Prince," a featured singer on the Keith-Orpheum circuits last season, and a concert artist who has appeared from coast to coast, will be presented in recital in Memphis, Tuesday night, October 16, at the Gem Theatre. Miss Greathouse is being brought to Memphis under the management of Lyman E. Robbins and William Russell Clark of the Memphis Democrat.

Miss Greathouse was recently presented in recital in Amarillo, press reports stating that her appearance there created one of the greatest ovations in rcent years. Miss Grathouse is an American artist, who not only brings vocal beauty to her art, but also has the ability of singing the story of the song into the hearts of her audience.

She is endowded with a beautiful soprano voice, capable of portraying tenderness in songs of love, brilliancy in sparkling coloratura numbers, sadness in the dark tone poems of pain and sorrow, together with a charming personality and highly intellectual interpretative powers; she has succeeded in captivating the hearts of her adudiences where ever she has appeared, and today is one of the most prominent concert artists.

The repertoire of Miss Greathouse incorporates Opera Arias in English as well as in the original language, English Ballads, German lieder, French chansons and standard oratorios. However, American songs and ballads have a prominent place in her recitals. Her concert programs are of varied moods, including the entire scale of human emotions. In a single evening, Dorothy Greathouse is heard as a graphic and moving actress as well as Dorothy Greathouse artistic and accomplished concert artist.

Miss Greathouse is brought to Memphis as an experiment. If the people show they appreciate such high class attractins, others will be booked during the winter season. If they show little interest in the concert, no other attractions will be contracted for.

The assisting artist will be Katheryn Orr, well konwn to the musical world as a concert pianist of note. Her program is always a feature of the concert.

Plans are Made For Opening of Childress Hotel

New Hotel Will be Opened to Public by Big Celebration

Among the entertainments celebrating the opening of Hotel Childress will be a meeting of the four-county bankers association, composed of Hall, Donley, Collingsworth, and Childress counties. This was agreed to by the association at the meeting held at Memphis Wednesday night. The invitation was presented by the Childress bankers.

The opening day has not been definitely fixed, according to Mr. Arch Nave, who will be manager, but he believes it will be near December 10, possibly a few days sooner or later.

Wednesday morning Underhill & Co., contractors, informed the company building the structure, that they would be ready to turn the building over to them on November 15. This would give Mr. Nave more than three weeks to place the furniture and arrange for the opening.

Jerry Debenport, secretary of the Childress chamber of commerce and the board of city development, made the statement Wednesday morning when given the information of the probable date of opening, those two organizations would take a prominent part in the opening exercises.

Among the plans now being worked on is to make it an open house affair, with the citizens taking the leading part. He would have the citizens to resister as guests of the hotel, having rooms assigned to them for the night, eating breakfast the next morning.

The opening affar would begin about 5 o'clock in the evening when the citizens would be invited to make an inspection of the building from hte basement to the top. At 8 o'clock, or later, supper would be served the guests after which there would be a dance running well into the night.

Other features would be added, possibly with radio connections with the Fort Worth Star Telegram, the features of the evening being broadcast over the country. This is to be worked out but it can be secured if wanted, so Mr. Debenport states.

Mr. Debenport made it plain Wednesday morning when talking over tentative plans that the organizations he represents want to see the people of Childress out that night, ready and anxious to extend a hearty welcome to all visitors and to make the occasion one long to be remembered in Childress.

He states the erection of the building is a work of far greater magnitude than many people fully realize. He stressed the fact that it was built with home money by home people and that it would be under management of home people.

Convicts Engage In Knife Battle At Reformatory

One Killed and Four Are Injured in Fight at Granite, Okla.

Pair Hi-Jacked

Fight Starts as Result of Three Dollars Lost In Game

Homer Trenary is dead, Morris Quinn is probably fatally wounded, and Bud Flynn, Frank Burton and Walter Carlock are less seriously injured following a fight among the inmates of Oklahoma State Reformatory at Granite, last Sunday morning.

It seems that Trenary and Burton were pals and that Quinn and Flynn were chums. Friday night the four engaged in a gambling game and Quinn and Flynn won about three dollars from Trenary and Burton and the latter pair "hi-jacked" the winners. A quarrel ensued and Quinn and Flynn told Trenary and Burton that they would give them until nine o'clock Sunday morning to return the money.

Sunday morning a number of convicts were watching a domino game in the prison yard, among them the four who had engaged in the gambling. Suddenly, without a word, according to convict witnesses, the four men started fighting with knives. Walter Carlock is also said to have gone to the rescue of his friends, Trenary and Burton.

When the fight was stopped it was found that the five were all wounded. Trenary was stabbed one time in the heart, the wound entering the back. He died within a short time. Quinn was also wounded over the heart. It is not expected that he will recover. Flynn had stab wounds in front and back of the body and had been hit over the head with a heavy iron bar. Burton was cut in several places but not seriously wounded. Carlock was cut on the shoulder and wrist but not seriously wounded.

Three knives were found after the fight. They had been secretly made in the prison from files and are splendid examples of cutlery workmanship. The blade of one is more than seven inches long; aonther is six inches long and the third is five inches long. They are in the style of dirks and evidently made for fighting purposes alone. Trenary, the dead man, is said to have probably had a knife, but it has not been found.

Trenary and Burton were sentenced from Tulsa county for burglary; Quinn was sentenced from Oklahoma county for burglary; Flynn is serving an eigth year sentence for manslaughter in Coal county; and Carlock is serving a sentence from Carter county for burglary. The dead man was about 20 years old and his chum, Burton, is the same age. Quinn is 19 and Flynn is 18.

BARBERS AGAINST SMITH

Hoover will get the bulk of the barber vote in the country, officers of the National and State Master Barbers' Association predicted at Hoover Club headquarters in Dallas. Governor Smith has twice vetoed the uniform licensed law barbers are seeking in all States, they said, and by these actions has incurred the barbers' hostility.

Snake Likes Higher Priced Canary Birds

Snakes must know valuable birds when they see them. At least, that is the conclusion Mrs. Elzie White has reached. Mrs. White raises canary birds and has a large number at her home. The other day she was gone from her home and Mrs. Cloyd, her sister-in-law, had promised to tend to the birds while Mrs. White was away. Mrs. Cloyd picked up one of the cages and started to clean it when she noticed that there were no birds in the cage, but instead, a large green snake was coiled in the bottom. Two prominent protrusions in the snake's abdomen, wherever that may be, indicated the final resting place of the birds.

The queerest part about the whole story is the fact there were 19 canaries in the room, all of which were comparatively inexpensive, but the two the snakes devoured were a couple of new and expensive singers which cost $20 each

Youth Loses Life In Burning House

Late Tuesday afternoon fire in the residence near the Russell Gin near Mangum resulted in the burning to death of Tom Spruill, employee of the gin.

When the fire was discovered, several of the gin hands rushed to the house to see what could be done to save the building and its contents. It was soon found that the building could not be saved and an attempt was made to save some of the contents. The building belonged to the gin company and was used as a boarding house for gin employees.

Everbody was thought safe and no knowledge of the tragedy was learned until some time later when the absence of Spruill, 23 years old, and a resident of Electra, Texas, was observed. After inquiring at the stores and about the gin and premises, a search was made at the burned building. The body was found within three feet of the door. It is supposed he went into the building for some purpose and was perhaps caught in the falling roof.

His parents were notified and arrived a few hours after the tragedy. The remains were taken to the Greer Funeral Parlors in Mangum and sealed in a meta' casket for burial.

BOYS AID IN TERRACING

That the proof of the pudding is in the eating is shown by Cecil La Forge, state club boy terracing champion of Harrison county, who ran 81,500 yards of race lines on 25 farms last year. So strongly does the Texas A. & M. College Extension service believe in club boys putting their instructions into practice that it is virtually impossible for a boy to win high honors in the state contest at the annual Short Course at College Station without having helped neigboring farmers to terrace.

The work of training club boys to assist in the big job of stopping land from washing has just begun, but last year a total of 27 boys in 8 counties participated in a contest to see which county club could lay out the greatest amount of terracing for neighboring farmers. These boys worked a total of 578 hours on 78 farms and laid out more than 200,000 yards of terrace lines. Dallas county, with 9 boys running 28,910 yards of terrace won the attractive championship banner presented by the Federal Land Bank of Houston.

It is believed by Extension authorities that this type of junior work will expand largely and that club boys are apt to play an important part in protecting the 18,000,000 acres of Texas land that is subject to soil erosion.

Sheriff Finds Still on Road South of Town

Thirty Gallon Still Found Nine Miles South of Wellington

Rangers Assist

Huddleston and Mayes Help Collingsworth County Officer

Sheriff Claude McKinney assisted by J. P. Huddleston of Dallas and Sam Mayes of Austin found a thirty gallon still and fifteen gallons of whiskey last Friday night. G. A. Walker was arrested on the charge of operating the still.

The still was found buried near a dug-out on the Walker place 9 miles southeast of Wellington on the Childress highway. A dug-out consisting of two rooms, one about 18 feet by 10 feet and the other about 12 feet by 12 feet, and in splendid condition for the making of intoxicating liquor, according to statements made yesterday by Rangers Huddleston and Mayes. One room was fitted with a smoke stack but the stack had been uncovered and the still torn down and buried. It was thought that the raid was anticipated.

Clyde Parks, who lives on the T. A. Ross place, 3 miles north of Childress, made his appearance during the raid and was arrested on the charge of being an accomplice in the operation of the distillery.

The still was of 30 gallons capacity, copper, and in good condition. 15 gallons of whiskey were secured in the raid.

J. H. Keeton, employed at the Twin Gates Filling Station on the Wellington highway, and Clifford Brown of Loco, grocer and filling station proprietor, who were arrested in the raid Friday night, were brought to Childress Saturday afternoon where charges were filed against them for the sale and possession of whiskey. They waived preliminary trial, and their bonds were set at $2,000 each. Both men expected to make bond Saturday night.

Burglars Rob Home Twice In Two Weeks

A Hall county home seems to hold the record for burglaries in this section. Two weeks ago, while Mr. and Mrs. Brice Webster, of near Memphis, were attending the Hall County Fair, theives entered their home and made away with a gun and took off four of their fine hogs.

Last Wednesday night, Mr. and Mrs. Webster took a son to a party some two miles from their home, and upon their return they found their house ramsacked for a second time.

The robbers had made a thorough job of their work taking all the clothes in sight which included a new $40 suit and $15 hat belonging to Mr. Webster. He stated that this hat was the first he had ever owned at that price. They also took 75 jars of fruit and 3 large cans of lard.

While the Websters were away, a passerby noticed a truck at the front of the house, but paid no attention to it, thinking that someone was visiting at the home.

The robbers had evidently been gone only a few minutes when the Websters returned as the lamp chimney was still warm, indicating that they used the lamp in their work. Mr. Webster got in his car and drove to the filling station at Buck Creek, thinking that the owners of the station might be able to give some clue to the robbers, but his efforts were in vain.

Moody Will Support All Of Nominees

Denies Eastern Story That He Will Vote for Hoover

AUSTIN, Texas, Sept. 27.—Governor Dan Moody Wednesday came out unreservedly for the Democratic national nominees and spiked what was considered by many as Republican propaganda published in New York that he would support Herbert Hoover. Moody called false a New York statement that he had abandoned the Democratic nominees and would vote the Republican ticket. Following is a copy of his telegram to the editor of the New York Herald-Tribune:

"A Texas paper in a Washington special carries an item stating 'Much interest was attracted in political circles here by a news story in the New York Herald-Tribune under an Austin dateline that Governor Moody would support Herbert Hoover.' I have tried to locate your Austin correspondent but my efforts have been in vain. The statement that I will support Herbert Hoover is not true and I ask you to correct it. The statement attributed to your paper that while I had declared at the recent Democratic State convention that I would vote for the Democratic electors, a change seemed to have come over me since that time, is completely in error, I am supporting, and shall continue to support the Democratic ticket."

Moody's failure to accept the invitation of the national Democratic speaker's bureau to make speeches in doubtful states, for the national ticket had been published and changed throughout the Nation until its meaning had been distorted into a rejection of the Democratic nominees and support of Hoover.

As a result Moody has received many messages from all parts of the Nation, some from Republicans urging him to make a public statement for Hoover and to take the leadership here. His failure to accept the invitation to leave Austin during October on a speech making tour was based on State engagements, he said, including the meeting of the Text book Commission beginnig October 8. The national American Legion convention also is to be held in San Antonio, Oct. 8 to 12.

SUMMER SILAGE

Summer silage is the best means of supplementing pasture for dairy cows in summer and fall when grass is short because of hot, dry weather and close grazing. For a herd of 12 to 20 cows, a silo, of from 10 to 12 feet in diameter is best, as the silage can be fed out fast enough to prevent spoiling. Now is the time to plan for next summer's feeding. Supplementary crops instead of summer silage are used by many dairymen to prevent the midsummer drop in milk flow. In many sections sweet clover has proved very satisfactory for this purpose, and alfalfa can also be pastured at this time. Combinations of legumes such as peas, vetches and soy beans, with grain such as corn, wheat, oats, barley and rye, can be fed green, and successive plantings of these crops will provide succulent feeds over an extended period. Too many farmers expect their dairy cows to produce plenty of milk during the summer on poor pasture with no additional feed.

Shamrock Texan is Semi-Weekly

Shamrock now has a semi-weeklie newspaper service, since the Texan has been transformed from a weekly to a twice-a-week publication, with their first edition under the new plan being issued Wednesday. The paper in Shamrock has been publishing a weekly for the past 25 years, and is being made a semi-weekly to keep step with the growth of the city and territory, the publishers explain. They plan to give the semi-weekly venture a thorough trial, and should they later find that Shamrock will not support a semi-weekly they will revert to a weekly basis.

JOURNALISM COURSES

AUSTIN, Texas, Oct. 3.—With the opening of the 1928-29 session at the Universtity of Texas, the outlook for the department of journalism assumes a brighter aspect than it has had for some time, according to Paul J. Thompson, chairman of the department. After spending several years in a somewhat precarious position as first an insignificant part of the School of Business Administration, and then as a department in that School, journalism starts the new year with a return to its former rank as a department in the College of Arts and Sciences, Mr. Thompson said.

Eleven courses will be offered in the department this year, and in them are included every fundamental course in journalism, Mr. Thompson declared. Splendid laboratory arrangements and a wide range of library facilities, providing some 1,200 volumes of books and periodicals, are amoug the resources of which the department is proud, he added.

THE BISTONE EMPIRE

By PHEBE K. WARNER

Over in East Texas where there are two counties where the club women are putting on a genuine "Rural Cooperation" demonstration. These counties are Limestone and Freestone counties. Groesbeck is the county seat of Limestone and Fairfield is the county seat of Freestone county, while Mexia is the metropolis and commercial center of both counties.

There is a total of 1856 sections of land in these two counties and a total population of 56,547 men, women and children. Agriculture and oil are the two chief sources of income for both counties with cotton leading in agriculture. Evidently the wealth of these two counties like the wealth of this whole nation lies dormant in its soil. All the agricultural crops must come from the first ten to twelve inches of the surface of their soil. No, that's not quite right. We forgot the fruit trees and nuts. They draw their sustenance from deeper down. Does any body know how deep an apple tree, peach tree or pecan tree goes down into the earth to produce their wonderful crops? And then down under all the crops comes the oil. Wasn't God good when He made this old earth and hid away so many wonderful things in it for all to dig up and use as the development of our generation called for it.

Now here is the point to this paper. I'm telling you because so often we do not see the same point in the same paper. In the beginning God stored up in the soil almost every thing the human family would ever need to eat and wear and live in and keep warm. What He did not store in the soil, He left floating around in the air and the sea. And in order that this immense human famliy which has now reached the grand total of 1,800,000,000, human bodies to be fed and clothed and sheltered, some body simply has to live out in the country on these broad acres and dig all the raw materials for this food and clothing and fuel out of the earth. It just has to be done or there would be nothing to eat, nothing to wear, nothing for any body to do.

But, in the course of human events, and for some unknown reason, the rural people and the industrial people who do the work that makes life more lovely for the rest of the world seem to be almost forgotten and left in the rear ranks of the social and educational world, ot gather up the crumbs that fall from the banquet tables they spread for the other people.

Now Folk:—That's not fair. That's not democratic, and such a condition never should have come to pass in rich America. And now comes the story in this story.

The club women of Limestone and Freestone counties of Texas are determined that this condition shall not go unheeded in their counties another day. Therefore they have with their club influence and their club brains and their club hearts and enthusiasm in one woman's organization to be known as the Bi-Stone Federation of Women's Clubs. And the one purpose of this Bi-Stone organization is to bring equal privileges, equal opportunities, equal pleasure and an equal chance to live the very best life possible to every woman in their two counties.

Listen to their plan of work; a Bi-Stone organization with a president, two vice presidents, secretary, treasurer, parliamentarian and Federation Councilor. That last is a brand new officer, and one of the most essential and here are their committees. Club extension, Home department, music, art, farm products and facilities for marketing. Conservation of natural resources, Public Welfare, cotton—Its uses and lack of use, education, membership, Press and pulicity. What will it mean to every community in these two counties when all those committees get to work on the needs of the whole county instead of just the towns in the country? Mrs. McLendon, president of the Bi-Stone Federation writes that they already have the promise of fifteen rural clubs to come into their new organization.

But that's not all. The men of these two counties and the Mexia Daily News have caught the club women's new vision for their counties and they have recognized their new possibilities and have given their counties a new name. THE BI-STONE EMPIRE—Why, there's power in that name. And they too have resolved that there is enough wealth in their 1,87,840 acres of rich land and their oil field to raise the standard of living for every one of their 56,547 men, women and children. And they are going to work together to make the Bi-Stone Empire of Texas the best place in the world for boys and girls to be born and reared. And that is what the general Federation calls rural cooperation.

More than $23,000,0000 has been spent on the Lloyd barrage in Egypt, and the work is not one half finished.

About 72 per cent of the population of the United States are American born.

Took Cardui And Improved Greatly, Says Okla. Lady.

Mrs. John Shipp, 2314 Maple Street, Oklahoma City, Okla., says:

"Two years ago, I was in very bad health. I was so weak and run-down, I could scarcely keep going.

"My mother thought I ought to try Cardui, and told me to get some and take it. I could eat nothing, as I had no appetite.

"I found great relief after I began taking Cardui. I was able to eat and I could sleep. Before that, I had been so nervous that the least little thing upset me. I was low-spirited and blue. I got thinner and thinner, and I was always tired."

Today's Fable

"Don't I bore you?" asked the mosquito politely as he sank a deep shaft into the man's leg.

"Not at all," replied the man, smashing the mosguito gently over the head with a book. "And by the way, how do I strike you?"

The postmasters are telling folk to mail their Christmas packages early, and as usual people are paying no attention to the advice.

And as advice to the girls, this is a good time to begin Christmas hinting.

And this is a good time to begin making plans to build your new home. Let us show you plans, specifications and give you estimates

Mother: — "Now Willie, I want you to go in and get acquainted with the new nurse and kiss her like a nice little boy."

Willie:—Yeh, and get my face slapped like papa did."

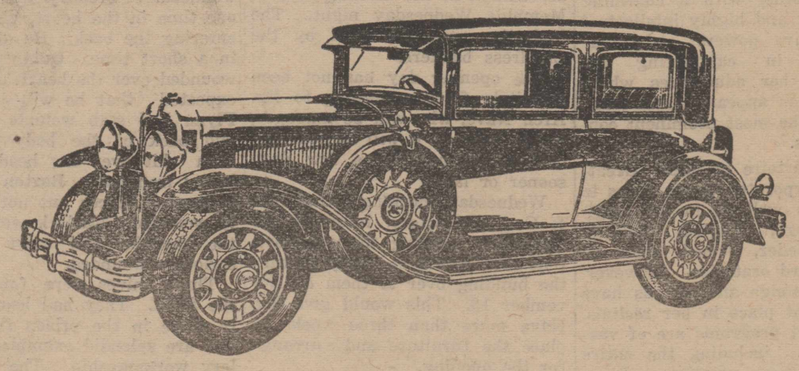

The five-day week is said to be gaining in industry. Editors and farmers, however, are in the privileged seven day class.

A knocker is a mortgage on his town, and every citizen is paying interest on the mortgage. Let's all boost for Wellington now and always.

Absent-minded Professor: —Waiter half an hour ago I ordered a steak. Have you forgotten it, have I eaten it, or didn't I order it?

Don't be like the absent-minded professor and let the fall rains soak your house. Get your roof repaired now, today.

VALVE-IN-HEAD Buick MOTOR-CARS

THE NEW BUICK is THE NEW STYLE

Drawing the greatest crowds—winning the most enthusiastic praise—rolling up the biggest demand in all fine-car history—the Silver Anniversary Buick with New Masterpiece Bodies by Fisher is scoring the most sensational success ever won by any new quality car!

Millions of spectators thronging Buick showrooms in all parts of the country! Tens of thousands enthusiastically placing their orders for this Buick of Buicks and car of cars!

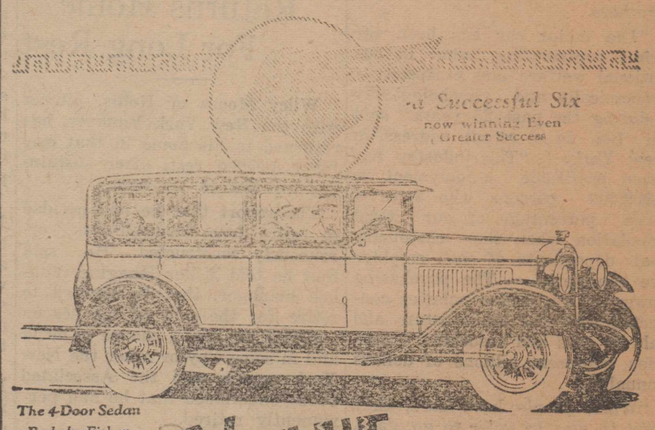

And all because it is not only a leading engineering achievement of the past twenty-five years—embodying performance abilities unmatched anywhere in the world—but also because it ushers in an entirely new style—a fascinating new mode—of automotive beauty and luxury!

The motorists of America "looked to the leader for leadership" in automotive design. Buick answered with this epic car, setting entirely new standards of style, beauty, and comfort, as well as of dashing performance. And the public is responding with overwhelming demand—a demand that has forced the great Buick factory to production levels unprecedented in its entire history!

Barnes Circus Is Coming Soon To Memphis

The all new production of the Al. G. Barnes Circus is coming to Memphis Wednesday, October 10.

Advertising agents representing Al. G. Barnes Circus have been posting pictorial circus bills in this vicinity announcing the coming of this excellent show, and advertisements will be found in our columns this week. The management of the Al. G. Barnes Circus announces the following features this year:

"The all new spectacle, entitled 'Alladdin and Parade of Gold' in which approximately 1,000 people take part, including the Chinese beauty, Lola Lee Chong; the two Mastodons, Tusko and The Mighty Tusko; Klinkhart's equestrian midgets, fourteen tiny horsemen from Bavaria; San Marcus, the $16,000 equine star; the zebra round up, with the largest herd in captivity in America; and many other novel features and performances given by Americans and foreign artists, also animals from every part of the world.

"Two performances are given daily—the afternoon show starting at 2 o'clock, and the night performance at 8 o'clock. The doors are open one hour previous for inspection of the zoo, and for children to see the two mammoth beasts which require two specially constructed railway cars for their transportation."

In fattening turkeys for market an excellent plan is to begin about the first of October to feed night and morning, feeding just enough at a time so that the birds go away a little hungry, and gradually increase the quantity until they are given all they will clean up three times a day the week before marketing.

CITATION ON ANNUAL ACCOUNT

THE STATE OF TEXAS,

To the Sheriff or any Constable of Collingsworth County—GREETING:

YOU ARE HEREBY COMMANDED to cause the following notice to be published in a newspaper of general circulation which has been continuously and regularly published for a period of not less than one year preceding the date of this notice in the County of Collingsworth, State of Texas, and you shall cause said notice to be printed at least once each week for the period of twenty days exclusive of the first day of publication before the return day hereof:

NOTICE

THE STATE OF TEXAS,

To all persons interested in the welfare of the estate of Amanda J .Stewart, F. C. Fuson, Executor of the Stewart estate of the said Amanda J. Stewart, has filed in the County Court of Collingsworth County, Texas, an Annual Account of said estate for the year ending on the 18 day of September A. D. 1928, which will be heard by our said County Court on the 1st Monday in November A. D. 1928, the same being the 5th day of November A. D. 1928, at the Court House of said County in Wellington, Texas at which time all persons interested in said estate may appear and contest said account, if they see proper.

Herein fail not, but of this Writ make due return, showing how you have executed the same.

ORDINANCE NO. 216

AN ORDINANCE DEFINING AND PROHIBITING NUISANCES WITHIN THE RESIDENCE SECTION AND PORTION OF THE CITY OF WELLINGTON, TEXAS, AND DEFINING THE RESIDENCE SECTION AND PORTION OF SAID CITY OF WELLINGTON, TEXAS, AND PRESCRIBING A PENALTY FOR THE VIOLATION THEREOF.

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE CITY COUNCIL OF WELLINGTON, TEXAS:

Section 1.

That the erection, maintenance or operation of any cotton gin, cotton compress, cotton seed oil mill, ice plant, oil or gas or kerosene storage tank, sorghum mill, elevator, grain threshing plant, planing mill, chicken hatchery, warehouse or storage room within the residence section and portion of the City of Wellington, Texas, and within the corporate limits of said City, is a nuisance, and the erection, maintenance or operation thereof in said section and portion of said City is hereby declared unlawful and is prohibited.

Section 2.

That the residence section and portion of said city referred to in section 1 hereof is and shall hereafter be all that portion and section of said City within the corporate limits thereof, including the original townsite and all addition thereto, except that portion of said City contained within the following boundaries, to-wit:

BEGINNING at the intersection of Houston Avenue with Eighth Street; Thence West along 8th street to its intersection with Belton Avenue; Thence South along Belton Avenue to its intersection with Tenth street; Thence West along 10th street to its intersection with Bowie Avenue; Thence North along Bowie Avenue to its intersection with Seventh Street; Thence West along 7th street to its intersection with Childress Avenue; Thence North along final passage be suspended, and the same is hereby suspended, and Childress Avenue to its intersection with Fourth Street; Thence East along Fourth Street to its intersection with Belton Avenue; Thence South along Belton Avenue to its intersection with Fifth Street; Thence East along Fifth Street to its intersection with the east boundary line of the corporate limits of the City of Wellington, Texas; Thence South along said East bounday line of said corporate limits to the place of beginning.

Section 3.

That if any person, firm, corporation, association or company shall erect, maintain or operate any plant, establishment or business named in Section 1 hereof, in violation of Sections 1 and 2 hereof, such person, or persons, firm, corporation, association or company shall be deemed guilty of misdemeanor, and upon conviction therefor shall be fined not less than twety-five, nor more than One Hundred dollars. Each day such person, or persons, firm, corporation, association or company shall maintain or operate any such plant or establishment or business in violations of sections 1 and 2 hereof shall constitute a separate offense.

Section 4.

All ordinances or parts of ordinances in conflict herewith are hereby repealed, and to be of no further force and effect.

Section 5.

The fact that the City of Wellington, Texas, has not adequate regulations as to the erection, maintenance or operation of unclean establishments or the location thereof, and that the health, comfort and convenience of the inhabitants of the residence section and portion of said City of Wellington, Texas, is seriously threatened by the absences of adequate regulations relative thereto, creates an emergency and an imperative public necessity requiring that the rule that all ordinances shall be read at more than one meeting of the City Council before this ordinance shall take effect immediately after its passage, approval and legal publication.

Passed and approved this the 17th day of September A. D. 1928.

E. N. Lewis, Mayor.

"I think we owe the remarkable healthy record of our family to the use of Black-Draught," says Mrs. J. H. Luther, 514 W. Belknap St., Ft. Worth, Tex. "I was suffering from an attack of indigestion. Somebody recommended Black-Draught to me, and I got some and tried it. I felt so much better, after I had taken it, that I used it the next time I was sick, and then the next. I soon found it to be a dependable medicine to use for my family. "Whenever the children had colds, or an upset stomach, I treated them with Black-Draught." Sold everywhere; 25c.

Auburn Agent to Appoint Dealer For Wellington

C. H. Dixon of Amarillo is Distributor in Panhandle

C. H. Dixon of Amarillo has been appointed distributor of Auburn cars in the Panhandle territory.

Elsewhere in this issue you will find an advertisement announcing this car. The company wishes to appoint a dealer in this territory for this well konwn and long established line of high class cars.

Mr. Dixon is well known in this section, having formerly handled Fords and Buicks in Wellington and says he again has a line in which he is well pleased.

The Auburn company builds two Straight Eight cars and one Six. Their large eight cylinder is of 115 horsepower motor and capable of 104 miles per hour and they claim it to be the fastest stock car in America.

The company expects to add to this line about January 1, a six cylinder car to sell around $1000, Mr. Dixon says.

CONFEDERATE SEAL

AUSTIN, Texas, Oct. 3.—Secured after a long search, an enlarged lithographed reproduction of the official seal of the Confederacy, said to be the only copy in existence, has been procured for the University of Texas library by E. W. Winkler, librarian.

The seal was created by act of the Confederate Congress in 1862, according to the copy of the Congressional record which accompanies the seal. The engraved seal was made in England, and only one impression was taken before the seal was brought to this country, according to Mr. Winkler. That impression was lost, and from that time the seal was used only on official documents. In 1911, an enlarged reproduction of the seal was painted by Annie Panye Pillow of Washington, D. C., and the lithographed copy at the University seems to be only surviving copy, Mr. Winkler said.

Wealthy Star

Fortune has been kind to beautiful Sue Carol, whose rise to stardom in the movies during recent months has been meteoric. In addition to her beauty and brilliant future, Sue, whose real name is Evelyn Keefer, is a Chicago heiress worth according to some estimates, $4,000,000 in her own name. She is just 21.

SCHOOLS USE PICTURES

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 3.—The use of educational motion pictures is becoming an important factor in the schools of this country. The use of "teaching films" has spread to approximately 15,000 institutions since its establishment only a few years ago. Many state universities maintain film libraries in their extension departments and systematically supply films to schools and community organizations in their respective states. Yale University has participated in the preparation of a series of films on American history, and Harvard is cooperating with a big film producing concern in making films relating to science. Some universities make films on their own account and upon a rather extensive scale.

In using the films a teacher may give her lessons in the usual fashion and then adjust the window shades and project lantern slides and illustrative film to supplement her verbal instruction, and thus leave an enduring impression upon the minds of her pupils by showing in actual motion the things that involve motion.

Schell Brothers Animal Circus is Here Today

The big show is here. The smell of sawdust is in the air. Hear the call of the bugle and the crack of the ringmaster's whip. Schell Bro. will exhibit at Wellington, Thursday, October 4, for two performances, afternoon and night, rain or shine. This is the show you have been waiting for. The Schell Bros. famous show stands without rival. Everybody knows them, for they never advertise what they do not give, hence the big top is always jammed with a happy, eager crowd. Originality and progressiveness have been the watchword of these kings of the arena. They have invested hundreds of thousands of dollars, have given years of careful systematic preparation to perfect their wonderful organization, and a glorius reward is the culmination of their efforts. In order to obtain the latest and best in the amusement world, to satisfy the ever-changing public, to retain the patronage and popularity so necessary for the continuance of at raveling institution of such magnitude, the Schell Bros. have balked at no effort no matter how herculean, or at any pecuniary outlay no matter how extravagant.

CRIME

The writer of a recent article depicting the deplorable crime conditions that exist in Chicago stated that in 1926 and 1927, murders had been committed in that city to the number of 760 and that only 10 persons had paid the supreme penalty for their crimes. Further, that convictions were obtained in only 22 per cent of the cases and these for crimes of lesser degree than murder. It is probable that the murder crop in that city this year will equal, if not exceed, that of the past.

Nor is Chicago alone in its crime record. In all of the large cities and in the country as a whole the number of murders, robberies and lesser crimes committed is appallingly large. Every day upon the front page of the daily papers there are seen accounts of deeds unbelievably atrocious and brutal, even the descriptions of which are enough to cause the average person to shudder with horror, and, yet in many cases, the perpetrators go unpunished.

Why in a comparatively prosperous nation, where poverty could hardly be named as the stimulus, does there exist such a large amount of unlawfullness? There have been advanced numerous reasons. Before the eighteenth amendment those who wanted prohibition blamed the saloons; since the eighteenth amendment prohibition comes in for a large part of the blame.

Others lay the fault at the door of our legal system. Doubtlessly, therein lies an important contributing factor. From a day when a suspect of crime was meted out swift punishment without deliberation or investigation, it seems that there has been a switch to the almost opposite extreme. The accused is safeguarded on every side. Innocence is assumed until the guilt is proven to the satisfaction of twelve men. The failure of the court to observe the most minute technicality gives a right to a new trial. The decision may be appealed to the higher courts. Shrewd lawyers find many loop-holes of escape in the law. Besides, the calendars of the courts are over-filled and as a result it is often many months and even years before the case is finally decided or comes up for trial. In many cases with the lapse of time the baseness of the crime is forgotten and public sentiment is entirely in favor of the criminal, which, undoubtdedly, has an effect on the decision of the jury. Too often, hardened criminals are set free or given short terms and then gain freedom to continue their depredations upon society.

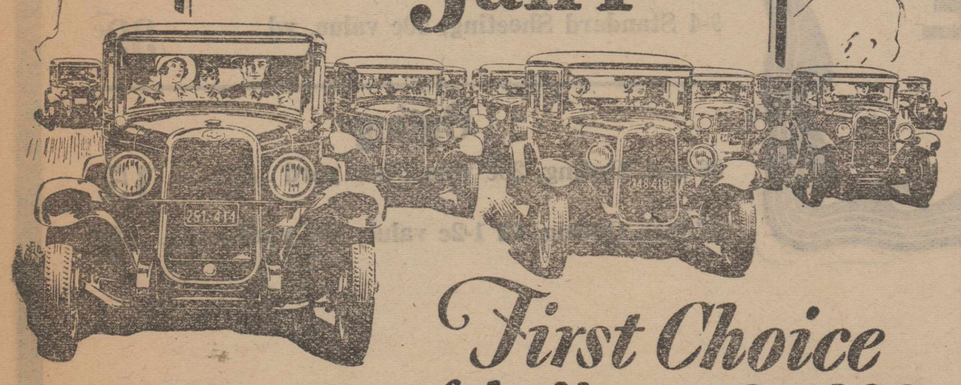

Another factor that adds to the nation's high percentage of crime is the alien element. Foreigners come to this country with visions of gaining wealth quickly. They join their own groups, make little effort to become Americanized and often remain wholly estranged with American ideals and customs. Soon they perceive the dreamed-of fortune is not so easily obtained and often resort to crime as a means of living. Then, also, the inadequacy of our immigration border patrols makes it impossible to prevent the seeping in of undesirable and criminal characters. This particular phase of the situation could be greatly aided by larger appropriations and an increase in the size of the immigration forces.

Of course, the vision of a nation entirely free from crime is utopian in its conception. Yet, the percentage of crime that exists in the United States could be greatly reduced. The problem that it presents is of vital importance and is well worth the study of every citizen, especially since it is one of the people's most expensive burdens.

The quickest paths to the reduction of crime lie most likely through a speeding up of our legal systems, getting rid of superflous laws and unimportant technicalities, restricting immigration, and finally and most important, education. An education that will give the students and future citizens of this nation not only a broad conception of the arts and sciences, but that will tend toward the strengtheneing of their characters and imbue them with the ideals and principles of American citizenship.

LEADER ADVERTISING has "IT"

It was mentioned to us by a woman reader. You may have noticed "it"—that distinguishing touch that costs the merchant nothing extra and yet means so much in the results secured from his advertising—a unique display here and there—attractive illustrations—a little more effective use of white space here—a little better choice in type there, and the result is an advertisement that carries home the message the merchant wishes to impart to his potential customer.

Leader Advertisers have the privilege of using the same advertising service that the merchants of Dallas, Wichita Falls and Amarillo use in telling their customers of the items they have for sale, and The Leader as a weekly paper has a much higher reader interest per subscriber than any daily paper even claims to have. The returns its advertising columns secure for the merchants of Wellington are milestones on the road to economical merchandising.

Detours Indicate Progress of Road

Detours, like mothers-in-law, are grossly maligned. The detour, though all too frequently is bumpy and dusty, is a sure sign hat an effort is being made to provide smooth and economical ravel conditions for the motorist.

Considering the attitude the average motorist posses toward detours, probably no set figures would be more depressing to him than those showing detour mileages. Be that as it may, in 1928 motorists are being compelled to travel 4,000 miles over improvised roads because of high type pavement construction, and 8,000 miles because of other road construction and bridge installations.

A few years ago a facetious gentleman remarked that there was more "de-touring" than touring. At that time he was undoubtedly right—for then detours were established helter-skelter and the dilly dallying of highway builders prolonged the agony.

But today, the detour is usually a fairly well kept roadway and travel is directed over it for as short a time as possible. Road builders now accomplish as much in a week as they did in a month ten years ago, and this means that paved highways are being thrown open to traffic much earlier.

Road builders have adopted a striking method of road construction for which the motoring public may be thankful. This is half at a time construction wherein one half of a pavement is laid while the traffic continues traveling over the other portion. When the first strip of pavement is laid traffic is moved over to the pavement and the gigantic paving mixer then travels down the other lane leaving a trail of concrete flush with the strip in use. This is of course, not always practicable.

A community without detours is either a community with enough good roads, a rare avis, or else that community is neglecting its roads.

Even at that, the detour is certainly no worse than the roadways over which travel in buck-boards was current a few years ago. If the detour is a bit rough, the only thing to do is to be Pollyanish about it.

An Announcement of interest to our customers concerning our

Fourteenth Anniversary

The first week in October is National Piggly Wiggly Week and to properly commerate the opening of the first Piggly Wiggly (fourteen years ago in Memphis, Tenn.) all Piggly Wiggly stores will have special Bargains for the entire week. From this small beginning Piggly Wiggly has spread to nearly every City and town in the United States and several foreign countries. We feel that opening and operation of these Stores has eleminated quite a bit of the overhead expense in serving the public, and if we can sell you the same goods for less money, or better goods for the same money, why should you pay more for the same service. Herein lies the key to the success that we have accomplished in the mercantile field in the past fourteen years.

The Wellington Store has been opened a little over three years and it is and has been our aim to serve the public with the best that the market affords, and at the least possible charge. If you will visit our store you will see all the goods of a class put in the shelves in orderly manner, priced in plain figures, where the price denotes the quality, and the quality denotes the price. We are putting forth our best efforts to foster that spirit of co-operation, by which mankind has made all the important steps in progress.

And They Say It Actually Happened

Fulfillment of predictions as related in the Bible were brought home here the other day in the form of an unusual healing which happened across the Oklahoma line at Hollis.

Miss .Charlotte Poole, 16 of Hollis, had been confined to a bed and wheel chair for the past three years and had not taken a single step in that time until last week. Thousands of dollars had been spent in an effort to cure the child's ailment which was brought about when a growth formed on her brain. After an operation was performed to remove the growth the child was rendered powerless to use her legs.

Her parents heard of an evangelist named J. H. Busby, of Stamford, who claimed to have the gift of "divine healing." They called on him to come pray for their daughter.

In company with the child's father and mother and the afflicted one, the minister prayed. The miracle happened, for a few moments later she stepped from her chair and can now walk as good as anybody.

There were many doubting "Thomases" when the news spread through the town and many persons made special trips to the Poole residence to see with their own eyes the miracle that had been performed.

It isn't every calf who gets its picture taken with the president of the United States, but the one here pictured with President Coolidge on the steps of the summer White House at Superior, Wis., is a champion Brown Swiss. It was brought to see the president by t hese members of the Carlton County Calf Club. The youngest holding the calf is James Decaigney of Wrenshaw, Minn., its owner.

Inside Information

Two glass measuring cups, one for wet and one for dry ingredients, are a great convenience in cake making.

The notion that it is harmful to eat fish and milk together has no foundation in fact. Think of the many excellent creamed fish dishes, and fish chowders made with milk, that have always been eaten without ill effects.

A small pan that fits into the top of the teakettle has many uses. It serves as a double boiler for small quantities of food to be cooked or reheated, and will be found handy for melting shortening.

Cook spinach for 10 or 15 minutes only, in just the water that clings to the leaves after washing it through several waters. When it begins to get tender, chop it ver fine and season with plenty of butter or cream.

It is unnecessary to remove food from a can as soon as it is opened. For a reasonable period of time the food may safely remain in the can. Transferring it to another container only means another dish to wash. If the can was safe while the food was shut up in it, it is still safe.

Starch does not taste good unless it is well cooked, hence it is advisable to cook cereals until the starchy flavor disappears, but it is no longer considered necessary to cook them for several hours before they are given to children. Many of the package cereals now on the market have already been precooked so that some of them need only a very brief cooking in the double boiler.

When making jelly it is not necessary to heat the sugar before adding it to the fruit juice. The only reason for heating it is to shorten the time of boiling the jelly. If the juice is boiling hot when the sugar is put in, the boiling process will only be checked for a minute or two by the addition of the cold sugar. It is then boiled rapidly until the jelly stage is reached, which should be in from 5 to 10 minutes or even less.

One of the easiest and lest expensive practices for improving cotton yields is the growing of legumes as catch crops, winter cover crops, or as a part of the regular cropping system. Compeas and velvet beans can be used, as other legumes like soy beans, peanuts, vitches, bur clover, Lespedeza, and red, crimson and sweet clovers, and Canada field peas.

Cut your timber with an eye to continuous production. The aim should be to keep the land producing, at the fastest rate, timber of the best quality. Do not cut everything that is merchantable. Always leave five or more seed-producing trees per acre and plenty of younger trees as a good basis for growing another crop. Keep an ample supply of growing timber on the land.

George Washington, it is said, invented a seeding plow.

The cheapest method of providing platable and nutiritious feed for livestock on the range is by conservative grazing, regulating the number of animals and the period of grazing to the forage producing capacity of the range. To enable forage plants to make good growth, set seed, and maintain their stand, the stocking of a range should be such that at the close of a grazing season at least 10 per cent of the herbage of the most valuable forage plants is left.

Mildew stains on fabrics when very fresh may sometimes be washied out with soap and water, or bleached in the sun. The grow th of mildew is at first on the surface of materials that have been allowed to become damp, but in a short time these molds penetrate the fiber and injure it, and are almost impossible to eradicate. Soaking the stains in sour milk overnight and placing in the sun without rinsing, will some times help. Slight stains are times removed by moistening them with lemon juice and salt and placing in the sun. Javelle water, used as a bleach, will take out mildew stains on white cotton or linen but should never be used on silk or wool. Other chemicals are also used at times. Mildew on shoes should be wiped off as soon as detected, and the shoes washed with soap and water, and well dried. Stuff the shoes with soft crumpled paper or dry oats, and dry in a warm, but not hot place.

Larger yields of peanuts and hay from peanut plants can be secured if the seed is held over in the pod, under ordinary farm conditions, than if it is shelled.

High-priced, irrigated land may return a profit when it is used to produce purebred cattle. Purebred stock can be raised in areas of good pastures in valley which are so small that suficient grade cattle can not be handled profitably

No farm can afford to pay taxes on ilde land. Woods management, therefore, has come to be a matter of economic necessity on those parts of the farm which are in woodlands and are better for tree growing than for cultivated crops.

The first essential in curing pork is to make sure that the carcass is thoroughly cooled. The center of the hams of freshly killed hogs should be chilled to between 34 and 40 degrees within 24 hours, at which time the carcass is ready to cut up and put in cure.

A good, inexpensive treatment for "dusting" or disintegration of the surface, of indoor concrete floors, which frequently occur because of poor materials or workmanship, is the application of commercial sodium silicate (water glass). For this purpose the sodium silicate should be diluted, 1 gallon to 4 gallons.

The greatest progress in the dairy business in this country lies not in increasing the number of dairy cows, but in increasing the production per cow, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Why milk and care for 20 cows when you can make more money by milking and caring for 10 selected high producing cows?

Germany now has only 456,000 automobiles.

FARM BY BUDGET

The farming industry of the United States loses many hundred millions of dollars each year because production is overexpanded along some line and underexpanded along others. These ups and downs in agricultural production are partly the result of changes made by farmers in acreage of crops and numbers of livestock. Changes of this kind are necessary and unavoidable, but too often they are overdone in some lines and underdone in others Decisions as to these changes are often based upon the prices at or immediately before planting or breeding time and upon the crop yields and livestock production of the preceeding season. The application of the budget method, used in other business undertakings, is suggested by the United States Department of Agriculture as one way for farmers who act independently to meet the situation. A farm budget is a carefully worked out plan based on estimates as to how well a particular combination of crops or combination of crops and livestock will pay. These estimates are based upon available information at to what prices and crop and livestock production are likely to be during the year or period of years just ahead. Although prices crop yields and livestock production can not be forecast exactly, they can be foretold within broad enough limits to make it profitable to organize carefully and to focus attention upon the best available information relating to them. A method of doing this is outlined in Farmers' Bulletin No. 1564-F which may be obtained from the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C. There is no charge.

MUCH POULTRY SHIPPED

Wheeler is proud of the fact that thirteen carloads of dressed poultry, and ten carloads of live poultry have been shipped out of Wheeler county which until recently was considered fit only for cattle grazing.

NEW BUILDING

A building twenty-seven feet by one hunderd feet, built of brick with concrete floor, will house the Lockney Beacon at Lockney soon. Part of the building will be available for meetings of organizations without buildings.

CLEAN PROFITS

By following what is known as the McLean county (Illinois) system of hog sanitation, hog raisers in Nebraska, in cooperation with Extension Service specialists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, have shown that it is possible to greatly reduce losses of pigs from filth-borne diseases. Briefly, the McLean county system consists in thorough cleaning of the sows and the farrowing quarters, and the moving of the sows and young pigs when born to clean pasture othe than the permanent feed lot, leaving them there until they are at least 4 months old. During a 3 year period, on a number of representative farms where this sanitation system was carefully followed out, the average value o the pork (the pigs were sold at 6 months) amounted to $1422.2 per farm; while records kept o other farms where this sanitatio was neglected or only partiall followed, showed the average va ue of the pork per farm was onl $845.00.

Season your fuel wood. It will make more heat and save time and worry in the home. In order to season rapidly, wood should be piled, or "ricked" up in rarrow, long piles exposed fully to sun and wind and portected against rain. A woodshed is an excellent investment, particualarly if built with a good overhanging roof and with an open or stripped section all the way around a foot or two higher than the floor to provide for air ventelation.

Most of the garden plants—beans, tomatoes, squashes, potatoes—have finished their season's work. And now the time is coming when the gardner should "put his garden to bed" for the winter. One of the first things to be done is to clean up the vines, dead plants, weeds and other refuse. Burn all refuse to destroy insects that have harassed the garden throughout the year. Otherwise, the will live over to next season and go to work again. With insect pests such as the European corn borer and the Mexican bean beetle to fight, the gardner must clean up or these pests will "clean him up." After the trash is cleaned up and burned it is a good plan in sections where weather conditions will permit, to sow winter oats, roye, or some other green crop.
