Auto Accident Fatal For Henry C. Barron

A two-car accident three miles north of Silver resulted in the death of Henry C. Barron, 53, of Colorado City Sunday at 8:30 p.m.

Barron was traveling alone in his 1965 Chevrolet at the time of the fatal collision on State Highway 208.

Injured in the other car, a 1965 Chevrolet, was John Shepard of Richardson. A passenger in the auto, Mike Teuvar, of Dallas, escaped the accident almost unscathed.

Sheppard was admitted to Root Memorial Hospital with cuts and bruises. He was released from the hospital Tuesday morning.

Barron was rushed to Colorado City for medical attention, but was dead on arrival at the Root Memorial Hospital.

Shepard and Teuvar, both employees of Sun Oil Co., were traveling in the south-bound lane enroute to Silver.

Barron was driving to Colorado City at the time of the accident when the two vehicles collided.

Highway Patrolman Gerald Baker of Colorado City investigated the accident.

Services held for Barron were held in the First Baptist Church at Coahoma Tuesday at 3 p.m. with the Rev. H. B. Graves officiating. The pastor was assisted by the Rev. Caddo Matthews of the Plainview Baptist Church in Colorado City.

Mr. Barron was an employe of the Tom Aaron Drilling Co. of Midland and had resided in Colorado City for the past four months moving here from Sterling City, Barron and his family were former residents of San Angelo.

Equalization Board Hearings Are Slated

Equalization Board hearing on oil property in the Colorado Independent School District is scheduled for Tuesday at 2 p.m. in City Hall.

Hearings on local property begin at 9 a.m. each morning on June 28, 29 and 30. These sessions will be held in the administration building at Colorado High School.

Frank Wilson Has Statement

Supt. of Schools Frank Wilson asked the Colorado Board of Trustees for a vote of confidence in a surprise move near the end of the group's regular monthly meeting Monday night.

The Board then gave him the backing he asked for in a unanimous expression of confidence.

Board member Curtis Latimer offered the motion which stated that the Board would support the superintendent as long as he is our superintendent and is right.

Ben Sparks gave a second to the motion and the vote was unanimous in favor.

Wilson read his three page statement to the Board shortly before adjournment.

The Superintendent explained that the coming days held many changes for the school system and that teamwork was needed in order to accomplish goals.

Wilson asked to be more involved with the Board on school matters.

In his statement the Superintendent told the Board that there were two choices involved in the matter. One was to give him full support and the other was to purchase the remainder of his contract.

Latimer entered the discussion readily admitting that he had been a critic of the Superintendent, but adding that Wilson had heard all of the criticism first hand in the board meetings.

Latimer told Wilson that he "was not turning off work fast enough."

Following the short discussion of Wilson's statement the motion to give the Superintendent the full support of the board was made by Latimer and unanimously accepted.

Following is the statement made by Supt. Wilson:

"I hold a three year contract with this school system. Two years remain on this contract which was extended as a replacement of an earlier one. All this was done by unanimity."

"Now is the time for all of us to join in one big team. This does not mean that constructive criticism and suggestions will not be welcome at all times."

"The Superintendent's job is to run the schools. It is the Board's job to set and approve policy and support the Superintendent in carrying out the Board's policies."

"Around this we must be united. Let us all pledge ourselves to this end of supporting the Superintendent and his staff so long as he is our Superintendent."

"If, however, the Board is determined not to support the Superintendent, it has one recourse. Buy his contract."

"Then you can select another superintendent."

"Mr. President, I would like action by motion on one of these propositions."

"(1) To support the Superintendent so long as he is our Superintendent and is right."

"(2) To buy his contract."

"I would much prefer the first proposition."

ON INTEGRATION PLAN

System Awaiting Government Okay

School officials in Colorado City are still waiting for approval of the proposed plan of integration presented to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Decision concerning the plan is expected to be forthcoming in the near future from the federal agency in charge of such matters.

New Plan

Under the plan proposed by the local system grades one through the fourth would be fully integrated beginning in the fall term of 1965.

Full integration would come in the fall term of 1966.

Old Plan Too Slow

In the initial plan the school system sought to integrate one grade each year for six years and then integrate the remainder of the system. This was rejected by the federal agency as being too slow.

Current guideline being followed by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare calls for school systems across the nation to integrate a minimum of four grade per year.

The new plan would comply with the minimum request for the first year.

Integration was set in motion in the fall of 1964 in Colorado City when the first grade was completely integrated.

Approval Necessary

Integration plans of all the 27,000 school systems in the United States must be approved before those schools can be eligible to receive federal aid to their programs.

Schools already operating on a fully-integrated basis are being required to certify the fact with the federal government.

Federal funds to vocational agriculture, homemaking, lunchroom, guidance and testing equipment, science, math and foreign language programs will be paid only to schools complying to federal regulations on integration.

$110,000

Under the Elementary and Secondary Act of 1965 passed by Congress, a total of $110,000 in aid would be given to Mitchell County under federal programs.

Integration plans must be approved in order to receive these funds.

Improvements Defray Costs

"I try to produce more out of what I have instead of trying to work more land."

This statement sums up the feeling of Mitchell County rancher and farmer Francis Winn in regard to the improvements in range and cropland he is making on his farm and ranching operation which covers some 5,000 acres in the south part of Mitchell County.

Winn has used root plowing and spraying to a very good advantage in improving a goodly portion of his acreage.

Total of 250 acres has been root plowed and chained to rid the rangeland of the inrestations of mesquite and cacti.

Over 1600 acres have been sprayed in an effort to get the land in shape where native and introduced grasses can be seeded.

The success of the program is much in evidence when walking across the rangeland and finding numerous fields with a good cover of grass some of which stands over knee high to a man.

Speaking of the spraying project on the pastures Winn said, "I could tell as much as 100 percent improvement as soon as the next year."

"There was a tremendous increase in grass in spite of dry conditions."

Seven miles of parallel terracing have been built on the cropland. Winn explained that the parallel type of terraces were much bigger and better built than many of the conventional types of terraces.

Winn has also built four and one half miles of cross fencing in his rangeland area to aid in management of his cattle and sheep.

With this separation of various portions of range, Winn can better control grazing by livestock and keep more accurate records of the production he is getting from his livestock program.

He uses a four pasture system and keeps one pasture lying fallow throughout the year.

In addition to being able to manage his livestock better and cutting down on overgrazing, Winn said that his labor costs were also decreased by putting the livestock in more of a controlled area.

The separation of different livestock units gives him an opportunity to get an accurate check on the performance of individual bulls and cows. At the present time he keeps his cattle herds divided into one bull unit in order to be able to check performance.

Cropland is also used for supplemental grazing on winter and summer annuals.

After drilling one well Winn has also installed one large storage tank from which he pumps water to stick troughs all over his range. This central location gives him an adequate supply of water throughout the year.

Winn is very well impressed on the success of his improvements thus far in the conservation programs. "With the cost price squeeze like it is today, production costs must be kept down," Winn said.

"In this country we have to make use of all the rainfall we receive," Winn noted.

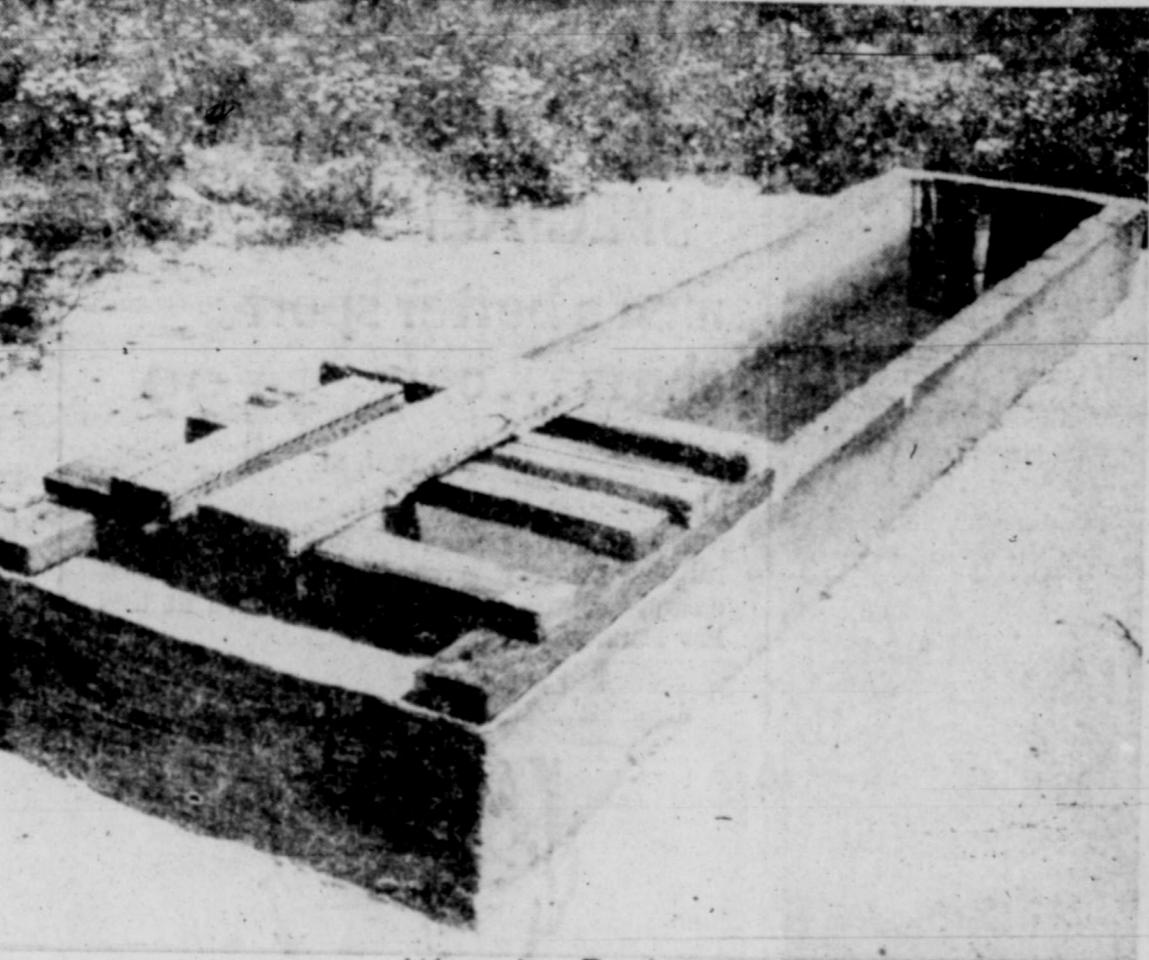

"We must effectively use all phases of our operation."

Winn seems to be doing just that with the success of his program much in evidence.

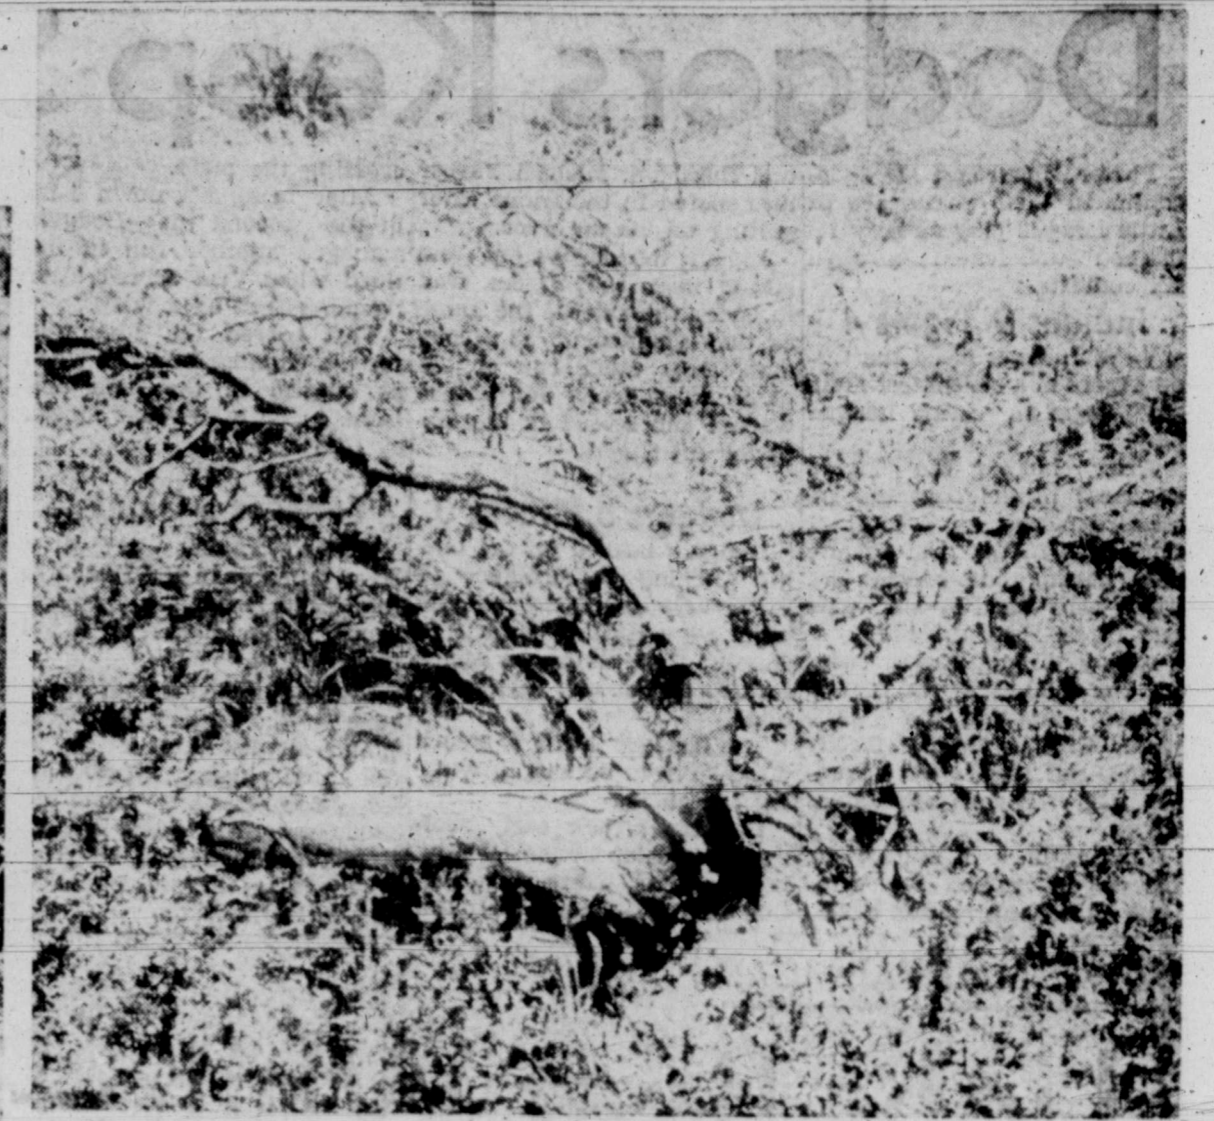

Arizona Cottontop

IN ONE FIELD on the Francis Winn rangeland an extremely fine growth of Arizona Cottontop grass is to be found. The introduced grass is flourishing well in the West Texas soil.

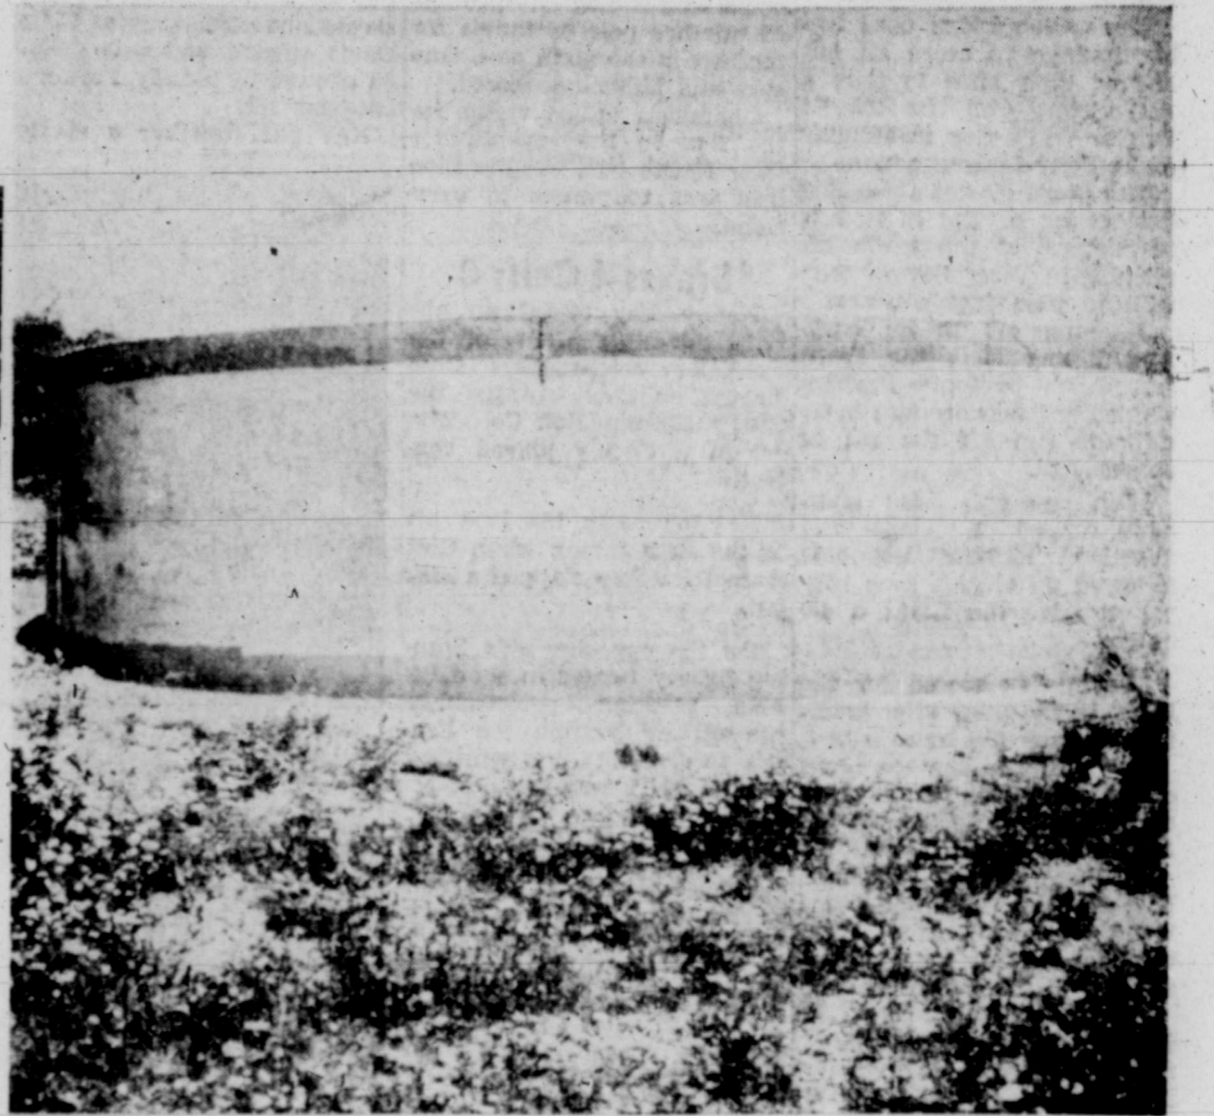

Watering Tank

CONSTRUCTION of a storage tank to keep water from a well drilled under his conservation program affords Winn with adequate water to keep stock watering tanks such as the one pictured furnished with an adequate supply of water.

Old and New

PART OF A MESQUITE STUMP is seen following root plowing on a portion of Winn's rangeland. The old mesquite tree is almost covered by the good cover of grass which has come up since the land was seeded with native and introduced grasses.

Storage Facility

MAIN STORAGE TANK on the Winn rangeland keeps an adequate supply of water available for pumping to various parts of his land. Water is pumped to the tank from a well drilled nearby and then pumped to other locations on the ranch.

News Notes

WESTBROOK — Recent guests of Mrs. C. J. Miller were her sister Miss Ruth Stovall of El Paso, Mr. and Mrs. Elton Donelson and son Jimmy of Post, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Miller of Colorado City, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Miller of Coahoma, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Miller and children of Westbrook.

Mrs. Robert Hutchins and children of Post visited with the Allis Clemmers on Monday afternoon, and in the W. C. Hutchins home Monday night and Tuesday.

Charley Parrish of Coahoma former resident of Westbrook for a number of years, underwent surgery in a Big Spring Hospital Friday.

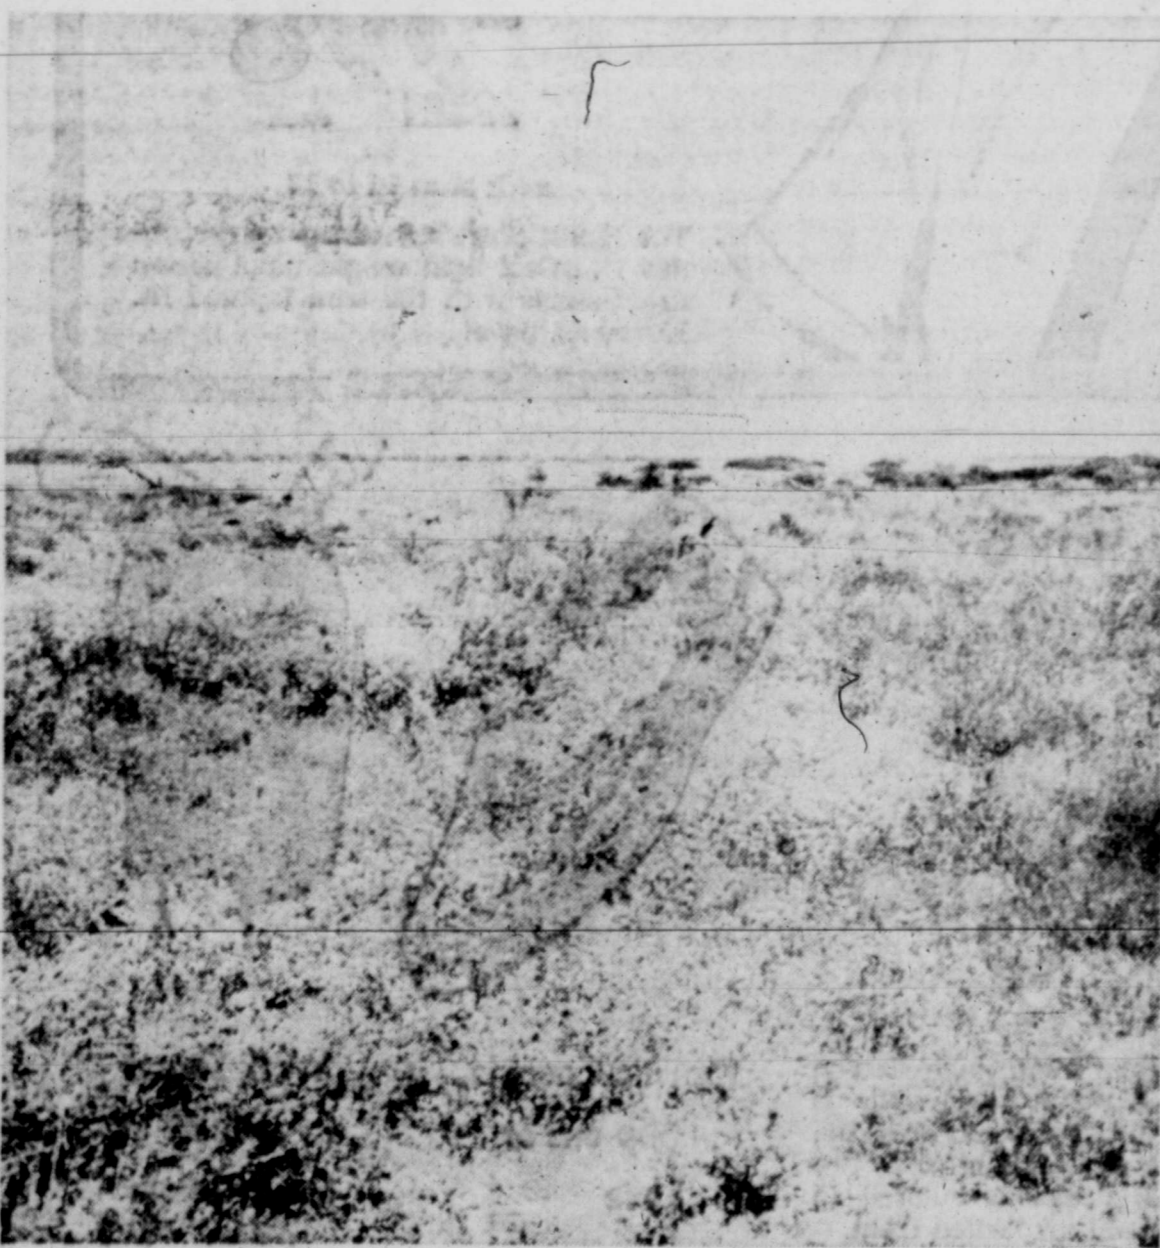

Word has been received that Albert Moore has been readmitted to Mesquite Hospital in Mesquite and is seriously ill.

Approximately 50 persons attended the annual Vocational Agriculture Parent and son Barbeque at City Park, Lake Colorado City. The affair was Saturday evening at 6:30 o'clock.

Pete Hines, V. A. sponsor gave the welcome speech and thanked parents and teachers for their cooperation with the boys.

Principal Ralph Bryant gave the invocation. Menu consisted of barbeque chicken, beans, potato salad, cole slaw and cake.

Guests in the Charles Ranne home Thursday, Friday and Saturday were Mrs. Ranne's brother, Raymond Rabb and her nephew, Jim Sexton of Fort Worth.

Improved Rangeland

GOOD PLANT COVER is found on this portion of improved rangeland on the Winn Ranch. Good covers of many native and introduced grasses are present on the improved land while the unimproved land in many instances is covered with only a sparse cover, made up mainly of weeds.

CONVERSATION CORNER

THIS WORLD is liable to miss Wilfred J. Funk, lexicographer who died recently at the age of 83.

According to June 11 issue of Time Magazine Mr. Funk was "born to words . . . revealed in them, ranked them . . . and was a tireless missionary for the English language."

Think we, personally, would have loved Mr. Funk, publisher of dictionaries, encyclopedias and such, and one time editor-in-chief of the old Literary Digest. Remember it?

MR. FUNK was always thinking up lists of words he either loved or simply did not love at all.

For the ten most beautiful words in the English language he chose: "dawn, hush, lullaby, murmuring, tranquility, mist, luminous, chimes, golden and melody."

Now because he is gone and is going to be missed we take the time and trouble to get together our own list of ten most beautiful words.

For us they are "memory, twilight, amethyst, flower, prayer, river, evening, home, devotion and darling."

MR. FUNK delighted people with drawing up things like lists of the ten most overworked words including "Okay, terrific, lousy, definitely, racket, gal, honey, swell, contact and impact."

"Course his list was not so recent as ours would naturally be. How about "bugs" as in "What bugs me . . ."

"Sick" as used to mean "crazy in the head."

"In orbit" to mean "in love."

"Interesting" to mean not much of anything.

"Hubby" to refer to one's husband.

The list could go on indefinitely. Only some of the most overworked words, these days, could not very well be listed by a grandmother who tries to be a lady. Some children read this column.

THERE ARE so many beautiful words to use. Why bother wasting time on the ugly ones, anyhow?

The little word "sincere" is another old favorite. And that priceless word that says "children . . ." "little girl . . . or boy."

Then there are words like "family . . . daughter . . . son . . . mother . . . father . . . sister . . . brother"

And merry words like "joy and glad and happy."

And there are "fun, romance, vacation and travel."

All of those echo a kind of sure beauty.

CHILDREN, you'll find, are best at choosing sincere words. Usually not yet skilled in the art of practiced deceit, a child can say "You're nice. I like you." And it can mean more than a deluge of praise from adults versed in the turning of pretty phrases.

So? So because one twelve-year-old girl (named Lee Ann Brown) said of Sunday's "Singing Rain" column, "She writes such happy words!" a column can be grateful.

Grateful is another happy word . . . and a happy state of mind to find yourself in besides.

HAPPIEST WORDS heard right lately came from the lips of Margie Treadaway. She and her husband Kelly are being visited by their only daughter Kay and Kay's husband Carl Blankvist of New York City. The couple arrived Wednesday.

Both are graduates of Texas Tech. Carl has just received his Master's degree in Industrial Management at Columbia University. He'll be employed soon by a management consulting firm in New York.

Kay works for American Electrical Power in New York City. Guess what? She's a programmer for the company's IBM in the computing department!

HERE from Corpus Christi is Mrs. William H. Keys and her son, John.

Mrs. Key, who used to visit C-City as Miss Rosemary Blackshear, is guest of her aunts Mrs. J. C. Hooker, Miss Claudia Longley and Mrs. Rose Masterson.

SEEN LATELYS were these: Bonnie Brown (Mrs. James) whose son Jimmy got married last weekend . . . Mrs. A. E. Lowry on a short office visit . . . Ditto Mrs. Dick Delaney.

Frank W. Wilson was in for a minute, too, saying that he and his wife Blanche are expecting a visit from their daughter and her family. They live in Colorado, the state named for our town.

BRIEF ENCOUNTERS brought little chats with Joe Earnest . . . Bobby McMillan, the nice pastor of St. Luke's Methodist Church . . . and Mrs. D. W. Kennemur, the youngest looking mother of a high school graduate (Danny) you nearly ever saw in your life!

Saw Ray Webb, too . . . and George Leonard, attorney, here from Sweetwater . . . Billie Harrison (Mrs. Jimmie) with her blond and beautiful daughter Patli Sue . . . Beverly Grubbs, who's home from Texas Tech for the summer.

POSTSCRIPT — Had the fun of a cold drink with Mrs. Wright Hook and her cute daughter Susan of Spade Ranch. The family were in town to pick up their brand new car!

And if that doesn't have a happy ring, just what does?

Good Slap On The Back . . .

Almost every evening and one afternoon each week, Little League and Pony League baseball games provide everyone in our community with an opportunity to go out and see some well-played and exciting contests.

There's a lot of time and effort and endless hard work put into these two programs by the players, managers, coaches, officials and those putting in hours in the concession stand.

All of these people deserve a fine slap on the back for the great job they are doing with our youngsters. Also, they should get 100 per cent support from you and me by our attendance at as many of the games as possible.

It does many of us good to pull ourselves away from the TV set for an evening to once more enjoy the crack of the bat, the thrill of a close play at home plate or the excitement-charged atmosphere of a tightly played extra innings contest.

So in the future let's try to get out to more games and give our full support to our community's baseball programs. They deserve it.

Putman-Brown Vows Said in Baptist Church

Double ring vows repeated before a candlelighted altar in First Baptist Church made Miss Marie Putman the bride of Jimmy Brown, Saturday evening, June 12, at 7:30. Rev. M. A. Smith, pastor of the church, read the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Putman of Westbrook, Rev. and Mrs. James E. Brown, 279 East 10th St. in Colorado City are parents of the bridegroom.

Candles were lighted by Johnnie Moore, the groom's uncle, and Steve Moore, his cousin, both of Sweetwater. Candelabra holding white tapers, pink carnations and lemon leaves flanked the church altar. Centering the altar was a wedding arch with white candles and rose pink carnations. Baskets of white gladioli were placed in the foreground.

Wearing a wedding dress of white peau de soie accented with lace and pearls, the bride entered with her father.

Parlor of the church was decorated in wedding colors of rose and white for the reception which feted the couple after the vows. Lace laid over rose taffeta covered the bride's table. American Beauty roses, silver candelabra and the three-tiered cake decorated the table.

In the houseparty were Mrs. Johnny Moore, Mrs. Bob Center, Miss Carolyn Putman, Miss Oma Rich, Mrs. Wayne Pruitt registered the guests.

When the couple left for a wedding trip to Denver, Colorado, the bride traveled in a suit of rose silk worn with white accessories and a white rose corsage. WOMAN OF THE WEEK

'Just Housewife' Role Suits Mrs. J.D. Hill Jr.

By RUTH COFFEY Editor Women's News (EDITOR'S NOTE: This is one of a series of Woman of the Week stories planned as features of interest to the Colorado City Record's women readers.)

"If anybody in the world can be called 'just a housewife' it must be me," said Mrs. J. D. Hill, Jr., as if the idea amused her a little and pleased her a lot.

Mary Jo Hill is a farmer's wife. She lives with her husband, J. D. Hill, Jr., and their four children in the China Grove community, 12 miles from Colorado City. Her husband farms 650 acres of good cotton land, some of which lies in Scurry County just over the county line.

"I wouldn't want to live anywhere else or do anything else," Mary Jo Hill admits sincerely. "It's the good life. Sometimes it's hectic, of course. But there is something relaxed and restful about rearing children—especially boys on a farm," she added Tuesday.

Three of the Hill children are boys. Oldest in the family is Cathy, the only girl, who finished Colorado High School in May and will enroll in Texas Technological College this fall. She is 18. John, Bruce, 10 years old, will be a junior in high school here. Steve, 14, is a freshman and Bruce, 10 year old, will be a fifth-grader in Hutchinson Elementary School.

Jo Hill, mother of the family, who smilingly calls herself "just a housewife," was born in Colorado City. She is oldest daughter of Mrs. J. M. (Pete) Pickens, 430 Elm St., and the late Mr. Pickens.

Her sister Margie is Mrs. Eob Kolman, teacher in Washington University at St. Louis. Her only brother, Dr. Jimmy Pickens, teaches pediatrics in University of Missouri Medical College and heads Woodhaven School in Columbia, Mo. Her youngest sister, Nell, follows the same career that Jo Hill chose. Nell is married to Charles Holman, another Mitchell County farmer.

These summer days life for the J. D. Hill Jr. family at China Grove begins at 5:30 a.m. The older sons, John and Steve, are driving tractors this summer season to help cultivate the cotton. Their father gets them started at the work then drives to Colorado City where he is employed as counter clerk in the office of the Agricultural Stabilization & Conservation Service.

That means breakfast for the family as early as possible. It means that Jo or her daughter Cathy must go to the field and pick up the boys for the noon meal. Sometimes when the season is rushing it means taking lunch to the field. One place Hill farms is 10 miles away from the new home they built three years ago.

Mary Jo Hill loves their new house. It has more space in the den, and utility room than the former home they occupied had in its whole floor plan. Jo likes to remember, and even "just housewives" enjoy being promoted! The couple's new home is much nearer the China Grove home of J. D.'s mother Mrs. J. D. Hill Sr., too.

The Hills were married in March 1944. It was a World War II year and J. D. was serving with the Army Signal Corps. As bride and groom they lived in Tampa, Florida, for a year. Since then they've lived in China Grove. Jo, who finished Colorado High School in 1939, worked in the bookkeeping department of City National Bank for several years before her marriage.

Since her marriage and the four children Jo has been what she calls "just a housewife."

As a housewife she enjoys all phases of homemaking. She likes to sew. She and her daughter Cathy make "nearly everything we wear," Jo said. She likes to cook. She doesn't particularly look forward to deep-freezing the vegetables from John's garden but vegetables, peaches and other fresh produce are fine to have on hand, once they are home-processed, Mrs. Hill finds.

John's garden is one of his 4-H projects. He is county chairman of the countywide 4-H organizations. He and his two younger brothers also are successful pig feeders. Steve and Bruce showed both Grand and Reserve Champion a recent year at the Mitchell Livestock Show.

Their sister too has won honors. She was presented the B&PW college scholarship for 1965.

The whole family is a church-going family and all attend First Christian Church where J. D. is an elder and member of the Church Board. Father, mother, Cathy and John all sing in the church choir. Jo, a lead soprano, was also recently elected president of the Christian Woman's Fellowship and will assume her new duties next Monday. Young people in the family all attend the Christian Youth Fellowship.

Weekdays find the family busy at work and busy at play. John plays in Pony League on the Colts team. Steve plays with the Little League Tigers. That means at least two evenings in town for games and two late evenings for practice.

"We go to and from an awful lot," said Jo. "But I'd still rather raise my family in the country. We feel," Jo said as her expressive brown eyes grew solemn, "that busy young people are happiest—and safest."

Activities of her family keep Jo, herself, perhaps busiest of all. She combines grocery shopping with baseball days in town. She is an avid after-bedtime reader, magazine lover and library fan.

"J. D. says I don't get enough rest," Jo Hill smiled. "But you know, after the family is in bed is the only time there is left for me to read. Reading rests and refreshes me. I enjoy a good book after a full day."

Full days and quiet nights are just two of the reasons Jo Hill likes being married to a farmer and being "just a plain vanilla housewife."

The other five reasons are probably named J. D., Cathy, John, Steve and Bruce.

Mrs. J. D. Hill, Jr.

Conservation Practices Aid Land Restoration

Basal Oil Spraying

NINETY ACRES of the rangeland on the farm were treated with basal oil spraying to eliminate infestations of mesquite and cacti. Martin looks on as a worker uses the spray applicator to put chemicals onto a small mesquite tree.

Constructed Waterway

ONE OF TWO WATERWAYS designed to control excessive runoff water on the farm of Elmer Martin is shown being checked over by Allen Sheppard, SCS, and George Martin. The waterways are designed to alleviate the amount of water to be held back by the farm's terrace system. Each of the waterways is seeded with a forage sorghum which serves as a cover crop for retaining rainfall and preventing erosion.

By JAMES ANDERSON

Record News Editor
Quite a victory is being won by good conservation practices on a half section of land owned by County Judge Elmer Martin.
When Martin assumed ownership of the land late in 1964 much of the acreage was in bad condition.
Gullies formed by uncontrolled rainfall runoff scarred the cropland and mesquite and cacti infested the rangeland.
In addition to the gullies sheet erosion had damaged the cropland and heavy growths of weeds and Johnson grass were found.
Rangeland had less than 25 percent of the desirable grasses present.
Seeking a way to improve his property Martin contacted the Soil Conservation Service in Colorado City.
Soil Survey Taken
Working on the basis of a soil survey, Martin was assured that the 220 acres in cultivation was deep enough to successfully raise cotton.
A planned approach to treat the land was developed to use the acres within their capabilities and for protection and improvement of the land.
Cropland Improvements
The gullies crossing the cropland which were uncrossable were bridged in and filled.
Conservation cropping system was developed with the use of high residue crops and management of crop stubble to maintain the proper organic content of the soil.
Ten miles of new terrace were constructed and five miles of old terraces were reworked.
Waterways Built
Two waterways were designed, staked and shaped to adequately carry away runoff rainfall. The waterways have now been seeded with forage sorghum for cover. Next year the waterways will be seeded with permanent grass.
Stubble will be left to protect seedling grasses, increase water intake, reduce evaporation and to lower the soil temperature. This will provide a better seed bed.
Also, the forage crop ground may be grazed to a certain extent.
Diversion Constructed
Three diversions were constructed to carry runoff rainfall into the two waterways and thus protect the terrace system from receiving an overload of runoff.
Range Practices
On the 100 acres of unimproved rangeland 90 has received an application of basal oil spray to rid it of the medium infestations of mesquite and cacti.
Future plans call for the remaining ten acres to be root plowed and re-seeded next year.
Re-seeding of the rangeland has been accomplished by the use of a concentric disc. Between 1520 acres has been planted and seeded with a mixture of Sidecoats Grama, KR Bluestem and Sand Lovegrass primarily.
Future Plans
Current plans call for the drilling of two water wells on the rangeland and construction of two stock watering tanks.
Grass will be kept at a good sized growth on the pasture for protection of the soil and to retain as much rainfall as possible.
Supplemental grazing will be carried out in the fields while the range grass is in its growing stage.
Programs Used

Judge Martin is a district co-operator with the Mitchell County Soil Conservation District and participates in the Great Plains Conservation Program and the Agriculture Conservation Program of the ASCS.

Costs Shared
Under the various programs costs for improvements are divided between the landowner and the government at different percentages.
On construction and seeding of waterways the government pays 80 percent and the landowner 20. Terraces and diversions are split with the government taking 70 percent and the remaining 30 to the landowner.
Brush control and the fencing of rangeland for grazing management are shared half and half.
Eighty percent of range seeding cost is assumed by the government. Pitting is split on an equal basis.
Any aerial spraying is split on a 50-50 basis.
Costs
New terraces cost on the average of $157 per mile while major leveling and filling costs around $200 per mile.
Diversion cost about 12 cents per cubic yard.
On rangeland root plowing carries a price tag of $14 per acre. Basal oil spraying of mesquite costs $10 per acre while spraying for cacti has a price tag of $8 per acre.

SUGAR AND SPICE

By Bill Smiley
Some Woes On Women

There is something deeply disturbing about the attitude toward life of the modern North American woman.

Men haven't really changed much, basically, since Julius Caesar and his boys crossed the Rubicon. They still like to make war and make love; they still drink more than is good for them; they still like playing games better than improving their property; they still have some romance and illusion in their souls; they still loathe, face in to family problem in little "talks" with their mates.

Take a modern politician, drane him in a toga, and he'd be right at home in the senate of ancient Rome. Take a modern general, hant a suif of armor and a helmet on him, stick him on a horse, and you wouldn't know him from a crusader of the middle ages.

But take a modern woman out of her modern kitchen, away from her wall-to-wall broodloom and dump her in a thatched-roof cottage with outside facilities and no degerents, and what would you have? A screaming meemie; that's what you'd have. Even if Mr. and Mrs. Will Shakespere lived in the thatched cottage next door.

This comment is written more in sorrow than in anger. I don't put all the blame on the creature themselves. I think their greedy materialism, relentless reality, a total lack of appreciation of the finer things in life — like their husbands — are a result of the stresses of the age. Too much warmed-over psychology. Too much hard-sell advertising.

They all want to look like Paris models. But they don't do enough physical work and they eat too much. So they get fat. There's a stress right there.

They all want their children to be handsome and brilliant. So they spend thousands of dollars straightening the dolls' eyes and teeth and nuzzing them at school and nuzzing them about music lessons and comparing them unfavorably with kids who are handsome and brilliant. Their own kids, naturally, respond by getting fat and simply, needing braces and glasses, growing neurotic, and falling their exams. Another stress.

They all want their husbands to be a combination of Richard Barton, J. P. Morgan, and Caspar Milquetoast. That's a little rough to come by these days, so they take it out on the poor Adam they get out of the erabrag. Frustration and guilt. Two more stresses.

They crave security. More and more of it. So they push their men harder and harder to build up a bigger and bigger estate, and more and more insurance, in order that they can join the hordes of lonely widows in Florida, sitting around telling each other what a grand chap poor Herman was before he worked himself to death 30 years ago.

They all want to be loved and cherished. And they spend all their time complaining about their health, their children, their husbands, and all the things other women have that they don't. Who's going to love and cherish a walkie-talkie with a built-in whine?

They all want to be beautiful.

And they all go around with lips pressed tight, mouth turned down, and a big scowl. When was the last time you heard your wife singing, Jack?

There's only one solution, of course, for the girls, and it would not be a popular one. The answer is back to the scrub-board and the sewing-machine, the vegetable garden and the preserving kettle.

I would not have you think these few observations are offered in an unkindly spirit. They are merely the result of overhearing a conversation today between my old Battleaxe and her sidekick across the street.

For half an hour, they vied with each other in relating, with chapter and verse, what useless articles Bill and John (incidentally, two of the sweetest guys in town) turned out to be.

AND FOR YOUR EDUCATIONAL READING . . .

THIS WEEK AND NEXT

by Aaron Einfrank

Integrating The Teachers

NEW YORK — The threat by the New York city teachers union to call a strike if the city board of education enforces a racial integration plan for teachers highlights the question of racial integration in the U.S.

For years these teachers have sat by silently or even cheered while white children were bused into Negro ghettos, integrated in other ways. Now the board of education wants to send the best and most experienced teachers to the ghettos, and the teachers don't like it.

According to the rules of seniority, the experienced teachers now have their choice of school assignments, which usually means these teachers choose nice, safe, white schools in nice, safe, white neighborhoods. The result is that young inexperienced teachers staff the city's Negro schools, and as soon as these young teachers do get seniority, they head for white schools.

The reason why seniority-conscious teachers do not want to be assigned to Negro schools is obvious. The ghetto schools team with dope addicts, and crime, venereal disease, and sexual promiscuity are the order of the day.

The teacher strike threat shows that after more than 10 years of talk, demonstrations and fantastic integration schemes, New York city is no nearer to racial integration than it was in 1954 when the Supreme Court handed down its famous decision on the subject. And New York is only one among most northern cities which practise the same sort of dishonesty about integration.

The real tragedy of the integration problem is that the two major losers are the Negroes themselves and the public school system which was once a hallmark of our democracy.

For years Negroes have chased the chimera of school integration. But when a sizeable number of Negro youths move into an average white school in a Northern city, the white children mysteriously begin to disappear. The white students usually wind up in private schools, which are booming now, or in schools in the suburbs, where the parents have moved to avoid the penalties of integration.

The Negroes who thought they were integrating a white school find that they have succeeded too thoroughly because the formerly all white school is now all black. And what's worse, the Negroes are stuck with the same inferior education they had in their ghetto schools.

Instead of pumping money and talent into predominantly black schools as well as aiding the predominantly white schools, both Negro and white leaders have championed integration. The reasons for this are all too clear. For the white leaders, it's much easier to submit to Negro pressure than to back weird integration schemes and risk being called a racist. Besides, it's a lot cheaper for the white taxpayer if the Negroes chase after integration rather than demanding quality education in Negro neighborhood schools. In the final analysis, the white taxpayer finds it cheaper to move to another community or send his kids to a private school.

As for the Negro leaders, they have certain gains also. First, they don't have to risk unpopularity by telling their people that they shouldn't chase the integration rainbow but that they should do everything possible to improve Negro schools. Second, every time whites are forced out of a neighborhood Negro politicians extend their power in so far as party and governmental jobs are concerned.

Pointing up the dishonesty of the integration campaign is an interesting study which recently showed that not one of New York city's major integration leaders had ever sent his children to a public school. In fact, the leader of last year's public school boycott sends his children to a private school.

TIPS FOR OUTDOORSMEN

by Vern Sanford

A college football coach may have the biggest, fastest, smartest boys in the country. He may have the cleverest formation anywhere . . . "T", "A", "T", or what have you.

But if his team can't block and tackle he might as well play Podunk High.

That's why he's constantly teaching fundamentals. Fishing is the same way! You may have the best bait-casting rig on the market. You may be able to put a practice plug in the bucket at 30, 40, and 50 feet . . . nine times out of nine . . .

But if you don't know more than that about the fundamentals of fishing, you will never catch a black bass except by accident.

You've got to know THE FISH!

As often stated the black bass is an ornery critter.

He doesn't move around much except to forage for food. And he doesn't do that often because he homesteads in a place where he can hide and lie in wait for something edible to be washed to him by the current.

So look for him under an overhanging willow tree, close to the bank, and where the water is deep. All kinds of goodies come falling out of the tree: caterpillars, baby birds, and mice.

If there are lily pads there, so much the better—it will be a home for frogs.

If the bank is muddy, that is fine. Crawfish will live there.

If there is a weed bed, that's wonderful. In that case . . .

FIVE COUNTIES HOLD 44 PER CENT OF VOTES Registered Voting Number Off Nearly One Million In Texas

By VERN SANFORD

Texas Press Association AUSTIN, Tex. — Number of registered voters in Texas dropped nearly a million from last year's record breaking number, according to figures released by Comptroller Robert S. Calvert.

Most of the decrease apparently came in the 50,000 to 150,000 cities, with the largest metropolitan areas and the rural counties holding fairly steady. Number of issued poll tax receipts and exemptions dropped from 2,892,670 for voting in the 1964 presidential elections to 1,970,381 for this off-year.

The five most populous counties — Harris, Bexar, Tarrant, Dallas and El Paso — actually increased their percentage of the registered vote by three points. They hold 44 per cent of this year's poll tax receipts.

However, this is not a specific indicator of their dominance over rural areas, since in cities of less than 10,000, elderly voters do not have to claim their exemption.

This year only 3,314 signed up for "free" poll tax receipts qualifying them to vote in elections for federal officials. But there are no federal elections slated for ballots this year. A total of 84,297 of these "poll tax not paid" certificates were issued in 1964 first year they were available for presidential, vice presidential and congressional balloting.

As voting dates for constitutional amendments near, it is apparent that most Texans of voting age will be able to do no more than look and hope, for lack of a poll tax receipt.

INSURANCE RATES GOING UP — State Board of Insurance Chairman Hunter McLean jolted auto owners with more bad news: their insurance premiums are going up at least 12 per cent.

Board meets officially on June 22 to set rates on basis of experience by areas. However, McLean already has served notice that there is no doubt rising motor accidents will make a stiff rate hike mandatory. There were 13 per cent more accidents last year than in 1963.

Rates dropped 12 per cent last year for the total insurance field, but should have gone up, McLean said. Auto liability insurance, although sometimes criticized as high priced, actually has cost companies more than $1,000,000,000 during the last 10 years, he maintained.

Premiums vary in 26 rating territories of the state according to their accident records the previous year.

BOUNDARY AGREED ON — Conferees have agreed on location of the boundary line between Texas and Louisiana, long in dispute, reports Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler.

Next step will be appointment of a boundary commission by governors of the states to approve the new line and submit it to their legislatures for concurrence. Congress also will have to ratify the line.

Dispute has involved some valuable mineral lands. Louisiana claimed ownership to the west bank of the Sabine River and Sabine Lake into Gulf of Mexico. Texas claimed its line extended to the middle of the river and lake.

MIGRANT AID PUSHED — Governor's Office of Economic Opportunity is seeking approval of a $5,500,000 grant of federal "War on Poverty" funds, for seven programs to help Texas migrant workers.

If the grant is approved, additional state funds and staff services will bring the total cost of the program to some $6,000,000, an average of about $46 for each of the estimated 128,000 Texans who migrate to do seasonal agricultural work.

Included in the programs would be an effort to retain about 200 South Texas migrants in operation of farm machinery and irrigation control to relocate them for permanent jobs in West Texas, where the end of the bracero program has created a labor shortage.

Most of the money would be used for educational programs both for the children of migrant families and their parents who would be taught homemaking and vocational trades. Also planned are rest stops where they can stop to cook meals, use sanitary facilities and spend the night while traveling across the state, and regional centers to test and screen migrants for tuberculosis and hospitalize positive cases.

COURTS SPEAK — District Judge Herman Jones of Austin postponed until July 15 final arguments in a major test case over the Railroad Commission's power to require natural gas purchasers to extend pipelines to all producers in a field.

Rio Grande Valley Gas Company appealed a commission order to join its pipeline to a well owned by Russell Maguire of Dallas in West Port Isabel Field, Cameron County. Company maintains there is no procedure to reach agreement on price of gas. Jones, after a three-day hearing, gave attorneys for both sides time to file more briefs.

Supreme Court will hear the case involving authority of Rice University trustees to disregard racial and tuition restrictions imposed by the institution's founder, William Marsh Rice, in 1891.

Supreme Court refused to consider an appeal by 39 employees of a Weslaco television station, formerly owned by President Johnson's family, seeking payment from a profit-sharing plan.

Court of Criminal Appeals denied rehearing sought by former Pasadena Mayor Sam Hoover convicted as an accomplice in a torture-robbery case. Court earlier had upheld a 60-year prison sentence given Hoover, 55, described in trial as "mastermind" of the March 11, 1964, robbery of Mr. and Mrs. Mair J. Scheps in Houston.

ATTORNEY GENERAL RULES — Court-appointed defense lawyers are entitled to no more than $10 per case on pleas of guilty before the court, Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr held in an opinion requested by Waller County Atty. C. W. Karsich of Hempstead. Carr said $25 a day payments are allowed only where cases go to actual trial.

Bread is bread, no matter what the baker labels it, and a loaf must weigh at least one pound, Carr told Agriculture Commissioner John C. White. White had asked if elimination of the word "bread" on labels and substitution of such phrases as "party slices", "rye slices" or similar terms exempt a product from standard requirements.

COTTON CONFERENCES — Agriculture Commissioner White is planning state conferences on the national cotton program for 1966.

White says cotton still is the No. 1 state crop and drastic cutbacks could hurt the agricultural economy. He points out that cotton pro-prietary in he pockets of growers and that the industry generates jobs and economic activity amounting to $5,600,000 a year in Texas.

TEENAGE JOBS SAFE — Liquor Control Board Administrator Coke Stevenson has clarified his two "administrative interpretation" bulletins which cautioned against hiring minors to work "on or about licensed premises." Stevenson says teenage workers will not lose their jobs if the stores comply with normal regulations.

He added that the bulletins from his office were meant to remind holders of beer, wine and liquor permits that they must separate a portion of their store by a guard rail and place an adult in charge of a check-out counter used for purchase of alcoholic beverages.

BROWNWOOD AREA PROJECTS APPROVED — Texas Water Commission has approved some $10,000,000 in U.S. Corps of Engineers flood control and water supply projects for Brownwood area.

A new $3,000,000 dam at Lake Brownwood, a $7,000,000 flood control reservoir on Pecan Bayou upstream and channel improvements on the bayou, Adams Branch, Tom Williams Branch and Willis Creek are included. The new dam is planned 800 feet down-stream from the old one whose outlets never have worked properly since its construction during 1932 floods.

SHORT SNORTS — Gov. John Connally designated June as Youth Opportunity Month and asked Texans to help youths between 16 and 21 find their first jobs to help them continue their education and to assure the state of skilled manpower resources.

Land Commissioner Sadler has announced new rules pertaining to seismograph operations in submerged lands — explosive containers and caps must carry company label; seismograph operators must carry insurance in an approved company; regular employees must accompany each crew working — and warns that any breach of safety rules will result in cancellation of operators' permits.

Texas Employment Commission says Texas farmers have not shown much interest in the 5,000 A-Team school students recruited to help meet the farm labor shortage expected to result from termination of the bracero program.

Texas Department of Public Safety has 70 vacancies in uniformed patrol services (salaries $453-$484 a month). Attorney General Carr has announced recovery of two judgements totalling $57,600 from defendants for allegedly drilling and operating slanted oil wells in Gregg and Rusk counties.

Banking Department has application for new First State Bank in Covington, Hill County.

An auditors report shows the number of inmates in Texas correctional institutions decreased from 12,326 on Sept. 1, 1963 to 11,985 on Aug. 31, 1964.

Mrs. Martha M. Davis of Beaumont is new president of State Board of Nurses Examiners.

hideaway will be small bream and minnows that the largemouth can catch.

Point is if you want to catch fish, you have to put the lure where they are. You have to think like a fish. You have to figure out where he is at what time of day or season and fish accordingly.

Let's take a lesson from the experts. They contend that most of the bass, and the biggest bass, are deep. Yep, you can look at the color photographs in the outdoor magazines, and you can see the big blacks jumping after the topwater lures. It's spectacular! In fact, there's nothing else quite like it.

But if you want to catch bass — big bass and lots of them — don't concentrate on topwater lures. Fish deep.

This year the most bass and the biggest bass have been caught in deep water on black jigs. Sometimes a fisherman puts on a pork rind or a pork chunk, or a plastic worm. There's no doubt about it, they add to the efficiency of the lure.

Remember the rule about not hurrying? Take it slow and easy.

That's the way to fish the jig if you expect results.

It must go to the bottom and sit there while the big bass looks it over. After a while, move it about two inches. The bass will inspect the jig with more interest. He thinks it might be something else. But he's not likely to commit himself yet.

Remember you've got all day.

Relax. Move the jig another couple of inches.

If you are in a likely spot, you may get action any minute. The largemouth bass is both cantankerous and ornery. But he is not entirely unpredictable. He takes a lure for three reasons. He is either hungry, angry, or protecting his nest.

That's right, I said his nest. It's the male of the species who makes the nest, fanning out a clean place in the sand or gravel.

He drives the female into this place, where she lays her eggs. He deposits his milt on them and then acts as watchman until the little bass hatch out.

He resents any intrusion and he will pick up any foreign matter and move it out of the nest by picking it up in his mouth.

If that's your lure, you've got a bass.

Other than during nesting time, the bass, male and female, will hit a lure from anger anytime it intrudes upon their peace and quietude.

Bass have no regular eating habits, like you and I. They eat when the opportunity presents itself.

A bass will lie in wait in the deep until something to eat comes along. Then he smashes it! He doesn't know what time it is. He doesn't eat by the clock. But he does know when he's hungry, which is most of the time.
