TODAY'S EVENTS

TRUMAN REVIEWS COAL SITUATION

WASHINGTON, May 13. (AP)—President Truman reviewed the soft coal situation with Congressional leaders today as the operators interrupted negotiations with John L. Lewis to confer privately on the miner's demand for $3,000,000 in back holiday pay. House Democratic leader McCormack (Mass.) told reporters after the White House conference that the coal situation had been canvassed in a "very general way".

With the exception of 30,000 miners in Pennsylvania most of the mine workers returned to work today under Lewis' two weeks truce.

dants were sentenced after the American Court found them guilty of murdering thousands of victims imprisoned by the Nazis in persecution campaigns.

BREMEN GETS ROLAND'S UGLY MUG BACK AGAIN

BREMEN—Roland's ugly-looking phiz is tearing down on Bremen again.

And the Breminites like it, They say it means good luck.

Roland is a 20-foot statue of a legendary warrior. He's got a get-up that would scare an army—stony protuberances simulating a coat of spiked mail.

Splashed around without regard are many different colored paints and gilt and it all goes to make up a fearsome ogre.

Directly beneath his chin is a big stone shield.

Roland has been standing in the square, directly in front of the famed Dom Cathedral, for 800 years. Every child for miles around knows of Roland before he learns to spell "Schulezimmer."

The legend he is told is: when Roland's face is uncovered no harm can come to Bremen.

They had to re-write the legend after 800 years, however, when Allied airmen spilled bombs in great clusters on Bremen's vital docks and shipyards.

To save the real relic, Bremen tossed the legend away and built a big concrete bunker around Roland.

Throughout the war the bunker protected the ancient stone giant.
After the Americans took over Bremen they got around finally to the Roland legend and decided to have a look at him

Soldiers chipped the bunker away and revealed Roland in all his screwball glory, unscathed.

GIs walk past the forbidding figure now and with a thumb up, say: "Hya, Roland." It has become almost a custom, like the middies at Annapolis tossing pennies to the statue of Tec-cumseh for luck.

It's Sidewalk Room Only For Housing In Hong Kong

HONG KONG — So you think you've got troubles in the United States trying to find an unsold house, unrented apartment or untenanted dog kennel.

You should see Hong Kong.
Things are so bad a fellow walking in downtown Hong Kong by night has to go easy lest he step in the face of a Chinese who can't find a place to live either.

Only in many cases the Chinese are even worse off than an American apartment hunter because they are so poor they couldn't rent a place if they found one.

Chinese are coming to Hong Kong at the rate of 60,000 a month, British authorities figure. They curl up on the sidewalks with a piece of burlap or a quilt, with legs sticking out on the walk in a what-the-hell-do-we-care manner. Or they hove up in windows and doorways.

The government feeds the destitute at the peak rate of 40,000 a day, but that is only a fraction of the Chinese pouring in from China's neighboring Kwanktung province where things are even tougher.

For those with the means, food is high and if they want a rounded diet, they have to go to the black market. When they go looking for a flat they run into a well known Chinese shakedown, "key-money".
Rents are frozen but if they in-have to rent the key, which may cost up to $125 (American).

Sidewalks are jammed by jostling crowds. Streets are lined with newcomers selling a wide variety of wares—roasted chestnuts, barbecued ducks, pastries.

The British estimate the Hong Kong population at 1,250,000, double the city's inhabitants at the time the British returned to take over administering of the colony.

WASHINGTON :

By Jack Stinnet
(AP) Newsfeatures

plenty of attacks and defenses of administration policies. Primarily, however, the issues will be localized.

PERHAPS it isn't a perfect illustration, but in some of these doubtful districts, the CIO political Action Committee will be very active. In some cases it will be fighting Republicans, defending Democrats. In others, vice versa.

In some districts, personalities will sway the votes. Some of these will be Democratic personalities, some Republican. A district that feels it was neglected in the allocation of war plants, or is dissatisfied with its reconversion treatment or for any reason is unhappy or happy about its present Representative, may be the district that will determine the balance of power in the House when the 80th Congress convenes. But the administration policies aren't likely to be involved.

The states nursing these doubtful or marginal districts can't be grouped as sectional. They spread north and west from Tennessee, Kentucky, West Virginia and Virginia and include those states.

There seems to be no doubt that Pennsylvania, New York, Illinois, Ohio, Missouri, New Jersey and California have the greatest number of doubtful districts. Some may have double those doubtful in other states, but there are enough other states to make even those with only one close district important.

IF the race is certain to be close, you can be sure that you are one of those many, many thousands this November who will be casting a vote on whether the House turns up Republican or Democratic when it organizes next January.

The issues may be purely local to you in these 165 odd districts, but to the Democratic and Republican national committees the outcome may be as vital as if it were a presidential year.

If the Republicans take over in November and precedent means anything at all, they can win with a straw man in 1948.

HORSES SO RARE IN TAHITI YOU PAY TO SEE ONE

PAPEETE, Tahiti — Americans
may bewail the scarcity of new automobiles, but what saddens Society Islanders is the almost total disappearance of the horse.

It's so bad now one has to pay admission to see one.

Formerly the roads were full of horse drawn vehicles and a journey to Papeete from the rural districts was leisurely and picturesque.

Today the perspiring traveler is only one item in a miscellaneous cargo of pigs, fish and human beings jammed into a truck or bus and rushed to Papeete in a cloud of dust.

"The technique of the New
New York subway and the Chicago stockyards governs our transportation now," an old-timer said.

There is one way to see a horse.
Wealthy residents have imported thoroughbreds from New Zealand, and on Sundays and holidays they race them. Buying a ticket to the track entitles the purchaser to a look at the rare animals in action.

WITH THE ARC

Mrs. Pat Holt, chairman of production, urges that any women who can cut, please come to the Red Cross rooms to help cut garments for children in the war-torn areas. Any people, in outlying communities, who are interested please call at the Red Cross offices for materials. Some of the garments are ready to go out. Mrs. Holt advises that the need for cutters is great. She asks that people please volunteer to cut and sew in order that the garments may be completed and sent to the European children before the coming of winter.

Miss Ozella Hargis, chairman of nutrition advises that plans are underway for nutrition classes to be taught for both white and colored people of Coryell County. Will all people interested in taking these courses, please contact the local Red Cross office so that definite dates may be set?

Mrs. Neil Woodson of Los Angeles, Calif., is visiting relatives here.

RED CROSS PLEDGES FULL RESOURCES TO FOOD CONSERVATION

The full resources of the Coryell County Red Cross chapter were pledged today by Mr. Bert Davis, chapter chairman, to President Truman's program of conservation of wheat fat, and other feeds for the starving populations of nations overseas. The chairman was joined in his pledge by Miss Ozella Hargis, nutrition chairman, who stated that speakers, advertising and the work of the chapter nutrition committee would be utilized to make the people of Coryell County food conservation conscious.

"The Coryell County Red Cross chapter is well aware of its membership in an international organization whose primary aim in the 63 nations in which it exists is the alleviation of human suffering," Mr. Davis said. "We shall be doing less than our plain duty if we fail to endorse and aid this program to avert famine overseas."

"Wheats, and edible fats are the things most needed," the chairman continued "if every family in this county saved only one half slice of bread a day, 500,000 loaves of bread a day would be on hand in this country. The saving of one teaspoonful of fat or oil a day adds up in one single day to a million pounds of desperately needed food."

Mr. Davis explained that the Coryell County chapter's cooperation will take the form of the holding of additional Red Cross nutrition classes in the community and the fostering of the food conservation program through all means at the chapter's disposal.

SPORTS IN THE NEWS

THEY'RE THROWING THE OLD BALL AROUND: LEAGUE?

They're throwing the old horse hide around. There's Coryell City, Blackfoot, and maybe Jonesboro that have been having some games.

Charles Spross of Coryell City says their games, and recent look like this: Ocee 11, Coryell City 3; Oglesby Mexicans 8, Coryell City 22; Oglesby School Boys 14, Coryell City 16. Scores were hard to get, but it's high time a league was being organized, both in hard ball, soft ball and any other sports the fans might like.

The News has dug out the old cups for the City soft ball League and for the County Hard Ball League. All we need is information the starting of the league, and a little equipment.

Why not have these games? We gotta do something, you know.

King Customer

Catering to the customer has been America's most profitable and highly diversified craft for several generations, and it must never stop if this country is to stay great and free. Catering to the customer is an honorable and interesting activity, and there is nothing to stop it but man-made laws. May they never be enacted! Certainly 1946 is no time to experiment with silly ideas.

Take the automotive industry for an example. It is probably the best example. Automobile men have gone to great lengths to please the American buyer. His wish for speed has been served, seasoned with safety. His need as to seating capacity, his taste in design, his whim in color, and (most important) his buying power, have been taken into account. Result: A car for a king.

Primitive Notions

Perhaps the first time a car manufacturer decided suddenly to rip the insides out of his plant and put in new machinery to give King Customer a better dollar's worth, the stockholders winced. Maybe, in that long-gone day, stockholders considered such expenses wasteful, but they learned better. Catering to the customer is exactly what makes dividends grow bigger each year.

We may imagine also that, back in the early days of the horseless carriage, some factory workers worried about their jobs for a while after lower prices were announced. Probably some good workmen asked, "How long can the big boss keep paying us after he starts giving his profits to the consumer?" These doubters are wiser now too, same as the old-style stockholders.

Imitating Nobody

Yearly better machines, more handsome and less costly, have built big industries and created thousands of good jobs. Wage earners and stockholders prospered together while shrewd management studied King Customer's needs and met them. When the Japs struck at Pearl Harbor the United States had one automobile for every four people—one for each 139 people in the rest of the world.

American manufacturers know the route that leads to national prosperity. Just the same, they are being urged to turn aside and try a course completely strange to western industry. It's an old jungle road that has lost many great races in poverty. It means business servile to power. It means opening private records to be thumbed at will by partisan fact-finding committees.

Looking for What?

Such a committee will be concerned with wages—only with wages. It will have small interest in prices of cars to the user; less in returns to investors. Its job will be to say what wages an employer is able to pay. Rightly, wages are determined by a workman's ability to produce. The new concept seems to be that an employer's savings have a bearing on wage levels.

Such a scheme would earmark for wages all but a paltry share of a firm's earnings and investors would turn away. Down would come cash reserves, plant equipment and output. Quality would suffer, prices would advance and sales drop off. Paying men, not by what they produce but according to the employer's ability to pay, is the surest (if not the fastest) way to hopelessly low wages and a dog's life for us all.

TEEN TALK

(AP) Newsfeatures

Dear Judy,

ARE you brain woozing about what to do this summer? Most of the heps here are planning to work if they can get jobs. If you haven't made up your mind, here is a good summery by Polly Weaver, jobs and futures editor of Mademoiselle who explored resorts, libraries, hospitals, publishers and other job possibilities for college students.

She found that gals interested in journalism might find jobs on small town papers. It is long, hard work and the salary, usually is small but it is worth it for the girl who is interested in a newspaper career.

Girls interested in sea travel will be discouraged by the ocean-going steamship lines, she finds. However, it seems there are some lake and river lines that have jobs open for cruise directors, hostesses and student waitresses. A Great Lakes steamship excursion line, the Wisconsin and Michigan, employs soda jerks, food checkers, cashiers, clerks and playground attendants at around $100 to $125 a month.

Resort jobs are always fun. National parks and private hotels provide jobs by the thousands for college students and teachers, male and female, says Miss Weaver. The jobs usually offered are waiting on tables. The pay averages $10 a week plus board, room and tips. If you play in the orchestra, there is extra pay.

Though dude ranches present possibilities, the rancher's wife may want help with the everyday housework including cooking, laundry and waiting on table.

There seems to be plenty of need for help on farms for detasseling corn and getting in the fruit crop. Though they may not pay much, these jobs are considered wonderful for health and experience. You can find the telephone number in the book under Farm Labor Office.

Hospital jobs are believed to be scarce except for volunteers. In public libraries there are summer jobs for college girls in the circulation departments of the branch libraries. Restaurants of the tea-room type welcome home economics majors as salad and sandwich makers, and this is good experience for student dieticians.

Girls who enjoy selling should be able to find jobs in department stores, resort shops, college shops and book shops.

Lately, Miss Weaver suggests if you can't find exactly the job you want you can always follow the Help Wanted columns or put your own ad into the paper stating what you can do.

Have you ever read "Smoky" by Will James? It's the story of a cowhorse and has lovely drawings in it. You'd thing it was a book that would just appeal to boys. But when I got it away from my brother, I found it pos compelling.

Q. May a veteran secure a loan in order to purchase property with a nonveteran?

A. Yes. The guaranty in this case would apply only to the interest of the veteran in the loan, and may not exceed 50 percent of his interest.

Under no circumstances could it cover any part of the interest of the nonveteran.

J. Is a veteran eligible for education or training who was discharged with other than an honorable discharge?

A. The law provides that the veteran shall have been released from active service under any conditions other than dishonorable. Only a dishonorable discharge bars him from such benefits.

Q. If a dependent or relative receives a government check after a veterans death, should he cash it?

A. No. He will have to refund it and may be prosecuted. Send it back to the issuing authority with a request for information as to how it may be properly reissued.

Q. May widows or children of deceased secure a guaranty of loan from the Veterans Administration?

A. No. This privilege is limited to veterans themselves, but a loan guaranteed for a veteran may continue after his death.

Q. May a veteran discharged from the service by reason of the dependency of his mother be entered in a course of education? A. Yes. If the veteran is otherwise entitled, the fact that he was discharged for this reason would not matter.

Notice To The Public

After 26 years in the grocery business in Gatesville we have sold our store to Floyd Murray and Pat Hollingsworth, effective Monday morning, May 13, and we wish to take this opportunity to thank our many faithful and loyal customers for their support and patronage during all these years.

It is with a definite degree of sadness that we relinquish our interest in the business of Gatesville, but we feel that other interests and a proper regard for our health leaves us no alternative. You have been most patient throughout all these years, and especially during the war years with rationing, shortages and inexperienced and insufficient help.

However, our sadness is tempered considerably by the fact that we can turn our business over to a man like Mr. Murray, whom you all know to be a high class gentleman and an experienced groceryman, and for whom we bespeak a continuance of your patronage.

Again, to one and all, we say Thank You.

E. G. BEERWINKLE

In connection with the above I wish to say that I am thoroughly aware of the high type of business Mr. Beerwinkle has carried on, and the excellent service he has rendered the people of this section, and in buying this business I am conscious of the responsibility that devolves upon me in keeping the business up to its high standard, it is my purpose to give the people of this community the very best possible in the food line and earnestly solicit a portion of your patronage and your kindly cooperation.

FOR UNSCENTED RUM

LONDON —AP—Take away Jamaica rum's rich clinging odor, sweet syrupy flavor and dark color and what have you got? Jamaica rum distillers are getting ready to market the new "deodorized" beverage and claim it's the answer to the world whiskey and gin shortage.

Major Ralph M. Milbanke, Jamaica sugar manufacturers' representative, says it's going to be a boon to the businessman.

"After all you can't slip out during the day for a drink of ordinary rum without scenting up the whole office," he pointed out. "There's going to be a whisky shortage for a dozen years or more and a polite rum is the answer."

High School Boy
Turns Silk Culturist

CRANSTON, R. I. —AP—John E. Casey, Jr., Cranston high school student, says he has devised a hand method of extracting silk from the cocoon of the tent caterpillar, which early feeds on orchard foliage and later becomes that household pest—the moth.

"The caterpillar thread could be used for silk stockings," the youth said, "but only if someone would invent a machine for mass production of the silk."

PEANUT CRIMINAL BARRED IN GERMANY

MUNICH, Germany —AP—Josef Scharnil's pet animals were monkeys at the Munich Zoological Garden. "The monkeys must be starving because they have not been getting any peanuts for six years," he told the judge trying him on a charge he stole peanuts from the army depot here and fed them to the monkeys.

He was given plenty of time to think of peanuts —behind prison bars.
