More Than 60 Made Homeless By Central Texas Tornado

TINY TWISTER AT SMITHVILLE WRECKS HOMES

Four of One Family Hurt By Freakish Gale In Texas Town

HOUSEWIFE 'UNSHOD'

Woman Loses Shoes As Gale Takes Her for 80-Foot 'Ride' in Air

SHREVEPORT, La., April 14. (UP)—An unidentifed man was electrocuted tonight whe na wind storm swept down on this city. He was walking down the street and was caught by a dangling live wire.

AUSTIN, April 14. (AP)—Striking swiftly and without warning, a tornado of miniature proportions demolished seven homes at Smithville, 45 miles southeast of here, early today and injured four members of a family whose residence was lifted from its foundation and hurled, a twisted mass, into a nearby street.

The loss was estimated at $60,000

Woman Flies 80 Feet

Mrs. Leo F. Austin, preparing breakfast at the time, was carried 80 feet by the storm. She suffered a flesh wound and minor cuts and bruises. The velocity of the wind almost disrobed the woman, her laced shoes being blown from her feet.

Her husband's back was wrenched and their two children, Leo F. Jr., 9, and Dorothy, 4, escaped with minor scratches and bruises. The boy and his tiny sister, asleep when the six-room house toppled from its foundation, were found clasped in each other's arms in the wreckage.

R. L. Roberts, a mechanic, was struck by a falling timber, while searching through wreckage for victims, and rendered unconscious

Between 60 and 70 persons were made homeless.

Clouds Form Quickly

Emil Vacek, who was standing on his porch two blocks from where the tornado cut a swath through the village, said his first warning of a storm was two heavy clouds which formed over the town. A downpour sufficiently intense to obscure his vision, was followed by a cyclonic wind. Large hackberry trees were uprooted and blown like straws for several feet. The Austin home then was lifted and demolished and other homes were razed simultaneously. An adidtional half dosen residences were blown from their foundations.

The tornado lifted, Vacek said, and disappeared southeast.

The storm was not without freakish angles. A light chicken coop containing three birds was undisturbed by the same quick, destructive blow which splintered two nearby garages.

R. E. Hoppe, merchant, said he saw pieces of metal roofing from the Austin home almost one mile from where the house stood.

The roof was blown off a residence belonging to G. W. Kuneth and the house was lifted from its foundation, but three persons inside the building were uninjured.

The charred bodies were recovered after the fire was extinguished. The blast of gas collected about the surface of the new hole ignited in an unknown manner, knocked men down on the Coast highway 250 yards from the well and virtually destroyed the rigging.

EXTRA SESSION OF CONGRESS OPENS TODAY

Solons to Tackle Farm Aid As Main Subject For Discussion

G. O. P. IN SADDLE

Hoover Backed by Heavy Majorities in Both Branches

By FRANCIS M. STEPHENSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 14 (AP)—The congress elected last November will convene tomorrow at the call of President Hoover to consider farm relief and tariff revision.

It will be the first extraordinary session since 1922 and was called in compliance with a promise made by Mr. Hoover in the national campaign.

Both the senate and house are rich in Republican majorities and leaders today announced their determination to stand by the suggestion of the president for a limitation of the session to farm relief and tariff with the addition of the measures for reapportionment of the house and for authorization of the 1930 census.

Democrats Differ

But Democratic leaders take a different view. They contend other things deserve immediate attention, including flood relief legislation and consideration of the credit situation as it involves the efforts of the federal reserve board to curb speculation.

Thus an atmosphere of uncertainty over the range which the extra session may cover prevailed on the eve of the opening.

Tomorrow and Tuesday will be devoted to the usual opening formalities and it will be Wednesday before actual business gets under way.

Tuesday the first message of Mr. Hoover to congress will be read. He is adopting a new course in this respect. Unlike the last three presidents he will not go personally to congress to read his declaration. It will be read separately in the house and senate by clerks.

Farm Relief First

The farm relief bill will receive first call in both senate and house. Leaders hope to get this legislation on the statute books by June 1 and full attention then will be given to the controversial tariff problem—the first time this subject has come forward since the present act was written in 1922.

In his first congressional session, President Hoover has one of the strongest Republican organizations in charge at the capital since the early days of Warren Harding's administration. James E. Watson of Indiana is the new Republican senate leader.

Representative Tilson, of Connecticut, will continue as Republican leader in the house with Speaker Longworth assured of re-election.

For the Democrats, Joe T. Robinson of Arkansas will carry on as leader in the senate while a new and picturesque figure, the fiery "Jack" Garner of Texas, assumes the party leadership in the house for the minority, succeeding Finis Garrett of Tennessee, who lost in a race for the senate.

There appears to be little likelihood of troubles in either branch over organization.

Mellon's Case Up

Incidentally the only pending investigation in the senate comes up under the jurisdiction of the judiciary committee. In response to the resolution of McKellar, Democrat, Tennessee, adopted by the senate March 5, the committee will convene immediately to consider the right of Secretary Mellon to continue in office.

Police Reorganization To Follow Shakeup Here

McIntyre Night Captain Temporarily Following Release Of Four Officers; Department Gets Busy as Chief Wields Axe

Complete reorganization of the Wichita Falls police department, following on the heels of the shakeup Saturday which resulted in the release of four officers, will be the first step in bringing an immediate halt to the wave of robberies and thefts of the last few months, Chief of Police Frank Burns announced Sunday.

Making his first statement in connection with the series of robberies and thefts here, Chief Burns indicated he believes there "are times when patience ceases to be a virtue," and expressed the opinion that conditions here justify and make necessary drastic action to curb the activities of law violators. The police department head made known his first charges Saturday night, when he announced that Night Captain Jim Glenn, and L. N. McKelvey, Noah Daves and M. A. Perdue, plainclothes officers, would sever their connection with the department Tuesday, April 16.

Explains Moves

"Any changes I have made or may make in the future are without malice, and are designed for what I believe to be the best for the department and for law enforcement," Chief Burns said.

"Thieving and robbing in Wichita Falls have gone far enough, and I shall do everything I can to curb the outbreak. I believe we shall be on the right road very shortly, and that in the future this department will be as nearly one in cooperation, unity, efficiency and achievement as I can make it."

Mr. Burns intimated that not only would he dispose of a number of officers, but that he would rearrange the department until he worked out a more efficient way of operating. John McIntyre, present night sergeant, will likely become captain of the night forces at least for the time being, it was stated. Chief Burns said Sunday he was not ready to announce the names of new officers to be added to the department or any rearrangement of his forces.

Council Discussion

Burglaries and thefts in Wichita Falls and the work of the police department are scheduled to come up for discussion among members of the city council at the regular weekly meeting Monday night. Several members of the council, aroused at reports this week of the total amount of losses and number of thefts here, said the question would be discussed. The reorganization of the department undertaken by Chief Burns, together with the speeding up of activity in the department in the last three days, is expected to somewhat temper any discussion, however. Within the last three days city officers have recovered more than $1,000 in stolen property, made several arrests for burglary and theft, and had an important part in the work which led to the recovery of more than $5,000 worth of property by the sheriff's department.

City Manager George D. Fairtrace, under whose direction the police department operates, has maintained a stoical attitude during the last week in the face of official and unofficial discussion here. The city manager conferred with Roy E. Carter, former police and fire commissioner during the week, but said no changes were contemplated in the department. Mr. Carter declined to comment on the conference.

Night Chief Glenn Sunday night told The Record News he had "no comment to make" on his release. Mr. Glenn said he accepted Chief Burns' action as final, and that he planned no protest.

Women Burn Way Out Of Texas Pen, But Are Caught

HUNTSVILLE, Texas, April 14. (AP)—Three white women who burned their way out of their cell at Goree state prison farm last night enjoyed less than three hours of liberty.

Using a poker, which they heated in their stove, the three women burned the woodwork away from the base of the bars on their window and let themselves to the ground with knotted blankets. Two and one-half hours later they were recaptured by guards as they trudged along the highway toward Houston.

The three women were Corinne Pariah, two years, forgery, Tarrant county; Norma Pierce, 10 years, robbery with firearms, Tarrant county, and Farice Barber, 10 years, murder, Hutchison county.

FARM RELIEF BILL ADOPTED

$500,000,000 Measure To Be Presented Today

WASHINGTON, April 14. (UE)—After two hours of debate, the house agricultural committee today approved the $500,000,000 farm relief bill drafted by its sub-committee and endorsed in general by President Hoover. The vote was 19 to 2.

Voting against the measure were Representative William L. Nelson, Democrat of Missouri, and Representative Marvin Jones, Democrat of Texas, it was learned.

Other Democrats on the committee joined with the Republican majority in approving the measure. Chairman Haugen, of Iowa, will introduce the bill into the house tomorrow. He expects it to be reported by Tuesday, thus bringing it up for general debate in the house on Wednesday or Thursday.

Only a few minor changes were made by the full committee in the bill as drawn by its sub-committee. These were in phraseology, with clarification of purpose here and there.

The board of six members, with the secretary of agriculture serving ex-officio, established by the measure, was expected to go far toward lifting the farmers onto the highway of prosperity.

Sweeping power is given to the board in carrying out a policy of orderly marketing of farm commodities, through loans to farmer-owned and farmer-controlled organizations.

Power to make long-term loans to farmers' organizations for construction of storage facilities and other marketing equipment is given in the bill. The board may also sell insurance to groups of farmers' cooperatives against loss on their crops.

Establishment of clearing house associations for disposing of farm commodities is authorized, but the initiative for all loans or application of the orderly marketing system is left to the farmer organizations.

Diet of Shellfish and Grass Fails To Daunt Southern Cross Airmen

SYDNEY, N. S. W. April 14. (UP)—Capt. Charles Kingsford-Smith and his companions plan to attempt another flight from Sydney to London, the aviation leader said today, despite the great hardships which they suffered on their present misadventure in the jungles of Australia. Lack of food was their greatest danger in the wild country, and they lived for sometime on shell fish and grass.

Kingsford-Smith told the pilot of a relief plane which had landed near their stranded craft last week that he had not given up his hopes of completing the flight and would return to Sydney immediately after rescue parties reach them with gasoline and supplies.

The four fliers plan to return to civilization in the big plane, the Southern Cross. The leader of the expedition was given full credit for saving them from disaster, Kingsford-Smith's "wonderful control" of the plane enabling them to land safely south of Port George Mission after exhausting their gasoline supply in a storm March 31.

The crew of four men lived on grass and shellfish after exhausting their meager emergency food supplies, the pilot told his rescuers. They also underwent many other hardships in the jungle land, but were happy that they had landed safely on the hard mud flats near running water.

RAID SOLVES 9 ROBBERIES OF HOMES HERE

Statement of Youth Held By Sheriff Clears Up Burglaries

TWO FACE CHARGES

Man Details Activity In Wichita Falls Over Long Period

Nine of Wichita Falls' recent major burglaries, in which several thousand of dollars worth of clothing, furs, jewels and silverware were stolen, were solved late Saturday afternoon by Sheriff W. G. Bralley and his deputies and city police officers when a residence on Monroe street was raided.

The sheriff arrested Richard Newland and Mrs. O. T. Hart in connection with the case and recovered well over $5,000 worth of stolen property, he announced.

Charges of receiving and concealing stolen property were filed against Newland and Mrs. Hart Saturday afternoon by Mike Anglin assistant district attorney. The case had not been fully worked out at that time, he said. Newland later gave Anglin a statement saying he had burglarized seven Wichita Falls homes, and still later told of two more robberies of wealthy residences here, according to Anglin.

Charges of burglary probably will be filed against Newland Monday morning, although the disposition of the woman had not been ascertained Sunday afternoon, Mr. Anglin asserted.

Homes Listed

In his statement to Mr. Anglin, Newland said he had entered the homes of L. E. Whitham, Joe Carrigan, W. P. Killingsworth, A. A. Spencer, T. J. Waggoner, Ray Hirschi and another residence which he thought was located at 2014 Hays street although he was not sure that the number was the location of the residence.

Later Sunday afternoon Newland told members of the sheriff's department that he had also entered the homes of C. D. Shamburger and Frank Timebriake.

Officers here had trailed an automobile in which parties had been transporting stolen property to Dallas for two or three days, being told by Dallas officials of the machine. Locating it here on Monroe street Saturday afternoon the posse composed of Sheriff Bralley, Warren Belcher, Charlie Gant, George Garrett, and Dick Morris, deputies; and S. O. Hamm, state highway officer, and Mr. Anglin, raided the residence in front of which the car was parked, Sheriff Bralley said.

Newland was in the house lying on the bed when the officers entered. He seemed little concerned over their presence, members of the posse said, and was calm and undisturbed at his arrest. He asked

9 ROBBERIES SOLVED HERE

Two Face Charges After Sheriff's Raid

the officers how they could suspect him, it was said.

All Night Probe

Bralley and his men took the prisoner to Dallas immediately after the arrest and worked practically all night on the case.

Newland shortly before 2 o'clock Sunday morning made the statement concerning his activities here, officers said.

He came to Wichita Falls early in February and stayed here for almost a month before he began his work, officers said. During that time he moved to a number of different places in the city and was well grounded in his surroundings.

To make sure that occupants of houses to be entered were away from home he would spot the house which was to be the scene of activity and running it down in the directory would call the residents on the telephone. If his call was not answered and the telephone rang for a considerable time he would proceed, Mr. Anglin quoted Newland as saying.

He told the officers that the car was parked several blocks away from the houses entered.

That part of the loot which was "run" to Dallas for disposal was hauled chiefly by a woman, the officers said. The car, it was found, was not registered in Newland's name.

Bralley said Sunday night that he was not positive what charges he would make against the owner of the car.

Newland Calm

Newland, a bright-looking youth, who apparently is not over about 23 or 24 years old, was perfectly calm and composed Sunday afternoon after having a night with almost no sleep and after a day of hard travel with the officers.

He joked with first one deputy and then the other and was most cordial to everyone approaching him. He sat perched upon a trunk of stolen property in Mr. Bralley's office at the county courthouse and talked to officers without any apparent concern or fear.

So well versed was he on what home each piece of the property came from that he readily identified any part of it, in answer to officers' inquiries, as quickly as the owner himself could have.

The lighting of cigarets in rapid succession was the only sign of nervousness shown by the youth. There was no hesitancy in his conversation as he jokingly recounted his activities to the officers and to persons seeking to identify their property among the mass stacked and hung in the sheriff's office.

Chief of Police Frank Burns and his men also were close on trail of the case, having located the car and the house and were watching it for persons entering or leaving it. He was preparing to draw his net on the residence when Bralley and his men entered the house ahead of him and arrested the occupants, he said Sunday afternoon.

'Success Often Matter of Going On When We Are Weary,' Says Pastor

"Success is the term we apply to the results obtained by a man who sees a great need and relieves it," declared Rev. Patrick D. Moreland, pastor of the Grant Street Methodist church, in his Bible class hour talk over radio from station KGKO Sunday afternoon.

Taking as his theme the expressions of despair from Elijah as the prophet rested under the juniper tree, the speaker said that success or failure depends largely upon the physical condition of the worker. "Elijah was fatigued," the speaker continued. "He could not see clearly. God saw success for him, but Elijah was ready to quit. Oftimes success is a matter of going on when we are weary and sick and discouraged.

"Success in religion is not found in a flower garden, but on the heavy road of toil. The man who does his work regardless of small obstacles finds success. Discouragements must be avoided, for they paralyze the body and soul. Surrender makes misery more acute. Elijah went on to success because God needed him."

Rev. Lester W. Fisher, pastor of the Church of Christ at Bowie, spoke during the first hour of the afternoon's broadcast, from 3 to 4 o'clock. Musical numbers were given by a choir from the Bowie church. Harry Hines, lay speaker, and R. E. Shepherd, tenor, gave the 4-5 o'clock layman's program. A quartet from the Grant Street Methodist church sang request numbers during the Bible class hour.

Four programs from local churches were put on the air by remote control during the day. At 9:30 a. m., the program featuring the opening of the new home of the Highland Heights Christian church men's Bible class was given. The morning service at the First Methodist church at 11 a. m. and the sacred cantata, "Rabboni," given in the same church by a chorus of 60 voices at 8 p. m., were broadcast by the local station. An organ program from the First Methodist church, by Mrs. J. W. Akin Jr., from 6 to 6:30 p. m. also was included in the day's radio program.

PRISON BREAK FUGITIVE HELD

Silver and Pals Still Free; Guard Surrenders

HUNTSVILLE, Texas, April 14.—Marvin Azbell, one of the four convicts who escaped with Bob Silver, Fort Worth theater bandit, from the Wynne state prison farm during a blinding rain storm Friday night, was recaptured today at Hempstead in Waller county.

Azbell was taken as he attempted to board a freight train in the railroad yard at Hempstead. R. E. L. Allen, assistant prison warden, left tonight for Hempstead to bring the fugitive back to the state prison.

Another of the day's developments in the break, which resulted in a heated exchange of telegrams yesterday between law enforcement officers of Walker county and Governor Moody, was the surrender of G. A. Thompson, guard at Wynne farm, charged with allowing the convicts to escape.

Thompson was released on his own recognizance bond with orders to report to the Walker county grand jury tomorrow.

The guard denied the statement attributed to him that he saw Silver and his companions escaping and was "too chicken hearted to shoot." He denied having seen Warden Harrell of the state penitentiary or having made a statement of any sort since the prison break.

"I am being made the goat of this thing," he declared here today. "I am going to tell the whole story before the grand jury tomorrow."

Silver, Robert Hill and John Reid, three of the five convicts who escaped, still were at large tonight. K. E. Brewer, the fifth, was recaptured yesterday.

Silver's mother, Mrs. Mary Silver of Kansas City, visiting Fort Worth, last night broadcast from a radio station there a plea that her son surrender and "justify the faith" of Governor Moody, who saved Silver from the electric chair by commuting his sentence to life imprisonment, and others who had befriended him.

The telegraphic debate between the governor and Walker county officials concerned the governor's clemency act.

Boats Hunt Plane Said To Have Caught Fire

BUFFALO, N. Y., April 14. (UP)—Two coast guard speedboats and one patrol boat were ordered out of the Erie, Pa., base today to search the south shore of Lake Erie for an airplane reported to have caught fire in midair and plunged into the lake.

The coast guard commander of the Buffalo district said the plane, according to reports, caught fire somewhere between Erie and Buffalo.

The coast guard vessels were ordered to search as far as ten miles off the shore of the lake. Airport officials of Buffalo said no planes were missing here.

Doctors Invited To Credit Meet

Urgent invitations are being extended this week to members of the medical, surgical and dental professions to meet with members of the Wichita Falls Retail Credit Grantor's association at its weekly assembly to be held Thursday night, April 18, at the Kemp hotel at 6:30 o'clock.

The coming meeting has been designated by officials of the credit organization as "doctors' night," and it is planned to discuss thoroughly with members of the professions named the matter of minimizing the amount of open accounts which may be carried more than the usual period of time, and that of guarding against the type of patron which was styled the "credit criminal."

Since the organization of the credit association here about one year ago, the membership has grown from 12 to 73. Officers state that during the period of its existence the association boasts an attendance record of 75 per cent. The members take dinner together every Thursday night, and the ensuing business sessions are devoted to confidential discussion of credit accounts with the double purpose of protecting business establishments against over-extension of credit, and of enabling the individual customer to maintain the highest possible credit rating.

Officers of the local association are Alvah Conner, president; W. H. Bailey, vice president, and Atchie Huffhines, secretary-treasurer.

"We feel," stated the petition in part, "that a woman may go to a hairdressing shop or beauty parlor if she so desires and not be compelled to go to a barber shop and be barbered by a man barber.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

It was Jefferson's birthday just the other day, and when we heard it, we remembered the "Life of Jefferson" which we had read. It was full of the quotations from his diary, and we have wondered ever since reading it that he only once or twice spoke of his mother. When his father died, he, just a boy, wrote that he had lost his only friend.

We hear that Mrs. Borah, wife of the Idaho senator, quoted the Prince of Wales as saying: "Mother has never had a good-looking hat because after she has bought one, she always makes it over." We have noticed the queen's hats in her pictures, but we imagined it was the way she wore her hair that made the hat look so odd.

They tell that an old lady came all the way from Iowa to the inauguration and insisted on seeing the new secretary of agriculture on a personal matter. When she met him, she said, "I wish you'd tell me what to do with a tulip bulb that isn't thriving." But they don't tell what he answered.

Harpers' $10,000 novel competition is under way again. We wonder if some writers whose stories we have read (in manuscript) know of it. One was a broken-hearted Mississippi girl who had graphic descriptive power. She wrote an autobiographical story, "I placed my small pink palm in his broad, brown hand. "She was just 16, and how we felt for her when her heart broke; she wrote, "my bosom rose and fell like a great, heaving ocean billow."

One masculine teacher in England last week said: "It is notorious that women are weak in teaching subjects like mathematics or science, from which human interest is absent."

The best geometry teacher we have ever known is a woman.

The story of the New York Times is as thrilling as fiction. Started in 1851 by two young men who were excited by the report that Horace Greely had made his New York Tribune earn $60,000 in one year, it last week increased its capitalization from $16,000,000 to $36,000,000.

Forty-five minutes after Professor Dedrick of Pennsylvania State college kneaded flour, water, yeast and a secret brown powder into dough, he had a loaf of bread baked and ready for eating." When the Millenium comes, we will not have to work.

"To the Fields" was the stirring air that moved so many at Marshal Foch's funeral. A French infantry band played the same air for Mr. Herrick.

The Imperial War Graves commission, presented with a list of 1,061,952 lost soldiers in 1919, has identified and buried 582,783, while 173,213 have had to be interred as "unknown soldiers."

Twelve miles from shore, in a heavy mist, was fired the last salute for Herrick. Breton fishermen strained their ears.

Fairview P.-T. A. to Give Benefit Play

"Polly Wants a Cracker" will be presented by Fairview P.-T. A. Friday evening at 8 o'clock in the school auditorium. The cast of characters is: Jeffrey Wayne, C. R. Roberts; Mrs. Jeffrey Wayne, Mrs. C. R. Roberts; Mary Wayne, (Mr. Wayne's daughter by first wife), Mrs. Delbert Gideon; Lucere Meville (an old friend of Mrs. Waynes), Mrs. J. B. Smith Jr., Thomas Trapp, (Mrs. Wayne's son by first husband), Curtis Wright; Nora, housekeeper, Miss Thelma Abbey; Doran detective, H. B. Self.

The P.-T. A. has prepared a clever play, different from most amateur performances and only a very moderate admission will be charged.

Mrs. P. P. Langford Entertains Unity Club at Luncheon

Mrs. P. P. Langford's home was beautifully decorated with spring flowers Friday at 12:30 when she entertained the Unity club and associate members with a lovely luncheon. The table was particularly beautiful with a handsome lace cloth, a center piece of spring flowers and candles in silver holders.

Miss Elizabeth Carrigan made an interesting talk on psychology directly after luncheon and R. O. Jonas gave the last of a series of psychology lectures to the members, this one being on "Salesmanship."

Club members present were Mesdames G. D. Anderson, A. H. Carrigan, W. J. Daugherty, E. B. Gorsline, J. C. Hunt, J. A. Kemp, P. P. Langford, O. E. Maer, W. N. Maer, J. T. Montgomery, W. M. Priddy, H. B. Patterson, W. L. Robertson, Marvin Smith, Eugene Sherrod, C. B. Woods, H. C. Young, associate members, Mesdames J. C. Berney, S. D. Lynch, Carter McGregor, W. P. Ferguson, Minnie Young and P. P. Langford Jr., and Miss Elizabeth Carrigan.

Mrs. Singleton Entertains With Pretty Luncheon

Mrs. George T. Singleton was hostess Saturday at a pretty luncheon for the Katherine Gray Sunday school class of the Southern Presbyterian church.

The luncheon table was lovely with lace cloth, silver candle sticks with silver and pink candles and a center of American beauty roses and tulips.

Alyce Lanier, president of the class had charge of the meeting after luunch and a splendid program on Africa was given, with Mabel Lee Kollman as leader. Valtia Allen gave a toast to Maurine and Hassie Newman, former students in the class but now teachers in the Sunday school.

Covers were laid for Misses Valtia Allen, Pauline Arnold, Blanche Robinson, Helen Smith, Margarette McBee, Alyce Lanier, Ruth Biles, Mabel Lee Kollman, Maurine Newman, Hassie Newman and the hostess.

Birthday Tournament Planned for Thursday

Thursday was regular game and luncheon day for the Woman's Golf association and a number of members enjoyed the day.

Mrs. Dixon, former hostess, presented the trophy, and it was won by Mrs. H. L. Ruehl. The low-score ball was carried away by Mrs. John Waggoner.

Plans were perfected to have the annual birthday tournament next Thursday.

In addition to the yearly salary of $75,000 the president of the United States is appropriated $350,000 with which to meet his recognized official expenses.

Husbands With Only One Fault Are Usually Worth Forgiving

Before a Woman Takes Steps to Divorce Her Husband, She Should Decide Whether or Not He Is Worth Forgiving and the Probable Consequences of Such Action to Herself and Her Children.

"Shall I divorce my unfaithful husband or shall I forgive him?" is the question that is asked me oftener than any other, and the answer to it is one that Almighty Wisdom alone is fitted to give.

The problem is one that far transcends my poor powers to solve, but the reply that is always on the tip of my typewriter is to answer the query in true Yankee fashion by asking another question: Is he worth forgiving?

So many men are not. There are so many men who are not men with just a single weakness, but men who are nothing but a bunch of weaknesses; men who are as spineless as jellyfish; men who have the morals of alley cats; men who are lazy and shiftless and who loaf in poolrooms while their wives work to support the family; men who are surly and grouchy around home.

When a man adds infidelity to any or all of these disabilities as a husband, it is the last straw that breaks the camel's back of his wife's patience and, she is justified in chucking him out of the house and out of her life. He was a total loss anyway and it is a good riddance of bad rubbish.

There are many other men, however, who, except for their one defect of having a wandering foot that is always straying away from their own firesides are admirable husbands. They are good providers for their families. They are generous and kind and understanding and considerate. They are amiable and pleasant at home and very often shower upon their wives the same little attentions and courtesies that they do upon their lady loves.

Indeed, the very qualities that make a man a philanderer very often go to make him a delightful husband because he is a lover by nature. Every skirt attracts him, even his wife's. He has to kiss the lips that are nearest to him, even if they are his Mary Jane's. He is sloshing over with sentimentalities that fall on his wife as well as on strange women.

Because this type of man is bound to be admired by women he is meticulous about his personal appearance and is always shaven and shorn and doned up, even for his wife's eyes. Because he must always be wooing some woman he is continually making his wife presents and bringing her flowers and taking her out to places of amusement and paying her compliments. So it frequently happens that the woman who has to share her husband's heart with other women gets bigger dividends in the way of attentions than does the woman who has a monopoly on her husband's affections.

Curiously enough, the flirtatious husband's flirtations very often do not affect his devotion to his wife. He may have a hundred light loves, but deep underneath is a steadfast love for his wife, whom he considers as far above other women as the stars are above the earth. He roams away from her because he is a spoilt child whose fickle fancy calls continually for new toys to play with or because he cannot resist the lure of an adventure or because his vanity demands that he shall give continual proof of his prowess as a lady-killer, but in the end he means to come back to home and mother. And he does, if she only waits for him.

The man who forsakes his wife for one woman is hopeless because he prefers this other woman to her, but the husband who is lured by every pretty face is really in love with none of them. He is only, as Mr. Howell said, "imperfectly monogamous after 20 centuries of Christianity and civilization." So it seems to me that the wife who has such a husband may well shut her eyes to his philandering if he is a good husband in other respects and forgive him 99 times. As she will have to do.

Also, in deciding whether she shall forgive her erring husband or not, a woman must take her own feelings int consideration. She must decide whether she will be happier if she completely severs the bond between them and goes where she never sees or hear of him any more and where what he does is no concern of hers or whether she will find some sort of bitter happiness in being near him, even if she is tormented by his preferring other women to her.

Sometimes a half loaf is better than no bread at all. Sometimes a woman finds a solace in clinging to even a hopeless hope. Sometimes a woman loves a man so much that life is meaningless to her without him and she is better off with him under any conditions than she would be without him.

There are material things, too, that a woman who is debating whether she shall take her wrongs to the divorce court or pocket them must consider. Especially should the middle-aged woman, whose staid and domestic husband has suddenly jumped the bars and gone chasing off after flappers, look well at this side of the question. She has a good home, a comfortable income, a settled place in society.

If she divorces her husband, what does she get? If he has property, enough alimony to live on possibly, but never enough to live on in the style to which she is accustomed. If he is a salaried man or a poor man, she is thrown out into the world to earn her own living and probably to take care of her children, and she finds that there is no market for the labor of an unskilled, untrained middle-aged woman who has never done anything but keep house.

Divorce doesn't bring back her husband's love nor heal her hurt heart. It doesn't restore her youth. It only brings her added misery and poverty.

Finally, when a woman faces the problem of whether she should divorce her unfaithful husband or not she should think of her children. They are the real sufferers in divorce, and a woman may well forgive much for the sake of keeping her home together and giving her children a father's support, a father's guidance and the start in the world that a father can give them.

But when a wife makes up her mind to forgive her husband, let her make a full job of it and forget as well as forgive. Let her wipe the slate clean and never reproach her husband with the faults that she has condoned. Better divorce than continued rattling of the bones in the family skeleton closet.

FILM is Cloudy

Teeth are white and sparkling

Film discolors teeth and then destroys them. Dentists urge a special way to remove it.

DENTAL science knows what robs teeth of brilliant whiteness. It is film, a constant menace.

It clings to teeth and gets into crevices and stays. It absorbs stains from food and smoking to turn white teeth "off color" and cloud their brilliance. Film hardens into tartar. Germs breed in it, and they, plus tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

To remove film, dentists prescribe the special film-removing dentifrice called Pepsodent. Try it today.

In a few days teeth grow whiter and begin to sparkle. Start today. Get Pepsodent at any drug counter, or write for free 10-day supply to The Pepsodent Co., 1104 S. Wabash Ave., Chicago.

Herbert Kaufman's
BEGGARS ON HORSEBACK
Daily Editorial

GREEK philosophy, from which we inherit practically all we know about human nature, observed that men, mad with power, invariably destroy themselves. All of history verifies that truth.

Wherever authority has turned Shylock and exacted the last pound of flesh from the civil body, revolt has answered such extremity. Those who hope to serve must stick to moderate courses.

Popular government is pledged to rule paternally, and with due respect for individual rights.

When its processes are oppressive or intolerably autocratic, it loses its democratic character and becomes an oligarchy, under class or group control.

Congress, through blind and cringing obedience to the dictates of prohibition fanatics, invites the suspicion of so pandering to special influence—thereby betraying a Constitutional obligation to preserve its own independence and the birthrights placed under its legislative protection.

By legally exaggerating misdemeanors into felonies and imposing penalties disproportionate to offenses, the House and Senate have put such birthrights in jeopardy.

They have invested the Volstead Act and its amendments with opportunities for official coercion and federal brutality "abhorrent to every instinct of liberty."

They have recreantly failed by statute to limit or discipline the method of enforcement.

Consequently, there is no freedom left on land or sea. Private yachts are arbitrarily bombarded, and automobilists, going about their business, halted under rifle fire.

HOMES are illegally invaded, women slain, and American citizens dragged from bed and driven sick and half-clad to death.

The silence of prohibition leaders upon the situation leaves the country no alternative but to believe that their sympathies are with any Cossack means to end the making of wine, the brewing of beer or the sale of liquor.

These United States, appalled by the openly avowed ambition of prominent zealots, to restore "life for pint" laws and increase the rigors of the Jones act, are wondering whether alcohol or reckless political power is the more dangerous source of drunkenness.

The Anti-Saloon league, intoxicated with success, would have us think, when it speaks, that we are listening to "Our Master's Voice."

The Beggar on Horseback notoriously rides with a bloody spur—and to a fall.

Intemperate morality is just as obnoxious to a nation as the immoralities of intemperance.

If Volsteadism holds to its purpose and insists upon robbing families of support, turning children into charges upon the charities, and changing useful, respected citizens into felons by inflicting compulsory and protracted imprisonment for the mere possession of a hip flask, then we might just as well save enforcement appropriations, collect the excise taxes and let John Barleycorn graduate our criminals.

DAVID BRANCH'S DAILY FILOSOFY

"He who profits by being criticised is wise."

When you or your work is criticised do not be offended, but study the criticism to see if it is just. In this way you can make your worst enemy render you valuable service.

King George's doctor bills were $125,000 during his recent illness. Just the time for the American apple growers to send his majesty a few circulars.

Love is only a disease like whooping cough or measles, says Prof. Pierre Vachet of Paris. The professor might have gone further and told us alimony was the doctor bill.

Women of the South Sea Islands are not great conversationalists, writes a traveler. Proving that if ladies haven't clothes to talk about there isn't much of anything left.

Not for the Tourists

AMERICAN towns along the Mexican border have been experiencing a rush of tourist business lately. Motorists from near and far are driving down in the hope of seeing a battle between the Mexican rebel and federal troops.

A recent dispatch says:

"American motorists who arrived at Naco, Ariz., in large numbers in hope of seeing the battle of yesterday continued around the Mexican part of the town were disappointed. It is reported another attack is being planned by the rebels."

These motorists deserve a good deal of sympathy. It must be tough to take a long drive under a broiling sun to see a little wholesale slaughter, only to find out, when you get there, that hostilities have been suspended. One hopes that these drivers were able to take in a nice hanging or two on the way home, so that their day wasn't entirely wasted.

It has been a long time since anything more fundamentally indecent than this flocking to the sidelines of battle has been reported. To be sure, we all do it by proxy, when we read accounts of the battles in the newspapers; yet there is quite a difference between reading about war and seeing it at close range.

The Mexican trouble, too, is war at its very worst. It is not as scientifically conducted as the world war, of course. Mexico, being backward, has not taken full advantage of those magnificent inventions by which the more civilized nations kill one another's citizens. But it is quite bloody enough; and, worst of all, it is featured by rather more ignorance and misunderstanding than go in most wars.

Consider the situation; a few selfish, ambitious generals decide that they want to rule Mexico, chiefly for their own benefit. They hoist the flag of rebellion and hop to it. They collect as many unlettered peasants, Indians and untaught, poverty stricken laborers as they can, put guns in their hands and proceed to grab whatever is loose. Presently the federal troops come along—composed, largely, of unfortunates with only a very little better understanding of the situation than the men in the rebel "armies"—and there is fighting.

It is a "comic opera war," we are told. The rebel generalissimos are, of course, somewhat ridiculous. Their strategy and tactics are rudimentary. At times they are nothing more than bandits in disguise.

But there is nothing comic about it to the luckless, barefooted peons who do the fighting. These chaps, tragically imposed upon, have to go out and get shot. A machine gun, you know, is an effective bit of machinery even if it be operated by a group of ragged, shoeless warriors whom any real soldier would hoot at. A mutilated Mexican, dying of lockjaw under a hot desert sun, can hardly find anything very humorous or picturesque in this Mexican war.

And it is this sort of business that American tourists go to see! It is incredible. Every death that is caused by the Mexican revolt is a thing to make the angels weep. It is not a matter for gaping tourists.

Big Attractions Coming to the Auditorium

WITHIN the next few weeks Wichita Falls will get some good use out of its splendid municipal auditorium. On April 20 the Symphonic band of the Royal Belgian Guards is coming for two performances. On April 22 Madame Schumann-Heink is coming, to be followed in the first week in May by three performances of the Passion Play.

Without such an auditorium Wichita Falls would not have gotten any of these three great cultural entertainments. They require large auditoriums so that crowds large enough to meet the large guarantees necessary for attractions of this kind can be accommodated. A number of important cities in Texas are passed up by super attractions of this character because they do not have suitable auditoriums.

It is true that these big attractions are coming rather closely bunched together, but itineraries and booking arrangements make this necessary at this time. They will not only afford our own people an opportunity to hear and see attractions of exceptional merit, but they will attract many hundreds of people to this city.

Wichita Falls having an auditorium of such size and excellence has an opportunity in this line that it is not living up to. Engagements of such attractions ought to be made throughout the season. We hope the promoters of these entertainments are so successful in their ventures that they will be encouraged to bring more of them here and keep them coming throughout next season.

Wichita Falls has spent hundreds of thousands of dollars in providing a magnificent auditorium. Why not make use of it?

A Scientist's Advice

AN AGE that prides itself on its scientific accomplishments ought to be interested in a letter sent to the American Philosophical society at Philadelphia by Dr. Carl Barus, professor of physics at Brown university.

Here is Dr. Barus' comment on the scientific age:

"I am by no means sure that to teach the people at large more science will not do more harm than good. Science lends itself to the arts of war, of aggression, of exploitation, of saboitage, quite as much as to the arts of peace.

"In other words, I think that what we need just now is not an appeal to science to set its house in order; what we need is better civil law, cleaner politics, less obstinate credulity, bigotry and quackery, and a more urgent endeavor to lift the under-dog out of his misery and into a life worth living."

MOODY AND THE BOLTER BILL

It may have been and doubtless was all right for the governor to veto the Wirtz anti-bolter bill, but when he based his objections on the damage it would do to the Democratic party it looks as if he places interest of the party above that of the state. Furthermore, if party organization cannot be maintained without the support of law it doesn't deserve to stand. —Denison (Texas) Herald.

WALL STREET AND LOANS

The big banks in New York who insist on using the resources of the federal reserve to loan for speculation at extortinate interest rates evidently are still clinging to the old idea that the rest of the country exists for the glory and the enrichment of New York.

TOONERVILLE FOLKS By Fontaine Fox

The Day Book of a New Yorker
Broadway Chatter by Grant Dixon

NEW YOR.., April 14.—John Golden, the theatrical manager, recently returned from Miami, Fla., where he has been spending the winter, to see for the first time his new show which opened during his absence, called "Let Us Be Gay." In order to get into the theater to see it Mr. Golden had to pay $10 to a speculator for a seat in the balcony, but he didn't seriously object to this because any time a manager has to pay a premium for a seat to one of his own shows it is a success.

Mr. Golden read the manuscript, thought the play had good possibilities and turned it over to his assistant to produce with the remark:

"Here, put this on, I am going to Florida."

The writer saw Mr. Golden in Miami the night that the play opened and he was then skeptical as to its success, probably feeling that it needed his fine touch to put it over. He said:

"I've got a show opening in New York tonight and I don't know whether it is any good or not But I am not going to worry about it."

He didn't need to, for he came back to find his show the hit of the town out of which he will make large sums of money.

New York is supposed to be a discourteous city yet I ran across a curious effort to promote good will the other day. Any hardened traveler on the subway, and all subway travelers to survive must be hardened, knows it is necessary to have a nickel to put in the slot. To pause during the rush hour for change is inconvenient, and, therefore, it is desirable to have a nickel handy. There is a news dealer near the Brooklyn bridge subway station who lays in an extra supply of nickels and, whenever he has to make change, always gives the subway riders a nickel as part of it, and his thoughtfulness is recognized by his patronage.

I ran into a well known breeder of horses recently and I was inquiring about a certain mare which had showed a lot of promise.

"She hasn't turned out well," remarked her owner. "She eats a lot, we do not work her much and she gets thinner all the time."

"If you figure out that formula," I suggested, "I know a lot of women who would pay a great deal for it. Anything, making you thinner by eating and not working would have a large market."

In New York indignation gets one nothing on the telephone. I don't know what system the operators adopt in other cities but it is pretty definitely established that if a telephoner complains loudly about poor service, the operators intentionally penalize him by not calling the number for a minute or two. I suppose the delay depends upon the violence of the victim.

Fannie Brice, the well known comedienne, was recently married to Billy Rose the song writer. She has two children, the father of whom is Nicky Arnstein, formerly Miss Brice's husband. Unfortunately Mr. Arnstein got mixed up in some rackets where he stumbled into trouble and spent a little time on a vacation in Atlanta at the government's expense. Before this, the Broadway gossips say he was very nimble at cards, and sometimes was able to pay his passage across the Atlantic on a steamer through the precaution of sticking a couple of decks in his back pocket before sailing.

Mr. Bugs Baer, the well known wit, was talking to Billy Rose, the present husband of Fannie Brice the other day and he asked about the children.

"They are all right," said Mr. Rose, "except they are disappointed because I cannot do card tricks like their father used to."

It's All Clear Now

It is now understood that when the customs guards asked Congressman Morgan if he had any liquor and the congressman is supposed to have said, "Four bottles," it was all a misunderstanding. What the congressman thought the customs man asked was whether he had any undeclared seashell ornaments, hats or shawls in his baggage. The customs man spoke in a loud voice and the congressman replied, "Your rear startles." This was mistaken for "Four bottles." Now it's all clear.

Lodges to Meet In Grandfield

Special to The Record News

GRANDFIELD, Okla., April 14.—Plans are being made by the Rebekahs and Odd Fellows lodges of this city to entertain lodges from over 13 other cities here, April 26, when the association meets here to celebrate the anniversary of the order.

The meeting is of special interest to the local degree team of the Odd Fellows, because they compete against other teams of the association for a banner. It is necessary to win first place four consecutive years in degree work to keep the banner and the team has won it three times, and if they are winners this year, the banner becomes the permanent property of the lodge.

The Grandfield Rebekah lodge will no compete for a banner this year. They have won first place in the contests for the past four years.

An equalization board, composed of nine men, has been selected to go over the assessments here in Grandfield and make the necessary corrections. The Lions club has selected M. C. Anderson, W. G. Medlock and J. T. Martin, members, to work on this problem, while the chamber of commerce has selected Dr. W. A. Fuqua, C. M. Murphy and E. D. Burke. Mayor R. I. Holton has also selected three men to represent the city commissioners and the nine men will meet Thursday morning to perfect their plans.

23 STREETERS RENEW FIGHT

Descendants of 'Cap' Start New Court Action

CHICAGO, April 14. (US)—Twenty-three descendants of "Cap" George Wellington Streeter today renewed their battle to win property rights in Chicago's famous "gold coast."

"Cap" Streeter died with his gun across his knees and swearing the gold coast was all his.

"Ma" Streeter died with a gun across her knees, guarding her gold coast property—since what "Cap" said was right—and law.

When she died the saga of Streeterville seemed at an end and real estate men believed that the pestering Streeterville business was at an end and there would be no more streams of petitions and injunctions to have set aside every time they wanted to build a $10,000,000 skyscraper north of the river and east of Michigan avenue.

But they counted not on the bulldog spirit of the Streeters.

Twenty-three, and every one present, descendents of the old settler appeared before Federal Judge George Carpenter with an amended petition of their property rights and asked that 3,500 defendants be ejected from the "district" and be assessed $5,000,000 damages.

The Drake hotel, the Furniture mart, the Palmolive building and other structures costing from $3,000,000 to $15,000,000 stand on the property claimed by the Streeters.

The Streeterville case dates back to the late eighties, when "Cap" Streeter ran a boat upon the shores of Lake Michigan. He let his boat stand there while the land grew all around it; he lived on that boat and on that land that was made by washed-up sand, and as the land grew he named it for his own. In all it comprises 186 acres. On May 10, 1915, he was run off his claimed territory by the police.

He several times engaged his would-be dispossessors in gun battles. Failing to retain possession of his claim by force he resorted to the courts and lost. Undaunted he returned to shotgun control, which was adopted by "Ma" Streeter.

Everybody Needs to Play

Although playfulness is usually considered the privilege of children, psychologists are coming to the belief that it is really a necessity for everyone, adults included. The ability to relax and enjoy merry-making is a necessary factor to a well balanced life in this rapidly changing, hurry-up age. People who can enjoy wholesome recreation never become neurotics.

Many of the large towns are providing municipally owned parks, bathing beaches and playgrounds for adults as well as children. The popularizing of games undoubtedly creates a sturdy, healthful race. The greatest glory of ancient Greece was built about the cultural effects of the great Olympic tests.

The present predominance of the white races is undoubtedly caused to a large extent by their love of competitive games. A child by taking an active interest in wholesome sports soon develops a force of character and the ability of sustained effort which will carry it through life and prove of great advantage in all of the contests of business, society or politics.

Playing is one of nature's methods of educating the young. Modern educators have come to realize that a child's character can be molded to a large extent by various types of games. Educational, well supervised playgrounds should be provided for country children as well as city children.

Playgrounds will do much to prevent children from playing in the streets. It is a tragical fact that at least one-half of all the deaths caused by automobiles occur to children below the age of 15. In any city or town it is not unusual to see swarms of children playing in the streets. With the high speed of modern automobiles, this condition is not only undesirable, but actually so serious as to warrant legislative action.

Most cities grow without definite planning and it is undoubtedly difficult to provide playgrounds in convenient locations in many of them, but this could be done if the chambers of commerce of the various cities would actively work for this highly desirable condition. Very likely the alleys, which are now unusually dirty and garbage-strewn could be fitted up as well groomed parks so that city children would have playgrounds at their own back yards and in this way avoid the necessity of crossing many blocks of dangerous traffic to find room to exercise their inherent right to play.

It is probably a good plan for one to arrange one's day to about eight hours of work, eight hours of sleep and eight hours for recreation and study. There should certainly be a smattering, here and there during your waking hours of remembrances of mild enjoyments, lovely thought and joyful moments.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Drainage After Operation

Question: Mrs. H. A. R. writes: "I have had an open sore on my back for eight years. Have been operated on my back three times and this has been draining ever since. Have lung trouble, and the lung is gone on the side where I have the sore. Also have three or four ribs out and have a big cavity which is packed every day by a nurse. Could you tell me how this draining could be stopped?"

Answer: In some cases the continued draining from an operation can be stopped by using the fasting and dieting regime. It may be necessary to repeat the fast at frequent intervals of about one month apart until improvement is noticed. Of course, it may be that some local irritation or foreign substance is preventing the healing and this would have to be removed. The actinic light treatments might also be helpful for this trouble.

Liver As Food

Question: V. A. D. writes: "I read an article in a health magazine stating that liver would cause Bright's disease. What is the truth about this statement? I had always thought that liver was good food, especially in anemic conditions or where the blood was poor."

Answer: I believe I read the same article you refer to which was written by a doctor who is a vegetarian. I have experimented in every way with liver in such conditions as anemia, but regret to say that I cannot observe any lasting good effects from this treatment. Both the liver and kidneys contain certain toxic substances which counteract the good from their food value, which is otherwise much the same as any other meat. In my "salad days" I was a vegetarian, but for many years past I have believed in the value of the use of wholesome meats. The benefit from meat eating has been proven to me by experience with thousands of patients. I even recommend gelatin which is sometimes made from the hoofs and hides of animals, but I have not been able to find a place for liver in the diets of my patients.

SPUDS WHALE CATS AND SHOW THEY ARE READY FOR OPENER

DICK SULLIVAN LEADS ATTACK

Timely Hitting, Sharp Fielding Wins, 5 to 1

By LARRY DAILEY
Record News Sports Editor

Our Spudders are ready for the Texas league championship opener Wednesday at Shreveport. Any doubt that may have been held by the skeptics over the class or condition of Jim Galloway's athletes was removed yesterday when they trounced the Fort Worth Cats to even the two-game series out at the orchard. The score was 5 to 1.

It wasn't so much that the Spudders won, but that they showed power on the attack and played sparkling defensive ball to indicate that the high place forecast for them by critics all around the loop is justified.

The Wichita Falls athletes pounded the veteran Jimmy Walkup for seven hits in six innings, four of their blows figuring in their scoring while he was on the hill. Goff, a young righthander, gave up two knocks which resulted in a brace of runs in two innings he worked.

Mr. Sullivan Hits 1,000

Young Dick Sullivan, who hustled his way into the lineup, showed highly pleasing batting ability. Dick led the attack with a perfect day at bat, with three hits and a sacrifice in four times up, drove home one runner, advanced another comrade who eventually scored and tallied one marker himself.

Rabbit Benton smacked a pair of knocks and was the only other Spudder to get more than one hit.

Milt Steengrafe and Chick Galeria hurled effectively and were backed by sensational fielding. Only one error was made by the homelings and fast and at times brilliant defensive work, including two double plays, helped turn back the hostiles when they threatened.

Steengrafe held the Panthers scoreless and to four hits for the five rounds he worked and the big righthander showed he is ready to chuck the opener if called upon. He was a trifle unsteady, passing four, but bore down when threatened and thanks to the mentioned keen support kept the enemy away from the dish.

Galeria gave promise of being a regular hurler with some fine pitching. The slender, bespectacled southpaw held Uncle Jake Atz' batters to three hits and the one run in the last four innings. He walked two, Chick has lots of stuff and special attention paid to him recently by Boss Galloway and his aides is bearing fruit. It seemed yesterday that Galeria is learning to successfully employ his natural hurling resources. In which event he is a foremost candidate for retention.

Keystone Pair Shine

Benton and Turgeon glittered with scintillating defensive play, and Sullivan and Orr, the latter another rookie outfielder, flashed some fast work in the gardens. Orr incidentally also got one of the hits.

Bud Stapleton, the first baseman recently acquired from Montreal of the International league, made his debut yesterday in Spudder regalia. It was Bud's first day in a monkey suit for a week and following the long train ride here from Bridgeport, Conn., he naturally is rusty. But he showed all the qualifications expected of a highly touted fielder and a cut at the plate that indicated he will hold his own on the attack when he is acclimated. Stapleton bats and throws lefthanded.

Despite a high wind it was a fast game, played in the speedy time of an hour and 35 minutes, and was viewed by some 1,500 highly enthusiastic fans.

Some weren't so enthusiastic before the game. But the Spudders made believers out of that scattered few.

Spudders Score in First

The Spudders scored two runs in the first inning. Benton led off with a single to right and stole second when he got a big lead and beat Riley's toss on a belated throw from Rensa. Turgeon singled to center, Benton scoring, and Pete went all the way to third on Moore's return into the dugout. Sullivan's long lift to Moore tallied Turgeon.

A base on balls, a close decision by Ziggy Sears on a bunt by Harrington down the foul line and a hit by Shiver filled the bases in the fourth with one out but Steengrafe bore down and some fast fielding by Swenson and Benton prevented scoring.

Wichita Falls tallied one in its fourth. Sullivan started it with a single to center and moved to second while Urban was tossing out Bennett. Swenson also grounded to Urban. Orr hit sharply to center for a base, Sullivan scoring from second.

A sparling stop by Turgeon on Urban's harsh grounder far to his left in the fifth started a double play that again nipped the Panthers.

Hits by Sullivan, Bennett and Swenson filled the bases for the Spudders in the sixth with one out but Orr and Stapleton both struck out.

Cats Tally in Seventh

The Cats scored in the seventh. Shiver, first up, was passed. Benton came up with glittering snatch of Pierce's grounder and Shiver was forced at second. Rensa doubled to left, scoring Pierce.

Galloway's Gallopers added two more in the seventh. Lapan walked and stole second when Rensa again threw to Riley. Riley took Galeria's roller. Benton singled to center, scoring Lapan, and Rabbit went to second on the throw-in. Turgeon fanned. Sullivan hit through short, Benton scoring when Rensa muffed Moore's throw.

Chick Galeria struck out Chick Shiver for the third out in the eighth with runners on second and third.

NOTES OF THE GAME

Two more workouts will be held by the Spudders before they open the championship season Wednesday at Shreveport—an extensive drill this afternoon and a short but snappy session tomorrow morning.

Headed by Prexy J. Alvin Gardner and Manager James Cato Galloway, the Spudders will board a rattler tomorrow at noon for the Louisiana burg.

Howard Fitzgerald worked out before yesterday's game and though limping from his injured ankle, is ready to play Wednesday.

Brick Eldred, his hand badly injured but not broken, saw the game from the stands. He will be out a couple of weeks.

Eddie Moore robbed Pete Turgeon of a hit in the sixth inning with a long run on a driving smash.

Turgeon handled 12 chances with only one error and Benton accepted eight chances flawlessly in their brilliant defensive play.

Wally Swenson also flashed some fast fielding and started one of the double plays. Wally is hitting the ball hard and his knocks soon will go for base hits. That's the old percentage.

Red Bennett continued his batting clip with one hit yesterday, following his five for five Saturday.

Jim went back to his old batting order, with Turgeon hitting second and Swenson fifth.

New York Clubs Favored to Win Major Flags in Races Opening Tuesday

Managers Name Opening Day Lineups For Big League Pennant Campaigns

CHICAGO, April 14. (AP)—Convinced that Manager Joe McCarthy has welded a pennant winning team together at last, a capacity throng of 49,000 is expected to jam Wrigley field Tuesday to watch the Cubs and Pittsburgh Pirates clash in their National league lid raising battle.

While pitching selections have not been announced, Sheriff Blake or Charlie Root is assumed to be the Cubs' choice.

WHITE SOX DOUBTFUL

CHICAGO, April 14. (AP)—The White Sox start their American league campaign at St. Louis Tuesday with a team of small probabilities but great possibilities.

Excepting Pitchers Thomas, Faber and Lyons, Third Baseman Willie Kamm and Outfielder Metzler, the 1929 edition of Comiskey's machine is inexperienced, weak at the bat but willing and aggressive.

TIGERS UNCERTAIN

DETROIT, April 14. (AP)—Upset by injuries and unsatisfactory performances during the training season, the Detroit Tigers personnel for the opening game of the championship season at Cleveland Tuesday still is undetermined. Three pitchers, Ower Caroll, George Uhle and Earl Whitehill are in line for the initial assignment with Whitehill the tentative choice.

Manager Bucky Harris still is confronted with a problem at shortstop. Heinie Schuble, obtained from Houston, failed to deliver and the position has been filled by Nolen Richardson, from Fort Worth.

LUCAS TO PITCH

CINCINNATI, April 14. (AP)—Despite the good showing of several recruits this spring, Manager Hendricks has decided that his opening lineup against the champion St. Louis Cardinals Tuesday will be made up entirely of veterans with Red Lucas doing the pitching.

Clyde Sukeforth will do the catching.

SHAUTE MAY HURL

CLEVELAND, April 14. (AP)—The Cleveland Indians, one of the question marks of the American league, will open the 1929 season here Tuesday with many new faces in the lineup.

Joe Shaute is expected to draw the initial pitching assignment against the Detroit Tigers, but Manager Peckinpaugh has made no definite announcement.

ROBINS NOT READY

NEW YORK, April 14. (AP)—So far as the Giants and Yankees are concerned, the major leagues' 1929 season can't start too soon but Wilbert Robinson of the Brooklyn Dodgers would like to have the opening day postponed for a month or so.

The Yankees are overwhelming favorites to take their fourth consecutive American league pennant and John McGraw's Giants have been given a slight edge in preseason selections on the outcome of the National league race. But Robinson and his Dodgers apparently are doomed to be left at the National league post.

ALEX, GRAY NAMED

ST. LOUIS, April 14. (AP)—The veteran Grover Cleveland Alexander is the probable choice of Manager Southworth to pitch for the St. Louis Cardinals in the opening game of the season against the Reds at Cincinnati Tuesday.

Manager Dan Howley of the Browns has chosen Pitcher Sam Gray to face the Chicago White Sox in the season's opener here.

Howley believes his team has a real chance to win the pennant.

CONNIE MACK PESSIMISTIC

PHILADELPHIA, April 14. (AP)—Hopeful that this will be his lucky year, Connie Mack will pilot his Philadelphia Athletics to Washington tomorrow for the opening game with the Senators Tuesday.

In Philadelphia the rejuvenated Phillies will engage the New York Giants in the National league getaway.

Mack is not optimistic. Some of his regulars have been slow rounding into condition and Simmons, hard hitting outfielder, is out of the game for the present with rheumatism.

Even though Shortstop Thevenow will be out of the game for weeks because of injuries, Manager Shotton thinks the Phillies will be tough pickings from the opening gong.

Willoughby is the choice to open against the Giants.

VETS COMPRISE SPUDDER TEAM

Brilliant Rookies Complete Pennant Contender

By LARRY DAILEY
Record News Sports Editor

A veteran lineup, at least so far as Texas league clubs go this season, will carry the colors of J. Alvin Gardner's Wichita Falls Spudders in the Texas league derby this campaign. Presence of several athletes of tried and proved ability, with a few rookies of brilliant promise, gives assurance that the Spudders again will be contenders for the pennant.

Three experienced pitchers and a flock of youngsters comprise the slab staff. George Payne and Milt Steengrafe, veteran righthanders and rated as among the best in the league, and Harold Wiltse, the southpaw from the St. Louis Browns, are the veterans.

Ed Taber from the Eastern league, Fred Stiely from the New York-Pennsylvania league, Chick Galeria, back from Abilene for another trial here, and Ed Ellis, up from the Southeastern loop, are other left-handers.

Cy Smith, a gigantic right-hander from the Piedmont circuit, has shown the most promise of the new hurlers and he is regarded as certain to be retained. Russell Cromer, who pastimed at the Abilene ranch of the Spudders last year, completes the staff of throwers. He is a right-hander of possibilities, but probably needs more experience before he is ready for Texas league ball.

Pete Lapan, than whom there is no more dangerous hitter on the Spudder roster, and maskman of great experience, is figured as the regular catcher. Bob Snyder, a "comeback" receiver, who also has played baseball several years, and Jack Crouch, regarded as a potential big-leaguer, are contesting for the second catching job. Crouch looms as a "find." He led the Western association in batting last season and is a natural receiver.

Veteran Spudders make up three-fourths of the infield. Pete Turgeon again is at second base. Wally Swenson at third base and Rabbit Benton at shortstop.

Frank (Bud) Stapleton, purchased last week from the Montreal club of the International league, and Dallas Clements, a youngster, will fight it out for the first base assignment. Stapleton is a lefthanded thrower and batter. Clements throws with his right hand and is a switch hurler.

There are three contestants for the utility infield berth. Because he is a youngster of such great possibilities, it seems that Debs Garms, another graduate from Abilene, may be the one to be retained. He is one of the fastest men in baseball. George Spiers, an experienced and splendid ball player, and Milt Gordon, a rookie from the New York-Pennsylvania circuit, are other infielders still in the race for the utility job.

Veterans, two of them holdovers, complete the outfield. Red Bennett, for the past two seasons a leading hitter in the Western league, is filling Tut Jenkins' place in left field. Howard Fitzgerald, the fleet ball hawk and dangerous hitter, is back in center and Brick Eldred again will patrol right, when he recovers from an injured hand.

Dick Sullivan and Garland Orr, still another pair from Abilene, are contending for the place as reserve gardener.

Some of the athletes are on the hospital list, but all except Eldred and Stiely are patched up to enable them to play in the opener Wednesday at Shreveport. Meanwhile, the club will carry on, and with sufficient reserve strength on hand, Boss J. Alvin Gardner and Skipper Jim Galloway will lead the athletes on the road with the determination of getting away to a running start.

THE year 1929 will be remembered by Spudder fans as the year of jinx. Never before has a Wichita Falls ball club encountered such adversity in spring training as that met by the athletes this year. Injuries and illness have beset players and weather on days that exhibition games were carded was atrocious. It seemed that the elements were loosened in their fury, with cold or rain—or both, when games were booked. This resulted in the cancellation of two contests and several others being played under conditions not conducive to the acquiring of baseball form by the athletes.

It seems that almost every day one of the athletes suffered some sort of mishap and most of the injured tossers were regulars. Hooks Wiltse is recovering from a near-infected heel that kept him out of uniform a few days and retarded his work. George Payne has a heavy cold. Fred Stiely, the promising southpaw rookie, injured his back in the simple process of picking up a ball. It will be several days before he is able to don diamond regalia. Ed Taber was ill when he reported and has been slow in rounding into form.

TWO catchers were victims of the jinx and for several days Pete Lapan was the only able-bodied maskman. Jack Crouch twisted an ankle and Bob Snyder misplaced a rib. Both Bob and Jack are in uniform now, however.

Infielders have been fortunate in escaping injury, but Debs Garms, the highly promising rookie shortstop, sprained an ankle and has not regained the speed that makes him one of the fastest men in baseball.

Two regular outfielders are on the crippled list; one will be out two weeks and the other still is limping, though he probably will play Wednesday in the opener at Shreveport. Brick Eldred was hit on the hand by a pitched ball Saturday in the game with the Fort Worth Cats. Luck was with the Spudders and the heavy-hitting gardener in one respect: no bones were broken. But it will be several days before he can grip a bat or catch a ball. Howard Fitzgerld, a third sufferer of a twisted ankle, and all sustained in sliding into second base, is recovering from that injury.

Spudder officials and players and fans here breathed a sigh of relief when the last spring game was played yesterday. It's been a tough training session.

IF—

(As Kipling might have written it if he had been a golfer).

If you can bow your head when all about you
Are lifting theirs and acting just like dubs;
If you can swing back slowly as you ought to,
No matter what may be your choice of clubs;
If you can let the club-head do the hitting
And not your shoulders, body or kneesp
And never for a moment feel like quitting
When your progress is not good enough to please:

If you can practice till you are a master,
And send the ball exactly where you aim;
If you can meet with triumph and disaster,
And never lose your head or spoil your game;
If you can bear to see the ball you've driven
Twisted by winds to find a trap for fools;
Or watch the clubs you'd give your life for, broken,
And grin and fight it out with worn-out tools:

If you can lose your ball and keep your virtue,
Or, putting, never lose that velvet touch;
If neither sun nor howling wind can hurt you,
If all strokes count with you but none too much;
If you can fill the unforgiving minute
With 60 seconds' worth of good work done,
Yours is the cup and everything that's in it,
And many more before you're through, my son.

The Parade Starts Again

On Wednesday of this week one of the leading forms of the national rash breaks out again. The long march swings from April into October where 16 major league ball clubs will make an earnest effort to collect the winning or losing end of the next world series.

The early part of the season last spring was wrecked by bad weather, thereby affecting the receipts in many cities. By the time the weather had cleared the Yankees were practically out of sight in the American league and four National league cities had practically vanished from the scene.

The main interest in at least six or eight cities flourishes in April and May before the home team has blown up with a depressing crash. After that only the leaders have any great chance to lure out the multitude in large clusters and thereby collect the cash.

The race in the American league will be another pursuit of the Yankees. The Athletics and Browns may do most of this pursuing, but if the Yankees get even average pitching they will be as hard to catch as a kangaroo. Ruth and Gehrig alone are a tough ball club to manhandle, once they get warmed up to the main job. The Athletics should keep in closer range than any other rival, but they must show more stuff against the Yankees than they had to offer last year. When the Yankees decide to step out and smear some club they generally make the smearing stick. They proved that in the last two world series and they proved it in flattening the Athletics at almost every meeting. They slipped Grove six out of his eight defeats and he was the toughest pitcher in the league to whip.

The Harder Race

The National league race should be more interesting with four clubs well bunched over most of the route. There is no great gap where the Cubs, Giants, Pirates and Cardinals are concerned. The Cubs have the better chance to win, but one or two accidents or injuries can haul them back in a week.

There should be another old fashioned war between the Cubs and the Giants, a war that dates back to the ancient duels between Christy Mathewson and Mordecai Brown that are still remembered as one of the high spots of baseball.

The fact that Cubs and Giants are both given a big chance this season means big crowds in the two largest cities, where the Cubs may again break the home attendance record.

John J. McGraw won his first Giant pennant 26 years ago and he will make a desperate effort to land his eleventh pennant by the next fall. Any club that wins out in this league will have to hustle along the entire route.

No Slump in Sight

There has been gossip here and there that baseball interest is beginning to wane, but there is no attendance slump in sight—especially in the cities with first division clubs.

There is a good chance this season that both leagues will set an attendance record, especially if they get good spring weather. Only the most rabid of the fanatics will attend ball games wherever coats and umbrellas are needed.

There will be no sign of any attendance slump in the general vicinity of Babe Ruth. This goes for any county in the United States. And apparently he doesn't have to keep hitting home runs to lure them out. There is always the possibility, and this means at least four exciting spots through each afternoon. The Ruth-Gehrig slugging race will be one of the high lights and this may be Gehrig's year to rule. An old bloke by the name of Time is working more and more for him every passing year.

Tramel and Hall Headline Boxing

Popular Welters Feature Show Wednesday

Duke Tramel and Cyclone Hall, favorites of Wichita Falls boxing enthusiasts, will headline Alex Ross' weekly boxing show Wednesday night at the Palace theater. The 10-round battle of the welterweights is eagerly awaited by fistic fans here, who for several weeks have argued the fighting ability of the Cyclone and Duke.

Red Williams of Childress and Hugh Gray of Lawton, Okla., will meet in an eight-round semi-windup. They are middleweights, and Professor Ross says their scrap will be a slugging match.

Joe Hooks of Stamford and Brady Finley of Duncan, Okla., featherweights, will step for six rounds. Two four-rounders complete the card.

Horseshoe Pitchers League Opens Today

Play in the eight-team Wichita Falls Horseshoe Pitchers' league will be started today at Scotland park. The following teams meet in the opener:

Bailey-Moline vs. First Presbyterian, Gas company vs. Katy railroad, Scimitar club vs. KGKO, Panhandle steel vs. First Methodist.

Plans call for a split season, the second half opening July 18. Games will be played on Monday and Thursday nights at Scotland park at 8 o'clock.

A'S AND CUBS HIGHLY RATED

Another Hard-Fought Campaign Looms

By HERBERT W. BARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Sixteen major league baseball teams tomorrow will hit the trail that leads to pennants or disillusionment. On or before Oct. 6, closing day of the 1929 campaign, 14 teams will be left free to offer alibis while the remaining two are battling it out in the world's series.

So far as expert opinion goes, they could start playing the world series now with the New York Yankees, American league champions for the last three years, meeting their metropolitan rivals, the New York Giants, who have gained the doubtful honor of being picked to capture the National league crown this year.

But fortunately for the non-experts pennants are not decided that way. Much can happen in a 154-game schedule and the experts are wrong as often as they're right—oftener, some might say.

Yanks Have Worries

But the Yankees despite some pitching worries and an infield experiment yet to be tested seem to rate a jump or two ahead of the American league field.

The Giants' "paper" margin in the National league is so slight as to be almost non-existent. Chicago, St. Louis and Pittsburgh all appear strong enough to win the pennant if they can get the "breaks."

Chief opposition to the Yanks' fourth consecutive championship probably will come from Connie Mack's Philadelphia Athletics, the St. Louis Browns, the Detroit Tigers and Washington Senators. Cleveland, Chicago and Boston appear slated for the last three positions without debate.

Mack has little change in his Athletic lineup, which gave the Yankees many an anxious moment last summer; the Browns, under skillful handling by Dan Howley surprised the experts by finishing third and may do so again; the Tigers of Detroit, with great potentialities have Bucky Harris at the helm this year; Washington, with Walter Johnson as manager, has compiled a sensational record in spring training games and looks like the "dark horse" of the coming campaign. But over and above all these teams hangs the menace in the bats of Ruth, Gehrig, Lazzeri and Meusel of the Yankees. Miller Huggins thinks those bats will give him another title.

Four National Contenders

The National league campaign, at this moment, looks like another ding-dong battle. The Giants, with a well balanced club, have the advantage of John McGraw's genius for getting the most out of his men, but the Cubs, with Hornsby at second base, look almost as formidable.

The St. Louis Cardinals, champions last year, are conducting an infield experiment and Billy Southworth must work with a pitching staff that rapidly is getting no younger.

Pittsburgh Pirates, with a great batting punch and a fine pitching staff, may drop many games before Donie Bush arrives at an effective infield.

Junior College Mock Majestic Promises Fun for Patrons of Show

Since its origin four years ago by Estal Parham, popular student artist and director, the Junior College Mock Majestic has been an event looked forward to by students of the college. It is every year one of the chief enterprises of the staff of The Wal-Kun, the college annual, to foster this performance. This year's program on Tuesday has a number of exceptionally good amateur acts, according to its promoters.

Songs by the Faith City Melody Maids, Katherine Keller and Loneta Smith, known to all KGKO listeners; songs and dances, with plenty of comedy for pepper and spice, by Lefty Watson and Walter Pinney, also well known among KGKO patrons, and for several years well known in amateur circles for the high quality of acting; a whistling, dancing barefoot boy novelty act by Katherine Douglass, one of the cleverest of the younger artists of the school; popular songs by Fred Sehman, recent find in the song field; dances by Dolores Peavy, followed by a mock ballet by Lem Park and his chorus; the usual introduction of jokes and news reels, with orchestra; a character monologue by Ameel Kouri, which has been a hit on numbers of occasions here; tap dancing by the duo of Hambrick and Carter, and a playlet in three spasms by Director Mack Thomas are among the list of acts which will be presented.

A thoroughly high-caliber tone is promised throughout and plenty of fun for everybody's liking has been the goal of the committee developing the performance. Mack Thomas, editor of the Wal-Kun, is general director; a committee of Oliver Fudge and Dick Long, with Professor A. F. Edwards as sponsor of the Outdoor, Tennis and Senate clubs, are representing the clubs, and the Wal-Kun business staff, consisting of Professor R. O. Jonas, sponsor; Jim Barton, Ameel Kouri and Rita Bob Turner, student members, is in charge of management. Tickets are being sold at 25 and 50 cents, proceeds to go to the annual.

ITALIA'S CREW TO BE SOUGHT

Engineer Plans Expedition To Polar Region

ROME, April 14. (UP)—Gianni Albertini, Italian engineer, who took part in the search for missing members of the wrecked polar dirigible Italia's crew last summer, announced today his plans to renew the search late this month.

Albertini already has visited Oslo in connection with plans for the expedition, which will be outfitted to follow through the slender thread of hope that the seven men lost when the balloon part of the Italia was blown away might still be alive in the Arctic.

The engineer will use a whaling boat chartered in Norway for the search and he hopes to leave from a Norwegian port probably by April 25, he said.

To Take Wireless Man

The search, as outlined by Albertini, would be made through a large area between the southeastern coast of Spitzbergen and Franz Joseph land. He said he does not exclude the possibility that the so-called balloon crew spent the winter in Franz Joseph land.

Albertini's expedition will include an officer of the Italian navy as navigator, he said, as well as an amateur wireless operator from Milan. Two Alpine guides from Aosta valley will participate. Norwegians will make up a majority of the members of the boat crew.

Funds for the expedition have been collected by a special committee headed by Senator Cerspi and Senator Bevione, and already total more than $20,000, including $1,000 donated by Pope Piux XI. Relatives of Ugo Lago, correspondent of the newspaper Popolo Italia, who was aboard the Italia, have contributed $2,000.

The pope was said to have expressed pleasure in aiding the expedition. He took a great interest in the Italia expedition, headed by former Gen. Umberto Nobile, which ended in disaster while returning from the north pole.

Albertini has conferred with Premier Benito Mussolini in connection with his plans.

Wellington Bank Reports Splendid

Special to The Record News

WELLINGTON, Texas, April 14.—Bank statements rendered this week by the three banks in Wellington show them to be in good condition and indicate that this section is in splendid financial circumstances.

There is now deposit in Wellington banks $1,582,971.16 while these banks have loans at the present time amounting to $985,918.16.

Although these figures are somewhat lower than the last report given out by the banks Jan. 1, they are nevertheless quite satisfactory for this time of the year and show the banks to be in sound condition.

Total figures for the county would be somewhat larger if the statement of the Dodsonville bank was added, as the Dodsonville bank is one of the strongest country banks in this section of the state and their deposits and loans will both compare quite favorably to any of the smaller banks.

Less Wheat Planted Near Altus This Year

Special to The Record News.

ALTUS, Okla., April 14.—Wheat acreage in Jackson county is estimated to be only 20 per cent of that planted last year, according to J. M. Moore, who furnished crop estimates and records for the United States bureau of agriculture.

About 300,000 bushels of wheat were harvested during the 1928 season in this county.

Although the amount planted is unusually small, indications are now that a 100 per cent crop will be the result. Recent rains have aided materially.

Donley County Votes for Agent

Special to The Record News

CLARENDON, Texas, April 14.—The Donley county commissioners court in regular meeting here this week voted and set aside an appropriation to match state and federal funds for the employment of a county farm agent. The county has had a home demonstration agent for several years and at one time had a farm agent but has been without his services for the past seven years. Farmers of the county are intensely interested in dairying and terracing and have voiced a desire for help from the extension service along these lines. Word has been received from the extension service officials that an agent would be employed as soon as possible for the county. Donley county by virtue of its topography is a diversified county and offers a fertile field for extension work in both home and farm agents line of work.

Record Wheat Yield Seen at Clarendon

Special to The Record News

CLARENDON, Texas, April 14.—Donley county wheat acreage for 1929 is some 10 to 15 per cent under that of 1928 but with ideal conditions and plenty of rain at this time indications are that the production will be larger than last year, when the largest yield for the county was made. Rains came this year the last of March, always a dry season here, and the time of the year that usually cuts wheat yield on account of drouth. With this moisture and an early spring, conditions for a good wheat yield are ideal.

'TABOR LUCK' GOOD AS EVER

Widow Again Finds Way To Save Famous Mine

DENVER, Colo., April 14. (UP)—"Tabor luck" held good today when Mrs. Elizabeth Tabor, widow of the late Senator Tabor, announced she had arranged to meet the mortgage on the Matchless gold mine.

Throughout the west "Tabor luck" is a legend. It made a poor stone quarry worker a multimillionaire mining man, took him to the heights of political and social prestige, and apparently has not deserted his widow.

Five times in the last 20 years the courageous little widow has rescued her gold mine from creditors at the 11th hour. Years ago it made millions for her husband, and she has clung to the hope that even yet it will rehabilitate her lost fortune.

A social butterfly, Mrs. Tabor married the late senator at the height of his career, and the president of the United States was a guest at the wedding. Her husband showered upon her luxuries of every description.

But when he died the Matchless mine was the only property he left to her. She determined to wring wealth from it. Lacking funds, she mortgaged the mine to buy machinery and employ miners. Soon the funds gave out and the mortgage became due. At the 11th hour another was arranged and the mine was saved for the first time.

Even so, Mrs. Tabor lacked funds to employ workmen. There was one, who had known her husband in his palmiest days, who himself believed the legend of "Tabor luck" and was willing to work for nothing until such time as pay dirt would be encountered again.

This miner, a Hungarian, and Mrs. Tabor herself, a frail, aging little woman, went into the mine and worked, where once had resounded the click of a hundred picks. But the pay dirt eluded them. From time to time, the mortgage would come due. Each time, when the future appeared darkest for the little widow, she would arrange in the nick of time for its renewal.

Last July the mine was auctioned to the Shorego Mining company. Mrs. Tabor had six months in which to redeem it. At the expiration of the period, John H. Reddin, attorney for the mining company, announced that in consideration of the widow's valiant fight the company voluntarily would extend the time to April 17. That is next Wednesday.

Mrs. Tabor came to Denver today from her cabin in California Gulch beside the mine, near Leadville, and said she had interested the C. H. Stephens company of New York in taking up the mortgage and operating the mine under an agreement that assures her a share of the profits. The mortgage will be paid before next Wednesday, she said.

Donley County Banks In Good Condition

Special to The Record News.

CLARENDON, Texas, April 14.—The excellent condition of Donley county is reflected in the last bank statements issued here this week. The five banks of the county show combined deposits of $1,959,702.25 with $1,539,595.04 of the amount in the Clarendon banks and balance of $420,107.21 in the Hedley banks. These figures show a considerable gain over the same time last year when $1,303,918.25 was on deposit in all the banks of the county. This condition of finances in the county is attributed to the bumper crops of the past year and the program of dairying and poultry that is being conducted in connection with the regular farming practices of the county including stock raising, cotton and small grain production.

DEMOCRACY FOUNDED ON "LAW OBEDIENCE"

BIBLE CLASS HEARS ADDRESS

Free Government Cannot Live With Selfishness

One hundred and seventy members of the Kay Bible class of the First Methodist church heard a stirring appeal Sunday morning from C. A. Rogers on behalf of complete and sincere obedience to law as the saving element in democracy.

Referring to law enforcement in Wichita Falls and in the nation, the speaker declared that "selfishness and free government have nothing in common. The one must stand and the other fall.

"Unless the majesty of law excites reverence and respect on the part of the majority of the good citizens, democracy is unsafe. Democratic government is the last result of human wisdom acting upon human experience for the benefit of the masses," said Mr. Rogers.

Influence of Adults

Speaking of the influence of adults upon the young people of the present day, the speaker said: "Influence is not derived from the declaration of beautiful church ideals; it can come only from the actions of individuals. Honest and unbiased decision of character is the greatest educational power that can be wielded."

Referring to the 18th amendment, and declaring that "the essence of personal liberty rests in supporting to the minutest detail our great constitution and the laws derived therefrom," Mr. Rogers added: "It is a mistaken idea that democracy is on trial; it is not. Democracy is an ideal, and is infallible. We are on trial to see if we are capable of receiving and assimilating this priceless ideal."

"It is the duty of a good citizen to obey the law just because it is the law," declared the speaker. "I concede to no man the right to disregard the law because it conflicts with his desires or appetites."

The address in full follows:

"The lesson today gives us the story of the reign of Hezekiah, and the influence of honesty and straightforwardness in government. Hezekiah's father had been a very bad ruler and had left his subjects in a very unwholesome state of mind regarding all government, for he had led them away from righteousness and had used his power for personal gain. But Hezekiah had as his adviser that good old safe and saintly character, Isaiah. In today's lesson we find the king trying to reunite his people by inviting them to join together in the sacred rites of the Passover, which had not been celebrated by them in any great way for a long time. He wanted to get them together and break them away from the worship of false gods which his father had set up.

"Unless we apply this lesson to ourselves and our day, it becomes merely an historic incident. Who is the temporal king of the nation, and what is he doing or undoing for our people? The basic philosophy of democratic government is incorporated in the idea of government by the consent of the governed for the welfare of society as a whole rather than for the welfare of the individual who may chance to be in power. It contemplates no selfishness on the part of the individual ruler or subject. It recognizes that each citizen is, to some extent, both sovereign and subject. It is patent, therefore, that selfishness and free government have nothing in common. The one must stand and the other fall. Herein is found the distinction between the good rule of Hezekiah and the bad rule of his father. Hezekiah was more of a public servant than king, and expresses the American ideal in leadership in government.

Making Criminals

"This week I noticed a bit of criticism of our city government, especially referring to the police department. The criticism was constructive and well founded. It has already had some effect and will have more. It do not believe the arresting of a law-abiding citizen or his wife for a slight error at a light signal is quite so important as catching a few bootleggers and burglars. In the first instance you are trying to add to the criminal class, while in the second you are subtracting from it. I know a town where you can't sleep at night for the fights pulled off in the street by the drunks and bootleggers, and yet you can drive up to a lonesome light signal where there is neither pedestrian nor car in sight, and should you perchance cross the line one second before the bell stops ringing the much-needed traffic cop will jump from behind a post and your criminal record will start then and there.

"A democratic government can survive only so long as it has just laws and they are rigidly enforced according to their relative importance. The essence of democracy is not subordination, but is co-operation in carrying out the will and purpose of duly constituted laws.

"Unless the majesty of laws excites reverence and respect on the part of the majority of good citizens, democracy is unsafe. For a people too selfish and insincere to grasp this viewpoint monarchy is the only government. Democratic government is the last result of human wisdom acting upon human experience for the benefit of the masses.

"I said a while ago that the citizen is both subject and sovereign in the land of ours. Therefore the sum total of his righteousness and reverence for duly constituted law is the measure of the success of our government by the people. If the citizen is insincere then the government has no foundation and cannot stand. The outstanding test of loyalty at this time is in the enforcement of the 18th amendment. President Hoover in his inaugural address made the startling, yet self-evident, statement that if the criminal classes were the only violators of the 18th amendment the problem of enforcement would not exist.

Liquor Traffic

"In the liquor traffic, as in anything else, it is a fundamental economic law that the ultimate consumer governs the volume of business and is the direct occasion for the existence of that business. The bootlegger is merely plying a trade where there is a supply and demand, with a profit and the sanction of some good citizen as his justification. If there were no ultimate consumers there could be no bootleggers, and the majesty of the law and the constitution would not be endangered. It makes no difference whether the ultimate consumer bought his product or it was given to him; there is no getting away from the fact that the ultimate consumer governs the volume of business. In the light of this fact how can any man respect the constitution as he should and at the same time keep the bootlegger in business and become indirectly a partner in the violation of the law. I believe the day is at hand when the law will regard the purchaser as a full partner in the crime.

"It has come to the point where every walk and age of life, from the well trained and noble-minded high school boys and girls down to the bootleggers, can point to some church member, or some good club or lodge member, as their example and justification. Is it conceivable that a churchman through his thoughtless or indifferent acts would in any way counteract the noble influence of our homes upon the youth of the community? Influence is not derived from declaration of beautiful church ideals; it can come only from the actions of individuals. Our success or failure will be determined largely by our willingness to see and correct our wrong impressions. There never existed a great or useful man who forced artificial opinions upon his friends. He always compels by virtue of his own example. Honest and unbiased decision of character is the greatest educational power that can be wielded; it invariably clears a way for itself amid opposition.

Personal Liberty

"Twenty centuries ago Mt. Vesuvius buried a city with mud and lava. Centuries passed. A citizen of a new city while digging a well discovered the old one. In the course of excavation a cavity was found. It was filled with liquid plaster of paris and given time to set. Digging out, there was found a perfect reproduction of a man. Flesh and bones were gone, but the impression of the real man had survived the ages. Today, while we busy ourselves talking about the welfare of our boys and trying to preserve for them our national integrity, they are digging away superficialities and laying bare our true forms, setting them up as their models. By virtue of our church affiliations, we have accepted the responsibility—it is ours—but the true models formed of our actions are theirs, and we can't get them back. Influence means a flowing into. It is an inevitable and vital part of life, and is governed only by our actions, be they what they may.

"We hear much about personal liberty. But if my own personal liberty is at the expense and profanation of my constitution, shall it be construed as freedom? The essence of personal liberty rests in supporting to the minutest detail our great constitution and the laws derived therefrom. By what mental process can we see personal liberty in acts that are at the expense and endangerment of society?

"History tells us that when the mighty Roman empire was at its height the great middle classes proclaimed their loyalty from the seven hills and across the banquet tables. But they had their secret evasion of mind and felt that all laws were not for them. Their cry was personal liberty. It was then that Rome fell, and today the traveler sees the relics of these colossal monuments to the mightiest empire of another age, as they fall piece by piece into the garden below, as if stripping themselves for a final plunge into oblivion. It is a mistaken idea that democracy is on trial; it is not. Democracy is an ideal, and is infallible. We are on trial to see if we are capable of receiving and assimilating this priceless ideal.

Basis of Democracy

"If each citizen shall have the personal liberty to judge for himself whether a particular law is entitled to his obedience, then our democracy is headed squarely for the rocks. Except for the human tendency for personal exemption from laws, we would need no constituted authority; and if all the laws could be made to suit all the people what use would we have for any laws? Exemption and wilful violation of laws that displease simply brands constitutional authority as a misfit. The test of loyalty is not in obeying laws that suit us, anyway. Nor is it in hill-top proclamations. The examples of the lives of its members is a nation's greatest asset. Still water runs deep.

"Upon what else does a democracy rest except the reverence it enjoys at the hands of its good citizens? Respect for law is the precious safeguard of free democracy. Those who care for the future welfare of their families are debtors to the law every day they live, and should feel keenly their responsibility by showing sincere reverence. A lack of respect on their part means but to weaken the very structure which supports them. The sweets of freedom exist today only because the good citizens as a whole make obedience to the law a matter of conscience. True liberty is not a theory; it is a practice. The lives of the citizens govern the respect which the government may command. It is very doubtful in any society of free choice whether honor will be shown where honor is due, when the subject of that honor appears insensible to the courtesy and respect due to society and to constituted authority.

"From the earliest dawn of the history of the human race men have died on the battlefields and woman and children have perished like flies from pestilence and starvation—all because of the unquenchable fires of liberty burning in their souls. The supreme sacrifice—death—has never stopped the human race in its dogged march to freedom. After thousands of years of struggle through oceans of human blood there has finally emerged that sacred and matchless American constitution—the greatest light of liberty ever devised by the mind of men. And it was handed to you and me on a silver platter! Is this heritage more than we are capable of assimilating? Have our forefathers builded better than we know? Our constitution is the crown achievement of all the sacrifices of all the history of the human race. The priceless heritage is ours. What are we going to do with it? This matchless constitution was not born with hands and tongue; its only defense is the actions of thinking citizens. It will never stand of its own accord; nor will it ever be destroyed by the I. W. W. or the bootlegger. And love of country is not a plant that blooms in the dusk; it can flower only in broad daylight.

"Authorities state that in 90 per cent of the violations are the social drinkers who never get down into the ditch. Then whose fault is it? And what is going to be our attitude in this present crisis? In this connection former President Coolidge says, 'It is the duty of a citizen not only to observe the law but to let it be known that he is opposed to its violation.' In the words of Lincoln, reverence for the law should become the political religion of the nation. Who is ever justified in overriding and defeating our constitution? We must stand four square for those who respect and enforce it.

"It is indeed the duty of a good citizen to obey the law just because it is the law. I deny to no man the right to seek the repeal of any law that, in his sincere judgment, is bad or unjust; but I concede to no man the right to disregard the law because it conflicts with his desires or appetites. The seeking of its repeal must come only through freedom of speech, for absolute freedom of action is anarchy.

"No thinking man has a right to consider our constitution as a purely sentimental or secular document, or reduce it to a mass of words devoid of force or meaning. To reduce any provision to an abject nullity is to give the other man the same right with some other provision; we must all have equal rights. But even the fair-minded man, after trampling on laws that annoy him, will insist on the obligation of others to obey laws that work to his benefit. The only guaranty we have for the enforcement of laws that we think are good is our respect for the ones the other man thinks ought to be enforced. In this respect reciprocity is the measure of democracy.

"But the importance of the issue of prohibition is not to be regarded as a mere effort to suppress a social evil. The question is whether the fundamental law of the land shall be obeyed; whether reverence for the constitution shall continue as a vital element in the character of the American people; whether they are willing to assume the proper responsibility of their endowed leadership in democratic enlightenment among the nations of the earth. The nations look upon us as the exponents of an inspired democracy such as no race has ever before enjoyed and expect us to permeate the whole earth with that spirit. They are looking to us for that great something which is beyond all our wealth, beyond the unrivaled position of our citizens. We have committed ourselves squarely to a great ideal in government, and it is incumbent upon each and every one of us to assume his role, beginning with honoring and obeying constituted authority without any secret evasion of mind or strained interpretation.

"To a man our citizens would gladly lay down their lives for their constitution. But it is often better to live for an ideal than it is to die for it. But the shoe pinches all the more because the offender in the case of the 18th amendment is so often a leading citizen who just hasn't taken the time to analyze the situation through and through unselfishly. It is the duty of each and every one of us to think to the bottom of those great questions that are so vital to our national and international welfare and to the purposes of free government. I have no doubt that the ripening of our mature judgments will find us, to a man, regardless of political opinion, squarely behind our 18th amendment, because it is the law of the land and because we can do no other. In its last analysis good citizenship calls for self-control.

"And so, as in the reign of Hezekiah, if democracy is to survive, if righteousness is to predominate over false gods of selfishness and appetite, it behooves good citizens not only to reverence the law, but to be outspoken in condemnation of those who care more for appetite than for freedom. The cause of humanity is our cause; the enfranchisement of unselfish thinking is our chief desire; and the guaranty of equal rights and opportunities to all humanity around the world is the end of our mission."

CANTATA GIVEN BEFORE 2,000

Overflow Crowd Hears Musical Program

More than 2,000 persons crowded the new First Methodist church auditorium Sunday night to hear the cantata "Rabonni" (Loveland) presented by one of the largest mixed choirs ever assembled in concert in this city. Hundreds of others turned away from the auditorium of the old building when it was found that the loud speaker placed there for the accommodation of the overflow crowd did not provide satisfactory audition.

Approximately 60 singers joined Erwin F. Bohmfalk, director, and Mrs. J. W. Akin Jr., organist, in the presentation of the story of the death and resurrection of Christ. Miss Marguerite Fisher acted as prolocutor, reading the introduction and the synopses of the action depicted in each of the eight episodes into which the work is divided.

The composition is replete with solo and recitative passages, especially heavy demands being made upon Miss Modena Howell, soprano, and Mrs. Will McKemie, contralto, whose excellent voices and artistry afforded very effective interpretation of the two most dramatic chapters in the cantata. Other soloists included Mesdames C. Y. Tully, W. M. Priddy, Miss Byrd Winton, and Messrs. Paul Von Allman, G. C. Bullington, Joel H. MacGregor, W. L. Underwood, C. J. Thompson, Paul Rutledge, Pate Oakes, Ernest Reeves, H. W. Gray and W. A. Spencer.

The "Requiem of the Disciples," sung unaccompanied by Mesdames Tully and Priddy and Messrs. Von Allman and Bullington, and "Benediction," by the same quartet, provided two of the most beautiful portions of the entire score. Choral movements were used for the dramatic climaxes. The male voices combined admirably in a stirring recitation of the Roman soldiers' defiance to the crucified Christ to break from the sealed tomb.

The direction given the large chorus by Mr. Bohmfalk and the spontaneous support of Mrs. J. W. Akin's organ accompaniment completed a wholly satisfying rendition of a religious drama which obviously gripped the feelings of its hearers.

The entire program was broadcast by remote control through station KGKO.

In addition to her daughter, Mrs. Bentley, she leaves another, Mrs. Maude Hull, 1504 Fillmore; two sons, Charlie Culver, Claude, Texas, and Ace Culver, Thornberry; a granddaughter, Mrs. Hattie Phillips, Vernon; a grandson, Arthur Bentley, Chicago, Ill., and several other grandchildren.

The body was taken in charge by the Hines mortuary. Funeral arrangements had not been completed Sunday night.

The fifth of a series of lectures being given at the Kemp hotel by Dr. Albert L. Van Houtte was delivered before a crowd of several hundred persons Sunday night on the subject of "Human Energy."

The potential dynamic and kinetic energy possessed by the human being enables the man who utilizes such power to become a giant of industry, a wizard in science, a master of the arts, or a wielder of power among his fellows, the speaker declared.

The last of Dr. Van Houtte's free lectures will be given Monday night in the ballroom of the Kemp hotel on the subject, "The Four Acres of Diamonds." The health topic for the evening will be "Heart Disease and Its Cure."
