Olton Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture — Land Of Abundance — YEAR — 1964

Area Crop Prospect Termed Very Good

All Depends On Weather

Practically everyone in the Olton area seems agreed on one thing- crop prospects so far this year are better than in the past several years.

The recent combinations of rain and sun seem to have been just what the doctor ordered for area crops.

Bob Harber, PCA manager, started the community consensus when he said, "The crops look real good--if we can just avoid hail. We've had good rains and no hail so far, and the crops are in excellent condition for the time of the year."

Elmer McGill, who farms south of Olton, said much the same thing. "Crops are looking real good right now, and I hope we get to keep them."

McGill went on to add, "I'm just knocking on wood; we've had real good luck so far."

Ed Thompson of Thompson Implement, said that from what he had seen and heard, "We're off to a better start in general than in years."

Thompson got no argument from the statements of Lloyd Graham, Olton Co-Op Gin manager, who said, "Area crops are very good right now."

Thompson said, "Things are starting off better than in several years."

He added, "Cotton is a lot better, and the sorghum's in good shape, too."

Drexel Lawson, who is on the board of directors of Olton Co-Op Gin, said that crops this year were "just as fine as I have ever seen in this country."

He said, "We are in extra good shape as soon as we get everything hoed out."

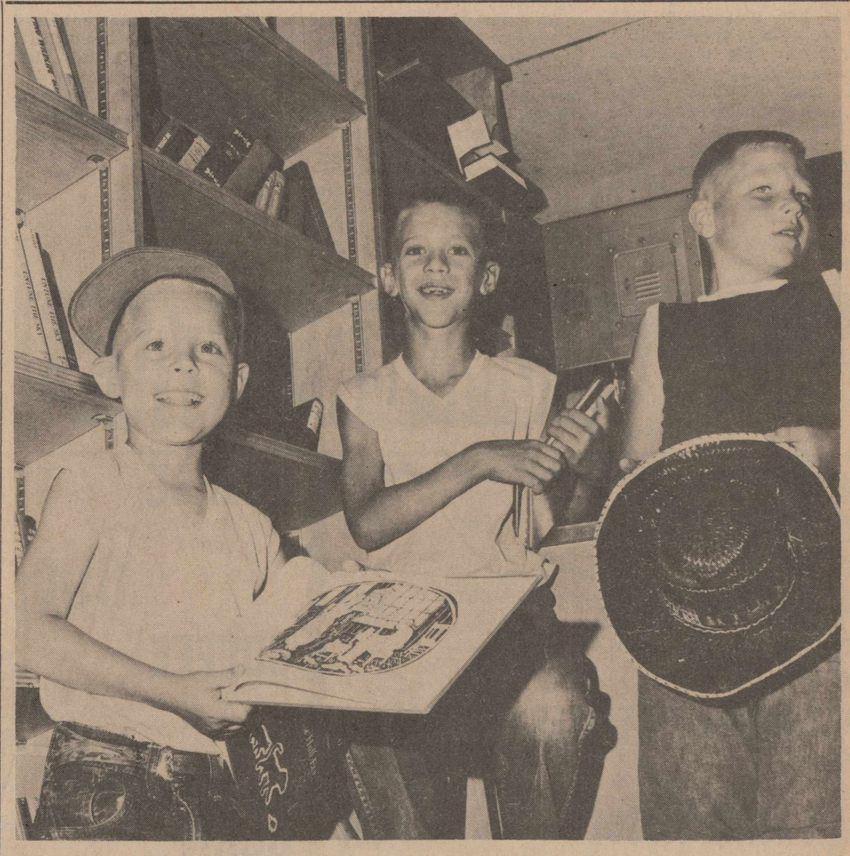

He went on to add, "The crops are looking fine, they're growing every day, and if we can just keep the hail off, we're in real good shape."

But not everyone was convinced of the rosy picture in the future for area crops. Every group must have its pessimist.

Floyd Light, who farms north of town, said "Things look fair, I guess. I really don't know."

Henry Miller, east of Olton, chose the middle road. He said that his crops were "doing all right for the time of year."

So a wide range of opinions is available in the area, but the majority opinion seems to be that crops are in real good shape for the time of year and prospects for the future are very good.

Olton Lions Club Installs Officers

Percy Parsons was installed as first vice-president and named Lion of the Year. The Lion of the Year award is determined by secret balloting among the members of the club.

Major James will be the club's new second vice-president, and A. D. Adams will serve as third vice-president.

Charles Polk, as secretary, will keep the club records, and Bill Kemp will try to keep track of the money as treasurer.

B. C. Cooner was named "Lion Tamer" for the coming year, and Max Malone and Lester Ramsey will be the new "Tail Twisters."

The new officers were installed by Pete Chaney, Lubbock Lion.

Perfect Attendance awards were presented by the out-going president to Joe Turner, 6 years, George Redinger, 6 years, K. Y. Givens, 5 years, Conner Parsons, 3 years, and Calvin Horn, 1 year.

Trophies were given the winners of the recent club golf tournament-- Lauis Hair, Championship Flight, Basil Sherman, First Flight, and Lester Ramsey, Second Flight. James Hall presented the trophies.

Golf balls were presented to second place finishers in each flight--Andy Andrews, Ralph Glover and Elmer Moore.

The club presented gifts to the club sweetheart, Carmen Bley. Gifts were also given Pete Chaney and Lucretia Newton, Queen of District 2-T2 from Shallowater.

Twenty-six recipients were selected for these scholarships this year on the basis of their qualifications and presented plans.

Mrs. Jenkins is a member of Epsilon Delta Chapter of Alpha State Texas Organization of Delta Kappa Gamma and serves on the Necrelogy (obituary) Committee.

Harvest Closes Out

With wheat receipts totaling more than 4,500,000 lb at the three Olton grain elevators, area harvesting began to slow the latter part of the week.

Dan Gregory, American Elevators, estimated Wednesday that the harvest period had "two or maybe three more days" to run before coming to a complete halt.

The Word for Olton Co-Op Grain was that the harvest was "more than 90 per cent complete" by Wednesday evening.

Most of the wheat has been testing out at about 60 pounds to the bushel, with 10 to 12 per cent moisture content according to reports.

The season got underway more than a week ago when J. C. Brown brought a 2800 pound load of grain into Olton Co-Op Grain.

Enterprise Repeats As State Winner

For the second consecutive year, The Olton Enterprise has been named at the top of its class among Texas weekly newspapers.

The Enterprise Friday received the general excellence award of the Texas Press Association in Division VII, newspapers published in towns of less than 2,000 population.

In winning the award, the paper notched first place in two contests and second in another, compiling the most points in its division.

First place awards were in appearance and news pictures. A second place was awarded in news writing.

Publishers of the weekly newspaper, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Turner, left Olton Wednesday morning for New York, where they will receive two national awards.

The occasion is the annual convention of the National Editorial Association, a major event of the nation's newspaper industry.

HIGHEST STATE AWARD--Enterprise employees Charlene Young and Leah Cross display the general excellence plaque won for the second consecutive year in state newspaper competition. The Enterprise also won two other first-place awards this year in state-level competition.

Co-Op Gin's Barbecue, Annual Meet Saturday

The Olton community will receive an economic shot-in-the-arm Saturday when the Olton Co-Op Gin holds its annual barbecue and meeting.

Economists say a dollar may turn over as many as seven times once it reaches the consumer's pocketbook.

More than $300,000 will be put into circulation Saturday evening by the Co-Op.

A total of $301,501.80 in patronage dividend checks will be distributed to stockholders of the gin.

A large crowd is expected for the event, which will get under way with the barbecue at 7:30 p.m.

As in the past years, the scene of the meeting will be the company warehouse.

A report of the year's operations will follow the barbecue, according to Lloyd Graham, gin manager.

Two new members will be elected to the gin's board of directors.

Names submitted by a nominating committee and appearing on the ballot for the two posts include: Willie Gene Green, Royce Collins, Raymond Cooper, and Joe Ed Carson.

Nominations also will be accepted from the floor at the meeting.

Present officers of the gin are W. C. Bley, president; Cloys Fancher, vice-president; Don Franks, secretary. Other members of the board are Drexel Lawson, Gerald Allcorn, Forrest Latimer, and Jack Snider.

Snider was appointed to the board to fill the unexpired term of H. H. Waldrop, who moved from the community.

Amherst Schools Will Integrate

The Amherst schools have scheduled integration of all 12 grades in the system, effective this fall, under recent strong urging of the Texas Education Agency, the regulation agency for Texas schools.

Amherst at present has no integrated schools, but the system has been operating a separate elementary school for Negroes. Amherst Negro high school students have been attending school in Olton.

This past year the Negro Amherst elementary school had between 50 and 60 students, and five high school students were sent to Olton, which has the only 12-grade Negro school in Lamb County.

The integration move at Amherst was taken early this month by school trustees who were faced with what amounted to a directive from TEA to either make extensive improvements in their Negro schools or to integrate.

The decision was that it would not be fiscally possible to make the required improvements.

"The cost of creating equal and separate facilities would be prohibitive," said a trustees' spokesman.

In effect, Amherst would have needed a new Negro school building to meet TEA requirements, that had to be met or the separate school would not be accredited by the state agency.

Amherst will become the third completely integrated school in Lamb County. The Littlefield schools were completely integrated in 1956; the Spade schools were fully integrated a couple of years later.

Sudan has its upper six grades integrated and maintains a separate school for the lower six grades. Springlake has a segregated school for the first six grades, but on the same campus with its regular school. Negro students in the upper six grades at Springlake attend school in Olton.

Anton, in Hockley County, will integrate its schools this fall. Its trustees came to a decision parallel to that of the Amherst trustees, under some of the same urging of the Texas Education Agency.

Olton Library Seeks Avid Area Readers

Melvin McReynolds announced Wednesday that Friends of the Library had obtained the services of a librarian for the growing book collection.

Miss Mable Parker, a trained librarian and first grade teacher in the Olton schools, will serve as Olton's new librarian.

The library, which has about 500 volumes, is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. five days a week, and from 9 a.m. to noon on Saturdays. Miss Parker is at the library from 4 to 5 p.m. on weekdays and all day Saturday.

Several new volumes have been added to the library for Olton readers. During the recent visit of the High Plains Bookmobile, Miss Parker checked out several volumes for the Olton library. These volumes are now ready to be checked out.

Also, the 200 volumes in the library which have been obtained from the county library are being rotated; so there is a constantly-changing variety of titles in the library.

Since the twelfth of this month, the Olton library has checked out more than 140 volumes. Books are checked out for two-week periods, and there is a two cent fine for each day a book is overdue.

The Olton library offers its services also to patrons of the traveling Bookmobile. Books checked out from the Bookmobile may be returned to the Olton library, and the Olton librarian will return them to the Bookmobile at its next Olton visit.

Former Olton Youngster Wins State Blue Ribbon

Pete Gipson, Lockney High School student and former Olton resident, won a blue ribbon at the State 4-H Roundup in the favorite food show division and is in the running to represent Texas in the national contest.

A member of the Lockney 4-H Club, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Gipson.

He was the only boy among the 47 contestants, and he represents District 2 in the state contest.

His record will be submitted for judging in the state and national awards program. The records will be judged this fall and will count 50 per cent of a contestant's total point score. Individual scores made at the favorite food show will count the remaining 50 per cent.

Highest scoring member of the three groups will receive a trip to the National 4-H Congress. There are three other contestants in Gipson's group, fruit-vegetables, competing for the national award. Six scholarships of $500 each will be awarded to the national winners.

NATIONAL EDITORIAL ASSOCIATION 1964 AFFILIATE MEMBER

While the editor-publisher is gone, the remaining staff has put out this issue of the paper.

Bill seemed a bit afraid when he left that he would return to find that he's not really indidpensible after all. After struggling with the paper, we would like to reassure him. We can say with great certainty that he is truly indispensible around here.

Because we are now learning just how much we do rely on the editor each week, and because of the honor he has won, we, the newspaper staff, wish to surprise him upon his return with this dedication.

our bosses and help in time of need--except when they happen to be in New York collecting prizes.

Turning back through past issues of the paper, we discovered that the Enterprise's horn has not been excessively tooted by the editor. We hope to start correcting this fault right now.

We know that we have one of the best bosses in the newspaper business. We know that we work for one of the best newspaper publishers in the business. And we have decided that it's just about time to tell everybody else about Bill Turners accomplishments.

Bill Turner has made the Enterprise what it is today. The improvements are his, while the weekly mistakes are usually ours.

In 1962, Bill picked up one first place plaque in state competition. In 1963, he picked up two of the awards--plus the general excellence award, highest honors available on the state level. He then did the unthinkable, and he repeated his 1963 triumph again in 1964. But in 1964, he added two national awards- one for news writing and one for general excellence.

Bill may have wondered when he left if the paper would still be here when he got back. It is, but it is rather battered and bedraggled; we need his presence to prevent our ulcers, and to settle our arguments.

RUNNING WATER PHILOSOPHER

Looks At Court Decision

Editor's note: The Running Water Philosopher on his careless weed farm on Running Water Draw apparently has found out about the latest Supreme Court ruling, his letter indicates

Dear editar:

I'm not going to argue with the Supreme Court--it's like arguing with a woman, you don't get anywhere, even when you're right--but there was something in the newspapers about the results of the recent decision on redistricting that I want to clear up.

As you know, the Supreme Court says state senates have to follow the same rule as state lower houses, base its membership on population, not on geography.

In reporting this, the newspapers said that city people would be pleased with the decision, that for years the rural areas have held the upper hand in state legislatures.

This is outrageous. They're not going to pin the blame on us country folks. Whatever the state legislature has done in the years past, it was entirely out of my hands. Most of the time I didn't even know about it till it was done. I had nothing to do with it.

Let em go ahead and redistrict, let the cities have all the legislators and senators they can get, and I predict you won't be able to tell the difference.

It will be sort of like giving the vote to women. You know, when women were clamoring for the vote they argued it would be wholesome for politics, it'd clean it up completely, to have the feminine touch felt at the ballot box.

Well, I'm not going to argue about it--arguing with a woman is like arguing with the Supreme Court, you don't get anywhere, even when you're right--but I can't help noticing that we've got about as many investigating committees investigating politicians as we ever had.

The femenine touch, like the rural vote, is a myth when it comes to politics.

By the way, what is the rural vote, anyway? The votes in this precinct around this careless weed farm in the last state election went about on exactly the same lines as the vote around the rest of the state, including the cities.

However, if the newspapers say the Supreme Court has now given the upper hand to cities, I say they're welcome to it. Let them take the blame for a while.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Ask Amy

BY AMY ADAMS

GRANDMA FEEDS HER "ITCH!"

Dear Amy:

My five year old child is allergic to chocolate. Any time she eats chocolate in any form she breaks out with a bad case of hives. All my friends and relatives are very considerate of my daughter's health and never offer her candy made with chocolate. All, except grandmother! She says she will continue to give the child chocolate and that it is up to me to take it away.

What do you say to a grandmother who doesn't seem to care about her granddaughter's health?

A Mother Who Needs Help

Dear Mother:

Grandmother is behaving outrageously. You have failed to impress her on her damaging "kindness." Try again. You outrank her authority so be a little more outspoken. Lay down the law and take no amendments!

* * *

Dear Amy:

I just had to sit down and write this. I would like to shake the hand of the one who wrote about "confirmed Bachelor." All she wrote is true. They have their ways set and deep rooted. They would rather chase married women and keep company with the other's whom they pick up at bars, cafes, or what have you. A good girl doesn't have a chance to be taken out by a bachelor—costs too much money for a movie and a snack.

As she wrote: "They are selfish and love only themselves." How true! So, gals, be careful—very careful. Keep away from the bachelors. They are cheap and selfish. So selfish, they even hate to spend the money to buy soap to get the dirt off of themselves.

I know—for I just got rid of one!

Bee

Dear Bee:

Whether bachelors are all alike or not remains to be seen . . . in this column!

* * *

Dear Amy:

What can I do about a cousin who willingly lost a bet for me especially after he had convinced me that he would help me to win? He did this just to make me angry at him.

Out Betted

Dear Out:

Do nothing. This should teach you a wager can be lost in more ways than won!

* * *

Dear Amy:

My brother was divorced from his first wife five years ago. He then ran around with a married woman for about 3 years. After our mother died, this woman divorced her husband and allowed my brother to live in her home. One night my brother became drunk and she took him over the state line and married him. Now she says she is included in my brother's inheritance because she is my brother's wife.

I thought that the law provided that the inheritance be divided among my mother's children, not to daughters-in-law or sons-in-law. Do you have any information on this? Thank you.

Mrs. A. G.

Dear Mrs. A.G.:

If your brother wants to share his inheritance with his wife (no matter what the circumstances of their marriage), this is his privilege. Even though you would not like to have his wife share this inheritance, there is no law I know of that could prevent it.

* * *

Dear Amy:

I am 27 years old and my husband treats me wonderful when no one is around but he treats me like a dog when we are with company.

There is a certain party who wants me to leave with him. What shall I do?

Undecided

Dear Undecided:

Your husband has a split personality. If he treats you like a dog, put him in the doghouse. If that doesn't help, a psychiatrist will. And if you think running off with a "certain party" will help matters, you are mistaken. You will merely make a three ring circus out of a marriage that was meant for two.

Thompson Gets Short Lead

A combination of Olton Co-Op Gin victory over the Halfway Blue Sox and Thompson Implement victory over Olton State Bank put Thompson Imp. back in the lead in Little League standings, for a short time.

The last time Thompson and State Bank met, Thompson came out on the short end of the score. But hard-luck State Bank hasn't won a game since that meeting, and Friday night was no exception as Thompson won the game 15-9.

No team has failed to score at least 15 points against State Bank since they knocked Thompson from the undefeated ranks.

State Bank stayed right with Thompson through five innings of the game, but then disaster struck and State Bank fell to their third consecutive defeat.

Joe Dale Chitwood started the game off with a bang for Thompson Imp., hitting a homerun with one on in the first inning. State Bank came back to tie the game in the third inning.

But in the top of the fifth inning, Thompson Imp. sent 12 men to the batters box and ran their score up to 12. State Bank managed only three runs in their half of the fifth inning.

Thompson still wasn't through. They added three more runs in the sixth inning to take a commanding 15-5 lead.

State Bank rallied in the bottom of the sixth inning, but they could produce only four runs before Thompson finished the inning for them.

Chitwood led the big Thompson bats as he banged out a homerun and a triple. Gale McLain knocked Gullett for a double and a single, while David Turner was picking out a double and two singles. Mark Chitwood collected three singles, Sparky Redinger collected two singles and Mike Parsons and Gib Richardson each got one single for Thompson.

Barry Cowart led the State Bank hitters in a futile effort as he blasted a triple and a double. Gary Barron picked up a triple and a single, and Mike Gullett attempted to help his own cause with two doubles. Danny Harris also picked up a double for State Bank. Pedro Gonzalez, Kelby Robertson and Jimmy Joe Schenck each got a single.

Joe Dale Chitwood also led the two teams in RBI's with four. Sparky Redinger had two for the victors, while Mike Gullett, Gary Barron and Barry Cowart each had two for the losers.

Red Sox Down Farmers Gin

The Halfway Red Sox, battling to get out of a tie for last place in the Little League standings, defeated Farmers Gin 17-12 Thursday.

Farmers Gin took an early lead scoring twice in the first inning, but the Red Sox tied things up in the second by pushing two of their own runs across the plate.

Then the Red Sox showed the powered game that they have had stifled all year and blasted in ten runs in the third inning.

The Red Sox were never even crowded after the third inning as the two teams traded scores back and forth to a 17-12 finish.

The Blue Sox picked up 11 hits during the game. Randy Gaither got a couple of doubles, while Mark Gaither and Johnny Mallow picked up a double apiece. Mark Gaither, Charlie Fraga, Randy Gaither, Don Bell-- all banged out singles for the Red Sox--and Bobby Huerta--picked off two singles.

The losing Farmers Gin team didn't give up without a fight from the batters box. Tony Miller, Gary Kelly and Tommy Riggin got triples. Gary Kelly also picked up a double and a single. Royce Riggin, Monty Roberson and Tony Miller all picked singles.

Co-Op Gin Downs Leading Blue Sox

Last-place Olton Co-Op Gin pulled a surprise upset out of their hats Friday to knock the first-place Halfway Blue Sox from the undisputed top of the Little League standings.

Co-Op Gin won the game 11-9, and picked up their second victory of the year to remain tied with the Halfway Red Sox for the cellar position in league standings.

It was a close game all the way.

Each team scored one run and made one double play in the first inning to start things off. Donald Zavaleta and Carroll Blackwell teamed up for Co-Op Gin's double play, while Steve Sharp and Wayne Kenniston produced the double play for the Blue Sox.

Donald Aavaleta was the winning pitcher for Co-Op Gin, while Favin Minarez was charged with the loss for the Blue Sox.

The official score sheet credited Lyn Campbell with three RBI's and Pat Trotter for two.

Co-Op Gin Gets Another, 10-9

In one of the closest games of the season, Olton Co-Op Gin defeated Farmers Gin 10-9.

All of Co-Op's scoring games came in the first half of the game, as they scored four times in the second inning and five times in the third.

Donald Zavaleta was the winning pitcher for Co-Op Gin, while Tony Miller was charged with the loss for the Farmers.

The winners picked up quite a few hits through the game. Americo Zavaleta and Lynn Campbell banged out doubles, while Kenny Jones and Carroll Blackwell each collected three singles.

Pat Trotter, Lynn Campbell and Americo Zavaleta all had a single apiece through the game. Kenny Jones and Americo Zavaleta led the victors in RBI's with three apiece.

The losers didn't go down without a fight though. Ronnie Truelock blasted out a three-run homer and a single, driving in four of Farmers' runs. Gary Kelly hit a triple and a double, while Monty Roberson and Tommy Riggin each picked up a single.

SPORTS NEWS

Little League Race Tightens

The Little League race has tightened considerably during the last week.

Monday night's defeat put Olton State Bank in the league cellar, but only two games out of first place.

The first place position is being rather hotly contested, with the Halfway Blue Sox and Thompson Implement tied for the league lead.

The Blue Sox won sole possession of the lead from Thompson last week, but Thompson regained it for a short while this past week.

The fast-rising Halfway Red Sox, however, knocked Thompson back into a tie for the lead.

The Red Sox have been doing some ball playing of their own, too. A week ago the Halfway team was tied with Olton Co-Op Gin for last place. This week, after defeating both of the first place teams, the Red Sox have second place in the league standings all to themselves.

The Red Sox defeated the Blue Sox in a makeup game to replace one that had been previously rained out. The final score in the makeup game was 13-3 in favor of the Red Sox.

The Red Sox then beat first-place Thompson Implement 11-4 to gain the second-place poition.

Olton State Bank, now last place Olton State Bank, have been having their problems. They were the first team to defeat Thompson Implement. But since that game, the State Bank has not won a game.

Not only has State Bank not won a game, but they have had 60 points scored on them in their last four games--a 15 point per game average.

Yet the State Bank team is only two games out of first place.

A contest is also developing over third place in the standings, as both Co-Op Gin and Farmers Gin are trying to move up from a tie for that position.

And while the Little League was getting all the attention, some changes were being made in the Pee Wee League standings.

First place in the Pee Wee League standings is also the scene of a tie. Olton Butane fell, with a loss to C&S Ins-PCA, into a tie with idle Straw Gin.

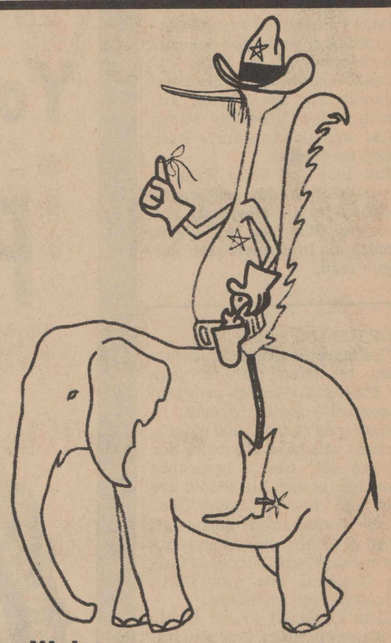

C&S Ins-PCA did most of the rearranging of league standings this past week, as they won all of the games played in the League. They won each game by one-point margins, but one point is enough.

Both Olton Butane and Cashway Food felt the sting of the previously winless team.

C&S Ins-PCA climbed from the league cellar into second place with its two victories and tumbled Cashway Food into the cellar position.

All four Pee Wee Teams still have a shot at the final league lead, as Cashway is only one and a half games out of the lead.

Local Vets Study Under GI Bill

Fewer than half of the men in Lamb County who saw service in the Korean conflict have taken advantage to date of the educational benefits available to them under the Korean GI Bill.

On the basis of figures gathered nationally, only about two out of every five of the veterans have completed or are now enrolled in some form of educational training.

To be eligible, a veteran must have been in the armed forces, but not necessarily abroad, at some time between June 27, 1950, and January 31, 1955. He must also have served 90 days unless discharged for a disability incurred while in service.

Although fighting had virtually ceased by the end of 1952, the conflict continued to January 31, 1955, Congress has ruled.

Statistics on veterans in the United States, and the education they have required, have been compiled by the Veterans Administration and by the N. Y State Division of Veterans' Affairs.

Approximately 120 Korean veterans in Lamb County have enrolled for training since the GI Bill went into effect, it is estimated, based on the national figures.

They represent about 41 percent of the 288 Korean vets counted locally by the Census Bureau in its 1960 tabulation.

Of these, some 65 went to college, a number of them continuing on through graduate school to become engineers, doctors, dentists, teachers and the like.

Others chose training in trade, industry and in the various crafts. They went to institutions below college level or took correspondence courses or went in for on-the-farm training.

Time is running out on the educational program. There are only eight months left. Veterans who are now taking courses may have to double up in their classes, it is pointed out, to get finished before the deadline. Congress has set January 31, 1965, as the cut-off date for the Korean program.

Lamb County's veteran population, according to the latest official figures, consists of 162 who were in World War I, 1,331 in World War II and 288 in the Korean War.

Plainview Team Wins Bowling Tournament

Holland's Gift Shop of Plainview walked off with first-place money in the Tournament of Champions, sponsored by the Hi-Plains Bowling Proprietor's Association Sunday afternoon at the Olton Bowling Center.

Rolling in the last shift, the Gift Shop Team bowled 2928 and surpassed their nearest competitor by 87 pins to grab the trophies and $160 first-place money. Ann Carter, Jerry White, Liz Hunter, Elda Parks and Donna McBride of Plainview were the team members.

Second place in the 25-team tournament went to Phillips Plumbing and Ditching of Olton, with 2841, who took $100.

Rolling 100 pins over average, Betty Truelock sparked the Phillips team to take the lead Saturday night. Other members of the team were La-Veta Phillips, Jolene Givens, Joyce Daugherty and Nora Lee Martin.

Lone Star Welding, 2839, of Denver City and Levelland Body Shop, 2832, of Levelland took the third and fourth place money, $80 and $60 respectively.

Out of the money, but close on the heels of victory were 34th and Boston Sinclair Service of Lubbock and Bellah's Supermarket of Lockney.

A team must have been Champions of a league to have been eligible for entry, and the Olton Bowling Center and Tournament Secretary, Ruth Dorris, consider the tournament a success.

The Proprietor's Association plans this as an annual affair.

Nita Moses of Ralls had all attention Saturday night when she started stringing strikes and rolled a record game and 621 series, highest individual effort of the meet.

Blue Sox In 11-4 Victory

The Halfway Blue Sox added another to their string of victories as they crushed Olton State Bank 11-4 Monday night at Little League park.

Even in defeat, Olton State Bank turned in some very good plays. Danny Harris hauled in a long fly ball from the bat of the Blue Sox's James Pinkerton in as pretty a catch as could be asked for.

Pinkerton did, however, manage to pick up a triple for the winners in another trip to the plate.

The loss put State Bank in the cellar as far as league standings are concerned, and gave the Blue Sox a tie with Thompson Implement for the league lead.

First prize in both adult and juvenile divisions will be $100, with prizes of $65, $30, and $15 going to 2nd, 3rd, and 4th place winners.

Plainview Rodeo Gets Underway

The 20th Annual Bar-None Rodeo opens today in Plainview for a three-night stand, June 25, 26 and 27.

The rodeo, one of the more than 500 approved each year by the professional Rodeo Cowboys Assn., promises action aplenty during the three days.

June 22 through 27 has been declared "Western Week" in Plainview by Mayor M. B. Hood. The rodeo begins at 8 p.m. night, and a dance will be held at the V.F.W. after each performance.

The rodeo itself will begin with a 4 p.m. parade down Broadway, June 25. Twenty riding clubs have already announced that they would be in Plainview for the rodeo.

Specialty acts for the Bar-None Rodeo include a trained mules act by Lee Hendrick and his two mules, "Scotch" and "Soda." C. D. Ferguson will present a routine with sheep dogs being ridden by monkeys.

Clowns for the rodeo will be Larry McKinney, bulls, and Goldie Carlton, barrels.

Cy Taillon will return for his seventh appearance as announcer for the rodeo, and the Beutler brothers of Elk City will furnish the stock.

A display of aircraft Saturday at 10 a.m. will open aviation appreciation day at the Hale County Airport. Fixed wing, jet and helicopter aircraft from the Army, Navy and Air Force will be on display; and arrangements have been made for Marge Mitchell, chairman of the Plainview "Top of Texas Chapter" of "The Ninety-Nines" to ride in a T-37 jet trainer.

James Miller of Miller Flying Service will present an "aerobatic" display at 11 a.m. Miller said the display would probably include some slow rolls, loops and Immelman turns (half loop, half roll).

To add to the activities slated for the Saturday air show, free-falling parachutists of the Golden Knights, the official U. S. Army Parachute Team, will demonstrate their aerobatic skill at 2 p.m. at the airport.

The parachutists will leap from their aircraft at 13,500 feet. During four 75-second free falls, the nine-man team will perform individual maneuvers, two-man aerobatics and a final four-man formation.

Smoke trails from specially constructed foot-mounted smoke bombs will enable spectators to follow the course of the falls.

Free concessions will be offered at the air show with a dollar a car parking fee.

Agronomist Talks On Nitrogen Application

BY BILL BENNETT, AGRONOMIST

Wheat harvest is underway. It may be just a little early to talk about fertilizing wheat, but questions are coming up on how much of what kind and how to put it on.

Let's look first at applications that need to be made prior to plowing or disking wheat stubble. If you feel that nitrogen helps in the decomposition of wheat straw, apply 30 to 40 pounds N prior to incorporation of the stubble. Any commonly used source of nitrogen such as anhydrous ammonia, ammonium nitrate or ammonium sulphate is satisfactory. The dry or liquid forms of nitrogen should be incorporated into the soil within at least 2 days after broadcasting to avoid losses of nitrogen into the air. These losses from ammonium nitrate and ammonium sulfate occur primarily on highly calcareous soils or soils containing free calcium carbonate. Nitrogen losses from urea can occur on any type of soil, particularly if it is sprayed on vegetation or wheat stubble.

If you plan to broadcast dry fertilizer for phosphorus for the next wheat crop, it would be desirable to apply it prior to plowing or disking.

There is a new method of applying ammonia to wheat ground. It is called plow-down application of ammonia. The deep breaking plows are rigged so that ammonia is applied when the wheat stubble is plowed under. This method offers several advantages. It saves one trip across the field. It distributes the ammonia over more soil area. It places the ammonia with the wheat stubble.

Anhydrous ammonia can be chiseled into the sides of the old beds prior to plowing or disking. It may be easier to do this than to apply ammonia after the stubble is incorporated.

A satisfactory method of applying anhydrous ammonia after land is plowed or disked is on 20 inch centers while the land is flat or in the sides of the bed with chisels on 20 inch centers. Liquid 7-21-0 or 8-24-0 can be applied with the ammonia. Both of these methods are the ones most commonly used.

Rates of nitrogen to use for wheat will vary. For non-grazed wheat, general recommendations would be 80 pounds N following cotton, 100 pounds N following maize and 120 pounds N following wheat. For wheat that is to be grazed, increase these rates by 20 pounds N and plan to topdress 40 to 60 pounds N in late winter next year.

Source of phosphorus is not as critical on wheat as on row crops. Any of the ammonium phosphates--8-24-0, 11-48 -0 or 21-53-0- or either of the calcium phosphates--0-20-0 or 0-46-0--should be satisfactory. The liquids can be applied with the ammonia on 20 inch centers for good results. The dry phosphorus sources are suitable for broadcast applications. Rate of phosphorus to use per acre would be about 40 pounds phosphorus pentoxide on heavy textured soils and 60 pounds phosphorus pentoxide on light textured soils. Actual need should be determined by soil test.

Sulphur should also be applied where needed prior to plowing or disking wheat land. By incorporating the sulphur, oxidation and breakdown of the sulphur will start and will be more rapid during the period of high soil temperatures.

Two Olton freshmen at Lubbock Christian College this past semester have been named to the semester honor roll, according to Dr. Jack Bates, academic dean.

Patricia Hedges, majoring in elementary education, and Gladys Oursbourn, majoring in business, were honored for their spring semester grades.

To be places on the honor roll, a student must maintain a 3.25 grade point average. On LCC's 4.0 scale, 4.0 indicates a straight "A" record, and 3.0 indicates straight "B."

Only 29 of the class of 290 achieved honor roll standing this past semester at LCC. Mrs. Hedges maintained a 3.80 grade point average, while Mrs. Oursbourn maintained 3.46.

Mrs. Oursbourn is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Thomas of Olton.

Change Your Mind Early

What if some glib salesman signs you up for an encyclopedia, or a set of pots and pans. Next day you change your mind. Can you cancel the order? Chances are you can't.

The typical pattern runs thus: the salesman fast-talks poor Joyce Jones into signing an order for a set of cooking ware, silver, or what-have-you. She pays a nominal amount down, the balance to be over a long term. The price is high enough, plus a big carrying charge, but the installments run for a long time and at first look reasonable. When the shipment arrives, Joyce decides she doesn't want, and can't afford it anyhow, so she refuses to accept it and tells the company she is cancelling the order.

But poor Joyce is out of luck. The company promptly tells her that they "sold" her installment contract to a bank or financial institution, and she must now deal with them, not the compnay.

The company thus got its sale price in full, the salesman his commission, and the new owner of the contract expects his money in full. Sorry, but it is too late to cancel the order.

This is not at all like buying from a local store, where you can usually return the goods if they are unsatisfactory or if you change your mind. If Joyce ships the merchandise back, the company will most likely refuse to accept it.

Moreover, the companies buying such contracts are hard boiled about collections. If Joyce doesn't pay, they will not hesitate to report her to a credit rating agency, or even sue.

The moral is, be sure you know who you are dealing with, and be sure you know what you are signing and the consequences.
