Wallace Balks, Kennedy Calls Out Alabama Guard

Governor Bars Entrance Of Negroes To University

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP) — Gov. George C. Wallace barred the doors of the University of Alabama to two Negro students today and President Kennedy reacted by ordering the Alabama National Guard into federal military service.

Kennedy directed Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara to put in active service "any or all of the units of the Army National Guard and of the Air National Guard of the state" for an indefinite period. The President acted because, he said, his commands to Gov. George C. Wallace against "unlawful obstructions of justice" had not been obeyed. Gov. Wallace barred the doors of the university to the two Negro students but federal authorities took them to the dormitories on the campus.

Wallace stood in the doorway of the registration center but there was no physical confrontation involving the governor and the students. They sat in a car with windows rolled down outside the building to hear Wallace read a proclamation barring them.

"They will register today, they will go to school tomorrow," Nicholas Katzenbach, deputy U.S. attorney general, told Wallace at the doorway.

Shortly thereafter Edwin C. Guthman, information chief for the Justice Department, told newsmen that the Negro students, Miss Vivian Malone and James Hood, would be registered this afternoon. Whether federal troops might be on the scene could not be immediately determined.

Guthman said the registration would take place in Foster Auditorium, the building where Wallace had stood a few moments earlier. He said they would pass through the doorway where Wallace had stood.

The campus has more than 1,000 armed state forces sealing the entrances.

However, Wallace had said before the Negroes arrived there would be no violence. He made his gesture—and it was a dramatic one—and may now make no further efforts to block the integration of the school.

The convoy motorcade carrying the students and federal officials arrived at the auditorium at about 10:45 a.m.

U.S. Atty. Macon Weaver and U.S. marshals rode in the first car. Miss Malone and Hood were in the second automobile. They did not get out.

The auditorium was tightly guarded. Patrolmen ringed the building and for nearly an hour before the students arrived only those with high security clearance were allowed inside.

Wallace arrived approximately 40 minutes before the Negroes arrived. Several patrolmen watched from the roof of the auditorium. They carried tommy guns, which rested upon the parapet.

Hundreds of newsmen watched the confrontation.

The temperature was nearly 100 degrees.

The confrontation was brief and gritty.

The students left for their dormitories.

In barring the two, Wallace violated a sweeping injunction issued by a federal judge at Birmingham on June 5.

That order, by U.S. District Judge Seybourn H. Lynne, ruled that Wallace could not interfere physically with their registration. It did not ban him from the campus, however.

"I proclaim and forbid this illegal act," the 43-year-old governor said in the final line of a five-page prepared statement dealing with what he called unconstitutional interference by the United States in Alabama affairs.

Wallace kept his pledge made during his campaign for governor to bar the door to Negroes as he solemnly read the statement. The two students were seated in an automobile outside the auditorium where students register.

They arrived in a three-car procession while two National Guard helicopters hovered over the campus.

The two sat in the back seat of the middle car, with two U.S. marshals on the front seat.

HANGING ON WORDS

They strained forward with the car windows rolled down, apparently trying to catch every word of what the governor was saying.

Weaver and two other federal officials left the first car in the convoy and went to the door of the aduitorium. As they approached, Wallace stepped forward. He held up his left hand and the U.S. officials halted.

Weaver said: "I have here President Kennedy's proclamation. I have come to ask you for unequivocal assurance that you or anyone under your control will not bar these students—Vivian Malone and James A. Hood."

Wallace grimly said, "No comment," after the Kennedy proclamation was read and countered with: "I have a statement which I wish to read." He then read his five-page statement.

Katzenbath three times asked Wallace to step aside. The requests were ignored.

The presidential proclamation was signed and announced in Washington after the segregationist governor had stationed himself in the campus building where students register.

WE WILL HAVE PEACE

"We are going to have peace," he said while standing beside a podium which had been erected for him just inside the building door.

At that time the proclamation was being announced by Kennedy. It also was signed by Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

"The "cease and desist" order called for the prevention of "conspiracies or domestic violence" in the Alabama racial crisis.

It commanded the governor and all others "engaged in or who may engage in unlawful obstructions of justice, assemblies, combinations, conspiracies or domestic violence in that state to cease and desist therefrom."

Wallace took his place at the door awaiting the arrival of the 20-year-old Negroes who want to obtain degrees in business administration and psychology from the university.

OTHER SIDE

"It's the other side who is making trouble and having demonstrations," the governor said. "Not us. We're going to have law and order."

He shook hands with newspapermen awaiting the writing of history and quipped: "Are you fellows here to register, too?"

When asked if he would physically stand in the doorway, Wallace replied: "How else can you stand there?"

REBUFFS APPEAL

Wallace rebuffed a personal appeal from President Kennedy, who wired the governor: "I urgently ask you to consider the consequences to your state and its fine university if you persist in setting an example of defiant conduct and urge you instead to leave these matters in the courts of law where they belong."

Kennedy said there would be little danger of violence at the university if Wallace would stay away from the campus.

In reply, Wallace sent the President this telegram:

"My presence here guarantees peace. This is the opinion of all here familiar with the facts, including the legislature of Alabama and the president of the University of Alabama."

The university Board of Trustees backed Wallace. After a dinner meeting with him, the board adopted a resolution which said: "The Board of Trustees hereby declares that the said presence of Gov. Wallace with the state law enforcement officers is desirable under the circumstances to preserve peace and order."

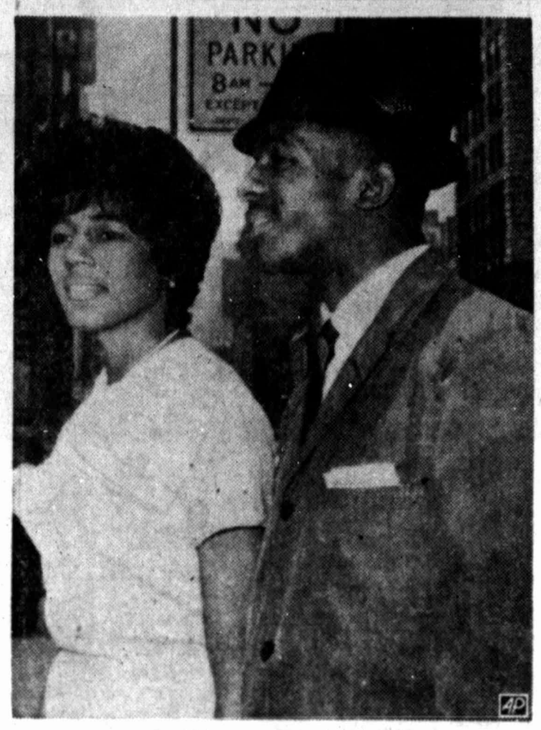

Tuscaloosa was like an armed camp as the climactic moment approached. The atmosphere—in spite of appeals from all sides for law and order—was electric with anxiety.

CAMPUS SEALED

The university campus was tightly sealed.

Blue-uniformed state troooers manned wooden barricades; they checked credentials of everyone who approached and kept a sharp

Gunfire Follows Virginia Violence

DANVILLE, Va. (AP)—Bullets struck two police cars cruising the streets of this racially troubled city early today as the state police were directed to make an hour-to-hour assessment of the tense situation.

None of the four patrolmen riding in the two cars was injured in the shooting which came in the wake of a demonstration by Negroes. They said they came to pray at city jail for those arrested earlier.

Two persons were hospitalized after the encounter between police and Negroes. Forty-five others were given first-aid treatment. Rumors that there had been two deaths were discounted by police and hospital authorities as just rumors.

Gov. Albertis S. Harrison Jr. kept a close watch on the situation. He notified state police to keep the city under tight observation and Capt. J. W. Burrow of Salem, state police division commander, was moved to Danville.

Officials held an urgent morning conference in the office of City Manager T. Edward Temple to decide the city's course of action if more protest marches followed the course of the violence-marked encounter Monday night.

An uneasy calm hung over the city in the forenoon hours.

A total of 74 persons have been arrested. Police said more charges are pending against parents for neglect and contributing to the delinquency of minors. Many of the marchers have been young Negro children. City schools have been closed.

The Rev. A. I. Dunpal, one of three Negro leaders charged last week with inciting to riot in connection with the demonstrations, said some of Monday night's demonstrators were "beaten unmercifully." He added:

"The police came in with their night sticks after some of our people had been knocked down with the (fire) hoses. It was just awful . . . I'm mighty afraid violence will erupt."

The incident to which the minister referred came between police and about 50 marchers. This followed earlier afternoon and morning demonstrations when fire hoses were brought in to disperse the crowd, some of them chanting and singing on the steps of city hall.

In sporadic outbursts during the night police said 15 shots were fired.

Three bullets struck one police car. One bullet whizzed through an open window and lodged in the car's inner headlining. A second struck the left hubcap and a third went through the left rear door.

A second car was struck in the rear trunk lid.

Dallas Supports Santa Fe Proposal

DALLAS (AP)—The City Council gave formal support Monday to a Santa Fe Railroad proposal, now before the Interstate Commerce Commission, to move much of its Texas operation to Dallas from Galveston.

The parent railroad wants to acquire properties of its subsidiaries, including the Gulf, Colorado & Santa Fe, and reshuffle staffs and properties.

If the ICC approves, the freight traffic office at Galveston and the Traffic Department at Amarillo will move to Dallas.

Hearings on the move will begin June 24 in Galveston. That city is trying to retain railroad operation.

"If Galveston is going to lose it anyway, we might as well seek it for Dallas," said one councilman.

Rail Unions Approve New Strike Date

WASHINGTON (AP) —Rail operating unions agreed today to a five-day extension of the deadline in the railroad work rules dispute and delayed the threat of a nationwide strike until next week.

The railroads had agreed Monday night to the extension which Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz requested when it became apparent no settlement could be reached by the first deadline midnight Wednesday night.

Acutally, the agreement by the railroads made a strike unlikely, because they must take the initiative, by putting the disputed work rules into effect, before the five operating unions can react with a strike.

After consultations Monday night and a meeting early this morning, the unions sent the following telegram to Wirtz:

"Please be advised the labor organizations will cooperate."

They also advised the railroads of their decision at the start of new talks this morning.

To speed the negotiations, today's session was limited to federal mediators, including Wirtz and his representatives, the railroads and the two unions immediately affected by the work rules issue: the AFL-CIO Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen and the independent Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

In telegrams to both sides, Wirtz said "it is imperative that further intensive negotiations continue without disruption of essential railroad service."

He suggested that the deadline be extended from 12:01 a.m. Thursday to 12:01 a.m. next Tuesday.

There had even been controversy over the date of the deadline —the time when the provisions of the presidential emergency order run out.

The Labor Department had insisted that the ban expired at midnight tonight. Monday all parties agreed that the deadline was midnight Wednesday.

After this deadline, the railroads will be free to do what they have been trying to do for almost four years—put into effect new work rules which will eliminate the jobs of some 40,000 firemen on freight and yard trains. The unions have said they will call a strike when the railroads put the new work rules into effect.

Negro Denied By Baptists

HOUSTON (AP)—A young Negro has been denied membership here in the First Baptist Church, whose pastor is president of the Southern Baptist Convention.

The Negro was denied membership "in the best interests of the Lord's work."

Roy Williams Jr., minister of education for the 3,600-member church, said deacons rejected the Negro's application last Sunday.

The Negro asked membership at the morning services May 19, after Dr. Owen White, pastor of the church and president of the Southern Baptist Convention, preached.

Dr. White was out of town. Williams said Dr. White left this statement:

"In light of existing conditions, and in the best interests of the Lord's work, the church feels it wise to continue the present policy in regard to reception of members."

Williams said "existing conditions" meant the present racial tensions across the nation.

He said the policy has been in the past to bar Negroes from membership.

Williams did not identify the Negro.

TEMPERATURE EXPECTED TO HIT 100 TODAY

If you think it was hot in Big Spring yesterday, it was much hotter June 10, 1917 when the thermometer climbed all the way to 114 degrees. It was only 98 Monday.

The thermometer at the Big Spring Experiment Station, official for the city, may go higher today if predictions are correct.

The hottest weather on record, since 1900, has been in the month of June. The highest temperature ever recorded here was 117 degrees June 30, 1907.

So, it was relatively cool yesterday. But the forecast calls for near 100 degrees today.

9 Scouts, 3 Others Die In Truck Mishap

HOLE- IN - THE - ROCK, Utah (AP)—The peace that prevails over the southern Utah desert was shattered Monday when a truck carrying 46 explorers overturned, killing nine Boy Scouts, two of their leaders and a woman reporter who was covering the venture.

The list of hospitalized reached 15, with at least two critical, as details of the tragedy slowly came from the scene of the accident in the remote desert area between Escalante and Hole-in-the-Rock on the Colorado River.

The group was from the Ogden-Salt Lake City-Provo area about 20 miles north. Most were Boy Scouts, but Floyd Loveridge, chief executive of the scouts in Provo, said the trip was under the auspices of the South Cottonwood Stake of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints in the Provo area.

The adventurous expedition was led by a group of teachers and college professors who had led many trips into Utah's red desert areas.

One of the dead was H. Darrell Taylor, 45, a professor of languages at Brigham Young University in Provo and scout leader.

Another of the leaders, Merlin J. Shaw, 51, of Provo, an assistant professor at Brigham Young and father of six, was killed. Monday was his 26th wedding anniversary.

Dorothy Hansen, 24, a vacationing reporter for Salt Lake City's Desert News, was along for the ride and planned to write a feature article.

Utah highway patrolman Burt Giles said the truck was grinding up a steep grade on a dirt road that had been battered by the fierce desert winds and flash floods when the engine failed.

The brakes wouldn't hold and the 2½-ton cattle truck plummeted backwards down the incline. It finally hurtled off the edge of road into a deeply eroded gully and flipped over, trapping most of the passengers huddled in the back and crushing some of them. Some were thrown clear.

Many of the injured were treated at the scene when police and doctors arrived from Panguitch which is about 80 miles northwest. Private cars carried the more seriously hurt and dead to the Panguitch hospital.

That facility could accommodate only about 10 of the casualties and the rest had to be distributed to hospitals in towns up to 100 miles away from the accident.

The accident happened about 10 miles north of Hole-in-the-Rock, along the road connecting it with Escalante.

Hole-in-the-Rock, which is actually a crevice in the towering Glen Canyon walls along the Colorado River, is a landmark in Utah history. It was here the Mormon missionaries were able to cross the river and settle the uncolonized southeastern section.

Nearby, the Escalante River, the last major river discovered in the continental United States, cuts through the dull red dust and sand. It was found by a group from the second John Wesley Powell expedition down the Colorado River in 1871-72.

Oil Company To Liquidate

DALLAS (AP) — Directors of Producing Properties, Inc., have approved plans for liquidating the firm through a $52 million deal.

They recommended to stockholders the sale in three major groups of holdings of Producing Properties, once among the fastest growing independent oil companies in the nation.

The first, to Reserve Oil and Gas Co. of San Francisco, would cover properties in Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Louisiana, Colorado and five other states.

Money from sale of these properties, plus existing production payments, would total $24 million, said R. J. Bradley, chairman.

Bradley said names of the purchasers in the other two groups would be disclosed later. He indicated the other sales and production payments would total $28 million.

IN VIET NAM PROTEST

Buddhist Monk Burns Himself To Death

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—Tension rose in Saigon today as an aged Buddhist monk burned himself to death before thousands of onlookers.

The Rev. Quang Duc calmly put a match to his gasoline-soaked yellow robes at a main Saigon street intersection to protest alleged persecution of Buddhists by President Ngo Dinh Diem's government.

The 300 monks surrounding him let out a wail. The burning man did not cry out. He remained sitting upright for several minutes before dying.

Monks lay in front of the wheels of nearby fire trucks to prevent them from moving.

The sacrifice capped a wave of Buddhist demonstrations against the government demanding religious freedom and social justice.

Buddhists make up about 80 per cent of South Viet Nam's population. The government, dominated by Roman Catholics including President Diem, denies it has discriminated against any religion.

Monks with loudspeakers delivered a funeral address over the charred remains and appealed in English to U.S. military advisers to Diem's forces to intervene in their behalf.

U.S. Embassy officials have said they cannot interfere in what they consider an internal affair. But they are deeply concerned that the explosive situation may even overturn the government.

Most observers feel the Communist Viet Cong guerrillas will capitalize on the turbulent situation. South Viet Nam's armed forces are largely Buddhist, and troop units have been diverted from the war against the Viet Cong to help check the religious demonstrations.

Wild Weather Has Big Night

By The Associated Press

Turbulent summer weather threw a fresh assortment of tornadoes and menacing thunderstorms at Texas during the night. It tapered off into a few showers by early Tuesday.

One twister hit in the southwest edge of Ponder in North Central Texas and another struck in a rural area close to Eagle Pass on the Mexican border in Southwest Texas.

At Ponder the apparently small tornado took the roof off a school gymansium, smashed windows, snapped power lines and uprooted trees.

State police said the other twister felled 13 power poles outside El Indio, south of Eagle Pass. There was no word of other damage.

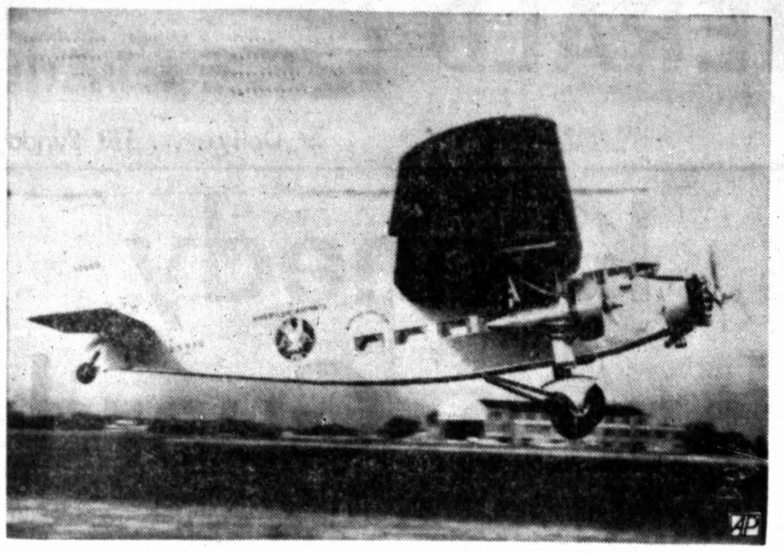

The threatening weather developed as a cool front shoved across the state toward the southeast.

The destructive winds whipped through Denton along with a quick flurry of rain, shattering about eight plate glass windows in the business district, felling utility lines and toppling trees.

Hail up to the size of marbles accompanied briefly heavy rains in the Seymour and Abilene areas.

For several hours the Weather Bureau placed Eastland, Comanche and Stephens counties under a special alert as thunderstorms packed with rain and hail trundled eastward from West Central Texas. No severe damage was reported.

Test Ban Legate To Be Selected

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy is expected to select his chief negotiator for the Moscow nuclear test ban talks by the end of this week.

Informants who reported this today said Kennedy is considering men both inside and outside the government.

One name mentioned often in advance speculation is that of John J. McCloy, a former U.S high commissioner for Germany. He is a New York banker who has had considerable experience both in disarmament talks and in dealing with the Russians.

The U.S. negotiating team and a companion British group are slated to meet with Soviet representatives in mid-July for another try at ending the long deadlock over a pact to outlaw atomic testing.

Washington authorities attached importance to Soviet Premier Khrushchev's agreement to the meeting after six months of Russian disinterest in test ban talks at the 17-nation general disarmament conference in Geneva.

They tempered this with considerable caution.

It was understood that Khrushchev, in responding late last week to the call by Kennedy and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan for a meeting, gave no hint that he was going to give ground on his terms that the West has found unacceptable in the past. The Soviets have offered two or three inspections a year to police the test ban, but have refused to spell out what type of inspections. The West has called for seven on-site inspections.

An optimistic theory was that Khrushchev has decided to get down to scientific details on what is needed for an underground test detection system—a matter his Geneva representatives have declined to discuss. More pessimistic was speculation that he just wants to make propaganda and pry concessions from the West.

Sparking much interest among U.S. strategists was the relationship between the test ban talks and the July 5 Soviet-Red Chinese meeting in Moscow on their ideological rift.

By the time of the test ban talks, it was noted, Khrushchev should know how he stands in the parley with the Communist Chinese. One possibility was that he could use the East-West meeting to bolster his argument that negotiations with the West can be held without damage to the Communist camp.

PASTORS

The word "pastors" is found only once in the New Testament (Eph. 4:11), where its office is not explained. But the verb form of the same word in the original, is used in Acts 20: 28 and I Pet. 5:2 in referring to the work of elders (or bishops) in the local congregation. It is not used to refer to the preacher.

There was always a plurality of pastors (bishops or elders) in the congregation (Acts 14:23; Ti. 1:5; Phil. 1:1). Never was one man called "the pastor" of the church.

Thus, you can understand why the congregation for which I preach has three pastors instead of one. I do not mean three preachers.

By following the New Testament pattern, we can be the church of Christ in the community; and not another denomination. This is our studied purpose. If pure, original, basic Christianity appeals to you, then, come and help us fulfill this purpose.

Former TV Star Finds He's In Bind

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV - Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—George Maharis quit the cast of "Route 66" more than six months ago, claiming his health wasn't up to the job. Now he is in the strange position of a healthy young man, much in demand, who wants to resume his career, but can't.

Maharis claims he was notified by CBS that he was a free agent last month as far as his commitments to "Route 66" were concerned because the packagers of the show had found in Glenn Corbett a "suitable replacement".

The dark-haired, intense young actor, who has become a popular singing star with hit records, was talking happily last week about making his singing debut next Sunday on the Ed Sullivan Show, a date which has been made and broken three times in the past three years.

Apparently, Sullivan wasn't so certain—he never announced Maharis' forthcoming appearance. Now, it has been postponed — again. The packagers of "Route 66" have, according to Maharis' representatives, served him and CBS with legal papers and seek to enjoin him from working for anybody else.

Maharis and Lancer productions, the packager, have been at odds for the better part of a year. First Maharis quit the show, suffering from hepatitis. Then he returned, claimed he was required to work too many hours during a convalescent period, and quit again.

Now, he says, he feels fit. He recently cut a new record, and has been rehearsing "The American Way," a drama for a future television series produced by David Susskind, looking over movie scripts and talking—to CBS among others—about a future television series.

"I don't even think about 'Route 66,'" he declared—last week.

Meanwhile, the injunction is scheduled for court argument June 20, so the earliest Maharis can get on Ed Sullivan's show will be autumn.

Bobbie Pushing Rights Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Kennedy administration has pulled out all the stops in an effort to translate the threat of racial disturbances into action by Congress on civil rights legislation.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, in a series of conferences Monday with Senate and House members, was reported to have described the country as being on the verge of widespread disorders.

While Kennedy got pledges of strong Northern Democratic backing, he ran into stonewall resistance from Southern senators to his pleas for action to knock down racial barriers in public places and to give him authority to initiate civil rights suits.

Kennedy was said to have told the senators and House members somberly that violence and disorder may assume national proportions unless swifter progress is made toward integration.

While Southerners appeared impressed by the gravity of the situation, Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., said they would not go along with proposals that "aim another blow at property rights in this country."

This was a reference to an expected administration proposal to ban discrimination in all public places and in stores, restaurants and other enterprises dealing in interstate products.

Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., acknowledged in a 76th birthday appearance before the National Press Club that a "great racial crisis" exists in both the North and South. He said he hopes there will be no violence.

But he said in a later interview Southerners will have no other recourse than to filibuster in the Senate against the measures President Kennedy may send to Congress next week.

If senators object to the holding of committee meetings during the filibuster, Byrd said this would delay action on the President's tax reduction bill.

Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., was quoted as having told the President's brother that if there were disorders the administration would share the blame for them because he said it had made promises to the Negroes that it had not kept.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, the assistant Senate Democratic leader, said there still is no final agreement on the language of the administration bills.

Humphrey said he is confident President Kennedy will call Republican leaders into conference about the proposals before they are submitted to Congress. Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said no move had been made to consult GOP members.

Kennedy has asked 150 labor leaders to the White House Wednesday discuss the civil rights problem. He will meet with a group of religious leaders Monday.

Zale Employes Receive Record Profit-Sharing

Zale Jewelry Company's employe Profit Sharing Plan received a record company contribution of $776,196.00 for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1963, it was announced today by Ben A. Lipshy, president of the firm and a trustee of the Plan.

Zale employes in 34 states, including those in Big Spring, are among nearly 1,600 participants sharing in the Plan.

The company's cash contribution amounted to 10.97 per cent of each participating employe's annual salary. Employes with balances in the Plan last year received additional credits to their respective accounts for earnings by the Fund for the fiscal year.

Total assets of the Profit Sharing Plan are now over $6 million. All contributions to the Plan are made by the company, none by the employe, said Lipshy.

Storms Hit Broad Areas

By The Associated Press

Stormy weather pounded broad areas in the nation's midsection last night as cold air from Canada swept eastward from the Plains and headed into the Atlantic Coast.

Violent wind, rain and hail storms and a few tornadoes lashed areas in Indiana, Ohio, Michigan and Illinois, causing widespread property damage. At least two deaths were attributed to the stormy weather. Several persons suffered minor injuries.

Severe thunderstorms developed along a cold front which stretched from lower Michigan southwestward through western Kentucky into Texas. Behind the cold front much cooler air spread southward and eastward across the northern Plains into the Great Lakes region.

Temperatures dropped into the 40s and 30s from northern New England through the northern Great Lakes region and into North Dakota. Light snow mixed with rain fell in the Lake Superior district, with rain in the upper Great Lakes. Snow and rain measured 1.44 inches for a 24-hour period in Ely, Nev., a record for this time of year.

Severe thunderstorms, with strong winds, hit Ohio. Michael Jones, 11, was killed by a falling tree limb near Yellow Springs. Winds up to 83 m.p.h. lashed the Cincinnati area where several persons suffered minor injuries. Electric service was disrupted in thousands of homes in the Cleveland area and in Toledo. Thunderstorms spread into sections of Kentucky and Pennsylvania.

A small tornado struck near Valparaiso, Ind. One death in a traffic accident was attributed to the storms which struck Richmond, Muncie and Mishawaka, Ind.

The storms in Ohio broke out after a spell of unseasonable warm weather including a high temperature of 95 in Columbus and 91 in Cincinnati.

Braceros Are Offered Own Land

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Braceros made idle by the impending end of hiring of Mexican migrant workers by U.S. farmers have been offered land of their own.

Mrs. Amparo Anaya Rodriguez de Nuxguen said she owned about 31,790 acres in Jalisco state and she planned to turn it over to braceros.

"If they are useful in the United States," she asked an interviewing reporter, "why shouldn't they be useful in their own country?"

Niki's Talk Agreement Has Vast Implications

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent
An AP News Analysis

Soviet Premier Khrushchev's agreement to U. S.-British-Soviet talks on a nuclear test ban has vast implications. It may presage an entirely new phase of the cold war.

The timing of Khrushchev's decision looks like a studied slap at the Chinese Communists, suggesting that division of the world Communists into two camps is already a fact.

The Soviet leader's appearance of conciliation toward the West will be treated with skeptical reserve in Washington. The talks may be just talks and little more. But there is another aspect.

President Kennedy appears to be asking for a broad reappraisal, on both sides, of the whole cold war. There are indications that Khrushchev is willing to listen. To Khrushchev's proposals for peaceful coexistence the President responds with a proposal to "make the world safe for diversity."

Khrushchev appears to be gambling, putting a great deal on the line to show the world—and its Communists—that his way is the best one toward ultimate Red victory.

OUT OF PATIENCE

The test ban meeting in Moscow is set tentatively for July. That may mean Khrushchev has run out of patience with Peking's warlike Red disidents.

Another important Moscow meeting is scheduled for July, between representatives of the bellicose Chinese party and members of the Soviet Central Committee. They plan to discuss their deep conflict.

Kennedy, announcing the projected test ban talks, said mankind need not accept "the conclusion that war is inevitable."

The notably hopeful tone of the President's discussion of future East-West relations can only enrage the Red Chinese, who have been loudly scornful of Khrushchev's peaceful coexistence line and have called for the Soviet leader's head on that score.

Khrushchev will insist that the ideological war with the West will continue, and that communism will compete effectively with economic and political weapons. But that will hardly assuage Chinese feelings.

The Chinese categorically reject Khrushchev's idea that total war can be avoided. Peking and its allies insist that total war between the two world systems is inevitable. The Russians, with much more to lose than the have-not Chinese, say it's not so any more.

EVEN WORLD UNITY

Pressures and changes in the U.S.S.R. now may require any Soviet leadership to put the interests of the nation and the Soviet people first, even ahead of Communist world unity. A changing Soviet society exhibits more natural ties with Europe and the West than with China and the East. Khrushchev is sensitive to these pressures and changes.

Many times the Soviet leader has displayed a belief that the United States and Russia have mutual problems, interests and responsibilities in a world threatened by nuclear catastrophe.

Now Kennedy speaks of a "mutually deep interest in a just and genuine peace and in halting the arms race."

He speaks of common U.S.-Soviet interest in preventing war, since the two nations would be the primary targets and "most in danger of devastation."

The President also spoke of the possibility of diverting vast sums now used for armament to "combat ignorance, poverty and disease." Khrushchev has used almost identical words and in so doing enraged Peking.

Kennedy also noted that Americans Russians, while defending their own vital interests, "must avert those confrontations which present an adversary with a choice of either humiliating retreat or nuclear war."

That was almost the situation last October when the President forced a showdown on the Soviet missiles in Cuba.

"Old at 40,50,60?" Man, Get Wise! Pep Up

Thousands are peppy at 70! So, if you feel weak, low in energy, "old" at 40, 50 or 60, quit blaming it on age. If you want to feel younger, try Ostrex Tonic Tablets at once. Also for debility due just to rundown body's lack of iron, the "below-par" feelings you may call "being old". Puts pep in both sexes. Try Ostrex—feel peppy, years younger. 8-day "get-acquainted" size costs little. All druggists.

DEAR ABBY

Roses To A Mother

DEAR ABBY: On Mother's Day my brother and his wife came to visit us. Maxine was telling us how much she liked the china set her husband had given her. Then she asked what Phil had given me. He broke into the conversation with, "She's no mother, what do I have to give her a present for?" Abby, I have four children. But they are all adopted because I can't have children. This made me feel terrible. Have you any advice?

NO MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: In my opinion, any woman who is unable to bear children, but wants so desperately to be a mother that she will adopt them, deserves the title of mother with a capital "M". She is more Mother than the female who accidentally conceives and then resigns herself to her fate. You, madame, exemplify motherhood in its highest form. Quadruple congratulations!

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Tell "Wet Pillow," who cried because her husband gave her $20 and told her to go out and buy herself a Mother's Day gift, she doesn't know how lucky she is. Mother's Day happened to fall on my birthday this year. I've been married eleven years and we have three lovely children. My husband didn't even wish me a Happy Mother's Day or a Happy Birthday. Instead he gave me a big lecture on how "commercial" Mother's Day and all the other holidays have become.

"CRIED ME A RIVER"

* * *

DEAR ABBY: We recently had a discussion about whether or not to bury pets with a little ceremony, and mark their graves. Someone said that you had written that it was "childish" and grown people should "put away childish things." How can anyone who has the compassion for people that you appear to have be so insensitive to animals?

DISAPPOINTED IN YOU

DEAR DISAPPOINTED: I could not have expressed the above sentiments. May I quote one of my favorite poems?:

"Oh, shame on the mothers of Mortals
Who did not stop to teach
The sorrow that lies in dear dumb eyes
The sorrow that has no speech.
The same force formed the sparrow
That fashioned man and king
And the God of the whole
Gave a spark of soul
To each furred and feathered thing."
ELLA WHEELER WILCOX

* * *

DEAR ABBY: How long is a high school senior obligated to a young lady after he has invited her to the senior prom? Or perhaps I should put it this way: How long should a young lady keep a young man waiting for her answer to his invitation? At this writing, our son has been kept dangling for 72 hours.

"PINKEY"

DEAR PINKEY: After dangling for 24 hours, a young man can consider himself "cut down."

Pact On Test Ban Talks Fails To Stir Support

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's announcement of a Moscow conference on a nuclear test ban stirred new friction with Republicans and apparently fell short in rallying key Senate support.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois expressed indignation that the President had made his announcement of the meeting and of the cessation of atmospheric tests Monday without any advance consultation with the Republicans.

"We Republicans are expected to play the bipartisan game on foreign policy," Dirksen said in an interview. "Yet when some decision of this sort is made we are not consulted in advance. We are expected to go along without even knowing what the President is proposing."

Dirksen objected to holding the meeting of representatives of the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union in Moscow. He said it ought to be on neutral ground.

The Republican leader also said he wants to know whether reports are true that the United States will be represented at the session, expected to be held in July, "by someone outside of the government."

Administration sources have indicated that John J. McCloy, a Republican who served as Kennedy's disarmament adviser, and Undersecretary of State W. Averell Harriman, who has been involved in many negotiations with the Russians, are among those considered for the post.

Dirksen demanded to know in the Senate if the meeting will become one of "concession and more concession to Khrushchev to achieve some kind of test ban treaty."

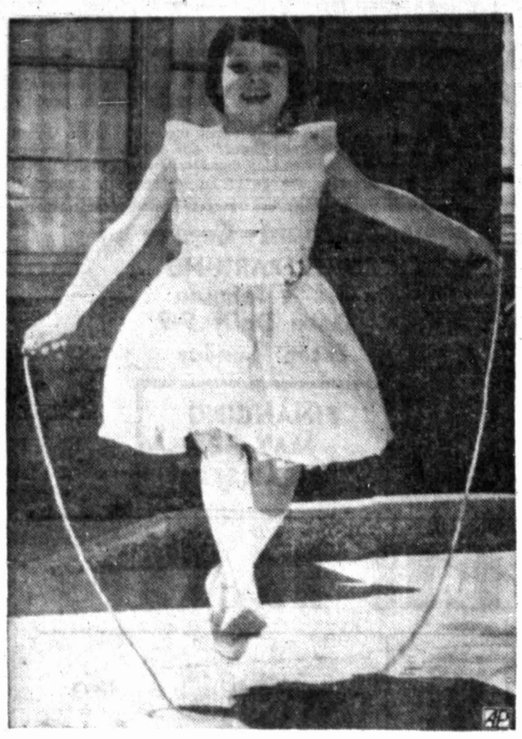

Dirksen's criticism reflected an uneasiness on the part of many senators that the United States might be trapped in some agreement that would not provide foolproof inspections of what the Russians were doing.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, the assistant Democratic leader, said glowingly that the President had "rededicated the nation to peace as a realistic and imperative goal."

Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., a possible rival for Kennedy in the 1964 presidential election, said the President is "dead wrong" in agreeing to the conference and in suspending atmospheric tests in the meantime.

Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., a member of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee, expressed hope the conference would prove useful, but he made it clear he is not enthusiastic about halting atmospheric tests without any agreement.

Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper, R-Iowa, a GOP spokesman on atomic matters, said that if the Moscow meeting brings further offers of compromise with the Russians, it would be "a very great mistake." He said the Soviets hadn't made any concessions.

Fully Recovered

A year ago Janice Hernan, 8, lost her right leg at the knee when she fell in a ditch and caught it in a spinning earth auger. Her plight brought letters from all over the U.S. Now with an artificial leg she skips rope, rides a bike with the best of them. She has grown 1½ inches and gained 12 pounds. She wants to be a doctor.

Slant Case Testimony Technical

TYLER (AP)— More technical testimony went into the record Monday in the trial of three men accused of producing oil from a well angled underneath property of another owner.

Engineer James Smith of the Texas Railroad Commission, which regulates the oil industry, said a directional survey disclosed the well departed a maximum of 34½ degrees from vertical at 1,500 feet. The total depth was 3,940 feet.

Evidence concerned the X-2 well on the L. Givens lease in the East Texas Field. Prosecutors contend it was slanted to drain oil from a Shell Oil Co. lease and a hidden plastic pipe carried the crude to an otherwise dry hole, making the second well appear to be a producer.

Being tried before U.S. Dist. Judge Joe Sheehy are E. B. Hearn Jr. and Daryl Gaumer of Longview and E. B. Hearn Sr. of Houston. A 29-count indictment accuses the three men, along with Associates Drilling Co., of shipping contraband oil from one state to another and filing false production reports.

Testimony in the case began last Tuesday.

Lawton Hutchison, a Federal Petroleum Board investigator who took the stand before a weekend recess, returned Monday to undergo lengthy cross-examination.

In answer to questions by defense lawyer John Glass Sr., Hutchison refused to say he regarded the X-2 well as a legitimate operation. He described a regulator found on the well as "ingenious."

Lynn Galeener of Houston, employed by the Houston Oil Field & Materials Co., testified that whipstocks are used to straighten oil well holes. There was earlier testimony about such devices being found on the Givens lease.

Fidel Short On Empties

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—Havana radio told residents of Santiago de Cuba that they'd better turn in their empty bottles if they expect to have beer at their forthcoming carnival.

The broadcast said there are plenty of beer-making ingredients on hand but containers for the brew are lacking. It is calculated that 30,000 empties are scattered around town. Taxi drivers have been given the job of collecting them.

British Probe Continues Into The Profumo Affair

LONDON (AP)—Britain's lord chancellor continued today to probe into whether the nation's security was breached as a result of the Profumo affair.

Prime Minister Harold Macmillan ordered the inquiry into the shadowy background of the scandal that rocked his government after War Minister John Profumo quit in disgrace.

Macmillan's position as head of the government and of the Conservative party was also periled by charges that he was fooled too easily by Profumo's deceit. But aides said he had no thought of resigning.

Profumo quit last Wednesday, confessing he had had an improper relationship in 1961 with Christine Keeler, a 21-year-old party girl.

Although Profumo denied any security breach was involved, Christine at the same time was the mistress of Capt. Eugene Ivanov.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ◇	1 ♡	Double	Pass
1 ♠	Pass	2 ♠	Pass
4 ♠	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: King of ♡

With the aid of a slight defensive lapse, declarer's skillful exhibition of dummy play permitted him to land a game contract against an adverse trump break.

When West overcalled South's opening one diamond bid with one heart, North made a penalty double. His hand rated to take a minimum of four tricks, and he was justified in counting on partner for three. If it should prove that South had sufficient assets to produce a game then the penalty might prove to be quite substantial.

South felt that his holding was much too distributional to prove effective defensively and he escaped to one spade. When North showed the trump fit by raising spades, South proceeded directly to game. Against such robust bidding, East refrained from doubling, for he was not inclined to provide his opponent with any clews which might prove helpful in the play.

West led the king of hearts and North's ace won the trick. South decided to make a diamond play. East put up the ace of diamonds and returned a heart. South ruffed in his hand and led the ace of spades. When West showed out, it was apparent that East could not be prevented from winning two trump tricks.

Since it was not convenient to make another play from the dummy at this point, declarer led the king of diamonds from his hand. Fortunately this dropped East's queen. The jack of diamonds was continued and a club thrown from dummy. East ruffed and returned a club, but South went up with the ace and led another high diamond as North's last club was discarded. East trumped once more, but now he was down to declarer's size in spades and when South regained the lead he drew the remaining trumps and claimed the balance.

East's mistake came at trick three. When he is in with the ace of diamonds, if he returns a club it will establish the setting trick for his side before declarer can marshal his forces.

From South's failure to stand for the double it should be apparent that he has but one heart. It cannot hurt to make a club play in case West has a high card in that suit, and there will be time to play a forcing game later if such procedure seems indicated.

Awaiting Trial, Ends His Life

AMARILLO (AP) — Police saw a building contractor, awaiting trial for a double killing, end his life with a rifle shot after a wild chase Monday night.

He was Dewey Hicks, 45, Amarillo home builder.

Police Chief Wiley Alexander related these details:

Hicks created a disturbance earlier in the evening and officers were summond. As they sought to quiet him, he grabbed a high-powered rifle and fled in his car.

Pursuing patrolmen managed to force Hicks' automobile to a curb, and he stepped out brandishing the gun. Alexander urged him to lay down the weapon. Instead Hicks put the rifle to his head and pulled the trigger.

Hicks was free under $50,000 bond on murder charges in the fatal shooting Jan. 1 of Joe Dammerons, 73, a retired railroad employe, and Joe Dammerons Jr. 44, facing theft charges at the time.

MOLLY BEE

A Lovely Complexion Needs No Make-Up

By LYDIA LANE

HOLLYWOOD — Molly Bee agrees that hindsight has 20-20 vision, when she looks back on her teen-ager years.

"I overdid the sophisticated angle," Molly confessed. "I had to use make-up when I was working before the cameras, and when my parents objected when I wore it on dates, I resisted. I wouldn't listen to them, and my face broke out with a bad case of acne."

"What did you do?" I wanted to know.

"I went to a doctor for advice. He gave me a wonderful formula and ordered me to go without make-up and lie in the sun. I am glad to tell others about this treatment, because when your face has blemishes you lose your self - confidence. It is hard to face people and act normally with a blotchy complexion.

"The most important thing in clearing a complexion is maintaining a clean skin. Cosmetics, unless they are medicated, only spread the infection, especially if your powder puff is soiled. But if you have to meet the public, and must wear make-up, be sure to give your face a thorough cleansing as often as possible.

"If you use soap and water, don't use a washcloth. Make a soapy lather and massage your face and neck gently in a circular motion. Then rinse with warm water. Splash and splash until your face is squeaky clean. Then soap again and repeat the process of rinsing thoroughly. When you feel there is no possibility of dirt or cosmetics left, rinse in cold water. Then go over your face with an ice cube to be sure the pores are closed. I used the medicated acne cream the doctor prescribed after this routine.

"If you use cleansing cream, be sure that you cleanse until the tissues or clean cloths, I prefer cloths, show no indication of cosmetics. After cleansing be sure to use an astringent if your face has a tendency to be oily. When you are certain your face is clean, like using soap and water, go over your face with an ice cube."

Patio Party Given For E. Werlein

A patio dinner party held Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Dibrell had as its guest of honor, 1st. Lt. Ewing Werlein Jr., who is to be married June 29 to Miss Kay McGibbon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. K. H. McGibbon.

Host couples with the Dibrells were Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Goodlett and Mr. and Mrs. John B. Knox.

Thirty guests were seated at eight tables, spread with pastel cloths. A hurricane lamp, with colored butterflies attached, decorated each table. The buffet table was centered with an arrangement of dasies in yellow and brown hues.

Following a surprise fun shower for Lt. Ewing, the couple received a cookbook.

Return From Convention

Four Big Spring women returned Sunday from the annual state convention of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Corpus Christi. The convention ran from June 7-9.

Those women attending were Mrs. Delphia Gordon, Mrs. Zula Reeves, Mrs. Vena Lawson and Mrs. Cass Hill.

The women heard national representative, Mrs. Dorthy Ford, speak on the responsibility of women in business. Beatrice McConnell, deputy director of the Women's Bureau, U.S. Department of Labor, spoke on the "Status of Women" and Dr. W. A. Miller, president of the University of Corpus Christi, talked on the administrative ability of women.

Before returning, the group made a tour through Sonora Caverns.

Prizes Received In Club Games

Door and game prizes were on the agenda for the British Wives Club Monday evening when it met in the Flame Room of the Pioneer Gas Co.

The door prize went to Mrs. Eugene Yates and game prizes went to Mrs. Julia Maldonaldo and Mrs. Glenn Sandborn.

Hostesses for the meeting were Miss Moira Henry and Mrs. Joe Donogriche. The next meeting was set for June 24 in the Flame Room.

BRIDES VERSUS

Meal Planning

Thoughtful planning can make meal preparation more cheerful and less tearful for the beginning homemaker.

Meals need not be elaborate or expensive to be attractive, tasty and nutritious. Nor does the cook need elaborate equipment to prepare an adequate meal. Knowing the basic pattern for planning daily meals will help a great deal.

What is a nutritionally adequate meal? And what equipment is needed in preparing it? Using the Food for Fitness Guide for nutritional adequacy, the following is a list of equipment needed for the preparation of each basic food group.

Meats, including poultry, fish and eggs, potatoes, green and yellow vegetables and other vegetables — a six-quart dutch oven and cover; three sauce pans with covers, one-quart and three-quart sizes; two skillets with covers, both 8 inch and 10 inch sizes; and a two-quart casserole with cover.

Breads and desserts—a cookie sheet; two round 8 inch cake pans and one square 8 inch or 9 inch cake pan; the casserole cover listed above for a pie pan and one 9x15x2½ inch utility pan.

Beverages-one six-cup perculator and one teapot.

The beginning homemaker will appreciate meal planning preparation guides and the tested recipes given in the extension bulletins—Quick Meals, Vegetables-Selection and Preparation and Good Meals Every Day.

Copies are available from Mrs. Delaine Crawford, Howard County Home Demonstration agent.

Local Group Receives Tournament Honors

Mrs. Elmo Wasson and Mrs. E. L. Powell placed first in the women's pairs at the Permian Basin United Sectional Duplicate Tournament just concluded in Midland. Capt. Ron Kibler was first in the men's pairs.

Twelve points were received by Mrs. Wasson and Mrs. Powell who also placed second in consolation and third in the masters pairs. They received silver trophy awards. Capt. Kibler placed third over all and tied for fourth in teams of fours, receiving 10 points. Mrs. Kibler received eight points.

Other winners were Mrs. R. E. Dobbins, Mrs. Bill Emerson, Mrs. J. D. Robertson, Mrs. John Stone, Mrs. Glen Lingenfelter, Mrs. Paul Lee, Mrs. J. J. Havens, Mrs. Ray McMahen, Mrs. Riley Roster, Mrs. Elvis McCrary, Mrs. B. B. Badger and Mrs. Floyd Proctor.

Among those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Grover Cunningham Jr., Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Fish, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Riley, Mrs. Ben McCullough, Mrs. Ayra McGann, Mrs. James Duncan, Mrs. R. H. Weaver, Mrs. Truman Jones, Mrs. Hudson Landers and Mrs. C. A. Jones.

Return For Visit

Capt. and Mrs. Robert Jones and family, formerly of Webb Air Force Base, were recent guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Knox, 1313 Lexington. The Jones family was en route from a base in California to the captain's new station in Virginia.

Reunion Of McNews In 37th Year

Sunday marked the 37th consecutive annual McNew family reunion, with the exception of two years during World War II.

Those attending were the descendants of the late William and Mary McNew. Over 200 gathered at Forrest Park in Lamesa, bringing descendants from six states.

The reunion is held each year on the second Sunday of June in the Community Center at Forrest Park.

The highlight of the day was honors paid to Mrs. Sarah Merritt on her 80th birthday. She is a granddaughter of the late William and Mary McNew.

The entertainment was visiting, music and singing.

Mothers Discuss Area Conclave, Elect Officers

The West Texas Area DeMolay Conclave was the topic for discussion at the DeMolay Mothers meeting Monday at Beaird's Electric Service Co., 207 W. 21st St.

The conclave will be June 13-15.

Other business included election of Mrs. Curtis Beaird as president of the group; other officers are Mrs. Joe Wheeler, first vice president; Mrs. Jack Owens, second vice president; Mrs. Nita Jones, treasurer; Mrs. Nathan Dietz, secretary; Mrs. Fred Coleman, scrapbook chairman and Mrs. Frank Guinn, reporter.

Bi-State Meeting Planned

The Ladies Auxiliary to Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen discussed preparation for a Bi-State meeting and entertained visitors at the meeting Monday evening in Carpenters Hall.

Mrs. A. J. Cain, presiding president, urged members to attend the Bi-State (Texas - Oklahoma) meeting of the Trainmen and Auxiliary June 14 in El Paso. Mrs. A. J. Cain, Mrs. Effie Meador and Mrs. Winnie Ralph announced their plans to attend.

Former member Mrs. Mijonne R. Siverling and Mrs. Mimie Moore were visitors to the meeting.

Pro-tem officers for the meeting were Mrs. George Pittman, conductress; Mrs. Ben Ralph, warden; Mrs. J. T. Allen, chaplain and Mrs. W. C. Bell, outer guard.

Mrs. C. W. Kesterson's group served refreshments.

Bride-Elect Honored With Shower

Guest of honor at a pre-nuptial shower, Saturday evening in the home of Mrs. Tom McAdams, was Miss Connie Fox, bride-elect of Billy Bob Wilson. The prospective bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Fox of Wichita Falls. Parents of the future bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wilson, 800 Settles.

Miss Fox, attired in a green polished cotton sheath, wore a glamellia corsage received from the hostesses. With her in the receiving line were her mother and Mrs. Wilson.

Thirty guests who called from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. were registered by Mrs. Eric Wilson, sister of the bridegroom-to-be.

Sheer floor-length organdy over white linen covered the refreshment table where an epergne held white gladioli and yellow chysanthemums.

Cohostesses, who alternated at the serving table, were Mrs. Gene Crenshaw, Mrs. Earl Wilson, Mrs. A. C. Wilkerson, Mrs. G. B. McNallen, Mrs. Earl Hughes, Mrs. E. L. Terry, Mrs. Fred Coleman, Mrs. W. O. Wilson and Mrs. C. H. Wasson.

DATE BOOK

The United Council of Church Women will meet Friday at 10 a.m. in St. Paul Presbyterian Church.

Protestant Women of the Chapel are to meet Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Leonard Torres, 63-B Chanute.

Daughter Home For Summer

GARDEN CITY (SC)—Jo Melanie Calverley will be at home this summer with her mother, Mrs. J. B. Calverley. She will return to San Angelo College in September. Patsy Stiller of Ardmore, Okla., a guest in the Calverley home for a few days, is presently employed in Midland.

Also in the family, Theora Calverley, physical education and English teacher in Garden City, will be at Texas Technological College part of the summer to work on her master's degree.

Tea Given On Anniversary

The passing of 50 years of married life was marked Sunday afternoon at a tea held in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Martin at their home. Host and hostess were Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Martin.

More than 200 persons were received at the ranch house located 10 miles southeast of the city on Moss Creek Road. The home is that which was founded in 1877 by Mrs. Martin's grandfather, Howard county's oldest settler. The couple stood in the same room where Mrs. Martin's parents were married.

Decorations for the tea featured gold mums and a table covered with a floor length white net cloth over taffeta.

Silver candelabra holding five gold candles entwined with gold daisies, was the centerpiece. A garland of gold sweet peas encircled the table. The cake was white with gold decorations.

Mrs. Wade Choate and Mrs. Charles Lindsey Marchbanks served. The guests were greeted at the door by nephews, Charles L. Marchbanks and Wade Choate. Mrs. Charlene Kee was at the register.

In the receiving line were the Morgan Martins, the Elmo Martins, their son and two grandsons, Larkin and Morgan. Other members of the house party were Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Hayes, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Choate, Mrs. Lindsey Marchbanks, and Mr. and Mrs. Bud Flanagan, Mr. and Mrs. James Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Choate, Karen Lee and Bob Nunn.

Out of town guests were Mrs. A. L. Head, Bartlesville, Okla; Mrs. Frankie Stone, Lamesa; Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Weger and children, Enid, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hubbard, Wink; Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Alfred, Midland and Mrs. Minnie Alfred, Cushing, Okla.

Dinner-Program Held For Guild Members

A salad dinner was served Monday evening to members of Martha Wesleyan Service Guild, First Methodist Church. Served in the hall, the supper preceded the regular meeting conducted in the church parlor.

Mrs. S. Gorman, the featured speaker, chose to discuss the United Nations. She told of the influence of the body in maintaining peace in the world and read an excerpt of Adlai Stevenson's address to the U.N.

During a business session, Mrs. Miller Harris, president, called for the presentation of life memberships in the Woman's Division of Christian Service and the Wesleyan Service Guild pins. These were received by Miss Gladys Burnham and Mrs. M. R. Turner, with the presentations made by Mrs. B. M. Keese and Mrs. H. M. Rowe.

Elected to the nominating committee for three, two and one-year terms were Mrs. Turner, Mrs. T. P. Harrison and Mrs. Robert Hill. Miss Edith Gay gave the secretary's report, and the treasurer's report was made by Mrs. Cass Hill. Miss Gay told of the need at the Half-Way House, mainly that of towels, wash cloths and bedding.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Harris, Mrs. Oma Anderson and Mrs. Turner. Members were dismissed by singing the benediction, "Into My Heart."

ROTC Summer Training Officers Arrive At Webb

Eight Air Force officers, all captains currently assigned as assistant professors of Air Science at colleges and universities around the country, arrived at Webb AFB Monday to complete the staff which will direct the ROTC Summer Training Unit to be held at Webb from June 16 to July 14.

Lt. Col. Bedford R. Underwood, 3560th Pilot Training Group Operations Officer at Webb, has been named Unit Commander. Another Webb officer, Capt. Glen Lingenfelter of the academic instructor's staff, has been assigned temporarily as Assistant Training Officer.

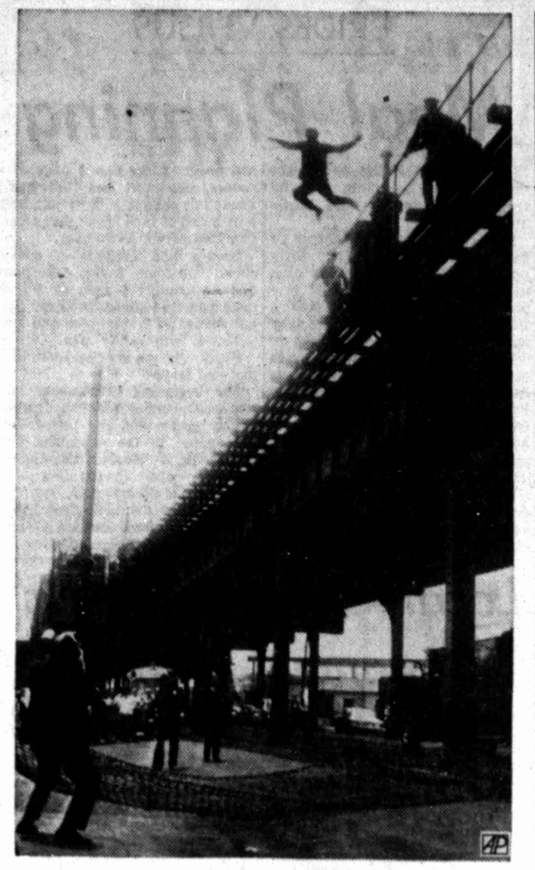

The eight captains are Allen G. Lincoln, University of Iowa, Iowa City; William F. McClelland, University of Wichita, Wichita, Kans.; David F. King, University of Mississippi, Oxford; Thomas L. Bryant, University of Oklahoma, Norman; Silver C. Chisum and Richard S. Fiedon, SMU, Dallas; John H. Koller, East Texas State, Commerce; Dannie R. Hoskins, Southwest Texas State, San Marcos.

Five senior officers had arrived earlier for consultation with Webb officials regarding the training unit's needs for the camp. They are Lt. Col. George Krynovich, University of Wyoming, Laramie, Chief of Administrative Services; Major Carl C. Clendenin, University of Oklahoma, Norman, Personnel Services Officer; Major Bunyan D. Strickland Jr., Training Officer, St. Louis University, St. Louis, Mo.; Major Carlton H. McConnell, University of Oklahoma, Norman, Commandant of Cadets.

Four enlisted men accompanied the advance party and they will serve as administrative assistants for the duration of the camp. First to arrive was T. Sgt. Sam Belk Jr., Oklahoma State University, Stillwater, who will serve as the Unit Sergeant Major. S. Sgt. Richard R. Overholser, NE Oklahoma A&M College, Miami; S. Sgt. Russell B. Rhodes, University of Oklahoma, Norman; S. Sgt. Robert W. Scheipman, University of Arkansas, Fayetteville, round out the enlisted staff of the unit.

ROTC cadets are divided into two categories: Section I covers cadets who plan flying careers, either as pilots or navigators. Sections II, III and IV apply to those who do not plan careers as either pilots or navigators—such as administration, or science slots.

The cadets are scheduled to arrive at Webb Sunday morning. Processing will begin at noon, and work schedules begin Monday.

Leaps From Tracks

Leaping outward from a 35-foot high elevated section of the Brooklyn subway, a man identified by police as George McGuire, 25, plummets to the ground. Police were unable to get the net below in place in time to break the fall and the man suffered internal injuries and multiple fractures. He jumped despite the pleas of a Roman Catholic priest who was a passenger on a passing train. Police said he jumped because of family difficulties.

Indonesia To Join S. E. Asian Group

MANILA (AP)—Neutralist Indonesia agreed today to join a loose confederation with strongly pro-Western Malaya and the Philippines to preserve peace and security in the South Pacific.

The chief threat to this peace and security was seen as Communist China.

The foreign ministers of the three countries, after a conference here, also agreed to ask Secretary-General U Thant of the United Nations to find out whether peoples in the territories scheduled to join Malaya in the new Federation of Malaysia really want to join.

The ministers also decided that the Philippine claim to British North Borneo will be respected and entertained when the federation is formed, reliable sources reported.

The union of Malaya, Singapore and British territories in North Borneo, to be known as the Federation of Malaysia, is not the same as the consultative confederation the three countries agreed to form among themselves today. Although the confederation binds none of the countries to any specific policies or actions, officials here are hoping it will lead to some major changes in crisis-ridden Southeast Asia.

The confederation will mean a linkup of sorts of Indonesia with two anti-Communist countries—Malaya and the Philippines—on the basis of their common racial and cultural heritage.

There has been no clear public indication as to how the three countries can resolve the dispute over the projected Federation of Malaysia, the question that brought them together in this conference.

There still seems to be a possibility that no compromise will be reached between Malaya, which would lead the federation, and Indonesia and the Philippines, which have opposed it.

Delegates here recommended that Indonesian President Sukarno, Malayan Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman and Philippine President Diosdado Macapagal hold a summit conference here not later than the end of July.

Bogard Promoted To Captain's Post

Stanley Logan Bogard, 36, who has been a lieutenant in the traffic division of the Big Spring Police Department since April 1, 1960, has been promoted to shift captain. He replaces Capt. Walter Eubanks who became chief of police in Sweetwater June 1.

Bogard first joined the department July 1, 1963, as radio operator. He became Warrant Officer April 1, 1954 and served until June 30, 1956 when he was employed by Cosden Petroleum Corporation. He rejoined the police force in 1957, was promoted to sergeant July 1, 1959 and less than a year later became a lieutenant and commander of the newly organized traffic division.

Bogard was selected Big Spring's first Police Patrolman of the Year for 1958 when the Jaycees began their annual selection.

The reorganization of the department, which became effective the first of this week, placed the traffic division under the regular patrol divisions and abolished the office of lieutenant. All traffic control and investigation will be directed by the shift captains.

CAPT. STANLEY BOGARD

Bogard is a native of Howard County and attended Howard County Junior College two years. He and Mrs. Bogard, who live at 1304 Virginia, have three children, Jeanne, Patricia Louise, and Stanley Chris.

Another promotion—a sergeant—was to be named this afternoon, following a staff meeting at the police classroom, Chief Jay Banks said this morning.

"We will have only one lieutenant in the department now," he said, "and that will be Lt. Robert Bronson of the identification and records division."

Sea Scouts Due In Camp Wednesday

Big Spring's hiking Sea Scouts will hot foot it into Scout Ranch in the Davis Mountains Wednesday about noon.

Billy Gilbert, one of the seven who have walked 220 miles thus far, called from Balmorhea Tuesday morning to say that the hikers were within 30 miles of their destination.

Residents of Balmorhea gave them a warm welcome as they strode into town early today, feted them to free drinks and gave them a swim at the springs.

Members of the party were to resume their hiking this afternoon, camping overnight in the foothills of the Davis Mountains. Wednesday morning they will start up the road which winds into the canyon where the Buffalo Trail Scout Ranch is located.

They will spend the remainder of the week there, returning—via automobile, naturally — Sunday. Nor do they plan to do any hiking immediately after getting to camp.

Patrons Urged To Return Forms

Theatre patrons who attended the Big Spring Civic Theatre production of "Harvey" were urged this morning to return to Box 643 the questionaires given them during the performance last week. The directors will use the results of the survey to plan the next season of plays.

Capt. Jim Marlin succeeded to the presidency during the board meeting Monday evening, when Bob Lewis stepped down. Other officers elected included Mrs. Richard Davis, vice president in charge of business affairs; Richard McClurg, vice president in charge of production; Dr. M. W. Talbot, secretary; Mrs. Jack Burnett, treasurer. Other board members are Lewis and Art Clonts.

Marlin named several committee chairmen, including Dr. Talbot, membership; Clonts, advertising-publicity; and Lewis, building.

Old Settlers To Meet Here Friday

A meeting of the Howard County Old Settlers Association has been set for 2 p.m. Friday at the Howard County courtroom.

Jess Slaughter, president, urged all members and friends of the association to attend the session. One of the primary purposes is to set the date for the annual reunion and to begin planning for it. Normally, the reunion is held the first Friday in July.

Officers of the association are Slaughter, president; Cecil Long, vice president; and Mrs. Ruth Wilson, secretary.

RACE

eye on groups that formed nearby.

They patrolled the streets in squad cars and thronged the entrance and the lobby of the hotel where Wallace spent the night.

Col. Albert Lingo, state public safety director, said arrests had reached 22 up to the eve of the arrival of the two Negro students. Those arrested were charged with illegal possession of weapons that ranged from pistols and clubs to bayonets, swords, tear gas equipment and needle-pointed hooks used for moving cotton bales.

Lingo said a Negro was arrested Monday when four sticks of dynamite were found in his home.

Some Negro servants moved into their employers' homes.

"They are afraid to go home at night," a white woman said.

On every hand, automobiles flaunted flags of the Confederacy. One, attached to a radio antenna, was at half-staff.

Around the entrances of Foster Auditorium, semi-circles in white paint marked the boundary line for newsmen.

Lingo and some of his aides went through the building and looked over the arrangements.

NO EXCITEMENT

Wallace arrived in this nervous and apprehensive city Monday afternoon. He greeted reporters cordially at the airport and said he was glad to see them, but that he did not think there would be any excitement.

"We're going to have peace," he said.

At his hotel Wallace jested with newsmen who were jostling each other to get near him.

"Let's don't have any mob violence now," he said.

Wallace then toured the campus. He shook hands with state troopers and students. He also visited the armory where National Guardsmen are on standby duty and told them: "You are doing a great service to the people of Alabama and to the nation. Your presence here has centainly done much to keep law and order."

Stationed nearby in northeastern Alabama were several thousand federal troops, including units of the riot-trained 101st Airborne Division.

At Gadsden, Negroes planned extensive demonstrations, apparently timed to tie in with Hood's expected enrollment. More than a score of Negro teen-agers attempted to desegregate downtown theaters and lunch counters Monday.

Picket signs proclaimed: "Jimmy Hood, we are with you" and "God bless Jimmy."

* * *

Elsewhere on the racial scene:

A Negro leader warned that soon "blood may flow in the streets—after hose-wielding firemen and police armed with night sticks broke up a Negro demonstration around the Danville, Va., city jail. The melee broke out after 37 Negroes had been imprisoned earlier in the day during a noisy protest march through the downtown section. Three more persons were arrested in the jail demonstration.

"I am mighty afraid violence will erupt," said the Rev. A. I. Dunlap, who charged that some of the demonstrators were "beaten unmercifully" with police clubs. "Some of our men said they were going to get their guns. If they don't get some troopers here, blood may flow in the streets."

At Atlanta, the Rev. Wyatt Tee Walker of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference said the group was contemplating sending 35 members of its Birmingham staff to Danville to aid in the movement here.

NOT AFTER DARK

Also at Atlanta, it was announced that the city's swimming pools, scheduled to open Wednesday on a desegregated basis, would not operate after dark.

A majority of the businessmen in Orlando, Fla., have agreed to drop racial barriers in employment and to desegregate public facilities. The voluntary action came after a conference with Mayor Robert Carr Monday night.

"We are convinced that the time is at hand when definite progress must be made toward peaceful desegregation of our community and we are ready to act toward that end," the group said in a resolution.

The American Guild of Variety Artists voted in convention at New York for an immediate national boycott of entertainment centers that racially segregate their customers or employes.

Spokesmen for a biracial committee at Nashville, Tenn., announced that all the leading motels and hotels in the city and most of the restaurants have agreed to desegregate. Mayor Beverly Briley, who appointed the committee to work out problems which led to violence in recent weeks, said he was very pleased with the report. A Negro leader, the Rev. Dr. J. E. Lower, termed it a good beginning.

MUSLINS CONVICTED

Four of 14 Black Muslims involved in a bloody battle with police outside the Los Angeles temple of the antiwhite sect more than a year ago, were convicted by a white jury. The jury continued deliberations on the other 10.

At New Haven, Conn., Dean Eugene V. Rostow of the Yale Law School said resistance to racial integration is a threat to constitutional government. He called for decisive action by the national administration terming the issue "the most serious challenge to the continuity of American history since the guns fired on Ft. Sumter" to open the Civil War.

City Judge Raises Bonds

"How do you plead?" Corporation Judge John Richard Coffee asked a man charged with an illegal parking violation.

"How much is the fine for the violation?" the man asked in return.

"Two dollars," the judge said.

"Not guilty."

"All right. The case will be tried Friday morning and your bond will be $50," Judge Coffee returned.

"Can I change my plea to guilty and pay the $2," he asked.

"Just see the lady at the desk as you go out," Judge Coffee said. "Next case."

Bonds formerly set at $10 to $25 on most cases where "not guilty" pleas were entered have all been raised. Minors charged with possession of alcoholic beverages were formerly released on $10 bond and they forfeited that in most cases. It is now $50.

County Purchases New Road Grader From Abilene Firm

The low bid of $17,000, submitted by Patton Equipment Company, Abilene, on a new road grader, was accepted Monday by Howard County Commissioners.

The new maintainer will probably be used on road construction jobs and one of the older machines transferred for grading work, Lee Porter, county judge, said. This is the normal procedure when new equipment is received by the department.

Patton's bid was $2,000 below the next low bid of $19,000 made by Road Machinery Company. Treanor Equipment bid $19,500, payable $500 a month.

Other bids were: Plains Machine Company, bid of $22,034 at $1,000 a month with three per cent interest, or cash bid of $17,923 if paid by Feb. 15, 1964; and Western Machine Company, bid of $22,616.35 payable $500 a month for six months with balance due of $15,698 if paid at the end of six months, for a total payment of $18,760.98.

Resident's Mother Dies At Rotan

Mrs. Linnie Cooper, mother of two Sand Springs women, died at 10 a.m. Monday at her home in Rotan. Funeral was scheduled for 4 p.m. today at Rotan with the Weatherby Funeral Home in charge.

Mrs. Cooper was preceded in death by her husband in 1936.

She is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Alice Miller, Sand Springs, Mrs. R. L. McCutchin, Sand Springs, Mrs. Zora McCutchin, Sweetwater; two sons, Ollie Cooper, Rotan, Olen Cooper, Hamlin; two brothers; 27 grandchildren, 50 great-grandchildren and 15 great-great-grandchildren.

Requiem Mass To Memorialize Pope

A Requiem High Mass will be sung in honor of Pope John XXIII at 6 p.m. Wednesday in the St. Thomas Catholic Church, 605 N. Main.

The eulogy will be delivered by the Rev. Robert McDermott.

Requiem Low Mass was sung Friday for the Pope at the Sacred Heart Church.

Offices Being Changed In City Police Building

It was moving day this morning at the police department.

The reorganization of the department got under way following approval by City Manager Larry Crow and city commissioners. Chief Jay Banks said it would require several days to get the "bugs" ironed out of the change.

"Traffic records are being moved into the identification and records section and will be maintained by the supervisor of that bureau," he said. "The Warrant Officer will be moved into the same office and will coordinate his work with shift captains and the enforcement divisions. Corporation court clerk, meter maids, and animal wardens will be under command of the chief and assistant chief.

"Leo Hull, assistant chief, will move into the office formerly used by the traffic division. Shift captains, patrol and traffic sergeants will use the office now occupied by Hull to bring them nearer the squad room," Banks said.

The traffic clerk's office will be just inside a window in the hallway, opposite the chief's office. All file cabinets and furniture in the identification and records bureau office are being rearranged to fit the reorganization of the office.

"New methods of coordinating work in the department will be put in effect in the near future," Banks said. "These will probably include some daily reporting by individual officers and day by day performance reporting by sergeants."

J. R. Marshall Dies Today

Funeral for J. R. Marshall, 67, 109 E. 16th St., who died Tuesday morning after a lengthy illness at a local hospital, will be held Wednesday at 2 p.m. in the First Presbyterian Church with pastor R. Gage Lloyd officiating. Interment will be in Trinity Memorial Park.

Mr. Marshall was born Aug. 23, 1895, at Rising Star, Texas, and moved to Big Spring in 1936 from north of Stanton. He married Miss Cordula Walker Nov. 20, 1920, at Cross Plains. As a retired automotive and tractor salesman, he was a long time member of the First Presbyterian Church, Big Spring.

Survivors include his widow; one daughter, Laverne Wagman, Midland; one son, J. N. Marshall, Levelland; two brothers, F. K. Marshall and L. E. Marshall, Odessa; two sisters, Corda Booth, Cross Plains, and Eral Sherrill, Abernathy; and seven grandchildren.

Mrs. Chilton Hurt In Crash

Mrs. Jessie Chilton, 74, Lamesa, was taken to Howard County Hospital Foundation shortly after 2 p.m. Monday following a two-car accident at Tenth and Johnson. She received chest injuries but was reported resting comfortably. Tuesday morning. Her injuries were not serious.

Her husband, Roy Chilton, was driver of the car. Driver of the second vehicle was Angel Muriel Smith, 310 W. 17th. She was not injured.

One minor accident, investigated by Big Spring police Monday, occurred at North Ninth and North Scurry. Drivers of vehicles involved were Nathaniel Warren, 904 NW 2nd, and Pablo Ramirez, 1113 N. Scurry.

Kasch Reported Resting Well

A. P. Kasch, who was taken to Howard County Hospital Foundation Monday morning following a heart attack on his way home from Houston, was reported in good condition Tuesday. Hospital officials said he is resting comfortably and eating well.

Mr. Kasch, 73, was returning from the Shrine convention in Houston and suffered the attack on the train. A physician and registered nurse, who happened to be on the train, did what they could for him until he reached Dallas. He was taken from the train to the hospital here early Monday morning.

OIL REPORT

Sterling County Assured Of Lower Wolfcamp Strike

Shaheen and Sons No. 1 Nellie P. Sellers virtually assured a lower Wolfcamp discovery for Sterling County with flow of 35 barrels of oil in one hour on test. The project is about 20 miles northwest of Sterling City and 1¾ miles west and slightly south of the two-well Triple M (Wolfcamp) field.

The operator acidized the lower Wolfcamp through perforations between 6,870-90 feet with 1,000 gallons. After two runs of the swab it kicked off and flowed the oil through open tubing.

Preparations are being made to perforate the casing at the upper Wolfcamp, which returned one gallon of free oil, 90 feet of oil and gas-cut mud, and 1,000 feet of gas on 1½-hour drillstem test of a section from 6,080-97 feet.

Location of the prospector is C SE SE, section 63-17, SPRR survey.

Howard County gained a new drilling site in the Iatan-East Howard field about five miles southeast of Coahoma. It is Sawnie Robertson No. 20 Percy Jones, spotting 330 feet from the south and 2,310 feet from the east lines of section 13-30, T&P survey. Location is on a 320 acres and the hole will bottom at 3,000 feet.

Aggies Report Barbecue Ticket Sales Are High

"We're selling lots of tickets," Doug Clemens, president of the Big Spring A&M Club, said this morning. The Aggies will stage their annual Scholarship Barbecue in the amphitheatre of City Park Thursday, beginning at 7 p.m.

"We've sold more than 1,000," Clemens said, "which is more than we had sold at this time last year." He urged residents to purchase tickets from any Aggie before Thursday.

Ducats for the barbecue are $1.50 and children under 12 are admitted free.

A highlight of the evening will be naming the eighteenth recipient of a scholarship to A&M College by the local organization. Since 1953, when the club made its first scholarship award to a local student, the club has given scholarships to 17 boys. Five of these have since graduated.

The recipients have included Richard L. Lewis, Jimmie R. Porter, Gilbert F. Turner, C. G. Evans, Grady W. Barr, LeRoy LeFever, Jerry McMahen, Wayne Ditloff, George E. Lowke, Walter Bruce Moore, Buddy Adcock, John Puckett, Rufus Davis, Jay Tom Creighton, Perry Thompson, Ray Minks, and Coy Mitchell.

Hopkins Wins In State Trap Tournament

Dale Hopkins of Big Spring won first place in the Class A division of the Texas State Trapshoot tournament at Amarillo, with a score of 199 X 200.

An estimated 200 crack shooters took part in the event, which wound up Sunday. Rain interfered with the meet Saturday and practically all of the action was crowded into final day.

Runnerup in that class finished with a tally of 198 X 200.

Larry Gravestock, Amarillo won the high all-around and high overall championships.

His high all-around score was 393 X 400 and was scored in singles, doubles and handicaps. He won the shootoff for the high over-all after tying Malcolm Bottoms of Quanah at 724 X 750.

Hopkins, a lynotype operator for the Daily Herald, earned a big silver trophy for his finish in the Class A division.

Tigers Moving With Kaline's Batting Help

By The Associated Press

Al Kaline is throwing off sparks as the superstar slugger for the Detroit Tigers, which hardly ranks as the surprise of the baseball season.

But the Tigers also are getting some batting fireworks from a less expected source—Jake Wood.

The Kaline-Wood combine spearheaded the offense behind rookie Bill Faul's tight pitching Monday night as the Tigers clipped the Boston Red Sox 6-1. Kaline belted a pair of homers, knocking in four runs, while the wiry Wood tripled and singled twice, stole a base and scored twice.

In other American League action—New York and Washington traded shutouts, the Yankees winning 7-0 on recently-promoted Al Downing's two-hitter before being trimmed 1-0 by left-hander Claude Osteen; Barry Latman's clutch pitching and home run enabled the Cleveland Indians to nip Baltimore's sagging Orioles 3-2; and the Los Angeles Angels bombed Kansas City 13-3 with 18 hits. Chicago's front-running White Sox and the Minnesota Twins were idle.

For a ninth-place team, Kaline and Wood present some impressive credentials. Kaline has whacked 13 homers, tops the AL in runs batted in with 45, and is batting a smart .337.

Wood's three hits boosted his average to .291, some 40 points over his lifetime average and 75 points above what he hit last season.

Wood got the Tigers started in a hurry against Boston's slumping rookie, Dave Morehead, with a leadoff single in the first inning. He stole second, and after a walk to Bill Bruton, Kaline clouted the 200th homer of his career. Kaline also homered in the fifth, then he and Wood scored Detroit's final two runs in the seventh on a double by Dick McAuliffe.

Faul won his third in four decisions with a three-hitter, while Morehead dropped his fifth in a row and now is 3-5.

Downing, called up from the minors last week, posted his first big league victory in his two-hitter against the Senators. The 21-year-old southpaw, whose only other decision in the majors was a loss to Washington in 1961, struck out nine. Clete Boyer had three Yankee hits, including a homer, and Elston Howard hit a homer and double. Don Rudolph, 3-8, was the loser.

Final 99 Open Berths Up For Grabs Today

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Ol' Samuel Jackson Snead, a member of everybody's top 10 in the history of professional golf, is just one among 355 mortals faced with the do-or-else job today of trying to win a place in the U.S. Open Golf Championship.

Slammin' Sam, just turned 51, and many other top names in the game will play 36 holes at seven locations across the nation for the last 99 berths in the 63rd Open championship to be played this year at The Country Club, Brookline, Mass., June 20-22.

Thirty berths in the annual tournament that Snead, with all his greatness, has never won, were filled Monday in second-stage qualifying competition at Chicago, Cincinnati, Kansas City, Washington, Denver and Portland, Ore. The 99 today will close the list for the 150-man Brookline lineup. The other 21 places went to automatic qualifiers for recent achievements, including defending champion Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer, Gary Player, and red-hot Tony Lema.

Snead, former Open champions Dick Mayer, Cary Middlecoff and Julius Boros, former PGA kings Jay and Lionel Hebert, Chick Harbert, Jim Turnesa, Jim Ferrier and Vic Ghezzi, and tour regulars Bill Collins, Johnny Pott, George Bayer, Ken Venturi, Mason Rudolph, Don January, Joe Campbell, and Davey Marr will be among 114 trying for 45 qualifying berths at Purchase, N.Y.

Much of the game's top talent is congregated in the New York area for Thursday's beginning of the $100,000 Thunderbird Classic. Another classy field, including former PGA winners Jerry Barber, Walt Burkemo, and Jack Burke, will go after 20 places at Detroit. The other sectionals are at Pittsburgh, with 10 berths; Atlanta and Winchester, Mass., with 7 each; Bakersfield, Calif., with 6; and Fort Worth, with 4.

This is the final whittling down from the original entry list of 2,424. The first cuts were made two weeks ago. The 505 survivors advanced to the so-called second-stage competition, again over 36 holes medal play, for the last 129 spots.

Monday's competition provided few surprises, with former PGA champion Dow Finsterwald leading the nation with a sizzling 36-hole total of 69-64—133 at the par 71 Clovernook Country Club in Cincinnati. Frank Stranahan also was among the Cincinnati qualifiers. The 1955 Open champion, Jack Fleck, made it at Chicago, and Deane Beman, former winner of both the U.S. and British Amateur championships, led the qualifiers at Washington.

The only name casualties were Jim Ferree and Bert Weaver, both of whom failed at the Chicago sectional won by 23-year-old Paul Bondeson with 67-74—141. Fleck squeezed by with 70-76—146.

In addition to Finsterwald, Bondeson and Beman, the Monday sectional winners included Fred Wampler with 69-66—135 at Kansas City, Warren Smith with 72-71—143 at Denver, and Chuck Congdon, Tacoma, Wash., with 68-70—138 at Portland. Congdon announced, however, that he would be unable to play in the Open and the two Portland qualifiers were Al Feldman and Kaye Walker.

STEERS WIN, 8-3

Texas, Missouri Tangle Tonight

OMAHA (AP) — Texas and Missouri are deepest in the good pitching necessary for a week-long tournament grind but the luck of the draw brings them together tonight in the second round of the college World Series.

The two frequent entries in the NCAA baseball tournament scored the most impressive first round victories Monday. And it was solid pitching that sent them into the winner's bracket with Arizona and Florida State.

Bob Myer, a fire-balling junior, hurled a 5-hit 8-3 victory for Texas over 1961 champion Southern California and struck out 11.

Unbeaten Keith Weber pitched a 6-hitter as Missouri edged Holy Cross 3-0.

Both Missouri and Texas have more string pitchers ready to keep going hot in the double-elimination tourney.

The Longhorns, in their third straight college World Series, will send Charley Hartenstein (6-2), who has had the experience in the tournament last year, against Missouri. The Tigers' unbeaten sophomore sensation Jack Stroud (5-0) will oppose him.

Arizona also received some good pitching from Sherwin Scott, who celebrated his 21st birthday Monday with a 6-hit 8-1 triumph over Penn State.

Florida State, with a shaky pitching staff, turned two Western Michigan errors into three unearned runs in the ninth inning for a 5-2 victory.

Arizona will play Florida State tonight before the Texas-Missouri game.

Western Michigan plays Penn State and Southern California meets Holy Cross today in afternoon losers' bracket survival tests.

PARKWAY WINS, 7-0

K. Womack Hurls No-Hit Contest

Kent Womack tossed a no-hit, no run game in leading Parkway Foods to a 7-0 victory over Skateland in American Softball league competition at the City Park Monday night.

The win was the first in seven starts for Parkway. Womack, who hails from Colorado City, fanned four and walked three. The defeat he inflicted on Skateland was its second in five contests.

In other games, Pollard Chevrolet won its first game by turning back Forsan Oil Well Service (2-3), 7-4; while Hester's (4-1 outlasted Pioneer Natural Gas (1-3), 9-7.

Bill Battle slugged two home runs for Parkway, getting his first one in the second with the sacks deserted to give Parkway a lead it never lost and his second with the bases loaded in the sixth.

Billy Roger smashed a four-master for Hester's in the fifth inning with all sacks occupied.

Hester's managed 15 hits off Frank Long, Pioneer Gas' losing flinger.

Pollard Chevrolet started off with three runs in the first inning and continued to put the pressure on Forsan in its game.

L. Miller fashioned the mound victory for Pollard, although he was tagged for eight hits, including two doubles. James Blake was charged with the defeat.

Jets Kayoed First Time

American Little League opponents breathed a sigh of relief Monday night when the Jets finally lost their first game of the season. The Colts were the spoilers and the final score was a run-happy 14-9.

Stanford Stewart was the giant killer on the mound but he needed relief help from Leon Hobbs to finish the game. Pat Agee, the starter for the visiting Jets, suffered the loss.

The Colts combined 5-run second and third innings to give them what eventually proved to be the winning runs.

Luke wound up with a par on the hole. Thompson and his partner, Bill Crombie, also of El Paso, ended up third in the low-ball play of the 36-hole meet.

Stanton Wins Over Coahoma

The Stanton Yankees won their first game of the season Monday night in the Teen-Age League as they took an 11-0 decision from the Coahoma Bulldogs in a game that was stopped in the fifth inning because of the 10-run rule.

Buddy Shanks went all the way for the winners as he hurled a one hitter and only faced 16 men. Mike Mosley absorbed the loss for the visitors as he gave up seven hits, one of those a three run homer over the left field fence by Shanks in the second inning.

In a nine run second frame, the Yankees saw 11 men step into the batter's box as they hit three singles, capped off by Shank's home run with men on first and second.

Bengals Split With Loving

LOVING, N.M., — The Loving, N.M., Eagles and the Big Spring Tigers split a doubleheader here Sunday as the Eagles beat the visiting Bengals in the first game in an 18-17 slugfest only to lose to the visitors, 7-6, in the second contest.

In an unusual twist, Billy Travis was the winning pitcher in the first game even though the Tigers scored 17 runs off of him during his nine inning tenure on the mound. Joe Cadenhead was the loser as he gave up nine hits and 11 runs in four innings. He had relief help from Fierro and Hammock.

Both teams had 17 hits in the onslaught. Billy Weatherall of the Tigers was the big batter as he went two for six as he drove in four runs on two homers.

Each team has five errors.

In the second 7-6 seven inning bout won by the Bengals, Fierro got the win as he gave up only four hits and one earned run over the distance. Robert Martinez was the loser as the Tigers banged him hard for ten hits and four earned runs.

Hammock went three for four and had two RBI's while Weatherall continued his hitting spree with two for four as he collected 3 RBI's and scored two runs.

The Tigers are now 8-5 on the season.

Cardinals Blank Yankees, 9 To 0

With Ford Farris and Tom Wood notching 14 strikeouts, the Cardinals solidly beat the Yankees Monday night in the National Little League, 9-0.

Farris, the starter for the Cardinals, was the winner as he pitched three innings of near-perfect ball, giving up only one hit to Steve Tidwell. Wood went the rest of the way shutting out the hitting prowess of the Yankees. Jackie Fletcher was the loser.

In an unusual twist, both pitchers for the Cardinals hit home runs.

Lions Decision Yankees, 11-6

The sophomore Teen-Age League played its first game Monday night and the opening night crowd saw the Lions Club Lions beat the Sportsmen's Yankees 11-6 in a game called after four innings because of the curfew.

Montanez was the winning pitcher as he contributed to his cause with a four for four night at the plate as he scored two runs. Willis was tagged for the loss as he gave up 11 hits.

The seventh inning was the decisive frame as the Lions tallied seven times to take a commanding 7-1 lead.

Cepeda Ends Giant Skid With Homer

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Professor Al Dark: Give Orlando Cepeda another plus.

Maybe even two.

For it was the big, powerful first baseman who got the job done for San Francisco Monday night, shaking the Giants out of a seven-game losing skid with a 430-foot homer in the eighth inning that snapped a tie and led to a 7-3 victory over the National League leading Los Angeles Dodgers.

Cepeda hit .306 last year with 35 homers and 114 runs batted in, but wound up on the wrong side of the ledger in a grading system of plus marks and minus marks kept by Manager Dark. Now Cepeda's out to juggle the books and erase his demerits.

Cepeda hit his game-winner off Dodger relief specialist Ron Perranoski leading off the eighth. The homer, Cepeda's 12th, to go with 40 runs batted in and a .308 average, broke a 3-3 tie and ended the Dodgers five-game winning streak.

The triumph moved the defending champion Giants, tied for third place with Chicago, to within one game of the front-running Dodgers with another clash to go in their two-game series. St. Louis, rained out at Pittsburgh, is in second place, now only .002 points behind Los Angeles.

Elsewhere, the Chicago Cubs edged Houston 3-2 on Ken Hubbs' run-scoring single in the ninth inning, the New York Mets downed Cincinnati 3-2 and Philadelphia defeated Milwaukee 6-2 in a game held to 5½ innings by rain.

Cepeda's homer, though decisive, was only a part of the Giants' 12-hit offensive against starter Bob Miller and a long list of successors. Willie McCovey hit a two-run homer to get the Giants started, Willie Mays stroked three singles to keep things going until Cepeda connected and Ed Bailey wrapped it up with a two-run homer in the ninth inning.

Don Larsen allowed only one hit over the final 3 1-3 innings in relief of starter Billy Pierce and got his first victory after three losses. Larsen came on with the bases loaded and two out in the sixth and got Jim Gilliam on a grounder. Then, with the bases loaded and two out in the eighth, he got Gilliam to look at a third strike. Perranoski was the loser and now is 7-2.

Hubbs delivered his decisive hit following a single by Dick Bertell and a sacrifice. The run was the first earned off Colts' reliever Hal Woodeshick in 22 innings of relief work and tagged him with his second loss against five victories. Lindy McDaniel, who came on for Chicago in the eighth, won it for a 4-1 record. Billy Williams hit a homer for the Cubs and Howie Goss connected for Houston.

Tracy Stallard, 1-3, picked up his first victory since Sept. 3, 1961, by checking the Reds on seven hits and cutting off a ninth inning rally after Cincinnati had closed to within one run. Tim Harkness' seventh inning homer off Joey Jay, a 21-game winner last year, turned out to be the deciding run for the Mets and sent the Cincinnati right-hander down to his ninth defeat. He has won three.

Ray Culp, Philadelphia's 21-year-old bonus baby, won his eighth game by holding the Braves to four hits in the rain shortened game. One of the hits off Culp, 8-3, was a two-run homer by Ed Mathews. Mathews' error in left field helped the Phillies to two runs in the fourth inning and they wrapped it up with three more in the fifth. Bob Hendley, 4-4, was the loser.

Sports dialogue:

CHARLEY McCABE, San Francisco writer:

"I suggest in all seriousness that Orlando Cepeda's suit against Look magazine is merely what show biz folks call a beard. His real suit is against Squire Horace Stoneham and the San Francisco Giant front office. Tim Cohane (the writer) got his information out of the Giant front office. Make no mistake about it. This is the same collection of infantile gripes and charges that has for months been the official Stoneham party line for Eastern writers important enough to be fed it."

WALT ALSTON, manager of the Los Angeles Dodgers:

"If every team had 25 Gil Hodges on it, there wouldn't be any trouble. Anyone who can't play for Gil can't play for anybody. If he finds managing as easy as he was to manage, well—. He knows baseball, and he can be firm if he has to."

SUEY WELCH, veteran boxing figure:

"Boxing is a dying game, but it can't all be blamed on the champions. We've had worse champions in the past. For instance, Sonny Liston would beat Jess Willard, Ezzard Charles, Jim Braddock and Floyd Patterson. Possibly Rocky Marciano, too. But Joe Louis and Jack Dempsey would have plowed him under."

LeROY (SATCHEL) PAIGE, the baseball greybeard:

"I ain't a kid like I was when I was a member of the 1948 pennant-winning Cleveland Indians. You can say I'm around 60 years old. I'm 6-feet-3 and one-half inches, not 6-3 like they write, and I weigh about 198 out of shape. They keep jacking it up to 14 but I only wear size 11-AAA shoes. I'm working on a new pitch now because you must stay young in baseball. I throw all my pitches underhanded now. The new one's a submariner that comes out from behind the mound, either a fast ball or a curve. The world knows about my fast ball but I've got nine pitches. I've got a barnstorming team now. Two years ago I pitched for Portland and had a 6-0 record but they don't pay any money . . . I used to have stomach trouble but when I was in Mexico four years ago making a movie, I drank some bad water that caused a virus and it ran the gas away . . . I've been fine ever since."

DAVID LEITCH, London Sunday Times:

"If Cassius Marcellus Clay did not exist, boxing would have to invent him. As it is, the 21-year-old contender from Louisville, Ky., invented himself, thereby giving boxing a long-needed shot in the arm, and making Cassius Clay the best-hated figure in contemporary sports."

Gamble Sets Loop Record As Rockets Win, 27 To 0

Perry Gamble set an International Little League record Monday night when he crossed the plate six times in helping boost the Rockets past the T-Birds, 27-0.

Gamble, who catches for the Rockets, was not charged with an official time at bat.

Kenny Barfield, on the mound for the Rockets, limited the T-Birds to one hit and helped his own cause by slugging six hits in as many trips, including a home run in the fourth with two on.

Mike Mimms also slugged a round tripper for the Rockets. The game was called at the end of five innings when the ten-run rule was put into effect.

Eddie Lee managed the lone hit for the T-Birds, a second inning single.

Tonight's game will pit the Talons against the Comets. It starts at 7 p.m.

Cosden Clips Kent, 15-3

Cosden had a nine run inning that saw 12 men come to the plate Monday night in the Texas Little League. When the dust finally cleared at the end of five frames the score stood Cosden 15, Kent Oil 3.

Flores, the Cosden pitcher, went the distance for the win as he gave up only one hit and three runs. Wallace was the starter for the Kent nine and was given the loss even though he had relief help from Rodriquez.

California Highway Patrolman H. R. McConnell leans over Edward Sylvia's bed at Santa Clara County Hospital, San Jose, Calif., to tell the Fremont, Calif., man that his wife and four others died in a four-car freeway collision he caused. Venezuela Falls Headlong Into A Fateful Election

By PAUL FINCH

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Still battling diehard Castro-Communists, Venezuela is hurtling toward an historic and probably violent election for the successor to President Romulo Betancourt.

Four candidates already are campaigning at full tilt and a fifth will appear next month—the long-awaited choice of Betancourt's own big worker-peasant party, Democratic Action.

No matter who wins the mere election itself would be a victory for democracy in this oil-wealthy but underdeveloped country.

Betancourt has been under attack by Communists—as well as right-wing plotters—since shortly after he took office in 1959 and refused to let Communists take part in his coalition government.

It was hardly a surprise to any Venezuelan a week ago when a special commission of the Organization of American States said Fidel Castro's Cuba has picked Venezuela as its principal target.

Betancourt appears to have gathered local support gradually as he has taken his own steps against Communists in answer to terrorism, oil installation sabotage, and two full-scale revolts last year.

He has suspended the Communists as a party and banned them from the presidential and congressional elections, tentatively set for November. He has asked the Supreme Court to outlaw the party entirely.

Apparently weary of temporarily suspending constitutional guarantees to gain extra police powers, Betancourt last week asked Congress to pass an emergency law providing the first stiff sentences for terrorists who shoot policemen and burn down factories.

Diplomats say Comunists have lost prestige in Venezuela since 1958, when they took credit for helping to oust dictator Marcos Perez Jimenez.

"Terrorism has backfired on them," says one government official. "Fidel Castro has also lost his appeal because of his economic failure in Cuba."

Communists themselves may feel this. The terrorist group FALN—Armed Front of National Liberation—no longer uses the words Castro or communism in its propaganda.

FALN, says the government, still is a Communist weapon which hopes by terrorism to provoke a right-wing army coup. Officials estimate only 400 of Venezuela's 40,000 Communists have been chosen as FALN activists.

Betancourt's successor must be as strong as he or it will yet be possible to overthrow Venezuelan democracy, say diplomats.

Betancourt is believed to be sounding out the army, the church and other influential groups for opinions on the candidate that should be picked at his party's convention next month.

Democratic Action claims more than a million peasants and workers plus several thousand government employes will be the decisive factor in the expected November turnout of 4 million.

Veteran politician Jovito Villalba, head of the Republican Democratic Union claims to be the biggest threat against whoever runs for the Democratic Action. He describes himself as non-Communist but not anti-Communist.

Three other major politicians are declared candidates and all urge a united front to beat the Democratic Action. The stumbling block to such a front so far is that each man wants to lead it.

Texas Warrant Brings Arrest

NEW PROVIDENCE, N.J. (AP)—FBI agents arrested a man Monday on a warrant from Texas accusing him of sexually assaulting several minor children.

The FBI said the man is Edward McGuinness, 45, of Rahway, N.J.

The warrant, signed by U.S. Commissioner Frank Murray in Lubbock last Oct. 19 charges McGuinness fled Lubbock last July to avoid prosecution.

Connally To Release News Parley Statement Tonight

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. John Connally will tell Texans tonight about the fate of the $3.1 billion appropriations bill to finance state government for the next two years.

He will disclose his plans to reporters this afternoon but his office said information released at the news conference will carry "a firm 10 p.m. release time."

Connally will appear on statewide television at 9:30 p.m.

Lawmakers passed the bill by wide margins over Connally's objections after he and appropriations conferees wrangled over funds for higher education during the last four days of the legislature's regular session.

Under the constitution, Connally has until Thursday to take one of four steps: Veto the bill, sign it, veto parts of it, or let it become law without his signature.

A veto would necessitate a quick special session to pass a bill to finance state government beginning Sept. 1.

Conferees said Connally would not accept their offer to give higher education $4.4 million more, but that he insisted on a $6.7 million transfer of funds to Texas colleges.

Connally has committed himself to veto one section, which would transfer $300,000 of game and fish funds to be used in a screwworm eradication program.

Kentucky Steals Churchill Away

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Somebody neglected to pick a native state for Sir Winston Churchill when he became America's first and only honorary citizen last April.

The oversight was corrected Monday when the British statesman was commissioned a Kentucky colonel by Gov. Bert Combs.

To make sure Churchill knows what his state produces, he also is getting a special five-gallon barrel of Kentucky bourbon. The commission and the keg will be presented to Churchill on July 4—Independence Day.

Spanish Terrorists To Battle Tourism

MADRID (AP) — An underground opposition movement calling itself the Iberian Liberation Council said Monday it will launch a new wave of violence in Spain and Portugal to discourage tourists from visiting the two nations.

In a memorandum sent to foreign newsmen here, the group said it would continue "our campaign against tourism which aids with its money the support of tyranny."

The council launched a campaign last March with a series of bomb blasts in various areas in Spain. No casualties were reported.

Queen Takes Salute

Riding side saddle on a grey police horse, Queen Elizabeth II returns a salute during the traditional color trooping ceremony in London as her husband, Prince Philip, rides at her side. The Queen rode past some 1,700 of her Grenadier Guards in the annual ceremony that honors her official birthday—her 37th—this year. More than 40,000 spectators viewed the color trooping on the parade ground near Buckingham Palace.

Moisture Report Shows Extremes

COLLEGE STATION (AP) — Wide areas of Texas are water soaked, others report the drought as critical, says director John Hutchison of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Crop losses in the South Plains are extensive due to hail, winds and lashing rains. The drought bit deeper into crop and pasture prospects in many coastal and south central counties, he said.

Moisture conditions are rapidly improving in the Panhandle. Cotton and grain sorghum are being planted. Replanting will be necessary in counties hit by hail and heavy rains. Livestock conditions are fair.

Estimates to district agent W. H. Jones place the cotton loss in the South Plains at 900,000 acres. A half million acres has been lost to hail, winds and excessive rains and the rest to a widespread seedling disease. The hardest hit counties are Lynn, Terry and Lubbock, with an estimated 80 per cent loss. Jones said at least 40 per cent of the 2.2 million acre cotton crop was lost and would have to be replanted. Seed supplies are adequate but will have to be redistributed. Heavy losses have also been reported for sorghums, wheat and other crops in the hardest hit counties. Some reports told of shortages of sorghum seed.

Showers delayed the wheat harvest in North Central Texas. Some oats are being baled. Cotton is making good growth. Sorghum looks good.

Moisture is fair to good in far West Texas and ranges are improving in all areas except in the extreme west. Cotton is squaring in the El Paso valley but is being replanted in the Balmorhea and Midland areas due to hail, winds and rains.

Moisture is adequate in most West Central Texas counties. Ranges are improving. Some fat lambs moving to market. Cotton is being replanted in the northern counties. Sorghum looks good.

Reapportionment Cases To Be Heard By Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court agreed today to consider a series of reapportionment cases, both legislative and congressional, from the states of New York, Virginia, Maryland, Alabama and Georgia.

Arguments on them will be heard in the court's fall term beginning in October.

The cases involve:

—An attack by radio station WMCA of New York City on constitutionality of apportionment of New York State's legislative districts.

WMCA contended in appealing to the high tribunal that the state had apportioned both houses of its legislature "in intentional disregard of the distribution of population."

—A contention by nine voters of Manhattan Borough in New York City that their constitutional rights were violated in a redrawing of boundaries of the four congressional districts in the borough.

—Efforts by two voters in Atlanta, Georgia's Fulton County, to compel a reapportionment of Georgia congressional districts.

—A review of a Maryland Court of Appeals decision that the Maryland Senate need not be reapportioned.

—A review of a lower court decision that 1962 reapportionment acts of the Virginia Legislature are unconstitutional.

—A review of a temporary plan for reapportionment of the Alabama Legislature ordered by a three-judge federal court in Montgomery.

The three-judge court rejected reapportionment legislation enacted by the Alabama Legislature and ordered the temporary plan into effect for the November 1962 election.

The three-judge court decision, announced July 21, 1962, was the first instance in which a federal tribunal had reapportioned a legislature following the Supreme Court's ruling of March 26, 1962 on the issue. The high tribunal then said the distribution of seats in state legislatures is subject to constitutional scrutiny of the federal courts.

DAILY GUIDE — This business of trying to get along with one another is really the main business now for all of us. We have grown so rapidly in many directions as a world, as organized groups, nations, that everyone is too busy "getting" and not enough emphasis is on giving. Try today to keep this in mind as there is need to give a little here and there to the demands or needs of others.

It is curious that there is such a strong accent in these crucial years on at least a good half dozen national horoscopes that mean the people of these nations must act as a group. It signifies a need to give and grow into understanding and unity at this time. You can help by doing your part in your little daily round of human contacts. Don't be so busy getting what you want that you disregard the same needs in those around you.

This is the tone of today, trying to see there is another point of view. Aquarians are learning the lessons the hard way. Taureans finding others difficult to understand and hard to take. Leos should be easing off from their very individualistic self-centered interests of recent years.

Similar trends continue tomorrow.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY GEMINI!

Some of the changes due for you in the next few years can be started around the 22d adding to one already in progress. Domestic ties can be broken, especially those of parents, or your residence, or traditions with the past.

Loved ones and friends can be generous and helpful this year and into next spring. Some health problem may be a background anxiety from time to time, with next fall one of the times.

Look to contacts made while traveling, or through educational or religious affiliations, for support to steady you when these changes come. Present prospects for the next few weeks are very pleasant for social popularity.

Film Actress Slugs Columnist

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "It was just the straw that broke the camel's back."

So said actress Shirley MacLaine today in explanation why she slugged movie trade columnist Mike Connolly Monday.

"Mike has been printing untrue things about me for six months," the actress said. "I went over to his office. He thought I had just come in to discuss things with him, but I resorted to the only defense a woman has — I slugged him."

New Dust Bowl Seen

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Association of Soil and Water Conservation Districts reports growing concern that a new dust bowl may be developing in the southern Great Plains.

An area being adversely affected by dry weather and strong winds is the same that attracted wide attention in the 1930s.

"In eastern Colorado, the Panhandle areas of Texas and Oklahoma, and in much of New Mexico, it is another chapter of the familiar story—moisture far below that needed to produce crops," the association reports.

"There have been dust storms and land damage, over a million acres in Colorado alone. Wheat has failed except under irrigation. Pastures are deteriorating. Highway sections have been closed by blowing dust. Trains have been delayed by drifting sand."

Some farmers were turning cattle in on dying wheat. Others have plowed up the crop to be ready for another crop should moisture come later. Some counties have asked for federal disaster assistance.

Governor Vetoes Anti-Belden Bill

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. John Connally says a bill forcing public opinion poll takers to disclose their sources would "virtually eliminate all independent poll taking." He vetoed the bill Monday.

Sen. W. T. Moore of Bryan called the measure the "anti-Belden poll bill" in debate.

Moore referred to the poll firm operated by Joe Belden of Dallas. The House passed the bill 97-47 May 23 over protests that it resulted from Lt. Gov. Preston Smith's alleged grudge against Belden for surveys taken during the last general election.

Smith, however, said he concurred in Connally's veto.

Inter-Allied Nuclear Force

The North Atlantic Treaty Organization is moving timidly and reluctantly toward the creation of an inter-allied nuclear striking force. Even when such a force comes into being it will be a long ways from embodying the United States government's proposal for a NATO force that would place international crews on vessels armed with Polaris missiles. But it is encouraging that the nations of the Atlantic Alliance are going to cooperate more on nuclear strategy.

The central point to bear in mind is that NATO's stance against potential enemies is weakened by diversity of command and strengthened by consolidating forces. The significance of proceedings at the Ottawa conference of Atlantic Alliance foreign ministers is that despite French President de Gaulle's opposition to further NATO integration of forces, such integration is going forward.

The ministers have taken great pains, however, to accomplish this without seeming to, without formal announcement. That averts an open break with France, which will in any case continue efforts to develop its own strategic nuclear force. But the practical effect is that an inter-allied nuclear force is being created.

Base Of Understanding

The matter of integration comes to another milestone this week when Negro students are due to enroll at the University of Alabama. Gov. Wallace has indicated he will dramatize resistance by standing in the door, but he has also given assurances there will be no violence. The prospects are that the ugly situation at Oxford, Miss., will not be repeated. This would be futile, for two previous demonstrations should be sufficient evidence of the outcome of these confrontations.

Meanwhile, the pressures for civil rights legislation are being stepped up. There may be some adjustments to come out of this session of Congress, though it is not likely there will be any major changes. Proposals for drastic action could bog down the legislative program in general.

Perhaps this is just as well, for the intervening months can provide time for coming to grips on other fronts. More and more, rational minds are being brought to bear on the issues at local levels, and more and more progressive solutions are being reached. These have the best prospect for enduring success, because they will have understanding to undergird them. From these experiences, perhaps others will evolve until what seems slow and impossible will eventually become an orderly transition.

THE TRICK IS TO PRESERVE THE HOSTAGE

Around The Rim

The Good Relationship Goes Deep

(The following column was written by Major Charles A. Smith, Public Information Officer at Webb Air Force Base, who is departing this month for an assignment at Randolph AFB.)

I asked for and was granted the privilege of expressing a few words here about the subject of Base-Community relations. This oft-used phrase in Webb-Big Spring affairs has sparked many deeds, affairs, and thoughts in its name.

BUSY, SUCCESSFUL men of high places in Big Spring activities and men with lightning rods on the bills of their military caps meet and discuss military-civilian relations ad infinitum.

For all these men feel relations between Webb AFB and Big Spring, Texas, must be good. They are good! Moreover, words like excellent, outstanding, remarkable, fit like a glove of truth.

Now these men on high who say they want good relations are willing to plan for good relations and work for harmony, etc., — they usually get their share of the public credit when it is dished out.

BUT WHAT of the Little Man? What does work a day world of the brand new second lieutenant student pilot, the mechanic, the cook, the clerk show in his town relationships? Does he hear the lofty pronouncements of good relations, then encounter snubs by the grocery checker, slights by the gas station attendants or money grubbing tricks by the merchant — and decide it's all a fairy tale?

The happiest fact of life in the relations between Big Spring and Webb is that it is not an oil slick over troubled waters. The relations here between Air Force personnel and their civilian friends are better in depth than I have ever known anywhere before.

ASK THE "PEOPLE" at Webb or the "people" of Big Spring and they will quickly, pridefully tell you of their mutual friendships and harmony with one another.

Ask the young airman who transferred to Webb with a six-year-old daughter who could not start school because of Texas school age requirements, who appealed to the school board to find that they could do nothing unless he could pay a fee for his daughter to enter first grade as a transfer student. The airman accepted this ruling with regret since he was short on money only to find the following morning that he was long on good civilian friends who extended the hand of friendship by saying, "Here is the money for the school fee for your daughter." The people who generously gave the money have never been identified and their friendship will never be forgotten.

AS THE INFORMATION OFFICER at Webb with quite frequent contacts with community people, I am constantly being asked, "Do you know Airman, or Sgt., or Lt. So and So? He lives down the street from me or next door to me. He is one of the finest fellows I have ever known."

Nothing succeeds like success and success of the happy relations within the military and civilian community is of long standing. But it isn't essentially a success by pronouncement or decree. It is more truly a success of the generous, warmhearted Big Springer who has welcomed his Air Force neighbor fully and honestly —and those at Webb who know they are wanted here — and like it that way.

Nothing New On The Test Ban

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's latest move to get Russian agreement on a nuclear test ban, unless he knows something he hasn't revealed, isn't much different from past efforts and probably won't accomplish any more.

Before he talked Monday in the bright sun at American University's commencement exercises, White House aides had given the speech a big buildup. They said it would be a major foreign policy statement.

They gave it an air of mystery by refusing to indicate beforehand what it was about. The talk, as it turned out, might be considered major. But, because of the history behind it, there was no need for the buildup.

KENNEDY announced two things: (1) new discussions with Russia on a test ban would begin soon in Moscow; and (2) this country won't test in the atmosphere if others don't.

Discussions with the Russians on a test ban have been going on five years with so many breaks and new starts they look like a travesty on the art of discussion.

But Kennedy said the new talks —which begin in mid-July—will be "looking toward early agreement on a comprehensive test ban."

Many things may be read into the way Kennedy made the announcement, and the nature of it. For instance, that the talks will (or won't) strengthen Premier Khrushchev's hand in his upcoming meeting with his Red Chinese critics.

But it's probably far more realistic—in view of the history of the nuclear discussions—to consider these talks just the latest in a painful series. If Kennedy has any special reason for thinking otherwise, he hasn't said so.

For the past five years the biggest stumbling block to a test ban agreement has been Moscow's refusal to permit foreign inspectors inside the Soviet Union to check against cheating in underground tests.

THE UNITED STATES has insisted on them, taking the position that while tests in the atmosphere are relatively easy to detect, there would be no certain way without inspection to distinguish between an earthquake and an underground nuclear blast.

Early last January Khrushchev made a concession: he would agree to permit up to three on-site inspections inside the Soviet Union. Very quickly, as a gesture of good will, Kennedy suspended U.S. underground tests. That was last January.

But nothing happened. The United States wouldn't agree to less than seven inspections. Nevertheless, by February, Kennedy was saying prospects for a test ban agreement "now seem somewhat more encouraging." It didn't seem that way long.

Khrushchev said three; the United States said seven. By early May Kennedy was predicting a new round of testing by this country and the Soviet Union unless agreement was reached this year. "I am not hopeful at all," he said.

A Change In Space Policy

WASHINGTON — Nowhere has the American Republic, through the minds and actions of its leaders, dreamed more wistfully of "peace" than in its space policy—but now there are signs of a reluctant awakening to reality.

LAST MONTH in Dallas, Lieut. General James Ferguson, Deputy Chief of Staff for Research and Technology, made a cautiously revealing speech before the Aviation Writers' Association. Among the Defense Department's objectives, he said, was one "to develop a military patrol for the protection of the United States' interests in space." Part of this "military patrol", Ferguson added, would be "a means of disabling hostile satellites, if this should be required in the national interests."

Ferguson's remarks can be taken to represent a policy turning point which has occurred at the Pentagon in the course of this calendar year. In order to highlight what he said about protection of our space "interests" and "disabling hostile satellites", we may briefly review what has gone before.

THE NATIONAL Aeronautics and Space Agency (NASA) was established in 1958 and formally dedicated to "peaceful" uses. President Kennedy has stressed the non-military purpose in word and deed. Our Mercury Project astronauts are military aviators, but only on rare ceremonial occasions do they appear in uniform. Their flights are conducted with maximum publicity rather than military secrecy. Pentagon officials have disclaimed any intent to militarize space, and the President has confirmed this in answers to questions at his press conferences. Earlier this year there were these statements before Congressional committees by Defense Secretary McNamara and Air Force Chief of Staff Gen. Curtis LeMay:

McNAMARA: "Secondly, with respect to the threat of manned operations in space or, as a matter of fact, the threat of weapons being placed in near earth orbit, I don't believe it is very great."

LeMay: Asked about "planning a strategic space force", he replied, "Well, I certainly think we should be thinking about it. But it is a little too early to be getting any firm idea of what it should look like."

McNAMARA: "I think there is no clear requirement for military purposes for manned operations in space as we look at the future today . . . it is not clear to me what we gain by putting a man into space for military purposes."

LeMay: Asked whether Russia gives "more attention to the military aspects of space than we do", he answered, "Well, it is my personal belief that the Russian space program is entirely military."

These statements were made in January and February, and they should be set beside what Ferguson said in May. He told the Aviation Writers that all the factors of patrolling space pointed toward the necessity of launching a Military Orbital Development Station (MODS) which he said "would be manned."

MODS, FERGUSON continued, "is a natural focus for the military position of a national space program because it combines, within itself, a means toward so many of the important capacities we seek." This manned military space platform, the General added, would permit "routine rendezvous, resupply and ferrying operations." All of this is focused on the military purpose of an "on-call protection for U.S. space activities" to the extent of "disabling hostile satellites."

The Administration has not trumpeted any change of its space policy. But it appears that this country is moving, unwillingly but unavoidably, into a new battlefield where the enemy is probably a march or two ahead of us.

Western Unity Or Nationalism?

PARIS — The unity of the West as against a rising tide of nationalism—in this moment of hesitation and uncertainty, that appears to be the choice. On the outcome rests the hope of preventing the spread of nuclear weapons to four, five, six or more powers, with the virtual certainty given the inevitable quarrels between nation-states that they will be used.

IT IS A MEASURE of the genius of France that the two men who most completely represent the extremes of the choice are both Frenchmen. One is Charles de Gaulle, who has made himself the embodiment of the grandeur and glory of La France. He has said that no nation can be a great nation which does not itself possess the weapons of today—nuclear weapons—and he has set out to get them at any cost, even if it means the fragmenting of the Western alliance.

The other Frenchman, far less well known if only by his own choice, is "Mister Europe," Jean Monnet. If de Gaulle might have stepped out of one of the brilliant 14th or 15th Century tapestries or one of the great battle scenes by Delacroix in the exhibition now in the Louvre you would find Monnet in a quieter time in a chair of philosophy or prudently improving his vineyards in the French countryside.

MONNET IS the voice of reason and logic which has been so important in the history of French thought. The physical contrast to de Gaulle, so often caricatured as King Louis XIV, could hardly be greater. Monnet is short, spare, dry, seldom if ever resorting to rhetoric or sentiment, the serious expression of his round face occasionally broken by a quick, ironic smile.

For more than 20 years, beginning with his wartime mission in Washington, I have talked with Monnet as a reporter at least once or twice each year.

EVEN IN THE darkest days of the war and its desperate, impoverished aftermath he never faltered. He had conceived a new economic design for France and an economic union for Europe which was to be the cornerstone for the political unity of the West.

Slowly, with his calm and reasoning persuasion and with the enormous help of the Marshall Plan billions, he drew collaborators around him from all over Europe, and beginning with the Coal and Steel Community his design began to take shape.

WHEN THE FRENCH National Assembly defeated the European Defense Community he refused to believe it was, as many said, the end. Four years later the Treaty of Rome created the European Economic Community. When the war against the Algerian rebels seemed certain to erupt in France itself, as the drain of blood and money continued, Monnet insisted that

It is against this background that what Monnet is saying today must be given great weight. Despite all the skeptics, both military and political, he believes that a multilateral force—surface ships manned by crews of different Allied nations equipped with nuclear missiles—will provide a new framework to strengthen the alliance and contribute to European unity by starting to integrate European manpower and resources. He believes such a force will come into being because that framework is essential.

THE CRITICS say that almost no one in Europe really wants such a combined force and that the reported demand for it in Germany has been generated by a few German politicians working on their opposite American numbers. In the Monnet view it is supremely important, if not now then in the years just ahead, to achieve equality of status in all fields, including the control of nuclear weapons. If this equality is not achieved, the example of France and Britain will become contagious and each nation, including Germany, will sooner or later set out to achieve its own nuclear weapons.

In the first phase control over the firing of the missiles would be by the unanimous decision of all members of the authority and this would incorporate the built-in American veto. Eventually the Allied authority would attain independent control as the need to amend the basic American law governing the use of nuclear weapons became evident.

WHAT IS envisaged is a political instrument using military means to unify the Western powers. As each nation becomes more and more absorbed in its internal problems the obstacles in the path of such a mixed manned force loom large. But no one in 1945 could have dreamed—unless it was Monnet—that Europe would progress so far along the road to unity and prosperity, and while the current of unity has for the time being been interrupted it has not been broken.

Incurable Philosopher

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — "When you're young nothing troubles you," said the old lady, cheerfully. "And when you're old nothing helps."

The old lady is my mother, and she is given to extemporaneous remarks like that.

Now in her 76th year, she is an incurable philosopher and always has been. No matter what has happened to her — or to anyone around her—Mama has always been able to come up with a sage comment that points up a lesson to be learned from the experience. She can see a silver lining in a cloudburst.

She has slowed up a little since I saw her a year ago, and has need herself of her pithy optimism. An attack of rheumatism has made her dependent on a cane for support while in slow and painful transit from the kitchen to the living room sofa, which generally serves as the throne from which she delivers her philosophic judgments of mankind.

"I always knew I'd end up on a cane some day," she remarked. "My best friends now are the heating pad and the aspirin bottle. They're the only things that give any real relief. Oh, sometimes I think they ought to take all us old people out and shoot us—for all the good we are to anyone, including ourselves."

Then she added with a smile of victory: "But, do you know, I haven't had to pay out $15 to doctors in the last two years. That's pretty good, isn't it?"

Mama, who can find some good in practically any situation, can even see some advantage in her rheumatism. It has made her something of a weather oracle.

Any in the neighborhood who go ahead with a picnic, on a day when her leg cripples up, do so at their peril. It is pretty sure to rain before nightfall.

Mama, who is short and so stout I can barely get my arms around her to give her a hug, gets a placid satisfaction out of reading the obituaries of skinny people.

"I tried to get the doctor to put me on a diet," she remarked happily. "But he just told me, 'No, you're too old now to change your ways, and besides you've learned how to live with your weight. Just go on being yourself.'"

Widowed more than 25 years, Mama has a lot of living to look back upon, the struggling years when she cooked and washed and dusted and scrubbed for Dad and five children. She doesn't dwell much in the past, however, and is quietly proud that all her children are still alive and eating regularly —and the youngest is now 45.

Mama, who educated herself through daily newspapers, still reads them thoroughly and keeps up with national and world affairs.

"There is too much unnecessary tension in life today," she said the other night as we sat cooling off on a bench in the back yard. "People worry themselves sick trying to get things they don't really need.

"When your Dad and I were young we had nothing—so there was nothing for us to worry about.

"But bad as it is, this old world is still pretty good, and I guess that's the way it always will be—if you just have sense enough to realize it."

Billy Graham

QUESTION: Do you really believe that there is a hell? I cannot somehow believe that there is one because the Bible teaches so clearly that God is a God of love, and I cannot understand how a God of love could send people to hell.

—J. R.

ANSWER: Anyone who accepts the teaching of the Bible is confronted with the fact that there is a teaching concerning hell. The Bible does not locate this place, but it certainly does make it clear that it is a place of judgment. The truth is—Jesus Himself, who is the most perfect expression of unselfish love the world has ever seen, had more to say about "hell" than any other individual in the entire Bible. He spoke in Matthew 7:13 of the wide gate and the broad way that leads to destruction, and told that "many" would go in through that gate. He also said in Matthew 8:12 that wherever this place called hell might be, it is known as a place of "outer darkness" where there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth.

In the day of judgment Christ says that angels who are God's instrument of judgment are going to "sever the wicked from the just, and cast them into the furnace of fire, where there shall be wailing and gnashing of teeth" (Matthew 13:51).

But all of these references to hell do not mean that God is not a God of love. Had He not sent His Son into the world to save sinners, we might then say that the presence of hell indicates that He is not a God of love. But He has done all that possibly can be done to deliver every sinner from hell. He has done all but deprive the individual of his freedom of choice. Every person who is in hell in this life or in the life to come is there by his own deliberate choice. In the words of Moses of old the truth can still be expressed, "Choose you this day whom ye will serve."

Women More Likely To Have Glaucoma

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M. D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Will you define secondary glaucoma? Is there any other kind except acute glaucoma?—E. M. L.

Dear Sir: I have read articles about glaucoma but none of them tells a layman if he can do anything about it.—A. C. C.

Primary glaucoma means that it may result from causes which we cannot ascertain, or may, for example, be congenital. Just glaucoma, in other words.

Secondary glaucoma, on the other hand, is a result of some other eye condition—cataract, tumor or the like.

In either case, pressure builds up inside the eyeball, and this continued pressure hardens it and in time destroys sight by causing atrophy of the optic nerve.

Glaucoma can be either acute or chronic. There may be a rapid rise in pressure, or it may be slow and subtle, but it remains dangerous just the same. Some estimates indicate that glaucoma may be responsible for as much as 15 per cent of all blindness in the United States.

There isn't any cheerful little formula for preventing glaucoma, so far as the patient is concerned: no special diet or anything like that (Heredity appears to be an important factor in some cases.)

All the individual can do is to have the eyes tested from time to time. This is not a difficult thing to do. A small instrument called a tonometer is brought into contact with the eye. Currently there is increasing use of this by physicians other then eye specialists, and when a suspiciously high pressure is detected, the patient is referred to an ophthalmologist.

The tonometer can often detect the problem before the patient has become aware of symptoms. Blurred vision, pain in the eyes, headache, colored "haloes" around lights at night are among the signs.

Once the increased pressure has been recognized, treatment should be instituted. Obviously, it is aimed at reducing the interior pressure. Medications help. Diet and restriction of tobacco, alcohol and nervous tension are important.

In some cases eye surgery is the effective way to relieve the pressure. Surgery is invariably necessary in acute glaucoma.

Specifying the treatment is up to the eye specialist, and results are very good when the condition has not been allowed to go unrecognized for too long.

That's why the articles haven't told the layman what to do. There isn't anything for him to do except have the eyes checked periodically.

Women are more likely to have glaucoma than men, but it occurs in both sexes.

Dear Dr. Molner: My little girl had chicken pox and it left quite a few scars and holes in her face. Can anything be done? Will they fade? She is only two. Is there any kind of medication I can use to make them fade?—MRS. C. W.

Yes, they'll fade naturally and probably won't bother her at all by the time she's in high school. There's nothing for you to do now except wait and not worry. They will get smaller. If, (which is doubtful) any of the pock marks are disturbing 10 or 15 years from now, a dermatologist can make them nearly undetectable. But don't do anything now. Wait and see.

Soviet Consumption Like U.S. In 1890

In "Economic Trends in the Soviet Union" ($9.75, Harvard University Press), Janet G. Chapman has a fascinating chapter called "Consumption."

The main point is this: Although per capita consumption in the Soviet Union has about doubled in the last 30 years, the level of consumption in many items is not much ahead of this country's in 1890.

THIS HAS broad political implications. If consumers in the Soviet Union ever begin asserting their economic rights as the Negroes in America are demanding their civil rights, then the government will have to allocate more resources to consumer goods and less to military buildup and space propaganda.

Then, perhaps, the world will settle down to peace. Then, perhaps, the men in the Kremlin will become more interested in quiet and stability than in international aggression and continual turmoil.

"THE SOVIET CONSUMER enjoys a real per capita consumption perhaps a tenth higher than that of the 1890 American and only one third of the American today," writes Miss Chapman. "The Soviet gross real wage is less than 60 per cent of that of the American of 1890 on an annual basis, but because of the much shorter work week on an hourly basis, the Soviet wage is almost 80 per cent of the 1890 American wage."

Technology has made direct comparing hazardous. In 1890, "some of the finer American houses and many of the tenements in the larger cities were equipped with cold running water, flush toilets, and sometimes with gas for lighting and, rarely, for cooking; but the typical American family made do with the pump, the privy, the kerosene lamp, and wood, coal, or kerosene stoves for cooking and, along with fireplaces, for heating.

"TODAY VIRTUALLY all dwellings in the United States and a large share of urban dwellings in the Soviet Union have electricity. The Soviet Union has three times as many telephones per capita as the U.S. in 1890, but the U. S. has 33 times as many as the Soviet Union." In other utilities, Moscow and Leningrad approach the modern American urban standard, but other Soviet cities are well behind.

The American consumer of 1890 had a wider range of food than the modern Russian. He consumed 50 per cent more milk, three times as many eggs and twice as much meat as the Russian of today, who depends on more flour and potatoes than the American of 1890. About the same amount of fish and sugar is consumed in the U.S.S.R. per capita as in the U. S. in 1890.

IN CLOTHING, the comparison favors the 1890 American: 2.3 pairs of shoes here and then against 1.7 there and now; 43 meters of cotton fabrics versus 28 meters, and four times as much woolen cloth.

"The American consumer of today buys over twice as many radios, seven times as many TV sets, almost nine times as many washing machines, 11 times as many refrigerators, 17 times as many vacuum cleaners, and 83 times as many cars as the Soviet consumer. The Soviet consumer, on the other hand, buys more motorcycles and sewing machines than an American."

BUT IN LITERACY and social welfare, the Russian of today is well ahead of the American of 1890. Education there as here is almost universal and unemployment insurance and old-age pensions are standard worker protection. Though the Soviet Union lags in material things, it is well up in social welfare.

ARCTIC CIRCLE AIR COOLER
. . . from Johnson Sheet and Metal

Coolers Drive Away Hot Summer Air

It's almost past time to get ready for those hot days and nights of the summer, although the weatherman has been generous with cool weather so far. But, when it comes to selecting a cooler that will put cool resort air in your home all summer, there is always an Arctic Circle Air Cooler.

They come in sizes from window coolers to the big whole house or business building air conditioners with the deep-scoop blower wheel.

Johnson Sheet and Metal, 1308 E. 3rd, can fix you up with the best type coolers to fit the requirements, with Arctic Circle air coolers.

The ocean-breeze cooling is refreshing. Your Arctic Circle Cooler constantly whisks away cooking and tobacco odors and replaces stale, used air with a steady flow of clean, cool air.

It is restful and the entire family will welcome the restful nights comfort-cooling brings. No tossing and turning. The gentle flow of cool air into each bedroom invites complete relaxation.

Arctic Circle coolers are far ahead in quality and features, yet their cost is amazingly low. They bring you years of dependable comfort-cooling for only a few cents per day. The sturdier construction keeps maintenance costs at a minimum.

And Johnson Sheet and Metal can install coolers where you need them. If ducts, hoods, and louvres for each room are needed, Johnson can make them in any size, shape, or length.

The Arctic Circle has that tougher enamel finish. After forming, the pad frames are given a five-stage process of pre-treatment before the application of the finish. The frames are then dipped into a paint bath and baked. For extra protection they are again painted by electrostatic spray and baked again.

There's no tugging to remove the pad frames from the Arctic Circle cooler. Just lift the two snap locks and lift the frame out. They fit into the all-welded cabinet. The top and bottom of the cabinet are triple welded to the corner posts resulting in a more durable, rigid unit. Moving parts are always held in perfect alignment to hold wear to the minimum.

The aquatrol pump attachment safeguards against formation of corroding mineral deposits on moving parts. Arctic Circle's patented controls on all water distributing tubes, where water is aerated as it flows into the troughs, prevents splashing onto cooler parts. Scientifically designed nodes on the troughs adjust water dispersion for complete and uniform pad moistening.

Dust and allergy-causing pollens are trapped in patented Microglas liners on the cooling pads. The aspen fiber cooling pads are treated with Corobex, keeping them odor - proof, mold - proof, germ - proof and mildew - proof. The deep-scoop blower wheel is designed specifically for greater, more efficient cooler service, and the larger blower brings more cool air into your home.

Let Johnson Sheet and Metal demonstrate the Arctic Circle Air Cooler. Phone AM 3-2980 for an estimate of your cooler needs.

Cleaners Offer 'Best Service'

B & H Dry Cleaners, 2601 Wasson Road, is operated to give its customers the best service, men and equipment can turn out. The free pick-up and delivery service brings the cleaning shop to your front door.

They also have a pick-up service at Vernon's Drive-in Grocery, in the 1000 block of East Fourth, where customers may leave their dry cleaning and pick it up before and after the Wasson plant opens and closes. Pickups are made each morning and deliveries each evening, and one-day service is provided on request.

You may take your cleaning by the plant, leave it at Vernon's, or call AM 3-4492 for pick-up and delivery at your home.

Get Hearing Checked Free

Is your hearing getting to be a problem for you? Are you failing to pick up some of the sounds you formerly recognized easily?

A trip to the Hearing Aid Center, Permian Building, may help you regain some of the sounds you have lost.

A full check, on the audiogram, wil tell you whether all sound frequencies are not registering, or if a few frequencies are at fault in your hearing.

Mildred Smith, owner, can provide the proper aid to bring back those sounds you may have lost without blasting out your ear drums with magnification of sounds you may still hear easily.

People no longer feel embarrassed in wearing hearing aids, if they accomplish their purpose.

Brushes On With Ease

Johnson's No-Roach, effective for months, brushes on easily to end household pests usually found in kitchen cabinets, facings, and baseboards. No-Roach is invisible when applied but will kill roaches and ants.

Have Your Car Checked Before Vacation Trip

An important step, overlooked by many motorists driving cars which have a little age or several thousand miles on them, is a thorough check and tune-up before starting a long trip—like a vacation.

The motor may need new ignition points, or carburetor check and adjustment, or spark plugs, or even some few little replacement parts.

How about the brakes? Are they about worn to the metal, and likely to fail you when you need them quickly? If they need new bands, Chuck's Automotive at 900 W. 5th, can do the job and adjust them to highest efficiency.

The transmission may be acting up, and not giving you a smooth take off and shift, from start to drive. It may be leaking around a seal and leaving a nasty-looking spot in the garage or on the driveway.

Chuck's Automotive, with Chuck Atwell Jr., owner and manager, operates a transmission specialty garage. All makes may be overhauled, cleaned, adjusted, and given whatever treatment necessary to keep a smooth starting and smooth running automobile.

The shop is also equipped to handle general automobile repair and overhauling. Trained mechanics have the tools and the know-how to make a top-running car out of one now needing "crutches" to limp in on.

The make and model of your car makes no difference at Chuck's Automotive. Standard parts and accessories are carried in stock and the mechanics know what is best for every engine, transmission, differential, or other parts of the vehicle.

A call to AM 4-8957 will help you to get your car in top-running condition for that trip, or for just comfortable driving.

Ward's Features Western Wear

Feel the need for a new pair of boots? Or a western hat and a full outfit of western clothing?

Ward's Boot, Saddle and Western Wear Store, at 212 Runnels, can outfit the whole family, from infant to grandpa, with all kinds of clothing, leather goods, and saddles.

The well-known Acme, Tony Lama, Justin, and shop - made boots, are carried in all sizes and made from various kinds of leather.

Belts in all widths and sizes, with the finest of buckles available, chaps, vests, bridles (plain or fancy), gloves, lariats, bull whips, scabbards, and "you name it and Ward's has it."

The items carried at Ward's come in assorted prices to fit the pocketbook of the customer.

Recreation Program Has 486 Enrolled

Eighty-seven more registrations were recorded in the Citywide Summer Recreation Program Monday and more are expected. This brings total registration to 486. The Lakeview YMCA reported 130 registered but this total is not complete.

"It's not the limit we can take," Joe Leach, coordinator, said. "Our ultimate goal is every youngster in town." Currently the program is running about three times more than the registration last year.

Buses will pick up children at 8:30 a.m. during the week. On Monday and Thursday, the bus will pick up at Airport, Marcy and Park Hill schools. Cedar Crest and Boydston will be loaded Tuesday and Friday with Washington Place and College Heights Wednesday and Saturday.

The swimming enrollment for the 9 a.m. class totals 104 with the 10 a.m. class having 64. Swimming is taught by 12 junior instructors numbering 10 to 12 in each group.

Instruction is given by girls in Tri-Hi-Y Clubs attaining Junior and Senior Life Saving certificates.

Police Exams Set Wednesday

Examinations to fill vacancies on the Big Spring police force are scheduled for 9 a.m. Wednesday in the classroom at the police station. Chief Jay Banks said four vacancies would probably be filled if grades and screenings warranted.

"The men must have at least a high school education," Chief Jay Banks said. "Those qualifying on the examinations will be required to go before a screening board, and must then undergo a rigid check on driver's licenses, character, credit rating, and other items. They must also pass a rigid physical examination."

Three reserve officers have been temporarily assigned to a full shift each day while replacements are being secured. They are Nath E. Roll, Wyman Miller, and Avery Faulkner.

Vacancies created on the force are due to three resignations by patrolmen, and to Capt. Walter Eubanks' moving to Sweetwater as police chief.

Lige Fox To Attend Meet In Honolulu

Lige Fox, sanitarian for the city-county health unit, will appear on a panel at the National Association of Sanitarians meeting June 23-28 at Honolulu, Hawaii.

"We can't afford it, but we're going to take it," Fox said of the trip which he and Mrs. Fox plan to take. He is taking his annual leave for the parley. Mr. and Mrs. Fox plan to drive through to Merced, Calif. where they will visit with an aunt, Miss Mary Letterman, whom he has not seen for more than a decade.

On the opening day of the national association sessions, Fox will be on a panel dealing with "Training Food Service Personnel —Who's to Do It and How." William V. Hickey, field consultant of New York City, will moderate the panel, and others on it will be Raynor Talley, El Cerrito, Calif., and Bernard Suttle, Seattle, Wash.

Fox has had considerable success in food service personnel training sessions here, and last year organized one at Midland in cooperation with the West Texas chapter of the Texas Restaurant Owners Association. This one broke an area attendance record established here in 1956. Of the 1,044 who registered, 986 completed the training course. Nicholas Pohlet, executive secretary of the national association, knew of this project and others and invited Fox to appear on the program.

Mr. and Mrs. Fox will board a plane at Los Angeles June 23 and will fly to Honolulu. The association sessions are being held in the Princess Kaiulana Hotel.

'Scenicland' Campaign Is Pushed Again

Again in 1963 California Oil Company, doing business as Standard Oil Company of Texas in this area, has launched a major campaign to promote tourism by residents and nonresidents in the highly scenic wonderland which last year was christened "Scenicland, U.S.A."

Full-page colored ads running in six midwestern cities, telling some 2,225,000 families they will "see America best in Scenicland, U.S.A.", have occasioned thousands of requests for the free enlarged and revised Chevron trip guide that shows them why they should select Scenicland for their vacation, said G. E. Wing, regional sales manager at El Paso.

The 50-page full color Chevron trip guide will guide them through this wonderland with descriptions and pictures, as well as directions to more than 500 fascinating points of interest in this beautiful area that includes Texas, New Mexico, Colorado, Wyoming, Montana, Utah, Idaho, and parts of South Dakota, Arizona and Nebraska.

The same message is being carried through newspapers, other advertising media, and the Chevron trip guide to everyone who lives in Scenicland. It has beenfound, Wing said, that most Scenicland natives don't realize the many fascinating sights which are figuratively at their doorstep. He said Scenicland enthusiasts point out that nearly 40 per cent of all our national parks and monuments are in this area, which lends substance to the claim that more natural wonders are massed in "Scenicland U.S.A." than in any other section of the United States.

Wing said the purpose of the campaign is threefold: (1) To help western citizens to know and enjoy their own beautiful area; (2) to bring in more visitors; and (3) to keep visitors in the area longer.

Ballet, Dancing Course Begins

Instruction in ballet and tap dancing began Monday at the YMCA and registration for the course will continue through this week, according to Joe Leach, physical director.

Most openings still available are in the beginners group, he said. The youngsters are segregated according to age and ability, with most emphasis on ability. Instructor is Mrs. Ora Burson.

The eight - week session meets each Monday, Wednesday and Friday with beginners' instruction at 2 p.m., intermediates at 3 p.m. and advanced students at 4 p.m. The course will close with a special demonstration for the public.

Costs are $10 and $15 for Y members and non - members, respectively. Additional information may be obtained at the Y.

Transfers Okayed By School Board

Trustees of the Howard County School Board approved 122 transfers at a regular meeting Monday evening, upholding the protest on one, according to Walker Bailey, county superintendent.

The request turned down was by Jerry Cass, an eighth grade student at Gay Hill. He had requested transfer out of the district to Borden County. The protest was lodged by the Gay Hill board since the eighth grade is taught at that school.

Next regular meeting of the board will be held in August.

Midland Man Held In Jail

Jimmy Odell Tilley, Midland, was fined $100 and costs of $28.85 on each of two counts Monday in Howard County Court. He was charged with carrying a prohibited weapon and driving without a driver's license.

Tilley is being held in Howard County jail pending payment of the fine and pending posting $1,000 bond on a charge of driving while intoxicated, second offense.

Rodell Render Rosemond was released from county jail after payment of $100 fine and $28.85 court costs for transporting.

Nazarene VBS Begins

Sixty-nine youngsters from three to fifteen years of age enrolled in the Vacation Bible School which started Monday at the Church of the Nazarene.

Sessions will begin each morning at 9 a.m. except Saturdays and Sundays until June 21.

The theme of the school is "Adventuring With Jesus." Opening devotionals will precede each session with "Adventures with Jack Sack," stories from "Doctor in the Congo," and other missionary Bible stories planned throughout the school.

Some of the projects include rolling bandages for medical missionaries, handicrafts such as plaques of the "Kitchen Prayer," crosses from egg cartons, painting and others.

A demonstration program will be presented Sunday morning, June 23 in the church auditorium.

Mrs. Bonnie Sandburg is superintendent of the school with Mrs. Velma Dorough, secretary; Mrs. Mary Francis Bohannan, pianist; Mrs. Aline Newburn and Mrs. Helen Little, refreshments; and Mrs. Kelly Mize and Norma Bridges, cradle roll.

Teachers and workers with the departments are Jan Thomas, Mary Kay Wennik and Mrs. Carol Jean Turner, nursery; Mrs. Shirley Dolan, Mrs. Lohrea Patton, Freddie Wood and Mrs. Mavis Martin, kindergarten; Joyce Thomas, Betty Riggins and Linda Kennedy, primary; Jean Cooper, Kathryn Waller, and Roger Kennedy, juniors, and Evelyn McGuire, Zeunnia Hare and Mrs. Marshall Brown, junior high.

Pastor To Attend Mission School

Rev. Donald Kenning, pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church, will attend a mission school at Midland College in Freemont, Neb., June 24-28.

The school is set up by the Board of American Missions for mission developers. Rev. Kenning will be accompanied by his wife and following the school they will vacation for a week.

THE DOUGHBOYS, The Story of the AEF. By Laurence Stallings. Harper & Row. $7.95.

By The Associated Press

On the heels of a series of books about various phases of World War I comes Stallings' gripping and oft-inspiring account of the role that American forces played in the final months of the war that was supposed to make the world safe for democracy.

Stallings lost a leg in the fighting at Belleau Wood but survived to write "What Price Glory?" with Maxwell Anderson, and to compile a picture history of World War I. Meticulously he has documented and backgrounded his book, with maps, pictures and bibliography, but the accent is on men rather than dates and places.

And what an array of men they are:

—Sergeant York, the onetime conscientious objector who came to typify every American fighting man in the conflict.

—Douglas MacArthur, a "young brigadier general" leading the famed Rainbow Division, whose ranks included a poetry-writing sergeant named Joyce Kilmer.

—Gen. John J. (Blackjack) Pershing, the "Iron Commander" who somehow managed to whip a magnificent fighting force into shape despite the fact that the French allies gave him about as much trouble as the German enemies. (Stallings makes no secret of his feelings about French commanders who mapped their retreats before they planned attacks, and for French troops who refused to fight "even when threatened by their own colonels, (saying) 'There are too many machineguns there, so we gave up the attack.'")

—Capt. C. E. Stanton, saluting before the tomb of the Marquis de Lafayette and saying "We are here, Lafayette" (a phrase which legend has credited to the reticent Pershing).

—Quentin Roosevelt, son of Teddy, flying to his death in an unhesitating, single-handed attack on 12 German planes.

—The Marine Brigade of the 2nd Division, fighting on in Belleau Wood long after the French troops on the flanks had fled.

—The 3rd Division, earning the nickname "The Rock of the Marne" for holding that river against the Paris - bound hordes of the Kaiser.

—And dozens of other units and individuals, from privates to generals, whose courage amazed ally and foe alike.

One of the finest aspects of an all-around fine book is that it is written in such a way that a non-military reader, if he avails himself of the many maps, can follow the action as well as a professional soldier.

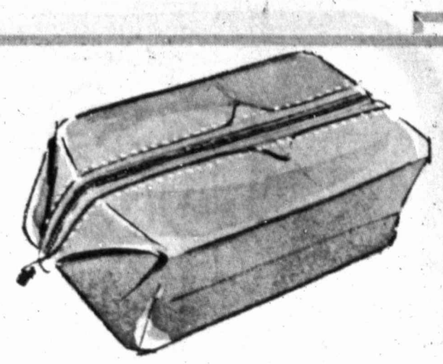

—JOSEPH L. BENHAM

Special Care Covering Tracks

WHEELING, W.Va. (AP)—Police searched today for two prisoners who took special care to cover their tracks when they made their getaway Monday. They took the prison bloodhound with them.

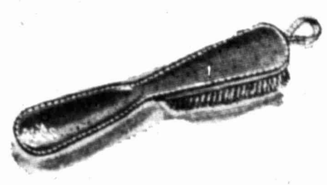

Authorities of Camp Fairchance, a minimum-security branch of the state prison system, said the inmates had been assigned to train the dog to track prison escapees.

The fugitives, Harry B. Allen, 34, and Clyde Shears Jr., 28, were serving 1 to 10-year terms for grand larceny.

Miss Texas To Be Guest At Local Beauty Pageant

Penny Lee Rudd, Miss Texas of 1962, will be guest of honor at this year's Miss Big Spring Pageant, to be held beginning at 8 p.m. Saturday in the city auditorium.

Miss Rudd, as the offocial representative of Texas pulchritude, has been active during her reign giving special boost to a tourism campaign of a "try Texas first" type.

Winner of the local title will travel to Fort Worth later this year to vie for the Miss Texas vacancy when the present queen steps down.

The local contest is divided into junior and senior divisions, with age brackets of 16-18 and 18-28, respectively. Age of eligibility is determined as of Sept. 2, date of the Miss America Pageant in Atlantic City, N. J. Only senior winners will participate in the state and national contests. Entry blanks may be obtained from Edith Gay at the Chamber of Commerce, or Jack Orr at the First National Bank.

Jim Wright, pageant chairman, has released the activities schedule for all contestants. A swimming party will be held at 5:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Tommy Gage home, 2500 Allendale, just north of Kentwood Addition. A Pepsi party is scheduled for 6 p.m. Thursday at Cosden Country Club, with the first rehearsal to be staged in city auditorium immediately afterwards. Final rehearsal will be at 7 p.m. Friday.

Other members of the sponsoring Jaycee organization serving with Wright include Jerry Caddell, publicity; Kenneth Pace, judges; Dr. Jesse Jackson, staging; Ray Hill, sponsors; and Dr. Gene Hightower, who served as general chairman last year, assistant to Wright.

* * *

Wright reported the Jaycees are planning to begin the much-discussed year-around training program, right after this year's pageant is finished. The idea, he explained, is to provide thorough instruction and practice in poise, psychology of personality, and talent in order to shape what is hoped a future Miss Texas. Also, this program will enable the Jaycees to stage next year's pageant as early as March or April.

Oklahoma Pulls Down Oil Average

TULSA (AP) — U. S. oil production dropped last week, as a decline in Oklahoma more than offset increases in Louisiana and Texas, the Oil and Gas Journal said today.

Average daily production was 7,441,425 barrels, down 25,450 from the previous week, the trade magazine said.

Oklahoma output declined for the third straight week, falling 32,375 barrels per day to an average of 510,325. Louisiana production was up 14,275 to 1,432,700 and Texas gained 10,600 daily to 2,613,000.

New Mexico was down 1,900 to 302,400, Arkansas produced 75,000 and Colorado 107,100.
