Grand jurymen met this morning for the first session of district court in Midland this year. District Judge Chas. Klapproth charged the jurymen to investigate any claims of lawlessness in the county and to make any recommendations necessary in improving conditions.

Only one murder case is to be studied by jurymen this session. Lucius Davis is charged with murder in the alleged slaying of Billie Brown, negro, in Moody addition last December 22. A murder charge against Ramon Navarette, charged with the death of Juan Martinez last August 24, was continued from last term of court here and is expected the case will be tried this session.

Several forgeries, burglaries and other lesser crimes are to be considered by the grand jurymen, approximately a dozen of them appearing on the docket. Several civil cases are also to be heard.

SUBSTANTIAL LIVESTOCK INCREASES IN PAST YEAR RECORDED IN TEXAS

Substantial increase and numbers and total farm value of livestock in Texas on January 1, 1937, compared with January 1, 1936, are shown by the annual report of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics issued through the office of V. C. Childs, Senior Agricultural Statistician. Large numbers of cattle, sheep, hogs, goats, horses and a smaller number of mules were estimated. The increases in numbers for the various species of livestock over a year ago are: cattle 10 percent, sheep 21.2 percent, hogs 14 percent, goats 12 percent, milk cows (cows and heifers two years old and over kept for milk) 1 percent and horses 2 percent. Mules decreased 6 percent in numbers since January 1, 1936.

The total value of all livestock on farms and ranches in Texas January 1, 1937, was $265,867,000. The increase in farm value for all species of livestock was $26,187,000, or 7.7 percent over a year ago. The increases in value of cattle, sheep, and goats alone was $23,550,000.

CATTLE: The estimated number of cattle on farms and ranches January 1, 1937, was 7,547,000 head. This number represents an increase of 686,000 head of 10 percent over a year ago and an increase in value from $12,532,000.

MILK COWS: The total number of milk cows (cows and heifers two years old and over kept for milk) was estimated at 1,402,000 head, 14,000 head or 1 percent larger than a year ago. The total value, however, has increased 8 percent.

SHEEP: The total number of sheep on farms and ranches and feedlots January 1, 1937, was estimated at 8,920,000 head, which was 1,561,000 head more than a year earlier. The increase in sheep numbers this year over a year ago and the total number on hand January 1 were the largest of any year on record for Texas. The number of stock sheep was estimated at 8,750,000 head January 1 this year compared with 7,234,000 head a year ago. The increase in stock sheep was 1,516,000 head or 21 percent over a year ago. The farm value of sheep is $6,007,000 above that of a year ago.

GOATS: The total number of goats on farms and ranches, January 1, 1937, this year, was estimated at 3,024,000 head. This number was 324,000 head, or 12 percent larger than a year ago.

HOGS: The total value of livestock on farms January 1 this year was slightly smaller than a year earlier, being $4,835,147,000 this year, a decrease of $49,294,000 or 1 percent. The values per head of horses and mules were higher than a year earlier but the values of cattle, hogs, and sheep were lower. While the total value was a little lower this year than last it was over $2,000,000 higher than at the low point in January 1, 1933. These inventory values of livestock on farms should not be confused with the value of livestock production, or with income from livestock, which will be estimated later.

'BIG PUSH' ON

Insurgents Seek To Isolate Madrid By Moves

(By Associated Press) The Spanish war raged today from Oviedo, near the Bay of Biscay where the government launched an offensive, to Aragon, where insurgents started driving a wedge to the Mediterranean between Valencia and Barcelona.

Insurgents, ramming fiercely up the Jarama river valley, faced the heaviest fighting in recent months. They reported seizure of four miles of Madrid's vital Valencia highway, and were endeavoring to close the city's only remaining trunk highway exit. Commanders reported government militia had later gained control of the road after fierce fighting in the Jarama sector.

The Aragon battle indicated insurgents were attempting a three-cornered movement to isolate Madrid in territory held by General Franco's armies.

LOCATION STAKED FOR TEST NORTH OF SEALEY WELL

Dunigan Bros. And Brahaney To Drill

BY FRANK GARDNER

Location for a test in southern Winkler county north of the Finley & Cherry No. 1 Sealey, 55-barrel discovery pumper in north ward, four miles west of the O'Brien pool was announced today. It is the Dunigan Bros. and Brahaney No. 1 Sealey and is located 2,310 feet from the south and 980 feet from the west line of section 49, block F, G. & M. M. B. A. survey, a mile and a half north and a quarter mile east of the Finley & Cherry well. The test will be drilled on a block assembled by D. C. DeVito, Midland operator, and his associates, which includes all of section 49, 51 and 52 and the south 370 acres of section 50. Dunigan Bros. and Brahaney are drilling the well for acreage in the block. They will spend within two weeks, or as soon as their rotary on the Mid-Continent lease at Kermit is free. Contract depth is 3,200 feet.

DeVito and associates have acquired three more blocks north Ward county, east of the Empire production in the O'Brien pool. The first block is 480 acres in section 96, block A, G. & M. M. B. A. survey, comprised of the northwest quarter, the southeast quarter, the east half of the northeast and the west half of the southwest of the section. The second block is all of section 76, section 77, the west half of section 83, and sections 84 and 85. His third block includes sections 78, 79, 80, 81, 82 and the east half of 83. Acreage in the three blocks totals 6,880 acres and was acquired from the Sealey and Smith Foundation and the City Bank Farmers' Trust of New York City. De Vito holds straight commercial leases on blocks 1 and 2, while the third carries a drilling clause. He will probably start a well on it in 60 days, with tentative location in the northeast quarter of section 82.

American Liberty Oil Company No. 1 Mayhew, southwestern Andrews county wildcat in the center of the southwest of the southeast of section 23, block A-51, public school land, is shut down at 5,004 four feet past contract depth, and will probably be plugged and abandoned. No oil, gas or water was encountered by the test, and a Schlumberger survey run yesterday showed nothing.

Shell No. 1 King, test northwest of the Fuhrman pool, showed one joint of drilling fluid and no oil, gas or water when drill-stem tested from 4,175 to 4,225, and is now drilling ahead.

A previous drill-stem test, from 4,075 to 4,175, had shown 40 feet of drilling mud, blow of air, and a slight showing of gas in 18 minutes. The testing tool was open. Getty No. 1 Lindley, strike northwest of the Deeprock pool, is cleaning out 12 feet off bottom preparatory to running 2 1/2 inch tubing to pump. When three-inch tubing was at 4,630, 12 feet off bottom, it swabbed 152 barrels of oil in 20 hours, lowering fluid from 1,200 to 400 feet. The well was shut down 23 hours, during which time fluid rose to 800 feet.

2,000 ETHIOPIANS ARE ARRESTED FOR BOMB THROWING

Troops Patrolling Addis Ababa As Killers Sought

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia, Feb. 22. (AP)—Premier Mussolini ordered colonial officers today to have firing squads execute Ethiopians connected with the attempted assassination of viceroys Rodolfo Graziani.

The instructions decreed death for chiefs continuing opposition to Italian government officials and said that reprisals would be "extensive and summary."

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia, Feb. 22. (AP)—Two thousand Ethiopians were arrested Sunday for questioning in the attempted assassination of Marshal Rodolfo Graziani by natives hurling hand grenades.

Graziani, Viceroy of Ethiopia, called 30,000 troops into the city, placing them on a war basis to seek the assassins and quell what was considered a possible incipient uprising. He acted under direct orders from Premier Benito Mussolini, who commanded that those suspected subject to formal charges be tried immediately by a military court.

Aviation Gen. Aurelio Liotta's leg was amputated because of the wounds he suffered when natives, ostensibly stepping forward to receive gifts from Ethiopia's conquerors at a celebration Saturday, flung the explosives into the midst of the official party.

Graziani, an official communiqué said, was recovering from his slight injuries, while the Abuna Cyril, Coptic Bishop of Ethiopia, was improving from grave wounds. Several Ethiopian chiefs were injured. Flying squadrons of blackshirt soldiers combed the city for suspicious characters and reported they had cleaned out several underworld districts. Troops patrolled the streets.

Vandals Destroy Property of Co. In West Midland

Vandals, under cover of darkness Saturday night destroyed markers, flags, signs and other property of the Imperial Auction Company, in West End addition where an auction sale of town lots is to be held March 2, 3, and 4, it was reported this morning by C. H. McCall, manager of the project.

All engineering work in connection with the auction sale will have to be done over and was in progress yesterday, McCall said. The perpetrators of the damage drove about the property in an automobile, crashing into the stakes and sign posts, knocking them to the ground. "We have conducted real estate auction sales for twenty years, in every state of the union, but have never had this to happen before," McCall declared. He said he did not believe it was the work of boys or pranksters, because of the fact that the destruction was thorough, the entire property of the West End section being ravaged. The College Heights and Garrett tracts were not damaged.

The auction company manager said today he would appreciate the cooperation of the public in tracking down those who perpetrated the damage or in preventing a recurrence of it. Pointing out that the lots will be sold at the buyers' prices for the purpose of building homes, he declared it to be to the public's interest to protect the property.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

By RODNEY DUTCHER
Reporter-Telegram Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22. — The bitterness of older men against the implied insults of a younger man is a real factor in the supreme court struggle.

There are young men on both sides and old men on both sides, but the fight is one between old men and young men. If you average separately the ages of the outstanding protagonists and antagonists, you will find the disparity as great as that between the 75-year average age of the six justices over 70, and the age of Roosevelt who is only 55.

Numerous reasons actuate senators and others who have declared for or against the proposal to appoint additional supreme court justices in cases where sitting judges over 70 don't retire. These include party loyalty, fears of fascism, greed for patronage, innate conservatism, innate progressivism, and so on.

But everyone here on the ground realizes that when Roosevelt—with a grin—asserted that judges over 70 often served beyond mental and physical capacity while unable to perceive their infirmities, he embittered many of the old-timers. They otherwise might have been able to take his proposal more calmly.

Age Line Doesn't Set Well

The age line of demarcation in this fight seems to be about 60 years. Men over that age have been advised, in effect, by the president at a press conference, that he would appoint no sexagenarians to federal judgeships. That doesn't set well with some who had hoped to end their careers on the bench, or felt they might depend on a judgeship in case constituents voted them out of office. Also the supreme court retirement would permit justices to retire with full pay at 70, only if they had served 10 years.

Aside from the five conservative justices over 70, whom Roosevelt wants off the bench, most conspicuous figures in the opposition battalions include Senators William E. Borah, 71; Hiram Johnson, 70; Carter Glass, 79; Van Nuys, of Indiana, 62; Alva Adams of Colorado, 61; Ellison D. Smith of South Carolina, 72; William H. King of Utah, 72; Walter F. George of Georgia, 59; and Josiah Bailey of North Carolina, 63.

Outside the Senate one observes such opponents as Hutton Summers, 61, chairman of the house judiciary committee, who might easily have expected to wangle a judicial appointment. He has been distinctly like warm to the Roosevelt program. The Morgan lawyer, John W. Davis, also had reasons to hope he would wind up as supreme court justice, or perhaps even chief justice, under any conservative administration. He is now 64.

"Youngsters" for Roosevelt

Now as to the men who have thrown themselves conspicuously into this fight for Roosevelt. A reasonably complete list in the Senate would include Senators Bob La Follette of Wisconsin, 42; Hugo Black of Alabama, 50; Lew Schwelienbach of Washington, 42; Ed Johnson of Colorado, 53; Sherman Minton of Indiana, 46; Jimmy Byrnes of South Carolina, 57; and Bob Wagner of New York, 59.

The outstanding protagonist in the house is Congressman Maury Maverick of Texas, 41. And a list of those who helped Roosevelt work out the plan, or are now plugging for it, probably would include Assistant Attorney General Robert Jackson, 46; Solicitor General Stanley F. Reed, 52; Charles West, White House liaison man with Capitol Hill, 42; Jimmy Roosevelt, 29; Donald Richberg, 55; Ben Cohen, 39; and Thomas G. Corcoran, 37. These ages stand out in marked contrast against those of the six oldest justices.

There are certain exceptions but the list is small.

Answering complaints that Roosevelt slurred men over 70 as a class, his friends reply that establishment of the age principle was the only way he could rejuvenate the court and its philosophy without brazenly "packing" it. Just the same, there are many proud old hearts here that will continue to hold it against him.

Cancer Deaths Over The Country Higher

AUSTIN, Texas, Feb. 22.—"While the span of human life has been lengthened fifteen years during the last decade, thanks to science, the disturbing fact remains that there has been a marked rise in death from cancer during the same period," declared Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, and urged that the public be on the alert to detect this disease.

"Cancer is not a hopeless, incurable disease. It is not contagious or in itself hereditary. There are thousands of men and women in this country who have been successfully treated for cancer. The great hope of cancer patients lies in their having treatment during the first stages of the disease. Cancer announces itself by symptoms that are frequently painless and apparently trivial, thus giving the disease an unseemly advantage. Early diagnosis is the one powerful antagonist.

"The danger signals can be classified as follows: Any lump in the breast or other part of the body; any persistent sore, particularly on the face or mouth; any unusual discharge or bleeding from any part of the body, such as vomiting of blood, passage of blood from the bowels, or unusual bleeding of any bodily passage, especially after middle-age. These symptoms may be from some other cause but should be diagnosed by a physician.

"Two main rules should be followed in cancer treatment. First, have an annual physical examination by a reputable physician. In this way incipient cancerous conditions can be discovered and by proper treatment the disease can be conquered. The second rule is to mistrust high promising statements of 'amazing new discoveries'."

STORIES IN STAMPS

BY I. S. KLEIN

EXILED "Fox" ON GERMAN DOLE

SHARP-BEAKED. sharp-beaked Ferdinand I of Bulgaria saw the World War coming, in 1914, and planned to profit by it. He let Europe know he needed a loan to build up his railways, and the great powers vied to gain his support. Germany won, but when the war came the crafty old fox declared his neutrality.

In September, 1915, however, Ferdinand secretly signed an alliance with Germany, after Kaiser Wilhelm had guaranteed payment of his private fortune in England, for withdrawal of that money at the time would have revealed the secret.

So to war went Bulgaria. In October, 1918, as defeat seemed imminent and revolt was in the air, Ferdinand fled. Since then he has lived quietly in a villa-like palace at Coburg, Germany, and since then he has been receiving pensions that already have mounted to more than $1,000,000. Germany fulfilled its promise to him. Now, at 76, ex-King Ferdinand interests himself in birds and the theater.

His portrait appears on many stamps of Bulgaria. One, issued on the 30th anniversary of his accession to the throne, is shown here.

Each time two students were given jobs, Mr. Johnson said, five applications had to be rejected, since the funds allocated for part-time employment of college students in Texas provided average wages of $15 a month for 6,502 students. Some institutions, seeking to spread employment further, reduced the rate of pay per student, this fact accounting for the difference between the number of students actually employed and the quota of jobs approved.

A total of 26,555 students in Texas as applied for part-time NYA jobs at 87 colleges and universities. Aid was denied to 19,143 of them, while 7,412 were given part-time employment.

The Texas rate of applications to jobs greatly exceeds that of the nation as a whole, Mr. Williams revealed. The national rate was 2.17 to 1.

Mr. Williams said that a summary of information received from more than four-fifths of the colleges and universities of the nation offering NYA work assistance to students revealed that applications had been made by 215,334 young men and women for 98,995 jobs, leaving 116,339 who would not be provided for.

"We cannot be certain what happened to those who had to be turned down," Mr. Williams said, "but it goes without saying that many of them either had to forego college entirely or resort to the most dire economics in order to attend."

GAY-COLORED EARMUFFS COME BACK ON CAMPUS

MINNEAPOLIS, Feb. 20 (UP)—The ear-muff, generally classed with red flannels, celluloid collars and Paul Bunyan's blue snow as vestiges of a remote past, again has come into its own.

The girls, though, scoff at the WPA style, snarled muffs. To crash scorty riv earmuffs must be gay—bright colors, and pastel shades or plaids. They are made of velveteen or fleece or fur and stick out from the ears like open doors on a taxi-cab.

Appropriate Pie For This Day

A pie in the best American historical tradition—cherry. For Washington's Birthday—cherry chiffon, light, ruddy, combining cherry and pineapple flavors into a festival. Note the fluted paper plate doilies with their patriotic designs.

By Mrs. GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Service Staff Writer

Toy cannon on the table and cherries in a pie are the accepted symbols for Washington's Birthday parties. George Washington had to chop down a tree for his berries, but we today need only a can opener. Which proves there is something to be said in praise of Republics.

Cherry Chiffon Pie
One cup boiling water, 1 package cherry flavor gelatin dessert, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/2 cup pineapple juice, 4 eggs, 1/4 cup sugar, 3/4 cup crushed pineapple, 1 tablespoon chopped maraschino cherries, 1 baked pastry shell.

Dissolve quick-setting gelatin dessert in boiling water. Add salt, then add pineapple juice. Beat egg yolks; add hot gelatin mixture slowly stirring constantly; add crushed pineapple. Beat egg whites until stiff. Gradually beat in sugar. Fold into gelatin mixture with maraschino cherries. Pour into baked pastry shell. Chill until firm. Garnish with maraschino cherries. This pie rates a salute of 21 guns.

The Father of Our Country was quite a hand at pie, himself. That is he enjoyed a slice of pie as much as any patriot. His non-stop flights

BREAKFAST: Orange and grapefruit juice, bacon omelet, buttered toast, crabapple jelly, coffee, milk.

DINNER: Celery hearts, olives, roast shoulder of fresh ham, bread stuffing, pan-roasted sweet potatoes, french string beans, cherry chiffon pie, coffee, milk.

SUPPER: Potato soup, oatmeal muffins, strawberry jam, tea, milk.

from one banquet to another during the peaceful days is a matter of history. A cherry walnut pie is just the type of snack he would have praised.

Cherry Walnut Pie
(9 inch size)

Two cups pitted red cherries (No. 2 can), 1 1/2 cups sugar, 1 1/4 cups cherry juice, 1 tablespoon plain gelatin, 1/2 cup cold water, 1/2 cup broken walnut meats (use black walnuts if possible), dash of cinnamon, 1/2 pint cream, whipped. Soak gelatin in cold water. Heat the sugar and cherry juice and cinnamon to boiling point, stirring until sugar is dissolved. Add the soaked gelatin to the hot juice and allow to set in cold place until a soft, quivery jelly forms. Carefully fold in the cherries and broken walnut meats so that they remain in suspension in the jelly. Pour this mixture into a cold, crispy and freshly baked pie shell. Stand until firm. Top with whipped cream.

Old-Fashioned Cherry Pie
(9 inch size)
One No. 2 can pitted red cherries, 1 1/2 cups sugar, 4 tablespoons flour, 1 tablespoon butter, pastry for 2 crusts.

Drain cherries, cover with sugar and stand 15 minutes. Line 9-inch pie plate with pastry. Pat 2 tablespoons flour into surface of lower crust. Fill crust with sweetened cherries and dredge with remaining 4 tablespoons of flour. Dot surface with butter and cover with top crust. Prick with fork. Bake in hot oven (400 deg. F.) for 15 minutes, then reduce heat to slow (300 deg. F.) and continue to bake for another 20 to 30 minutes, until done.

Hollywood Glamour Gals

By PAUL HARRISON
NEA Service Staff Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 19—If Dorothy Lamour attains stardom by the glamor route, it will be in spite of her best efforts to dispel any aura of mystery.

She just won't put on an act. This attitude is distressing to her studio, which believes that it really has something in the slate-eyed brunet with natural languor and a suggestion of voluptuousness.

The fans like her, too. Their response to the single picture in which she has appeared indicates that she has that certain quality which locally is defined as "umph."

Clad in a sarong and a string of beads, Miss Lamour made her debut in the latest Hollywood primitive, called "The Jungle Princess." She also sang. Movie-makers had considered "Moonlight and Shadows" an inconspicuous little tune not worth publishing. But it attained the stature of a hit after being introduced with the Lamour brand of "umph."

She recently finished a dangerous-woman role in "Swing High, Swing Low," and now is emoting and howling as the second feminine lead in "High, Wide and Handsome." Her bosses tell her that she can be a star, but please, please to be a little less modest, a shade more aloof.

"And for heaven's sake," they tell her, "quit talking about your husband."

But she goes right on talking about her husband, and how she sang with a dance band, and worked in a department store. Miss Lamour is a realist.

PAID WITH GROCERIES
She could use a sugary southern drawl or a French accent, if she chose. But she doesn't choose. The actress was born in New Orleans 22 years ago and her family spoke only French at home.

She is three-fourths French and a quarter Irish, and her name really is Lamour. Ribbons around the studio call her "Toujour l'Amour," but she doesn't get very angry about it.

At three, Dorothy stood on bunting-draped boxes, sang war songs, and sold thrift stamps. At five, she sneaked into a neighborhood theater, found it was amateur night, sang a song, and collected a basket of groceries. One of her bitterest memories is that a boy took the basket away from her before she got home.

She and her mother needed those groceries; they had a tough time of it after the mother and father were separated (He was killed seven years ago in an airplane crash.)

Mrs. Lamour worked and Dorothy went to school. She was a close friend of the late Dorothy Dell, who was fatally injured in an automobile accident in Hollywood in 1934. Both Dorothy's entered a New Orleans beauty contest in 1930, and Miss Dell won.

She went to Galveston and became "Miss Universe." Next year Miss Lamour again entered, and, as "Miss New Orleans," was sent to Galveston for the finals. She lost.

"So I went to Chicago as a model in a big department store," the actress recalled. "Pretty soon they laid off all the models. I had to work, so I clerked. I believe I worked in almost every department. I even ran an elevator."

THE TIDE TURNS
"Then the Follies came to town and Dorothy Dell was in the show. She introduced me to a woman hotel executive, and I was booked to sing at the hotel's regular 'theatrical night.' Herb Kay was in the audience. He had an orchestra. He came to see me and asked if I'd take an audition to sing with his band."

"I knew he was just about to hire Jan—ah—a radio personality—who could sing rings around me, and I was scared. On the way to the audition, I fell down and tore my dress. He was awfully sweet and I got the job."

"I sang with the orchestra three years. Herb and I kind of went around together and it was fun. But I fell in love with him and he didn't seem to be in love with me, or at least he didn't say anything."

"So pretty soon I couldn't stand it any longer and quit and went to New York. Two weeks later he flew to New York and proposed, so we flew to Chicago where he was playing and were married."

Uncounted thousands of masculine fans probably will witness at the information that Miss Lamour fairly glows as she talks about her husband. But she will talk about him.

HUBBY'S "GRAMPAW"
"When he isn't working, he comes to Hollywood. When I finish a picture, I go to him. When this picture is made, I'll fly to San Antonio because he's playing down there."

"We understand each other. He says he knows that I have to go out and be seen. So I do go out, but always with a crowd. Naturally I don't get any kick out of night clubs, after three years of seeing all kinds of 'em."

"I never had a bit of voice training except the suggestions Herb has given me. No, I don't know anything about music; can't read a note. I just learn my songs by rote and by practice, and I like torchy songs best."

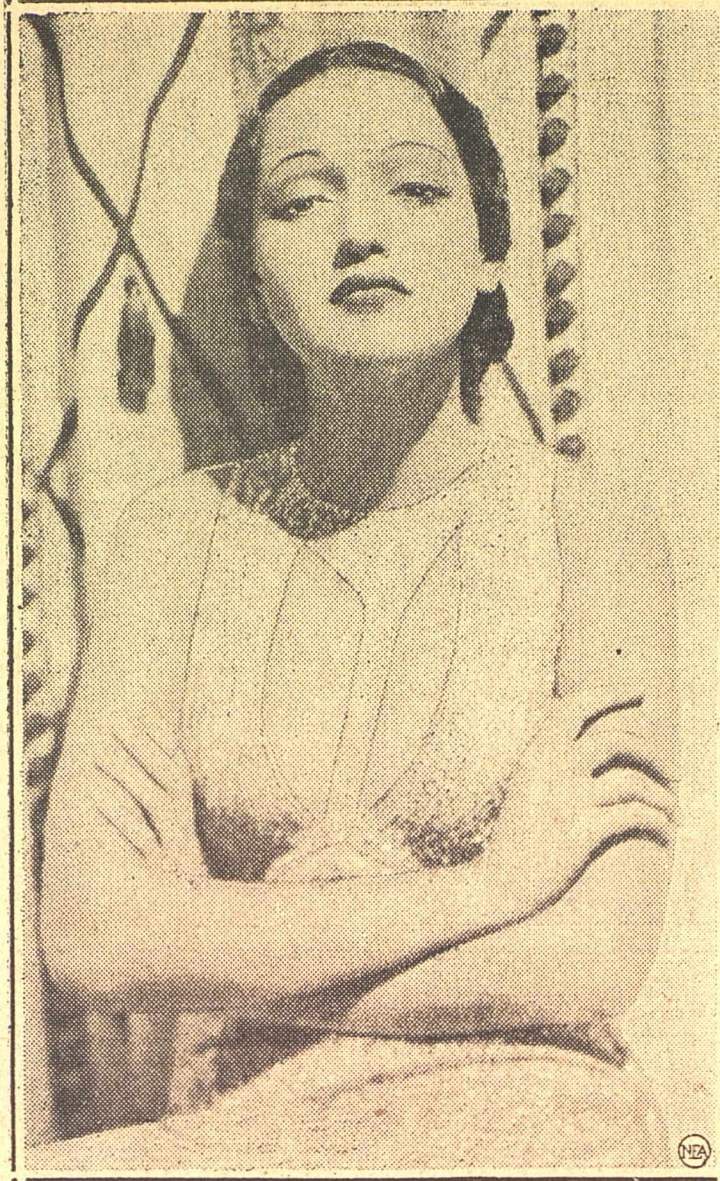

"Herb adores Carmen—that's my mother. She's only 41. Herb is 30. We call him 'Gram paw.' We talk to him almost every night on the telephone. Mother was awfully ill lately, with an operation. He called about every hour."

Miss Lamour was on the air for a year, but never had a screen test until NBC sent her to Hollywood. Here she was considered for the Helen Morgan role in Universal's revival of "Show Boat," but they got Helen Morgan.

FOND OF CAROLE
Meanwhile Paramount executives had seen her photograph in a magazine and asked for a screen test. She got a Paramount contract. Officials were so impressed that they started her in "Jungle Princess."

She has only one favorite actress, and that's Carole Lombard. Her admiration is partly gratitude because it was Miss Lombard who had Miss Lamour's role in "Swing High, Swing Low," rewritten, protesting that it was unfair to place a promising newcomer in such an unsympathetic part.

Helped her with her makeup, too.

Dorothy Lamour

and insisted that she get more close-ups in the picture. Sometimes the established star would call the youngster aside and say, 'Look, kid, here's a little trick that'll help you; it took me 12 years to learn...'

Miss Lamour shouldn't tell things like that. Such facts are supposed to destroy illusions about her, dim her glamor.

TRAFFIC DEATH CHARTS FOR ST. LOUIS MADE
ST. LOUIS, Feb. 20 (U.P.)—The St. Louis Safety Council has compiled a chart of death, based on the records of 147 persons who were killed here last year in traffic accidents, which shows that 71 per cent of the victims were pedestrians. Other deaths figured, in percentage, this way:

Automobiles colliding, 10 per cent; automobiles striking fixed objects, 7 per cent; and non-collision automobile accidents (skidding, etc.), 5 per cent.

ARKANSAS OIL SLUMPS
EL DORADO, Ark. (U.P.)—Arkansas has witnessed a steady drop in production of crude oil since '25, state reports show. Peak production of 77,398,000 barrels was reached in 1925. Yield last year was 10,676,450 barrels.

GRASSHOPPERS OUT EARLY
STREUBENVILLE, O. (U.P.)—The improvident grasshopper in the fable could have laughed at the ant this winter. A resident of nearby East Springfield reported seeing several dozen grasshoppers leaping merrily in sere field grass.

Canada exported 1320 million pounds of woodpulp in 1935, ranking fourth in such exports. Sweden led with 5353 million pounds, Finland came second with 3567 million, and Norway fourth with 1674 million pounds.

POST OF COORDINATOR IS REQUIRED BY CAVALCADE AT TEXAS EXPOSITION

DALLAS, Feb. 22—Sound, though it travels about 1100 feet a second, lags out of step with sight when it travels across a stage the size of a city block and into stands seating thousands of watchers. That is why, on a vast outdoor setting for "Cavalcade of the Americas" for the Greater Texas and Pan American Exposition, opening June 12 at Dallas, show business has taken a tip from President Roosevelt's new deal and assigned a new super-director—the coordinator.

In a like but lesser setting last year, the dramatization of 100 years of Texas independence filled the world's then-largest stage. The added centuries of civilization of the First Americans and of other white men who came here before the Pilgrim Fathers, will march in multiplied ranks through vibrant scenes on a set so deep that even the eclipsed set-up for timing and cues must be on a new basis. Directors are fitting sound to action in diatonic-orthochromatic scale, assigning this to a coordinator. Meantime, directors are building into this audio-visible setting sequences of high-lights and through the four and a half centuries since the landing of Columbus.

The theme of liberation, a story catholic to the republics of both hemispheres of the Americas, is woven through the drama-spectacle that reduces to one of its chapters the pulse-quickening narrative of Texas which, dramatized in the Lone Star state's 100th birthday last year, drew 1,198,000 who paid to see its glories unfolded in a living presentation.

New to the drama world is the deft adaptation to this setting, where high-banked earth and a Texas sky make the stage of sight and sound into a balanced performance that brings to an audience of thousands the audible clarity of the smallest playhouse. Auditory perspective follows the speaking players across the expanse of this nature's theater, broad and deep as a city block, and brings a realistic voice for the hearing of audience, whether in front row box or deepest balcony row ZZZ. Producers of the historic spectacle are enthusiastic about this stereophonic set-up that corrects all previous experiments in amplified voice which, until now, had never achieved true fidelity and direction, wherein ear verifies the truth of eye in the audience.

Full nuance of mysticism, of melodrama, of humor and of patriotic fervor in accurate delineation if the history of the Western World is designed to make the presentation one of the thrills and dramatic power along with an authentic educational value.

Some thirty scenes, actually one-act plays, some of them reduced to flash tableaux, are being knit together in a progressive march of the western world, both north and south of the equator.

Its beginnings will trace back to the pre-discovery period, the Americas before the white man. Settings for this will be Montezuma's Tenochtitlan, in the shadow of the then-active volcano Popocatepetl, on the site of the present capital of Mexico. Foreground of the great stage here is to be a superimposed series of pyramids of the civilization that flourished at the time of the golden age of Greece. Narration will color this scene as high priests lead worshippers bearing the nude body of a beautiful girl as a living sacrifice to Quetzalcoatl, the serpent God. Angered volcanic eruptions are being manufactured in combination of sound and lighting to instill foreboding.

In quick sequences will follow the landing of Christopher Columbus on San Salvador, and Balboa's sighting of the Pacific ocean.

As conquest follows discovery, the spectacle dramatizes Montezuma's reception of Cortez, the capture of Montezuma, and the defaming and destruction of an Aztec God.

Colonization is yet an unsettled matter for Cavalcade's re-creators, but since chronology would swing the scene to North America, the setting may be Jamestown.

Common issue of both continents, revolt against old world rule, was led off to in North America, crystallizing in the epic address of Patrick Henry an episode that intrigues the imagination of the dramatist.

The surging march of peoples in revolt will be given stirring sequence, with the surrender of Cornwallis a forerunner in the world's calendar of Bolivar's later leadership of an independence.

The forward push of industry and of agriculture and commerce will be told in the inter-American relations leading up, before a rousing finale, to President Roosevelt's appearance before the conference with in the year at Buenos Aires, out of which grows the "good neighbor" policy of the America's which is the theme of the Greater Texas and Pan American Exposition in Dallas, June 12 through October, in the $25,000,000 park built last year for the state's 100th birthday party.
