ACCUSED BY FEDERAL GRAND JURY OF CONSPIRACY

House Speaker's Ex-Aide Indicted

NEW YORK (AP) — A former top aide to House Speaker John W. McCormack and a lawyer-lobbyist were accused today by a federal grand jury of conspiring to use the speaker's office to try to influence matters before government bodies.

The conspiracy, according to the federal prosecutor here, involved Martin Sweig, McCormack's suspended senior aide, who was accused of misusing his office to pressure numerous federal agencies in behalf of persons referred to him by Nathan M. Voloshen, the lawyer.

Among agencies contacted during the six-year course of the conspiracy, the U.S. attorney listed the Departments of Justice, Treasury, Defense, Labor and Post Office and the Selective Service System.

Conviction would carry maximum penalties of 52 years in prison and $38,000 in fines for Sweig and 25 years in jail and $27,000 fines for Voloshen.

Sweig, 46, was suspended by McCormack last Oct. 16 from his job as administrative assistant to the Massachusetts Democrat. Voloshen, 72, has been pictured as a lobbyist and friend of McCormack and Sweig who sought influence through the association.

The indictment was announced by Robert M. Morgenthau, who steps down as U.S. attorney for New York's Southern District Thursday. Morgenthau, a Democrat, has resigned the post under pressure from the Republican administration in Washington. He since has been appointed deputy mayor here by John V. Lindsay, a registered Republican, and will assume the post next month.

The indictment alleged that Voloshen used the "office, telephone, secretarial staff and good will of the Speaker of the House" in approaching various government agencies, including the Bureau of Prisons, U.S. attorney for the District of Columbia and the Securities and Exchange Commission.

The indictment specified activity by Voloshen and Sweig in connection with civil action brought against Parvin-Dohrmann Co. by the SEC.

It cited a $50,000 payment by Parvin-Dohrmann to Voloshen for "services rendered in re SEC."

50,000 GIs In Vietnam Are Being Withdrawn

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command announced today the major units among the 50,000 American troops being withdrawn from Vietnam by April 15. They include the 1st Infantry Division, the 28th Marine Regiment and the 3rd Brigade of the 4th Infantry Division.

Also pulling out will be three squadrons of the Air Force's 12th Tactical Fighter Wing, Navy service support units and "a number of smaller combat support and service support units of all services," the command said.

These smaller units will include several artillery battalions and a civil affairs company, it was learned. A 10 per cent cut is also being ordered in many headquarters staffs.

Headquarters said the first units will begin moving out early next month. The 1st Infantry Division was the first Army division sent to Vietnam, 4½ years ago.

The latest withdrawal, the third ordered by President Nixon, will reduce the authorized

U.S. troop ceiling in Vietnam to 434,000. It will bring the total number of American troops withdrawn since last July to 110,000.

The U.S. Command announcement said the 50,000 men being withdrawn in the next three months will include 29,500 Army, 12,900 Marines, 5,600 Air Force and 2,000 Navy men.

A weekly summary also issued today by the U.S. Command showed that American troop strength in Vietnam dropped 6,900 last week, to 467,500, the lowest since November, 1967.

This is 16,500 men below the present authorized ceiling, but U.S. spokesmen said troop strength around the Christmas season always falls considerably below the authorized maximum because rotation transfers to the States are expedited to get the men home for Christmas, while replacements are often delayed so the men can be home for the holidays.

Little fighting was reported today.

Official sources disclosed that American forces three weeks ago uncovered a major North Vietnamese communications center that intercepted at least 1,400 U.S. operational messages which presumably enabled enemy troops to escape U.S. ambushes, bombing and artillery strikes.

The sources said there was no evidence that the interceptions resulted in any American deaths. Nor were the North Vietnamese able to break any official codes, the sources reported. But they said many U.S. troops use unauthorized or "home-made" codes which the North Vietnamese easily deciphered.

The listening post was located in a bunker complex in the Boi Loi woods about 35 miles northwest of Saigon. The sources said 12 North Vietnamese who were fluent in English were captured and another was killed.

The American troops also captured logs showing interception of 1,500 U.S. radio transmissions, including positions for American ambushes and warnings to other allied aircraft of air strikes that were to be made.

Agnew Nears End Of Trip, To Hit Political Circuit

To Succeed Tom Sealy

SINGAPURA, Bali (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew sat impassively for an hour today as brightly garbed, masked Balinese dancers performed a Barong dance for him and Mrs. Agnew in an ancient temple.

The dance depicted the battle between good, represented by the Barong, and evil, represented by the witch Rangka. When it was over, Agnew thanked the dancers and returned to his beachfront hotel while his wife went to a wood carving shop and factory.

When Mrs. Agnew tried to buy four carved black ebony hands, for her three daughters and a granddaughter, the shopkeeper presented them to her along with a walking stick with carved dragon head handle for the vice president.

Then Mrs. Agnew bought an ebony carving called Relaxing Lady.

As Agnew nears the end of his 37,000-mile Asian trip, he already is planning some more heavy travelling when he gets home — on the political banquet circuit.

It will enable him to display the knowledge of foreign problems he has been picking up on the 11-nation journey.

Agnew returns home Jan. 20, about two weeks before the start of the traditional Lincoln Day Republican fund raising dinners, and GOP leaders have said he will be the party's chief banquet speaker this year.

President Nixon is planning to play a major role in GOP election efforts next fall.

Witnesses For 61 West Texas Cities Fight Gas Rate Hike

AUSTIN (AP) — Expert witnesses for 61 West Texas cities fighting a gas rate hike testified today that Pioneer Gas Co. has overvalued its property.

A higher valuation means a lower rate of return on the company's investment than a lower valuation, using the same figure for income.

H. R. Robbins, an Amarillo appraiser, told Railroad Commission hearing examiners that Pioneer's headquarters building and land in Amarillo had a market value of $1,862,500.

Pioneer witnesses previously said the building and land were worth $5,273,127.

John Scott Jr., a Lubbock appraiser, testified the value of the right-of-way of Pioneer's transmission and gathering system in West Texas was $3,566,332.

Pioneer witnesses previously said the value was $4,158,988.

Another witness for the cities said he was unable to get a list of lines and equipment on the right-of-way, so no estimate was offered by the cities on the value of those properties.

Testimony was expected to continue through Tuesday, with final arguments scheduled Jan. 26.

Pioneer wants its "gate rate" increased from 28 to 35.33 cents per 1,000 cubic feet. The firm says it cost 20 per cent more to buy gas from suppliers than it did in 1962, when it got its last increase.

Any increase granted by the commission also must be approved by individual city councils before it can take effect.

Funeral services for the young man who attended Big Spring High School are pending at River-Welch Funeral Home. The remains are expected to arrive in Big Spring this week.

Surviving Mr. White are his father; his mother and one sister, Judy White, both of Ramona, Okla.; two half-brothers and one half-sister.

Students Stage Protest March

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — High school pupils marched today in protest of a proposed mass transfer of teachers under a school desegregation plan before the federal courts.

A group of about 300, braving subfreezing weather and icy streets, gathered at the state Capitol where Gov. Lester Maddox told them their demonstration was necessary "because a police state is engulfing the United States of America."

Judge Austin McCloud Bids For Place On Appeals Court

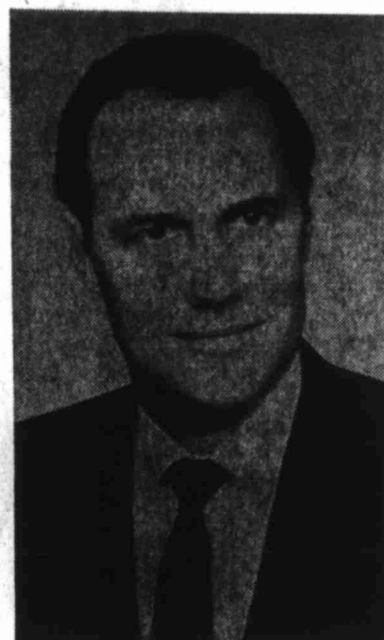

District Judge Austin McCloud of 32nd Judicial District (Nolan, Mitchell and Fisher counties) today announced his candidacy for the Court of Civil Appeals, 11th District, at Eastland. He and his family reside at Colorado City.

The 11th Appeals District includes 23 Central and West Central Texas counties — Baylor, Borden, Brown, Callahan, Coleman, Comanche, Dawson, Eastland, Erath, Fisher, Haskell, Howard, Jones, Knox, Mitchell, Nolan, Palo Pinto, Scurry, Shackelford, Stephens, Stonewall, Taylor and Throckmorton.

McCloud declared his candidacy following the announcement by Chief Justice Clyde Grissom that he would not seek re-election.

"Our Eastland Court of Civil Appeals is recognized as one of the outstanding appellate courts of Texas," said McCloud, "and my candidacy is dedicated to the continuance of this outstanding service to the citizens and communities of our area under the laws of our state."

McCloud has a background of private practice of law in Houston and Colorado City, and six years as a district court judge.

AUSTIN MC CLOUD

He was appointed 32nd District Court Judge in 1963 and has been re-elected twice without opposition.

The judge is a graduate of National College of State Trial Judges, University of Nevada, and has recently had legal articles published in Trial Judges Journal and Trial Lawyers Forum.

McCloud is chairman of the Law Enforcement Coordinating Board of West Central Texas Council of Governments, an innovation in joint-community enterprise for upgrading and improving law enforcement at the local level in this West Central Texas area. He is also president of the 16 county West Texas Girl Scout Council, and is currently a member of the Executive Committee, Judicial Section, State Bar of Texas.

McCloud, a 40 year old native West Texan, is a graduate of Texas Tech, and received his law degree, cum laude, from Baylor University. While in law school he served as editor of Baylor Law Review.

Judge and Mrs. McCloud, a public school teacher, have two daughters.

Grand Jury Gets Late Start Today In Drug Investigation

The October Howard County Grand Jury reconvened at the courthouse today, two hours after nearly 30 youngsters who had been subpoenaed to testify appeared. Subpoenas that were issued to 62 persons had a reporting time of 9 a.m., the jury notices said to report at 10 a.m., and it was nearly 11 o'clock before all the grand jurors appeared and investigation actually got underway.

The jury was recalled by its foreman John Currie for the purpose of investigating local drug traffic and to determine if Big Spring really does have such a problem.

Currie recalled the jury following the Dec. 18 arrest of five Big Spring youngsters and one from Denton, all on charges of selling drugs. Five were charged, in Justice of the Peace Jess Slaughter's court, with selling LSD; and one was charged, in the same court, with selling marijuana.

Chief of Police Jay Banks was first to publicly call for an investigation by the grand jury shortly after the arrests were made by his department.

The gathering this morning on the third floor of the courthouse was a quiet one while the youngsters waited to be called before the grand jury.

There were various stages of attire, from a long-haired lad in the latest mini-skirt to a long-haired lad in bell-bottomed trousers which swabbed the decks, and there was even the classic little black dress with pearls. Rumor had it that two of the boys had even had their hair cut just for the occasion.

There were a few remarks, such as "Let's all sign our names 'John Smith' on the register," but in general it was a serious crowd.

Two boys took advantage of the two-hour delay and played a never-ending game of "dots" and an occasional tic tac toe.

Among those who were called to testify, are the six arrested Dec. 18. They are Ed Payne, 2303 Lynn; Marshall Miller, 1614 Bluebird; Jimmy Reed, 1407 Park; James Toon, Webb AFB; and Brenda Mesker, Denton. James Toon is the only one who remains in Howard County jail, on $15,000 bond. The other five posted various bonds and were released. Jimmy Reed is the one charged with selling marijuana, the other five face selling LSD charges.

Serving on the grand jury are, in addition to Currie, Wilson Edwards, Ernest Byrd, Charles Tompkins, Curt Mullins, R. C. Thomas, Mrs. Ralph Gossett, Mrs. Bennett Brooke, Don Newsum, E. O. Brown, Mrs. Walter Slate and Mrs. James Johnson.

Colorado City Lake Victim

COLORADO CITY — Brenda Joyce Terry, 19, Midland, drowned in Colorado City Lake at 2 p.m. Saturday after the boat in which she was riding capsized.

She and three fellow employees of Southwestern Drug Co. were on an outing at the lake when the boat overturned. The others were able to swim ashore. Miss Terry's body was recovered in 15 feet of water.

Funeral services were to have been at 4 p.m. today in Newline W. Ellis Funeral Chapel in Midland with burial in Fairview Cemetery.

She was born in 1950 in Seneca, S.C. She was a 1968 graduate of Midland Lee High School.

Survivors include her stepfather and her mother, Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Laxson, Midland; her father, Fred Terry, Seneca; her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. McDonald, Seneca; and a sister, Sandra Gail Terry, Midland.

Farmers Plan For Fly-In

District 8 members of the Texas Farmers Union will hold a three day meeting Monday-Wednesday in Stanton to plan for their part in the National Farmers Union Legislative Fly-In to Washington, D.C., Feb. 1-4. Texas Farmers Union plans to send 200 representatives. Thus far, planning to represent District 8 is Doris Blissard, Garden City.

District 8 members will meet Sunday evening at the Belair Hotel in Stanton and conclude activities with a banquet in Cap Rock community room Wednesday. District 8 includes 11 counties. Also attending will be District 9 director, David Samuelson, and several members.

Texas farmers, ranchers and rural community leaders plan to participate in the Fly-In to help the Farmers Union focus attention on the serious economic problems facing the nation's agriculture. They hope to receive the attention of Congress and the Administration.

The Fly-In previously announced for January was postponed until February because of the late return of Congress to Washington. The arrival of farmers in Washington will be "strategic" because Congress will be facing the problem of drafting new farm legislation at that time, according to Jay Naman, Waco, president of the Texas Farmers Union.

Judge Dismisses Estorga Charge

A charge of assault with intent to murder, which named Macario Estorga Jr. in an Oct. 31 indictment from the Howard County Grand Jury, was dismissed on a motion from District Attorney Wayne Burns Friday, signed by District Judge R. W. Caton.

Estorga was returned to Howard County Jail last Thursday from Odessa where he was sentenced to eight years in the state penitentiary on a murder conviction. Estorga's charge here stemmed from an incident July 12 when he allegedly assaulted Ismael Juarez with a knife.

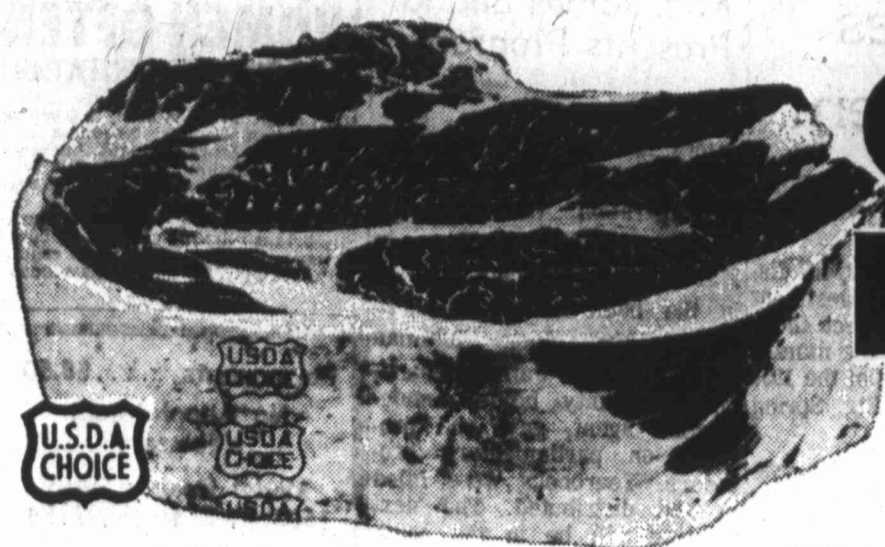

Estorga was released to Sheriff's officials from Odessa Friday and will be transferred to the state penitentiary at Huntsville.

Notices Sent

Jury notices to 120 were mailed out by the Howard County Sheriff's office this morning for 118th District Court. Jurors are being summoned for a week of civil trials beginning Jan. 19 at 10 a.m. The docket call for those trials is set for Friday, although the docket has not yet been drawn up.

MRS. GUS F. MUTSCHER

MOD Volunteers To Be Honored At Tea

Mrs. Preston Smith will honor women throughout Texas who work as volunteers in the March of Dimes campaign with a First Lady's Tea Tuesday in the governor's mansion in Austin.

A special member of the houseparty for the tea will be Mrs. Gus F. Mutscher, wife of the speaker of the Texas House of Representatives and newly-named state chairman for the March of Dimes Mothers March.

More than 500 March of Dimes and Mothers March leaders are expected to attend the tea, to be held from 2 to 4 p.m.

This marks the third year the Texas governor's wife has given a reception saluting women who lead the annual March of Dimes campaign against crippling birth defects.

The campaign is held throughout the month of January each year, highlighted by the Mothers March, when women in every community in the state march door to door seeking contributions for the March of Dimes.

Proceeds from the campaign are used for programs of research, treatment and prevention of birth defects, which strike one in every ten American families.

Mrs. Mutscher's appointment as state chairman of the Mothers March was announced by Clint W. Murchison Jr. of Dallas, Texas March of Dimes chairman.

Mrs. Mutscher is the former Donna Axum of El Dorado, Ark., and was Miss America in 1964.

Joining Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Mutscher in the receiving line for the tea Tuesday will be Mrs. Gordon Cooper, wife of the astronaut and regional chairman for the March of Dimes Mothers March.

Capt. R. J. Gibson Discusses Vietnam

Capt. R. J. Gibson of Fort Bliss, El Paso, discussed his adventures in Vietnam and told how the American soldier lives, when he was guest speaker Friday at the Modern Woman's Forum.

The group met in the home of Mrs. Fred Whitaker, 1806 State.

"Although some soldiers live in tents, many have built wooden barracks with tin roofs which are adequate for their needs," said Capt. Gibson. "We could get almost anything we wanted at the BX, and we had a radio and television set on base, although we could get only one station. There was hot and cold running water and occasional movies," continued Capt. Gibson.

"Morale is high in Vietnam, and it is helped by shows by Bob Hope and especially letters from home."

Capt. Gibson said the food was good; they had fresh vegetables and even ice cream. He said the weather was very dry for six months with dust even getting in the refrigerator, and then for six months it rains continuously.

Capt. Gibson's mission in Vietnam was as a helicopter pilot, picking up the wounded and flying them to the base hospital. It usually took from 20 to 30 minutes.

Discusses Investment Evaluation

Mrs. R. B. G. Cowper discussed evaluating investment stocks and how to select those that will advance on the market at Tuesday's meeting of the 1953 Hyperion Club at Big Spring Country Club.

Mrs. Cowper explained a system of selecting stock by filling out a form provided by National Association of Investment Clubs. She said a logarithmic graph is used to chart past performance of earnings, which gives a visual sample of the company's growth. From this, another chart is made of the company's probable growth in the future.

She noted the importance of financial and personnel in the various companies, as well as the prime earning ratio, telling how to evaluate what this might mean in the future. She stressed the value of mathematical computation and good judgment in making investments.

Mrs. Don Womack presided and introduced Mrs. T. L. Griffin, a new member. Miss Debbie Duncan was a guest, and hostesses were Mrs. Bill Pollard and Mrs. Jimmy Ray Smith.

A LOVELIER YOU Dry Skin Problem Can Be Remedied

By MARY SUE MILLER

Three factors combine to dry and line your skin. Each passing birthday contributes to withering dryness. The process usually begins in the 30's, owing to slackening supplies of moisture, oil and hormones in the body. But younger women are known to detect signs of trouble.

Whatever your age, your skin can come to look like old parchment if you constantly expose it, unprotected, to such extremes of weather as torrid sun, dry furnace heat and icy wind.

Neglect also looms as a serious goad to dry skin. But improper care can be equally harmful. Maybe more so, when a woman applies a night cream with downward strokes.

The symptoms of dryness vary. You may suffer all or only one. Your skin may feel tight and drawn, or it may look flaccid. Little lines may ring the eyes and lips. Flake and irritations are probabilities. Diminishing color and glow are almost a certainty.

Improvement involves proper cleanliness. Correction and Protection Methods. Cleanliness means a makeup remover and sudsings. Correction brings night-care products, masks and circulation stimulants into play. Powder base, moisturizer and sun screen are the basics of Protection.

From the combination comes something altogether good. For more of the same watch the column — dozens of tips on the way.

Fresh-Fruit Shipments From Florida Ban Looms

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — A ban on fresh-fruit shipments from Florida to get reports from its own inspectors, growers, shippers and other industry sources before acting on the proposed ban.

Early reports indicated moderate to severe damage to Florida's citrus crop from four nights of frigid weather.

The Florida Citrus Commission scheduled a meeting in Lakeland to get reports from its own inspectors, growers, shippers and other industry sources before acting on the proposed ban.

from the freezing temperatures last week, when the state recorded its coldest weather in eight years.

On the eve of the meeting, forecasters predicted even another threat of freezing weather by Tuesday.

The Weather Bureau said subfreezing temperatures could be expected in North Florida tonight, and possibly extending far into the agriculturally rich central section of the peninsula.

But Warren Johnson, director of the Frost Warning Service in Lakeland, said the second wave of chilling temperatures probably would not be as damaging to citrus as the first.

"The prolonged cold weather of this winter has toughened up the trees," Johnson said.

"I don't think even the new freezes due Tuesday morning will hurt them too much unless it drops lower than we now expect."

Johnson said an early harvest may be called for in Florida's sugar cane industry, where the damage still is to be assessed.

"It may cause an early harvest since the longer frozen cane is left standing the less juice it will produce," he said.

LBJ Is Granddad For Third Time

Hunt Plane, Four Persons

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Some 30 Civil Air Patrol planes are expected to resume their search today for a light plane, missing on a flight between here and Llano, Tex., with four persons aboard.

The planes searched Sunday night without finding the craft, believed piloted by Gordon Walker of Fort Collins, Colo. Walker is a well-known real estate developer and owns Valley Air Park, a private air strip east of the city.

The passengers were identified only as Tony Garcia, Josefin Garcia and George Gomez. They were believed to be from San Antonio.

Last contact with the craft was after it landed briefly for fuel and took off at Llano Friday night.

The CAP said they thought the plane was a Piper Cherokee, with blue and white colors.

Her Wig Turns Out Lifesaver

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Nancy R. Williams, 23, knew her wig was fashionable, but she didn't know it would save her life.

She told police a sandal-clad man she encountered near her apartment grabbed her by the hair, pressed a knife to her throat and said: "I'm going to cut your throat."

Miss Williams said she twisted out of his grasp, leaving him with a handful of wig, and fled.

Shootings Add Six To Texas Death Toll

AP Television-Radio Writer

The violent death toll for the Texas weekend was down considerably from normal weekend counts, and looked particularly better than the past two holiday weekends when deaths rose to unprecedented numbers.

With a total of 19 killed, 11 died in motor vehicle accidents while shootings added six. One person drowned and another was killed in what was believed to be a seismograph charge.

The dead were these:

Senate Tisdale, 47, of White Deer was killed Sunday night in a one-car accident at a traffic interchange just west of Borger in the Panhandle. A passenger in the car was hospitalized.

The Associated Press began the regular weekend count at 6 p.m. Friday and continued it until midnight Sunday.

Ronald McDonald, 22, of Amarillo was fatally wounded by shots from a .22-caliber pistol Sunday at an Amarillo club. Police held a 23-year-old man.

Louis J. Coppeto, 21, stationed at the Corpus Christi Naval Air Station, died Sunday when his motorcycle was in collision with an automobile in Corpus Christi.

A shootout at a Burnet motel Saturday night killed Alton Ray Nobles, 32, of Marble Falls and left two other men wounded.

Esperanza Trevino, 15, of Corpus Christi was fatally wounded at her home Saturday night by a shot from a .22-caliber weapon. Police were investigating the shooting.

A four-car collision in Dallas Saturday killed Robert Joe Johnson, 42, of Dallas and left three other persons injured.

Christopher Robinson, 25, of San Antonio was struck and killed Sunday as he attempted to seek aid from a passing motorist on U.S. 90 in San Antonio. Police said the car in which Robinson was riding stalled on the highway and he had left the car.

A two-car crash on a San Antonio street Friday night killed

Erwin A. Ransleben, 57, of San Antonio, police said.

Glenis Jackson, 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey G. Jackson of Nash, was fatally injured Saturday night in a two-car collision at the Red Hill community in Northeast Texas.

Steve R. Merrick, 73, of Ross in Central Texas was killed Sunday when he stepped on what was believed to be a seismograph charge. The West, Tex., fire department found the body when it extinguished the resulting fire.

Bert Webb, 71, of San Antonio died Saturday after being struck by a car officers said careened to the side of the road following a collision.

Corpus Christi police investigated a shooting Saturday which killed Esperanza Trevino, 13, of Corpus Christi. No suspect was immediately taken into custody.

The body of Mrs. Beatrice Stottlemeyer, 50, was found Saturday in a room at a Fort Worth motel. She had been shot once in the head.

'The House On Greenapple Road' Realistic 'Dragnet'

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The Super Bowl was the No. 1 weekend television attraction, but there were several other programs of some special interest.

There were two made-for-TV film features, a most unusual episode of "The Bill Cosby Show," and the debut of Tiny Tim and Miss Vicki as a singing comedy team.

"The House on Greenapple Road," Sunday night's ABC film show, was 2 1/4 hours of police detection in the realistic "Dragnet" mold plus helpful flashbacks. It started with police who were called to a blood-stained house opening an investigation on the presumption that the woman of the house had been killed.

The detective conveniently found some concealed photographs of the woman. As he picked up the men in the pictures for questioning, they were involved in the flashbacks that introduced the unhappy, unfaithful wife who was missing.

It was fairly spirited entertainment even though it did ramble along for much too long and used every cliché of the police-action story. The surprise ending was pretty well telegraphed in advance.

Christopher George, once of "Rat Patrol," was the intense young police lieutenant. Janet Leigh was the neurotic man-chasing wife. They were surrounded by a big and capable cast including Keenan Wynn as a cheating husband, and Julie Harris, largely wasted as the woman's sister-in-law.

"Sole Survivor" on CBS Friday night had a difficult premise to carry off convincingly, but did pretty well in holding one's interest.

It was the story of a World War II plane found wrecked 17 years later in the Libyan desert. There was a military investigation to determine the circumstances of the crash, while the ghosts of the five dead crew members hung around the plane. They wanted to make sure the sixth member of their crew—the navigator who had bailed out and left them to their fate—was found out.

That man, who had become a brigadier general, was on the scene. The film made no effort to have the ghosts spooky or transparent, and even had them making little jokes. There was occasionally a little confusion on the viewer's part between the quick and dead, but it was an interesting idea and an unusual fantasy.

Vince Edwards played an intense major investigating the case under a colonel—William Shatner—who did not want to ruffle a superior officer. Richard Basehart played the general who finally faced his own cowardice.

Cosby's program was played out with a three-member cast in an elevator stalled overnight between floors of a school. Occupants were the gym teacher, played by Cosby; an English teacher, portrayed by Henry Fonda; and Elsa Lanchester as a cleaning woman whose entire English vocabulary was limited to "How do you do?" All three were very good. There were some fine moments as the men played word games all night and finally drank the cleaning woman's vodka.

Mr. and Mrs. Tiny Tim appeared on the Ed Sullivan show. They sang, danced and did a sort of comedy reprise of their marriage ceremony. Judging from the sound track, the audience thought it was all very funny.

Stone Faces On Cathedral Walls

WASHINGTON (AP) — Stone carvings of the faces of Eleanor Roosevelt, Albert Schweitzer and Charles de Gaulle are being created for the outside walls of the Washington Cathedral.

"It kind of happened," said Constantine Serferlis, one of seven carvers, when asked why these three persons were selected.

Construction of the cathedral in northwest Washington began in 1907. The structure is being built — stone upon stone — in the manner of ancient cathedrals and hopefully will be finished by 1990.

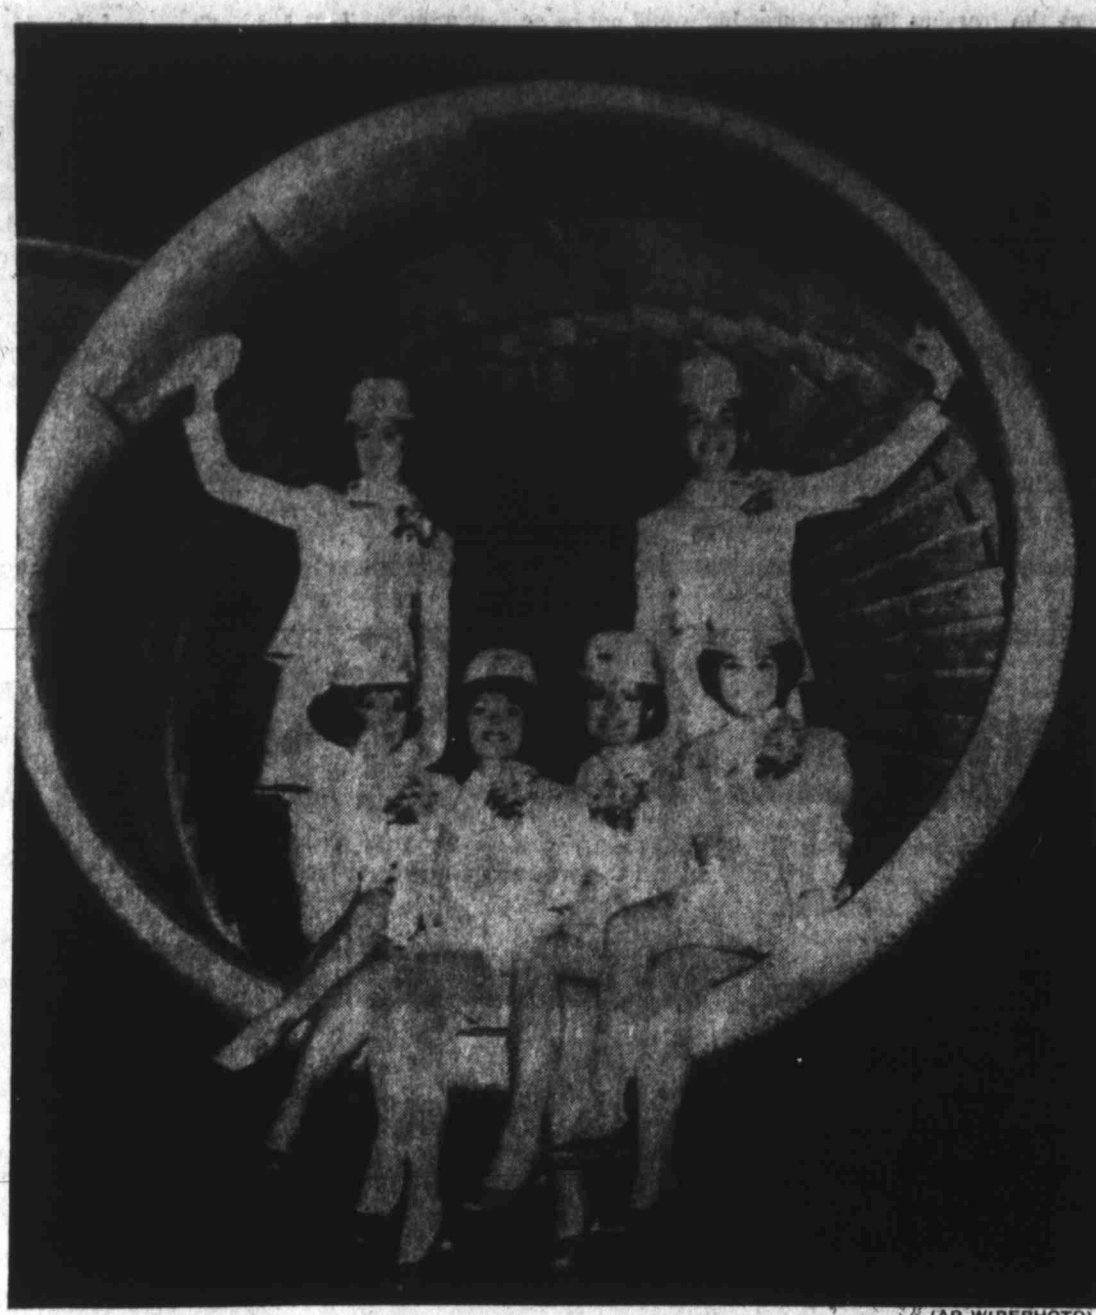

35 DIDN'T 'CHICKEN OUT'

FRESNO, Calif. (AP) — A fight in a barn in Fowler, about five miles south of here, attracted nearly 100 men, some 50 roosters, and seven sheriff's deputies.

When it was over, 35 men were arrested, 70 others had escaped into the fields, and the roosters were in custody of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

Officers who raided a barn owned by Manuel Ramirez, 55, said they found cock fights in progress. Such tournaments have been outlawed since 1907.

Ramirez was booked for investigation of possessing fighting cocks. The other 34 arrested were booked for investigation of being on the scene of a cock fight. All were released on $625 bail apiece.

WITH ROOM TO SPARE — Six Pan American stewardesses sitting and standing in the opening of one of the four engines of the Boeing 747 jumbo jet in Miami, Fla., means more than just knowing each engine is eight feet in diameter and has a thrust of 45,000 pounds. In flight, 14 stewardesses will serve 362 passengers the plane is capable of carrying at speeds of 625 miles per hour.

Candidate Picks Cowboy Tackle As His Manager

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Dr. Robert Morris, announced candidate for the U. S. Senate, named Dallas Cowboy defensive tackle Bob Lilly Sunday as his tackle campaign manager, and challenged an expected opponent to debates.

Morris said he would engage in "spirited" debates around the state with Rep. George Bush of Houston if Bush announces for the race as he is expected to do soon.

Morris said at the Love Field press conference Bush has only a "3 to 2 advantage" over himself. He also said he would suggest a $100,000 ceiling on primary campaign expenses.

Dr. Morris, who is president of the University of Plano, plans speeches throughout Texas but will first leave Monday on a 2-week world trip to "bring himself up to date" on events in Asia and other areas.

Accepting the position, Lilly said "I believe the way he (Dr. Morris) does" and pointed to the high crime rate among teenagers as one of the issues he will attack.

Dr. Morris described Lilly as "an intelligent citizen and a concerned father."

Formerly president of the University of Dallas, Dr. Morris ran unsuccessfully in the state Republican primary six years ago and also in the party primary in 1960 in New Jersey.

He said his assessment of Bush's advantage comes from talks with various party members around the state. Bush is expected to announce his candidacy officially Tuesday.

"I want to avoid political labels," Dr. Morris said, claiming labels stop real "political dialogue."

Lilly will not accompany Dr. Morris on the trip, which in-

Dreadnought Not So Dreaded

LONDON (AP) — Britain's first nuclear-powered submarine has run into major delays in a repair yard, defense sources said today.

The hunter-killer submarine Dreadnought already has been out of action for nearly two years, and the defense ministry said it could set no date for a return to service.

Hairline cracks were discovered in the Dreadnought's structure in 1965. She went into Rosyth Dockyard, Scotland, in early 1968 for repairs and overhaul, and has been there ever since.

Ex-Cop Faces Theft Counts

LLANO, Tex. (AP) — A search for a second man continued today after officers arrested a former San Antonio policeman near here and charged him with auto-theft.

Jailed in lieu of $3,000 bond was Alton Alexander, a former policeman charged in San Antonio with seven burglaries and two thefts.

He was arrested after Llano police, chasing an auto reported stolen near a ranch here Friday, forced the car to a stop by flattening its tires with bullets.

Two men in the car fled and a manhunt began. Alexander was arrested Saturday afternoon.

Lilly said the campaign would have an over-all conservative viewpoint.

Houston Post In New Home

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Post published its first paper from its new facilities Sunday night, marking the partial end of 45 years at one location downtown.

The Post, Houston's only morning daily moved into a modern $4 million complex on the southwest corner of the city.

Features such as carpeting in the newsroom—almost unheard of in the newspaper world—highlight the four story building.

The paper for an unspecified period of time will continue to be published at its old location with cardboard mats—the link between the flat beds of type and the round casts which go on the presses—being trucked by three cars which make a round trip every half hour.

The crucial period of moving came when some 173 pieces of machinery had to be moved to the new composing room, with 85 per cent of it being rushed out after its use Saturday night to put out the Sunday paper.

The Monday morning headline reading "Post Operative after Transplant" was evidence that they made it successfully.

Fights Answer Book—And Wins

WINDSOR, Ont. (AP) — What are straight "A" students made of?

People who know 9-year-old Rickie Marcotte, a straight "A" fourth grader at St. Gabriel's Catholic School, might say self-confidence and pluck.

Rickie was upset when the answer booklet didn't agree with answers he gave to questions in a reading test. So he took the test and the answer booklet to his teacher. A check resulted in the publisher, Science Research Associates of Don Mills, replacing 10,000 answer booklets.

Board To Begin Study Of Coast

HOUSTON (AP) — The Presidential Water Pollution Control Advisory Board began a four day study of the heavily industrialized Southeast Texas coast today.

The nine-member board, along with state and federal officials were to tour the Houston Ship Channel and the industrial towns between Houston and Galveston from the air. They then were to get a first hand look at the polluted channel by boat.

The board, which recently had three new members named by President Nixon, inspected the state almost three years ago. At that time they found the ship channel to be grossly polluted and the over-all report on their findings across the state were not very complimentary.

This trip is to see if anything has been done in this region to abate the pollution.

Tuesday the board will inspect the Beaumont-Port Arthur-Orange area in the far southeastern corner of the state where the Sabine River separates Texas and Louisiana. A flight over Corpus Christi to the south will also be made.

Carl Kline, assistant secretary of the Interior for water quality and research, will join the board here Wednesday to conduct a public hearing, which is expected to last until Thursday. Texas Gov. Preston Smith is to outline a plan to combat oil spills in the Texas bays and coast.

Accompanying the advisory board are members of the Federal Water Pollution Control Administration and the Texas Water Quality Board. The WQB met Sunday in Houston to hear a case involving 26 municipal sewage treatment plants pouring effluents into Clear Lake, which is surrounded by communities supported mainly by the Manned Spacecraft Center southeast of Houston.

The federal board was authorized by the 1956 Water Pollution Control Act. President Nixon in November of 1969 appointed Dr. Melbourne R. Cariker of the Marine Biology Laboratory at Woods Hole, Mass.; Dr. Wallace W. Harvey Jr., a Manitowish, Wis., physician; and Parker E. Miller, a Florida rancher and real estate developer from Redington Beach, Fla.

Other members are Ralph Kitle, vice president of the International Paper Company, New York; Stuart Long, publisher of the Long News Service, Austin; James Lopp II, an investments executive in New York City; Edward P. Morgan, New York City news commentator; Stephen Reynolds, secretary of the New Mexico Interstate Stream Commission; and Louis Clapper, chief of the Conservation Education Division of the National Wildlife Federation.

Robert Finch, secretary of Health Education and Welfare, is an ex-officio member. Gordon E. Kerr, executive secretary of the board, is conducting the tour.

C-C Ducats Selling Well

Roger Brown, ticket chairman for the Chamber of Commerce Annual Banquet Feb. 4 and the "Tell It Like It Is" Breakfast Jan. 20, said that tickets to both events are selling well.

Tickets can be purchased from any Ambassador or by calling the Chamber of Commerce at 3-7641. Brown has appointed four team leaders to assist with the ticket campaign. They are R. J. (Dick) Ream, R. L. Heith, Alton Marwitz and Charles Tuttle.

Marilyn Van Derbur, former Miss America, is the guest speaker for the banquet.

The breakfast will feature an expert in industrial development and city improvement who will "mimic no words in telling us how an outsider, a prospective merchant, professional man or industrialist, sees our city," Brown said.

"Then we plan to tell what the Chamber membership plans to do this year to begin to correct those problems," he said.

POLLUTION HAS REACHED PERIL POINT

How Goes Fight For The Environment?

By ALTON BLAKESLEE

NEW YORK (AP) — At last, something is being done about our polluted planet.

In Florida, Lake Apopka is to be drained of its polluted water. Then, hopefully, the muck-filled lake bed will be sun baked filled with fresh water.

On New Year's Day, President Nixon vowed a "now or never" effort to overcome pollution of water, air and land, in signing a bill creating a three-member Council on Environmental Quality to help guide national policy.

In Erie County, N.Y., a single patrol car prowls on watch for autos emitting excessive exhaust fumes, and drivers can be given summonses under a new law.

DDT DEATH

On Washington orders, the persistent pesticide DDT—blamed for harming bird and animal life and perhaps human health—is being phased out of all but special use.

On Wall Street, analysts predict companies engaged in entering the field of air and water pollution control will be new stars in corporate growth and stock market appeal.

On college campuses, youths are taking up a new supercause—protecting man's environment—and are demanding action now.

More young lawyers are specializing in cases involving conservation of natural resources and suits to halt pollutions.

There are proposals to set up schools of human environment at universities to train professional workers, and proposals to teach school kids early about dangers to the nation's environment.

SUICIDE COURSE

So—as the 1970's begin—go some signs that the country might veer off from a suicidal course of destroying a livable environment by abuse of land, water and air, and through an avalanche of trash and garbage.

The planet earth is being recognized for what it really is—one huge spacecraft. It has one total environment, and only one, to support more than three billion passengers.

Neil Armstrong stepped out of the carefully protected environment of his spacecraft to become the first man to walk on the moon. That was last July—just a month after the Cuyahoga River in his native Ohio caught fire from oil pollution.

COUNTER-ATTACK

Perhaps there is one generation of time left to reverse the present course in disrupting nature's chemical balances, says Dr. Barry Commoner, Washington University biologist.

The counterattack against pollution so far has been mainly words. There's been little movement to produce the many billions of tax dollars that will be needed to control pollution, let alone repair damage already done.

But some positive steps are being taken, and here is a sampling:

WATER

Congress appropriated $900 million for next year under the Clean Water Restoration Act.

Extortion Try Fails

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — An extortion attempt that failed continued under investigation today.

Officers began the probe after Joe Limerick, manager of a large supermarket here, said a man threatened him family Saturday and ordered him to leave money from the store in his car.

Limerick did so, alerting police in the meantime.

While police in unmarked squad cars kept Limerick's auto under surveillance, Limerick's wife and son walked into the supermarket—unaware of the extortion plot and the threat on their lives.

After hours of waiting, officers said no one showed up for the money, about $1,000.

It was the third extortion plot against a store manager here in the past 12 months. Limerick said it began when he received a message to call home.

When he did so, a man answered the phone and said: "I have your family and I am a professional."

Police, finding that apparently no one had broken into the Limerick home, theorized the man tapped the telephone line and intercepted his call.

A neighbor told police she saw a man with tools and equipment on a telephone pole behind the Limerick home.

$586 million more than the Administration requested. But it may not all be spent in this tight budget year.

Interior Secretary Walter J. Hickel cited the city of Toledo, four steel companies and a mining company for pollution of interstate waters in Oklahoma, Kansas, Ohio and Lake Erie, in the first use of the enforcement provision of the 1965 Water Pollution Control Act. This opened the way to corrective measure if they were in violation.

In New Rochelle, N.Y., an experimental sewage treatment process converts waste to fresh water. Whether it would work in a large-scale operation is not yet known.

Mississippi silverside fish introduced into a California lake are credited with clearing out 80 to 90 per cent of algae that had been befouling it.

Looking ahead, Hickel estimated at least $15 billion will be needed over the next 10 years to clean up the nation's polluted lakes and streams.

AIR

In 20 of the largest, most polluted urban areas, Air Quality Control Regions have been established, limiting the amount of pollutants industries and other stationary sources can emit into the air. By summer, the National Air Pollution Control Administration expects to have 57 such regions, covering about 90 million people. States or the federal government have power to enforce the regulations.

It is hoped this will significantly reduce the 142 million tons of smoke and noxious fumes poured annually into our atmosphere.

The auto industry says decreases in its latest car models reduce by 80 per cent the amount of unburned gasoline emissions that formerly were released in exhausts, and cut carbon monoxide emission by two-thirds.

Continuing research seeks to reduce exhaust pollution even farther, and to develop devices to put into pre-1968 models, the first to get such exhaust controls.

Three universities—North Carolina State, Duke, and the University of North Carolina—formed the first regional clean air consortium to spur research and education concerning air pollution.

Over the country, there's a small parade of industries and companies committing millions of dollars to control their contributions to air pollution.

SOLID WASTES

The federal government and private foundations are supporting experiments studying new methods of collecting and disposing of refuse and other wastes.

Among approaches are: turning city trash into lightweight precast concrete panels, blending wastes with coal for furnaces, burning garbage so methane and other gases can be recovered as fuels, fusing metals, concrete, glass and the like into aggregate building materials.

All center on the idea of recycling the things we use—but don't consume—like bottles, cans, autos. Each American throws out five pounds of gar-

Vandals Blast Auto Windows

Two vandalism reports involving car windows being shot out were filed with Big Spring police Saturday morning, one within 10 minutes of the other.

James A. Patterson, 1422 Tucson, reported at 8:20 a.m. that someone had shot the left rear window out of a 1970 Oldsmobile belonging to Shroyer Motor Co. with what appeared to be a pellet gun. Patterson said the vandalism occurred sometime between 6 p.m. Friday and 8 a.m. Saturday.

A similar report was given at 8:10 a.m. Saturday by Carl Eason, 1319 Wood, who said that someone had shot the left door window of his pickup with a B-B gun. Eason said the window, which was completely shattered, must have been shot between 8:30 p.m. Friday and 8 a.m. Saturday.

The base for Red Cross and church airlifts to Biafra. Other Biafran cabinet members arrived in Libreville, the capital of Gabon.

In his departure broadcast, Ojukwu said he was going to explore new peace proposals, that "some friends of both sides have made some proposals for an arrangement with Nigeria to offer to Biafra the security they need in order to secure lasting peace."

RELIEF WORKERS

Five previous attempts to set up peace negotiations during the 32 months of civil war have failed because of the Biafrans' refusal to return to a united Nigeria, and the Lagos government's refusal to talk unless the Biafrans accepted unity in advance.

Ojukwu and the Ibos seceded on May 30, 1967, after Moslem tribesmen in northern Nigeria slaughtered thousands of Ibos who had migrated there. The northerners dominated the federal government in Lagos, and Ojukwu contended that they would wipe out the Ibos.

Biafra began with 3,000 square miles and 14 million people. The territory now has been reduced to less than 1,500 square miles and the population is down to three or four million, with an estimated two million dead from starvation or the fighting.

At the Vatican, Pope Paul expressed alarm that the fighting in Biafra could lead to massacres and genocide. "There are those who actually fear a kind of genocide," the Pope told the Sunday crowd in St. Peter's Square. "The moment is grave and violence can make men blind."

Between 500 and 1,000 European and North American relief workers were reported still in Biafra.

Secessionist Biafra Crumbles Under Fire

LAGOS (AP) — Britain and the United States readied a massive relief airlift to Biafra today as Nigerian forces pressed close to victory over the secessionist state.

Biafra's leader, Gen. C. Odumegwu Ojukwu, left the country, saying in a prerecorded radio address that he was going in search of peace and that he hoped to return soon. Reliable reports said he had taken his family with him.

CAPTURE AIRSTRIP

The capture of Uli airstrip, Biafra's only link to the outside world, appeared imminent as Nigerian bombers kept up their onslaught and federal troops and artillery pushed toward it. Joint Church Aid, the European Protestant-Roman Catholic relief organization, said it suspended its flight to Uli Sunday because unloading personnel had fled. It said the last flight took out about 100 foreign relief workers.

A British Royal Air Force plane was scheduled to leave London today with 20,000 pounds of medical supplies, the vanguard of new government relief efforts for the war's victims. A British cabinet minister was dispatched to consult with Nigerian officials on the relief program, and preparations were made to send in British medical teams, army trucks for convoys, and engineers to help repair roads, bridges and airfields.

HARD FIGHTING

President Nixon ordered eight C130 cargo planes on a standby alert in the United States, with four helicopters to be carried as cargo. They awaited word from Lagos that the Nigerian government would let them operate a relief lift.

Canadian Foreign Minister Mitchell Sharpe said his government also was making plans to provide transport, food, medical supplies and military observers to help achieve a just settlement.

Hard fighting continued in the southeast corner of the former British colony as Biafran regulars resisted the progress of federal troops. Military spokesmen in Lagos said there were heavy losses on both sides.

A radio report from the French colony of Gabon, to the south of Nigeria, said the latest Biafran capital—Orlu—had fallen. Reports from Gabon added that panic-stricken members of the Biafran elite shouldered aside relief workers for the escape seats on the last relief planes leaving Uli.

LONG GONE

"Your leader has fled," federal radio broadcasts told Ibo tribesmen, backbone of the secession movement. It urged them to stay at home and await the arrival of federal troops to ensure their safety. Maj. Gen. Yakubu Gowon, Nigerian chief of state, appealed to the secessionist troops to stop fighting and report to federal commanders. He told his own forces to take special care of displaced persons and urged them to adhere strictly to the code of conduct.

A federal communique said Gowon had "warned all foreign governments, organizations and persons to desist forthwith from meddling in the internal affairs of Nigeria so that the suffering of the population in rebel-held enclaves should not be prolonged."

At his departure, Ojukwu designated the chief of the general staff, Maj. Gen. Philip Effiong, to head the cabinet.

Ojukwu's destination was not known. There were unconfirmed reports that he had flown to the Portuguese island of Sao Tome, Biafra.

Possibility Of Showers

AP Television-Radio Writer

Clouds and the possibility of rain were in the weather picture for today and Tuesday.

At an early morning hour, a blanket of clouds covered East Texas and another band spread across the Panhandle and northwestern portions of the state.

Skies were expected to clear in the east, but the Weather Bureau said they would thicken over the Panhandle and far western portions of the state, producing some intermittent light rain.

Temperatures before dawn ranged in the 30s and 40s. Forecasts called for highs in the 40s and 50s in the northern half of the state today, while readings were expected to be as high as 70 in some parts of the south. Lows for the night were forecast to range from 25 in the extreme north to the high 40s in the south.

LIVING SIGNS OF HAPPINESS

NEW YORK (AP) —

More than 400 couples marked their 50th wedding anniversaries in St. Patrick's Cathedral Sunday and received the thanks of Terrence Cardinal Cooke.

"We are all in your debt," said Cooke, archbishop of New York. "You have provided us with the living signs of the happiness which follows upon the commitment to Christian marriage through the years."

Several thousand children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren of the couples watched the ceremony. As their names were called, the couples walked down the center aisle, received a Golden Jubilee scroll, and kissed Cooke's ring.

A Devotion For Today . . .

"You are the light of the world. A city set on a hill cannot be hid. (Matthew 5:14, RSV)
PRAYER: Our Father, let us never forget the word of our Commander and Lord to go into the world as disciples of light and truth. Make us aware in this generation that the new life in Christ is for all mankind. Amen.
(From the 'Upper Room')

In The Eye Of The Beholder

If the maxim is true — beauty is in the eye of the beholder — then the country may be in worse condition than anyone realized.
The saturation point of blight may have been passed. Immigrants Americans to the point that they can no longer identify the shoddy, the garish, the ugly, the phony and the ersatz.
O'Neill Ford, San Antonio, sounded such a warning at a regional meeting on planning in Austin in 1968. The architect said:
"What is happening is that the physical ugliness around us is producing a generation which doesn't know what ugliness is. My children do not know what ugliness is."
In San Antonio, they're not alarmed at driving to Austin and seeing one long slum called US 81. They're not disturbed when they come from Chapman Ranch and are greeted by four wrecked car lots on Ayers and they continue right on to the beach in Corpus Christi. And its ugliness, ugliness, ugliness.

"And it's everywhere. Have you been to Albuquerque lately? Or Midland or Denton? Have I been there? Yes. This is the world my children know about. And the only one they know about. It's all they react to."
The holocaust is upon us; we have no choice but to start behaving like civilized people; none of us must want to live in a totally ugly world which cannot produce civilized children or civilized adults."

Defining A Problem

The Howard County Grand Jury has been called back for a session to consider reports of drug and marijuana problems in the community. More than three score witnesses have been subpoenaed, and these people — mostly young people — cut across every social and economic bracket.
A word of caution is in order for busy-bodies — namely, the fact that someone is subpoenaed does not per se implicate him or her as a drug or marijuana user or pusher. It does mean that officers feel that perhaps this person might have knowledge which would be useful in trying to sift out the truth in the matter. So guilt by subpoena is not to be assumed any more than guilt by accusation. There is considerable difference between a witness and a suspect.

Another word of caution is in order. The fact that our grand jury is taking a penetrating look at the situation is not to imply that we are in worse condition than any comparable community. No doubt, our problem is serious enough to cause concern, else the grand jury would not be embarking on this special session.
Our officials and our citizens are to be commended, however, in having the moral courage to face up to this matter rather than sweeping it under the rug in hopes that it will somehow pass. If that determination exposes us to the public glare, so be it. Getting a clear definition of a problem is the first step toward solving it.

The Revolutionist Returning

WASHINGTON — One of the more ghastly prospects in 1970's store is Eldridge Cleaver's imminent return to the United States. He fled as a bail jumper in late 1968. Every piece of evidence indicates that the author and information minister of the Black Panther Party and America just do not deserve each other.
Nevertheless, the word is that the Panthers have arranged to smuggle Cleaver back to these shores from Algiers to lead an armed revolt. Indeed, he may already have returned as this dispatch is read.

CLEAVER'S ILLEGAL repatriation would not be much of a feat. Despite an alert by both state and Federal authorities, he easily blew the country after his arrest on a charge of violating parole in a California shootout with some cops. His escape is a subject local authorities and the prestigious FBI do not care to discuss. Official Washington unofficially would welcome Cleaver's return as an opportunity to catch him, but it is most unlikely the mathematicians in Las Vegas would bet on this slender eventuality.

MEANWHILE, the Washington Post's Jesse Lewis Jr. has given us a preview of the thing Cleaver plans to inflict on the nation. Lewis interviewed Cleaver in Algiers and quoted the black leader as proclaiming that he desired to "participate in the struggle . . . inside the United States . . . to change America by armed

Billy Graham

Is it necessary for a Christian to take communion? Sometimes I do, and sometimes I don't. I would appreciate your thoughts on this. K.L.
Christ said, "This do in remembrance of me," and the words carry the tone of command. Communion, taking the elements which represent the body and blood of the Savior, reminds us of our constant need of Him. Just as we cannot live physically without bread and liquid, so we cannot live without Him dwelling in us. He said, "I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly."

Communion takes us back in memory to the sacrifice of our Lord upon the cross. It points up the fact of our sins which were laid upon Him, and reminds us of our insufficiency to save ourselves. It brings to mind love's crowning deed in which the Best died for the worst, and floods our hearts with gratitude.
I heard of a little girl who was taking communion, and she noticed the small engraved cross on the table upon which the bread and the wine were being served. She whispered to her mother and said, "Mother, notice the plus sign on the communion table." Which is to say that communion at the Lord's table does, indeed, put a plus sign upon our hearts, and draws us closer to Him who loved us and gave himself for us.

Hal Boyle

Wimpy And Bad Beer

By JEFFREY D. ALDERMAN
(Substituting for Hal Boyle)

NEW YORK (AP) — James Joseph O'Connell and a couple of his bachelor friends had rented a cottage on Cape Cod for the summer and were enjoying the hectic social life at Hyannis.
The fly in the ointment was a guy named Wimpy. Wimpy was fat, obnoxious and — above all else — greedy. Though not a resident of the cottage, Wimpy seemed to spend more time there than its legitimate occupants.
While there, he ate their food and consumed vast quantities of their beer.

The three roommates held a small gathering one Friday night. It was to be the trio, their dates and few selected guests. Wimpy not included. But you didn't have to invite Wimpy; he could smell free beer a mile away. He arrived early, waddled directly to the icebox and grabbed a beer.

That night Wimpy was in good form — two six-packs in good form. This forced James Joseph into an unplanned trip to the local grocery for supplies.
Unfortunately, the grocer had only one case of an obscure Midwestern beer left and it was warm. James Joseph squeezed the whole case into the freezer compartment.

Luckily, they didn't have to wait for it to cool. A friend arrived with another case already chilled, and James Joseph promptly forgot about the beer in the freezer.
He remembered it when supplies, thanks to Wimpy, began to get low again. The case was frozen solid. A man of ingenuity, James Joseph shoved the beer into the oven and turned it on.

Fortunately, the still and turned it on. When James Joseph returned from taking his date home, he was greeted with a series of explosions from the kitchen. He had forgotten to remove the beer from the oven. Only about three cans had been heated. He placed the good cans in the icebox.
The next afternoon, James Joseph got the urge for a cold beer. He opened one of the baked cans, now just the right temperature.

One taste was enough. It tasted like low-grade bilge water. Too bad, thought James Joseph, a whole case wasted. Then he got an idea.

He receded to the grocery, purchased another case of that obscure Midwestern beer and stashed it in the icebox.

Wimpy arrived in the late afternoon. "Got any cold beer?" he asked.

"Yup," said James Joseph. "I'll get it."

James Joseph went to the icebox, grabbed one of the baked cans and three of the good cans. He gave the baked beer to Wimpy and distributed two to his roommates who had been cued.

The roommates drained theirs as fast as they could and put in an order for another round.

"How about you, Wimpy — another?" James Joseph asked.

"Er, no thanks. Still got some left," Wimpy said.

Wimpy nursed that one beer for four hours, while the other jovially quaffed dozens of cans. In ensuing weeks, that case of beer became a prized possession. James Joseph and his roommates did have to switch to that obscure Midwestern beer, but it was worth it just to be able to say on one of Wimpy's less and less frequent visits:

"Wimpy, can I get you a refill?"

"Er, no thanks, I've still got some left."

Inflation, Dislocations

NEW YORK (AP) — Most people agree that persistent inflation produces serious dislocations in the economy of a nation, but most people also tend to believe that the damage is almost solely in the financial area.

This isn't quite true. The financial damage is most easily observed, especially in its effects on those whose incomes do not keep pace with rising prices. But sociologists and others note a long list of other effects.

Among them:
— It threatens freedom. When inflation reaches a dangerous rate, as many economists feel it has, there is generally a clamor for controls on wages, prices and credit in order to stop the upward spiral.

During 1969 there was a surprising rise in the number of businessmen who called for such controls. The Nixon administration indicated that the rise was surprisingly strong, for business usually assumes a "hands off" attitude.

Now, with inflation seeming to defy the best intentions of the Federal Reserve, the attitude seems to persist and to pick up adherents among influential economic authorities.

The immediate loss of a certain amount of freedom might be small at first. But it's the precedent that counts.

— It tends to produce a chaos of market values. Reliable standards become obscured by constant shifting of prices, wages, interest rates until it becomes nearly impossible to rate the price of anything.

— It tends to reduce the desire and ability to compete. A nation's goods become too expensive to sell abroad. And as foreign goods become more competitive within a nation, industry and labor seek protection from government.

— It leads to a deterioration in quality. With competition for goods greater than the supply, buyers are forced to overlook quality. Buyers also tend to buy regardless of quality; they have the money to do so, or feel they will have the money soon. They might complain, but they do buy.

Quality deteriorates in another way also. With costs constantly rising, many manufacturers are tempted to cut expenses by reducing the quality of parts and the number of manufacturing steps.

The incentive for workers to perform to a very high standard often is undermined in the process.

To Your Good Health

Paget's Disease Fatal? No, Indeed

By G. C. THOSTESON, M.D.
Dear Dr. THOSTESON: Has anything new been found for treatment of Paget's disease? I'm confused. A doctor told me Paget's disease is not fatal but that the complications are. Please explain.—V.C.

He told you correctly that Paget's disease is not fatal. Whatever he said after that was unfortunate for your peace of mind. The way you quote him indicates that Paget's disease is bound to turn into something fatal. That just is not the case. Let's start at the beginning. Paget's disease (the cause is not known) involves a sponginess of the bone — X-rays of the bone often are described as looking "moth-eaten."

But then more bone is deposited, but somewhat indiscriminately. The new bone, instead of properly filling in the spongy areas, is deposited so as to thicken the bones where the thickening does no good. Or little good.

It is an important disease because it affects a great many people, as many as about 10 per cent of elderly folks, but very seldom anyone younger than 30.

Usually there are no early symptoms, and it progresses very slowly. Very often it is discovered quite accidentally, when X-rays are taken for some other purpose.

As I said, it is not a fatal disease, but it can be annoying, become painful, and be disfiguring. Thickening of the bones of the skull can cause pressure and loss of hearing, and the shape of the head actually can be altered. So can the long bones of the body — arms and legs. There is risk of fractures — and in that sense it can be dangerous, for in an older person the shock of a fracture can be serious at times. The disease, since it affects the bones, also can have an influence on the bone marrow, and bone marrow is important to our health. This can put an added strain on the system and force the heart to work harder.

So in those ways the complications of Paget's disease can become significant health factors. They may, not necessarily will.

So the person who learns that he has Paget's disease certainly should not feel that disaster has overtaken him. True, he has a chronic disease which must be tended to, but it is not fatal, and it does not progress at all rapidly.

Asking what is "new" in treatment depends on what treatment you are already familiar with. Current practice is to employ a combination of sodium fluoride by mouth, large doses of aspirin, and periodic use of radioactive sodium phosphate, given intravenously.

To learn of the many factors that can be involved in the treatment of Paget's disease, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of The Herald for a copy of his booklet, "Hiatal Hernia and Eight Ways to Combat It," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Around The Rim

When We Fail To Speak Up—

One thing and another:
The case against the mayor and 36 others indicted in Newark, N.J., for accepting kickbacks and engaged in other municipal fraud should be a lesson to us all.

Regrettably, it will profit most of us nothing. Most of us take no interest in public affairs. If the situation becomes intolerable, we feel we can always move to the suburbs and get away from the deceit that so often exists in the management of the public's business.

THE SILENT Majority consents to having its affairs mismanaged for it by remaining silent. The bad guys are too often stealing from the treasury while the good guys sit on their backsides and watch television.

Americans who assume somebody else is going to keep a government honest contribute heavily to the mischief that does occur.

Tax rates keep booming, yet few people ever take the trouble to show up and find out where the money is going. Those brave enough to offer resistance are, sadly, too often accused of being trouble makers, kooks and individuals with private axes to grind.

CRIME IN the streets, the average citizen can understand and demand that something be done about it. But intrigue that might occur among elected or appointed officials is something that the average person would like to believe doesn't happen.

Too often, the street criminal is gambling for pennies. The unscrupulous politician is dealing in millions and there is no gamble to it. He suffers only temporary embarrassment if he is exposed and if he is retired there is always someone in the wings waiting to take his place at the head table.

PEOPLE CAN always take tranquilizers and live with any problem, I suppose.

The trouble with tranquilizers, someone said, is that you find yourself being nice to people you don't like.

I SEE IN the papers that the number of postmen bitten by dogs in the United States remains a constant 10,000 annually.

The number of mail carriers has increased and there are more dogs in the country than there ever has been.

However, the harried postal deliverymen have some protection — many carry an aerosol repellent.

Some owners know they have antagonistic dogs who run at the postman every time he comes on the place, yet do nothing about the problem. That kind deserves to get all the junk mail delivered in the neighborhood.

The New Director Of OEO

WASHINGTON — "The Office of Economic Opportunity is not the War on Poverty," said young Donald Rumsfeld, the new OEO Director.

He was trying, I think, to de-sloganize his agency, and to make a gesture toward liquidating the empire of publicized do-goodism that was built up under Sargent Shriver, the original director.

BUT I think it's fair to say for Rumsfeld that, if not truly an empire-liquidator, he's not the empire-builder that Shriver was, and not the worst guy whom Mr. Nixon could have appointed. Rumsfeld, a conservative, is in a post where he'll never be popular among conservatives, but there are these points to be made.

The OEO used to have 2,900 employees, and under Rumsfeld it has less than 2,200.

SINCE JULY the Job Corps had been moved from OEO to the Labor Department, the Head Start program to HEW, the Foster Grandparents program to the administration on aging agency, and all operations of manpower training will soon go out of OEO and into Labor.

Not all these changes have been the doings of Director Rumsfeld, for Congress has for several years been on the point of dismantling the power structure of anti-poverty. But the OEO has been changed for the better over the past six months largely because Rumsfeld is not using the directorship as a mounting block to higher ambitions, and because he's been willing to disperse a good many of the community activities among the States and other local governments.

AN EXCEPTION to this rule has been Rumsfeld's determination, in which he's backed by the President, to hang onto centralized control of Legal Services to the poor. Sen. Murphy's amendment would allow State governors a veto over these services. Rumsfeld opposes the amendment because, as he told me, he fears that certain governors, mostly Southern, do not want the poor to have access to legal services.

Rumsfeld looks upon the Legal Services program (it doesn't include legal aid in criminal cases) as a tuition course in which the poor will be coached to seek legal remedies as a substitute for demonstrations and riots. He recognizes, however, that this and a number of anti-poverty programs come out in the wash as being antiwhite, setting tenants against landlords, workers against employees, pupils against teachers.

RUMSFELD, to his credit, has doubts about all the programs which provide after-the-fact remedies. So long as the high school dropout rate runs close to 50 per cent, job-training and anti-crime crusades are going to disappoint the reformers. Something is wrong, says Rumsfeld, with a great many of the publicly provided goods and services, not just in anti-poverty and education, but in agriculture, highways and much else. Domestic spending has increased by 13 per cent since January, and will increase still more when the Vietnam War is ended. How many of these existing programs should be automatically re-financed as money becomes available?

Rumsfeld asks himself this, for he's a spender, but perhaps of a new breed. He believes that it's cheaper to prevent problems than to solve them.

The Yablonski Killings

WASHINGTON — The mystery in the murder of Joseph Yablonski, his wife and daughter may not be cleared up for a long time, if at all. But there are certain conclusions being drawn already which indicate the nature of the problem involved in finding the criminals.

One is that there must have been at least two persons who did the shooting, while perhaps one or two others watched from an automobile on the outside.

APPARENTLY the criminals planned their attack so that all members of the family in the Yablonski home at Clarksville, Pa., would be killed at the same time so as to prevent any resistance or outcry which might be heard by others. The weapons used presumably were covered up in such a way as to muffle the noise of the shots. The obvious reason for planning to kill everyone in the house was to see that no one would be left who could give any description of the individuals doing the shooting.

"The killers were probably under a contract to do the job. The first thing they did was to use the element of surprise. They planned the murders after a study of the habits of the family. They knew the bedrooms and went in at an hour when the victims had their night clothes on. The telephone wires were cut ahead of time. The tires of the Yablonski cars were slashed to prevent any getaway by the intended victims in case there was a mistake or in the event there was someone else hidden on the premises.

"THE APPROACH was through a specific door on a carpeted entranceway so the killers would not make any noise while getting into the house. Evidence obtained from the crime scene by the Pennsylvania state police has been sent to the laboratory in Harrisburg and may hold some clues."

What was the motivation for hiring the killers? In the first place, the FBI had already begun to investigate three things — an assault made upon Yablonski himself in Illinois several weeks ago during the election campaign, and two incidents of possible embezzlement of union funds. The money was a small sum and was returned when higher officials of the union discovered it was missing after the FBI started an investigation.

NOBODY HIGH up in the union would be likely to take the risk involved in the hiring of assassins. The presidential election in the union already had been held. There were complaints of fraud and irregularities, and it is suggested that some local leader in the miners' union may have played the principal part in trying to squelch the efforts of Yablonski to bring about an investigation of what had happened in the election.

INSIDE THE miners' union a good deal of strife had been engendered by the election, and there was bad feeling, especially among the opposing factions. It is conceivable that the whole thing was arranged for by someone in the lower echelons without the knowledge of the top men at national union headquarters, particularly since the election was won by a comfortable margin by the incumbent officers. The individuals involved may have thought they might be exposed through the investigations originated in the complaints filed by Yablonski.

OOPS! — Charley West, Minnesota kickoff and punt return specialist and a Big Spring High School product, had tough luck on one of his returns against the Kansas City Chiefs Sunday. The high kickoff slipped through his hands, struck his thigh and bounded out of his reach although he was breaking into full stride. Remi Prudhomme recovered on the 19-yard line for the Chiefs. Charley returned two other kickoffs for substantial distances, but most of them were out of reach.

Tense Lenny Leads Chiefs To Victory

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — "He aged five years this week. You looked into his face and you knew it wasn't the same Lenny Dawson."

Those words tell better than any the strain that the Kansas City quarterback lived with last week before he went out Sunday in front of a sellout crowd of 80,998 and some 50 million television viewers and led the Chiefs to a stunning 23-7 Super Bowl victory over the heavily favored Minnesota Vikings.

For those words are the words of Johnny Robinson, Dawson's longtime friend and roommate who watched his buddy turn into a solitude-seeking recluse in the cramped quarters of room 838 at the Fontainebleau Hotel during the week after reports linked his name with the nationwide gambling probe.

"Whenever I looked at him it wasn't the relaxed, easy-going Lenny Dawson I saw," said Robinson. "He was tense; he wanted to be in solitude. It was a tremendous pressure week for him. It was bothering him."

"He had some important things to think about," Dawson thought both about the stories he saw in the newspapers every day following his admission that he had a "casual acquaintance" with a Detroit restaurateur arrested in connection with the gambling probe — and he thought about his wife and two children.

"Lenny was more concerned about his wife and kids back in Kansas City than himself," said Jacky Lee, the Chiefs' reserve quarterback. "They were having to put up with an awful lot of stuff. Lenny knew the public was going to read more into it than is there."

With all that on his mind, Dawson still managed to deal with the other problem he was facing—the Vikings, spending 1½ hours Saturday night going over films with Coach Hank Stram, something the two never do the night before a game. But then Dawson was having trouble remaining calm.

"I had diarrhea," Dawson admitted after the game. "I started to go to bed about 10, but I couldn't sleep. I got up about 4 and read the sports pages to see what people were saying about the game. I still couldn't sleep. I don't think I slept two hours all night."

"I guess it was a 24-hour virus."

For during the 60 minutes that he was on the field, Lenny Dawson was Lenny Dawson, quarterback.

Jan Stenerud kicked field goals of 48, 32 and 25 yards and Mike Garrett scored on a five-yard run for a 16-0 halftime lead that gave every indication that the American Football League champions were heading for a stunning upset of the two-touchdown favorites.

But those 60 minutes belonged to Dawson.

And not even a denial he made to President Nixon when he talked to the White House after the game can blur the picture.

"Thank you, Mr. President. I really appreciate it," said Dawson in a low voice as he accepted congratulations. "But it wasn't me, sir, it was the whole team that did it."

It was the whole team that did it, but the glare of the spotlight was on Dawson's shoulders, and he responded.

Chiefs Cash In On Viking Mistakes

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Mrs. Joe Kapp, wife of the Minnesota Vikings quarterback, jokingly bought and wore a hat boosting the Kansas City Chiefs on Bourbon Street the night before the 1970 Super Bowl.

Marcia Kapp didn't realize the Chiefs wouldn't be a joke in Sunday's game.

And the Chiefs took a 23-7 victory in a fashion which had given the National Football League champion Vikings a 19-3 record, counting exhibitions, regular season games and playoffs—by cashing in on the other team's mistakes.

Perhaps Minnesota's biggest mistake was depending too long on its pass defense theory that by giving up the short ones you prevent the long ones.

Kansas City quarterback Lenny Dawson combined with Otis Taylor for a 46-yard touchdown pass play that ended all Viking hopes for a second half comeback.

"The Chiefs had been running a lot of hitch patterns," said corner back Earsell Mackbee. "The receiver takes two or three steps and stops. The defender needs to come back and give him a good kick."

"If the receiver breaks the tackle, you're in trouble," he added. "The ball got to Otis Taylor about the same time as I did. I felt I gave him a good kick. I fell down and when I got up, I saw the extra point team coming in, so I figured he scored."

But the Vikings already had made several costly mistakes as the Chiefs bolted a 16-0 halftime lead.

Charlie West fumbled the kickoff after Jan Stenerud's third field goal of the game in the second period, and the Chiefs quickly punched in a touchdown.

Stenerud had been hitting them out of the end zone," West said, "but this one wasn't that far. I saw it all the way. I just dropped it."

Texas-A&M Fight To Stay In Contention

AP Television-Radio Writer

Two early victims of the frothing Baylor Bear—Texas and Texas A&M—collide Tuesday night at Austin in an attempt to stay close to the quick-starting Baptists who hold the Southwest Conference basketball lead.

Baylor burned the Longhorns 81-59 last Monday night then tripped A&M 79-71 on the Aggies' own home court Saturday night to end the first week of SWC play 2-0. Baylor is 9-3 overall.

Texas and A&M both are 1-1 each having thrashed Arkansas. Southern Methodist, Rice, Texas Tech and Texas Christian have yet to fire a shot in regular SWC play. Texas Tech is at Rice Saturday night and TCU is at SMU to get their league seasons underway.

Baylor coach Bill Menefee was most pleased with his club's performance in the hostile environs of College Station.

"We won a big one," Menefee said. "It was a great game. The last time Baylor and A&M met in G. Rollie White Coliseum the clubs were involved in a fracas. A capacity crowd of 8,000 turned out Saturday night but there were no incidents."

Larry Gatewood was Baylor's big gun, hitting his first eight shots from the field and finishing with 31 points for the night. The Bears hit a torrid 55.6 per cent from the field to A&M's 47.5.

In the only other SWC action Saturday night, Texas outlasted Arkansas 75-69 on sophomore Eric Groscurth's 20 point output.

Costley's brother, Edward, was named to a first team berth at linebacker.

Earl Costley scored 22 touchdowns and averaged 9.7 yards on 148 carries for 1,439 yards.

Joining Costley in the all-star backfield are quarterback Jim Moore of Clarendon, Terry Roach of Paul Hewitt, and Jerry Gray of Honey Grove.

Moore rushed for 1,471 yards on 120 carries. He scored 23 touchdowns and caught 10 passes for 191 yards.

The 190-pound Gray gouged out over 3,000 yards his last two years and accounted for 37 touchdowns in that span.

Coahoma's Dickie Lepard made the all-state offensive unit at guard.

Spike Dykes Resigns

Rumors which have been circulated about the area for the past several days were confirmed today when Spike Dykes submitted his resignation as head coach and athletic director of Big Spring High School.

The Big Spring board of trustees is going into session tonight to discuss his successor. Indications are a coach within the system will get first chance at the position.

Dykes, who has held the job the past three seasons, is quitting to take a similar post in the Alice school district. Alice is a 27-AAAA team located about 30 miles from Corpus Christi and will be in the same conference with such schools as Beeville, Kingsville, Corpus Christi Carroll, Corpus King, Corpus Miller, Corpus Moody and Corpus Ray.

Dykes did not seek the position. He was contacted several times before he agreed to go to Alice for an interview.

"This is one of the hardest decisions I ever had to make in my life," Dykes said today. "My family and I love it here. There are no better fans anywhere than there are in Big Spring. People have been wonderful to us."

"The Alice job simply offers a new challenge and I've always had a weakness for new challenges."

Dykes has been a head coach six years. In his three years here, his teams won 16 and lost 14. His 1969 club was his most successful, winning six of ten and finishing third in district.

Spike started his head coaching career at Coahoma, where twice in two years his clubs won district titles. He moved to Class AAA Belton for one year before transferring to Big Spring.

His over-all record is 44-20 — his teams have never played a tie.

Dykes started his coaching career at Eastland and later coached in his home town, Ballinger, before signing on as an aide to Emory Ballard at San Angelo Central. He moved from there to Coahoma.

His most successful team was at Coahoma five years ago. That year the Bulldogs were 12-1 and advanced to the third round of the state playoffs before losing to White Deer.

Alice had an interim coach last season. John Linville was to have had the job but quit shortly before the 1969 season began to become an aide at Rice University.

Alice formerly was in a district with Brownsville. Miller is the defending titlist in his new district. Dewey Smith is superintendent of schools at Alice.

Dykes has indicated he may take one or more coaching aides with him from here. He formally assumes his new duties Jan. 19.

Alice won its district championship four years in a row before 1969. Gene Rogers, now at Killen, was a head coach there during some of the school's more successful seasons.

Casper's Sudden Death Win Puts Him Over $1 Million

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "Now," said Billy Casper, "I guess I can go to work on the second million."

The placid, rock-steady veteran who went into for him—a mild decline last year, had just defeated bitterly disappointed

Hale Irwin in a sudden-death playoff for the $20,000 first prize in the Los Angeles Open golf tournament.

The earnings pushed his career total to $1,001,924.48, second only to Arnold Palmer on the all-time list.

LA Stars Snap Losing Streak, Tighten Race

LOS ANGELES (AP) — With the exception of New Orleans, the American Basketball Association's Western Division could meet in a telephone booth — and still have room for the Buccaneers.

The Los Angeles Stars' 103-98 victory Sunday night, their second straight following a six-game losing streak which dropped them into the division cellar, squeezed four Western teams within two games of each other.

It was Sunday night's only ABA game. In Saturday night action, Los Angeles topped Washington 118-106, Indiana whipped New Orleans 105-94, Dallas trounced Miami 138-114, Kentucky edged Carolina 110-107 and New York bounced Pittsburgh 143-139 in double overtime.

The results left the Bucs only three games ahead of Dallas in the West with Denver just four games out and Washington and Los Angeles virtually deadlocked five games off the pace.

In the only NBA game played Sunday, Phoenix turned back Cincinnati 125-118.

By The Associated Press

They planned a National Basketball Association game played for charity in Omaha, Neb., and, while they were at it, Connie Hawkins and Gail Goodrich staged a clinic on how to shoot.

In the unscheduled clinic Sunday night, Hawkins hit on 12-of-18 field goal attempts and 15-of-20 foul shots for 39 points and Goodrich connected on 12-of-22 from the floor and 12-of-14 free throws to lead the Phoenix Suns to a 125-118 victory over the Cincinnati Royals.

Johnny Green led Cincinnati with 27 points and Oscar Robertson, who made just two free throws in the first quarter and sat out the second, added 24.

There were no other NBA games.

"You just go out and do the best you can," said the quiet, gentlemanly Casper, whose mild, unassuming manner at one time gained him the title "golf's invisible man."

It was a heart-breaking loss for the 24-year-old Irwin, a former football star at Colorado who never before had finished higher than 10th in a regular tour event.

Irwin, the third-round leader, held a two-stroke lead with four holes to play. Then "everything I've worked for those two years, everything I had hopes for, slipped through my fingers."

He bogeyed the 15th when he was short of the green and had only a one-stroke lead.

Casper finished a few minutes later with a one-over-par 72 for 276 and was in the clubhouse relaxing and listening to a radio account of Irwin's progress on the final few holes.

"I can get just as excited about this young man winning," Billy said, "as I could about winning it myself."

Eleventh Game, Recruiting Rules On Convention Agenda

WASHINGTON (AP) — A change to permit colleges to play an 11th football game and tightening of recruiting practices face delegates to the 64th National Collegiate Athletic Association today.

Those proposals are among the 41 on the agenda of the three-day NCAA convention. Action on the charges is not expected before Wednesday.

Prior to the official convention opening, however, the NCAA Council continued for two more years the probation against Florida State University's strong basketball team for recruiting violations committed while the club was on a year's probation.

Following a Sunday meeting, it was announced that council extended until Oct. 29, 1971, the probation against FSU for recruiting violations and off-season basketball practice involving Coach Hugh Durham.

The new action against FSU, which has an 11-2 record this season and was considered a candidate for either the NCAA or the National Invitation Tournament, means the school will not be eligible in post season tournaments either this year or next.

The proposal permitting colleges to schedule 11 games, instead of the present 10, is sponsored by the Pacific-8, Western Athletic, Southern and Atlantic Coast conferences, all of which are trying to meet the rising cost of intercollegiate athletics.

The change, which is permissive rather than mandatory, is expected to receive NCAA approval but not without a fight from the smaller schools which believe a better way to cut costs is to limit recruiting.

Under proposed legislation, the number of visits a high school youngster who is being considered for a scholarship could make to a college—at the school's expense—would be two. A limit also would be put on the number of persons accompanying the athlete, presumably ruling out girl friends, among others, from the entourage.

In a report Sunday, Forest Evashevski, chairman of the Television Committee, said college football during 1969 received television ratings that were 11 per cent better than they were during 1968.

Light Bulbs Data Sought

WASHINGTON (AP) — Any one who thinks all 100-watt light bulbs give off the same amount of light is completely in the dark.

"The consumer thinks that when he buys a 100-watt bulb it gives off the same amount of light as any other 100-watt bulb," said Federal Trade Commission attorney Raymond L. Rhine.

But, Rhine said, that is not the case.

So he and his colleagues at the FTC are putting final touches on a regulation to require manufacturers to specify how long their bulbs will last and how much light they put out.

The basis of the proposed revisions are lumens—units for measuring the amount of light produced by a glowing object.

A standard 100-watt light bulb, for example, puts out about 1,600 lumens. A standard 75-watt bulb produces about 1,300 lumens.

The lumen output among the major standard light bulbs is fairly constant, offering purchasers some idea of how much light they could expect from a light bulb of certain wattage.

But with the advent of three-way and long-life bulbs, the problem has become more complicated.

The reason is that lumens and bulb life are like opposite ends of a see-saw. Decreasing the light output of a bulb gives it a longer life expectancy.

Thus the 100-watt long-life bulbs last about 2,500 hours compared with the 750-hour life of a standard bulb. But they put out 1,400 lumens, or 200 lumens less than the standard bulb.

And standard three-way light bulbs of the 50-100-150-watt variety, when burning at the 100-watt position, give off only about 1,500 lumens.

The long-life bulbs can be a godsend, however, for those awkward stairway receptacles which can be reached only after mounting a shaky ladder.

The major bulb manufacturers—General Electric, Westinghouse and Sylvania—have been rating their bulbs by lumens and life expectancy for years and provide the information in handbooks distributed to dealers.

The manufacturers did not object when the FTC proposed last September to put the information on most light bulb wrappers, but all three objected to inscribing the same information on the light bulb itself.

FTC staffers are now reviewing the government proposals and industry objections and submitting the conclusions for approval of the five commissioners.

OFFERS TO BUY PRISONERS' RELEASE—H. Ross Perot, appearing on ABC's "Issues and Answers" in Washington Sunday, says he's offered to buy the release of U.S. servicemen held prisoner by North Vietnam. The millionaire Texan tried unsuccessfully to fly Christmas gifts and messages to the captives.

$100 Million Offer To Buy Yankee Captives' Freedom

WASHINGTON (AP) — H. Ross Perot, the Texas billionaire who failed in getting two plane loads of supplies to American prisoners held by North Vietnam, has come up with another unusual plan—$100 million offer to buy the captives' freedom.

Perot said Sunday he had made the offer, similar to the tractor deal made with Cuba for release of the Bay of Pigs prisoners, in a cable last week to North Vietnamese Prime Minister Pham Van Dong.

Until release of the prisoners is worked out, Perot further offered to supply everything needed to run the prisoner of war camps. And to sweeten the pot,

POLICEMEN NEED HELP

CHICAGO (AP) — Not only did somebody steal an unmarked police car Thursday, on Sunday he started broadcasting over its radio, sending out a 10-1 code that means a policeman needs help.

Police said they knew the message was not from a policeman and probably was from the stolen car because the caller repeatedly failed to give his location.

They said the phantom broadcaster didn't stay on the air long enough to give away his whereabouts.

But it could, officials say,

Spending Limit Might Hurt Vietnamization

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird is described by aides as concerned that a congressional limit on spending for his Vietnamization program could slow U.S. troop withdrawals from the war.

The money restriction, placed on the amount of military aid the United States can give South Vietnam as well as neighboring Laos and Thailand, does not jeopardize announced troop pullouts.

But it could, officials say, have a definite impact in future months if the administration wanted to accelerate the turn-over of weapons and equipment to South Vietnam.

Aides say Laird has been trying to persuade members of Congress not to place any arbitrary ceilings on Vietnamization spending in the budget being worked out for the fiscal year beginning next July.

The Vietnamization plan, financed under military aid, provides South Vietnam with such things as airplanes, trucks, guns, radios and training.

Last year the Senate wrote a provision into the defense budget specifying that military aid could not exceed $2.5 billion in one year.

That came close to crimping the current rate of spending for Vietnamization, $2.2 billion annually.

According to aides, Laird fears sentiment against big U.S. commitments overseas could lead to a similar restriction on military aid in the fiscal 1971 budget soon to go to Congress.

Trying to avert such a move, Laird has been explaining to congressional leaders that Asian allies may need larger doses of military aid as the Nixon administration seeks to make them more self-reliant, aides say.

Laird argues it would not be wise to take American forces out of Vietnam without adequately preparing the South Vietnamese to fill the gap.

Laird's concern over the $2.5 billion limitation also was reflected in congressional testimony last November.

Laird said there was a possibility the Vietnamization, of aid, spending would go to a higher level in the budget year beginning next July.

Pentagon officials, keeping the 1971 budget under wraps until it is given to Congress, declined to say how much military aid is planned.

Whatever the figure, it would be in addition to the more than $20 billion budgeted for the overall war effort.

Laird said Sunday an announcement would be made in Saigon within two days identifying the units to be pulled out of Vietnam under President Nixon's last troop withdrawal order.

Gen. Creighton Abrams, U.S. war commander, "will be announcing the removal of one Army division from Vietnam, one brigade, one Marine regiment, several air squadrons as well as some Navy support units," Laird said.

He was interviewed on the CBS radio-TV program "Face the Nation."

This withdrawal, third announced so far by the President, calls for pulling out 50,000 American combat troops and will bring to more than 100,000 the number of Americans ordered back since Nixon took office a little less than a year ago.

ALL-WHITE DISTRICT First Negro In Texas Named Superintendent

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The Rev. J. Garfield Owens of Dallas has become the first Negro in Texas to be named superintendent of an all-white Methodist District.

The Rev. Mr. Owens, now Methodist superintendent of the Austin-Victoria District, has been appointed superintendent of the San Antonio District, effective Feb. 1.

The Rev. Jack D. Heacock, San Antonio district superintendent, was appointed superintendent of the Corpus Christi District. He succeeds Dr. Don Redman, who has been named to the Methodist Foundation in Austin.

The Rev. Mr. Owens is a member of the all-black West Texas Annual Conference, which is expected to merge with the five all-white Methodist Annual Conferences in Texas in June. Both of the all-black Methodist Conferences in the state will be merged into one.

a part of the merger. The second is the Gulf Coast Annual Conference of Houston.

Stolen City Truck Is Recovered

A city-owned pickup truck was recovered by police around 8 a.m. Sunday after it was reported missing from the city golf course earlier that morning.

Police said the truck was found abandoned on Goliad, south of FM 700, and had apparently been driven some distance from one of the tires flat.

Assistant City Manager Roy Anderson said the only damage to the truck was a ruined wheel due to being driven with a flat tire. He said the truck was marked as city property and the keys were not left in the ignition when it was taken.

Foundation To Meet Today

The regular annual meeting of Big Spring Industrial Foundation, Inc., shareholders will be at 5:15 p.m. tonight in the Chamber of Commerce conference room.

Newly elected directors John Currie, Marvin Miller, Winston Wrinkle, Kenneth Perry and Don Womack will elect a president, a vice president and a secretary-treasurer. The five directors were recently elected by vote of all the shareholders.

Outgoing officers are Wendal Parks, president; Tom South, vice president; Charles Bell, secretary-treasurer; executive committee members, Lowell Jones, Winston Wrinkle, Ralph McLaughlin and Harold Canning.

The directorial structure of the Industrial Foundation was recently reorganized so that only the five newly elected directors will serve instead of joining 10 past directors in service.

A drawing of names will determine which of the five will serve for a one-year term, which two will serve two-year terms and which two will serve three-year terms. Following the reorganization, directors will all serve three year terms.

School Census Is Being Taken

FORSAN — The annual school census taken each January is now under way in the Forsan Independent School District, H. D. Smith, superintendent of schools, said today.

"All children who will be at least 6 years old and under 18 by Sept. 1, 1970, must be counted," he said.

"Any parent having children in this age group who has not received a census card through the school should contact W. R. Cregar, elementary principal (phone 398-5394), or J. F. Poyner, high school principal (phone 263-6571)."

Manson Joins Hunger Strike

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Charles M. Manson, charged with murdering actress Sharon Tate and six others, joined other prisoners in a brief hunger strike.

Sheriff's spokesman said the men apparently were protesting disciplinary action against three prisoners in the 32-man block.

Manson was among 24 prisoners who refused breakfast and lunch Sunday, authorities said. He and 26 others ate dinner.

Two Accused Kidnapers Watching 'FBI' Nabbed

TEXARKANA, Tex. (AP) — Police burst into an apartment Sunday night and captured two men charged in the kidnapping of a 16-year-old girl.

The last of five men sought in the kidnapping, the two were identified as Booker T. Burkhalter, 24, alias Terry Anderson, of Dallas, and Jonnie Tasby, 21, of Lafayette County, Ark. When the officers entered, the two were lying on a bed watching "The FBI" television program.

Herbert Hoxie of the FBI said the men offered no resistance. They were unarmed.

They had been charged earlier in Thursday night's kidnapping of Karen Vickers, pretty, Auburn-haired daughter of a Texarkana, Ark., grocer. Police said she was taken from the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Vickers, by three armed and masked men and held for 26 hours for $40,000 ransom.

The girl was freed unharmed Friday night at a Texarkana motel. The ransom was not paid.

The FBI earlier arrested Paul Lawrence Bryant, 21, and Joe Willie Peggett, 29, both of Dallas, and Hugh Mulzac Smith, 26, of Texarkana, Ark.

Officers said Bryant was arrested at a motel after Smith, who had been apprehended earlier, had talked him into releasing Miss Vickers. Peggett was arrested at nearby Nash, Tex., later Friday night.

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠K96 ♠Q9653 ♠Q972 ♠A8

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West

1 ♠ 1 NT ?

What do you bid?

A.—Two spades. This hand is definitely not the no trump type and preference should be given to rebidding a good six-card suit over returning to partner's hearts.

Q. 2—East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠10 ♠Q1072 ♠KJ8642 ♠75

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West

1 ♠ Pass 1 NT Pass

What do you bid?

A.—Pass. Partner's jump rebid in spades is not forcing and you have about the least that the law will tolerate for a one no trump response. If this hand will produce a game, partner would probably have been able to bid it himself.

Q. 3—Both vulnerable, as South the dealer, you hold:

♠843 ♠QJ103 ♠A7 ♠A4

What is your opening bid?

A.—One club, a mandatory opening with 14 points. This is a prepared bid to avoid future bidding difficulties. If you open one heart and partner responds two diamonds, you will find the rebid definitely not to your taste.

Q. 4—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠KJ3 ♠874 ♠KJ3 ♠J1094

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West

1 ♠ Pass 1 NT Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—You had a substantial one no trump response and we are inclined to take one further step. However, our choice is for three hearts rather than two no trump, as partner's rebid shows an unbalanced hand not suited for no trump play.

Q. 5—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠KQ10743 ♠Q103 ♠62 ♠52

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West

1 ♠ Pass 1 ♠ Pass

1 NT Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Two spades. This hand is definitely not the no trump type and preference should be given to rebidding a good six-card suit over returning to partner's hearts.

Q. 6—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠Q109763 ♠KJ105 ♠62 ♠47

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West

1 ♠ Dbie. 4 ♠ 5 ♥

Pass Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Six spades. Your spade holding strongly suggests that no tricks can be taken in that suit against six clubs and partner's failure to double indicates that he has few defensive values on the side. The safe should not prove too expensive.

Q. 7—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠AQJ103 ♠864 ♠KQ3 ♠AQ

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

1 ♠ Pass 2 ♠ Pass

3 ♠ Pass 3 ♠ Pass

4 ♠ Pass 4 ♠ Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Five spades. Since partner was strong enough to first bid his own suit and subsequently raise yours, hope for slam should not be abandoned. Your main concern is the heart situation and overbidding the game in spades after the other suits have been mentioned will clearly ask partner to go on if he has no more than one loser in hearts.

Q. 8—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠J8643 ♠AQ43 ♠J1087

The bidding has proceeded:

West North East South

Pass 1 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid?

A.—One no trump. This hand is not strong enough to bid at the two level, yet some action must be taken. The only bid available is one no trump which designates a hand ranging from 6 to 10 points in high cards. When this bid is used as a response, it does not necessarily promise a balanced hand.

Dear Abby

DEAR READERS: In recent months, since I voiced my approval of sex education in the public schools, I have been deluged with letters from well-intentioned readers, urging me to reverse my stand.

"Look what happened to Sweden after THEY introduced sex education into their schools!" they cry.

I have received mimeographed "facts sheets" (some even distributed by CHURCH groups) stating that Sweden is now a "nation of degenerates" — leading the world in suicides, alcoholism, divorce, and venereal disease.

I have been advised that "Stockholm is now the abortion capital of the world — that girls and women are flocking there for abortions because they are performed in hospitals with no questions asked."

If statistics bore you, skip this column. But if you are interested in knowing what changes have actually taken place in Sweden in comparison to other countries, the following will interest you. These statistics were obtained from the UNITED NATIONS WORLD HEALTH ORGANIZATION, whose headquarters are in Geneva, Switzerland.

1. Sweden no longer leads the world in suicides — as she did 17 years ago. The most recent statistics show that Sweden now ranks NINTH among the nations of the world in suicides.

2. Concerning alcoholism. The people of France and the people of the United States both consume more alcohol per capita than do the people of Sweden.

3. Concerning divorce. The most recent statistics reveal that in Sweden one out of every six marriages ends in divorce. In the United States, the divorce rate is one out of every three.

4. Concerning abortion. An abortion may not be performed in Sweden unless an application is made, reviewed, and approved by the Royal Medical board. This is the same system used in the United States by those states which have recently liberalized their abortion laws.

Interestingly enough, the requirements for obtaining a legal abortion in Sweden are almost identical to those in the state of Maryland. In recent years, so widespread were the rumors of "easy abortion" in Sweden that many misinformed women did flock to Sweden, hoping to be accommodated, but were disappointed.

5. As for the alleged shocking increase of "rape" in Sweden, the most recent statistics are as follows:

For 1965 and 1966 the "arrest" figures per 100,000 population were respectively 87 and 78, showing a decrease of 10 per cent — not an INCREASE of 55 per cent!

In a population of 7,847,395, this works out to approximately 1.1 per 100,000 in 1965 and 1.0 per 100,000 in 1966, one of the LOWEST rates in the world.

By comparison, the United States had 10,734 rape arrests in 1965, (or 5.36 per 100,000 population) and increased 7 per cent to 11,609 in 1966 — or 5.8 per 100,000 population.

6. The facts on venereal disease. The most recent statistics available are for 1967.

The number of cases reported for early syphilis per 100,000 population are:

Finland 2.8
United Kingdom 2.8
Sweden 4.3
Denmark 6.5
United States 10.8

7. While the unwed mother in Sweden is not regarded as a "social outcast," neither is she "rewarded and glorified." In Sweden children born out of wedlock are given the same advantages as children born into "families." The reason being that Sweden feel that no child should be made to suffer because his mother is alone, whether she is divorced, widowed or unmarried.

Most of us are inclined to accept as "truths" that which we have heard repeated over and over again. It is for this reason that I have checked out the facts, and present them to you in fairness to a much maligned nation — Sweden.

Very truly yours,
ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
