Plane Theft Probed

GREENWOOD, Miss. (AP)-A Greenwood man has been arrested by federal and state authorities, who seized a $180,000 airplane allegedly stolen from Big Spring.

The Leflore County sheriff's office said William Gilmore Sims, 59, was jailed Wednesday in lieu of $25,000 bond on charges of receiving stolen property. A spokesman said Sims was freed later on a reduced bond of $20,000.

Authorities said the case remains under investigation by state and federal officers.

A spokesman said the twin-engine plane, a Piper-Aire Navajo Chieftan, was reported stolen at Big Spring on Sept. 16 and that an investigation indicated it had been in the Greenwood area since Monday.

Steel Loss Biggest

BETHLEHEM, Pa. (AP)-Bethlehem Steel Corp., the nation's second largest steelmaker, recorded a third quarter net loss of $477 million, the biggest quarter loss ever by an American firm.

The loss, announced Wednesday, is equivalent to $10.92 per share and was more than 10 times greater than the net profit of $45.5 million, or $1.04 a share, earned in the same period last year.

Adair At Oil Fire

TAFT, Calif. (AP)-Red Adair, who has battled raging oil fires around the world, will try to snuff a burning geyser of oil and gas today by using explosives to stop the flow of oxygen into the well.

Adair was called in Tuesday after an explosion at Elk Hills Naval Oil Reserve near here sent oil and flames spewing more than 100 feet into the air and killed three workers dangling helplessly in a basket above the wellhead.

Schools and colleges suddenly discovered late this month that they had to take official action to exempt themselves, or else become involved with a new firefighters relief and retirement fund.

The Snyder Public Schools trustees passed a resolution last week exempting the school district from the fund, and trustees of Scurry County Junior College District have scheduled a special meeting Friday morning for the sole purpose of taking similar action.

You might wonder how a school district, or a college district could become involved with firefighting organizations. A lot of other people wonder, also. But the legislation setting up this fund is worded to include all local government agencies, and it specified that those who do not exempt themselves this week are automatically included.

Not having any fire departments of their own, the local schools and the college district had no difficulty in reaching a decision. In fact, the City of Snyder, which does operate a fire department, exempted itself at its regular meeting early this month. The city plans to continue its present retirement plan for the time being—at least until it knows more about the new system. It could join up at a later date if it should desire, but the schools are not likely to seek membership.

Tentative plans are to hold the dinner session of Snyder and Sweetwater Chamber of Commerce membership teams on Nov. 7. It will be held in Snyder this time, and for the second year in a row, the Snyder team will dine on steak. The locals defeated Sweetwater Chamber's group in a membership drive by a 2-1 margin, signing up 105 new members. At last reports, Sweetwater had added 50 new members to its Chamber roll in the drive which ended last Friday.

The State Department of Highways and Public Transportation reports that vacationers visiting Texas the past summer followed more leisurely schedules than usual and spent more money. The average length of stay was 8.61 days this year, compared to 5.87 days in 1976. They didn't drive as many miles, apparently heeding admonitions to conserve energy, and they didn't spend as much money per day, but over-all they spent 26 per cent more this year.

And, as in everything else, it's the bottom line that counts in the tourist industry. That bottom line for auto visitors for all of last year was $3.1 billion, and so far, 1977 is an even better year.

Balance-Of-Trade Picture Improves

By MICHAEL DOAN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)-The U.S. balance-of-trade picture improved in September when the United States sold more goods abroad than in any month in history, the Commerce Department said today.

However, the U.S. trade balance still showed a deficit for the month. But the deficit of $1.7 billion was a sharp drop from the $2.7 billion deficit for August and the smallest since a $1.2 billion deficit in May.

For the year, the United States has brought $19.2 billion more in foreign goods than it has sold abroad. The deficit could reach a record $30 billion for the year, administration officials have said.

The record exports for September totalled $10.9 billion, surpassing the $10.4 billion recorded in December 1976, the previous high. Most of the increase was in machinery and transport equipment, such as autos, manufactured goods, chemicals and food and live animals.

While exports rose 14.2 per cent, imports increased by about 3.3 per cent, mainly because of more imports of petroleum products.

The Carter administration has said almost all of the trade imbalance this year is caused by U.S. imports of oil from the Middle East. On his current Middle East trip, Treasury Secretary W. Michael Blumenthal has been trying to persuade oil exporters to keep prices down, saying it is in their best interests.

Out of $12.6 billion in imports, petroleum accounted for $3.7 billion an increase from $3.3 billion in August.

A growing trade deficit can often take away jobs from American workers and have a slackening effect on the economy. But U.S. officials say other countries have been unable to afford American products as the U.S. economy has improved more rapidly than the economy of purchasing countries.

Among exports, all categories increased in September, except aircraft, soybeans, grain sorghum and a few miscellaneous commodities.

In other economic news, Federal Reserve Chairman Arthur F. Burns, criticizing the Carter administration's economic policies, has said the country needs less spending and more investment.

Hospital Roommate Testifies

Gavrel's Dad Told Him To Name Davis

By MIKE COCHRAN
Associated Press Writer

AMARILLO (AP)-A hospital roomate of Gus (Bubba) Gavrel testified today he overheard the young shooting victim tell his father he did not know who shot him and he quoted the father as repling "It was Cullen that done it. A girl out there said it was, so if anybody asks you, you say it was."

Tommy Jourden, the ninth defense witness in Davis' capital murder trial, said the conversation occurred Aug. 3, 1976, just hours after a murderous shooting spree at the defendant's Fort Worth mansion.

Jourden said the elder Gavrel entered the intensive care room which he and Gavrel occupied and asked his son if he remembered what happened the previous night.

"No, sir, I don't. It all happened so quick and it was dark and I didn't see who it was," he quoted young Gavrel as saying.

Jourden said the father later "assured him (Gavrel) that Cullen had done it and someone was going to pay for it...for doing this."

After the senior Gavrel left, Jourden said Bubba told him he did not know who shot him.

"You know if this rich man shot you, you are going to be a rich man yourself. You can file suit," Jourden said he told Bubba.

"You know, I guess you're right. I hadn't thought about that," he said Bubba replied.

The elder Gavrel later that same day filed a multi-million dollar lawsuit against the wealthy Fort Worth industrialist.

Earlier, a young nurse had testified, against a previous court order, that she overheard Gus Gavrel say he thought Cullen Davis was wearing a "disguise" when he shot him.

Project Ready For Bids

Panel Inspects Final Tennis Court Plans

A committee representing the City of Snyder, Scurry County and Snyder Public Schools went over plans for a tennis court project this morning as they prepared to seek bids for construction.

The project, which involves eight tennis courts, will be located on school property on Houston Avenue between the Snyder Junior High and West Elementary Schools if finally approved.

J.D. Hinton, architect, has prepared plans and specifications for the eight tennis courts, with lighting and bleachers, along with a building which would provide public restroom facilities and dressing rooms for school use.

The city, county and schools would equally share in the cost of the tennis courts, lighting and bleachers. The school would bear most of the cost or the building since the dressing rooms would be for exclusive use by school pupils under supervision of instructors and-or coaches.

The tennis court project here has been under study for some two years. It developed to the actual planning stage last spring when the joint committee was formed to take the initiative in behalf of the three agencies.

Attending the meeting this morning with Hinton were Eldon Perry, county commissioner in Precinct N. 1, the county's representative on the panel; Mayor John Fagin and City Manager George Patterson, representing the city; Supt. Bill J. Hood and Assistant Supt. Jack Gorman, representing the school district.

Cost estimates for the entire project, including the eight courts, lighting, fencing, sidewalks, paving, bleachers, and the auxiliary building run around $220,000.

Home Repair Applications

Applications for home weatherization funds are being accepted here today and tomorrow by People for Progress, Inc., of Sweetwater, which handles the program in this area.

Purpose of the program is to repair homes of low income families to prevent cold infiltration and reduce fuel bills. Some 20 homes in Scurry County are due to be repaired in the program.

Applications may be made at the Senior Citizens Center at Western Texas College. A representative of People for Progress, Inc., was here this morning taking applications and is due to return Friday to accept applications from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m.

Single Winner In Football Contest

There was a single prize winner in last week's Snyder Daily News football contest, as once again a group gathered in the second place spot.

Patsy Dolliver, 115 Peach, missed only two selections and claimed the first prize of $12.50.

There were five contestants who missed three selections and finished in a tie for the second place money.

Since the contest rules provide that the second place money will be carried over in the event of a multiple tie, there will be no second prize awarded this week.

Another contest is underway this week. Contest blanks may be picked up at sponsors' places of business and the list of games is in sponsors' advertisements in Wednesday's issues of The Snyder Daily News.

Austin School District Must Enroll 3 Aliens

AUSTIN (AP)-State Education Commissioner M.L. Brockette today ordered the Austin school district to accept three alien children for enrollment without requiring their families to pay tuition.

Brockette also authorized the Austin Independent School District to count the children in its average daily attendance reports, thus assuring state financial support.

Joel Rebollar Jr. and Jose Luis Versalles Jr. crossed the United States-Mexico border illegally in 1972 and 1974. The third school-age child, Rosa Isela Martinez, accompanied her parents across the border under a "local crossing" card which expired three days later.

Each of the families has been issued a "Silva letter" notifying them of a temporary injunction issued by an Illinois federal judge which prevents deportation.

As a result of this federal court order, Brockette said, the children and their parents are now "legally within" the United States and entitled to free admission to the public schools under the Texas Education Code.

Brockette said the April 1 federal court injunction prevents the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service from deporting any alien who entered the United States before March 11, 1977, from an independent country of the Western Hemisphere.

To qualify for a "Silva letter," Brockette added in a news release, the immigrant also much hold a "priority date" for issuance of an immigrant visa between July 1, 1968, and Dec. 31, 1976.

Each of the families who appealed to Brockette after the school district refused to admit two of the children has applied for an immigrant visa at American consulates in Mexico and each has been assigned the required "priority date," the commissioner said.

Brockette said the total number of Mexican alien children in Texas has not been determined, but the Immigration and Naturalization Service in San Antonio has counted 803 persons who are covered under the injunction in the Illinois case, Silva vs. Levi.

facing up to reality

The Presidential campaign of 1976 is still recent enough for some to recall issues that seemed to meet with favorable response. Theoretically the people were offered a choice of candidates and platforms. Actually the choice was much narrower than generally recognized. Not due, however, to conscious effort on the part of political leaders to deceive. The principal explanation lies in the fact that built up during four decades of good intentions gone wrong is a bureaucracy of such vast proportions as to defy reform.

President Carter may have been sincere in making promises to streamline the Federal Government, increase its efficiency and reduce its cost. After three-fourths of his first year in office it is apparent that he didn't realize the magnitude of the undertaking and failed to view executive responsibility in its entirety.

This has been evident in plans to create new Federal agencies and enlarge responsibilities of old ones. Logic of conditions seem to justify creation of a Cabinet level Department of Energy. Congress agreed and it is now in the process of making a place for itself in national affairs. Work at the job the Department is supposed to do will come later. Organization comes first.

Also urged is a consumer protection agency. Its assignment is not easily defined. Everybody is a consumer. Protection is a term of broad meaning with almost limitless implication. Congress thus far has shown little interest in the idea. Hopefully pressure of other matters will preclude consideration long enough for lawmakers to realize that, Ralph Nader to the contrary notwithstanding, this is something we can do without and still have a fair chance of survival as a nation.

Point of the matter is lack of a definite philosophy of government. It would help if an honest choice were made in this connection. Do we want a welfare state, which assumes responsibility for making choices for the people and meeting the cost of services from taxation? Or do we prefer a free economy with government acting as umpire to make sure basic rights of citizens are not compromised?

A major cause of confusion is that we are trying to mix the two and results are not satisfactory. Implementing the programs most of us thought both Republican and Democratic candidates were recommending last year apparently has been forgotten.

Problems that can't be deferred seem to monopolize attention. But that is only an excuse. The important decision can be made if we have the will and give up considering items of public business in isolation.

immigration inequity

The 500 Mennonites who immigrated from Mexico and Canada to West Texas, only to find themselves facing deportation, now have four months more in which to seek permission to remain in this country.

This is welcome news for a couple of reasons. One is that these Mennoites, austere Protestants of primarily German extraction, will be able to realize the literal harvest of their agrarian labors. The other is that Texas legislators can hope to obtain passage of legislation permitting them to put down permanent roots.

If there were more coherence to our immigration policies, people from other countries would not find this land of opportunity so difficult to understand.

How does one go about locating a friend whom he has not seen in several years and does not know exactly where he lives...or even if he is still alive?

Sometimes people write to the local newspaper in search for their missing friend. At other times, people write to the local police department.

Sgt. Joe Cheyne said the Snyder Police Department recently received a letter from Mr. and Mrs. Eldon McSwain of Goree who are searching for an old friend.

They are looking, Sgt. Cheyne reported, for Paule (or Paulie) Hadden whose last known address was Snyder. Hadden is believed to be approximately 70 years old.

Cheyne said he is stymied in his attempts to locate the man and hopes that a newspaper account will jog someone's memory.

The McSwains are celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary and had hoped to have their friend with them for the occassion. Time, however, is rapidly running out. The couple will celebrate their anniversary Oct. 30.

Back by popular demand in Baytown, Texas, are Christmas carols.

The superintendent of the Goose Creek School District had earlier banned the singing of the Christmas carols because of a religious discrimination suit filed by a woman who claimed that the Christian activities in the Baytown public schools violate her right to determine her children's religious training.

The original directive banning the singing of Christmas carols was withdrawn Monday night after 3,000 residents of Baytown attended a schoolboard meeting and asked for a reinstatement of the songs, The Associated Press reports.

The issue, however, is not settled. The suit is scheduled for trial next May. For this Christmas at least, it appears that the singing of carols is not wholly illegal.

Times have certainly changed.

carter's performance

President Carter's public approval rating is now less than 50 percent. History says some decline is inevitable as any new President becomes more deeply involved in durned-if-you-do- durned-if-you-don't controversy.

Rosalynn Carter says Jimmy is "a very strong President, tough."

And she says that anybody who does not agree that her husband is "doing a great job" is "uninformed."

What do you think?

Traveling somewhere two and three days a week gives me a pretty good feel of the political pulse in "Peoria."

Historically, Presidents, theater producers and product promoters always guesstimated hinterland response by test-marketing Peoria, Ill.

I have a chance to visit two or three "Peorias" every week.

And invariably, recently, the questions about how President Carter is doing are greeted with more questions than answers.

Where there are special interests involved--such as oil and gas--his critics are more vehement.

But about the best you ever hear is a "so-far-so-good."

Mostly, the electorate is withholding a verdict, awaiting more evidence.

Professional Republicans are becoming more overtly critical.

Two of the Republicans who have a fighting chance for the next GOP presidential nomination, Jim Thompson of Illinois and John Connally of Texas, are now calling the President "inept" and "inadequate" and "one of the poorest ever."

Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.) urges the President to disentangle himself from foreign affairs and tend to the neglected homefronts.

And among the most vigorous opponents of the President's tax and energy and treaty proposals are fellow Southern Democrats.

Mr. Carter recently sought to nudge congressional Democrats back into line with a public declaration that he was "getting more help" from Republicans in Congress.

All that remark did was to chill some Republicans.

Nobody really has a clear understanding of Carter Administration objectives, partly because his decisions appear to be based more on expediency than on philosophy.

This is not necessarily bad--keeping your options open and subject to change--but it engenders no confidence and almost never enthusiasm.

President Eisenhower once said, "It takes a great deal more courage to walk alone down the middle of the road, being stoned from both sides, than to walk down either side in the comparative security of your extremist friends."

Perhaps for this while we need another President who is more catalyst than combatant.

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Deportation, confiscation, racial discrimination, detention without trial - these are ugly words for ugly practices.

We hear a lot about such human rights violations these days in nations from South Africa to the Soviet Union. We condemn them, and we expect the U.S. government to do likewise.

But we hear little and say less about the sometimes brutal deprivation of human rights taking place on the West Bank, Gaza, the Sinai - in all the occupied Arab territories now controlled by Israel.

On the whole, we prefer not to know.

Israel is special. No other nation can match its claims on the emotional allegiance of the American people. No other nation even approaches its clout with the American government, especially the Congress.

That is why there was something extraordinary about a Senate subcommittee hearing this month on the plight of Arabs living on the West Bank and other occupied territories Israel has held for the past decade.

Witnesses with names like Salim Tamari, Ibrahim Bakkak and Fawzi Al-Asmar do not appear very often on Capitol Hill. Most members of Congress would prefer not to confront the kind of testimony such men can present.

But Sen. James Abourezk, D-S.D., is different. Of Lebanese descent, he is the only member of Congress both openly critical of Israel and openly supportive of the Palestinian Arabs.

An Abourezk is determined that his colleagues and his countrymen shall know what is happening with the establishment of Jewish settlements on the West Bank, the area most often pinpointed as the logical site for a Palestinian homeland once an overall Middle East peace is established.

For two days, Arab witnesses told the Senate refugee subcommittee of which Abourezk is a member how the Israeli government has confiscated Arab lands in the occupied territories to build settlements where only Jews may live.

They testified that Arab intellectuals, university professors, engineers and other professionals have been subjected to midnight interrogations, house arrest, months of detention without trial and even deportation without the slightest exercise of due process.

They charged that Arab workers are hired as "cheap labor" to construct Jewish settlements at wages that average 40 percent less than those paid to Israelis.

They said Arabs are being driven from their homes and their lands by critical shortages of housing and employment, while Jewish settlers arrive in ever-growing numbers. Those who leave, desperate to find a means to support their families, usually are not permitted to return, they claimed.

Their testimony was corroborated by an Israeli citizen, Dr. Israel Shahak, a law professor at Hebrew University, who denounced government violations of the rights of West Bank Arabs.

"The two most significant aspects of those violations," Shahak said, "appear to be the confiscation of land, carried out in a particularly cruel and unjust way, and the creation of a regime of inequality and racist discrimination."

It was disturbing testimony, unpleasant in the extreme for those who prefer to believe that Israel can do no wrong. But it was important.

The Palestinian question, now more than ever, remains the key to a peace settlement in the Middle East. Israeli colonization of the West Bank, and the distressing human and civil rights violations that have accompanied it, can only be viewed as an obstacle to peace.

letter to editor

To The Daily News:

This is an open letter to the people of Snyder.

It would like to take this means to commend the junior varsity football team, Coach Shipp, and the rest of the coaching staff. I have attended football games for over 20 years and saw this team do something last Thursday in Sweetwater that I have never seen before. During the course of the game, a boy on the Sweetwater team was hurt and it took some time to get an ambulance to the field to remove the boy.

During this time, the Snyder team gathered on the side of the field and knelt for a word of prayer for the injured player. Also, as the boy was being loaded into the ambulance, our team gave him a round of applause. As both a spectator and the mother of one of the Snyder players, I cannot express the feeling of pride that came to me at this time. We are indeed fortunate to have such men as these coaches teaching and guiding our young men.

holidays abound

WASHINGTON, D.C.--When we were growing up there were only five national holidays observed - or at least these were all we knew about - Christmas, Easter, 4th of July, Armistice Day (November 11th) now Veterans' Day (occurring last Monday), and Thanksgiving.

We are all aware of these special days but now there is getting to be a day, week or month for all seasons and all reasons.

Columbus Day was two weeks ago followed the next day by General Pulaski's Memorial Day. Just ended is National School Lunch Week and here we are in the middle of Country Music Month.

Along at this time is native American Awareness Week which runs at the same time as Drug Abuse Prevention Week and National Forest Products Week. On Saturday, the 15th, was White Cane Safety Day and also on Monday of this week was United Nations Day.

Supposedly the only person who knows about all these specially designated days, weeks, and months is the President of the United States whose duty it is to issue proclamations in the name of events, industries, heroes, institutions, and causes. For instance, there is Farm Safety Week and the President proclaims with a sort of an admonition that "all who live and work on the Nation's farms and ranches, commit themselves to safe conduct in all activities." During National Poison Prevention Week everyone is urged "to remember the dangers of accidental poisoning."

There are reminders for behavior during Emergency Medical Service Week, Steelmark Month, and Pan American Aviation Day. Some get a bit bunched up - maybe planned that way. Starting May 1st there is Law Day and Loyalty Day, National Farm-City Week, National Family Week, as is Mother's Day and Peace Officers Memorial Day. It is likely no happenstance that Father's Day and National Little League Week are paired. While save your Vision Week is in March, it is also Red Cross Month.

May is a busy time for observances. Besides Mother's Day, Law and Loyalty, there is Older Americans Month, Police Week, Armed Forces Day, World Trade Week, Small Business and National Transportation.

All these are national days of special NOTE (not mentioned yet is Election Day, Labor Day, Flag Day, and religious holidays). Surely no Nation has as many days, weeks, and months to celebrate. In addition, there are all the State holidays, most of which are not heard of outside that particular State. Occasionally, one of these are dropped off as was the case of Arbor Day but, for every one which may disappear four or five are ready to be added. New special groups spring up constantly. As soon as the Society of Girners in Hollywood think of it they may lobby for a place on the calendar. (It seems that girning is contorting one's face for a laugh.)

A resolution is pending in the Congress to make November 15th Continental Congress Day. On this day in 1777, the Articles of Confederation were signed in York, Pennsylvania, a historical landmark in our history. Who could say it is not worthy of observance.

There's nothing particularly wrong with all this - no more than all the ideas for a commemorative postage stamp. The only thing is that we may not have time to work if we celebrate all these occasions. We might have to cut some into half days, one for a morning and another starting at noon. Nights might be used for something other than Halloween but this would be a problem with Ground Hog Day.

Hope all had a happy Mothers-in-Law Day last Sunday, the 23.

Garners Celebrate 50th

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT GARNER
...to celebrate 50th anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Garner will note their Golden Wedding Anniversary on Sunday, October 30. The reception will be held in their home in the Vincent community. The time will be from 2 til 5 p.m.

The couple was married in Mitchell County on October 29, 1927 by Reverand McDermiet. Mr. Garner is a native Texan, born and raised in Mitchell County. Mrs. Garner is the former Nina Hubbard and daughter of the late W.H. Hubbard. She came to Texas in 1925 from Durant, Okla.

The Garners retired to the Vincent community in 1965. He was a retired welder who owned his own shop in several states, such as New Mexico, California, Arizona, and Utah. Even though their work and travels were very interesting, he admits that it is great to just settle down now to one place.

During those years Mrs. Garner was active in several different fields of employment. She was associated with Gallup School System for several years. She states that it was very interesting working among the Navajo, Zuni, and Hopi Indians. Her favorite work was when she trained and worked as a floral designer. The couple are Baptist and have been active in church work in each place they have lived. They are members of the Vincent Baptist Church.

The couple's children will host the affair. They are: Dale Garner and his wife Sammie Ann of Bellaire; Gene Garner and his wife Marilyn of Shreveport, La.; Mrs. Jim Elkins and her husband of Macon, Miss.; Mrs. Garner's two sisters, Ms. Coily Ballard of Stanton and Mrs. Mason Shelton of Baytown, will also assist.

Music will be furnished by the Gail Goof Offs. They are Joe Gilmore, Mr. and Mrs. Lillian Clarke and Floyd Buchanan. The children invite all their old and new friends to come and help them celebrate and request no gifts.

DAV And Auxiliary To Meet Tonight

Disabled American Veterans and Auxiliary will meet tonight at the Union Community Center at 7:30 p.m.

All members and interested persons are urged to attend.

The word "toboggan" originated among the Indian tribes of North America who transferred their food and belongings from camp to camp on small sleds.

Brownie Tacky Party Held

The annual Brownie Halloween Tacky Party was held at the Towle Park Barn Tuesday, Oct. 25 from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. A total of 119 Brownie Scouts were present, 28 adults and 27 Junior Scouts.

Songs and games were played. Refreshments were served by Junior Troop 239 under the leadership of Mrs. Mal Donaldson and Mrs. Dick Norris.

The judges for the tackiest girls out of each troop were Margaret White, Jeannie Leach and Lois Bartels. Girls winning from each troop are:

North Brownie Troop 315-Zeena Cox, first; Jennifer Goodwin, second; Teresa Breyeal, third.

East Brownie Troop 272-Lisa Nichols, first,; Tonja Robinson, second; Rebecca Stansell, third.

Northeast Brownie Troop 302-Reva Gonzalez, first; Krista Bobo, second; Andrea Garcia, third.

Stanfield Brownie Troop 84-Melody Pickering, first; Joy McSpadden, second; Keri Scarber, third.

North Brownie Troop 205 Stacy Doirs, first; Crystal Graham, second; Melenda Curry, third.

Central Brownie Troop 116-Stephanie Huntsman, first; Krista DeFreese second; Michelle Blake, third.

Stanfield Brownie 248-Stacie Hart, first; Teresa Hagins, second; Samantha Ham, third.

East Brownie Troop 219-Renee Jackson, first; Dona Gunset, second; Krista Wenger, third.

East Brownie Troop 271-Lousa Cheyney, first; Becka McCowen, second; Anna Marie Alverrez, third.

West Brownie Troop 223-Mikki McBride, first; Robin Rogers, second; Jennifer Farmer, third.

The appearance of a witch was a very exciting moment for all Brownies.

The tackiest leaders were Reta Graham, first; Lavada Cates, second; Becky Klepper, third. The Cadette Troop presented a skit about Juliette Low.

The Snyder Girl Scouts would like to note the calendar sales was a big success. Beth Hicks was the calendar chairman. The Girl Scouts is a participating agency of United Way.

COUPLE LEADS SERVICES--Mr. and Mrs. Gary Lowe visited Leisure Lodge recently. Mr. Lowe, director of the Christian Student Center at Western Texas College, led the group in some hymns and conducted the church services for the residents.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Old Man Z, the expert who always played the dummy in the auction bridge columns, was back for another duplicate game.

It didn't take him long to get to six hearts. He simply checked for aces with Blackwood (a convention that had not been invented in his early days) and bid the slam when his partner showed one ace.

It also didn't take him long to make the hand. He won the diamond lead in his own hand and led the queen of trumps. West covered with his king and when the jack fell from East the only loser was the ace of spades.

Why did Z play the trumps the way he did? His play would succeed if East held the singleton jack. The play of a low spade from his hand would work if West held the singleton king. Hence, each play had the same poor chance for success, yet Z led the spade queen without hesitation.

The reason was that he had a chance for a successful swindle. West might well duck with king-seven or king-six. Not that he should duck; rather that he just might make a bad play. As Z and all players have learned, when there is a chance to make a mistake there may be a mistake.

Allison Still Doubtful For Saturday; Longhorns Missing A Couple, Too

By The Associated Press

Texas Tech Coach Steve Sloan says injured star quarterback Rodney Allison is still doubtful for Saturday's crucial Southwest Conference clash with No. 1-ranked Texas, but said Tuesday that Allison is improving.

"He was certainly better today than he was Monday," Sloan said after Allison worked with the team Tuesday in a two-hour drill. "He still has quite a bit to go before he could play, though."

Allison suffered a broken leg on Sept. 16 during Tech's 33-17 loss to Texas A&M.

Meanwhile, both of Texas' starting defensive ends, Henry Williams and Dwight Jefferson, missed practice Tuesday with injuries suffered in last week's 30-14 thrashing of Southern Methodist.

Williams has an ankle sprain and Jefferson is bothered with rib injuries.

Texas Coach Fred Akers said Jefferson might not be ready to play against the Red Raiders.

Tim Campbell and Ron Bones replaced Williams and Jefferson in Tuesday's practice.

Akers said Jim Yarbrough will start Saturday at offensive right guard, replacing Craig Rider, who missed most of the SMU game with injuries.

A sellout crowd of 80,000 has been assured for the battle between the Longhorns, 6-0 for the season and 3-0 in the SWC, and the Raiders, who are 5-1 and 2-1

Yoeman Speaks On Houston's Downfall...

'Probation Not The Culprit'

HOUSTON (AP)-The Houston Cougars feasted on the Southwest Conference last year with a 9-2 regular season record and topped it off with a Cotton Bowl victory for dessert.

When the Cougars returned for seconds this year, they discovered the cuisine had soured.

Quarterback Danny Davis, the heart and soul of the UH offense, went out for the season with a shoulder separation in the second game against Penn State.

Then on Oct. 4, three days after Houston had opened defense of its SWC co-title with a victory over Baylor, the Cougars were placed on probation by the National Collegiate Athletic Association NCAA for recruiting violations.

The Cougars haven't won a game since, losing to Southern Methodist in the final 39 seconds and to Arkansas in a 34-0 rout. They'll take a 3-3 record into Saturday's match against rejuvenated Texas Christian.

But Coach Bill Yeoman says Houston's probation can't be blamed for the Cougar's demise. It goes back farther, like to January.

"It's hard to sit there and tell a guy he's hungry when he's just finished a 16 - ounce sirloin," Yeoman said, referring to his team's frame of mind following its Cotton Bowl triumph.

"If your frame of mind isn't very firm from about January all the way through it's not enough to sustain you," said Yeoman. "With teams getting closer and closer, it's becoming more important.

"It's just like two years ago we declared war on the Southwest Conference. Okay, this year they declared war on us. That's what makes it so much fun-I thought."

The Cougars were placed on probation for violations surrounding the recruiting of Odessa quarterback Darrell Shepard, who played for the first time last week against Arkansas. Houston is barred from post season play this year and can't play on television during regular season next year.

Jr. Panthers Cop District 3-B Zone

HOBBS--Hobbs Jr. High Panthers copped the District 3-B south zone championship here Tuesday, defeating Trent, 42-33.

The Panthers, finishing up the season on a 7-0 note, racked up 14 points in each of the first, second and fourth quarters to trounce the Gorillas.

Hobbs opened the contest as Mike Porter passed for 10 yards and a touchdown to Rudy Garcia. Garcia then ran the extra point.

Trent came right back however, as Eddie Peterson ran in from two yards out. The conversion failed.

Later in the first stanza, Hobbs' Ben Medrano ran for 20 yards and another Panther TD. He also ran the extra point.

The Panthers continued to roll in the second quarter, with Garcia plunging in from a yard out. Porter passed to Gary Allen for the point-after.

Trent's only score of the second quarter came as Patterson rolled for 15 yards. Mike Dela Cruz booted the extra points.

But Hobbs would not be stopped, and Porter passed for a 31 yard TD to Allen to secure their lead at the half. Garcia ran the point-after.

Trent picked up 12 points in the third quarter while holding the Panthers to zero. Richard Beaver did the work, with TD runs of 7 and 65 yards. Both conversion attempts failed.

In the final period, Hobbs' Garcia jaunted in from a yard away and Allen ran the point to strengthen the Panther lead.

Trent made a catch-up effort as Dela Cruz grabbed a 15-yard touchdown pass and Beaver ran the extra points, but it was not enough to thwart the Panthers who scored once more on Garcia's 6-yard burst. Garcia also capped the extra point.

Prairie View Placed On Probation

KANSAS CITY (AP)-The National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics has placed Prairie View A&M's baseball program on one year's probation for violating the organization's code of conduct.

"The probation came as a result of an incident involving Prairie View A&M in the District 8 baseball tournament last spring," the NAIA said in a statement released Wednesday. Details of the incident were not released.

Phoenix Only Unbeaten NBA Team

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writer

How's this for balance - the National Basketball Association season is only eight days old, and there's just one undefeated team left.

What's more, every team except one has at least one victory.

The defending champion Portland Trail Blazers fell from the unbeaten list Wednesday night, dropping a 111-108 decision to the Nuggets at Denver.

That leaves Phoenix as the only club in the 22-team league with an unblemished record. The Suns were idle Wednesday and do not play again until Friday night, when they put their 3-0 mark on the line against the Jazz in New Orleans.

The New Jersey Nets, meanwhile, dropped to 0-4 by bowing to the Atlanta Hawks 113-110 in overtime.

In other NBA games Wednesday night, the Detroit Pistons defeated the Golden State Warriors 123-107, the New Orleans Jazz beat the New York Knicks 123-106 and the Seattle Super-Sonics topped the Buffalo Braves 97-92.

Nuggets 111, Blazers 108

Denver took a 34-22 first-quarter lead by scoring 19 in a row but saw Portland chip away at the lead and finally go ahead in the fourth quarter. But Denver came on again, going ahead to stay on a jumper by Dan Issel with 1:57 left.

David Thompson led the Nuggets with 24 points while Bobby Gross had 22 for the Blazers.

The loss dropped Portland to 3-1, one-half game behind Phoenix in the Pacific Division.

Hawks 113, Nets 110, OT

The Nets blew a nine-point lead in the fourth quarter. Reserve guards Charlie Griss and Eddie Johnson led the way for the Hawks, Criss scoring six points in the final period and Johnson six in overtime.

The Hawks put the game away with nine points in a row in overtime, including four by Johnson.

Pistons 123, Warriors 107

Golden State trailed by only four at 107-103 with four minutes to play, but Detroit buried the Warriors with a closing 16-4 burst. Detroits's two big men paced the victory, Bob Lanier scoring 25 points and Marvin Barnes grabbing 19 rebounds, his NBA high.

Phil Smith scored 32 for Golden State.

Jazz 123, Knicks 106

Pete Maravich's hot shooting sent the Jazz in front early, and the Knicks were never able to assert themselves. Maravich scored 30 points and Gail Goodrich and Len Robinson had 25 each for New Orleans. Robinson also had 18 rebounds.

Sonics 97, Braves 92

Fred Brown, who scored 37 points, put Seattle ahead 93-92 on a corner jumper with 56 seconds to play. He then hit a 30-footer with 24 seconds left and closed out the victory with two free throws seven seconds later.

Kuhn Checking O'Brien Case

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP)-Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn was today pondering possible action against Dan O'Brien, Texas Ranger general manager accused of tampering with the signing of free agent Minnesota outfielder Larry Hisle.

Kuhn held a two and one-half hour hearing here Wednesday on the tampering charge made by Calvin Griffith, president of the Twins. Griffith maintained O'Brien's remarks about Hisle hindered his effort to sign Hisle, who led the American League in runs-batted-in.

O'Brien mentioned Hisle during a meeting of Dallas-Fort Worth media Sept. 19, prompting Kuhn to look into the matter.

Kuhn did not reveal when a decision would be returned.

Pups End Season; Rip McCaulley, 20-00

IRA--The Ira junior high Bulldogs finished their 1977 football season here Tuesday with a 20-win over the McCaulley Eagles.

James Crowder, halfback, did all the scoring for the 'Dogs' who ended the year with a 3-4 mark.

Crowder scored three touchdowns and kicked a set of extra points.

Ira's Pee Wee group also wrapped up their season recently. The youngsters won all their games this year.

Meanwhile, Ira varsity will host the Hobbs Panthers here Friday in a District 3-B, six-man, south zone contest.

SKILL AND CONTROL--John Wake (left) and Anthony Wofford (right) are two Snyderites who won trophies recently at a Karate Tournament in Marshall. Instructor Bruce Holbert (also standing) looks on. Classes for the course, held at Scurry County Coliseum, begin the 1st of each month. Lessons are held Wednesday nights from 7-9 and Saturday mornings from 10-noon. (SDN Staff Photo)

Scouts Look For Cotton Contender

DALLAS (AP)-Cotton Bowl scouts will fan out to the Notre Dame-Navy game, the Ohio State-Wisconsin contest and the Iowa-Michigan clash in search of a team for the annual Cotton Bowl game.

Notre Dame has been prominently mentioned as the team most likely to play against the host Southwest Conference champion on Jan. 2 - if the Fighting Irish keep winning.

Exhibit Of Prints By Charles D. Jones Set

A new exhibit featuring prints by Charles D. Jones of Nacogdoches will open Sunday afternoon in the Fine Arts Gallery at Western Texas College. It is to remain through the month of November.

Jones will be in the gallery from 2-5 o'clock Sunday afternoon to talk to artists interested in printmaking. His show is to include about 40 pieces, some of them derived from photographs.

Currently an assistant professor of art at Stephen F. Austin University, Jones holds bachelors degrees from Sam Houston State and New Mexico Highlands universities and the master of fine arts from the University of the Americas in Mexico.

He teaches printmaking, drawing and Mexican Art History at the University, and is a well known lecturer on Pre-Columbian art and music throughout the state. A studio-workshop, called The Print Works, keeps him busy executing custom printing of limited editions of lithographs, intaglio and relief prints. He also writes articles for general publications and still finds time to play and teach flamenco and classical guitar.

Jones was one of four artists who created and installed a special exhibition for the Tyler Museum under a grant from the Texas Commission for Arts and Humanities in 1974. His works were included in the Ten Texas Artists display in Longview this year. The Longview Museum and Arts Center had exhibited graphics by Jones in 1975, and Jan B. Statmar, arts editor of the Longview Post, had praised them as "some of the strongest prints ever seen in this area."

"The Nacogdoches artist is a printmaker of impeccable skill and intellectual introspective, virtually surrealist imagery," Ms. Statmar continued. "His works are beautifully orchestrated with subtle tonalities, sensitive line, textural bravado and dark areas of plush, rich, juicy blacks... These graphics provide the viewer with an experience of the intimate visions of the artist's eye. Charles Jones' work is an intimate, eloquent and beautiful show..."

Jones' works are included in collections in the United States and in Mexico, and are represented by the Ferdinand Roten Galleries of Baltimore.

The Fine Arts Gallery is open each weekday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. without admission charge.

Orange Industry May Drop Anita

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)- Anita Bryant, the singer whose campaign against rights for homosexuals has enmeshed her in controversy, may be on the way out as the Florida orange juice industry's leading representative.

Edward Taylor, executive director of the Florida Department of Citrus, said Wednesday that "a change will have to be made in the foreseeable future."

Miss Bryant's crusade against a Dade County, Fla., ordinance forbidding discrimination against homosexuals in housing and employment changed her image to the point that "when consumers see her they don't think about orange juice, they think about the gay rights issue," Taylor said.

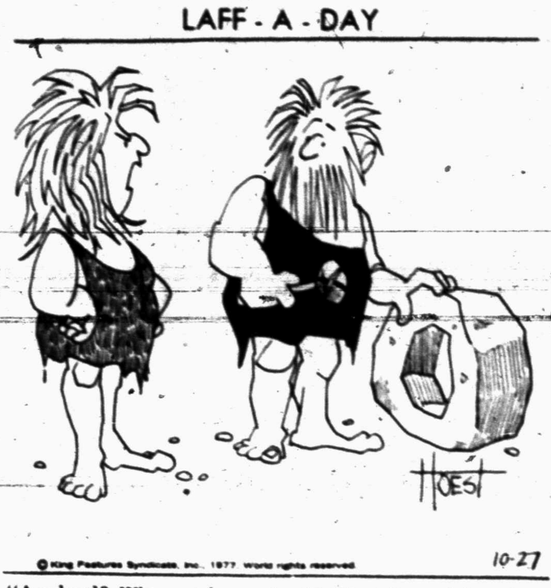

Students At Crosbyton Visit WTC

Students in the U.S. History class at the Crosbyton extension center of Western Texas College visited the college campus in Snyder Tuesday night.

Franklin Pruitt, instructor for the class, arranged a tour of the campus. Refreshments were prepared by the college cafeteria and served by Rachel Phillips and William Sullenger, students at WTC and members of Phi Theta Kappa. Phi Theta Kappa is a nationally recognized honor fraternity for students in junior colleges, and members of the WTC chapter often give volunteer time for campus visitors' activities.

About 30 people came from Crosbyton for the visit, Pruitt said. Dr. Robert Clinton, WTC president, and Mrs. Clinton visited briefly with some of the students and extended an invitation for them to return.

Queen Receives Red-Carpet Welcome

ROAD TOWN, TORTOLA, British Virgin Islands (AP)-Queen Elizabeth II received a red-carpet welcome from thousands of cheering spectators and flag-waving children during her visit to the British Virgin Islands, one of the tiniest of British possessions.

The smiling monarch, accompanied by her husband, Prince Philip, was greeted by Governor Walter Wallace, chief minister Willard Wheatley and dignitaries of other British Carbibbean islands Wednesday.

Pneumonia Vaccine Near

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)- A pneumonia vaccine may be available by the end of the year that would, for the first time, catch America's fifth biggest killer before the infection sets in, researchers said.

If the vaccine is approved by the federal Food and Drug Administration, it will be given nationally to three groups of people highly susceptible to pneumonia: the elderly, children with missing or defective spleens, and the estimated 50,000 persons - mostly blacks - who suffer from sickle cell anemia, the researchers said.

The results of a two-year study of 77 San Francisco Bay area black children with sickle cell who had been immunized by an experimental vaccine were announced at a news conference Wednesday by a team of researchers from the University of California at San Francisco.

"We have not seen adverse effects other than some local pain and fever," said Dr. Arthur Ammann, a UCSF director of pediatric immunology. "We feel it is a very safe vaccine."

Ammann suggested the vaccine eventually could join the arsenal of traditional immunizations, like polio, given all children.

Joining Ammann at the conference were Dr. William Mentzer and Dr. Joseph Addiego, both of UCSF. Results of their study were published today in The New England Journal of Medicine.

The vaccine is an "effective preventive treatment for one of the most important causes of death for children with sickle cell," Mentzer said. "We believe that cause of death can virtually be eliminated by prior immunization."

Despite antibiotics, pneumonia kills an estimated 25,000 Americans annually, doctors said. For some persons, the infection spreads through the body too quickly for drugs to be effective.

Heart disease is the most frequent cause of death in the United States, followed by cancer, accidents and cerebral vascular disorders.

The UCSF study found for 77 children tested, the vaccine was 100 per cent effective in guarding against the "pneumococcus" bacteria, which causes pneumonia and other diseases.

Doctors said they also found the vaccine effective in 19 children whose spleens were missing or defective and were easy targets for the infection.

A similar vaccine was found effective for older adults in a series of tests just completed by Dr. Robert Austrian at the University of Pennsylvania, Ammann said.

The vaccine awaiting FDA sanction is a refinement of one introduced in the 1940s and was produced by Merck, Sharpe and Dohme, he said.

WASHINGTON (AP)- President Carter, in defending the proposed Panama Canal treaty, has implied that the United States bought Texas from Mexico. And podnuh, them's fightin' words to Texas historians.

Speaking last week to an audience in Denver about the canal, Carter said:

"We have never bought it, it has not been ours. We are not giving it away. There is no semblance between the status of, say, the Panama Canal Zone and Texas or Alaska that were bought and paid for and over which we have always had sovereignty."

That statement has rued Texans who point out that the Lone Star State became a republic after winning its independence from Mexico in 1836.

The Republic of Texas, recognized by Great Britain, the United States and other countries, but not Mexico, was annexed by the United States at Texas' request in 1845.

"The United States certainly did not pay for Texas," said Dr. L. Tuffly Ellis of the Texas Historical Association, when advised of Carter's remarks.

A White House spokeswoman, Claudia Townsend, said Carter was referring to payments made by the United States to both Texas and Mexico after the Mexican War. "We paid Mexico for it," she said.

Texas, in 1850, was paid about $12.7 million for approximately 73 million acres that became parts of New Mexico, Kansas, Colorado and Wyoming.

The payments to Mexico, totalling about $21 million, were part of the settlement that ended the Mexican war in 1848. In return, Mexico relinquished its claim to the American Southwest, land already lost in the war, and Texas.

But to say that Texas was purchased is incorrect, Ellis said. The compensation paid to Mexico in 1848 was for the land that became Colorado, Arizona and other southwestern states, not at all for Texas, he added.

"Texas won its independence and became a republic in 1836 after the battle of San Jacinto. It was recognized by Great Britain, the United States and other countries, even though Mexico never recognized it. Then it was annexed and joined the Union in 1845," Ellis said.

Texans Riled Over Carter Statement

Senators Hope To Reverse Vote Cutting Drug Penalty

By W. DALE NELSON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)- Two senators who say marijuana possession should continue to be a federal crime hope they can reverse a Senate committee's vote cutting the penalty to a $100 fine.

"We are sending out a message that really should not be sent out," Sen. Orrin G. Hatch, R-Utah, said after Wednesday's judiciary committee vote to substitute the civil fine of $100 for criminal sanctions.

Sen. Paul Laxalt, R-Nev., supported Hatch, saying it would be "a terribly bad thing for us to indicate to the people of this country that we are legalizing marijuana."

Hatch said he may propose, as an alternative, that the possession of up to 10 grams still be classified as a criminal offense, although subject only to a fine of $100.

Under present federal law, marijuana possession is punishable by a fine of up to $5,000 and imprisonment of up to one year.

Under the bill the committee approved, the penalty would be $100 for possession of less than an ounce. Possession of more than an ounce could draw a maximum penalty of up to 30 days in jail and a $500 fine.

Ten grams is enough for about seven cigarettes. An ounce will make about 20.

The committee meets again Monday.

Repealing the federal criminal sanctions would have little practical effect, as virtually all arrests for marijuana are made under state laws.

But backers of the move have said they expect it to be a model for the states in modernizing their own criminal laws.

The proposal to make possession of small amounts punishable only by a fine, much as minor traffic violations are now handled, was made by Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind.

His action came as an amendment to a massive criminal code revision that orginally called for no penalties at all for less than 10 grams.

President Carter, who said this summer that 45 million Americans have tried the drug, has urged an end to federal criminal penalties for possessing less than an ounce of the substance.

On another issue, the committee adopted an amendment saying a newsman could not be jailed for violating a "gag order," restricting news coverage of legal proceedings, if a court declares the order unconstitutional.

Exxon Plant Expansion Set

BAYTON (AP)-A $475 million expansion program has been dedicated by Exxon Co. USA that makes the firm's Baytown refinery the nation's largest.

The plant's processing capacity was boosted from 390,000 to 640,000 barrels a day by the three year expansion.

Randall Meyer, president, said Wednesday the expansion is a major contribution to the adequacy of the nation's oil refining capability.

"With natural gas supplies dwindling, many utilities and industrial consumers will have to convert to other fuels," he said. "In some cases low sulfur fuel oil of the sort manufactured here will be the optimal or perhaps the only alternative."

Bond Issue Is Discussed

The Noon Kiwanis Club held its regular meeting Wednesday at the Smorgasbord with Charlie Yoast, president of the club, presiding. The program consisted of a general discussion of the upcoming hospital bond issue.

Five new members were also inducted into the club at the meeting. The new members are Tom Chorn, Joe Aycock, Vernon L. Young, Van Meador, and Donald E. Osborn.

Guests at the meeting were Bill Isbell, the guest of Hubert Cargile, and Jerry Leach, the guest of Roy J. McCloskey.

Club members were also reminded during the meeting to complete their Halloween candy sales as soon as possible.

ASTRO-GRAPH
Bernice Bede Osol

Your Birthday
Oct. 28, 1977
This coming year should be a fun one. You'll be more adventurous than usual and eager to add excitement to your life. Your common sense and self-discipline will protect you from straying where you shouldn't.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Sluggish allies are likely to slow down your pace a bit today. Nevertheless, once you pick up momentum you'll sweep them along at your speed. Like to find out more of what lies ahead for you? Send for your copy of Astro-Graph Letter by mailing 50 cents for each and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, P.O. Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify your birth sign.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Some of the responsibilities of others may be shifted to your shoulders today. A resentful attitude will make the tasks even tougher.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Outmoded work methods should be updated wherever possible. Be imaginative. Don't be afraid to try techniques with a unique twist.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You function best today operating independently. Assistants who are usually helpful are apt to get underfoot.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) One of your coworkers could be abrasive today, and a difficult person to deal with. Subdue the urge to put her in her place.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) In many ways today you're very giving. Where money is an issue, however, your generosity has definite limitations.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) The morning will not be without nominal bumps and bruises, but this won't dismay you. Turning losers into winners is your bag today.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Be prepared to stand up for your rights, especially if something owed you is long overdue. The squeaking wheel gets the oil today.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Events could unravel in a manner today to put a severe strain on your staying power. Don't chuck in the towel. The last round is yours.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Calculating tactics will produce nothing of real benefit for you today. Besides, it's not your style. You wouldn't take pride in a crafty victory.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) The apex is reachable today, but you're a tough customer to convince. Don't let self-doubts dilute your ambitions.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Be selective of which friends you ask favors of today. Some will go all-out, but one pal won't do anything without expecting more in return.

O'Hair Breaks Up Church Bingo Game

AUSTIN (AP)-Atheist leader Madalyn Murray O'Hair broke up a church bingo game Wednesday and later accused police of not doing their duty by following up with arrests.

"She came charging in like a Brahma bull," said Ray Martinez, 20.

Ms. O'Hair said she was trying to make citizens arrests, because she had complained earlier to police about the illegal bingo games and they had done nothing.

"The Roman Catholic Church has enough punch that they have been able to defy this law with impunity," she told reporters on the darkened parking lot at San Jose Catholic Church.

Bingo games for money are illegal under state law.

Ms. O'Hair said officials have responded to her calls for action against the fund-raising bingo games by saying no one would sign a complaint against the bingo players.

"I decided tonight I would be the complainant," Ms. O'Hair said.

Bingo players thought the entire incident was a "publicity stunt."

"She doesn't have the right to scare people," said Emine Smith, one of the players.

Totie Fields 'Doing Great'

LOS ANGELES (AP)-Comedienne Totie Fields, who underwent a mastectomy three days ago, is "doing great," says a spokeswoman for Los Angeles New Hospital.

Her manager, Howard Hinderstein, says plans are already being made for her to perform Jan. 5 at the Sahara in Las Vegas.

Monday's operation for removal of a tumor was the third operation for Miss Fields, 46, in 1½ years. Her left leg was amputated in April 1976 because of a circulatory problem. In May this year, she underwent eye surgery.

"Usually we say a patient is satisfactory or in good condition," spokeswoman Susan Weight said Wednesday.. "But with this lady I have to say she's vibrant. She's doing great. She's a fantastic person."

Brazil proclaimed its independence from Portugal in 1822.

Castro Says US Danger To Cuba

By ARNOLD ZEITLIN
Associated Press Writer

HAVANA (AP)-Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro says the United States remains a "potential danger" to Cuba and is still trying to foment rebellion in his country.

In brief remarks, he told a Massachusetts trade delegation Wednesday that problems between the two countries persist. But he added that President Carter's policies make the United States appear less threatening.

Castro said the United States is encouraging terrorism aimed at Cuba by exiles. He said the U.S. government is aware of activities against Cuba conducted by CIA-trained terrorists.

He also called the U.S. Navy base at Guantanamo Bay "an instrument of humiliation" and said the United States should leave foreign bases it occupies against the will of the people.

Castro said he planned to release no more U.S. political prisoners from Cuban jails, but added that lifting the U.S. economic embargo against Cuba "would facilitate further releases."

But Castro said he doesn't expect relations to improve dramatically overnight.

"After 17 years of confrontation and bad relations" said Castro, "the situation cannot be changed in a few months.

"The U.S. government needs time. I believe there are various problems the U.S. administration faces, such as the treaty with Panama. Time is not important because we have totally consolidated ourselves.

He said he doesn't consider the United States a potential threat "as long as President Carter's policy is maintained.

"But the United States," he added, "is a powerful country. It has adopted different policies at different times. It is potentially a danger," Castro added.

'Odd Couple' Ready For Outer Space

By PETER J. BOYER
Associated Press Writer

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)-Aerospace's odd couple, the space shuttle Enterprise and its companion Boeing 747, have made their last test appearance together. Next stop: outer space.

The Enterprise, launched from the back of its jumbo carrier for the fifth and final time Wednesday, made a quick, steep swoop to a bumpy but safe landing.

Britain's Prince Charles, a former Royal Navy flier who had piloted a simulated shuttle earlier this week, was among those at the landing site who sighed with relief when the craft finally settled on the runway.

Fred Haise and Gordon Fullerton were in the cockpit for the one minute, 55-second flight, the shortest and steepest of the shuttle's five test runs. The flight was a test of how well the shuttle's landing and braking system would handle a concrete runway, the same type that will be used when the craft first returns from space in early 1979.

While the other landings took place on a broad, dry lake bed, Wednesday's landing was to have been a pinpoint touchdown on the 15,000-foot landing strip. But the shuttle hit the concrete runway and bounced back into the air, its stubby wings wobbling from side to side.

After another little hop, the 93-ton craft touched down smoothly and rolled quickly to a stop with 2,000 feet of runway remaining.

Prince Charles, who had met Haise and Fullerton during his visit to Houston, "was a little tense" when the craft bounced on landing, said NASA official Stan Miller, who watched the landing with the prince. "But he's a pilot, and I think he understands those things."

Haise, who piloted two of the other test flights, said Wednesday's bumpy landing made the test "somewhat of a personal disappointment, because you always want to do the right thing, and in this case, the right thing was to put it down right on the line."

"Overall, however," Haise added, "I'm very happy because we got the vehicle on the ground safely."

Fullerton, Haise and testing project manager Donald Slayton termed the test a success. Slayton said further tests are unlikely.

So the next time a shuttle flies on its own - in 1979 - it will be boosted like a rocket into space bearing two astronauts who will orbit the Earth, then pilot the craft back down to an airplane-like landing here.

Lights Stolen From Arena

An estimated $150 worth of high wattage light bulbs have been taken from atop utility poles at the Sundowner's Riding Club Arena, Hoy Hamilton told police.

Police reports state that ten 1500-watt bulbs are missing. The bulbs are valued at $15 each. The theft is believed to have occurred between Oct. 3 and Oct. 15.

In other reports, Todd Maxsem told officers that the rear tires of his 1975 Pinto was slashed Tuesday night as the vehicle was parked at the Windridge Apartments.

The act of vandalism was reported to police Wednesday morning.

Guilty Plea Is Entered

A guilty plea and a probation revocation have been entered in 132nd District Court.

The guilty plea was entered Wednesday by R.C. Tyson to a charge of driving while intoxicated, subsequent offense. Tyson, 54, received an 18-month prison term in the Texas Department of Corrections.

This morning in district court, the probation of David Baker was revoked.

Baker had been placed on a seven-year probated jail term Nov. 12, 1976 on a burglary charge. The probation was revoked because of the alleged theft of 27 pairs of men's trousers from an Amarillo clothing factory. The theft is reported to have occurred Aug. 25.

Missing Car Is Recovered

Sheriff's deputies reported locating a car earlier reported as stolen and questioning a 12-year-old girl in connection with the incident.

The car, a 1971 Ford owned by Barbara Sowell of Snyder, was taken in the early morning hours of Oct. 22 from a residence on the Lamesa Highway. The car, deputies reported, had been abandoned after it had been involved in a minor collision with a utility pole in the 2700 block of El Paso.

The car was located at a local wrecking yard after it had been picked up following the mishap.

No charges are expected to be filed in the incident.

Fire Put Out

An electrical short in a press at the Snyder Co-op Gin on 37th St. produced a minor fire that was quickly extinguished Wednesday afternoon by Snyder firefighters.

The fire was reported about 1:25 p.m.

KlansmenHave Little Effect

SAN DIEGO (AP)-U.S. Border Patrol officials say the highly publicized Ku Klux Klan border watch is having little effect on the apprehension of illegal aliens and that officers have had little contact with KKK members.

David Duke of Metairie, La., the 27-year-old Grand Dragon of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, one of 42 separate organizations known as the Klan of America, insisted the citizen patrols were in full swing. Duke and Tom Metzger of Fallbrook, claimed more than 500 Klansmen in four states were patroling the border from Brownsville, Texas, to the Pacific.

Meanwhile, a federal court judge Wednesday denied a petition filed by several human rights groups seeking a temporary restraining order limiting the Klan patrols.

The suit was filed by attorneys for the Los Angeles-based Legal Services Aliens Rights program; American Civil Liberties and two local organizations.

U.S. District Judge Howard B. Turrentine rejected the injunction request saying there was no evidence the KKK violated any federal laws and that there had been no showing of irreparable harm to the plaintiffs.

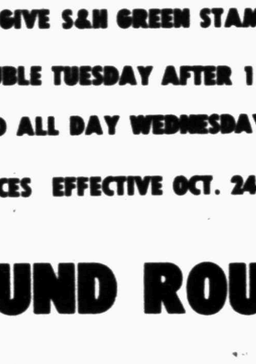

The suit was filed on behalf of five Americans of Mexican descent living in San Ysidro.

Mark Waldman, an ACLU lawyer, told Turrentine that "our clients are scared. They're scared to death of what the Klan stands for and what this man Duke stands for."

Duke has said Klansmen will not attempt to apprehend aliens, will have no contact with them and will only report their presence to the border Patrol by citizens ban[illegible]

TESCO Plant To Get An Engineering Award

The National Society of Professional Engineers has named Texas Electric Service Co.'s Monticello power plant one of the ten outstanding engineering achievements of 1976.

Formal presentation of the award will be made at a special luncheon Nov. 8 in Mt. Pleasant. Gov. Dolph Briscoe will be the principal speaker at the luncheon.

The award recognizes the significant contribution made to fuel cost savings for the four million people the plant serves.

Monticello is owned jointly by Texas Electric, Texas Power & Light and Dallas Power & Light, sister companies in the Texas Utilities Co. system.

Monticello and the two other lignite-fueled plants owned by the three companies have saved customers more than $500 million in total fuel cost since 1971.

Other winners of the award include the Viking mission to Mars, Walt Disney World in Florida, the Midwest coal shipping terminal in Superior, Wis., the RESCO solid waste-to-energy plant in Lynn, Mass. and Chicago's Southwest supplementary fuel processing facility.

Also included are Bartow Chemical Products Corp.'s phosphoric acid production complex in central Florida, the Corps of Engineers' working model of Chesapeake Bay, St. Petersburg, Fla.'s Southwest Wastewater Treatment Plant and recycling system and the waste disposal network of the Bruce Mansfield Power Station near Pittsburgh, Pa.

Each year, the NSPE names ten outstanding American engineering achievements completed in the past year. The society cites those which have contributed most to human and social needs.

Indian Dance Seminar Set

An Order of the Arrow Indian Seminar is expected to attract a number of scouts, scouters and other interested persons from three states here Saturday.

The seminar will be held at Western Texas College and it will be climaxed Saturday evening with a colorful exhibition of Indiance dances.

The seminar is being sponsored by the Tatanka Lodge of the Order of the Arrow and it is a council-wide activity. Moreover, Indian dancers from New Mexico and Oklahoma are scheduled to be here and participate in the seminar and in the evening exhibition.

Larry Miller, Scout Executive for the Lone Buffalo District, said that local residents are invited to attend the event and participate in the seminar, and especially to witness the Indian dances Saturday night.

"This will be one of the largest events of its type ever held in this area," said Miller.

Those participating in the seminar will be in classroom activities from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Thief Gets Short Ride

LA SALLE, Colo. (AP)-A would-be Casey Jones climbed into the cab of a Union Pacific locomotive, fired up the engine, tooted the horn and headed down the track.

But is was a short ride. The stolen locomotive was on a 50-foot-long siding near this northern Colorado town. The engine ran off the end of the track and was sitting in deep mud when police arrived.

La Salle police officer Ray Henson said he saw no sign of the thief. But while standing under a tree filling out his report, he heard a limb crack above him.

An 18-year-old youth fell into the arms of the law.

Police said Mark Hernandez of La Salle was arrested on the scene for investigation of felony theft.

Book Will 'Jazz Up' History Class

MOUNT PLEASANT, Mich. (AP)-A history professor and a former student at Central Michigan University have come up with a book to "jazz up" conventional history classes.

Called the "Great American Quiz Book: 1,001 Incredible Questions, Facts and Answers about American History," it looks at the unimportant aspects of history "that are still fascinating in themselves," Prof. Wiliam Bulger said.

Bulger and former student Frank Ragner spent six years dredging up such trivia as:

-President William Taft was so fat he reportedly got stuck in the White House bath tub.

-Adolf Hitler once claimed he inherited 8,960 acres of land in Colorado.

-The only member of the Michigan legislature to also be a "king" was King James Jesse Strang, the Beaver Island Mormon leader whose followers made him monarch.

-George Washington gave the shortest presidential inaugural speech on record-134 words.

Bulger said he hopes the book "will be of some interest to history teachers at all levels to help them jazz up their courses a little."

The author of the Declaration of Independence was Thomas Jefferson, but few Americans knew this until the fact appeared in a newspaper in 1784, according to the National Geographic Society.

Conferences Set On New Program

Input from the community is being sought as Snyder Independent School District initiates a developmental program for training teachers to identify and provide services for gifted, talented and creative students.

An invitation has been extended to interested persons to attend either of two awareness conferences which have been scheduled. The first conference is set for 8 o'clock tonight in the science lecture hall at Western Texas College. The second conference has been set for 8 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 1, in the Snyder Savings and Loan Community Room.

The general format of these meetings will be an overview of the program by Dr. Thomas H. Scannicchio, assistant superintendent for instruction and program director. Following this, Mrs. Grace LeMonds, coordinator of the program, will detail plans for the actual implementation of services to the teachers of gifted, talented and creative children.

The program is focused on the creation of teacher-training modules, and will provide instruments for both teacher and student identification. At its completion, the program should result in a training model which can be used in any school district wishing to provide similar services to its faculty and students.

FINISHING TOUCHES—Retha Boyd of Snyder puts some finishing touches on costumes for TCU's production of "Macbeth" which opens Nov. 3 Ms. Boyd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ab Boyd, 1306 24th St. Snyder, is doing the costumes as a master's degree project.

The Spanish landed at St. Augustine, Fla., on Sept. 6, 1565.

Snyderite Does TCU Costumes

FORT WORTH "Macbeth," one of Shakespeare's greatest tragedies that blends death and battle and witchcraft into beautiful poetry, will open a split-week run at Texas Christian University on Nov. 3.

The second play in TCU's 1977-78 theatre season begins at 8:15 p.m. in University Theatre on Nov. 3,4,5, 10 and 12 and at 2:15 p.m. on Nov. 6. Tickets are available at the University Theatre box office, 926-4051, from 2 to 6 p.m. daily and at Central Ticket Agency, 335-9000.

Dr. Henry Hammack, professor of theatre arts is directing the play. "Our 'Macbeth' is a fairly bare production," he said. "We're treating it simply because it really doesn't call for anything fancy. This is relatively early English history--things were rough, not fancy, then."

He continued: "This is Shakespeare's shortest tragedy, with very fast-moving ideas and action. Two hours isn't short by our standards, but it is by Shakespear's. We've cut the Hecate scene, a rather routine omission since Shakespear probably didn't write that part anyway. It was probably added later."

Benton Jennings, senior from Fort Worth, is Macbeth with Margaret Crawford, Fort Worth graduate student, as Lady Macbeth. Craig McElvain of Overland Park, Kan., plays Duncan the King; Woody Pyeatt Jr. of Sweetwater, Banquo; John Wells, Fort Worth, Macduff; and Ricky Munday of Wichita, Kan., Malcolm.

Retha Boyd, graduate student from Snyder, is researching, designing and making a thesis project for her master's degree in theatre arts.

Two other Shakespeare events on campus during the run of the play will be an appearance by Sir Michael Redgrave in "Shakespear's People" on Nov. 11 and a public workship on Shakespeare and "Macbeth" on Nov. 2.

Redgrave, three actors and a musician will perform at 8 p.m. in Ed Landreth Auditorium. Central Ticket Agency is handling ticket sales.

Dr. George R. Kernodle of the department of dramatic arts at the University of Arkansas will conduct the free lecture-workshop in Room 207 of the Brown-Lupton Student Center at 2 p.m. Nov. 2.

The leading agricultural product of St. Kitts, West Indies, is sugar. Its second major crop is peanuts.

Computers Are Invading Homes

EDITOR'S NOTE-If you're fed up because a computer has fouled up your electric or telephone bill, just wait a couple of years. You'll soon be able to get a computer for your home-one that can get back at the electric company by regulating your electric lights. In fact, you may already have a home computer in your calculator or microwave oven.

By LOUISE Cook
Associated Press Writer

A computer that turns your lights on and off, protects your home, balances your checkbook, takes your pulse-a computer you may not even know is there.

You may own a computer already in your pocket calculator; or you may have one in your microwave oven. Or your sewing machine. Or your automobile.

To many people, computers are huge, multi-million dollar devices used to send men to the moon.

But the development of the microprocessor-a tiny, low-cost computer with the capability of a room-size machine-has changed that picture.

In less than 10 years, you'll find some limited-use computers costing under $10; more complex systems will cost little more than a good stereo set does today.

"You'll fine computers in everyday life within two years in that there will be computers in things that you have in your home," says George E. Lindamood of the National Bureau of Standards.

A computer is a machine that follows human instructions, making thousands thousands of calculations per second. "It's like an automatic pilot," says Lindamood. "You figure out ahead of time what you want done and you make that up into a sequence of steps. That constitutes a program."

Earl C. Joseph, a futurist for Sperry-Univac Computer Systems, says, "what we're looking at is embedding computers into things...to make those devices smart."

You may be able to tell the device what to do simply by talking to it. Voice-control of computers already is being tested in some areas such as prison security and Joseph said it could be in the home within the decade.

"You could awaken some mornings five or 10 years hence, speak a few simple instructions from your bed to your toaster, coffee pot and frying pan and walk into the kitchen minutes later to a fully prepared breakfast," Joseph wrote in a recent paper.

The development of voice-control or some other simple method of telling the computer what to do could be a key in determining how fast the computers move into the home.

Joseph and other experts say the hand-held calculator has done a lot to help people get over their fear of computers as "Big Brother" machines. "We've really entered the era of the friendly computer," says Joseph. "People trust them."

Lindamood says children-who have no preconceived opinions about computers-are often more ready to accept them.

Richard F. Brown, president of the Computer Store Inc. of Cambridge, Mass., which caters to computer hobbyists, says, "Anybody over 35 is still petrified by computers. It's a foreign technology because people weren't brought up with it. It's a hangover of when we presented the computer as a magic brain."

A growing number of people apparently are overcoming this type of fear, however, and are buying full-fledged computer systems for personal use. Stores like Brown's are multiplying.

Computer systems with keyboards and display terminals that look like television screens already are being offered for home use at prices as low as $600 and some experts predict that by 1985 the cost will be down to $100.

These systems require some basic knowledge of computer terms. They must be programmed, usually through the use of a tape casette. The user must learn a sort of shorthand to communicate with the computer.

A $600 system offered by Radio Shack, a nationwide chain, can be programmed to take care of a payroll for up to 15 people, keep track of recipes, teach arithmetic, play games and handle personal finances, depending on which of a series of tape casettes is used.

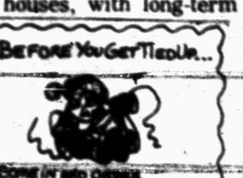

Steve Jobs, vice president of Apply Computer Inc. of Cupertino, Calif., was on hand to demonstrate his firm's $1,300 "Apply II" system, which used in conjunction with an ordinary tape recorder and television, can be programmed to do everything from determining an individual's biorhythmic chart to balancing his checkbook.

Jobs admitted that very few people would spend $1,300-or even $600-on a gadget to balance their checkbooks. "People are buying them not to do something practical, but to familiarize themselves with the computer. People are learning about computers."

What else is on the horizon? Personalized, computerized wristwatches that take the wearer's pulse and temperature and monitor such things as blood-suga levels, says Joseph. "Perfect for diabetics and others needing...health monitoring and control attention."

Automobiles built to last 60 or 70 years with computerized controls to prevent accidents and designed so that individual parts could be replaced to keep up with style changes. The cars would be expensive and people would buy automobiles the way they do houses, with long-term mortgages.

Appliances with built-in computer systems designed to alert you when something goes wrong. "There may even be a telephone link between the computer in your appliance and the computer in the repair shop," says Lindamood, noting that one auto manufacturer already has placed a diagnostic computer in its repair shops.

Job Performances Studied

Chauvinistic Statements Proving To Be Myths

LUBBOCK—If it is physical labor and a woman can do it, certainly a man can do it equally well. And one blue collar worker can do almost everything that another blue collar worker can.

These may well be chauvinistic statements but they are also proving to be myths, as engineering research indicates that there are certain physical jobs which either sex can or cannot perform well and that even among males and femals there are certain jobs which one individual can perform and others cannot.

The research is being conducted by Drs. M.M. Ayoub and Jerry D. Ramsey of Texas Tech University's Industrial Engineering Department. Ayoub is studying, among other things, male and female performance, while Ramsey is concerned with environmental effects in work situations.

"In a simple comparison, a female's capacity is 60 per cent that of a male when it comes to manual handling of loads, but females are better at estimating the amount of weight they can lift from their past experiences. In jobs involving dexterity, fine manipulation or precision, as in micro-electronics, females are better than males," Ayoub explained.

The question is: who can do what kind of work, under what conditions and for how long?

A pioneer in the field and a nationally recognized authority on ergonomics, also called biotechnology, Texas Tech is engaged in finding answers to this question.

"As more and more females enter the armed services, there will be questions of finding suitable jobs for males as well as females. Private industry will also be faced with similar questions as an increasing number of women apply for blue collar jobs traditionally assigned to men," Ayoub, who is also director of Tech's Institute for Biotechnology, explained.

An ongoing project at the institute is designed to provide the U.S. Air Force a set of criteria by which jobs can be assigned to men and women according to physical characteristics.

"There are some 300 different types of jobs within the Air Force. We are matching the type of work with strength, physical work capacity, or stamina, and size of the individual, the ultimate objective being to improve human performance and productivity in blue collar jobs," Ayoub explained.

Besides human performance and productivity the research will also help in reducing industrial injuries, such as back injuries caused by manual handling of loads.

Biotechnological research is also finding effects of heat, wind and humidity stress in outdoor as well as indoor situations. Ramsey is investigating these effects.

"Using a technique called the Wet Globe Bulb Temperature (WGBT) we can specify various sets of 'ideal' conditions for labor jobs," Ramsey said.

Radiation from a heat source, whether it be a furnace of the direct light from the sun, natural or induced humidity, and wind can individually or collectively produce physiological responses that affect an employee's performance, Ramsey said.

It is difficult to set individual degrees of temperature, humidity and radiation that can be called "ideal" because it is the combined effect of these factors plus the metabolic or internally generated heat that affect human performance. The WGBT method is assumed to represent all these thermal factors in combination.

Ramsey has served as chairman of the Standards Advisory Committee on Heat Stress of the Occupational Safety and Health Administration. He and Ayoub are recognized authorities in their individual subjects, according to a survey of American universities recently completed by a magazine, "The New Engineer."

Rabbis, Engineers Try To Settle Difference

By MARCUS ELIASON
Associated Press Writer

JERUSALEM (AP)-Dov Zioni works in a dingy shop at a machine made mostly of pipes and wires. His job is to manufacture kosher steam.

Zioni is an engineer, but many of his colleagues are rabbis. Immersed in volumes of Talmud and textbooks on science, they are trying to reconcile the demands of the modern world and its technology with the laws set down thousands of years ago in the Bible.

"We are trying to keep Judaism abreast of technology without changing Judaism or impeding science," says Rabbi Levy-Yitzhak Halperin, who heads the project. "Many answers to modern-day dilemmas of science and religion are in the Torah and Halacha."

About 20 per cent of Israel's residents are Orthodox Jews. They follow rules enumerated in the Torah-the five books of Moses-and the Halacha, a large body of commentary by Jewish sages in the 5th century, which is designed to explain and buttress the Torah.

But if the state were to follow the Bible to the letter it would have to close all businessmen stop all traffic and end all financial transactions each Saturday, the Jewish Sabbath. And that would anger the 80 per cent secular population, many already dismayed by what they think is the disproportionate role played in government by the religious political parties.

Enter Rabbi Halperin's Institute for Science and Halachan where Dov Zioni works to try to reconcile the difference. One example is kosher steam.

Under Orthodox law, milk and meat cannot be mixed. So at hotels, restaurants and hospitals, wherever steamtables are used to keep food warm, kosher laws are violated if steam from meat dishes touches something with milk in it.

Halacha rules led Zioni to the solution. One rule says kosher food cannot be contaminated by something which is not food. Another maxim says it isn't food if dogs won't eat it.

So Zioni rigged his machine to put pine oil into the water which will become steam. The pine oil steam doesn't affect the taste of the food, but Zioni found that when he condensed the steam, dogs wouldn't touch it.

Presto, kosher steam.

Many of the institute's functions are less esoteric. Its basic role is to avoid violation of two cardinal rules in the Book of Exodus:

-"You shall kindle no fire in all your habitations on the Sabbath day."

-"Whoever does any work on it shall be put to death."

The ban on fire, in its modern interpretation includes electric lights. Thus a devout Orthodox Jew won't turn on the light on the Sabbath, use a telephone which might kindle a switchboard light, ride an elevator with a mechanism that might produce a spark, or drive a vehicle that runs on combustion.

Nor may he ask others to do such things for him, since indirect violations are considered equally sinful.

So institute researchers have come up with a doctor's otoscope - a lamp-like device for examining ears - that works by turning off electricity instead of turning it on. They have devised a clock that checks-in Sabbath workers without using electricity. And they have made a lamp encased in metal slats, which can be turned on before the Sabbath begins at dusk Friday and regulated for the next 24 hours by opening or closing the slats.

The institute has assumed even greater prestige since the May 17 election, because the religious parties are a key part of the government coalition forged by new Prime Minister Menahem Begin.

One of its early acts was to appoint a committee to re-examine the permits handed out liberally by the previous leadership to allow factories to operate on the Sabbath. The committee is expected to demand that some industries shut down on Saturday or use automated equipment that would require no workers.

Nonethe less, many regulations are enforced by municipalities and do not come under the purview of the national government. In the Socialist stronghold of Haifan for example, buses run on the Sabbath; in religious Jerusalemn they don't. In Tel Aviv, moviehouses have been open on Saturdays ever since a non-religious mayor took over, and did not include rabbis in his coalition.

And many Israeli restaurants now serve pork, expressly forbidden by kosher law, listing it on the menu as "white meat." Nor is the once-coveted kosher certificate from the rabbinate a prerequisite for operation.

At present the institute is busy on is biggest job ever - outfitting Jerusalem's Shaareli Zedek hospital, run by religious Jews, so that everything from the bedside buzzers to the electrocardiogram machines will operate without violating the Sabbath.

No way to spot reduce

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB--I would like to know if it is possible to lose a "secretary's spread"? I have thought about quitting my job because of the sitting down all day, every day. I have gained four inches on my rear quarters and thighs in four years since I have had this job.

I would like to know if my hips and legs can be brought back to their original size or close to it? If so, how do I go about it and if exercise is the answer, what kind is best? I have cut down on my eating.

DEAR READER--The act of sitting does not cause inches to be added to your seat or pounds of fat to accumulate over your buttocks or thighs. The problem is the same as for the person who develops a large waist. It is that old problem of consuming more calories than your body uses. The end result is FAT which is simply stored energy and it has to be stored somewhere.

"Somewhere" for you is your buttocks and thighs. In the next person it may be the waist. There are individual differences in where the fat deposits will locate. You were probably born with a tendency to deposit fat in those locations.

In one ethnic group in Africa the people have a characteristic of having very large buttocks--a large fat pad. It is a racial characteristic for that group as opposed to other ethnic groups in Africa. It is not that these people are necessarily fatter than another race but their inherited characteristic is to store their fat over the buttocks.

Because your job requires you to sit a lot you probably use less calories than you used in the past. It is the total inactivity combined with your calorie intake that leads to fat deposits.

You can't "spot reduce" the area. The way to get rid of it is to reverse the "calories in, calories used" ratio by changing your diet and increasing your activity. I am sending you The Health Letter number 4-7, Weight Losing Diet, which you can use as a guide. Others who want this diet can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, addressed envelope for it to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Exercise will help and as I mentioned in The Health Letter I am sending you that is a good way to help protect your muscles while getting rid of fat. I think everyone on a reducing diet should have some type of exercise program as well.

Exercising your hips and buttocks will not cause fat to melt away over these areas. It will simply be part of your total exercise program to use calories.

You can tighten the muscles in that area and firm them just as you can tighten and firm any muscle. That means contracting and relaxing the muscle groups. For the seat you can do bumps and grinds. You can also get some benefit from standing up and voluntarily tightening your seat muscles and then relaxing them. Hold the muscles in the tensed position for a few seconds each time. Repeat the exercise about 10 times and have at least two sessions a day of this. By working these muscles they will become firmer but the fat will still be there unless you regulate your calorie balance.

His Debts Set Back Wedding Five Years

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1977 by The Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Eddie (not his real name) and I have been going steady for four years. I'm 25 and Eddie's 26. We definitely planned on getting married, but here's the problem. Eddie says we can't get married until he pays his parents back for putting him through college. Otherwise he'd be getting married on his parents' money.

Abby, his parents are very well-off, and I'm sure they don't expect to be paid back.

The way Eddie has it figured, it will take him at least five years to pay off his parents. He says in the meantime we should just go steady.

I suggested we get engaged, but Eddie doesn't believe in long engagements. What do you make of this?

EDDIE'S GIRL

DEAR GIRL: I think Eddie should be commended for wanting to repay his parents, but it seems to me he's giving you a five-year stall. Stalls are for horses and other four-legged animals. I'd say "Nay."

DEAR ABBY: I work in a nursing home, and one of the residents here has asked me to write the following letter to you:

"Dear Abby: I am a sick old lady. My dentures no longer fit me, and since they are very uncomfortable, I don't wear them much anymore.

When my daughter visited last Sunday, she ordered me to wear my dentures at all times so that when I die I will look 'presentable.'

What do you advise?

TROUBLED IN L.A."

DEAR TROUBLED: Tell your daughter that you are more concerned with being comfortable NOW than being "presentable" then.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 14-year-old girl with a story to tell.

Last night about 9 p.m. I was walking home alone from the public library. (I live 8 blocks from there.) The wind was blowing hard, and it was very cold. Besides, I had a load of books under my arm.

A car pulled up alongside the curb, and a nice-looking man opened the door and asked, "Want a ride?" He looked okay and was about my father's age, and my feet were about to drop off with freezing, so I said yes and hopped in.

He asked me where I was going and I told him. He drove me there, but before he let me out, he said, "Young lady, I want you to promise me that you will NEVER again accept a ride with a stranger, no matter how 'nice' he appears to be. I happen to be a decent man, but you took an awful chance. You can't tell ANYTHING about a man by the way he looks. Two years ago I had a niece about your age who accepted a ride with a strange man, and three days later they found her lifeless body in a ditch four miles from your home. She'd been raped and strangled."

Abby, I promised that man I would never again get into a car with a stranger. And I never will.

LUCKY

DEAR LUCKY: Thanks for sharing your experience. It contains valuable advice.

DEAR ABBY: When someone asks, "What nationality are you?" and I say, "I was born and raised in the U.S.A., which makes me an American," why do they say, "Oh, I know that—I mean, are you Jewish, Catholic or Protestant?"

Abby, don't they know that they are asking about a person's RELIGION—not their NATIONALITY?

I have a friend whose parents came from Italy, and people are always calling him an Italian. He is NOT an Italian, he's an American!

If I sound angry, I am. Oh, boy, would you be doing a lot of people a big favor if you put this in your column.
