Farmers To Tour Westbrook Area

Farm Tour Members will have the opportunity to examine what Agriculture Department agents anticipate as Mitchell County's record breaking crop year as they wind their way through the county Friday.

The tour, programed and planned by County Extension Agent Bob Benson, members of the Chamber of Commerce and the Mitchell County Crops Subcommittee, will begin at 8 a.m. with registration and coffee served at the Civic Center.

Busses will depart on the tour at 8:45 a.m. with the first stop scheduled at the Manford Hardegree farm, southwest of Westbrook, where members will see an eight variety cotton wilt demonstration.

These varieties were planted in soil known to have the Verticillium Wilt syndrome. Farm Tour Members will be able to see how each variety fared under the same existing conditions.

This cotton was planted June 9, 1979 at 26 pounds per acre. About 200 pounds of fertilizer 16-20-0, was used, according to Benson.

The eight varieties are: Cascot L-7, Dawson V-14, Paymaster 266, Delta and Pine SR-5, Mc Delta and Pine SR-5, McNair 308, Tamcot SP-37, CAMD-E and Cascot BR-1.

Second stop on the agenda is the Berman Stubblefield stock farms located south of Westbrook.

Members will have the opportunity to look at 425 acres of grassland where the Great Plains Conservation Program is being carried out, Benson stated. "There are 32 cows being grazed on these acres," he said.

Benson estimated the cost of the program at about $46.00 per acre for brush control, roller chopping and grass seed.

Benson noted the grass seed used was a combination of sideoats, grama, kleingrass, KR bluestem and green sprangletop.

The wedge shaped fencing cost an average of $19.18 per acre. A stock pond averaged $4.61 per acre and the livestock water pipeline cost about $2.81 per acre, Benson said.

He noted this is the first wagon wheel type grazing system to be installed in Texas.

A refreshing watermelon break at the County Barn in Westbrook will be the third stop on the tour. Watermelons were grown and will be furnished by Travis Turner.

From the barn, members will travel northeast to the Ronnie Feaster farm to inspect ten varieties of cotton planted May 24. This demonstration cotton was planted at a rate of 25 pounds per acre, Benson said. He indicated the ten varieties planted are: GSA-71, Western 44, Cascot BR-1, Cascot L-7, Cascot B-2, G and P 3774, Paymaster 266, Dunn 18, Delta and Pine 61 and Coker 5110.

Richard Gale's farm, southeast of Westbrook, is next on the agenda. This farm has rangeland being converted into cropland. The soil is basically Stamford Clay which is a deep clay soil with an available water holding capacity of 1.8 inches per foot, Benson noted.

A series of five diversion terraces and a waterway have been constructed to protect the new cropland from water erosion, he said. Agriculture Stabilization TOUR, Page 10

Reflections

by Louise Taylor

It is almost the first of September and the school bells are ringing and the teachers are busy getting ready for their first classes. Much preparation has been made for the great adventure—the first day of school!

For some of those little ones just entering school for the first time, it is a time of great anticipation and wonder...what is school really going to be like? It is a very pleasant experience for most but for a few it will be a frightening one.

Parents and teachers can help in making the school year one of great worth and value.

Learning is an adventure, developing new ideas, discovering new facts, realizing how much there is to be known and forming patterns for a life time. It is a continual process which never ceases. It does not stop after twelve years of school or several years of college but goes forward with each day of our lives.

The mind is a wonder, storing information, snapping out an answer quickly of long ago knowledge, working constantly. Freud says that the mind consists of a relatively small conscious part and a larger unconscious part, each of which consist of the process of feeling, thinking, and wishing. Webster defines the mind as an intellectual faculty, understanding and memory. However, we define it the great thing we call a mind is a wonder in itself.

We can utilize our minds to the full potential or let it deteriorate with voids. One of the greatest minds known to man was Einstein, a German born physicist who introduced the theory of relativity.

Cicero once said that cultivation to the mind is as necessary as food to the body. How true it is when we continually feed our mind with knowledge each day. Each day our mind absorbs some type of food whether it be constructive, negative views or whatever.

Also on the agenda will be a report on the progress of an application to Urban Development Action Grant for federal funding to extend utilities to the proposed new $2,000,000 shopping center to be located in Colorado City.

The application was submitted to and approved by the West Texas Council of Governments, which acts as a clearing house for all applications for federal grants.

Under regulations set forth by the UDAG an environmental report must be prepared and submitted along with the application for funding.

School Ready For Students

According to the calendar, Summer won't be over until Sept. 21 but for students of Mitchell County Schools it is already over, at least the vacation part of it anyway.

School began in Westbrook on last Monday and classes will open in Colorado City tomorrow (Monday).

Loraine students will have their first day of classes on Wednesday. Except for Westbrook it was too early to get a good estimate of how many students will be enrolled in county schools this year.

Westbrook schools have enrolled 160 students including 39 in high school. Last year at the beginning of school, Westbrook had 168 students.

The school's faculty has remained from last year, except that Catherine Terrell will replace Linda Raschke as the third grade teacher for the first semester with Mrs. Raschke returning in the Spring.

The Loraine School was unable to give an estimate of their enrollment yet but during the first week of school last year it had 346 students.

Loraine will have a number of new teachers including Sherie Enisee, resources; Sharon Moeller, first grade; Jim Wells, sixth grade and Kenneth Brown, band.

Other new members of the faculty will be Victor Munoz, assistant coach; Mike Chunn, math; Albert Sheldon, counselor and Kent Boyd, science. Fielda Blair will be a teacher's aid in the migrant department.

The Colorado School System which will be open for business bright and early at 8:30 a.m. Monday, will have a number of new teachers to begin the school year.

At Kelley Elementary School, where Principal Bobby Lemons expects an enrollment of about 300 students, there will be four new teachers.

Deborah Gainey and Betty Robinette will be the new kindergarten teachers. Vicki Rinehart will teach in the Plan A program and Allie Beacham will be the migrant teacher.

Last year during the first week of school, Kelley had an enrollment of 361 students.

Hutchinson Elementary school will have six new teachers under Principal Dell Reilly. Teresa Cardona will be the new third grade teacher. Rebecca Clapp and Micki Norris will begin their first year here teaching the fourth grade and Deborah Blair will teach physical education.

Sherri Boyer will be new Plan A teacher at Hutchinson.

No enrollment figures were available for Hutchinson which had 312 students during the first week of classes last year.

Hospital Meeting Tuesday

Three prospective new doctors and an assistant administrative director for Root Memorial Hospital highlight the agenda for Tuesday's 8 p.m. Mitchell County Hospital District Board meeting.

The question of a pulmonary therapy service contract is to be considered, Business Manager George Whitten noted.

Also discussed will be the proposed usage of the Sun Oil Building recently donated by that company to the hospital district, according to the agenda.

Other items to be discussed are a preliminary budget for 1980 and requesting bids for insurance coverage.

Health Hazards Are Seen At Lake

Pollution and existing public health hazards brought the Texas State Health Department and Texas Department of Water Resources to Mitchell County Thursday.

Mitchell County Commissioners, city officials and representatives from Texas Electric met with these officials in an informal hearing as a result of a complaint of raw sewage contaminating Lake Colorado City.

"We only come into the picture after a complaint has been filed with the state," Stanley Thompson, TDH representative told the group, "and a complaint has been filed."

Thompson indicated he and TWR District Superintendent Raymond L. Mettel had requested the meeting to try to determine the true problem and solution.

To an audience which consisted of several lake residents, City Attorney Pete McKinney, Farmers Home Administration Director David Marion and Environmentalist J. R. Robertson, Thompson briefly explained the state's position.

He stated the lake ownership and responsibility began with its construction by Texas Electric, who gave the lake to the city, who in turn donated the lake to the county.

"Control is the way to prevent a general health nuisance from becoming a greater problem," Thompson said.

The state is encouraging authorities of lakes to adopt an order to control potential problems, Thompson stated.

The county has authority to control the lake under legislation allowing the passing of a county order under the authority of the Water Quality Board, Thompson said.

"Effectively, this order will establish a ring around the lake which the county will control," Thompson noted.

"Who will enforce this order?" Judge Bill Carter asked.

"The county," Stanley stated.

Carter read to the gathering from the legislation giving the county authority to pass a resolution for the good of public health under which no one could open See COUNTY Page 2

Boosters To Meet Tuesday

There will be a meeting of the Loraine Sports Booster Club Tuesday evening in the teacher's lounge of the High School.

The meeting will get underway at 8 p.m. The booster club is for all sports, football, basketball, tennis, volleyball and track.

Parents and all interested persons are cordially urged and invited to attend.

A member of the Golden Age Club of Westbrook, Roberts plays at parties, nursing homes and get-togethers at least once a week. "Last Friday I fiddled at the Old Settler's Reunion in Big Spring and won five silver dollars," he remarked. Roberts who has been fiddling "for a good long time, ever since I was nine, about 70 years" has also mastered the guitar and mandolin, he says.

rate a sewerage system without a permit. Enforcement could be through the Courts with fines of $10-$1,000 according to the laws read. The County Attorney would be responsible for prosecution. Thompson explained to the Commissioners they could adopt a "no pollution habit" plan that would correct problems before they began. This plan is to set up septic tank control through registration. Any new tank built would require a license, he said.

City Manager Ray Mason questioned Thompson, "will this effect everyone who lives on the lake or just those having problems?" This is normally done with a permit system. If septic tanks are already installed and there is no problem indicated, under a grandfather clause they are exempt from obtaining a permit until a problem arises," Thompson said.

"If a resident has no septic tank system but drains waste directly into the lake or uses a cesspool will they have to have a permit?" a lake resident questioned from the audience. Thompson indicated cesspools and direct drainage into the lake are illegal under state law.

"How badly are our waters affected? Is this an emergency problem?" Carter asked. The situation is not bad now but it will take a nose dive if algae gets a toe hold it will boom and go," Mettel said.

"My office can't do anything until it's too late, according to law, so we're here to try to prevent the problem," Thompson stated again.

Paul Hunter and Johnny Shackelford, the two commissioners of property around the lakes, questioned officials to determine exact powers given counties under the law.

"It is my impression the county has only one ordinance power and that is to control boats on lakes," Hunter commented.

Thompson explained the resolution to be passed by the county was an order and not an ordinance.

Several questions were asked as to standards for construction of tanks.

"We have recommended specifications and information which we will give to you," Thompson said.

Carter asked officials who would be responsible for inspection and Thompson replied "the county".

Mason interjected that the city has a health inspector currently and proposed using his services if practical.

Thompson stated the county must enter the order and set down specifications but can work with the city.

Shackelford questioned officials in regard to persons currently using cesspools. He noted many of the residents at the lake were retired and on a set income. "Building of a septic tank would be quite a hardship,"

"We do not have the authority to go digging around in someone's yard and until a problem is reported we would have no way of knowing if they have a cesspool," Thompson stated.

Marion noted the FmHA has grants available in some instances to assist persons in constructing new sewer systems.

Several questions arose as to violation responsibility on leased land.

"We have an attorney who will come work with commissioners to determine these answers," Thompson replied.

No action was taken at the meeting and officials agreed to give guidelines and patterns to assist commissioners as they consider the problem.

his heart, so is he". How we think determines what we are, how we live our lives, what kind of person we are.

With our mind, we continually stay within the realms of the learning process.

The mind is one of the greatest assets man has. Look at what man has accomplished in the last decade, the last century. People in that day and time did not think possible the developments and accomplishments man has made today. What does the future hold for us as we continue to progress with the times?

Each new day brings a challenge to improve, discover, develop, erect, institute or direct.

Some of the "fruits" of the mind are integrity, honesty, intelligence, honor and humbleness.

Cultivating the mind is one of the simplest things man can do for himself and reading is one tool to use.

Read the newspaper (Yes!), magazines and books. The library is full of knowledge just waiting to be instilled into that store house called the mind.

Another tool is the auricular or better known as the ear. Radio, television, lectures and speeches are ways of gaining knowledge.

Learning, learning, learning, it's a process that goes on and on and on and on....

Bells are ringing in my ear saying to me, "School is Here". Children are happy and glad But some are very sad.

School is about to begin and the teacher's heart they hope to win. School is here again this year.

These children are very dear

So watch for them all the time And keep their safety in mind!

LITTLE THINGS MEAN A LOT

Rev. M. Ronald Hamby
Pastor
Frist United Methodist Church
Colorado City

"Whoever is faithful in small matters will be faithful in large ones..." (Luke 16:10)

Too often we take the savings of Jesus as possible options in life. It would be good to do them if we want to, if we feel like it or if it is convenient. But we deceive ourselves if we do not realize that his teachings are not options but absolute maxims. If we are dishonest in little things, we tend to be dishonest in great things.

Surely the social and ecological crises that arise in our nation are the sum of dishonesty and unfaithfulness in little things: a discarded can here, a candy wrapper there, a small hatred here, a blow struck there. The trend changes not with the solution of all the big problems in the world at once, but with doing one small things.

We are not murderers, we say, but we nearly kill others sometime with our tongue or attitudes, or when we fail to reach out or speak out with a life-giving word.

We are not thieves, we say, but we are usually out to get all we can for ourselves rather than to give of ourselves in the pattern of Christ.

We are not savages, we say, but our treatment of our family or friends or those of other races would sometimes seem to be that. Our indifference to violence, hatred, war, killing makes us seem savages at times.

We are not pagans, we say, but the way we turn our faith on and off; the way we are committed when we want to be; the way we do or don't support our church; or the way we conduct our lives would often make us appear to be something other than Christian!

The service of small things is just as important in our marriages, in our churches, and in many other places of our lives. Marriage crises usually arise not from one major event or problem but from a sum of little things. But marriages can be and are made happy by those same small things done in a positive way.

Church squabbles are generally generated not from major issues over doctrine or worship, but rather by small incidents such as a word of gossip or a judgemental glance or a moment of intolerance. The same churches can also be welded together in fellowship by small acts of love, acceptance, and support.

Perhaps we need to forget the big things, because they get in our way and become our excuses. Besides, they take care of themselves as the small things are taken care of. Look carefully at the small things at the end of a week. Have you loved or been loved? Given or received? Praised or been praised? From all these small things hope is made alive and life is made full.

Beth Ann Stalnaker, George Sterling Gray Exchange Double Ring Vows

The marriage of Beth Ann Stalnaker and George Sterling Gray was solemnized at 5 p.m. August 11 at the First United Methodist Church in Portland. The Rev. Sanford Coon officiated for the ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Stalnaker, Jr. of Portland and Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Gray of Colorado City.

Organist was Sally Bauer who played the pre-ceremony music and accompanied Vicki Prime and Grace Evans as they sang "The Gift of Love".

The church was decorated with candelabras accented with greenery, potted mums, standing wicker baskets of white gladiolus and chrysanthemums and baby's breath entwined in fresh greenery along the chancel rail.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore her mother's wedding gown. The dress of ivory satin featured a round neckline and a shirred bodice extending to a point at the waistline. Handmade satin leaves adorned with beads and seed pearls formed the border around the top of the bodice and the waistline. Leg-of-mutton sleeves buttoned into points at the wrist. Pennies in their own satin coverings were sewn inside the dress for good luck. The fingertip veil of illusion, attached to a Juliet cap, was edged with lace. The satin cathedral length train was carried by Tracy Treadwell of Pasadena, niece of the bride.

Her bridal bouquet was a cascade of ivy and stephanotis orchids centered with a single white cymbidium orchid.

Jill Cloud of Orange served as maid of honor. Judy Butler of Portland, Cincy McCandless of Corpus Christi and Dennis Hankel of Lampasas were bridesmaids. The attendant's dresses of blue organza over taffeta featured a bodice with cape sleeves and a skirt flounced to form a bustle effect in the back. They carried bouquets of blue and white pom-pom mums and wore matching hairpieces.

David Chinn of Llano was best man. Groomsmen were Glenn Chalker of Midland, Victor Carrero of Austin and David Griffith of Waco. Ushers were Bob Stalnaker of Orange and Gary Smith of Broken Arrow, Okla.

The wedding reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. White and chocolate wedding cakes, nuts, mints, champagne, punch and coffee were served to the wedding guests. Serving in the houseparty were Marsh Treadwell, Sherry Stalnaker, Jean Ann Smith, Jana Greene, Kendra Collins, Jane Milton and Grace Evans.

Special out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. George Millsap and Glen and Dr. and Mrs. James P. Cloud of Orange and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Chalker of Colorado City.

Following a wedding trip to South Padre Island and then to Owensboro, Ky., the couple will reside in Waco, where they both will attend the Baylor University. The bride is a junior student and the groom is a graduate student in the School of Law.

Does Chrysler have a future? You can count on it.

It's a fair question. You've heard from all the pundits, the instant experts, and the vested interests. They all have their favorite version of what's wrong with Chrysler.

We made our share of mistakes in a tough competitive business. And we're willing to accept responsibility for them.

But to turn our back on 140 thousand of our own employees would be irresponsible.

To close the doors in 52 American communities in which Chrysler is a major factor of the local economy would be irresponsible.

To deny employment to the 150 thousand people who work for the dealers who sell Chrysler products would be irresponsible.

To curtail the income of the hundreds of thousands who supply goods and services to Chrysler would be irresponsible.

Example: Chrysler was first with a solid state electronic ignition system as standard equipment.

But the Big 3 or the Big 2 has its real meaning only in terms of people. People who have jobs. People who pay taxes to America and to the communities in which they live.

A Congressional Budget Office study shows that people with jobs at Chrysler, or jobs that depend on Chrysler, contribute 11 billion dollars each year in tax revenues to our country. Without those jobs they would be collecting 2 billion dollars instead in unemployment benefits.

So you'd have to say that a Big 3 contributes a lot more to the health of the American economy than a Big 2.

Is Chrysler building gas guzzlers?

A lot of people who should know better have been peddling this myth.

The fact is that Chrysler has the best average gas mileage of the Big 3.

Chrysler has more models rated 25 miles per gallon or better than GM, Ford, Datsun, Toyota or even Honda.

We also have one of the industry's most proven 6-cylinder engines in the efficient Chrysler Slant 6. The Slant 6 is standard in all our current compact and mid-size cars. Even in many of our full-size cars as well.

And Chrysler's percentage of small car sales to big cars is the best of the Big 3 by far—not the worst—as some would have you believe.

Over 87 percent of the cars Chrysler builds are not big cars at all—they're mid-size or smaller.

So let's put to rest the myth that Chrysler is building the wrong kind of cars.

To date we've built more of the right kind of cars than anyone else.

We were in the market two years ahead of General Motors with America's first front-wheel drive small cars, the roomy and fuel-efficient Omni and Horizon.

However, we lacked the resources to build our own 4-cylinder engines. We felt it was important to get these cars to the American people in the shortest possible time, so we reached an agreement to buy up to 300 thousand engine blocks a year from Volkswagen.

As a result, our production has been limited by the availability of these engines. We apologize to all the people who have had long waits for their Omni or Horizon.

We will eliminate the engine shortage during 1980 when our new 400 million dollar engine plant starts turning out our own 4-cylinder engines.

In 1981, we will bring to market a new fleet of compact-size front-wheel drive cars including the first American front-wheel drive station wagon. This one car line alone represents a 1 billion dollar investment.

Our engineering tests project that these cars will have an average fuel economy, rating of over 25 miles per gallon. Yet they will have more room inside than GM's new X cars.

In all, Chrysler will be providing about one million efficient front-wheel drive vehicles to continue its leadership in front-wheel drive.

What is Chrysler asking for—a handout?

No. We're asking the government to help us offset the heavy cost of regulation.

This is a bad year for the automobile industry. And a worse year for Chrysler. First, gas lines flattened sales of almost all cars except the smallest. Now the country is moving rapidly toward a recession. Even GM is having difficulty moving large stocks of full-size cars.

But GM can weather the storm better than Chrysler because they can distribute the costs of regulation over a lot more cars. For example, studies indicate that Chrysler costs per car for government regulations are $200 to $300 more per car than for GM.

As a result, interest costs for Chrysler average about $125 per car, but only $10 per car for GM. Those differences alone are staggering for Chrysler.

Because of the hundreds of millions committed for new plants and new products, and the hundreds of millions invested to meet regulations, Chrysler faces a temporary shortage of funds. Chrysler has no choice but to seek temporary assistance from the heavy burden regulation places on us. We want equity restored to the competitive system because the system is anti-competitive as it stands now.

We're not asking for a handout, a bail out, or welfare. Chrysler is asking for temporary assistance for 1979 and 1980 equal to the cost of meeting government regulations for those two years.

It will not cost the taxpayer anything because Chrysler will repay the government out of future profits.

Has Chrysler done everything it can to help itself?

We have restructured all our overseas investments to generate new working capital so we can concentrate on the North American market.

We have mounted an all-out effort to get record financing for programs that will make us competitive and profitable.

We have become more efficient by eliminating duplication, cutting expenses and introducing innovative and even unconventional programs. In fact, we have reduced our costs by $500 million so far this year.

We've hired the best brains in the business to improve manufacturing quality, and to put tighter controls on purchasing.

Our dealers and our suppliers have given Chrysler strong commitments of support.

Does Chrysler have a future?

You can count on it. Seventeen million Chrysler owners can count on it. Our 4700 Chrysler Plymouth and Dodge dealers can count on it. Our employees can count on it. Our suppliers can count on it.

The concerned citizens of 52 communities whose livelihoods are closely tied to Chrysler can count on it. And the competition can really count on it.

We have in place for 1980 and 1981 the programs, the products and the management Chrysler needs to be competitive, to sell cars, to meet our obligations, to become profitable.

We've been in business for fifty-four years, and almost all fifty-four have been profitable.

We plan to be around at least another fifty-four. You can count on it.

for auto burglary in connection with an incident on Aug. 5 in which he is charged with entering a 1978 Chevrolet Camaro owned by Michael Brooks and taking tapes valued at about $130.

Jack Alvin Kruse of Snyder was indicted for Driving While Intoxicated, subsequent offense in connection with an incident on July 16, 1979.

Kruse's first offense was on Nov. 21, 1955 in Scurry County. He was convicted on Nov. 22, 1955.

John Berry Jackson, 32, and Elizabeth Jackson, 24, of 800 East Front Street were indicted for assault with a deadly weapon in connection with a July 28, 1979 incident in which Tony Jackson of Colorado City was injured with a shotgun.

Harvey Hugh Mitchell and Rickey Allen Thompson were indicted on two counts, each of burglary in connection with a June 12, 1979 incident in which, according to the indictment, "They entered a building without the effective consent of Cecil Flowers, the owner."

Wolves Scrimmage Frenship

There were just too many mistakes on offense, Colorado City Wolves Head Mentor Tom Ramsey commented Friday night after his charges were handed a two touchdown to nothing loss in a controlled scrimmage against Frenship at Wolf Stadium.

The Wolves Junior Varsity also could muster little offense as they also lost two touchdowns to nothing.

Both teams made a number of outstanding plays on defense and for both squads it was the big plays, a few break-downs on defense as the coaches called it, that led to all of the Frenship touchdowns.

All of those big plays were passes.

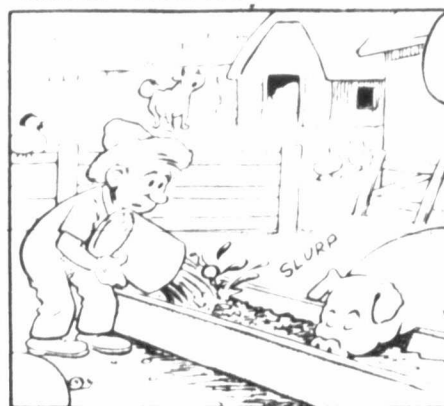

The Wolves will scrimmage Crane here Friday night in final preparations for the season opener against Slaton in Slaton Sept. 7.

Sturdivan, Dally Exchange Double Ring Vows In Big Spring

Marilyn Sturdivan became the bride of Robert W. Dally August 12, at 2 p.m. in the St. Paul's Lutheran Church of Big Spring.

Reading the double ring vows was Carroll Kahl, pastor.

Parents of the couple are Mrs. Lucille Sturdivan of Amelia, Ohio and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred E. Dally of Colorado City.

Two seven-branch candelabras entwined with greenery and white stephanotis decorated the altar for the ceremony. Vases containing yellow daisies and white carnations completed the altar decor.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Floyd Deloach, was dressed in a formal length gown of acetate taffeta overlaid in polyester organza. Exquisite cotton Venice lace enhanced the bodice and trim on the full length sheer sleeves. The scooped neckline which raised in the back was edged in delicate lace. The A-line skirt flowed into a sweeping chapel length train. Her shoulder length veil was of bridal illusion attached to a headpiece framing the face accented with Venice lace and seed pearls.

She carried a bouquet of white carnations and yellow daisies accented with baby's breath and flowing yellow and white streamers.

Mrs. Frank Long,

organist of Big Spring, played selections of wedding music.

Bridesmaid was Mrs. Bill Brown, sister-in-law of the bride from Odessa. She was attired in a floor length dress of yellow dacron polyester with a V-neckline and wore a yellow picture hat. She carried a bouquet of yellow daisies and white carnations.

Best man was Bill Brown, brother of the bride from Odessa. The groom and best man wore yellow and black tuxedos.

Ring bearers were Rebecca Dally, sister of the groom, and Sam Deloach, nephew of the bride. Sara Deloach, niece of the bride was train bearer.

Patricia Deloach registered guests as they entered the church. Ushering guests were Daniel Deloach and Robert Deloach, nephews of the bride of Odessa.

A reception was held in the parish hall of the St. Paul's Lutheran Church.

After a wedding trip to New Mexico, the couple will make their home in Odessa. For the trip, the bride wore an aqua Quana dress with a scooped neckline.

The bride attended Amelia High School in Amelia, Ohio and is employed with Texas Instruments in Odessa.

The groom graduated from Monahans High School and Howard College in Big Spring. He is employed with Spincate Plastic Coating Co. in Odessa.

Out of town wedding guests included Mrs. Loren Vogel, Rock Rapids, Iowa; Mrs. Celena Dally, Rock Rapids, Iowa; Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Wichter and son, Mike, of Sioux City, Iowa and Mrs. James Hagen and Diana of Carson, Calif.

Bulldogs Have Good Effort

Loraine Bulldog Head Coach Roddy Clack reported a very good effort in his squad's first outside competition Friday night in a scrimmage against New Home.

Clack stated that the defense looked especially good for the first time out, as that unit had good pursuit and did an effective job of gang tackling.

The coach noted that Tony Williams did real well from his safety position and David Finley did well at middle linebacker.

There were no scores in the game and the Loraine offense was only able to run 26 plays due to lack of time.

Clack said that the offense overall looked good except for some missed blocking assignments and other early season errors which could be corrected.

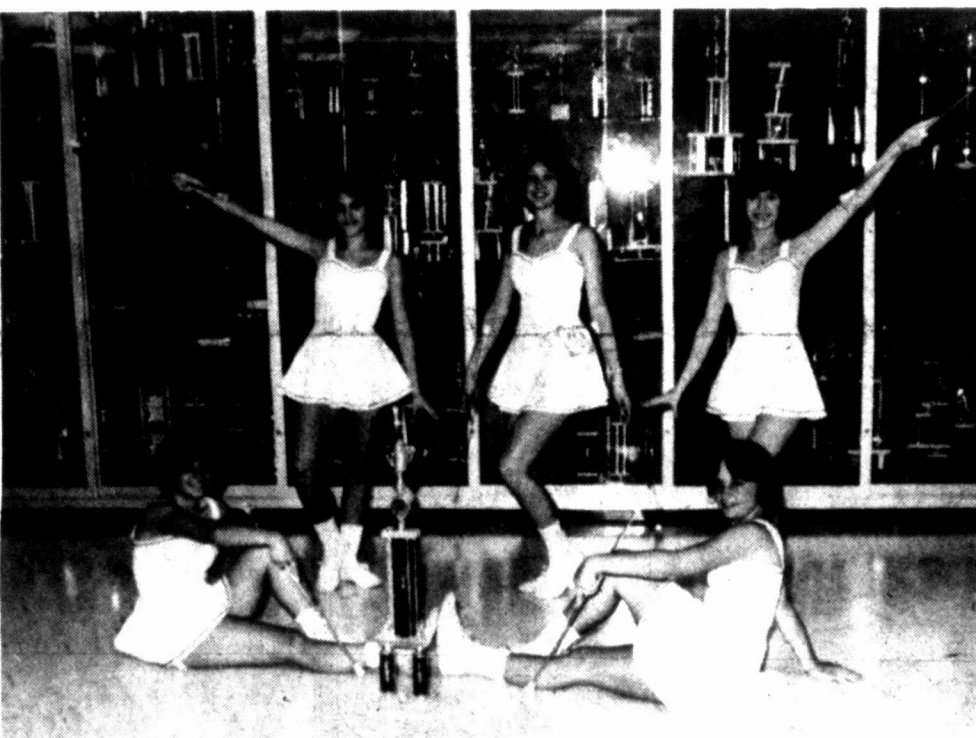

He noted that the offense picked up 116 yards on the 26 plays and this was in spite of the fact that there were several plays in which there were losses.

THURSDAY'S COLORADO CITY RECORD displayed a picture taken fifty years ago on the streets of the city. Another picture taken recently was compared to it as the same street fifty years later. After several old timers conferred with the Editor Mac McKinnon, it was determined the old photo was not taken at the same location as the recent one, instead the old one was from First to Third Streets on Oak, as pictured above.

THE COLORADO HIGH SCHOOL TWIRLERS are proud of the trophy they won recently in Canyon. They were chosen the Outstanding Majorette I Division at the Caravan of Camps. tion and Conservation Service assisted Gale, under a government cost-share program, in converting the land. Operations required to put land into cultivation included rootplowing and raking twice. Additional hand labor will be required to pick up remaining roots, limbs and stumps, according to Benson.

Approximately 300 acres are being converted at a total cost of around $100 per acre, he explained.

Busses will next travel to the farm of Lois Briley, about one-fourth mile east of Morgan Creek, where the Farm Tour will see ten varieties of cotton planted May 24 for demonstration at a rate of 25 pounds per acre, Benson commented.

Members will also have the opportunity to see a new herbicide applicator called a rope wick. This was designed to kill Johnson Grass while plowing, according to Benson.

The ten varieties of cotton planted on the farm are: Western SP, Rilecot 90-A, Cascot L-7, GSA 71, Delta Pine 55, Lockett 77, G and P 3774, CAMD-E, Tamcot SP 37 and Cascot B-2.

Lunch at the Colorado City Civic Center will be the next stop according to the agenda. Tickets for the bar-b-que will be sold at the Civic Center the day of the tour for $4.

Alton Raschke will preside over the noon ceremonies and Van Mills will give the invocation. Mac McKinnon will welcome visitors as President of the Chamber of Commerce.

Benson will make introductions and Bobby Lemons is scheduled to introduce guest speaker, Representative Charles Stenholm.

"I would like to give credit to the Mitchell County Crops Subcommittee: Chairman Travis Turner, Linden Solomon, Rob Holman, Murrell Blassingame, Roy Holland, Pete Hester, Richard Gale, Manuel Munoz and Don Latimer," Benson stated.
