The SDN Column

Last week's rains apparently covered all territory from New Mexico into Louisiana and then some, and among those who prospered from it were fishermen. It is not uncommon for fresh water fish to become active when streams are flowing new supplies into their lakes.

So, it was not unexpected when a fish story of sorts emerged the past weekend. It bears repeating, because it may typify the conscientious fisherman, but, for obvious reasons, we must omit names. Anyway, it is believed to be somewhat creditable since its was recited inside a church building without hesitation.

Here's how it went:

"We were out on this lake anchor fishing. Our boat gradually swung around and after a time, we decided to pull up the anchor and move to a new location. As the anchor reached the surface, we discovered that it had hooked someone's trotline.

"This complicated matters, because a closer look revealed a 10-pound catfish on a trotline hook that was tangled with our anchor.

"There was absolutely no way to get the anchor loose without cutting the hook off the trotline. So, after thorough investigation of all possibilities, the hook was detached, and do you know that old catfish just bounced into our boat.

"Now, we really had a problem. We didn't know who the trotline belonged to, and no fisherman wants to throw back a 10-pound catfish. So, we did the only sensible thing in situations like this. We took that catfish home and ate him."

This story has the earmarks of authenticity and suggests that this fisherman's veracity may be a bit above average. There are some who would have claimed that they hooked the catfish on their own rig. Then there are some who probably would not have said anything about it at all.

We need to clarify an item in Sunday's column, in which we got trapped off base on a piece of publicity from up Canyon way. We listed Brian Nobles as a Snyder High Drama student, but he belongs to Western Texas College. He is a set designer and builder and is working this summer on the "Texas" musical drama in Palo Duro Canyon. They have him listed as simply from Snyder, along with Dane Witherspoon and Sarah Coleman, who have acting roles in the play. Charles Holland reports that Nobles will be back at WTC the coming term to build sets for drama productions there.—WACIL McNAIR.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Tuesday, July 20, the 202nd day of 1976. There are 164 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in History:

On this date in 1969, the American astronauts, Neil Armstrong and Edwin Aldrin, became the first men to land on the moon.

On this date:

In 1810, Colombia declared independence from Spain.

In 1861, the Congress of the Civil War Confederacy began holding sessions in Richmond, Va.

In 1913, Turkey recaptured the city of Adrianople from Bulgaria.

In 1944, during World War 11, Radio Berlin reported that Adolf Hitler had narrowly escaped death in a bomb plot.

In 1945, the U.S. flag was raised over Berlin as American troops prepared to take part in the occupation government after World War 11.

In 1974, Turkey invaded the Mediterranean island of Cyprus with powerful land, sea and air forces.

Ten years ago: President Johnson warned that the United States would take unspecified action against North Vietnam if that nation tried captured American pilots as war criminals.

Five years ago: Fighting in South Vietnam was at its lowest ebb in six years.

One year ago: Hundreds of Cambodians were gunned down by Communist troops as they tried escape into Thailand.

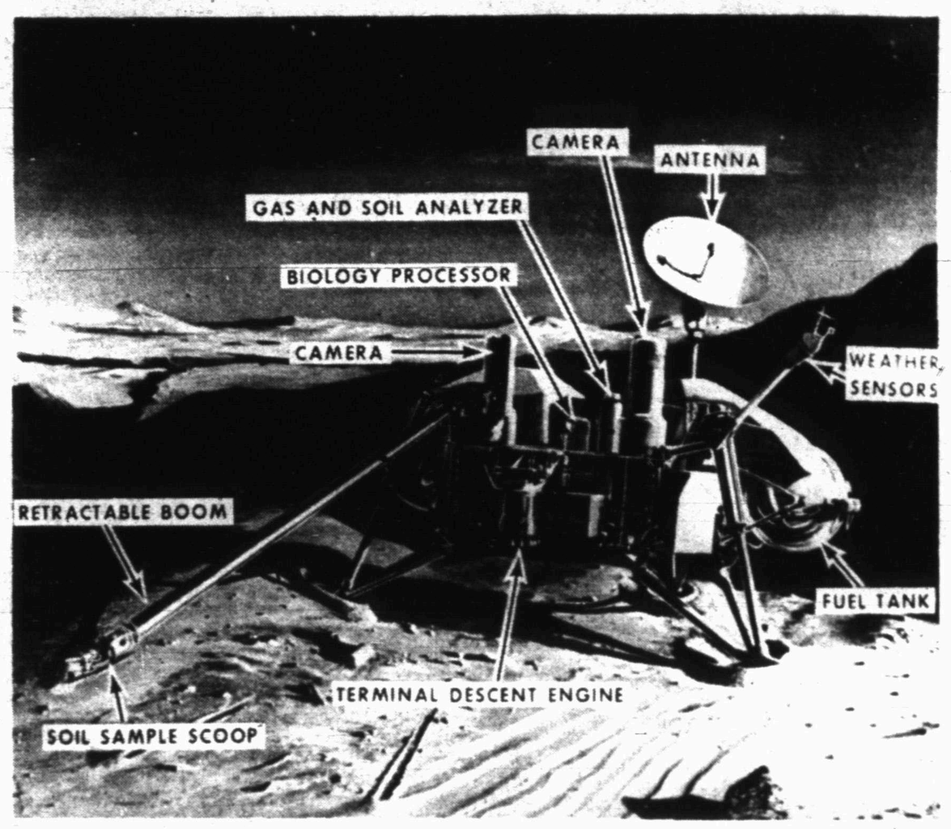
Spacecraft Lands On Mars



ARTIST'S CONCEPTION OF VIKING LANDER ON MARS—This is an artist's conception of the Viking lander as it could look after its landing Tuesday on the surface of the planet Mars. Viking 1 Pictures Couldn't Be Better

By PETER J. BOYER
Associated Press Writer

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — America's Viking 1 spacecraft landed today on a dusty plain of Mars to search for life on the red planet. In a spectacular space achievement, Viking began sending back razor-sharp photos of the planet's surface.

The pictures arrived dramatically, appearing line-by-line on television monitors after traveling 213 million miles at the speed of light. The failure of two earlier Soviet Mars landing crafts had heightened the tension in the project laboratory.

"The details are just incredible," said Dr. Thomas Mutch, head of the lander imaging team.

" It just couldn't be better," he said as the first picture, a portion of the surface directly under one leg of the lander appeared on television monitors at Jet Propulsion Laboratory. It was of the Chryse Planitia, the Gold Plain of Mars — the smoothest place on a planet marked by volcanic peaks and deep valleys and craters.

Later, the unmanned three-legged lander will make life-detection and soil sampling tests. For more than 100 years scientists have thought Mars might harbor some form of life.

Scientists cheered and hugged each other as the 1,300-pound craft radioed that it touched down on Mars at 4:53 a.m. PDT. The signal took 19 minutes to reach earth. For many, the achievement was a childhood dream come true — a Mars landing.

President Ford telephoned his congratulations to the project headquarters, calling the mission a "wonderful and most remarkable success."

He said, "I think it's amazing that in the span of a single lifetime, the exploration of space has grown from the dreams of very, very few individuals to such a massive cooperative reality."

Science fiction writer Ray Bradbury was at JPL for the touchdown, his dreams racing ahead of the Viking mission.

"I know in the next 20 years we'll have a manned landing on Mars — eventually we'll have colonized and taken over the planet," Bradbury said.

The first picture showed an area of soil strewn with what seemed to be chunks of rock of varying sizes. Mutch said it looked as though some of the rocks had tails of dirt formed by the rushing of strong Martian winds across the surface.

Scientists had expected the landing site, a low plain where streams may once have run, would be covered by a blanket of material deposited by the water. Although the pictures showed a rocky surface, the lander apparently avoided any geologic hazards that project officials had feared might imperil the touchdown.

In the corner of the first picture could be seen one of Viking's round metal landing footpads. The rivets on the footpad were visible and the footpad cast an oval shadow in the late afternoon sun as it rested on the soil among the rocks, which Mutch described as "a beautiful collection of boulders."

The second picture was to be a panoramic view of the Martian landscape, made by a camera on the lander with the ability to sweep a long path across the horizon.

As the lander's panoramic picture came through, oohs and aahs reverberated through the center.

"I think it's great," said Mission Director Thomas Young, viewing the Martian horizon. "It has exceeded all our expectations. The landing was O.K., there were no problems, and it's as scientifically interesting as we had hoped."

Economic Growth Rate Declines

By G. DAVID WALLACE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Gross National Product, the broadest measure of the nation's economic well-being, registered a sharp drop in the growth rate during the spring quarter, the government reported today. The drop was attributed primarily to a stabilization of business inventory accumulation.

The Commerce Department said the GNP grew at an annual rate of 4.4 per cent in volume for April through June, compared to a 9.2 per cent annual rate of growth in the year's first quarter.

Despite the decline in the rate of growth, most economists say they feel the drop will be temporary.

The GNP represents the nation's total output of goods and services and is a key determinent of how many new jobs the economy generates as well as the economic status of all Americans.

The Commerce Department said the slower growth rate was accompanied by a quickening of inflation. Prices as measured in the GNP accounts, which include the prices of all goods and services in the economy rather than just consumer prices, were up 5 per cent at an annual rate in the second quarter. The inflation rate in the first quarter was 3 per cent.

A sharp drop in the growth rate had been expected by Ford administration economists for at least a month.

Despite the slower growth rate, the GNP figures contained some encouraging signals. Demand in the economy, or the level of final sales, actually grew at a faster pace — 4.7 per cent at an annual rate. Final sales had climbed at a 3.7 per cent rate in the first quarter.

The reason that final sales managed to climb faster while the economy as a whole was growing more slowly is that the sharp boost in inventory accumulation of the first quarter was absent.

Businessmen satisfied demand in 1975 from inventories because they were overstocked with goods and raw materials in their storehouses. Then in the first three months of this year they suddenly began building inventories again.

That inventory building quickly stimulated production and created new jobs, but in the second quarter of this year inventory accumulation was at a slightly slower pace, slowing down creation of new jobs.

Inventories grew by $13.3 billion in the second quarter compared to a $14.8 billion growth in the first quarter, the government said.

State Likely To Decide Electric Franchise Issue

The Snyder City Council last night indicated that it is not interested in granting an additional franchise for electric service in Snyder and will wait for the new Public Utilities Commission of Texas to determine service rights in overlapping territory between two suppliers.

The question emerged here when development of a new residential subdivision in Southwest Snyder began a few weeks ago. Rodney Smith, the developer, obtained a meter from Midwest Electric Cooperative to provide power needed for construction work on the property. At the time, a portion of the property was outside the city limits and Midwest had a line in the area providing service to Towle Memorial Park, which it has continued to serve since the park was brought into the city limits several years ago.

Meanwhile, steps were taken to annex the property and additional right-of way for widening and extending Houston Avenue to the south was dedicated. Midwest Electric had poles in the street right-of-way, which it subsequently moved to the west edge of the street.

Texas Electric Service Co. has the franchise to provide electric service in the City of Snyder, and once the property in the subdivision was annexed, it claimed service rights there.

Midwest Electric said it had the right to provide service within a corridor of 200-foot radius as a result of a "blanket" authorization issued

Salary Increase At WTC Okayed

The Scurry County Junior College Board of Trustees in their regular meeting last night agreed to hike the salaries of Western Texas College employes, open up to the public the WTC golf course, tentatively approved the 1976-77 college budget, and accepted two more bids for installation of material in the new cosmetology and shop building.

The trustees adopted two personnel policy revisions granting 8 per cent salary increases for teachers and members of the WTC professional staff, as well as for persons holding maintenance and clerical positions. The salary increases, which are to take effect in the fall semester, reflect an 8 per cent increase over the 1975-76 school year salaries of the affected personnel.

The board also gave its tentative approval to a $2,590,038 financial statement for the upcoming 1976-77 WTC school year. Included in the statement are maintenance and salary expenses and the estimated costs of operating WTC for the school year.

The trustees also adopted a policy opening up the WTC golf course to the public. The only stipulation the decision carries is that WTC students will have priority in the use of the golf course facilities. No date has been set yet for the public opening of the golf course.

In other action, the trustees accepted a $3,100 bid from Cain Electric Co. of Big Spring for the installation of electrical wiring in the new building to house the cosmetology and welding shop facilities. Also accepted was a $3,271 bid from Nachlinger Plumbing Co. of Snyder for the installation of plumbing facilities in the new building.

The trustees accepted the resignations of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Riley. Riley is resigning his management coordinator position and his wife is resigning her position as dormitory supervisor. The resignations take effect in August. The trustees approved the full-time employment of Jerry Row as an instructor in electro-mechanical technology. Row had previously been employed at WTC on a part-time basis.

Also approved in last night's meeting was a definition concerning the use of a multi-purpose room at the county museum. The only change affected by the new policy is that museum activities will take precedence over college scheduling.

The trustees also adopted two new policies spelling out the job responsibilities and duties of the director of the pro shop and golf course as well ss the director of grounds maintenance.

The board heard a report presented by Gay Hickman, WTC business manager, concerning the Dora E. Cunningham Trust Fund for students. It was reported that with the latest contributions of $25,000 by Mrs. Julian M. Consley of Salt Lake City, Utah, approximately $100,000 is in the fund.

AFS Student En Route Here

A new American Field Service foreign exchange student is en route to her new "home".

New Zealander Robin Faye Trail is to arrive at 5:45 p.m. at Lubbock Municipal Airport today. Robin's American "family" in Snyder, the Guy Sullivans, are driving to the Hub City to pick up the 17-year-old newcomer.

At 10 a.m. tomorrow, a reception will be held at City Hall welcoming Robin to Snyder.

Robin will live with the Sullivans this year and attend Snyder High School. Sara Sullivan, a SHS senior, will be the exchange student's American "sister".

African Police Patrols Alerted

By LARRY HEINZERLING
Associated Press Writer

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Reinforced police patrols were on the alert for a new outbreak of rioting today in the Soweto township eight miles south of Johannesburg. But the birthplace of the black uprising last month remained calm.

The government postponed the reopening of black schools, scheduled for today, following widespread rumors of antigoverment demonstrations in Soweto to coincide with the resumption of classes.

The schools have been closed since the rioting last month in which 176 blacks and two whites were killed, and there were fears that the postponement would touch off new disturbances in the sprawling ghetto where the trouble last month began.

JIM MILLER RETURNING

Cattle Drive, Parade To Usher In Annual Rodeo

There will be a familiar voice at the microphone Wednesday night in the Scurry County Coliseum when the chute gates swing open at the 41st annual Scurry County Rodeo.

It will be Jim Miller of Rapid City, S.D., who will be on hand again to add color and experience to the World's Largest Indoor Amateur Rodeo.

Meanwhile, a herd of cattle was on its way today from the OS Ranch in Garza County. The herd will stop overnight tonight at the S.D. Hays Ranch northwest of Snyder and then march through town from west to east Wednesday afternoon, winding up at the coliseum prior to the first performance of the rodeo.

The big rodeo parade has been scheduled for 5 p.m. Wednesday, and since the rodeo this year has been designated as a Scurry County Centennial event, expanded participation has been encouraged.

The theme of the annual show for 1976 is "Western Heritage." All ranching families of the area have been urged to ride in the parade, and merchants have been asked to have entries, especially those who can display implements and merchandise of types used by pioneer settlers.

JIM MILLER

Float prizes this year have been increased to $150 for first place, $100 for second place, $90 for third place and $60 for fourth place.

First performance of the four-day rodeo will unfold at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the coliseum arena. Events will include calf roping, bull riding, bareback riding, saddle bronc riding, team toping, stockholder's roping, barrel race and junior goat-sacking.

For Jim Miller, it will be a familiar role. A native of Snyder, he is the son of the late W.C. Miller, formerly of Borden County. His father and uncle produced one of the first rodeos ever held in Snyder at what was known as Wolf Park. He has served as announcer for the rodeo here for the past eight consecutive years.

During the week, Miller is a successful real estate broker in South Dakota, but almost every weekend finds him winging his way to another rodeo somewhere in the United States or Canada. He pilots his own twin-engine airplane and is no stranger to many of the airports around Texas. Two weeks ago you could have found him in Iowa, one week ago in Montana, and last weekend in Minnesota.

Recently, when asked why he continues to travel to all of the rodeos, his reply was simple: "I enjoy rodeos and all the fine folks that I get to meet in my travels. If there ever was a truly happy man that would trade places with no one, it would have to be me."

Dr. Brock Is In New 'Who's Who'

Dr. V.N. (Ben) Brock, vice president at Western Texas College, has been selected as a biographee in the new thirty-ninth edition of Who's Who in America.

The two-volume 1976-77 bicentennial edition contains more than 72,000 biographic sketches of men and women who, through their initiative and dedication, are the recognized leaders of social, cultural, and economic affairs in the United States and Canada. The Marquis Who's Who in America is the basic reference book in contemporary American biography, an outstanding repository of biographical information about the honorees listed in the prestigious biographical directory.

Dr. Brock previously has been selected for Who's Who in Texas, Personalities of the South, Outstanding Americans in the South, and Notable Americans of the Bicentennial Era.

A magna cum laude graduate of Hardin-Simmons University, Dr. Brock received a master's degree from the University of Texas and the doctorate in education from Texas Tech University. He did additional graduate study at the University of Minnesota.

He was a teacher and administrator at Sweetwater before coming to Snyder High School as principal in 1964. Recognized as the Outstanding Young Man of the Year at Sweetwater, he was selected as the Outstanding Newspaper Adviser in Texas, and was named as one of the top ten journalism teachers in the nation by Wall Street Journal. He was awarded the coveted Gold Key from Columbia University in recognition as an outstanding educator.

He has been guest lecturer at Columbia University and the University of Minnesota, in addition to teaching or conducting workshops at Texas Woman's University, Texas A&M University, and the University of Texas at Austin.

on a state-wide basis by the Public Utility Commission of Texas, which, on Sept. 1, will begin regulating utilities in the state, except those reserved for municipalities.

Dan Cotton, attorney for Midwest, said Midwest believed that the 200-foot corridor provided in the state commission's certificate, plus the traditional "grandfather" rights permitting service where it had been established earlier, gave it the right to serve the new addition.

City Attorney Armstrong said, however, that the city council still had franchise-granting rights within the city's corporate boundaries, and that some questions must be answered in Austin before the service rights can be clearly defined.

The Public Utilities Commission of Texas has scheduled a certification hearing July 29 in Austin which will deal with the question here specifically.

Midwest had asked last night for permission to install conduit under the new extension to Houston Avenue while it is under construction in the event that it ultimately is certified to serve the new subdivision. However, Armstrong said that approval of such a request could be interpreted as granting a franchise, since it would be giving Midwest authority to install equipment in a city street, a privilege that goes with a franchise. Armstrong also said there are some questions concerning the "grandfather" rights. One contention is that they authorize continued service to an area, while another is that rights of continued service extend only to specific customers.

Ultimately, members of the council said they wanted to get some answers out of the state commission's hearing before reaching any decision on allowing service without a franchise and that they were not interested in granting an additional franchise.

Then they voted unanimously to reject the Midwest request to lay the conduit under Houston Avenue.

The council also indicated that it would be represented at the hearing in Austin.

Ford Defends Nixon Pardon

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford says he was right to pardon Richard Nixon in the wake of the Watergate scandals and that the voters will decide if the pardon should be a campaign issue.

Ford was jovial, talking like he had the nomination of his party sewed up, as he held a news conference on the White House lawn Monday.

But Nixon's name and the word Watergate kept popping up, both at the news conference and at the nearby offices of the AFL-CIO, which cited the pardon as one reason in explaining why the labor federation will support Democratic nominee Jimmy Carter over Ford.

Pressed by reporters, Ford said his decision to pardon Nixon was best for the nation. And he added, "I would do it again."

Democrats have raised the pardon and the memory of the Watergate scandals in launching their campaign to take the White House.

Ronald Reagan last week condemned the Watergate comments made at the Democratic National Convention as "brutal." He also said, however, that the pardon could hurt Republicans in the fall if Ford is the party's nominee.

But Ford indicated it would be the voters who would ultimately pass judgment on his pardon of Nixon.

"I think the American people will make the decision, not me, myself, whether it will be an issue or not," Ford said.

"I decided to grant the pardon in the national interest. At that time, the United States was faced with serious economic problems and we were still involved in a long and difficult war in Southeast Asia. We could not be involved in the Nixon matter and concentrate fully on the more important matters. I decided in the national interest, I would do it again."

Ford also said he has sent Congress new Watergate reform legislation "which would further advance our efforts to restore public confidence in the integrity of all three branches of the federal government."

Ford said he didn't like a Senate Watergate reform bill because it would allow federal judges to appoint special prosecutors to investigate wrongdoing by government officials without the president's approval.

Egypt Pulls Out Of Olympics

MONTREAL (AP) — Egypt pulled out of the Olympic Games today and 2,500 people waited in vain at the Etienne Desmarteau Arena as the Egyptian basketball team failed to show up for a game against Italy.

Egypt's decision brought the number of nations involved in the boycott to 29.

A spokesman at the Egyptian delegation headquarters at Olympic Village said the team had withdrawn from the Games and was preparing to leave for home.

At the basketball arena, the Italian team took the court as scheduled and the crowd waited expectantly. But 30 minutes before the scheduled 11 a.m. start officials received a phone call informing them the Egyptians were not coming.

Langdon Pushing Shale Oil

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Railroad commissioner Jim Langdon suggested today that the United States could solve its oil import problem by requiring importers to take shale oil, for example, before they can receive foreign oil.

Langdon told the regular statewide monthly oil allowable hearing that oil could be produced from shale over a period of years at no higher price than it costs to import oil.

"Imported foreign oil," he said, "continues to rise at an alarming rate."

Commission chairman Ben Ramsey said the four-week average of foreign oil imports as of July 9 was 5,499,000 barrels a day, an increase of 692,000 barrels a day from Jan. 2 and 1,726,000 barrels a day more than was being imported on Jan. 3, 1975.

The commission routinely set the August allowable at 100 per cent—for the 53rd consecutive month—after listening to major buyers of Texas crude ask for 3,985,121 barrels a day next month. This is an increase of 15,979 from July's daily nominations.

As usual, the East Texas field was restricted to 86 per cent of potential to avoid possible waste.

Car Fire Put Out

A car fire causing moderate damage to a vehicle was reported by city firemen.

The fire, they said, occurred in the motor of a vehicle belonging to Frances Brown. The blaze occurred Monday at 3:25 p.m. at the intersection of Twenty-fifth Street and Avenue O.

No one was injured in the fire and firemen reported that the cause of the fire had not been determined.

Christians And Moslems Agree To Buffer Zone

By FAROUK NASSAR
Associated Press Writer

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Lebanon's warring Christians and Moslems announced an agreement today to establish a buffer zone between their sectors of Beirut. The U.S. Embassy said it would try once more to evacuate Americans and other foreigners from the capital by road.

The embassy did not say when the second evacuation attempt would be made. A previous convoy scheduled for today was canceled because of continued fighting along the route.

Palestinian chief Yasir Arafat also announced he was sending a peace emissary to Damascus "because the Syrian-Palestinian crisis as well as the Lebanese civil war must come to an end."

Christian leaders offered to halt their attack on the Palestinian refugee camp Tal Zaatar in southeast Beirut for five hours Wednesday to allow the Red Cross to evacuate an estimated 1,000 wounded.

The Palestinians said privately they did not object to the truce offer but one spokesman said the final decision depends on what happens at a meeting scheduled for later today between leftist chief Kamal Jumblatt and Christian leaders.

A previous attempt to get the wounded out of the camp, which has been under attack for a month, failed when both sides began shooting again before the evacuation could begin.

Arafat held a night-long emergency conference with his allies, the leftist Lebanese Moslems. He also held his second secret meeting in three days with a delegation from the right-wing Christian Phalange party, which has the largest Christian militia fighting in the 15-month-old war.

Both the joint Palestinian-Moslem command and the Phalange party announced that the meeting resulted in agreement to restore electricity to Beirut and to establish a "free zone" to restore communication between the Moslem and Christian sectors of the city.

The announcement said both sides would withdraw their fighters from the 100-yard-wide no man's land in which U.S. Ambassador Francis E. Meloy Jr., his economic counselor and their Lebanese chauffeur were captured last month prior to their murder.

The zone will be manned within 48 hours of the withdrawal by 1,300 Saudi Arabian and Sudanese troops of the Arab League peacekeeping force who have been standing by at Beirut airport, the announcement said.

Observers believed Arafat's decision indicated he was ready to bow to Syrian President Hafez Assad's demand that he and his leftist Lebanese Moslem allies stop shooting and negotiate a peace settlement satisfactor to Syria.

Calls For Vaccine Report

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford pledged to save the troubled swine flu immunization program as a House panel, seeking a way out of the legal impasse which threatens the mass inoculation plan, called for a full report today from top federal health officials.

Rep. Paul Rogers, whose House Commerce subcommittee balked at administration proposals to have the government assume some responsibility for insuring drug manufacturers, summoned Department of Health, Education and Welfare officials to testify.

HEW Secretary David Mathews said Monday that manufacturers of the vaccine reported they had been unable to obtain adequate insurance to cover their participation in the administration program. "Without this protection they say they cannot sign contracts to sell vaccine to the Public Health Service for use in the program," Mathews said.

Ford said Monday, "We're going to find a way, either with or without the support of Congress, to carry out this program." He did not say how he would solve the problem between the drug companies and insurers who say they cannot afford the risk of insuring immunization of the entire American population.

Mathews and others involved have said repeatedly that the vaccine is safe and effective. The drug companies say they are willing to accept responsibility for the purity of their product, but that they want to be protected against nuisance suits.

Barrett Is Sentenced

Roger Paul Barrett, who pleaded guilty on July 9 to a charge of aggravated kidnaping, was sentenced this morning to serve 15 years and one day in the Texas Department of Corrections. The sentencing took place in 132nd District Court with Judge Wayland G. Holt presiding.

Barrett, 25, was accused of holding a gun on Department of Public Safety trooper Keith Pherigo while trying to make good an escape Dec. 8, 1975. That incident occurred on the east side of the Scurry County Courthouse when Barrett, an escapee from two jails, was apprehended by Pherigo.

The 15 year and one day sentence Barrett received today will be served concurrently with a 10 year sentence he received in Amarillo when he escaped from the Potter County Jail there.

Drug Abuse Program Is Presented To Newcomers

Jim Saunders with the Juvenile Division of the Snyder Police Department spoke to the Snyder Newcomers Club at its regular July meeting. The Newcomers and guests were shown a display of drugs and various methods of use. Mr. Saunders answered questions following his presentation. He stressed the danger of the widespread acceptability of the use of drugs among teenagers.

The business portion of the meeting was brought to order by Janet Moseley, president. Barbara Scannicchio, membership chairman, welcomed Charlotte Greene, Alane Cardinal, Kaye Danuser, and Jayne McClurg as first time visitors.

Announcements were made concerning upcoming activities for the club. A Couples Night is scheduled for July 23 at 7:30 p.m. at the Towle Park Barn. Each couple is asked to bring a salad or casserole for the dinner. Following the dinner, card tables will be set up for bridge and dominoes. If you would like to attend and have not signed up, please contact Vicki Jones, activities chairman. Also, the next salad luncheon will be August 5 at 11 a.m. at the home of Susan Mack.

Hostesses for the meeting and nursery were Janet Moseley and Peggy Engelhardt. Coffee and donuts were served after the meeting.

Newcomers would like to encourage anyone new to Snyder to come to its monthly meetings and become better acquainted with the club and community. The objective of the club is to promote congenial contacts for new citizens; thereby creating friendships and social groups to enable the newcomers to Snyder to adapt themselves to the business and social life of the community. A nursery is provided for the meetings and luncheons. The next meeting will be August 12 at 10 a.m. at the Snyder Savings and Loan Building. Frank Miller, principal at West Elementary School, will be the speaker.

DRUG DISPLAY—Jim Saunders with the Juvenile Division of the Snyder Police Department, shows members and guests of the Snyder Newcomers Club, a display of drugs and equipment connected with drug use. Looking at the display are first time visitors to the club (from left) Kaye Danuser, Alane Cardinal, Charlotte Greene, and Jayne McClurge.

PRESENTS CHECK—Snyder Jaycees recently sponsored their 2nd annual Slow Pitch Softball Tournament, with proceeds from the games going to the Medical Scholarship Fund of Cogdell Memorial Hospital. Robert Pinkston, chairman of the project, is shown presenting the check to Billie Mills, scholarship fund chairman.

Economy, Sentiment Good Reasons For Faded Jeans

NEW YORK (AP) — Blue jeans are kept until they literally fall apart, not only for utilitarian purposes and economy reasons but because of sentiment attached to a pair, according to a group of young college students from over the country.

The 14, in New York as guest editors of Mademoiselle Magazine, expressed their feelings about their favorite pair of jeans at a luncheon in their honor given by the Denim Council.

"My ugly old pair with the snag on the left knee acquired while climbing a barbed wire fence during my first deer hunt is my favorite," Carol Ann Fensholt, University of Wisconsin, said. A jeans wearer all her life, she currently has four pairs.

The special pair of denims Jillaire Henrie of Utah State University identifies with is "the pair I wore all over Europe, now all covered with paint."

"My favorite pair are the ones I bought just before I went to high school," claims Becky Voight of Mills College in Oakland, Calif. "I wore them all the way through and the memories of those denims run deep."

One young woman's cherished jeans are only a memory now. Gina Stone of the Rhode Island School of Design said, "I accidentally left them on a shelf that was above my eye level in a youth hostel in Switzerland."

Jan Arnold of Evergreen State College in Washington has had a "pair of Levis that were given to me from someone else, that are much too short, but I roll them up and make them look very different."

Then there is David Schonauer, University of California-Berkeley. "I come from a farm. All people from farms in California wear blue jeans. They therefore all have special history to me."

Only one of the group said there wasn't any sentiment attached. "Each pair is usually worn until they are rags," says Mary Margaret Long, University of Michigan.

You can tell when egg whites are overbeaten because they'll lose their shiny look.

Does Canning Save?

Canning probably offers greater money-saving opportunity than other methods of home food preservation. But the most economical methods depend on the family's eating habits. Money is not saved by canning green beans, for example, if the family only likes frozen ones, reminds Frances Reasonover, foods and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

The American Bridge Teachers' Association quarterly always contains some interesting and instructive hands. Here is one by Dave Smith.

Forget about the bidding. North's two-spade response is a tremendous overbid and while six clubs is unbeatable, it got declarer to six notrump.

Dave used the hand to illustrate a point we have made many times in this column. The less you talk about your hand, the better.

When dummy hit the table East remarked "I should have doubled". Then East took his ace of hearts and returned the queen, which South won.

South trusted East. His normal play would have been to take the diamond finesse and go one down. Instead he cashed dummy's ace of diamonds and ran off seven clubs to wind up holding one spade and the queen-jack of diamonds while dummy held ace-king-10 of spades. East was unmercifully squeezed. He had to chuck his king of diamonds or unguard his queen-jack of spades.

Dave points out also that East could have insured defeat of the contract by playing his queen of spades at trick two, but he was too busy talking.

Ask the Jacobys

A Wisconsin reader wants to know why we lead the king from either ace-king of king-queen.

The answer is that it has been done that way since long before Oswald Jacoby started to play bridge and he has played for 65 years.

There are some disadvantages, but the great majority of experts find that it is better to continue this practice than to try something else.

TINY ROMANIAN PACKAGE

Perfection In Olympics

By BOB GREEN
AP Sports Writer

MONTREAL (AP) — The very imperfect Olympics — with all its troubles and strife, fears and police forces, threats and boycotts — suddenly has been graced by perfection.

It's a tiny package, this little bit of perfection, standing only 4-feet-11 and weighing in at 88 pounds of pure grace and rhythm, topped by a pony-tail and occasionally spiced by a saucy gesture.

It's magnificent little Nadia Comaneci, a 14-year-old Romanian girl, who has captured the imagination of the world, one billion of whose people have watched on television her performances that are truly unbelievable.

She opened the Games with a perfect score of 10 — the first ever achieved in the Olympics — on the uneven parallel bars Sunday. And she followed that with a mind-boggling, second perfect score on the hazardous balance beam yesterday.

And still she wasn't done. There was more to come — more of that which is supposed to be unattainable by mortals.

She recorded still another perfect score last night in optional performances on the uneven parallel bars.

"I was very glad," she said. "But it wasn't the first time. I've done it 19 times."

But no one had ever done it in the Olympics.

Her spectacular performances brought to their feet a wildly-cheering crowd of 18,000, some of them almost tearful in their adoration of this flying, twisting little girl who usually wears a poker face devoid of expression.

But she can, and does on perfect occasions, flash that appealing, beguiling smile of youth.

Her fantastic displays overshadowed another 1-2-3 sweep by the American men's swimming team, this in the 200-meter freestyle.

She was more impressive than the powerful East Germans who have won every event on the women's swimming program so far.

She made secondary a cheating incident that resulted in the disqualification of a Russian star in the Modern Pentathlon.

World records fell in profusion. But what are world records when pefection is offered?

The Russians won the team gold in the women's gymnastics, but it was almost overlooked in the outpouring of praise and affection for Nadia, who is now the overwhelming favorite to take the individual all-around title Wednesday night.

Illinois Star Signs With Westerners

A new recruit has been signed for the 1976-77 Western Texas College men's cage team.

A 6'8", 215 lb. standout from Lindbloom High School in Chicago, Ill., Wally West will provide the Westerners with "needed size and rebound power", according to Coach Mike Mitchell.

During his prep career, West was named Most Valuable Player as a junior and a senior.

The cager was selected to the All-City squad as an 11th grader, averaging 17 points and 10 rebounds per game.

As a senior, West maintained a 24-point and 14-rebound game average and was named All-Sectional.

"We're really pleased to get a player like Wally." concluded Mitchell.

Work On Tennis Courts Delayed

Due to a contractor's delay, the high school tennis courts will not be refinished this week.

If anyone wants help or his USTA certificate test, Coach Bill Boles will be at the courts from 8-10 a.m. daily for at least the week's remainder.

Daily, students come to the courts; so, no student needing help should hesitate to come.

Miniature Golf Tourney Reset For Saturday

The Snyder Optimist Club will try again to get its miniature golf tournament going Saturday, with both the high school and junior high divisions scheduled for action.

Play will begin at 8 a.m. with high school students leading off. Students may register at the miniature golf course, or at Texas Electric Service Co. offices, where tournament prizes are on display. The registration fee is 50 cents per person.

Over $300 worth of prizes will be awarded to the first three places in each division. Prizes in the high school division are, a 10-speed bicycle for first, a ping pong table with paddles for second, and a digital watch for third. Prizes in the junior high division are, a five-speed bicycle for first, pocket Instamatic camera for second and an aluminum tennis racket with cover for third.

Competitors must register by Friday night.

The elementary division tournament is set for July 31 and they may begin registering at the golf course, or at Texas Electric.

Outfielder Bake McBride of the St. Louis Cardinals is the only Missouri native on the team.

Harrah Is Not Swinging Right, But He Produces

By WILLIAM R. BARNARD
AP Sports Writer

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — Toby Harrah says he still doesn't feel right at the plate, but his three hits Monday night — including a game winner — served notice that the groove is somewhere close by for the Texas Rangers' shortstop.

"I got three hits but I'm still not swinging the bat right," said Harrah, the American League's all-star shortstop, after Texas beat the Boston Red Sox 4-3 on his run-scoring single in the 11th inning.

The loss ruined the debut of Don Zimmer as interim manager of the Red Sox. He replaces Darrell Johnson.

Batting over .300 with more than 40 runs batted in two weeks before the All-Star break, Harrah has been almost totally unproductive since then. His RBI total is still under 50 and his average has fallen into the .270s.

But after a one-day rest, Harrah was back in the lineup Monday night. His first two hits caused no damage, but his two-out single to left field in the bottom of the 11th scored Gene Clines from second base to end the game.

The hit was the first off Red Sox reliever Jim Willoughby, 2-6, who entered the game in the ninth. But the Rangers, who left 15 runners on base, had squandered several chances as Willoughby walked six batters.

Despite Harrah's late heroics that gave Mike Bacsik, 1-1, the victory with one inning of relief, the talk of the Texas clubhouse after the game was starter Tommy Boggs, who made his major league debut.

Boggs, 20, Texas' No. 1 draft choice in 1974 from Austin, Tex., shut out Boston on five hits for the first five innings before giving up homers in the sixth and seventh frames, respectively, to Cecil Cooper and Dwight Evans, tying the score 3-3.

"I got tired," said Boggs. "Normally I pitch a five-day rotation and this was just the fourth day. The humidity here was a lot higher than it is in California, and it was sapping my strength."

Texas called up Boggs Sunday from its farm team in Sacramento.

Deadline For Tourney At 9

Entry deadline for the District 7 Slow Pitch Regional Qualifying Tournament is tonight at 9 p.m.

The event will be held July 23-24 at Stanton. Entry fee is $50 per team.

The first two finishers advance to the state tourney at Killeen. The next two will progress to a Class A tournament at Midland.

Softballers Continuing Action Here

The men's softball league is still in full swing.

July 15, at 7:30 p.m. Wadleigh squeaked by Ira, 7-6. For Wadleigh, Lewis Loyd, Mike Dolittle, Bob Dolittle, David Thompson and Eddie Stewart cracked singles. Mike Dolittle clubbed a double.

Jimmy Sterling, Tom Daves, Richard Daves and Jerry Fore rapped singles for Ira. Steve Wolf smashed a home run in the second stanza.

Don Head was credited with the win, and Steve Wolf was charged with the loss.

At 9:10, Top Acidizers blanked Deffebach Insurance, 10-0.

The Acidizers snatched nine hits. Eddie Bane, Max Hildebrand, Johnny Powell, and Grady Gafford picked off singles. Danny Brumley and Kelly Ragland cracked two singles. Bernie Weems clubbed a single and a double, while Sid Perry chalked up a triple.

Grady Gafford was credited with the victory, while Johnny Gardner was tagged with the loss.

Snyder Well Service stomped Toombs and Sons, 12-1, in the 10:30 game.

Rick Williams, Lynn Wilson and Glenn Coy ripped off singles for the Well Service.

Gaylon Vaughan, Jimmy Green and Huddleston grabbed singles for Toombs.

In the sixth stanza, Hopper smashed a triple and a home run for Snyder Well Service.

Tonight, at 7:30 N.T. Lee takes on Toombs and Sons. Lee "66" goes up against Snyder Well Service at 9:00. At 10:30, Wadleigh tangles with Deffebach Insurance.

Flames Meet Post Tonight

The Snyder Flames play Post tonight at 7:30 p.m. at North Park.

The local females will use the contest to prepare for the state tourney this weekend at Midland.

The Flames sport a 11-4 season record and recently copped third place in their local tourney.

C-City Nips LL All-Stars

A 5-8 loss to Colorado City last night eliminated Snyder's Little League All-Stars from further tournament play.

A five run outburst in the second stanza put the C-City 'Stars ahead. Snyder rallied in the last two innings, scoring four, but C-City's gap was just too big.

For Snyder, Scott Warren and Tommy Gressett smashed home runs in the losing cause, while Curtis Gafford, John Overton, Jessie Hernaneez, Neal Paige and James Ford rapped singles.

Tommy Gressett handled pitching chores for Snyder. He surrendered six hits, fanned 12 and walked five, but was charged with the loss.

The All-Star loss marks the close of Snyder Little League baseball.

The 12th Super Bowl game will be played in the Louisiana Superdome in New Orleans Jan. 15, 1978.

Ford Claims 16 More Delegates

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford's campaign claimed 16 more Republican National Convention delegates today, including two plucked from Ronald Reagan's total in Virginia and seven from Suffolk County, N.Y.

The latest announcement from Ford headquarters came less than 24 hours after the Reagan camp named three new converts from the uncommitted ranks and contended the former California governor would have 1,140 votes on the first ballot.

James Baker, Ford's chief delegate hunter, said the President now has 1,119 of the 1,130 delegates necessary to secure the GOP nomination at Kansas City Aug. 18.

The Associated Press count of legally bound and publicly declared candidates now stands at 1,081 for Ford, 1,023 for Reagan, 154 uncommitted and 1 for Sen. Howard H. Baker of Tennessee.

In addition to the seven New Yorkers, the new Ford claims list five delegates from Virginia and one each from Illinois, Delaware, [illegible] and South Carolina.

Edwin M. Schwenk, Suffolk County GOP chairman, said his group of seven decided to switch to the President last Friday. Earlier, said Schwenk, he had met for about 10 minutes with Ford to discuss the county's need for federal help on a major sewer project.

But Schwenk denied that the sewer project help would be any quid pro quo for the seven votes in Kansas City. "We're just asking fair consideration," he told a news conference at Ford campaign headquarters.

Richard Rosenbaum, the New York state GOP chairman, claimed that of the 154 New York delegates, Ford has 131, Reagan 18 and 5 remain uncommitted.

Plant Thefts Baffle Police

ROANOKE, Va. (AP) — Police say they are fighting a baffling new crime wave — thefts of potted plants.

They say the thefts have been averaging six per week.

Most of the time, police say, people leave the plants on their porches at night "and when they get up, they're gone."

The loss of a plant is "an emotional thing," an officer said, and high values are put on them by their owners. For instance, one victim valued two stolen ferns at more than $100 each.

Police haven't dismissed the possibility the plants are being resold, but they say they suspect the thieves are merely frustrated "green thumbs" who are keeping the plants for themselves.

Dr. Lamb

What causes prostate trouble?

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB—I read your column on prostate gland trouble, but it did not answer one question. If a person (who has been a diabetic since 1965 and is now 56) quit sex would he increase his prostate gland trouble, which is nearly nothing now? I go to the doctor once a year. In other words does lack of sex cause prostate gland trouble?

DEAR READER—There is a lot of confusion about the role of sexual activity in prostate gland trouble. That is partly because "prostate gland trouble" covers a lot of different problems.

The prostate gland forms secretions and when it is stimulated frequently it forms more secretions. Young men at the peak of their sex drive tend to form the most secretions. When the secretions accumulate, the gland becomes boggy or swollen from distention. In this condition it is ripe for bacteria to set up housekeeping and cause an acute infection. The infection in this instance is something like an abscess. It may cause chills and fever. When the bacteria are eliminated by nature's own defense mechanisms or by proper antibiotic treatment the infection and its symptoms disappear. It would seem that a normal amount of sexual activity helps to prevent this problem.

The acute infections have nothing to do with chronic prostate trouble that is more common in middle-aged and older men. The chronic inflammation may be associated with a variety of organisms but often the real cause of the inflammation is not known. It is doubtful that sexual activity either harms or helps such a condition.

There is now evidence that the enlargement of the prostate that causes obstruction of the bladder is related to the accumulation of one chemical type of testosterone, the male hormone. Having demonstrated the accumulation of this fraction of the hormone in the gland itself there is now hope that it will be possible to block its action or storage and in this way correct or prevent prostate enlargement. This might be done without affecting the function of the other fractions of male hormone. At present no medicine is available that will do this.

I am sending you The Health Letter 1-6, Prostate Gland to give you more information on this subject. Others who desire more information can send a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope with 50 cents in it. Address your letter to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 15512, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB—I want to know if a vasectomy causes prostate gland trouble? And once a man has had prostate surgery does that mean no more sex?

DEAR READER—No, a vasectomy will not cause prostate gland trouble. In fact vasectomies were originally done when the prostate was operated upon to try to prevent inflammation of the testicles as a complication of the procedure.

All a vasectomy will do is prevent sperm cells from reaching the prostate. The gland will continue to function as it always did or would have without the vasectomy.

Most men can return to normal sexual function after prostate surgery. The type of surgery does make some difference. The problem is that many men who have surgery are already at an age or have enough other medical problems that they may be near the end of their active sexual life anyway. In which case the man may incorrectly think that impotence after surgery was because of the operation.

Economic Events Often Colored By Point Of View

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The Ford administration's upward revision of its own economic forecast demonstrates not only the power the incumbent has in an election race, but how events can be colored by point of view.

It is doubtful at best that the seven million jobless Americans will agree that the economy is undergoing a "strong surge," or that those who cannot afford a new house are happy about their predicament.

It is true that the economy is expanding, and that the President in all fairness can claim much of the credit, but he and his predecessor must also assume some of the blame for the preceding, devastating shrinkage.

Whether we are moving ahead or falling behind is an important consideration, but movement and direction are only part of the story; equally important is relative position, and a lot of people don't think it's much better now than it was in 1971.

There is no doubt that consumers and businessmen feel better about the economy than they did a year ago, but whether that constitutes a "restoration of confidence," as Alan Greenspan said, is debatable.

Retail sales did jump in June by 2.7 per cent, according to the government, but did you notice that the jump was made possible by a simultaneous, 2.1 per cent, downward revision of the May reading?

In other words, as much a surge of statistics as of consumer sentiment.

A popular consumer confidence survey to be relased later this week indicates consumer confidence improved "moderately" in June, but that "there is certainly no dancing in the streets." The mood, it says, is "wait-and-see."

Businessmen haven't exhibited great enthusiasm either. In the manner in which they express themselves most positively, by commiting funds for expansion, they have been decidedly soft-spoken. Capital spending is sluggish.

Of more than passing interest is the timing of the Ford administration's upward revision of its forecast, for it comes just a few days prior to the official report on Gross National Product, which most likely is slowing.

If any surge in output occurred it was in the first quarter, but monthly statistical reports since then indicate the pace of expansion has become what most economists seem to term "moderate."

Why Greenspan, the chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, should use the term "surge" is a mystery, because heretofore he has always stressed the moderate, healthy character of the advance.

"Moderate," in fact, is the description that most economists apply to the recovery. There are relatively few of them who believe that the immediate future of the economy isn't for continued moderate improvement.

In the political rather than economic area, however, a moderate advance apparently doesn't arouse excitement. Moderation might be encouraging but it isn't terribly exciting.

Panel Eyes Uranium Exports

By STAN BENJAMIN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Are U.S. exports of uranium, formerly considered routine and harmless, actually arming the world with nuclear weapons? The controversy is now before the Nuclear Regulatory Commission.

For years the United States has been supplying low-enriched uranium for India's Tarapus nuclear plant, which generates electricity for the Bombay area. A hearing today revolves around what would once have been a routine application for an export license.

Now, however, three citizen groups are objecting to further exports because India is building a reprocessing plant at Tarapur, capable of extracting from the spent nuclear fuel the byproduct plutonium, which could be used in nuclear bombs.

The hearing follows an acknowledgement by U.S. officials that it was U.S. uranium shipments and technical aid, meant only for civilian power generation, that made possible India's development of an atomic bomb and its explosion in 1974.

These officials said India's ability to use peaceful nuclear technology for bomb development was misjudged.

Although India used a research reactor supplied by Canada to produce bomb material, officials said, India also made use of U.S. uranium, "heavy water," and scientific training.

Last July 2 the NRC approved another shipment of more than 12,000 kilograms of enriched uranium to the Tarapur plant, but held open any decision on further exports pending this hearing.

The hearing directly involves another proposed shipment of 9,000 kilograms of enriched uranium.

Lady Bird Is Touring Israel

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Lady Bird Johnson, widow of former President Lyndon B. Johnson, is making a six-day tour of Israel and says she wants to see the nation's holy places.

"I studied the Bible all my life, and there is something very exciting about being in this country," Mrs. Johnson told reporters Monday.

During her visit she will meet Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin and will visit the Lyndon B. Johnson Memorial Forest near Jerusalem. She is accompanied by her daughters, Lucy Nugent and Lynda Robb.

Baltimore Has Cake Leftover

BALTIMORE (AP) — The city of Baltimore has 51,000 pieces of leftover Bicentennial cake.

It was billed as the "world's biggest birthday cake," and of the 153,000 individually packaged pieces of vanilla cake, 18,500 slices are in cold storage and 32,500 more are in an unrefrigerated city warehouse.

Some 10,000 pieces of the 69,000-pound birthday greeting have been sold here for $2.25 each, city officials said.

About 31,000 pieces of the cake are expected to be donated to city schools for a summer lunch program.

Another 5,000 pieces were peddled at a cut rate at a Boston department store; 4,000 were given to the crews of the tall sailing ships that visited the port last week, and 2,000 were distributed to reporters and publicity people.

On top of all that, about 17 tons of cake spoiled and the city had to throw it away.

Despite unflattering comment and massive leftovers, Walter S. Orlinsky, head of Baltimore's Bicentennial Commission, said the project was a publicity success.

"It was a stunt. Nobody ever tried to make it anything else."

Orlinsky said critical news stories led to the cake's unpopularity.

But Harry Herman, who is ready to bill the city $65,000 for baking it, said price had more to do with the slow demand.

"I pleaded with Orlinsky not to sell the cake for $2 a piece," Herman said. "Sell it for $1, or $1.25, I told him."

Sleepy Robber Is Arrested

HOUSTON (AP) — Bus driver John M. Mitschke said it felt like a gun pressed in his back. The only passenger on the bus took $12 from his wallet and asked him to open the cash box on the bus.

Mitschke said there was no way to open the box and the man sat down.

As he kept driving, he soon turned to look at the robber. The man was asleep.

Mitschke stopped the bus, went to a nearby residence and called police. The man was still asleep when the police arrived. They took him to the city jail.

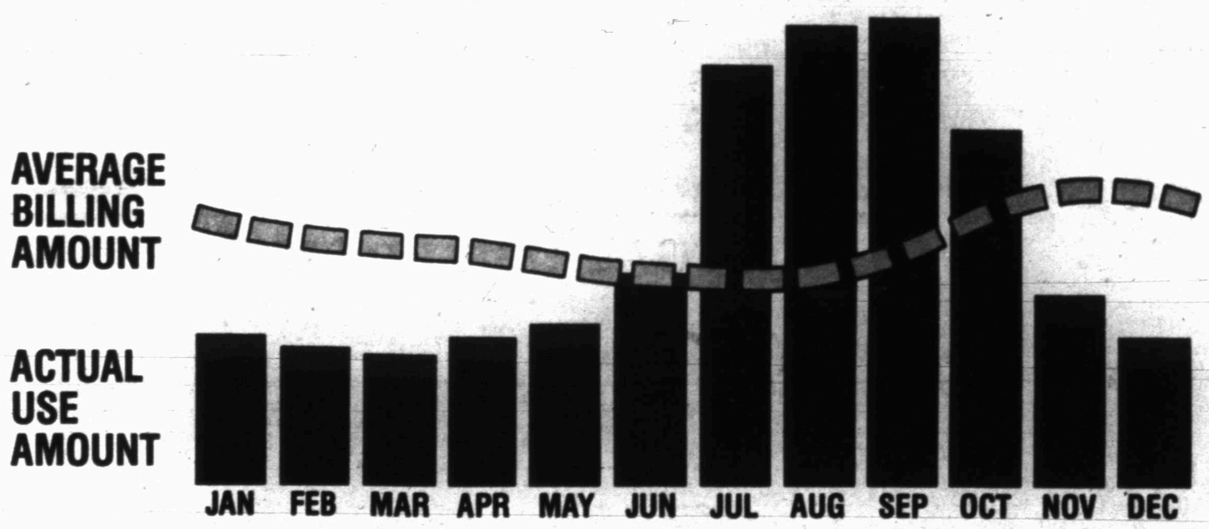
Introducing the Average Billing Plan from Texas Electric.



If you've ever wished the amount of your electric bills could be more consistent every month — instead of changing so much between seasons — here's your chance.

The Average Billing Plan is being provided by Texas Electric to help smooth out the highs and lows that occur in your electric bills. As the name implies, this new plan enables you to pay an "average" rather than the actual amount used each month. It allows you to pay less during high-use months by paying more during low-use months.

Full details about the plan are in a brochure now being mailed with your electric bill. It should answer any questions you may have.

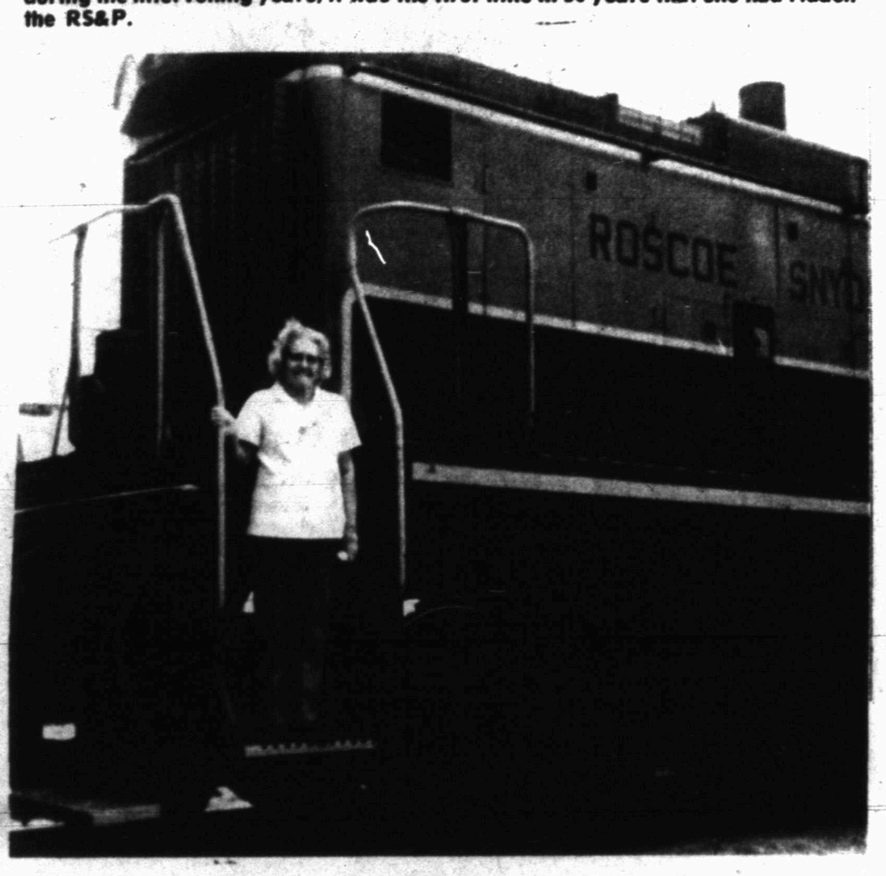
RIDING THE RAILS—Mrs. Nettie Kelly is shown, above, as an 18-year-old Snyder High School student hitching a ride home from school in 1926. She is shown, below, riding the RS&P train 50 years later during the 1976 Fourth of July train rides. While Mrs. Kelly reported that she had ridden other trains during the intervening years, it was the first time in 50 years that she had ridden the RS&P.



RODE THE STEPS IN 1926

One Customer Finds Rail Service Much Improved

By JOHN LONG

Railroad service in this country has definitely improved during the last 50 years, despite what some people may think.

Mrs. Nettie Askins Kelly, who "bummed" rides as a teenaged schoolgirl on a Snyder train in 1926, rode the train again July 4. While the train cars were over 50 years old, they hardly brought back memories of the good old days.

"Coming home from school during the winter months of 1926, the two girls I was rooming with and I used to hitch rides on the train between the ice house and the Santa Fe Railroad Depot," Mrs. Kelly said. The standard mode of conveyance for school children back in 1926 was walking, she added.

"Our house was about 1½ miles northwest of Snyder. When the weather was warm, we would always walk. But during the cold winter months, we would ride the train the mile or so between the ice house and the Santa Fe Depot," Mrs. Kelly said. "We always rode on just the steps. We never entered the train compartments," she said.

Only July 4, Mrs. Kelly was a paying customer and was, for the first time in years, seated on the train and treated like a paying customer, for the special Independence Day trip to Hermleigh.

Mrs. Kelly, who was hospitalized July 4, had to receive special permission from her doctor to ride the train. Her doctor discharged her from the hospital just long enough for the train ride. The winter winds of 1926 no longer blew against her face, but she remembered the days when they did.

Mrs. Kelly, was born in Borden County and moved to Snyder in 1925 to attend high school. Snyder High School then was what is now the demolished remains of Travis Junior High.

She and Essie and Bessie Burk, the two sisters she was rooming with, would ride the train about 4 p.m. every afternoon on their way home from school to avoid walking in the cold weather. The train, they soon discovered, made regular stops between the ice house and the Santa Fe Depot. From the depot they would walk on home.

The train cars, she remembers, were owned by the Roscoe, Snyder and Pacific Railroad, but were usually pulled by an Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe engine. Whoever the train conductor was during the winter of 1926, he apparently didn't mind the three girls borrowing rides on the train.

Later, Mrs. Kelly said, the family she was rooming with moved, and she had to settle for walking to and from school.

Mrs. Kelly was graduated from Snyder High School in 1928. There were 57 students in her class, which was the largest class of its time.

After graduation, she married and lived in Houston, Palestine, and Lubbock before returning to Snyder in April, 1945. During the intervening years, she said that she rode on several trains, but not the RS&P.

July 4, 1976, was the first time since the winter months of 1926 that she had ridden the RS&P and it was a memorable event she said.

The weather was warmer than she remembered it in 1926 and this time, she was seated in a passenger car and didn't have to ride the outside steps.

Farm Worker Drowns In Canal

GREENLEAF, Idaho (AP) — A Texas farm worker drowned when the car in which he was riding plunged into an irrigation canal, authorities said.

Dr. Thomas Donndelinger, Canyon County coroner, said Daniel Trevino, 49, of La Joya, Tex., drowned early Monday morning in a canal near this small community west of Boise.

DEAR ABBY: I have a ticklish problem, or perhaps I should say a "tickling" problem.

I have been going with this fellow for six months. He is a peach and I adore him, but there is one thing I cannot stand, and that is his tickling me.

He is 6 foot 5 inches tall, 35 years old, and weighs 190, which needless to say puts me at a big disadvantage. He thinks it's funny to tickle me until I am nearly hysterical and beg for mercy. I have always been ticklish and probably will never get over it.

I don't want to end this relationship, but if this keeps up it may be the only solution. My nerves are always on edge when he approaches me, and I am beginning to lose control.

How do I get him to stop this childish action?

TORMENTED

DEAR TORMENTED: Tell him that if he tickles you again, it's the end of your relationship. And if he does, don't hesitate to show him the door. His seemingly "childish" action is nothing of the kind—it's sadistic.

DEAR ABBY: I've been wondering about the following for quite some time: Many people think that if they sit at a counter in a restaurant instead of at a table, it's not necessary to leave a tip. Is it?

I'm sure lots of people sit at the counter just to get out of tipping. Your answer will be appreciated.

DORIS

DEAR DORIS: No matter where one sits in a restaurant, a tip is in order—unless, or course, the service is poor.

DEAR ABBY: I am 67 and my husband is 71. A few years ago, after all our children left home, it got so quiet around the house we started going to a nearby supper club to dance. We're both pretty fair dancers.

My husband has always lived in this territory, so there are usually some of his old girlfriends there who are either widows or whose husbands are poor dancers.

Some of these women are very aggressive, and they ask my husband to dance. Naturally, he's flattered and never turns anyone down, which leaves me either sitting it out or dancing with a poor dancer.

I am getting tired of being a "good sport" about this. What would you do in my place?

SITTING IT OUT

DEAR SITTING: I'd continue to be a "good sport." Look at it this way: A dance or two is probably the only fun most of those widows get all week. (I'd be a little less charitable, however, when it comes to trading my good dancer for someone's poor one.)

CONFIDENTIAL TO "LITTLE D. IN BIG D.": If it were my decision, I'd marry the man who was the best provider but didn't know how to kiss. It's easier to teach a man how to kiss than how to take home $600 a week.

Caller Was Identified By Bolles

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Arizona Republic reporter Don Bolles told detectives from his death bed the telephone call that sent the newspaper reporter back to his car moments before a bomb exploded under it was made by John Harvey Adamson, police said.

Detective Capt. Don Lozier said Monday the confirmation was obtained from Bolles the day after the June 2 blast. Bolles died 10 days later. Adamson was arrested on an open charge of murder about two hours after Bolles died.

Lozier said Bolles was able only to answer the questions by nodding or shaking his head.

"He nodded to identify a photograph of Adamson and when asked if he had gone to the Clarendon Hotel to meet Adamson," Lozier said.

Lozier said Bolles nodded when asked if Adamson was the man who called the hotel to postpone the interview.

Bolles had told colleagues he was going to the hotel to meet a man named Adamson who allegedly had information concerning a land deal involving prominent Arizonans. The man never appeared.

While Bolles was in the hotel, he received a telephone call and then returned to his car. A bomb exploded under the floorboards as he was backing from the parking space.

Rep. Massey Favors Using 'Surplus' On School Costs

By LEE JONES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—The chairman of a special House committee on school finance says he favors using a large part of the projected treasury surplus to increase the state's share of essential—or minimum foundation——school costs.

"I think we are going to recommend spending an additional, substantial chunk of state funds," said Rep. Tom Massey, D-San Angelo, chairman of the House Committee on Alternatives to Public School Financing.

Massey also is chairman of the House Committee on Education.

With Gov. Dolph Briscoe's no new taxes policy, the place to get more money is the surplus and windfall revenue from rising oil prices and inflation, he said.

Massey said the committee probably would propose some new taxes to finance education, looking ahead to the day when state revenue sources no longer are frozen.

"The record would show that the one recommended most by the people who have testified before us was a one per cent increase in the sales tax, with a narrowing of exemptions," Massey told reporters following a meeting of his committee Monday.

Massey said a $500 million increase would raise the state's share of the Minimum Foundation School program from 80 per cent to 90 per cent. He made it clear the figures were produced just for discussion and did not necessarily reflect what the committee might recommend.

He said he also had concluded reluctantly that the state should put a limit, by law, on the amounts local school districts can spend for enrichment of their educational programs.

"My position has changed drastically in the last 18 months.," Massey said,.

"I think if you are ever going to do two things, you are going to have to limit local enrichment. One is equalization of educational opportunity. The other is relief for the local taxpayer."

Massey acknowledged that feeling in the legislature has run against limiting local enrichment.

But he challenged the assumption that added local expenditures for education reflect the desires of local taxpayers.

With some school board members having terms as long as six years, they do not have to seek frequent voter approval of their policies, he observed.

"I don't think it is a result of a mandate from the people," Massey said.

In answer to a question, he said he believed his committee shared his attitude toward enrichment.

A school district's share of the foundation program, as well as local enrichment, comes entirely from property taxes. Massey said the committee was trying to find alternatives to that funding method, which has produced sizeable local tax increases in many districts while the state pursued its no new taxes policy.

During the committee's meeting Monday, Massey observed that while the state had won the famous Rodriguez case, the issue it raised of educational inequality among rich and poor districts still exists.

"It shows that the ad valorem (property) tax is a hell of a way to finance your schools," Massey said.

Dallas Gas Rate Hike OK'd

DALLAS (AP) — City council approval of a Lone Star Gas Co. hike and the expected fuel adjustment for the remainder of 1976 will boost the average Dallas homeowner's monthly gas bill by about $5, Public Utilities Director Tom Taylor says.

The Dallas City Council granted a $17 million annual rate increase to Lone Star Monday, but withheld $2 million pending improvement of what the council called service deficiencies.

While awarding the largest rate increase ever granted by the city council, they also voted to allow a 100 per cent pass-through of increases in the rate. The pass-through was formerly 90 per cent.

Residential rate will rise an average of 17.6 per cent immediately, then another 2.2 per cent once Taylor is satisfied that the service deficiencies have been corrected.

The increase in all categories will be applied Monday, the company said. The increase in bills will not be reflected until August.

Lone Star Gas Vice-president Doug Williams said the company has decided not to protest the city council's decision to trim more than $3 million off the original $20.9 million rate request.

The council tentatively approved the rate plan last week, but could not resolve lingering differences over the proposal to withhold part of the increase.

Taylor asked for the deferred rate hike after his staff found complaints about incorrect meter readings, long delays in handling telephone inquiries about Lone Star bills and a general decline in services due to transfer of personnel from the Dallas office.

Illegal Aliens Fly Home Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — The first of more than 15,000 Mexican illegal aliens were to be returned to their home today by commercial airlines in the Immigration Service's $2 million program.

Immigration Commissioner Leonard F. Chapman announced the plan Monday and said the program is designed to discourage Mexicans from making repeated efforts to enter the United States illegally.

Chapman said more than 15,000 illegal aliens will be returned to the interior of Mexico within the next few months on the scheduled flights with nonstop destinations.

As part of the program, the aliens returned to the interior will be fingerprinted to help authorities determine whether they make their way back into the United States.

Immigration authorities also will begin fingerprinting about 5 per cent of all illegal aliens apprehended at major illegal entry points along the U.S.-Mexican border.

These fingerprints will be compared with the prints of the returned aliens.

Immigration authorities previously have returned illegal aliens from Mexico only to the Mexican border.
