DISTRICT QUEEN
Miss Donna Duke, Coahoma

Donna Duke Wins District FB Title

Donna Duke, Howard County's Farm Bureau queen, added to her laurels Thursday night by winning the District 6 Farm Bureau Queen contest held at Seminole.

She will represent the district at the state contest, to be held in Dallas in November.

The 16-year-old beauty is a junior at Coahoma High School and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Duke. She is a cheerleader at Coahoma, plays on the girls basketball team, and plays the organ in her church, the Coahoma First Baptist.

Derwood Blagrave, Ackerly, Howard County Farm Bureau president, escorted Miss Duke, and she was crowned by Connie Fields of Seagraves, last year's district queen.

The blonde title holder is five foot, seven inches tall, and weighs 117 pounds. There were seven girls in the district competition.

She is the first Howard County entry in a number of years to win the district crown.

Another honor came to Howard County, it had the largest delegation at the district meet.

Miss Duke also chosen Miss Congeniality by the other contestants. Selected as runner-up was Linda Fox of Gaines County, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Fox. The queen contestants were presented by Ed Cumbie of Bronte.

Other district winners were: Discussion meet winner: Stanley White, Dawson County; and Talent Find: Danna Fields, of Gaines County.

Howard County also won the plaque for having the most in attendance at the policy development meetings held prior to the queen's contest. Those attending from Howard County were: Blagrave, Neil Fryar, policy development chairman; Ralph White, policy execution chairman; C. H. DeVaney, president of Texas Farm Bureau; and Mrs. C. H. DeVaney.

The one man-one vote concept was discussed by DeVaney. State and national issues of the past, present, and future were discussed by Ed McKay, director of national affairs. H. L. "Hub" King, Brownfield, discussed the atmosphere which prevailed at Washington during the recent passage of the omnibus farm bill. He believes further changes will be made on the Senate floor. It is now up to the farmers and ranchers of Texas to let their senators know what kind of a farm bill they want, he said.

The policy development meeting was the beginning of a series which will be held in each county throughout the state and nation. Farm Bureau is providing a forum for all members to participate in shaping the policies of the organization.

FUND GIVEN GOOD BOOST

The high school Bible Class fund had its best day of the annual appeal Friday with gifts aggregating $50.

The Student Council of Runnels Junior High School made a memorial gift in honor of J. Hollis Lloyd, math teacher, who died unexpectedly early Thursday. Mr. Lloyd, an ordained minister, had a deep interest in the class. Mr. and Mrs. Sam Ratliff, Garden City, remembered the Rev. R. O. Browder, who also died here during the week. Stanley Griffin, another staunch friend of the fund, sent in his gift, too.

Please mail or bring yours as soon as possible to The Herald. The need is urgent.

Gemini Zips On Toward Eight-Day Run

SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — The Gemini 5 spacecraft was cleared for the seventh day in space today and hurtled on toward its eight day goal, turning awkward cartwheels along the way.

Earlier troubles that threatened to cut the mission short by one day were under control. The seventh-day go-ahead came at 8:02 a.m. (EST).

Pilot Charles (Pete) Conrad Jr. asked what the mission clock read and was told "50 hours to go." Command pilot L. Gordon Cooper Jr. said he slept 8 hours out of 24, but was "still sleepy."

MERCURY DROPS

Temperatures fell to below freezing in the spacecraft cabin with the electrical usage curtailed — but Cooper and Conrad remained comfortable in their spacesuits.

The tumbling — caused by the jet-like push of venting hydrogen gas — was expected to diminish as the flight continued, perhaps ending by nightfall.

The go-ahead, beamed up to Gemini 5 by capsule communicator James A. McDivitt, was for 106 orbits.

The two astronauts triggered their jet thrusters periodically to straighten out the slowly accelerating tumble of the craft.

The astronauts showed no sign of motion sickness.

By powering down the spacecraft — cutting its electrical usage — flight officials said they were controlling easily the fuel cell problems.

Two crippled jet thrusters that help maneuver the spacecraft were still not working but others were. Flight officials emphasized that the maneuvering jets were not necessary for the completion of the flight.

After a gloomy assessment of the problems Tuesday, flight director Christopher C. Kraft said there was a possibility the mission might be cut short by a day.

SEEN CAPABLE

But later, with the spacecraft in its 87th orbit, flight controller Eugene Krantz summed up a second look at the problems:

"At the present time I think we have the capability of going eight days. I tend to think there should be no difficulty in going the full eight."

But with the fuel cell system limited, the astronauts would be doing relatively little — taking a few pictures and sighting earth objects. Mostly they would be sitting out the rest of the mission.

They already had garnered almost every space record and each second in space added to the new world marks.

The spacemen had earlier sent a song to the ground to help ward off the boredom of drifting with not much to do. The words were written by command pilot Cooper and recited — not sung — by pilot Conrad.

From the ground in return came recorded instrumental music — such popular melodies as "Never on Sunday."

DISC JOCKEY

Speaking over the music after the concert had been on for some time, a tracking station came in: "Jim McDivitt is the world's first space disc jockey."

The voice of an astronaut floated in: "We're enjoying it."

"I hope so," said James A. McDivitt, the capsule communicator, who had started the exchange when he asked: 'You think we could sell that thing as a ride at a carnival?"

Crucial Meet Called In Steel Pact Effort

U. S. Scholarship Bill Passes House

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has passed a $650-million bill carrying funds to help needy students go to college, and to aid institutions in meeting mushrooming enrollments.

For the first time, the House approved in the bill a program of federal scholarships or outright grants for students. In the past it has not been willing to go beyond loans.

The bill was sent to the Senate by a 387-22 roll-call vote. The Senate Education subcommittee plans to approve a somewhat different version of it. The subcommittee has been working on it for weeks.

LBJ PROPOSALS

As it cleared the House, the bill carries out all the recommendations President Johnson submitted in his education message in January but goes far beyond the $250-million higher education program he proposed.

Johnson, hailing "a great night for higher education," said more than a million students can benefit under the measure's provisions for low interest rate loans, more than a quarter million can get part-time jobs and more than 100,000 of exceptional promise and financial need can get grants.

The biggest addition made in the House is a $290-million authorization for new funds to finance construction of college and university buildings. This would double the authorizations of the 1963 law setting up this program.

The Senate subcommittee already has voted to add to it a national teachers corps plan endorsed by the President and a program of grants to colleges to help in buying equipment for laboratories and for teaching aids.

Members of the teacher corps would serve in slums and areas of rural poverty.

BEGINNING TODAY

Altar Dash No Bar To Draft

NEW YORK (AP) — Young couples dashed to the altar Thursday night for wedded bliss and the draft- free status that ended at the stroke of midnight.

But in most states, waiting periods blocked any marriage rush by draft-age youths.

President Johnson proclaimed Thursday that men between 19 and 26 who were married after midnight would be subject to the draft the same as single men until they become fathers.

MANPOWER NEEDS

The President issued his order to meet growing manpower needs of increased American involvement in the Viet Nam war.

An Associated Press survey disclosed much fretting, plenty of hurrying and scurrying, but no mass plunge into matrimony.

Two famed Western hitching posts got lots of attention, however. In Las Vegas, Nev., and Yuma, Ariz., couples swarmed into wedding chapels for last-minute rites.

Elsewhere, most efforts to reach the altar came to naught because of waiting periods. From Providence, R.I., to Gallatin, Tenn., young couples tried — and failed — to get married.

One couple flew from Newark, N.J., to Las Vegas to beat the clock.

At Las Vegas the courthouse and its grounds were filled for more than three hours with couples seeking marriage licenses. Many parents, especially mothers, accompanied the couples.

A reporter at the courthouse said most young couples, and their mothers, expressed a fear of the would-be groom "going to Viet Nam."

Texas Couples Make Fast Dash For Quick Weddings

By The Associated Press

Texas couples, caught by surprise by President Johnson's signing of a new draft measure Thursday, stormed marriage license clerks to the midnight deadline in some cities.

Others went out of state wherever they thought quick marriages could be performed.

The new measure makes men who marry after last midnight as draft eligible as bachelors.

"We wrote marriage licenses at home until right up to midnight," said Tom Ellis, Dallas county clerk. "The couples were all in the 19 to 24 draft age." Ellis' office wrote 59 licenses.

BLOOD TESTS

Ellis said many couples told him they had to wake up doctors to get their blood tests and get preachers out of bed and standing by to marry them.

Dallas couples also went to border towns in Oklahoma where licenses, blood tests and justices of the peace are available for quick weddings.

"Many of the young couples told us they were planning big weddings next weekend, or during the summer, but decided to go ahead and get married because of the draft order," Ellis said.

AFTER HOURS

In Austin, Mrs. Frieda Wacker, deputy county clerk, said five couples came to her home after office hours for marriage licenses.

"The last was at 10:10 p.m. —and we had seveal hurry-ups before 5 o'clock," Mrs. Wacker said. "All were over 21 and had already planned their weddings. One couple had been going together for seven years.

"One girl was a little upset because they had already sent out their wedding invitations for a later date," she said.

It was a normal day at the marriage license desk in Houston. They issued 43 licenses Thursday and had no lines after the executive order was announced.

TO OKLAHOMA

A 4:30 p.m. closing time at the Fort Worth license office forced many couples to drive 20 miles west to Weatherford, where the office stayed open until midnight, as well as to Oklahoma.

"We haven't had such a run on marriage licenses since leap year," said Bobby Joe Tipton, Parker County clerk.

One 19-year-old turned away because of the three-day waiting period, called a reporter a "spy for the draft board."

"You're not going to get my name," said the youth. "If I give you my name I'd be drafted in the morning."

LYNDON JOHNSON

Johnson Notes 57th Birthday At His Ranch

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson celebrates his 57th birthday today with a trip to his favorite spot — Texas hill country — and a quiet dinner party with his family and a few close friends.

White House aides said the President left this morning for the flight to Texas, where Mrs. Johnson and their two daughters, Lynda, 21, and Luci, 18, have been making birthday preparations.

GIFTS A SECRET

Mrs. Johnson, who has been in Texas since early this week, declined to tell what gifts she and her daughters would give the President.

Johnson had planned to go to Texas Thursday night but was delayed by a heavy work schedule and poor weather. He remained instead in the White House.

One of his appointments Thursday was with Vice Adm. George G. Burkley, the White House Physician.

Burkley, after a thorough examination, said Johnson is in excellent health.

FINE HEALTH

There is no evidence of the President's near-fatal 1955 heart attack, the Navy doctor said, adding Johnson's health is "comparable to that of any man his age, and his is more active than most of them."

LONG HOURS

The President keeps long hours, during which he concerns himself with practically every detail of his administration. He often breaks up the long day with an afternoon nap, however.

Associates say the President gets his greatest relaxation during the visits to his boyhood haunts. In addition to checking over livestock at the Johnson ranch and visiting with old friends, the President frequently goes boating on the lake that bears his name.

Talks Hurried With Strike Deadline Near

PITTSBURG, Pa. (AP) — Steel negotiators, described as beginning to loosen up in joint sessions with a federal mediator, meet again today in efforts to write a new contract before a Tuesday midnight strike deadline.

The two top officers of the United Steelworkers and the two chief negotiators for the industry met for an hour and a half Thursday night with William E. Simkin, director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service.

LBJ INTERVENES

It was the first night bargaining session and capped a day in which President Johnson talked with negotiators by phone and said he expected their cooperation.

A source close to the talks said, "Simkin is finally beginning to get them to talk. The trouble is there hasn't been much real discussion lately."

Simkin declined to comment, but union president I. W. Abel said, "it's probably easier to tell how we are doing from a distance than close up."

Present at the night session with Simkin were Abel, union vice president Joseph Molony, chief industry negotiator R. Conrad Cooper and Heath Larry of the U.S. Steel Corp.

TUESDAY MIDNIGHT

If no agreement is reached by Tuesday midnight, 450,000 workers will be free to strike the nation's mills, shutting off 80 per cent of the steel output.

The steelworkers, with an average $4.40 an hour in wages and benefits, are seeking a 53-cent hourly boost in a 39-month contract.

The industry has offered 40.6 cents and a 35-month contract.

Three AF Jets Crash

OZONA, Tex. (AP)—An aerial collision was blamed for the apparent crash of three Air Force jet trainers as they flew in formation Thursday.

Parts of two planes were found where they crashed and burned on the Howard Ellis ranch near here in West Texas.

A search continued today for a third T38 trainer and three missing pilots. Two other pilots parachuted from one of the falling planes.

FROM LAUGHLIN

They were on a training flight from Laughlin Air Force Base at Del Rio, on the Mexican border. A fourth T38 in the same formation flew back to the base unharmed.

Capt. Stanley Johnson, Laughlin's information officer, said the missing trainer was presumed to have crashed.

STUDENTS COERCED INTO PAYING 'PROTECTION'

School Hazing Has Become Serious Here

The sale of "protection insurance" has drifted into junior high and high school student circles of Big Spring.

This was disclosed in a joint meeting of the Chamber of Commerce Health and Safety Committee, law enforcement officers, and school officials Thursday at the Permian building.

Concern over hazing of students going into high school was discussed, and suggested procedures for eliminating the problem were studied.

RESPONSIBLE

The conclusions was that parents of students involved are responsible for the action of their sons and daughters.

The health and safety committee chairman, Charles Weeg, called on assistant high school Principal John Smith to present the problem to the groups.

Both said parents have started calling them about the hazing problem, and complained about telephone calls to sons and daughters who have been afraid to venture out to community events or movies. Most parents feel that it is the schools' responsibility to stop the hazing.

Both men said parents, in most instances, refuse to identify themselves, and refuse to believe that the school authorities have no jurisdiction over students' actions off the campus, except at school - sponsored events.

GROWING

"The problem has been facing us for several years, but seems to be growing," Bentley said. "It appears that most of the so-called 'fun' starts as just that. Before it is over, however, some boys and girls get over - enthusiastic and the fun turns into something more. Our concern is that someone's son or daughter might be critically or fatally injured."

"A mother called me just this morning," Smith said, "and told us that her daughter had paid 50 cents for insurance against having her hair 'botched' up by girl hazers. She seemed to feel that the half dollar was much less than the $2.50 it would cost to have it remedied afterward. The same mother refused to give her name because she did not want to get 'involved.'"

"Other reports of 'insurance cards' being sold to sophomores have come to us, but so far no one is willing to take proper action. They want the school officials to do something and do not seem to believe us when we tell them that we have no jurisdiction over off - campus troubles."

Police Chief Jay Banks and Sheriff Aubrey Standard said they had calls for action where parents refused to identify themselves.

Most of the hazing activities occur in the spring, just before school is out, and in August before school starts, the schoolmen said.

Dr. C. L. Ainsworth, school director of educational services, said some special school activities, such as pep rallies, and Senior Day, had been curtailed because of activities occuring afterward when cars were painted, lipstick used to paint students, hair clipped, and some students forced to run barefooted in front of cars.

"We can take action..... against students making trouble on the campus or at school activities, but our authority ends when they leave," he said.

"There are some students, from well-to-do families, who have automobiles of their own and all the money they need to operate the cars, and have all the 'fun' they want," he said. "Reports have come to us that some of these have 'curbed' cars carrying sophomores, forced the sophs out, carried them out in the country, and have made them run barefoot in front of cars, and sometimes across areas where feet have been cut," Ainsworth said. "If one of these running students should stumble and fall in front of the car, a death could result. These are just some of the problems we are being asked to solve without authority. The sheriff's office and the police have helped all they can with the limited number of men they have."

FRIGHTENED

All school officials said many boys and girls believe being hazed makes them "a part of the group," but that others become frightened and are afraid to leave home without their parents.

"I believe we are talking to the wrong group of people here this afternoon," Chief Banks said. "We have many calls at the police station, on similar matters where persons refuse to identify themselves, and don't want to become involved. When parents seem afraid to help, there is little anybody can do. One day, though, some boy or girl is going to end up in critical condition in a hospital or morgue and the same people who want action from the other fellow, and refuse to do anything themselves, may be the parents of that boy or girl. The sooner they realize that they are actually approving the hazing by keeping quiet, the better the situation will become."

W. W. Brown, ground safety officer at Webb Air Force Base, made a motion that the entire group endorse a letter to parents of youngsters of high school age who engage, or may engage in hazing activities, urging them to use all possible means of discouraging the practice. The motion was approved, and parents will receive such letters before school starts.

OTHER EFFORTS

In other suggested efforts, all news media will be asked to call attention to the problem of safety for students, and the possibility of serious injury by over - zealous hazers. Programs will also be taken to civic clubs to impress upon members, who are parents or who may be in contact with students, the responsibility of the public in curbing a hazardous situation.

Puzzle of Thursday, August 26, Solved

Callers Offer Advice For Gemini Troubles

MANNED SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — Why don't those astronauts just climb out of the spacecraft and clean out those fuel lines?" asked the anxious voice over the telephone.

Bob Button, Manned Spacecraft Center information specialist, listened patiently, then tried to explain why L. Gordon Cooper Jr. and Charles Conrad Jr. couldn't fix Gemini 5's propulsion problem as easy as that.

SPACE DANGERS

"They can't open the spacecraft hatches. They don't have an umbilical cord to pipe oxygen to them even if they could open the hatch. And finally, their space suits can't protect them from the dangers in space," he said.

Not convinced, the man asked: "Why don't they build trap doors into the equipment section then?"

Button couldn't think of an answer. "I'll pass along your suggestion," he said.

Whenever problems pop up in the Gemini 5 flight, and there have been plenty so far, Button's phone starts ringing with callers offering advice.

The most calls, about 100, came last Saturday, first day of the flight, when the fuel cell started acting up.

"A professor at MIT (Massachusetts Institute of Technology) called from Cambridge, Mass., and said if we would spin the spacecraft like a centrifuge, it would shake the oxygen away from the side of the bottle and also give it the heat needed to turn it into gas," Button said.

VALID, EXCEPT . . .

The suggestion sounded valid, except the caller didn't know the oxygen in the fuel cell was a slushy snow and wasn't sticking to the sides.

Calls have come from as far away as Toronto, Canada, with advice on the fuel cell.

"One woman called from Los Angeles, Calif.," Button said, "saying that her woman's intuition told her that a screw was loose in the fuel cell. 'If you could just find that screw and put it back in place the trouble would be solved,' " she said.

Woman Attorney Against Divorces

DETROIT (AP) — The president-elect of the National Association of Women Lawyers specializes in domestic relations cases, but she has an aversion to divorce.

"I don't like divorce cases," says Mary Louise McLeod, a dark-haired 51-year-old attorney, "because nobody wins."

CREATE PROBLEMS

"I find the problems created by divorce, especially when children are involved, are greater than the problems which caused the divorce," Mrs. McLeod said in an interview.

A good lawyer, she said, can help clients solve their problems.

Mrs. McLeod, who assumes the presidency of the association in 1966, is one of some 7,100 women attorneys practicing in the United States.

"Criticism and prejudice against women in law are rare," she said. "If a woman is qualified and has the desire to be a good lawyer, she can have a very successful career."

DOMESTIC RELATIONS

During World War II, Mrs. McLeod was the only civilian legal assistant officer with the U.S. Army's 4th Service Command in Miami, Fla. She returned to law practice in Detroit in 1946. In addition to domestic relations, she handles estate cases and labor relations.

Her husband was Clarence J. McLeod, a Republican congressman from Michigan's 13th district. He died in 1959.

Mrs. McLeod is scholarship chairman of the International Federation of Women Lawyers and she is working to attract more girls into law.

Advisory Group Member Named

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. Connally has appointed Robert Mitchell of Longview to the Credit Union Advisory Commission.

Connally also appointed R. G. Muckelroy of Nacogdoches a trustee of the Municipal Retirement System, to succeed M. M. Stripling, also of Nacogdoches. Muckleroy's term expires Dec. 31, 1966.

Other reappointments:

J. C. Wilson of Pecos, Pecos River Compact commissioner.

Eugene Fish of Palestine, Upper Neches River Municipal Water Authority, term to Jan. 1, 1971.

Kashmir-Fight Casualties Up On Both Sides

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Incomplete figures show at least 552 men have been killed on both sides in 22 days of fighting in Kashmir, the Indian Defense Ministry announced today.

The list did not include the dead and wounded in the Indian attack Wednesday to deepen the Indian army's penetration into the Tithwal sector of that part of the Himalayan state which Pakistan occupies.

Officials in Pakistani Kashmir said Thursday night fighting was continuing in the area, but the Indian Defense Ministry denied this. It said the Indian army was consolidating its positions about a mile and a half on Pakistan's side of the U.N. cease-fire line dividing Kashmir.

North Texas Village Burns

RAVENNA, Tex. (AP) — A $125,000 fire all but wiped out the business section in this North Texas village of 145 people today.

Flames destroyed the post office, two grocery stores and two buildings used for storage by the food stores.

Firemen came from Bonham, 8 miles southeast of here, to battle the roaring blaze, which was discovered about 2 a.m. Bonham Fire Chief A. D. Richardson estimated the loss would run $125,000.

There was minor damage, mostly from smoke and water, to a community center adjoining the razed structure and to a garage across the street.

Two gas stations a block distant are the only other business buildings in Ravenna.

Neighbors called for help after being awakened by what sounded like an explosion. They found fire raging in the post office. It quickly spread to the stores.

Editor Takes VFW Post

ALICE, Tex. (AP) — Robbie Robinson, managing editor of the Alice Daily Echo the past nine years, will become assistant adjutant of Texas Veterans of Foreign Wars.

His resignation from the newspaper, announced Thursday, is effective about Sept. 1.

Robinson worked on newspapers in Stamford, Brownwood and Lamesa before coming to Alice as sports editor in 1954.

He is a past commander of VFW units in Alice, Dist. 6 and Jim Wells County.

Scrambled Eggs Ready, But No Deer Meat

OLYMPIA, Wash. (AP) — Garth B. Attaway of Clackamas, Ore., was steering his truck and trailer load of eggs toward Seattle Thursday when he spotted a deer standing in the middle of the road.

Attaway swerved while the deer leaped to safety but the rig dumped over and scrambled the eggs. Attaway wasn't injured.

After East opened the bidding with one diamond, South had sufficient high card strength to warrant a take-out double. The singleton spade acted as a deterrent however, and he chose to overcall modestly with two clubs in the hope that he would get another chance.

West raised his partner to two diamonds and East showed his second suit by bidding two spades. This gave South an opportunity to reveal his true strength by bidding three hearts. Observe that this call obliges partner to enter the four level merely to show a preference for diamonds.

When West competed with four diamonds, North chose to raise his partner to four hearts, despite the fact that he did not have a single face card. He reasoned that, if South could bid at the three level on his own initiative, the singleton diamond and four trumps would be worth a trick or two. East doubled four hearts.

West led the seven of diamonds. East put up the ace and shifted to the king of spades. When he attempted to cash the ace, South ruffed. Declarer observed that he could enter dummy by ruffing a diamond to take the heart finesse. However, if West has the king of hearts, another round of spades will reduce declarer to the lone ace of trumps. Even if he has the good fortune to drop the jack of hearts on the second round of the suit, he has no reentry to dummy to draw the last trump.

South decided to lead hearts from his hand. He cashed the ace and then continued with the queen. West put up the king and East's jack fell under it. South ruffed the spade return, trumped a diamond with North's eight of hearts, and then drew the last trump with the nine. Declarer's clubs took the rest of the tricks.

South's lead of the queen of hearts was a well calculated play. Observe that, if he plays the ace and a small heart, even if one of the opponents has a doubleton king, another round of spades will force out declarer's last trump, and the jack of hearts becomes established for the setting trick.

Korea Quiet After Riots

SEOUL (AP)—Quiet returned to the streets of Seoul today for the first time in five days but President Chung Hee Parks government pressed stern measures to prevent further student disturbances.

The government fired Education Minister Yoon Chun-Joo and a university president, blaming them for not checking the student demonstrations against the government and its friendship treaty with Japan.

The government gave the students until Saturday to restore normalcy to their campuses. Otherwise it said it would carry out President Park's warning that schools would be shut "semi-permanently" if trouble continued.

Long motor convoys of troops carrying machine guns and rifles with fixed bayonets rode through main streets in a show of force.

Marchers And Klan In Clash

PLYMOUTH, N.C. (AP) — Civil rights demonstrators and the Ku Klux Klan clashed Thursday night, while two blocks away a biracial committee met to discuss formation of a Good Neighbor Council.

There were no serious injuries, but a spokesman for the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC) said 27 demonstrators suffered cuts and bruises.

HOLDS RALLY

The Klan had held a rally two miles from Plymouth. Afterward, Klansmen moved into town while the demonstrators, urging that voter registration books be reopened immediately, marched toward the business district.

One of the demonstrators, William Gaither, 21, of Camden, S.C., said a crowd of whites blocked the marchers shortly before they reached Main Street.

Then, he said, "Those people came rushing at us. Some had sticks and some carried long flashlights. They started beating us."

WEAR ROBES

Gaither, a summer worker for the SCLC said the whites, some wearing white robes, followed the demonstrators into a Negro residential district, then turned around.

Plymouth has served as a focal point for a Negro voter registration drive in eastern North Carolina this summer. It is a quiet, coastal community of 5,000.

Blaze Damage High On Ship

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—A raging fire in the Liberian refrigerator ship Arctic Reefer caused an estimated $500,000 damage.

The blaze was brought under control late Thursday, but the ship was listing more than 45 degrees and officials feared it would capsize under the weight of more than one million gallons of water poured into its holds.

It was the second stroke of bad luck within three months for the Reefer. Shipping sources said she went aground off Dry Tortugas in the Florida keys earlier this year while carrying a cargo of bananas valued at $50,000.

The vessel was towed to Mobile and has been undergoing repairs here since March 26.

Fire Chief C. Dan Sirmon said the blaze set off crushed cork insulating material between the hull and wooden bulkheads. About 400 tons of the crushed cork fed the flames.

DEAR ABBY

Scratching For Friends

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been invited to spend our vacation with some friends who live in another state. They are as nice a couple as you would ever want to meet, but here's the problem.

The last time we visited them the bedbugs almost ate us up alive. We never said anything about it, so don't know if the situation has changed any or not. We sure can't ask them. We like these folks a lot. Should we take a chance and go?

R AND G

DEAR R AND G: Only if you're really itching to see them.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I have a friend who could sure use some friendly advice. I am a widow and I would give my right arm to have her husband. No, there is nothing between us as I am not that kind of woman, and I am sure he is not that kind of man. You should see how this woman abuses her husband! She bosses him around, belittles him and contradicts him in company. And if she's bored, she cuts the evening short even though he is having a wonderful time. She doesn't begin to appreciate him. I would like to wake her up for her own good. Do I dare?

A FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: The most dangerous advice is the unwanted kind intended for someone's "own good." Withhold it, unless you are a close enough friend so she will neither misunderstand nor resent your efforts.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Please print my story. It might help other grandmothers before it's too late. My husband left me after 25 years of marriage and four children. I could have gotten a job, but my daughter asked me to live with her so she could work while I kept house for her and looked after her baby. Well, for 16 years I did this for my room and board. Now my granddaughter is old enough to take care of herself, and my daughter has asked me to leave because I make her husband "nervous."

For the past six months I have been living with one relative and then another. But it's the same story, they all want me to be a live-in maid and baby sitter. I am too old to find work outside. How I wish that 16 years ago I had gone out and gotten a job and been on my own. Maybe I could have met a nice man and married again. It is too late for me. But I hope my experience will help a younger woman faced with the same decision.

Unfair? Yes — but it accounts for a great deal of "mysterious" injustice. That, obviously, is what has happened to you.

Missing Lad Is Returned

Michael Yarber, 12, subject of a missing person hunt Thursday morning, came home just after noon Thursday afternoon, police said.

The boy told police he had spent the night in Coahoma with friends. His mother, Mrs. Melvin Yarber, 503 Donley, reported him missing after he failed to return home Wednesday. Officers said the youngster called his grandmother late Thursday morning, and she notified them. They located the boy and returned him to his parents Thursday afternoon.

Rejoined Arm 'Progressing'

DALLAS (AP)—Circulation is good in the arm surgeons sewed back on Dorman Mason, 19, and he is making satisfactory progress, one of his doctors said Thursday night.

He was brought to Baylor University Medical Center here Wednesday after falling under a train at Denton. The wheels severed his right arm three inches below the shoulder.

It took a 7½-hour operation to replace a six-inch section of bone and recouple the blood vessels, nerves and muscles in the arm.

Attendants said excellent physical condition was contributing to young Mason's progress. He was able to take solid foods and he visited with his wife Pat and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Mason, all of Denton.

The doctor said every hour that passes without complications raises hopes the arm has been saved. He said if all goes well, skin will be grafted in a few weeks to cover the exposed muscles.

Nasser In Soviet With 'Peace Plan'

MOSCOW (AP) — President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic arrived in Moscow today for a five-day visit, and authoritative sources in Cairo said he brought a new Vietnamese peace proposal.

The plan calls for a cease-fire in Viet Nam to be supervised by an international force, and for respect for the present frontiers between North and South Viet Nam, the sources said.

The plan was developed by Nasser, Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri of India and President Tito of Yugoslavia.

'Head Start' Has Winter Schedule

WASHINGTON (AP) — Head Start, the summer program to prepare deprived youngsters for school, will be continued through the winter under present plans.

Directors of the program across the country have been notified they can start planning for winter projects, officials at Head Start headquarters confirmed today.

NEEDS FUNDS

Funds for the project depend on congressional approval, and this is expected before Congress adjourns.

In the meantime, directors have been told they can submit their planning forms to headquarters and they will be sent applications in the next three weeks, project officials said.

The summer program, launched by Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson last June 30, enrolled some 600,000 preschool children in more than 13,000 centers across the country as part of the administration's antipoverty war.

PROGRAMS ENDING

Most of the programs ended last week; some are ending this week.

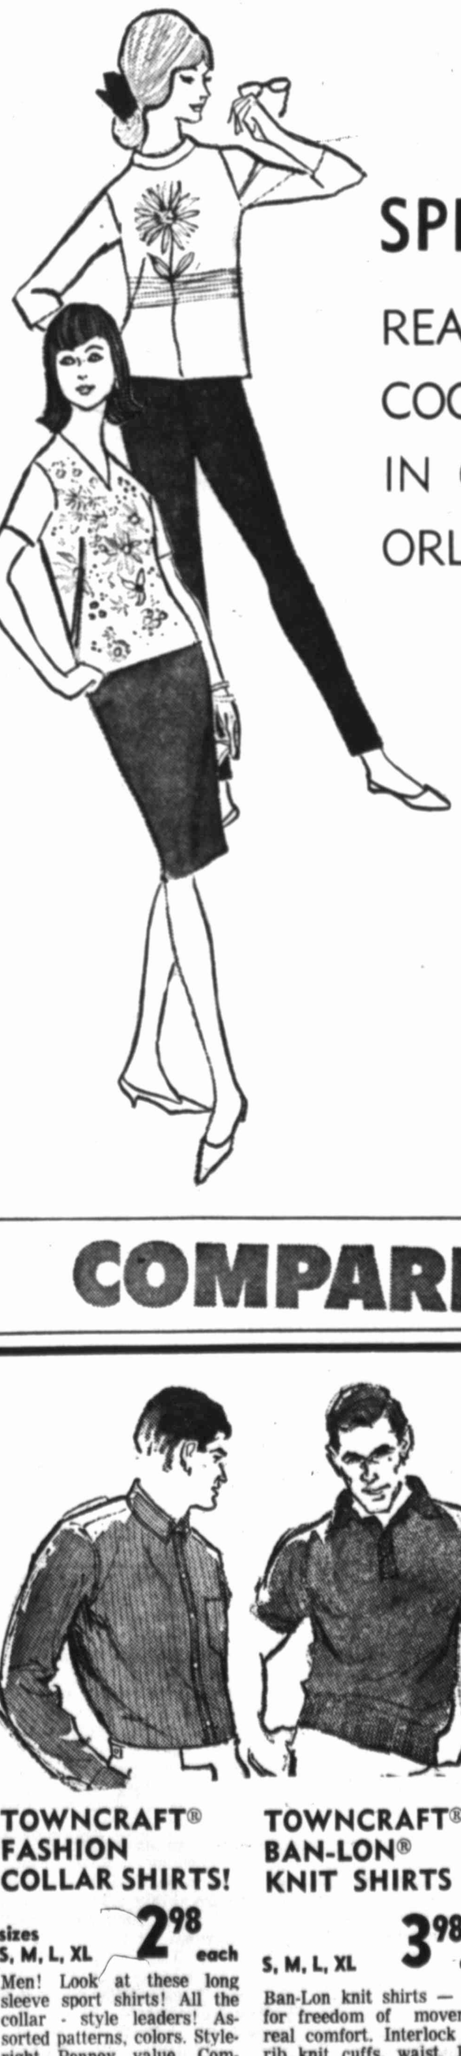

The winter program is expected to enroll fewer than the summer one, with fewer communities able to provide staff and room during a school year. But its objective will be the same — to help the child socially, medically and nutritionally.

From across the country has come praise for the help Head Start has given — to the child with a limited vocabulary, to the boy who distru ed adults, to the girl who hadn't been taught to share.

Birth Control Factor

An anti-poverty bill now before a Senate-House conference includes language inserted by the Senate to authorize federal funds specifically for birth control services to the nation's low-income families. If the wording survives the conference, and this appears probable, the legislation will mark the most direct federal effort so far to come to grips with a little-understood problem.

That problem has been described by Theodore H. White in "The Making of the President: 1964" as "biological anarchy" in the nation's Negro ghettos. The Negro birth rate in urban slums is said to be 40 per cent above the white birth rate. What makes this population explosion so dangerous to an orderly society is that the Negro family structure has broken down in many slum homes. Fewer than half of all Negro children reach 18 having lived all their lives with both parents.

"When Kennedy was elected in 1960," writes White, "one of 10 Americans was non-white. Today, one of nine is non-white. When Johnson's presidency ends in 1972, one of eight will be non-white. Today, one of seven American children under 14 is non-white; of infants under a year, one in six is non-white." Obviously the implications of uncontrolled procreation —Negro or white — accompanied by family disorganization and brutalizing poverty are frightening to consider.

Some Negro organizations may see the federal birth control initiative as a conspiracy to hold down the Negro population. But preliminary studies indicate that many Negro mothers will welcome assistance in planning their families. Nothing is more certain to spawn a feeling of hopelessness than a continued explosion of unwanted children, bred and raised in misery and want. Economists say anti-poverty programs cannot hope to succeed if slum birth rates continue their runaway pace.

Hemisphere Market Problems

President Johnson's vision of a regionwide common market in Latin America is not a new one, and its realization must be realistically viewed as distant if not improbable. The question is whether such a sprawling diversity of nations can achieve economic integration.

The five-nation Central American Free Trade Area, created in 1957, has already achieved a workable common market. Its interregional trade, though still small, has been tripled. And it has made progress in developing areawide industrial investments.

The Latin American Free Trade Association, established in 1960 by Mexico and eight South American countries, also has improved interregional trade, with Mexico the greatest beneficiary. But it is a long way yet from common market status, and the movement for economic integration has hardly begun.

Consequently, though the common market concept is gaining ground, the more likely prospect in the immediate future is for area trade associations in Latin America rather than a regionwide common market. The working of the now strained European Common Market in the years just ahead will perhaps decisively influence Latin American thinking on this.

It is understandable that Latin American diplomats gave greater applause to President Johnson's pledge, in his Alliance for Progress fourth anniversary address, to help all Latin American nations gain better and more stable markets for their export commodities. That may curtail some U.S. trade advantages in Latin America, but it would do as much as U.S. aid, if not more, to improve that region's economic and social development, and hence its political stability.

Doctrine Of Compulsion Not New

WASHINGTON — The American people are coming to the climax of a struggle which has plagued free democracies for more than a century both in this country and Europe. It is a contest growing out of a fundamental challenge — should society be organized on the basis of "voluntary cooperation" or "compulsory cooperation?"

Whether it concerns the right of the individual to send his children to public schools in his own neighborhood or whether it relates to the right of a worker to hold a job if he doesn't join a trade union, the issue turns really on a doctrine that the citizen has no rights which the state is bound to respect and that he can exercise only those rights which the state grants him and which it may revoke or narrow at any time.

THIS DOCTRINE or compulsion is inherent in Socialism, Communism, Nazism and Fascism, which have emerged in various forms in the last half-century in different parts of the world.

But is this something new — is it a modern trend, or is it an old form of despotism disguised under the name of "liberalism?"

This correspondent happened the other day to be re-reading the essays of Herbert Spencer, the great British philosopher, who published them in 1851 — more than 114 years ago. They read as if he were writing about today's America, today's England, today's France, and today's Russia. He wrote:

"WE SEE THAT in the one party there was a desire to resist and decrease the coercive power of the ruler over the subject, and in the other party to maintain or increase his coercive power. . . .

"It seems needful to remind everybody what liberalism was in the past, that they may perceive its unlikeness to the so-called liberalism of the present."

Spencer declared that the real test of "liberalism" is whether "the lives of citizens are more interfered with than they were," and he cited an example as follows:

"A MEMBER OF a trades - union has joined others in establishing an organization of a purely representative character. By it he is compelled to strike if a majority so decide. He is forbidden to accept work save under the conditions they dectate. He is prevented from profiting by his superior ability or energy to the extent he might do were it not for their interdict. He cannot disobey without abandoning those pecuniary benefits of the organization for which he has subscribed, and bringing on himself the persecution, and perhaps violence, of his fellows. Is he any the less coerced because the body coercing him is one which he had an equal voice with the rest in forming?. . . .

"EVERYWHERE we see such subordination that bodies of workmen unanimously leave their work or return to it as their authorities order them. Nor do they resist when taxed all round to support strikers whose acts they may or may not approve, but instead, ill-treat recalcitrant members of their body who do not subscribe . . .

"We now see a resuscitation of the despotic doctrine, differing only by the substitution of trades-unions for kings. For now that trades-unions are becoming universal, and each artisan has to pay prescribed monies to one or another of them, with the alternative of being a non-unionist to whom work is denied by force, it has come to this: That the right to labor is a trade-union right, which the trade-union can sell and the individual worker must buy! . . .

HERBERT SPENCER in 1851 had not known, of course, about today's move to repeal "Section 14-B" of the National Labor Relations Act so that hereafter a man whould be forced to join a union to hold a job in America. Spencer knew only that for the state to encroach on the rights of the individual was a form of tyranny and that legislative despotism alone and could take away those rights unless the people themselves rose up to protest.

Billy Graham

Is it a sin to save money for a new home or some such thing, or shouldn't we worry about the things of the world enough to sacrifice for them? J. M.

Thrift is a good virtue, and is encouraged in the Bible. "There is treasure to be desired and oil in the dwelling of the wise; but a foolish man spendeth it up," Prov. 21:20.

Many young couples today are hopelessly in debt because they buy everything they want without thought of the burden which will be imposed upon them. Many homes fall apart because of the lack of frugality, and many divorces are caused by bad financing and spending.

While the Bible warns us against greed and selfishness, it does encourage frugality and thrift. Even Jesus said to His disciples after He fed the multitude, "Gather up the fragments that remain that nothing be lost." Although our Lord had the power to create, He Himself lived frugally and without luxury.

John Wesley had a threefold philosophy about money. He said, "Make all you can; keep all you can; and, give all you can." Most of us, get all we can; spend all we can, and borrow all we can, but give meagerly to God.

LBJ: Looking Back Over 10 Years

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lyndon B. Johnson was 57 today and if the world looks different to him than on his 47th birthday it's not just because he was the Senate Democratic leader then but President now.

In August 10 years ago, shortly before his birthday, he went home from more than a month in a hospital after a heart attack, not knowing for sure what he could do with the rest of his life.

He wouldn't know until after a final medical check in December. The doctors might say he could go on as before, but slower, or that he'd have to resign the majority leader's job and be just another senator, with a lot less work.

Before he left the hospital he wrote me a letter, asking me out to see him the day after he got home. Other newsmen got similar letters and visited him other days. It wasn't hard to see why, after talking with him.

HE APPARENTLY wouldn't let himself believe the doctors might order a quieter and less important life. I felt then, and I think I was right, he wanted to get out the word that he was bouncing back, as good as ever.

That he was ambitious was always obvious. But there was no indication in anything he said that he was thinking of the presidency although, looking back, it's easy to believe he must have always had that hope.

For an amazing 2½ hours he talked a torrent:

About himself, his background, his diet after his heart attack, the Senate session that had just ended, its accomplishment, the technique of running the Senate, his plans for the next year as leader again.

He wasn't putting on an act. He was exploding with vitality but frustrated. He was under doctors' orders to take it easy, not to climb stairs, not to do more than walk around his room.

BUT THE doctors would have been astonished if they had been in that room, just watching him sitting down. He had one of those trick chairs that tilts back and can bounce you forward. Johnson used it like a gymnasium.

He never stopped tilting himself backward or upward to talk, to emphasize, to find a letter in the files next to his chair or dig out a record on the number of bills the Senate passed that year.

A Man's Unwon Goals

NEW YORK (AP) — It isn't what a man does that keeps him going. It is what he hasn't got around to doing that fuels his happiest daydreams.

Every man has a secret list of unachieved ambitions which may seem odd to others but which hold a fascination to him. It is these unwon goals that keep up his zest in living.

I don't know what's on your list, but I certainly will be unwilling to cash in my chips until I have—

PLAYED Indian hand wrestling with Charles de Gaulle.

Had Elizabeth Taylor peel me a pomegranate.

Ridden a dromedary with a silver saddle.

Bought the Tiffany diamond.

Been left a fortune by a little old lady I once helped cross the street.

Broken bread with royalty at Buckingham Palace on a day when the refrigerator was full of goodies.

Invented a shoelace that will break only when you're not in a hurry.

BEATEN A professional card sharp during a cruise aboard an ocean liner.

Tossed a winning touchdown for the New York Giants while countless thousands cheered

Rubbed noses with a pretty Eskimo lass.

Found a valuable pearl in a raw oyster and given it to the waiter for a tip.

Played a cornet solo on the stage at Carnegie Hall.

Won something in a church raffle. Not anything in particular—just any prize.

Show that man in the White House how to really barbecue a steer in the backyard.

Walked the Appalachian trail.

PADDLED the Atlantic both ways in a nine-foot canoe.

Made a three-hour speech on government taxes before both houses of Congress.

Floated on my back across the English Channel.

Conducted a seminar in the history of button-sewing at Radcliffe or Vassar.

Developed a cure for insomnia during working hours, a malady that afflicts millions.

Developed a new recipe for martinis that would make them equally popular, wet or dry.

Done a handstand on the tip of the spire atop the Empire State Building.

Well, of course, that isn't my entire list of unwon goals. There are a lot of other things I haven't gotten around to but, after all, a fellow can't do everything in just one lifetime.

To Your Good Health

Shortage Of Doctors Reap Problem

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner? I have just read your booklet, "How to Heal Peptic Ulcers and Keep Them Healed." (To receive a copy, write Dr. Molner in care of The Herald, enclosing the required 20 cents in coin and a stamped, self - addressed envelope.) No doctor in this day of hurry would take the time necessary to explain to his patients what you have done in your booklet. I have learned a great deal from it. — MRS. S. C.

Thank you for your kind words, and naturally I am glad that the booklet helped you. But let me also explain something else.

It isn't always a question of what one would do, but rather what one can do. Doctors would explain peptic ulcers, and many other problems, if they had the time to do so.

Why don't they have time? Because, in the simplest possible statement of the facts, some stretching is necessary to make the supply of doctors meet the demand for their services.

In many other parts of the world the condition is far worse. In India many people are blind because there aren't enough eye surgeons to remove cataracts. Babies die in China from diseases which pediatricians in the United States or Sweden or New Zealand would cure readily. The hospital - medical ship S. S. Hope visits Indonesia and Africa and finds swarms of suffering people who never in their lives have seen a doctor.

Here at home we do not have this abysmal absence of medical care, but we do have a shortage. We don't have the problem of a patient needing attention that simply doesn't exist. Rather, we have the problem of not getting as much attention as we would like (and can use!) and not always getting it right when we want it.

Have you ever arrived in your doctor's office on time and then had to sit and wait? Who hasn't! It isn't because the doctor benefits by having you wait. It is because he has had to squeeze in an emergecy patient, or has had to take extra time because of some complicated case, or, let's face it, his secretary, trying to give appointments to everyone who called, scheduled an extra one.

That's the way things are. That's why doctors can't take the extra 15 minutes to explain things. Somebody else is waiting, and wondering why the doctor can't hurry.

And that's the story of why I think my booklets on various subjects may be worth their salt. If one booklet saves 10 minutes of some doctor's time, a thousand booklets on the same subject will save 166 hours of "doctor time." And if each doctor has, let's say, three patients waiting an extra 10 minutes each, hundreds of hours of "patient time" are saved.

I gather that the booklets fill a real need for readers. They also help stretch the amount of medical care that can be given by our doctors.

* * *

Dear Dr. Molner: My husband has a thyroid deficiency. Does this mean our children will be mentally retarded? We have been told so.—MRS. J. S.

No, that is not true. Complete failure of the thyroid gland in a child will cause serious retardation, but that is a far different condition from an underactive thyroid. And even when a baby is born with this problem, thyroid medication prevents retardation.

* * *

Dear Dr. Molner: Are diuretics harmful in the early months of pregnancy? Because of an extremely irregular menstrual cycle, I did not realize that I was pregnant for quite some time, and had been taking the medicine to increase the urine. Can it harm the embryo in any way? — MRS. B. H.

In ordinary dosage, it should not harm either you or the baby.

* * *

Hemorrhoids can be cured! If troubled with fissures, fistulas, itching and other rectal problems, write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald requesting a copy of the booklet, "The Real Cure for Hemorrhoids," enclosing a long, self - addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dominick And Goliath

WASHINGTON — Sen. Peter Dominick (R., Colo.) is a straight-as-a-lance, salt-and-pepper-haired product of New England, Yale University '37 and the World War II Air Force. He hopes to run for Senate re-election in 1968, and doesn't take any more seriously than Barry Goldwater did in the early 60's the suggestion that a GOP presidential nomination might seek him out.

DOMINICK FIRST came to national attention at the Republican Convention of last year, when he was one of the stand-up fighters against resolutions to water down the high proof content of the GOP platform. Just prior to the convention he had engaged in a slugfest against the Senate peace-mongers, notably another World War II Air Force product, Sen. George McGovern (D., S. D.), who has been elected on Ban the Bomb contributions. Early in the present session, Dominick took on the administration juggernaut in extended debates—one on gold coverage and one on the extravagance of an education bill—in which he was supported in each case by only 16 Senate votes.

BUT HERE in August, as leader of the opposition to President Johnson's pet project, the anti-poverty Office of Economic Opportunity Act, Dominick has been consistently getting an average of 40 Senate votes to reform that runaway program.

In order to see the general proposition on which the Colorado senator has been carrying all but one or two of his Republican colleagues and bringing over a dozen or so of the 68 Senate Democrats, let us briefly analyze the indictment he has leveled against the War on Poverty.

HE HAS SAID that he would like to support any bill that offered a workable "mechanism" to abolish poverty. But he found he could not vote $1.650 billion (an increase of $700 million over last year's figure) to endorse a program that he found "blatantly political" and "fraught with blunders." He said his own state had not been hit with the scandals that took place in Florida, Indiana, Oregon and elsewhere, but that many Colorado communities did not care to risk the "violence and immorality" that Job Corps centers had brought into other regions.

DOMINICK THOUGHT it a mockery that Poverty administrators were getting plush salaries of around $20,000 a year while so very little was being accomplished for the needy. He found the ratio of supervisors-to-workers to be 1-to-18 in the War on Poverty, while it is only 1-to-1,000 in the Defense Department, and only 1-to-500 in the Agriculture Department.

With Dominick's bill of particulars before them, the senators began voting on corrective Republican amendments—to cut the funds, to investigate the Poverty program, to restore the gubernatorial veto.

ON THE FIRST four showdown votes, the Dominick position lost twice by a single tally and lost twice more by a tie.

No Republican floor manager has come so close to sidetracking the Democratic steam roller in the 89th Congress. Peter Dominick, a far better parliamentarian than Goldwater ever was, becomes the Republican worth watching.

France Then; The U.S. Now

WASHINGTON — "We are not France." That is the reply of one of the officials chiely responsible for Viet Nam policy to the prophets of gloom and doom who see the United States bogged down in a hopeless land war as were the French for seven years.

The conviction of America's overwheliming capacity on land, sea and air is one reason for the undercurrent of optimism breaking the surface of the determined talk of staying 10 years if that proves necessary. The success of the Marines at Chulai is another factor along with the apparent failure of the Viet Cong to mount a major offensive in the monsoon season.

BUT THE cautious optimism seems to have deeper roots. In the past 10 days President Johnson has told several members of Congress that he is hopeful a large part of the American force can be withdrawn before the second session of the 89th Congress in January. This reflects his intense resolve to find a way out of Viet Nam. Peace is the President's obsession night and day.

Great store is set on the soundings Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg is taking at the United Nations. In his long and crowded career Goldberg has proved that dogged persistence—the quiet, unflagging pursuit of a goal — pays off. The President's faith in the Goldberg approach is part of the new optimism.

THE PARALLEL with France in Southeast Asia is certainly wide of the mark. This country has incalculably greater power, a population nearly four times as large, an industrial productivity on a scale dwarfing French capacity then and now, military strength in every department many times greater. France waged the war with professional soldiers; draftees could not be sent to Viet Nam. Whole classes of the finest French officers, graduates of the Academy of St. Cyr, were sacrificed in the long, bloody struggle.

YET WHEN these important differences are understood, there are also similarities. The French, too, went through the cycle of pessimism to optimism and back to pessimism. An upswing of optimism came only a few months before the final catastrophe of Dien Bien Phu in 1954.

America's own diplomatic reporting out of Saigon was then colored largely by French wishful thinking.

THE CLICHE about history repeating itself is not necessarily true. Nevertheless, the noises made at that time are strangely reminiscent of what can be heard today. The then Vice President, Richard M. Nixon, in his ubiquitous role as cheer leader, had visited Saigon to tell the French they could not lay down their arms "until victory is completely won" and to warn against a negotiated settlement with the Communists "that would place people who want freedom and independence in perpetual bondage." But at the same time Premier Laniel told the Council of the Republic that France was not seeking unconditional surrender and would welcome "an honorable solution."

THE UNITED STATES to be sure is not France. This country has the capability, as is being demonstrated each day, to hold major bases on the coast indefinitely. That is a holding operation rather than victory. It is a long way from the pacification of the area — perhaps two-thirds of the country — held by the Viet Cong.

But such a holding operation could be the lever for a diplomatic settlement through the United Nations. That appears to be the present hope. If, of course, the Communist command in North Viet Nam should, with the backing of Red China, decide to expand the war and send in massive North Vietnamese contingents, then all bets are off.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

It is arguable that Robert Manry is something of a nut. Here is a man who, having previously sailed only on Lake Erie, heads across the broad Atlantic in a 13½-foot sailboat dubbed Tinkerbelle. He matched this eggshell against the mighty ocean, and somehow made it from Falmouth, Miss., to Falmouth, England. Only a nut, some might say, would have attempted such a thing.

But Robert Manry is, we suspect, not a nut at all. To pit himself against the Atlantic was a supreme adventure, the adventure of a lifetime—"something," Manry said, "I felt I had to do."

There are always a few men around who risk all in such an adventure. They may not be prudent, but they are not nuts. They constitute a part of the cutting edge of human daring, of the effort to extend the range of possibility. In a sense, Robert Manry crossed the Atlantic for all of us.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Need Croutons? Dice Frozen Bread Loaf

Dear Heloise:

I enjoy reading your column every day, and have received so much help that I would like to offer the following ideas:

In making croutons, if you dice frozen bread instead of fresh or stale—the squares will be nice and even.

I also dice bacon while it is frozen. It can be cut (several pieces at a time) lengthwise about three times, and then continue crosswise. It all fries evenly for use in wilted salad, etc.

When using meat tenderizer, instead of using a fork to penetrate the meat, I take my cake breaker—16 prongs instead of four!

Joyce Burns

• • •

Wow!

Now, back to the croutons . . . those little quarter-inch squares of toasted bread to put on top of soups and salads that Joyce makes from frozen bread.

This is a great idea. By cutting the frozen bread with a sharp knife, it will not mash flat as when we cut it after it is toasted. Too . . . the little squares will be toasted on all six sides instead of just two.

HELOISE

I piled all those on a cookie sheet (no need to wait until the bread is thawed), and put it on the top rack of my oven. Bake at 400 until beautifully browned. Stir gently with spoon when top layer gets golden color, so all will brown evenly. Always bake more than necessary, cool, and place in a fruit jar with a tightly-capped lid. They keep beautifully without becoming soggy, and are always ready for instant use.

For a change, sprinkle part of them with parmesan cheese as they come from the oven and while they are still warm. When cool, place in separate fruit jar, and use to top lettuce salad, etc.

Dear Heloise:

Many garment manufacturers' labels are sewn on the neck band in the back of a garment such as sweaters, coats, blouses, etc.

I slip the clothes hanger hook through this label, adjust the garment on the hanger, and hang it over the rod.

Garments stay in place—no sleeves slipping off the hanger.

Sarah E. Ruiger

Dear Heloise:

Empty facial tissue boxes make wonderful containers for storage of trading stamps.

The stamps are easily deposited in the slot in the box, and can be left there until you are ready to paste them in the book.

The children keep their postage stamps in one of these boxes until they are ready to sort them for their stamp collection albums.

Mrs. E. Wierczorek

• • •

Dear Heloise:

May I add this suggestion to your collection of hints?

When it comes time to store your garden tools, protect them the same way many farmers protect their equipment . . . by spreading a thin coating of grease over the unpainted parts of the tool.

This helps keep rust from forming, and comes off as soon as the tool is used again.

A few cents worth of auto grease will do the trick.

Chris Mathewson

• • •

You certainly may add to our collection, and I am glad the hint is such a good one. Thanks, Chris.

Heloise

• • •

Dear Heloise:

Instead of discarding worn "cool" cushions (the stiff, mesh type used in cars during hot weather), we save them for our pets.

The cat likes to sharpen her claws on them, and the dachshunds like to lie on them.

We also keep one by the door for wiping muddy shoes.

Mary Jane Mills

• • •

Dear Heloise:

I have always had difficulty saving seeds of my favorite flowers until this idea hit me.

As soon as the plants are partly dry, I pull them and put them in a big plastic bag or paper sack.

I leave them in the bag until they are all dry, then shake the bag hard, and all the seeds are at the bottom of the bag.

I then remove them, put into jars, and label them for the following year. Mrs. C. W. Carr

Living Cost Climb Laid To Meat, Potato Hikes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Living costs edged up a tenth of one per cent in July, largely because of sharp price hikes for meat and potatoes, the Labor Department said today.

The increase brought the government's consumer price index to a new high of 110.2. This means it cost $11.02 in July to purchase typical consumer items that cost $10 in the 1957-59 base period.

PARTIALLY OFFSET

Federal excise tax cuts and lower clothing prices partially offset increased food and housing costs.

Without the tax cut the index would have gone up another two-tenths of one per cent, said Asst. Commissioner Arnold Chase of the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Beef prices rose 1.2 per cent in July and pork 7.5 per cent.

POTATOES UP

Potato prices were up 10 per cent in July and 35 per cent from a year ago.

Except for potatoes, Chase said, over-all fruit and vegetable prices actually dropped 2.5 per cent the past year.

Chase said shortages were largely responsible for the rise in meat prices and bad weather for hikes in vegetable prices.

MEAT PRICES

Over-all, meat prices were up 3.3 per cent in July.

The cost of medical care continued to rise, up four-tenths of one per cent in July.

Tobacco products were up one per cent, largely because of increased taxes.

Tempers Flare

Frank Schuler of Washington, D.C., second from left, argues the case of 13 white summer instructors dismissed recently from Bishop College in Dallas, a predominately Negro school. Trying to quiet the group is Jack Herman, back to camera, center, head of the school public relations department. Dr. Milton Curry, president of the school, said he dismissed the instructors for "stirring up the students." Joining in the fracas at right is Mrs. Benita Kaimowitz, New York, an instructor. Ford Blasts LBJ Statement About Fearing D. C. Violence

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford has accused President Johnson of uttering "what amounts to an invitation to trigger terrorism in the streets."

Ford aimed that accusation at Johnson's warning that "the clock is ticking, time is moving" in the District of Columbia and other big cities toward possible trouble because of social and economic ills besetting Negroes.

NO REPLY

The White House was silent today on Ford's demand that Johnson clarify his statement.

"Because of the tinderbox-like atmosphere," Ford said, "the President should clarify his damaging statement immediately in the interest of maintaining law and order in Washington and elsewhere."

Ford argued Johnson's comments were an attempt to force House action on legislation that would grant home rule to the District of Columbia. The bill has passed the Senate.

Johnson did not specifically mention that topic.

FORD "SHOCKED"

But Ford said: "I am shocked by the impression given to the press by President Johnson that he warns of possible riots in Washington if the District of Columbia is not given the responsibility of home rule."

Ford actually issued two statements. He withdrew the first one, and revised it. The version he finally released bore down more heavily on the question of home rule for Washington. In some respects, its words were a bit milder.

For example, Ford first said Johnson's remarks would "virtually tempt those who would generate riots and plundering." The revised version said his words might "possibly tempt those who might generate rioting and plundering."

Fall Hinted In Panhandle

By The Associated Press

A hint of early fall crept into the Texas Panhandle today but the rest of the state remained hot.

Skies were nearly cloudless and no sign of moisture appeared.

The weak cool front crawled past Dalhart in the upper Panhandle about 1:40 a.m. Weather Bureau observers said it probably wouldn't get much farther south than Amarillo.

Behind the front the mercury dipped to a pleasant 60 degrees at Dalhart in early morning. The reading at Amarillo, still ahead of the cooler air, was 70 at the same hour.

Forecasts promised temperatures about three degrees above normal across the north half of the state and around normal to one or two degrees below elsewhere through the rest of August. Little or no rain was expected.

Top readings Thursday included 104 degrees at San Angelo, Seymour and Wichita Falls, 102 at Abilene and Brownwood, 101 at Laredo and 100 at Childress and Mineral Wells.

Past Masters Honor Officers

Past masters of the Staked Plains Lodge No. 598 gave a breakfast Thursday in the Masonic Temple banquet room honoring newly installed officers of the lodge.

In addition to the new officers, 20 past masters were present for the affair. Included were G. W. Dabney, who is a past master of the Toyah Lodge, and W. S. (Bill) Satterwhite, Lamesa, who served as master here in 1924. Walton S. Morrison, a past master, served as master of ceremonies for this affair.

INTEREST IN AIRPORT SEEN

Coahoma and Sand Springs area pilots and residents, interested in obtaining an airport, are asked to call Lt. E. L. Mulkey, commander of the Civil Air Patrol — at 394-2924. A meeting will probably be scheduled later, but right now the group wants to find out how much interest there is in such a project.

Dedication Set Sept. 26 For Rehabilitation Center

The new Howard County Rehabilitation Center will be dedicated and opened for visitors Sept. 26, the board decided Thursday.

John Gary, architect, said the building should be completed by Sept. 15, if not before, and Jim Thompson, center director, said the new equipment could be installed in time for the open house. Details for the opening are being made by a committee, headed by Bo Bowen, and Jayceettes will serve as hostesses.

Following the meeting, directors made a tour of the new facility, which is almost completed.

Thompson reported on the equipment purchases previously approved by the board. He said the equipment fund had a total of $19,064.20, plus $434.50 which had been pledged, but not paid. Equipment ordered, and some of which has been received, will total $13,184.80, leaving a balance of $5,879.40.

In addition, the directors considered purchase of office and waiting room furniture.

Walter Wheat, local furniture dealer, offered to supply the waiting room furnishings at cost — $772, which the directors accepted.

Thompson asked approval for $1,690 in office machinery and furniture. Directors voted $1,500 for this, suggesting his list be trimmed where possible. Directors decided to give further study to an expenditure of $1,130 for purchase of an intercom and music system. Expenditures of $433 for refinishing file cabinets and buying janitorial equipment was approved.

With these expenditures deducted from the equipment fund, the center will have a balance of about $2,500.

President V. Ward Jackson named a nominating committee of Louis Carothers, Bill Pollard and Glenn Cootes to report to the next meeting, and a committee to make arrangements for plaques on the equipment and in the building, including Joe Pickle, Carothers and Thompson.

VIET DRAMA

...And Back Home, Three Women Waited, Prayed

COSTA MESA, Calif. (AP) — Three women waited, and prayed, when Donald Dawson disappeared into the jungles of Viet Nam: His mother, his wife, and the wife of the brother he went there to find.

When Dawson returned to Saigon, safe after four months' imprisonment by the Viet Cong, he told what he had learned:

The Red guerrillas had shown him a vest they said belonged to his brother, Army Lt. Daniel L. Dawson, and told him he was dead. There was nothing more he could do, said Dawson, but go home.

For each of the three women, the news meant something different:

His mother, Marguerite Dawson, 46, of Costa Mesa, said tearfully: "I guess it's something I should have faced up to before. It seems so definite, now — about Dan."

Said Donald's wife, Jeanne, 27, also of Costa Mesa: "He's all right, he's coming home. I'm so thrilled!"

And, in Rohnert Park, Calif., Daniel's wife, Arlene, 28, cried.

But a few hours' later they were second thoughts.

"It's so great, knowing that one-half of us is free," said the mother later Thursday. "And I'm not giving up hope about Dan. How do we know that was his vest? Perhaps he'll turn up, some place deep in the jungle."

Said Donald's wife:

"I'm the lucky one. But now that Don's safe, what I'm praying for most is that somehow everything could turn out right for Arlene."

And said Arlene:

"Until I speak with Don, I don't know whether to believe the evidence shown him. I'm terribly, terribly happy for Don's family, and I'm so grateful to him."

Daniel, 27, a spotter-plane pilot, disappeared on a flight over Red territory last Nov. 6. Donald, 25, skipper of an oil survey ship, left his wife and four young children in California and flew to Saigon to search for his brother, also the father of four.

Children Are Held In Theft

Police arrested three juveniles, one only seven years old, for the theft of $72 in coins from Porter's Cafe, 809½ W. 3rd, Tuesday. The boys were returned to their parents by juvenile officer Bob Darland, and are to appear before him this afternoon, he said.

The coins were reported stolen from a mattress in the building Sunday. The owner, R. P. Huffman, lives in the building, police said.

A tip from a cafe owner and a tire-repair shop led police to a burned-out building at 705 W. 3rd, where officers said the three youths had hidden the money. The cafe and tire shop owners said the three had changed rolls of coins for bills in their places Monday and Tuesday, and one of them had seen the youths enter the burned-out building afterwards.

There were three other thefts reported Thursday, officers said. Mrs. Hildegard Goggin told officers a mink stole and a 12-piece set of china had been stolen from her apartment on US 80 west Thursday between noon and 5:30 p.m. She valued the articles at $1,000.

Kay Kelly, 3228 Cornell, reported her purse stolen from her car while it was parked in the Ritz Theatre lot.

Gillihan Motors, 811 W. 4th, said four hubcaps were stolen from a car on the used car lot late Thursday or early Friday morning.

Police Seeking More Applicants

"None of the six men who took the police examination Thursday will be employed," Jay Banks, chief of police, said Friday. The six took the examination and were interviewed by an examining board yesterday to fill one vacancy created by a resignation and a promotion recently.

None of the six who took the exam scored the minimum grade, Banks said.

"We'll just have to try again, as soon as we can," he said. He set no definite date for another examination session.

Striking Design To House Scrolls

By ERIC GOTTGETREU
Associated Press Writer

JERUSALEM (Israel Sector), (AP) — "The Shrine of the Book," donated by a New York foundation and designed by New York architects, is the most striking of the four component parts of the recently opened Israel Museum.

It is a sort of subterranean temple with a dome — some call it onion - shaped — whose 275,000 glazed white tiles gleam in the sun. Located on the northern approach to the museum complex, it rises from a pool equipped with fountain jets, and is entered through a tunnnel. Nearby stands a black basalt wall.

It was built to house ancient Hebraic and Aramaic manuscripts, including the seven Dead Sea Scrolls that are in Israel's possession. The dome is shaped like the top of a jar in which the 2,000-year-old scrolls were found.

Four of these scrolls were presented to the State of Israel by the late D. Samuel Gottesman, New York banker and industrialist, in 1954. In memory of Gottesman and his wife Jeanne, the funds for the building were donated by the S. S. and J. H. Gottesman Foundation of New York.

The designers of the shrine were Frederic Kiessler and Armand Bartos, New York architects.

Here is an architectural summary of the symbolic significance of various parts of the structure:

"The subterranean sanctuary, with only a portion of its double parabolic dome emerging above the ground from a pool of water, symbolizes the emergency of the State of Israel after centuries of dormancy.

"The black basalt wall arising from the cavern below the upper plaza, in contrast to the white dome, accents the heavy burden which lay on Israel for more than 2000 years. The subterranean caverns forming the Shrine itself are symbols of the caves in which the Scrolls lay hidden since the first century C.E.

"The 70-foot-wide dome, which rises to an opening at the top of six feet in diameter, to admit light, has an upper and lower viewing area, where the seven Dead Sea Scrolls are displayed.

"Corridors of varying dimensions lead to the main chamber, and contain displays of Biblical and archeological artifacts, such as letters written at the time of Bar-Kosebah, fabrics from clothing of this period, as well as a collection of keys and locks and unusual specimens of local glass. The building contains a small library for scholars, of publications relating to the Scrolls and their period and place in history. . . ."

On the upper viewing area there is a circular shaft, around which is displayed the Scroll of Isaiah, the oldest extant manuscript of that document. The other six scrolls are displayed in glass cases below it.

Other items exhibited here for the first time include the recently discovered papyri letters of Shimon Bar-Kosebah, the leader of the anti-Roman rebellion of 132-135 A.D., as well as the newly found legal documents of a woman who lived in that period, Mrs. Babata of En-Gedi.

The other components of the museum complex are the Bezalel Art Museum, the Bronfman Bibical and Archelogical Museum, and the Billy Rose sculpture garden.

The opening exhibit at the art museum was on the theme of "Art and the Bible," and included works loaned by 43 museums in all parts of the world.

The museum's extensive collection of archelogical objects will be for the Israel sector of Jerusalem what the Rockefeller Museum of Palestine Archeology is to the Jordanian sector of the divided city. Its objects illustrate life and development in this country from the prehistoric period through the times of the Hittites, the Canaanites and the Patriarchs; the reigns of the Kings of Israel and of the Hasmoneans to the Crusaders.

A highlight of the archelogical section is the city gate of Hazor, a Biblical fortress town in Upper Galilee, which was conquered by the Assyrian King Tigleth-Pileser more than 2,700 years ago.

Another important object is a stone inscribed with the name of Pontius Pilate, the Roman Procurator of Judea at the time of Christ. It was discovered three years ago by an Italian archeological mission which excavated the Roman amphitheater at Caesarea.

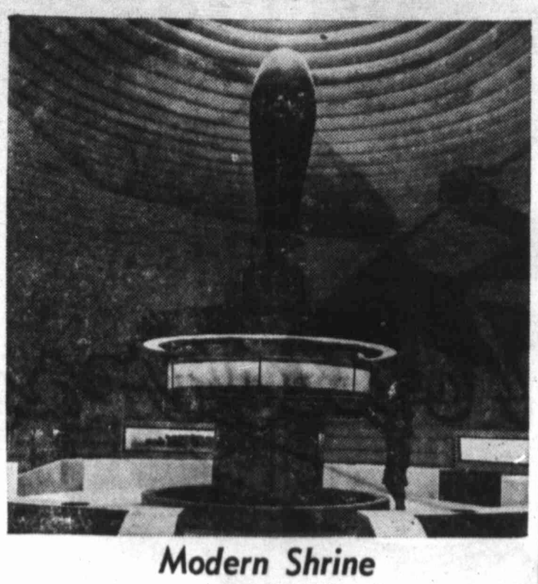

One of the exhibits tracing the course of Jewish history is a 260-year-old Italian synagogue which was brought over intact from Vittorio Veneto, near Venice, as no Jewish community remained there after World War I.

The art and archeological components of the museum were designed by Mrs. Dora Gad of Tel-Aviv and Prof. Alfred Mansfeld of Haifa.

The Billy Rose sculpture garden, occupying five of the museum's 20 acres, was landscaped by the Japanese artist Isamu Noguchi. The Jerusalem contractor who translated Noguchi's ideas into reality commented, "I have never worked with a genius before. This is the first time."

Rose, showman and art patron, donated many of the 105 sculptures for the garden, which are valued at about $1 million.

Built by the state at a cost of $6 million on a hill west of Jerusalem — between the new Parliament Building and the ever expanding Hebrew University campus — the Israel Museum is planned to help make Jerusalem a new center of spiritual and artistic development in the Middle East.

Canterbury's Famed Tower Crumbling

The famed 15th Century Bell Harry Tower of Canterbury Cathedral is crumbling away after five centuries of the harsh English climate.

Experts say the sensitive stone from Caen in Normandy which was used for main fabric has seriously eroded. Each damaged stone must be removed and replaced during restoration.

Cost of the job, which may take seven years, is set at 45,000 pounds ($126,000). The Friends of Canterbury Cathedral have underwritten 15,000 pounds ($42,000) of that total and have launched an appeal for more.

Meanwhile, four more of the 13th Century cloister bays have been restored and will be dedicated at the Friends of the Cathedral's festival day June 19. One of the bays, paid for by American funds under the Margaret Babington Memorial Fund, will be unveiled by U. S. Ambassador David Bruce.

PAUL URGES WHOLE ARMOR

Paul's letter to the Ephesians, from which the Sunday school lesson for Aug. 29 is taken, has been classed as the highest product of his mind. The title is "The Pressures from Without."

Paul urges Christians to "put on the whole armor of God," to fight against evil forces. He reminds there is constant strife for power by the forces of evil and that they will be in high places where they can place the devil against Christ. These forces make no attempt to use the "truth" in gaining their ends.

The writer of the letter says that only the "whole armour of God can prevail against corrupt principalities, against powers, and against the rulers of the darkness of this world, and against spiritual wickedness in high places."

Moral darkness begins at the individual level and seeks to invade every soul. It is also the thing against which the church must wage its universal warfare throughout the world. All those who are held in the bondage of sin are citizens of the world of moral darkness, and many of those in high places speak truth only when it serves their purposes.

Construction On Schedule

Construction work on the new Trinity Lutheran Church at 1801 Virginia Street is on schedule, according to word from the Rev. Donald T. Kenning, pastor. Dedication date has been set for Oct. 3.

The first of three stages of construction will contain 4,800 square feet of floor space. Included will be a chapel to seat up to 150 persons, a fellowship hall about the same size, and six individual classrooms.

The main sanctuary will come later, as the need arises, he said. The first stage will be used solely for educational purposes as the church grows.

Tom McAdams, general contractor, is at work on the roof deck this week, and masonry work will probably start next week.

Four contracts were let on the building, Rev. Kenning said. In addition to McAdams, Southwestern Electric is doing the electrical work, Snyder Heating and Air Conditioning Co. will handle that phase of the work, and Shook Plumbing Co. of Odessa will to the plumbing work.

Rev. Rich Goes To Annual Meet

The Rev. and Mrs. Homer Rich left Monday for the 31st annual General Council of the Assembly of God Churches in Des Moines, Iowa. The council will be held from Aug. 24-31. Rev. Rich is pastor of the Big Spring Assembly of God Church, and he and Mrs. Rich will be delegates to the council. He will return to fill his pulpit Sept. 5.

Evangelist Paul Thompson of Odessa will fill the local pulpit during Rev. Rich's absense.

THE VIRGIN OF SAN GIL. By Paul Olsen. Holt, Rinehart and Winston. $4.95.

Olsen has written a remarkable first novel.

One of its most fascinating aspects is the aura of suspended reality in which reality takes place. In creating the dusky light of a dream, which filters out anxiety but heightens urgency, Olsen reminds a reader of the Yugoslav, Ivo Andric, and the American writer in Yiddish, Isaac Singer.

The story, which is characterization around an incident rather than a plot, takes place near and in a village, presumably in a backward part of South America. It could be a novel of despair — priests and politicians are not the kind of people we want them to be; some of the characters feel unwelcome death coming uncomfortably close to them; death reaches them, too, as well as some who weren't expecting him. But it isn't a novel of despair; it is a novel of the way things are, making no emotional judgment of the state it portrays.

There are two priests, neither an effective minister of the church. One is old and disgustingly materialistic and tough. The other can't better reality because his gentility, restraint and idealism keep him from really understanding it. There are two politicians, both crooked and ruthless, one gone from young shrewdness to wry old age, the other conniving, younger but less clever.

However, the old, uneducated, destitute woodsman, who finds a statute of the Virgin which has been stolen from the church, is a more fascinating person than the wrong-headed ones.

He is looking for a sign and a meaning for his life in his old age, when he finds the Virgin. Since he had never been converted to Christianity, and knows almost nothing about it, he does not consider this a simple signal to embrace religion.

The sign, if it really is one, must be studied for possible interpretations, which must be sorted as best he can and one chosen for guidance. Then the old man, with weaknesses of intellect and aged body, amid hostile captors, must most truly and faithfully attempt to do what he has decided is right. And he can only wonder whether he was correct, after all, in what he has decided.

Olsen, a New Yorker, has published short stories and has discarded parts of two novels, begun before "The Virgin of San Gil." At present, he is interning at Columbia University's Psychiatric Institute, intending to work in both writing and clinical psychology.

His first novel shows a compelling style and a good deal of insight into the worthy strivings of a human being who seems on the surface an uninteresting, simple man.

Nature Puts Out Fire High In Sequoia

PORTERVILLE, Calif. (AP) — Man's efforts failed, but nature took over and put out the smoldering fire that threatened Old Solo, a 3,000-year- old Sierra redwood. Nature's intervention also put two Indians out of a job.

They were hired by the U.S. Forest Service to pitch a tent at the foot of the 202-foot giant of Sequoia National Forest, stamp out any fallen embers and watch for changes in the fire.

Old Solo, which arrows toward the sky atop a 7,200-foot peak of the High Sierra, was hit by lightning about two weeks ago at its 120- foot level.

Rangers tried putting the blaze out with helicopter-dropped extinguishing fluid. No luck. They tried sending hose leaders into the branches with a bow and arrow. A failure. Heavy smoldering set in.

So Indians Albert Peyron and Sonny James, residents of the Tule River Indian Reservation, were employed to stand guard at the tree, one of the park's most valued attractions. Together they were paid $4.98 on hour.

The Sierra redwood, also known as the sequoia, is remarkably resistant to decay, disease, insert onslaughts — and fire. The fibrous texture of the bark, which may grow as much as 12 feet thick, apparently helped snuff out the smoldering.

The sequoia is among the oldest and largest living things on earth.

Motel Owner Wins Battle

PRENTISS, Miss. (AP) — Motel owner Burt Allen planned to reopen for business today after winning a word battle with the federal government over seizure of motel rooms for use by federal voting registrars.

The government said the registrars would move from the motel rooms they took under court order and go to the post-office building.

Public reaction apparently pushed the government into moving the registrars.

Letters, telegrams and expressions of sympathy — some containing donations — went to Allen after the story became public.

He closed the motel Wednesday after all but two of his guests checked out following the arrival of the registrars and the Negroes.

Allen and his mother, Mrs. Alagene Allen, who co-manages the Magnolia Motel, were distressed because the registrars got a federal court order forcing them to rent four units to the registrars for 60 days at a flat fee of $3,000.

Smokers Soon May Try Puffing Lettuce Leaves

HEREFORD, Tex. (AP)— In about a month some smokers should be able to light up a product which looks like a cigarette but actually is stuffed with cured lettuce.

Backers said Thursday the nation's first such processing plant will start going up here shortly and will be operating by Sept. 1. They expect to start marketing the product about Oct. 1.

Thirty-five business men in Hereford, 50 miles southwest of Amarillo in the Texas Panhandle, put up $105,000 to finance the venture. They're organized into the Deaf Smith County Development Co.

Lettuce leaves will be cured and processed by Bravo Smokes, Inc.

U.S. Army Not Enlisting Viets

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States Army isn't taking Vietnamese nationals into its units during the current fighting, it was learned today. This system was used in Korea and produced more headaches than help.

For one thing, Defense Department spokesmen said, there is not the need now for such manpower augmentation.

FULL STRENGTH

American Army combat units in or on the way to Viet Nam are at full strength. Moreover, individuals in units in Europe are volunteering for service in Viet Nam.

Army and Marine combat forces in Viet Nam have South Vietnamese army men working with them, but they are not enlisted as members of the U.S. forces. They act as interpreters and as advisers on local conditions, people and terrain and aid in the collection of intelligence.

In the Korean War, thousands of soldiers of the Republic of Korea were integrated into American companies. Their official designation was "Korean Augmentation Troops, U.S.A." from which derived the name KATUSA.

FILL VACANCIES

The KATUSA plan was used for several reasons:

—To fill vacancies until American soldiers arrived as replacements.

—To provide overstrength for U.S. units that would be heavily engaged in major actions.

—To retain on active duty South Korean soldiers whose own units had been mauled and disorganized in the North Korean sweeps into the South in the first phases of the war.

Reports from American unit leaders showed that problems developed.

One officer wrote a report saying, among other things:

—U.S. soldiers were never sure of how the KATUSA would react in a fire fight.

ADJUSTMENT LACK

—The KATUSA soldier had trouble adapting himself to U.S. Army routine; when the daily box of rations was issued, he sat down immediately and ate the whole day's ration.

—The Korean soldiers had some disconcerting customs; they would join in a songfest at daybreak, which, the officer said, gave the enemy a pretty good idea of where to lob in mortar shells.

Although the spokesman did not speak directly on this point, U.S. Army officials in Viet Nam would have the additional worry about possible Viet Cong spies in their regular combat units.

Touch Of Vanity Called Healthful

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A touch of vanity in middle age may be good for your health, says Dr. Jose C. Montero of the Stanford University School of Medicine.

Montero said that the desire and efforts of many persons to preserve a youthful appearance helps ward off such degenerative diseases as heart trouble, diabetes and hardening of the arteries.

He reported Thursday to the American Congress of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation.

Threatened Premier Has Heavy Guard

SINGAPORE (AP) — Singapore's police gave Prime Minister Lee Kuan Yew and his cabinet close protection today following announcement of a Communist-Indonesian plot to assassinate Lee and his ministers.

Lee's residence in a populous section of the city was guarded by 20 policemen. Patrol cars checked all vehicles approaching the house.

The owner of a vacant lot behind Lee's house has been refused permission to build an apartment house on the land because of the canger of assassination.

21 ARRESTED

The government announced Thursday the arrest of 21 members of the People's Revolutionary party and said they were planning an armed revolution to establish a Communist government in Singapore.

The announcement said the leader of the group, Sim Siew Lin, had in his possession correspondence in code with the Indonesian intelligence organization. It said he was instructed to establish a secret route into Singapore for an important person and for propaganda material to stir up the Chinese and Malays in the city.

Sim was identified as the man who tried to blow up the U.S. Consulate July 31 by placing a time bomb on a bicycle in front of the building. It was discovered and defused.

SEIZE WEAPONS

The government statement reported:

Police raided a sugar plantation last January and confiscated some weapons but found Sim had left for Jakarta.

He returned secretly at the end of July, reorganized the revolution party, hid in an old block of apartments and "began gathering his followers."

Several days after Singapore separated from the Federation of Malaysia Aug. 9, security police got word that the revolutionary party was expecting a large shipment of guns, grenades and explosives from Indonesia.

U.S. Said Gesturing For War Slowdown

NEW YORK (AP)—In a series of unpr'.licized and indirect approaches to North Viet Nam, the United States is now offering to exchange demonstrations of a desire to slow down the war, the New York Times said today.

The story from Washington reported that the North Vietnamese are said to be receiving unidentified third-party representatives with evident interest, although they have not yet given anything that might be construed as a reply.

The story also said in part:

Some informed sources believe a respnse may be received or become discernible within a week or two.

In its indirect approaches, the Johnson administration is specifically said to be urging the Hanoi government to consider a withdrawal of all or part of the 325th Division of the North Vietnamese Army from South Viet Nam in exchange for a reduction in United States military actions, including the bombing of North Viet Nam.

What You Can Expect In Adaptation Time and Wearing Comfort As A Typical TSO Contact Lens Patient

Many people who are considering TSO contact lenses are curious as to just how long it will take to adapt to them, and how comfortable they will be when worn all day, everyday. ■ As a typical TSO contact lens patient, you can expect the very minimum in adaptation time* and the very maximum in wearing comfort. (To date, we have successfully fitted over 40,000 contact lens patients.) This has been our experience. There's a reason for this success, for it has not been easy to achieve. We have had a continuous program of research. As a result, we have developed an edging and beveling process second to none, and an exclusive multi-curve lens design. This, along with more exacting fitting techniques, contributes much to our patients' success in the wearing of contact lenses. ■ In addition to our vast experience in the research area, we pay almost fanatical attention to accuracy. During processing, every TSO contact lens undergoes EIGHT separate inspections for accuracy of prescription and perfection in polishing. With contact lenses, nothing can be overlooked. ■ A TSO Doctor of Optometry is continually informed of new developments in fitting techniques; he performs an exacting professional examination on your eyes to determine the optical and physical factors which will affect your ability to wear contact lenses successfully. ■ Our reason for telling you about our contact lens quality and fitting experience is quite simple. We want you to know that we have the finest contact lens available, regardless of cost. And, the cost is reasonable. Just $65 complete for single vision contact lenses. Bifocals are available at reasonable cost. Convenient credit at no extra cost.

NOT MUCH INTEREST SHOWN FOR SENATORIAL ELECTION

One of two things must be true:

Either all of Howard County's voters plan to be in the county and will go to the polls personally Sept. 7; or no one is interested in the forthcoming special election to decide whether there are to be additional senators in the Texas State Senate.

Absentee voting to date stands at 1.

Deadline for casting absentee votes expires Sept. 3, next Friday.

Howard County is generally noted for making liberal use of the right to ballot by absentee vote. This election, no such trend is shown. Mrs. Pauline Petty, county clerk, has had the machinery for accepting absentee votes set up for days. One lonely citizen showed up three days ago and cast a ballot.

And that's the crop as of this date.

Many Injured In Tornadic Storms

By The Associated Press

Tornadic storms hit the Chicago area and a wide Midwest section early today and Thursday night, causing many injuries and extensive damage.

Twisters raked parts of Iowa, Illinois and Wisconsin, and violent weather rolled east into Indiana.

Streets were blocked by fallen trees in some cities including Chicago's South Side. Major news communication lines between Chicago and the East were disrupted.

Homes were unroofed or damaged in several sections.

HOMES UNROOFED

A tornado was confirmed in Chicago's northwest section close to the Kennedy Expressway, but damage was confined mostly to uprooted trees. The Chicago suburb of Park Forest, 20 miles south of the Loop, also was touched by a twister which unroofed homes and damage was termed "considerable" by police.

Farther south, the Joliet-Rockport area received heavy damage from 90-mile an hour winds. Wind gusts near 100 m.p.h. were reported by the weather bureau at Crete, Ill. Many persons were treated in Joliet hospitals.

At Freeport, in northwestern Illinois Thursday night, heavy winds knocked down tents at the Stephenson County Fair, injuring eight persons, who were hospitalized. None was gravely hurt, however.

A funnel cloud damaged homes and crops at Buckley, Ill.

10 HOSPITALIZED

In Joliet, St. Joseph's Hospital reported 10 persons hospitalized including a family of six from Lockport, north of Joliet, who were injured when their house was destroyed. Other injuries were reported to the northwest, near Plainfield.

At Silver Cross Hospital in Joliet, a spokesman said, "the emergency room is crowded. I don't know how many we've treated."

At the height of the storm in Chicago, traffic on expressways was brought virtually to a standstill by the wind-whipped rain.

The winds left much of Chicago's South Side without power.

Many store windows were smashed by the wind in business sections south of Chicago.

TORNADO CLOUDS

Tornado clouds were seen near Downers Grove west of Chicago and Wauconda to the northwest.

In Iowa, highways were blocked by uprooted trees 29 miles southwest of Waterloo. Another twister hit 15 miles northwest of Dubuque during the night.

Hail and heavy rains accompanied the churning disturbance, with Rockford, Ill., receiving more than two inches in an hour.

Commission Refuses To Stay Gas Rate Opinion

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Power Commission has refused to stay its opinion in the Permian Basin area natural gas rate case—a finding that could necessitate $30 million to $35 million in refunds.

Six requests for a stay were filed by 42 producers. They sought to hold up application of the order until 60 days after the commission acts on pleas for a rehearing. Two of these have been submitted, a necessary step before the case can be taken to the courts.

In its Aug. 5 opinion, which affects a rich producing area in West Texas and New Mexico, the commission established a permanent system of gas producer regulations by fixing uniform ceiling prices.

The two rehearing applications came from the State of Texas and Skelly Oil Co., in Tulsa, Okla. Interested parties have until 30 days after Aug. 5 to make such requests.

The decision established for the first time a permanent system of gas producer regulations by fixing uniform ceiling prices applicable to gas produced in a specific area.

The Permian Basin area includes 55 counties in Texas and three in New Mexico. Commission spokesmen have estimated the decision would require refunds of $30 million to $35 million by producers there.

Since the decision is expected to be the pattern for rulings in other pending area rate cases if it withstands legal challenges, it is estimated that ultimately natural gas consumers in most areas of the nation may expect refunds.

The commission said that under normal conditions it would defer passing of the motions for stay until it had considered the petitions for rehearing but was promptly stating its position because the producers had asked action within seven days.

URGE HASTE

Producers urged haste on grounds they would be required to comply with the decision not only before the commission would have to act on applications for rehearing but also prior to expiration of the time allowed to ask a rehearing.

The opinion is effective Sept. 1 but does not require any action by producers at that time, the commission said.

In the Permian cases it made the effective date 26 days later, at the start of a new monthly billing period, as a convenience to producers and their customers.

It was made clear in the opinion, the commission said, that no steps were required by the producers to carry out any rate changes or refund requirements by Sept. 1.

REJECTS INCREASE

In a separate decision the commission rejected a proposed price increase by a Permian Basin producer which would have resulted in a rate higher than the maximum ceiling established by the Aug. 5 decision.

Socony Mobil Oil Co., Inc., of New York filed June 28 to raise its rate, effective Sept. 1, from 16 cents to 20.5 cents per thousand cubic feet for a sale of residue gas from the Kermit Field in Texas.

The commission said its Permian decision fixed the ceiling for sales such as that of Socony at a maximum of 16.5 cents. Socony sells the gas to Transwestern Pipeline Co.

Wirtz Okays Labor Import

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The California farm labor panel says Labor Secretary Willard Wirtz has authorized 18,480 Mexican nationals for California's canning tomato harvest.

Benjamin Aaron, chairman of the panel, said Thursday he had asked the secretary for 9,500 more foreign workers. Aaron said Wirtz accepted the recommendation.

The California Labor Federation called Wirtz's action "a pell-mell retreat."

Gov. Edmund Brown sent a telegram to Wirtz asking the secretary to allow California growers to hire 19,000 foreign workers in addition to the 8,900 he had already authorized.

Experienced Squads To Greet Coaches

DALLAS (AP) — The Southwest Conference opens its football race next week with the most experienced class of candidates in its history — if lettermen are the criteria.

The coaches insist that they are not, that they letter everybody these days. But the fact remains that all of the boys play and that with the return of platoon football they'll be playing more than ever.

AVERAGE OF 23

At any rate, 190 lettermen — an average of more than 23 per school — will be on hand when the bell rings Sept. 1.

Yet the team with the smallest number — Texas — is favored to win the championship. There are only 18 lettermen at the state university, but the quality is high and Texas has the leading quarterback, Marvin Kristynik.

Arkansas, the defending champion, bulges with experience — 27 lettermen. That's seven more than the Razorbacks had last year when they were undefeated, untied and unscored on in five of 11 games, including a 10-7 victory of Nebraska in the Cotton Bowl.

But Arkansas is experimenting to find a quarterback and linebacking is questionable.

Arkansas is given the best chance next to Texas to win the title. In fact, there seems to be little doubt that once more, as in five previous seasons, either Texas or Arkansas will be king.

There is some feeling that the team most favored by return of the platoon system — Baylor — might surprise.

Baylor has two experienced quarterbacks, including the league's top passer, Terry Southall. As a sophomore, he completed 118 throws for 1623 yards last season.

HAS HOPES

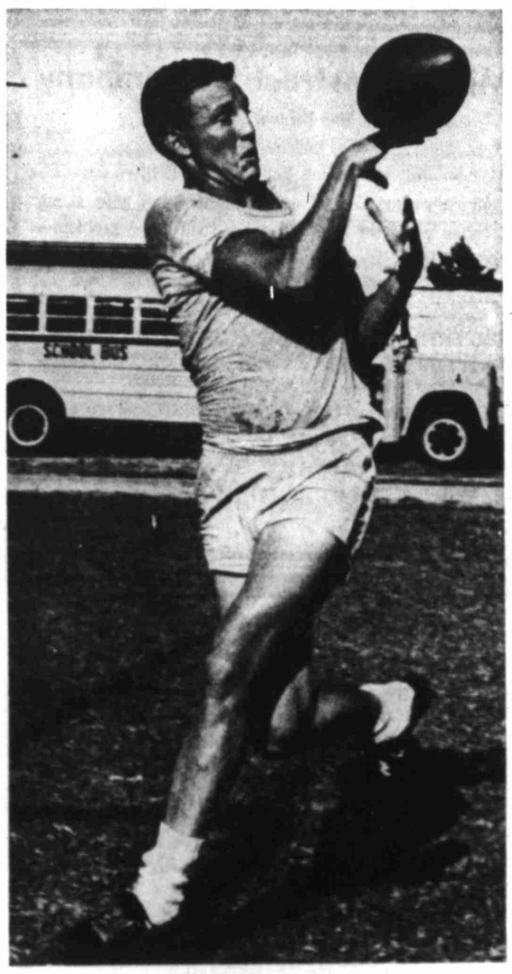

Texas Tech, led for the last time by All-America Donnie Anderson, is another team given at least an outside chance.

Southern Methodist, a flat last in 1964 and winner of only one game in 10, also is looking up. There are 32 lettermen on the Hilltop, with two experienced quarterbacks — Mac White and Donnie Oefinger. John Roderick, who ran SMU to a mighty upset of Navy as a sophomore in 1963, is off the ineligibility list. He is a 9.3 100-yard dash man.

Rice, Texas Christian and Texas will lack experience. Texas A&M, which also had a 1-9 record but beat SMU, has four more lettermen this yaer.

Arkansas should have the best backfield if the quarterback situation is solved. Bobby Burnett, Jim Lindsey and Jack Brasuell again will be on the firing line. Jon Brittenum, who lettered as a soph but was redshirted last year, and Harry Jones, former tailback, are working for the quarterback spot.

Texas looks toughest defensively with Tommy (Whataman) Nobis to pilot the linebacking. Nobis was All-America as a junior.

Balancing Act

Bobby Griffin, senior back with the Big Spring Steers, grimaces as he whirls to catch a practice in a football workout. The Longhorns switched to togs this morning for body contact drills. The locals open their season here Sept. 10 against Lamesa, after a Sept. 4 scrimmage in Memorial Stadium against Sweetwater. (Kenneth Good Photo)

Svare Says Rams Likely Contenders

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

ORANGE, Calif. (AP) — "I don't want to just look good. I don't want any half way measures. I've been on a championship team. Yes sir, I think we have a shot at the title."

Harland Svare, head coach of the Los Angeles Rams was doing some positive thinking at the training camp on the Chapman College campus.

"I'd rather have the Rams run more than throw," said the ex-New York Giant linebacker. "Every championship team does that. We're trying to get people of championship caliber at all positions and we're getting there."

DOWN TOO LONG

The Rams have been bouncing around in the second division so long — since 1958 — that it is refreshing to hear talk of winning even if it is a big hop from a 5-7-2 record.

Bill Munson, a 1964-crop rookie from Utah State, earned the starting quarterback job for the opening pre-season game, but Svare will give Roman Gabriel a shot at the position.

"Munson has a little more finesse and a quicker delivery," said Svare. "Gabriel has a strong arm and can fire that ball with people hanging all over him. He is a fireball, hard to bring down."

"Our receiving should be improved," said Svare. "Marlin McKever is going to be a fine tight end. We got Tommy McDonald from Dallas and he is going to help us. Bucky Pope, our split end, did a fine job as a rookie and Jack Snow, the boy from Notre Dame, has looked good. And we have Willie Brown behind McDonald."

Svare would like more running than he has but will settle for a full year from fullback Dick Bass and halfback Les Josephson, a Dallas castoff.

The Rams also have been taking a long look at a new Jim Brown, a 6-1, 210-pound rookie fullback from South Carolina State picked up as a free agent.

Svare believes his offensive line will be better. He is high on Charlie Cowan, 6-4, 280, a guard who is being groomed as the replacement for veteran Frank Varrichione, an 11th year man, at right tackle.

TOUGH ON DEFENSE

The Rams' defense led the league in fewest yards given up on the ground last year. The front four of Dean Cjones, Merl Olsen, Rosey Grier and Lamar Lundy is massive and rough. Ex-Steeler Joe Krupa will be the swing man.

Dan Currie came to the Rams from Green Bay to fill a corner linebacking job. The veteran Cliff Livingston or ex-Steeler Ed Holler will be the other corner backer, although rookie Fred Brown from Miami eventually may be it.

Bobby Smith and Aaron Martin probably will be the corner backs although Clancy Williams, rookie from Washington State, could oust Smith. Jerry Richardson will be the strong safety and Ed Meador the free safety.

The Rams are satisfied with Bruce Gossett, who hit with 18 of 24 field goals last year and best in the NFL since Lou Groza made 23 of 26 in 1953. The punter probably will be a rookie free agent, Jon Kilroy of Auburn.

Shaky Peace Must Endure: Magnuson

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., said today he won't anticipate and wouldn't stand for any mischief-making against the shaky peace now prevailing between the battling big shots of U.S. track and field administration.

Magnuson and his Senate Commerce Committee have thrust a truce and binding arbitration plan on the Amateur Athletic Union and National Collegiate Athletic Assn. to end their row. Witnesses testified the fight was hurting young athletes and U.S. chances in international competition.

Magnuson planned to wind up the two weeks of hearings today, then move fast next week toward a decision on how to follow through on what has been achieved, and whether some new federal law may be required to assure enduring peace.

The Senate investigators figure the public is fed up with what they describe as the spectacle of two big administrative powers fighting for dominant power, boycotting one another's track meets and threatening athletes with disbarment from competition if they defy the boycotts.

The truce involves a temporary amnesty against penalties. Magnuson said he feels sure the amnesty will become permanent.

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., recalling his own frustrations when he was attorney general and AAU-NCAA pacts did not bring peace, warned the committee Thursday against overconfidence.

He proposed that the federally chartered U.S. Olympic Committee create a strong and permanent arbitrating board to settle this row and any others of the future. The proposal found quick favor with committee members and Kenneth L. (Tug) Wilson, the retiring USOC president.

Nicklaus Says He Will Make Amends For 80

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Masters Champion Jack Nicklaus laughed and joked about the worst round of his professional career and then vowed he would make amends today so as not to make a fool of himself.

Nicklaus shot a 10-over-par 42-38—80 in the opening round of the $100,000 American Golf Classic Thursday as Johnny Pott and Jim Ferrier tied for the lead with 68s, one stroke ahead of Bobby Nichols.

Pott, Ferrier and Nichols were the only three to break par of 35-35—70 over the 7,165-yard Firestone Course, which played exceptionally long because of all-night rains and gusty winds.

Arnold Palmer, showing gradual improvement in recent weeks, matched par along with Al Geiberger, Doug Sanders, Peter Thomson, Mason Rudolph, Kel Nagle and R. H. Sikes, while Tony Lema, who beat out Palmer in last weekend's Carling Tournament, was cooped at 71.

JOHNNY POTT

Nicklaus started with a triple bogey 7 on the first hole when it took him three shots to get out of a sand trap. He lost all hopes of an immediate recovery with a bogey 6 on the second hole. He had nine other bogies before he closed with a birdie three on No. 18.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

From all indications, Big Spring's Danny Birdwell—who faces a struggle each fall—has won his place on the Oakland Raider football roster.

Sometimes, the ham-handed Birdwell starts the season on the taxi squad but he invariably winds up on the Raiders' defensive unit.

Danny's perigee of talent was always more than overbalanced by his apogee of enthusiasm and determination.

Big Spring thus will be represented in the pro foobtall wars this fall by three native sons, two of them in the AFL. Jimmy Evans will earn his pay with the New York Jets while Charley Johnson bids fair to lead the St. Louis Cardinals to a division title in the NFL.

Incidentally, Murray Olderman, a New York columnist on a roving assignment with the NEA, foresees a first place finish for the Cards.

Olderman gives Johnson a "good" rating as the team's navigator, cautions the Red Birds can ill afford for anything to happen to him. The scribe assays the St. Louis pass receivers as "very good," the offensive line as "very good," the running backs as "good," the defensive line as "fair to good," the linebackers as "very good," and defensive backs as "good" and the kicking as "good."

Olderman believes the Cards have the best balanced team in the Eastern division, with no obvious weaknesses. "They need only to prove they have winning poise," points out Olderman, "and that lays the burden strictly on QB Charley Johnson."

With school right at hand, HCJC basketball coach Buddy Travis has lost a player he was heavily counting on.

The athlete is 6-4 Kerri Roper of Pampa, who decided to accept a four-year scholarship offer from North Texas State University.

Travis has viewed some films on a 6-5 Abilene Cooper graduate and may offer him a scholarship. He has ten players in sight now, wants another to firm up his depth problem.

Big Spring's Eddy Nelson reportedly has taken a correspondence course offered by Howard Payne College this summer and will be eligible at the Brownwood school this fall.

Remember Ray George, the big fellow who coached at Texas A&M from 1951 through 1953, inclusive?

George has been in and out of coaching since that time. His latest tenure was as an aide at the University of Southern California but he quit there recently to enter the business world as a sales executive with a title firm.

George's teams at College Station won 12, lost 14 and tied four games. He succeeded Harry Stiteler and was succeeded by Bear Bryant.

Rocky Thompson and Jack Montgomery, entries in past Big Spring Golf Opens, finished in the money in the recent Carling Open.

Thompson earned $1,113, which is one of his biggest pay days. Montgomery, who teamed with Frank Powell to finish first in the inaugural Big Spring Open, earned $635 in the $200,000 event.

A. Z. Drones, the former San Angelo All-State footballer, likely will wind up at West Texas State this fall. He failed to make his grades at Missouri University and has been offered a job at that school if he wants to return to school and regain his eligibility.

Americans Batter Reds In Cage Clash, 81-38

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP) —The lighted scoreboard in the dank outdoor arena read: "Egyesult Allamok 81, Szovzetunio 38."

Any dumb cluck should know that it meant that the United States had beaten the Soviet Union in basketball 81-38.

"It was the defense that did it —the boys really moved, shifted off and didn't give the Russians a decent shot," said Coach John Kundla of the University of Minnesota.

"I've never been so cold in my life," said All-America Bill Bradley of Princeton, shivering. "How cold was it anyhow?"

"Close to freezing," someone replied.

"We were pretty hot out there for that kind of weather," replied Fred Hetzel, the 6-foot-8 whiz from Davidson.

Bradley, Hetzel and Ollie Johnson of San Francisco led the last-half drive that smothered the Russians with their most humiliating setback ever against an American team.

The victory virtually clinched the gold medal for the hand-picked U.S. college team. The towering Yanks play France tonight and Hungary Saturday. They should win both easily.

Game Is Moved To Teens' Park

The Gage Oilers and the Sacred Heart Cardinals will play their Sunday baseball game here in the Teen-Age Park just off North 12th Street rather than in Steer Park, as previously announced.

The high school diamond has been converted for the use of fall training in football.

An old-timers' game featuring one-time players of the Big Spring Tigers will precede the main event. A four-inning clash, it will get under way about 1 p.m.

Torrid Battle Going On For Batting Title

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

There's a pretty good battle going on in the American League, even if it's not in the pennant race.

Boston's Carl Yastrzemski and Baltimore's Brooks Robinson are staging their own little war over the batting crown with Minnesota's Tony Oliva, an interested third party.

Yastrzemski, who won the batting title with a .321 average in 1963, leads the race with a .327 figure today but Robinson, surging at a .376 pace for the last month, is just six points off the pace. Oliva, at .311, is third.

WHACKS 2 HOMERS

Robinson continued his hot hitting Thursday, whacking two home runs and driving in four runs as the Orioles shelled Chicago 8-1. Yastrzemski hit his 17th of the season in Boston's 4-2 victory over Washington.

Oliva, troubled by a jammed finger, missed his first game of the season as the Twins downed New York 9-2. In the only other American League game played, Kansas City dropped Detroit 5-3.

Robinson hit a solo homer against the White Sox in the third and then connected with two on in the ninth. Boog Powell, who drove in three runs, and Dick Brown also homered for the Orioles.

Yastrzemski's homer gave the Red Sox their final run after Bob Tillman's bases-loaded single scored three against the Senators.

BIG RALLY

Washington starter Phil Ortega walked Felix Mantilla, Lee Thomas and Tony Conigliaro, loading the bases in the second. Tillman singled, scoring Mantilla and Thomas, and when the ball got away from Don Lock, Conigliaro raced home too.

Bob Allison crashed a two-run homer and a pair of doubles as the Twins hardly missed Oliva against the Yankees. The victory stretched Minnesota's lead to 8 ½ games over the White Sox.

Jim Kaat went the distance for his 13th victory, scattering 10 hits, including Clete Boyer's 15th home run.

Home runs by Tom Reynolds and Wayne Causey beat the Tigers for Kansas City. Reynolds' first of the year broke a 3-3 tie in the sixth and Causey's No. 2 produced the final A's run in the eighth.

Hello, Buddy

Zoilo Versalles, Minnesota Twins, who overran third base a bit, gets back in time (top) as New York's Clete Boyer awaits throw from shortstop Tony Kubek, and then puts his arm around Boyer and braces himself (bottom) in third inning of American League game yesterday in the Twin Cities. Versalles, who got a hit to get on, went from second on an infield hit by Jimmie Hall over second base. Kubek bobbed a little and tossed to Boyer. Twins won, 9-2. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Giants Slide To 4th Place

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

The San Francisco Giants are so pressed for pitching help they may have to start listing their hurlers as possibles rather than probables.

With ace right-hander Juan Marichal sitting out an eight-day suspension, things actually got so bad Thursday night that the Giants had to press outfielder Matty Alou into service as a pitcher and were forced to call on shell-shocked Ron Herbel both as a starter and reliever.

The result could have been anticipated.

LONG NIGHT

When the long night was over, the Pittsburgh Pirates had rapped out 26 hits and swept a twi-night doubleheader 8-0 and 6-5, handing the Giants their fourth consecutive loss and dumping them into fourth place in the National League pennant race.

It would have been Marichal's turn to start against the Pirates, but instead Herbel opened up in the first game and had to absorb an eight-run shelling before Manager Herman Franks turned to Alou and said simply:

"You like to pitch. Okay, now it's your turn."

So Alou, who had never pitched professionally but has tinkered with curves and change-ups during batting practice, went in against the Pirates and pitched well enough to shut them out over the final two innings, allowing three hits and striking out three.

HERBEL IS BACK

Gaylord Perry started the nightcap but before it was over, Masanori Murakami was in, Bill Henry was in and out, at last, Franks had to ask Herbel to take another turn.

The doubleheader loss dropped the Giants 1½ games off the pace while the sweep extended the Pirates winning streak to six and lifted them into fifth place, 4½ games back of the front-running Los Angeles Dodgers.

The Dodgers were beaten by the New York Mets for the third straight night, 5-2, but managed to cling to their one-half game edge as Milwaukee also lost its third straight. The Braves dropped a 3-1 decision to Cincinnati and now are tied with the Reds for second place.

Ping Pong Match Slated Tonight

An exhibition ping pong match will be held at the John L. Lees Service Club, at Webb Air Force Base, tonight at 7:30 and is open to the public, according to Ethyl Wood, club director.

Fred Kester of Midland, who is the district manager of the telephone company, is bringing a team composed of himself, J. C. Hallmark of Midland and Frank Stretch of Odessa, who is among the top ten of ping pong players of Texas. The fourth member of the visitors is as yet unanounced.

The challenging Webb team includes: S. Sgt. Joseph Maenner, S. Sgt. Roy McGhee, Airman 2.C. Willie McGee, S. Sgt. Jesse Walters and 1st Lt. Richard S. Friedman.

No Immediate Ruling Due In Disputed School Case

No decision on the application for an injunction against the Big Spring Independent School District is expected for several days. Judge Ralph Caton, 118th District Court, after hearing oral arguments by attorneys for both the school board and the Northside United, plaintiff in the case; Thursday afternoon ordered briefs drawn by both sides and submitted to him.

NO DATE

He did not set a date when the briefs should be ready, but after they have been received, he will take time to study them before he rules.

His first decision must be on the plea of abatement, which was filed Thursday morning by the school board. In this plea, the schools seek to have the application of the plaintiff group thrown out of court.

He then must rule on the exceptions that the school board has filed to the amended petition submitted by the plaintiff.

If he should uphold the plea for abatement, the case would be out of court. If he overrules the plea, then it may be possible to schedule a hearing on the merits of the plaintiff's petition.

Such a hearing, probably, would require the testimony of witnesses, introduction of documentary evidence and formal argument.

INDEFINITE

When and if such a hearing will be held, was indefinite Thursday afternoon.

Gil Jones, attorney for the school board, and Tom Sneed, Odessa, who is lawyer for Northside United, will probably begin preparing briefs at once. A brief, it was explained, is a citing of law cases which the respective litigants submit as supporting their individual positions.

Jones, for example, in his plea for abatement, argued that the plaintiff was without jurisdiction in the district court to seek an injunction. The school board position is that law requires a plaintiff in such a case to go through a series of appeals, beginning with the county school superintendent when it has an alleged grievance against the board of a school district. A series of appeals through the Texas Education Agency, Jones said, must be pursued and those avenues closed before the matter can be brought in a court of equity.

CITE CASES

His brief, doubtless, will cite cases where the position he holds has been sustained by the courts.

Sneed, on the other hand, insists that the particular nature of his petition—he seeks to enjoin the school board from spending school bond money—is an exception to the general law dealing with lawsuits against a school board. Such an exception, he argues, entitles him to go into the district court directly with his petition.

Jones has assailed other aspects of the plaintiff's pleadings — arguing among other things that should the court grant the injunction, the court would have to take over the direction of school programs; decide on when and how any school moneys shall be spent; how many schools will be allowed to operate and all other details of the school board's duties.

DISCRETIONARY

Jones argues that the school board has discretionary powers to allow it to make decisions such as it made relative to the proposed closing of the Kate Morrison School, and that such actions are not subject to attack. The closing of the Morrison school is the basis on which the lawsuit now in the courts was established.

All of these issues will be argued pro and con and supported by law citations in the written briefs which will be laid before Judge Caton.

The Thursday afternoon session of the court lasted about two hours. Unlike the first day's round in which the judge ruled on exceptions as they were presented, this time he handed down no rulings. He took all features under advisement.

Judge Caton has a busy week ahead. He is to preside at the trial of a boundary dispute between Garza and Borden County starting Tuesday—a case which probably will take most of the week. Other matters are on his calendar. While he fixed no time when he would probably rule on the injunction matter, even if he had the briefs, it is reasonably certain no new developments can be expected for several days.

Red Guerrillas Attack Positions

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Communist guerrillas attacked three government positions a few miles south of Saigon within an hour early today, a U.S. military spokesman announced.

Vietnamese losses were reported heavy in the assault on Tan Nhut outpost, which was reported overrun.

A ranger unit was dispatched to the scene.

The actions took place about 12 to 15 miles southwest of the capital.

BEATEN OFF

Government forces were reported to have beaten off the attack at Long An, with light casualties. Two Viet Cong were killed after a guerrilla force of unknown size moved against a Vietnamese unit protecting five hamlets in the area, the spokesman said.

The Communists also shelled the district town of Binh Chanh with 12 rounds of mortar fire, the spokesman said. Light Vietnamese casualties were reported.

The spokesman told newsmen of these other developments:

CLEAR ROAD

A multibattalion government force completed one of the war's largest road clearing operations Thursday, opening strategic Highway 21 from the coastal city of Nha Trang to the provincial capital of Ban Me Thuot in the central highlands.

No contact was made with the Viet Cong, and convoys were reported moving over the road for the first time in six weeks, bringing Ban Me Thuot badly needed supplies.

More than 2,000 American logistic troops from 20 different units landed at three coastal cities this week as the U.S. military buildup continued. The troops will strengthen the first logistical command.

CONG BODIES

The bodies of 50 Viet Cong were discovered south of Chu Lai, apparently left from the big U.S. Marine-Viet Cong battle of Van Tuong Peninsula last week. The bodies were discovered by Vietnamese forces on a search and destroy operation.

U.S. Marines pulled out of the area Tuesday, a week after attacking an estimated 2,000 Viet Cong on the peninsula. At least 600 Viet Cong were reported killed in the battle.

'Scandal' Artist Allowed On Tour

WELLINGTON, New Zealand (AP) — Cabaret artist Mandy Rice-Davies, a central figure in the 1963 sex scandals that rocked Britain, will be allowed to make an eight-day entertainment tour of New Zealand, Parliament decided today.

Parliament recommended that her audience be restricted to people of "mature age." She plans to put on 10 performances.

Very pro... a monologue of frills doing an aside along the pocket, and showing off against a contrasty shell. Both in Petit Point wool-Orlon* acrylic. The finisher, a double knit wool skirt. Delicious!
* DuPont tradename for its acrylic fibre.
