HAGER WINS REPRIEVE

Coal Miner Gets 60 Days Respite From March To Grim Chair

STATE PENITENTIARY, McAlester, Okla., July 17. (AP)—(Thursday)—Tom Guest, 47, convicted murderer, and James E. Forrest, 23-year-old negro sentenced for assault upon a white woman in Stephens county, paid with their lives in the electric chair here early today.

Hager Saved

Only a few hours before the execution, Claude (Blackie) Hager, an Ottawa county coal miner, was saved from a similar fate through a 60-day reprieve by Gov. W. J. Holloway. The governor refused to interefere with the execution of Guest and Edwards.

Hager, 41, was convicted in the hammer murder of Walter Harp in Ottawa county. Harp was killed while Hager, Elmer Moore and Mrs. Harp, Harp's sister-in-law, were returning from a fishing trip.

Moore, who pleaded guilty to Harp's murder and received a life sentence when he turned state's evidence, told state officials he alone killed Harp. He said Hager was in a drunken stupor and did not know what had happened.

Guest Killed Druggist

Guest, gray haired lanky Texan, was convicted of killing Bailey Browder, an Asher druggist, in 1927, when a bandit trio raided the Canadian Valley bank of Asher.

In the more than 1,000 days Guest has spent in death row, he had received several reprieves. He maintained his innocence, saying his companion killed Browder because his code would not sanction the "squealer," he refused to name his companion.

James Edward Forrest, the negro, is only 23 years old. He was sentenced to die in Stephens county when he pleaded guilty to attacking a white woman in 1928.

Two Aviation Leaders Here in August

Two of the foremost figures in national aviation will be visitors in Wichita Falls when the National Air races are held in August, with Wichita Falls as one of the refueling points. Orville Wright (left above) is rightly called the father of aviation as the man who first perfected the heavier than air machine. Miss Amelia Earhart (right above) is a youngster in flying as compared to Wright, but she is the first woman to cross the Atlantic in a plane.

C-C Prepares To Receive Planes In National Race

Wichita Falls Designated as Refueling Point in Event; World Aces to Visit Port Here

Aviators and airplanes of international fame will visit the Municipal airport here on Aug. 21 about 9:30 a. m. as a result of the designation of Wichita Falls Wednesday as a refueling point for contestants in the National Air races to be held at that time.

This announcement was made Wednesday by John Boswell, manager of the chamber of commerce, which will cooperate with the management of the airport and race officials in handling the situation when the fleet of speed planes arrives here. Preparations are already being made to receive the planes.

Orville Wright, pioneer in the field of aviation and one of the inventors of airplanes, is chairman of the contest committee, and will visit Wichita Falls with the group which will refuel here. Miss Amelia Earhart, transatlantic crew member and a visitor in this city a few months ago, will also be in the race. Another entry expected here is Maj. F. P. Lahm of the U. S. army.

Many new types of planes, some of which have not yet been revealed, are expected to be exhibited in the national air races, it was said. Competition is open to army, marine, and privately owned ships. Races will begin in all parts of the nation, and will converge at Chicago on Aug. 23. Actual flying time for distance traveled will be the basis of adjudication. Following the arrival of all contestants in Chicago, an air carnival and stunt fair will be held there during the succeeding seven days.

Plans for refueling the racing planes here will be in charge of James E. McKanna, chairman of the aviation committee of the chamber of commerce. Numerous stunts are expected from the various visiting planes during their stop at the local airport.

TEXAS MAY GET MORE SOLONS

State's Population Placed At 5,810,683

DALLAS, July 16. (AP)—Texas took on 1,147,455 new inhabitants during the past 10 years to increase her population to 5,810,683, according to figures released by 1930 census supervisors of the various districts in the state and compiled by the Associated Press today. The 1920 population was 4,663,228.

The returns showed a growth of 24.62 per cent, or nearly 25 persons to each 100 counted 10 years ago. There would be only 21.4 persons to each of Texas' 265,896 square miles if the populace were apportioned on that basis.

New Congressmen Likely

Should congress pass a reapportionment bill in fixing representation in the national house of representatives Texas undoubtedly would receive two or three additional seats. The state now has 18 representatives in the house.

Texas' unofficial figures gave it a narrow lead over California for fifth place among the states, the Lone Star commonwealth retaining that position by 186,401 if the Golden Gate state's population is placed at 5,624,282, recently announced as the preliminary total. States topping Texas in population are New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois and Ohio. California's increase

Ross Sterling First Aspirant For Governor To Visit Dallas

C. C. SMALL CLIMBS

West Texan's Friends Say Candidate Sure to Be In Run-Off

(By The Associated Press)

The people of Texas began selecting their office-holders Wednesday and seven candidates for governor, perhaps mindful of that, kept on their campaign rounds.

Of course, they were not paying as much attention to the absentee voting, which began Wednesday and will last for a week, as to the first primary 10 days hence. Persons who will be away from home election day, July 26, may cast absentee ballots. If they are at home now, they may go down to a voting box and do their "scratching." If not, they may mail in their ballot.

Sterling at Dallas

Dallas heard its first speaking on the part of any candidate for governor when Ross S. Sterling spoke there Wednesday night. Most, if not all of the other active candidates will be in Dallas during the next nine days. Candidates usually wait late to invade the North Texas city because of its size and the density of population around it. They hope to arouse enthusiasm which will last through election day.

Sterling came to Dallas from Northwest Texas where he had been booked for four speeches during the day. Dexter Hamilton, Dallas attorney, planned to introduce him at Dallas.

Women Hear Hobby

North Texas women supporters of Sterling held a luncheon at Dallas Wednesday when they were addressed by former Governor W. P. Hobby of Houston, Mrs. W. C. Martin of Dallas and Mrs. J. W. Fincher of Houston.

Thomas B. Love of Dallas took a night off after speaking before the Texas Angora Goat Raisers convention at Rock Springs Wednesday morning. Rock Springs is in Edwards county, which gave Herbert Hoover a 9 to 1 majority in 1928. Love thanked the voters for "placing principle above party."

Former United States Senator Earle B. Mayfield again leveled his fire on Sterling and the proposed state highway bond issue in an address at Atlanta Wednesday.

Mayfield's Plan

Mayfield said that he, a "little business man," would set aside $5,000,000 annually out of current revenues of the state highway department to pay the $70,000,000 of outstanding bonds voted by the counties to help build state roads. "A big, successful business man" candidate for governor wants to pay these $70,000,000 of bonds by plastering $350,000,000 more bonds on the backs of the people, Mayfield said.

D. A. Frank of Dallas, past president of University of Texas exes, spoke for Barry Miller at a tri-county picnic at Eddy, McLennan county, Wednesday.

Boy Aviator Meets Fate Similar to Father's

BENNINGTON, Vt., July 16. (AP)—Frank Goldsborough, 19, holder of junior transcontinental flight records, tonight joined his father, Brice Goldsborough, also an aviator, in death.

Unconscious since being brought to the Putnam Memorial hospital here, hours after his plane had crashed into a fog-hidden tree Monday, Goldsborough died as his stepmother hastened to his bedside.

Father Crash Victim

The Dawn, Mrs. Frances Grayson's transatlantic plane, carried his father to death in one of the unsolved mysteries of attempted transatlantic flights, only companion crew members with him. The Dawn never was found after hopping from New York to Newfoundland in 1927 preparatory to a transatlantic flight attempt.

The youthful holder of the three junior transcontinental flight records died in a coma that had enshrouded him 60 hours. Goldsborough showed no improvement from the time his unconscious form had been extricated from the wreckage of the plane, which had pinned him down for 18 hours while an army of men searched for him.

Encountered Fog

With Donald Mockler of New York, Goldsborough was on his way to Keene, N. H., Monday when they encountered a thick fog. In an effort to get below the fog, Goldsborough dropped to a level of 2,500 feet only to crash into the trees of a mountain 2,500 feet high. Mockler was slightly injuried and tried to extricate his unconscious companion from the pilot's seat. For an hour he worked but on failing he set out in search of aid.

For five hours he wandered through strange country before reaching this village.

Mother Called

A short time before Goldsborough died in the hospital officials said that there had been no drastic change in his condition although their patient was a bit weaker. A call was sent to Mrs. Gertrude Goldsborough, the widow of Frank's father, who had come here from New York as soon as she learned of the accident. She hastened to the hospital but was too late.

Goldsborough passed his tests for a private flying license last November and in April of this year left Westfield, N. J., on his transcontinental flights. His east-west crossing set a new junior record and his flight back to New York was in record time. The round trip time of 62 hours and 21 minutes was another junior record.

LONG ASSAILS BOBBITT IN LLANO DEBATE

Wichita Falls Solon And Alfred Petsch Argue Candidates

NAMES CONTRACTS

South Texan Retains Seat In Legislature After Speeches

By S. RAYMOND BROOKS
Record News Staff Correspondent

LLANO, Texas, July 16.—Representative Bob Long of Wichita Falls continued his attack on Attorney General Robert Lee Bobbitt in a debate here tonight with Representative Alfred Petsch. Applause of the audience, made up of residents of Petsch's home district, was liberally divided between the two speakers.

The question as to whether or not Representative Petsch was to resign his seat in the Texas legislature apparently was answered in the favor of the Hill county legislator. Mr. Petsch said during and after the debate that Long had failed to produce proof of his charges, and as Mr. Petsch was the only judge of the proof so far as resignation was concerned, he will continue to act as a member of the legislature.

Long opened up the debate by charging that Bobbitt countenanced the illegal expenditure of University of Texas money by approving a contract to pay John Boyle's firm of San Antonio lawyers $50,000 as fees in a suit yet unfiled, and declared that the suit had been delayed until after the primaries for political reasons.

"Boyle is supposed to carry thousands of votes around in his pocket. Why have these old political enemies made up?" Long demanded.

Long also charged the attorney general's department has approved a contract between university regents and a law firm to bring suit for land now held by the public schools. In closing his speech, he denied that he appeared in the joint debate in the interest of James V. Allred of Wichita Falls, candidate for attorney general.

"I am helping Jimmy Allred because I want an honest man to help the state," he declared.

Petsch Replies

Petsch, in answering Long, charged him with "falling down" on his promise to bring proof of his charges.

"I have nothing against Allred," he declared. "He's a nice young man and would probably make a good attorney general, but I think Bobbitt would make the better man."

"I have known Long to go off half-cocked before. His judgment is clouded by his prejudices. He tonight has attacked 25 or more public officials, including Dan Moody, Chairman Pat Neff of the railroad commission, Bobbitt and the legislature. He's very suspicious.

"As to the John Boyle contract, Bobbitt must represent the public school fund as well as the university. The legislature refused to rebuke the regents for employing counsel, and Bobbitt could have done nothing else than approve the contract."

OFFICERS' RUSE OUTWITS MOBS OF ANGRY MEN

Sheriff, Disguised as Oil Field Worker, Brings Black Into State

RANGERS AID SCHEME

State Police Pretend To Go After Killer As Decoy to Mob

PAMPA, Texas, July 16. (AP)—Outwitting two bands of men who sought to take Jesse Lee Washington, negro charged with the slaying of Mrs. Henry Vaughan near Shamrock last Friday, Sheriff Claude McKinney of Collingsworth county and Texas rangers late today had removed the prisoner to the Gray county jail here.

The men who hoped to deal summarily with the negro were following the rangers in belief they were en route for the negro, while Sheriff McKinney, disguised as an oil field worker, sped to Pampa with the prisoner chained in his closed automobile.

Rangers Heavily Armed

The rangers arrived here with the independent groups following them soon after Washington had been put behind bars. They brought two machine guns, 10,000 rounds of ammunition, 100 gas hand grenades and many small arms. Ranger Sergeant M. T. Gonzaulius, in charge, said the negro would be protected at "all costs." He declared the jail would be guarded day and night. There was no sign of mob violence early tonight.

Sheriff McKinney did not say where he had received the negro. It was generally believed he was kept in the Oklahoma state reformatory at Granite since his arrest near the scene of the slaying and rushed away from a mob that was forming.

Negroes Warned

Rangers were sent to Shamrock by Governor Moody after negroes living there had been warned last Saturday to leave town. Similar warnings were given negroes at Erick, Okla., former home of Mrs. Vaughan, where feeling was so tense Governor Holloway considered calling out the state militia.

Mrs. Vaughan was clubbed over the head with a lead pipe.

Judge W. R. Ewing yesterday convened a special term of district court at Wheeler and ordered a grand jury to report tomorrow to consider Washington's case. He announced he would send the case to Miami on a change of venue as soon as an indictment is reported and set the case for trial in his court there July 28.

Parachute Leaps Save Three Fliers As Argentina Bound Ship Crashes

BOSTWICK, Ga., July 16. (US)—The ill-starred monoplane K of New Haven, out of fuel in a dense fog, was abandoned to the end of its misfortune-streaked career today and crashed as its occupants sailed safely to earth with parachutes.

Randy Enslow, chief pilot and radio operator, suffered a dislocated shoulder. The others, Garland P. Reed and James Garrigan, assistant pilots, were unhurt. They came gently to earth, but on rough ground, a mile from here.

The monoplane was demolished. It left Roosevelt field, New York, at 4:26 p. m. Tuesday, but circled about until after 8 p. m., making refueling contacts, before starting on the flight that ended here, 800 miles away. The flight was to have ended 9,000 miles from New York, at Buenos Aires, with refueling contacts at Havana and other places en route.

Randy Enslow, explaining the crash, said:

"We flew for eight hours blind, in fog, unable to see anything, so we had to 'bail out' today. We all landed without a scratch. I dislocated my shoulder in getting out. The plane is practically a washout."

Garrigan said the ship was uncontrollable after its gasoline ran out and that it had consumed more than anticipated.

Lawton Boy Drowns in 'Forbidden' Swimming Pool as Friends Look On

Special to The Record News.

LAWTON, Okla., July 16.—While two boy companions looked helplessly on, Joe L. Sullivan, 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert P. Sullivan was seized with cramps and drowned in a big pond located on the government experiment farm shortly after 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. The pond is located two miles north of Lawton.

Afraid to tell of the incident of swimming in a forbidden pool, the two 10-year-old companions of the drowned boy hurried home and kept the news of the drowning to themselves until today when the pond was being dragged for the remains.

Discovery of a little pair of overalls, a shirt and a little express wagon on the banks of the pond at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon started a search for a boy whom it was thought had been run away from the pond, for swimming is not permitted there on account of danger.

No one had reported a missing boy up to 11 o'clock Tuesday night, and the boy's companions had told nothing. However Sheriff Frampton organized a party and started seining the pond last night in the belief that a boy had been drowned.

It was while looking on at the efforts to find the body that one of the boys broke down and confessed, and threw a rock to the spot where his little boy companion had gone down for the third time. The body was immediately recovered.

NEW BEAUTIES ENTER REVUE

60 Expected to Join Parade At Lakeside

Nine additional candidates for selection as Miss Wichita Falls in the bathing beauty revue to be held at Lakeside park Friday evening were photographed Wednesday, and numerous local firms were added to the list of sponsors, according to officials of the Junior chamber of commerce.

Misses Ivy Bell Taylor, Dorothy Caldwell, Fay McBride, Margaret Brand, Jimmy Williams, Launa Moore, Hazel Ross, Helen Horn, and Eugene Williams were the young ladies who stepped before the camera Wednesday in beach attire, bringing the total of available entrants to about 45.

PORTRAIT OF WINNER

Citizens of Wichita Falls will be enabled to remember for some time the young lady who wins the designation of "Miss Wichita Falls" at Lakeside park Friday evening.

She will be reproduced in portrait by Emil Hermann, local artist, who will also be one of the judges, in recognition of her attained honors. In addition to that, a gilded frame for the finished portrait will be donated by J. M. Wilhite of the Wichita Falls Paint & Paper company, it was announced Wednesday. Then, when the picture is finished and properly framed, it will be hung in the Industrial Mart building, in which the Junior chamber of commerce has established an art gallery and municipal museum along with the numerous industrial exhibits.

Members of the bathing revue committee of the Junior chamber of commerce expressed the opinion Wednesday evening that at least 60 merchants will sponsor entries in the contest. Selection of the winners of first, second, and third places will be made by a process of elimination, according to those in charge of procuring judges for the event. Participants will promenade along the board walk from the theater dressing room at Lakeside park to a point beyond the stage, then will turn and cross the stage. Contestants will be separated by sufficient space to allow each succeeding entrant the fullest opportunity for drawing the attention of spectators and judges to her peculiar charms, it was said. After all entrants have passed in revue, the judges will recall approximately one-third of the group. The elimination process will be repeated until the first, second and third decisions have been made, it was said. Award of the gold-lettered blue ribbon designating the wearer as "Miss Wichita Falls" will be made immediately upon the announcement of the judges' decision.

Girls who are to participate in the revue will be asked to meet at the Memorial auditorium at 6:30 p. m., Friday, where each will be provided with a private automobile for a parade through the city, and to be taken to Lakeside park. For the parade in the business district, those in charge announced, entrants will wear street clothes or beach pajamas, according to their own and their sponsors' wishes, it was announced. They should come to the auditorium prepared to go directly to Lakeside park, however, where they will be given the use of the dressing rooms of the theater, in preparing for the revue.

Mob violence flared when Mrs. Henry Vaughan, 25, formerly of Erick, was attacked and murdered by a negro farm hand at her farm home near Shamrock, Texas.

NEGRO HELD FOR ATTACK ON GIRL

McALESTER, Okla., July 16. (UP)—Jesse Lee, 30-year-old negro, was held in the Pittsburgh county jail under guard today on a charge of attempted criminal assault.

Officers, fearing mob violence, kept reports of the atempted attack secret until late today. They said the attempt was made Monday against Myrtle Scott, 20-year-old waitress and that it occurred in the cafe where the negro was employed as a dish washer.

CHICKASHA MOB INDICTMENTS EXPECTED

MUSKOGEE, Okla., July 16. (UP)—A federal grand jury, in session here, is expected to return indictments against 17 persons who participated in a recent riot at Chickasha when Henry Argo, negro, was stabbed fatally and the courthouse burned.

The grand jury has asked Judge R. L. Williams for instructions regarding destruction of government property and participation in a mob.

was more than 100 per cent, the 1920 census giving it a population of 2,197,421.

While the census showed a pretty even growth over the state, the Panhandle, West Texas, Rio Grande valley and portions of the coastal area registered the most marked increases. Gains in the Panhandle, where oil fields were opened and agricultural development begun in recent years, were especially striking.

The western part of the state petroleum fields were given credit for big increases, many of the counties in that area doubling their 1920 population. Similar increases in the Rio Grande valley were credited to expanding citrus orchards and truck fields, while added shipping facilities on the coast were said to be responsible for attracting an influx of settlers here.

Sixty-six of the 254 counties reported a shrinkage in population, although many of the decreases were slight. However, Eastland county, in North Central Texas, reported 33,981 inhabitants this time as against 58,505 10 years ago. Oil fields that were attracting thousands of persons in 1920 had lost much of their productivity in the meantime.

Fourteen counties in Northeast Texas showed the greatest declines, 12 in North Texas being second and 10 in North Central Texas third in this respect. South Texas had five counties to show a decrease. Central Texas six, Southwest Texas, three, South Central Texas six, Northwest Texas one, East Central Texas two, Southeast Texas five and East Texas two.

Populations Double

The Panhandle had one county—Roberts—to show a falling off and it reported only 17 persons less than in 1920.

Thirty-six counties doubled or more than doubled, as follows: Carson, Gray, Hansford, Hutchinson, Moore, Ochiltree, Potter, Wheeler, Andrews, Crane, Ector, Glasscock, Howard, Hudspeth, Loving, Pecos, Winkler, Bailey, Parmer, Cameron, Hildalgo, Jim Hogg, Cochran, Gaines, Dawson, Hockley, Lamb, Lubbock, Lynn, Terry, Jim Wells, Nueces, Reagan, San Patricio, Upton, and Tom Green.

Jefferson was the only county to climb into the more than 100,000 class of 1920. It shot up from 73,120 to 131,935. Harris county, with Houston—Texas' first-ranking city—had the greatest population of any county, 347,800. Dallas was second with 326,029, Bexar third with 294,627 and Tarrant fourth with 197,492.

Loving with 195 persons enumerated took the booby prize, but at that its population of 195 more than doubled the 1920 figures.

Mother Acquitted Of Whipping Daughter

A jury in the county court at law Tuesday acquitted Mrs. Willie Styles of a charge of simple assault in connection with an alleged whipping administered to her daughter, Ellen, 14, according to information given eWdnesday by court officials. Mrs. Styles declared that she had whipped the girl because of disobedience, but denied the punishment was severe. The charge was brought through the instigation of neighbors who claimed they heard the girl scream and later saw bruises and cuts on her body. Mrs. Styles was rrepesented by Otis Nelson, local attorney, while Wayne Somerville, county attorney, prosecuted the case.

Small Boosted

While Clint Small was in South Texas, two of his colleagues in the state senate and ardent supporters, Carl Hardin of Stephenville, and Pink Parrish of Lubbock, dropped by his Dallas headquarters.

Hardin was on his way to East Texas, where he and three other speakers hoped to make a whirlwind finish for Small. "You can't keep Small out of the runoff," Hardin said. "The West Texas lines are holding and he is picking up strength in other districts." Parish said he planned to speak in West Texas between now and the election.

Small was scheduled at Victoria Wednesday night. From Pampa came word that an all-Panhandle rally was being planned for him there Friday night. Small's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Small of Shamrock, will be given a prominent place in the parade which will precede Small's speech.

Ferguson in West

Former Governor James E. Ferguson told residents of San Angelo Wednesday night why his wife would be elected governor. He went to San Angelo from Brownwood where he denied accusations of Governor Moody that he was interested in races other than that of Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson for governor.

Jim Young's headquarters at Dallas announced dates for speeches by Congressman Claude Hudspeth of El Paso in Young's behalf. Hudspeth will speak at Wichita Falls next Tuesday night, San Angelo next Wednesday night and San Antonio the following night, it was said.

City Officers Resign Posts

W. E. McDonald and Pat Allen Leave Police

Two veteran peace officers, both of them with excellent records as officers on the police department here, Wednesday resigned from the department to enter private businesses, according to an announcement from Frank Burns, chief of police. They are W. E. McDonald and Pat Allen, both having served as detectives and plainclothes officers while connected with the department.

Allen had been an officer here for more than four years while McDonald became a member of the force early in 1929, both having had extensive experience as peace officers in the years previous to coming here. Chief Burns Wednesday expressed regret at the loss of two such officers but released them after expressing his hope that they would succeed in their new endeavors. They will take positions with a traveling insurance concern here, the chief said he was informed.

A. L. Stubblefield was appointed Wednesday to fill one of the vacated places, Chief Burns said. Stubblefield resigned from the department several weeks ago to enter private work but agreed to resume duty when the two resignations were announced. He will remain permanently, the chief said, but no appointment will be made for the present to fill the other position.

New, pleasant way to remove

Dandruff in 3 days

Dandruff, whether dry or oily, should always be regarded as dangerous. Unchecked, it may lead to serious scalp infection, falling hair, and even baldness.

Dandruff is a condition brought about by over-activity of the sebaceous or fat glands which expel white globules called sebum. Many dermatologists assert that this over-activity is a result of infection.

Actual tests by thousands of men and women show that full strength Listerine used as a part of the regular shampoo, or independent of it, is highly successful in getting rid of loose dandruff and improving the condition of the scalp. In hundreds of cases, one or two treatments were found sufficient. In other cases three days were required. And in stubborn cases, ten days or more.

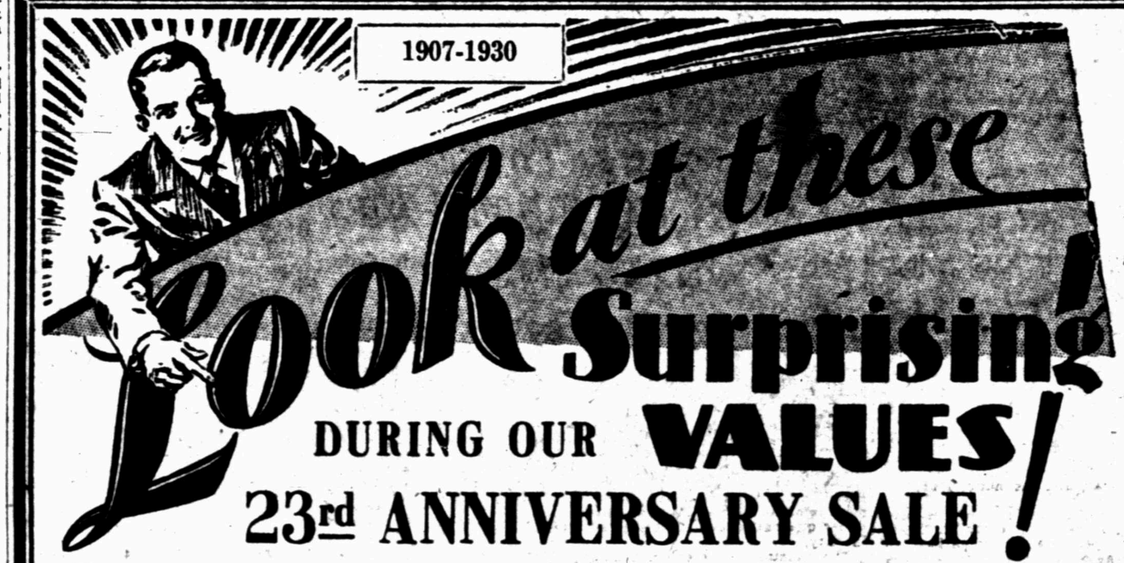

You simply douse Listerine on the scalp and massage vigorously till the entire scalp tingles. The massage is important as it increases the circulation of blood to the hair roots.

Listerine dissolves and removes the thick, greasy, repellent scales known as dandruff. It stimulates the skin around the hair and soothes and cools the entire scalp. Moreover when infection is present it instantly combats it. For Listerine, as you know, is a marvelous germicide and antiseptic.* (See below.) Lambert Pharmacal Company, St. Louis, Mo., U. S. A.

*Though safe to use in any body cavity, full strength Listerine kills even the Staphylococcus Aureus (pus) and Bacillus Typhosus (typhoid) germs in counts ranging to 200,000,000 in 15 seconds (fastest time accurately recorded by science).

BANK WORKER SLAYS BANDIT

Messenger Wounded in Daring Holdup

CANTON, Ohio, July 16. (AP)—A man believed by police to be a bandit, was killed and a bank messenger was wounded critically here today in a holdup of two messengers who were transporting a package of registered mail to the postoffice for the Federal Reserve bank at Cleveland.

Charles M. Riblet, former Canton police chief and messenger for the First National bank, was wounded in an exchange of shots with two robbers. An unidentified man, said by police to have been one of the robbers, was slain by Riblet.

Riblet and another messenger were attacked by a man as they were passing the city board of health building and the registered mail was seized. The bandit fled toward an automobile in which the second man was waiting.

Riblet opened fire on the man and he fell while the second man jumped from the automobile, fired at the messengers and escaped after wounding Riblet. Both robbers were masked.

A woman, who was standing near the postoffice, told authorities one robber jumped from an alleyway, seized a package and started running when the shooting started.

Within three hours after the robbery authorities this afternoon recovered the entire amount of the loot—a package containing $60,000.

The loot was discovered in a room of the Flory hotel, which was believed to have been the headquarters of the bandit gang, the occupant of the room, who gave his name as Jimmy Romeo, 28, was arrested.

Big Passenger Plane Battles Storm

Ships that sail the skies have their troubles with storms, just like those that sail the oceans. This giant $75,000 amphibian plane, carrying nine New York golfers to the National Open tournament at Minneapolis, was forced down on Lake Ontario near Rochester, N. OLNEY THEATER SUIT ON TRIAL

Martin Hears Testimony In Damage Claim

The damage suit brought against W. T. Clay and others in behalf of J. T. Richardson on the claim that Clay built a theater in Olney in competition with Richardson's theater in spite of a written agreement to the contrary was brought to trial before Judge P. A. Martin in the 89th district court Wednesday. Richardson asks damages of more than $4,000.

It is alleged that Clay sold the town's only theater to Richardson and gave the latter a written agreement promising not to build or operate another theater in Olney. Richardson claims that Clay later opened a theater there in violation of the agreement and operated it with resultant damage and loss to the original theater. At the time the second theater was opened, Richardson brought suit for an injunction to stop operation of Clay's new show and was granted an injunction by Judge Martin in district court here. The case was appealed but the court of civil appeals affirmed the district court injunction. Richardson claims Clay persisted in operating his theater in spite of the injunction, which gave rise to the suit for damages called to trial Wednesday. The trial will probably be completed Thursday.

Honors For Bride-Elect Crowd Social Calendar

In the wedding of Miss Katherine Weldon, daughter of Judge and Mrs. H. F. Weldon, to Bob Davis, which is to be an event of July 21, inspiration was found Wednesday afternoon for another lovely bridge shower at the home of Miss Gertrude Davidson on Speedway, when Mrs. Louis Hodges and Miss Margaret Hines entertained in the charming bride-elect's honor.

The entire home was lovely with flowers in pink with trailing green ferns and these chosen colors of the honoree were noted in the tallies and score cards, which were dainty old fashioned bouquets of garden blossoms. During the games, a messenger boy came with the lovely corsage which was the special gift of the hostess to the bride-elect. Another immense bouquet of flowers in her chosen colors contained the many pairs of gossamer hose presented by her friends.

In the games, Miss Catherine Kay was winner of high score prize, a lovely piece of French lingerie, and Miss Zaidee McKinney of second, a pastel hose box. Both presented them to the honoree.

The delicious refreshment course was served on pink crystal to Miss Katherine Weldon, honoree, and to Misses Camille Avis, Mary Agnes Riley, Dell Hatchitt, Mary Tancred, Laura Lee Hampshire, Catherine Kay, Elizabeth Weldon, Jane Moore, Ruth Moore, Zaidee McKinney, Mary Ferguson, Emily Mitcham, Ann Woolsey of Fort Worth, Marjorie Bright, Gertrude Davidson, Corinne Tucker, Mildred Miller, Martha Ellen Hines, June Earl French of Dallas, Mildred Sherrod and the two hostesses, Miss Margaret Hines and Mrs. Louis Hodges.

Swimming Party and Breakfast

Mrs. Helen Kendall entertained Miss Weldon at the country club Wednesday morning with a delightful swimming party and breakfast. The party was given with Miss Margaret Kendall, who is now in London as hostess by proxy.

A long basket filled with pink radiance roses made a lovely center on the long table on the screened porch where breakfast was served following the swim, and the green crystal service and place cards in the bride-elect's colors, emphasized the dainty motif. A lovely piece of French lingerie was presented to the honoree.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

Somewhere not long ago, we read (we do not remember the writer) that the world was on the lookout for heroes. That they were tired of the air of boredom they had been wearing for many years—in fact since the war. The writer illustrated his point with Lindbergh.

If they are ripe for heroes, they are also ripe for the romantic old songs that used to tear at the heart strings. In a late Vanity Fair, a George Belcher cartoon shows two blowsy Englishwomen and one of them, listening to the radio, remarks to the other, "Ungarian Raspberries, you know; eyebrow music."

Real melody has always echoed in the hearts of the people. We remember being waked by Calve's voice singing "Thou Brilliant Bird," once long ago (on a Victrola), and we thought for a moment we were in heaven. But there's nothing much more beautiful than negro serenaders on a summer night in the South. Magnolias in bloom and scent of flowers heavy in the air; then far in the distance, one hears the plaintive sound of the guitar and the deep, sweet music of the singer's voice.

Whether it is the darkness, with the sweetness in the air and the melody heard in the mystic moonlight, or whether it is real music speaking from the hearts of a race that does not understand itself and is not understood by any man—there sounds music that moves man's heart.

It is strange that a race capable of producing such sweet sounds, can at times be capable of the cruelty—the savage acts that individual members of the race perform.

But, remember the cruelty of Cortez in Mexico and in Peru and yet, the first hospital built in the new world was the hospital of Jesus in Mexico City, built by Cortez on the spot where he first met Montezuma, Aztec king.

But the word "cruelty" is open to many different definitions. Should one force a tenderskinned young girl to go in the water and then force her to lie in the sun until the tenderskin was red and burning, he would be a brute.

But the gentle sex is performing that series of acts each day and glorying in the coat of tan, even if at times, they blister first.

Parents Should Teach Girls How To Handle Money

Isn't It Strange How We Act as Though Money Were of No Importance to Women When Most of the Money in the World Is Handled by Women? Queries Dorothy Dix

It is a queer thing about our attitude toward women and money. Women need money more than men do and need more of it. It is more important to a woman to have money than it is to a man. A woman's happiness, her well-being, physically and spiritually and morally, depends more on her having money than a man's does, since, as Becky Sharp remarked, "any woman can be virtuous on $5,000 a year," whereas the lack of money often forces the woman who has nothing else to sell, to sell herself.

Also, life holds compensation for a woman, no matter what misfortunes may have befallen her, if she still has the run of the department stores. Moreover, most of the money in the world is handled at one time or another by women, because they do the buying and spend the money that men earn.

Yet in spite of these well-known facts, we act as if money was of no importance at all to women. Something like air that is miraculously provided for them: by nature and of which they will always be sure to have enough to enable them to live comfortably. Very seldom do we teach them how to earn money or how to use it or how to save it. Funny, isn't it, when you come to think about it?

Begin with childhood. From the time a little boy is old enough to understand anything we begin to talk to him about money and the thing he is going to do to earn it. We ask little Johnny if he is going to be a doctor or a merchant or a street car conductor and we impress upon him the importance of making himself an expert so that he can command high pay.

But we never ask little Mary what kind of work she is going to do when she grows up and whether she is going to be a stenographer or a milliner or a bookkeeper, though, goodness knows, she is quite as sure to need to know how to make money as her brother.

Indeed, of so little importance do most parents consider this subject that often they do not even try to fit their daughters for any especial occupation, but just let them drift into any kind of odd job that comes along without any reference to their talents or aptitudes.

They still cling to the old superstition that a girl does not need to earn money, even though she will starve if she doesn't earn it. And, anyway, they are sure she will have to support herself but for a short time, even though the commonest observation shows that the chances of a girl marrying grow slimmer year by year and the likelihood of her having to continue to be a wage earner after marriage increases every day.

Yet just by reason of her sex it is harder for a girl to get a job and hold it than it is for a boy and it is therefore, far more necessary that she should be taught some way of making a living than that he should be, but it just simply isn't done as a matter of course as it is with a boy because—well, just because.

We don't teach girls how to spend money, which is just as important as knowing how to make it. Even small boys are given an allowance, but it is rare indeed for a small girl to have one given to her. Parents recognize that a boy feels cheap without some pocket money, but they never consider their daughter's feelings in that respect. When a boy goes to work his mother never thinks of taking his pay envelope away from him and giving him back only a few cents for carfare and lunches. She boasts about what a good son Johnny is if he gives her what he sees fit out of his earnings.

But when Mamie goes to work mother makes her bring home her pay envelope unopened to her and she decides what amount Mamie is entitled to out of the money she has worked for. Mother's excuse is that Mamie doesn't know how to use money, though it would seem that a girl who had intelligence enough to earn a dollar would have sense enough to know what to do with it.

Anyway, the result is that whether a girl is rich or poor, whether she has inherited a fortune or hammered out a thin dime on a typewriter, she is not taught how to use it wisely and well. Everything is bought for her as long as she remains at home and about the first experience she gets in really handling money is when she gets married. It is because girls have been taught nothing of the real value of money nor how to use it that so many young wives are so wasteful and extravagant and make so many mistakes in their spending.

Finally, there is the stupendous and amazing and incomprehensible fact that men who adore women, devoted husbands and fathers who literally work themselves to death trying to accumulate the money that will keep their wives and daughters soft and safe, make no effort whatever to teach these women how to take care of the fortunes they leave them when they die.

They know how terrible is the fate of the middle-aged woman who has lived in the lap of luxury all her days and who is suddenly thrown out on the world to support herself. They have seen dozens of these women whose husbands left them comfortable fortunes, who have sunk it all in fool speculations or been flimflammed out of their money by greedy relatives and who have been left to eat the bitter bread of dependence or do menial work.

They know their own wives are just as ignorant, just as credulous, just as much the foredoomed prey of some sharper. They have seen the daughters of rich men robbed by their husbands and yet they will not take the trouble to tie up the money they leave their womenkind in trust that will secure them from want.

Queer that a man who will not trust his wife while he is living to handle more than a hundred-dollar allowance will think her capable of managing a big estate when he is dead. But it is all funny about woman and money, isn't it?

North Alaska in Grip Of Cigaret Famine

POINT ARROW, Alaska, July 16. (AP)—With the ice pack preventing supply ships from coming to the rescue and the store of factory-made cigarets exhausted, the business of obtaining material for smokes had become a difficult one in this northernmost Alaskan settlement today.

The few white persons learned how to roll their own. Eskimos who acquired the habit have been ransacking their igloos for curios to give the traders in exchange for small quantities of tobacco. Natives also went back to their conventional diet of seals and other game when the supplies of flour, sugar and other staple articles gave out.

THRONGS VIEW BANTAM CAR

More Than 7,000 Visit Agency Salesrooms

More than 7,000 persons visited the salesrooms of Boone-Kemp, Inc., Ninth and Travis streets, Wednesday to inspect the first group of American Austin automobiles to be shown in this city, and to try out its dimensions personally to see if so small a car actually would accommodate human passengers comfortably.

From early Wednesday morning until midnight, the display rooms of the local company were crowded with persons of all classes and ages. Exclamations of surprise almost invariably were the first greeting of the visitor to the "bantam" car whose wheels track only 40 inches apart. Remarks of more serious contemplation usually followed as closer inspection revealed standard construction and finish throughout the product, different from customary models only in point of size.

Individuals chose different methods of assuring themselves that it really is a midget automobile. Men leaned upon the car, its top fitting comfortably underneath their arms while they grinned amusedly at friends. Women by the hundreds stepped into the coupe to try the controls, and by habit to touch up this cheek or move that curl with the help of the back-view mirror in lieu of compact. Stalwarts tested its weight by seizing a bumper and lifting a wheel off the floor.

Discussion of the "bantam" by visitors in general reflected their approval of the car as one "well suited to the times," according to J. A. Kemp Jr. Adaptability to current traffic conditions, and to the need for a light individual runabout, was named by visitors throughout the day as the most attractive feature of the new unit, he said.

Dozens of orders were accepted during the day, representatives of the firm stated. Another shipment of American Austins is now en route to this city, it was said. Cars on display Wednesday will remain on the floor for two or three more days, according to those in charge.

MOODY URGES RESOURCE TAX

Governor Talks to State School Heads

AUSTIN, July 16. (AP)—Taxation of the state's natural resources for the perfection and continued support of Texas' educational system was urged by Gov. Dan Moody today in an address to members of the state board of education and president and administrators of state colleges.

The address was at a meeting called to discuss what steps could be taken toward coordinating the work of state colleges with the state board of education.

The governor declared it was the duty of all school boards or regents or directors to state in their requests for funds, from where the money should come, and added that in his opinion men who are depleting the state of its natural riches should be called upon to support the schools.

In the present gubernatorial campaign he said, some candidates have said that if elected they would reduce the expenses of the state. This is a foolish notion, he declared, because state expenses are mounting and will continue to mount, so long as the state's population increases.

Much of the profits taken out of natural resources, he declared, "goes to build brown stone mansions along Fifth avenue."

The governor also advocated a unified educational program in which the county would be responsible for all schools within the county, with the state aiding. While some of the larger cities have some of the finest schools in the country, just outside the city, in the same county with the fine school may be found a one-room school with one teacher and students in seven grades, he said, declaring it should be the city's responsibility to improve these schools.

Jimmy Allred Answers Bobbitt's Claim of Favoring Land Title Law

FORT WORTH, July 16.—James V. Allred of Wichita Falls, candidate for attorney general of Texas, today issued the following statement, which he has repeated at other strategic points in West Texas, that our pioneer citizens out here in the West need not fear that he would try to take their lands from them by technicalities of the law. This is inconsistent with the fact that right now he is urging in the higher courts the invalidity of our West Texas land bill and the further fact that he has, since his appointment, retained and continued in office the same corps of assistants who have been and are now attacking the honest rights and land titles of the pioneers of this state.

"It is my conception that the influence of the attorney general's office ought to be always upon the side of the law, common sense and justice, rather than adopting a warped and distorted interpretation of the law for the benefit of selfish interests and individuals.

"For the past two months, I have followed the suggestion of many of my friends in West Texas that I put in my time campaigning in East, South and Central Texas. Speaking from three to five times a day, I have been flattered with the reception that I have met everywhere. With the same wonderful vote that West Texas gave me four years ago, and what I know has been added in these other sections, I am confident that I will lead the ticket by a large majority, and I am not sure that a second primary is going to be necessary."

VERNON, Texas, July 16.—Setting a new all-time record, Wilbarger county's tax valuation for 1930 total $34,336,089, and the tax rate for the county was reduced from $1 on the $100 valuation to 92 cents. The total taxable values represents an increase of more than $200 over the figures reported in 1929, when the valuations recorded a gain of approximately $10,000,000 over the 1928 figures to aggregate $34,105,000.

This year's total is the greatest in the history of the county, which has shown a steady gain during the last decade. The 1930 total represents an increase of more than 100 per cent over the figures for 1920, reflecting development that has taken place in the county within 10 years.

HARDEMAN TAX RATE REDUCED

Assessment Fixed at $1.05 For Current Year

Special to The Record News

QUANAH, Texas, July 16.—Tax rate for the current year for Hardeman county has been fixed at $1.05 on the $100 valuation, a reduction over last year of five cents, at the last session of county commissioners.

The reduction was made possible by trimming the tax for public building and the jury funds. Last year the rate was $1.10. This makes the total reduction amount to 25 cents on the $100 since 1927.

Approximately $131,000 will be produced from this tax rate upon the estimated total valuation of $12,800,000 in the county.

The state tax rate has not yet been fixed, but the state tax board is expected to convene in Austin soon and fix the rate. Last year the state tax rate was 68c on the $100.

Tax Collector M. A. Hurst estimates that 92 per cent of the taxes levied last year have been collected, leaving approximately 8 per cent delinquent.

County Judge J. E. Wiley in speaking of the tax rate last year of $2.78, including county, school and state levies, estimated that 48 per cent of all tax money collected went to public school; 24 per cent to roads; 12 per cent to the state for general purposes and Confederate pensions; 3 per cent to juries; leaving 13 per cent to the county for the payment of county officials' salaries, charity, supplies, maintenance of jail, feeding of prisoners, court house, and all other purposes for which the county is liable.

'CHUTES SAVE THREE AIRMEN

Army Fliers Forced To Jump for Lives

SAN ANTONIO, July 16. (AP)—Three army aviators, one from Kelly field and the others from Fort Crockett, owed their lives Wednesday to their parachutes after they had been forced to make emergency jumps Tuesday in this section.

The first to resort to his parachute was Lieut. F. H. White, 29, a member of the 24th wing headquarters at Kelly field, who jumped while his pursuit ship was in a tail spin north of the airdrome. He escaped injury and was taken back to the field by Lieut. R. R. Lee, operations officer, who flew a ship to the scene after being advised of the accident.

Late Tuesday afternoon, Lieut. Karl G. Gimmler and Sergeant Strovic, from Fort Crockett, were forced to jump from an attack plane 15 miles south of Halletsville when the elevator control jammed.

The two men were flying with eight other ships from Fort Crockett to Kelly field to participate in a night flight to their home station at Galveston.

Lieutenant Gimmler, who was a graduate of the advanced flying school last February, notified Kelly field officials by telegram of the emergency jumps.

Lieutenant White was a member of the class of the advanced flying school which graduated last month. Both ships figuring in the crashes were demolished.

Cooking School Note by Mrs. Frances Northcross

In the cooking school I conducted under the auspices of The Times and Record News, I stressed modern methods of cooking. Naturally, then, I use and recommend CRISCO—for it's a modern shortening. Mrs. Frances Northcross.

His spelling was awful but his Eggs Polonaise are grand!

IN THE little hotel where I found this interesting recipe it was listed on the menu as Eggs a la Polonaise. And the recipe I coaxed away from the chef was as complicated as his spelling. I simplified the name when I simplified the recipe.

But call it whatever you like—it's particularly appropriate for Sunday night suppers, and not too fussy for any day in the week. Deep fried in Crisco, it comes piping hot to the table as delicately flavored as this sweet fat it was fried in.

POLISH EGGS

6 eggs, beaten
½ cup grated cheese
1 teaspoon minced parsley
1 teaspoon minced onion
1 tablespoon cream
2 tablespoons Crisco (melted)
1¼ cups small bread dice
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper

Mix eggs, cheese, parsley, onion, seasoning, cream and melted Crisco. Add the diced bread. Drop by tablespoonfuls into hot, deep Crisco (360°-370° F., or when one-inch cube of bread browns in 60 seconds) and fry a light brown (about 2 minutes). Serve plain or with Tomato Sauce (1½ cups) or Tartar Sauce (1 cup).

If you've lost your recipe for SALMON CROQUETTES

Pink inside—brown outside—these salmon croquettes make my mouth water just to think of them! They make a delicious main dish—salmon and potatoes, well seasoned with chopped parsley to lend color and add flavor, wrapped in a golden crunchy coating that only frying in Crisco can give. Foods deep fried in Crisco always taste fresh flavored and good, for Crisco itself tastes sweet and fresh—and comes to you in an air-tight can.

1 cup salmon, canned or left-over, boiled,
1¼ cups mashed potatoes
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
1 tablespoon chopped onion
¼ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 egg beaten with 1 tablespoon water
dried bread crumbs

Mix ingredients thoroughly and shape into croquettes about the size of an egg—roll in dried bread crumbs, dip in egg, then in crumbs again. Fry in deep hot Crisco (390° F., or when an inch cube of bread browns in 40 seconds)—drain on unglazed paper. Serve plain, garnished with lemon rings or serve with cream sauce.

ALL MEASUREMENTS LEVEL. Recipes tested and approved by cooking authorities. Crisco is the registered trademark of a shortening manufactured by The Procter & Gamble Company.

NOW and ...THEN

20,000 Years Hence
Phidias on Broadway
Happy Mr. Ryder

By EMILE GAUVREAU

Twenty thousand years ago some historic hunters made a camp fire in the what are now known as the Sunset mountains of Southern Nevada. The hunters banked their fire and went away. Now Dr. Mark Harrington, archeologist, uncovers it. He finds the skeletons of the giant ground sloth and the prehistoric horse, both of which doubtless provided food for those early huntsmen. Dr. Harrington also discovers shafts, darts and weapons of the period.

Twenty thousand years hence some advanced paleontologist will dig up the fossils of our own so-called civilization and wonder at the primitiveness of our tools, the slothfulness of our ways and the grossness of our appetites.

The question of nudity in public entertainment rises again in New York, this time in connection with the artistic and sophisticated Mr. Carroll's "Vanities." He is reported by satisfied first nighters to have staged a mermaid ballet, featuring a nude gentleman and a lady also unclothed. The police were denied this treat when they went to investigate.

Censoring such exhibitions in this liberal city will do no good. People who pay heavily to see a beautiful lady posing in an abbreviated bead costume are not necessarily prurient or profligate. Mr. Carroll would say they are driven by the same instinct as Phidias was, or the unknown sculptors who carved the immortal Venuses.

Mr. Harold Ryder, whose playful pranks on Broadway are supposed to have brought about the downfall of a big brokerage house, announces that he can live at the Ambassador hotel cheaper than at the Mills, and he can ride in a Rolls-Royce with a liveried chauffeur for nothing, whereas he would have to pay a nickel to ride in the subway. Unfortunately it is all true, though it may add to the discontent of the honest man who cannot afford to buy a small car for his family.

Mr. Ryder hasn't a nickel he can call his own. The hotel and the automobile firm are willing to extend credit to him on the possibility that he may reinstate himself. So, penniless, he continues to live like a prince. But the subway thinks, mechanically, of course, that he isn't worth trusting even to the extent of a nickel. Maybe the subway is right.

The appeal for an investigation into New York City graft, sent to Governor Roosevelt by two Republican leaders, will remain simply a gesture. Ordering an investigation of his own party will not add to his chances of re-election. In the meantime, corruption is toppling judges from the bench. Public service has been turned into public plunder.

Four thousand persons charge a car laden with beer in New Jersey. They push prohibition agents aside and make away with the beverage in boilers, pails and cans, in open defiance of a law for which they have no respect. The news will be received with laughter but behind it all is something sinister. A liquor rebellion in this country is not beyond the realm of probability.

Theodore Dreiser, back from a 10,000-mile trip through the country, believes that big corporations now make up our super-government. He would move Wall street to Washington to rule the country openly, and recommends the appointment of Mr. Rockefeller as "secretary of oil." He would keep Mr. Mellon where he is. That is a good idea, too. What Mr. Dreiser suggests cynically would be openly approved by the common people he worries about, but who are no longer afraid of millionaires, being helped by them.

The great mistake folks make who git ahead o' ther story is in not stayin' ahead. There'll be an election o' officers o' the Colonial Bridge club at the home o' Mrs. Tipton Bud this afternoon. Mrs. Leghorn Thorp will shake an' pour.

When Admiral Byrd arrived in St. Louis the other day to find the thermometer sticking at 103, he must have wondered if he did the right thing in cutting loose from all that antarctic ice.

Some things in this world are hard to understand. Wheat is selling at its lowest level since 1914, but a loaf of bread seems to cost just about as much as ever.

Looking at the Tariff

NOW that the new tariff law, designed to bring protection to the American working man and farmer, has finally gone into effect, it might pay to look about and see if the times afford any signs concerning the way it is going to work.

Here and there one can find little incidents that seem significant. One of them took place in Akron the other day.

The B. F. Goodrich Co., one of the nation's largest tire manufacturers, is preparing to transfer bodily the bulk of its tire and footwear export business to Kitchener, Ont.

This is being done in order to serve trade in the British dominions better. The dominions are retaliating to our new tariff law by putting up tariff walls of their own. Exports from Canada will be able to get in where exports from the United States cannot.

Goodrich, accordingly, is simply looking ahead and taking the obvious, common sense step to meet this new situation. The city of Kitchener gains a nice new industry, Akron loses, and sundry American wage earners in Akron are going to find their jobs moved out from under them.

A man of a nasty, critical turn of mind might, conceivably, inquire just how far the new law has protected these Akron rubber workers.

At the same time, the cables bring significant news from overseas.

Stanley Baldwin, leader of England's conservative party, has agreed to Lord Beaverbrook's campaign for a British empire tariff wall, and it is probable that the next British election will be fought on this issue. The conservatives plan to tear down the trade barriers between England and the dominions and build up barriers against the rest of the world—after which the barriers would be lowered for such nations as would lower their own tariff walls.

Great Britain now buys more than $800,000,000 worth of American goods a year—chiefly foodstuffs. This trade, if the Beaverbrook plan goes over, will be largely transferred to the dominions. Cables state flatly that the new American tariff law is giving the Beaverbrook campaign a great impetus.

Our hypothetical critic, once more, might ask just how this is going to help the American farmer, for whom—theoretically—the tariff was passed.

At the same time, representatives of 14 European nations have met in Paris to consider ways and means of combating the American tariff. They are looking forward to an economic coalition that would do for all of Europe what the Beaverbrook plan would do for the British empire—distribute to other producers the huge orders that are now being placed with America.

These signs of the times are just a shade disturbing. Can it be possible that our new tariff law is going to backfire on us?

Shabby Politics

CHEAP politics at its very cheapest is on display in the Republican senatorial primary in Nebraska this year.

Senator George W. Norris is running for renomination. Out in the town of Broken Bow, Neb., his antagonists have found a grocer, whose name is also George W. Norris. This man has become a candidate in the primaries against the senator.

Nebraska law forbids any distinguishing mark with a candidate's name on the ballot. The Nebraska voter will have absolutely nothing to tell him which of the two George W. Norrises on his ballot is the senator and which is the nonenity from the Broken Bow grocery.

This is as cheap a trick as American political history records. There are doubtless excellent reasons for voting again Senator Norris; but is there any excuse on earth for trying to beat him with a bit of flim-flam like this?

It's a Complex World

NO nation lives for itself alone in this modern world. Isolation is a thing of the past. Things that happen on one side of the world have their effect clear around on the other side.

The Indian boycott on British cloth, and the resultant depression in England's cotton mills, have hit Germany's cotton textile industry a severe blow.

The boycott, cutting down the British textile manufacturers' market, has given Europe a surplus of textiles and has caused prices to go down. So the Germans, who have nothing whatever to do with the Anglo-Indian question, are suffering the effects of it just as the English are.

That is the way the nations are tied together in this century. Events that are seemingly entirely unrelated exert a profound effect on one another.

Forgetful Investors

APPARENTLY a great many of the people who bought liberty bonds were inspired more by patriotism than by a desire to put their money in a sound investment.

At any rate, the treasury department announces that buyers of such bonds are losing about $1,000,000 a year in interest through failure to redeem bonds on which interest has ceased. More than $37,000,000 worth of federal securities which have ceased to bear interest are still in the hands of investors.

Most of them, probably, lie in various safety deposit boxes, half forgotten by their owners. If you happen to hold such bonds, it would be a good idea for you to redeem them and put your money where it can earn an income for you. It is startling to think $37,000,000 is lying idle simply because of carelessness.

Quotations Worth Noting

Dane offers Kay a job in his office which she accepts. Dr. Raleigh tells Kay that he believes a shock before the accident caused her condition and that she will recover her memory in time.

CHAPTER VII

It was another new world to Kay. She sat at her desk, with wide open eyes, trying to understand what it all meant.

Girls bent over their typewriters. Men hurrying in and out. Pausing a moment before a queer machine that wound out miles of narrow yellow tape, snarling itself into a million knots on the floor. Then bursting through the door, running out like mad.

Telephones ringing. One on her desk, beside the little brass sign that said, "Information."

The door outside which she had hesitated before that morning, "Talbot, McKechnie & Mitchell, Brokers." Stationery lettered the same way, the telephone girl at her right, saying them over every few minutes. "Talbot, McKechnie & Mitchell."

Three doors down the corridor. One with Dane's name on it, Dane Talbot. Another with Ward McKechnie, and another with Raymond Mitchell Jr.

Dane coming in, nodding to her in a friendly fashion, asking her how she liked her work. Bringing up a handsome, dark eyed youth, whom he introduced as Gordon Drew.

A Weak Mouth

Kay looked at him curiously as he hung over her desk chatting. Yes, he was like Julie. A good deal, except for his mouth. His was weak. Julie's strong. He had Julie's eyes, her broad cheeks, her dark hair. Younger than his sister, though, by several years.

"Julie told me about you," he said. "But I didn't know you were going to work here. Of course, I'll not say anything about you, Dane just told me to be careful." With that he was off, hurrying like the rest.

She was thinking of how nice Dane had been when she came in that morning, explaining what she would have to do. Telling her not to be too alarmed at first, that she would have plenty of time to learn her job. Weeks if she wanted. At present he was putting her at the information desk. She could ask Miss Bramley, the telephone girl all she had to know. She was to get $25 a week.

"Is that more than the other girl received?" Kay had asked at once.

Dane hesitated. Something in Kay's eyes warned him to tell the truth. "A little more."

"If you please, I'd like just what she got. I won't be worth even that yet, and you know it."

"But—"

"Please."

So Kay's salary was set at $20. This was more than her predecessor had been getting, but she didn't know that.

Everything was so new to her that the morning sped by on wings. When Flora Bramly suggested she join her for lunch, Kay accepted with alacrity. They were settled finally in a little tea shop nearby, their sandwiches and coffee in front of them.

"Well, how do you like the job?" Flora asked, munching her sandwich.

"Fine."

"Good place to work. I like it, and I've been there two years. Mr. Talbot's awfully nice. Where'd you work before?"

"I—never worked before," Kay answered lamely.

Kay felt strangely lonely in the office crowded with people.

"Oh. I thought you had. Just finished school, I suppose."

Kay nodded, and tried to change the subject, but Flora wouldn't let her.

"How old are you, anyway?"

"Nineteen." Kay was fidgeting in her chair. She put down her sandwich, and took a sip of coffee. Why were people so curious? Asking—always asking—

"So am I. When's your birthday?"

Invents a Birthday

The coffee suddenly burned her lips, and she put down the cup hastily. Her birthday. Flora was looking at her, expecting an answer. There was a little pucker on her smooth brow.

"September twenty-third." The words came before Kay realized she had uttered them. Well, it was all right. Anything would do. Any answer. September 23. The day Mrs. Talbot's car had struck her, the day she woke up in the hospital, knowing nothing more than that she was there. Her birthday. The start of a new life.

Flora chattered on, telling Kay her birth date, but the girl barely heard her. She was thinking of what Doctor Raleigh had said last evening, when he had been so frank with her. That some time, somewhere, she would run into something or someone who would link her with her past. That when she did everything would come back to her. He had hinted, too, that her loss of memory was not connected with the accident, that it might possibly be caused by an incident in her past—

That bothered her. Some fright? Some sorrow? It was as if a wall were in her mind, shutting out everything but the hospital, and what had followed. Dane—she seemed to have known him always, as long as she could remember. Known him and loved him. Queer that when she loved him so, he should love Julie. When she had known him so long. Her life, a short span of a little over two weeks. Flora had lived for 19 years, but she had only lived two weeks.

Flora was dropping her napkin on the table, ready to depart. She glanced at Kay's half finished sandwich, and her full cup of coffee. "You weren't very hungry, were you?"

"Not very," Kay admitted.

Flora talked about her family as they sauntered up the street, looking in the windows. She lived with her father and mother, and two sisters in Brooklyn. One sister older than herself, another younger.

Kay immediately felt a twinge of jealousy. Flora had sisters, a mother, a father, a family. Everything.

Julie even had a brother, Dane, no one but his aunt, but he loved her dearly. Even Edith Nason had people, a family off in a little town in Ohio.

All Alone

Julie dropped into the office that afternoon, beautifully gowned, lovelier than ever. She seemed surprised when she saw Kay, and came over to her desk.

"How queer! Are you working here? Dane didn't tell me."

"I just started this morning."

Julie started to say something, thought better of it, and wrapping her well cut coat more firmly around her body, walked quickly into Dane's private office. Kay noticed she didn't even knock. There had been a bunch of orchids pinned to the gray fox collar on her coat. One of them had brushed her cheek as she bent over to speak with Kay.

"That's Miss Drew, Mr. Talbot's fiancee," Flora confided.

Kay nodded, as if she didn't know. Then the wait until Julie came out. The girl was surprised when Dane accompanied her, his Q.—How many planes in the United States are now carrying mail?—W. H. K.

A.—There are about 300 mail planes now in operation.

Q.—Which were the first troops to reach Washington after Lincoln's first call for volunteers?—G. A. Z.

A.—The first to arrive were five companies of the Pennsylvania militia which arrived in Washington on April 18, 1861, and were afterwards organized as the 35th Pennsylvania Militia Volunteers.

Q.—What was the maiden name of Martha Washington's mother?—L. W. K.

A.—Mrs. John Dandridge, the mother of Martha Washington, was Frances, the daughter of Orlando Jones, a burgess from King Williams county, Virginia.

Q.—What is the highest pitched musical instrument?—B. O. N.

A.—The piccolo is the highest pitched musical instrument.

Q.—Is it practical to use an automobile motor in a boat providing conversion is made?—A. P.

A.—The Rudder says that a new cooling system (pump) to supply water to the water jackets in place of the fly wheel fan is required and slight change made in the oiling system. Unless the conversion is made by practical mechanics the engine will be a source of trouble and not give satisfactory service.

Q.—How many of the states permit branch banks?—L. P. N.

A.—Nine states and the District of Columbia permit state-wide branch banks. Eleven states permit banks to establish branches in the city or town in which the parent banks are located or within contiguous territory. Twenty-three states prohibit branch banks, and five states have no laws permitting or prohibiting branch banks.

Q.—Why is the Preakness so called?—S. H. A.

A.—The name Preakness as applied to the $50,000 stake run at the Pimlico Springs meeting, is so called after the horse that won the first "Dinner Party" stake, afterwards known as the Dixie stake, at Pimlico, in 1870, the most famous racing event of the time. The farm of M. H. Sanford, owner of the winner, in New Jersey, was called Preakness, and the horse was named after his home. The Preakness stake was first run for at Pimlico in 1873, and was won by John F. Chamberlin's Survivor.

Q.—I have heard that the English word "gentleman" has been put into the French language. Is this true?—T. P. R.

A.—Within the last few years the French Academy has officially received the word "gentleman" into the French language and incorporated it into the famous dictionary of that institution. An interesting feature of this is the definition given, since there has always been more or less discussion as to just what constitutes a gentleman. In this dictionary he is defined as "one in whom are combined a certain elevation of character with a certain elegance of manners." This is believed by many authorities to be a most apt description.

Q.—Of what value are vacations?—T. D.

A.—The public health service says that a vacation is one of the most important of our social institutions. In a world that is so arranged that most people are compelled to work during the greater portion of the year a change, a rest, a vacation, if properly taken makes the work possible. Every man and woman is entitled to a vacation. Every woman engaged in maintaining a home is entitled to a vacation. It is not necessary to go long distances but it is necessary to get out in the open. A vacation should be a time set aside for the building up of that reserve of health and bodily vigor necessary to carry people through the long periods of work which must follow before the next vacation season rolls around.

The Record News Makes a Special Offer of Handy Letter Writer

In this age of cheap rapid communication by telegraph and telephone it is frequently said that letter writing has become a lost art. However that may be, it is certain that the ability to write a good letter is either a natural gift or is acquired only at a cost of no little study and practice, and it is equally true that almost every individual often finds himself at a loss to know how to compose a communication that is called for by some special exigency. It may a particular type of business letter or any one of the almost innumerable forms of correspondence that enter into social relations—invitations, acceptances or regrets, formal or informal, messages of congratulation, sympathy, condolence or what not.

The Handy Letter Writer, the new booklet now offered readers of the Record News, includes examples of practically every kind of communication that anyone is ever called upon to indite. Indeed, about the only form that is not given is the letter a person would leave when he was shuffling off this mortal coil in a hurry.

It is an invaluable reference book and has a place on every desk. In ordering a copy, write name and address carefully, enclose ten cents in stamps or coin, and address the Record News Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C.

The Tomato Is a Health Builder

The tomato is an annual herb of the family, solanaceae, which also includes such widely used plants as the potato, tobacco and eggplant. When the climate is warm, or when raised in hot houses, the tomato plant may not die at the end of a year, as it does in colder climates. Sometimes, under a properly regulated temperature the plant becomes a perennial, living to be several years old. This is not practicable commercially, however, as the fruit becomes smaller after the first year.

The plants are usually propagated from seed, but may be raised in green houses from cuttings. It was introduced into Europe during the 16th century, and although the fruits were used to a limited extent in pickles, relishes and preserves, they did not become popular for many years because of an unfounded supposition that the fruit was poisonous. The fruits have been very much improved in appearance and flavor by careful selection and cultivation, and this no doubt has contributed to an increased popularity.

At present there are several hundreds of varieties varying in shape and color from the red currant and small yellow pear varieties to large red, white and pink types. The large red or pink fruits of from two to four inches in diameter are most marketable.

Tomatoes are raised in so many climates, and shipping and storage conditions have been perfected to such an extent that they may be obtained in a fresh state throughout the year. However, it is during the summer that the crop is most plentiful and the fruit is least expensive, so that everyone should make use of this valuable health-building fruit while it is most abundant. During other seasons you may use the canned tomatoes which practically are as healthful as the raw, fresh vegetable.

There are more tomatoes used for canning than of any other vegetable, and for this reason the price aways is within the reach of every family. It is estimated that more 280,000,000 cans are packed annually on the North American continent. This amount could be increased from five to ten times and still be beneficial to the general health.

The tomato has a distinctly beneficial effect in increasing the functioning of the liver. A tomato fast produces marvelous results in the treatment of liver disorders.

The tomato stands near the top of the list of healthful foods as it containe so many vitamins and organic minerals and valuable fruit acids. The tomato is rich in fat soluble, vitamin A, which is the anti-ricketic vitamin. Vitamins B and D which are anti-neuritic vitamins, also are found in the tomato so that tomatoes should be good in nervous disorders.

The vitamin C, or the vitamin which prevents scurvy and various skin disorders, also is contained in this valuable fruit. Because of the presence of citric and malic acid the tomato is not alkaline when being eaten, but after being oxidized in the body leaves valuable alkaline salts of potassium, lime, magnesium and iron.

Money spent for tomatoes always is well invested.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Dark Circles Under Eyes

Question—I. H. writes: "I have large black circles under my eyes. So far as I know I am quite healthy. What do you suppose causes them?"

Answer—Rings under the eyes usually are caused by some type of enervation, such as being overly tired, hungry, or from a condition of auto-intoxication from food fermenting in the intestines. If you are troubled in this way you should send for my article on auto-intoxication. Enclose large self-addressed stamped envelope when you write again.

Baseball Pitchers' Complaint

Question—S. J. writes: "I have a very bad pain in my right arm when I tense the muscles. When I straighten out my arm it has a popping sound. Could baseball pitching have anything to do with this?"

Answer—You may have dislocated one of the ligaments in your arm while pitching ball. Professional baseball players often require osteopathic manipulations in order to keep their arm ligaments in proper position.

Infected Finger

Question—M. F. writes: "I have an infected finger, under and behind the nail. How can I kill the infection?"

Answer—You are probably over the infection by this time—before you read this answer. It is unwise for any of my correspondents to wait for an answer in this column in order to find out how to treat an acute trouble. A safe treatment for an infected finger is to soak the entire hand in water as hot as can be borne, using this treatment for as long as 30 minutes at a time and repeating it several times daily. In between times, a mild antiseptic should be applied to the affected parts.

SPUDDERS RIP FENCE BOARDS WITH 21 TO 14 WIN OVER BUFFS

The Rambler's Corner

By FRED D. THOMPSON

Who on the Spudder squad is regarded by enemy infielders as the most difficult runner to throw out at first after he has hit to the shortfield?

We'll give you five guesses and wager 10 to 1 you are all wrong.

Down at the coffee counter the other night such a question was put to us as we gathered with the baseball boys and talked of this and that.

"Why," says I, "it's Spider Levey, of course. There's not a more dangerous runner, from the viewpoint of the opposition, on the whole Spudder team. He just darts down there, that's all. He's so fast . . .

"Wait, now," says the questioner. Don't go any further. You are all wrong."

And then he told us who the most dangerous runner is.

Now we want you fans to answer this question. Send in your guess to us, and after a few weeks this column will award a prize to the author of the answer which is most correct. Address your letters to The Rambler's corner, in care of this newspaper, and they will be printed from day to day until the contest closes. Meanwhile, a friend of mine who has a stop-watch is going to assist me in timing the Spudder runners, so there will be accuracy in the figures.

Remember, the question is who is the most dangerous runner on the Spudder squad in the chase from the plate to first. We will give fans a coupla weeks to think it over. Then in the next home stay our stop-watch friend will time each runner and a table, stating whether the batter is right or left-handed, and his time will be printed.

The real news in Tuesday afternoon's embroglio with the Houston Buffs, we think, was that Garland Orr hit one out of the infield. It was an easy out, admitted, but it so happened that the fly scored a runner from third, and that's doing just as good as any of them. Little Chubby is having a hard time getting started this year and ever and anon is the victim of a wisecrack, a few of which, indeed, we have been responsible for. But if we cracked wisely about him it was meant in a great spirit of fun and we know Chubby is not the kind of guy to go off and weep just because a fellow has his little jokes. The other wisecrackers had better take that attitude too, because one of these days the chunky little fellow might sock the longest home run ever seen hereabouts. If records mean anything, he's bound to do it, sooner or later. No man can hit .422 for a season and not be a good hitter, no matter what league his hitting was done in. Chubby hit above the four hundred mark for Abilene last year. When the Spudders gave him a uniform, he was sent against higher class pitching, and somehow he hasn't got the hang of it yet. But he's getting better. A sacrifice fly is better than a little grounder that rolls right in the first baseman's mitt.

Incidentally, a little story about Chubby's grounders must be told. It comes to us from a reliable source that when Chubby went in for Bettencourt down at Beaumont toward the last of the first half, he hit those little bouncing grounders to first every time he went to bat. Del Baker, coaching on the first base line, watched them galloping down the line, and when Chubby had done it the third time, exclaimed: "Well, guess I'll have to order a coupla more carloads of foundry sand for first base. Chubby has knocked all of it away with those little bouncers."

But let's repeat, that some of these days Chubby is going to turn the gentle little razzberry to a fence plum, and the chances are he will flay the fruit over the palisades. For despite his admitted slump, he's got the spirit of the game in him. Ask anybody at the clubhouse and they'll tell you there's not a better chap living.

Last Monday in a Merchants league game between the Furniture Dealers and the First National bank on one of the local sandlots, Big Boy Ridling, Furniture Dealers pitcher, retired each man who made an out via the whiffing route, yet the Bankers got two hits and three runs. It was one of the most peculiar games of the year. It lasted only three innings, which takes some of the glamour out of it, but at that it was an odd performance. Ridling won his game by a margin of one point, the score being 4 to 3 in favor of the Dealers.

Here's how it was done:

First Inning

Beck hit to Robertson and was safe when Robertson fumbled the ball. Beck stole second. Costley and Kellogg went out swinging. McDuffy singled to center scoring Beck. McDuffy stole second and third while McGregor was striking out. One run, one hit, one error.

Second Inning

Keith struck out. Larkins walked. Jones and Sanderford struck out. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Third Inning

Beck hit a high bouncer over Ridling's head for a single. Costley hit to Lyle who threw to second but the ball got away from Anderson, Costley going to second and Beck to third. Kellogg walked filling the bases. McDuffy and McGregor struck out. On a double steal, Beck stole home and Costley stole third. Keith walked, filling the bases. Larkins walked forcing in Costley. Jones went out swinging for the third out. Two runs, one hit, one error.

Famous Netter's Hubby Prepares for Her Return

SAN FRANCISCO, July 16. (INS)—Frederick S. Moody Jr., broker-husband of Helen Wills Moody, world's tennis champion, admitted today he was busy "tidying up" their apartment. Queen Helen was to leave New York today and arrive home Saturday or Sunday.

"She's bringing home a lot of furniture and doo-dads from Paris," Moody said, "and I can't let her see the place looking like this. She wouldn't tell me just when she was arriving but I expect her Saturday or Sunday. We had a nice talk over long distance telephone—and I had a wire from her before that. We haven't seen each other for more than three months."

Buffs Pull Out After Hefty Bombardment

By FRED D. THOMPSON

Milton Steengrafe divided his time between the plate and the mound with surprising effectiveness Wednesday afternoon, holding the Houston Buffaloes to a mere 14 runs and almost catching up with the hardest Spudder sluggers by socking out a home run, a double, and a single in five times at the plate.

The rest of the Spudders, seeing Milt was in a playful mood, followed their leader and showered the Buffs under such clouting Athletic park probably has never seen before, certainly not this season. The ball game early ceased to be such a thing, and resolved into a Christmas party during which Santa Claus added a notch or two to the batting averages of players on both teams.

Another Record

The score was 21 to 14. It was the first time this season the Spudders have gone over a score in their scoring.

Had the Houston pitching come up to the standards set in the previous games of the series by George Washington Payne and Allyn Stout the fences bordering the Spudder lot probably would be in much better shape today. Jack Kloza led the attack with four hits, two of them doubles, one a triple, and the other a home run. One of the doubles and the triple came in the sixth inning, the largest of the day, in which the Spudders scored seven runs.

Bettencourt clouted his 30th home run of the season in the fifth inning, and Burns sent one sailing over in the sixth with Kloza aboard.

The victims of all this carnage were Pitchers Reinhart, Brown and Rose.

Today the Spudders meet the San Antonio Indians in the opener of a three-game series.

The Spudders opened the attack on Houston early, scoring in the first on Fitzgerald's single and Kloza's double. In the second Steengrafe's double drove Geygan in for another. In the third Houston scored four to assume the lead. The first two were driven in by Kaufmann's homer which found Hunt on the paths. Morrow walked, took second on Reinhart's infield hit, and both were scored by Hunt's single through short. Their lead, however, was short-lived, for in the third the Spudders scored four. Fitzgerald's double, an error which allowed Kloza on base and Burn's single accounted for one. Bettencourt then tripled to center, scoring Kloza and Burns. Crouch sacrificed to left to score Bettencourt.

Larry Clouts One Out

Houston scored in the fourth on Morrow's base on balls and Reinhart's double, while the Spudders went scoreless. Then Bettencourt opened the fifth with a home run over the left field fence. Crouch singled, stole second and was driven in by Geygan's single. Brown relieved Reinhart, and Geygan later scored on Storti's hit through short.

Peel's double and singles by Selph and Holm scored a Buff run in the sixth. The Spudders in their half disposed of Brown quickly. Kloza took the first ball pitched for a double to center and was driven in by Burn's homer over the right field fence. Bettencourt fanned and Crouch singled. Geygan forced Crouch at second and then came Steengrafe's mighty wallop. The ball sailed grandly o'er the left field palisades, scoring Geygan and the hitter. Euller singled and Rose relieved Brown. Storti singled, advancing Euller. Fitzgerald hit to first and on Mishkin's eror Euller scored, Fitz went to second and Storti to third. Kloza tripled to center, scoring Storti and Fitzgerald. Burns finally made the third out, second to first.

In the seventh Houston scored two on Hunt's homer with Hock aboard, and the Spudders scored on on Bettencourt's pass to first, a wild pitch, an infield out, and Geygan's single.

In the eighth Storti singled and so did Fitzgerald, and Kloza got tired of waiting and socked a homer to score all three of 'em. Burns walked, took second on Bettencourt's infield out, and scored on Crouch's single to center.

Big Ninth Inning

The Buffs made six runs off Milt in the ninth. Hunt hit a home run with Hock and Mishkin aboard, and Funk did the same thing with Kaufmann and Binder on the right-of-way.

PAINTERS BEAT BANKERS, 8–7

Rally Falls One Short Of Tying Score

A fifth-inning Security Bank rally fell one short of a tie Wednesday afternoon and the Southwestern Glass and Paint Company team won by the score of 8 to 7 on Harrison field. Art Worley got away to a poor start for the Painters but settled down in the late stages of the game and held the Bankers at bay. Lefty Wiesey was also hit hard along with ragged fielding behind him in the early stages of the game. George Washington led the attack for the Painters with a double and two singles in three times at the bat.

The Bankers' attack was furnished by Ed Satterwhite and Johnny "Posies" Reed, each getting two knocks each. Reed opening up the second inning with a long home run to left field. Reed also turned in one of the prize catches of the game when he pulled down Sandie's long foul to left in the first inning. Berry made a nice shoestring catch of Johnston's drive to center in the third. Score:

Mandell Fights Al Singer Tonight

NEW YORK, July 16. (AP)—For the second time in two years cagey Sammy Mandell, debonair king of the lightweight clan, will set up his crown tomorrow night for another eager youngster to shoot at in the ring at the Yankee stadium.

Two years ago the challenger was Jimmy McLarnin, the belting Irish kid, who struggled for 15 desperate and despairing rounds to corner the fleet, skillful champion. This time the youngster is Al Singer, sleek Jewish boy the Bronx believes will develop into another Benny Leonard. But once more the craft and experience of Mandell, the Italian, is favored over the sheer physical powers of youth.

This time, however, the margin of superiority conceded Mandell in advance is decreasing. Sammy is having considerable trouble getting down to the weight limit of the class, 135 pounds. He is a 6 to 5 favorite but may enter the ring the underdog.

Singer, though he has flashed brilliantly against certain types of fighters, is not considered a particularly dangerous challenger unless Mandell has slipped far back from the pinnacle he once reached.

White Sox Knock Grove Out in First

BROOKLYN, July 16. (AP)—Brooklyn's Robins maintained their three-game hold on first place in the National league today by beating the Chicago Cubs, 5 to 3, in the second game of a double-header after Pat Malone had humbled the league leaders in the first contest, 6 to 4.

The even break left the Robins where they can not be displaced from the lead in the remaining three contests. Scores, first game:

'Old Pete' Faces Fate Indifferently As He Waits to Be Claimed on Waiver

By GAYLE TALBOT JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, July 16.—Facing baseball oblivion after 23 years of yeoman service unless he was claimed at the waiver price by nightfall, old Grover Cleveland Alexander sat in his hotel room here today, apparently indifferent of the fates.

Suspended by the Dallas Steers last night for continued infraction of the training rules, "Old Pete," who can remember when he used to receive a thousand dollar bonus if he won 25 big league victories a season—and collected the bonus for eight straight years—was not particularly bothered by his baseball "future."

Uncertain of Future

He didn't know whether he would care to try a hitch with another Texas league club, even if he were claimed at the bargain price of $1,500.

"Maybe I've had enough," the veteran said. "Ever since 1907 I've been tossing 'em up there. The old arm isn't what it used to be. I used to turn a ball loose and watch it flit by a batter. Now I watch it go up there and wonder what's holding it back."

Dispatches from Dallas late Wednesday night said Grover Alexander will be "given another chance." Bob Tarleton, Steer business manager, said the hurler's fate will be decided by tonight. However, Old Pete is still on the suspended list and no club had claimed him on waivers which were offered Tuesday night.

Like a legion of baseball stars who have given their best years to the game, Alexander has reached journey's end without a surplus of worldly goods. He has made plenty, and has spent the most of it. He has a home in St. Paul, Neb., but little else.

"One thing I can say," he remarked. "I've given more to baseball than it's given me. I've never been a 'goody-goody' boy, but I stayed in there and pitched."

As he sat disheveled, a little bitter at the Dallas club for cutting him loose and uncertain of life in general, the old war horse fingered a handsome ring, surmounted by a diamond and bearing the following inscription:

Journey's End

"St. Louis Cardinals. World's Champions 1926."

The Great Old Days

It must have recalled memories of that day in New York, the last game of the '26 world series, when he went plodding to the hill as the shadows lengthened and struck out Tony Lazzeri to give the Cards a world title. The ensuing three years have carried him from the baseball heights—a world series hero—to the very outskirts of the game he loves.

And, like the old fire horse who grows restless at the sound of a gong, "Old Alex" still loves the game. The writer asked him if he still felt the old urge to get out there and fire it past 'em.

"Yeah, I do," Pete said longingly, and buried his face for a minute in a pillow.

Whitehill Twirls Good Ball But Wilts

DETROIT, July 16. (AP)—Earl Whitehill failed to finish after pitching masterful ball against the Boston Red Sox in the series opener today but was credited with Detroit's 3 to 2 victory. Detroit used three pitchers in the ninth inning. Whitehill left the game after Durst hit a scratch single. Art Herring pitched to two batsmen, one of whom reached second on an error. George Uhle went in then with Durst on third and Miller on second and retired the side without scoring. Score:

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, July 16. (AP)—Trading in cotton was comparatively quiet here today and prices moved irregularly within a range of some 10 to 20 points. After selling off from 12.98 to 12.90 July contracts rallied to 13.09 and closed at 12.93 while the new October first sold off from 12.80 to 12.70, then rallied to 12.86 and closed at 12.77. The general market closed steady net 1 point lower to 1 point higher.

The opening was steady at an advance of 5 points to a decline of 1 point, in response to the steadier showing of Liverpool and expectations of bullish features in the weekly report of the weather bureau. Traders found conflicting factors in the weekly report of the weather bureau but its publication seemed to bring in some buying or renewed covering and the old October sold up to 13.10 with the new December advancing to 13.06 during the middle of the day.

The showing of the weekly weather report was commented upon as favorable with reference to conditions in the eastern belt and unfavorable as to the West. Aside for covering, local brokers, were of the opinion that it failed to stimulate much buying, and the comparatively small volume of business was attributed to an inclination to await further weather and crop developments.

Liverpool cables said that some Bombay selling had been absorbed by some trade buying and covering there. They also reported more inquiry for yarns of both American and Egyptian cotton but added that an Egyptian boycott of goods was threatened. Exports today 3,369, making 6,751,796 so far this season. Port receipts, 2,002. U. S. port stocks, 1,102,408.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, July 16. (AP)—The cotton market was inclined to be dull today and prices followed an irregular and erratic course. Opening 1 point up to 1 point down prices soon declined 4 to 5 points on the Eastern belt rains but rallied 6 to 9 points when the weekly weather and crop summary proved conservatively bullish, reporting some deterioration from drought and heat.

The general market closed steady at a net advance of 1 point for the day on the only two active months, October and December. Liverpool came in 1 point worse to 1 better than due and first trades here showed 1 point decline to 1 point gain.

Prices fluctuated aimlessly during the late trading within the early range improving slightly from the lows on covering and closed with October at 12.80 and December at 12.99, or 1 point net higher for the day.

Market Holds Its Own Under Bear Raiding and Profit-Taking

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, July 16. (US)—The stock market again today successfully resisted attempts to start a renewal of the decline and although the final prices were only moderately changed from the previous day, the bull contingent was further encouraged by the market's performance. The fact that the market itself, lacking any real support from trade news, was able to absorb the persistent profit-taking and bear raiding was accepted as a highly favorable indication. Stimulated by the market's strength, despite a widespread advice to take profits and await a reaction, many new operations in individual stocks have been started. Although following thus far attracted by the recent strength is rather small, reports indicated that greater interest is being displayed in the market throughout the country. Volume tapered off somewhat to around the two and a half million share total. In some leading stocks it was evident that there was a liberal supply of stock which prevented more than modest fluctuations. The short interest, however, suffered additional defeat, particularly in the volatile issues, of which Auburn was the sensational performer, advancing 13½ points.

Considerable buying for the account of European interests was reported. A good deal of this demand was attributed to shorts, there having been considerable short selling for Europeans, whose opinion had been greatly depressed by the condition of their own nations. The grain markets were inclined to sag, although the opinion still holds in speculative quarters that the situation in wheat particularly may result in development shortly of a situation similar to the optimistic performance of the stock market.

Notwithstanding the obvious greater resistance to the advance, those interests furnishing leadership on the constructive side continued aggressive. Standard Oil of New Jersey, in which a powerful bull interest is being built up, achieved a new high for the present recovery on a gain of two points. The stock's sponsors, who constitute one of the most influential groups now on the constructive side of the market, declare that the issue for years has lagged behind other leading stocks which have enjoyed enormous price appreciation. The Jersey company, as the outstanding unit in the oil industry, stands to benefit most from the improvement of fundamental conditions which appears to be taking place in the trade. Texas land trust, in which continued buying for the account of interests close to its affairs was disclosed here recently, staged a three-point advance. The company itself has been buying its stock for retirement, in line with it practice. Most of the buying today was reported to be for southern interests. Sinclair and Mexican seaboard were also prominent for their strength. Mexican seaboard is reflecting the recognized betterment in the California situation, while Sinclair's move is associated with probable merger developments, although its bankers declare such talk is at least premature.

Although Utilities as a group were inclined to remain within narrow range and closed irregular, National Power & Light appeared under steady accumulation and attained a new high on the move. The buying was attributed to powerful utility interests who are aware of an important deal pending which will be very favorable to National Power. United Corporation improved only fractionally, while the average for the Utilities was up about the smallest fraction. Foster-Wheeler, which is somewhat of a semi-utility, was freely offered although a late mark-up resulted in a net gain being recorded. The reported deal with another company is stated to be on rather unfavorable basis for Foster-Wheeler. Interests who had previously been associated with the stock were among the leading sellers.

Steel common attained a new high and closed at the day's top figure for a net gain of almost a point. American Can, however, displayed additional signs of continued pressure and closed almost unchanged. American Telephone, which had been the strong feature the day before, was off over three points, while other leading industrials such as General Electric, Westinghouse and Union Carbide showed fractional gains. U. S. Industrial Alcohol, in which an extensive short interest has been built up, suddenly spurted over six points, influencing a further advance in Air Reduction, which had a stock interest in Alcohol.

Large-scale buying of General Motors furnished cheer to the entire market. Its sponsors were declared to be close to the corporation. The stock advanced 7½ points and stimulated the entire Auto group. Chrysler in particular responded as greater recognition was granted the substantial economies effect in operating expenses and the management's vigorous sales campaign. Auburn's sharp jump was a belated response to its excellent showing for the second quarter, when the weight of expenditure-chargeoffs, which depressed the first quarter's showing, was removed. Radio-Keith's sponsors continued highly aggressive and marked their favorite up another point. The Rubber stocks suddenly revived as new group activities were reported to have commenced.

Grain

TEXAS CASH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, July 16. (AP)—Demand for wheat continued excellent on the Fort Worth cash grain market Wednesday. Exporters raised their bids, paying 92¼ to 92½c basis ordinary hard wheat delivered Texas gulf ports. Mill bids ranged 92¾c to 93¼c for ordinary No. 1 hard wheat delivered Texas common points, with 13 per cent protein bringing 93c to 93½c and higher protein content proportionately more.

Demand for sorghums was strong on the light offerings and oats and barley were easy sale. Little corn was reported changing hands here.

Estimated receipts: Wheat, 122 cars; corn, 2; oats, 8; barley, 1; sorghums, 3.

Bids and offers on coarse grains ranged as follows, basis carloads delivered Texas common points, freight paid:

Corn—No. 2 mixed, 96@97c; No. 2 white, $1.02@1.03; No. 2 yellow, 98½@99½c.

Oats—No. 2 red, nominally 43½c.

Barley—No. 2, nominally 56@57c.

Sorghums—No. 2 milo, per 100 pounds, nominally $1.70@1.80; No. 2 kaffir, nominally $1.65@1.70.

Dealers also quoted as follows, basis delivered Texas group one points: No. 2 mixed corn, 95@96c; No. 2 yellow corn, 97@98½c; No. 2 white corn, $1.01@1.02.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, July 16. (AP)—Rain reports from Canada came in the nick of time late today to send wheat values downward after the market had averaged generally higher.

Enlarged unofficial estimates of wheat yields in Kansas and Nebraska were also an evidence of late advantage to believers in lower prices, Kansas being credited with 175,000,000 bushels and Nebraska 75,000,000 bushels, based on threshing returns. Earlier, the dominating influence was continued uneasiness over prolonged dearth of moisture in spring crop sections both north and south of the Canadian border.

Closing quotations on wheat were nervous at virtually the day's bottom level, ⅝@1⅛c a bushel lower than yesterday's finish. Corn closed ⅛@¾c off, oats ½@¾c down and provisions unchanged to a rise of 2c.

Lively switching of market position was the rule toward the close, especially on the part of numerous traders who earlier had been conspicuous as buyers. There was active purchasing up to the last hour, friends of higher prices laying stress on statements that the spring wheat crop of this country and Canada was going through its most critical period under unfavorable conditions. Included among today's heavy buyers was said to be a leading speculator who heretofore had been selling wheat as a hedge against his holdings of stocks.

Corn today followed rather than led wheat. Oats eased as a result of sympathy with other cereals.

Despite downturns in hog values, provisions averaged higher on account of a scarcity of offerings.

Closing indemnities: Wheat, July (bids), 85¾c; September, 88⅞@89⅛c; December, 94⅞@95c, 97⅞@89c; March, $1.00@1.02⅝. Corn, July, 79¾c, 82⅛c; September, 76⅛@⅜c, 78½@⅝c; December, 69⅞@⅛c, 71⅜@½c.

PIT NOTES

CHICAGO, July 16. (US)—From the action of the wheat market today and the closing slump because of reports of rains in the Canadian northwest, traders look to the weather map as the chief influence for the opening action tomorrow.

Higher prices for corn are bringing better country offerings, causing somewhat less stringency in the cash situation. However, eastern demand picked up along with marketings.

Many traders feel that the rains reported in Europe were the most bullish news of the day, inasmuch as with present small stocks, wet harvest abroad would almost immediately result in a strong demand for North American wheat.

Broomhall says: "United States wheats are competing very favorably in the world's markets with the result that substantial sales have been made for July and August shipment. These have not yet shown up in official exports, but no doubt these figures will assume larger proportions from now on."

Export sales at upwards of 5,000,000 bushels are estimated for the first three days of the current week in North America. All varieties have shared in the demand, although the bulk of the business has been in Manitobas, according to word from Winnipeg and from the seaboard.

MILK TESTING PROVES VALUE

150 Using Facilities For Work Here

Approximately 150 farmers and dairymen in this section are making use of the milk testing equipment installed in the basement of the City National bank last year by county and city dairying interests, according to information supplied by the county farm agent, G. C. McGown.

Material aid to owners of milk cows in this district in speedily culling out from their herds animals whose productivity is too small for profitable maintenance was the prime objective of local leaders in the industry in obtaining the testing equipment. It was said that numerous dairymen and farmers have submitted tests from various cows regularly, and have obtained profitable data on such animals by compilation of facts revealed by their readings.

Fifteen cents per month covers the cost of tests from one cow for an entire month, Mr. McGown said. He recommended that still wider use be made of the equipment, pointing out that maximum elimination of unprofitable milkers is one of the chiefest factors in successful dairying.

93 CITIES TOP 100,000 FIGURE

Largest Towns Homes Of 36,393,221 Persons

WASHINGTON, July 16. (AP)—A total of 93 cities of 100,000 or over population, housing an aggregate of 36,393,221 persons, was shown today by Associated Press census compilations.

Announcement of the result of the census in Philadelphia, the last of the big cities to report, made possible a final count of the larger municipalities.

Twenty-five new names were added to the list of 8 cities of 100,000 or over shown by the 1920 census. In order of their size, the largest cities of today are:

New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Detroit, Los Angeles, Cleveland, St. Louis, Baltimore, Boston, Pittsburgh, San Francisco, Buffalo, Milwaukee, Washington, Minneapolis, New Orleans, Cincinnati, Newark, Kansas City, Indianapolis, Seattle, Atlanta, Rochester, Jersey City, Louisville, Portland, Ore.; Toledo, Houston, Columbus, Denver, Oakland, St. Paul, Dallas, Birmingham, Akron, San Antonio, Memphis, Providence, Omaha, Syracuse, Dayton, Worcester, Richmond, Oklahoma City, Youngstown, Grand Rapids, Fort Worth, Hartford, New Haven, Flint, Nashville, Springfield, Mass.; San Diego, Bridgeport, Scranton, Des Moines, Long Beach, Tulsa, Salt Lake City, Paterson, N. J.; Yonkers, Jacksonville, Norfolk, Albany, N. Y.; Trenton, Chattanooga, Kansas City, Kan.; Camden, N. J.; Erie, Pa.; Spokane, Fort Wayne, Elizabeth, N. J.; Fall River, Mass.; Cambridge, Mass.; New Bedford, Mass.; Reading, Miami, Fla.; Wichita, Tacoma, Knoxville, Canton, Wilmington, Peoria, Ill.; South Bend, Somerville, Mass.; Evansville, Ind.; Utica, N. Y.; Lynn, Mass.; El Paso, Duluth, Waterbury, Conn.; Tampa, Fla.; Lowell, Mass.

PHILADELPHIA FALLS SHORT OF GOAL

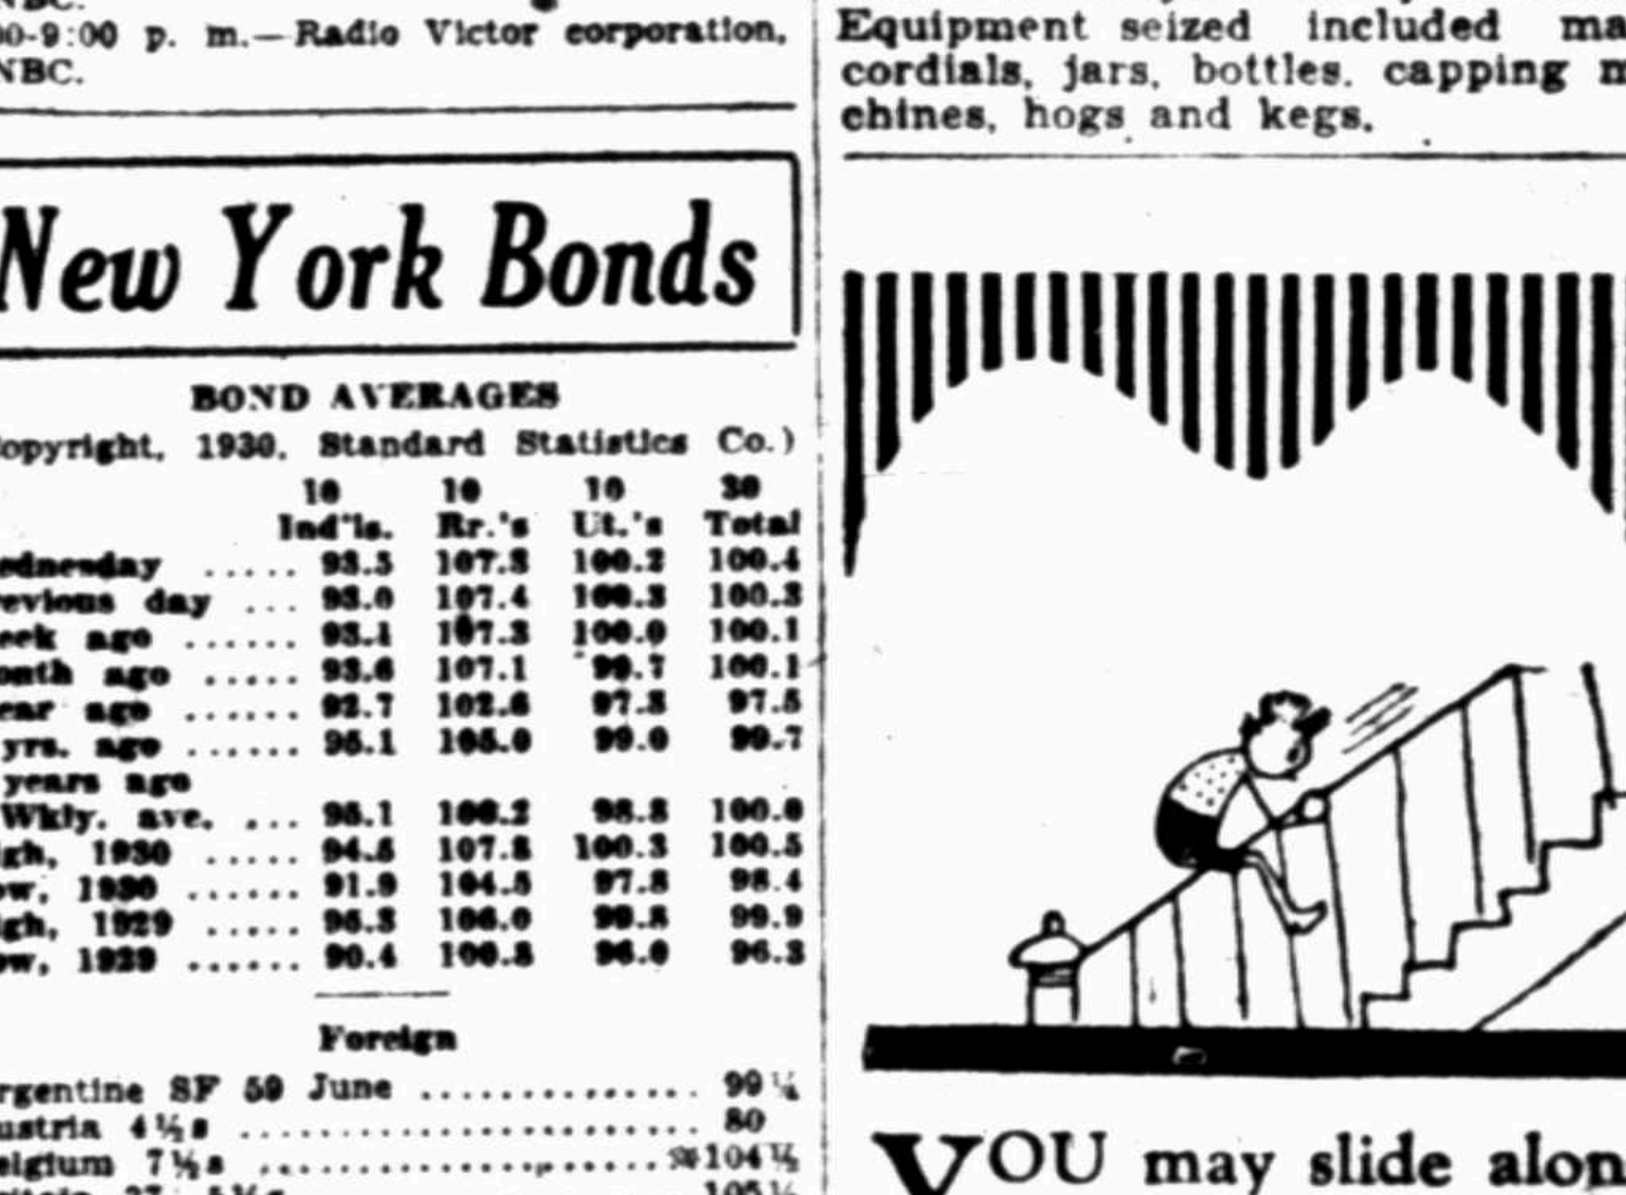

PHILADELPHIA, July 16. (AP)—Hopes that Philadelphia's population would reach the 2,000,000 mark were shattered today when the final figures were announced.

The complete tabulation showed a population of 1,961,458, an increase of 137,679, or 7.54 per cent over 1920. A steady drift to the suburbs and to nearby New Jersey communities was held responsible for the small increase. The city, however, continues to hold third position in the cities of the country, being surpassed in population only by New York and Chicago.

Dealers in Home Brew Paraphernalia Arrested

ST. PAUL, Minn., July 16. (AP)—Opening a drive in the twin cities against places selling paraphernalia for making home brew, federal agents today raided four places in Minneapolis and St. Paul, arrested eight persons and seized supplies valued at nearly $10,000.

The seizure came under the recent ruling that dealers in equipment intended for making home brew are subject to prosecution. Equipment seized included malt, cordials, jars, bottles, capping machines, hogs and kegs.

BOYS SEEK FOR HONORS ALOFT

Texas Tree-Sitters Await Santa Claus

(By The Associated Press)

The Hunter brothers started something when they kept their City of Chicago above ground for some three or four weeks. The small boy population has taken to the tree-sitting endurance field with a vengeance and in Texas they were splitting the crowds with the politicians stumping for "higher honors."

Buck Sawyer, at Plainview, said he wanted to prove as a matter of native pride that a mesquite tree was the most dependable roost of them all. He said the "fellers up North were using oaks and hickories." He had completed his second day up. He planned to stay up until Christmas.

SHE CRASHES!
WEBB CITY, Mo., July 16. (AP)—A prospective tree-sitter, Erma Smith, 10 years old, suffered a fracture to her right hip today when she fell 10 feet from a tree at her home while she was nailing up a board seat for her "flight."

Over at Brownwood, Ray Saunders, 13, former page in the Texas legislature, had been up more than 20 hours, while at Amarillo Junior Buzzard had irritated his mother, Mrs. Ada Buzzard by leaving the chores undone while he sought fame as a tree-sitter and was the envy of a whole flock of kids below on the ground.

In the neighboring state of Louisiana the boys were meeting some difficulties. The dad of Joseph McDonald, 13, of New Orleans, thought his son "too frail to stand a night in a tree," and called the lad down from his perch as an endurance-sitter at sundown.

It was conservatively estimated tonight that 100 El Paso children were sitting in trees, all trying for the record but with none particularly near it.

Four girls, not to be outdone by boys, had spent more than 12 hours in trees.

Romance also had entered into the contest. One El Paso boy, Merle Hatch, had been up in a tree eight hours, under the management of Janie Douglass, 12. "I give him quite a lot of encouragement," Janie said tonight, and blushed.

Merle planned to spend the night in the tree and Janie expected to sleep on a cot on the ground.

overcoat over his arm, his hat in his hand. She thought at first he wasn't going to speak, as he passed her, but he did, smiled and then held open the outer door for Julie.

He was gone. He and Julie. Kay felt strangely lonely in the office crowded with people. Julie, she supposed, would come in often, and take Dane away.

"Stunning, isn't she?" Flora was asking.

"Yes." Julie was stunning. Tall, beautifully groomed, graceful. There was still a hint of the perfume she wore lingering about the office. Heavy, and spicy.

Agog!

"They've only been engaged about three weeks," Flora resumed. "We've all been agog about it, for we thought Mr. Talbot was a confirmed bachelor. Funny how some men finally fall. Seems crazy about her, though. Great friends of his aunt. He has an aunt, you know, sort of a mother to him. We heard he met Miss Drew at Mrs. Talbot's."

All the remainder of the afternoon the scent of Julie's perfume clung about Kay's desk. She was glad when 5 o'clock came, and she could go. Tired, she wasn't used to sitting down all day. The noise, too. But she would get used to it. Already she had learned much. Even Flora was amazed at how quickly she had picked up the routine of the office. Never did she ask the same question twice. It wouldn't take her long to get on to things . . .

Battered about by the homegoing crowds, she started to the subway, her head still buzzing with the ringing of telephones that she had heard all day.

Working her way down the stairs, she was fishing for a nickle from her purse for her fare home, when she suddenly bumped into a man. A hasty apology left her lips, although the crash hadn't been her fault.

"Why, Kitty! Hello!" At first she paid no attention, then when an arm grasped her coat, she looked up. A man was smiling down at her. She shook herself free from his hold, and was about to go on, when he continued. "Not goin' back on your old friends, are you Kitty?"

Old friends! Kitty! the handkerchief marked with a "K!"

She studied the man's face carefully, regardless of the people who were pushing past her on all sides, bound for the trains. Middle height, rather flashily dressed, he was still smiling. Young appearing, and yet his eyes were old, and there were plenty of lines on his face. Yet an air of sprightliness about him, an air of youth that denied the lines and the eyes.

Kay did not recognise him.

"Going to high hat me, huh?"

Kitty, he had called her, Kitty. In the past she couldn't remember, had she known him? He seemed to know her . . .

Tomorrow—Horror and dismay.

Savory Peanut Becomes Basis Of Damage Suit in Case Filed Here

Damage suits have been filed on this, that and the other thing ever since Moses wrote out his laws on tablets of stone, but never until Wednesday—in Wichita Falls, at least—has a suit been filed on the basis of goobernuts.

Walter A. Jones filed a suit for $11,000 damages and asked for an injunction Wednesday in the district clerk's office here against C. P. Curren of the Curren Candy company. Mr. Jones alleges he bought exclusive rights to a copyright now pending in the United States patent office which was applied for by W. H. Greer of Woodford, Okla., on the word "Goobernut" and on a display rack designed to contain and show off to advantage the cartons of Goobernuts. The confection is described in the petition as "a tasty variety of peanut product specially prepared by a secret process," and the name is described as "an arbitrary, distinctive and coined word."

On last June 24, the petition states, Mr. Curren began putting up and vending a variety of peanuts also called Goobernuts, with practically identical cartons and display racks, even using in some cases the original Goobernut racks for display. Mr. Jones claims $1,000 damages already caused and $10,000 damages future loss from Mr. Jones' alleged action. His petition also asks that an injunction be issued to restrain Mr. Curren from further use of any products pertaining to Goobernuts. Judge W. W. Cook in the 78th district court set a hearing for Friday to determine whether a temporary injunction shall be issued.

Insane Woman Worth $15,000,000 Dies Believing Herself Impoverished

NEW YORK, July 16. (AP)—The estate of Mrs. Ida Flagler, one of the richest incompetents in the world, is to be divided among two nephews and a niece. It is valued at between $12,000,000 and $15,000,000. Mrs. Flagler died last Saturday.

The heirs, who will share equally, are William W. Taylor, a New York lawyer; George W. Taylor, a contractor and builder of Los Angeles, Calif., and Mrs. Ruth Taylor Pontius, of Evanston, Ill., wife of a medical student.

Mrs. Flagler had been legally insane for 33 years, and left no will. Under the law her estate must be divided among her direct descendants or direct descendants of her brothers and sisters. The two nephews and a niece are the only such relatives.

Since 1897 Mrs. Fleagler had been a patient at a sanitarium in Central Valley, N. Y., living in a small cottage with her personal attendants, unaware that the fund of $1,200,000 in Standard Oil stock which her divorced husband, Henry M. Flagler, had set aside for her, was increasing at the rate of more than half a million dollars a year. She believed the stock to be worthless.

DARWIN TOURS WEST TEXAS

Senator Seeks Election As Lieutenant Governor

H. L. Darwin of Paris, veteran member of the Texas state senate and candidate for lieutenant governor, arrived in Wichita Falls Wednesday afternoon for a conference here with friends in the interest of his campaign.

While Mr. Darwin will not speak in Wichita Falls, he will deliver a number of addresses in a long swing through Northwest Texas and the Panhandle. He will leave Wichita Falls Thursday with stops scheduled at Vernon, Quanah, Childress, Claude, Amarillo and Plainview and Lubbock. He has just completed a speaking tour of East Texas and the southwestern counties of the state, and will close his campaign in Northeast and Central Texas.

Mr. Darwin expressed satisfaction with the progress of his race, and said he had been drawing good crowds in his campaign talks. He was state senator from Delta, Hopkins, Franklin, Titus and Red River counties for four years and from Lamar and Fannin counties for four years.

Iowa Republicans To Demand Farm Equality

DES MOINES, Iowa, July 16. (AP)—After nominating G. C. Greenwalt of Des Moines, for secretary of state, the Iowa Republican convention today adopted a platform in which notice was served that the party will continue its efforts for agricultural equality, adoption of a replacement state income tax law also was asked.

The platform commended congress for "giving agriculture the best traiff rates it has ever had," but declared the "present level of farm prices is inequitable and unfair." Support was pledged to President Hoover and the federal farm board.

Senator Norris Fights Duplication on Ticket

LINCOLN, Neb., July 16. (UP)—Predictions that Senator George W. Norris will enter the senatorial campaign as an independent unless another George W. Norris, Broken Bow grocer, who filed for a place on the ticket, is barred, were made here tonight.

Secretary of State Frank Marsh has Senator Norris' protest against the filing of a duplicate name on the Republican ticket under advisement. The duplication of names on the ballots with no marks of identification probably would result in the defeat of the veteran solon, his attorneys contended.

Plane Radio

WASHINGTON.—Tests are now being conducted by the U. S. bureau of standards to determine the most suitable types of antennae for aircraft. The vertical pole type, developed by preliminary tests in 1928, still seems most advantageous ordinarily, but in cases where ice is in danger of forming on the pole, it has its disadvantages.

CECIL STOREY HERE TONIGHT

Vernon Candidate to Speak At Courthouse

Plans were announced completed Wednesday night for an address by Cecil Storey of Vernon, candidate for attorney general, in the 78th district courtroom at the courthouse here Thursday night. The speaking will begin at 8 o'clock. It was previously announced through error that the address would be delivered at the Memorial auditorium grounds, but friends here of the candidate were unable to arrange for the grounds Thursday night, due to the regular weekly free vaudeville program at that place.

Mr. Storey will be introduced by John Davenport, and Leslie Humphrey will preside at the meeting. Other Wichita Falls men who will form a committee of supporters at the speaking will include Luther Hoffman and H. J. Bruce and several others. The candidate from Vernon has been joint representative for Wichita and Wilbarger counties in the state legislature for several terms. No announcement was made Wednesday concerning the issues or planks upon which Mr. Storey would address the voters here.

Baker Murder Suspect Held

Victim of Robber Jailed At Montreal

MONTREAL, July 16. (AP)—When Herman Henry Barrer walked into detective headquarters today to complain that $50 had been stolen from him, he was arrested as a man wanted in Washington, D. C., in connection with the slaying of Mary E. Baker, whose body was found in a culvert in Arlington county, Virginia, last April.

Montreal police had been furnished with a description of Barrer in circulars sent broadcast from Washington, and said they recognized him immediately.

The detectives said Barrer admitted his identity but denied knowledge of the killing. He was quoted as saying he had been under arrest in the United States and had been questioned regarding the slaying.

DEATHS

WILLIAM WILSON

Odorous Mixture Warns Of Natural Gas Leaks

WASHINGTON, July 16. (US)—A warning agent for detecting leaks in natural gas distribution systems, which from its description should be 100 per cent effective, has been discovered by the U. S. bureau of mines.

It is known as ethyl mercaptan, and was described by the bureau today as smelling like "a mixture of garlic, onions, decayed cabbage, sewer gas and hydrogen sulphide."

OPTIMIST CLUB PICNIC JULY 23

Annual Outing Announced At Westmoreland

Members of the Optimist club and their families and friends will hold the annual Optimist picnic next Wednesday, July 23, at Westmoreland park pool beginning at 6 p. m., according to the announcement of plans made by E. L. Buelow, picnic committee chairman, at the weekly meeting Wednesday noon. The picnic will replace the noonday meeting.

Games of all kinds will be provided for persons of various ages, Mr. Buelow said, and prizes will be awarded to winners of different contests. A football game in the water will be on the bill of entertainment. Box suppers prepared by the park management will be served.

Introduction of Ray G. Dashbach of the Empire Paper company as a new member Wednesday effected a tie between two teams into which the club membership was divided for a contest which was to determine which group would be hosts at the annual picnic.

Readings and musical numbers comprised a program of entertainment presented before the Optimists Wednesday by Misses Mary Ann Roberts, Ruth Lucile Crouch, Ruth Lucile Snyder, Mrs. Joe H. Crouch, Misses Elta Rose and Evelyn Franklin, and Ferne Mashburn.

MAJESTIC: Wheeler and Wilson in "The Cuckoos," with timely news topics.

STRAND: Will Rogers in "So This Is London." Cartoon, sound news and news reel.

STATE: Hoot Gibson in "Trailing Trouble," with news reel and special feature.

GEM: "Chasing Rainbows," with Bessie Love, Charles King, Marie Dressler and Polly Moran. Paramount screen song.

Catering to the young and light of heart who enjoy a line of frivolous patter, and to anyone who loves a pretty ballet; also, we might add to the more serious minded person who wishes to be diverted for an hour or two, "The Cuckoos" went on at the Majestic Wednesday to an almost full house that greeted their antics as people greeted pictures in their early days with shouts and huzzas.

Pretty good music; really pretty ballet and a few real lines made a show out of the musical comedy on the screen, a musical comedy with a thin plot.

Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey, those same crazy two who made such laughs in "Rio Rita," provided the jokes sometimes just shady enough to make the crowd hilarious. Yet we do not believe the morals of the crowd were hurt.

We can imagine a baldheaded row for the ballet.

We saw popular taste demonstrated. To those present, (so far as we could see—we do not speak for ourselves) it was a riot.

We said, that having seen sad pictures, we preferred something to laugh at. We laughed. But we find ourself different from nine-tenths of others—our taste does not run to this type of picture.

Saturday, Dolores Del Rio comes with Edmund Lowe in "The Bad One," a talkie that promises much.

The public generally is not acquainted with the fact that the Fourth of July starts the new year in the theatrical world. It is then they sign up for plays to be put on for another year.

Wichita Falls has already had a number of the new shows before they were shown in Dallas. But the ones that are to be shown, are amazing. Those who remember "Street of Chance," will look for William Powell in "For the Defense." Paul Whiteman will be here in "King of Jazz."

Then a general favorite who will be shown in a new picture is Richard Dix in "Shooting Straight," which is not a western picture, despite the name.

PARNELL MAY CLOSE HERE

Davenport to Stump Area For Wichitan

John Davenport, Wichita Falls attorney, will leave Friday morning on a tour of the Panhandle, speaking in behalf of the candidacy of former Senator J. D. Parnell of Wichita Falls for lieutenant governor.

Senator Parnell's friends said Wednesday that he is drawing unusually good crowds in his East Texas and Central Texas addresses, and reports from the two sections indicate a heavy vote there for the Wichitan. He hopes to close his campaign in Wichita Falls just prior to the primary election, it was said.

"Senator Parnell has devoted most of his campaign to East Texas and Central Texas, and has met with encouragement in every section," it was said here Wednesday.

"He has expressed a confidence that the people of Wichita county and of West Texas will continue in this primary the strong support they have given him in the past, and in this belief he has devoted much of his work toward outlining his platform to other sections of the state. Senator Parnell has expressed appreciation for the support accorded him in the past by residents of his home section, and said he hoped to express this appreciation in person in his final address here."

Over 400 Expected At Shrine Picnic

Following the dinner, which will be furnished by the ladies, the temple will be host at a watermelon feed. Those in charge of arrangements include C. A. Rogers, W. J. Morgareidge and Dr. J. H. Fletcher.

Lions Put K. C. Spell on Griddle

Tail-Twister Accused of 'Throwing' Game

Members of the Lions club utilized the ancient but fruitful medium of a mock trial as entertainment at the weekly meeting Wednesday, centering their attention again upon K. C. Spell, recently elected tail-twister, under a charge of deliberately 'throwing" a baseball game to the Burkburnett Lions team last Wednesday afternoon.

Organization of the "court" placed Judge John P. Marrs on the bench, with Judge Irvin J. Vogel as prosecuting attorney, and L. V. Abernathy assigned to defend the reputation of the accused. Stiff exchanges of legal terminology centered upon the question of alleged unsoundness of mind in the defendant, whose case collapsed when Mr. Spell, from the witness stand declared himself to be Dr. Walter Adams and his occupation that of a practicing physician.

Penalty was fixed at delivery of one box of cigars to Judge Marrs at the next meetitng of the club.

Experts Advise Wheat As Livestock Food

EAST LANSING, Mich., July 16. (AP)—Agricultural experts at Michigan State college offer a new form of farm relief to those who are worrying about the price of wheat.

Feed it to livestock, says a statement issued by four department heads. At present prices, wheat is worth $5 more a ton as a dairy feed than as a commercial cereal, the experts assert.
