AJRA will return for 13th time here

Snyder was selected as the site for the 1988 AJRA National Finals Saturday by an unanimous vote of the AJRA board of directors.

The decision was announced at the Saturday night performance of the AJRA, an event which saw the finals broadcast live around the U.S. and Canada.

A crowd estimated at 2,500 witnessed the last go of this year's rodeo.

Snyder's bid to again host the event was one of three submitted to the AJRA board, according to Chamber Manager Bill Moss. Also making bids were Abilene and Fort Worth.

"The directors told us that Snyder was the only place to have it (the rodeo)," Moss said Monday, "And we feel pretty good about that."

He and longtime AJRA supporter Ralph Miller made the Snyder presentation to the AJRA board.

Next year will mark the 13th appearance in Snyder of the annual rodeo event and the 36th AJRA National Finals. Plans call also for it to again be televised live, the third time this has occurred.

The rodeo is slated next year Aug. 8-13.

Cameras whirl as contestants offer their 'final' AJRA shot

After naming world champions Friday night, Saturday's wrapup show of the AJRA National Finals Rodeo could have been anticlimactic, but youngsters gave their all for the whirring television cameras.

A close-to-capacity crowd was on hand for the final show at Scurry County Coliseum. The night's work capped a week-long series of shows in which over 260 young cowboys and cowgirls competed.

The hottest competition came in the barrels, though J.J. Hampton's super-quick 1.86 clocking in the ribbon roping was perhaps the top standout event of the night. Coming close was Andrews cowboy Robert Berry, who scored a fine 80 to win the boy's 12-and-under steer riding.

Girl's 12-and-under all-around world champion Ashley Looney of Del Rio won her division of the barrels with a 14.93. Age 13-15 all-around world champ Manor's Mitzi Mayes ran away with the girl's 13-15 race in 14.80, while Kimbra Peirce of Miami seared the cloverleaf with a 14.65 in the girl's 16-19 age event. She was chased by Snyder's Leslie Ward in 14.84, and the world champion in the event, Gail's Ralynn Key, who turned a 14.89. Peirce was the 16-19 age barrel racing reserve champion.

Boy's 12-under all-around champion Jeff Hilton won his division of the barrels in 14.86.

In the ribbon roping, Hampton had played second to Abilene's Lari Dee Guy too often during the season, but not Saturday. Though Guy - 16-to-19 all-around and optional roper world champion - set a fast 3.57 pace, the Stephenville cowgirl's 1.84 outgunned everybody.

The closest time to it was a 3.04 by Manor's Mayes, who took won the girl's 13-15 breakaway as well as the barrel race on Saturday.

Good times were also posted in the tie down calf roping, where Marty Yates of Corsicana won the 13-15 age division in 9.76 and Shawn McMullan of Iraan won the 16-19 division in 9.66.

Yates was reserve all-around champion and won the calf roping in the 13-15 division for the year.

Man resigns

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas Railroad Commission Chairman Mack Wallace announced his resignation today, saying the time had come to pursue private endeavors and spend more time with his family.

Wallace told the regular weekly meeting of the commission that the Texas law firm of Hughes and Luce had invited him to join its Austin office.

Wallace, a commissioner on the oil and gas regulatory panel since 1973, said he would discuss his plans with Gov. Bill Clements, "and I will work with him to assure the most effective transition possible."

1 of 6 is dead

LIVERPOOL, England (AP) — One of Britain's six surviving septuplets died this morning and the survival chances of the remaining five babies are less than 50 percent, their doctor said.

The other five tiny infants — three girls and two boys — were doing better in Liverpool General Hospital's intensive care neo-natal unit but still faced a struggle to survive, he said.

Britain's first septuplets, born 15 weeks premature, were delivered during a 7-minute period Saturday in Liverpool in northwestern England. One of them, a boy weighing 1 pound, died 25 minutes after the Caesarean delivery.

Father arrested

HOUSTON (AP) — The father of a 4-month-old boy found dead in an apartment complex dumpster remains in jail today after being charged with murder, a spokeswoman for the Harris County Sheriff's Department said.

A baby's body identified as that of Stephen Joel Cox was found wrapped in a green plastic garbage bag about 7:30 p.m Sunday in far west Harris County, a few hours after his father reported him kidnapped, authorities said.

The baby's father, Joel Robert Cox, 29, was being held in the Harris County Jail in lieu of $100,000 bond this morning, the spokeswoman said.

Cox had been taking care of the infant, while the baby's mother, identified by sheriff's officers as Annette Cortez, was hospitalized with a bladder infection, officials said.

Clements' veto is surprise expense in college budget

A line item veto by Gov. Bill Clements which cut some $45.3 million for group insurance premiums for employees of Texas community colleges now spells an $88,000 budget problem for Western Texas College trustees.

The board is slated to address this unexpected budget expense during a called meeting Monday which includes the scheduled approval of the 1987-88 college budget.

The board finalized its study of the coming year's operating estimate earlier this summer. However, included in that estimate was expected state funding amounting to $88,305 which would have been the state's annual share of health insurance coverage for college staffers.

Under state law, colleges are required to provide basic insurance coverage for their employees. Since 1977, cost of that coverage has been paid by direct state appropriations.

Following approval of the state budget in late July, however, Clements used his power of line

Wreck injures woman

A 37-year-old Snyder woman was seriously injured in a one-car accident Saturday four miles west of Colorado City on a county road.

Martha McKinley of 2906 Ave. T in Snyder was brought to Root Memorial Hospital in Colorado City at 8:20 a.m. Saturday and was transferred by helicopter at 4 p.m. Saturday to St. Mary's Hospital in Lubbock, where she was listed in serious but stable condition Monday morning.

The accident was investigated by Department of Public Safety trooper James Burson, who could not be reached for comment by mid-day Monday.

A Mitchell County sheriff's office dispatcher said, however, that the accident reportedly involved one car on a road near Lake Colorado City.

154 people are dead in airplane crash

ROMULUS, Mich. (AP) — Investigators were checking reports today that a jetliner was on fire before it plunged into the ground and "crumbled like a piece of paper" as it smashed through freeway bridges, killing 154 people in the nation's second-worst crash.

There were conflicting reports on whether a 4-year-old girl hospitalized Sunday night after the crash of Northwest Airlines Flight 255 might have been a passenger. The girl was found in the wreckage under the body of a woman, which had apparently cushioned her.

The McDonnell Douglas MD-80, an updated version of the DC-9, had arrived from Saginaw and was en route to Phoenix and suburban Los Angeles. It crashed in clear weather at 8:46 p.m., moments after taking off from Detroit Metropolitan Airport.

Aboard the plane were 147 passengers, including two infants being held on laps, and six crew members, said Bob Gibbons, a Northwest spokesman in Minneapolis. At least 152 people died on the plane and two more died on the ground, and at least six people on the ground were injured, authorities said.

If was the first major commercial plane crash in the United States in almost a year, and the first involving a domestic carrier in almost two years.

Authorities said there was some looting at the site shortly after the plane crashed, with some people carrying away debris. Six people were arrested.

The area was cordoned off today and National Transportation Safety Board investigators were on the scene. Interstate 94, the main artery between Detroit and Chicago, was still closed late this morning because of the debris.

FBI agents were sent to the scene based on a report that there might have been an explosion before the crash, said John Anthony, an FBI spokesman in Detroit. The agents would check for any sign of a bomb, but there was "no indication" there was a bomb on the plane, he said.

In January, the FBI said it was investigating alleged tampering with Northwest planes at the Minneapolis airport. Last month, the Detroit Free Press said the airline had brought in security guards to combat minor acts of vandalism on ground equipment.

Gibbons said FBI investigation of a possible bomb is routine. "I wouldn't jump to any conclusions about the FBI involvement."

He said there's no evidence of possible sabotage in the crash, and would not comment on Northwest's recent union problems in Detroit.

Michael Moore, 14, who was standing near the Avis building, said today he saw an "orange glow, like on fire behind the building. And the glare is what made me look."

Moore told ABC's "Good Morning America" that the orange glow was "around the engines, in the back, covering the engines."

FBI agents were sent to the scene based on a report that there might have been an explosion before the crash, said John Anthony, an FBI spokesman in Detroit. The agents would check for any sign of a bomb, he said.

The jetliner rocked side to side and plunged to the ground trailing fire before skidding beneath an Interstate 94 overpass.

Elementary signups due at all campuses

Elementary student registration for the 1987-88 school year is scheduled Tuesday at all Snyder elementary campuses.

Students in grades pre-kindergarten through the sixth will register from 8:30 a.m. until 3:30 p.m. School personnel will be on hand through the lunch hour also.

Parents of students enrolling for the first time in Snyder Public Schools must bring the child's immunization records with them. Additional records such as report cards or test scores of new students are requested also.

If the child is a kindergarten student who did not pre-register in the spring or did not attend kindergarten in Snyder and is six years old, the parents must bring the child's certified birth certificate.

Parents who pre-registered their pre-kindergarten (four-year-old) or kindergarten age child last May may also return to the school for registration. If the child needed immunizations or a birth certificate at that time, parents must bring this information with them. Students who pre-registered in the spring will not be permitted to enroll in school without complete records.

County sets budget date

The Scurry County commissioners court on Aug. 31 will conduct a public hearing on the 1988 county budget.

Commissioners decided in a brief regular meeting Monday morning to have the hearing at 5 p.m. Aug. 31 so that people might attend after they get off work.

Auditor B.J. Bartels said the county is not required by law to have the hearing because a tax increase is not at issue for the 1988 fiscal year. In fact, he noted, a tax decrease is in the offing because of the half-cent county sales tax approved by voters earlier this month.

No other business was transacted Monday morning.

Plains Indians to be museum study topic

A study of the Plains Indians for children ages 5-8 is due Tuesday and Wednesday at the Scurry County Museum from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m.

The children's program will be the first of two scheduled by the museum this month. The second program, aimed at children ages 8-10, is scheduled Aug. 25-26 and is titled "Talking Houses."

The cost for each two-day program will be $6 per child. Children of Museum Association members will pay $5 each. Enrollment will be limited to 20 children in each group.

During the session this week, youngsters will make tom-toms, buffalo masks, Indian necklaces and peace pipes. They will eat lunch in a tepee and snack on buffalo meat.

Parents should pack a sack lunch for their child each day. Drinks will be provided.

Children participating in the second program later this month will build a "main street" diorama and take a field trip to several houses in town as part of their study of architecture. Building styles in the western states will be emphasized.

For more information about classes or to make reservations, call the museum at 573-6107.

Oil recovery said beginning to show some 'signs of life'

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP) — There are some signs of life in the oilpatch these days as the spot market price of oil creeps above $20, and petroleum companies are beginning to get back to work after more than a year of uncertainty.

"Things on my end are getting better," said Al Lamson of Lamson Crocker Petroleum Corp. here. "We do see an optimism that we did not see before."

Lamson believes the price of natural gas will reach $2 per thousand cubic feet and oil will be at $25 a barrel by February, if not sooner. Natural gas has yet to increase in price at the same rate as crude oil, he said.

But he fears prices for drilling equipment and services may begin to increase. He said one type of drilling pipe has doubled in price in the past six months.

Lamson said his company just plugged a well, and he is looking for a good drilling prospect.

Investors are now willing to put up capital for new wells, but it's been difficult to find prospects that have promise, he said.

"We're still not seeing enough good deals," Lamson said.

Richard Hudson of the Lafayette office of the state Office of Conservation said the number of drilling-permit applications has increased, although not dramatically.

"It's more or less been a gradual increase in the past few weeks," Hudson said.

Most of the major companies plan to drill more wells by the end of the year, he said.

"It's what they planned to do at the beginning of the year," according to Hudson.

B.C. Fernandez, owner of Dolphin Workboats of Morgan City, has changed his outlook on the future of his business in the last few months.

"It looks like maybe a recovery is coming," he said. "We now have hope that there may be something coming in the future."

The day rates offshore companies are willing to pay for boats are enough to allow him to break even, Fernandez said.

"Few boats in the Gulf are making enough money to cover operating costs and debt service," Fernandez added.

At Intracoastal City, John Guilbeau said his company, Land and Offshore Supply, has been experiencing spurts of business activity.

"It's going and coming," Guilbeau said. "I see a little bit more traffic than what we normally see on the highway."

Most of that activity appears to be centered around the offshore industry, he said.

He believes the business is making a comeback, but he doesn't expect a return to the boom of the early '80s and late '70s.

"It's going to take a little time," Guilbeau predicted. "I think we've bottomed out."

He said a lot of oil-field workers are happy to be returning to work.

"It's a good feeling to hear people talk like that," Guilbeau said.

But could all this good news just be a surge of good health before another relapse?

"I don't think so," said David Manuel, dean of the College of Business Administration at the University of Southwestern Louisiana.

"I have a much brighter outlook than I did six months ago," he said.

There are several good reasons for an increase in drilling, besides the conflict in the Middle East, Manuel said.

Expensive offshore leases are to expire soon, he said, prompting major oil companies to begin drilling to avoid forfeiture of those federal leases.

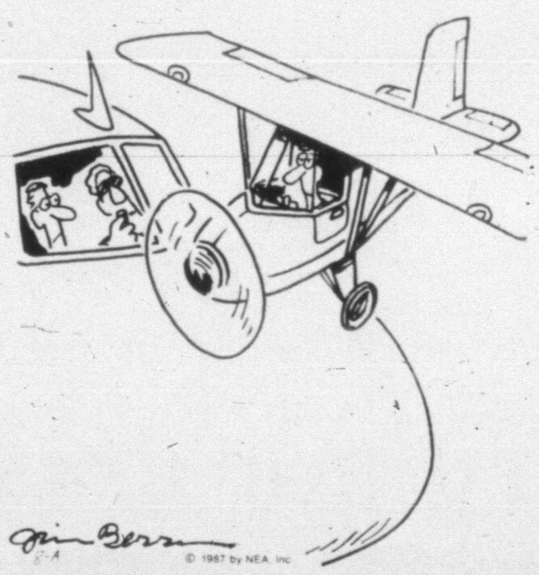

In addition, many companies are in danger of depleting their reserves, so new oil must be found, Manuel said.

Manuel said less attention should be paid to the daily price fluctuations of crude oil. It's the long-term outlook that matters, he said.

The Gulf of Mexico holds some of the largest undiscovered recoverable deposits of natural gas in the world, Manuel said.

"And there's still a lot of oil to be found in the Gulf of Mexico as well," he said.

Wisdom teeth may cause headaches

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I am 26 and am getting three wisdom teeth. I've been having bad headaches. Could the teeth be the cause?

DEAR READER — Wisdom teeth can cause headaches, particularly if the teeth are impacted or growing in crooked. Check with your dentist.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I remember reading an article about increasing the chances of conceiving a child of a particular gender. It included information about acidity/alkalinity of the vagina. Would diet have an effect or would douching be preferable?

DEAR READER — All that hoopla years ago about determining the sex of a child by douching to alter vaginal acidity at the time of conception has not been scientifically confirmed. Although you can ask your obstetrician about this, I think you'll enjoy relations more fully if you avoid being too scientific, relax and let Nature take its course.

Don't forget that recent evidence has suggested that the use of alcohol, tobacco and drugs can be almost as damaging to a normal fetus before conception — because of the harm they cause to the woman's body — as they can be during fetal growth.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I'm pregnant with twins. One doctor says to walk a lot, but avoid intercourse. Another doctor says sex is OK, but stay in bed. Who is right?

DEAR READER — Follow the instructions of the doctor whom you have hired as your obstetrician. As a general rule, intercourse during pregnancy is safe, providing there is no high-risk pregnancy (history of premature delivery) and relations are carried out gently. For most women, moderate exercise is appropriate, at least up to the last few weeks of pregnancy, when walking can become uncomfortable.

DEAR DR. GOTT — What would be the best non-prescription birth control for a teenager who has sex infrequently?

DEAR READER — Unquestionably, the safest and most effective non-prescription contraception is the simultaneous use of vaginal foam and condoms. Each method is reasonably successful; when combined and used appropriately, foam and condoms are virtually 100 percent effective. There are four additional features: You are using birth control only when you need it, the devices are easily available, the condom will also protect against sexually transmitted diseases, and both partners share the responsibility.

Dr. Gott's new Health Report on ALZHEIMER'S DISEASE discusses symptoms, management and new studies of this tragic and irreversible disease. For your copy, send $1 and your name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

Oklahoma woman dies in accident

ORANGE, Texas (AP) — An Oklahoma woman was killed and eight other family members, including five children, were injured when their van overturned on Interstate 10 in a weekend traffic accident, officials said.

Texas Department of Public Safety trooper Kevin Malone said the family's van was traveling east on the interstate when a tire blew out about 6:40 p.m. Saturday, causing the driver, Dominec Hoang, 41, to lose control of the vehicle. The van crossed the median, flipped over and landed upright in the west bound lanes.

The dead woman was thrown from the front of the van, Malone said. Justice of the Peace Pat Brown of Vidor pronounced her dead at the scene.

Malone said the deceased woman was the grandmother of an Oklahoma family.

Outcry Over Rape Case Changes California Law

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1987 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I read the letter in your column from "Outraged in California," concerning Lawrence Singleton, who was found guilty of raping a teen-age girl, chopping off her arms with an ax and leaving her for dead in a ditch.

He was sentenced to 14 years in prison, served eight years, and then, because of a "flawed law," was released for "good behavior." You rightly suggested that the "flawed law" be changed.

I want you and your readers to know that the Singleton case contributed to the passage of subsequent legislation that imposed full consecutive sentences for violent sex offenses. If Singleton were sentenced today, he would receive a sentence of 31 years, plus a life term!

MIKE ROOS,
SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE,
CALIFORNIA LEGISLATURE

DEAR SPEAKER ROOS: Thank you for setting the record straight. I understand that Singleton is presently living in a trailer on the grounds of San Quentin Prison, protected by two parole officers at the cost of $1,350 a day to ensure his safety. My readers are irate that their tax money is being spent to protect this man. And frankly, so am I. Read on for a sample of reader mail:

DEAR ABBY: "Outraged" wrote that California officials are paying $1,350 a day of taxpayers' money to protect Singleton, the rapist; $1,350 times 365 days equals $492,750! That's a cool half-million dollars a year!

Who authorized this tremendous expenditure, and on what legal grounds? Is there a law that authorizes this protection? And if so, why aren't the same amenities provided for all prisoners released? Many of them face a hostile and unfriendly reception from the community after release, too.

Personally, I think the ideal place for Singleton is in the same culvert where he left that poor girl — minus his arms — but, of course, our system of "justice" doesn't provide for anything as inhumane as that. Instead they spend a half-million dollars a year to house, feed, clothe and protect him!

I will never be able to understand that kind of justice!

OUTRAGED, TOO, IN NYC

DEAR ABBY: For your survey: My husband and I have been married for 57 years and neither one of us has ever been unfaithful. No credit to us — we just haven't.

Your story in the Los Angeles Times about the man who put an ear of corn in the trunk of his car every time he was unfaithful reminded me of the story about the middle-age couple who were reminiscing about their married life and the husband said he wished they had enough money for a down payment on a house instead of paying rent. The wife asked how much it would take, and the husband told her about $8,000. She then left the room, and returned with a shoe box in which she had a pile of bills amounting to a little more than $8,000.

He looked at her, astounded, and asked where she got it. She told him that when they got married, she started putting $5 in the box every time they had marital relations.

He was furious and yelled, "Why didn't you tell me? I would have given you all my business!"

100th murder is reported in area

CITTANOVA, Italy (AP) — Police say a 22-year-old man was killed by several shotgun blasts in the 100th murder this year in the province of Reggio di Calabria, where a clan war has dragged on for 20 years.

Investigators said Urbano Deraco appeared to be the latest victim in a feud between rival factions of the 'ndrangheta, or Calabrian Mafia, in the province at the southern tip of the Italian boot.

Investigators said Deraco had been shot several times with a shotgun, probably Saturday evening.

Police believe the murder is the latest in a feud over control of drug traffic, extortion rackets and other organized crime.

Administration planning arms sale to Saudi Arabia

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Reagan administration plan to sell 1,600 anti-tank missiles to Saudi Arabia, withdrawn earlier this year in the face of congressional opposition, will be resubmitted to lawmakers when they return from their summer recess, The Washington Post reported today.

The Maverick missiles will be included in a proposed $1 billion arms sale to the Saudis, the newspaper said, quoting sources familiar with the plan.

Administration officials had said in July that the Maverick request would be resubmitted within a few months. The Post said the administration is expected to notify Congress shortly after it returns from its summer recess on Sept. 9.

In addition to the Maverick missiles, the package would include 14 of the latest F-15 jet fighter planes and improvements for earlier-model F-15s and other U.S. weaponry already in Saudi stockpiles, the Post reported.

The administration withdrew a notification of sale for the Maverick deal in June when congressional opposition stiffened after reports that the Saudi air force did not aid the USS Stark when it was attacked by an Iraqi jet on May 17.

The administration insisted that the attack, in which 37 U.S. sailors died, was inadvertent and that the Saudi response was proper and prompt.

In Santa Barbara, Calif., where President Reagan is vacationing, an administration official who requested anonymity told The Associated Press that there was never any consideration given to abandoning the sale to the Saudis. He said the earlier request was pulled back because "the timing was bad."

"I'm sure we'll be sending something," the official said. "This is something that needs to be done. There are obvious needs there."

Concert benefits victims

MANOR, Texas (AP) — There were fewer music fans than expected, but organizers said that didn't dampen the spirit of a concert to benefit victims of the May 22 Saragosa tornado.

When Johnny Cash appeared to begin the concert at 10 a.m. Sunday, there were barely 200 people on the grass in front of the stage at the Manor Downs racetrack. When John Anderson started his set at 1:30 p.m., the crowd was around 500.

By the end of the day, there had been a total of about 700 paid spectators and approximately $5,000 was raised for Saragosa, said Cynthia Spencer, a publicist for Waylon Jennings, who helped organize the benefit.

"Waylon will probably have to come up with some of the expenses. We didn't make all of the expenses," she said.

"Something had to be done and if we didn't do it, nobody would have. It might work and it might not, but I would do it again," Jennings said.

"I'm not really worried about it," said organizer and singer-songwriter Tony Joe White.

Manor Downs near Austin also served as the site of Willie Nelson's Farm Aid II concert last summer, which was attended by 40,000.

A whole lot to lose

By James Jacoby

Today's greedy declarer counted nine winners: seven club tricks, the diamond ace and a heart trick. If he tried the diamond finesse and it lost, the defenders could take no more than the A-K of spades and the heart ace, for a total of four tricks. So, not wanting to sacrifice a possible overtrick, South cheerfully played the queen of diamonds. East won the king and — surprise — led back a club. Declarer won and began running all his club tricks. Can you look ahead far enough to see what happened?

On the first five club tricks, declarer discarded a diamond, a heart and two small spades from dummy. What could declarer do on the sixth club? He could not safely throw a heart honor away, and letting a spade go would make the A-K-6 of spades in West's hand all winners. He had to pitch the diamond jack. Now what? He could play the last club, but that would squeeze dummy out of an outright winner or a stopper. And if he played one of dummy's suits without cashing the last club, he would not have enough tricks to make his game.

The mistake was made at trick one. If declarer takes the ace of diamonds and immediately leads the king of hearts, the defenders are helpless. They cannot stop South from making nine tricks. It was shortsighted of declarer to assume that East would tamely lead back a diamond if he won the king. Instead, South should have anticipated the possibility of the devastating club return by East and should have forsaken the diamond finesse at trick one.

Thousands gathered to hear vibrations of a 'new age'

by The Associated Press

More than 20,000 believers in a new cosmic age gathered at mountains, parks and ancient religious sites to celebrate a "harmonic convergence" with humming and hugging peace activists, spiritualists and latter-day flower children.

All brought their own expectations to the two-day event, which continued today and was conceived as the launching of a period of cleansing to prepare Earth for contact with alien intelligence in the 21st century.

A few claimed to be communicating with extraterrestrials or spirits, but many seemed satisfied just to enjoy some down-to-earth togetherness.

"How often do you get to stand on a lawn holding hands with a stranger on a Sunday morning?" asked Tim Young, 24, one of about 100 believers who turned out at Tom McCall Waterfront Park in Portland, Ore.

Organizers and police reported more than 22,500 people at two dozen sites including Chaco Canyon, N.M.; Mount Shasta in California; Serpent Mound in Ohio; Glastonbury, the English city of King Arthur, and at the massive Pyramid of the Sun in San Juan de Teotihuacan in Mexico.

Others may have been involved in small, private gatherings.

Droves of people ascended Mount Shasta in Northern California to watch the sunrise, some hugging and some holding hands and chanting. Ranger Ken Showalter said as many as 5,000 people were on the mountain.

An estimated 750 people gathered Sunday near Niagara Falls and stretched their arms toward the rising sun in something leaders described as an Iroquois purification ceremony.

The Indian and '60s elements of the celebration merged at the Serpent Mound, about 60 miles east of Cincinnati, as about 3,400 people, many in tie-dyed clothing, visited an ancient Indian religious site.

Colorado writer Jose Arguelles, who conceived of the harmonic convergence in his book "The Mayan Factor," planned to spend today meditating at a mountain campsite near Boulder.

Arguelles, who calls the Mayan Indians the "navigators" of the "waters of galactic synchronization," wrote that his study of their ancient calendar showed the earth in the last phases of a galactic beam of light it entered in 3113 B.C.

LAFF-A-DAY

Cowboys find bright spots despite big loss to Chargers

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) - Dallas Cowboys pass-offense coordinator Paul Hackett says he was able to see some good signs in the team's 29-0 loss to the San Diego Chargers in the first exhibition game for the National Football League team.

"I think with what we set out out to do, which was establish the running game, there were some good signs with the first group," Hackett said Sunday. "Unfortunately, we weren't able to parlay some of the good things in that area to any productivity."

The Cowboys rushed the ball 26 times for 116 yards Saturday night, a respectable 4.5 average. And that was without Herschel Walker and with Tony Dorsett carrying the ball only five times for 32 yards.

Line coach Jim Erkenbeck says his goal is to gain at least four yards on 55 percent of all running plays, not including short-yardage situations. In Saturday's game, the Cowboys were successful on 14 of 25 plays for 56 percent.

"I think we're going to be able to run the ball," Erkenbeck said. "I wasn't disappointed (in the line) at all from a run standpoint and not too disappointed from a pass-protection standpoint."

"You hate to not score when the object of the game is to score, of course," Erkenbeck said. "Now, if we had tried to trick them and finesse them and still hadn't scored, then I'd be real sad. The biggest trick was that wingback reverse (a 15-yard gain by Kelvin Martin)."

Patience will be required by both the coaches and fans this year, Erkenbeck said.

"We've asked the fans to be patient," he said. "This was a good steppingstone for us, but the fans won't see it that way."

"They'll wonder what we've been smoking when we say that," Erkenbeck continued. "But generally speaking, if you can stop the run and you can run the ball in this league, you can win."

Hackett was quick to admit that the passing game was not good.

"Our third-down passing was pretty bleak," he said.

The Cowboys passed on 13 third downs and only converted one, a 10-yard pass from Danny White to Doug Cosbie.

"I don't think we had very good quarterback play, and I don't think we had very good receiver play," Hackett said.

White, who completed three of eight passes for only 18 yards in his first apearance since last November, said he wasn't discouraged.

"I felt good about my performance," White said. "I haven't played in a long time. It was a sigh of relief to be able to put the ball where I wanted."

"But we need to be more aggressive," White said. "We've had a tough training camp and we've got a lot of players hurt, but that is a bad excuse."

Dorsett, who also caught one pass for two yards for a total of 33 yards, said, "We need to start to believe in ourselves, and by winning a few games we will."

"There is room for improvement," Dorsett added.

Scrimmage good for Tigers; ready for 2nd week of work

Coach Dennis Tomlin said enthusiasm is high as the Snyder High School Ragin' Tigers enter their second weekend of two-a-day football workouts.

"The kids' attitude is excellent and our enthusiasm is very high," said Tomlin this morning. "Our goal is to improve on where we were last week."

The coach said the team would began work on goal line defense and add "some more strong side offensive plays" to its repertoire this week.

Snyder held its first intrasquad scrimmage Friday evening and took Saturday off. They will hold their first intersquad scrimmage this Friday as they take on Vernon in Stamford.

"The scrimmage went good," the coach said. "Our defense is definitely ahead of our offense, which we expected it would be.

"Our linebackers looked good. They probably stood out most," he noted, pointing out Chris Casas, Tommy Lane, Lee Fletcher and Trey Tippens as all having a good scrimmage.

Earlier in the day Friday, Tippens was not expected to suit out for the scrimmage because of a sore knee.

Tomlin also noted that "Kenneth McClain looked much improved at rover and defensive ends Benny Miller and David Martinez had a good scrimmage, too.

"As for our offensive line, we said when we went in it would be young and inexperienced. And they did make quite a few mistakes in the line, and in the backfield, too. But we did see some bright spots," said the Coach. "The play of center Tim Beachum and quick tackle Manuel Espinosa were high points."

Mauldin signs talented player

Western Texas College basketball coach Tony Mauldin inked major college talent Walter Martin last week, giving the 1987-88 Westerner team a stronger look along with 6-8 height.

"The exciting thing about Walter is he is a legitimate major college player. He's not just a good basketball player, he's a good, all-around athlete. He also ran on their (Snook High School) mile relay team. I feel like he can really develop into a key player for us. I think he'll be able to help us his first year," said Coach Mauldin.

Martin, highly recruited, was named to two different all-state teams. He as all-district and all-region, and played in the Texas High School Coaches Association All-Star Game.

The signing of Martin extends the list of prospects who have committed to Western Texas recently, though Coach Mauldin said he may try to add one or two more players.

Among those signed are:

Shawn Cummings, 6-0 from Richardson; Chris Cannon, 6-5 from Hale Center; Bobby Spear, 6-5 from Albuquerque, N.M.; Brian Heath, 6-4 from Albuquerque, N.M.; Jesse Humphrey, 6-7 from Richmond, Va.; Earnest Monette, 6-1 from Dallas Samuels; Vince Ramirez, 6-0 from El Paso; Bud Spaar, 6-5 from Marble Falls; Lawren Mason, 6-3½ from Vega; Malcom Waters, 6-4 from Stratford; Lance McCown, 6-1 from Amarillo; and Dewight Wilson, 6-1 from Snook.

Several of the players will be walkons and some half-dozen were signed by former coach Phil Spradling. Also expected back are second-year players Darryl Nelson, 6-4; Harvey Marshmann, 6-7; and Gerald Wells, 6-6.

Ladies ready to scrimmage

DENVER CITY -- Snyder's Lady Tigers were to hold their first volleyball scrimmage at 2 p.m. here today.

The ladies will also scrimmage Seminole and Lamesa.

Snyder opens the 1987 volleyball season by playing Brownfield in Brownfield on Tuesday.

American League roundup...

Jays, Tigers shrink East race

by The Associated Press

Lloyd Moseby and Alan Trammell came through in the clutch. Gary Ward and Don Mattingly did not.

The results Sunday left the Toronto Blue Jays and Detroit Tigers close in the American League East and the New York Yankees frustrated.

Moseby broke a seventh-inning tie with a two-out, two-run homer as the Blue Jays beat Chicago 6-4. That left Toronto one-half game ahead of Detroit, which beat Kansas City 10-6 when Trammell's double drove in the go-ahead run in the seventh inning.

New York fell three games off the pace by losing to Cleveland 1-0. The Yankees blew their biggest chance in the eighth inning when they loaded the bases with one out before Indians reliever Doug Jones struck out Ward and retired Mattingly on a fly ball to left.

In other AL games, Paul Molitor extended his hitting streak to 31 games as Milwaukee beat Baltimore 6-2, Minnesota defeated Seattle 5-1, Oakland beat California 9-6 and Boston routed Texas 12-2.

Moseby drove in three runs with three hits, including a two-run homer in the seventh, his 20th. It came against Ray Searage, 2-3.

Mark Eichhorn, 10-5, got the victory and Tom Henke finished for his league-leading 27th save.

Red Sox 12, Rangers 2

Rookie John Marzano hit a pair of two-run homers and doubled and Ellis Burks and Spike Owen also hit two-run homers as Boston shelled Texas.

Wade Boggs got his fourth four-hit game of the season in the Red Sox rout at Fenway Park.

Bob Stanley, 4-12, ended his five-game losing streak with his first victory since June 8. Greg Harris, 5-9, took the loss.

Tigers 10, Royals 6

Lou Whitaker hit three doubles, Jim Morrison homered and drove in three runs and Trammell's RBI double broke a 4-4 tie in the seventh inning as Detroit won in Kansas City.

Jeff Robinson, 9-5, got the victory.

Twins 5, Mariners 1

Gary Gaetti and Gene Larkin each hit two of Minnesota's six doubles, helping Frank Viola beat Seattle at the Metrodome. Viola, 14-7, gave up five hits in eight-plus innings. He struck out five and walked one.

The Twins had three doubles in the first inning in taking a 3-0 lead against Mike Moore, 5-15.

Brewers 6, Orioles 2

Paul Molitor extended his hitting streak to 31 games and Ernest Riles and Glenn Braggs each drove in three runs that led Milwaukee over Baltimore.

Chuck Crim, 5-5, got the victory and Dan Plesac recorded his 22nd save. Dave Schmidt, 10-4, took the loss.

Athletics 9, Angels 6

Jose Canseco hit his 25th home run and two doubles, leading Oakland over California.

Cook wins The International

CASTLE ROCK, Colo. (AP) - Standing 210 yards away, John Cook ripped a 4-iron second shot to within 12 feet of the cup at the Castle Pines Golf Club's par-5 17th hole, then sank the eagle putt and captured The International title on Sunday.

The eagle was worth five points under the modified Stableford scoring system, vaulting Cook from seven to 12 points. A bogey at No. 18 left Cook with 11 points and gave him his first tournament victory since the 1983 Canadian Open.

Ken Green, playing ahead of Cook, had birdied the 17th hole to move to nine points.

The victory was worth $180,000 and gave Cook $1,148,394 in career earnings, making him the 81st player to earn over $1 million on the tour.

Had the tournament been played under the traditional stroke-play format, Cook would have finished in a tie for fourth. Chip Beck, who wound up tied for third with six points, would have been the winner.

"Thank you, Stableford system," said Cook, who made it to the final 18 on Sunday by surviving one of the daily playoffs that determine cuts on Saturday.

Green - who had the best medal score of the day, a 4-under-par 68 compared to Cook's 69 - could console himself with a $108,000 runner-up check.

Beck, Ben Crenshaw, Scott Simpson and Mike Hulbert tied for third at six points each and earned $48,000 apiece.

Texas' Estes claims LaJet

ABILENE, Texas (AP) - Bob Estes of Abilene and the University of Texas took a birdie on the first hole of a sudden-death playoff to win the LaJet National Amateur championship Sunday.

The win over Brian Watts of Carrollton and Oklahoma State University broke the hold OSU has held on the tournament since it started in 1981.

Play was over the Fairway Oaks Golf & Racquet Club layout, site of Southwest Golf Classic next month. The winner receives a sponsor's exemption to the PGA Tour event, but Estes may have a conflict with his Longhorn team invited to play in a tournament in Japan about the same time in September.

"It's a problem I'll have to talk over with Coach (Jimmy Clayton)," Estes said.

Estes scored 37-34-71 for a 279 total, tying him with Watts, who fired a 32-37-69 as he defended his championship from last year. Watts started with a hot hand on the front, carding birdies on holes three, four, five, seven and nine.

Estes bogeyed both par 3s on the front nine and birdied nine, 10 and 15 on the back. Watts bogeyed 16 and 18. He missed a 6-foot birdie on 17.

Both players were on the green on the sudden-death hole, Estes at 15 feet and Watts at 20 feet. Estes said he really didn't expect to make the curling putt and was playing for par, but the ball went in giving him the victory.

While roping times were strong, Saturday's bucking stock proved almost too tough. No one stayed aboard in the 13-15 junior bull riding, and only T.C. McElroy of Socorro made the eight seconds in the 16-19 division. He scored a 70.

Keith Truex of Lewisville won the bareback with a 61.

Sports briefs

TRACK

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) - Carl Lewis got the gold but not the world record, Greg Louganis was perfect from the platform and the United States set a Pan American Games medals mark with 325.

In gymnastics, a Puerto Rican judge was accused of trying to fix scores against the Americans and was removed during the competition.

With a week to go, the U.S. team had 150 gold medals, 104 silver and 71 bronze. Cuba, meanwhile, regained second place in the medals standings with 146, 59 gold while Canada was one medal behind.

Lewis leaped 28 feet or farther five times in winning the long jump, and Louganis was awarded three perfect 10s as he took the platform diving title.

TENNIS

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) - No. 5 seed Darren Cahill of Australia needed just 55 minutes to dispatch Dan Cassidy of Atlanta 6-0, 6-3 and win the $25,000 Pilot Pen tennis open.

Ownership of Swiss accounts undetermined

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of the central issues left hanging in the Iran-Contra affair is the ownership of roughly $8 million still frozen in Swiss bank accounts once controlled by middlemen.

The money appears to be a key element in the case that Lawrence Walsh, the independent counsel, is trying build against several of the principal figures in the scandal, according to sources familiar with the investigation.

"The U.S. government apparently aims to argue that these funds were illegally converted, and, therefore, are U.S. government funds, and there was fraud involved," said one person with knowledge of the investigation. He spoke on condition of anonymity.

Another source, also speaking anonymously, said Walsh apparently will take the position that funds were misappropriated, and those involved will be indicted.

James Wieghart, Walsh's spokesman, said he could not comment on details of the criminal investigation.

Richard V. Secord, the retired Air Force major general who helped Lt. Col. Oliver L. North run the Iran-Contra operations, told Congress the money belonged to the "enterprise" operated by Secord and his business partner, Albert Hakim. Secord has said the money belongs to him and his company.

North was with the National Security Council at the time, while Secord and Hakim were acting as private businessmen.

The money is held in accounts into which payments were placed from the sale of U.S.-made arms to Iran in 1985 and 1986. Out of that money, Secord, Hakim and North created a private air wing to assist the Nicaraguan Contra rebels during a period in which Congress had banned U.S. military aid to the group.

After the Iran-Contra affair was exposed last November, the Justice Department acted swiftly to freeze disbursement of the money under a U.S.-Swiss legal aid treaty.

Sam Hirsch, a spokesman for the Senate Iran-Contra committee, said $1.4 million is in a Lake Resources account and $6.5 million is in a Swiss fiduciary known as CSF. Of that $6.5 million, $5.5 million is in a subsidiary Merrill Lynch account in Geneva, and about $1 million is in Strauss Turnbull, a London investment house.

To open sixth floor...

Attempts renew traumatic history

DALLAS (AP) — A proposal to build an elevator to the sixth floor of the old Texas Schoolbook Depository has reopened a controversy surrounding the John F. Kennedy assassination landmark.

Lee Harvey Oswald alledly fired the fatal shot from a corner window on the sixth floor of the building. That floor has been closed to the public since Kennedy's death Nov. 22, 1963.

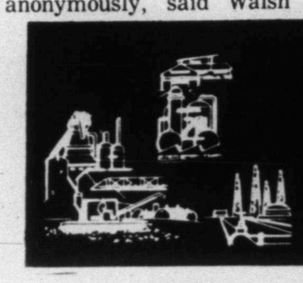

Attempts to build an exhibit have been thwarted, partly by apathy and partly by resistance from those who believe it would be unwise to commemorate a blemish on Dallas' past.

Last week, the city approved a 60-foot elevator tower for the north facade of the building, now the Dallas County Administration Building.

The OK came after three months of controversy that pitted county against city, city planning staff against landmark commission, historical foundation against Texas Historical Commission and preservationists against one another.

One aspect of the controversy is architectural — the scale of the tower and the impact it will have on a historical building. At another level, the controversy is psychological and philosophical, rooted in Dallas' lingering guilt over the Kennedy assassination.

For 15 years after the assassination, the Schoolbook Depository remained in the recesses of the minds of Dallas residents. The building was saved from a wrecker ball in 1977. Simultaneously, a group of preservationists which became the Dallas Historical Foundation began efforts to open up an education exhibit on the sixth floor.

FBI, Justice Department seize records

DALLAS (AP) — Records of at least 290 Texas developers and savings and loan executives have been subpoenaed by federal officials investigating the state's troubled thrift industry.

One Dallas executive said he expects to be driven into bankruptcy by the investigation.

"I'm turning over 30,000 pages of documents to the FHLB and the Justice Department every month," said the executive, who asked not to be identified.

"If certain people are scared, they may have a reason to be scared," said Stephen Learned, the U.S. Justice Department attorney overseeing the massive investigation from Washington.

"We're looking at a two-year commitment just to bring cases into some manageable form," said Anthony Adamski, chief of the FBI financial crimes unit. "The initial phase of the investigation is a dragnet."

The Dallas Times Herald reported Sunday that a federal grand jury in Dallas was ordering many Texas S&Ls to surrender everything in their files about those targeted for investigation.

Wrongdoing such as fraud, inside abuse and gross mismanagement could cost the federal thrift insurance fund up to $3 billion, according to Brian Neuberger, acting director of the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corp.

Roy Green, president of the Federal Home Loan Bank of Dallas, said it will take between five and seven years and up to $6 billion in FSLIC funds to restore the Texas thrift industry to health.

The grand jury has demanded records on numerous developers; owners and executives of at least 28 failed, failing or ailing thrifts; and a variety of Texas attorneys, real estate appraisers and real estate brokers, the newspaper said records revealed.

Texas S&Ls lead the industry nationally in financial losses and failures, and Neuberger said the Texas recession is only partly to blame.

Many regulators say that the state's thrifts were responsible for the temporary insolvency of the FSLIC, the federal agency that insures deposits of up to $100,000 at member thrifts nationwide.

The Dallas-based task force conducting the investigation includes 20 FBI agents, two assistant U.S. attorneys, four Internal Revenue Service agents, 14 Justice Department lawyers and special prosecutors and at least one federal grand jury. Up to four FHLB board executives will work directly with the task force, Learned said.

Adamski said the investigation is the largest white collar crime probe of its type in U.S. history.

The probe is based on criminal referrals made by the Dallas FHLB, the FBI said.

"The FHLB has identified a number of transactions that border between criminality and gross negligence. You may spend months looking at a certain deal and conclude there is no crime," Learned said.

Rosemary Stewart, director of the FHLB office of enforcement in Washington, said regulators have made several criminal referrals on Texas thrift owners suspected of embezzlement.

Other criminal referrals are based on "land flips" and loans for S&Ls at inflated stock prices, Green said. In a land flip, the same parcel of land is sold several times during a short period of time, which inflates the price of land above normal market rates.

In the stock prices schemes, individuals pay exorbitant prices for S&L stock with financing from other S&Ls, said Green.

Grass fire burns some three hours

Firemen in four trucks spent three hours fighting a lightning-ignited grass fire 27 miles southwest of Snyder late Saturday and early Sunday.

The fire call came in at 10:10 p.m. Saturday, and the fire fighters finally got it under control at 1:06 a.m. Sunday, a department spokesman said Monday.

He said he could not estimate how many acres were burned in the pasture owned by J.M. Sterling but that it was a large area four to five miles south of Lake Thomas.

Firemen answered a "smoke scare" that was prompted by fluorescent lights giving off a fire-like odor at 7:53 p.m. Sunday at a convenience store on East Highway 180.

They also answered a report of a house fire at Huffman and Ave. M at 8:55 p.m. Sunday that turned out to be burning trash.

College budget has new problem

item veto to eliminate this state expense--a decision which has drawn sharp criticism of the governor from academic teacher groups.

For WTC, the action in effect wiped out an expected increase in state funding locally thanks to increased enrollment numbers for the college during 1986-87.

A large share of WTC's state funding is based upon "student contact hours" or the time students are in the classroom receiving instruction. The student count for this funding is taken every two years, and last school year was a funding year.

While the basic state allocation for student contact hours is to remain the same, an increase in enrollment has produced more than a $73,000 increase from the state for WTC.

With the cutback in state funding of some $88,000 due to the insurance-related line item veto, this gain has essentially been wiped out.

"The net effect is we're going to have an $88,000 reduction in the money available for academics," noted Dr. Harry Krenek, WTC president.

Any budget changes related to the state cutback are expected to be decided during Monday's agenda item related to budget.

Also on the agenda is a public hearing to set the college's tax rate for the coming year. The rate set last year was 11.3 cents per $100 valuation.

Due to declines in the Scurry County tax base, the college would have to set a rate of 15.9 cents just to raise the same amount of tax dollars as required last year.

For WTC, every penny added to the rate generates an estimated $104,000.

Monday's meeting is to begin at 5:45 p.m. in the administration building on campus. Other agenda items include:

—Personnel action to include accepting resignations and employment of new staffers.

—Consideration of athletic insurance bids.

—Approval of an agreement with Scurry County for the collection of taxes.

—The president's report.

Parking lot wreck reported

A parking lot at 42nd St. and College Ave. was the scene for a minor wreck Sunday at 5:04 p.m. involving a 1985 Chrysler driven by Cathy Davidson Williams of Rt. 3, Box 14, and a 1980 Chevrolet Impala driven by Michael Keith Hendricks of 3402 42nd St.

A 1976 Ford four-door driven by May Griffin Phipps of 107 36th St. was in collision with a 1977 Pontiac two-door driven by Darrell Parnell Robertson of 1107 Ave. T at 11:43 p.m. Saturday in the Snyder National Bank parking lot.

Call produces woman's arrest

Police answered a fight call at 7:28 a.m. Saturday at 32nd St. and Ave. D and arrested an 18-year-old woman for public intoxication.

Officers at 8:50 a.m. Saturday attempted to arrest an 18-year-old Snyder man on three municipal warrants and ended up arresting him also for public intoxication and resisting arrest.

A 28-year-old man was taken into custody for public intoxication at 1:23 p.m. Saturday in the 1800 Block of Ave. Q.

A 30-year-old man was arrested for public intoxication at 1:32 a.m. Saturday on the U. S. 84 south access road, where he was found lying in the roadway.

A 17-year-old youth was arrested for being a minor in possession of alcohol at 1:34 a.m. Saturday at a motel on East Highway 180.

Vandalism, theft reports received

Both the city and county took reports over the weekend for either theft or vandalism incidents.

Kay Bowman, who lives on a rural route east of Snyder, told sheriff's officers that a Panasonic AM-FM stereo was taken from the backseat of her car Saturday while it was parked in the 900 Block of Ave. M.

Frank Alarcon Sr. of 2106 41st St. reported to police Saturday that several windows were broken out of his home between 1 a.m. and 1:30 a.m. Saturday.

Three tankers prepare for return trip

MANAMA, Bahrain (AP) — Newly arrived American minesweeping helicopters maneuvered over the Persian Gulf today as three tankers and their U.S. Navy escorts prepared for their return trip through the perilous waterway.

After the RH-53D helicopters flew several drills, they alighted on the helicopter carrier USS Guadalcanal, which weighed anchor at about 11:15 a.m. local time and appeared to move south, in the direction from which it arrived last weekend, said an eyewitness. Its destination was not known.

Correspondent Brent Sadler of Britain's ITN network said he could not confirm reports that a Soviet warship was "shadowing" the Guadalcanal. He said he had not seen any such ship from his chartered vessel about 30 miles off Bahrain.

The arrival of the eight minesweeping helicopters coincided with a warning from Iran that it could produce mines "like seeds" and sow them in the gulf, where an explosion damaged the first U.S.-escorted Kuwaiti convoy last month.

But in a surprise announcement, Iran's foreign minister said Tehran would welcome a visit by the U.N. secretary-general to discuss security in the gulf.

The RH-53D Sea Stallion helicopters made intermittent flights during a 10-hour period Sunday, said Sadler.

He said the helicopters, along with UHI; gunships, circled the carrier and performed low-level passes above the water in an apparent practice drill.

The helicopters drag sonar buoys and sleds with explosive charges through the water to locate mines and break their anchor cables. The mines then rise to the surface where they are exploded by gunfire.

The 11,000-ton Guadalcanal was sent to the Persian Gulf when mines threatened to disrupt the U.S. plan for reflagging 11 Kuwaiti oil tankers and protecting them from Iranian attack. Iraq accuses Kuwait of aiding Iraq, Tehran's enemy in a 7-year-old war.

The second U.S.-escorted convoy was moored off Kuwait's al-Ahmadi terminal, its engines idling, ready to set out through the gulf, witnesses said. The last of the three tankers, the 46,723-ton Gas King, finished loading late Saturday.

In Washington, Pentagon spokesman Maj. William W. Miller said he had no information on when the Navy would order the departure.

The discovery of mines in the Persian Gulf and in the Gulf of Oman, to the south, has also prompted Britain and France to dispatch mine sweepers to protect their ships. The British ships were scheduled to leave Scotland today.

Last week, a U.S.-operated supertanker, the Texaco Caribbean, hit a mine in the Gulf of Oman.

On Saturday, the 240-ton supply boat Anita, owned by a United Arab Emirates company, was blown out of the water by a mine in the Gulf of Oman. One crewman died, five were missing and five were injured.

Sharpshooters of the United Arab Emirates army detonated two more mines Sunday in the same area, off the Emirates port of Fujairah. At least six other mines were reported found in the past week.

A tanker anchorage in the Gulf of Oman was closed to boats after the Anita sank, and one shipping source said Sunday the area was "totally empty."

Shipping sources said the mine threat could force the U.S. Navy to find another marshaling site for its next Kuwait-bound convoy, which reportedly sets sail next week. Sources said it will include the 46,723-ton liquefied gas carriers Gas Queen and Gas Princess and the 294,739-ton supertanker Townsend.

Iran has been blamed for laying mines in the region, but it claims the United States planted them. After Iraqi warplanes bombed two oil fields in southwest Iran early Sunday, Iran's Parliament speaker, Hashemi Rafsanjani, said: "We have a mine factory that could make mines like seeds."

In Muscat, Oman, on Sunday, Iran's Foreign Minister Ali Akbar Velayati said Tehran would welcome a visit by the U.N. secretary-general to discuss security in the gulf. Iran has previously criticized the United Nations for not condemning Iraq as the aggressor in the gulf war.

Controllers nervous about sky divers

GRAPEVINE, Texas (AP) — Air traffic controllers at Dallas-Fort Worth International Airport say the crowded skies are being made more crowded by sky divers.

They say parachutists are dropping right through busy jet traffic routes near Seagoville and McKinney, causing them to route airliners around them during some of the peak travel hours.

Tower officials are to meet Wedneday with several sky divers to show them how busy the area is where they jump. Officials say they hope to persuade them to move their drop zones 10 miles in either direction, away from busy routes.

"I don't think they realize what kind of danger they are in," Norm Scroggins, Dallas-Fort Worth Airport tower manager, told the Fort Worth Star-Telegram. "It gets kind of tense when sky divers start dropping through major traffic lanes."

Federal Aviation Administration regulations allow sky divers to jump out of planes almost anywhere they want, as long they file a written notice with the agency.

Jetliners are at about 7,000 feet when they fly over Seagoville, southeat of Dallas, and McKinney to the north, Scroggins said. The sky divers, he said, generally jump from 10,000 feet and free fall to about 2,500 feet before they open their parachutes.

Scroggins said pilots of the planes carrying sky divers are required to notify controllers one minute before the jumpers are released to give controllers time to route traffic away from the area.

"It's comparable to closing down one lane of Airport Freeway (a busy freeway near the airport) for a bicycle race," Scroggins said. "Somebody's going to get hurt."

Each dive takes about three minutes. Of that, 45 seconds is spent free-falling, sky divers say. It's during that 45 seconds that a sky diver is most likely to be hit by a jetliner, FAA officials say.

Scroggins said that so far no one has been hurt.

Roy "Corky" Spillner, a veteran controller, says he has to deal with sky divers two or three times a week.

Spillner says that he is often forced to reroute jetliners temporarily into airspace used by oncoming traffic.

Soviets depict U. S. news in harsh light

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet media may be singing a different tune on internal matters, but they are still playing harsh melodies about America including what U.S. officials call "disinformation."

The intent is to tarnish the U.S. image abroad, according to Soviet defectors once involved in the campaign. American officials have mounted an international campaign of their own to rebut the charges.

Among recent Soviet media reports, all denied by U.S. officials, were that:

—The Defense Department developed the AIDS virus;

—The CIA was behind the suicide of 914 Americans at Jonestown;

—The Pentagon ousted President Nixon;

—The assassins of Indian Prime Minister Indira Gandhi "received their ideological inspiration from the CIA;"

—Maine schoolgirl Samantha Smith's letters and visits to Soviet leaders led U.S. intelligence agencies to murder her.

AP Analysis

Kremlin leader Mikhail Gorbachev's policy of allowing more internal criticism in official Soviet media "seems to be having no effect on Soviet international behavior," said Richard Perle, formerly deputy defense secretary and now a fellow at the conservative American Enterprise Institute.

Soviet defector Ilya Dzirkvelov testified at a trial in London this year that the Soviet Communist Party Central Committee decided in 1959-60 "to increase our ideological influence in the West." He said that involved "active measures" — planting fabricated or distorted stories in foreign media.

Herb Romerstein, a U.S. Information Agency specialist on such Soviet activity, said, "We have not noticed any reduction in the amount or the intensity of Soviet disinformation" since Gorbachev rose to power in March 1985.

Once the reports appear in the foreign press, they are picked up by the state-run Soviet media, and fed abroad again by official radio stations and news agencies, according to U.S. officials and defectors such as Dzirkvelov Stanislav Levchenko, who worked for the KGB disinformation campaign.

The Central Committee secretariat sets the goals of disinformation, and leaves the means to the KGB, according to Dzirkvelov and Levchenko.
