Permian Basin OIL & GAS LOG

James C. Watson, Oil Editor

Borden Gets First Producing Oil Well

Borden County's first commercial oil well has been officially completed at the H. L. Hunt No. 1 Clayton & Johnson, wildcat six miles south of Gail, in the south-central sector of the county.

This discovery, located 660 feet from south and west lines of the north half of section 24, block 31, TP survey, T-4-N, was finished for an official 24-hour pumping potential of 129 barrels of oil, plus two barrels of water, from pay at 6,490-6,520 feet in a lower Permian lime.

The production is through casing perforations. The pay has been treated with 4,000 gallons of acid.

The development drilled to total depth of 8,015 feet in dry Pennsylvanian lime. It plugged back to 6,598 feet and cemented 5 1/2-inch casing at that point and completed from the only zone drilled through which showed any indications of petroleum.

Shallow Prospector Is Slated For Pecos

A shallow wildcat is to be started January 30 in Central-North Pecos County by Sawnie Robertson of Dallas as his No. 1 Atkins & Keeney.

The drillsite will be 990 feet from north and 330 feet from west lines of section 24, block 10, H&GN survey. That puts it about nine miles southwest of the town of Imperial.

Projected depth is 2,500 feet, to be drilled with combination rotary-cable tools. Drillsite elevation is 2,476 feet.

Santa Rosa Wildcat Tests In Ellenburger

No shows developed from the Ellenburger in the Santa Rosa gas and distillate area of North Pecos County on a drillstem test at Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 1-39 Eaton, wildcat nine miles west of Imperial.

The examination was at 9,055-87 feet in the top of the deep zone, with the tool open one hour and 56 minutes. A 1,000-foot water blanket was used.

Recovery was the water blanket and 60 feet of drilling mud, with no signs of oil, gas or water.

The venture has drilled ahead to 9,117 feet in Ellenburger lime and, on last report, was running another drillstem test.

It is 2,396 feet from southwest and 545 feet from southeast lines of the west 333-acres of section 39, block 3, H&TC survey.

Largest Producer In Bronte Is Completed

Hickok & Reynolds, Inc., et al, No 1 McQueen, northeast extender to the Bronte-Palo Pinto field in Central-East Coke County has been completed as the largest producer so far drilled in that area.

The well made a 24-hour calculated potential of 1,250.04 barrels of 47 gravity oil, flowing natural, through a 32-64-inch tubing choke, with no water.

The 24-hour potential was based on an actual flow of 208.34 barrels of oil in four hours. The well produced 55 barrels of oil during the last one hour of the four-hour test.

The gas-oil ratio was 3,501. Open flowing casing pressure was 529 pounds and open flowing tubing pressure was 240 pounds. Top of the pay in the Palo Pinto lime was at 4,346 feet. Total depth is at 4,407 feet. The 7-inch casing is cemented on bottom. The oil is coming through perforations at 4,378-94 feet.

This is the fifth producer to be completed in the Bronte field. It is 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 450, block 1-A, H&TC survey.

Smith Will Venture In Bronte Pool Area

J. Douglas Smith of Amarillo has made location for a new prospector in the Bronte area. It will be his No. 1 E. R. J. Warren. The drillsite is in the H. L. Christian survey No. 3, abstract No. 57, and is 1,247 feet south and 1,860 feet east of the northeast corner of section 453, block 1-A, H&TC survey.

That puts it one-half mile southwest of the town of Bronte, and south and east of the closest producers from the Palo Pinto lime in the Bronte field.

Drilling to around 4,500 feet, using rotary tools is to start in the near future.

San Benito Outpost Dry And Abandoned

Algord Oil Company of Dallas, No. 2 Jack Lassiter, in North-Central Coke County, and an offset to the discovery well of the San Benito-Marble Falls field, has been plugged and abandoned on a total depth of 6,868 feet in Ellenburger dolomite. It was located at the center of the northeast quarter of the southeast quarter of section 308, block 1-A, H&TC survey.

It failed to produce in the Marble Falls lime, and developed water, with slight signs of oil in the Ellenburger.

This project has been inactive

'Hay Lift' Saving Snow-Bound Stock

ELY, NEV.—(AP)—The U. S. Air Force stepped up the "hay lift" Tuesday for 180,000 snow-marooned Nevada livestock—a move already hailed as "a plumb good deal" by stockmen.

With pinpoint precision, the huge flying boxcars dumped their cargoes of alfalfa hay to 10,000 sheep on three ranches in a 200-mile radius Monday. The results were so successful that stockmen spokesmen — skeptical at first—said all efforts would be made to make direct drops from the air wherever possible.

Seventeen huge C-82 planes from McChord Field, Seattle, were available for the hay lift from Fallon, in Western Nevada, to Ely, 260 miles to the east. All possible efforts were made to speed the loading of the planes to keep them all in full operation.

Stockmen have predicted that probably half of 45,000 cattle in a tri-county area, snowbound for two weeks, face starvation. The losses among 135,000 head of sheep are expected to run even higher if the feeding operation is not a speedy success.

100 Per Cent Success

"The hay lift so far is a 100 per cent success," George Swallow, United Stockmen's Association president, commented after the initial operations

And Albert Fallon, district grazier, added: "It's a plumb good deal."

The stockmen were dubious at first that the bales of hay could be dropped close enough to isolated sheep camps to do any good. They became more optimistic after three pilots and their crews dumped the feed within 300-foot circles.

The hay was flown only to hopelessly inaccessible areas. Trucks lined up at the Ely Airport and quickly hauled the rest of the feed to ranches to which roads had been opened.

Funeral Services For Mrs. W. J. Glenn Held Here Tuesday

Funeral services for Mrs. W. J. Glenn, 98, pioneer Midland resident and one of the first members of the First Christian Church here, were to be held at 3 p.m. Tuesday in the Ellis Funeral Home Chapel. Interment was to follow in Fairview Cemetery. The Rev. Clyde Lindsley, pastor of the First Christian Church, was to officiate.

Mrs. Glenn would have been 99 years of age on February 16. She was born in 1850 in Montgomery County, Ark., and moved here from Kerrville in 1905.

She died at 10:30 a.m. Monday in the Confederate Ladies Home in Austin.

Her husband, the late W. J. Glenn, whom she married in 1866, was a Confederate soldier and early-day Midland resident. He died in 1925.

Survivors include three daughters, Mrs. Mary Ellen Smith of Douglas, Ariz., Mrs. Alice Wadley of Quemado, N. M., and Mrs. M. A. Cohee of Los Angeles, Calif., and two sons, Joe Glenn of Morenci, Ariz., and Henry S. Glenn of Midland.

Pallbearers were to be Lon Roberts, T. E. (Red) Steele, Q. M. Shelton, Ed Darnell, Allen Tolbert and Spec Locklar.

March Of Dimes Contributions Total $5,644

Dollars instead of dimes continue to pour into the March of Dimes headquarters here as leaders Tuesday reported contributions totaling $5,644.29.

Paul L. Davis, general chairman, expressed appreciation for the gifts to date, and predicted the total by the end of the week may exceed $7,500. He urged persons who have not sent in their checks to do so promptly so the campaign may be concluded next weekend.

Eleven Midland County youngsters were stricken by polio last year and the Midland County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis had to call on the Foundation for $10,200 to care for and treat the victims. The chapter here had sent only $1,000 to national headquarters in 1948.

Citizens this year are determined to build up a fund sufficient to take care of local needs.

Contributions may be mailed to the March of Dimes, Box 271, Midland, Texas.

Jurors Hear 'Axis Sally' Described As Traitor, Good Citizen

WASHINGTON —(AP)— "Axis Sally" was described Tuesday as a traitor to her country, and as a loyal American.

Prosecution and defense attorneys outlined their cases in opening statements to a jury in U. S. District Court.

A jury composed of six women and six men was chosen with unexpected speed.

By 3 p. m. Monday—five hours after the trial opened and after only three hours of actual court sessions—the 12 jurors had been seated and taken their oaths.

Reds Accept Bids To Talk Peace As Government Flees

NANKING —(AP)— The Chinese government headed southward Tuesday a few minutes after the Communists offered by radio to meet National peace envoys in Peiping.

A Foreign Office spokesman revealed the southward move without giving the government's destination, which presumably will be Canton. Some ministries already had left for Canton.

The government and Communist announcements both came as Red patrols arrived on the north banks of the Yangtze River, not far from the capital.

Removal of the seat of the government was expected to be completed by the middle of next month, an official spokesman said.

The peace offer was broadcast as the capital's populace poured out of the Red-periled city which was raped in 1937 by the Japanese.

A radio spokesman for the Communists said the talks could be held in Peiping as soon as that ancient North China city taken Saturday by the Reds, "is completely liberated."

He said Acting President Li Tsung-Jen's five man peace delegation was acceptable to the Communists except for one member, Peng Shao-Hsien. Peng was identified by the Red broadcast as a member of the strong rightist clique of the Kuomintang (government) Party.

Virtual Surrender

The Red spokesman listed "certain conditions" to which the government must agree for the peace talks to be held. Among them were the eight points laid down by Communist Leader Mao Tze-Tung on January 14. Li already has said he would accept them—and they mean virtually total surrender.

The radio spokesman said the Communist "war criminal" list, announced after Chiang Kai-Shek's year-end statement, could not be considered complete. Chiang, now in at least temporary retirement, heads that list. It also includes Li and many other National leaders.

Soviet Bloc Nations Set Up Council

MOSCOW —(AP)— Russia and five other Eastern European nations have organized a "Council of Economic Mutual Assistance"—obviously as an answer to the Marshall Plan.

A communique issued Tuesday announcing the plan said the United States and Britain are "boycotting" the six nations economically because they do not belong to the Marshall Plan.

In consideration of "these circumstances," representatives of the Soviet Union, Bulgaria, Hungary, Poland, Romania and Czechoslovakia met in Moscow this month.

They discussed the question of organization of broader economic cooperation of the countries of the peoples democracies and the USSR.

The council left the door open for other nations to join.

(A portion of this dispatch is missing at this point, possibly because of Soviet censorship.)

Yugoslavia and Albania were not among the countries whose representatives met in Moscow to set up the council.

The council will meet regularly, the announcement declared, in the capitals of the member nations in turn. The chairmanship will go to the nation in whose capital any given meeting takes place.

Funeral Services For W. V. Harris Scheduled Here

Funeral services for William Victor Harris, 69, who died suddenly here Monday afternoon, will be held at 11 a. m. Wednesday in the Ellis Funeral Home Chapel, with the Rev. Vernon Yearby, pastor of the First Baptist Church, and the Rev. Jim Pickens, assistant pastor of the First Methodist Church officiating. Interment will be in Fairview Cemetery.

Harris, who resided at 1012 North Loraine Street, was born Dec. 23, 1879, in Mississippi and came to West Texas with his parents as a child. He moved to Midland in 1942 and had been employed by the Midland Hardware and Furniture Company since that time. He formerly lived at Merkel.

He was a member of the Methodist Church, Masonic Lodge, and Order of Eastern Star.

Survivors include the widow; a daughter, Mrs. H. G. Eddleman of Fort Worth; a brother, T. L. Harris of Breckenridge, and three sisters, Mrs. W. P. Duckett of Bonham, Mrs. F. A. Duckett of Tulia and Mrs. W. H. Bullock of Merkel.

Pallbearers will be A. Knickerbocker, John B. Mills, J. L. Tidwell, Coy E. Knight, Harvey Kiser, and Bill Hester.

Honorary pallbearers will be friends and fellow workers at the Midland Hardware and Furniture Company.

Rail Board Starts Hearings To Shut In 26 More Oil Fields

AUSTIN — (AP) — Operators of the vast East Texas oil field Tuesday advised the Railroad Commission all flaring of natural gas will have been halted in the field by January 30.

AUSTIN—(AP)—Another round in the Railroad Commission's crackdown on wasteful flaring of oil well gas began Tuesday as operators of 26 fields appeared at a show cause hearing.

The operators began presenting evidence to show why the commission should not carry out its intention of closing the fields until alleged waste of an estimated 177,000,000 cubic feet of oil well gas daily is stopped.

Included is the vast East Texas field with more than 22,000 wells.

Members of the commission contend the operators are wastefully flaring or burning that amount of gas daily incident to the production of approximately 400,000 barrels of crude oil.

Tuesday's hearing began despite the lack of a decision by the Supreme Court on an injunction suit appeal involving a December order of the commission to shut down the Heyser field of Calhoun and Victoria counties.

Commission Confident

Members of the commission have expressed confidence the Supreme Court will reverse the trial court decision and authorize the com-

Armed Hijacker Robs Midlander

S. L. Jackson, Midland construction worker, told officers he was hijacked Monday night on a country road near the city by an armed man, who took $90 in money and personal articles including his watch, and then fled in an automobile.

Jackson said he was riding with the man when the robbery occurred. The man had asked Jackson to go with him to make a call. When they turned off onto a side road, the man displayed a gun.

Jackson said the man made him walk down the road after the hijacking and fired some shots at him.

Odessa police arrested a 24-year-old oilfield worker later in Odessa and he now is in the Midland County jail. Officers said he would be charged in connection with the hijacking.

Officers said the hijacker wrecked his automobile as he fled. The car overturned several times at the Cloverdale - Garden City highway intersection. He was treated in a Midland hospital for injuries early Tuesday.

Schools Are Closed, Ice Curbs Travel

By The Associated Press

Texas was beset with snow, sleet, ice and the threat of flood Tuesday as one of the worst spells of Winter moved southward over the state.

Most of the Panhandle and West Texas had a light coating of sleet and snow while a wide belt of North Texas from Wichita Falls and Gainesville to south of Dallas and Fort Worth was sheathed in ice.

Floods were threatening along the Red, the Trinity and the Sulphur Rivers. Flood warnings were issued for the Sulphur River, which had reached a stage of 41.2 at Hagensport in East Texas. The Red River was rising rapidly and had reached a stage of 17.1 feet at Arthur City, first station below the Denison dam. The Trinity was out of banks in the Dallas-Rockwall areas.

Hardest hit were the Dallas-Fort Worth and Gainesville areas, where a heavy coating of ice slowed highway travel to a crawl, closed schools and caused thousands to be late for work.

CORSICANA —(AP)— Freezing rain caught many birds, mostly sparrows, here Monday night and froze them to their perches.

Dead birds are hanging by their feet from trees Tuesday.

Highway accidents were numerous.

Snow and sleet were general in the Panhandle and West Texas. In North Texas and into East Texas as far as Tyler the countryside was sheathed in ice that formed from an overnight drizzle in freezing temperatures. In some sections it turned to sleet at dawn.

Gainesville Hard Hit

Early morning temperatures ranged from five degrees at Amarillo to 68 degrees at Brownsville. The cold front hit sections of the coast country early Tuesday, and the weatherman said it would spread to all sections by nightfall. The lower Rio Grande Valley, however, was expected to escape a freeze Tuesday night.

At Gainesville, in North Texas, the ice and sleet measured two inches. Broken tree limbs dangled over the streets and shrubs were bent double. All Gainesville schools were closed for the day.

Muenster, 11 miles north of Gainesville, was reported without power and telephone service.

Streets in Fort Worth were glazed over with ice and automobile collisions were so frequent police abandoned attempts to keep records.

Conditions were similar at Dallas. Buses and street cars were behind schedules because of icy con-

Secretary Hubert Martin, Midland County agent, presided at the Monday meeting in the absence of President E. H. Barron. Both Barron and Martin were reelected to their respective positions. Representatives from four of the seven counties attended the session.

DeWayne Davis, assistant manager of the Midland Chamber of Commerce, invited the directors to stage the show in Midland.

Poll Tax Payments Total 1,912 Here

Poll tax payments in Midland County Tuesday totaled 1,912 with only six days remaining for citizens to obtain voting certificates. More than 5,800 poll taxes were issued here last year.

The "Pay Your Poll Tax" campaign sponsored by the League of Women Voters and Junior Chamber of Commerce is in full swing, although the icy weather is lessening its effectiveness. Leaders in the drive issued an urgent appeal for all citizens to obtain their poll taxes before the January 31 deadline.

Midland And Basin Area Covered Again By Thin Ice Sheet

Midland and the Permian Basin and all West Texas were covered with a thin coating of sleet and ice Tuesday as citizens shivered in sub-freezing weather.

Winter's newest blast came with suddenness Monday hitting the already fog-shrouded areas with biting winds and freezing drizzles.

The sleet coat spit down during Monday night. The temperature dipped to 19 degrees Tuesday morning. It dropped sharply down from a high of 53 degrees Monday, going down many degrees in just a few minutes.

Midland transportation continued but motorists were warned to proceed with caution on the coated highways and streets. Only air transportation was curtailed and flights still were scheduled Tuesday. Two planes had to by-pass Midland early Tuesday. Railroad trainmen reported conditions similar to Midland in both directions, from El Paso to Fort Worth. Bus drivers had the same report and added North-South directions to the picture.

Traffic Hazardous

It was reported roads were closed at Lubbock during Monday night and roads East of Dallas were reported closed. U. S. Highway 80 was reported open from Dallas to El Paso but was covered with snow, sleet and ice.

Midlanders wondered how severe this cold weather wave would get coming on the heels of a damaging ice storm and recent snow. Trees creaked with ice when they swayed Tuesday morning. The ice coating was thin, however.

This attack threatened to cause livestock and vegetation damage losses and also threatened already crippled communications.

The sudden cold following rains of the last week end may cause extensive damage to range grass and weeds and to Winter grains. Lambs dropped on the open range will have difficulty surviving. Some shrinkage in cattle will occur.

Short Bobs Soften Snug Caps

Empire-styled short bob features divided bangs which soften severity of simple cap. Curls are massed at back of head.

Semi-waved bangs and feathery fronds at the temples make this hair-do a more flattering frame for this simple cap.

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

If a snug woolen beanie is your choice of a hat for rugged weather, choose a hair-do that encourages a simple cap to yield more flattery.

Able to oblige are short bobs which are softened around the face to relieve the severity of the simplest beanie.

Examples of short hair-dos that add glamor to simple caps are two new short-bob styles designed with this aim in mind by Victor Vito. The added attraction of this New York stylist's hair-dos is easy upkeep. After the hair is cut and shaped—and it pays to invest in expert barbering, says Vito—all you need to do to keep locks neat is to keep them smoothly brushed.

One of the recommended bobs which is reminiscent of Empire-styled coiffures is cut no longer than two inches and has semi-curled bangs divided by a center part. Hair at the sides is pulled back above the ears and at the nape of neck. This loosely curled hair is brushed into a mass of fluffy ringlets.

The other short bob is cut in graduating lengths from two to four inches and has full semi-waved bangs and feathery fronds at the temples. If you want to give this one a tryout under your woolen cap, part hair at the side and cut in graduating lengths so that strands lie flat to crown. Fluff up uncurled ends and brush to cover ears. Curl feather-edged strands at the temples by brushing over finger.

★ WE, THE WOMEN

By RUTH MILLETT
NEA Staff Writer

At the end of a party Papa knows whether or not he had an enjoyable evening at the Joneses and whether or not the meal was so-so, good or excellent.

But Mama knows much, much more.

She knows—and will know six months later—exactly what the menu was, right down to such details as whether or not the hot rolls were homemade.

She knows exactly how the living room was furnished, and if she saw the whole house she could sit down and draw the floor plan, and place the furniture in each room.

She knows what all the other women wore, and approximately what their clothes cost.

Collects Information

She comes home with her head full of other bits of information, too—which she stores away to fit into mental jig-saw puzzles like, "How can the Jones manage to live as they do on his salary?"

No wonder, then, that it is so unsatisfactory for a woman to try to "talk over" a party with her husband. The things she saw and heard and surmised passed over his head because he wasn't interested in them. And he's no more interested in getting such information second-hand.

But Mama never accepts this as final. After each party she tries to get Papa into a post mortem. And each time she gives up and thinks, "Well, I'll telephone Sue in the morning and talk it over with her."

Snow never falls on one-third of the earth's surface.

High Fashion Design Glamorizes Articles In Everyday Household Use

Ballet dancer with bouquet which is hand-painted on shower curtain is reproduction of Degas' art masterpiece.

By KAY SHERWOOD
NEA Staff Writer

High-fashion enters the home this Spring to transform prosy household articles into glamorous accessories.

Dressed up to the nines, for example, are covers for mattresses and box springs, designed by Schiaparelli. This French designer who turns her talents to the business of glamorizing mattresses does the job with boldly striped tickings tied up with huge ribbon bowknots. Other Schiaparelli-designed covers for new mattresses feature brilliant motifs of ribbon-tied nosegays and distinctive "damask-weave" fabrics. Colors feature two-tones and monotones of gray-blue, pink, yellow, orange, brown. More of the same fabrics are used to make padded headboards to match mattresses.

Today's fashion vogue inspired by impressionistic paintings gets its innings in the home as designs for fabrics. Shower curtains, in particular, owe their arty new look to Degas masterpieces. This artist's ballet dancers are reproduced in motifs hand-painted in vinyl ink on a velon film. This makes shimmering new shower curtains for glamming up a bathroom. Colors used for the reproductions closely approximate the originals. Reproductions of Van Gogh still - life paintings and Renoir landscapes decorate other shower curtains.

The somber black telephone blossoms out into fancy dress thanks to colorful tenite plastic cases. These cases which snap in place over any standard bell-enclosed telephone provide a lustrous sheathe which can be color-matched to room decor.

Colored plastic case which snaps in place glamorizes conventional black telephone to match room decor.

To cook up more beauty in the kitchen is the aim of new finishes used for functional pieces of equipment. The Plain Jane look of wood or steel cabinets disappears under Cinderella finishes of pink, salmon, yellow, turquoise, and deep blue are other colors used to accent the decor of kitchens. And, if Mrs. America chooses, she can also order up a pink stove, a yellow refrigerator or a blue sink color-matched to cabinets!

Less ostentatious but no less glamorous are the old-fashioned hot water bottles encased in quilted satin as exquisitely embroidered as a baby's christening dress.

New mattress makes its spring debut in gay bowknot-patterned cover designed by Schiaparelli. Headboard has matching cover.

New Truman Trend

President Truman has said that the change in the State Department does not mean any change in American foreign policy. That is a definite statement from the highest source, and there is no reason to doubt it. Yet it cannot quiet the speculation, both here and abroad, over whether the change may not also mean a change in the technique, though not the substance, of our foreign policy.

Secretary Marshall's illness was as unplanned as it was regrettable. Coming to a man of 68, who had put in 10 years of gruelling responsibility, it is not surprising that he asked to be relieved of his duties. Nor is it surprising that Truman was unwilling to assume the responsibility of further jeopardizing General Marshall's health.

Even so, the general's resignation and the appointment of his successor seem to fit, however inadvertently, into the pattern of a new trend. This trend, if it can be so called, began with the President's impromptu speech at the Kansas City luncheon honoring his former business partner.

On that occasion Truman referred cryptically to certain Russian leaders who were extremely anxious to have an understanding with us. A few days later came his message on the State of the Union. The President devoted only about one-eighth of the speech to foreign affairs, and his remarks on that subject were neither new nor very specific.

Next came the resignations of Marshall and Lovett. They were not part of a new policy. Yet they succeeded in removing a military man from the top State Department post and, from the undersecretaryship, a "big business" man whose earlier government experience had been in a military department.

In their places we now find two civilians. Acheson, it has been recalled, was once head of a State Department group that favored a "soft" policy toward Russia. That was in 1944. Since then, along with countless other Americans, his understandable wartime feeling of trust in Russia has turned to one of realistic suspicion and firmness.

He is identified as a principal author of the Marshall Plan, and as the man who made the first official announcement of it. He faithfully carried out the new American policy of containment of Communist expansion until his resignation from the State Department in 1947. His designated undersecretary, Webb, the director of the budget, is counted among those of Truman's advisers who have opposed an expanded military budget.

So, whether Truman intended all these events to fall into a pattern, the world can scarcely fail to note the sequence:

The President of the United States recognizes the existence of a conciliatory group among the Russian government's leaders; he offers Congress a program which softpedals rearmament and stresses domestic social planning; he accepted the resignations of two men unjustly branded by Communists and Wallaceites as representatives of warmongering "militarism" and "big business;" he replaces them with two civilians.

General Marshall's two years in the State Department have left a record of historic distinction. He laid a wise and firm foundation for American foreign policy. Inevitably the surface of that policy will change somewhat with his departure. The change need not be damaging. It might even mean progress toward peace—but only if, under Truman's guidance, the foundation which General Marshall leaves is not destroyed.

If you have a cold, don't talk about it—keep it to yourself.

DREW PEARSON ON The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

(Copyright, 1949, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Drew Pearson says: Jim Farley, ignored at Truman's swearing in, laughs last; disappointed people never shook hands with Truman; one Republican refuses to serve with indicted Parnell Thomas.

WASHINGTON — One of the semi-comic, semi-tragic sights of inauguration was Big Jim Farley, resplendent in shiny top hat, cutaway coat, with boutonniere and cane, looking for a seat at Truman's swearing-in ceremony.

Big Jim, who once ruled FDR's political roost, hadn't been given a seat with the top dignitaries. The Cabinet, the senators, the representatives sat near the President. Other bigwigs had favored seats. But Jim Farley, his top hat towering above everyone else, had to make shift among the press and lesser-lights. He looked as ill-at-ease as the Naval aide to the governor of the Virgin Islands.

Later that afternoon, 3,000 people plus milled around in the Mellon Art Gallery waiting to shake hands with President Truman. They had received engraved invitations to this, the most exclusive of all receptions, and they had come from Omaha and Kalamazoo, Keokuk and Olathe, to greet the President of the United States.

The White House had especially asked that the little people who worked for Truman—not the big socialites—be invited. Some had rented gray-striped pants and swallow-tails. Some wore tuxedos, some wore white ties and evening clothes. But they were all primed for this, the most important of all receptions.

Meanwhile Truman was still sitting on Pennsylvania Ave., watching long lines of artillery and troops, the Naval cadets and armored cavalry which had done nothing to elect him and which could have been reviewed on any other day. The brass hats had put their military units near the head and middle of the parade, leaving the labor unions, the war veterans, the negro units and civilian groups who swung the balance to elect Truman, bringing up the rear. So Truman stayed to the end.

Truman Arrives

Finally, however, he arrived at the Mellon Gallery reception. The waiting guests perked up, preened their clothes, prepared to greet the President.

"I don't want him to shake this clammy hand," said one man, wiping the moisture from his hand with a fresh-laundered handkerchief.

"The folks back home bet me I wouldn't shake hands with Truman, but now I can tell 'em this invitation meant what it said," opined another.

Hastily, the President shook hands with the foreign diplomats, waiting in a side room. Then he greeted the Cabinet in another room. Then he came out into the great rotunda of the gallery and surveyed the 3,000 or more people waiting to see him. Obviously it was hopeless. So, lifting his voice, the President announced:

"I am very glad to see you all, and I thank you for coming. I wish I could shake hands with all of you, but you can see that it's impossible. So I'm going to shake hands with the Vice President, and our ladies will shake hands. Then you can all go home and say that you've shaken hands with the President of the United States."

Whereupon Mr. Truman and Barkley held their hands aloft in a clasp that all could see, while Mrs. Truman and Mrs. Truitt, the Vice President's daughter, shook hands. Then they departed.

The crowd looked after them. Obviously they could not tell the folks at home they had shaken hands with the President for the simple reason that the press and radio would tell the true story even before they got there. Mr. Truman, they thought, should have realized this.

However, over there was Big Jim Farley, looking distinguished and handsome in his tall topper and neat-fitting cutaway. So the 3,000 disappointed guests formed in a long line and they all shook hands with Jim.

Note—He who laughs last, last best.

Parnell Thomas Draws Pay

Ex-Speaker Joe Martin didn't advertise it, but he had difficulty getting other Republican congressmen to serve on the new Un-American Activities Committee as long as ex-chairman J. Parnell Thomas of New Jersey remained a member.

Conscientious Congressman Pat Kearney of New York, when offered a Republican place on the committee by Martin turned it down. He said he wouldn't serve as long as Thomas, under indictment for conspiracy to defraud the government, remained a committee member.

This reveals what has been generally overlooked in the hubbub of opening Congress, that Parnell Thomas, claiming to be too sick to stand trial, is not too sick to continue as a member of the Un-American Committee.

Thus he can continue to draw pay, perhaps indefinitely, from the same government he is under indicement for defrauding. Also he can continue getting the best medical attention in the world at Walter Reed Hospital virtually free; from the same government he defrauded.

While there is no question that Thomas has been ill, it is also no question that he was not too ill to come to Washington last Summer and bulldoze committee witnesses in prolonged and exciting hearings, which to the witnesses concerned were just as nerve-racking as the trial which Thomas now seeks to avoid.

Free Alaskan Border

There is one spot on the globe where the iron curtain doesn't come between Russian and American citizens. They not only intermingle but intermarry across the border without bothering about either politics or passports.

Ironically this bare relationship is found along the only border where the U. S. and the U. S. S. R. actually touch—among the Eskimos of Alaska and Siberia. On one side, the inhabitants of Big Diomede Island are Soviet citizens. Three miles to the east, their neighbors on Little Diomede Island are American citizens.

All of them Eskimos, their nationality depends upon which side of the border their parents happened to be camped when they were born. It isn't unusual for brothers and sisters to be citizens of opposite countries. In fact, during the war, the draft reached into little Diomede Island and took a Russian citizen by mistake.

Eskimos frequently paddle between Alaskan and Siberian mainlands in whaleboats that carry as many as ten. One boatload of American Eskimos, however, was detained recently on the Siberian side. The FBI also checked a report that Russian agents had slipped into Alaska with a boatload of Siberian Eskimos. Clarence Rhode, Alaskan director of fish and wildlife, was sent up to investigate but found no evidence.

As a matter of fact, a stranger couldn't get far on the Alaskan side without being reported by American Eskimos. These natives are loyal to the United States, in spite of their wandering across the border, and many served in the American Armed Forces during the war.

Surgery Is Surest Treatment For Enlarged Prostate Gland

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

The prostate gland is a male sex gland which lies near the outlet of the bladder. This gland becomes enlarged in some men as they grow older and interferes with the complete emptying of the bladder and causes other symptoms which can be quite troublesome. Many men, however, do not develop this difficulty, and it should not be considered as inevitable.

Enlargement of the prostate is first noticed as a rule by difficulty or delay in beginning urination. Only rarely is this of sudden onset, but it is more likely to come on gradually. Incomplete emptying of the bladder causes back pressure on that organ so that its wall becomes thickened and less elastic. This results in more and more frequent urge to empty the bladder, thus, in turn, making the symptoms worse.

Worse At Night

Local discomfort, irritation or pain may be either present or absent. Unfortunately the symptoms are likely to be worse at night and this frequently produces considerable disturbance of sleep and restlessness and irritability.

Occasionally a man with an enlarged prostate may suddenly be unable to urinate at all. Of course, this cannot be allowed to go on and the bladder must be emptied as promptly as possible through a tube passed into it which is called a catheter. This gives only temporary relief and more permanent measures must be taken shortly.

Complications of enlargement of the prostate gland can be serious. The back pressure can affect the kidneys in time and even cause some waste material to accumulate in the blood stream. The symptoms, therefore, should not be neglected.

The proper treatment for most victims of an enlarged prostate gland today is surgery. Several good methods of operating on this gland aimed at removing some of the excess tissue and relieving the symptoms are available. Sometimes one method seems best and sometimes another; the judgment and skill of the surgeon in charge must be relied on in deciding which method to use.

McKenney on Bridge

Lee Hazen of New York, one of the country's outstanding bridge experts, does not get a chance to play as much bridge these days as he would like. His law practice keeps him on the jump, and young Thomas Lee Hazen, 16 months old, takes up what is left of the 25 hours in his day. The extra hour is floor-walking time.

Hazen gave me today's hand, with a "proud papa" story to go with it. When he got to six spades on the hand, he claims that the baby said "goo goo," meaning good. "Naturally," said Lee, "I had to make it."

It was too easy to make. Lee figured that the queen of clubs opening definitely marked West for the queen-jack-nine. He won the trick with the king of clubs, took four rounds of trumps, then led the ten of clubs. West covered, dummy's ace won and a club was returned.

West won this trick with the nine-spot and exited with his last club. A diamond was discarded from dummy and Lee won the trick in his own hand. He then cashed the ace of hearts, leaving in his hand the ten-nine-eight of diamonds and ten of spades. Dummy had the queen-ten of hearts and ace-king of diamonds. I have underlined the remaining cards in all hands, so that you can see them readily.

Hazen felt confident that East was down to the blank king of hearts. West of course had been squeezed, as he was trying to protect hearts and diamonds. At this point Hazen led a diamond, won it in dummy and led back the ten of hearts. When East played the king, Hazen trumped, and the last two tricks were won in dummy with the ace of diamonds and queen of hearts.

Senate Small Business Group Fights To Stay In Business

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Whether or not small business will get any kind of a break before the new Congress will have to be decided by the Senate in short order. For the Senate's Special Committee to Investigate the Problems of Small Business is itself about to be merged out of business on January 31.

Senator James M. Murray (D-Mont.) has introduced a new resolution to continue this committee through the 81st Congress. Senator Murray would probably become its chairman. But Senator Scott Lucas of Illinois, Democratic majority floor leader, says the Small Business Committee ought to stay dead.

Lucas' main argument is that the Senate should keep within the La-Follette - Monroney Congressional Reorganization Act, and not have any special committees. The problems of small business, says Lucas, could just as well be taken care of by some sub-committee of one of the 15 permanent standing committees of the Senate.

Overlaps Other Committees

While Lucas' proposal makes sense organizationally and economically, the catch is that Small Business Committee work cuts across the fields of at least five standing committees. Anti-trust laws to protect small business go before the Judiciary Committee. Tax laws to aid small business go before the Finance Committee. Legislation to give RFC loans to small business goes before Banking and Currency. General business legislation goes before Interstate Commerce. And legislation to protect farmers—who are really small businessmen—is Agriculture Committee's exclusively.

Several attempts have been made to write bills setting up a Small Business Committee as one of the Senate's permanent work groups. So far, no one has succeeded in this effort because of these conflicts of authority. There were a number of nice fights behind the scenes in the last Congress because Republican chairmen of the standing committees—Senators Tobey, White, Millikin and others—thought the Senate Small Business group was stealing their stuff.

Senator Kenneth S. Wherry of Nebraska, Republican minority floor leader in the Senate, who was chairman of the Small Business Committee in the last Congress, wants this committee continued. While it is only normal to expect Wherry and Lucas to be on opposite sides of every question, it is a little unusual to find New Dealer Murray and Conservative Wherry on the same side of anything. This is it.

White House Had An Angle

The White House has an angle in the argument, too. President Truman's State of the Union Message to Congress gave small business two nods. "Small business is losing ground to monopoly," the President said in listing his 11 things wrong with the country. Later in the message he said: "We must assure small business the freedom and opportunity to grow and prosper. To this purpose we should strengthen our anti-trust laws by closing those loopholes that permit monopolistic mergers and consolidations."

As if to back up these statements, several big reports are due soon on the work of the Senate Small Business Committee in the last Congress. Under its last two staff directors, Dewey Anderson and George Meredith, the Small Business Committee has dug into many nasty business situations. Principal concerns have been in trying to get oil and gasoline for the independent refiners and distributors, and to get steel for the small manufacturers.

In the past there has been considerable boondoggling and phony propaganda in the name of small business, by both the government and private industry trade associations. Some of the small business lobbyists in Washington have been unmasked as nothing but fronts for bigger business organizations.

Politically, being for small business is a good bit like being for the flag, home and motherhood. It is a sacred cow which every vote hunter worships, but nobody has done much about, constructively.

Nevertheless, informed big business as well as the little fellows and the politicians realize that in the present growing trend towards mergers and monopolies, there is a real danger. The next step after over-concentration of economic power in the hands of a few giant corporations may be government ownership. Creating conditions under which there can be healthy competition of many small business establishments is recognized as absolutely essential if the private enterprise system is to be preserved.

Beware of Romance

By Roberta Courtland

Copyright by Greenaway Pub. Corp. Distributed by NEA SERVICE, INC.

XXXIV

MERRY had been a little uneasy about Susan's reaction to her return to Marshallville. But Susan seemed reconciled, even content. Her letters were cheerful and recounted her routine activities; she and Carter seemed to be living a full and busy life, at least by their own standards.

"I don't get it," Merry admitted frankly one afternoon when she had read Susan's latest letter aloud to Aunt Jane. "She fretted herself sick while I was in New York, and I thought that she was lonely for me. But I'm away from her now and she doesn't seem to care a bit."

Aunt Jane grinned.

"You don't get it? Child, it's as plain as a pike-staff," said Aunt Jane dryly. "When you were in New York, you were with Kin and Lissa. And Susan was just plain, old-fashioned jealous."

Merry nodded ruefully.

"You know, Aunt Jane, it's funny, but I honestly believe Mother is happier with Carter than she ever was with Dad!" she said impulsively.

Aunt Jane's thick eyebrows went up a little.

"You don't mean you've finally come to that conclusion? I knew it from the first," she declared. "I think having a second romance in her life has restored Susan's youth. She married Kin when they were both a couple of kids, before she knew what romance really was. Then when the break-up came, she felt old and worn out and fearfully abused. And then Carter came along and wooed her as though she'd been a young girl, and she got a terrific kick out of it."

Startled, Merry stared at her.

"And Kin and Lissa seem ideally suited to each other," she said slowly, unwillingly.

Aunt Jane nodded.

"Kin and Susan had grown away from each other. They no longer had anything in common. Naturally, they rubbed each other the wrong way. I'd say the best thing that ever happened to either of them was that break-up you've been deploring for so long."

IT was a new thought and Merry wasn't any too sure that she liked it. After a long, thoughtful moment she spoke again, and Aunt Jane was wise enough and shrewd enough to realize that she was not changing the subject.

"Aunt Jane, I met a man in New York." Merry found her words slowly, with difficulty. "He's terribly attractive and I liked him a lot. He said he was in love with me and he wanted to marry me, but he said, "If it doesn't work out, there's always Reno.'"

Aunt Jane nodded thoughtfully.

"Honest, at any rate," she contributed, and waited.

Puzzled, Merry asked, "You don't think it's wrong to get married with that thought in the back of your head, Aunt Jane?"

"Merry, darling, I long ago gave up deciding what was 'wrong' and what was 'right' for other people," said Aunt Jane quietly. "People have to decide such things for themselves. If two people are head over heels in love, I suppose it's perfectly natural for them to be quite convinced that it's going to last a lifetime."

"Mike didn't."

"Then Mike wasn't very deeply in love, or else Mike has seen enough of the seamy side of matrimony to be a little suspicious."

Merry flushed. "His mother has been married five—or maybe six times."

Aunt Jane drew a deep breath and blinked.

"Then it's a wonder to me this Mike didn't scream with rage and take to the tall timber at the very word 'marriage.' It's a thousand wonders he'd even let the word pass his lips. Good grief, no wonder the man said, 'Marry me, and if it doesn't work out, there's always Reno.'"

Merry was still for a moment, and then she looked straight at Aunt Jane, her eyes grave, probing.

"Then you wouldn't consider him a very good risk for marriage, would you, Aunt Jane?"

AUNT JANE hesitated for a moment, and never in her life had she prayed for the right answer as she prayed for it now. And when she spoke at last her voice was warm, tender with affection.

"Darling, you're not quite 18," she said very gently. "I think that it will be at least a couple of years before I'd consider any man a good risk for marriage for you. You're just a little girl, Merry, suffering from growing pains. Take time out to get over that before you plunge into getting married, won't you?"

A swift, relieved smile crossed Merry's face and she jumped up and hugged Aunt Jane.

"Of course, angel. You're right. Here I sit moiling and gibbering about getting married, when I've all the time in the world. Isn't that silly of me? You'd think, wouldn't you, the way I'm carrying on, if I wasn't married by next Friday afternoon at half-past two, the world would come to an end for me? Let's skip it, angel, and go transplant those snapdragons that are fighting for more space to grow in."

"Let's, by all means," agreed Aunt Jane heartily, relieved that Merry was willing to dismiss a subject that was beginning to trouble Aunt Jane almost as much as it had previously been puzzling Merry.

Report Shows 'Never A Dull Moment' In City's Activities

Never a dull moment is indicated in City Manager H. A. Thomason's report of activities by departments of the City of Midland during the month of December. Municipal employes apparently did not let the Christmas holidays interfere to much with their every day duties.

The Water and Sewer Department, for instance, made 86 water taps during the month at a cost of $3,169.27. A total of 82 sewer taps were made at a cost to the city of $884.84. The testing and repairing of 84 water meters cost $299.28. Seventeen manholes were built during December at a cost of $1,312.21. Five fire hydrants also were installed.

The department laid 2,056 feet of two-inch pipe; 1,585 feet of six-inch; 447 feet of eight-inch; and 22 feet of 10-inch, for a total of 4,110 feet of water pipe during the 30-day period. A total of 4,042 feet of six-inch sewer pipe also was laid.

Tax Collections

The Tax Department collected $54,881.75 during December, the breakdown being as follows: 1948 taxes—$52,449.78; prior years — $1,-903.77; penalty and interest—$504.-20; and tax certificates—$24.

The Fire Department made 18 runs in December. A total of 1,460 gallons of water were used, and the department was out eight hours and 25 minutes.

The Inspection Department had an exceptionally busy month. Permits issued included: 86 building, 94 plumbing, 94 electrical and 101 sewer. Permit fees totaled $2,465.70 —building, $505.75; electrical, $451.-45; plumbing, $392; sewer, $1,010; miscellaneous, $106.50.

The building permits issued were: residential construction, $505,350; residential alterations, $11,100; commercial construction, $207,500; and commercial alterations, $217,900.

Police Record

The Police Department again was a beehive of activity. Violations for the month totaled 307. Fines laid out in jail amounted to $370, while fines paid in cash totaled $1,728. The parking meters in December accounted for $3,855 in income.

The patrol cars traveled 14,032 miles during the 30 day period. Seventy-five persons were arrested and confined to jail. The cars answered 11 fire calls, and made 16 accident investigations. Funeral escorts totaled 13 and other escorts 18.

Equipment of the Health and Sanitation Department covered 550 miles of alleys, and hauled 850 tons of trash and garbage. Garbage barrel pickups totaled 36,296.

The Street Department bladed six miles of streets, hauled 512 cubic yards of caliche, swept 80 miles of streets, and hauled 76 cubic yards of street sweepings.

The warehouse and shop dispensed 4,800 gallons of gasoline, 360 gallons of diesel fuel, 300 gallons of kerosene, and 225 gallons of oil.

The Air Terminal had an income of $13,242.71, from—rent, $9,803.70; utilities, $1,291.80; landing fees, $1,-267.96; miscellaneous, $879.25. (Air Terminal expenditures during the same period amounted to $12,107.98.)

A total of 20,108,000 gallons of water was pumped from Clovedale and 27,819,000 gallons from Rosedale. No water was produced from the new Wadley tract during December.

The Health Unit examined 54 water-bacteriological specimens, 35 milk-bacteriological specimens, and 70 milk-chemical specimens. The unit also ran 618 blood tests, seven gonorrhea smears and one tuberculosis test.

Body Of Missing World War II Ace Is Reported Found

DALLAS —(AP)— The body of the fabulous Col. Neel E. Kearby has been found, almost four years after the World War II flying ace was reported missing in the Pacific.

The War Department Monday notified his parents, Dr. and Mrs. J. G. Kearby of Dallas, that their son's body had been taken to the American Graves Registration Service Mausoleum in Manila, Philippine Islands. The announcement did not say where the body was found.

Kearby was one of the first American aces in World War II. He was credited with shooting down 24 enemy planes between September, 1943, and March, 1944, when he crashed in the Pacific near Wewak, New Guinea, and was reported missing.

On Oct. 11, 1943, Kearby shot down six enemy planes and saved a comrade's life on a mission in which four American fighter planes battled 40 Japanese aircraft. He was awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor and a citation for this feat.

His widow and three small sons —Neel, Mike and Kenneth—now live in Long Beach, Calif.

Boyle Gives Password To Sunny South

By HAL BOYLE

BAY MINETTE, ALA.—(AP)—There is one sure fire way for a visiting Damyankee to make friends in this section of the South.

All he has to do is open his mouth and say two words clearly:

Camellia Japonica.

Somebody is sure to hear him and say, "You like camellias, stranger?"

From then on all the Damyankee has to do is admit he even saw a camellia. That is introduction enough. The natives no longer blame him for being born on the wrong side of the Mason and Dixon Line. The Dixiecrats don't even hold him entirely personally responsible for what they say Harry Truman is doing to them.

No, sir, stranger, if you like camellias why you're a cousin right away. You're kin folk to these Gulf Coast flower fans.

Everybody Grows 'Em

Everybody down this way raises camellias (the artistocrats of Southern gardens), if there's space by the house to stick a bush.

Raising the beautiful white and red heart-size flowers is a hobby for tens of thousands, a multi-million dollar industry for a few. The annual camellia shows are almost as impressive as religious festivals.

And during blooming season—right now—this whole corner of the Southland erupts in lush color.

"The trouble is that once a man gets one variety he starts wanting another," said Clay T. Smith, postmaster here. "And that can lead quite a way. Some folks say there are 3,000 varieties, some say 80.

"Nobody really knows for sure, because the same variety has at least 12 names."

Million-Dollar Business

Smith, who has grown camellias for fun for 25 years, has 200 varieties himself. One Mobile man who started it as a hobby built his camellias into a million-dollar business. They grow by the million on the bushes here. But in the big cities they fetch up to $3.50 in florist shops.

And if the visiting Damyankee isn't lazy he'll probably end up in the front yard with a spray gun in his hand, firing side by side at a camellia bush with the grandson of a man whose grandpappy chased the Damyankee's grandpappy at Bull Run.

Of course, a man could say, 'I hate camellias." But who wants to get rushed out of town on a rail?"

Eleven Men Fined In Veterans' Home Sales

DALLAS —(AP)— Eleven Dallas men Monday were fined a total of $1,500 in ten separate cases involving sale of homes to veterans.

The charges involved "side payments" from veterans through real estate agents to the property owners.

March Of Dimes Lagging In Texas

ABILENE —(AP)— The March of Dimes in Texas is progressing at half-step because of repeated bad weather.

Ed Stewart of Abilene, state chairman of the campaign for funds to fight polio, said January's weather had caused the drive to lag in many places. He said the campaign was progressing successfully in the larger cities.

Texas' March of Dimes quota is $1,250,000. The national goal is $30,000,000.

Stewart said the need for money to care for polio victims is greater in Texas than ever before because the state had the greatest epidemic in its history last year.

Daddy Ringtail

Daddy Ringtail And The Broken Mug

By WESLEY DAVIS

When Sammy Ringtail, the monkey boy, was a very little monkey, someone gave him a beautiful mug. From that day on, Sammy always drank his milk from out of that mug, morning, noon, and night. It became his favorite mug, as the days and weeks went by, because it was such a pretty thing, and because he had had it such a long time.

Sammy was very careful not to break it. Often he picked it up with both his hands to be sure he didn't drop it, and the mug never had as much as a crack in it; until one day, one terrible day, it happened. Sammy wasn't thinking very much about what he was doing.

He turned around in his chair real quick to see whether it was Daddy Ringtail coming into the monkey house. And when Sammy turned around, his elbow hit the mug, and knocked it off on the floor. The mug was broken half-in-two, and the milk was spilled on the floor.

This was a terrible thing that had happened; and Sammy tried hard to keep from crying, while Mother Ringtail went to the kitchen to get something to wipe the milk up with.

"Don't cry, Sammy!" Daddy Ringtail said. "No need to cry over spilt milk!" Daddy Ringtail meant that milk once spilt is spilt forever. Crying will never unspill it, and so there's no need to cry.

But Sammy explained he wasn't unhappy about the milk so much. He was unhappy about the mug. "Now, now, now," Daddy Ringtail said. "I'll get you another mug."

But Sammy said, "I don't want another mug. I want my mug that's broken!"

"Now I want my little monkey to act like a big monkey," Daddy Ringtail said. "I'll try to fix your mug; but if I can't, you must promise me that you won't cry over something that can't be helped."

Sammy promised, because he did want to act like a big monkey. And Daddy Ringtail got out the glue and worked hard— until the mug was fixed at last.

Sammy smiled. He knew that the mug would always have a crack in it, but he didn't care. The mug was his. He wanted it more than any new one. But tomorrow I'll tell you about Daddy Ringtail and the Stubborn Mule. Happy day!

Lou Inks Indian Contract

CLEVELAND —(AP)— Lou Boudreau signed his name on a Cleveland Indian contract Tuesday that placed him among the highest paid performers in baseball.

The handsome shortstop-manager of the world champion Indians signed a new two-year contract on a straight pay raise—with no attendance bonuses involved.

In terms of cash, it is hard to determine what that will mean but President Bill Veeck of the Indians termed it one of the highest salaries in the history of the game. That would put it up around Bob Feller's reputed $82,000 and the $80,000 Babe Ruth earned one season with the Yankees.

Boudreau has been working under an old contract with one year to run and it is estimated he earned above $50,000 last season. However, Veeck said the old one was torn up and the new one substituted.

The opera "Faust" is said to have been sung more than any other five operas combined.

Promoter Plans Big Money Circuit For Feminine Golf Pros

DALLAS—(AP)—Women's golf on a touring schedule like the men is seen as a strong possibility this year by Fred Corcoran, who built the present system of big money tournaments from coast to coast.

Corcoran stopped off in Dallas enroute to Miami, Fla., where he is to discuss a program of 20 tournaments a year for the feminine links brigade. He is going to Miami upon invitation of Patty Berg, president of the Women's Professional Golf Association.

"We are talking about a schedule of ten tournaments in the Winter and ten in the Summer," he said Tuesday. "The announcement by Babe Didrikson Zaharias that she would play tournament golf was the shot in the arm needed. I see no reason why women's golf can't be built to equal the men's."

"You know," he added, "when I started as tournament manager of the PGA in 1936, men's open tournaments were drawing an average of $3,000. The women now have tournaments offering that much. Men's tournaments now offer $10,000 to $15,000."

Corcoran was forced to remain in Dallas Monday night when his plane was grounded because of weather conditions.

Bulldog-Broncho Melee Scheduled

The Midland Bulldogs and the Odessa Bronchos clash at 8 p. m. Tuesday in the MHS gym. It is a 3-AA conference game. The curtain-raiser tilt between the "B" clubs of the two schools is slated at 7 p. m.

Odessa brings a rough and ready and dangerous quintet. Its greatest desire is to upset Midland.

Midland beat Odessa handily 34-23 in the first meeting of the two earlier in the season at Odessa.

The Midland "B" will have a revenge motive since the little Bronchos licked the little Bulldogs 29-25 in their first encounter.

For the Odessa varsity it will be Ed Sharp and Jim Gerron at forwards, Jim Patterson at center, Jim Manning and Oscar Roth at guards.

For Midland it will be various combinations of these, but usually in this formation: Larry Messersmith and Loiyd Henderson at forwards, Kent Miller at center, Reed Gilmore and Max Harris at guards. Don Bizzell is first replacement.

Roth and Sharp are the point makers for Odessa. Messersmith and Henderson do the canning for Midland.

Won But Two

In the first game between the two at Odessa, Harris and Gilmore turned in great jobs of guarding Roth and Sharp. They expect to repeat the performance.

Odessa has won two conference battles this season, winning over Sweetwater twice. Midland has won four and lost three in district competition, losing twice to Lamesa and once to Abilene. Midland beat Odessa, Big Spring, Sweetwater and San Angelo.

A full fieldhouse is expected for the Midland-Odessa battle. Rivalry always is intense.

Gassers Defeat Midland

The Midland VFW cagers went down scrapping before the more experienced and game-conditioned Blue Flame Gassers of Lubbock 57-28 Monday night in the MHS gym.

The Gassers are undefeated this season and have played together several years. They didn't waste any shots and seemed to be able to sink 'em at will when they fired.

Score at the half was 32-7 in favor of the visitors.

A tall center named Ennis sparked the Flames with 20 tallies to take scoring honors for the night. He plunked in nine field goals and two gratis shots.

Ralph Moore, the ex-Oklahoma Aggie, helped the Midland cause with 10 points. Charlie Kelly, ex-MHS cage star, got seven points for the VFW.

A return game may be booked between the two quintets after the Midland team has notched more game experience.

Overlooked in the weight of superior numbers was the unique Stone Bowl football game between teams of inmates at the Washington State Penitentiary.

Here's how a play-by-play might have sounded:

"It's the Braves' ball, first down and 10 years—er, 10 yards—to go.

"The teams are lined up. They look natural in the line-up.

"The ball's on the 15-yard stripe; plenty of stripes all over today.

"Smith tries to buck through center, but it's tough to make an easy buck.

"A guard stops him — natch. There's a handkerchief on the play. The Braves are penalized for felonious assault.

"They're asking for time out, but the parole board won't give it to them. Only 15 seconds left in the first half, and the timekeeper is raising his gun. Gee, that's funny—all the players have their hands up!"

That much cussed and discussed 10-pin has been the greatest jinx to bowlers who were after 300 games during the past three years.

American Bowling Congress figures show there have been 251 games of 299 during this period of time, and 69 of these were posted after keglers had failed to carry the 10 for the 12th strike. Corner pins continue to dominate the tap market with the revelation that the seven put an end to would-be 300 rollers the second greatest number of times, 48.

The headpin has never been responsible for a 299.

Women's basketball is making a considerable impression on the Soviet sporting scene.

The game has not been played very long, but the girls have caught on remarkably well and late last year won an international competition in Czechoslovakia.

The Soviet girls met the Kase team from Budapest, considered one of the strongest women's teams in Europe, and downed them 41-30.

The picked team from Moscow then went on to capture the Prague Big Prize crystal cup by defeating the Czech Sparta club, 42-20.

In 1947, a Soviet men's basketball team won the championship of Europe.

During the last two years considerable emphasis has been placed on basketball and thousands of youths all over Soviet country are taking to the game.

Presently the biggest teams are concentrating on developing tall stars, boys with exceptional reach who, in addition, are fast and accurate. One of the chief assets of the Soviet basketball player, like the Soviet soccer player, is his stamina. At the end of a game he appears almost as fresh as at the beginning.

Gotham To Get Peek At Foreign Milers

NEW YORK—(AP)—New Yorkers get their first peek Saturday at two foreign milers who promise to be as hard to catch as their names are to pronounce—Ingvar Bengtsson of Sweden and Willy Slykhuis of Holland.

The two invaders will compete against four American stars in the famed Wanamaker mile in the Millrose Games at Madison Square Garden.

Billikens Retain Top Rating In Cage Poll

NEW YORK — (AP) — The real "muscle" of college basketball this year is found in the Midlands and the Blue Grass Country.

The newest Associated Press poll of sports writers and broadcasters shows St. Louis' flashy Billikens still the nation's No. 1 team with Kentucky and Oklahoma A&M dribbling hot on their heels.

Western Kentucky, whose 15 victories represent the longest winning streak in the land, is fourth followed in order by Minnesota, Illinois, and Hamline.

The East breaks into the lineup of cage select with eighth place Villanova. The Far West has the ninth and tenth teams—San Francisco and Utah, respectively.

The top ten teams were the same as those figuring in the first poll last week but underwent a bit of scrambling. Western Kentucky fell from third to fourth and Minnesota dropped a notch to fifth as the Oklahoma Aggies climbed to third.

Baylor ranked No. 18 with 36 points and Texas was No. 26 with 20 points.

The norther ran smack into a mass of warm, damp air in some portions of the state. It dumped more than six inches of rain on Bonham Monday and five inches on Dallas.

E. M. Crosnoe, West Texas representative of Wyatt Metal and Boilerworks of Dallas and Houston, was a Midland visitor Tuesday. He visited in the office of J. A. Three Gilmer-Aikin School Bills Reach Texas Legislature

AUSTIN—(AP)—The explosive Gilmer-Aikin public school report and the first three bills to give it force were submitted to the 51st Legislature Tuesday.

They hit the Senate first, with Senator James E. Taylor of Kerens carrying the ball on the bill reorganizing the State Department of Education. It is expected to draw the quickest fire. It sets up an elective State Board of Education, giving it power to appoint the state school superintendent.

The state superintendent now is elected. The suggestion the office be made appointive already has created a statewide controversy, with opposition led by Dr. L. A. Woods, state school superintendent.

Negro Charged In Murders Recaptured

GALVESTON—(AP)—Herman Ross, negro charged with two counts of murder who escaped Monday morning from the county jail here, was captured Tuesday aboard a passenger train at Luling, said Sheriff Edd Williams of Caldwell County.

The little, humpbacked negro surrendered without resistance after a Southern Pacific Railroad conductor became suspicious and notified officers in Luling. The wanted man was unarmed at the time of arrest, said the sheriff.

Sheriff Frank L. Biagne, Galveston, left at once for Luling to take custody of Ross. Sheriff Biagne said he plans to return Ross to the State Penitentiary at Huntsville. Ross was taken from the penitentiary to Galveston last Friday to stand trial on the murder charge.

Ross was serving a prison sentence for conviction of assault on another negro. He was on parole at the time of the June 1 slayings here.

A British flyer and six Germans, two of them children, were killed. The injured included two other British airmen and 16 Germans. All are in the Schoenberg Hospital, near which the plane crashed.

Soviet air authorities in the Allied Air Safety Center here informed the British Tuesday of the casualties.

Proration Order Is Suspended On Wells Producing Helium Gas

AUSTIN—(AP)—Secretary of Defense Forrestal has asked that 12 Panhandle wells producing helium-bearing gas be exempt from a recent Railroad Commission proration order.

The commission late Monday announced approval of Forrestal's request on which said the involved wells produce a gas with a higher helium content than other wells of the big Panhandle field.

Forrestal advised the commission five other wells may be needed later.

Oates Asks Aid For Mail Carriers

A call to aid Midland mail carriers was sounded Tuesday by Postmaster N .G. Oates. He said it will aid the carriers and speed mail delivery if residents will either scrape the ice off their sidewalks or sprinkle enough salt on them to enable postmen to move along at a more rapid rate.

Oates said that in all probability there will be only one delivery Tuesday because of the icy sidewalks and bad footing.

CONDITION IMPROVED

Phillips Will Drill To Fullerton Deep Zone

Phillips Petroleum Company staked a drillsite for its No. 18-M Texas University as a 11,100-foot, rotary tool exploration in the Fullerton-Ellenburger field of Northwest Andrews County.

It will be 663 feet from south and 1,782 feet from east lines of section 31, block 13, University survey. That puts it approximately 12 miles northwest of the town of Andrews.

Operations are scheduled to begin at once.

Landon-San Andres Has New Extension

An extension to the Landon-San Andres pool of extreme South-Central Cochran County was completed by Texas Pacific Coal & Oil Company.

That concern pumped 24 hours on its No. 1 Edwards, 392 feet from west and 1,839 feet from north lines of the Edwards lease in section 13, block L, psl survey, to make an initial production of 101.95 barrels of oil per day.

Gravity of the petroleum was 31.6 degrees. Gas-oil ratio was 115-1. There was no water.

The San Andres, upper Permian, pay was at 5,009-5,034 feet. That zone had been acidized with 1,000 gallons.

McAlester Tests In Lynn With No Shows

Recent drillstem testing at McAlester Fuel Company No. 1 Edwards, West Lynn County wildcat, 16 miles east of the town of Brownfield, has resulted in no shows.

An examination was attempted at 10,491-546 feet, but the packer failed and there was no recovery.

Another test was run at 10,376-546 feet. The tool was open one and one-half hours. Recovery was 150 feet of drilling mud, with no shows of oil, gas or water.

This prospector, 440 feet from south and west lines of section 58, GRR survey, is now shutdown on 10,546 feet for a fishing job.

More Exploration Is Slated For Chapman

Location was made for a new project in the two-producer Chapman field of North Reeves County by Delaware Basin Oil Company of Midland.

It is to be that concern's No. 1 TXL, located 330 feet from south and 990 feet from east lines of section 39, block 57, T-2, TP survey, about 10 miles southwest of the town of Orla.

Starting at once with cable tools, the project is to explore 3,200 feet in an attempt to make production from the Delaware lime.

Two Nolan Wildcats Hit Dry Ellenburger

The Ellenburger of Nolan County yielded no production for two wildcats and both have given up prospecting the deep zone.

In the northeast portion of the county, three miles southwest of the town of Trent, American Trading & Production Corporation has plugged and abandoned its No. 1 H. W. Beckham, bottomed on 5,885 feet after a water recovery on a drillstem test.

The investigation was at 5,770-5,885 feet, showing 3,200 feet of sulphur water. Top of the Ellenburger was called on 5,705 feet.

The dry hole is 330 feet from north and east lines of section 37, block 20, TP survey. This well was originally started by A. G. Hill.

The other deep failure is Fred M. Manning, Inc., No. 1 R. C. Watt, wildcat one and one-half miles southwest of Hylton, in the southeast part of the country, 990 feet from east and 1,980 feet from south lines of section 192, block 64, H&TC survey.

This prospector drilled to 6,147 feet in the Ellenburger and found sulphur water with a slight gas show.

It is now reported unofficially to be testing shallower indications drilled through.

Banquet—

sales indicate an attendance of more than 200 persons. Weather conditions may cut attendance from neighboring cities, he said, but most of the reservations are from Midland.

The affair will be informal and is open to both men and women.

Mayor R. H. (Rusty) Gifford will lead the group singing of "America," and the Rev. Vernon Yearby, pastor of the First Baptist Church, will give the invocation.

Officers and directors for the year will be elected following a report by Chairman John P. Butler of the Nominating Committee.

A special feature of the entertainment program will be the singing of several selections by the famed South Plains Male Quartet of Lamesa. Members of the group Tuesday morning advised Downing they will be on hand for the event.

Special guests and out-of-city visitors will be introduced by T. Paul Barron. Bill Collyns will present awards to the "Top Wranglers" of 1948.

Members of the General Meetings Committee, Jack Wicker, chairman, will serve as greeters and ushers.

Mr. and Mrs. Ryan arrived here Sunday from Washington and are the guests of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Montgomery.

Hollywood Quickie Romance Is Cooled By Deep Freeze

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD— Hollywood has thawed out and cornflakes got back their jobs doubling for snow. But a Hollywood elopement, thwarted by snow-blocked roads, is still in a deep freeze. Guy Madison and Gail Russell left a party for Las Vegas and a quick marriage. Snow-blocked roads forced them to return to Hollywood. Next day they decided it wasn't such a good idea after all and now they're saying they'll wait for Spring.

And who said Errol Flynn isn't publicity conscious? That stunt of flying in a helicopter to the set of "Forsyte Saga" from his hilltop home (because of the snow) was his own idea. And he paid for the helicopter!

Margaret O'Brien just celebrated her 12th birthday and the awkward age is just around the corner. Her M-G-M contract has one more year to go and then, says her mother, "We'll let Margaret decide what she wants to do—continue in pictures or concentrate on school. Maybe she can do both."

Margaret's latest, "The Secret Garden," is being hailed as a "Rebecca" with kids and her leading man, 15-year-old Brian Roper, as a red-haired James Mason.

M-G-M Waits For Stork

No truth to those reports that M-G-M and Esther Williams are tiffing. The stories that the studio wants to rush her into another movie before she has her baby (in August) just aren't true. M-G-M may be shooting background scenes for the film "The Duchess of Idaho," in Sun Valley right now, but they'll wait for Esther to become a mama before she goes to work.

Keenan Wynn landed in the doghouse at M-G-M when he failed to show up the day he was supposed to start work in "That Midnight Kiss." But they forgave him when they discovered he was having a midnight kiss of his own—following his elopement with Betty Butler. Keenan shaved his mustache for the picture's kiss, not the wedding's.

This is Hollywood, Mrs. Jones—The head man of a valley studio insists that all of his contract writers must be in their offices by 9 o'clock every morning. There's a spy who reports if they're late. A curt memo comes from the boss if they are.

Recently a writer turned in a new script and the head man called him to his office and said: "This is the worst script I ever read. What happened?"

"I don't know," said the writer, blankly, "I was in my office every morning at 9 o'clock."

Thirty-two—count 'em — snow layouts are headed for the fan magazines. But they won't be printed for three months and then it'll be 85 in the shade . . . Eleanor Parker and Warner Brothers finally kissed and made up. She's been on suspension for several months.
