LETTER OF ANDREAS KIESCHRICHT TO GOV. PEASE.

The following letter of resignation from Andreas Kieschricht, Justice of the Peace of Bastrop county, to Governor Pease, has the ring of true metal about it. Mr. Kieschricht has administered a rebuke to those high in authority, which ought to arouse them to action, or subject them to contempt. It is right here all our bad government arises; it is just in the matter complained of by Mr. Kieschricht that originates the crime all over our State. The under officers are disloyal, or if loyal are unsustained by those above them:—

SERBIN, BASTROP COUNTY, TEXAS, }
April 28, 1868. }

To His Excellency E. M. Pease, Governor of Texas, Austin, Texas.

Sir:—Some weeks ago while in the discharge of my official duties as Justice of the Peace, I was attacked by a band of outlaws, who had broken into our settlement, and severely wounded with a bowie knife by a certain Gorman. These desperadoes are harbored in the woods of this neighborhood, committing depredations upon the quiet and peaceable German settlers of this vicinity. I appealed through Captain Porter to General Reynolds for protection and military assistance to arrest the offenders, but my petition was not noticed at Headquarters.
It may be proper to state here that it would be impracticable to summon a posse of citizens, as the gang of desperados are too numerous to be caught at once, and the remaining outlaws with their connections would certainly fall en masse upon every farmer who would obey such summons, when they find him alone in his field. It was therefore that I most respectfully asked General Reynolds, through Captain B. Porter, Sub-Assistant Commissioner of Bastrop county, to send us a file of soldiers for the arrest of murderers and assassins. We have patiently been waiting for these troops, but in vain. Captain Porter informs us that he has not received a reply to the statement and petition sent by him to Headquarters, and we have abandoned the hope that something will be done for our relief.

Allow me, therefore, Governor, most respectfully to tender herewith my resignation as Justice of the Peace of this county, as I deem it incompatible with right and honor to serve a Government that with all the power at its command is unwilling to protect even her most humble public servant in the discharge of his duties.

Were I General of this mighty Republic, and the Government would fail to protect me in my official duties, I should readily break my sword under my feet and throw it with contempt before my superiors.

Were I a Judge, and the Government would refuse to lend me her strong arm to administer the law, I should trample upon my commission, before I would be willing to dishonor the chair of justice.

I am only an humble Magistrate; there is no salary connected with my office.
It is merely the honor which every republican citizen should feel when serving his country, even in the capacity of Justice or Constable; but such service becomes a dishonor if that Government present a deaf ear to the appeals of her loyal officers.

Not doubting that the General commanding this District may find a citizen as my successor, who may be willing to serve as Magistrate under existing circumstances, I have the honor to remain, Governor, your very obedient servant,

ANDREAS KIESCHRICHT.

A credulous man said to a wag who had a wooden leg, "How came you to have a wooden leg?" "Why," answered the wag, "my father had one, and so had my grandfather. It runs in the blood."

ing for her father and mother, and in the afternoon drives out with the finest span of horses in town, thinking it an honor to be able to prepare a meal of victuals. This her sister belles declare

PITCH IN.—The Houston Democrat is on the highway to rebel favor; already it is outstripping its rebel contemporaries, and causing them to denounce it as a rival of the La Cross Democrat.

Parson Gillespie, was called upon the other day at San Jacinto to swear most profanely at the radicals, and conquer in order to save the reputation of the Telegraph. Now, that the thieves are falling out there may be a chance for honest men. Pitch in.

The "Judge" Nelson—employed by Andrew Johnson to assist such lawyers as Stanberry, Curtis, and Everts, is the notorious T. A. R. Nelson of Tennessee, whose loose style of oratory has been the laughing stock of back-woodsmen for fifteen or twenty years. He is generally called "Tar" Nelson. His speech so much lauded by Conservatives, is ridiculed by every sensible journal at the North. If Johnson's fate depends upon Nelson's eloquence, impeachment is a certainty.

THE FRONTIER—THE WINE CUP.—A gentleman just from Guadalupe hills, reports the country looking in marvelous splendor. The grass is finer than for many years, the crops are exceedingly fine and the promised yield of wild fruit of all kinds is perfectly monstrous, particularly grapes. Several hundred barrels of wine will be made, and several thousand could be made if the people were here to make it. Texas wants enough in one year to feed an army of emigrants.

THE KU-KLUX-KLAN'S AT WORK IN TEXAS.—There was a soldier found dead in the water out at the Salado, Sunday, supposed to have been dead about ten days. He had on a blouse, blue pants, army shirt, shoes and socks. Justice Briggs, acting coroner, held an inquest, and upon examination proved that he came to his death by having been struck upon the head with some sharp instrument and afterwards thrown into the water. The blow fractured his skull and caused his death; he was about thirty years of age.

It is supposed this soldier belonged to Co. "F" 35th Infantry, now on duty at this Post, being a little crazy he wandered away about three weeks ago, and is supposed to have been killed by some rebel on account of the color of his clothing.

IMPEACHMENT.—Our noon dispatches furnish all that Johnson had to say in his behalf. Their end is near at hand.

PETROLEUM.—We are in receipt of a specimen of earth saturated with crude petroleum, plowed up on the farm of Dr. Teel, two and a half miles below the city on the west side of the San Pedro. The article is genuine. The specimen sent us is strong enough to scent up our editorial sanctum, and the spot from which it was taken is very strong. We have not learned whether the owner in-

BRABINE.—John C. Brabine, the pirate of the Chesapeake, has addressed an appeal to "Alabama" Semmes asking that pecuniary aid be solicited for him among the people of the South. His address is Kings county Penitentiary, and the smallest favors thankfully received; larger ones, etc.

This high toned rebel pirate not being satisfied with his quarters in a penitentiary, now proposes to bleed the people of the South to the tune of a few hundred dollars more or less in order to make himself comfortable. This is the mean specimen of a man who ran his ship among a fleet of poor defenseless fishermen and destroyed the little savings that they had toiled years for.

The penitentiary now affords him a fine field from which to address, the sympathetic South, and he no doubt blesses his fortune that he has such an opportunity to excite the generous feelings of the chivalry. As soon as his term is out, he will probably become a distinguished member of that order of assassins, the ku-klux-klan rebels, pirates, inmates of the penitentiary, and all go together.

In Arkansas, South Carolina and Louisiana the new and free constitutions have certainly been adopted. These States will soon be represented in Congress, and in the full possession of the rights of States. With loyal ascendancy assured by manhood suffrage they will enter upon a new career of prosperity. The security of Northern men and Northern capital will be assured, and their resources will be developed with a rapidity hitherto unknown.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

States divided into three States, each larger than the States named above, with three constitutions securing manhood suffrage and loyal ascendancy, will bring up the train of Southern States again entering the Union and opening their arms to all who will come and make their homes in our midst.

Conclusion of Stanberry's Speech

WASHINGTON, May 4.—Mr. Stanberry concluded as follows:

Now, listen to the one who understands Andrew Johnson better than most of you, for his opportunities have been greater. When nearly two years ago he called me from the pursuits of my professional life to take a seat in his cabinet, I assumed the call under a sense of public duty; I came here a stranger to him and to every member of the cabinet except Mr. Stanton, we had been friends for many years.

Senators need I tell you, that all my tendencies are Conservative; you Mr. Chief Justice who have known me for a third of a century can bear me witness; law, not arms is my profession. From the moment that I was honored with a seat in the cabinet of Mr. Johnson, not a step was taken that did not come under my observation; not a word was said that escaped my attention. I regarded him closely in cabinet and still more in private and confidential ways. I saw him after tempted with bad advice, I knew that evil counselors were more than once around him; I observed him with the most intense anxiety, but never in word, nor in deed, or in thought or in action did I discover in that man anything but loyalty to the Constitution and the laws. He stood firm as a rock against all temptation to advise his own powers or to exercise those which were not conferred upon him steadfast and self-reliant in the midst of all difficulties, when danger threatened, when temptations were strong he looked only to the Constitution of his country and to the people. Yes, Senators I have seen that man tried, as few been tried; I have seen his confidence abused, I have seen him endure day after day privations such as few men had ever been called upon to meet; no man could have met them with come and when it did come my only wonder was that it had been so long delayed. Yes, Senators with all his faults, the President has been more sinned against than sinning; fear not then to acquit him; the Constitution of the country is as safe in his hands from violence as it was in the hands of Washington; now Senators if you condemn him, if you strip him of his office, if you degrade him to the utmost stretch of your power; mark the prophecy the strong arm of the people will be about him; they will find a way to raise him from any depth to which you may consign him. We shall live to see him redeemed and hear the majestic voice of the people say "well done faithful servant you shall have your reward;" but if, Senators, as I cannot believe, but has been boldly said with almost official sanction, your votes have been canvassed and the doom of the President sealed then let that judgement be pronounced in this Senate, Chamber just here where our catillas in the hour of our greatest peril, single handed met and baffled the enemies of the Republic; not here where he stood faithful among the faithful, not here where he fought the good fight for the Union and Constitution; not in this Chamber where wall's echo with that clarion voice that in the day's of our greatest danger, carried hope and comfort to many a desponding heart, strong as an army with banners, not here, seek out rather the darkest and gloomiest Chamber in the subterranean recesses of the Capitol when the cheerful light of day never enters there, erect the altar and immolate the victim.

The Washburne-Donnelly Quarrel.

WASHINGTON, May 4.—House.—Donnelly, of Minnesota, made a personal explanation. Washburne, of Illinois, had written a letter to Donnelly's constituents, denouncing him. Donnelly said the letter contained twenty-five false statements. Donnelly proceeded an hour and a half in the most bitter invective manner. The Speaker called him to order half a dozen times; but Washburne said let the party go on; and the House not objecting, he went on. Donnelly had the letter read, which shows that Washburne had outrageously slandered him.

Washburne replied, reiterating the truth of his letter, and saying that he could make no answer to a man who had been false to his friends, his party, his constituents, his religion, and his God.

Pending a motion to censure Washburne, the House adjourned.

Miscellaneous.

General Grant is visiting Philadelphia.

The Republican Congressional Committee have advices from Louisiana; they have one majority in the Senate, which will prevent the adoption of the 14th article of the Constitution, thus delaying reconstruction.

The Chicago Methodist Episcopal Conference has organized, Bishop Simpson chosen Chairman. The Chair received many petitions favoring lay delegations. Discussion favoring freedmen elicited considerable opposition, and colonization by Aid Societies was strongly advocated.

GRAND OPPORTUNITY

TO SECURE A VALUABLE PRIZE.

Sale of Jewelry, Furniture, Books, Paintings, Clothing & Provisions.

Owing to the hard times, Mrs. Ware has concluded to reduce the number of her tickets, and divide some valuable articles, so that there will be no blanks in her sale. Mrs. Ware, therefore, begs of the citizens of San Antonio, to assist her in an act of charity, simply by giving her the value of her articles. Each ticket not drawing an article, will receive 50 in currency, so that no person will lose but a fraction over that amount while a great many others will make from 20 to 100 per cent. A religious newspaper, called the Pulpit, in a recent article, referring to a case of a clergyman who had broken the seventh commandment, interposed a special plea in behalf of members of that profession for that class of offenses. The sedentary habits and mental occupations, and still more, the confidential relations and personal intimacy existing between the pastor and his flock, it said, conspire to develop and intensify certain passions unfavorable to the exercise of virtue, in a degree unknown in other professions. While affirming all this, it did not extenuate the crimes, but on the contrary insisted that every clergyman found guilty of unchaste behaviour must forthwith abandon the clerical office, there being no further opportunity for him to be useful to the cause of Christ.

TO STRANGERS.

Visitors at the Hotels in the city can have THE DAILY EXPRESS left at their rooms, for fifty cents per week in currency. The Carriers will call on the Clerks of Hotels, each morning, for names of transient subscribers.

REMEMBER OUR REMOVAL.—Our patrons will please remember that we are on Commerce Street, nearly opposite the old Presbyterian Church.

CORN.—See Proposals invited by Q. M. Department, for twenty-four thousand bushels of corn.

HAY.—The Government advertises for proposals for 11,260 tons of hay. See advertisement.

SALE OF Q. M. STORES.—On Monday the 11th inst. See advertisement.

CHANCE TO WEAR THE BLUE.—See advertisement of Government clothing for sale on the 12th inst.

THE LIGHT FANTASTIC TOE.—See Prof. Cuke's card.

ARTILLERY.—Quite a large quantity of ordnance, intended for the frontier, arrived yesterday.

ARRIVALS.—Large quantities of goods arrived in our city yesterday. Among the arrivals were several carts loaded with machinery.

CASINO.—The Theatrical performance at the Casino Sunday night, was finely rendered by the members of the Casino Dramatic Association, to a full house.

BANK INSPECTION.—Mr. Wilson, the National Bank Inspector, pounced down upon our National Bank, on Sunday afternoon, May 31, hunted the teller up, and had the cash counted out without delay; of course everything was right; but this is the way it is done.

RETURNED.—Mr. G. Schleicher has returned. We have not learned whether he built the Mexican Gulf road during his absence.

STILL ON THE CASINO.—The Sheriff served three more writs on the Casino yesterday, upon the same charge—of keeping a bar, billiard table and ten-pin alley without license. There was some talk of our worthy citizen, Julius Berends, President of the Casino, going to jail rather than submit to the giving of bonds.

PERSONAL.—Among the distinguished arrivals in our city are Judge Bell, of Austin; Judge Bacon of El Paso and Hon. W. W. Mills, Delegate elect from El Paso County, to the reconstruction Convention.

CARELESS SHOOTING.—On last Thursday two little girls, daughters of Capt. Williams, were shot with fine shot by a boy who was hunting in the suburbs of the city. Dr. Herff extracted the shot, which, had they been larger, might have caused serious consequences. Boys caught shooting about the city should be arrested and punished.

MAYOR'S COURT, May 4th.—Eduardo Elonize, E. Rodriguez, M. Hernandez, G. Garzia and M. Sanchez, for bathing in Pedro Creek, were each fined $2.00 and costs, paid.

Jane Jones, for being drunk and disorderly on streets, 30 days jail.

August Metzdorf, for being drunk and disorderly, fined $5.00 and costs.

Leo Christilo, for trotting over bridge, fined $2.00 and costs.

MULISH.—A wild young mule refused to be led across the bridge last Saturday, and, laying flat on the street, could not be urged to move; the owner at last hired a cart, and, with the assistance of several by-standers, put his muleship on it and drove him home. The stubborn animal seemed to enjoy the ride, amidst the shouts and laughter of the crowd.

CRISP AND THE CASINO.—In consequence of the terms of the Fire Insurance policy held by the Casino, we learn that the Casino Hall will not be let to Mr. Crisp or any other theatrical troupe for the future, so as to hazard the insurance policy. The Casino is insured for fifteen thousand dollars, and the terms of the policy do not embrace regular theatrical performances.

ON HIS WAY.—We have a letter from Judge Slaughter, just before his departure for New Orleans, from Galveston. The Ku-Klux-Klan were after the Judge, and he was obliged to travel in disguise.

IRRIGATION LAWS.

Power conferred by the City Charter—
State Law in regard to Irrigation property, etc.

ARTICLE 28TH, SECTION 9TH, CITY CHARTER

To re-open the old irrigating ditches within or beyond the present limits of the city, "and to regulate all matters connected with the dams, water gates," and distribution of water for irrigation: Provided, "That their ordinances shall not conflict with private and former established rights. They may revive any part of the rules and regulations formerly established by the Spanish government, as conditions of the grants of irrigated lands, and for this purpose may appoint overseers, enforce labor upon the same, and shall also have the same powers which are now by law conferred upon the county courts.

The law referred to in the foregoing article, is

An Act concerning Irrigation Property.

Article 3,915, page 667—Paschall's Digest of the laws of Texas.

The county courts may and they are hereby authorized to order, regulate "and control the time," mode, and "manner of erecting," repairing, "cleaning," guarding and protecting the dams, "ditches," roads and bridges belonging to any irrigation farms and property, and the fences and other like protection in and around such farms: Provided, "That such farms," dams, "ditches," and fences, be owned conjointly by two or more different persons: And provided, further, That the same be situated outside of a corporation having jurisdiction thereof.

ARTICLE 3,946.

Said county courts shall have power to ordain and establish all the needful police government and civil control over such irrigation farms and property, "and said courts may assess and collect fines for breaches of any regulations established by them, or by the joint owners of such farms and property, or recognised by said court as consistent with ancient usages and the law of the state," said courts may order meetings of said joint owners for the election of commissioners and other officers, and for the consideration of any of their other interests, or the said courts may proceed and elect said officers, "and may regulate the right of way," the stoppage and passage of water "and the right distribution of the shares of said water, they may forbid" the running of stock at large on the common farm, they may fine for taking water out of turn and for carelessness and wantonness in overflowing roads, and neighboring lands, and generally they may do or cause to be done, what they may consider just and needful, or beneficial to the joint owners.

ARTICLE 3,947.

If any owner of a surface or subdivision lot in said farm, shall fail or refuse to do or pay his or her proportion of labor and expense, in and on such dam, "ditches," fences, "bridges," and other needful appurtenances to such irrigation farms, "the said county court may, and they are hereby empowered to fine such persons, or to lease said surface: Provided, That such leasing shall be at public outcry, after ten or more days of due public notice, and the persons bidding the shortest term, not to exceed four years, who shall give good security to discharge faithfully all such charge and work.

ARTICLE 3,948.

Upon the application of the owners of any suitable lands and water, and the assurance and the proper security given to the county, if required by said court "that no injury will result to the public health," the county courts are hereby authorized "by decree to license and permit any such owners to proceed and dam the water, and to ditch, fence," and irrigate their lands: Provided, "That all such joint owners of new, or already established irrigation farms, shall be liable for damages done to the public," or to any person "by reason of the overflow of such irrigation water," suit to be brought against the person occasioning the injury, or in such other way as may be sanctioned by said court.

ARTICLE 3,949.

If the establishment of any new project of irrigation, or the extension thereof, "the county court deem it of sufficient importance, to order a dam or ditch to be made on the lands of any person refusing to consent thereto, the said court after giving such person actual notice in writing, and full hearing and consideration of his objection, may decree the making of the same "and shall dispatch two or more discreet and disinterested freeholders of the vicinage, to arbitrate and fix the amount of damage permanently sustained by such person, which shall be that or another such commissioner, be levied upon and paid forthwith by the applicants for such irrigation project, in the ratio of the interest and several shares of the said applicants and joint owners, and the said county courts may after like personal notice to the parties interested, order the multiplication or extension of any ditch for irrigation, and of irrigation farms, at and below, or at the sides of other such property, when it shall be the duty of such court to proceed and assess all just fees and equitable damages, and for fix and direct the rate and amount and kind of work, labor and to be paid by any of such applicants and others according to their interests.

ARTICLE 3,950.

When the health of the public may be injured by irrigation or the damming up of water for any purpose, it shall be the duty of the County Courts, after due and mature hearing and consideration, to decree the discontinuance, and they shall proceed and break up and discontinue all such dams, "ditches," and irrigation, whether the same have been heretofore ever so long in existence, or may be hereafter started.

ARTICLE 3,951.

In counties where the County Court may decree and adjudge that fences around irrigation farms may be dispensed with, they may make all fair, equal and proper regulations for the keeping up or herding of hogs, "cattle" and other stock, "and for the security and protection of the crops and farms: Provided, That if ten or more voters shall make written protest against such decree, then the said court shall proceed by notice and a public election and ascertain if two-thirds of the voters be in favor of dispensing with the use of fences, otherwise it shall not be so decreed.

ARTICLE 3,952.
