4 MIA In Laos

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)-Calling it a "giant step forward," the head of the U.S. congressional delegation visiting Laos said today the Laotian government will hand over the remains of four American fliers killed in Laos during the Indochina War.

These will be the first remains of American airmen killed during the U.S. involvement in the Laotian war to be returned to the United States.

G.V. Montgomery, D-Miss., who heads the group of eight congressmen visiting Vietnam and Laos, told reporters, "It's a giant step forward in trying to find out about Americans missing here. We never had any encouragement or information in the past."

Passengers Freed

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP)-The passengers and crew of a mysteriously comandeered TWA jetliner safely left the plane today, an airport spokesman said.

They walked off the Boeing 707 less than an hour before a deadline set by a person or persons calling themselves a "task force of revolutionary soldiers" demanding freedom for former Nazi duputy Fuehrer Rudolf Hess, for Robert F. Kennedy's assassin Sirhan Sirhan and for five jailed Croatian higjackers.

The plane had departed New York Thursday night on a flight to Geneva.

"All 79 passengers and nine crew members are free," said airport spokesman Daniel Tesseyre.

Cullen Confined

FORT WORTH (AP)-Millionaire industrialist Cullen Davis today began a long weekend in a 10th-floor jail cell where he is being held without bond on charges he ordered the execution of the judge presiding in his divorce case.

A bond hearing for Davis began Tuesday, but recessed Thursday afternoon when visiting District Judge Arthur Tipps of Wichita Falls ordered a temporary bond denial and adjourned the proceedings until Monday morning. Texas law requires that an order to hold a suspect without bond must be signed within seven days of his arrest.

Keeping tab on our neighbors:

This is August, not June, but weddings seem to be a popular topic these days. Orlin Brewer of the Vernon Record says the traditional church wedding with the bride heading down the aisle on the arm of her father glowing beautifully in white as the groom waits at the altar with the minister may not to the ideal situation, at least not every time.

Noting that one in four or more of those "until death do us part" vows ends in divorce, Brewer says that for some, the hopes aren't necessarily all that grand.

"Maybe a better place to watch prospective brides and grooms would be as they take out their marriage licenses," says Brewer. Then, he discloses that one elected official there who has been watching the process for some time reports that the people who come to the counter of the typical county clerk's office to take out marriage licenses don't seem very happy. Their hopes are not all that elevated, but perhaps just realistic, Brewer suggests. They get the license and rather than head for a church, they seek out the nearest justice of the peace.

They could be avoiding early trouble, according to Doug Manning of the Hereford Brand, who says some weddings exceed Murphy's Law.

"A wedding can be planned for months, thought through in detail and rehearsed to boredom and still become a comedy of errors," says Manning.

"I have had:

"A groomsman faint flat out on the floor just as the rings were being exchanged.

"A photographer interrupt the wedding processional to march the whole group back down the aisle to get better pictures. This did not surprise me for I am convinced the only reason a wedding is held is to get pictures.

"A punch bowl split in half during the start of the reception."

Manning said he was working on a new list of wedding disasters and so far has had a groomsman get sick and have to leave, a bride faint in the middle of the ceremony, and the greenery on a candelabrum catch fire.

Biggest Union Rejects Pact

Postal Strike Threatened In 5 Days

WASHINGTON (AP) - The largest postal union today rejected a tentative labor agreement, and a spokesman said the Postal Service "has to reopen negotiations within five days or we go on strike."

Postmaster General William F. Bolger has consistently refused to renegotiate the tentative agreement reached July 21, making an impasse leading to a strike a likely result of today's vote. The Postal Service declined immediate comment on today's vote.

The American Postal Workers Union rejected the pact 94,000 to 78,000, spokesman Stan Allen said. The second largest postal union, the National Association of Letter Carriers, had rejected it Wednesday.

Under a resolution passed at the recent convention of the 299,000-member APWU in Denver, union President Emmet Andrews must ask the Postal Service to reopen talks and call a national strike within five days if the gency refuses. The APWU represents more than half of the nation's 554,000 unionized postal employees.

Andrews once before has asked Bolger for new talks, but was refused. That was after major opposition developed within his union to the tentative pact but before it was officially rejected.

On Wednesday, the 181,-000-member National Association of Letter Carriers said "no" - by a 4-3 margin - to a contract worked out over three months and tentatively agreed to July 21. That union wants to reopen the negotiations, but its constitution mandates a walkout by Monday if the U.S. Postal Service refuses to start renegotiating.

Perhaps awaiting the APWU vote, NALC President J. Joseph Vacca is refusing to talk about the possibility of a strike.

Both Emmet Andrews, APWU president, and Vacca were booed at national conventions earlier this summer as the officials tired to sell the contract they had negotiated.

One Dead In Road Crash

One persons was killed and three more injured in a head-on two-vehicle collision early this morning near Union.

Killed was Kenneth Lester Parker, 23, of 309 33rd St. He was pronounced dead at the scene by Justice of the Peace Bobby Goodwin.

Injured were Donny Franks, 28, Becky Franks, 16, and Ronnie Williamson, 32, all of Snyder.

According to reports filed by investigating officers of the Department of Public Safety, Franks was driving a 1967 Plymouth that was in collision with a 1973 Ford driven by Williamson. The mishap took place about 12:45 a.m. today, approximately 3.8 miles west of Snyder.

The reports indicate that Parker was a passenger in the car driven by Franks.

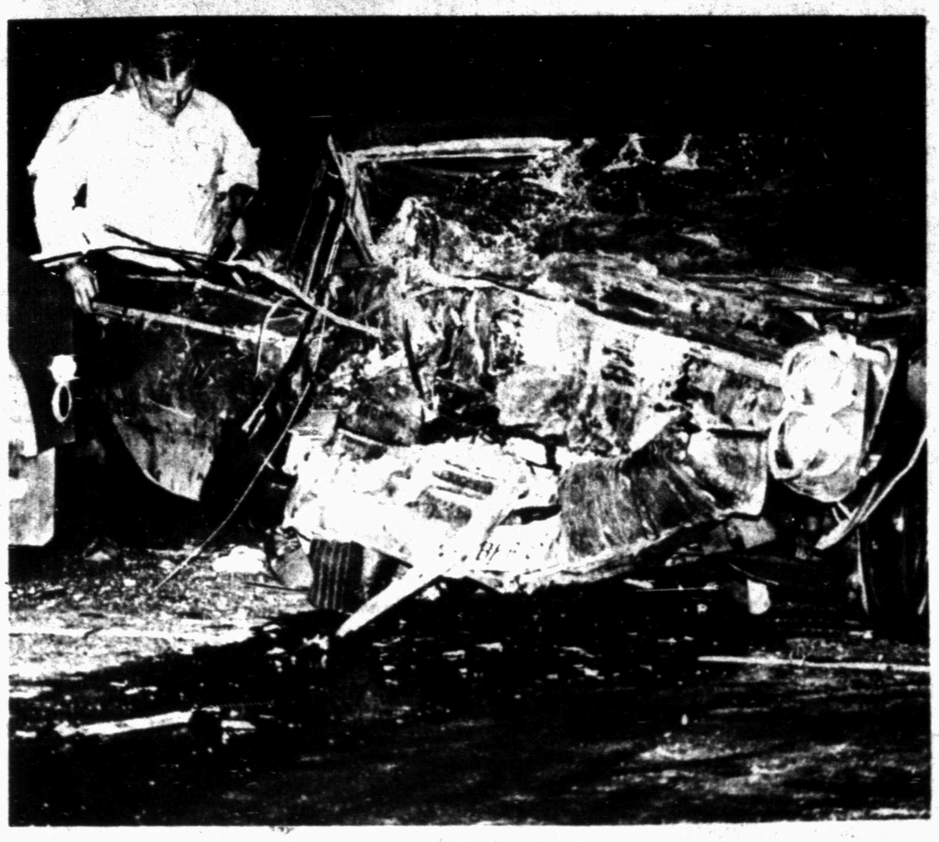

The Franks were listed in fair condition this morning at Cogdell Memorial Hospital and Williams has been transferred to Methodist Hospital in Lubbock.

Reports of the DPS also indicate that the Franks vehicle was traveling west in the east-bound lane when it was in collision with the Williamson vehicle that was traveling east in the east-bound land of Highway 180.

Parker is the fourth traffic fatality in Scurry County this year.

Funeral services for him have been set for 2 p.m. Sunday at the Colonial Hill Baptist Church. The Rev. Miller Robinson will officiate. Burial will be in the Hillside Memorial Gardens under the direction of Bell-Seale Funeral Home.

Surviving are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hood Parker of Snyder; a sister, Pamela Copeland of Irving; and his maternal grandmother, Mrs. R.E. Massey of Iola.

Ask Us

Q - Why is the sheriff allowed to live in the Scurry County Jail, furnished a vehicle, meals, and utilities, at no extra cost to himself, all paid for by the county?

A - The county chooses this type operation instead of hiring four full-time jailers to operate the jail, Sheriff Keith Collier said. Four full-time jailers would cost the county about $40,000 to $44,000 in salaries each year. Collier pointed out that state law requires that the sheriff be furnished a car or that he be reimbursed for the use of his personal car in the discharge of his duties. Collier also said that his wife, who is not employed by the county, uses the family car to purchase and then help distribute food for prisoners.

2 More Petitions Needed For Vote

After contacting the Texas Education Agency, Scurry County Judge Preston Wilson said he has learned that two more petitions must be circulated, signed, and submitted to officials in Fisher County before the issue of Hermleigh School District's consolidation with the Snyder Independent School District can be voted on.

The extra two petitions are needed he said, to enable those people living in Fisher County, but inside the bounds of the Hermleigh School District, to vote.

The two extra petitions are in addition to the first two submitted to Wilson Wednesday afternoon. The petitions call for a vote on consolidation.

The original two petitions will be turned over to Scurry County Clerk Beverly Ainsworth for certification. The next two will be turned over to officials in Fisher County.

The petitions have to be signed by at least 20 certified voters in the Snyder and Hermleigh School Districts.

If the petitions are certified, the earliest date the election can be held is the third Saturday in January, which falls on Jan. 20.

A check by The Snyder Daily News with TEA officials this morning indicated that a separate voting box will be set up for those families living in the Hermleigh School District in Fisher County.

Judge Wilson will be in charge of calling the election in Scurry County and Fisher County Judge Dwight Lovett will in charge of calling the election in that county, the TEA officials said.

For the consolidation issue to pass, it must be approved by voters in both school districts. If it fails in either district, the proposal will be rejected.

If the proposal passes, the consolidation can take effect as soon as county

Hearing On TESCO's Rate Ends

AUSTIN (AP) - An eight-day hearing on Texas Electric Service Co.'s $110 million rate hike request has ended before the Texas Public Utility Commission.

Several cities, including Fort Worth, Midland, Wichita Falls and Odessa, opposed the 24.4 percent rate hike. TESCO said the new revenue is needed to finance the utility's switch from petroleum-based boiler fuels to lignite coal.

The commission staff has recommended a $37 million rate hike. Under the company proposal, a $60 monthly bill would go to $79.85.

Witnesses at the hearing, which concluded Thursday, included TESCO President William Marquardt, who defended the company's decision to sell electric power to Texas Power & Light, in exchange for interest in a lignite coal plant.

Commission attorneys questioned sale of the power, which was generated by TESCO's cheapest natural gas supply.

Hearing examiner Phillip Ricketts will make recommendation to the three-member utility commission, which will make the final decision in the case.

Louis Prima Dead At 65

NEW ORLEANS (AP)-Louis Prima, the roughneck son of a truckdriver who rose from the saloons of New Orleans to top billing in Las Vegas with his searing trumpet and gravel-edged voice, is dead after nearly three years in a coma.

Prima died Thursday of pneumonia at a New Orleans hospital with his fourth wife, Gia Maione, at his side. Doctors at Touro Infirmary said the 65-year-old entertainer had been in a coma brought on by a brain tumor since 1975.

Prima never fully regained consciousness after brain surgery three years ago in Los Angeles.

why ices go up

Billed a consumer advocate and a political conservative, a recent speaker at a convention proved an interesting respite from the usual Naderite types. Mrs. Barbara Keating, who heads a group called Consumer Alert, focused her remarks on increasing prices.

This is the area ignored by most of the activists in consumer groups. In fact they have ignored it so studiously that most of their efforts have resulted in great increases in prices paid by consumers for extremely doubtful protection, if any.

We laud Mrs. Keating on two counts: She recognizes the greatest threat to consumers as "...rising costs precipitated by over-regulation by the federal government;" and that her group functions strictly by contributions. She seeks to spur grassroots interest and to increase membership in Consumer Alert to several thousand.

Mrs. Keating said that nearly $1,000 of the cost of every car can be attributed to such safety devices as seat belts and emissions control which have been mandated by government. She said that hamburger meat is affected by 41,000 different regulations "which surprisingly enough only raises the price about eight cents a pound. Consumers pay $62 billion a year for government regulations, which works out to about $300 for every man, woman and child," she said.

Among proposals opposed by Consumer Alert are government-mandated airbags for cars, the elimination of nitrates from bacon and the banning of antibiotics in animal feeds. "There has been no proof of the harmfulness of nitrates and antibiotics to humans, and outlawing them has raised the price of food," Mrs. Keating said.

"Let the public decide what it wants and needs. Consumer Alert advocates a responsible balance. We just ask that businessmen produce a good product at a fair price without the intervention of government regulations. No one can speak for all consumers and we don't try to," Mrs. Keating said.

Without the inhibiting factors of regulatory control by government bureaucracy, the marketplace and competitive private enterprise will always serve to provide more people with more of the things they need and want.

We are pleased to see at least one concerned group of consumers getting their sights squarely fixed on the real seat of our basic problem. We can only fault the lady on one count: she did mention that her group might seek some funding grants.

We may be wrong in thinking she was alluding to grants from the government. If the grants sought are voluntary grants from private sources, we do not fault her at all.

Laudable goals should not be diluted with a questionable means in attaining them. Any resort to political means for funding even the best of projects will be eventually self defeating.

We wish Mrs. Keating success in her drive to "let the public decide." It is the only route to provide the best in consumer protection.

appropriate bill

Sen. Abe Ribicoff of Connecticut, whose career in public life has had its peaks and valleys, may be on to something.

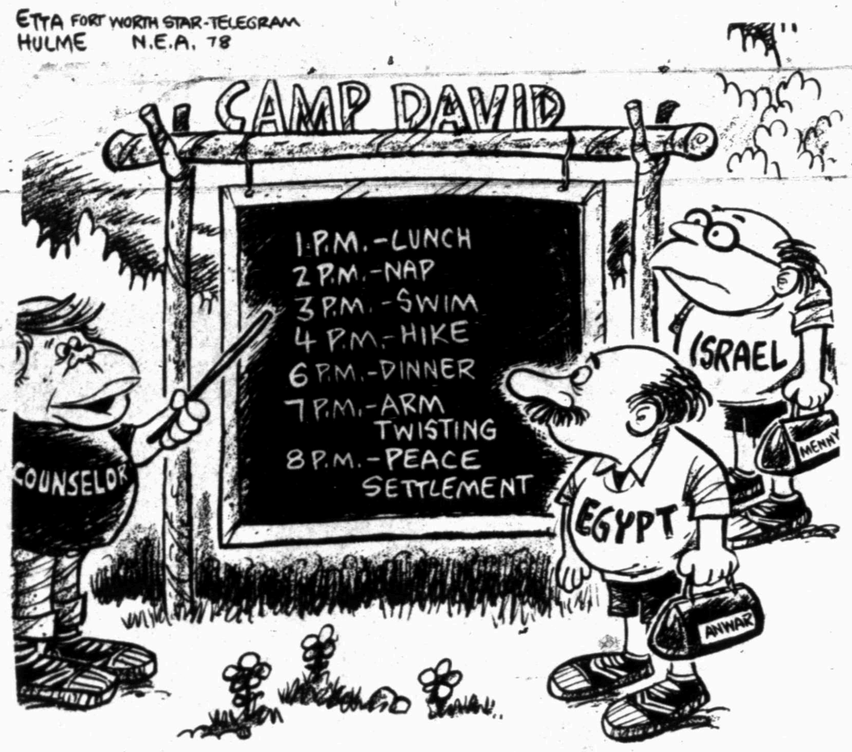

Ribicoff has introduced a piece of legislation which his peers can ill afford to ignore. Fact is, Ribicoff's proposals may rank right up there with the better legislative bills to come along in a long time.

The senator's bill, tagged the Omnibus Anti-Terrorist Act, would require the president to publish a list of nations which aid and abet terrorism and, ever more importantly, require retaliatory action against them.

If the bill passes as it was packaged, it would further ban the airlines of such nations from landing in this country and would allow for other economic sanctions against such countries.

Certainly those nations which aid and do nothing to discourage terrorists should suffer the consequence; unless they do, we can't hope to end the extremists' manace.

tip idea attractive

By CHET CURRIER
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) - Among all the proposals advanced of late for fighting inflation, few have attracted as much interest as an idea called TIP.

The acronym stands for "tax-based incomes policy," an approach in which the government sets up tax incentives for companies to hold wage or price increases within a specified limit.

Advocates of TIP in one form or another have included such prominent economists as Arthur Okun of the Brookings Institution and Henry Wallich of the Federal Reserve.

The idea, being relatively fresh and untried, also seems to hold some attraction because it has no past record of failure. That sets it apart from such ideas as direct wage-price controls, which were imposed by the Nixon administration in 1971-74.

Some observers contend that controls still might work, if applied correctly. But few are willing to endorse them on the basis of the country's last experience with them, which was followed by two-digit inflation in 1974 and then the steepest recession since the 1930s.

Similarly, many economy-watchers see little real progress emerging from the Carter administration's jawboning efforts to get companies and unions to hold down wages and prices through voluntary restraint. Merely by default, then, TIP tends to draw some interest.

The Wall Street economic consulting firm of A. Gary Schilling & Co. argues, however, that the idea has several potential pitfalls.

The firm acknowledged in a recent report that TIP looks, at first glance, like an appealingly simple proposition.

Assume, for the purpose of example, that a wage-increase limit has been set at 7 percent a year. If employees of a given company receive an 8 percent company's tax bracket for that year would automatically be raised, say, from 36 percent to 38 percent.

There are also proposed plans using rewards rather than penalties. Thus, the company that held to the 7 percent wage limit could have its tax owed reduced from 36 percent to 34 percent of its earnings.

This seemingly straightforward arrangement runs into its first obstacle when the question comes up of whether wages or prices should be the focus. From the company side comes the argument that it would work well only with wages; organized labor is likely to believe that prices are the only fair and proper target.

my turn

by john dunnam

The Fisher County Fair in Roby is underway with the usual potporri of homemade jellies, canned goods, and crop exhibits. A fair is always fun but one of the most painful memories of my high school days was made during a Scurry County Fair.

L.M. Dawson who is now at Westbrook was the superintendent of Fluvanna School during my 12 year hitch. Along about my junior year he was tapped to supervise the County Fair. Several of the teachers were active in the fair and were also absent from classes a few days much to the glee of us students. Of course they all left us plenty to do and admonished us to behave like mature responsible young people, what ever that is.

But as soon as we went into a class without a teacher we would erase the assignment chalked on the blackboard and noisly proceed to do nothing. It has been said that idleness is the devil's workshop. I can't vouch for that but I can offer evidence to a theory that students left alone in a classroom will get into trouble.

Bill Jennings, who has since given up teaching for the relatively quiet life of a highway patrolman, was the vocational agriculture teacher that year. Naturally he was innvolved in the fair and one day we were left alone. The Ag Building was separated from the main school building and we were having a field day feverishly applying ourselves to unscholarly pursuits or to put it in the vernacular, raisin' hell.

To our delight we found some produce that for one reason or another had not been entered in the fair. We lit up the acetylene torch and used up all the oxygen trying to pop some popcorn. Our culinary efforts had more success when we discovered a cache of canned goods belonging to the young farmers.

After gorging ourselves on pork and beans we discovered in the taboo area of Jennings' office something that led to our undoing. It was the biggest watermelon I have even seen. Why we didn't just eat it and discard the evidence I'll never know. Somehow we got the crazy idea of carving our names in it.

When Jennings returned to get what would have undoubtably won its class at the fair and set a standard for watermelon growers for years to come he found the supermelon etched with the signatures of Rickey Evans, Victor Contreras, Paul Bilano, Randy Potter, Joe Turner and your truly.

Poor Joe Turner who was the only freshman boy that year alleged that when he went to class and found an autographed melon on Jennings desk he assumed it was a gift to the beloved teacher and devotedly contributed his name to the list. Good story, but Jennings didn't buy it. He wasn't in a believing mood. In fact all 250 pounds of him was seething mad. His redneck tendencies totally dominated the sense of humor we had been counting on. But then he was the one who would have to explain to Wallace Jones why his melon was not entered in the fair.

So Jennings pulled out his favorite paddle, one with a series of little holes drilled across its length spelling out FFA. I won't relate the gory details but I will confide that advertisements for the Future Farmers of America were blazonly displayed everytime we took a shower for the next few days.

But Jennings was a forgiving sort and the next day when we limped to class he was anxious to show us that there were no sore feelings remaining on his part. He suggested we eat the defiled melon; in fact he insisted on it.

WASHINGTON (NEA) - The hotel desk clerk was miffed at the press. "You guys all write that this is just a slum with a casino in it. Hey, whaddya expect? We only been open a coupla months!"

The "we" was local pride speaking. The clerk didn't work for the big Resorts International Hotel, home of the East Coast's first gambling casino, but for a motel down the block.

A year ago, he would have regarded the towering neighbor hotel as a threat-competition for the dwindling summer tourist business at this aging seaside resort. Now he identifies with it so totally that he says "we." And for good cause.

The desk clerk's motel was booked solid, and so was every other nearby estabishment. To the Atlantic City business community, the casino is a godsend - a last-gasp chance to get back in the chips again.

The clerk was right, though. It is much too early to say whether New Jersey's gamble in voting for casino operations at Atlantic City will reverse the decay which is stunningly apparent to both first-time visitors and older tourists who remember its heyday.

The only thing that can be said for sure, three months after the dice started rolling, is that Resorts International is profiting immensely from its own gamble in investing in Atlantic City even before New Jersey voters approved the casino referendum in 1976.

The new casino is jammed to the rafters every minute of the 18 hours it is open each day. People are waiting in lines two and three deep behind every one of the 97 gaming tables (mostly blackjack) and 1,051 slot machines currently in operation.

For at least another year, Resorts has a monopoly on casino business in Atlantic City. And in the town which made the board game of that name famous, it is playing it for all it's worth.

For gamblers accustomed to the easy availability of lowstakes slots and table games in Nevada, the Atlantic City casino is enough to induce a heart attack. The state requires Resorts to have 5 percent of its slots nickel machines, and 10 to 20 percent of its craps, black jack and roulette tables held to a $2 minimum bet. But the bulk of the slots are $1 machines and most of the table games require $25 minimum bets.

It doesn't seem to deter the thousands of gamblers pouring through the casino each day. Some 80 million Americans supposedly live within four hours drive time of Atlantic City, and the supply of those anxious and willing to bet the bread money there appears inexhaustible.

Resorts International operates two other casinos, both in the Bahamas, which until now have provided the bulk of the company's business profits. Gross revenues at those two casinos combined was $22 million last year. The new Atlantic City casino took in almost that much - $20.6 million - in the month of July alone.

The state of New Jersey takes 8 percent off the top of every dollar that is bet at the casino. With the "drop," as it is called, expected to reach $1 million per day sometime early next year, that is a tidy amount of tax cream to be skimmed. And once additional casinos are licensed, the cream will thicken still more.

Other states are bound to be impressed by the easy tax pickings available through legalized gambling, especially in this era of stiffened voter resistance to traditional levies like the property tax. Backers of casino gambling for Miami Beach claim to have enough signtures to put a referendum on the ballot in Florida this fall, and the movement could spread.

It is difficult, driving around Atlantic City, to envision this "slum with a casino in it" as the wave of the future in either urban rennewal or government finance. But don't bet the rent money that it won't turn out that way.

at wits end

It was the headline that caught my eye.

"For $25,000 you can spend an enternity next to Marilyn Monroe." The story went on to say that an empty burial vault beside the late actress' crypt is on sale.

I happen to have loved that fragile, vulnerable, human being who died prematurely of being loved to death by the media. But as I told my husband, if you're thinking of something in the gift line, don't let me spend my eternity next to Marily Monroe.

I've battled comparisons all of my life. In college I used to go to those dances where the girls were all lined up against the wall like 57 flavors of ice cream. The guys would cruise up and down trying to find a "well-stacked personality." I was never vanilla.

At my wedding, the photographer went crazy. For every ten pictures of my matron of honor with good posture, there is one of me with my cheeks inflated and icing dripping off my chin.

When I gave birth, I share the room with a woman who wore her civilian clothes home, while I had to wear my husband's raincoat over my nightgown.

It's ironic how I always follow a thin girl through the turnstile at the supermarket and sit next to a ballpoint pen in the bleachers.

I never occupy a seat on an airplane but that I look at the seat belt and try to imagine what went above and below the six inches of belt. (My dental floss is longer than that.)

I showed up for the Carson show one night and was not in the least surprised to see that Raquel Welch was on the show. My college-age son met me at the studio. He had an annoying way of not looking at me or staying in the same room when I addressed him. Even when I tapped him on the shoulder and said, "Do you know that if we could have swung a loan for a sailboat in '58, you might never have been born?" His eyes never wavered from her.

From time to time I hear things are changing. I'd like to believe that. And when a woman with fat thighs and an overbite is named Miss America, I might.

Until then, if I don't get better offers...I'm not going.

My recent column on the Vial of Life program brought a flood of inquiries from readers. I hope this follow-up will help answer some of the questions posed in those letters.

The vial itself is usually one of the cylindrical plastic pill containers about 3 inches long that are often supplied by druggists when filling prescriptions. But anything similar can also be used.

The most important part of the program is the information within the vial. Listed separately for each member of the household should be the name and telephone number of his or her physician, recent illnesses (particularly a heart condition or high blood pressure), special medication and the name, address and telephone number of the next of kin.

The vial and its contents are then taped to the top right side of the refrigerator shelf.

But the program cannot end here. Vial of Life must be a community affair, linked with the local rescue squad. The vial will do you no good if the paramedics do not know whether it exists or where to look for it.

So, bring the program to the attention of the nearby facility that offers emergency rescue service. It may be the fire of police department, a hospital or the American Red Cross.

Your entire community should join the rescue squad in spreading the word about Vial of Life.

While we're on the subject, here is other valuable advice to help you prepare for medical emergencies:

Do you live in an area where 911 is the emergency number to dial for the police and fire departments? You can save precious moments by dialing the rescue service direct instead of using the general 911 number. Find out that number today, memorize it and tape it to your telephone.

Time is of the essence when reviving a person who is unconscious from a heart attack. Brain damage is likely to occur six to 10 minutes after a heart seizure, even if the victim's breathing and circulation are later restored.

Some of us have witnessed life-saving demonstrations. But being a spectator isn't enough. Along with two dozen of my neighbors, I recently took an intensive nine-hour course in cardiopulmonary resuscitation from the American Red Cross.

During these listen-see-and-do sessions, we learned CPR by actually working on dummies. We all passed the test and are certified to use CPR to try to revive heart attack victims.

From sad experience with a neighbor who had a severe heart attack in her apartment, we learned other important things which must be done under such circumstances.

Our wonderful paramedic squad usually reaches our building quickly. We who are certified should be able to provide CPR until the rescue ambulance arrives.

But it cannot be a one-woman or one-man operation. You'll need help. In my high-rise building, we are enlisting more neighbors to take the CPR course to insure protection for residents on all floors.

And we will have our own "buddy" life-saving squad.

When our neighbor was stricken, my wife, Gerry, had the presence of mind to phone another neighbor who is a practicing physician after she phoned the paramedic squad.

At first his line was busy, but she got through to him shortly after. We could have phoned other neighbors for help if we had their phone numbers handy. Now we will have our own rescue squad organized so everyone will have a list of others to phone for assistance.

As mentioned above, delays can be fatal to a stricken person. The local paramedic rescue ambulance reached our building quickly. But that day we had an influx of holiday visitors and both elevators were being used.

Next time, a member of our in-house life-saving squad will have the front door propped open. An elevator will be held waiting on the lobby floor.

If you live in a residential area of small homes, your problems are much like ours. Joining with neighbors in planning for medical emergencies is vital for all of us — house dwellers as well as high-rise apartment residents.

Remember, the next life to be saved may be your own.

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I have been divorced for three years. We have two very mature and sophisticated children, a boy, 9, and a girl, 11, who live in Chicago with their mother.

I have a very lovely beach home in California, and I have a ladyfriend living with me. My ex-wife is aware of this, but my children are not.

In our settlement, my wife agreed to let me have the children for two weeks in the summer. Now she refuses to send them to me because she doesn't want them to visit a father who is living "in sin" with another woman.

I say that children should be taught the realities of life, and I don't intend to put up a phony puritanical front. My ladyfriend is not a cheap floozie. She's a fine European woman with sufficient charm and intelligence to hold a man without insisting on marriage, which is more than can be said of most American women.

How can I make my ex-wife see it my way? I miss my children.

ME IN MALIBU

DEAR ME: You probably can't, which is just as well. I agree with your ex-wife. Your "mature and sophisticated" children will learn the realities of life soon enough, so allow them their illusions awhile longer. And if you really "miss" your children, tell your "fine European ladyfriend" to get lost for a couple of weeks.

DEAR ABBY: Whoever said that boys like good girls is crazy.

I went out with a boy one night and he made advances. I told him where to get off. He didn't get mad, but he never asked me out again, and he was the one boy I really wanted to date.

Please don't say that a boy who would pull something like that isn't "nice." I haven't met a boy yet who doesn't take a girl out for what he can get. Because of this, a boy hardly ever asks me out twice. I am beginning to wonder about this good girl stuff. What does it prove?

UNDER AGE AND OVER DEVELOPED

DEAR UNDER: Most "nice" boys still want "good" girls. The boys who drop you because you're "good" are only boys. Stay good, and one day a MAN will come along and make the waiting worthwhile.

DEAR ABBY: A friend of mine let me know that she got out of a sickbed to attend my daughter's wedding. She coughed and sneezed and blew her nose during the whole time, and she looked very feverish and weak. She thought she was doing us all a big favor by coming, but I wish she had stayed home. She hugged and kissed me (and several others), and the following day I came down with the same symptoms she had at the wedding. I'm not saying she actually gave me something, but it was a strange coincidence.

Abby, you would be doing a tremendous public service to remind your readers that sick people belong at home!

I can't sign this for obvious reasons.

"HILLSBOROUGH"

DEAR "HILLSBOROUGH": And to your letter, I say "Amen."

Laundry Detergent Cost Per Load

COLLEGE STATION--Figure cost per load for economical laundry detergent buys, advises Lillian Chenoweth, family resource management specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Many consumers become confused when trying to compare laundry detergents by price, she says.

Although price is not the only factor involved in selection, it's an important consideration.

One problem is label directions that call for using a cup or so of detergent--volume measurement--while the net contents of the box is given in weight measurements.

To calculate the cost per load of a powdered detergent, first, determine its density--the weight per unit volume, the specialist suggests.

For example, the label of a box of powdered detergent states these facts:

--Net weight: 49 ounces
--Price: $1.48
--Recommended use: one cup per load

Now, determine the weight of one cup.

Assume this sample cup weighs 2.2 ounces. Divide this 2.2 ounces into the net weight of detergent in the box, 49 ounces, resulting in a figure of 22.3 loads per box.

The cost per load is then determined by dividing total cost, $1.48, by 22.3 giving a cost of about six cents per load.

Don't confuse distinctions between fluid ounces--volume--and ounces avoir dupois--weight.

This confusion is not present with liquid detergents since both the contents and the use suggestions are in liquid measurements, the specialist points out.

South looked over dummy with mild dismay. He thought that if he had his life to live over again, he would have passed the four-spade contract. Then he decided that maybe there would be lots of other players in trouble and he had better try to get out as cheaply as he could.

So he ruffed the spade lead, cashed the ace of diamonds, noted the fall of the jack from West and decided to lead his queen of clubs.

East made his best play. He let that queen hold. Then South went back to diamonds. He took his king and led to dummy's 10. East was in with the queen and led a diamond right back.

Now came the really big play of the hand. South trumped his own trick in dummy in order to lead and ruff a spade. Then South led his ace of trumps, threw East in with the king and left East with nothing but hearts. All East could do was to take his ace of hearts and a one trick set.

Minus 200 was worth 61 and one-half points out of 77 to this South player and twelve others who escaped with the same score.

We have no real criticism of a two-spade opening, but we would only bid one. We only have 15 high card points so there is very little chance that a one spade bid will be passed out.

'Pokes Face Steelers Saturday Night...

Landry Pushing The Cowboys Too Fast?

By Denne H. Freeman
AP Sports Writer

DALLAS (AP)-Dallas Cowboys Coach Tom Landry has been applying an unusually hard whip this summer, trying to flog any potential complacency out of his defending World Champions. Landry is now wondering if the pace has been too fast.

Going into Saturday night's preseason National Football League finale with the Pittsburgh Steelers, Landry was saying, "We jelled in our fifth or sixth preseason game last year. It takes us about six games to get going. Our attack is just too versatile to speed up."

Asked point-blank if he thought he had tried to do too much to soon, Landry said, "I could have been pushing harder than I should..it's hard to say."

Dallas played well in victories over San Francisco and Denver but showed total dis-interest in last Saturday's 27-13 loss to the Houston Oilers.

Pittsburgh beat Baltimore and Atlanta but put a damper on a near-perfect training camp by collapsing 13-6 before the New York Giants last week.

Landry said, "There has been a different atmosphere on our team this year. Last year we had people at new positions and weren't sure what Tony Dorsett could do. Everything was on the come. We have very few problems this year."

Asked if he was apprehensive, Landry said, "I'm always apprehensive. I stay apprehensive.. you had better stay apprehensive in this game."

Landry said he won't be sure just what kind of a team he has until it plays in a close game during the regular season.

"Get into a tight game you have to win or lose then you'll know," said Landry. "There's only a touchdown difference in the top 14 teams in the league."

Dallas' big question mark going into Steeler game is at placekicker where rookie free agent Jay Sherrill of North Carolina State has survived - for the time being. Sherrill got his big break when Efren Herrera was traded to Seattle.

Landry plans to play his regulars most of the way against Pittsburgh as does Steelers Coach Chuck Noll.

Dallas No. 1 quarterback Roger Staubach is expected to play at least three quarters.

Steelers starting quarterback Terry Bradshaw, who suffered a broken nose in the exhibition opener, also is scheduled to play at least three periods.

Dallas whipped Pittsburgh 30-0 in the exhibition season last year but the Steelers retaliated in the regular season.

The most memorable meeting between the teams was Pittsburgh's 21-17 victory over Dallas in Super Bowl X in 1975.

Exhibition Halts This Weekend

By BARRY WILNER
AP Sports Writer

The abbreviated National Football League exhibition ends this weekend with two teams looking to extend unbeaten streaks and four others hoping their preseason showings aren't harbingers of things to come.

The battle for the Florida state championship takes place tonight with undefeated Tampa Bay, the team that lost all of its games in 1976 and then all but the last two in 1977, against the rebuilt Miami Dolphins.

"Winning any game is important to this team," said Bucs Coach John McKay. "Winning begats winning. The more you win, the more you win.

"The more you lose - and I've had that experience - the more you lose. We'd like to go into the season on a winning note."

So would the Dolphins, who are considered the favorites along with New England, also unbeaten in preseason play, in the American Conference East.

Miami Coach Don Shula said, "We anticipate a good game. I think people realized last year that Tampa did have an excellent defensive team. And now they seem to be getting their offense shaped up."

In other NFL action tonight, Atlanta is at Washington, the New York Jets take on Philadelphia and San Francisco visits Denver in a nationally televised contest ABC.

On Saturday, San Diego is at the New York Giants, Detroit entertains Baltimore, Cincinnati plays Green Bay, St. Louis travels to Kansas City for the Battle of Missouri, Buffalo is at Minnesota, Pittsburgh plays Dallas, Houston hosts New Orleans and Los Angeles hooks up with Oakland in another nationally televised game NBC.

Sunday's only game, also telecast nationwide CBS, has Cleveland playing at New England.

The final round of preseason games began Thursday with Chicago dropping its fourth exhibition game, a 16-7 defeat at Seattle, which finished 3-1.

The three other non-winners in the exhibition campaign are Baltimore, Buffalo, Chicago and San Francisco.

The 49ers hope O.J. Simpson will help get them back on the victory track in Denver against the "Orange Crush." Simpson missed the 49ers first two exhibition losses and carried just six times in the third game.

Dry Airing Out TCU Non-Fighting Spirit

FORT WORTH (AP) - In a game last year, a player limped to the sidelines during a rout of the Texas Christians and was met by Coach F.A. Dry who just pointed back to the field.

Later in the game, the player again limped toward the bench only to be confronted by Dry, who said, "We've only got one person left to put in for you and that's me and I'm not going out there. It's up to you."

That's the new get-tough attitude at TCU where the past five autumns have been an embarrassment to a school which once captured the national title.

The much-respected Dry, who sprang tremendous ambushes from his former lair at the University of Tulsa, is busy sending his youngsters through five-hour workouts daily to knock out any negativism.

Dry, in his wildest dreams of optimism, said, "I think we have a chance to win one we might not figure to win."

A victory, any victory, is not something to be taken lightly at TCU where there have been only seven triumphs in the last five seasons. The losses over those years have numbered 48.

"I'll tell you this," said five-year senior Mark Krug. "If he (dry) can't do it (win) nobody can."

"We are destroying the non-competitive attitude around here and that's one reason we will be considerably better this year," Dry told the Southwest Conference press tour Thursday. "We will have more talent and experience."

"We're not up to the top four teams yet and it would be foolish for me to blow smoke," said Dry. "We can run faster and we are stronger. And we've decided to get into the competitive business."

Dry said the TCU administration had rallied behind the Horned Frog football program with $20,000 worth of weight equipment and also had put new dorms on the drawing board.

"The attitude of the faculty is far beyond what I expected," said Dry. "We are getting an athletic dining hall and other things which help you recruit and that's where you win the battles."

Dry said, "We used to hear gripes about no dorms and things like that but we don't hear the gripes anymore. All we hear is gripes about the hard work."

The TCU team is getting the lengthy two-a-day drills because Dry has concluded, "We've got to get some wins on the board quick. I figure we've got to win more than we lose in 1979."

Dry must make do with a thin team bolstered by five junior college transfers who are starting on defense, plus a JC transfer placekicker.

"The secondary was our No. 1 problem last year because we couldn't close on the ball...we had no speed. That's been corrected now. We have good speed on defense," he said.

Bowie Race Course in Maryland is known as the "Track in the Pines."

Umpires May Go On Strike

NEW YORK (AP)-Bob Engel, president of the Major League Baseball Umpires Association, said today there was a "90 percent" chance that the umpires would go on strike prior to tonight's games.

Engel appeared on NBC's Today show along with Richie Phillips, the attorney for the umpires' union.

"There will be a work stoppage, probably tonight," said Phillips. "We are polling our membership and will make a decision later today."

Phillips, head of the National Basketball Association's referees' union when that group went on strike a year ago, met with American League President Lee MacPhail and National League Chub Feeney on Thursday to discuss the umpires' complaints, but said no progress had been made.

Another meeting was scheduled for today.

Boxing To Begin Here

Scrimmage Finds Cats Sputtering On Offense

MIDLAND--Fort Stockton, fourth-ranked AAA team in the state, edged Snyder in football scrimmage here Thursday evening, 1-0.

Overall, Tiger coaches reported the workout to be a good one for the Snyder school, which will stage its final scrimmage Aug. 31 against Abilene Cooper.

"We saw some bright points, you know, when a lot of our younger kids shone a little bit," relayed defensive coordinator Wes Poarch. "We struggled a little on offense, but it's all correctable."

This week's workouts will probably see extra duty for Snyder's largely veteran offensive unit, keying on some of the problems discovered in the scrimmage.

"We need to get a little more methodical, more continuity on offense," added the coach. "We're not going to change anything of the plays we run, we'll just concentrate on doing a better job of running the ones we've got.

Another are to work on offensively is the passing game.

"We're going to work on catching the ball. Several times the quarterbacks hit us right in the hands and we didn't catch the ball. If a defense thinks you can't complete a pass, they'll concentrate on the running game, and that bottles you up.

"We've got some kids that are capable of catching the football though, and we're going to work on that end."

One reason Snyder's offense bogged down was due to a tough Fort Stockton defense.

"They were very impressive defensively, very big and very mobile. They're ranked fourth in the state. I think with the caliber of people we're playing, these scrimmages will be a real good test for us."

Meanwhile, Snyder's defensive backfield got a good test from the aerial attack of steller quarterback Rick McIvor.

"We did a fairly good job of defending the pass," commented Poarch. "But we gave up too many big plays. We did turn them back inside the 10 yard line two times and I'm glad to see the kids play under that kind of pressure down there.

"We'll have to get a little more poise, though. They got down there (to the 10) on plays for 10 yards or so."

The one scoring play came on a 62-yard "hail-Mary" pass from McIvor.

The lack of consistency on offense will be a major point of concentration for the Tigers prior to Thursday's scrimmage in Abilene, but Coach Poarch feels Snyder will come around soon.

"I believe we are going to get better and better," he added. "We certainly weren't totally disheartened by any means."

Cardinals Begin Task Of Choosing Leader

By EDWARD MAGRI
Associated Press Writer

VATICAN CITY (AP)- More than 100 red-robed cardinals of the Roman Catholic Church, after praying for "divine inspiration," were sealed inside the Sistine Chapel today to choose a new spiritual leader for their church in the largest papal election conclave in modern history.

The 111 cardinals, who probably will elect one of their number - most likely an Italian - as successor to Pope Paul VI, filed solemnly into the chapel. Once sealed inside, the cardinals take an oath of secrecy. Punishment for violating that oath is excommunication - expulsion from the church.

When the towering doors of the chapel reopen it will be to bring out to the world the new leader of the worlds 700 million Roman Catholics and the 262nd successor to the apostle Peter.

The cardinals, wearing biretta skullcaps, entered the lockup area in the Apostolic Palace in mid-afternoon to remain there until they elect a pontiff.

The procession into the Sistine Chapel was televised in color on a worldwide hookup.

Voting begins Saturday in the Sistine Chapel, and there will be four ballots a day, two in the morning and two in the afternoon.

Outside the palace, all eyes will be on the smokestack from the stove in which the ballots are burned. The smoke will be black until there is a winner, then chemicals will make it white.

The cardinals celebrated Mass together at St. Peter's Basilica in preparation for the opening of their conclave.

TOUGH LUCK FOR TEAM ROPERS - A dozen pair of cowboys entered in the team roping event last night but only two teams turned in qualifying times during the opening performance of the 33rd Annual Fisher County Rodeo in Roby. 33rd Fisher County Fair, Rodeo Underway

ROBY-The 33rd Annual Fisher County Fair and Rodeo began at the fair grounds yesterday with the openinng performance of the rodeo capping off the evening.

Judging of numerous exhibits in over 200 categories ranging from jelly to photographhy began Thursday at the fair and a livestock show is underway today.

At the rodeo last night, Adrian Parker's rodeo animals were wary and wise to the ways of cowboys from a season of hard rodeo action. They gave up very little to their two-legged adversaries who came from three states most only to bite the dust in drought-stricken West Texas.

Only two bullriders stayed astradle their mounts until the horn blew. Dan Fitzgerald of Grants N.Mex. won that event with a score of 55. Dennis Smith of Irving, was second with 54 points.

In bareback bronc riding 55 points was also the best score any cowboy could muster. Guy Hawkins of Southlake took that honor. Second place went to Rex Parker of Saginaw with 51 points and a Grants N. Mex. cowboy, Keith Milner, nabbed third with 48 points.

Charles Heath of Bowie won the calf roping competition when he looped and tied his victim in 11.594 seconds. Bill Morrow of Hamlin was second with a time of 13.026 and his neighbor Don Bell was third with a 22.231 reading.

Donna Shelton of Vernon won the open barrel race when she made the trip in 17.514 seconds. Cindy Bird of Post was second, 18.112 and Melody Walker of Rotan was in the money with 18.190.

In the Fisher County barrel race the results were Penny Coker, Roby, 18.187; Tisa Lovett, Rotan, 18.342 and Tammy Stuart, Roby, 18.776.

A family from Cisco was the only ones to receive official times out of the 12 teams that entered the team roping. Phillip and Ralph Harrison won first with a time of 14.480 and Phillip paired with Bill Harrison to also share second with a time of 14.528.

Reggy Spencer won the calf scramble competition.

Rodeo action will continue today and Saturday beginning at 8 p.m. Senior calf roping for cowboys 50 and over will be an added attraction Saturday. The rodeo queen and junior queen will also be named during that performance.

An open horse show will be featured at the fair tomorrow with judging beginning at 9 a.m. There is no admission charge to the fair. Rodeo admission is $2.50 for adults and $1.50 for children.

25th Forged Check Found At Lubbock

The 25th forged check drawn on the account of Canyon Sandblasting has turned up and Snyder police report they are continuing their investigation.

The 25th check, however, broke the pattern of the previous 24. Each of the previous 24 checks had been written for $214.57. They have been found in Snyder, Big Spring, Colorado City, and Sweetwater.

The latest check to be recovered was drawn for a smaller amount and found in Lubbock. Beyond that, police declined to discuss details.

The sandblasting firm's Snyder office was broken into earlier this month. Initially, it was reported that 33 blank checks were taken.

Now, however, investigators said they have discovered that 15 more checks had taken in the original break-in.

In other police reports, officers investigated an accidental shooting Thursday afternoon at the Snyder sanitary landfill.

Injured was John Hernandez Jr., 24. Reports indicate he accidently shot himself in the right thigh with a .22-caliber pistol.

He was treated and released from Cogdell Memorial Hospital.

Also investigated were three minor traffic accidents.

The first occurred at 5 p.m. at the intersection of 30th St. and college Ave.

Involved in it were a 1977 Ford driven by Terry Dunham and a 1973 Oldsmobile driven by Vera Bagwell.

The next accident was a hit and run reported at 5:45 p.m. at the Varsity Square Shopping Center.

Involved in it were a 1977 Oldsmobile owned by Daisy H. Lewis and another vehicle which is alleged to have left the scene.

The third was at the Taco Villa and reported at 9:54 p.m.

Reports show it involved a food ordering sign and a car which left the scene. Damage to the sign was set at $100.

His first scheduled stop was Dallas, then on to Austin, McAllen and Corpus Christi.

Your Birthday

August 26, 1978

Your material prospects look rather encouraging for the coming year. Ironically, though, enterprises you think will yield large returns may not finish as strong as the ones you thought would be smaller.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Play your hunches and follow your intuitive leads in financial or career matters today. These ingredients, plus your common sense, will put you in the profit column. Like to find out more about yourself? Send for your copy of Astro-Graph Letter by mailing 50 cents for each and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, P. O. Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth sign.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) A pal may have some inside information you're seeking today, but you can't depend upon him to call you. Get out and circulate or phone friends who could be helpful.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Rather than try to follow the methods of others today, function in the manner that comes instinctively. Victory comes through use of your natural attributes.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Persons you'll be dealing with today have long memories. The cooperation and sharing you shower on them will not soon be forgotten.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Multiple responsibilities are not likely to frighten you today. You can handle several important projects simultaneously and still do a good job.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Learning can be a fun experience today if you approach it in that frame of mind. The knowledge you acquire you'll retain and later put to good use.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) In situations that matter to you personally, you'll only put out nominal effort today. In things you can do where loved ones benefit, your exertions will be far more vigorous.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Your greatest asset today is your ability to get along with people from all walks of life. Your pleasant demeanor is the key to open doors.

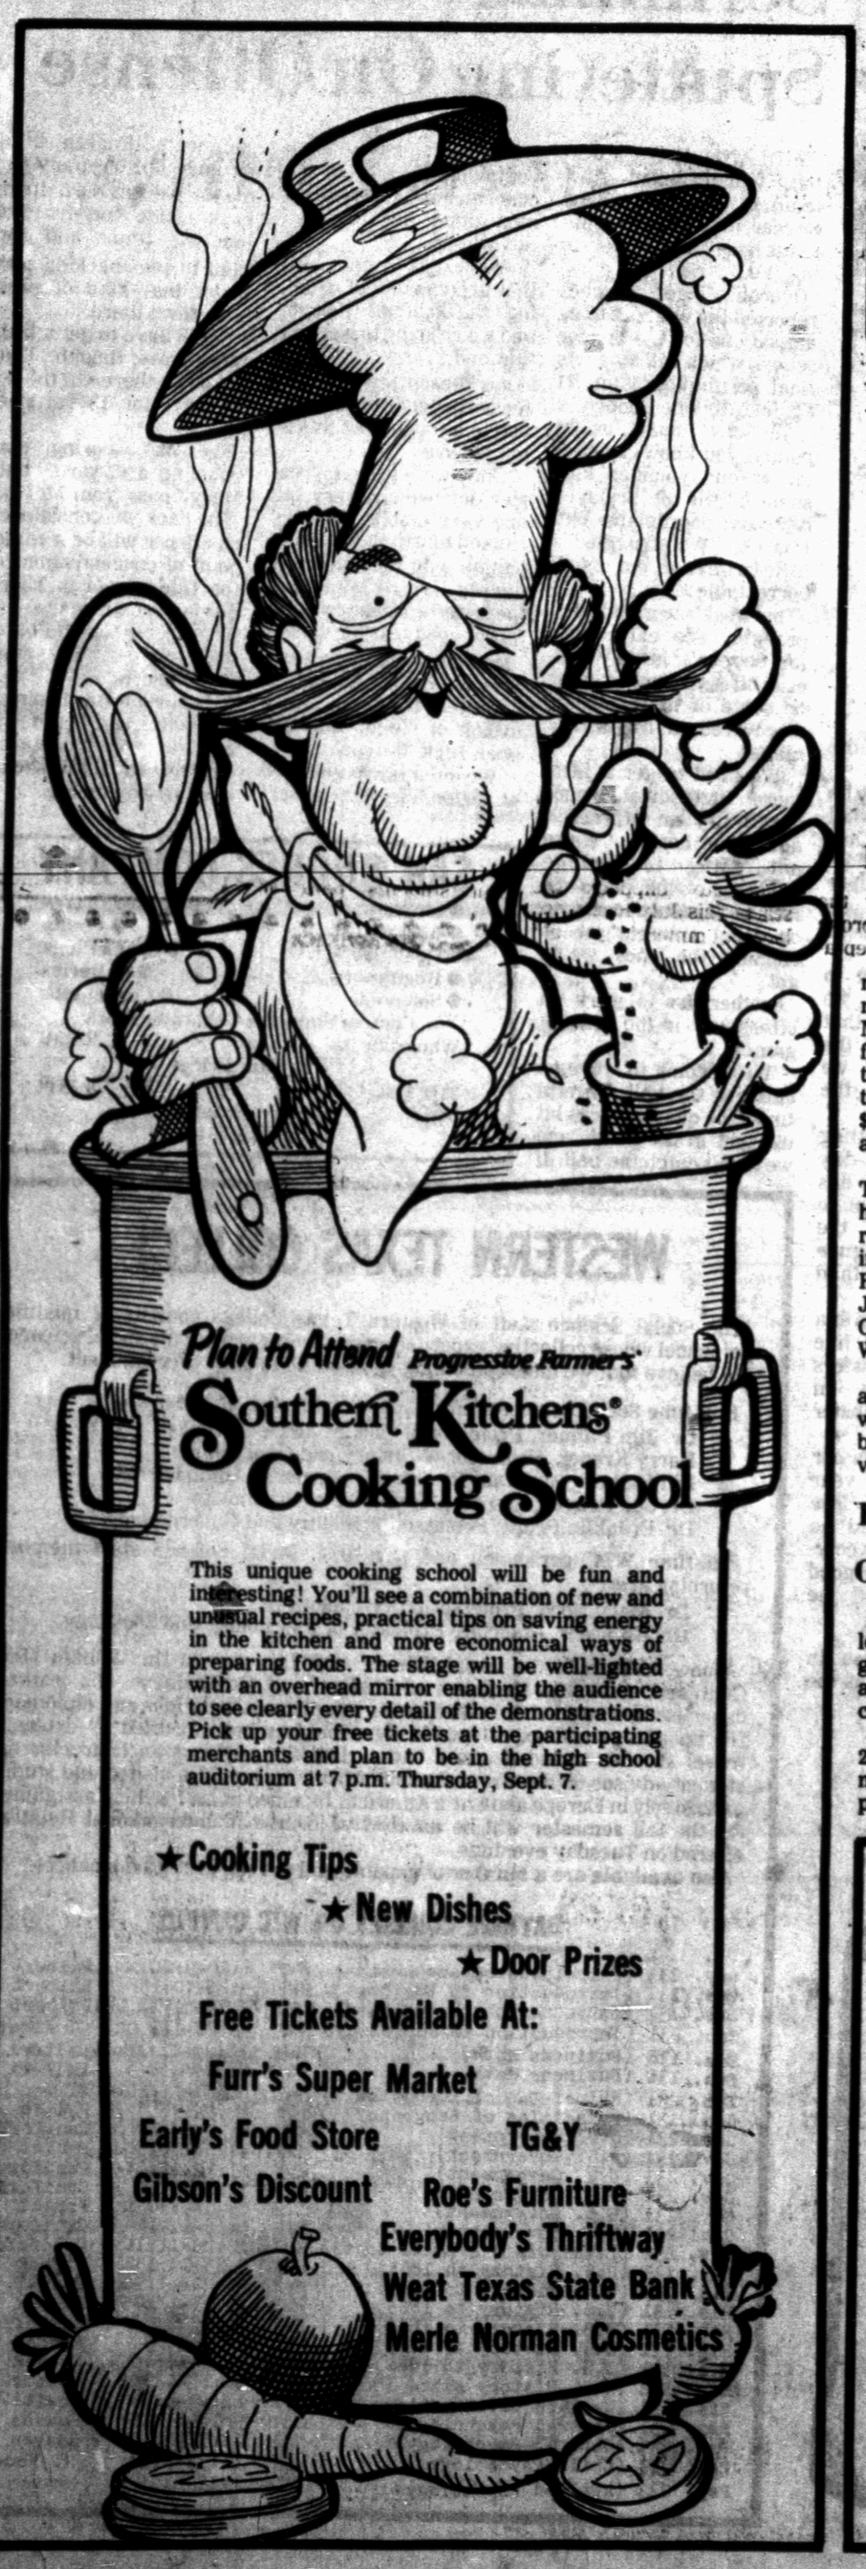

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Your normal channels of revenue could yield a larger return than usual today. Be alert for ways to get a bonus, or even a raise.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Projects calling for imagination or boldness will be the ones where you are likely to shine today. Be assertive without being erratic.

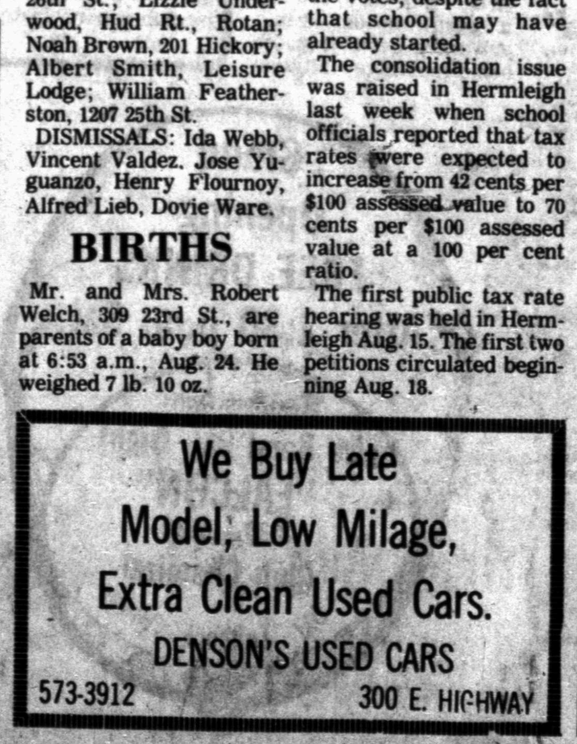

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Situations where you can derive some type of commission, even though it is a small one, should be the areas where you concentrate your efforts today.

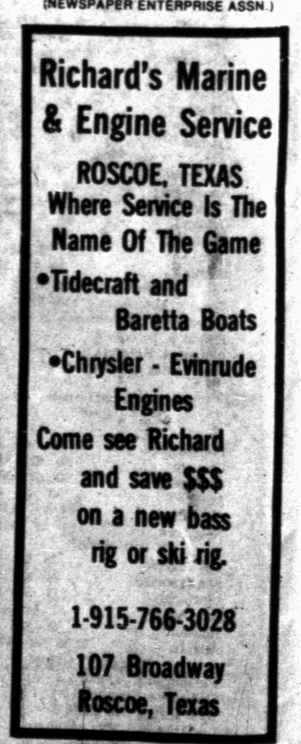

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Social encounters will be extremely beneficial today. You will learn as much from others as they will from you. Each will be buoyed up by the experience.

Importance Of Tenure Questioned By Clayton

By Lee Jones
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN, Texas (AP)- House Speaker Bill Clayton says he simply doesn't believe that doing away with tenure-essentially lifetime jobs-for college professors would damage academic freedom.

"That's not a valid argument," said Clayton, who is considering legislation to replace tenure with contracts of 5-10 years for state university teachers who have not yet achieved tenure.

Clayton said in an interview Thursday that professors don't universally support tenure.

"We've talked to some professors who think that term contracts is a better approach than pure tenure," he said. Clayton said he hopes to visit all the boards of regents and state college administrations and "a great number of faculty senates" to discuss the tenure issue.

Academics say doing away with tenure could impair academic freedom.

Debbie Cartwright, the speaker's research assistant, has drafted a report to Clayton in which she says eliminating tenure "could improve accountability and could conceivably improve higher education as a whole."

She found that 54.3 percent of Texas State college faculty members, including all ranks from instructor to professor, are tenured.

This, Ms. Cartwright said, is "creating concern among decision-makers as the numbers of secure faculty increase and budgets become tight."

And she raised the issue of whether tenure saps a university's vitality.

"Many persons believe that faculty under contract are more motivated and attribute success to individualized performance. Further it is believed that faculty will be more vital and diversified," Ms. Cartwright said.

Forest Hill, a University of Texas economics professor who has served on the school's academic freedom committee, said pay raises and professional prestige are strong incentives to produce.

He said incompetents can be fired, even though tenured.

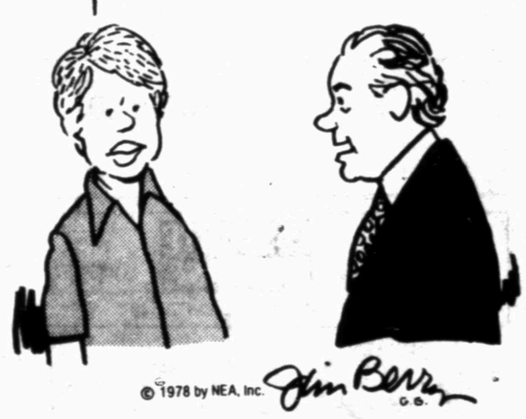

Neil Megaw, president of the Texas Conference of the American Association of University Professors, said abolishing tenure could stifle a teacher's willingness to introduce new ideas.

"You can get sacked because you're not a good administration boy," he said.

In rebuttal, Clayton cites an article by John Silber, president of the Boston University and former arts and sciences dean at the University of Texas at Austin.

"Academic freedom, properly exercised, requires courage. Where courage is present, academic freedom will be exercised with or without tenure...And when tenure becomes virtually a sinecure...it encourages irresponsibility and, not academic freedom, but academic license," Silber said.

Bequest To Caroline Is Turned Down

SAN ANTONIO (AP) - The Caroline Kennedy to whom an elderly San Antonio widow left two jewelry pieces is the daughter of the late Presiddent John F. Kennedy.

But Miss Kennedy, a 20-year-old Radcliffe College student, has turned down the jewelry, valued at $500, and has asked that it be given to the same charity to which most of Bulah Matlock Wise's $25,000 estate has been donated.

The jewelry - a cameo pin with pearls and a bracelet with amethysts and pearls - was willed to a Caroline Kennedy by Mrs. Wise, who died March 27, 1977, at the age of 84.

Stanley Banks Sr. executor of the estate, said that after investigating Mrs. Wise's handwritten will, he concluded that she could only have meant the assassinated president's daughter.

Banks said he believed Mrs. Wise, who had no children, had never met Miss Kennedy, but was "a long-distance admirer of the young lady."

A disclaimer signed by Miss Kennedy and witnessed by her mother, Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis, was filed Tuesday with the county clerk.

TISBURY, Mass. (AP) - Kate Jackson, one of "Charlie's Angels," is in heaven - or at least on Cloud 9.

USDA Brass Plans To Sample School Lunch

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)- Government cooks plan to sample some of their own wares next week in a demonstration of what 26 million children can expect to find in school cafeterias as they trek back to the classroom this fall.

The plan is for the Agriculture Department, which is in charge of the nation's school lunch program, to prepare the food and have Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland, other department officials and reporters test the results on Wednesday.

The department sent notices Thursday to the news media telling reporters about the school lunch preview, which will be accompanied by explanations of changes by the department to improve the quality and acceptability of school lunches, the notice said.

Among the changes are steps to gradually reduce the fat, sugar and salt content of school meals and plans - still being developed - to cut plate waste and give schools more freedom in satisfying students' tastes and appetites.

Bonnie Whyte of the department's Food and Nutrition Service said Bergland and the other diners can sample a menu designed around commodities the department donates to the school lunch program.

Included will be sliced turkey, chicken pot pie, fried chicken, cheeseburgers, biscuits, whole wheat muffins, beef in barbecue sauce, canned vegetables, fruit, orange juice, peanut butter and a vanilla pudding made from nonfat dried milk, she said.

About 94,000 of the approximately 110,000 primary and secondary schools in the United States participate in the federal school lunch program. The participating schools have an enrollment of about 51 million students, of which approximately 26 million ate the lunches last school year, the agency said.

The federal cost of operating the program is estimated at $2.5 billion annually, including cash grants to states and the commodity donations.

Officials said it is difficult to predict what school lunches will cost in the coming year because expenses vary widely among the states and individual schools.

The cost of a single lunch last year averaged about 80 cents and, considering the continued rise in food prices, is expected to creep up in the coming year, said one official who asked not to be identified.

But students paid an average of about 45 to 55 cents last year, with federal cash grants, commodity donations and local or state funds making up the difference.

The program, however, requires participating schools to provide free lunches to low-income children, and last May-the most recent tabulation-nearly 40 percent of the 26 million children eating lunches got them free.

Station Gets An Apology From Carson

MIAMI (AP) - Johnny Carson is going to be more careful when quipping about "clipping."

The star of the "Tonight" show has apologized to WCKT-TV for implying that the Miami station had "clipped" the start of his July 18 show so local commercials could be inserted.

Carson said his remarks during the July 26 show were based on a complaint in a viewer's letter.

Carson said his letter to WCKT President Edmund N. Ansin was delayed because "I wanted to be sure to get the correct information and the facts, a procedure which obviously I did not follow prior to my comments on that show."

"It was not my intention to accuse your station of illegal practices but I recognize that your viewing audience could interpret my remarks that way," Carson wrote.

Democrats Use 'New Right' To Attract Funds

By DON McLEOD
AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - Democratic fund-raisers are building a campaign for political dollars around a counter-attack on the aggressive conservative movement that bills itself The New Right.

They say it is working, reaping contributions at an unprecedented rate.

The conservatives have had both political parties nervous, Republicans are concerned about their fund-raising prowess, Democrats over their potential clout at the polls.

Now Democratic National Chairman John White has declared war on what he calls "the radical right," despite qualms at the White House over an offensive against such a potent political bloc.

He's telling potential Democratic donors that if they don't chip in with money now, "these reactionary conservatiives" may make significant headway at the polls this fall.

"We're getting great response," White said. "The first week's returns set a record for one of our mailings."

One problem for Democratic organizers and money men has been the lack of a rallying point.

It's difficult to convince a prospective supporter that you really need help when your party holds the White House and overwhelming majorities in Congress. And the defensive nature of those incumbencies denies the Democrats a handy whipping boy. When there's a problem, there aren't mablame.

Furthermore, some of the issues on which the administration has had to concentrate, from the Panama Canal treaties to inflation, are the kind on which it is easier to organize critics.

The Democrats haven't had a really hot issue to call their own in their appeal for funds.

But White thinks he may have one now with his warning of growing conservative clout.

The conservatives, working through their own organizations and around the established political parties, are better organized and financed now than ever before.

The men behind that phenomenon is Richard A. Viguerie, who runs a direct-mail fund-raising operation in the Washington suburb of Falls Church, Va. He has put together a computerized list of millions of conservative activists and contributors. He raises millions of dollars every year for conservative candidates and causes.

Since more conservatives tend to be Republicans than Democrats, some Democratic professionals have been worried about the impact. Such conservative support played a big part in their losses in most of last year's special congressional elections.

Republicans, too, have had their differences with the "New Right," which has been diverting some resources which ordinarly would have gone to the party and using them to fight liberal Republicans in primaries and even to support some conservative Democrats.

But, although GOP Chairman Bill Brock has complained openly about the competition and disruption from dissident conservatives, no overt action has been taken to counter them.

Dumping syndrome

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am a woman 46 years of age and I have had surgery for my ulcers. They cut the vagas nerve and on my last operation they removed three-fourths of my stomach. At that time I was bleeding very badly and they had to wait two days before they could operate. My weight is only 109 pounds and I am 5-feet-5.

I would like to know if you could explain the dumping syndrome for me. I am on a low carbohydrate diet with lots of meat and no sugar, honey, jelly, candy, etc. because I have low sugar from the dumping syndrome.

DEAR READER — Individuals who have had surgery, particularly of the stomach such as you've had, tend to empty the stomach rapidly after eating. The food you eat is "dumped" from the stomach into the small intestine.

Ordinarily the stomach retains the food you eat for some time to churn it and start the initial phase of digestion. The food is liquefied and released in small amounts into the small intestine. This way the small intestine is never overloaded with food.

When dumping occurs, the excess amount of food dumped into the small intestine causes a lot of water and salts to be pulled into the small intestine from your circulation. This may cause the person to have a tendency to faint.

Also the rapid absorption of too much sugar and sweets causes a rapid rise in blood sugar with an immediate fall. When the blood sugar falls too low, the individual may feel faint from that cause also. Such an individual may break out in a sweat, feel anxious and have other symptoms of low blood-sugar.

Most individuals who have had such surgery recover from this reaction, although it does persist to some degree in some patients. The best management is to treat yourself with the kind of diet that you mentioned.

You should eat small meals frequently, being careful not to overload the stomach. Such a person should avoid all of the sweets, particularly the concentrated ones, and the starches as found in bread. The diet should include lots of protein as found in meat.

And it is one condition where including some fat in the meal is probably helpful. This helps to delay the emptying of the stomach. To give you a better idea of what happens with low blood sugar I am sending you The Health Letter number 3-9, Low Blood Sugar: Hypoglycemia. Others who want this issue can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

There are some individuals who have not had any surgery who have low blood sugar on a similar basis. They tend to be the ones who drink coffee and sweet liquids in the morning and a starchy breakfast. The stomach dumps these into the small intestine and there is a reactive low blood sugar response.

These individuals, too, usually do better by eliminating sweets, particularly the sweet liquids and the starches and trying to regulate their eating. There should be a greater emphasis on the use of bulky foods such as leafy vegetables and fruits like raw apples that contain lots of fiber, thereby making them slowly absorbed.

Bodyguards Suing Sheik

LOS ANGELES (AP)- Three bodyguards have sued a millionaire Saudi Arabian sheik for almost $2,000 each in back wages plus $1 million in punitive damages.

The bodyguards - Cyril Mohwenyo, Mickey Blocker and Bruce Robinson - said Sheik Mohammad S.A. Al-Fassi hired them last May for salaries of $800 a month. When they quit in July, the sheik owed Mohwenyo and Blocker $1,190 each and Robinson $1,870, alleged the lawsuit filed Wednesday in Superior Court.

Sheik Mohammed, who outraged his Beverly Hills neighbors when he installed plastic flowers and nude statutes outside his lavish mansion facing busy Sunset Boulevard, reportedly has returned to Saudi Arabia.

Dominguez, Followers Believe He'll Be Pope

By FENTON WHEELER
Associated Press Writer

SEVILLE, Spain (AP) - Few people believe Clemente Dominguez Gomez, 32, a Spanish insurance clerk until two years ago, will be the next pope of the Roman Catholic Church.

But Dominguez does, and so do hundreds of his followers who have poured in thousands of dollars to help him build a cathedral in southern Spain for the papal moment.

Although unrecognized by the Spanish Catholic Church, the self-proclaimed oracle has made such a success of marketing his visions that his religious order is prospering while most of Spain scrambles to pay its bills.

Neither the Vatican nor the Spanish Catholic Church seem disposed to intervene in what has become a growing embarrassment to both.

Only the local priests and laymen on the hot plains of Andalucia complain. But they, too, seem overwhelmed at times by Dominquez' success and the 600-yard-long building that looks more like a garage than a cathedral, rising up over the wheat fields and olive trees where four little girls claim they saw a vision of the Virgin Mary 10 years ago.

The cost of the cathedral, which is backed by believers from all over the world, is estimated in the millions. The year-old project is to be two-thirds the length of the Gen. Francisco Franco's mausoleum.

In sermons, Dominguez tells his followers about conversations with God advising him he will take over after Pope Paul VI as Pope Gregory XVII.

A regular church goer, Dominguez failed in attempts to enter a siminary, friends say, and often questioned priests about mysticism and reports of visions, not infrequent in deeply religious and rural Andalucia.

Local priests say, however, only about a dozen of El Palmar's 1,200 families attend Dominguez' Masses.

"Clemente's concepts are totally false," says the Rev. Felix Arana, who split from Dominguez' self-created order at the small town of El Palmar de Troya 20 miles from Seville when Dominguez began appointing Bishops and monks by the dozen.

At last count, he had named 130 bishops, 27 monks and one priest, a 17-year-old deaf mute. All were appointed without approval of the Catholic Church and the Vatican.

Dominguez, Arana charges, "is using a spiritual situation to deceive the faithful," a reference to the vision reported by the four girls and one that Arana says has been fully authenticated. The Vatican has yet to investigate their story.

His eyes stitched shut after he was blinded in a car accident, Dominguez began reporting visions about four years ago. They told him to set up a Catholic order in El Palmar. A duchess who believed in him donated the land. Other contributions came by mail and hand.

Although the Spanish Catholic Church disowns Dominguez and says he is outside Canon Law, it apparently has no real lever against him.

Authorities Exhaust Leads In Search

SOUTH FORK, Colo. (AP) - Authorities hope Labor Day hikers or fishermen will help them find a missing Texas couple believed killed by the Gary Tison gang in southwestern Colorado.

"We have exhausted all our leads," said Rio Grande County Sheriff Jerry Wright. "We're left to hikers or fishermen possibly stumbling on the bodies."

The search for James Judge Jr., and his bride from Amarillo, Texas, began Aug. 11 when their van was used by the Tison Gang in an attempt to run a roadblock in Arizona.

One of Tison's sons was killed in the ensuing shootout. Three other members of the gang were captured. Tison fled into the Arizona desert and died of exposure.

Tison and another Arizona State Prison inmate escaped the penitentiary, allegedly with the aid of Tison's three sons. The survivors are accused of murdering four other persons in Arizona during their run from the law.

Wright said 15 officers have searched a 500-square mile area centered on Wolf Creek Pass and near Tucker Ponds, about 20 miles west of South Fork, but no trace of the honeymooning Texas couple has turned up.

Carter's Zig-Zag Path Hurts, Says Singlaub

HOUSTON (AP) - Major General John Singlaub, who retired after two sharp attacks on the Carter Administration defense policies, says many Europeans consider the president weak in military matters and fear his "zig-zag path is putting them in danger."

The former chief of the U.S. and United Nation forces in Korea told a news conference Thursday that Carter had been ill-advised and naive in accepting the suggestions of "his kitchen cabinet."

He said, "Some of his (Carter's) training at Annapolis apparently didn't take, or he didn't have enough followup education that professional military men have received."

Singlaub said he decided to retire after his second attack on Carter policies, including the use of women in combat units, the Panama Canal treaty, and the junking of the B-1 bomber and the neutron bomb.

The retired general said the Joint Chiefs of Staff were wrong in remaining silent on certain defense issues, such as the Panama Canal treaty, when they disagreed with the president. He said "They should resign or retire" and then have the right to sound-off against the policies rather than letting "the nation believe they agreed with these policies."

Singlaub met with newsmen shortly before a speech at a dinner hosted by several military organizations.

He said he was puzzled why the "Carter Administration is insisting that women be placed in combat units. I have studied this in detail and women in these units have adverse effects on the men. Once in Korea I saw sergeants leave their platoons to make sure women assigned to the units were removed to safety.

"This feeling of protection toward women can't be removed as long as men have mothers."

Singlaub said women in combat units tend to make other nations feel our military forces are being weakened.

"And, when the Dallas Cowboys have females on their forward line, I may be for having women in combat units."

After being reassigned following his statements on the withdrawal of American troops from Korea, Singlaub once again critized Carter during a speech before a group of ROTC cadets at Georgia Tech.

It was then he asked to retire and, as he said Thursday, "The offer was quickly accepted."

Singlaub also told newsmen he supported a return to the draft and an end to the all-volunteer Army. With the draft, he said, there would be an increase in the number of men joining the National Guard and the various reserve units.

And, he said, "My name has become a verb in the Pentagon. If an officer tells Congress something the administration thinks he shouldn't, he is threatened with being Singlaubed."

Children Fed Marijuana

CUYAHOGA FALLS, Colo. (AP) - Two Cuyahoga Falls mothers were arrested on charges of criminally endangering their children after their daughters apparently became ill from eating marijuana-laced brownies, police said.

The charges against Linda Walk and Claudia Martell, both of Cuyahoga Falls, were filed Thursday, one day after their daughters, Kim Walk, 8, and Tiffany Martell, 6, were taken to a hospital by a babysitter.

The babysitter, Alison Mee, 14, told police the girls became ill after eating brownies. A police analysis disclosed the marijuana. Both girls were treated and released from the hospital.

Two Sentenced In County Court

Two men were sentenced Thursday in county court.

Sentenced were John Flores Davila and Robert Perez. Davila pleaded guilty to a charge of driving while intoxicated and Perez pleaded guilty to a charge of driving while his license was suspended.

Davila received a $200 fine and a 30-day jail term, probated for six months. Perez was handed a $100 fine and a 30-day jail term, probated for six months.

Ex-Julliard Man Has Fun On 'Sha Na Na'

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)-Jon Bauman, ex-Julliard man, degreed in music by Columbia U., can sing opera, play classical music and knows from such things as the Lydian mode and the 12-tone row.

What, then, is a long-haired cat like him doing singing "yip-yip-yip-yip-mum-mum-mum-mum" in his role as Bowzer, the greasy-haired bass vocalist of the '50s rock group called Sha Na Na.

"Mainly having fun," he cheerfully replied. "I'm enjoying myself. I'm communicating something to everybody - I hope."

Sha Na Na, evolved in 1969 from a staid Columbia vocal group, The Kingsmen, this fall starts its second syndicated season on TV in a weekly show seen in 130 stations, include the five NBC owns.

Bauman, 30, a skinny, friendly guy, is the only classically trained member of this rock-of-Brooklyn tribe. He joined up in 1970 from a post as music director of a naked musicale, "Oh: Calcutta:"

Didn't Sha Na Na's simple, repetitive sounds initially grate on his educated ears?

"Well, yes and no," said the Brooklyn-born singer, who with his wife, Mary, moved here last December from Brooklyn Heights. "To me, music is just a form of expression.

"And '50s rock 'n' roll to me is just as expressive, just in a different way, as anything else. Granted, it's not as musically complex, but socially, what it meant in its time was complex."

Bauman, son of a dentist, said he started in music at age 7, playing piano, first Hanon exercises, then classics, "but like any other kid I started listening to pop music early."

"I reached kind of an early crossroads where I liked both, and I'd be practicing my classical music and listening to the radio-with an earphone - at the same time."

But now, after all those years of formal studies, don't you feel strange to be all greased up and singing informal 1950s rock?

"Well, I've looked at my job mainly as a theatrical one from the very beginning," said Jon, also a trained actor who studied with Lee Strasberg, among others, in New York.

"Musically, sure, it's limited, though it's great music I love and grew up with. But I always did look at it from the very first as an acting job and acting problem, so I created Bowzer."

He said he still practices classical works off-duty, and "one thing I'd like to do would be to have Bowzer conduct a symphony for a young people's concert, to try to cross over that line.

"Others have done it, and I think it's a good thing. These musical tastes can co-exist in a person. One needn't preclude the other."

A major question: What with "Grease," "Happy Days," "American Graffiti" and other forays of the '50s heavily assailing the '70s, shouldn't Dick Clark be impeached?

The basso profundo of Sha Na Na just laughed and laughed.

"That's kind of a tough one, isn't it?" he rumbled.

Network Sues Redd Foxx

LOS ANGELES (AP) - ABC, which outfoxed NBC three years ago to lure away Redd Foxx, has filed a $5 million breach-of-contract suit against the veteran comedian.

ABC said the suit, filed Wednesday in Superior Court, also seeks a permanent injunction to keep Foxx "from rendering his services to any person or entity other than ABC."

The network said the suit alleges that Foxx and three production companies he owns breached an October 1975 contract to make a pilot for a TV series that would have starred the comedian.

In addition to $5 million in general damages, the network also seeks a judgment for $350,000 it says it advanced to Foxx, who starred in NBC's "Sanford and Son" before leaving it to sign with ABC.

Floridians Leave Cities

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) - Florida residents are moving to the country faster than people in any other state except New Jersey, a University of Florida study shows.

The analysis of census figures indicated Florida's non-metropolitan population grew by 269,680 during the six years studied - 15.3 percent of the total state growth. And Florida suburbs ballooned by 1.28 million people since 1970.
