PISTOL WOUND IS FATAL FOR J. A. BENNINGER

Department Store Official Shot in Head Early Monday Night

VETERAN IN BUSINESS

Watchman Finds Injured Merchant Lying On Store Floor

John A. Benninger, 36, 1609 Hays, died at a local hospital at 12 o'clock midnight Monday four hours after he was found shot through the head in Saul's store.

Mr. Benninger was vice president and assistant manager of the firm. He was rushed to the hospital by a Hines ambulance immediately after he was found, and the body was taken in charge Tuesday morning by Hines mortuary pending arrangement for funeral services.

Beside his wife, who is seriously ill in the Wichita General hospital, he is survived by two daughters, Helen, 12, and Anita, 6. Mrs. Benninger was prostrated when informed of the tragedy shortly after her husband was admitted to the hospital.

City officers summoned by J. L. Arnold, store nightwatchman, found the dying man at 7:55 p. m.

Watchman Hears Shots

The injured man had just been admitted to the store by the nightwatchman, who had left his gun and clock near the main entrance, when Mr. Arnold, talking to a friend just outside the door, heard the shots. As he re-entered the store Mr. Arnold noticed his gun had been moved and called to Bonner Barton, clerk, to watch the door while he called officers.

Detective George Garrett and Mr. Arnold found Mr. Benninger lying on the floor across the building from the entrance with the watchman's gun near. The wounded man was moved to the hospital at once.

Wife Critically Ill

Business associates said Mr. Benninger had been greatly concerned and somewhat despondent over his wife's condition. Mrs. Benninger underwent a major operation at the Wichita General hospital this week and was in a serious condition, but attendants said she was improved Monday night.

Examination of the .38 caliber pistol at police headquarters revealed the trigger had been pulled four times, but the third shell had failed to explode.

Ten employes and officials of the store were in the building at the time, but Mr. Barton and Mr. Arnold were the only ones to hear the shots. Mr. Barton was entering the main store from the annex at the time.

Mr. Benninger had been connected with the firm for the last 18 years and had been an official of the corporation for several years.

Bank Robbery Victim Can't Identify Suspect

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 19. (UP)—The defense scored late today when Charles Powell, American-First National bank messenger, failed to identify Charles F. Merritt definitely as one of three bandits who robbed him of $75,000 three years ago.

"He looks something like one of the bandits, but I can't say he is the man," Powell said as he opened the prosecution's case.

The robbery, which occurred at a downtown street corner, was one of the largest in this section.

Powell was slightly wounded when the bandits attacked him, snatched his money satchel and escaped.

Accused Amarillo Man Arrested in Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 19. (AP)—Bert Rarey, wanted in Amarillo, Texas, on charges of misapplication of $82,000 funds of the First National bank of Amarillo, was arrested today by a deputy U. S. marshal and held under $25,000 bond pending his appearance in the southern city to answer the charge.

Lawmakers Speed Up Action On Bills As Final Recess Nears

AUSTIN, Sept. 19. (UP)—With the passage of the corrective tax remission measure, saving the state from loss of thousands of dollars on delinquent corporation taxes, the special session of the Texas legislature turned today to cleaning up other bills for adjournment set for Wednesday at 6 p. m.

The corrective measure was passed in the house when the body receded from its former position and concurred with the senate in making remission of tax penalties and interest on city taxes optional to muhicipalities. As enacted the measure provides remission of penalties and interest in state, counties and districts on delinquent ad valorem taxes, with cities optional.

New action was necessitated when both houses, through error, made the remission applicable to taxes in general and it became apparent that thousands of dollars would be freed on corporation and other taxes.

The house passed finally a senate bill designed to simplify curtailment of reported oil thefts in the East Texas field. The measure defines "theft" as any defrauding of land owners of oil.

Pending business in the house for tomorrow includes a senate measure requiring gas utilities to hold hearings before raising rates in towns under 500 population.

With the house concurring in the senate resolution for sine die adjournment, Representative P. L. Anderson is attempting to push through his fee bill, limiting the salaries and receipts of county fee officers.

A vote on a bill reducing the poll tax to $1 by Representative C. E. Farmer failed to get final action when the house refused to suspend rules. The present poll tax is $1.75.

Only minor measures were considered by the senate which stood recessed most of the day.

Trial of Senator Davis Opens With Contrasting Pictures Of Moose Head

Accused Legislator and High Official of Lodge Depicted As 'Mussolini' and as Benevolent Philanthropist

By SEYMOUR BERKSON

NEW YORK, Sept. 19. (US)—High-handed "Mussolini" of the Loyal Order of Moose, who personally received $172,000 from its $3,000,000 charity lottery and otherwise profited from his dictatorship over the Moose, or—

Benevolent philanthropist, interested in building up the fraternal order and its charitable enterprise at Mooseheart, Ill., near Chicago?

Those two contrasting pictures of U. S. Senator James J. Davis of Pennsylvania were presented by the prosecution and defense today at the opening of Davis' trial for alleged violation of federal lottery laws.

New Jury Rule

Senator Davis, dressed in a blue suit that accentuated his silver gray hair and sharply chiseled features, sat calmly at his counsel's table while the case for and against him was summarized before a jury of 14 men.

It is the first time in local federal court procedure that the system of alternate jurors, permitted by recent law to prevent trial delays occasioned by the illness of jurors, has ever been invoked.

The former secretary of labor, who served under three Republican presidents and is at present a candidate in Pennsylvania to succeed himself in the United States senate, was accused point-blank of using $100,000 of the lottery money to pay off his own obligations.

Assistant U. S. Attorney Louis M. Treadwell told the jurors that the government will show that three checks, made out to the Pittsburgh bank account of Fred Jones, Davis' "financial agent" were used to pay the Pennsylvania senators obligations.

Invested With Power

One check for $15,000, Treadwell declared, was used to pay for personal household expenses. Another for $40,000 was deposited in an organization headed by Davis, which held a contract with the Moose for raising funds. A third for $17,000 was turned over to a corporation controlled by the senator.

"With the powers of a Mussolini," the prosecutor said, "Davis had an arrangement as general director of the fraternal order whereby he kept the initiation fee of every new member he obtained and could cut the regular initiation fee in half for new members.

Treadwell declared that while tickets sold for the Mooseheart charity ball brought in $3,000,000, prizes of only $200,000 were offered for the lottery feature which went with each ticket.

The prosecutor declared that Bernard J. McGuire, one of six other men indicted with Davis for lottery violations, was "only a chiseler running a punch board racket" when he met the Pennsylvania senator and added:

"Then along came Senator Davis,

WRECK DELAYS GOV. ROOSEVELT

Candidate's Special Train Held in Montana

ABOARD ROOSEVELT SPECIAL, Out of Missoula, Mont., Sept. 19. (AP)—After several hours delay due to a train wreck, Franklin D. Roosevelt tonight moved on to carry his campaign for the presidency into Washington and Oregon, leaving behind in Montana a promise to call an international monetary conference "without delay or evasion."

For three hours his train was held at Bonner, Mont., while a wrecking crew a few miles ahead worked hurriedly to clear away the damage done by a broken axle on the engine of the eastbond North Coast Limited, a crack Northern Pacific passenger train. The engine and two cars were derailed but except for throwing the tracks out of line, little damage was done. A temporary track was set up to move Governor Roosevelt's special around the wreckage and it sped on to Missoula, a few miles away.

While preparations were being made to move his train forward, the presidential nominee of the Democrats remained in his private car working on the speech on public utilities he will deliver in Portland, Ore.

During a three-hour pause in Butte before moving on into Washington state, Governor Roosevelt today told a crowd that wedged into the street before the courthouse that he would call an international monetary conference "without delay or evasion."

Taboos Waiting Policy

Speaking from a specially constructed platform at the top of the courthouse steps, the Democratic presidential candidate said:

"The Republican leaders say that when an international conference is called by some one else, they will participate. We promise to call such a conference. This I promise to do without delay or evasion.

"I believe in American initiative in this and all other important matters of world-wide concern.

"The improvement of conditions in the mining industry will be attained by no single panacea. I want to be fair and honest with you as I was with the farmers at Topeka the other day and say that with problems of such many sided importance the way out is difficult.

Pledges Willingness

"Particularly is this true of the problem of improving the condition of silver and the restoration of trade on the Pacific.

"It must be done with the pledge of the platform in mind that sound currency be maintained at all regards. This must and shall be done.

"I pledge to you as I pledged myself to the farmers, willing hands

East Galveston Bay Opened to Fishermen

AUSTIN, Sept. 19. (AP)—Gov. R. S. Sterling today signed a bill opening East Galveston bay to commercial fishing. The bill left permanently closed small abutting bodies of water. The newly opened waters extend from the Galveston causeway to Chambers county.

Kentucky Feud Slayings To Be Probed by Jury

MANCHESTER, Ky., Sept. 19. (AP)—Investigation of the feud shooting which killed two men and wounded another here yesterday was ordered by Circuit Judge William Lewis on empanelling the grand jury today.

A company of national guardsmen was on duty during the day at the county courthouse from which marksmen fired yesterday the shots that killed Commonwealth Attorney Frank H. Baker and John Brockman, but as the town was quiet during the day, part of the troops were ordered home.

House Considers Bill To Create District Court

AUSTIN, Sept. 19. (AP)—The house of representatives today engrossed a senate bill creating a new district court for Rusk and Gregg counties. Sponsors of the bill hoped to get it up on final passage tomorrow. It passed the senate several days ago.

STATE AWARDS HIGHWAY WORK

Department Intends to Push Highway No. 5

AUSTIN, Sept. 19. (AP)—The Texas Highway commission today awarded road and bridge construction contracts aggregating $1,525,757.

A portion of the program will be carried out under the emergency advance granted recently by the federal government in which efforts will be made to spread the work over as large a field as possible through utilization of men instead of machinery.

Fill in Gaps

W. R. Ely of Abilene, commission chairman, told delegations seeking designation of new highways that it was the intention of the commission to fill in the gaps in the main highways before adding any more roads to the state system. Ely pointed out the recent act of the legislature authorizing diversion of one-fourth of the gasoline tax for assumption by the state of county and district bonds, issued to aid state highway construction, would materially hamper future activities of the department.

Not only will the state be forced to get along with less funds but it also will be required to pay for all construction whereas the counties formerly contributed a share of the cost, Ely said.

Covers 213 Miles

Contracts awarded today provided for construction of 213 highway miles and $248,616 in bridge construction.

Contracts awarded by counties included:

Lubbock, 11 miles grading and drainage structures from Lubbock to Idalou on highway 24, Panhandle Construction company, Lubbock, $32,910.58.

Potter, five miles caliche and limestone base from the airport to the Carson county line on highway 33, Ernest Loys, Fort Worth, $35,409.06.

Plans are proceeding, the commission said, for utilization of the total federal advance. Projects under this advance must be completed before July 1, 1933. A list of projects to participate in this construction is being prepared and the work will be placed under contract as quickly as possible.

Highway 5 Plans

In discussions with a delegation from Grayson county, the commission indicated its intention of pushing improvement of highway 5. Estimate of the cost of improving this road was ordered.

All requests for designations were taken under advisement.

Designations had been requested by Starr, Somervell and Hood, Young and Palo Pinto; Erath, Hood and Palo Pinto; Medina, Kendall and Comal; Bosque and Coryell; Karnes.

The commission announced it planned to award a contract in Knox county soon for paying highway 24 from Benjamin, west. Relocation of highway 16 in Foard and Knox counties was ordered.

Federal Reserve Committee Meets

FORT WORTH, Sept. 19. (AP)—The banking and industrial committee of the 11th federal reserve district will meet here Tuesday to plan for financing of the cattle business until the 10th district agricultural credit corporation begins functioning and committees are appointed to carry out the adminstration's program for relief and rehabilitation.

A committe is to be appointed to work out the details of putting into effect the administration's plan for the relief of unemployment by a wider distribution of jobs through the stagger system.

Priest Held for Part In Death of Obregon

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 19. (AP)—The Rev. Aurelio Jimenez Palcios, accused by the authorities of being the Catholic priest., Father Jimenez, of the Obregon assassination in 1928, today was held for trial after lengthy questioning.

Father Jimenez was arrested in a suburb here last week and authorities said he admitted his identity. It is charged he heard a confession from the assassin, Joes de Leon Toral, and blessed Toral's pistol before Toral killed President-elect Alvaro Obregon.

Cuban Goodwill Planes Arrive in U. S. Today

BROWNSVILLE, Texas, Sept. 19. (UP)—A squadron of three Cuban army airplanes on a goodwill flight to Guatemala, Mexico, and the United States, will arrive here tomorrow from Mexico City.

The squadron is en route to Washington and will make stops at San Antonio and Dallas, Texas, and Tulsa, Okla.

GOV. STERLING NAMES FRANCIS TO U. T. BOARD

Wichita Attorney Selected As Regent of State Institution

PRESIDENT OF EXES

New Member, Graduate Of School, to Succeed W. M. Odell

Charles I. Francis of Wichita Falls Monday was appointed a member of the board of regents of the University of Texas by Gov. Ross Sterling, according to a dispatch to The Record News from its Austin correspondent.

Waits Official Notice

Mr. Francis will succeed W. M. Odell of Fort Worth, prominent attorney who resigned his post because of ill health.

The Wichita Falls attorney has served the interests of the University of Texas in many ways since his graduation from the school in 1919, and his appointment to the board of regents brings him one of the highest honors which can be accorded an alumnus of that institution. Mr. Francis had not received official notice of his appointment Monday night, but was being congratulated by many of his friends who received word of the appointment from The Record News.

Mr. Francis is one of the leading attorneys of Wichita Falls and has been active in the affairs of the Democratic party for years. Last year he served as vice-chairman of the state Democratic executive committee. He is president on the University of Texas Ex-Students association, having served in that post for the last two years.

Three Degrees From School

Mr. Francis received his bachelor of arts degree from the university in 1915 and his bachelor of laws and master of laws degrees in 1919. He also acted as instructor in the public speaking department of the school for three years.

Son of Wealthy Broker Held for $25,000 Ransom

NEW YORK, Sept. 19. (US)—John Arthur Russell, 8, son of Arthur S. Russell, wealthy broker, was kidnaped today while on his way from school to his home in the fashionable shore road section of Brooklyn.

A $25,000 ransom was demanded four hours later for his safe return.

The demand was made by an unidentified man who called the Russell home and talked directly with the frantic father. The man said he would call again an hour later with details regarding the payment and return of the missing boy. No second call was made.

Stovepipes for Big Guns Used in German War Game

FRANKFURT-ON-ODER, Germany, Sept. 19. (UP)—Grotesque contraptions made of cardboard and tin to represent tanks, and flimsy stovepipes for heavy artillery, appeared here today for use in the autumn maneuvers of the Germany army.

The Versailles peace treaty forbids German use of tanks or big guns.

The war games will reach a climax Tuesday and Wednesday when President Paul Von Hindenburg arrives from Berlin.

Commodity Prices Climb Retail Food Prices Drop

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19. (US)—A marked increase in wholesale commodity prices during July, with a further decrease in retail food prices during the month ended Aug. 15, was reported by the labor department today.

The department's wholesale price index, based on 100 as the 1926 average, stood at 65.2 on Aug. 15, an increase of more than one per cent during the four weeks' period. It was still 9.5 per cent below the 1931 level.

Hughes Names Officers To Demo Committee

DALLAS, Sept. 19. (AP)—Maury Hughes, new chairman of the state democratic executive committee, today named Ed Hussion of Houston secretary to the committee, J. K. Brimm of Sulphur Springs was made vice chairman, a new office.

Hussion succeeded Albert Sidney Johnson of Dallas, secretary for several years. It had been understood that Johnson would retire this year.

Girl Suicide Identified As Screen Actress

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Sept. 19. (UP)—The young blonde who apparently committed suicide by leaping from the top of the brilliant-lighted Hollywoodland sign, high in Hollywood hills, was identified today as Lillian Millicent (Peg) Entwistle, stage and screen actress.

Disappointment over her progress in films was believed responsible for her act. Her body was identified by an uncle, Charles Entwistle.

PIONEER DIES

SAN MARCOS, Texas, Sept. 19. (AP)—Steve Minot, 46, land surveyor in Hays county for 25 years, died at his home here today of a heart attack. He had lived in this section all his life.

Mayor Proclaims Cowboy Hats And Calico Dresses For Jubilee

Whereas, the time for Wichita Falls' 50th anniversary celebration is rapidly approaching and the occasion calls for a community-wide cooperation in the spirit of the jubilee, and

Whereas, the jubilee will honor pioneers of this section who developed range lands into civilized urban centers, and

Whereas, a picturesque atmosphere in keeping with the occasion may be obtained with the citizenship here appearing in pioneer cowboy dress and calicos and bonnets of the pioneer mothers.

Therefore, I, Walter Nelson Jr., mayor of Wichita Falls, call upon the people of Wichita Falls to appear in cowboy regalia of hats, varicolored shirts, boots and similar equipment and in calico dresses and bonnets, at once. Effective this 19th. day of September, 1932.

WALTER NELSON JR., Mayor.

Consummation of Aluminum-Oil Deal Breaks Canada's Soviet Bar

Mellon Concern Receives Big Shipment of Russian Crude, Completing Huge Commodity Swap

By M. GRATTAN O'LEARY

OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 19. (US)—Arrival at Montreal of a Russian tanker carrying 9,000 tons of crude oil marks the first break in Canada's atitude toward trade with the Soviet republic.

Federal permit allowing the oil to be unloaded from the ship into a Montreal refinery is the final proof that the Canadian government is willing to exchange Canadian aluminum for Russian oil. The details of this interchange are as follows:

The Canadian Aluminum company of Arvida, Quebec, a subsidiary of the Aluminum Corporation of America—a Mellon enterprise—will export $1,500,000 of aluminum wire to Russia to be used by the Soviets in furthering their economic development.

In return, Russia will ship $750,000 of crude oil to Montreal and will settle the balance in gold. This business will enable the Arvida plant to enlarge production at once and give employment immediately to 300 workmen, with an additional 700 men to be added to the pay roll in a few weeks time.

Hitherto the Canadian government has resolutely opposed trade with Russia and in many quarters it is believed that the moment the present transaction is completed the former policy will be revived.

Canadian oil refineries which draw their crude oil chiefly from the United States are complaining vigorously of the competition which will result from the Russian product but they have been unable, so far, to persuade the Bennet government to embargo the remaining shipments necessary for the completion of the present arrangement.

Minnesota Farmers Set Pickets to Halt Produce

WORTHINGTON, Minn., Sept. 19. (US)—Armed with clubs and stones, a score of striking farmers clashed today with Sheriff Elbon Rowe and his deputies, but were dispersed.

Emulating the striking farmers of Iowa, Nebraska and South Dakota, between 250 and 300 picketers attempted to blockade all the highways in this section today to prevent farm produce from getting to the city markets.

Stamford Farmer Killed By Fall Under Binder

STAMFORD, Texas, Sept. 19. (UP)—Neighbors of C. A. Carlson, 50, farmer found dead in a field, decided today he was killed by a fall beneath a row binder being taken away under tractor power.

The body was found Sunday and Carlson apparently had been dead several hours.

He was last seen by other farmers as they drove the tractor and binder from the field and it was believed he fell and that noise of the machinery stifled his outcry.

Memphis Girl Injured When Car Strikes Pole

Special to The Record News.

MEMPHIS, Texas, Sept. 19.—Charlene Drake, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Drake, was painfully injured today when she was thrown through the windshield of the car in which she was riding. Chrystel Howard was driving when she lost control of the car and it plunged into a telegraph pole. The girl's injuries are thought to be not serious.

Brookhart Likely to Run As Independent Candidate

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19. (US)—Senator Smith W. Brookhart, anti-Hoover Republican from Iowa, inferred today he will run for re-election as an independent Republican.

Responding to a request that he speak to a meeting of farmers at Moville, near Sioux City, Brookhart left by airplane this afternoon to address the meeting Wednesday.

CATTLE MOVE TO NEW HIGH

Cotton Holds 30-50 Cents Of $1.50 Increase

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 19. (AP)—A new 1932 high for cattle on the Kansas City market was established today when 18 head of choice fed steers sold at $9.65 a hundred pounds, five cents higher than the previous top reached last week. Cattle receipts were estimated today at 10,000.

COTTON HOLDS PART OF EARLY GAINS

NEW YORK, Sept. 19. (AP)—Bulls in the cotton market held sway for a brief time today as contracts rose about $1.50 a bale but the market bogged down under late hedge selling and lost most of the gains. Final prices were 30 cents to 50 cents a bale higher.

Early buying was of a brisk character based on fears of crop damage from a tropical storm, said to be headed for the south central and eastern belt states. December contracts advanced from 6.78 cents a pound to 7.15 cents, while October made an equal gain to seven cents and March to 7.30 cents. The advance attracted liquidation and further speculative selling from traders and considerable hedge pressure from the South.

R. G. DUN REPORTS FEWER FAILURES

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—R. G. Dun & Co. reports that mercantile failures continue on "a much smaller scale" than in recent months. Insolvencies last week totaled 515 against 420 for the five business days of the preceding week and 549 in the last week of August.

Today's gold statement of the New York Federal Reserve bank showed imports of $182,000 from Holland and a gain through releases of earmarked metal of $165,000. There were no exports.

Tropical Storm in Gulf Slowly Losing Intensity

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 19. (AP)—A tropical storm in the Gulf of Mexico that brought winds ranging from 20 to 40 miles an hour and drove numerous residents from their homes, moved inland south of Morgan City, La., later today, apparently with diminished intensity.

High tides were driven over the low marsh country of South Louisiana and scores of families evacuated for higher ground. Schools were closed and children were sent to their homes well in advance of the storm's fury.

Trees were uprooted at Morgan City, but no other damage was apparent there.

Rail Board Amends Gulf Coast Oil Order

AUSTIN, Sept. 19. (AP)—The railroad commission today amended its gulf coast oil proration order to permit certain wells on piercement type dome structures to flow more than 240 barrels daily. Decision to amend the regulation was made Saturday.

The new order will become effective Saturday morning. Operators were ordered to restrict the flow to as nearly 240 barrels "as may be done without injury to said wells or to the oil producing formations in which they are completed."

15-CENT CUT IN LEVY MADE BY OFFICIALS

State Assumption of Road Bonds Lifts Load From Taxpayers Here

SAVING OF $67,500

City Orders Remission Of Penalty, Interest On Delinquent Taxes

Wichita county's tax rate for 1933 was reduced from 75 to 60 cents per $100 of valuation by the commissioners court in its regular weekly session Monday afternoon, a reduction which will lop approximately $67,500 off the total amount of taxes to be levied on property in this county for the ensuing year.

Former Rate 75 Cents

State assumption of counties' indebtedness for state highway construction in the past, as voted last week by the legislature, permitted the elimination of two road fund levies from the schedule of 75 cents formerly set by the commissioners, it was explained.

Road improvement bond issue No. 2, of $1,500,000, formerly demanded a levy of 25 cents, and in 1933 will draw only 18 cents per $100 valuation. The refunding bonds of $500,000 which formerly have required a levy of 11 cents will impose a levy hereafter of only three cents.

Wichita county now owes $1,555,000 bonds coming under the classification to be paid by the state, it was stated. Annual principal payment has been $50,000, with interest payable also annually.

Radio for Sheriff

Purchase of a short wave radio receiving set for the sheriff's office for use in the apprehension of criminals at large was approved by the court. The instrument was installed on approval about three weeks ago.

County Judge John P. Marrs was authorized to press negotiations designed to obtain a reduction of the county's expense for electric current consumption.

County School Superintendent Jeff A. Hood was instructed by the court to nominate three qualified persons for the office of county juvenile officer, out of which the court will select one for the ensuing year.

The commissioners court is to reconvene Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock as a board of equalization, to complete its work in that capacity, and to seek further economies in the 1933 budget.

COUNCIL FIXES CITY TAX RATE AT $1.40

Ordinances remitting penalty and interest on delinquent city taxes if not paid later than Dec. 31, 1932, and fixing the 1932 city tax rate at $1.40 per $100 of property valuation were passed on first readings by the city council Monday night.

Valuation Reduced

The ordinance providing for cancellation of penalties and interest on delinquent taxes was passed in

Jack Hall Case Goes To Jury for Verdict

PECOS, Texas, Sept. 19. (AP)—The case of Jack Hall, charged with murder for slaying T. C. Barnsley, went to the jury late today. Attorneys had argued seven hours.

The case had been on trial before District Judge J. A. Drane here eight days. Hall, a cowboy known over a large part of West Texas, claimed that he shot Barnsley, a ranchman of Ward and Crane counties, fearing that the latter would kill him. They had had trouble over a land lease.

Hall was convicted at a trial in Crane county and given a 30-year sentence. The case was reversed and brought here on a change of venue.

Judge Orders Written Briefs in Oil Cases

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 19. (AP)—In an attempt to avoid what Chief Justice E. F. Lester described as a "delicate situation" in connection with military oil enforcement litigation, the state supreme court today ordered oil company attorneys to prepare written motions in all future appeals.

The order was made at a conference in which the court granted a motion of Sid White, attorney for the Russell Petroleum, to advance an appeal from the district court which refused to evict national guardsmen from two Russell wells in the Oklahoma City field.

County Chairmen Of District Called To Democratic Meeting Here Sept. 24

An official call for a meeting of all county Democratic chairmen of the 23rd senatorial district at Wichita Falls Sept. 24 was issued Monday by T. R. Boone, member of the state executive committee.

In issuing the call, Mr. Boone pointed to the "chaotic conditions throughout the United States," and urged all county chairmen to attend for the purpose of electing the Democratic nominees for "president and governor down to the constable of each precinct." Counties in the 23rd senatorial district are Hardeman, Foard, Knox, Wilbarger, Baylor, Archer, Young, Clay and Wichita. Mr. Boone's statement follows:

"There exists at this time, chaotic conditions throughout the United States brought about, in chief, by the centralization of power through monopolistic tendencies—this we must do our utmost to terminate and return our government from nation to precinct inclusive back to the masses of the people.

"In order to do this, it is necessary to formulate plans in each precinct, county and state of our country before the coming November election.

"As executive committeeman, I am respectfully calling a meeting of the county chairmen of the 23rd

Garner Abandons Hope For Mother As Life Of Pioneer Ebbs Slowly

DETROIT, Texas, Sept. 19. (AP)—An old colonial house, one of the oldest in this section, was in gloom tonight as its mistress, Mrs. Sarah Jane Garner, lay critically ill, her life slowly ebbing away.

This gloom had affected the entire household, from her vice presidential nominee son, John Nance, down to the aged patient's pet poodle, Fluffy.

Late today physicians announced there had been no change in the pioneer woman's condition. In a morning report, however, it was said she had weakened considerably during the night and that she seemed to be gradually nearing the end. Her temperature remained high, 103.4 degrees.

Mrs. Garner, whose greatest desire was to live to see her eldest son elected and inaugurated as vice president of the United States, has been in ill health for some time. Her present critical condition was brought about by a general toxic poisoning. She is 81 years old.

All members of her immediate family, three sons and two daughters, were at her bedside. The last to arrive, John Nance, hurried here yesterday from Washington where he had gone from his Uvalde, Texas home to aid in the Democratic presidential campaign.

Mr. Garner said there was no hope for his mother. "My mother

GANDHI STARTS FAST TODAY

Indian Mahatma to Abstain From Food Until Death

BOMBAY, Sept. 19. (UP)—The Mahatma M. K. Gandhi tonight defied the Indian government to remove him from his cell in Yerovda prison where, at midday tomorrow, he will begin his "fast unto death."

India's "great soul" is undertaking his hunger strike as a protest against Great Britain's communal settlement, involving separate electorates for the nation's "untouchables."

Bombay officials announced earlier in the day that the little brown Nationalist leader would be removed from the prison proper and placed in a bungalow inside the prison grounds.

Certain restrictions, as to the number of visitors he might have, were resented by Gandhi, who characterized them as "humiliating conditions."

Last Food Today

Accordingly, he challenged the government to remove him forcibly from his cell.

Under the government plan, Gandhi would be permitted to have only six visitors at a time.

He intends to abstain from all food until death overtakes him. He will take his last food at the noonday meal and thereafter will eat or drink nothing except water, with salt or soda stirred into it.

Gandhi, who weighs less than 100 pounds, has been conditioning himself for his fast for several days. Gradually he has been reducing the amount of food in his diet, which consists of vegetables, fruits and goats' milk.

He also has been refraining from his usual exercise in order to store up energy for the ordeal of his hunger strike.

County Slashes 1933 Tax Rate

accordance with action taken by the special session of the legislature last week as a tax relief measure. It stipulates that taxes delinquent up to and including Dec. 31, 1932, shall be payable without penalty or interest theretofore imposed if paid by that date.

Distribution of the $1.40 tax rate for the city on 1932 tax rolls remains practically the same as in the past year. Sixty cents is levied for the general fund, from which administrative costs are paid; 15 cents for the street fund; 12 cents for parks, cemeteries and playgrounds; three cents for the public library; and 50 cents for payment of interest and principal on the city's bonded indebtedness. Levies for the street and park funds provide also for retirement of fund warrants issued heretofore for those departments.

Material reductions in the assessment of taxes for 1932 have been effected by the city through heavy reductions in the valuations of real estate.

Taxi Drivers Licensed

The ordinance provides also for the usual occupation tax of one-half the amount of occupation tax levied by the state.

The council approved the transfer of $4,723 from the general, park and water funds to reimburse the street fund for supplies of gasoline and other materials furnished during the past few months.

Twenty-four applications for chauffeurs licenses for drivers of 15-cent taxies in this city were granted by the council upon the recommendation of City Manager V. R. Smitham.

Demo Chairmen To Meet Sept. 24

"The executive committeeman expects each and every one of the county chairmen to be present at this meeting or have a representative."

Electra Wins Water Polo At Iowa Park

Special to The Record News.

IOWA PARK, Texas, Sept. 19.—The Electra fire department was victor in a series of water polo games here tonight in which teams from Electra, Iowa Park, Wichita Falls and Grandfield, Okla., participated as practice for contests scheduled at Wichita Falls during the golden jubilee there.

Wichita Falls was eliminated early by Grandfield. Electra firemen beat the Iowa Park team. The two winners engaged in a play-off, with Electra victorious.

A large crowd of Iowa Park citizens witnessed the contests, which is carried on with a ball strung on a wire in the air. Players play streams of water on the ball with hoses, the team moving the ball to a certain point in the opponent's territory winning.

Republicans Would Sell Capitol, Says Blanton

AUSTIN, Sept. 19. (AP)—Congressman Thomas L. Blanton of Abilene, in an address before the Texas house of representatives today, said the Republican administration now in power would "sell the nation's capitol in Washington if it could get away with it."

He said it was the duty of Democrats to support the party ticket everywhere.

"If Democrats do not support their nominees, they will be forced to support a party that sells postoffice buildings from El Paso to Maine," he said. "The administration now in power would sell the capitol at Washington if it could get away with it."

OIL WORKER SLAIN

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas, Sept. 19. (AP)—Otis Lawhon, 22, oil field worker of Bay City, was shot to death on a street here today. J. H. Ellison of Goliad surrendered and was charged with murder. The cause of the trouble was not known.

Four Reasons for Reflection

Now here's a pretty dish for a perplexed pulchritude connoisseur to reflect upon. One of these young ladies is going to be a movie star. They are finalists in a national contest to choose a "panther woman" for a forthcoming film. Unable to decide on one, the judges took all four to Hollywood for screen tests. Left to right the girls are Verna Hillie, Kathleen Burke, Lou Andre and Margaret Fitzpatrick.

Angry Crowd Holds Officers Captives After Child Killed In Strike Clash

Needle Workers Numbering 3,000 Chase Policemen; City's Council Attempts to Halt Disorder

SOUTH RIVER, N. J., Sept. 19. (AP)—An angry crowd of approximately 3,000 men and women, held 40 deputies and 13 borough policemen virtual prisoners in the borough hall tonight, following the fatal shooting of a 9-year-old boy and wounding of three other persons during a clash between needle workers and private police late this afternoon.

The crowd, composed of workers in the needle industry and sympathizers, had chased the officers from the scene of the riot to borough hall when news of the death of Walter Rojek, 9, spread. At 11 o'clock tonight, it kept its ground outside the hall while the borough council met in a private home to make plans for halting the disorder.

Claims Bullets Blank

The boy died in a hospital at 6:30 from a bullet wound in the head. It was not known who did the shooting. Deputies brought here from a Newark detective agency said their pistols carried blank cartridges and declared they fired to scare the crowd when it attacked them with stones and bricks. They said some of the workers were armed.

John Wilczynski, 13, was shot in the leg and was released from New Brunswick hospital after treatment. An unidentified woman also was wounded in the leg and an unidentified man was shot in the arm.

The trouble started in front of the R. & P. wash suit plant, which opened this morning for the first time since a strike was called more than three weeks ago. Leaders of the workers voted Saturday night to permit five plants to open today and promised not interfere with those who went to work.

Twenty of the private detectives were there when the plant opened. Apparently aroused by their presence, workers and sympathizers gathered this afternoon and began to chase them with stones.

Two automobiles of the deputies were almost wrecked by the crowd during the melee.

'Baering' Down On The News

BY ARTHUR (BUGS) BAER

Senator Brookhart is just suspecting there have been stock abuses in Wall street.

Where has the senator been all this time? In the upper berth over Rip Van Winkle?

Our own suspicions have been ripening on the vine for three years. There was something fishy about that market and it wasn't trout.

We still have the handle of the basket to prove it once had a bottom.

We don't accuse those droll little margineers of anything. Like the man in the dental chair we arrived of our own volition. The dentist didn't send for us.

It is better to have plunged and bounced than never to have bounced at all. If Senator Brookhart insists on his postponed autopsy why, of course, the writer willingly gives the body of his broker to science.

But, the grass has grown over that battlefield, senator. And, like Lee, Bismark, Grant and Wellington, the best we can hope for is to be paid off in monuments.

Escaped Convicts Caught At Longview

LONGVIEW, Texas, Sept. 19. (AP)—An agent for the Mississippi penitentiary came here tonight and took custody of four convicts who escaped from the state prison at Parchman Wednesday. He left a check for $200 to be divided among the four officers who recaptured the men.

The convicts were Clifford Smith and Oscar B. Winter, both life term prisoners, the former for a murder; J. P. Conner, serving eight years for automobile theft; and Thomas Q. Dear, under a seven-year sentence for bank robbery. They shot their way out of the hospital at the penitentiary.

The men were captured last night when they halted between Gladewater and Kilgore to repair an automobile they had stolen from a prison guard. The officers who captured them were Special Ranger Bill McElroy and County Officers John Martin, Hugh Camp, and J. Q. Adams.

Compulsory Vaccination Contested in Fort Worth

FORT WORTH, Sept. 19. (INS)—An injunction seeking to restrain members of the school board from enforcing compulsory vaccination laws was filed today by H. C. Allison and N. H. Lipscomb in the 96th district court.

Judge Marvin H. Brown refused to grant a temporary injunction but set the case down for hearing Sept. 30, three days before the law goes into effect.

M'KEE CLOSES 'BURLY' SHOWS

New York Mayor Charges 'Filth' in Theaters

NEW YORK, Sept. 19. (AP)—Turning for a brief moment from matters of finance to morals, Mayor Joseph V. McKee today placed an official ban against burlesque shows in West Forty-second street, the heart of Broadway.

Acting on a report by Commissioner of Licenses James F. Geraghty, he ordered that the licenses of two houses be revoked. Police prepared to place the order into effect tomorrow by stationing policemen at the doors to see that the order is obeyed.

The commissioner's investigation followed upon protests from the clergy, civic organizations and property owners along the street.

"New York City has no place for the filth these theaters are purveying," declared the mayor. "They created immorality. They had a bad influence. And they lessened property values in the section, a matter which is of less importance than the issue of morality."

Burlesque, which for more than a year had not been shown at any theater in the Broadway district, had in recent months enjoyed a marked revival. "Barkers" on the sidewalks and displays of photographs of semi-nude women in front of the theaters in addition to the actual performances were among the subjects of complaints.

The mayor, however, in ordering the two theaters closed asserted he was not setting himself up as a censor of the theater.

"The standards of the theater are set by the people themselves," he said.

WALTERS HOME ROBBED

Wichita Falls police were asked to join in a section-wide search Monday night for two men who robbed a Walters, Okla., home Monday night taking a wedding ring containing 21 diamonds, a white gold ring, woman's watch, fountain pen and several small coins of no monetary value.

that great organizer, who conceived the gigantic possibilities of organized lotteries for the fraternal order over which he was the 'grand everything' with powers of a Mussolini."

Davis Unmoved

Senator Davis sat firm-lipped and unmoved as he heard that characterization of himself. At his side sat a battery of two lawyers, Charles H. Tuttle, his chief counsel, and Attorney Charles J. Margiotti, of Pittsburgh.

When the government prosecutor finished his opening summary, Tuttle rose slowly to his feet and emphatically denied one by one of the charges brought against Senator Davis.

Tuttle denied that the tickets sold for the Mooseheart charity ball comprised a lottery, that the Pennsylvania senator had participated in any illegal activity or that he had profited "by a penny" from the sale of the tickets.

Regarding the check paid to Davis' "organization company" from the charity ticket sale proceeds, the defense counsel explained this amount was owed the senator because the company had developed a deficit.

No Mention of Prizes

The first witness called by the government after the opening summations was Donald F. Stewart, editor of the Moose magazine, official organ of the fraternal order.

The government introduced correspondence between Stewart and Davis in which the success of the ball was referred to. Stewart said he did not mention prizes in his stories about the ball.

Shortly after the speaker's arrival, he visited his mother's sick room during a period from which she had rallied from a stupor in which she had lain for practically two days.

"Do you know me, Ma?" he asked as he stooped low over her bed.

"Yes," was the faint acknowledgment of his presence.

After that brief greeting, the patient dozed off again.

Today it became known that Mrs. Garner's pet poodle, of which she was extremely fond, had refused to eat since its mistress had become sick abed, and spends most of its time lying beside or under her bed.

Hotel Men Form to Aid Hostelries in Distress

NEW YORK, Sept. 19. (AP)—A group of well known hotel men, bankers and industrialists announced today organization of the Hotel Reconstruction corporation to assist in stabilization of the hotel industry.

Robert E. Graham, New York, one of the directors, said the corporation plans to make its resources available immediately to hotels in distress, to the authorities in Washington and to courts handling hotel receiverships. It will maintain offices here and in Niagara Falls, N. Y.

The directors in addition to Mr. Graham included Paul Harvey, El Paso, Texas.

Katy President Aids Jubilee With Check; Drum Corps To Attend Fiesta

Growing interest in Wichita Falls' golden jubilee party opening next Monday for three days to honor pioneers of Texas and Oklahoma and celebrate the 50th birthday of this West Texas city was shown Monday when M-K-T railway officials presented anniversary officials a check from the rail president, M. H. Cahill.

Although the celebration marks the entrance of the first train into Wichita Falls—a Denver excursion special—the M-K-T railway officials and employes have shown a fine spirit of cooperation in plans for the jubilee, John F. Donohoe, financial chairman, said Monday.

The local M-K-T employes contributed to the party earlier in the summer.

C. W. Watts, division superintendent, delivered the donation from President Cahill Monday afternoon and with H. W. Stone, local representative, announced that plans had been completed for the M-K-T drum and bugle corps to appear here during the three days. The corps includes 50 pieces and the group will be attired in uniforms.

The uniforms include white flannel trousers, navy blue coats, red Sam Browne belts, dark blue West Point caps with white plumes.

The railway has announced excursion rates for the jubilee from all points in Texas and Oklahoma to Wichita Falls of 60 per cent of one-way fares for the round trip, and have distributed several thousand circulars in the territory advertising the three-day party here.

and a sincere purpose. This is, my friends, the issue of the campaign—on the one side cynical and unsympathetic acceptance of things as they are—on the other determination and faith in the possibility of change—or progress—of a new deal."

The New York governor said the difference between the Republican and the Democratic platforms on the money question "is not a difference of alleged purpose, but a difference of attitude and method."

Measure of Sincerity

"But remember well, that attitude and method, the way we do things, is nearly always the measure of our sincerity," he added.

Mr. Roosevelt spoke briefly after he had been welcomed to Montana by Governor Erickson and introduced by Senator Walsh of Montana. J. Bruce Kremer, Democratic national committeeman for Montana, and Frank Walker of Montana, treasurer of the Democratic national committee, also made brief talks.

Another good sized crowd gathered at the station to wave goodbye to the candidate as his train pulled out on the way to Missoula and Paradise, Mont., before crossing Idaho into Washington for a stop at Spokane.

Druggist Gives New Formula To Stop Headaches

Realizing that no one drug can relieve all headaches, as they come from so many causes, a North Carolina pharmacist has developed a combination of several ingredients, so blended and proportioned as to relieve almost any headache in a few minutes. You can get this formula wherever drugs are sold under the name "B. C." 10c and 25c packages, and when you have one of those violent, nerve-racking headaches, from inorganic causes, "B. C." will give you soothing relief in three minutes. "B. C." should also be used for the relief of muscular aches and pains, common colds and neuralgia, reducing fever, and for quieting a distressed nervous system without opiates, narcotics or such habit forming drugs. —Adv.

COOKSON HILLS OUTLAW BATTLES LEAVE SEVEN MEN DEAD

OFFICERS HUNT BANDIT'S BODY

Eastern Oklahoma Residents To Face Charges

MUSKOGEE, Okla., Sept. 19. (AP)—With six and possibly seven men dead by gunfire in a two-day war on mountain terrorists, the Cookson hills, an outlaw refuge since Sheriff Tom Tail hunted down the bad men of the Cherokee republic, were hushed tonight.

Three outlaws accused of crimes which included the killing of a woman motorist were dead and three peace officers lost their lives in two frenzied week-end gunfights. Meanwhile, state operatives believed the hills might hold the body of a fourth hoodlum, hidden by his pals after the first affray.

Charges Prepared

Striving to clear the sparsely settled hills of their outlaw element, County Attorney Claude Thompson of Cherokee county prepared charges today against various residents, some of them already in jail. They will be accused of harboring criminals.

Trapped in a thicket Sunday, by Carlisle and Troy Love, sought for the killing of Deputy Sheriff Webster Reece the day before, were slain after they had fatally wounded Deputy Sheriff Andrew McGinnis and Hurt Flippin.

In the fight before dawn Saturday, Bud McClain was killed and his three companions escaped when Deputy Reece and other officers halted a motor car to question the quartet about an attempted holdup on Braggs mountain early this month. At that time highwaymen killed Mrs. Susie Sharp and wounded her daughter and grandson.

Another Death Reported

At Oklahoma City, Supt. Charles A. Burns of the state bureau of criminal identification said a young man whom Carlisle and Love forced to take them to the thicket where they were slain had told officers two men instead of one were killed in the first fight. Burns believed the other body may have been secreted in the hills.

Previously officers had believed Robert Trollinger, arrested at Eldon, Okla., late Sunday, might have been the fourth outlaw.

The Cookson hills have heard sporadic bursts of fatal gunfire since the 300-pound Cherokee sheriff, himself slain by a desperado, waged a strenuous fight for law and order but last week-end's battles took the most lives since four were killed in a feud in 1918.

Secretary of Spiritualist Association Missing

CHICAGO, Sept. 19. (UP)—Elmer Livingston, 33, secretary of the spiritualist association of Illinois, has been sought since last Friday, police revealed today.

The only clue the officers had to the whereabouts of the missing man, member of the legal department of a Chicago department store, was a letter to his wife, which said, "My darling Bertha: I am all right and will be home soon."

Mrs. Livingston said there was a $10 bill in the letter but the writing was not in her husband's script.

No supernatural forces had been called into use to trace the missing secretary when police took the case.

Three Primaries Today to Bring Near End Nation's Selection of Candidates

People of New York, Massachusetts and Wisconsin Go To Polls to Name Republican and Democratic Choices

(By The Associated Press)

The year's long run of state primaries for selection of national, state and local candidates, ends Tuesday with Democratic and Republican voting in New York, Massachusetts and Wisconsin.

After that, party conventions in three states and a few scattered run-off primaries will complete the country's electorial lists for November.

Heavy voting is predicted by political leaders in the Wisconsin primaries because of the spirited campaign between Gov. Philip La Follette and former Gov. Walter J. Kohler for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, and the vigorous contest between Senator John J. Blaine and John B. Chapple, Ashland editor, for the senatorial nomination of that party. Three Democrats are seeking the nomination for governor, but for the senatorial choice F. Ryan Duffy is not opposed.

New York Race

Selections for 17 of New York's 45 seats in the next house are at issue, together with many seats in the state legislature. The senatorial and gubernatorial candidates are to be selected at party conventions early in October.

Eight congressional nominations are being contested in Massachusetts. Gov. Joseph B. Ely is without opposition for renomination by the Democrats. Lieut. Gov. William S. Youngman is seeking the Republican gubernatorial nomination and has three opponents, including Frank A. Goodwin, chairman of the Boston finance commission.

There is no senatorial election in the Bay State this year, but the record number of candidates for state and local office was broken with a total of 15,800 entries.

Prohibition Issue

Prohibition figures as an important issue in some of the New York and Massachusetts congressional primaries. The big issue between La Follette and Kohler in Wisconsin concerns taxation, while Chapple has charged Blaine with radicalism.

Two prominent Republican women members of the house, Representative Ruth Baker Pratt of the 17th (so-called silk stocking district) in New York City and Representative Edith Nourse Rogers of the fifth Massachusetts have serious opposition for renomination.

Former Senator James W. Wadsworth is without opposition for the Republican nomination on a repealist platform in the 39th New York congressional district.

New York Democrats meet in convention at Albany Oct. 3, to name senatorial and gubernatorial candidates and Senator Robert F. Wagner has been mentioned for both offices. Lieut. Gov. Herbert H. Lehman, however, is being boomed as a successor to Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt by the chief executive's friends.

End With Rhode Island

F. Trubee Davison, assistant secretary of war for aeronautics, and William J. Donovan, former assistant attorney general, and Republican candidate for governor in 1922, are seeking the G. O. P. gubernatorial nomination.

With the exception of a few scattered run-off primaries, the preelection campaigns will end with the Rhode Island state conventions, where the Democrats meet Oct. 7, and the Republicans four days later.

New Mexico Republicans convene Sept. 25 and the Democrats on the 26th to prepare their slates.

Electra Rotary to Buy Shoes for Grid Team

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, Sept. 19.—Members of the Rotary club have voted to use their proceeds from the recent Rotary-Legion baseball game to purchase football shoes for the Tigers as far as the money will go. This will be a great help to the team, it was pointed out. The Rotarians also heard a report on the progress of the floodlights at the athletic field. The lights will be completed in time for the first game with Matador, Sept. 30.

A committee consisting of B. M. Dinsmore and Walter Skinner was appointed to draft resolutions to send to the family of Joe Brannon of Amarillo who died recently. He was a president of the Electra Rotary club. C. H. McGann, president, was in charge of the meeting. Phillip Broadwell led the invocation. Letter was read from the district governor stating that he would be here next Friday.

Jail Rioting Subdued By Use of Tear Bombs

FORT WORTH, Sept. 19. (AP)—Federal prisoners rioting in the sixth floor of the county jail in protest over stringent rules recently put into effect were subdued by tear gas discharged by Sheriff Wright late last night.

The prisoners broke up a large table, broke windows and electric lights. Wright believed a jail break had been planned. Eight prisoners, believed to have been ring leaders, were placed in solitary confinement.

Kill the Cause Of Skin Trouble

If you suffer from skin eruptions of any kind; Ringworm, Athlete's Foot, Eczema, Tetter, Itch or other parasitic skin troubles, a pleasant-odored ointment, known as Tetterine, containing highly effective parasite-destroying and skin-healing properties, never fails to bring quick and sure relief. MISSING LINK

Arctic Explorer Finds Import Collection Of Fossils

COPENHAGEN, Sept. 19. (INS)—Dr. Lauge Koch, veteran arctic explorer, was back from an expedition to Greenland today, the possessor of one of the most remarkable collections of Stegocephali fossils ever seen here.

The creatures, he said, had four legs and were midway between fish and frogs in evolutionary development.

Dr. Koch said he found about 5,000 fossils of Lepidosirens and Sclerodermi in Franz Joseph's fjord where they apparently had been killed by a sudden catastrophe.

He described the creatures as the missing link in the evolutionary scale between fish and frogs on the one hand and reptiles on the other.

New Census Facts Show Marriages On Decline in 1931

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19. (INS)—Present conditions have caused a number of important trends in the location and marital trends of the American people, while recent figures showed a pronounced decrease in illiteracy as compared with 10 years ago, the commerce department revealed today.

Marriages for 1931 showed a pronounced decrease while there was a strong back-to-the-farm movement. The birth rate has been decidedly down.

Farm population increased approximately 648,000 in 1931 to a total of 31,260,000.

Reports received by the census bureau for 1931 showed there were 1,060,095 marriages performed in the United States during the year, or a decrease of 6.1 per cent from 1930. In 1930 there was a decline of 8.4 per cent from 1929. Officials attributed this decline as almost entirely due to the depression with its resulting unemployment.

Dr. Brinkley Issues Debate Challenge

MILFORD, Kan., Sept. 19. (UP)—Dr. J. R. Brinkley, independent candidate for governor, today sent a telegram to Gov. Harry Woodring suggesting they meet in a public debate.

In his telegram Brinkley made reference to a charge by Thurman Hill of the Kansas Public Service commission that he is being supported by the H. L. Doherty interests.

His telegram follows:

"I request you to meet me in public debate and present your proof that Doherty is backing me financially in this campaign; also discuss the Kansas City Star's ownership of yourself and a few of the transactions of the highway department and 5 per cent war chest commissions from fathers of hungry and scantily-clothed children.

"I demand you either submit proof of Thurman Hill's charges or disavow them."

U. S. TEN CENT BILL

RANGER, Texas.—A 10-cent bill, issued by the United States government in 1874, according to inscriptions on its faded sides, is in the possession of Edwin George Jr., cashier of the Commercial State bank, here. The bill measures two by three and one-half inches.

PAINFUL PILES

Go Quick—No Cutting—No Salves

Thousands who have itching, bleeding or protruding piles have not yet learned that quick and lasting relief can only be accomplished with an internal medicine. Neither salves nor suppositories remove the cause.

Bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel causes piles. The hemorrhoidal veins are flabby, the bowel walls weak—the parts almost dead. To get rid of Piles an internal medicine must be used to stimulate the circulation, drive out the thick impure blood, heal and restore the affected parts.

Dr. J. S. Leonhardt, after years of study, found a real internal Pile remedy. He called his discovery HEM-ROID, and prescribed it for 1000 patients with success in our 900 cases, and then decided every Pile sufferer, no matter how stubborn their case, might try his prescription with a money back guarantee.

So why waste time on external remedies or worry about an operation when Allison's Drug store and all good druggists invite you to try HEM-ROID tablets with guarantee of money refunded if they do not end your Pile misery.—Adv.

U. S. MEDICAL WORK ASSAILED

Association Protests Use Of Federal Hospitals

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19. (AP)—Complaint against government hospitalization for private citizens was voiced today by William C. Woodward, representing the American Medical association, before the house committee investigating government competition.

"The federal government," he said, "is now buying medical and hospital services at the expense of the taxpayer and is giving these services free to selected persons, rich and poor, for the treatment of diseases and injuries not incurred in the line of any public duty, either civil or military, and not in the discharge of any obligation whatever owed by the federal government to the beneficiaries.

"Government competition of this character will tend furthermore to undermine the morale of the medical professions, to hinder its development and to leave the people without adequate medical service in time of need, and without adequate medical resources in case of military necessity."

The committee, headed by Representative Shannon, Democrat, Missouri, also heard Charles N. Wheeler, representing the Illinois Terminal company, recommend that the recapture clause of the interstate commerce act be repealed. Wheeler said this would release more than $300,000,000 now in disputes to the railroads.

LONGVIEW, Texas, Sept. 19. (AP)—Earl Parker, 23, of Shreveport, was dead and Albert Burton, 21, of Kilgore was in a serious condition at a hospital here today as the result of an automobile accident last night. Parker died today without regaining consciousness. His body was held here pending arrival of relatives from Shreveport.

Rear Admiral McVay Ends 46 Years Service

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19. (INS)—Rear Admiral Charles B. McVay, member of the general board, who today reached the retirement age of 64, will be detached from active duty Oct. 1.

In a letter today to McVay Secretary of the Navy Adams commended him on his 46 years of service.

CITIES REDUCE TAX RATES

BOSTON.—Nearly 100 Massachusetts cities and towns have reduced their tax rates this year from the 1931 levels.

Archer Commissioners Cut Tax Rate And Name Morrison County Attorney

Special to The Record News.

ARCHER CITY, Texas, Sept. 19.—R. S. Morrison was appointed county attorney of Archer today by the commissioners court. The court in its session today reduced the county tax rate from $1.61 to $1.08.

Mr. Morrison, who was nominated for the county attorneyship in the Democratic primary in July, will fill the unexpired term of Edwin S. Weldon, who recently resigned to engage in law practice in Wichita Falls. The appointment is effective immediately. His tenure of office will be the fifth in which he has served the county as attorney during the past 20 years. He has been elected or appointed to that post that number of times.

Reduction of the county tax rate is a continuation of the court's efforts to give tax relief in Archer. It recently reduced valuation of real estate 20 per cent of valuations of last year, reduced livestock valuations 10 per cent and slashed all county salaries 15 per cent. The latter economy measure will effect a savings of $7,500 per year to the county. Revision of valuations is a reduction of $2,000,000.

'ARGONNE DAY' IS PROCLAIMED

Sterling Asks Texans To Remember Vets

AUSTIN, Sept. 19. (AP)—Texans were reminded of their duty to contribute to the aid of disabled world war veterans in a proclamation issued by Gov. R. S. Sterling setting Sept. 24 as Argonne day.

Governor Sterling pointed out that the disabled American veterans of the world war were organized for the purpose of augmenting the work of the government "in dispensing justice and relief to these men."

"To carry on their work," the proclamation said, "they make an annual drive for funds to be used in securing aid for the disabled war veterans. This year, the drive will be held on Sept. 24, and forget-me-nots will be sold on the streets to help the American world war wounded.

After mentioning that this month marked the 14th anniversary of the Meuse-Argonne drive, "when the tide of the world war was turned," Governor Sterling said that "our great state should honor the dead by remembering the living."

Hurricane in Bahamas Kills Fourteen Persons

LONDON, Sept. 19. (AP)—Fourteen persons were killed and 60 injured in the hurricane which swept the Bahamas, British West Indies, two weeks ago, said a message received today from Gov. Bede Clifford of the Bahamas.

The governor reported the wind wrecked part of the settlement of Hopetown. Bluff Point and two smaller settlements were severely damaged.

Hearing Set Today In Negro Slaying

HOUSTON, Sept. 19. (AP)—A preliminary hearing for Joe Sebesta, 23-year-old Crosby, Texas, farmer, charged with murder in connection with fatal shooting of an unidentified negro man last night, will be held tomorrow at Goose Creek.

Justice J. E. Flowers returned an inquest verdict of "death from gun wounds inflicted by Joe Sebesta."

Sebesta told officers he had missed clothing from his home a few days ago and afterward found some of the clothing hidden in his corn field. He said he had been watching the spot to see who came for the stolen articles.

He said the negro approached the clothing, that he (Sebesta) told him to stop, and the negro started to run away.

Sebesta was freed on a $1,000 bond.

Two Suspects Held In South Texas Slaying

GANZALES, Texas, Sept. 19. (AP)—Two men were held today in the Caldwell county jail in connection with the slaying of Charles Harris here Saturday night. Gonzales county officers planned to bring them here for questioning. Harris was shot after he and two friends had been ordered to raise their hands as they turned a street corner.

PORTION OF 101 RANCH IS SOLD

U. S. Land Bank Forecloses On Mortgage

PERRY, Okla., Sept. 19. (UP)—Less than a score of farmers and townsmen stood at the courthouse steps here this afternoon and saw the first slice of the famous 101 ranch sold over the auction block to satisfy the claims of creditors.

The Federal Land Bank of Wichita, Kan., the only bidder, paid $27,-694.52 for 1,160 acres. Sheriff Isham quickly disposed of the property with a rap of his gavel after waiting a few moments for other bids which were not forthcoming.

The sale included three foreclosures, secured last January by the Federal Land Bank of Wichita, today's successful bidder, on three loans of $11,300, $10,408 and $7,151.

The purchase brought a sharp comment by former Gov. Henry S. Johnston, attorney for Col. Zack Miller who with his brothers and father founded the Inland empire of 101,000 acres half a century ago.

"It does seem strange, indeed, that the Federal Land bank, operating under the government's asserted policy of aiding the farmers to keep their property free from foreclosure threat should step in and as the only bidder buy the land at their own foreclosure sale," the former governor said.

"But I guess nothing can be done about it. Technically, they were within their rights."

Johnston had attempted to block the sale. Two previous sheriff's sales in Kay county had been stopped by court order. Another sale of land in this county, Noble, is scheduled on the ranch property known as the Bar L Sept. 26.

Before today's auction, Johnston had asked discharge of Fred C. Clark as receiver for the 101 ranch, alleging "gross mismanagement" on the part of the former Pittsburgh Pirate baseball team manager.

Robbery Trial At Fort Worth Opens

FORT WORTH, Sept. 19. (AP)—The state and at least one defendant have announced they will be ready tomorrow for the trial of three men charged with the robbery of a Stock Yards National bank messenger last year.

The attorney for Barney McGanegal, brought here recently from the state penitentiary where he is serving a life sentence for murder, said he would be ready for trial.

Others charged with the hold-up of Jere Green Aug. 10, 1931, are Andrew Jack Jones, also in jail here, and James Henry Johnston, at liberty under bond.

Green was robbed of $1,800 cash and $18,000 in cashier's checks by three men who forced his automobile to the curb and grabbed his money satchel. McGanegal later was convicted of the slaying of John Cherris in Houston.

THE FALL OF CONSTANTINOPLE

"Nature in the Raw"—as portrayed by Thomas Webb . . . inspired by the savage slaughter of 5000 Christian defenders—at the hands of the vengeful, barbaric horde of 250,000 men under the ruthless Mohammed II—1453!

—and raw tobaccos have no place in cigarettes

They are not present in Luckies . . . the mildest cigarette you ever smoked

WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.

Floral Heights Methodist Women Study Great Causes

"Finding God in Great Causes," and "China's Forward Movement," furnished interesting topics for study by members of the Floral Heights Methodist Woman's Missionary society which met in circles Monday afternoon.

Mrs. O. W. Harvey, assisted by Mesdames Irene Swain and Betty Dolman, was hostess to members of circle one and the meeting was opened with devotionals by Mesdames A. H. Freeman and C. W. Clark. Mrs. T. J. Waggoner offered prayer, and Mrs. T. L. Myers led the song service.

Mesdames R. B. Bridges and R. B. Featherston gave talks on China, and in the business session reports were given by Mesdames P. S. Richardson, J. M. Hendricks, R. E. Bridges and T. J. Waggoner.

In the social session readings were given by Barbara Richardson and Dorothy Jo Brown.

Refreshments were served to 21 members.

Circle Two

Mrs. T. F. Hunter was hostess to members of circle two at her home, assisted by Mrs. T. S. Mabry. Mrs. Hunter opened the meeting with prayer, and Mrs. Milton Johnson gave the impressive devotionals on the topic, "Finding God in Great Causes."

Mrs. G. Wayne Barker gave the devotional solo, and Mrs. Mabry gave the Scripture reading. Mrs. Barker gave the leaflet, "China's Forward Movement." Mrs. Herbert Gray, chairman of the program, introduced Dorothy Jo Brown who gave a reading. Mrs. Will Gray gave a vocal number accompanied at the piano by Mrs. W. C. Hamilton, who also played a piano number.

Refreshments were served to 15 members, and to Mesdames W. C. Hamilton, Will Gray, J. M. Brown, and W. F. May of Florida, guests.

Circle Three

Mrs. Ed Peterson was hostess at a delightful meeting of circle three at her home in Indian Heights when Mrs. Horace Langford, the chairman, led the lesson. Mrs. Leon Deaton, program chairman, introduced Mrs. R. J. Claypool, who gave the devotional from the book of Matthew and also read an article from the Missionary Voice.

Mrs. Leon Deaton gave the bulletin news, and Mrs. D. M. Puckett talked on "The Forward Movement in China." Mrs. W. C. Chapman discussed the changed conditions in China today and Ruth Billingsley played two violin numbers, accompanied at the piano by Juanita Ferguson.

Mrs. T. R. Boone, the treasurer, gave a splendid financial report and stated that good collections have been made on the pledges. The social service work included a cookie and jelly shower to be given the day nursery for Friday.

During the social hour, a salad plate was served to 10 members and three guests.

Circle Four

Mrs. Austin F. Leach, assisted by Mrs. W. L. Riddles, W. S. Curlee and C. C. Piper, was hostess to members of circle four. The chairman, Mrs. J. O. Presley, was in the chair in the business meeting when Mrs. W. J. Stuckler led in group singing. Sentence prayers were opened by B. J. Stone and closed by Mrs. Stuckler.

Mrs. E. A. Carter gave the devotional, using as her theme, "Teaching for Christians," and closing her talk with prayer.

Regular business followed the roll call, Mrs. Grady Payne reading the minutes of the June meeting and Mrs. Stuckler giving the finance report.

Mrs. Val Land read a leaflet on "China," after which Mrs. Earl Stuckey gave the social service report.

Announcements were made as follows: School of missions for women of district at Forum clubhouse, Thursday, by Mrs. Austin Leach; chicken supper at Grant street Methodist church Friday evening, Mrs. J. O. Presley and a rummage sale to be held by the circle Saturday.

Mrs. A. B. Short gave a group of songs, accompanied by Mrs. R. A. Sanders and Mrs. C. A. Reynolds was received as a new member.

Mrs. Val Land gave the closing prayer, dismissing 22 members and one visitor.

Circle Five

Mrs. Chris Helmcamp was hostess to members of circle five at her home on Beverly drive and Mrs. Murrell Hooper opened the meeting with song, followed by sentence prayers. The devotional was given by Mrs. O. M. Reeves who took the theme from John and after the Lord's prayer said in unison, Mrs. Hooper sang "Hark the Voice of Jesus Calling."

Interesting reports from committees were read and an inspiring paper on "Spiritual Cultivation" was read by Mrs. F. H. Corbin. K. C. Spell Jr. gave two readings during the social hour and a final plan was for a candy sale to be held downtown during the golden jubilee.

Mesdames Murrell Hooper and Cochran were joint hostesses and served delicious refreshments to 15 members after an interesting paper on work of the church in China by Mrs. S. E. Trevathan and bulletin news by Mrs. M. C. Batey.

Circle Six

Members of circle six met at the home of Mrs. E. V. Friberg with Mrs. S. M. Gose assistant hostess. Mrs. John Taylor gave the devotional and Mrs. Friberg the opening prayer.

Splendid reports were made in the business session and an interesting program followed.

Mrs. C. C. Parfet talked on "China Travels Forward"; Mrs. Ralph Pond on "In China," and Mrs. M. E. Faulk on "The Methodist Episcopal Church," and "China's Forward Movement."

Mesdames Loran Taylor and Fay Hardeman gave the bulletin news. Delicious refreshments were served to 12 members and one guest.

Grace Methodist Women Have Meeting

Mesdames D. A. Allen and E. C. Baker were joint hostesses at the home of Mrs. Allen to members of the Grace Methodist Woman's Missionary society Monday afternoon.

The meeting was opened with a song, after which Mrs. W. Roberts gave the devotionals on the topic, "Dealing With the Little Ones." Mrs. Baker, president of the society gave a talk of interest to the group, and Mrs. N. Manoushagian, gave the treasurer's report.

Mrs. Roberts closed the lesson with prayer, and Mrs. Hal Shirey gave a reading entitled "It All Depends."

Seventeen members were dismissed with the Lord's prayer.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

A group of girls not accustomed to horses went parading horseback Saturday, wearing sombreros and bandanas—with, of course, other incidental garments. On Sunday most of them had various aches and pains.

◇

But cowboy or wild west or jubilee paraphernalia—call it what you will—will take all the available space on Wichita Falls streets, probably for the week; what a blessing (we hope), for the merchants. Bandanas must be sold galore and the chain stores will come in for their part because various agents are wearing magnificent diamonds (10 cents) to hold aforesaid kerchiefs in place.

◇

Members of the Floral Heights Methodist Woman's Missionary society are making old-fashioned calico gowns and slat bonnets to order. Should a heavy norther come, we fancy the slat bonnets will come in gloriously. But when it comes to gowns in the styles of some 50 years ago, unless women mean to suffer for the cause, we would ask, "Where, oh where are the waist lines of yesterday?"

◇

There's a man in our office who speaks of female relatives who used to hang corset strings over bed posts and heave, ho, until they had reduced to the proper size. We've never seen that done, but do know that the only figures admired some 30 years ago were those called hour glass figures.

◇

We remember quite well female relatives who assisted one another in making waists come close to an approximate 18-inch circumference, and who whispered mysteriously over wads of tissue paper that made inadequate busts the proper measurement. That was the day of quince juice ringlets round the forehead. And by the way, what will our permanently waved persons of today—or the bobbed females of today, do about their hair in the golden jubilee?

◇

It was somewhat later, some years before mannish figures came in, that an inflated rubber bosom was put on the market. (It was only whispered about in that era.) But we had an aunt who wore one and we remember well the day upon which one side had a blowout. It was wicked to laugh, but we believe the saints have forgiven us.

◇

It is not so now; there are no 18-inch waists. Those gorgeous hips that used to swing the latest fashion are reduced by every method known to modern science. Some women sweat all summer long in rubber corsets. Hips and tummies grow, it seems, just as a woman reaches the time of the middle-aged spread.

◇

Diet follows upon diet and one cure succeeds another; pounds go, and return. We had a friend tell us she had reduced her tummy by swimming, but pools, alas, are not equipped in Wichita Falls for swimming all year round.

◇

Those are happy women who meet middle age with their heads in the air and the courage of their age. After all, nature, when it is not varnished and whitewashed and painted, has its own lasting charm. Poise and dignity are often acquired by women who spent unsatisfied youth striving for the proper appearance.

Crockett Executive Board Plans Work

Reports given by each member of the Crockett school executive board at the school Monday morning brought an interesting outline of the year's work. In the business session, the resignation of Mrs. S. Fagadau as publicity chairman was accepted and Mrs. Curt Buddrus was elected in her place. The school voted to cooperate in the sale of tickets for the golden jubilee, the funds to go to their athletic fund.

Announcement was made that the Camp Fire Girls will be in charge of the nursery at the school Tuesday and for all the season's meetings, so that mothers with small children will be able to come to the meetings and feel the children are in safe care.

The announcement of the opening P.-T. A. meeting was given as follows: Dr. Nat F. Grafton, devotional; president's speech, "The School of Tomorrow," Mrs. Grover C. Johnson; musical numbers furnished by the school faculty; lecture, "Health," Dr. A. F. Leach; greetings from Miss Ida Moore, who will introduce the teachers.

The executive board and the hospitality committee, Mrs. J. C. Mytinger, chairman, will be hostesses.

Those present Monday were Mesdames Grover C. Johnson, J. C. Mytinger, Grover C. Bullington, C. P. Warman, Charles Crowell, Clyde Winfrey, Ethel Allen Nelson, T. P. Lynch, Shadie Hale and Miss Ida Moore.

First Methodist Younger Women Organize Circle

Organization of a young women's circle of the First Methodist Woman's Missionary society, was perfected at an enthusiastic meeting held at the home of Mrs. Sam Man on Tilden street Monday afternoon, with Mrs. Wayne Somerville, president of the society in charge.

Mrs. Man was elected circle leader, and Mrs. Jozach Easley, assistant. Other officers will be appointed later.

Mrs. Easley, the program chairman, gave the devotionals on the topic, "Finding God in Great Causes," after which Miss Martha Johnson gave a piano solo. Miss Mary Louise Staley gave the topic, "M. E. Church, South, and China's Forward Movement." The bulletin news was given by several members of the circle, after which Mrs. Somerville gave an impressive talk on "Christian Stewardship." Mrs. Sterling Crumpler gave a reading.

Charter members of the circle are Mesdames Sterling Crumpler, Earl Denny, C. E. Mangum, J. S. Minton Jr., Earl W. Lewis, Howard Bunch, Gus Hecht, Darrold Kahn, Ben Howle, Lloyd Taylor, Jozach Easley, C. A. Spragins Jr., G. F. Sibert, Sam Man, Wayne Somerville and Misses Jane Moore, Ruth Downing and Mary Louise Staley.

Methodist W. M. S. Will Hold Mission School

Methodist Woman's Missionary societies of the city will open a day's school of instruction for the district at the Woman's Forum clubhouse at 10 o'clock Thursday morning. Mrs. R. V. Walker of Dallas, conference superintendent of mission study and Mrs. C. L. Bounds, superintendent of study in the Wichita Falls' district, will be in charge and will outline the course of study for the year.

Mrs. Austin Leach and other conference officers will be present.

Missionary societies of the city are asked to attend and officers of the various societies are given an especial invitation.

Missionary society members will make reservations with Mrs. W. W. Cook, 1703 Lucile, phone 6073, or Mrs. Ruth Aiken Kirksey, forum hostess, 7230, for reservations at the luncheon.

All Day School Held At Lory Memorial

Members of the Lory Memorial Baptist church met at 10 o'clock Monday morning for an all-day school of instruction, when the devotional was given by Mrs. L. W. McCulley, followed by song and prayer by Mrs. O. C. McWhirter.

Mrs. A. J. Catlin of the Lamar Avenue Baptist church took charge teaching from the book, "Things We Should Know." Mrs. John Brownlee, district president, announced the duties of that office and Mrs. J. M. Tanner gave the prayer preceding luncheon.

In the afternoon meeting, Mrs. A. J. Catlin gave the devotional and Mrs. G. E. McCulley the prayer. Mrs. A. M. Rose explained the duties of the mission chairman. A talk was given by Mrs. J. M. Tanner on young people's chairman's work.

Mrs. W. B. Allison gave the closing prayer, dismissing 18 members.

First Methodist W.M.S. Has Special Programs

Members of the First Methodist Woman's Missionary society met in circles Monday with interesting reports and unusual lesson themes. Mrs. J. J. Perkins was hostess to members of circle three when Mrs. Jason Walker presided. Mrs. Q. B. Lee gave the inspiring devotional on "Finding God in Great Causes," after which Mrs. Stanley M. Raub sang a hymn, "Oh Master, Let Me Walk With Thee," with Mrs. J. O. O'Brien accompanying.

Mrs. R. F. Ligon gave the topic "China's Forward Movement," and Mrs. J. J. Perkins gave the bulletin news.

Special musical numbers were sung by Mrs. Stanley M. Raub with Mrs. O'Brien accompanying; "The Old Refrain," and "Sunbeams."

A delightful refreshment plate was served to 16 members and two guests, Mesdames Richardson and R. J. Brown.

Circle Six

Mrs. W. W. Silk was hostess to members of circle six with Mrs. W. A. Mangum assistant. The meeting was opened with unusual enthusiasm for the autumn work.

Mrs. R. W. Morrow, leader, presided over the business session which was opened with a song, "In the Garden," and the inspiring devotional by Mrs. F. C. Carter on the subject, "Finding God in Great Causes." The mission topic, "How the Christian Religion Has Influenced Foreign Countries" was given by Mrs. Silk and the bulletin news by Mrs. Ralph De Shong.

Mrs. Omar Barker gave two clever readings, "The Land of Beginning Again," and "The Rural School."

Members answered the roll call with stories of social service work done in the summer and refreshments were served to 12 members and one guest, Mrs. Omar Barker.

Circle Seven

Mrs. J. T. Harrell was hostess to circle seven with Mrs. R. L. Underwood, assistant circle leader presiding. Mrs. Wayne Somerville gave the devotionals, and during the business session plans were made for an all-day party and luncheon for October.

Fall and winter work was also discussed. During the social session, Miss Mary Harrell played a piano number and refreshments were served to 14 members.

"Luella, keep your hands out of that pan. I do wish you would learn to keep yourself out of my business."

Luella, aged 3, ruefully took her fingers out of the dough. "I want to make a cake, too, mother. Let me make a cake, too."

"Now clear out like a good child. Mother is in a hurry. This isn't cake. Now run along like a good child and by and by mother will take you to the store to buy the groceries."

Luella obediently went, seated herself on the doorsill and waited with what patience her 3-year-old spirit could muster until the biscuits were in the oven. "Could I have the pieces, mother? Let me make some out of the pieces, please."

"Once for all, Luella. When I say 'no' I mean, no If you are a bad girl I'll leave you at home. I'm too busy to be pestered. Go and play with your own things."

Luella had none of the things she wanted to play with just then. She needed a table, some dough, a rolling pin, a pan, a stove, a dishpan, soap, water, towels. She wanted a miniature housekeeping outfit. She wanted to play at being mother. Her wish was instinctive and it should have been gratified. Many a busy mother has broken off a bit of dough, cleared a place on the table by her, and helped her little daughter make her first pan of biscuits. It has been done without any other equipment than the end of the kitchen table and the lid of a baking powder box. If it can be done with the complete housekeeping outfit of course there is an added thrill and consequent inspiration.

I believe that the best kind of toys for children are those that let them do the things grown people are doing. We do not give the children credit for half the intelligence and power they control. If we let up on the infancy idea a little, and let ourselves and the children go a bit on the adult idea more things would improve on both sides.

Teach the children to help. The idea that he is helpful sets a child's mind in a healthy attitude and that reflects upon all he does and upon all he is. Helpful children never complain because nobody wants them around, because nobody gives them anything to do, because they don't know what to do or where to go. They are always certain of a welcome, certain of a job, sure of a good time.

I would like to give children the things to help with so that even when they feel no desire to be helpful they are inspired to get to work. Wheelbarrows are AA for this. So are spades, rakes, brooms, carpet sweepers, doll prams, kitchen outfits, the more complete the better, tool chests, first class tools, wagons, materials for work of all sorts.

Give a child an idea that he is helpful and you start him on a course of activities, on a level of achievement, in an attitude of mind, that will insure him success.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, inclosing stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

PEACH SEEDS MAKE FRUIT

CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa.—Six years ago C. H. Graham threw a handful of peach seeds from a window into his garden—more to get rid of them than anything else. His crop this year consisted of two peaches, both more than 11 inches in circumference.

First Christian Loyal Daughters Have Luncheon

Members of the Loyal Daughters class of the First Christian church met for the first of the autumn luncheon and business meetings Monday at the church. Mrs. W. R. Duke gave the invocation and Mrs. Frank Harrison, president of the class, presided in the business session.

Mrs. Gage McDermett told in an interesting manner of the summer activities of the class and the treasurer's report, given by Mrs. J. E. Duke, was encouraging in the face of the autumn and winter work.

Mrs. W. R. Duke, chairman of the nominating committee, reported the slate named and the following officers were elected by acclamation: Mrs. Gage McDermett, president; Mrs. Chester Wynne, vice president; Mrs. J. E. Duke, secretary; Mrs. Clark Wilcox, treasurer.

Mrs. J. Lem Keevil, the much loved teacher of the class, made an inspiring talk on the season's work, explaining the work outlined by the Sunday school superintendent for them.

Tables where covers were laid for 40 class members and three visitors were lovely with the brilliant colors of autumn flowers.

Guests included Mesdames J. W. Pond, L. B. Cummings and Albert Pattillo.

Bowie P.-T. A. Will Meet Wednesday

The Bowie Parent-Teacher unit will meet for the first time in the autumn season at 2:30 o'clock Wednesday. An interesting program has been arranged for the meeting on the theme of "Health" on which Mrs. Frank Holmes, nutritionist and cafeteria director for the city schools, will speak on cheap, wholesome and well balanced meals for children.

Mrs. Holmes will also write a list of practical menus for members who desire to have a copy.

A devotional led by Mrs. R. A. Yeager will open the program and a short speech of greeting and introduction of the teachers will be given by W. E. Walker, principal.

Following the talk by Mrs. Holmes, a business session will be held during which plans for the coming year will be discussed. The meeting will close with an enjoyable social hour.

Brazil Missions To Be Aided By Lamar Circles

Members of the Lamar Avenue Baptist Woman's Missionary Union met in circles Monday afternoon for business sessions and mission study lessons. Mrs. L. G. Greer was hostess to circle one and gave the devotionals, and the meeting was opened with prayer by Mrs. H. C. Haynes. Mrs. C. E. Roberts presided at the business session when officers were elected as follows: Mrs. D. B. King, co-chairman; Mrs. W. L. Garner, personal service chairman; Mrs. L. C. Greer, periodical chairman; Mrs. E. A. Turner, mission chairman; Mrs. W. L. Garner, mission study chairman; Mrs. Solon Harvick, floral chairman; Mrs. R. M. Lay, social chairman; Mrs. A. V. Hibler, stewardship and industrial chairman; Mrs. H. C. Glazener, educational; Mrs. D. H. Whitaker, Bible, and Mrs. F. C. Childers, benevolent.

Mrs. D. H. Whitaker taught the Bible lesson and Mrs. Glazener gave the closing prayer.

In the business session plans were made to send something to the rescue home in New Orleans, and to visit the hospitals Thursday for the personal service work. The circle also planned to meet one day and sew for a gift shop in Brazil and every one was urged to bring their pledge for the Baylor endowment fund.

There were 10 present.

Circle Two

Mrs. D. Nash was hostess to members of circle two when the session was opened with the devotional by Mrs. O. H. Wood. Mrs. R. C. Milford offered prayer after which Mrs. E. F. Moore presided at a brief business session in which plans were made to present the church with a surprise gift, and also to present a gift to a member in the hospital.

Mrs. Moore also taught the Bible lesson and there were 11 members and one visitor, Mrs. R. C. Smith, present.

Circle Three

Mrs. D. W. West was hostess to circle three and after a brief business session in which it was planned to make a quilt for a missionary in Brazil, Mrs. Beulah Rawls taught the Bible study.

There were 11 members and one visitor present.

Circle Four

Members of circle four met at the home of Mrs. W. D. Wood when Mrs. J. P. Vinson gave the opening prayer and the Bible lesson was studied in unison.

In the business session plans were made for the Royal Service program to be held the first Monday in October. Plans for visits to the county farm were made as personal service work.

Mrs. J. L. Powell Jr., gave the closing prayer, dismissing 14 members, one new member, Mrs. W. L. Hull and one visitor, Mrs. Jerry Vinson.

Circle Six

Mrs. T. P. Walker was hostess and gave the opening prayer after the devotional by Mrs. V. M. Tillerson who presided in the business meeting.

The group voted to have a called meeting Friday at the home of Mrs. Walker when they will make gifts for their returned missionary from Brazil. Mrs. G. A. Stanley was recognized as the new circle chairman and plans for the week of prayer program were planned for October.

Mrs. T. R. Walker taught the Bible lesson and an ice course was served to eight members. Mrs. J. J. Boseman gave the closing prayer.

First Presbyterian Women Have All Day Joint Meet

The Book of John featured the joint meeting of the First Presbyterian Woman's Missionary society and Lucy Hansell society Monday at the church, with Mrs. B. L. Fain, president of the Woman's Missionary society, presiding and opening the meeting with prayer.

Mrs. H. B. Patterson announced the organization of a new circle in the church which has been perfected in the Westminister guild, a young woman's organization, of which Miss Dorothy Lindsey is president.

The lesson for the day was given by Mrs. W. M. Priddy from the Book of John, the beloved disciple. Mrs. Priddy told the story of John's wonderful intuition, his intimacy with Christ during his life and his devotion until death. The disciple's love for Christ's mother was beautifully described by the speaker. Several points were emphasized by Mrs. Priddy, among them that the gospel of John is considered the most important book of the Bible, called the gospel of mystery, love and faith. The book was written to the Christians, she said, and the purpose of the author was to emphasize for all the fact that Christ was the Son of God.

She brought out in her lesson that law came from man but grace came through Jesus Christ. Her lesson was closed with a beautiful prayer.

At noon Mrs. A. H. Mahaffey sang "The Voice in the Wilderness." Lunch was served by circle three at tables prettily decorated with autumn flowers. The invocation was given by Dr. Geo. P. Horst.

There were 65 members present who spent the afternoon sewing for overseas work.

Wilson Memorial W. M. S. Has Circle Meetings

Members of the Wilson Memorial Methodist church met in circles Monday studying the topic of the Methodist church in China. Mrs. Lloyd Collins was hostess to members of circle one when the meeting was opened with prayer and song.

Mesdames A. J. Burndt and C. J. Smith gave the lesson topic and Mrs. A. M. Davenport gave an interesting report from the Missionary Voice. An interesting lesson on the life of Jesus was given as a devotional by Mrs. Martin.

Mrs. Ernest Owens was in charge of the business meeting when reports were heard. The social service report showed 70 sick calls, 26 social calls, nine telephone calls, four flowers and one tray. The group planned to make a quilt Oct. 6 and decided to continue the love offering.

The meeting was closed with prayer and a dainty plate was served to nine members and one visitor, Mrs. W. L. Dea, who was showered by the group.

Circle Two

Mrs. L. W. Calloway was hostess to members of circle two at her home Monday in a monthly social meeting.

Following the opening song, sentence prayers were given by all members present.

Mrs. Ben Bell was in charge of the interesting program on China when papers were given on the "Methodist Church in China," the "Hemming of the Seamless Dress in China" and "So Seek and Sow That Which Is Lost." Miss Calloway talked on "The McIntyre School" and Mesdames F. K. Brown, R. E. George and J. L. Arnold discussed "Finding God in Three Great Causes."

In an all-day business meeting, plans were made for an all-day meeting at the church and the dedication prayer was given by Mrs. J. W. Thomas after which delicious refreshments were served to 13 members and one visitor.

Mrs. Perley Hostess To Baptist Circle

Members of the First Baptist Woman's Missionary society, circle one, met at the home of Mrs. G. P. Perley on Eleventh street Monday afternoon, Mrs. J. E. McKinney gave the devotionals, and Mrs. R. M. Jones offered prayer. Mrs. Ewing Esell gave the mission study lesson.

There were nine members present.

COURT HEARS BANDIT CASE

Montgomery on Trial In Roadside Robbery

Trial of Louis Montgomery, charged with robbery of a young couple on the Seymour road last June 3, was begun before Judge P. A. Martin in the 89th district court Monday afternoon. After two witnesses had been examined, the court recessed until 9 a. m. Tuesday.

L. D. Jones, an employe at the Wichita Falls state hospital for the past several years, took the stand first for the state to describe his having lost more than $12 and an automobile when held up by two men about three miles west of this city on the Seymour road about 9:30 p. m. on June 3.

Money and Car Taken

The witness said he sat near the highway in his car, talking with the girl who became his wife on the following day, when the two men appeared and covered him with a pistol. Both he and the girl, he said, were forced at the point of the gun to accompany the bandits to the foot of a nearby bluff, where the money allegedly was taken from Jones' pocket. While one robber kept them covered with the gun, the witness said, the other took possession of Jones' car, and turned it round. Both bandits then drove away in the victim's car, going toward Wichita Falls, according to the testimony.

Jones scrutinized the defendants closely and declared to the jury that "he looked mighty like the man" who took possession of the Jones car. He declined to make the identification positive, while declaring his firm belief that the defendant was the man.

Barney McGee, deputy constable at Petrolia, testified that on the morning of June 4, about 7:45 o'clock, he saw the defendant at Petrolia seated in a car which answered the numbers and description of the Jones car as reported to the sheriff's office here.

Burk Boys Plead Guilty

Olin and Floyd Davlin of Burkburnett, brothers, entered pleas of guilty to charges of assault to murder, and were given five-year suspended sentences after a hearing which consumed most of the morning session.

Charges against the two boys resulted from a fight at a country dance July 27 near Burkburnett. As the result of a quarrel, Alva Swan, also of Burkburnett, was struck over the head with an automobile spring leaf. Critically injured, he remained in the hospital for some time, and eventually lost the sight of one eye as a result of the injuries received. Ned McDaniel represented the two defendants in the petition for suspended sentences.

The case of R. B. Nichols, charged with second offense robbery, was continued to Oct. 10 because of the absence of material witnesses. Trial of H. A. (Blondy) Hight on a charge of car theft was continued to Oct. 10 for like reason.

Reward Offered For Recovery of Drill

A reward of $10 was posted by the Wichita Falls Tent and Awning company, 605 Burnett, for recovery of an electric drill taken from the company building in a burglary Sunday night, according to a report filed with police Monday.

Officers also were asked to aid in locating a suit and extra pair of trousers taken from F. E. Legge's home, 1100 Bluff, during the past 30 days. The clothing was missed Monday.

Last Services Held For Pioneer Rancher

Funeral services for J. J. Haigh, 99, of Tulsa, Okla., were held in that city Monday. Mr. Haigh was an uncle of Mrs. J. T. Montgomery of this city. He resided in Wichita Falls between 1890 and 1907 and was a pioneer ranchman and merchant. He was fatally injured last week in an automobile accident.

DEATHS

E. B. WILEY

Funeral services for E. B. Wiley of Frederick, Okla., were held in that city Monday afternoon. Mr. Wiley, a former Wichita Falls business man, died Sunday after an extended illness. Survivors include the widow and two children, a sister and four brothers.

MRS. MAUDE WARNOCK

Funeral services for Mrs. Maude Warnock, 72, of Wichita Falls, were held Monday afternoon at Alvord, Texas, her former home. The body was taken overland by the Dalton-Powell Funeral home and the Rev. L. S. White, First Church of Christ pastor here, officiated. She died Sunday morning at the home of a daughter, Mrs. R. T. Taylor, 1407 Taylor, where she had made her home for 12 years. Three daughters and five sons survive.

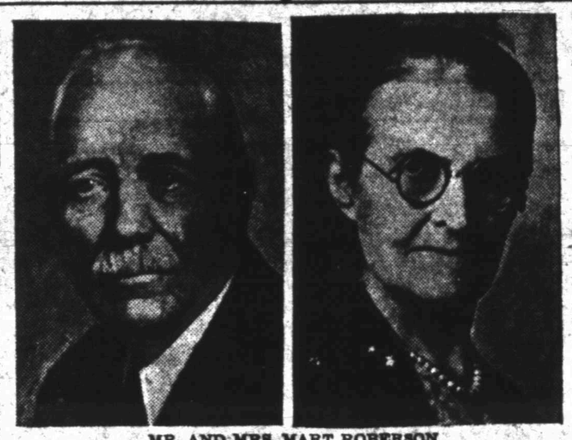
Mart Roberson, Rider Of Range For Half Century, Recalls Great Cattle Drives Of Early Days Here

Pioneer Wichita Couple Typical Of First Settlers



MR. AND MRS. MART ROBERSON

As one who ranged the open cow country of Texas more than a half century ago and who today remains active in the cattle industry, Mart Roberson of Wichita Falls is typical of the pioneers who opened the way for the modern civilization of Texas, experiencing a wide range of romance and history in the making.

Mrs. Roberson has shared in the frontier life of her husband and has the characteristic appearance of the pioneer mother and homemaker, patient, and conscious of experiences which modern civilization brands as early day hardships. Mrs. Roberson vividly recalls long periods at home, often continuing six months, when the husband and father was riding herd in broad unfenced areas of Texas and Oklahoma.

This Wichita Falls family is typical of the new scattering figures who blazed the way for today's development of the Southwest and who will be paid a tribute by their descendants during the 50th anniversary celebration here Sept. 26-28.

Mr. Roberson offers the observer an expressive picture of a successful range personality. The swish of sagebrush against horsehide and leather—a staked cow pony and saddle-pillowed head as a cowboy makes his bed where nightfall overtakes him—the ringing shouts of range companions, all come to life as Mr. Roberson speaks of his experiences.

Born Near Graham in 1859

Mr. Roberson was born at Eliasville, near Graham, in 1859, a son of pioneers who early prospected the open country seeking the room and freedom of the frontier to rear their families. The family left Eliasville at the close of the Civil war and moved to a point 20 miles south of Fort Smith, Ark., in the Choctaw Indian area.

Mr. Roberson returned to this section in 1878, a youth of 19, and went to work for the H. & N. ranch interests on Salt creek south of Olney.

Four years later, 1882, the year Wichita Falls welcomed the first train and the town lot auction was held, he accompanied Charley Akers to the immediate Wichita area to aid in fencing the Byers pasture. He directed moving in the first herd of cattle to the new pasture from the Archer county area. Mr. Roberson remained with Akers for two years.

In 1884 he joined forces with Pat Leonard in a plan to branch out in the Indian territory north of Wichita Falls, trailing a herd of 1,000 steers from Live Oak county to the new ranch site near Chickasha, Okla. Later while he was with Mr. Leonard, Mr. Roberson trailed a herd of steers to the Kansas market.

The Oklahoma territory venture proved a bad move—as Mr. Roberson expected it would in the face of a sagebrush and buffalo grass range—and the herd died out and with it his job expired.

Mr. Roberson had recommended that the cattle be allowed to drift back south of Red river to graze, but his boss wanted the herd held above the Washita river and he held them there.

Followed Cattle Across Plains

Texas, at least West Texas, was a wide open unfenced area during this period and Mr. Roberson's range duties carried him hundreds of miles from home during the roundup season. Each winter the cattle drifted south ahead of the cold weather and northers, seeking a range where the grass was unharmed by freezing.

The cowboys left their home ranch headquarters each spring—usually about the middle of March—and remained on the open range month after month until the cattle of each ranch had been cut out and started on the way home under care of other cowboys sent to meet the roundup detachment.

It was on one of these long trips that Mr. Roberson first met Jeff Waggoner, who operated a ranch in this section. Each ranch outfit sent a man along on the roundup to herd cattle on the return trip to the various headquarters. When the herds became large enough the larger ranch outfits would send after them.

The range riders followed their chuck wagon and as a rule returned each night holding the steers in one herd, or several herds, depending on conditions. The cows with calves also were taken to the home ranch where the calves were branded. The boys on the range not bothering about branding until all strays were brought in and the roundup completed, Mr. Roberson explained.

These trips frequently took Mr. Roberson and his range associates to Dublin, Texas, old Fort Griffin, and Millett's ranch. Usually the Waggoners, Burnetts or Suggs interests would send out other men to bring the North Texas herds to the home pastures.

Mr. Roberson was married in 1885 to Miss Nora Herring of Henrietta and for a year worked with the Franklin Land and Cattle company in Greer county—then a part of Texas, but now forming several Oklahoma counties. The company was an English firm and bought out Harold and Ikard brothers. Their holdings were known as the Diamond F ranch. The Diamond F cattle were held in the eastern portion of Greer county.

Mr. Roberson remained in the Indian territory for some time with the Foster, Ikard and Phelps interests, working on the company contract to furnish meat to the army units stationed at Fort Sill. The company held a contract to work the range south to the fenced portion at Red river. The Waggoner, Burnett and Suggs ranches presented a 12-mile fenced front on the river as the southern boundary of the Oklahoma range.

After leaving the territory the family moved to the Davis ranch on Turkey creek, where they resided five years. Later they moved to the L. F. Wilson ranch in Archer county, remaining for 10 years, and still later resided at Texaco.

Marries Henrietta Girl

Mrs. Roberson was born at Savannah, Tenn., and the family moved to Grayson county, Texas, when she was 4 years old. The Herrings sought additional western territory in 1879, moving to Henrietta where she met Mr. Roberson and later married him.

On the trip west the Herring family traveled from Memphis, Tenn., to Little Rock, Ark., by train. The railroad ended at Little Rock and a wagon train was formed. The emigrants had 17 wagons in the party on the trip to Sherman and the journey passed without mishap, although the party was alarmed at one time over threat of a raid by horse thieves.

Mr. and Mrs. Roberson recall the days of their youth with a great deal of pleasure and are much amused at discussions of the "wild frontier days and Indian life" by the representatives of younger generations.

She became accustomed to Indians while a young girl in Grayson county and vividly describes the colorful dress of the native women after a visit to a general store where red calico and other goods were sold in abundance.

The tribesmen frequently passed the Herring home near Sherman going to town on horseback—the women walking—and the ponies plodding along in Indian file.

In discussing customs of the pioneer period Mr. Roberson recalls the freedom with which money was handled on the range. Cattle were bought and sold in the open country with "hard" money transported in saddle bags. He never saw a check or currency until he was grown.

Plenty of Food

Locks for doors of homes were unknown and the expression, "the latch string is always out," was universally true and pantries were well stocked with food. A traveler or lone cowboy arriving at a home and failing to find the occupants present made himself at home—cooking, eating and sleeping as expected—before continuing about his business.

The cowboys and the general public were almost universally armed, but for the ranch hands the six-shooters served as much as company as for protection. The guns were handy during the long winter months for hunting and for contests in shooting for pastime.

Mr. Roberson worked on the range for a salary of $25 per month and secured his money only when it was needed. There was no reason for the frontier cowboy to carry money on long range trips as credit could be secured at any general store for tobacco or other supplies. The bill would be forwarded to the ranch headquarters, he said.

The first time Mr. Roberson returned from a six-month stay on the range after his marriage he was hardly recognized by Mrs. Roberson who recalled her hesitation until her husband reassured her. His appearance had so changed after he was deeply tanned during the long period in the open that Mrs. Roberson had to be positive before she rushed out to welcome him home, she related.

In preparation for one of the long range trips while residing on the Wilson ranch, supplies were secured from Will Nolan's general store at Holliday. A 100-pound coffee box was secured in which were packed flour, sugar, bacon, beans, and other groceries. Mr. Nolan sold eggs at 5 cents per dozen and Mr. Roberson would assist him in packing them in bran before leaving.

Witnessed Hanging of Bandits

The family was living at Holliday in 1896 when the City National bank was robbed on Feb. 25, and Cashier Frank Dorsey slain. Railroad Agent Ed Perkins at Holliday heard the message go through to Seymour over the railway telegraph, telling about the robbery and told Mr. Roberson.

Mr. Roberson accompanied Will Nolan to Wichita Falls two days later, Feb. 27, when Kid Lewis and Foster Crawford were hanged in front of the bank by a mob. Mr. Roberson stood on a corner south of the bank at Seventh and Indiana while the lynching was in progress. He recalls the gruesome scene and the huge bonfire of goods boxes that made the activity about the telephone-pole scaffold stand out.

The Wichita county courthouse was a plank structure standing near the present location of the Wichita Falls Clinic hospital when Mr. Roberson first came to Wichita Falls. He was conducting a roundup on Millett's ranch, camped on Miller creek at the time. The trip to town was occasioned when one of the ranch horses was located on a farm on Belknap creek doing service as a plow animal and was returned to the ranch by a cowboy. The farmer resented the return of the horse and filed charges against the cowboy and Mr. Roberson and Jake Avis made his bond.

Mr. and Mrs. Roberson reside at 1653 Pearl at present and have five children living.

The children are Harry Roberson of Durango, Colo., Clyde Roberson of Fort Worth, Mrs. R. H. Gracey of Oklahoma City, Mrs. Jake Avis of Wichita Falls and Miss Jennie Roberson, art supervisor in the Wichita Falls schools.

FARM LEADER FLAYS CURTIS

Vice President Ignorant Of Farm Problem, Is Charge

COLUMBIA, Mo., Sept. 19. (UP)—William Hirth, president of the Missouri Farmers association, today issued a statement flaying the agricultural record of Vice President Charles Curtis and predicting farmers will vote for Gov. Franklin Roosevelt in "avalanche proportions."

"I observe that in his recent Pennsylvania address, Vice President Curtis suggested a nation-wide cooperative as the solution of our troubled farm problem and thus has made some progress in the matter of patience since 1928 when he told an Iowa questioner that he was 'too d—— dumb' to understand his attitude upon this and other public questions at that time," said Hirth.

"Realizing that both the Republican platform and Mr. Hoover's speech of acceptance leave our farmers utterly without hope in the darkest hour they have known, Mr. Curtis is groping desperately for a new farm panacea.

"Although he hails from one of the greatest farming states, Mr. Curtis knows nothing about agriculture, nor has he heretofore concerned himself very much with its troubles. During the long struggle for the McNary-Haugen bill, we did not receive the slightest aid from him on the senate floor or otherwise."

Court Fines Pair For Affray, Displaying Gun

Two pleas of guilty were taken by Judge Irvin J. Vogel in the county court at law Monday morning, according to County Attorney Louis V. Abernathy.

Each defendant was fined $1 and costs, one for affray, the other for rudely displaying a pistol.

A charge of aggravated assault was filed Monday against a negro woman charged with having cut her sister-in-law about the neck and shoulders in an open battle Sunday night. The injured woman was said to have rushed the defendant after a quarrel had ensued, knocking the latter to the floor, and falling upon her. The knife, extracted from a purse, was brought into play as the two struggled on the floor.

Webb County Reduces Tax Rate Five Cents

LAREDO, Texas, Sept. 19. (AP)—Webb county commissioners court in recess session today decided to reduce the county tax rate 5 cents on the $100 valuation. The action fixed Webb county's tax rate for the next fiscal year at $1.10 instead of $1.15 last year. It was stated that the ambiguous wording of the highway bonds redemption act passed by the current session of the legislature, did not warrant the commissioners making a deeper cut in the rate.

Slaughter Reopens Big Mexican Ranch

LUBBOCK, Texas, Sept. 19. (AP)—Closed for two and a half years because the high tariff on cattle coming out of Old Mexico, the slaughter ranch 160 miles south of Douglas, Ariz., in Sonora, Mexico, is being opened by R. L. Slaughter Jr. of Lubbock.

Two car loads of horses for cowboys have been shipped from Lubbock and a third car will go from California. As soon as possible 2,000 head of cattle will be shipped to the ranch and stocking begun.

The ranch, which covers about 250,000 acres, is owned in fee simple by R. L. Slaughter Jr., also of Lubbock. It was opened in the then sparsely settled and bandit-infested state of Sonora in 1913.

R. L. Slaughter Jr. will be manager. He has purchased an airplane and will use it in operating the property.

Boy Scout Executives Meet Here Tuesday

Members of the Boy Scouts executive committee for the Wichita Falls area are to meet at the Wichita club Tuesday at noon to discuss the 1933 budget, Executive Frank B. Creighton announced Monday.

Mr. Creighton spent last week in a scout leaders' training encampment at Mineral Wells, at which several national executives were speakers. He announced that the national organization has set as its 1942 objective the reflection that 25 per cent of all American youths reaching their majority in that year shall each have had four years of scout work.

Woman, Hurt in Fall, Sues City for $17,500

Suit for damages of $17,500 for alleged personal injuries suffered in a fall at the corner of Sixth street and Scott avenue Aug. 6 was filed in district court Monday by Mrs. Nancy Crummer against the city of Wichita Falls.

The plaintiff, a woman of 74 years, recites that she stumbled and fell because the sidewalk allegedly was composed of irregularly shaped pieces of broken concrete. The suit was filed by Luther Hoffman and Ned McDaniel.

KESTER RITES AT 2:30 TODAY

Pioneer Citizen of Vernon Dies After Illness

Special to The Record News.

VERNON, Texas, Sept. 19.—Funeral services for M. H. Kester, 72, pioneer Vernon resident who died at his residence here Saturday night following a four-month illness, will be held at the Church of Christ at 2:30 Tuesday afternoon with Elder Guy Click officiating. Interment will be in East View cemetery.

Pallbearers will be selected by the Vernon Masonic lodge, which will be in charge of the services. Mr. Kester was a member of the Masonic organization more than 50 years.

Mr. Kester was born in Vigo county, Indiana, Aug. 13, 1859, and moved to Navarro county, Texas, in 1882. He then came to Wilbarger county in 1886, settling near Paradise creek southeast of this city. For a number of years he operated a grocery store here and later became associated with his brother, L. E. Kester, in the Kester Art company here. He was a member of that firm at the time of his death.

He is survived by his wife, three children, one grandchild, a sister and a brother. The children are Mrs. Hattie Ball of Terre Haute, Ind., Mrs. Mabel Dean of Tyler and Earl A. Kester of Tucson, Ariz. The grandchild is F. O. Dean Jr., of Terre Haute, the sister Mrs. Holloway of Bakersfield, Calif., and the brother, L. E. Kester of this city. Mrs. Ball and Mrs. Dean arrived here Monday night for the funeral.

A Washington Bystander

By KIRKE SIMPSON

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—When the next president of the United States picks his cabinet, the new secretary of state will have something to shoot at in selecting the major theme of his administration of international relations.

HENRY L. STIMSON

The three secretaries, Hughes, Kellogg and Stimson, managed successively to make individual contributions to world peace measures.

Their names are written into history on that account each for a different approach to the problem.

A Chance to Retire

Should President Hoover be reelected, it is possible, of course, that Secretary Stimson would continue at the state department, although many Washington onlookers doubt that he would care to do so.

He has served through a period of international crisis that may incline him to favor return to the relaxations of private life or, possibly, a tour of duty as ambassador in London to round out his public career.

Mr. Hughes retired to private law practice, and a commanding position among lawyers appearing before the supreme court, when President Coolidge took office in his own right at the conclusion of the Harding term he filled out.

Like Secretary Kellogg before him, Mr. Stimson is not troubled by the financial aspects of public service. He lives in Washington, and—even when he has been abroad, on assignments like that which took him to the London naval parley—in a style that betokens his freedom from financial worries.

Mr. Hughes was the only relatively poor man of the trio of postwar Republican secretaries of state, and his return to practice prior to his appointment as chief justice is reputed to have recouped his personal fortunes handsomely.

Records as Targets

Mr. Hughes had the original Washington arms conference negotiations and the five power naval treaty as his outstanding achievement.

Mr. Kellogg after hearing himself styled militarist in the senate, fathered the pact of Paris.

Mr. Stimson's administration, without question, is going to be known chiefly for his attempt to implement the Kellog-Briand peace pact and make it more than merely a peace gesture.

Out of that came the doctrine of non-recognition of sovereignty procured by force of arms to which the western world has largely subscribed. It would appear to insure Mr. Stimson of a place in history.

Texas Is Too Late With Requisition

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Sept. 19. (AP)—The state of Texas today asked Alabama for the return of a "notorious bank robber" but found itself three days late.

Requisition papers from Palestine, Texas, today asked for extradition of Ernest Gray, charged with the robbery of the Farmers and Merchants bank at Grapeland, and the Spring bank in Harris county, Texas. Terming Gray a "notorious bank robber" wanted in Louisiana, California and Illinois in addition to Texas, District Attorney T. B. Greenwood Jr. of Palestine asked Governor Miller to return him from Mobile where he is now held on federal charges.

Extradition papers for Gray's return to Louisiana, however, had been granted by Governor Miller Friday before the Texas request arrived. Gray is wanted in Louisiana for participation in the robbery of the Olla State bank of Olla, La.

The recent market slump has served notice again that the only person sure of a cleanup in Wall street is the scrubwoman.

Perhaps Mr. Raskob could tell us if that famed 60-day moratorium on debts applies to those of political parties.

Just as we expected, they've decided to quit using women in the Russian secret service.

Where Museums Fail

MUSSOLINI'S Rome is getting ready for a big celebration in the fall of 1937. That will be the 2,000th anniversary of the birth of the Emperor Augustus, and a great exhibition will be held to show precisely what Roman life was like in the Augustan period.

There will be maps, models, pictures, relics, plaster of paris displays, wax figures and so on, and the idea is that any one who sees them will know just what things looked like, on the streets and in the homes, in the Rome of the first Caesars.

It all sounds like an interesting stunt; and one is forced to wonder if, some day 20 centuries in the future, some one won't feel impelled to put on a similar exhibition showing what life in the 20th century America was like.

What features of life today will historians of a far-distant future pick out as typical, anyhow?

Beyond a doubt there will be exhibits of machinery—everything from machine tool lathes to automobiles, from movie sound cameras to submarines. There will be exhibits to show how we amused ourselves—reproductions of vast stadia, no doubt, plaster casts of baseball and football players in action, relief maps of golf courses, and so on.

Probably there will be models of big city apartment houses, models of skyscrapers, models of street cars during the rush-hour jam, models of factories, of railway yards, of steel mills, of coal mines and of lumber camps—and the folk of 3900 A. D. will peer at them, and wag their heads, and wonder how on earth we managed to live happily among such devices, and thank their stars they live in a more enlightened age.

But they probably will come no closer to getting a real understanding of everyday life in 1932 than we can come to an understanding of everyday life in the Rome of Caesar Augustus.

For the things that color the lives of people most intimately aren't the things you can reproduce in a museum. Wax models and plaster casts can't reproduce the joy that parents get from their children, or the mysterious beauty of old age, or the way two youngsters feel when they start life together in a three-room flat, or the silent heroism of unnumbered humble bread-winners.

The enduring things and the important things have to be guessed at. You can't make mechanical copies of them.

Eliminate the Slums

ONE of the biggest jobs facing the ordinary American city today is the task of eliminating its slums. Funds made available by the R. F. C. offer a splendid opportunity to begin this work in a big way—and the fact that the construction of model housing groups would provide employment for many jobless men is a strong added incentive.

These things being true, it comes as a surprise to learn that an association of landlords in a large middle western industrial city has protested sharply against the city's proposed slum elimination program. The landlords feel that the city has no right to put up new apartment houses which will compete with those already in existence.

The sheer selfishness of such a stand is dismaying, and the stupidity of it is surprising. For the elimination of slums will automatically add many dollars to the value of every landlord's property; and even if it didn't, the human need for such work is so great that no one financially interested in maintaining the status quo should be allowed to stand in the way.

Dangerous Diet Fads

THE West Virginia miner who tried to cure his asthma by going on a prolonged fast, and who finally landed in a Charleston hospital with his life in danger because of acute starvation, might well serve as an object lesson for diet faddists throughout the country.

Medical science perhaps still has something to learn about what may be done for bodily ills by fasting. Meanwhile, however, one thing is perfectly certain; the man who goes on a long fast on his own hook, without the benefit of competent medical advice, is taking a very grave risk.

This unlucky chap, trying to escape from the curse of asthma, succeeded only in ruining his health and putting his life in peril. That sort of thing is very apt to be the lot of any one who carries fasting to extremes—and the only sure way to avoid carrying it to extremes is to fast only when a reputable physician tells you to do so.

Building Points the Way

A SURVEY and forecast for the building industry in the United States during the next year, just completed by the magazine, American Architect, indicates that the great building trades are about to emerge from the depression.

The survey shows, for instance, that fully $1,750,000,000 is going to be spent during the next 12 months on new building projects and on modernization work.

"The beginning of the recovery period is here," says the magazine. "Building activity begins its steady, though slow, upward swing during the fall of 1932."

If this survey is correct, it is extremely good news. There can be no real revival without a pickup in the building industry; and, conversely, if the building industry revives, it can be expected to carry other industries up with it.

SO THEY SAY!

I believe that one of the beneficial results that will come from the painful experience of depression will be lower taxes for the people and greater efficiency and service in every phase of the government.—Senator Arthur Capper, Kansas.

WALTER WINCHELL On Broadway

(Copyright, 1932, Daily Mirror, Inc.)

Portrait of a Man Talking to Himself

Interesting tale that one dealing with libeling of Wilson Mizner by George Bronson-Howard...It was a sensation along about 1912...The diatribe appeared in the Smart Set under the title of "The Parasite," and it was repeated in Bronson-Howard's book, which was christened "Birds of Prey"...It marked the first appearance in a big way of Mizner between covers...This "Parasite" yarn created a vast amount of talk at the time—for the reason that it was a frightful castigation, and for the further reason that Wilson Bizner had collaborated with Bronson-Howard on a play called "The Only Law." The story was concentrated bitterness...Mizner was portrayed as a black mailer a fouler of women and a nefarious scoundrel...Intimates of Mizner now tell you that at the time he merely laughed at the book, considering it very comical...His opinion of his defamer was clowned this way: "Oh, he is a clever fellow. The last I heard of him he was in a sanitarium foaming at the mouth like a cream puff"...Outsiders said the book was obviously the work of a mental cripple...Insiders knew that it was a form of vengeance.

Among other things that Bronson-Howard said of this "Parasite" was that "his (Mizner's) gestures and inflections were those of one with a genuine talent for clowning" and that "the jester's family tree bore gallows fruit"; that his ambition was to lead a life of laborious ease; that his nature was a strange mixture of fear and hate, cowardice and cunning; that he had the same ability to make jests when there were curses in his heart; that he deferred to the strong and tortured the weak...Bronson-Howard then offered samples of the "Parasite's" style, such as: "A thief who couldn't steal a bunch of grass from Central Park or a handful of water out of the East river without catching icicles down his back, or a swindler who couldn't exchange a biscuit for a barrel of flour"; that so-and-so "was closer than the next second"; and that Mizner's wit was an irreverence that stopped at nothing—in brief, "a patronizing critic of the universe"...The irony of the feud was that Bronson-Howard, who threatened to ruin Mizner, committed suicide in Hollywood in 1922 in his 38th year...It was generally understood that Mizner could have "hung him"...Curiously, Mizner always spoke handsomely of him.

That new and elegant hiccupjuice place has given Broadway some of its tone again...Patterned in the manner of an extravagantly appointed movie set it is enticing the stay-out-lates who were hungry for a rendezvous...It probably will succeed because of the several secretly opened doors that have to be signalled before the patron enters the place proper...The most blase night-loafers find it all fascinating—while waiting for this attendant and that one in the various foyers to "okay" their entry...A form of theatricals, of course, but grand showmanship...A most welcome departure from the timeworn slot-in-the-door hokum...Those cinema cathedrals which are paying actors and other men-and-women-of-the-month fabulous wages to headline their theaters are packing them in, and all that, but with all the capacity houses and heavy box-office gates, they are not making a profit...The "name" attractions cost fortunes and the managers are merely losing less than they were losing...A crazy business...Never saw it to fail...I mean those lads in restaurants who squander several smackers on the quarter slot-machines, invariably are the lads who outfumble you for the dinner check.

The tale of the week I liked best was Larry Reid's about John Considine Jr., who recently inherited several hundred thousands of dollars, but he couldn't recall the name of his benefactor...Later John remembered that he went to the same college with the man, and one recess on the campus he saw a bully bulldoze him...Considine went to his aid and knocked down the tormentor—and now after all these years comes the grateful fellow's reward...And at an opportune time, too, what with the late Wall street upsets and so forth...Wonder if it is true? I mean the argument that when the Winter Garden doesn't take down its block-long sign and replace it with the movie's title and star's handle in bulbs—that it is because they don't think the current flicker is good, either...And all the time I was deceived into believing that most of the chorus boys were poofs...One of them, weary of marking time for a show job, promoted a sugary paying post managing a department of brass polishers in a factory...And he keeps hiring his comrades, who now net more coin polishing brass than they got walking around a stage with their hands on their hips.

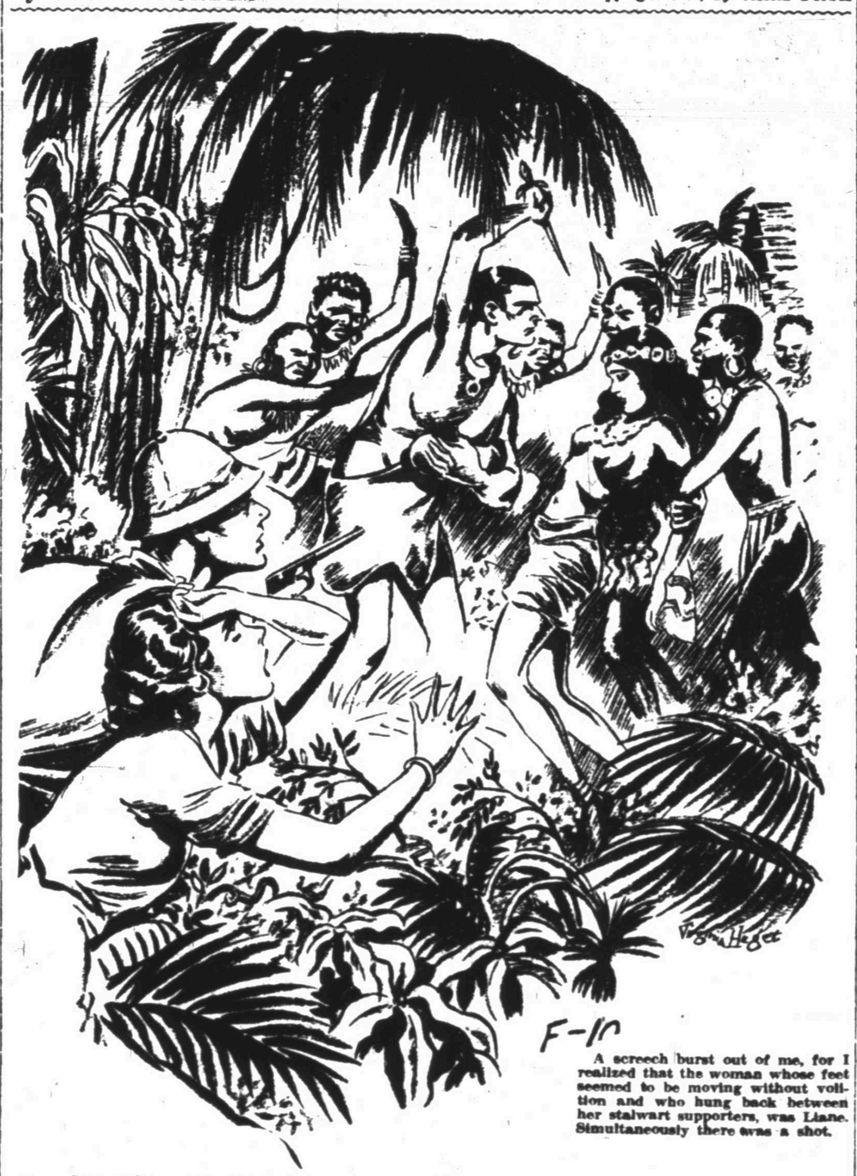
Funny bit, at that...The lobby of the 44th Street where "Ballyhoo" is the attraction doesn't feature nude photos of its darlings as do other revusical showmen...Instead framed photos of the show's stagehands are hung!...Poor Mrs. Buster Keaton...When she sued him for divorce she insisted that the settlement include Buster's recently purchased yacht...Then she offered to sell it back to him for $10,000 profit...To which the clown refused, and bought a fancier one that was originally built for Mrs. Pullman, whose husband charges all that surtax for a train berth...And now Mrs. Keaton, poor thing, has a large and costly yacht on her hands, eating its head off at San Pedro harbor—and unless she gives it away soon, will go broke trying to hold it...One of the sages said it in fewer words—There is nothing so blind as anger...He only employs his passion who can make no use of his reason...And Shakespeare observed: "Heat not a furnace for your foe so hot—that you do not singe yourself."

Mmmm, now it finally comes out Al Boasberg, an item relates, is Ben Bernie's joke-thinker-upper...No wonder I lost—he had his gang with him!...Cute kid that little Dickie Burke, who is 12...The newsreel editors would find some cute shots if they focused their cameras on him any evening about 7:30...Attired in a neat blue coat with brass buttons and a New York traffic cop's insignia on his sleeve he helps the regular officers direct or tangle up the flow at the southwest 46th Street Broadway corner...He has his own whistle, too—a regulation whistle...And the coppers are amused with him...A heavenly pastime for Dickie it is—or for any kid...His pappy is Sammy Burke, the actor, and he dwells with his parents at the N. V. A. club down the block...And mother takes him at exactly 8:40 to put him to bed—just when traffic gets thickest, dugnuit!...The newsreel editors might also get a stinging interview from the attractive Marjorie, the blond gal, one of the very few femme taxi cab pilots in town...Marjorie wears a blouse, pants, puttees and boots, and is immaculate with all that grease...The ruffland near Reuben's bang her cab and do anything to make her miserable while trying to keep her out of their lines.

Where There Ain't No Ten Commandments

By ROSITA FORBES

Copyright 1932, by Rosita Forbes



A screech burst out of me, for I realized that the woman whose feet seemed to be moving without volition and who hung back between her stalwart supporters, was Liane. Simultaneously there was a shot.

A conflict of human passion in the tropics.—A weird orgy of natives in the sugar cane country.—The planter's wife, whose beauty nearly caused her own destruction.

INSTALLMENT X

A supercilious liner landed me one vividly hot day on an island trimmed with palms. A couple of tramps laden with bananas, dozed in the harbor, but the port had disappeared altogether under a flood of bougainvillea. The purple creeper lapped over walls and roofs like a thick-scented blanket. Even the palms were daunted by its onslaught. Those that were not transformed into clothes-props by persistent tendrils, kept themselves to themselves so to speak and, exiled to a last foothold among the rocks, contrived to ignore the coat of many colors under which sprawled the town.

I spent the first night in a room balanced above the local store, where you could buy tinned foods of uncertain origin—and very certain age, huge paper umbrellas, the latest in cotton overalls, mosquito lotion, cocoanut oil and hurricane lamps. Whenever the wind scuttled round the edge of the mountains, my room shook like a jelly, for it was tilted at a peculiar angle as if the last earthquake had not quite finished with it.

The following morning, I was rescued by a planter, who said his wife would be glad of my company. He drove me in a buggy between miles and miles of sugar cane, till we came to what looked like a village and was really a homestead divided into several parts. The main building had a veranda swamped in creepers and on this, in a cane chair, was extended the most beautiful creature I ever had seen in my life.

She was as luxuriant as the flaming orange and scarlet creepers with which she was surrounded, and as unexpected as manna in Wall street! While I was alternately staring with my mouth open and blinking to be quite sure she was real, the husband, who was like a yellow teddy bear, explained to me after the manner of men. "Somebody for you to talk to—must be dull cooped up here all day—great for you to have another woman here—knew you'd be glad of a visitor!"

I never saw any one look less glad. But she made the best of it. She showed me a room which was paradise after the one in which I had spent the previous night. She acquiesced when her husband demanded drinks and she did not express any active resentment when he pointed out that there was no other steamer for a fortnight, but her eyes became secretive as well as quite unreasonably magnificent.

Ordinary adjectives are no use for describing that woman. Generally, of course, people are not like flowers or jewels or panthers or anything else to which harassed or impassioned authors compare them, but any mere orchid would have shrivelled when this impossible woman, who was called Liane, stood beside it.

I don't believe I ate any lunch. I just spilled things over the table cloth while I looked at my hostess. But I was relieved to find I was not expected to spend the afternoon with her. "My wife doesn't care for riding, but would you like to take a chukker around the place?" suggested my host.

I accepted with fervor and we left the incredible Liane wound bonelessly among cushions which were less scarlet than her unpainted lips.

Among the green of the cane, which reached above our shoulders, I tried to find out how it had happened, but my host was not very explicit. 'She's easy to look at, I'll say," was the most he vouchsafed, but his smile was so attractive that I began to feel there might be some compensation for Liane, who ought, of course, to have been the idol of Paris or pre-war Vienna.

When he took off his hat, I saw a thatch of golden hair springing out of the scalp as if it was glad to be alive and his eyes were so absurdly kind that I wondered whether Liane had difficulty in living up to them. I heard all about the production of sugar. I saw the brown syrup in vats, I was introduced to the crushing machinery and no doubt it was very interesting, but all the time I wondered what the woman made of it.

On the way back we talked of Voodoo. This is the witchcraft of the blacks which simmers most of the year as a kind of free-masonry, but breaks into occasional orgies, when the season is propitious or the overseers have been particularly exigient. My host was not communicative. "Most of the things you hear are rot," he said. "I daresay they kill a cock or two and a goat comes into it somehow, but they mostly just dance themselves sick and that's the end of it."

When we got back to the house, Liane was like a cat licking its lips after a saucer of cream. Leaning against a pillar, positively wadded with blossom, was a man as spectacular as herself, but he looked to me three parts native. So that's where she finds her compensation, I thought, and was sorry, for the lithe dark young creature who didn't take his hands out of his pockets when my host addressed him, suggested insolence and brutality.

He's very sure of himself, I thought.

"This is Mr. Nelson, my best overseer," explained my host and in an undertone, "a sulky cub, but the blacks eat out of his hand. He can do what he likes with them."

"He's one of them himself," I suggested.

"Don't tell him so," retorted my host, whom everybody called Dingo because his skin was powdered with yellow down like pollen and his great stride loped over the ground.

Sundowners were brought by a boy whose teeth made a gash in his ebony face.

"Mr. Nelson," whose English name never ceased to be a surprise to me, crumpled into a chair and Liane's eyes followed him. I looked covertly at my host, but he was apparently more interested in his pineapple cocktail than in the looks which passed between his wife and the overseer.

During the following fortnight, I had ample opportunity to study the three of them. It was obvious that Liane was obsessed by the youth who lorded it over the laborers to such an extent that it seemed he must have a greater authority than was provided by his position. But she was also afraid of him and there were moments when she seemed to cling to her husband as if he were her only chance of safety. On those occasions she would pull her chair close up to him and touch him furtively as if hoping for reassurance.

The overseer had a house on the edge of the group of buildings which I had imagined a village. It was screened with the usual brilliant creepers and beyond it was a thicket of palm-scrub.

One night, when I couldn't sleep, I went out on to the main verandah which was used as a living room. From it, I had a view of the overseer's house. Dark figures were mustering there. Presently a drum began beating among the palms. The moon was so brilliant one could have read the smallest print, and by its searchlight I watched a crowd of natives apparently dissolve among the palms.

"What on earth are they doing?" I asked my host next day.

"Full moon," he said curtly. "They are up to some sort of tommy rot and Nelson doesn't seem able to stop it."

"It isn't rot!" ejaculated Liane and her voice was so high-pitched, it sounded like a scream. "It's frightful, it's hellish, but it gets you—oh——" The last words shuddered out of her and she put her head down on her hands and bit them.

Simultaneously, Dingo was beside her and he gathered her up as if she were a child. "It's all right, old girl—don't you worry."

I left them clinging together, and over his wife's head, Dingo was staring into the crude blaze of sunlight. His mouth was grim. He knows all about it, I thought.

Next day, Mr. Nelson was not visible. The plantation was astir with the news. Even the sugar cane whispered it, but the blacks were sullen. They drew away when any of us passed and stared at us over their shoulders. The houseboys were always muttering. Their eyeballs seemed to have increased in size. It occurred to me suddenly that every one except my host was very much afraid.

Liane went about with a handkerchief rolled into a ball and sometimes she pressed it against her lips as if she would stifle something that might force its way out.

"What's happened to Mr. Nelson?" I asked Dingo at sunset.

He had drunk sufficient to break his useful reserve. "I've thrashed him to a frazzle. It'll take him a month to get about again and a year or two to forget it."

He'll never forget it, I thought.

I was due to leave next day for a trip round some of the other islands, but most unexpectedly Liane came into my room. "Don't go," she said imperatively.

"Why not? What can I do?" I asked and realized how stupid were the questions.

The woman didn't trouble to answer them. "I don't love him," she said, "not really. I thought I did, but I'm terrified of him. He's got me—there——" she closed the most beautiful hand in the world till the nails looked like blood-stains on the magnolia colored flesh. "He can have me whenever he wants and I can't get away."

Her head went back and I had a horrible idea that the long, supple throat was prepared for a knife.

"Don't do that!" I exclaimed without volition and Liane looked surprised.

"Do what?" she asked and the next moment her hands were on my shoulders. "You've got to stay," she repeated and shook me with more strength than I imagined she possessed.

So, for a whole month, I lingered on the plantation, where every single soul, black or white, seemed to be waiting for something to happen. A couple of assistants came down from one of the other es-

Q.—In poker if two flushes are held of identical cards, which suit is higher?—A. H.

A.—In poker all suits are of the same value. Should two or more hands of identical value be held, the pot is divided.

Q.—In the 18th century was there a school of medicine in New York?—C. T.

A.—In 1769, there was a school of medicine, recognized as entitled to give degrees.

Q.—What is the greatest known depth of Lake Tahoe?—M. R.

A.—This lake at the base of the Sierra Nevadas on the border of California and Nevada is about 20 miles long, 8 to 12 miles wide, having an altitude of 6,275 feet above sea level and an extreme depth of 1,650 feet.

Q.—What makes the sap run out of the bark on peach and cherry trees?—P. T.

A.—Gumosis in fruit trees is caused by a number of factors, the most important of which is winter injury. Winter injury is damage to the surface of the tree's bark caused by too quick thawing after a cold spell. This breaks the bark and may cause the sap to exude in places. The remedy is to remove carefully all portions of damaged or unsound bark and to protect the bare parts of the trunk by some preservative such as coal tar creosote.

Q.—What is the function of an actuary in a life insurance company?—W. A.

A.—He is the officer who deals with the mathematical side of the business. He computes premiums, cash and loan values, etc., and apportions dividends.

Q.—Did Lincoln kneel during the "pastoral prayer" at Dr. Gurley's church?—A. J. W.

A.—When Dr. Phineas D. Gurley offered the "pastoral prayer" Lincoln always stood. So also, did Senator Bradley.

Q.—Which industries invest the most money in newspaper advertising?—P. A.

A.—The tobacco industry leads. It is followed by the automobile industry, food industry, and toilet goods in the order named.

Q.—How high is the highest peak in the Great Smoky mountains?—M. A. G.

A.—Clingman's Dome, 6,642 feet high, is the highest peak. In their 65 miles of length, these mountains rarely fall under the height of one mile.

Q.—Is there really a Devil's island where there is a prison?—B. S.

A.—Devil's island does actually exist. It is located in a group of islands called the Iles Du Salut in French Guiana off the coast of South America. Here is located a French penal station, with administrative headquarters in Ile Royale, nearest the mainland. To the seaward is the Ile du Diable (Devil's island) noteworthy as the prison of Alfred Dreyfus, confined there in 1894-1899.

Q.—Is the blond type disappearing in America?—D. C. S.

A.—Dr. C. F. Pabst says that outdoor life and indulgence in athletics, together with the intermingling of the dark-skinned races of southern Europe with our own, will produce a brunet as the reigning beauty of the future.

Q.—Where is the largest Indian mound in the United States?—A. F.

A.—Cahokia, or Monks Mound, in southwestern Illinois is the largest prehistoric artificial earth work in the United States. It is estimated that it would have taken 1,000 men five years to build this mound. It is evident that the earth obtained to build the mound was taken from that immediate neighborhood.

Q.—What was the name of the proprietor of Jack's, famous in pre-prohibition days in New York City?—M. M.

A.—John Dunston was the owner and manager. Jack's closed its doors in 1925. In 32 years, Dunston accumulated a fortune of $3,000,000 in the restaurant. He died in December, 1927.

Q.—Did congress provide $2,000,000,000 for the Reconstruction Finance corporation to be lent to private business, banks and railroads?—I. O'H.

A.—Congress appropriated only $500,000,000 for this purpose and this sum is to be repaid. Congress authorized the corporation, itself, to borrow an additional $1,500,000,000 from the public to make such further loans as may seem necessary.

Q.—In Shakespeare's day, what were the school hours?—P. R. C.

A.—In summer, from 6 in the morning until 6 at night; in winter, from daybreak until dusk.

SHIPPERS AND LOOKOUTS PRIMED FOR DIXIE SERIES OPENER

The Rambler's Corner

By FRED THOMPSON

This Night Football

Al Parker reprinted in his sports column yesterday in the Daily Times two editorials, one from the Vernon Record and the other from the Electra Star. Both dealt with night football, which threatens to invade this district. The Vernon editorial regretted the fact that our coach had "disillusioned" Vernon fans because he is first of all out to win games, and that "lofty ideals of sportsmanship" and "lofty considerations of neighborly cooperation" seem to have "faded from the picture."

In the last paragraphs, however, the Vernon writer could not suppress his own ideas of fairness, and he admits that if the situation had been reversed, Vernon would have taken the same stand as Wichita Falls has taken. "Helping to build a neighboring city, laudable as it might be, would not hold the job for our coach," he writes. "We don't want explanations for our athletic teams; we want victories."

The Vernon writer has digested the situation thoroughly and has reached a commendable conclusion. But apparently he still clings to the graybeard notion that a coach can not win games without being a bum sport and a violent enemy of neighborly cooperation. He says with truth that every time a new coach comes to a school the papers carry glowing stories giving the coach's sentiments—"that it is the way the game is played, not whether it is won or not."

By Jupiter I think that tattered, age-old, decrepit phrase should be confined to eternal oblivion! It is a play on words, meaning practically nothing, and if it has any purpose at all, it is that it can be used against the coach the first time he attempts to act contrary to the wishes of one of his rivals. The Vernon editorial demonstrates this forcibly. As soon as Ted Jefferies refused to play Vernon at night, the Vernon editorial writer dug down amongst the spider webs and old wastepaper baskets and came up with the "sportsmanship" angle.

In the first place, when Ted Jefferies came to Wichita Falls he was one coach who ditched all the hokum and let it be known that he was not only going to play the game fair and square, but that he was out to win! If the local papers carried any quotations from Jefferies saying that he didn't give a whoop whether we won or not so long as his dear boys were nice little chappies and didn't do anything unsportsmanlike, we never heard of it. As we remember, he said that he assumed in the first place that he would be working with good sports in a district composed of good sports, and dismissed the subject forthwith. There was less "bull" in his "acceptance address" than we have heard in many a day from a football coach. And the final words in it were—"we're going into this football race with the idea of winning!"

Vernon is exactly right in assuming that a night game between the Lions and the Coyotes would place the latter at a disadvantage. And any disadvantage that the Coyotes can overcome before playing the Vernon Lions was surmounted hastily and with finality, because Wichita Falls knows all too well what kind of athletic teams Vernon has produced in the past, and it has most excellent reasons for assuming that Vernon this year is going to put a double tough football team on the field. For that reason Jefferies wants his Coyotes to meet the Lions on equal terms. The Coyotes look forward to that game as probably the hardest on their league schedule and they are going to do everything in their power to win it.

The Electra Blast

"Ike" Moore of the Electra Star took a dig at Parker, and then accused the Coyotes of being "afraid to play under the floodlights for they are going to need everything possible to keep up with Electra."

He said Wichita Falls agreed last summer to play the game at night and then later tried to squirm out of it. Well, we don't know about that. At any rate the game will be played at night at Electra. But after all, the Coyotes will only be playing Electra! We may be somewhat hasty in our conclusion, but we believe the Pack could be tucked away in bed and beat the Tigers.

Now Let's Make Up

Both Vernon and Electra desired the Wichita Falls game at night in order to draw bigger crowds and help pay for the installation of the lights. The present arrangement of playing Electra at night and refusing to play Vernon under the arcs smacks of unfairness to Vernon. But let no one blame the Coyote mentor. He opposed both deals strenuously, and the Electra arrangement in all likelihood was made before Jefferies came to Wichita Falls. Even so, he fought it up until a few days ago, when it became apparent that nothing could be done about it.

We hope both Vernon and Electra come out in the clear financially on the night projects, but we do not share their optimism in believing that night football will draw larger crowds. Night baseball is all right in the summer time, but at the spring and late season games the attendance is held down by chilly weather. And that chilly weather is turned to downright cold weather in the football season. Fans have to bundle up in red flannels as it is to see most of the day games, and most of the time there is a little sun to help them keep warm. At night it will be almost miserable for the crowd.

If this district is going in for night football, we pray that steam-heated seats are installed.

Jack Haddock of Hastings, Okla. writes: "If there is no runner on base and there are three balls and two strikes and the pitcher balks, does the batter get first base?"

No. The batsman is never awarded first on a balk.

Fort Worth Cats Beat Mexico City Nine

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 18. (AP)—The Fort Worth Panthers of the Texas league evened the series with Gallos at two-all by winning today's game, 8 to 3. The fifth and final game will be played Tuesday after which Fort Worth meets Aztecas in a five-game series.

TENSE BATTLE IS EXPECTED

Beaumont Park Sold Out For Classic

BEAUMONT, Texas, Sept. 19. (AP)—Bringing together two champions who have never won a title before, the annual Dixie series will open tomorrow in Stuart stadium with Beaumont's red-shirted Exporters, youthful victors of the Texas league race, meeting the Chattanooga Lookouts, Southern league crown wearers, in the best four games out of seven.

Because neither city ever before has won a pennant and also because both teams are quite similar in youth and dash the 1932 classic, outstanding baseball treat below the Mason and Dixon line, promises diamond competition as tense and brilliant as any in the 12 years Dixie series have been played.

Seats Sold Out

At noon today all reserved seats for the first game and two-thirds of those for the second were sold less than three hours after they were placed on sale. Seating accommodations have been provided for 9,000 and if the attendance exceeds that figure it will have to be placed on the field.

Manager Bert Neihoff, who as pilot of the Atlanta club lost to the Fort Worth Cats in 1925, brought his Lookouts into town early tonight along with 25 fans and six newspaper men. With borrowed replacements for two injured players the Noogas present a club fit in every particular for a battle which the Lookouts feel confident will give the Southern league its fourth victory out of 13 series played.

Shippers Work Out

The Exporters were put through a practice session this morning by Manager Del Baker and here, also, could be found much optimism over the oncoming clash. The Texas leaguers were inclined to believe that the play-off with Dallas, which was won with three straight victories, was perhaps a harder task than they will be called on to face in the Dixie. At least they feel certain the tension will not be there.

Manager Baker tonight was undecided who of his squad of 20 would be benched to get under the 17-player limit. Since final decision is not required until tomorrow morning an announcement will not be forthcoming until then although it is believed certain that Pete Fox, leading hitter of the league, will not be among those listed even though his injured ankle is almost healed.

There was a possibility that the Beaumont club would request the services of Homer Peel, Houston outfielder, should a slight re-injury to Fred Tauby's knee Saturday night prove bothersome but the little center fielder was in the workout today as spry as ever making it probable that the Exporters will wage their fight with their own men.

Neither pilot had decided on his starting pitcher. Chattanooga's choice seems to lie between Alex McColl and Clyde Barfoot, both experienced right-handers, while Beaumont undoubtedly will send either Art Herring or Izzy Goldstein to the mound. Southern league umpires to participate in the series are Bill Brennan and Steamboat Johnson, while Zigky Sears and Steve Basil are the Texas arbiters.

Crowell Nine Defeats Estelline Club, 14-10

Special to The Record News.

CROWELL, Texas, Sept. 19.—The Crowell Baseball club took a hard fought slugging match from the Estelline club here Sunday by the score of 14 to 10. It was an old-time slugging match with the visitors getting 17 hits and the home club getting 13. Among them were five home runs, seven doubles and five triples. Rasberry started on the hill for Crowell but was relieved by Bell in the sixth, the first time he has been relieved since July 8.

Ashford played a sensational game at second base for Crowell as did Lawrence for the visitors. The hitting of L. Marcum was the feature of the visitors' attack. He had two home runs, a double and single. Eubanks accounted for eight of the Crowell runs with a double, home run and triple. This was the first defeat suffered by the Estelline club this season and gives the Crowell club undisputed championship of Northwest Texas. Score:

Methodists Even Series By Defeating Christians

The Floral Heights Methodist church evened the series at one victory apiece in the playoff in the Church Indoor Baseball league by defeating the First Christian church nine 15 to 4 Monday night on the lighted field at Brook and Ardath streets. The Christians won the opening game of the playoff last week. Les, pitcher for the Methodists, allowed only seven hits, while Dr. H. T. Wood, on the mound for the Christians, was nicked for 14. Errors were plentiful on both sides.

The final and deciding game will be played tonight.

TIPTON WINS LEAGUE TITLE

Sooners Take Second From Electra Oilers, 16-5

Special to The Record News.

VERNON, Texas, Sept. 19.—Coupling a number of hits with errors by the Electra defense, Tipton's Sooners swamped the Oilers, 16-5, at Tipton Sunday afternoon to capture their second straight game of the play-off series and the 1932 championship of the Red River Valley Baseball league. The Sooner win was no surprise, the Tiptonites having been favored to annex the first title of the circuit prior to the opening of the series.

While resembling the initial game at Electra Sept. 11 in that the Electra defense was again spotty, the contest Sunday was featured by freer hitting on the part of both clubs. The Oklahomans won the first tilt of the series, 3-0, at Electra, when the Oilers' defense fell apart in the eighth frame to allow all three runs to trickle across the plate.

Sooners Score in First

Tipton's battering attack, greatly abetted by Electra misplays, opened in the initial inning with three runs, added two in the second frame, and chased across nine runs in the third to ice the contest. The Sooners then held a 14-0 lead until the seventh inning when the Oilers broke loose to tally five times. The final two Tipton runs came in the eighth inning.

Harvey Hutton, former Western league hurler and hero of the Oklahomans' win over the Texans in the opening game with a three-hit pitching performance, returned to the mound for the victors Sunday and hurled six innings of scoreless baseball. Henry Waldrop, another right-hander, went to the hill for the Sooners at the start of the seventh, but soon left with four runs across the plate, the bases loaded, and two out. Willard Simpson, crack left-hander, then took over the pitching burden and after being greeted by a single that scored Electra's fifth run, struck out the next batter and easily sailed through the eighth and ninth frames.

Van Horn Hurls

Bert Van Horn, Electra's young star who was beaten in the first game, was again the victim of Oiler misplays in Sunday's fray. His offerings were easy for the victors in the first three innings, but errors also played a prominent part in the scoring. Enloe, submarine right-hander, assumed the hurling role in the seventh and allowed but one hit in the two innings he toiled, that a triple by Banks, however, which chased across two runs in the eighth inning.

Banks, hefty Tipton first baseman, led the hitting attack with a brace of triples and a like number of one-play blows in five trips to the plate. Ballew, Sooner second baseman, was walked three times, hit by a pitched ball one time, and garnered a single in his other trip to the plate. Hicks, star of the Noble-Little club, Wichita Falls Commercial league champions, who played with the Electra nine, collected two hits in the Oilers' scoring inning, the seventh.

Pairings Made For Golf Tournament

Pairings for the all-city golf championship tournament were announced Monday night. L. T. (Bobby) Burns, medalist and ranking favorite in the calcutta pool held at the Country club Monday night, was paired with Bill Godfrey in the first round match. The tournament will be reeled off in four flights. First round matches in each flight must be played before Saturday night.

Pairings in all flights follow:

Championship flight—L. T. Burns vs. Billy Godfrey; M. L. Strother vs. Steve Powers; Guy Underwood vs. J. T. Watson; Paul Landes vs. R. K. Pond; J. H. S. Bonner vs. Roscoe Davis; Frank Williams vs. George Putty; R. A. King vs. Ed Fizer; T. J. Waggoner Jr., vs. Rufus King.

Second Flight—H. D. Fillers vs. D. S. Witty; N. Newton vs. Dan Rubsam; Ed Bristol vs. Solon Featherston; C. E. McCutchen vs. Curren Brown; E. S. Weldon vs. J. R. Seitz; Floyd Putty vs. F. J. Elbert; Jack Chambers vs. D. H. Hyler; Adam Seitz vs. Shadie Hale.

Third Flight—Wilburn Page vs. Gordon Caldwell; Homer Doke vs. M. T. Evans; V. L. Couch vs. J. E. Ratliff; Carroll Anderson vs. O. C. Dickson; J. B. Allred vs. L. W. McCrory; Ray Hirschi vs. Harry Hines; C. F. O'Hara vs. Jack Jeffus; Bob Whatley vs. J. L. Art.

Fourth Flight—Albert Crenshaw vs. C. B. Long; R. G. Cocanower vs. Tim Thompson; Bert King vs. Harry Katz; R. J. Kane vs. M. P. Rogers; P. P. Langford Jr., vs. A. H. Britain; Billy Adams vs. David Lebermuth; B. C. Hess vs. F. E. Record; Willard Norris vs. J. R. Nevius.

MAY CHANGE DATES

FORT WORTH, (UP)—A bill to change the dates of Democratic primary elections in Texas from the hot summer months of July and August to early spring is being prepared here by Hugh L. Small, county Democratic chairman. He believes the hot weather imposes too great a strain on candidates, voters and election officials.

Backfielders Enter Lively Battle for First Team Preference

The Coyotes today will start working out behind locked gates, figuratively speaking. Of course there are no gates at the Coyote field to be locked. There is not even a fence around it. But Head Coach Ted Jefferies intends to keep the railbirds as far away from the training grounds as possible, and any spectators showing up for the afternoon's workout will be asked politely to leave.

The Coyote skipper will bar the populace not primarily because he wishes to work out in more detail his plan of attack, but because the presence of railbirds on the field proper detracts the players' attention from their work. And then, there may be a few things about spinners, reverses, and other tactics that the coach may not want to become general knowledge.

Pack Polishes Offense

The pack began the third week of training Monday with a spirited offensive drill. Defensive play was featured at the opening, but later in the afternoon both backfielders and linemen took up where they left off last week in the study of ways and means of picking up yardage.

While the linemen were drilled long and hard in blocking and charging by Assistant Bill Morris, a delegation of 20 backfield aspirants went painstakingly through an assortment of plays under the direction of Jefferies and Charlie Lindsey.

While the scrap for line positions continues to wage merrily, the backfield men are putting up a no less stubborn fight. From showings of candidates so far, it is apparent that the Coyotes will have anything but a speedy backfield, and that it will have to rely on a stonewall line to keep the holes open until the ball luggers can attain enough momentum to plough through.

McKinney Is Exception

There is one exception. He is Burns McKinney, letter man from last year. He is the closest thing to a triple-threat man the Coyotes have. McKinney can be depended on to get through any kind of opening in the line in the quickest time possible. He is the speediest leather-lugger the Pack has, and also is its most capable broken field runner. McKinney, in the best of health this season after a summer's hard work on the new stadium, will not be an "in and outer" as he was last season, if his present physical condition is any indication. In the past he has been bothered with heart trouble. This seems to have been cured, and Wichitans may look forward to McKinney being in there most all of the time in every game.

McKinney is an accurate passer, in addition to being a fine ball toter, and he can also punt, though he does not particularly star in this respect.

Thompson Boots 'Em

He is a runner-up to Pound 'Em Preston Thompson in the punting game. Thompson may not have McKinney's speed, but he is a booter of the first rank. For that reason, critics believe Thompson is a sure thing for the first string eleven. He may alternate with McKinney when a punting game is more valuable than a running attack. Thompson also is a great asset in that he can place kick with accuracy. His educated toe should account for many extra points this season.

J. Z. Powell is rounding into great shape as a quarterback and in his second year as a signal barker is developing into a good broken field runner. This applies also to Jasper McBride, the real veteran of the Coyote backfield. Jasper is playing his third year with the Pack. Both McBride and Powell are, however, handicapped like Cleo Creecy in that neither is particularly fast.

A first string backfield composed of these gents would not at all come as a surprise, with Creecy and McBride at halves, McKinney or Thompson at fullback, and Powell at quarterback.

Others Put Up Scrap

There are strenuous objections to this line-up, however, from a vast number of other candidates, some of whom may indeed trip the dope bucket. There is "Dub" Hawthorne, playing his third year, who is a real scrapper and undoubtedly would have done greater things before were it not for his lack of speed. After obtaining his stride, Hawthorne can go places, but his slowness on the take off has been a hindrance. Other prominent aspirants include Weldon Beck, a husky showing much promise in his first year of football; George Dimmock, squad veteran; and James Hill and A. G. Fletcher, both of whom also have had plenty of experience as squadmen.

One of the finest quarterback understudies a Coyote camp has seen in years is young Cleve Pierson, and it is no less than a calamity, in the eyes of his coaches, that he is to graduate this year. He is not quite 16 years old, but is a senior. His commanding voice is of the type that every quarterback yearns to have. Also, he is a scrapper, and leads his charges well.

Five Combinations Drill

The five backfield combinations in camp went through signal drills yesterday. One of them was composed of Hawthorne, Creecy, McBride and Powell. The others were Dimmock, Hill, Fletcher and Beck; Ted Bratton, Pierson, Orvin Norwood, and Phillip Allen; McKinney, Jack Randolph, Clayland Davis and Thompson; and Francis Cyr, Frank Rusk, Jack Krauss and Joe Johnson.

The steamer Tennessee Belle carried the first load of 1932 cotton down the Mississippi river.

A'S DEFEAT CHISOX, 9 TO 6

Lefty Grove Nabs His 25th Victory of Season

CHICAGO, Sept. 19. (AP)—Robert Moses Grove was not at his very best today, but he was good enough to account for his 25th victory of the American league season as Philadelphia defeated the Chicago White Sox, 9-6, in the final game of the season at Comiskey park.

The Sox clipped Grove for 12 hits, including three doubles, but only in the fifth inning were they able to do any real damage. The Athletics picked on Phil Gallivan, Bill Chamberlain, Red Faber and Charlie Biggs for 10 hits, clustering them in the first four innings to score eight of their nine runs. Score:

Net Stars Meet Stiff Competition on Coast

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 19. (AP)—Some of the seeded stars in the Pacific Southwest tennis tournament ran into unexpected trouble in the first round of tennis singles competition today, but survived it without upsets.

Keith Gledhill, national doubles champion, Santa Barbara, Calif., listed fourth among the American stars, was forced to three sets before he could vanquish Clay Mahoney, Los Angeles. The score was 2-6, 6-4, 6-0.

The British player, John Olliff, defeated Phil Hanna, Los Angeles, 6-4, 2-6, 6-1 after considerable difficulty.

Ranked No. 5 in the seeding, Bryan Grant, Atlanta, Ga., had probably the most troublesome time but triumphed over Cliff Robbins, Los Angeles, 5-7, 6-4, 6-2.

PHILS WHIP DODGERS, 5-3

Nats Pull Within Half Game Of Third Place

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 19. (AP)—The Phillies knocked young Van Mungo from the hill in the first two innings today to defeat Brooklyn 6-3, and pull within a half game of third place in the National league, now held by the Dodgers.

Chuck Klein, who made three of the Phils' eight hits, cracked his 38th home run of the year in the first inning, and in the second Les Mallon bounced one over the wall with Todd on base to climax a three-run rally and send Mungo to the clubhouse.

Joe Shaute relieved Mungo and pitched great ball the rest of the way, yielding only three hits, but the damage already had been done. Roy Hansen, who started for the Phils, was knocked from the box in the third, but Ad Liska took his place and held Brooklyn in check. Score:

Connie Mack Glad Of Chance to Rest

CHICAGO, Sept. 19. (AP)—Connie Mack's score card won't wave from a world series dugout this fall, but man how he can sleep.

The 69-year-old patriarch of the former world championship Athletics fairly beamed today when he was asked how it felt to be out of the big baseball show for the first time in four years, and his conversation started and ended with sleep.

"Of course, I'd like to be in this world series," Connie replied, "but you don't know how I can sleep these days and nights. For the last three years at this time, I tossed about on those train berths, thinking and fretting. But now, I jump into bed and sleep like a wornout soldier. No baseball nightmares for me, and how I love it.

"No, maybe my boys don't sleep so well," he added with the slightest twinkle in his pale blue eyes. "They have to worry about getting into the world series this year, you know. I've got my tickets or at least I think I've got them, and I plan to see all the games from a spectator's standpoint for a change."

LONGHORNS GET STIFF WORKOUT

Hank Clewis Looms as First Team Quarterback

AUSTIN, Sept. 19. (AP)—Registration at the University of Texas today caused the Longhorn football squad to forego its usual morning practice session, but Coach Clyde Littlefield sent his charges through a stiff drill in the afternoon, a schedule which will be followed during the remainder of the week, in preparation for the opening game of the season with the Daniel Baker Hill Billies here Saturday.

Judging from the good form displayed by Hank Clewis at quarterback during the workouts to date, critics believe he will be the answer to Coach Littlefield's player for a signal chanter.

The Longhorn mentor's second problem of developing a capable punter is still unsolved, although it is believed that Jimmie Burr or Bohn Hilliard will fill the bill, with Burr holding the inside track.

Ernest Koy, big Sealy fullback, Harrison Stafford and Osborne Hodge, halfbacks, are rounding into form fast, and appear set for a good season.

The Steer forward wall appears more impressive with each workout, with Coach Littlefield having several finished performers available for each position. "Ox" Blanton and Herschel Moody are being pushed hard for the tackle posts by Arthur Neibhur and Raymond Seals. Co-Captain "Cheesie" Cook is a cinch for left guard. While Cliff Braly is the leading candidate for Dutch Baumgarten's right guard post. The wing positions are still undecided, with Ed Price, Dauss Bibby, Bennie Rundell and "Oochie" Earle staging a merry battle for starting posts. Bill Smith is a cinch for center, with Charles Coates as his understudy.

Southwestern Railroads File Water-Rail Rates

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19. (AP)—Southwestern railroads today filed with the Interstate Commerce commission joint rail-water rates on cotton via the federal barge lines on the Mississippi river to New Orleans.

The joint rates allow a sliding scale of differentials under the all rail rates ranging up to 5 cents per 100 pounds for compressed cotton.

The statement with the rates said railroads were willing to make the same arrangement with all barge lines operating on the river but that up to present time none of the other lines had indicated a desire to join.

TOONERVILLE TROLLEY — By Fontaine Fox

Where There Ain't No Ten Commandments

tates. They were cheerful college boys and they both immediately fell in love with Liane which amused us all and eased the situation a little, but my hostess looked as if she'd been drugged. She disappeared for hours at a time and rumor had it that she spent them in the native huts.

Dingo's attitude was not the least surprising thing in those weeks of nightmare. "I believe in letting matters come to a head," he said to me once when we were riding among the cane. He no longer looked like a Teddy Bear. There were bitter lines in his face and his eyelids twitched as if he hadn't slept for nights.

The assistants came in with tales of voodoo brewing. "I can tell you—there's going to be a show-down at the next full moon. What'll you do about it, sir?"

"If there's serious trouble, I'll smash the leaders," replied Dingo, in a matter-of-fact voice, but his mouth shut like a trap.

After that I took one of the college boys out for a walk and told him what I knew. At first he was stiff, and chivalrous, and wholly unbelieving. But I went on repeating, "Nelson's got some devilish sort of hold on her. It's got to be broken."

The boy went rather white in spite of the sun and the pace which I had set. "The laborers say he is the devil, or the high priest, or whatever they call it, of all this voodoo business. That's why they're so terrified of him. It's a hereditary office, so it's come down in Nelson's family since the days when they were as black as the rest. And it's a life-job. D'you get me?"

"No," I said.

The boy explained, "Once a black is initiated, he is in the power of the power of the priest, so long as they both do live."

"What d'you mean by initiated?"

"Well, the credulous say it's some sort of spell imparted with the blood of a living goat which I believe they drink at their horrible festivals, and the sceptical say it's an inoculation with some sort of drug. You can take your choice."

"And Liane?" I asked.

"If she's been mad enough to go through the whole business, nothing on this earth will save her except Nelson's death."

"She might go away."

If you dragged her forcibly off the island, she'd eat her heart out till she managed to get back. I tell you, it's a life-sentence."

A few days later it was full moon and things happened so quickly it is difficult to record their sequence. There was little pretence of working on the plantations, but it was rumored that Nelson had been seen in several places. Liane, who seemed to be on the verge of a mental breakdown, complained of a headache and shut herself up in her room. From this, she disappeared during the heat of the afternoon when every one was trying to rest. By sunset the house boys had followed her example.

That evening nobody made a pretence of eating. The three men stood about on the verandah, smoking and watching the sky. It was pretty late when Dingo, whose lips were no more than a crease in a bloodless face, gave the signal for departure. I went with them to the line on which a hand-trolley ran to the edge of the plantations. In silence, the men took their places and at the last minute, I insisted on going with them. I was horribly afraid of what I was going to see, but I couldn't stand the empty house. There was a certain amount of argument, but Dingo's impatience ended it and in a minute or two, we were jolting down the line at a pace which made it necessary to cling to the edge of the seats. Half a dozen times I thought we should all be flung out. Once the trolley nearly lurched off the rails, but Dingo held the rod and he propelled us faster and faster through the cane with a face like a metal image. I was mad to come, I thought, but it would have been madder still to stay in the dark house, haunted by Liane's terror.

We left the trolley some distance from the village and approached with caution through the cane. The drums were already insistent.

In the center of the dancers was a figure naked except for the hide of a goat. In his hand he held a black cock whose throat had been cut and the blood ran down the arms of the celebrant. It was easy to recognize Nelson. Only one man on the island had the figure of a god caste in bronze. I found myself clutching the arm of the youngest assistant and I noticed that he was panting as if he's been running hard. The music was quickening and with it our hearts until the strain was nearly intolerable. From one of the huts came three women. They swayed to the rhythm of the dance. The figure in the goatskin came forward. Now he held a bowl and a knife. A screech burst out of me, for I realized that the woman whose feet seemed to be moving without volition and who hung back between her stalwart supporters, was Liane.

Simultaneously there was a shot. Dingo, a revolver in his hand, broke into the swaying circle.

"Now, we're in for it," muttered the boy at my elbow. But the ebony ranks were dissolving. The figure in the goatskin was twisted on the ground. Dingo had got hold of his wife. In another instant we were racing for the trolley. The drums were still beating irregularly, but their spell was broken.

One of the assistants drove the trolley and I didn't care how fast we went. Liane, wrapped in her husband's coat, shuddered as if she were in the throes of dissolution, but next morning she remembered nothing about it.

"Hypnotism," suggested the college boy, still rather white. "That devil had got hold of her all right. Had she been initiated, she'd have been his for life."

We avoided each other's eyes. "Is he dead?" I asked.

"Yes. The shot got 'im through the heart. It's finished."

"And the blacks?"

"Pretty well ashamed of themselves and frightened of the law. There'll be an inquiry, but the boss'll be exonerated all right. He did the only possible thing."

Thereafter, we avoided the subject, but the only completely unembarrassed person was Liane. Her beauty was staggering, yet it seemed to have lost its effect on Dingo, who had aged 10 years in a month.

"Give them time," said both the assistants and they were right.

A year or two ago I met the couple in Paris, where, according to Dingo, once more reminiscent of a Teddy Bear, they were having "a high old bust."

Liano was a revelation. Nobody could take their eyes off her, least of all her husband, but she had eyes only for him.

23. FOR RENT, MISCELLANEOUS

DO YOU NEED REVENUE?

That set of unrented office rooms is "eating its head off." It's a part of your business overhead which includes taxes, interest charges, etc.

An unrented house, either business or residence or a spare room, offers the same problem to the home owner. You have no justification in assuming they can't be rented until you have put your problem up to Want-Ad Headquarters. If they can be rented at all, Daily Times-Record News Classified Ads will do the work at the lowest cost—two papers for the cost of one.

Advice To Investors

By Charles W. Storm—Editor of the "News Service of Wall Street"

A. R. B.—I would like to have your opinion of investing a portion of my savings in Pressed Steel Car at present prices.

Answer—No dividends have been paid on Pressed Steel Car common since 1924. It is a sheer speculation. Preferred dividends were suspended Sept. 30, 1931, because of unsatisfactory earnings. The company, a manufacturer of steel freight and passenger cars and various steel car specialties, reported for the year ended Dec. 31, 1931, a net loss of $722,157 or a deficit of $4.38 a share, after allowance for preferred dividends paid during the year. This loss is after crediting $528,803 transferred from reserves created prior to 1931 and compares with 1930 net income of $1,089,254, equivalent to 21 cents a share.

R. M.—Kindly supply me with some information about Drug, Inc. common.

Answer—Decline in last half of 1931 dropped common per share results of Drug, Inc. to $5.55 from $6.03 in 1930. Subsidiaries largest manufacturers and distributors of drugs and proprietaries. Reported $2.19 per share in first half of 1932 against $3.04 in 1931. Controls Roots Pure Drug Co. Ltd. Book value of common about $31 per share. Finances good, ratio of current assets to current liabilities nearly 5 to 1, working capital $48,-838,000. The issue pays at rate $4 annually and is classed as a speculative investment.

NEW YORK COTTON
NEW YORK, Sept. 19. (AP)—Advances of about $1.50 a bale in cotton on tropical storm apprehensions and relatively steady Liverpool cables were checked by renewed hedge selling and liquidation today but after losing nearly all its gain, the market stiffened up again in the late trading.
December contracts closed at 6.89, with the general market closing steady at net advances of 6 to 10 points.
Later October sold up to 7.00 and March to 7.30 making net gains of 33 to 35 points on active positions, but the market met a renewal of southern or spot house selling at these prices, and reacted to about the low levels of the morning. Fear of an unfavorable weather may tomorrow brought in a renewal of covering in the late trading, however, and the close showed rallies of 10 to 11 points from the lowest.
There were reports that Lancashire mills were hopeful of reopening next week as a compromise on the wage disputes was expected and houses with both Liverpool and continental connections were buyers here during the day. Business generally was in fair volume.
Exports today 32,124, making 855,087 so far this season. U. S. port stock 3,429,231.
Futures closed steady 6 to 10 points higher. Spot, quiet, middling, 6.90.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON
NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 19. (AP)—The cotton market today was a decidedly erratic and nervous affair with fairly active trading. Fluctuations were influenced by fears of damage from the tropical storm, the erratic course of the stock market and considerable hedging. After gaining 34 to 40 points compared with Saturday's close, the market reacted and closed at net advances for the day of 12 to 16 points.
Manchester cabled cloth business was distributed by cotton fluctuations.
Prices advanced rather sharply on shorts covering due to an official forecast for unsettled weather in the belt and fears of injury by the tropical storm to the crop.
The market ruled nervous during the entire afternoon with prices fluctuating within a fair range but mostly within the previous range except that October at one time made a new low at 6.67 or two points under its earlier low. Stocks were easier which induced selling and there was also hedging. The final figures for the two active months were 15 to 25 points under the highs of the morning. October closed at 6.75 up 13 points net for the day and December closed at 6.89, up 15 points net.
Liverpool is due on New Orleans tomorrow 5 to 6 penny points down.
Port receipts 32,948, for week 52,703, for season 827,963, last season 750,707. Exports 32,124, for week 43,221, for season 863,421, last season 503,085. Port stock 3,404,963, last year 2,968,530. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 1,118,236, last year 444,743. Spot sales at southern markets 55,216, last year 68,895.

CHICAGO COTTON
CHICAGO, Sept. 19. (AP)—Cotton was erratic today. After advancing about $1.25 a bale, prices broke to Saturday's low level and then recovered moderately. Final prices on the board of trade were steady, 1-10 points net higher. The opening was 3-11 points up in response to cables that were about 9 penny points better than due. Sharp further gains were scored in early trading when storm warnings were posted along the Louisiana coast. December advanced to 7.18, or 25 points net higher, then reacted to 6.86 and closed at 6.96. Political uncertainty and general liquidation in all markets were assigned for the reason for the reaction. Heavy rain fell at New Orleans and Galveston and light precipitation covered the South Mississippi valley, Louisiana and South Texas. Rain was forecast for all cotton states.

Weakness of Steel Shares Influences Stocks While Volume Remains Scant

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, Sept. 19. (UB)—Stocks worked lower in price today, dominated mainly by weakness in the largest steel corporation's shares of both preferred and common class.
The market could not ignore the weakness in the most prominent steel shares, but actually the remainder of the list showed much smaller net decline for the day than did the ◆ steel issues.
The bond list was inclined virtually to ignore the softness of stocks.
Commodities performed irregularly, cotton losing most of an early substantial advance but retaining a modest net gain. Wheat sold down closer to the lowest levels of the season.
Significance of the stock market session may be measured from the volume of 1,300,000 shares.
Stocks were handicapped from the start by an opening break of 4½ points in U. S. Steel preferred, the decline later extending to 7 points net for the day. Steel common followed its senior issue and closed down 2⅝ points.
There was no new explanation for the weakness in these stocks. Directors of U. S. Steel when declaring the last preferred dividend informed stockholders no additional payment would be authorized unless business improved. Apparently, the market is recalling this warning, now that the exuberant speculating spirit has subsided.
The refusal of the general list, however, to follow in full the steel leadership on the downside was an indication of a greatly improved technical position.
The selling which came into the list was mainly of a dribbling character, which might prove meaningless beyond signifying the lack of bullish sponsorship for the time being at least.
There was some disappointment in more enthusiastic quarters over the failure of rail shares to make a more spirited response to the Democratic presidential candidate's speech outlining his railway program. The rail stocks for several days last week had given indication of possibly resuming their leadership of the market on the upside.
Today, the public utility shares held closest to last week's prices.
Aggressive sponsorship was absent in most stocks, although United Aircraft, on continued large turnover, finally achieved a net gain of a half-point. The Douglas Aircraft sponsors have been awaiting a resumption of United Aircraft strength to stimulate their favorite.
Montgomery Ward, International Telephone and Chesapeake & Ohio were also among the most active shares to resist the lower trend. Delaware, Lackawanna & Western sold off a point. Southern Pacific, another especial pet of the rail bulls, lost similar ground, and New York Central was off ¾. Canadian Pacific dropped ⅛, despite widespread optimistic forecasting.
Conservatives were much impressed by the firmness in the bond list, since that market will most accurately reflect the reviving spirit of speculation—if the strength develops in the lower-grade issues—or will indicate the waning of the speculative spirit by declining prices.

OFFICIALS SEEK CAUSE OF FIRE

Preperty Involved in Blaze Valued at $35,000

Business property valued at $35,000 was involved in the blaze which wrecked Groves Shoe shop, 708 Indiana, and damaged the Allison Drug Store, 710 Indiana, Sunday morning, according to reports compiled Monday by Assistant Fire Chief Grover Habern. The shoe shop building is owned by F. M. Avis and is valued at $15,000 and insurance on the structure totals $10,000.

The shoe shop contents were valued at $2,000 and insured for that amount. Damage to the C. H. Parker Grocery store No. 20 was confined to loss caused by smoke in the meat department.

The drug store building, owned by T. M. Palmer and S. H. Hodges of California, is valued at $20,000 and insured for $15,000. Contents of the drug store, valued at $45,000, are insured for $40,000. Although origin of the blaze is unknown a theory was advanced by Fire Chief J. L. McClure that an explosion heard at 6:15 a. m. Sunday may have resulted from a broken gas pipe, damaged by workmen earlier Sunday morning in preparing for enlarging the drug store.

School News

By BETH PERKINS

The Junior College Hiking club has issued invitations to many of the freshman girls to become members of the organization. The initiation will be held Tuesday at the home of their president, Mildred Johnson.

Writers Club

The Writers club of the Junior college will have its first meeting Wednesday, Sept. 21. All the old members are requested to attend this meeting for the purpose of discussing prospective members. Other students who are interested are invited. A student must have an average of B in English and an average of C in all other subjects to qualify for membership. This club in addition to publishing the O-WA-KI-YA each year presents a one-act play in assembly.

Pep Squad

The high school pep squad will be under the direction of Miss Mangum, the girls' gym instructor. She is a new member of the high school faculty, having taught last year in Reagan junior high school.

Barton to S. M. U.

Henry Will Barton, who assisted Miss Kinsey last year in the public speaking department, will attend the Southern Methodist university at Dallas. He plans to specialize in drama.

RESTRAINING ORDER

DENVER, Sept. 19. (AP)—A restraining order against the Kansas Public Service commission relative to its order effective Sept. 1 which held 30 cents a "reasonable price" for gas distributors to pay pipe line companies was signed today by United States Judge Orrie Phillips.

WAURIKA BOY IN RODEO HERE

Committee Gives Plans For Greeting Officials

Nine-year-old "Sonny" Suttles of Waurika, Okla., will be a featured attraction at the golden jubilee rodeo next week with his 40-inch trick pony. Young Suttles is an expert at trick rope performances and other arena stunts. He has been secured for the junior rodeo show of the jubilee party by Director A. C. Estes.

CLINE STANDS IN LINE FOR JUBILEE TICKETS

Chairman Guy Airey of the golden jubilee rodeo and pageant committee said Monday that demands for reserved seats for the two 50th anniversary features were greater than any show for which he has handled ticket sales. President Walter D. Cline of the jubilee association was required to stand in line Monday when he secured seats for the two events—there will be no jubilee pass list. The jubilee box office is located in space furnished by J. M. Spoonts in the Staley building at the Eighth street entrance.

MAYOR AND MANAGER ON COMMITTEE

Mayor Walter Nelson Jr., with City Manager V. R. Smitham and members of the board of aldermen, will officially welcome visiting mayors and city officials in Wichita Falls during the golden jubilee.

FILLERS HOST TO VISTING EDUCATORS

Supt. H. D. Fillers of the public schools will be official host for visiting school heads during the jubilee as will Sheriff Perry Browning and Police Chief Dick Morris for law enforcement officers attending the North Texas and Southern Oklahoma Peace Officers association. County Judge John P. Marrs and the commissioners court will welcome visiting county officials, according to arrangements completed Monday by jubilee president Walter D. Cline.

WATER POLO GAMES SCHEDULED AT NIGHT

Time for staging the series of water polo games to select a jubilee champion from among fire departments of this area has been changed to 10 o'clock each night of the three-day party, it was announced Monday.

MEDICOS PLAN FOR FIRST AID UNITS

Members of the Wichita County Medical society are cooperating with golden jubilee officials to arrange for establishing first aid and hospitalization units at the pioneer's hospitality house on Scott avenue and location of other emergency units downtown during the three-day party opening Monday. It is planned for a trained nurse to be on duty at the hospitality house during the celebration, President Walter D. Cline of the jubilee association said Monday.

The medical society also will be official hosts for the physicians of the Wichita area who will visit in the city during the jubilee, Mr. Cline said Monday. The Wichita Clearing House association has been delegated the duty of official hosts for visiting bankers while other organized professions will be handled in like manner.

COMMITTEE NAMED TO GREET OIL MEN

J. S. Bridwell has been named chairman of a committee to welcome oil men to Wichita Falls during the jubilee party. Other members of the group are Barney Flynn, T. O. Shappel, Ernest Fain and Ed Peterson.

EMMERT SEEKS OTHER FARM IMPLEMENTS

M. K. Emmert of Wichita Falls, chairman of the historical exhibition committee on old vehicles and farm implements has issued a request for information as to the whereabouts of a chilled plow, rod plow, phaeton, ox-cart, buckboard and other types of pioneer transportation facilities for use during the jubilee. Mr. Emmert will discuss the historical displays in a radio broadcast over KGKO Tuesday night.

BOX RENTS CUT

Postmaster Announces Lower Charges At Office Here

Reductions in postoffice lockbox rents ranging from 50 cents to $1, effective Oct. 1, was announced Monday by Postmaster O. P. Maricle. Present rates of box rent have been in force since Oct. 1, 1928. The box rent is payable quarterly.

The reductions by size classifications follow: No. 1—from $1.50 to $1; No. 2—from $2 to $1.50; No. 3—from $3 to $2; and No. 4—from $4 to $3.

McClure Bros. In New Location

Change in location for their agency display and garage quarters was announced Monday by McClure brothers from 523 Indiana to 609 Scott. The company of three brothers are veterans in automobile work of more than a decade and invite their friends to visit them at their new place of business.

During the past 12 months the company has been associate dealer for DeSoto, Plymouth, Rockne and Studebaker cars. They are now direct dealer and distributor for DeSoto and Plymouth and also carry the other two lines of cars as before.

On the display floor of their new shop the company has on exhibit four new DeSoto automobiles, including a DeLuxe sedan, the finest car made by DeSoto.

They maintain a modern and complete repair and service department and also have a large line of used cars.

The company is made up of three brothers, Jim, Roy and Bill McClure. For more than a decade they have been selling cars here, including Chrysler, Ford and Buick lines.

Kiwanis Club Hears Talk on Constitution

Comparison between the Ten Commandments and the Magna Charta was drawn before members of the Kiwanis club Monday noon at the Wichita club by Dr. Felix R. Collard in a talk of "Constitution Week."

Speaking of the origin of the constitution of the United States, Dr. Collard pointed the resemblance between meetings of early American colonists for law-making purposes with gatherings of common people which preceded the granting of the Magna Charta in England.

Lawrence Elkin, Dr. R. H. Peterson and Kenneth Bebb were named delegates to the Kiwanis International district convention at Harlingen, Texas, Oct. 23-25. Roy Grimes and Don T. Haynes will be alternates.

Big Crowd Jams Penney's Opening Of New Basement

Wichitans thronged the J. C. Penney company store in Wichita Falls Monday as the store basement was opened to offer added shopping space for customers. The growing volume of business handled by the firm necessitated the opening of new space and recently the second floor was opened under a similar demand.

J. F. Luke, manager, stated Monday that officials appreciated the patronage and that he believes the outstanding values entitle the store to such a patronage. Merchandise now stocking the store was bought on the recent low price market, Mr. Luke stated, in declaring that Penney's now offer a great assemblage of high class goods.

The local store leads all Penney Texas stores in sales volume and sales increase for September and shows a sales increase of 125 per cent over the sales for September, 1931. At present the store is only 4 per cent behind the leading Penney store in the United States, and Mr. Luke stated that the local store will probably lead the nation by the end of the month.

Sales to date for September lead those of the San Antonio store by $2,890, the Fort Worth store by $7,729, the Amarillo store by $14,904 and the Tyler store by $16,645, Mr. Luke said.

"We anticipate a great fall business in the best town in Texas," Mr. Luke said.

Man Held Here As Oklahoma Fugitive

R. L. Reed was arrested by city police here Monday and was being held Monday night in the Wichita county jail for bond of $1,000 on a charge of being a fugitive from justice, information having been given by officers at Chickasha, Okla.

The defendant is wanted at Chickasha in connection with the passing of a "hot check," according to the information given local officers.

Sheriff Perry Browning left Monday for Longview, from which point he expects to bring Lee Byron back to the Wichita county jail. Byron was indicted several months ago here for box-car theft, it was stated at the sheriff's office.

GYPSY GIRLS COMING HERE

Sweetwater to Send Fair Music Makers

An added attraction for the thousands of entertainment seekers planning to attend Wichita Falls' golden jubilee party next week was secured Monday when arrangements were made for attendance of the Sweetwater Gypsy Girls, musical organization. Manager John Hendricks of the Sweetwater board of city development telephoned 50th anniversary association officials that the girls would be on hand for the three days of the jubilee.

Mr. Hendricks also announced that the West Texas Chuck Wagon association would send a vehicle to the jubilee. The pioneer range "cafeteria on wheels" will be stationed in front of the hospitality house for pioneers in the 900 block on Scott street and will serve coffee and son-of-a-gun stew to the honored guests of the jubilee. The chuck wagon served at the recent Democratic gathering in Lubbock.

The Sweetwater board of city development is cooperating in sending the chuck wagon and Gypsy girls as a return favor for the special train and record delegation of Wichitans attending the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention in that city last May.

Prominent in the Gypsy girl group will be Miss Stella Watson of Wichita Falls, member of the original troupe. Miss Watson is an employe of the North Texas Building and Loan association here. The Gypsy girls will stage a homecoming on their own behalf in visiting Wichita Falls, as the troupe made its first appearance at the West Texas chamber convention here in 1927.

The troupe will include Gladys Buck, pianist; Melrose Hamrick, Madeline Neblett, Mable Mason, Theresa Myres, "Toodles" Toler, Margaret Butler and Miss Watson. Miss Watson, Miss Neblett and Mrs. Toler are members of the first group appearing here in 1927.

Electra Man Called To Mother's Bedside

John Doherty of Electra, representative of The Record News and Times, received word early Monday night that his mother, Mrs. Ida M. Doherty of Dallas, had suffered an attack of paralysis at her home. Mr. and Mrs. Doherty left from Electra at once to go to his mother's bedside.
