

Slate Field Tour
For Experimental
Tests in County

A field tour of on-the-farm experiments being carried out in cooperation with the Extension Service and Texas A&M College in Collingsworth county is slated for Monday, September 16, to give farmers, business people, and others interested a first hand view of what this program is doing.

Five farms will be visited, Dwayne Scott, co-ordinator, said, as plans were being completed. He and County Agent Lefty Thomas will be in charge.

Those making the tour will assemble at the court house at 1:30 p. m. The motorcade will go first to the John Brim Farm six miles south of Wellington, where they will see dry-land plots of experimental grain sorghums, planted for variety test, also sorghum alum and sweet sudan.

The Elvis Crawley farm at the old Fresno Gin location will be the next stop, for an observation of grain sorghum variety tests under irrigation.

A bindweed control experiment will be visited at the G. R. Lewis farm, a mile east and a mile north of the Crawley place, on Highway 336.

From there the group will go to the Zook Thomas farm in Lillie community to see cotton under irrigation and fertilization tests.

The last stop will be at the Woodrow Wilson farm in the same area for a study of johnson grass control in cotton.

"If anyone on the tour would like to visit any other of the experiments we have under way, we will be glad to take them," Scott said. "The experimental plots we visit are only part of those we have under way, but we feel that a half-day tour is enough for this time of year."

Dies Unexpectedly
At Home Friday

J. M. Homer, 72-year-old retired farmer, died suddenly at his country home two and a half miles southeast of town at 10:15 a. m. Friday, August 30. He had been in ill health for the last four years, but his death came unexpectedly.

Mr. Homer came to the county 42 years ago from Burk Burnett.

Funeral services were held at West Avenue Church of Christ Sunday at 3 p. m. with Minister Paul Lusby of Amarillo officiating. Pall bearers were A. D. Holliman, L. A. Gilmore, J. D. Gibson, Frank Thomason, John Jackson, Dick Little, Charles Little and L. A. Davis.

Burial was in North Wellington cemetery under the direction of Kelso Funeral Home.

James Marvin Homer was born September 26, 1884, in Montgomery, Ala. After coming to Texas, he lived in the Hico area. He was married at that town to Miss Lillie Finley on November 26, 1905.

Surviving are his wife; four sisters and three brothers: Mrs. Molly Patterson of Lamesa; Mrs. Edna Patterson of Hico; Mrs. Ersie Pardon of Stephenville; Mrs. Mamie Jordan of Amarillo; John Homer and Walter Homer of Hereford and Norman Homer of Salinas, Calif.

How Will They Meet that Speed?

Rockets Open Season Against Whirlwinds at Floydada Friday

One of the strongest Rocket first teams of recent years take the field Friday night, September 6, to open the season against the Floydada Whirlwinds at Floydada. Game time is 8 p. m.

"We're optimistic on this first team. Other than lack of speed, it's as good as anybody's club," Head coach John Hurley declared this week.

But neither coaches, players nor fans know what to expect in Coach Preston Watson's Floydada boys Friday night. They are rated as one of the finest AA ball clubs on the Plains, and Coach Watson has almost all of his last year's ball club back.

The Whirlwinds have one thing the Rockets lack — speed! And for this one reason, the Rockets think it to be a tough, tough ball game.

But the Rockets look all right themselves.

Coaches Hurley and Lindsey have 14 seniors on their team, and from this group Tank Forrester is playing his fourth year of varsity ball. There are five three-year men, Pat Wilkins, Cloyce Scarberry, Randall Raburn, Richard Carter and Jerry Elbert.

Hurley Tuesday night named his probable starters: Elbert and Raburn at end; Glen Warrick and Harry White, tackles; Forrester and Richard Carter, guards; Scarberry, center; Pat Wilkins, quarterback; Farris Wood and Carroll Nunneley, half backs; and Charles Welch, fullback.

The strong point of this eleven is experience, and their coaches are aiming at a team that will handle its opponents speed by stopping it before it gets started.

For this season, Elbert was shifted from backfield to end. Both White and Warrick are new as starters, as White was a reserve center last year and Warrick was on the second team.

Nunneley, Welch and Wood saw considerable action throughout last season. This year's Rocket line averages 182 pounds and the backfield 177. This gives a little more weight in the backfield, but the line is about the same as the 1956 Rocket edition.

"Our greatest weakness is lack of speed, especially breakaway speed that you can count on," Coach Hurley declared.

"Another weakness is our reserve or depth. We feel like this first team is a fine ball club, but so far, the reserves haven't come through so that we can feel we have much depth. If we got a couple of sprained ankles, we've had it."

Hurley and Lindsey are carrying 27 men on the varsity squad this year, and an additional 20 to 25 boys are on the B team.

Illness of Several Months Fatal to
Mrs. W. H. Kutch

Mrs. W. H. Kutch of Kelley community died Sunday, September 1, at 9:10 a. m. in St. Joseph's Hospital. She had been in failing health through the spring and summer months.

Funeral services were held Tuesday, at 2 p. m. at First Baptist Church, Wellington, with the Rev. Bill Hendricks of Fort Worth and the Rev. Russell Pogue, Wellington, officiating. Burial was in North Wellington cemetery under the direction of Kelso Funeral Home.

Pall bearers, all neighbors and life-long friends, were Tom Birchfield, J. W. White, Lee White, Austin White, Bob Hightower and Walter Camp.

Mrs. Kutch was the former Della Lou Kelley, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Kelley, one of the first families to settle in the Kelley community. She was born there January 6, 1901. Later she lived in Wheeler county, and was married at Wheeler to W. H. Kutch on July 20, 1925.

Devoted first of all to her family, Mrs. Kutch was known for her qualities as a mother and as a homemaker. She was especially interested in seeing that her children received the education each desired.

In her home community she was valued as a neighbor, and known for her help in cases of illness or with those who were unfortunate.

Mrs. Kutch was a long-time member of South Baptist Church, Dodson.

Surviving Mrs. Kutch are her husband; four sons and three daughters: Clay Kutch and Hugh Kutch of Glendale, Calif.; Lt. Don Kutch of Ft. Benning, Ga.; Thomas Kutch of Rule; Mrs. Louise Vinson of El Paso; Mrs. Mary Alice Holland of Wellington; Mrs. Mary Shumate of Reno, Nev.

She also has four brothers and a sister: Mrs. O. T. Gordon, Wellington; Ward Kelley of San Leandro, Calif.; Clyde Kelley of Wheeling, W. Va.; Floyd Kelley of Dove Creek, Colorado; and Clayton Kelley of Borger. There are five grandchildren.

Rotary Sponsors
Community-Wide
Chicken Barbecue

A community wide get-together and chicken barbecue will be held at Ellison Park Tuesday night, September 10, sponsored by the Wellington Rotary Club. The barbecue will be served at 7:45 p. m.

Approximately 200 are expected, according to Henry Sullivan, who is helping with arrangements.

"This is just a big get-together for fellowship, eating, and enjoying the evening," he declared.

It is also a benefit event. All Rotarians are selling tickets, and part of the proceeds will go toward the club's contribution to the community building air conditioning fund. The remainder goes into the Rotary Welfare Fund.

The traditional barbecue supper of chicken, beans, apricots, potato salad, pickles, onions and drinks will be served. The meal will be prepared by Sandy Parsons Jr., Woodrow Wood, Hershel Tyler, Henry Sullivan and Robert Lewis.

"We're using genuine hickory logs for the barbecuing, and you can be sure this will be a special treat," Sullivan said.

Mrs. Calvin Aaron will prepare the remainder of the meal.

Dr. J. M. Orr, president, and Fred Squires, the immediate past president, will serve as the welcoming committee.

Exhibit Show
Calves Saturday

A calf grooming and washing for 4-H and FFA boys who will exhibit in the State Line Free Fair in Shamrock September 13 and 14 will be held at the Farmers Co-op Gin Saturday at 9 a. m., county agent Lefty Thomas announced.

This will give local supporters of boys work an opportunity to see the kind of show stock to expect in fairs and shows this year.

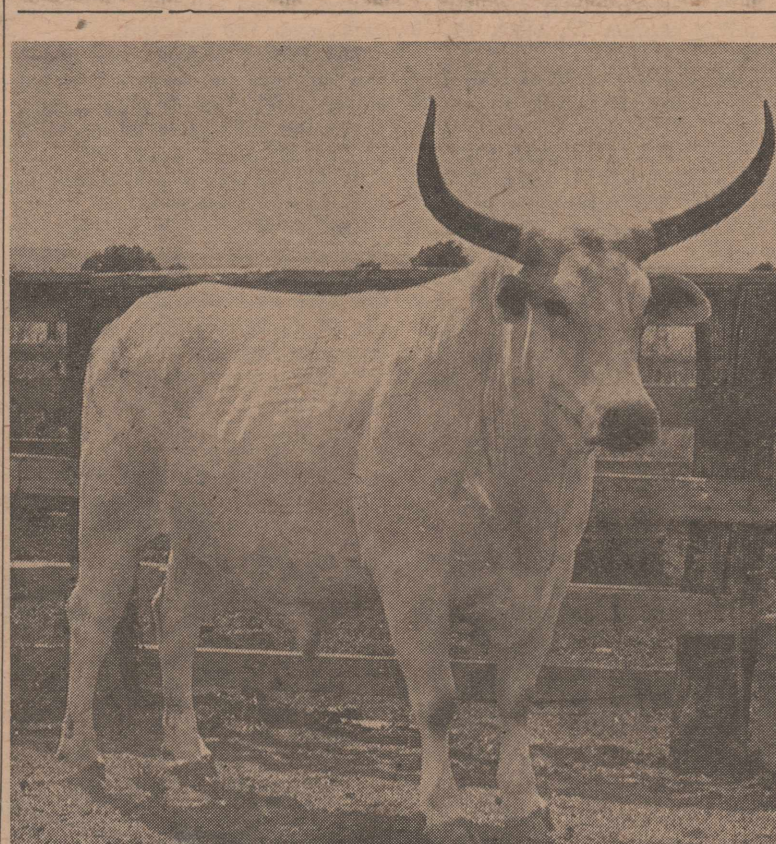

All boys planning to take animals to Shamrock are urged to be at the gin Saturday. Thomas will give pointers on showmanship and preparing the calves for exhibit.

Pound Steer Auctioned

Two steers from the Louis Tittle's Lost Creek Ranch in Northeast Collingsworth, weighing 1900 and 1810 pounds, were sold at the Wellington Livestock Sales last week. They were bought by Rusty Henard and are the largest ever sold through the local auction ring.

Both steers were of half-brahma breeding. The larger, 7 years old, is a blue steer that is half brahma and half jersey; the other, a six-year old brown, is half brahma and half Texas Longhorn. They are part of a herd of both Brahmas and Texas Longhorns. Tittle keeps at his ranch as a hobby, along with several buffalo that are as tame as buffalo get to be.

E. L. Favor lives at the ranch and is in charge of the herd.

The two stood 15 hands tall and each horn was approximately 30 inches in length. Their physical characteristics are more those of Swearingen community, in the southwest part of the county, opened the 1957 cotton season when two bales were delivered to Wellington Gins Tuesday, September 3.

Bringing in the first bale of the season was H. C. Stout, who delivered his cotton to the Wellington Gin at 6:30 p. m. Tuesday, and it was ginned immediately afterward, Manager Alonzo Cartwright reported.

An hour and a half later, about 8 p. m., Alva Adcock, who lives immediately north of the Swearingen school house, brought a bale to the Farmers Co-op Gin. Since the first bale was already out, Adcock's cotton was ginned Wednesday morning, Dick Sweat, manager, said.

A check with other gins in the south part of the county showed no other cotton had been delivered.

Stout was due to bring in his second bale Wednesday, and he told Cartwright he had another bale or two open in the 50 acre field from which he pulled the first one.

Stout brought in 1900 pounds of seed cotton and got an even 500 pound bale, with 820 pounds of seed. Cartwright said he believed the cotton would grade strict middling 29/32. He was checking the price of cotton as The Wellington Leader went to press, but said Stout would be paid a premium price.

The Swearingen last year tried to retire, but he changed his mind, has western storm-proof variety, planted around May 1.

Adcock brought in 1830 pounds of seed cotton, and got a 506 pound bale with 830 pounds of seed.

Sweat said he believed the cotton would grade middling 29/32, and as is the custom with the Co-op, it's first bale was ginned free.

Both bales of the Swearingen community cotton was described as fully matured and not burned. Dodson, which frequently gins the first bale of the county, has had none delivered, although several farmers in that vicinity have reported they have a bale or more open in the field.

Ginning probably will open up there next week, the Dodson Farmers Co-op Gin reported.

It was added that insect damage appears to be letting up this week, and farmers are not poisoning as much as 10 days ago. It was pointed out, however, that this may be in the 5 to 7 day period in which the worms web up, and the damage may start again.

Landslide Vote
Of Approval Given
Dam Proposal

Voters of the seven towns that make up the Greenbelt Municipal and Industrial Water Authority secured the water rights on Salt Fork River by the overwhelming "yes" vote in the confirmation election Saturday, August 31.

A total of 1,388 votes were cast in favor of the Authority and only 52 against. The Wellington vote was 182 for the authority and 2 against.

This approval does two specific things: it secures the water rights on Salt Fork which would have expired on May 12, 1958, thereby giving the member towns of the Authority more time to study the possibility and feasibility of a dam; and it makes legal the Water Authority, which heretofore has been only a committee, in spite of the name.

The next step toward securing the dam has not been announced, (Continued on back page)

Caving Well
Muddies Water

Muddy water that has bothered housewives during the last 10 days was caused by caving in a city well, Bura Handley, city manager, reported.

The well had been in use for 8 or 10 years and had given no trouble previously, he said, consequently the entire water system was saturated with the muddy water before it was discovered.

City workmen have been trying to clear up the water by flushing the mains.

Tittle Outlines Plans

Renew Work on US
Highway Designation

A renewal of effort to get designation as U. S. Highway 366 for Texas Highway 203 through Wellington and Oklahoma Highway 9 has come on the initiative of the Oklahoma State Highway Commission.

Louis Tittle of Mangum, a member of that body, said in Wellington recently that the Commission recommended that the Oklahoma State Highway Department take the matter up with the highway commission of Texas and Arkansas and that they make another request for federal designation to the American Highway Association.

The recommendation was made to C. A. Stoldt, director of the Oklahoma Highway Department.

Mr. Tittle has been a leader in the move to get federal designation for this route, beginning at Amarillo and extending to Memphis, Tenn.

Mr. Tittle was optimistic that federal designation would come with the next application. "We are bringing Highway 9 up to standard as fast as we can," he said.

Federal designation of the route from Amarillo to Memphis, Tenn., would be only the beginning of work toward extending the route at each end until it reaches from the Atlantic to the Pacific. That is in the thinking of the Oklahoma State Highway Commission Tittle

Soil Bank Base Crops Listed For County

"The new 'Soil Bank Base' provision of the 1958 Acreage Reserve program should be thoroughly understood by farmers before they sign agreements to take part in the winter wheat Acreage Reserve program," Travis McGuire, chairman of the Collingsworth County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, said today.

"Each farm taking part in the winter wheat Acreage Reserve will have a Soil Bank base for it, based primarily on the average acreage of land devoted to the Soil Bank Base crops during the past 2 years — 1956 and 1957," the Chairman explained. "The 'base' crops will include the 'basic' crops — such as corn, wheat and cotton — and such other crops as the grains, annual grasses cut for seed, oil-seeds, cowpeas, potatoes, commercial vegetables field and canning peas and beans."

The Soil Bank base must be established for the farm before the producer can sign a winter wheat Acreage Reserve agreement, according to Mr. McGuire. Information on which the "base" is figured should be supplied to the County ASC Committee at least 15 days before October 4 — the end of the sign-up period.

Provision is made for appeals to county and State ASC offices if a producer is not satisfied with the Soil Bank base established for his farm.

Requirements under the 1958 winter wheat Acreage Reserve program include:

(1) Reducing wheat acreage below the farm's acreage allotment; (2) limiting the harvest of Soil Bank base crops to a "permitted acreage" (in general, the Soil Bank base less the number of acres in the Soil Bank); (3) controlling erosion on the land, where this is necessary.

Farmers who participate in the 1958 winter wheat Acreage Reserve program will receive payments on the "reserved" land based on the county average rate of $12.02 per acre, but varying primarily according to the relative productivity of the land. The individual farm per-acre rates have been mailed to all wheat producers with "old farm" allotments.

Deck's DIDACTICS

—By Deskins Wells

I have a chance to go watch the explosion of an atomic bomb; but I don't see how I can get away what with wanting to dig another irrigation well next year and the banker breathing down my neck and the best season of the year for "trying" to make some money coming up. But I sure would like to go and if it were the beginning of summer instead of the start of fall I would be on my way.

I suppose that I know less about the atomic bomb and nuclear fission than anybody in Collingsworth County provided they so much as finished high school. My trip with the Navy a few years ago convinced me that there is no quicker way to learn than to go on a trip with a group of experienced reporters and editors. Up until that time I knew very little about NATO (The North Atlantic Treaty Organization). Since then I have read every story about it that I came across for it is the principal reason that Russia has not expanded farther to the West.

A Farm Bureau bulletin says: "The Soil Bank appears to have attracted investment capital to the farm belt, but not necessarily for farming. Large tracts can be bought up to be put into the 'bank' at a profit that does not come from hoeing corn or milking cows. Farm relief is supported to help the struggling family farmer. But he needs all his small holdings to scratch out a living and can't afford to let the land lie idle.

On the national level it seems that the Farm Bureau is much of the same opinion as Benson—the family sized farm is on its way out. Bigtime corporate agriculture can stand on its own feet so this bulletin of the Farm Bureau says. They seem to have given up on the idea of maintaining farming as a way of life. Listen to this: "The big problem is to help the little fellow through this trying period until he can become a big fellow or quit farming altogether and find a job in town." You should bear in mind that this is not the thinking of many members in Texas; but it is the thinking on the national level and it is sent out by the Texas Farm Bureau.

This may be true. It has been a trend since 1933. All I can say is that it will be a sad day for America when the family sized farm disappears.

The Texas Tech Press has published a most readable book on Southwest Conference football. It was written by Harold V. Ratliff, veteran A.P. sports writer who has covered over 250 games in his notable career. It is a remarkably well balanced book as far as the space and attention it devotes to each team is concerned. It is filled with names and pictures and recreates thrilling moments of the great games.

According to my biased opinion, it does not mention enough of the greats of The University of Texas and it goes somewhat overboard in lauding A&M, TCU, Baylor, etc. With the exception of this flaw the book is excellent in every detail and it contains many anecdotes of the coaches and players of other years.

There was one story I liked above the others. That was the tale about how Frank Kimbrough (now coach at West Texas State) halted the Texas Longhorns on a sure drive to the Rose Bowl. He was coach at Baylor then. In my opinion Frank Kimbrough got something of a raw deal at Baylor. If he had been retained, I am one of those who believe that he might have compiled a record in the Southwest Conference similar to D. X. Bible, Dutch Myer, and Matty Bell. Oh well, so much for the final whistles that have blown and Mr. Ratliff's interesting book. If I were a young man and had to have a football scholarship in order to attend college I would check on what Frank Kimbrough has to offer at West Texas State. He is as fine a man as ever coached football in Texas.

Dallas retail stores were open on Labor Day. They sized up the situation and realized that all of the small towns and medium sized cities would close; so they decided to stay open. The Dallas Morning News puts it this way: "Stores in small towns around Dallas will be closed, channelling many of their customers into the city to shop."

That reminds me of the time Wellington closed on Saturday the day after Christmas. I was so amazed at the stupidity I took my family to Fort Worth. Stores in Childress, Vernon, Wichita Falls and Fort Worth were crowded trying to get in to the after-Christmas Sales.

Doris Caldwell has redone her hair a la Hollywood and is now a striking blond; but she is getting herself talked about. Last week she and Charlie drove to their farm south of Hollis to see about the cantaloupes. The wife of the tenant took one look and rushed back in to tell her husband: "Charlie is out there with some woman. It is not Doris. She is a blond."

Dear Deck:

On behalf of myself as Commander of the VFW Post, and on behalf of the Teenage Canteen Committee and the VFW Post as a whole, I wish to express our thanks to the Teenagers of this City and County for their splendid conduct and cooperation at the Canteen at its opening. If teenagers as a whole in this wonderful country of ours are as thoughtful and as capable of accepting responsibilities as those we have come in contact with, then certainly the future of our nation will be in capable hands.

Although there has been statements made concerning the different things the teenagers do, such as speeding, risking life and limb and etc., we wish to express our appreciation for their conduct while attending the Teenage Canteen.

Miss Betty Karnes Weds Wayne Brasell In Ceremony at First Baptist Church

First Baptist Church was the setting for the wedding of Miss Betty Jeanette Karnes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Karnes, to Harold Wayne Brasell, Dyess Air Force Base, Abilene, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Brasell, Lubbock, on Saturday, August 31, at six o'clock in the evening.

The Rev. Russell Pogue performed the double ring ceremony. The wedding party stood before an arch of jade. On either side, extending across the altar, were lighted candelabra entwined with plumose fern, holding lighted cathedral tapers. The satin-covered prie dieu completed the arrangement.

Music was provided by Miss Barbara Carver of Munday, organist, who also accompanied Miss Yvonne Peterson of Stamford, as she sang "You'll Never Walk Alone", "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer".

Mr. Karnes gave his daughter in marriage.

She wore a bridal gown of imported French lace and satin, designed with an empire waistline. The lace bodice was made with a batteau neckline, finished in scallops that were outlined with seed pearls and iridescent sequins, and the long fitted sleeves came to points over her hands. Appliques of matching lace, accented with pearls and sequins, were set in the circular fullness of the skirt, which swept to a chapel train. Her veil of French tulle fell from a tiara of pearls and rhinestones, and she carried a colonial bouquet of red roses, tied with white satin streamers.

Miss Colleen Wolfe of Jermyn was maid of honor, while Miss Patsy Woolever of Snyder was bridesmaid and Linda Karnes, sister of the bride, was junior bridesmaid. Their identical dresses of blue crystaletta over taffeta were made with sabrina necklines, torso bodices coming to points at the front, and cap sleeves. The full skirts were waltz length. Their mits were of white lace. The attendants wore white lace picture hats, while the junior attendants wore a blue bandeau. Each carried one long-stemmed red rose.

Dick Parsons of Fort Worth was best man, and Dave Norton of Oshkosh, Wisconsin, was groomsman. The junior groomsman was Rex Brasell, Lubbock, brother of the bridegroom.

Lighting the candles were Miss Shirley Hewlett of Wilson and Miss Mary Moore of Fortales, N. M. Their dresses matched those of the other attendants, and their headpieces were of white feathered carnations. Elaine Karnes, younger sister of the bride, was flower girl. Her white organza dress over taffeta was made similar to those of the other attendants, and she dropped rose petals from an inverted net parasol.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Karnes wore a navy nylon dress with white accessories and a corsage of white flowers.

The reception was held in the home of the bride's parents at 1301 East Avenue.

Mrs. Joe Raburn of Dumas and Miss Dixie Hewlett, of Wilson, alternated at serving the wedding cake, and Miss Juanita Brasell, Lubbock, and Mrs. Wilbur Tillman, Amarillo, were at the punch service. Mrs. Spencer Coleman, Albuquerque, N. M., registered the guests.

As the couple left for their new home, 1334 Vogel Avenue, Abilene, the bride was wearing a sheath dress and matching bolero of navy nubbed cotton. Her accessories were red and her corsage was red roses.

Mrs. Brasell was graduated from Wellington high school in 1954 and is a senior in Hardin Simmons University Abilene. She is a member of Alpha Chi, honorary scholastic fraternity, and last year was president of the college YWA. The bridegroom was graduated from Birdville high school, Fort Worth, where he was an outstanding athlete. He is now serving in the Air Force, assigned to Dyess Air Force Base, Abilene.

Miss Eliece Killingsworth is Bride of Donald Hiatt in Denton Church Ceremony

A candlelight ceremony in Welch Street Church of Christ, Denton, on August 29, united in marriage Miss Eliece Killingsworth, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Killingsworth, 909 Maple Street, Denton, and Don Hiatt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Hiatt, 104 Ninth Street, Wellington.

Min. Leslie E. Freiley, Fort Worth, performed the double ring ceremony.

Palms and double baskets of white gladioli were on either side of the candlelit altar, to form the setting for the rites. Wedding music was by Bob Burgoon and Miss G'Nevelyn Turnicliiff of Denton, who sang "Whither Thou Goest", and "O Promise Me". Background numbers were by a chorus from the church.

Mr. Killingsworth gave his daughter in marriage.

Her gown of re-embroidered Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over bridal satin was made with a fitted bodice of lace, which was accented with seed pearls at the scalloped neckline. Miniature lace covered buttons closed the bodice at the back, as well as the long sleeves that came to petal points over her hands. The bouffant skirt of alternating panels of lace and tulle extended into a chapel train. Her veil of illusion was worn over a bridal hat of lace-over-satin, and fell to fingertip length. The bride carried a cascade bouquet of lilies of the valley and frenched carnations, centered with a white orchid.

Miss Mary Jane Hiatt, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor and Miss Loretta Waide, Denton, was the bridesmaid. They wore dresses of pink silk crystalline over taffeta, fashioned with fitted bodices and bouffant street-length skirts. They carried nosegays of pink frenched carnations.

Calvin Hiatt of Wellington was his brother's best man, while Dub Slater Jr., Dawson, was usher.

Candles were lighted by Dan Hiatt and James Killingsworth, brothers of the couple.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Killingsworth wore a mauve lace dress over taffeta, with matching accessories, while Mrs. Hiatt chose a dress of pastel pink with pink accessories. Their corsages were gardenias.

The reception was held in the Women's Club Building.

The bride's table was covered with a white nylon cloth centered with a four-tiered wedding cake. The floral arrangement was in pink and white. Miss Turnicliiff played piano selections during the reception, using the couple's favorite music. Mrs. Lois Killingsworth and Mrs. Daisy Masch, cousins of the bride, served the cake and poured punch, and Miss Lona Beck, another cousin, registered the guests. * REPORT

Dear Editor:

I get confused all the time about the ruckus in Washington over whether civil rights lawbreakers ought to be tried by juries.

My copy of the Constitution says all citizens have a right to a jury trial whenever they are found of the law, but it seems Congress has decided to pacify a few key voters by making an exception to this rule.

While they are picking out parts of the Constitution to be ignored, they might study the provision which says Congressmen are entitled to pay for their work. Pushing this one aside would please even more taxpaying voters.

My sober neighbor says it is not news to him even if he did read it in the newspapers that you can tell a citizen's character by the way he drives a car.

Says, for instance, a man drives his car when he is drunk and it's a sign that he judges the human race by himself and therefore can't think much of people, nor care how many of same he kills.

And when a man drives like he had a franchise on the road, a reasonable assumption is that his mother was frightened by a blind bull.

I see where the Defense Department has decided to make the sacrifice and try to live within its income of $38 billion this year.

The gold braid is cutting down on lots of non-essential items, such as weapons, soldiers, etc., in order to satisfy its tightwad taxpayers.

But, of course, they won't jeopardize the country's security by cutting down on the real vital items, such as maple dance floors for officers' clubs, and ceramic tiled boiler houses and barracks.

Don't hear much comment around about Bermuda shorts for men this summer, like was the subject of much semi-humorous talk last year.

May be that in the cities these items are so common now that folks have got used to them like they seem to have got reconciled to bullfighter britches on women.

But the Bermuda shorts had never made much headway around here. Too many farmers, I guess, and this garment just don't hardly seem like the right costume for riding a tractor, climbing a barbed wire fence, or going to the bank to get a note renewed.

I see some comment in the papers about how Russia don't seem to have noticed that the U. S. government picked up their Colonel Abel as a spy.

Maybe they are kind of like the U. S. Army which sends out soldiers to foreign countries and if one of them gets in trouble with the natives, they just charge him off.

But my sour neighbor says Russia probably is not much worried

I see where the Commerce Department has noticed that consumers are showing some buyer resistance to high prices.

Now I am one of the folks who has let up on buying here lately, but I hate for the Commerce boys to think it is because I am getting contrary and trying to kick the props out from under the national economy.

Just want them to know that any resistance which I put up against buying a new car, etc., is my banker's fault and is strictly second-hand resistance.

Oklahoma Road To Connect with FM 1439 Sought

A survey has been asked for a road in Oklahoma that would connect Oklahoma Highway 30 with FM Highway 1439, which now extends from Lutie east nine miles to Needwood school house, Louis Tittle, member of the Oklahoma State Highway Commission, said during a recent Wellington visit.

This survey will determine the route and make an estimate of the cost of construction and surfacing.

Floyd Carter, Commissioner of Precinct 1 Harmon county is taking the lead in getting the road.

Highway 30 is 5 miles east of the Oklahoma State Line.

The proposed route would be half way between US Highway 66 and State Highway 203.

Highway 30 Tittle pointed out now runs from Hollis to Erick, but it has been surveyed north to Durham, Oklahoma.

County roads now lead from the end of Highway 1439 northward to Texola and east and south into the Shinnery community.

Band Parents Plan for Year's Objectives

The Band Parents met September 2, with twenty-one members present. The new officers for the 1957-58 school term are, Donald Curry, president; Rufus Sweat, vice-president, Mrs. Clark Anderson, secretary and treasurer.

The meeting opened with a resume of the last year's work. The treasurer reported more than five thousand dollars spent on equipment for the band during the past year. This money was raised by the members by various fund raising activities and by private subscription.

The president outlined plans for permanent new objectives for the coming year and the establishment of permanent funds for the future needs of the band.

Doyle McElroy, band instructor, reported two new horns purchased by the school. These are horns whose cost is prohibitive for the average parent. The Band Club agreed to buy one other horn and to provide marching lights for the band. With their new uniforms, new instruments and lights the Wellington High School and Junior High bands should present a very smart appearance.

Rules for the buses on band trips are that riders will be confined to members of the band, sponsors and teachers.

The following Committee Chairmen were appointed: Sandwiches, Mrs. Elbert; bus riders, Mrs. Sweat; hot chocolate, Mrs. Coleman; hot dogs, Mrs. Curry; stand workers, Mrs. Singley; pop corn, Mrs. Bailey and Mrs. Morris; programs, Mrs. Hill; coffee, King Bowen.

The next meeting will be Monday, October 7, at 7:30 in the Band Room. A card reminder will be sent before the date.

Biggest Steers—

brahma than either jersey or longhorn.

Title acquired the foundation for his Longhorn herd in 1945, from the Wildlife Refuge in the Wichita Mountains.

He now keeps 15 cows and two bulls. In addition, he has two steers and two good calves. Only the best calves are kept.

The longhorns at Lost Creek Ranch are handled like any other cattle. With their longer bodies and longer legs, they can travel longer to get to water, and graze farther from water than can beef breeds such as Herefords and Angus. They endure cold, and probably drouth, better than do other breeds.

The two cross-bred steers that Title sold last week were grass fattened.

"They are fatter than the straight longhorns, and I believe they put on weight as well as a white face," he said.

Title now lives in Mangum and is a member of the Oklahoma State Highway Commission, but he, with his family came to Lost Creek Ranch in 1900 from Granite, buying the land from Henry Russell. They had been running cattle in the Kiowa country until it was opened to settlement.

For the last eight years, Title has been building a herd of black Angus, which he prefers to the Herefords he formerly raised.

Schools Enroll 754 to Date

Enrollment in the Wellington schools reached 754 Tuesday evening, September 3, and a few additional students are expected through the remainder of the week, Supt. Bennett Goodloe said.

High school enrollment is 230, up about 20 from last year, Maxey McKnight, principal said. Junior high enrollment is 149, down a little from last year, but elementary school, with 375 students, is about the same, Goodloe said.

Toy Department In City Store

A complete new toy department has been added to Wellington Hardware and Furniture, Sam Adams, manager, announced this week.

In buying for the department, Adams said that the wishes of Wellington boys and girls was the guide. Attention was given to every age group, and both the traditionally loved toys and modern new entertainers were included in the collection.

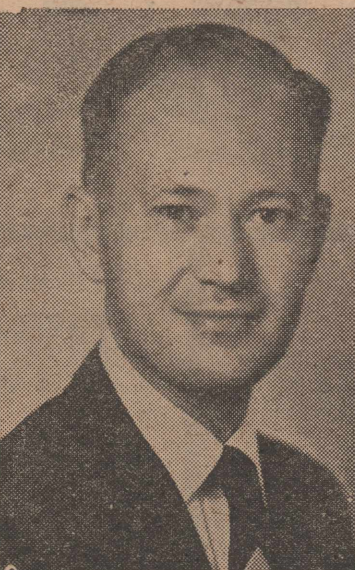

The opening of the department is scheduled for Saturday, September 7.

Jack Tarter of Dallas spent the Labor Day week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jake Tarter.

Funeral Thursday—

was reared by his grandmother.

After working in Dallas county, and feeling he would never get ahead, Mr. Loter came west to Collingsworth when he was 19 and began work for A. R. Beck at $15 a month. He recalled in later years that the one-room house was crowded, and for two years he slept outside, covering with a tarpaulin, and thinking nothing of getting up to shake off the snow.

He next worked for the Rocking Chair Ranch at $30 a month. Still later, he was employed as a line rider for the J-Buckle, in Greer county, spending much of his time hunting the big lobo wolves that were a menace to cattle in those years.

About 1897, Mr. Loter filed on a section of land six miles northwest of Wellington in what was to become Cottonwood community. He helped to organize the school district, and the election that made the school possible was held in his home. When the election carried, he gave the land on which the school stood. The building was built with money he and his neighbors contributed, and they did much of the work at night, after they had finished their own labor. He was a member of the first board of trustees.

Mr. Loter and his family continued to call the farm home for 50 years, although after 1917 they spent part of their time in Wellington that their children might have better educational advantages.

On December 24, 1899, Mr. Loter was married to Miss Gertrude Dysart, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Dysart, who came here in 1889. He had been a devoted member of the Church of Christ since 1913.

His wife and six children survive Mr. Loter. The children are John R. Loter, Lordsburg, N. M.; Allen B. Loter, Lubbock; James Wesley Loter, Denver, Colo.; Mrs.

H. L. Langston, Albuquerque, N. M.; Mrs. A. Z. Hays, Abilene; and Mrs. Robert B. Harper, Oklahoma City. There are seven grandchildren and three great-grandchildren. Also surviving are a brother and sister: J. H. Loter of Raymondville and Mrs. W. M. Johnson of Mangum.
